Fiscal Analysis

The bill would amend the Insurance Code to limit the cost-share for prescription insulin to a participant to $50 for a 30-day supply regardless of the amount or type of insulin needed to fill the participant's prescription.

Methodology

According to Employees Retirement System of Texas (ERS), in fiscal year 2020, a total of 18,452 prescriptions exceeded the out-of-pocket cap required by the bill. Since the bill only applies to health plans renewed on or after January 1, 2022, it is assumed the bill would have no impact until fiscal year 2023. The bill will result in an increased cost to the Group Benefits Plan administered by ERS, but it is assumed those costs can be absorbed.

Based on the analysis of the Teacher Retirement System (TRS), this analysis assumes that the provision of the bill requiring a cost sharing cap on insulin of $50 per three day supply and assuming a 90 day supply would be 3 times the 30-day supply (same as 45 and 100 day supplies), would result in estimated additional costs of $828,000 in 2022 and $853,000 in 2023 to the School Employees Uniform Group Insurance Program Fund 855 (ActiveCare); and costs of $617,000 in 2022 and $636,000 in 2023 to the Retired School Employee Group Insurance Fund 989 (TRS-Care). Additional costs would not increase the statutorily-required state contributions to TRS-Care and ActiveCare for the 2022-23 biennium; therefore, no significant fiscal impact to the General Revenue Fund is anticipated. However, the additional costs may result in the need for higher contribution rates from the State, employers, or members to the TRS-Care and ActiveCare programs.

Local Government Impact

The fiscal implications of the bill cannot be determined at this time.
