AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Financial aid displacement occurs when a student receives combined state-based financial aid (e.g., TEXAS Grant) and private gift aid in amounts that exceed their demonstrated financial need and, as a result, has their state-based financial aid reduced. This practice is authorized under Section 56.307, Education Code, in regards to TEXAS Grants, and is required under 19 TAC Rule Section 22.11(d).

Financial aid displacement is widespread and can have severe financial impacts on individual students; across the seven higher education systems in Texas this practice affected over 1,800 students who had their TEXAS Grants reduced, on average, by $2,277. Institutions currently provide students notice of this practice, but this information is often nested in "terms & conditions" forms or "financial responsibility" statements on the institution's website that are inaccessible to students, especially those that are first-generation. Additionally, each institution provides this information to students at different points during the financial aid process and provides vastly different information.

Texas students deserve timely, uniform, and comprehensive information regarding financial aid displacement. Legislation increasing transparency for students is required to ensure young Texans can navigate the financial aid process with the security of mind knowing all of the facts are right in front of them.

The committee substitute for S.B. 2995 will require the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB) to promulgate a uniform financial aid displacement notice that will include a prescribed message that informs students of this practice and advises them to reach out to institutions to seek more information. It will also include a list of the most common causes of financial aid displacement.

Institutions will be required to include on their applications the financial aid displacement notice promulgated by THECB and additional information relating to: financial aid processes at the institution, timelines for the financial aid process, and recommended best practices for students to maximize their financial aid while ensuring they are prepared for financial aid displacement.

S.B. 2995 amends current law relating to the displacement of student financial aid at a public institution of higher education.
