I wanted to say that I am so proud of my wife Rhonda Sears for having the courage to come forward and push for changes that must be made in Texas law to protect ALL victims of child sexual assault. Her work to bring attention to this issue, along with the constant push to Texas lawmakers is doing so much for the many victims of sexual assault who find themselves in a similar situation to her own. I hope and pray that our duly elected lawmakers are paying attention. My wife is not just one woman standing alone in her fight for justice, she is leading a movement to fix lives that are broken.
