15 returned to El Paso and started an electronics business, Francis 16 Communications, that he would eventually pass on to his son, Rick; 17 in 1965, he founded the SYT Corporation, which he operated for many 18 years until selling the company and retiring in the 1980s; the SYT
19 Corporation specialized in designing and producing governmental 20 telecommunications equipment and systems and is known for 21 introducing the first direct telephone interface between mobile 22 radios and the common carrier telephone system; and

23 WHEREAS, It was during his retirement years that Mr. Francis 24 decided to venture into public service, holding his first post as

1 the chair of the Civil Service Commission; in 1993, he became the 2 45th mayor of El Paso after defeating the incumbent and 10 other
3 candidates, and he won a landslide victory for reelection two years 4 later; and

5 WHEREAS, Over the course of his tenure, Mayor Francis guided 6 the city through a period of growth and modernization; in a short 7 time, he helped close the budget deficit and create a surplus, and 8 he was instrumental in resuming stalled expansion efforts for the 9 local zoo and airport and in moving forward plans for the 10 redevelopment of the Union Plaza District; drawing on his career
11 experience, he also led his administration in implementing major 12 technology upgrades, including new computer servers and a 13 cutting-edge radio communication system for fire, police, and 14 emergency medical personnel; and

15 WHEREAS, In addition to ably meeting the duties of his 16 office, this esteemed gentleman was a member of a number of boards 17 and commissions, among them the Sun Bowl Host Committee and the 18 Joint Legislature Support Committee, as well as advisory bodies for 19 the Fort Bliss Air Defense Museum and the El Paso A&M Club; he has 20 further immersed himself in activities with his church and the Boy 21 Scouts of America and in charitable fund-raising endeavors; and
