I SUPPORT this bill. The study of impact fees to help defray the cost to taxpayers for endless road expansions due to new housing or other developments that congest roadways is important to the future of transportation in Texas.

We support this bill. We've long supported impact fees to help defray the cost to taxpayers for endless road expansions due to new housing or other developments that congest roadways. The true cost of developing includes the cost to expand roads, and that cost should NOT be passed onto the general taxpayer, but rather should be borne by the buyers/lessees of those new homes or developments.
