HJR 126 is unnecessary as RTF legislation already exists in the State of Texas.

The right to farm, ranch, grow time or wildlife management should be available to those who want it, and it should not be so difficult to do. The government is overgrown and makes it difficult at times to do this, and lots of red tape is involved. It should not be. Protect these rights.

Within the actual Bill it is noted "Generally accepted practices• and "wildlife management practices." These are both very vague terms that are not well-defined and can be dangerous and unproductive. This wording gives Ag Operators permission to do anything they personally judge to be appropriate. Anything.

I fully support this constitutional amendment. I would like to see wording added that includes any POA/HOA can not restrict any form of animal husbandry in general.
