Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend Chapter 57 of the Occupations Code to require a state agency that issues a license to charge a reduced application or renewal fee, not to exceed one-third of the usual fee, if the applicant has become a parent by natural birth or adoption within the two years preceding the application date and the applicant held an active license for which they are applying immediately before the birth or adoption.

The bill would take effect September 1, 2019.

Methodology

According to analysis from the Comptroller's Office, based on fiscal year 2017 license renewal fee revenue and assuming a three percent two-year birth rate would apply to the existing licensed population, the provisions of the bill would result in a loss of approximately $3,000,000 per fiscal year to the General Revenue Fund.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
