Fiscal Analysis

The bill would authorize the issuance of a maximum of $48 million in revenue bonds for The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center for facilities and infrastructure to be used primarily for biotechnology research and development. The bonds would be payable from pledged revenue, including student tuition. These bonds would not be general obligation to the State. However, the issuance of these bonds would have fiscal implications for the State. Although tuition income is pledged against the bonds, historically the Legislature has appropriated General Revenue to reimburse institutions of higher education for tuition to pay the debt service. It is assumed that the Legislature would continue this policy.

Methodology

The University of Texas System Administration assumed the bonds would be issued during fiscal year 2004 at a 5.00 percent interest rate with a 20-year level debt service amortization. Based on calculations prepared by The University of Texas System Administration, the amount of debt service payments would be $3,852,000 for fiscal year 2004 and would be $3,852,000 for fiscal year 2005.

No amounts are included for operations and maintenance costs related to additional facilities. Operations and maintenance costs are provided to institutions of higher education based on predicted square feet not actual square feet. However, if the increased space resulted in an increase in predicted square feet, operations and maintenance cost would increase.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
