6 WHEREAS, A weeklong observance focusing on black history was 7 established in 1926 by Dr. Carter G. Woodson, an author and scholar 8 and the son of former slaves, who sought a means of educating 9 non-black Americans about African American culture and of 10 engendering pride among black Americans; the tribute was expanded 11 to a month in 1976 and was officially recognized by President Gerald 12 Ford, who encouraged all Americans to celebrate "Black History
13 Month and the message of courage and perseverance it brings to all 14 of us"; and

15 WHEREAS, African Americans have constituted a significant
16 part of the population of Texas for hundreds of years; in the 19th 17 century, before emancipation, they played an enormous role in

20 and in the years that followed, they provided manpower for new 21 industries that were being established; and

14 their predecessors, taking their rightful place in the public arena
15 and promoting social justice; and
