

By: Dutton

H.C.R. No. 90

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

1 WHEREAS, With the passing of Robert O. Dawson, who died at his 2 home in Fentress on February 26, 2005, the State of Texas has lost a
3 gifted educator, scholar, and much-loved mentor whose influence
4 will resonate in the law and in the lives of those fortunate enough 5 to have known him; and

6 WHEREAS, A graduate of the University of Missouri, Professor
7 Dawson earned his doctor of jurisprudence degree from Washington 8 University and his doctor of judicial science degree from the 9 University of Wisconsin and worked as both a public defender and a 10 prosecutor in addition to his career as a professor; and

11 WHEREAS, In 1967 he began teaching at The University of 12 Texas, where he held the Bryant Smith Chair in Law, and his long and 13 mutually fruitful relationship with the university was to 14 profoundly affect the many students who benefited from his 15 extensive knowledge and genuine investment in their education;
16 shortly before his death, he was voted Outstanding Faculty Member 17 for 2004-2005 by the UT Student Bar Association; and

18 WHEREAS, Dr. Dawson's lasting impact on Texas law derives not 19 only from those students whose development he helped to guide but 20 also from his drafting of the state's juvenile justice statutes in 21 1973 and their 1995 revision, which produced an influential body of 22 law that focused on rehabilitating young offenders and made the 23 state's juvenile justice system a model for other states to follow;
24 a renowned expert on juvenile law, he served as the juvenile law

1 editor of the State Bar of Texas Family Law Section Newsletter from 2 1967 until 1987, when the Juvenile Law Section of the State Bar was 3 created, and he became editor of the State Bar of Texas Juvenile Law
4 Section Newsletter; moreover, he authored and coauthored numerous 5 publications on criminal procedure and juvenile law and shared his 6 expertise with probation officers and attorneys throughout the 7 state; and

8 WHEREAS, His real-world experience with criminal law imbued 9 him with a keen understanding of the legal system's effect on the 10 lives of average people, and he sought to ground his students in a 11 practical awareness of the law's workings by cofounding The 12 University of Texas Law School Criminal Defense Clinic, which he 13 led as director for 24 years; in that capacity, he and his fellow 14 supervisors worked with more than 1,200 third-year law students in 15 handling over 7,200 criminal defendants' cases; and

16 WHEREAS, Dr. Dawson was also instrumental in founding the 17 school's Actual Innocence Clinic, enabling law students to screen
18 and assist inmates who were wrongly convicted, and the clinic's
19 groundbreaking work was recognized with a Public Interest Award 20 from the Texas Law Fellowships in February 2005; and

21 WHEREAS, An avid horseman, he was one of the nation's leading 22 experts on equine law and taught a class on the subject with his 23 wife, Jan; appropriately, Dr. Dawson's ashes will be mixed with old 24 horse stall bedding and scattered on the farm that he and his wife 25 shared, which he noted would serve to enrich the hay crop; and

26 WHEREAS, This unique request is a highly appropriate
27 conclusion to Dr. Dawson's life, both in its gentle

1 unpretentiousness and in its humble acknowledgment that the fruits
2 of our labors continue to nourish the world long after we have left
3 it; now, therefore, be it

4 RESOLVED, That the 79th Legislature of the State of Texas
5 hereby honor the life of Dr. Robert O. Dawson and extend sincere 6 sympathy to the members of his family: to his wife, Jan Dawson; to 7 his daughters, Katherine Irene Dawson and Julie Ann Gerrow; to his 8 brother, William Dawson; to his niece, Diana Dawson; to his nephew, 9 Greg Dawson; and to his other family members and many friends; and,
10 be it further

11 RESOLVED, That an official copy of this resolution be 12 prepared for the members of his family and that when the Texas House
13 of Representatives and Senate adjourn this day, they do so in memory
14 of Professor Robert O. Dawson.