AUTHOR'S/SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Current law does not make provisions for job vacancies in school districts to be posted. As a result, members of the public and current district employees may find that a position was open only when the announcement is made that it has been filled. S.B. 387 requires school districts to allow employees an opportunity to apply for an open position by posting notice of job vacancies for at least 10 school days in the following places: on a bulletin board, at a place convenient to the public in the district's central administrative office; on the district's Internet website if the district has a website; and by publishing the position in a newspaper of general circulation in the district. S.B. 387 also allows the district to fill the position in an emergency situation.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
