AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

While juveniles are detained in a pre-adjudication facility, juveniles are required to appear before a court every ten days. Historically, this has not been a problem because juveniles were often detained in facilities within the county that the case was pending. However, in recent years the state has experienced a detention bed crisis and counties have been forced to house juveniles out of county while their cases are working through the court process. The Supreme Court of Texas has extended emergency orders (orders) for Texas courts regarding court practices during the COVID-19 pandemic. Specifically, the orders have allowed juvenile detention hearings to be conducted remotely throughout the pandemic.

Stakeholders believe that the orders will likely end in the near future as the COVID-19 pandemic is coming to a close. Therefore, when the orders conclude, the law will no longer allow detention hearings to be conducted remotely. This will force counties to drive juveniles across the state to attend detention hearings, because the detention bed crisis remains a problem.

H.B. 422 will allow courts to order that juvenile court proceedings be conducted remotely. A remote hearing can be ordered without the consent of the parties unless the United States or Texas Constitution requires consent of the parties. The Office of Court Administration will review any plan to conduct remote juvenile proceedings.

H.B. 422 clearly limits the bill to allow only juvenile detention hearings to occur remotely.
