2007	($228,480)
2008	($228,480)

Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend the Government Code as it relates to supplemental pay for Department of Public Safety (DPS) officers who are proficient in a second language. The bill would allow DPS to supplement pay ($100 per month) for officers who speak a second language in a specified area where that language is predominantly spoken and the officer is stationed. The bill would require that the officer be able to demonstrate proficiency in the second language through reading, writing, and conversation skills.

Methodology

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) reports that 486 officers listed Spanish as a second language in their original application. DPS estimates that the list of officers would decrease by 30% depending on the difficulty of proficiency testing. Assuming that only 50% would actually be assigned to areas where the language is predominantly spoken, estimated annual costs would equal $204,000 (486 officers x 70% proficiency x 50% stationed in area where predominantly spoken x $100 per month x 12 months per year). Additional benefit costs are estimated at $24,480 per year.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
