this violate that sense of protection."

Texas' 14 coastal counties and parts of Harris County, violence and sexual assault victims, and their families. The Family Crisis Center serves Cameron and Willacy Counties.

La Posada Providencia:

Sponsored by the Sisters of Divine Providence, La Posada Providencia provides shelter for indigent immigrants, asylum seekers and asylees petitioning for legal refuge in this country. In operation since 1989, La Posada has provided refuge and services for over 8,000 men, women and children from more than 70 countries.

Harlingen Neighborhood Food Pantry:

This all volunteer organization provides food for those with low incomes, and provides baby supplies for mothers. In October 2014 the Harlingen Neighborhood Food Pantry served over 1600 families, totaling just under 5,000 people. Volunteers donate time each week to help organize, prepare, and serve meals.

Snack Pack Project:

A collaborative effort between Brownsville ISD and the United Way of Southern Cameron County, the Snack Pack Project ensures children with the most need receive bags of food for the two week holiday break. This project has provided a minimum of 200 bags of snacks to children identified by BISD nursing team and counsellors for the last four years.

Ozanam Center:

Providing emergency shelter, clothing, three meals a day, case management, after school tutoring, transportation vouchers, financial assistance, extended-stay transitional housing and a neighborhood food pantry for individuals and families from the Brownsville area. Located on a six-acre property, belonging to the Catholic Diocese of Brownsville, the shelter can serve a maximum capacity of 200 people.
