AUTHOR'S/SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

During the last six months of 2004, through on-site campus tours and visits with superintendents, school board members, and students, it was reported that the scheduling of University Interscholastic League (UIL) regional competition was problematic, especially for rural schools. Performance on the Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) was negatively impacted when UIL competitions were scheduled the same week or the week prior to testing. In rural areas, students may travel up to 150 miles to compete at the regional level, and often participate in several events, which further impacts academic performance.

A follow-up survey sent to school districts in Senate District 19 resulted in 21 responses in favor of requesting that UIL regional competitions be prohibited the week of, or prior to, TAKS testing. The prohibition would not apply to practice for extra-curricular activities of any kind or regularly scheduled sports games.

S.B. 658 prohibits UIL area, regional, or state competitions from being held the week of, or prior to, TAKS testing. It also requires the Texas Education Agency (TEA) to provide UIL a calendar of expected dates of testing three years in advance to allow sufficient time to negotiate contracts and prohibits schools from obtaining a waiver from TEA. S.B. 658 gives the commissioner of education discretion to cancel testing dates and reschedule the tests in the event of extreme emergencies and allow for rules to be developed regarding UIL rescheduling.
