Fiscal Analysis

The bill would allow the Department of State Health Services (DSHS) to impose a penalty on persons other than health care practitioners who are required to report cancer cases to the Texas Cancer Registry and fail to do so. The bill would also allow DSHS to charge fees for the provision of data or for access to data related to the Cancer Registry. Administrative penalties and fees collected under this bill could only be appropriated to DSHS for the Texas Cancer Registry and would be free from all limitations on full-time-equivalents, capital expenditures, and travel expenses set forth in the General Appropriations Act.

Methodology

DSHS estimates that one administrative penalty would be imposed each year for total revenue of $5,000 per year.

DSHS estimates that there would be no fee imposed for standard data requests (less than one hour staff and/or computer time). For special data requests (more than 1 hour staff and/or computer time) the average fee would be $735 per request. DSHS estimates that there would be 15 requests in 2006 and 20 in each subsequent year.

DSHS estimates that the average fee for standard data linkage requests (less than 10,000 records) would be $2,500. DSHS estimates there would be 2 requests in 2006 and 4 in each subsequent year. For special data linkage requests (more than 10,000 records), the average fee would be $10,000. DSHS estimates there would be 4 requests in 2006 and 6 in each subsequent year.

Existing DSHS staff would process the data requests.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
