TO: Honorable J. M. Lozano, Chair, House Committee on Environmental Regulation

FROM: John McGeady, Assistant Director Sarah Keyton, Assistant Director
Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HB4116 by Zwiener (Relating to a voluntary financial assurance program for permit holders under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System.), As Introduced

There would be an indeterminate fiscal impact to the state. The number of permit holders that would voluntarily join the financial assurance program established under provisions of the bill, and the amount of funds that would be deposited and held in escrow, would be unknown.

The bill would amend the Water Code to establish a voluntary financial assurance program for wastewater discharge permit holders under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System to allow permit holders to deposit an amount of money or evidence of equivalent financial assurance with the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) to be held in escrow and to be used in the event that the permit holder causes a discharge that results in damage to the environment.

According to the Comptroller of Public Accounts and TCEQ, the number of permit holders that would voluntarily join the financial assurance program and the amount of funds that would be deposited and held in escrow is unknown.

Local Government Impact

A local governmental entity that is a permit holder under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System would have additional costs if the entity participated in the program. The number of local governmental entities that would participate is unknown.
