S.B. 1992 By: Watson Intergovernmental Relations 4/25/2017 As Filed

AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The current rules governing the provision of low income housing tax credits for affordable housing developments prohibits the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs from awarding these credits to two developments that are within two miles of each other in a single year. This rule only applies to counties with populations exceeding one million people.

S.B. 1992 changes this bracket to 1.5 million people in order to remove Travis County from the bracket. With the increased density in the City of Austin, this two-mile rule eliminates a significant amount of area where a second development can be built in areas that are high opportunity. This change will allow these developments to be located in such regions where the residents will have access to quality schools, transportation, and health services.

As proposed, S.B. 1992 amends current law relating to the allocation of housing tax credits to developments within proximate geographical areas.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
