Fiscal Analysis

The bill would authorize a school district to borrow money from the Texas Public Finance

Authority (TPFA); and issue bonds and notes, enter into loan agreements, lease agreements, lease purchase agreements, or other appropriation financing agreements with TPFA for the purpose of purchasing or leasing vehicles, equipment, or appliances, or to pay for costs associated with maintenance, repair, or renovation of facilities.

The bill would establish the school district equipment and improvement fund as a trust fund outside the treasury administered by the Comptroller for TPFA and limits the amounts of such outstanding obligations to $100 million.

The bill would require school districts to consult with, and receive the approval of, the Commissioner of Education in order to be eligible for assistance.

Methodology

Based on information provided by TPFA, the cost of administering the program would be funded with Appropriated Receipts through financing fees charged to participating school districts. Estimated costs include $138,383 in fiscal year 2020, and $136,183 in subsequent years for one full-time equivalent (FTE). Estimated costs include salary benefits, and other operating expenses.

The Texas Education Agency indicates that it would need one FTE to administer the approvals for assistance by school districts. The estimated costs, including salary, benefits, and other operating expenses is $99,912 in fiscal year 2020, and $95,912 in subsequent years.

Local Government Impact

No significant fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
