

LEGISLATIVE BUDGET BOARD
Austin, Texas

FISCAL NOTE, 82ND LEGISLATIVE REGULAR SESSION

March 7, 2011

TO: Honorable Rob Eissler, Chair, House Committee on Public Education

FROM: John S O'Brien, Director, Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HB916 by Allen (Relating to corporal punishment in public schools.), As Introduced

No fiscal implication to the State is anticipated.

Local Government Impact

School districts and open-enrollment charter schools could incur some costs to institute training in regard to the prohibition of the administration of corporal punishment. Training could be developed locally or provided through resources such as regional education service centers.
