Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend the Labor Code relating to employment leave to comply with certain family or medical obligations. The bill would require the Texas Workforce Commission (TWC) to receive, investigate, and attempt to resolve complaints of violations under the Labor Law Program. The bill would also require penalty revenue to be deposited to the credit of the General Revenue Fund.

This bill would take effect September 1, 2007. In addition, the bill would require TWC to adopt associated rules by November 1, 2007 and the provisions of the bill relating to employee absences would not take effect until January 1, 2008.

Methodology

In determining the number of complaints that could be received in Texas, TWC relied on information provided by the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division (USDOL), which administers the Federal Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA). TWC estimates the number of USDOL FMLA complaints received for Texas which resulted in investigations per year is approximately 121. In addition, TWC estimates the number of hours spent by USDOL on the 121 investigations is approximately 2,500. Based on this analysis TWC estimates 1.3 Investigator IV and 0.5 Accounts Examiner III will be needed to implement these provisions.

Estimates provided by TWC include costs associated with creating forms, publications, mailing, database maintenance and salaries. Total cost for fiscal year 2008 includes: salaries and wages ($71,750), benefits ($20,298), administrative and support costs ($14,350), equipment ($8,520), and other costs ($28,421). Total cost of $109,259 each fiscal year for fiscal years 2009-2012 includes: salaries and wages ($71,750), benefits ($20,298), administrative and support costs ($14,350), and other costs ($2,861).

The Office of the Attorney General anticipates any legal work resulting from the passage of this bill could be reasonably absorbed with current resources. Based on the analysis of the Comptroller of Public Accounts and the Teacher Retirement System it is assumed that costs associated with duties and responsibilities of implementing the provisions of the bill could be absorbed utilizing existing resources.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
