AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

College students oftentimes lack access to consistently accurate and transparent information regarding course requirements, especially for students who transfer from another institution, but this should not be the case with the technology available today.

S.B. 2310 would help prevent avoidable student confusion, frustration, and wasted time and money by increasing transparency for both current students and prospective transfer students regarding the requirements to complete any degrees or similar programs offered by a Texas public institution of higher education.

S.B. 2310 directs the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB), in consultation with Texas institutions of higher education, to adopt minimum standards for Texas institutions of higher education to provide transparency online for both current students and prospective students regarding the requirements for all degrees or certificate programs offered by the institution. These rules shall require that information accessible online is up-to-date—regardless of if the information is posted on an internal student website, the institution's website, or the website of the department offering the degree or certificate program—and comprehensive to include all course requirements, including prerequisites for required courses and non-course requirements required for graduation. This information must also include if those requirements differ between different tracks for completing the degree or certificate program.

Additionally, this bill provides additional transparency for prospective transfer students by requiring the online posting of requirements to transfer into the institution of higher education so that a student desiring to transfer to an institution of higher education may plan one's coursework prior to transferring accordingly, and does not waste time and money on a transfer application if the student does not yet meet the requirements for acceptance.

C.S.S.B. 2310 amends current law relating to transparency regarding requirements to complete a certificate or degree program at a public institution of higher education.
