AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Under current law, when tenants make certain repairs permitted by law for health and safety that their landlord will not make after requested, they must hire a contractor that is listed in the "Yellow Pages." Another option is the "classified advertising section of a newspaper," an antiquated and often non-existent or woefully incomplete place to look in modern times.

S.B. 2493 replaces this outdated requirement to provide instead that repairs made pursuant to a tenant's notice of intent to repair must be made by an independent company, contractor, or repairman, who must be licensed by the municipality in which the rental unit is located, if applicable.

Additionally, when tenants leave a property upon termination of a lease, there are certain notices of a forwarding address that are required under the law that do not comport with modern online leasing practices, are confusing, and are impractical. Moreover, the current requirement is more restrictive than necessary to assure that a tenant delivers a forwarding address to the landlord.

This bill allows a tenant ordinary means to satisfy the requirement to provide the landlord a written statement of the tenant's forwarding address for the purpose of refunding the security deposit in the following ways:

- (1) providing the statement in accordance with the lease; or
- (2) regardless of the lease terms, hand-delivering the statement to the landlord or landlord's property manager if rent has been paid in that manner, or sending the statement to the landlord or landlord's property manager or to an address where the tenant has paid rent under the lease. This can be done using the United States Postal Service or other certain delivery services that confirm delivery.

The bill establishes that a tenant who complies with the authorized methods of delivery above has satisfied the requirement, even if the landlord fails to claim or refuses delivery of the written statement of the tenant's forwarding address. The current law sets out specific provisions relating to a landlord's bad faith in returning a security deposit or accounting for deductions. The bill includes a provision that delivery as specified satisfies the tenant's forwarding address requirement, among the other conditions that must be met in order for a landlord to be presumed to have acted in bad faith.

S.B. 2493 amends current law relating to repairs made pursuant to a tenant's notice of intent to repair and the refund of a tenant's security deposit.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
