AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Currently, persons with a commercial drivers license (CDL) driving commercial motor vehicles over 26,000 pounds are subject to a Class B misdemeanor for violating an out-of-service order (if they travel without breaks, for example). A driver without a CDL operating a commercial motor vehicle violating the out-of-service order is only subject to a Class C misdemeanor. People without a CDL do operate smaller commercial motor vehicles, but these people are not subject to the same penalties for violating an out-of-service order as are those with a CDL.

S.B. 333 applies the sanction for violating an out-of-service order to the operators of smaller commercial motor vehicles (with a gross weight rating of 10,001 lbs. to 26,000 lbs.). This would mean that a person driving a commercial motor vehicle who does not have or need to have a CDL is subject to the same penalties as those who do have a CDL.
