Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend Government Code, Chapters 51 and 56 relating to additional court filing fees to pay operating expenses of the courts of appeals. The bill would amend Government Code, Section 51.207(b)(1) to increase the filing fee from $100 to $175. Of this amount, $125 would be deposited in the state treasury, with one-half to the credit of Judicial Fund No. 573 and one-half to the credit of Judicial and Court Personnel Training Fund No. 540. A total of $50 of the $175 fee would be retained by the clerk for use by the court of appeals in which the case was filed.

Additionally, the bill would allow the justices of a court of appeals to increase the fee collected under Government Code, Section 51.207(b)(1) by up to an additional $75 at the discretion of each court. Any additional increase would be retained by the clerk for use by the court of appeals in which the case was filed.

Methodology

The Office of Court Administration indicates that 4,877 cases were filed in the courts of appeals in fiscal year 2002. The bill would increase the filing fee from $100 to $175. Of this amount, $25 would be new revenue deposited in the state treasury, with one-half to the credit of Judicial Fund No. 573 and one-half to the credit of Judicial and Court Personnel Training Fund No. 540. [4,877 cases x $25 filing fee increase = $121,925; and, 1/2 x $121,925 = $60,963]. Under current law, $100 of the filing fee already is deposited to the state treasury, credited to the two different funds mentioned here.

A total of $50 of the $175 fee would be retained by the clerk for use by the court of appeals in which the case was filed in the form of appropriated receipts. [4,877 cases x $50 = $243,850].

The bill would also allow an increase in the filing fee of up to an additional $75 (as determined by the discretion of the court) to be retained by the clerk for use by the court of appeals in which the case was filed, in the form of appropriated receipts. [4,877 cases x $75 = $365,775].

The amount of appropriated receipts that may be collected by the 14 courts of appeals under the bill would range from $243,850 to $609,625 per year [$243,850 + $365,775].

Local Government Impact

No significant fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
