S.C.R. No. 30

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Situated on the Texas coast, Matagorda County provides a diverse set of habitats that welcome hundreds of bird species each year; and

WHEREAS, The county's shoreline and marshes attract birds such as ospreys, pelicans, and egrets, while inland terrains are home to hawks, hummingbirds, blackbirds, and more; along the area's bays and rivers, loons, cormorants, and mergansers can be found, and the county is also on the pathway for numerous migratory species, including flycatchers, vireos, and orioles; and

WHEREAS, Since 1993, the county has participated in the Audubon Christmas Bird Count, and it has consistently earned a top ranking for its rich diversity of species; during the 2023-2024 count, the county had 225 types of birds in its tally, taking first place for locations north of the U.S.-Mexico border; in addition, it had the only examples of such rare birds as the surf scoter and the blue grosbeak; and

WHEREAS, Matagorda County features many conservation areas that help protect bird habitats; these include the Big Boggy National Wildlife Refuge, the Mad Island Wildlife Management Area, The Nature Conservancy's Clive Runnells Family Mad Island Marsh Preserve, the Matagorda Peninsula Coastal Management Area, and the Dog Island Preserve, which together encompass more than 26,000 acres; in addition, residents and visitors can enjoy the region's

1 biodiversity at the Matagorda County Birding Nature Center and the 2 Matagorda Bay Nature Park, and Palacios is the site of the annual 3 Matagorda Bay Birdfest, where attendees can enjoy bird tours, a 4 parade, a youth art contest, and other activities; and

5 WHEREAS, Matagorda County has demonstrated a notable 6 commitment to preserving its abundant natural resources, ensuring 7 that it will continue to host myriad bird species, and the county's 8 status as a premier location to appreciate avian wildlife is indeed 9 deserving of recognition; now, therefore, be it

10 RESOLVED, That the 89th Legislature of the State of Texas
11 hereby designate Matagorda County as the official Birding Capital
12 of Texas; and, be it further
