AUTHOR'S/SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission (TABC) collects administrative fees and taxes on certain alcoholic beverages and cigarettes entering the state from foreign countries for personal use. As an example, the total tax and administrative fee on a fifth of distilled spirits is $0.98. People coming across the Texas-Mexico border will pay a dollar and not want to keep the two pennies in change. Since the TABC is a government agency, it cannot keep the change that people try to leave behind. This places a burden on the TABC employees and increases the wait time at border crossings.

As proposed, S.B. 269 allows the TABC to round up to the nearest quarter dollar the tax and fee on alcohol and the tax on cigarettes collected at the border.
