AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Current law states that a student may not be given credit for a class unless the student is in attendance for at least 90 percent of the days the class is offered. Some school districts have misinterpreted credit to mean high school credit for graduation, but credit actually applies to all grade levels (K-12) and all academic disciplines.

As a result of this confusion, the practice of pulling students from fine arts and other enrichment classes for tutoring on the Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) has become increasingly widespread—sometimes for as much as half or more of the days that the classes are offered. Students are receiving grades and class credit for courses they do not attend and they are missing out on the valuable knowledge that these courses provide.

As proposed, S.B. 1364 prohibits students in any grade level from K-12 from being given credit or a grade for a class unless the student is in attendance for at least 90 percent of the days the class is offered.
