

LEGISLATIVE BUDGET BOARD
Austin, Texas

FISCAL NOTE, 82ND LEGISLATIVE REGULAR SESSION

March 15, 2011

TO: Honorable Pete Gallego, Chair, House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence

FROM: John S O'Brien, Director, Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HB1647 by Gallego (Relating to discovery in a criminal case.), As Introduced

No significant fiscal implication to the State is anticipated.

The bill would amend the Code of Criminal Procedure to establish requirements for discovery of evidence between prosecutors and defense counsel in criminal cases. The bill includes some specific hearings that courts could be called upon to hold in some circumstances. The bill would take effect September 1, 2011.

Local Government Impact

According to the Office of Court Administration, additional pre-trial court time could be significant in some jurisdictions, and the cost of production of documents to indigent defendants would also have a local fiscal impact. Costs to local courts would vary depending by locality depending on a given court's workload and the number of indigent defendants requesting documents under the provisions of the bill, but are not likely to be significant.
