IN RE: SB401 by Van de Putte (Relating to testing certain public safety personnel for accidental exposure to hepatitis B or hepatitis C.), As Engrossed

No significant fiscal implication to the State is anticipated.

The bill would require the employing organization or the organization, for which the person works as a volunteer, to be financially responsible for the testing for hepatitis B or C following accidental exposure of a health care worker to a patient's blood or other body fluids. Under current law, licensed hospitals are required to test health care workers following an accidental exposure.
