Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend the Labor Code to expand the requirements for an eligible parent to receive death benefits in cases where the deceased employee is not survived by other legal beneficiaries. The bill would create additional legal beneficiaries who will be entitled to receive death benefits.

The bill would take effect on September 1, 2009.

Methodology

Based on analysis by the Department of Insurance (TDI), the loss in revenue to the General Revenue Dedicated Fund 5101 - Subsequent Injury Fund due to additional legal beneficiaries is anticipated to be $213,366 per year for each year of the biennium.

These additional beneficiaries would each receive a maximum of 104 weeks of death benefits, with the Subsequent Injury Fund receiving the remaining 260 weeks of death benefits. This bill would result in a loss of revenue to the subsequent injury fund that equals a maximum of 104 weeks of death benefits multiplied by the number of new legal beneficiaries created by this bill. Based on analysis from TDI, it is estimated that this loss of revenue would be approximately $213,366 each year if there are eight claims for death benefits at an average $512.90 each week.

Technology

The bill would have no technology impact.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
