AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The 78th Legislature, Regular Session, 2003, enacted H.B. 2292 that reorganized the delivery of health and human services. Among its many provisions, the bill established the Healthy Marriage Development Program. The program provides instruction on premarital counseling, including anger resolution, family violence prevention, communication, honoring your spouse, and managing a budget; physical fitness and active lifestyles, including sexual abstinence for unmarried and previously married people and nutrition on a budget; and parenting skills for character development, academic success, and stepchildren.

Recipients of assistance through Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF)--a federal block grant that funds cash assistance and other services for low-income families--who take the courses receive an additional $20 per course in financial assistance up to $60.

H.B. 2683 authorizes the Health and Human Services Commission to provide grants of not more than $50,000 for programs for low-income persons that support the development of healthy marriages or the strengthening of families. The bill requires that a minimum of one percent of federal funds received under TANF are directed to fund such program each biennium.
