FROM: Ursula Parks, Director, Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HJR59 by Creighton (Proposing a constitutional amendment relating to the rights of individuals to choose or decline to choose health insurance coverage.), As Introduced

No significant fiscal implication to the State is anticipated, other than the cost of publication.

The cost to the state for publication of the resolution is $108,921. Agencies anticipate that any additional workload can be handled with existing staff and resources.

The resolution proposes a constitutional amendment to Article I of the Texas Constitution that would be submitted to voters at an election to be held November 5, 2013. The constitutional amendment would specify that individuals in this state have the right to choose or decline to choose health insurance coverage without a penalty or sanction, or threat of penalty or sanction. It would also prohibit a state agency, public official, employee of the state, or political subdivision of the state from imposing or enforcing a penalty, sanction, or other punishment or discouragement on individuals who choose or decline to choose health insurance coverage.

Local Government Impact

No significant fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
