

LEGISLATIVE BUDGET BOARD
Austin, Texas

FISCAL NOTE, 83RD LEGISLATIVE REGULAR SESSION

April 22, 2013

TO: Honorable Debbie Riddle, Chair, House Committee on Criminal Procedure Reform, Select

FROM: Ursula Parks, Director, Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HB1022 by Moody (Relating to venue for the offense of a parent contributing to a child's failure to attend school.), As Introduced

No significant fiscal implication to the State is anticipated.

The bill would amend the Education Code to provide that a case for an offense of a parent contributing to a child's failure to attend school could be heard in a justice court of any precinct in the county in which the parent resides or the school is located.

Modifications to the venue in which failure to attend school offenses are heard is not expected to increase the number of juveniles sent to justice courts for failure to attend school. It is assumed that the number of youth affected under this statute would not significantly impact state correctional agencies' workload and programs, or the demand for their resources and services since juveniles are typically only transferred from these courts to juvenile courts on the third offense.

The Office of Court Administration (OCA) indicated no fiscal impact on the state's judiciary is anticipated.

The Texas Education Agency (TEA) indicated the bill would have no direct fiscal implications for the Foundation School Program or the operations of the TEA.

The bill would take effect on September 1, 2013, and would only apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

Local Government Impact

OCA indicated that no effect on total local judicial workload is anticipated; however, individual judge's caseloads could be affected by a designation that the court would hear truancy cases for its county. No significant fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.

Source Agencies: 212 Office of Court Administration, Texas Judicial Council, 644 Texas Juvenile Justice Department, 701 Central Education Agency

LBB Staff: UP, ESi, TP, JPo