22 SECTION 3. Sections 607.052(a), (b), (e), and (g),

24 (a) Notwithstanding any other law, this subchapter applies

1 only to a detention officer, corrections employee, firefighter,
2 peace officer, or emergency medical technician who:

3 (1) on becoming employed or during employment as a
4 detention officer, corrections employee, firefighter, peace

10 firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician,
11 except for the presumption under Section 607.0545; and 13 illness covered by this subchapter that is discovered during 14 employment as a detention officer, corrections employee,

15 firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician.

16 (b) A presumption under this subchapter does not apply:

17 (1) to a determination of a survivor's eligibility for 18 benefits under Chapter 615, except for the presumption under 19 Section 607.0545;

20 (2) in a cause of action brought in a state or federal 21 court except for judicial review of a proceeding in which there has 22 been a grant or denial of employment-related benefits or 23 compensation;

24 (3) to a determination regarding benefits or 25 compensation under a life or disability insurance policy purchased 26 by or on behalf of the detention officer, corrections employee, 27 firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician that

1 provides coverage in addition to any benefits or compensation
2 required by law; or

3 (4) if the disease or illness for which benefits or 4 compensation is sought is known to be caused by the use of tobacco 5 and:

6 (A) the firefighter, peace officer, or emergency 7 medical technician is or has been a user of tobacco; or

8 (B) the firefighter's, peace officer's, or 9 emergency medical technician's spouse has, during the marriage,

11 (e) A detention officer, corrections employee, firefighter,
12 peace officer, or emergency medical technician who uses a 13 presumption established under this subchapter is entitled only to 14 the benefits or compensation to which the detention officer,
15 corrections employee, firefighter, peace officer, or emergency
16 medical technician would otherwise be entitled to receive at the 17 time the claim for benefits or compensation is filed.

18 (g) This subchapter applies to a detention officer,
19 corrections employee, firefighter, peace officer, or emergency
20 medical technician who provides services as an employee of an 21 entity created by an interlocal agreement.

25 (a) A firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician 26 who suffers from tuberculosis, or any other disease or illness of 27 the lungs or respiratory tract that has a statistically positive

1 correlation with service as a firefighter, peace officer, or 2 emergency medical technician, that results in death or total or 3 partial disability is presumed to have contracted the disease or 4 illness during the course and scope of employment as a firefighter, 5 peace officer, or emergency medical technician.

6 (b) This section does not apply to a claim that a
7 firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician
8 suffers from severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2
9 (SARS-CoV-2) or coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19).

10 SECTION 5. Subchapter B, Chapter 607, Government Code, is 11 amended by adding Section 607.0545 to read as follows:

12 Sec. 607.0545. SEVERE ACUTE RESPIRATORY SYNDROME
13 CORONAVIRUS 2 (SARS-CoV-2) OR CORONAVIRUS DISEASE 2019 (COVID-19).

14 (a) A detention officer, corrections employee, firefighter, peace
15 officer, or emergency medical technician who, based on a test
16 approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, suffers
17 from severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) 18 or coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) that results in death or 19 total or partial disability is presumed to have contracted the 20 virus or disease during the course and scope of employment as a
21 detention officer, corrections employee, firefighter, peace
22 officer, or emergency medical technician if the detention officer,
23 corrections employee, firefighter, peace officer, or emergency
24 medical technician:

25 (1) is employed in the area designated in a disaster
26 declaration by the governor under Section 418.014 or another law
27 and the disaster is related to severe acute respiratory syndrome

1 coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) or coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19);

2 and

3 (2) contracts the disease during the disaster declared

4 by the governor described by Subdivision (1).

5 (b) The presumption under this section applies only to a

6 person who:

7 (1) is employed as a detention officer, corrections

8 employee, firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical

9 technician on a full-time basis; and

10 (2) was last on duty not more than 10 days before the 11 date the person tests positive for severe acute respiratory

12 syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) or coronavirus disease 2019

13 (COVID-19).

14 (c) This section does not affect the right of a detention

15 officer, corrections employee, firefighter, peace officer, or 16 emergency medical technician to provide proof, without the use of 17 the presumption under this section, that an injury or illness

18 occurred during the course and scope of employment.

19 SECTION 6. Section 607.057, Government Code, is amended to 20 read as follows:

21 Sec. 607.057. EFFECT OF PRESUMPTION. Except as provided by

22 Section 607.052(b), a presumption established under this

23 subchapter applies to a determination of whether a detention

24 officer's, corrections employee's, firefighter's, peace officer's,

25 or emergency medical technician's disability or death resulted from 26 a disease or illness contracted in the course and scope of 27 employment for purposes of benefits or compensation provided under

1 another employee benefit, law, or plan, including a pension plan.

2 SECTION 7. Section 607.058, Government Code, is amended to
3 read as follows:

4 Sec. 607.058. PRESUMPTION REBUTTABLE. (a) A presumption
5 under Section 607.053, 607.054, 607.0545, 607.055, or 607.056 may 6 be rebutted through a showing by a preponderance of the evidence 7 that a risk factor, accident, hazard, or other cause not associated 8 with the individual's service as a detention officer, corrections
9 employee, firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical 10 technician was a substantial factor in bringing about the 11 individual's disease or illness, without which the disease or 12 illness would not have occurred.

13 (b) A rebuttal offered under this section must include a 14 statement by the person offering the rebuttal that describes, in 15 detail, the evidence that the person reviewed before making the 16 determination that a cause not associated with the individual's 17 service as a detention officer, corrections employee, firefighter, 18 peace officer, or emergency medical technician was a substantial 19 factor in bringing about the individual's disease or illness,
20 without which the disease or illness would not have occurred.

21 (c) In addressing an argument based on a rebuttal offered
22 under this section, an administrative law judge shall make findings
23 of fact and conclusions of law that consider whether a qualified 24 expert, relying on evidence-based medicine, stated the opinion
25 that, based on reasonable medical probability, an identified risk 26 factor, accident, hazard, or other cause not associated with the 27 individual's service as a detention officer, corrections employee,

1 firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician was a 2 substantial factor in bringing about the individual's disease or 3 illness, without which the disease or illness would not have 4 occurred.

5 (d) A rebuttal offered under this section to a presumption 6 under Section 607.0545 may not be based solely on evidence relating 7 to the risk of exposure to severe acute respiratory syndrome
8 coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) or coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19)
9 of a person with whom a detention officer, corrections employee,
10 firefighter, peace officer, or emergency medical technician
11 resides.

12 SECTION 8. (a) The changes in law made by this Act apply to 13 a claim for benefits, compensation, or assistance pending on or 14 filed on or after the effective date of this Act. A claim for 15 benefits, compensation, or assistance filed before that date, other 16 than a claim pending on that date, is covered by the law in effect on 17 the date the claim was made, and that law is continued in effect for 18 that purpose.

19 (b) Notwithstanding Subsection (a) of this section, a 20 person who on or after March 13, 2020, but before the effective date 21 of this Act, filed a claim for benefits, compensation, or 22 assistance related to severe acute respiratory syndrome
23 coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) or coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19)
24 and whose claim was subsequently denied may file another claim on or 25 after the effective date of this Act, and the changes in law made by 26 this Act apply to that claim.

27 SECTION 9. This Act takes effect immediately if it receives

1 a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, as 2 provided by Section 39, Article III, Texas Constitution. If this 3 Act does not receive the vote necessary for immediate effect, this 4 Act takes effect September 1, 2021.
