Austin, Texas

FISCAL NOTE, 87TH LEGISLATIVE REGULAR SESSION

April 12, 2021

TO: Honorable Nicole Collier, Chair, House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence

FROM: Jerry McGinty, Director, Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: HB624 by Shine (Relating to increasing the criminal penalty for certain offenses committed in retaliation for or on account of a person's service or status as a public servant.), As Introduced

Expanding the set of behaviors that allow for enhanced punishment for a criminal offense is expected to result in additional demands on the correctional resources of the counties or of the State. The probable fiscal impact of implementing the bill is indeterminate due to the lack of information on the number of cases that involve public servants. This information is necessary to isolate cases which would qualify, under the provisions of the bill, for penalty enhancements from all other cases.

The bill would amend the Penal Code as it relates to punishments. Under the provisions of the bill, punishments for certain offenses would be increased to the next higher category of offense if shown at trial that the victim was a public servant, the relative of public servants, or that the offense involved property belonging to a public servant.

Expanding the set of behaviors that allow for enhanced punishment for a criminal offense is expected to result in additional demands on the correctional resources of the counties or of the State due to an increase in individuals placed under supervision in the community or sentenced to terms of confinement in state correctional institutions. The bill may have a negative fiscal impact by increasing the number of people under felony community supervision or incarcerated within state correctional institutions. Whether the bill would result in a significant fiscal impact is indeterminate due to the lack of information that would allow identification of victims who were public servants, relatives of public servants, or cases involving the property of public servants.

Local Government Impact

The offense created by the bill would be a Class A misdemeanor. A Class A misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of not more than $4,000, confinement in jail for a term not to exceed one year, or both. Costs associated with enforcement, prosecution and confinement could likely be absorbed within existing resources. Revenue gain from fines imposed and collected is not anticipated to have a significant fiscal implication.
