FISCAL NOTE, 86TH LEGISLATIVE REGULAR SESSION

April 29, 2019

TO: Honorable Nicole Collier, Chair, House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence

FROM: John McGeady, Assistant Director Sarah Keyton, Assistant Director
Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HB1261 by Bell, Keith (relating to a presumption that applies to certain conduct involving certain controlled substances that endangers a child.), Committee Report 1st House, Substituted

The probable fiscal impact of implementing the bill is indeterminate due to the lack of data that would allow cases which would be eligible for prosecution as endangering a child due to conduct as outlined in the bill related to cocaine to be isolated from all other abandoning or endangering a child cases. These data are necessary to determine the fiscal implications of the bill.

The bill would amend the Penal Code as it relates to a presumption that applies to certain conduct involving certain controlled substances that endanger a child. Under the provisions of the bill, it would be presumed that a person engaged in conduct that places a child in imminent danger of death, bodily injury, or physical or mental impairment if a person engaged in certain conduct related to cocaine as outlined in the bill. Endangering a child is currently punishable as a state jail felony. Expanding the circumstances for which a criminal penalty is applied is expected to result in additional demands on the correctional resources of the counties and of the State due to an increase in individuals placed under supervision in the community or sentenced to a term of confinement within state correctional institutions. Whether the bill would have a significant fiscal impact is indeterminate due to the lack of data that would allow those cases in which a person endangered a child due to conduct related to cocaine to be isolated from all other endangering a child cases. The Office of Court Administration indicates the modifications made by the bill would not result in a significant fiscal impact.

Local Government Impact

No significant fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
