AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Varying rates on tuition and fees at public universities in Texas have made it difficult for students and parents to financially plan for college. The variance in tuition and fees can be subject to change during a student's enrollment as well. To alleviate this situation, certain public universities in Texas have begun to freeze tuition and mandatory fees when a student enters a university subject to the length of a student's education program.

As proposed, S.B. 100 prohibits an increase in tuition and fees charged to a student entering a public university during that student's enrollment, with exceptions.
