Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend the Occupations Code to exempt a physician who is at least 70 years of age from paying the fee for a renewal of a permit. A physician who is at least 70 years of age and who resides outside the state must pay the renewal fee to renew the physician's registration permit. The bill would reduce revenues collected from physicians that are exempted from paying the fee.

Methodology

The Board of Medical Examiners estimates that 2,148 physicians would currently fall into the exempt category and 1,074 physicians on average would become eligible for this exemption each year.

The biennial registration permit fee includes the registration fee ($260), the professional fee ($400), the SB 104, 78th Legislature, Regular Session, surcharge ($80), the Office of Patient Protection fee ($2), and the TexasOnline fee ($8). The board began biennial licensing January 2005; by January 2006, all physician license renewals will be biennial. According to the Comptroller of Public Accounts, the annual fee totals $415, of which $335 is deposited to the General Revenue Fund 0001 and $80 is deposited to GR Account 5105—Public Assurance. The biennial fee totals $750, of which $670 is deposited to Fund 0001 and $80 is deposited to GR Account 5105. Because the bill would take effect before full implementation of biennial licensing, the figures for fiscal 2006 were adjusted accordingly.

The bill would take effect September 1, 2005.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
