

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 97

WHEREAS, Aggies and Longhorns will unite today at the State Capitol to celebrate Orange and Maroon Legislative Day 2015 and to promote higher education in the State of Texas; and

WHEREAS, Alumni from the two universities total more than 875,000, and Texas A&M University and The University of Texas at Austin have a combined annual enrollment of more than 105,000 students, with more than 24,000 students receiving degrees each year; the schools boast excellent museums and libraries, including the George Bush Presidential Library and the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library and Museum, and both universities provide competitive tuition costs in order to remain accessible and affordable; and

WHEREAS, Texas A&M University and The University of Texas at Austin are renowned for their exceptional research, and the teaching and research missions of both institutions benefit the State of Texas by advancing scientific breakthroughs, improved health care, technological innovation, entrepreneurial spirit, and the creation of successive generations of informed and engaged citizens; and

WHEREAS, Researchers at Texas A&M University and The University of Texas at Austin explore, discover, and innovate in the sciences, arts, and humanities; together they have more than 1,200 patents, and total research expenditures in fiscal year 2014 amounted to more than $1.4 billion; both universities drive economic prosperity in their respective regions and in the State of Texas through the generation of patents, grants, corporate start-ups, and numerous other enterprises; and

WHEREAS, Both universities serve as centers for the arts and culture, inspiring Texans to take part in the visual and performing arts and other creative endeavors; both institutions also serve as flagships for athletics and physical education, encouraging Texans to participate in physical activity and to support the student-athletes that represent the state in competition across the nation; and

WHEREAS, The universities' faculties feature Nobel laureates and nationally recognized scholars, and the student bodies include national merit scholars, Rhodes scholars, Olympic gold medalists, and many of the Lone Star State's most promising young people; in addition, the universities offer an amazing range of postgraduate opportunities with nearly 470 graduate degree programs; and

WHEREAS, Texas A&M University and The University of Texas at Austin have established themselves as preeminent institutions of higher education on the state, national, and international levels, and Texans are fortunate to have access to these two exceptional state university systems; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the State of Texas, 84th Legislature, hereby recognize February 4, 2015, as Orange and Maroon

Legislative Day and commend alumni from Texas A&M University and The University of Texas at Austin for their commitment to promoting higher education in the Lone Star State; and, be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this Resolution be prepared in honor of this special occasion.

Zaffirini,
Bettencourt, Campbell,
Creighton, Ellis,
Eltife, Fraser,
Huffines, Schwertner,
Van de Putte, Watson

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

Member, Texas Senate

President of the Senate

I hereby certify that the above Resolution was adopted by the Senate on February 4, 2015.

Secretary of the Senate