I do not support public funds going to support private education. The Texas Constitution charges the legislature with making "suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools". If the legislature was to pursue funding that went to private schools, then those schools would no longer be private and would need to comply with all regulations that the public schools are obliged. Further, the lack of compliance with the directive of the Texas Constitution has created a crisis in our public schools. Our schools are now being judged under a system that refuses to acknowledge their part in creating the problem. We support our children. Our children attend public schools. We support our community. We work together to support our future. We ask that you as legislators to understand and respect our needs as the majority being represented and come to a solution that supports our public school system in way that everyone can thrive.

Janabeth Cook

self

Houston, TX

"I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education." I am a retired public educator as were both of my parents and sister. I was raised by dedicated educators and these people make a huge difference in our societies overall! I do not believe that vouchers will be beneficial to students, teachers and families!

Michelle Gowler

Self

Cedar Park, TX

Vouchers will primarily benefit families already able to afford private education, while draining desperately needed funds from underfunded public schools. I urge you to vote against the voucher program and instead fulfill your duty under the Texas Constitution to fully fund public education — for our children and our future.

Brittany Sloan

Self

Pantego, TX

A public hearing at the Texas Capitol is happening on the school voucher bill (HB 3). Use the link below to ensure your opposition is on record. Not a drill.

Here's what I said:

“Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future.

Keke ONeil

Self, stay at home mom

Richmond, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Cyndi Beggs

Self

Rising Star, TX

I am against the education account program.

Elaine Herrick, Mrs.

Salado Area Republican Women

Salado, TX

As a retired educator who taught for 50 years in public, private, and higher education, I know from first-hand experience the value of school choice. Parents know their children's strengths and weaknesses and should have a choice in choosing the most appropriate means of education for them to be successful. For some, this may be in a private school setting where there are smaller classes, more emphasis on teacher-student interaction, and more time for follow-up. Other children may thrive in a public school setting that offers extra-curricular activities and encourages competition. Frankly, I believe school choice should not only be a privilege but a right.

Cara Hartquist

self

Seguin, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3. This will only benefit families that can already afford private education and take away from already poorly funded public schools. My husband is a teacher in one of these schools and none of his coworkers agree with this bill.

Kandi Darnell

Self

Devine, TX

Don't do this to rural students and schools. The other side must be held to the same standards expected of public schools.

Debbie Blatt Greene

Self/National Council of Jewish Women

Dallas, TX

I firmly oppose HB 3. As an educator for 40 years in both public and private schools as well as at UNT, I know that vouchers, by any name, are a horrible choice for Texas children. You will have heard a multitude of reasons, already, opposing vouchers. The rationale for vouchers is deeply flawed. Parents already have the ability to choose their children's schools within their local school districts and, in some cases, in neighboring school districts. There are magnet schools available as well as other schools with specialized programs within many districts. 90% of Texas children are enrolled in public schools and quality private schools don't have to admit every child who applies nor do they necessarily have space for additional students.

In addition, many existing schools simply don't want to and don't need to accept vouchers. In addition, a voucher program adds another layer of administration to both the state and the private school. Texas needs a well educated workforce and underfunding public schools will prevent students from receiving the kind of education they are entitled to.

I wonder who the real beneficiaries of a voucher program are. It's certainly not our children.

Mariel Stotts

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote no on ESAs. I don't want my tax dollars paying for private education vendors.

Lori Espinoza

Self

Houston, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) introduced in 2025, which seeks to expand school vouchers in the state. As a concerned citizen and advocate for quality education for all Texas students, I believe this bill will harm public schools and undermine the core values of equity, fairness, and opportunity in our education system.

Expanding school vouchers would divert much-needed funding away from public schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children. Public schools are the cornerstone of our education system, legally required to accept all students, regardless of background, abilities, or socioeconomic status. By funneling taxpayer dollars to private schools, HB 3 would severely weaken the resources and programs available to students in public schools, especially those who rely on them for a quality education. This move would disproportionately impact students in low-income and underserved communities, who are already facing significant challenges and disparities.

Instead, I recommend increasing funding per student, as research shows this approach has a proven impact on academic performance. A 2023 study from Rice University's Kinder Institute for Urban Research found that increased funding directly improves student outcomes, including academic achievement, behavior, and future employment (source: Rice University Study: <https://kinder.rice.edu/urbanedge/when-it-comes-education-outcomes- we-get-what-we-pay>).

Hispanic, Black, and other marginalized students face disproportionate financial barriers due to systemic racism and historical inequities in education. Increasing per-student funding would help bridge this gap, offering these students greater opportunities for success. A 2021 study from Rutgers University calculated the cost of bringing the average test scores of the poorest 20% of students in each state up to the national average. The study found that in Texas, $12,682 per student annually is needed to close this performance gap (source: Shanker Institute Study: <https://www.shankerinstitute.org/sites/default/files/The%20Real%20Shame%20of%20the%20Nation.pdf>).

While the gap in funding is substantial, it is not insurmountable. By prioritizing alternative legislation that invests directly in public schools, we can ensure all students receive the quality education they deserve.

Elizabeth Reagan
Harlingen CISD
Harlingen, TX

Public schools need funds! Vouchers defund accountable regulated schools which require certified professional teachers. This voucher at max can help 100,000 of our nearly 6 million school age children. Putting those funds into public schools helps far more children directly. We are 38th in per pupil student funding, and all research indicates more funding dollars into public schools directly translates into increased achievement. With one of the largest economies in the country, there are no excuses for not having world class education to prepare students for employment in our critical STEM and health industries.

Stop holding teachers, students, and public schools hostage with inadequate funding bills that require us to choose between additional safety dollars and living wages and up to date textbooks and materials. Our children deserve better, and funding PUBLIC schools adequately is the answer. Vouchers won't even pay the full amount of a private education, and my taxes should not be paying for someone else's choice to homeschool or get an unregulated private education.

I have worked in both charter and public schools in Texas, and achievement outcomes, pay, safety and student wellbeing were far higher in a public setting. As a proud Texan public educator, I now earn $15,000 more than I did working in charters. I have access to far better ongoing training and curricula. I have excellent resources for students struggling with adhd, autism, dyslexia, depression, and intellectual disability and can get them effective resources and assistance far quicker in a public setting. I am also safer, as I experienced harassment from admin and colleagues in a charter school that valued comradismo more than a dedicated experienced teacher with a Master's degree IN education. Countless dollars get wasted in charters like this, and teacher and student wellbeing are far lower. Statistics are manipulated so that 100% graduation rates look amazing, when in reality students with any diagnoses are kicked out and underperformers aren't allowed to graduate without being accepted into college first. Public schools educate ALL students and support high needs instead of demonizing difference.

If our Legislators want healthy, supported, intelligent, career driven students then INVEST IN THEM. We must show accountability for all dollars spent, achievement growth, and prepare and grow knowledgeable educators. Charters do not and until they must follow ALL regulations for a free and appropriate education for ALL students, vouchers will waste taxpayer dollars on ineffective and unregulated education.

Vote NO on this bill, fund us, respect us, and grow ALL 6 million students of our state.

Melissa Puga
Austin ISD and family, school administrator
Austin, TX

Instead of school vouchers we need to revisit the funding formula for public schools. Recapture takes 5 billion taxpayer dollars from our public schools. This should be the focus. Vouchers are harmful to families and students already marginalized by income, ability, and systemic oppression. The voucher system will create a class system that limits and influences an individual's life opportunities based on income levels. Upper class will have access to quality education, while students with disabilities and those who are limited by income will be left with underfunded schools. Students will have no rights or protection to access an equal education opportunities. Children will be at risk for poverty, health disparities and limited to working class jobs. This will be terrible for our economy, we will see the impacts widespread and end up paying for this decision through the downfall of our economic system and greater culture. Say no to vouchers and rewrite state school funding formulas.

Jennifer Beavers
Self
Flower Mound, TX

Why is Donald Trump Jr. a relevant witness for the voucher bill? Surely he's not here based on merit...was he chosen because he is rich, white, and related to the president? This is a DEI speaker if Ive ever heard one.
Stop the steal and FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!!!
Drain the swamp, and please stop allowing unelected, wannabe billionaires to influence Texas public school funding. This is shameful.

Paulett McCowan
SELF
MANSFIELD, TX

Dear Representative,

I am a taxpayer in the State of Texas, so I want it to be documented that I do NOT support vouchers nor an education savings accounts (ESAs) program. In fact, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools in Texas. We have had inflation of over 20% since 2019, the last time funding was provided for Public Schools in Texas. I want it to be documented that I support the following:

an Increase of the Basic Allotment, and
Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflated amount of over 20%.

Representative, we must support our Public Schools with the proper Funding necessary.

Sincerely,

Melanie Masten
Self. Software Developer
Cypress, TX

I oppose HB 3. Similar programs have been implemented in other states and they fail to achieve the goals of "school choice" We should be investing in public education not funneling money away from it. We are only as smart as we educate our children and this bill will effectively reduce the funds to public schools and reduce the quality of education all children deserve to have access to. Keep Texas smart, vote no to HB 3.

Sandra Wright
Self
Lubbock, TX

Vote No!

Grant Tait, Mr.
Self
Dripping Springs, TX

As a working Texas tax payer, I say no to vouchers. I want all resources already going to public schools to stay as it is and I'd like to see the state improve funding to public schools.

It is simple. Texas needs to improve school funding and stop trying to skew the data to meet the wants of a few Texans. Instead, Texas needs to strengthen its majority through public school education and programs. Strengthen our future.

No to school vouchers and no to diverting funds away from public schools.

Do the job you have been elected by the majority to do.

Heather Lloyd

Self

Buda, TX

An ESA would be the first step to dismantling our public education system. HB3 is negligible, unconstitutional, and discriminatory. Please consider fully funding our public education system by increasing the per student funding to $1500. Pulling money away from public schools through the use of ESAs would force the further decline of our public schools. The data in other states that use these voucher programs has not proven to help our education system in this country. Illinois ended their program because it cost tax payers way too much and Arizona, the first state to implement a universal voucher program, has the worst ranking public school system in our country. Please look to options that will strengthen our public education system rather than the one that will inevitably be its demise. Texas children and teachers deserve better.

Camryn Mincey

Self and moms everywhere!

Austin, TX

Public schools cannot afford ANY type of funding going elsewhere. I voted for Abbott and have always voted conservative and this is absolutely asinine. The lack of ethics behind this is extremely disheartening and this will change how I, and moms all across Texas, vote moving forward. Don't mess with our kids. We are not loyal to a political party when it comes to our children. What a complete disgrace!

Melissa Hall

Self (and my children)

Cypress, TX

“Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.”

Samanda Miller

Self

Rowlett, TX

Vouchers will do nothing to improve educational outcomes of Texas students, particularly the most needy students. Vouchers funnel taxpayer money intended for public use to private schools and will bankrupt the TRS fund. Public schools need to be fully funded at levels that take inflation into account as well as the possible loss of federal funds.

Beverly Vandegrift

Self

Austin, TX

This bill is NOT in the public interest or the interest of the future of the State of Texas. This will only help the wealthy and will decimate our public schools which are already under intense financial pressure due to the low level of funding already from the state. It's a vicious cycle. Look at the data from other states who have gone to vouchers - test scores and learning declined. Students suffer

Sheila Taylor
LEWISVILLE ISD
Highland Village, TX

Writing as a parent in Lewisville ISD and as an elected school board member. Vouchers (ESAs) will hurt our districts that are already struggling to survive and many parents including myself do not support this. Our district already has school choice; we have an open district and accept transfer requests from parents that want their children to attend schools they are not zoned for. We request that our public schools be funded, as we are paying 2025 bills with 2019 funds. The basic allotment of $6,610 per child has not been increased since 2019 but costs (insurance, property maintenance, gas, electric, water, etc.) have skyrocketed. Our teachers deserve a livable wage but with recapture and the basic allotment being stagnant, we are struggling to even give them cost of living wages. Our students deserve opportunities and programs and schools that do not close along with our teachers deserving to be paid their worth. Please take the surplus that is being used for vouchers and redirect that money to the public schools where it belongs. We are doing some great things in Lewisville ISD - please do not hurt our schools with this bill. As you know public schools take every child but private schools do not. They will also not have the same accountability with standardized testing and other metrics. We do not want vouchers. We want the proper investment into our public schools. Thank you for reading my comments!

Wendi Aarons
Self Bee Cave, TX
NO VOUCHERS

Ariel Rocha
Self
San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Sara Hatfield
Self
Austin, TX
No to vouchers

Brad Dieringer
self
Austin, TX
Representatives,

I implore you to vote NO on HB3. Diverting funds from public education to private schools will only harm students from underfunded and small school districts. My brother, sister, and I graduated from a 3A high school that gave us the foundation to study engineering in college and go on to careers in industry. Stripping more funding from small Texas schools will weaken the education of our current students while also providing fewer job-ready candidates for the industries we work in.

My sons are thriving in public schools, but that is often in spite of the funding shortages. We see the turnover of experienced educators leaving the profession for better paying opportunities or early retirement. Parent booster groups have to fund raise for basic supplies we received in athletics and band 30 years ago. This is opposite of Texas leading the nation in education.

Thank you for your consideration,
Brad Dieringer

Roxann Morris
Teachers
Shallowater, TX
No vouchers

Julianan Campbell self/ business development coordinator
Buda, TX

I am a mother of three children, one with disabilities- autism, adhd. Our public schools are already severely underfunded, the staff underpaid. Vouchers continue to discriminate against students with disabilities, strip away students' human and civil rights, and exacerbate racial segregation. These vouchers do not even provide enough for low income families to even consider a private school. They are at least 10k SHORT! That same amount 10K per student should be applied to each student in public school. Why are they not worth the same amount of money? Investing in our public schools is a true investment in community. Taking PUBLIC funds away that should go to THE PUBLIC and support students with disabilities, low income, give them an equal chance at a fair education. Vote NO, please. From all the mother's of special needs kids, that want all kids to thrive in our community.

Joyce Giblin
Self taxpayer, grandparent
College Station, TX

I do not support HB3 or any form of school vouchers/schol choice scam. The evidence is clear throughout the country this does not work. Fully fund and support public education and our teachers for ALL CHILDREN of Texas!!

Erica Martindale Myself, clerk
Austin, TX

I work at a school. I see how much the teachers are doing. Kids deserve support for themselves and their teachers. Please fund public education! Vouchers are not needed or wanted

Jose Trigo
Self
Edinburg, TX

Vote no on vouchers! Don't let billionaires steal from the public!

Catherine Harris, Licensed Specialist in School Psychology

Self

Highland Village, TX

I have major concerns about the impact of this bill on the vast majority of Texas children and families. I am not against the idea of encouraging parent choice and even incentivizing new private schools to open, however, the bill as currently written is problematic for several reasons. First: the voucher amount is not enough to make private school tuition affordable for most families, so with the exception of a small amount of upper middle class families, the beneficiaries will be families who are already able to afford private school tuition. Second: even if many families found a way to afford private school tuition with the vouchers (perhaps by taking out loans), there are not enough private schools in Texas to handle an influx of new students. Third: private schools that accept public funding through vouchers should be required to meet the same accountability requirements as public schools. Things like state testing, attendance requirements, etc. Fourth: the additional allotment of voucher money for students with disabilities is woefully insufficient. No private school would choose to offer support to a child with increased learning or behavioral needs with the amount of voucher money included in the current bill. And finally: public education is an investment in the long-term economic stability of our country. We should want an educated population. We should want to give children whose families are of limited financial means the opportunity to fulfill their potential. In order for the next great thinkers, leaders, and entrepreneurs to emerge, we need to give all children a baseline foundation of skills that will allow them to unlock their potential and be contributing members of our society. This voucher bill will leave so many children behind, and our state will ultimately suffer as a result.

Michelle Bell

Self, teacher

Roanoke, TX

Texas House Bill 3 proposes an Education Savings Account (ESA) program that would allow public funds to be redirected to private schools, including religious institutions. While framed as expanding "school choice," this bill undermines the core principles of public education, threatens funding for public schools, and lacks essential safeguards for equity, transparency, and accountability.

Public education is a cornerstone of democracy, designed to provide every child—regardless of background—with equal access to quality learning. HB3 diverts taxpayer dollars from public schools to subsidize private education, which can exclude students based on religion, disability, academic performance, or disciplinary history. This undermines the very idea of equitable access and leaves the most vulnerable students behind in increasingly underfunded public systems.

Private schools that would receive ESA funds are not held to the same academic, financial, or operational standards as public schools. They are not required to administer state tests, hire certified teachers, or follow public accountability measures. This lack of oversight means public funds could be spent on institutions that do not demonstrate student success or financial responsibility, with little to no recourse for parents or taxpayers.

Moreover, HB3 disproportionately benefits families who can already afford private school tuition. The proposed ESA amount is unlikely to cover full tuition at most private institutions, effectively making this a subsidy for wealthier families, not a meaningful choice for low-income Texans. Meanwhile, rural communities—where private school options are scarce or nonexistent—gain nothing from the bill, while still facing the consequences of reduced public school funding.

Texas public schools are already under strain from rising costs, teacher shortages, and aging infrastructure. Redirecting funding through ESAs only exacerbates these problems. The focus should instead be on strengthening public education for all students through investment in teacher support, mental health services, curriculum enrichment, and facility improvements.

HB3 prioritizes ideology over impact. It promotes privatization at the expense of public good and creates a two-tiered education system that favors a few while harming the many. Texas should reject HB3 and reaffirm its commitment to a strong, inclusive, and accountable public education system that serves every child.

Rachel Myers

Self; finance administrator, homeschool teacher, university contractor

Lubbock, TX

Let Texans vote on this. I homeschool full-time in Texas. Would it be helpful to have what we pay in taxes for public education go to our own expenses? Absolutely. But that's not what this bill is or will do. Use a tax credit and stop trying to manage or tie up people who choose academic freedom.

Holly Gorman
Texas Parent
AUSTIN, TX

I oppose the creation of a voucher system. We should be investing in fully funding our public education system rather than giving taxpayer money to private schools.

Alison Steir
Self
Austin, TX

Please represent all teachers and not self interest. Say NO to HB3 and do not hold student and teacher funds ransom until Governor Abbott gets school vouchers as he has since 2019. If the bill combines ESA and increases in student and teacher $ - that is cruel and manipulative.
Thank you for truly representing US,
Alison Steir

Ashley Harrell
Self
Dallas, TX

We do not want vouchers- it will take money away from our already underfunded public school system, give a discount to the rich already going to private schools and still allow private schools to take whoever they want. This will not benefit most Texans.
No to vouchers!

Nikayela Lockett, Attorney
Self
Grand Prairie, TX

I strongly disagree with this bill. The effects of this bill could possibly dismantle public education. Texas is already a choice state. Parents currently have many different choices when it comes to the education their child receives. I ask that you vote no, and fully fund public schools.

Amanda Bossert
Self, Compliance Advisor
Katy, TX

The vast majority do want vouchers / school choice! Listen to Texans.

Gloria Lozano
Self
San Antonio, TX

Vouchers is not the way to go. The wealthy of Texas already pay for choice. Plus private institutions get to pick and choose what type of students they want. Public education teaches all. Public education is the way to go. Give public schools the funds they need.

Kevin Wulff
Self
San Antonio, TX

Do not pass this theft of public funds. Our public schools are the foundation of our united American society. This private savings account is unpatriotic at its core!

Roberto Cardenas

self/retired

Austin, TX

This bill should not be passed. Public money should be spent on public schools not vouchers for private schools. If the state properly funded public schools there wouldn't be the push for vouchers. As a product of the public school system as well as my two kids in public schools I got a well rounded education. School districts having to scramble to make cuts in order to make budget is detrimental to the future of our state kids. We need tax dollars spent on teachers, facilities, and kids. Thank you

Gary Campos

Self

Frisco, TX

Put the money for vouchers back into public schools. This is welfare for the rich.

Angela Aramburu

Self

San Antonio, TX

As a strong advocate for public education and a community-engaged leader, I stand firmly against House Bill 3 and any efforts to divert taxpayer dollars away from our neighborhood schools to fund private school vouchers.

Public schools are the foundation of our communities, serving all students regardless of background, ability, or income. HB 3 threatens to undermine this foundation by redirecting critical resources from already underfunded public schools to private institutions that are not held to the same accountability and transparency standards.

Vouchers do not expand choice—they weaken the choices available to the vast majority of Texas families who rely on public schools. Instead of prioritizing an unproven voucher system that primarily benefits a select few, we should be investing in proven solutions: reducing class sizes, increasing teacher pay, and improving student resources.

Our students, teachers, and families deserve better. I urge our legislators to oppose HB 3 and stand up for Texas public schools.

Craig Campbell

Retired self

Austin, TX

This is a terrible idea brought to you by the same people who trying to destroy the US Department of Education. It will materially hurt public schools and public school children. The billionaires who are pulling the strings so that they can turn the education of children over to Wall Street bankers and Christian Nationalists. It is welfare for the rich, like providing vouchers for housing. Eligibility for housing is limited to 200% of the poverty line, but this bill provides a 500% threshold.

Jessi Tuomala

Self

Leander, TX

Hi, I am Jessi from 78641 and I am demanding the representative vote NO on HB3. Vouchers will harm public education in Texas by taking away money from public schools and funneling it to private schools that aren't held to the same accountability standards by the state. Parents in Texas ALREADY have school choice as many districts offer open enrollment, there are charter schools, and parents can also choose to send their children to private schools. Public tax dollars should NOT fund private education. Please show your support for public education, Texas students, and teachers by voting NO on HB3.

Robert Blain
Self - Educator
Houston, TX

This bill is bad for cities. This bill is bad for school districts. This bill is bad for rural areas. All it does it take money that should be going to public schools, cities, counties, farmers, and every other entity and putting it in the hands of donors. Voting for this bill is selling your soul and your integrity to donors for the sake of that cushy $600/month. My integrity and my students are worth more than that.

Jessalyn Woods
Self; Counselor
Abilene, TX

Texans do not want Education Savings Accounts. You'll never admit it, but this is welfare for the wealthy. Most of the families that could use ESAs won't have access to it, and most of the families that will have access to ESAs don't need the money because they're already paying for a private school education for their child(ren). If you want your child to have a private education, scrimp and save and make sacrifices within your family to make this happen. I went to public school K-12 in Abilene ISD and benefitted greatly from my public education. I also have the private and public school college experiences; Bachelors for Abilene Christian University (my family and I scrimped and saved and made sacrifices for me to attend ACU) and Masters from Angelo State University. Now, I have worked in public schools for 12 years and can say we are terribly underfunded. ESAs will destroy public schools but that's what Greg Abbott wants for Texas. I should also mention that Cecilia Abbott is on a private school board... this private school doesn't need our public funding. Texans don't want ESAs! Keep public dollars in public schools!

Erin Gray
Self- USPS Management
Sunnyvale, TX

Texas House Bill 3 is a direct attack on public education. Instead of properly funding our schools, supporting teachers, and ensuring students have the resources they need, this bill pushes a voucher scheme that siphon taxpayer dollars away from public schools to fund private education with little accountability. Vouchers are NOT the answer—they divert critical funding from already underfunded schools, widening the gap between privileged and struggling students. Even with bipartisan opposition, Greg Abbott is forcing this through, ignoring the will of the people and the lawmakers who know this bill will do more harm than good. If we truly care about the future of Texas education, we should be strengthening our public schools, not dismantling them for political gain.

Terri Adams
Terri Adams, Teacher
Canton, TX

Vote no on vouchers. Please listen to the May of Texans who oppose this bill. I'm sure I'm you're aware it is not wanted by most Texans. Support public education.

Jessica Watkins
Self
Dallas, TX

This isn't the answer. Public schools need funding. The vouchers are not the answers. Private schools are not held to the same standards that public schools are. All children are entitled to public schools and that is where all the funding should go. Strengthen our schools and make us better!

Loraine Martinez
Self
San Antonio, TX

I oppose this legislation.

Courtney Bailes

Myself/teacher/parent/wife of former state representative

Shepherd, TX

I am in strong opposition of this bill. I know first hand the political games that our Governor is playing and the threats for primaries for Republican opposition. I've experienced its wrath. I also experience the reward of being in a rural classroom teaching everyday and I know what's at stake if this bill passes. The potential of these children is much greater than than the risk of losing your 'position.' Do what is right by your constituents, do what is right by children. Sleep well without selling your soul.

Kari Blalack

Teacher

Castroville, TX

Say no to vouchers!

John Buchanan

Self

Sanger, TX

I am writing to oppose HB 3. This bill will grow government and increase the burden on taxpayers. It will create more government employee positions and grow government spending.

Our government should be focusing on returning local control to districts, increasing the basic allotment, and increasing teacher pay. Instead, this bill focuses on proving subsidies to private schools.

Justin Michaelsen

Self

Corpus Christi, TX

Anyone regardless of party or If liked them before that votes for a school "choice" or a voucher program will never understand any circumstance receive a vote from me again. I'm basically a 1 issue voter now.

Kaitlin McDermott

Self

Farmers Brnch, TX

Education Savings Accounts will take money away from the public education system that hasn't been fully funded since the last session. ESAs will not give parents choice bc private schools choose kids. There is no open enrollment at private schools. Additionally, ESAs advantage the rich who already send their kids to private school. There are few private schools that cost less than $10k per year, so parents who don't have disposable income will still not be able to afford a private school. On that note, this will also open up the doors for unregulated, cheap, private religious schools to open. They will not provide the high quality education our students deserve. Focus on legislation that will help fix the existing public schools (like teacher pay, high quality instructional materials adoptions, teacher training programs) rather than giving a gift to the rich.

Finally, most rural districts don't have a private option for kids to attend. Therefore, a focus on fixing the existing system would benefit kids regardless of where they live.

JAMES GALLAGHER

self

JONESTOWN, TX

"House Bill 3 represents a fundamental shift in how Texas funds education, and its financial implications reveal a stark contrast between the value placed on school choice versus the value placed on public education.

Under HB 3, parents who opt for private school vouchers through Education Savings Accounts will receive approximately $10,500 per student—a figure significantly higher than the proposed basic allotment of $6,380 per student for public school. Public schools would receive over $4,000 less per student than families choosing private education. And the money provided to private schools has virtually no-strings attached while the public school money comes with a boatload of state mandates.

To put this in perspective, take two typical families, each with 2 school age children and each family pays $4000 in local school taxes per year. Joe Private's family would receive around $21,000 from the state in an ESA to attend private school, whereas, Joe Public's family would get $12760 from the state towards their public school. But that's not quite accurate since public schools never achieve 100% attendance. So let's shave a few percentage points off that for a more realistic $12000 per year. So the Privates get $21000 and the Public's get $12000. That's a whopping $9000 difference per year. Over 13 years of schooling that over $115000 more for Joe Private's family.

This is not a fair system of state funding and I doubt that anyone of you can argue otherwise, not honestly anyway.

The question taxpayers and lawmakers must ask is: If Texas can afford to invest $10,500 per child for private school tuition, why does the state continue to fund public school students at a much lower rate? HB 3's numbers make clear that 'choice' is valued at a premium, while public school students are expected to receive significantly less from the state. Local jurisdictions will have to continue to raise taxes on themselves to make up for the lack in state funding. And the state will claw back more and more of those local funds via recapture to use on private schools.

To level the state funding playing field, allow parents to use their ESA for public or private school options. Put all choices on the table equally. You may say making HB3 fair is not affordable. The state cannot afford to pick up the full funding tab across the board. I say to you then, go back to square one and look at what the Texas constitution requires. Texas courts have repeatedly ruled that the school finance system must be equitable and adequate. There is no constitutional requirement to fund private education at all and certainly not at a rate higher than the state pays for public schools. HB3 fails by creating a double standard, one for private and one for public. It gives preference for state tax dollars to private education at the detriment of public education.

Miriah Sachs

Self

Houston, TX

I as a homeschooler vehemently oppose HB3. Taxpayer-funded voucher programs as detailed by SB2 and HB3, create a new welfare/subsidy program, creating administrative overhead, and shifting control away from parents and towards bureaucrats and vendors for profit.

Voucher programs jeopardize the unique freedoms currently enjoyed by homeschoolers in Texas. Families should have the autonomy to educate their children according to their own values and beliefs, without government interference including strings such as being limited to curriculum or materials approved by entities who are not the parent, and testing that has absolutely no benefit to the child at a high administrative cost that does not truly indicate knowledge.

Even though many Texas “school choice” advocates say that homeschoolers will “only” be subject to accountability measures – such as accreditation or standardized testing – if they opt into the ESA program, those are still government regulations that take autonomy away from families. We know that government programs never reduce in size or scope, and homeschoolers in other ESA states are already having to fight to differentiate themselves from those who do take the government money. Texas is unique in their current homeschooling freedoms, and we are not willing to risk those by acquiescing in the name of “accountability.” Thus far, proposals in Texas have not been about freedom of education choices, but about funding of educational choices.

I encourage the Texas legislature to explore alternatives to ESAs, such as tax exemptions that allow families to use their own money to choose the educational options that best suit their needs. This gives ALL Texas children more options without growing government or loss of freedom. A No Child in District Tax Exemption would give everyone access to choice and let parents truly decide how to direct the education of their children

Kayla Lain

self

Godley, TX

My name is Kayla Lain, a parent of three. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of “parental empowerment.” I would like to ask Representative Kerwin to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing “school choice” legislation like HB 3. This bill is overreach of government. We do not want the strings like tracking of college and career readiness, mandatory state assessments, and pre approved curriculum providers. Please vote no on this bill which violates the republican plank 84 of no strings attached school choice. Thank you!

Kendall Harrison

Self

Buffalo Gap, TX

Dear Texas Representative,

I am writing on behalf of myself, fellow public school educators, parents, and concerned Texas citizens. As a mother, a public school history teacher, a taxpayer, a voter, and a deeply invested community member, I urge you to oppose HB2&3 and any other school voucher programs that threaten the future of public education in Texas.

Governor Abbott and the Senate have presented a misleading narrative regarding public school funding, but my administration and local school board can tell you a much different story—one that reflects the real struggles our schools face. HB2&3 would be detrimental to Texas public schools, redirecting taxpayer dollars away from public education to fund private institutions with little to no accountability.

Where is the oversight for private schools receiving these funds? What standardized assessments will their students take to ensure academic progress? How does this bill address concerns about the separation of church and state when public dollars are funneled into private religious schools? These are fundamental questions that remain unanswered.

The truth is, this bill does not serve the majority of Texas children. It primarily benefits families already attending private schools, while public school students—especially those in rural and lower-income communities—will continue to suffer from underfunding. There is no significant evidence that vouchers will lead to a large-scale shift of public school students into private schools. Instead, HB2&3 will divert crucial funds from the public education system, leaving teachers, students, and schools with fewer resources and greater challenges.

Public education is the backbone of our state, and it is our duty to protect and strengthen it, not weaken it with ineffective and inequitable policies. I urge you to vote against HB2&3 and any voucher program that prioritizes politics over the well-being of Texas children. Instead, let's focus on fully funding and improving our public schools, ensuring every child receives the quality education they deserve.

Thank you for your time and dedication to serving the people of Texas. I hope you will stand with educators, parents, and students by opposing HB2&3.

Sincerely,

Kendall Harrison

Abilene, TX

Beverly Henderson

self, teacher

Richmond, TX

Providing state money to schools that do not have to follow state guidelines is wrong. Any school receiving any type of state funding should have the same requirements - all state testing and required student enrollment. Private school have the ability to make choices which improve learning that a public school does not have. If I did not have to teach to make sure my students are successful on a test, I would be able to teach to the individual needs of my students. I do not get to choose who is in my classroom and yet the expectation is that every student show growth. Until there is an even playing field, no state funding for private schools.

Cynthia Hendrickson

Self

Kingwood, TX

I am a retired public school teacher and request no vouchers! Vouchers will not benefit our students. Our State needs to fund public schools, not give money to private schools!

Michael Owens
Self
Mt Enterprise, TX

I strongly oppose using public tax dollars for private schools. Our money would be better spent fully funding public schools. If public money is siphoned to private entities, all of the rules, education code, and STAAR testing should follow the money so that taxpayers can hold those entities accountable.

Monica Trevino
Self
Allen, TX

No to Vouchers!!!

Jania Nicholson
Self
San Antonio, TX

No to vouchers!!!!

Sarah Kate Miller
Self
Richardson, TX

I do not support this bill or any form of education savings accounts. Increase the basic allotment for public education with the money that is set aside for this bill.

Kyandra Greene
self- Program Coordinator in Higher Education
Bryan, TX

Urging my representative to vote NO on HB3 due to its harmful impact on public schools and to communities within the school environment.

Amber Hallows

Self

Hitchcock, TX

Opposition to Texas HB3 – Protect Public Education

Dear Representatives,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to Texas House Bill 3, which would divert public tax dollars to private schools through a voucher system. This bill is a direct attack on our public education system and would harm the vast majority of Texas students.

Texas already has school choice—parents are free to enroll their children in private schools or homeschooling if they choose. However, using taxpayer dollars to fund private education, which is not subject to the same accountability and transparency as public schools, is not only unfair but also fiscally irresponsible.

HB3 would primarily benefit families who can already afford private school tuition while taking away crucial funding from public schools, which serve the majority of Texas children, including those from low-income and rural communities. Instead of funneling money away from our public education system, we should be focusing on increasing teacher pay, improving school infrastructure, and ensuring that all students have access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to vote against HB3 and stand with Texas students, teachers, and families who rely on strong public schools. Please prioritize policies that support public education rather than dismantling it for the benefit of a privileged few.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Amber E. Hallows

Ellen McCollum

Self

Richardson, TX

As a retired TX Special Ed teacher, I am opposed to HB3, vouchers. I believe this bill will eventually harm public schools by dwindling funds, & especially now that Trump is closing DoEd. I believe in public education, for the greater good, especially for the at-risk kids from poor homes whose folks won't be able to afford private schools, even with vouchers. Siphoning off funds from public school programs which specifically target these kids will be catastrophic. Please continue to put ALL TX public school kids first!

Alyssa Stiglets

Self

Dallas, TX

Why is the amount of basic allocation so much less for public school students than for private school students? Are my children really worth that much less to the state of Texas? Increase basic allotment to MATCH any voucher for private school students.

Amy Moore, Mrs.

Self, bakery owner

Houston, TX

Please oppose HB3. This is not a feasible plan for Texas education and will bankrupt the program like it has done in other surrounding states.

Clare Stratmann
Self
Temple, TX

I am adamantly AGAINST a school voucher system. It does not help the most vulnerable students, it does not help our public schools.

Daniella Lopez Valdez Brownsville ISD
Brownsville, TX

According to Don't Defund My Schools, implementing a large voucher program would drain $15,192,173 from Brownsville ISD, diverting critical resources away from public schools to private institutions that lack public accountability. That could mean as many as 283 fewer teachers for students, 303,843 fewer library books, and a projected increase in student-teacher ratio of 7.29%.

HB 3 does not provide for parental choice, because it allows private schools to reject students based on their disability, race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Specifically, Section 29.368 of the bill gives private schools unprecedented autonomy, including the ability to reject any student for any reason. Many private schools will likely turn away students who are already struggling in public schools. All students deserve to have equal access to quality education and the same opportunities to succeed, regardless of their background. Texans would be better served by increasing funding to our community schools, which accept all of our children regardless of their background, ability, or identity.

Texas already offers school choice through inter-district transfers in BISSD and other districts, as well as numerous public charter school options. Vouchers Do Not Equal "Choice."
— Thank you for all you do.

Victoria Herdman
Self
Austin, TX

I am a public school teacher in Round Rock ISD, and I know that school vouchers will hurt public schools. It gives money to people who can already afford private schools, and that's not where our money should be going. Kids need school supplies, things like tissues and new desks and tables. I believe in parents having choice of where they send their kids to school; that includes public school. School vouchers will take funding from schools who really need it. There are areas in Texas that have no charter schools; if their public school loses their funding, where will those students go to school? I believe that everyone deserves an education, and school vouchers doesn't help make that happen. It is the job of our government to serve the people; I'm asking you to serve the people by keeping public schools open. I'm asking you as a teacher, as a constituent, and as a proud Texan.

Elizabeth Hooten
Self
Greenville, TX

There is nothing right about my tax dollars going to provide a private education for a student. The money should go to improving the teachers salaries, the schools and the out of pocket expense the teachers are required to take out of their own pockets just to have what is needed to run a classroom. Keep my tax dollars where they belong in the public schools. Pay teachers better, add more assistants to help, supply every item needed to teach. I in no way support giving vouchers to pay for a private education for anyone.

Heather Goodgion
Self & family. Retired
Galveston, TX

I am a mother of two who has always had the option and means to send my children, and now grandchildren, to private school but chose, instead, to have them educated in the diverse, inclusive environment provided at public schools while being taught by credentialed teachers. The solution to providing a well-rounded education for all children is already in place. Simply fund our public schools.

I'm asking that Representative Leo-Wilson, as well as other representatives, please take into account the overwhelming opposition to this bill and vote accordingly. I, like most others, do not want my tax dollars used to fund private schools. I thank each of you for your hard work, and I beg that you please remember that you were elected to represent your constituents.

Heather H Goodgion

Jill Davis
School social workers
Richmond, TX

I work in the school system. There are hardly any private schools locally and most are religious based. We have no local transportation available to take kids to schools faraway. We already do without funding and teachers are overworked and stressed out because running the dept of education from the federal level and state level no nothing. There are no choices locally that anyone can choose from. This is all about the people who can already afford private school. This will exclude kids with learning differences, this will exclude families who work a job schedule that doesn't allow them the ability to take and pick up kids from school. This is about supporting the rich. This is not about supporting everyone. The government is picking and choosing. We already rank pathetically low in our schools compared to other states. We often have to buy our own paper and supplies. People will Leave education because there will be nothing supporting education. How can anyone feel good about this voucher system when it takes so much away from the majority??? How do you live with yourself and wake up knowing what you are really creating? It's disgusting and demeaning to everyone who lives in the state of Texas. I have no pride in living in this state. I am only embarrassed and looking at how I can move. You don't represent all of us, only the rich and you all should be ashamed of yourselves. You only want to line the pockets of your donors.

Allison Brim
Self
Dallas, TX

I am against this bill. I am a public school parent and do not want any of my tax dollars going toward private schools.

Jessica Swan
Self
Temple, TX

Vouchers should not be awarded to private schools. It's Our children's right to a fair and free education. Private schools pick and choose who they allow in their schools. Leaving out the majority of the population. No special education, teachers don't even have to be certified to teach. People with children in private schools have the resources already to pay for their child's education. Vouchers are welfare for the rich, and we already know how the rich feel about welfare.

Public schools and teachers need all, and more, of the money the state and federal government gives them. NO TO VOUCHERS.

Erica Yarger, Mrs.

self

Cypress, TX

I strongly oppose Texas House Bill 3 and the establishment of an education savings account program. Public funds should remain in public schools, ensuring accountability and equitable access to quality education for all students. Diverting taxpayer dollars to private entities undermines our public education system and the communities it serves.

Please vote against HB 3 and prioritize strengthening public schools instead

Allison Crow

Self

Austin, TX

House Bill 3 (HB 3) has raised serious concerns, and I am angry that it has made it this far. I strongly oppose it for several reasons:

1. Government Overreach & Unfunded Mandates

HB 3 places unnecessary and burdensome requirements on school districts, particularly in terms of security measures, without providing adequate funding. This forces schools to either divert money from essential educational programs or scramble to find alternative funding sources.

2. Strain on Public Education

Our public schools are already struggling with teacher shortages, lack of resources, and budget constraints. Instead of addressing these pressing issues, HB 3 adds another layer of bureaucracy and financial strain, making it harder for schools to focus on their primary mission: educating students.

3. One-Size-Fits-All Approach

The bill imposes security mandates that may not be practical or necessary for all schools, especially smaller districts that lack the infrastructure to implement them effectively. Local school boards and educators should have more control over decisions that impact their students, rather than being forced to comply with rigid state mandates.

4. Political Posturing Over Real Solutions

HB 3 appears to be more about political optics than meaningful change. If lawmakers genuinely cared about school safety, they would ensure that schools have proper funding, mental health resources, and the flexibility to implement security measures that best fit their needs.

5. Ignoring the Root Causes of School Safety Issues

Throwing unfunded mandates at schools does not address the real challenges affecting student safety, such as mental health support, social services, and gun reform. Instead of a comprehensive approach to school safety, HB 3 offers a narrow, reactive solution that fails to consider broader systemic issues.

In short, HB 3 is a poorly designed, underfunded mandate that places an unfair burden on schools without delivering real solutions. I believe in policies that empower educators, prioritize funding for education, and genuinely enhance school safety—not politically motivated legislation that does more harm than good.

Amanda King-Schultz

Self

Austin, TX

All children deserve access to exceptional public education, regardless of socioeconomic status. All children deserve the opportunity to succeed. Vouchers undermine public schools by diverting funds, leading to decreased services and unequal educational opportunities. Voucher programs increase the cost of educating students who remain in public schools, while benefitting higher-income families paying for private schools. Private school tuition is out of reach for most low-income families, regardless of available vouchers. Using state funds to help wealthy families pay for private school tuition is wrong. Please do not support this bill. Please do not hurt our children by working to dismantle public education. All students should have access to a free and equal high-quality education without discrimination.

Kelly Roquet

Self

Temple, TX

Wrong for Texas. Wrong anywhere. It undermines public schools, discriminates against students, accountability lacks in private schools, there's proof that this doesn't improve students' achievements, this only benefits the wealthy, it hurts public transparency, DOES NOT MEET THE NEEDS OF STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES, completely undermines public education, and does not solve any real issues that parents want resolved in schools. This just aims at providing options for the privileged while education is a RIGHT! Most importantly, this VIOLATES the First Amendment of the Constitution. Separation of Church and State was what America was founded on.

Sabia Siddiqi

self

Austin, TX

Please give more funding to our public schools and do not move forward with vouchers in any form. Vouchers are not the answer to creating a well-educated population. Please support our hard working parents who can't afford private schools, even with vouchers, and who believe every child is entitled to an education.

Megan Dear

Self/Parent

Austin, TX

I am against the establishment of a public savings account for schools in Texas. Not only does it deny funds that are better served to bolster our public education system, it gives my tax money to people who do not need it and can already afford to send their kids to private school. The total allotment neither covers the entire cost of attendance including tuition, uniforms, or supplies required by these schools, nor does it do anything to prevent private schools from then raising their prices after the voucher has been put into place. There are already scholarship programs that are readily utilized for the few they want to include in their programs. Many rural counties don't even have private schools available to them within a reasonable distance, making it impractical or even impossible for them to attend. Where is the choice in that? Furthermore, public schools are given money based on daily attendance and enrollment, so assuming this program actually did what you claim it will (which it won't), it will further remove money from our public schools which are already sorely underfunded. This bill is outrageous in its blatant move to privatize public education, further a religious agenda to erode the separation between church and state, and garner more power and money for those that already have it making the divide between those that have and have not even greater.

John Dickson

Self

Dallas, TX

If you vote to pass this bill it means one of two things, either you aren't very intelligent or you don't care in the least about the people you are supposed to be taking care of. Either way if you vote yes and this bill passes you need to be replaced with someone with a modicum of intelligence and an actual sense of decency. Quit kissing Abbot's ring, actually consider what's best for the people you are supposed to serve and Vote NO!

Amanda Bossert

Self

Katy, TX

The majority of Texans are opposed to HB 3 or using public taxpayer dollars for private schools. The ultimate effects of HB 3 will only benefit a small percentage of Texas children and deteriorate public school education as well as our communities, which Texans do not want. Please do what is right and listen to us, your constituents. Do not use public funds for private matters.

Jesse Coulter

Self

Georgetown, TX

Taxpayer funds need to go to Public NOT Private Schools!

Our Public Schools have been neglected for 5 years - DO NOT send Public dollars to Private Schools.

Billionaires do NOT dictate how taxpayers dollars are spent. Stand up for the hard-working Texans.

Vouchers HURT our neighborhood schools!

Vouchers HURT our rural communities !

We HAVE choice in our public schools right now! But the legislature is NOT funding CHOICE in public schools!

Texan billionaires just want WHITE, CHRISTIAN PRIVATE schools! We do NOT agree and you need to demonstrate courage and commitment to hard-working Texans and say NO!

We voted you into office to represent US -- say NO to VOUCHERS!

The Texas Senate was bought out by the Billionaire Texans -- the House needs to represent the people of Texas and show more courage!

State government has a constitutional responsibility to adequately fund public schools. Let's start doing that ! 5.5 million children are depending on it !

James Trietsch

Personal

Abilene, TX

I am opposed to the school voucher program. I believe that it is harmful to public schools and urge you to deny the bill's approval.

Molly Hornbuckle

self

Georgetown, TX

We give you our tax dollars for use for the PUBLIC GOOD, not private schools. Vouchers will cripple our PUBLIC schools, especially in rural areas. This is a shameful use of taxpayer dollars and a shirking of your responsibility to serve ALL Texas children!

Gerald Turner, Mr.

Self -retired teacher

San Antonio, TX

The state of public education in Texas is appalling ranked 29th nationally. It is also the 11th LOWEST in spending per pupil. Taking public dollars and giving to private schools is idiotic. If families want a private education let them find private money. The proposed vouchers will actually cause students in public schools to receive a lower rate of tax dollars spent per student in public schools. Vouchers will NOT increase Texas's national rank, it will lower it. Do not pass this legislation.

Henry Culpepper

Cypress Fairbanks ISD

Houston, TX

No ESAs! No Vouchers! Protect my public school!

Sarah Millerhouse

Self

Katy, TX

Please vote NO to any bill that includes vouchers. Vouchers defund public education and will not benefit the students in our state. Vote to fully fund public education, and do not allow the governor to continue holding our public school funds hostage. Vouchers are not about what is good for our kids...vouchers are good for Abbott's bottom line and his own pockets. Vote NO.

Tiffany Rabe

Self-physician

Dallas, TX

Taxes are paid to go to our public schools and should stay in public schools. By funding private schools, money that would never have been spent by the state is now bolstering the profits of schools that are already full. There aren't enough private schools to even hold a fraction of the people that have private schools in their district so it would only mean giving money to private schools that previously would not have had free government funding. In Dallas the private schools are located in the richest areas of town, far from any people that could potentially benefit from private education. The money should be used to help the schools in low income areas have more parent involvement, more enrichment programs, and higher teacher salaries to recruit the best teachers to these areas. Private schools aren't going anywhere and don't need tax dollars for funding.

Katie Dahlquist

Self

Austin, TX

Public money should only fund public schools. Vouchers will take money away from public schools so that the rich can spend less money sending their kids to private schools. I have an MEd and taught at inner city schools that had been underfunded for decades because they rich voted down every school bond because they sent their kids to private schools. I've seen what happens when public schools are defunded. We don't need this in Texas. Every child deserves a great education. If the wealthy want to send their kids to private schools, let them — but not with my tax dollars. Furthermore, few private schools can meet the needs of disabled students or children in rural counties.

Jamie Pickerell-Brock

Self

Dallas, TX

This is welfare for the rich! Stealing money from public schools to give it to private schools who have no educational standards that they need to uphold. This will starve rural schools of resources and force rural students to travel much further away to get an education.

Nora Saavedra, Dr.

Myself, pediatrician

Manvel, TX

Please support public schools and not a voucher program. This only benefits a few rich families and neglects the majority. You will harm Texas kids and our educational gap will widen. Stop harming children please. Support public schools. Fund public school teachers.

Shay Webb

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I oppose school vouchers. They will only benefit the wealthy. Poorer areas can't support private schools so they will see no benefits. They will also hurt our communities that are built around our neighborhoods schools.

JoAnn McKenzie, Ms.

self

Austin, TX

I oppose vouchers for many reasons: (1)

Taxpayer-funded programs should have strong accountability and oversight, but private schools taking voucher money won't be required to follow the same rules as public schools. They won't have elected boards, transparency requirements, or standardized academic assessments. That's a recipe for fraud and waste.

(2) Texas' Constitution clearly says public money should not fund religious schools. If a voucher program is passed, taxpayer dollars will flow into religious education, raising serious constitutional concerns. Not only that, but every religion—including those that some Texans find objectionable—will have to be funded. This is not the conservative approach to education.

(3) You know the financial realities of public education. When a student leaves for a private school with a voucher, the local public school still has to cover its fixed costs—salaries, buses, building maintenance. Losing funding without reducing costs puts schools in financial jeopardy.

Please vote against any measure that defunds our public schools, that spend public taxpayer dollars on private unaccountable schools, and that violates Texas values, constitution, and the interests of most Texans.

Tamara Archer

Self and Special Education Teacher

Justin, TX

I am asking you with all that I am as a teacher, for an increase of $1,340 bringing the basic allotment up to $7,500 (from $6,160). Raising the basic allotment by $220 is simply not enough. It represents an increase of only 3.58% during the same time in which inflation has increased 23%. We cannot educate our children in the way they deserve with such a low increase. What the state is doing to education is pitiful. Please increase the basic allotment to what it should be. Listen to your voters. Better yet, let us vote. Thank you.

Lindsay Snider

Self

The Woodlands, TX

I oppose the school voucher program. Data does not support that this increases "school choice" for lower income students.

Carin Adermann

Self, Director of Testing and Former Principal & Teacher

San Antonio, TX

Thank you for your attention to public education. However, I write to you with a deep sense of urgency and concern as an educator with over 30 years experience. As a district director struggling to cut my budget by 15% due to our district's staggering $93.8 million deficit, I see the real-world consequences of underfunding.

Principals are expected to do more with significantly less, grapple with a severe shortage of qualified teachers, and endure the constant strain of increasing mandates and community demands without the necessary funding or support. This isn't just a matter of numbers; it's about the well-being of our educators and the future of our students.

While the proposed $220 per student increase in the basic allotment is acknowledged, it is woefully inadequate. It fails to address the escalating costs of inflation and the burden of unfunded mandates. To truly support our schools and students, I urge you to consider a minimum increase of $1,000 per student, with built-in adjustments for future inflation. This investment will provide the stability and resources our schools desperately need.

We are not just asking for more money; we are asking for the ability to provide a quality education for every child in Texas. Please, listen to the voices of educators on the front lines and take meaningful action to address this critical funding crisis.

Maneesha Asundi

Self

Plano, TX

Fund my school programs

Lindsey McClelland

Myself and fellow Texans including students

Justin, TX

No to educational savings accounts (vouchers) until the rules apply to everyone including testing, security requirements, full day prek, special education services, curriculum oversight, and the list goes on or none of these things should be imposed on public school either. Make it make sense. Texas does not want this. You are elected to represent the people, including the 5.5 million in public school. Do your job and support those students and staff by raising the basic allotment to $7500. This number is what is needed to keep up with inflation since 2019. Stop hiding public school money, and stop listening to your funding giants that do not live in Texas. Do what is best for Texas!

Kimberly Tucker

Self, Senior Analyst

Austin, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB 3 which would create a voucher program. Vouchers take taxpayer dollars from local public schools to subsidize private education for the wealthy few. Vouchers do not improve our children's education, but they do give wealthy parents a discount on their private school tuition.

Vouchers will raise property taxes. Texans pay more in property taxes than California, Florida, and 41 other states because Greg Abbott has systematically underfunded our public schools for years. To stop the bleeding, local school districts are forced to raise property tax rates. Vouchers will take even more money away from our classrooms, forcing school districts to raise our tax rates even more. With vouchers, we would pay more — for less.

Vouchers are backed by billionaires, not Texans.

Sophia Johnson, Former teacher

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Jake Odom
Self
Palestine, TX

Over the past ten years, there has been a noticeable decline in state support for public education. Despite a growing student population, per-student funding has not kept pace with inflation and the increasing needs of our students. This underfunding has led to larger class sizes, reduced resources, and diminished support services, all of which directly impact student learning and achievement.

The state's reliance on property taxes to fund public schools has created disparities between districts, often leaving schools in lower-income areas, like ours in Palestine, under-resourced. The "recapture" system, intended to redistribute funds from property-wealthy districts to less affluent ones, has not adequately addressed these inequities. Instead, it has placed additional burdens on districts already struggling to meet their students' needs. ?

Challenges with Standardized Testing and Curriculum

In my tenure, I have observed a troubling trend: while standardized testing has become increasingly rigorous, our students' reading skills have declined. The emphasis on high-stakes testing has shifted the focus from holistic education to test preparation, narrowing the curriculum and stifling creativity in the classroom.

The recent adoption of the Amplify scripted curriculum, approved by the state, exemplifies this issue. While standardized programs aim to ensure consistency, they often fail to account for the diverse backgrounds and learning styles of our students. In my experience, Amplify does not meet our students where they are, making it challenging to engage them effectively and address their individual needs.

As a dedicated educator committed to the success of my students, I implore you to reconsider the implementation of HB 3. While the goal of improving educational outcomes is noble, diverting funds from public schools to establish ESAs is not the answer. Instead, we must invest in our public education system, address existing challenges, and ensure that every student, regardless of their background, has access to a high-quality education.

Thank you for considering my perspective. I am hopeful that, together, we can work towards meaningful solutions that benefit all Texas students.

Michael Meyer
self
Grapevine, TX

Article 1, section 7 of the Texas Constitution No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any sect or religious society...the permanent school fund and the available school fund may not be appropriated to or used for the support of any sectarian school. Please uphold the Texas constitution and vote no. Protect our public schools for the good of ALL Texans, especially our rural neighbors.

Dana Rushing
self
Austin, TX

I am against private school vouchers, as they take away from public schools and line the pockets of the billionaires who plan to open private Christian schools.

Charlyn Dominy Elliott
Self
San Angelo, TX

Don't sign!!! Our public schools need a complete reform, not this bill

Ashley Helmbrecht
Self, nurse practitioner
San Angelo, TX

I do not support this bill. Please vote no.

Paul Bourquin
Self
Amarillo, TX

I do not support the voucher bill and ask that my representatives do not vote for it.

Martha Burks, Ms
Self, retired teacher
Holly Lake Ranch, TX

Please fully fund our public schools. I am NOT in favor of vouchers. If money is the issue, which of course it is, then do away with or limit the mandatory testing. If standardized tests are eliminated or reduced, there will be ample money to fund public schools. Let's get back to teaching instead of testing our children to tears and penalizing our teachers with paperwork. NO TO VOUCHERS!!!! Testing and vouchers are not the answer. The parents that send their children to private schools do it to avoid the standardized tests.

Eugenia Bopp
self, retired
Houston, TX

Please support our public schools and vote against HB3. Use the money to increase teacher pay and strengthen rural education.

M Henley, Mrs.
Self
San Angelo, TX

As a public educator, this bill is offensive on many levels. We can not seriously be considering this.

JENNIFER BEALL

SELF, PARENT AND VOLUNTEER FOR KLEIN ISD SCHOOLS IN KLEIN TEXAS
SPRING, TX

I am a parent have dedicated thousands of volunteer hours and personal dollars in my students' public schools in the acclaimed Klein Independent School District in Spring (NW Houston). Our certified teachers give excellent education to a broad range of students, including mine. Please do not take funding away from our public school districts to give it to private enterprises who do not require certified teachers, allow irregularities in background checking for hiring (Harmony charter Schools in the Houston area). It is the obligation of the state to offer educational opportunities to its citizens. ESAs offer a false choice for education, giving a price break to few wealthy families who would already pay for private education while taking funding away from public schools that serve the rest of the children for whom private school will still be out of financial reach.

Experiences in the other states has shown that Universal ESA voucher programs fail to achieve improving educational outcomes for students. In fact, research shows vouchers have substantial negative effects on academic achievement: For example: Studies in Louisiana, Indiana, and Ohio found that students who attended private schools using vouchers performed worse than similar peers in public schools. These negative effects persisted over years, meaning they were not a temporary result of students' transition to a new school.

Studies of voucher programs in Washington, D.C., and Alabama found no significant improvement in student test scores. Vouchers fail to deliver even on non-academic measures. Parents do not report greater satisfaction with schools, nor a greater sense of safety, with the use of vouchers.

Indiana's program has been described as the poster child for the segregating effects of vouchers

Claims that vouchers improve academic performance are simply false

Furthermore, vouchers harm under-resourced rural public schools and their communities, with no benefit to those rural students who cannot find any private schools.

Voucher programs drain millions of dollars from public sources but are subject to virtually no public accountability—a fraction of the requirements imposed on public schools. Unregulated, unaccountable voucher programs are a waste of taxpayer dollars.

It has also been shown in the other states that:

Vouchers are more expensive than public schooling

Vouchers shift education expenses to the parents

Vouchers subsidize private education for students who would not otherwise have attended a public school

Voucher programs do not change the fixed costs in public schools

Vouchers cost taxpayers money to subsidize private education – often for the more wealthy

Vouchers create new subpar education vendors to suck up the increased demand for profit sake

Question:

School vouchers (establishment of an education savings account program) will lead to diminished educational success for Texas across all demographics, including those choosing private schools.

Abigail Chaplin Kyzer

Self/piano teacher

Corinth, TX

I write today to ask you to vote NO on HB 3. Texans do not want taxpayer funded vouchers to pay for the unregulated education at private schools. Our public schools are drastically underfunded because the legislature continues to deny funding increases to the basic allotment and yet still passes mandates that go unfunded. Our public schools, our teachers, and our students deserve the best and that costs money. I want my tax dollars to be used for public programs like my neighborhood school. My daughter's elementary school currently operates on a budget of less than $40,000—this is all the staff has to work with to purchase supplies, replace and maintain equipment, fund our art/music/library/PE programs, and ensure quality professional development for teachers and staff. Our school serves around 550 students. Maintaining and supplying the copiers alone runs slightly over $10,000 annually—those copiers make sure our kids have activities and exercises to teach and refine writing, reading, and math skills. There isn't any additional money to update or replace books in our literacy library where we stock classroom copies of books of all levels for teachers to utilize in their classrooms. If something expensive like a copy machine or smart board breaks, there isn't money to replace or fix it without eliminating funds from another part of the budget. Texans want public schools to be a viable option for our kids—a safe place where they can learn from highly trained professionals who have the best materials and environment to support them and help them grow. The basic allotment MUST be increased to at least $1300 per student MORE than the current amount just for schools to pay overhead costs and properly fund their staff. I'm not interested in paying for rich people's kids to go to private school—if a family wants to make that choice, they need to find a way to pay for it themselves. Funding a second education system when the Texas legislature won't even properly fund the system we currently have is disgraceful and a poor use of the taxpayer's money. It is obviously a way for owners and trustees of private schools to line their pockets with tax dollars while public schools languish and our children—the future work force of Texas!—pay the price. Stand up for our children and your constituents, not the billionaire backers of Greg Abbott who have their foot on your neck threatening your seat. We will remember how you vote in the next election and will cast our ballot accordingly.

Rebekah Rivisto

self

Belton, TX

I am in favor for an education savings account program and hope our leaders vote in favor of it.

Carole Somers-Clark, Rev.

Self

Dallas, TX

Your vote against School Vouchers indicates your commitment to an education for all children in our state. You support children regardless of race, gender or ability. You will honor individual freedom to learn regardless of church or religious affiliation. You choose to make Texas stronger by voting down vouchers and protecting our public schools.

Christina Cummins, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

I am not in favor of HB 3. Our already underfunded public schools should not lose out on any funding to private schools. If our public schools are lacking we should be looking at ways to improve them. Public schools in this country need major improvements but this is not helping at all. We should be looking to states with the highest education outcomes for a playbook.

Darren Bogus

Self

Round Rock, TX

I do not support HB 3, the school voucher or school choice bill. Ultimately, this bill will cause more harm than good for Texas families and schools. I urge all Texas lawmakers to withdraw support. There is a reason this bill failed previously.

Karen Conyngham, Mrs.
Self Employed Researcher
Austin, TX

I totally oppose SB 2 and HB.3 - NO school vouchers for Texas!!

Texas needs to be vastly improving budget support for public schools. For every child who leaves public school, neighborhood schools lose money and the cost-saving benefits of operating at scale. This leads to larger class sizes, cuts to extracurricular programs like football and band, and school closures. I live in the Eanes district and we are already going to loose one elementary school next fall and we are a community of young families!

According to the website dontdefundmyschool.com*, Eanes would loose $3,172,893 in funding under a voucher system.

[*See: <https://tinyurl.com/mssdukdw>]

The school funding bill proposes to invest less than half of what is needed to restore the losses from past budgets, mainly due to inflation.

Rural communities would be especially hurt by vouchers because they rely on public schools for jobs and other services. Few of them even have access to private schools, let alone the ability to afford those schools.

According to WalletHub's 2024 report, Texas ranked 29th out of 50 states and the District of Columbia in education expenditures. That is shameful. By the way, Gov. Abbott seems aware of this. A recent Houston Chronicle (Feb. 13, 2025) reads: "Texas Gov. Greg Abbott says vouchers could lead to less funding for public schools".

Vouchers will also have a negative impact on the Texas Teacher Retirement System - money diverted to paying teachers in private schools mean those teachers do not pay into TRS.

It is fine for people to choose private school for their children but I do NOT want my tax dollars going to support them. Our property taxes are already high; public education should be the focus of our taxes NOT the victim.

Please reject these two bills.

Amie ONeal
Self
Belton, TX

I am opposed to this bill. I fear its repercussions on public education and public schools would be detrimental. I do not feel that state public funds should be used for private organizations. I feel that this bill should have a pilot program to demonstrate its effectiveness, and that there are a lack of accountability measures tied to the funds. I feel that private organizations will refuse to admit certain students, and will not be held to the same standards and scrutiny that public schools have been held to. I would like my tax dollars to make public schools the shining beacons of learning that tie communities together as they should. Our schools should be a place where opposing views meet and grow together- ESA's will lead to further division and isolation of groups and stagnate our growth as a community and state.

Cathy Pool
Educator/Self
Cedar Park, TX

As an educator for over 30 years, I am ashamed to say that I teach in Texas. Schools and teachers are so underpaid. School districts are being choked with allotments that have not changed since 2019. I say being choked because a few people with money are keeping allotments from the school districts so that the school districts will only teach what those few people want. The districts have to accept the "Bluebonnet" curriculum to get the extra money to help students learn. This curriculum has only been vetted by a few people and one agency. This is going back to the one room school house. Texas is already so low in all education rankings, now we will be even lower. Now these few people who are controlling Texas with their money are wanting vouchers (no matter what you call them they are vouchers). They are being pushed on the public as a parent's choice. I am a parent and I have always had a choice on my daughter's education. I made the choice to take her out of a very high rated school district and put her into a charter school (not a charter ran by a business). I decided to do that because that school district did not meet her needs, the charter school did. I could have homeschooled her but I wanted to keep her in a social environment. Again, this was my choice. The school district that I now work for accepts students from other districts as transfers. Teachers are already underpaid and leaving education in a great amount. How many are going to stay when TRS goes under? TRS can not keep going when private school teachers are added to the retirement system without providing funding for them. Please focus on funding for schools and teacher pay raises. Public money needs to stay with public schools and NOT vouchers (or whatever you change the name to).

Marissa Hampton
Self
Aledo, TX

Our public school children need our support. Parents already have their choice of where to send their kids to school. Why are we putting the needs of a smaller wealthier community over the masses who don't have the luxury of attending a private school. Please help those that need it the most!

Mark Muller
Self / Patent Attorney
San Antonio, TX

Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) are long overdue in Texas. I've taught in the Texas private and public systems. I've attended private Texas schools where 75% of the students' families were below the poverty level, struggling to be there, because they believed it was worth it to choose a better way. Texas parents (I am one of them!) pay taxes to support a system of education, and they should be able to take a more active part, to have some say about how those funds are distributed - especially when it comes to their own children. Putting ESAs in place gives parents a chance to have a say in what is valued with respect to the education of their children. And it will provide a great indicator to everyone else as to where those values lie. Finally, families that are struggling to provide their kids with a better education via the private path will have a MUCH easier time if ESAs are available. I know many of them, and it would make a HUGE difference in their lives. Moreover, when the public system schools find out where the money goes, maybe they will decide to make some real changes, competing to provide the kind of education parents actually want, without spending so many dollars on administration, or sports. Obviously we need both of those things to some degree, but really - to the degree we have now? This is your chance to make a dramatic change for the better in Texas. To give Texas parents some real power. And a real choice for their kids. In 20 years some of those same kids will be sitting where you are. Wouldn't it be great if they gained that power and privilege via an ESA? Please give this your kind consideration. We, the parents in Texas, and our children, are counting on you!

Cynthia Rangel
Self
Duncanville, TX

The voucher system is a direct threat to public education, funneling taxpayer money away from schools that serve all students and redirecting it to private institutions that operate with little oversight. While advocates claim that school vouchers promote “parent choice,” in reality, they allow private schools to receive public funds without adhering to the same federal and state educational standards required of public schools. This creates an uneven playing field, where public schools are expected to meet rigorous accountability measures while private schools can operate with far less scrutiny.

One of the most alarming aspects of the voucher system is that most private schools do not require their teachers to hold a state-issued teaching license. In public schools, teachers must meet certification requirements that ensure they are qualified to educate students effectively. These licensing standards help maintain a baseline of quality in teaching and protect students from unqualified instructors. Without such requirements, there is no guarantee that students in private schools receiving public funds are being taught by trained educators.

Furthermore, private schools have the luxury of selecting their student body, whereas public schools are legally required to educate every child, regardless of ability, background, or special needs. This selective admissions process allows private institutions to exclude students with disabilities, behavioral challenges, or lower academic performance, creating a system where only certain children reap the benefits of state funding. Public schools, on the other hand, provide essential services such as special education programs, mental health support, and free or reduced-price meals for students in need. These services are crucial for student success, yet they are at risk of being underfunded when state dollars are redirected to private schools through voucher programs.

Public schools already face significant financial constraints, stretching limited resources to provide quality education for all students. Removing even more funding from these schools through a voucher system will only exacerbate existing challenges, leading to larger class sizes, reduced resources, and fewer extracurricular opportunities. Research consistently shows that when public schools are adequately funded, student performance improves. Instead of diverting money to private schools that are not held to the same accountability standards, we should be investing in public education to strengthen learning outcomes for all children.

Our state already ranks among the lowest in education performance nationwide. Rather than weakening our public school system further by pulling away much-needed funding, we should be working to fully invest in our schools, provide better resources for teachers, and implement policies that enhance student achievement.

Lorraine Stehn
Self
McAllen, TX

Absolutely no support for school vouchers. By any name this program will deplete public school funding and thus is unacceptable.

LISA FAULKNER-DUNNE
self
Dallas, TX

I am against vouchers, as it will diminish public school funding, and is especially unfair to rural districts. Please do not vote for vouchers. The negative effect on thousands of students is not worth giving wealthy people a kickback in their private school tuition. That's their decision to attend private school, but the rest of taxpayers should not supplement their fees.

Victoria Lind
Self
Pearland, TX

I am against this bill.

Damon Leard

Self

Tyler, TX

Please, please vote against this bill. I truly believe this to be the undoing of decent public education in Texas. Thank you.

Jason Geron

self, disabled

San Angelo, TX

This bill is not good. 'nationalized' healthcare is not good and neither is education, even on a state level. This bill does not cover all Texas children. It creates a limitless 'by funding' capacity for government spending and waste. It introduces additional oversight on parents. It is in all ways not correct. The correct way to allow school choice is to stop taxing for schools and return the money to the taxpayer, as well as all other educational state expenses. The parents can then decide where and how to spend that money/funding without oversight. PS - get rid of tax surpluses. These should be refunded to the taxpayer, instead of looking for ways to spend it.

Alexandra Torres

The Texan students

Conroe, TX

The vouchers are scam pushed by Greg Abbott. Every voucher program that has passed has always failed. It will only further the divide between students. A huge education reform needs to happen but not this way. Texas ranks very low in education. It needs to change and to not include bibles. If you include one religion, include them all. Vouchers only make the rich richer. Let the citizens of Texas vote on this bill at the very least.

Richard Redden, Mr.

self, retired teacher

San Antonio, TX

Vote no on any voucher bill, including HB 3! As a member of the Association of Texas Professional Educators, I encourage you to oppose any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools.

Carolyn Brown

Self

Austin, TX

I have been advocating for Texas public schools since I graduated from one in 1999. I have seen them from all sides, parent, teacher and student. I now have the incredible opportunity through my work to visit and work with about 100 Texas public school campuses and over 83,000 students each year. I see our public schools. I see all the incredible moments that those inside the dome with the pen-tune out. Our public schools are doing such good and important work. Our educators who are certified in their field to prepare for their careers and continue their education through PD training work make such a difference in our schools. Our teachers are incredible but our kids are the pulse of our schools. Vouchers will hurt Texas students. I have no doubt. I have also had the opportunity to visit charter and private schools over the years. Some are great and I'm so glad for those families, some are absolute chaos and my heart breaks for those kids. Public schools serve the majority of Texas families. I want an educated future. Our public schools are with fighting for. Our Texas students are worth fighting for. Vouchers will be a disaster and the students will be the ones that suffer.

I ask you to LISTEN to the teachers, parents and students in the state. Vouchers are NOT wanted.

Courtney Fryman

Self / Advocate

Fort Worth, TX

As the parent of a public school child with an IEP, daughter of a public school teacher (35 years, retired), and the product of public education, I heavily question who is benefiting from the establishment of an education savings account program. The information sessions I've seen advertised have all been held at local PRIVATE schools, and though I'm sure we could attend, there were no invitations or advertisements offered to the thousands of public school families in Tarrant county. My family chooses not to send our daughter to a private school for a variety of reasons. We believe that public schools have more to offer our child than being surrounded by people just like her. They challenge her to view the world from different perspectives and help her to grow into a better citizen and human. School is not only about the education you receive, it's also about the array of friends you make and the activities you are involved in with those friends. She has learned to love reading, and does so with confidence despite her dyslexia. This is not something that would have happened outside of her public school and the laws that allow her a equal education. Parents often look at the idea of a private school education, and think that will change their child's life, but imagine what could happen if the funding for this program was instead put into the public school system? If public schools were fully funded, every child in every district would have the opportunity to change their life.

Moira Lail

self

Houston, TX

My name is Moira Lail, I am a parent in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical educational programs that serve my two children and all students in SBISD.

Our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with the actual costs of running these programs. This includes:

1. Increasing the Basic Allotment at a MINIMUM of $500 - $1,000

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

I urge you to prioritize public school students by closing these funding gaps. Texas schools cannot afford to keep operating with such large deficits, and our children and all residents of our state deserve better. Thank you.

Cori Feldman
Self
Richardson, TX

I do not support this bill which is NOT school choice, but a discount for people who can afford private school. Public schools need appropriate funding and this bill diverts that funding away from providing an excellent and free education for all children in Texas to private companies private education that is not regulated and held accountable. All our children deserve the best education available no matter what they can afford and no matter what their family income, background, or special needs are. Our public schools are terrific and our teachers the resources and salaries to continue to teach all children in Texas.

Mary Alice Castello
Self and ATPE, teacher
Muldoon, TX

I ask you to prevent further deterioration of our public school systems by voting no to HB3 and any other bill proposing education vouchers for private schools. As I look at the proposed bills, I do not understand the justification for a private school receiving more per student than a public school ($10000 v $6600). Vouchers will not balance the educational system.

Further, ATPE opposes any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools.

Catherine Bruno
Self
Leander, TX

My child is autistic and has adhd & will not benefit from HB 3 for the following: 1. Lack of Specialized Support in Private Schools: Many private schools do not have the same resources or staff trained to support children with disabilities like autism or ADHD. Public schools, on the other hand, are required by law (through the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act) to provide accommodations, specialized education, and therapies for children with special needs.

2. No Guarantee of Adequate Support: Even if a private school accepts a child with autism or ADHD, there's no assurance that they will provide the specialized services that the child needs, such as speech therapy, behavioral therapy, or individualized education plans (IEPs). In Texas, private schools are not bound by the same federal mandates to provide accommodations for students with disabilities as public schools are.

3. Financial Burden: While the voucher system offers some financial assistance, it may not cover the full cost of private school tuition and services for a child with autism or ADHD. Families may still face significant out-of-pocket expenses to access the appropriate support and care.

4. Limited Accountability: Private schools may not be subject to the same oversight and accountability as public schools, particularly in terms of ensuring that students with disabilities receive the services outlined in their educational plans. If a private school does not meet the child's needs, it could be challenging to find another school that does, and there may be limited recourse for families.

5. Disruption to Stability: For children with autism or ADHD, routine and stability are crucial for their development. Transitioning to a private school that is not equipped to handle their specific needs could cause anxiety or behavioral setbacks, making it harder for them to thrive.

6. Possible Exclusion: Some private schools may have admission criteria or practices that unintentionally exclude students with autism or ADHD, or may not have the capacity to provide the tailored, individualized support these children need to succeed.

7. Limited Public School Options May Be Lost: Public school systems often offer more specialized programs designed to support neurodiverse children, including specialized autism or ADHD programs. If public school funding is reduced due to the voucher system, these programs may become underfunded or unavailable.

8. Lack of Peer Support: In public schools, children with disabilities often benefit from peer support programs where they can interact with and learn from students who have different abilities. Private schools may not have similar programs in place, which could affect a child's social development.

In summary, while school choice may be appealing, the lack of specialized services, limited oversight, financial burden, and potential lack of stability make the Texas public school voucher bill a less viable option for a child with autism and ADHD.

Amanda Moulton

Self

Leander, TX

I strongly disagree with school vouchers. They will be detrimental to all children and will take a huge toll on our already stretched thin public schools. Please vote NO to HB3

Karla Sarmiento

self

Austin, TX

Vote NO on school vouchers!!!! I strongly oppose the proposed education bill for vouchers. Public education funding is already severely limited and this voucher program will further lead to unequal educational standards for students. Furthermore, the program's limited scope and lack of availability in many Texas districts makes it an ineffective solution. Prioritizing robust public school funding is essential for ensuring equitable educational opportunities for all Texans, not just a select few.

Nathaniel Pancost

Self, Texas parent, Professor

Austin, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. We need to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. Virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas.

Jane Fowler

Myself

Roanoke, TX

Please do not defund or underfund Texas Public schools. It will hurt far more children than it will help. We are only as strong as our public school education. We should want parents to opt into public schools, not out. There are many counties in the state with no private schools, where no child will be served. The vast majority of private schools in Texas cities cost much more than 10K per year. We don't want a legacy of destroying public education, but making it the best in the country. Texas children don't deserve to have their futures be part of a political agenda.

Susan Hostetter

Self

Weatherford, TX

Children today are facing so many obstacles. Let's not take away their basic education. They need to be smarter than the rest of the world. Not the other way. Fully fund the public school systems and stop diverting money to private schools. Vote no on HB3.

Erin Lambert

Self - admin

Belton, TX

I am AGAINST HB3. Your constituents have vocalized that they do not want it. Put it to a vote.

Rob Gearhart, Mr

Self

Austin, TX

Vouchers for private schools are a terrible idea. Please do not vote for this option. Private charter schools have been proven by multiple studies to not improve education. There is a clear pattern that develops, where initially the school does well, but within short order of 3-5 years, those schools begin to degrade in their effectiveness. Charter schools and private schools are not sustainable. These options are designed for a small group of the population, not for the large majority of children. Not to mention that vouchers won't even cover half of the cost. Even with vouchers, most people cannot afford this option. Giving these vouchers to the rich people who can already afford private school is a scam that will collapse the more effective public school system. The whole point of this bill is to make money for those who want to run these schools. Say no!

Janet Love, Rev.

self

Austin, TX

Please keep state funds in public schools. Taking money out of public schools to give vouchers to private schools, many of which are religious and do not have to provide special education is not appropriate. Further, giving more money to private schools is not equitable. Perhaps if the entire per student funding proposed for private schools were given to public schools without regard to student attendance they would do much better. Providing 60% of the funding offered to private schools to public schools is not acceptable. Public schools are required to serve the public, private schools are not.

Debra Dickenson

self

Dallas, TX

Please vote AGAINST HB3 and the School voucher bill. I have supported you in the past, but will no longer do so if you vote for HP3.

HPISD will lose students and $$ and we are already paying a lot out of the District for Robin Hood funding.

Marilyn Mutchler

Teachers, students, parents and taxpayers

Crowley, TX

Please do not vote for HB3. The bill will take funds out of public schools and give a taxpayer coupon to private schools. It is not going to give all students choice. It will pull money from Public schools and leave low income, special education and those with learning disabilities stuck in underfunded schools. Private schools get to choose their students and won't take students that need special services. If you are so sure that all parents support HB 3, lets the citizens vote. Fix the system we have and support all students.

VALERIE HOUDEK

Self, insurance

Allen, TX

I oppose HB 3. I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy.

Adele Martel

Self

Houston, TX

Public schools need more funding! Private schools have the supplies and resources that they need to offer great education to their students and have the ability to raise money from their tuition fees to cover any future items/programs. Public schools rely on taxpayer funding to provide everything from textbooks to desks and chairs to air conditioning for their students. If the money can be appropriated in a way that will not harm any other existing public support programs, then it should be allocated to public schools so that those students can access better education (to meet the standard of private schools). In addition, of the 254 counties in Texas 150 do not have private schools, meaning that students in those 150 counties do not have the option to attend an over-funded private school even if they wanted to/could afford it. Access to good quality education in this state should not depend on where that student is living. We need to focus more on bringing sub-par institutions up to snuff than on raising the standards of the fee elite. This bill only serves the students and children of the wealthy and leaves every public school student behind. An administration focused on "merit" in the workplace should have the same aim at the educational level, and this can only be achieved by providing equal access to education, not by choosing to only fund the future of the elite.

Lakshmikiran Nandula

Self

Prosper, TX

I don't agree with the vouchers of this bill.

Stephanie Lyle, Mrs.

Self

Carrollton, TX

I strongly oppose this voucher bill. Our public schools need our support and funding now more than ever. To give private schools tax funds is taxation without representation. I ask that we give these funds to public schools in need instead.

Esmeralda Perez-Gonzalez, Dr.

Austin ISD

Kyle, TX

Dear Representative, WE are not in support of education savings account program because we are not parents and do not wish our tax dollars to go to fund someone else's child's choice of schools. Please do not burden those of us who do not have children with sending out tax dollars elsewhere. If it is so much about choice, then let us as the tax payers, those who do not have children decide where my monies should go. This is not fair to us who do not have children. Please do not support ESA program. Thank you! Best, Dr. Esmeralda Perez-Gonzalez, NBCT

Brittany Boldt

Self, stay at home parent and attorney

Carrollton, TX

I am a product of Texas public schools. I was afforded incredible opportunities in school and still have fond memories of teachers from each school I attended. Those same schools are under attack because of the so-called education savings accounts proposed by this bill. Fully funding public education is the right thing to do. I strongly oppose HB 3 and ask the House members to vote no on this and any other voucher bill. Thank you.

Sarah Cox, 78757

self

Austin, TX

I urge you to oppose HB 3 and fully fund Texas public schools. This bill diverts taxpayer dollars from our public schools, which educate over 90% of Texas students, to private institutions with little accountability. Our schools are already facing teacher shortages, rising student needs, and are being forced to cut programs, increase class sizes, and limit services due to not being fully funded and having to make do with less and less every year. Public school investment has not kept up with inflation.

Private schools are not required to serve all students, follow state curriculum standards, provide performance data, or maintain financial oversight. If public money is being spent, there must be transparency. HB 3 lacks accountability.

While promoted as a "school choice," HB 3 benefits only a small group of families. Vouchers do not fully cover private school tuition, leaving many working-class and rural families unable to access private schools: IF there are even private schools near them. Meanwhile, our public schools who are required to serve any and all of our Texas students will be forced to do more with less.

Folks claim that we live in a meritocracy and think that means talent and effort alone, but there are additional components to what we think of as merit. They are: investment and opportunity.

We undermine our state's future when we underfund our public schools. We must invest in all of our students, our public schools, and our teachers. If we raise the amount of money per student that our public schools get to the amount that the state is proposing to give to private and homeschooled children, our public schools could surpass even the best private schools in performance.

If we use state funding to provide more opportunities in our public schools, we can give our children, our state's future, the life experiences and connections that make up the fourth leg of merit. They can meet and connect with more leaders, they can explore more career opportunities. They can be challenged with more interesting projects, field trips, and classroom resources. What starts in Texas could change the world, but only if we give all of our students those opportunities, if we find the diamonds in the rough and invest in them and give them opportunities.

This state used to raise presidents. Now, we're in a race to the bottom of national achievement due to cuts in public school funding. This must change. Vouchers will just take us to the bottom faster: we can see that in every single state that has implemented them.

Strong public schools help create strong communities. When schools suffer, property values decline, businesses struggle, and workforce development weakens. Texans of every stripe have consistently rejected voucher schemes, recognizing that public funds should support schools that serve all students. Being anti-voucher is a non-partisan issue.

I appreciate your time and efforts to protect Texas public education from this voucher scam.

Michelle Bolton

Self

SULPHUR SPGS, TX

Please consider fully funding public schools and support ALL children. I would ask you to vote NO for the education savings account.

Kenneth Moore, Mr.

Self / Retired

Pearland, TX

I want to share with you my early years of school and draw some conclusions.

Bearing in mind, at 67, my memory of those early days is a bit foggy, this is my best recollection.

I started 1st grade in 1963. Almost immediately I began having problems. I was having headaches and had trouble staying focused on my work. I started dreading school and would throw tantrums on school mornings.

I finished the 1st grade with the minimum number of days required. I never finished the 2nd but had completed enough to be allowed into the 3rd grade. I never finished the 3rd grade and never set foot in the 4th.

When I was 10 years old my parents took me to the Remedial Clinic in Beaumont where I was diagnosed with dyslexia. The clinic also ran a school for special needs children which I attended for one semester. I was making good progress but my parents could not afford to keep me there. I was pulled from the program and returned to public school where I finished out the 5th grade. I started but never finished the 6th grade. I don't recall ever setting foot in the 7th grade. I seem to recall being allowed into the 8th but never finished.

About this time my mother passed away – I was 14.

My father moved us to a school district with a special ed program where I was allowed to enter the 9th grade – high school freshman. The teacher was young and inexperienced and came to class often smelling of alcohol. But, I managed to finish high school and completed a two year degree at a junior college.

While in high school I took vocational courses in machine shop and mechanical drafting. I made a career as a machinist from which I retired 5 years ago.

As I entered my mid teenage years, I came to understand my condition better and began to figure out my ways to deal with it.

- The slurred speech was dealt with by spending hours speaking into a tape recorder, playing it back to myself several times – adjusting my mouth and tongue each time to make it clearer.
- I handled the tendency to stutter by learning to speak one syllable at a time.
- Taking notes off a blackboard was a major challenge because focusing back and forth between my paper and the board caused my eyes to burn and water. So I sat in the front row and kept my eyes focused for the blackboard. I would look down just to see I was not writing over notes already written.
- Many skills like Trigonometry and the code language for CNC machines were self taught.
- I taught myself how to write computer programs in BASIC.

I have no complaints about the way my life turned out

But I often wonder what would have become of me if I could have stayed in the clinic and received the help I needed when I was young. This program would have given my parents the resources they needed to do just that.

Adelina Jimenez

Self

San Antonio, TX

Redirecting public funds toward private vouchers will inevitably diminish the financial resources available to public schools, particularly those serving students with special needs who rely on extensive support. This reduction in funding will have a direct and measurable impact on staffing, leading to fewer teachers and support staff in classrooms that are already stretched to their limits. As a result, student-to-teacher ratios will increase, making it more difficult to provide individualized attention and accommodate diverse learning needs. The strain on educators will intensify, potentially leading to burnout, higher turnover rates, and diminished overall quality of education. Additionally, the loss of funding may force schools to cut essential programs, specialized services, and critical interventions that help students with disabilities, behavioral challenges, and other unique needs thrive academically and socially. By diverting public dollars to private institutions, we risk exacerbating educational inequities and undermining the fundamental mission of public education: to provide every child, regardless of background or ability, with the resources and opportunities they need to succeed.

Sam Wing, Vice president of data science

Individual

Allen, TX

I live in Allen Texas and I support school choice. Furthermore, with the low number of vouchers being proposed, I support those available to be limited to low-income families. I volunteer on the board of a private school that serves a low-income community in Irving Texas. This school struggles with enrollment and even it's very existence because the people in that community can't afford tuition that is less than $8,000 per year! Wealthy people already have access to private schools. Low-income people do not because of the percentage of their income that must be spent on food, rent, and electricity. Please continue the work towards school choice to benefit low-income families. Low-income family should have a choice, too.

Josue Martinez

Self/Public Schools

HASLET, TX

This proposed ESA/voucher program would divert crucial public funds to private schools, weakening the financial stability of Texas' public education system. By allocating up to 85% of per-pupil funding to private institutions—even for students already enrolled in them—the state would dramatically increase education costs without expanding access to quality education for all. Public schools, which are legally required to serve every child, have not seen an increase in base funding for five years. Yet, this program would funnel taxpayer dollars to private schools that can selectively admit students. Instead of investing in a system that benefits only a few, Texas should prioritize strengthening its public schools to support all students equitably.

Sophia Chang

Self

Frisco, TX

I oppose this bill as the entire state should not be paying for a small percentage of private school attendants so they can get a tuition break. Majority of students are in public school, where tax payer money should be supporting. Taxes paid to the state should be offering public services and accessible to amthr general public. Private schools are inaccessible to the majority nor are they economical, and clearly not regulated by state standards. Private school isn't cheap, which means it's inaccessible to the majority. If anyone has the financial means to pay that much money for private school, they don't need a voucher to cut them a break. Why should the majority that relies on public schools for an education with standards pay for a small percentage of wealthy population that sends their kids to private school? I'd rather my tax money go support public schools with underpaid staff that deserve higher pay, low income students that deserve to eat that need aid in having their meals covered (full or partially). Those that send their kids to private school chose to do so, then they also choose to pay for the cost of private school. I choose to send my kids to public school, and I choose my taxes paid to go towards public school funding. More people benefit when the educational fund goes to public school systems. Less people will benefit from the voucher system that only benefits a small percentage of people that send their kids to private school. Again, this is the population that doesn't need financial support as is.

Susan Nurre

Self, Consultant

Dallas, TX

Passing this bill will wreak havoc on an already-struggling public school system. Use the money to strengthen the public schools and their special programs. VOTE NO.

Glenda Walker
Self - Retired
Mineral Wells, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you

Jennifer Harris
Self
Lumberton, TX

I am against this bill. It is too costly and benefits such a small number of students.

Brenda Yanez
Self
Spring, TX

This bill will defund our public schools. Our public schools have suffered enough since the state has refused to fully fund them since 2019. Parents already have choices. If this bill is really for the middle class then there should be an income cap explicitly stated. Even if parents try to apply for private schools they are not guaranteed a spot. If the private school doesn't work out the student will return to public schools that are being defunded. If this bill is in the best interest of all Texans then it should be voted on by the people of Texas. Stop pushing something that a very minimal percentage of Texans want. We need our public schools to be strong again and fully funded. New programs should be implemented for discipline problems. Teachers should be adequately paid and trained, this would greatly impact teacher retention. Truly do what's best for all students.

Brandy Geiman
Self
Alvin, TX

You MUST VOTE NO on HB3! This is a scam and only benefits the wealthy that can already afford private school. You must support what the MAJORITY of your constituents want and that is NO VOUCHER PROGRAM. How about funding the vastly under funded public school system. Quit holding public school funding hostage and pay our hard working teachers the raises that they DESERVE! There is nothing positive about this voucher program and you must VOTE NO!

Alisa Golson
Self Homemaker
Austin, TX

I am opposed to the creation of school vouchers. We should increase funding for public schools instead.

Mabel Loaiza

Self

Hutto, TX

Vouchers are welfare for the rich. We demand to keep our public schools properly funded. NO TO SCHOOL VOUCHERS.

Mike Tiner

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill, I really think you should be properly funding public education in Texas, not taking money away from public schools. Make the public schools better!

Ryan Lovell

Self

Amarillo, TX

HB 3 is not in the best interest of Texans or the State of Texas, and watching testimony before the House Public Education Committee has only further entrenched this belief.

One testifier represented an organization that was started by Milton Friedman. The stated goal of Friedman was the end of publicly funded education, and this bill is a stepping stone to that ultimate goal.

Our public schools must be valued and fully funded. This bill will not fulfill that goal.

This bill is also misleading in its ultimate goal of "school choice". Testifiers supporting the bill ultimately admitted that schools receiving vouchers could turn away special needs students, students of different religions, or students of single mothers who had their child out of wedlock. By no means is this in the best interest of the state.

Joseph Navarra

Constituent

San Antonio, TX

No school vouchers. Fully fund public schools.

Jason Wiederstein

self/Construction safety director

Santa Clara, TX

Vote no on this nonsense.

Christi Speer

Self

Harleton, TX

I oppose the establishment of education savings account in Texas. Please listen to the people. Your constituents do not want this.

Luz Acevedo
Self
Missouri City, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1. Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
2. HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
3. Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
4. We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill.

Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

William Wylder
Self Electrical engineer
Fredericksburg, TX

I am appalled that the state is attempting once again to underfund our public school systems in deference to wealthy Texans who wish to send their children to private charter schools. We have a great public school system here. The teachers and administrators work very hard to provide a quality education and already struggle because the state ignores their needs. Some rich kid who wants to go to private school can have their daddies pay for it. My taxes are not meant to underwrite the wealthy, it's insulting that you're even trying to get every day working Joe to pay the tuition for a school they will never be able to afford for their own children. It's wrong, plain wrong, and my vote for my representatives will be based on how they address such an important and socially unjust bill. No to underfunding our schools, no to school vouchers, no to rich kids getting access to schools on the tax payers dime. This isn't some outlier opinion, I don't know any middle class parents who agree with this garbage.

Grace Essex
self Teacher
Austin, TX

I received an excellent education and graduated from Texas public schools. I am now a public school 2nd grade teacher and feel that teachers like me and my students have suffered from lack of proper funding of public schools for the last few years. Please do not further erode Texas schools with public school vouchers by using public dollars for private education which will be a further drain on our public schools.

Adam Stiles

Self, National Accounts Coordinator

Austin, TX

I am writing to voice my disappointment and displeasure at the idea that the great State of Texas will accept a voucher program to fund private education. I am a part of a deeply rooted and well-educated family, all proudly part of the public education system of Texas. For MULTIPLE generations. We cannot allow this precious funding to go this route. The diverse population we are known for depends upon an education that should rival other states in the Union, not dwell toward bottom feeder. I am the grandson and spouse of public educators. I have seen what their devotion to the trade and civil service has brought to benefit. Still, you gut their resources, under appreciate them (while mouthing praise), and throw your allegiance to the wealthy minority. Standardized testing is a joke, a joke our public system has thrown back at you in spite of your efforts. And you will NOT hold the private system equally accountable. Why, because it does not suit your donors and the rich who seek a discount for private education! Consider funding $1300 per individual student instead. Consider utilizing our rainy day surplus in this most drought ridden of times. Consider what we were chartered upon when Texas was born. Consider your conscious if indeed you have one

Sadie Diaz

Self

San Angelo, TX

we need to lower the superintendent's pay this is bs that our schools, our teachers, community suffer over you selfish careless inhuman people.

Robyn Lively

Self. Retired PUBLIC school teacher.

Austin, TX

I support PUBLIC schools and am opposed to HB 3. I vote!

Holly VanHouten

Myself

Houston, TX

Please vote no on school vouchers or educational savings plans. We need to fully fund our public schools. These school vouchers and educational savings plans will take money from public schools and provide money to private schools. Public schools provide free education to ALL students despite socioeconomic status, physical or mental abilities, and provide the necessary support services. Public schools are also held accountable. We know that private schools do not have to meet the same requirements as public schools and they will not open their admissions policies to serve all students. This is robbing from the public tax dollars to give a discount to rich parents who were already sending their kids to private schools. VOTE NO on HB3.

Chuck Davidson

self

Chester, TX

As a retired public school teacher (Houston ISD), I strongly oppose any ESA or voucher bill that allows rural public school districts to lose both money and students. I have volunteered in the Chester ISD for several years and while only one private school exists at this time in Tyler County, Chuck Davidson

Elizabeth Hedden, Dr.

self

Houston, TX

I am highly opposed to this bill. The school savings account would benefit the wealthy who already are accessing alternatives to education. The poor could not afford to make alternative choices as it is unlikely the payment per student would be sufficient to cover costs. There are no alternatives available in many part of the state as well. It is apparent that this is going to benefit the wealthy in urban areas and private schools. Public schools would suffer as they would be out the funds from the state. Also it is well known that support for vouchers or education savings account program has come from forces outside our state. We are Texans and as such should conduct or business and make our laws independently from outside concerns and money.

Bill Perkison

Self

Georgetown, TX

I am totally against this bill. It does nothing to improve education, siphon funds from public schools and is ineffectual in providing education to the children who need it most while financially aiding those who need it least. I don't pay taxes to enrich the rich.

Lauren Hart

Self / Speech Language Pathologist

Grapevine, TX

Dear Representatives,

I am writing to urge you to vote NO on HB3 and reject any efforts to divert public funds to private vendors through school vouchers. HB3 is not about helping students—it is a vendor bill that prioritizes profits over education. This is government overreach and irresponsible spending that hurts students, taxpayers, and our local communities.

Our district is already struggling due to inadequate funding. We see the effects firsthand—larger class sizes, fewer resources, and overworked teachers. Instead of addressing these urgent needs, HB3 would siphon money away from public schools, violating the Texas Constitution's guarantee of a free and efficient public education.

Public dollars belong in public schools. Texas taxpayers should not be forced to fund private and unaccountable education programs while our neighborhood schools continue to suffer. I urge you to stand with our students, teachers, and communities—vote NO on HB3 and say NO to vouchers.

Thank you for your time and your commitment to Texas children.

Sincerely, Lauren Hart

Audrey Davis

self, homeschool curriculum representative

Hurst, TX

I and every parent whether they believe in God or not has the sole, God-given responsibility in determining how they raise their children. This includes the education of their children. Public funding brings the family back under the purview of the state legislature via the mechanism of good fiscal responsibility.

Good fiscal responsibility requires both transparency and accountability for the public expenditure, both of which compromise parental autonomy.

I have firm beliefs built upon God's Word that will not change. Knowing I am in opposition to my money being used to fund curriculum choices that are in direct opposition to my beliefs, it is only fair that someone who carries a view or faith in opposition to mine would not want their money going to fund my choice in curriculum. Using public funds for individualized education compels taxpayers to fund diverse ideologies that could violate their own deeply held convictions. As this bill has passed through the Senate and is now being entertained (again) in the house, I am beyond disappointed that the representatives encouraging this bill to pass are listening to organizations more than actual constituents. Texas Home School Coalition has had a voice of support for this bill and they are dead WRONG. They do NOT represent the whole of home schooling families. They do NOT represent me. School choice takes away the choice and representative form of government. "Taxation without representation." I more than urge you to not pass HB3. Texas does not need to succumb to the newest national fad of control over education. Please vote NO.

Kimberly Cohen

Self

Austin, TX

No to a bill that uses taxes payers money for private education and will lower Texas Public school attendance which impacts funding. This is a dangerous bill that's proven not to work in other states. No!

Lisa Blackwell

self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose providing taxpayer funds to private schools that are not held to the same standards as public schools, who do not have to provide special education, accept students needing services, or children from different backgrounds, religions, etc. Many Texas counties don't even have a private school available and it's not fair to ask so many Texans to pay for a benefit their children are unable to access.

Monique Cogburn, Mrs.

None

San Antonio, TX

I support HB 3 by Buckley; and, would like to see it voted in.

Juan Campos

Self

Garland, TX

As a Texas public educator for over 11 years, I am opposed to HB3. Not only will this bill NOT raise the allotment sufficiently to keep the doors open on our public schools, but ANY kind of voucher (ESA) would siphon essential funds away from public schools, ensuring more ISD's in Texas will not receive the adequate funding they need. In addition, HB3 will create another layer of administrative bloat in the managing of these funds and incentivize for-profit schools to be made without any kind of oversight or accreditation, which will promote discriminatory practices against our most vulnerable Texans. Not to mention, as ISD's close due to lack of funding, and more "voucher schools" suck the financial blood away from public schools, more teachers will retire early and/or leave the teaching profession, less public school teachers will be hired, which will ultimately drain the Teachers Retirement System, and make it collapse, per Gov Abbott own TRS findings. In short, vouchers (ESA) are nothing less than a scheme to destroy public schools and transfer more wealth to already wealthy families and create a new wealth by transferring public funds to private companies, in addition to the financial profiteering that will occur in the administration of these accounts. HB3 is not conservative and it is NOT TEXAN. No to HB3.

Erika W Rodriguez

Self

San Antonio, TX

I disagree with the voucher program and I oppose.

Susan Clowe, Ms.

Self and the children of Texas

Mesquite, TX

In no way is this fair to the children of Texas. I am a Christian and resent that my tax money would be used to aid in the mixing of church and state. We came here from England to escape this. Our governor has received over 18 million dollars from a PA man—Yass. We know the truth about our governor selling out to this person. WRONG. WRONG. WRONG!

Ralph Jackson

Self autobody

Belton, TX

Pass this

Jane Corley

self

Dallas, TX

VOTE NO, EARLY AND OFTEN!

Eric Skiff

Self - Worker

Crowley, TX

I'm writing to ask you to oppose HB3 because I believe it's a direct attack on public education. As a [parent/teacher/community member], I want to see our schools properly funded, not gutted by a bill that diverts money to private institutions while leaving public schools struggling.

The idea of giving families a $10,000 voucher sounds good in theory, but in reality, it's just a backdoor way of cutting funding for public schools. Most private schools charge far more than that, meaning only wealthier families will benefit, while lower-income students—who rely on public schools the most—will be left behind. We should be investing in public education, not siphoning money away from it.

Another big concern is the requirement for armed security on every campus. School safety is critical, but adding more guns isn't a real solution. Many educators and parents worry this will just turn schools into high-security zones rather than safe learning environments. Instead of spending money on security officers, we should be funding counselors, mental health programs, and teacher salaries—things that actually make schools safer and more supportive for kids.

I know school safety and quality education matter to everyone, regardless of political affiliation. That's why I urge you to vote against HB3 and push for real solutions—like fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and addressing mental health support in schools. Please stand with Texas families and fight for our public schools.

Lucy Frost, MS
Self. Consultant
Manchaca, TX

Vouchers offer choice at the cost of public schools. I'm the child of public educators -- an elementary school principal and a 1st grade teacher. We saved all kinds of supplies for my mom's classroom -- like oatmeal boxes so my mom could make drums for Thanksgiving plays. My dad spent hours with the Kiwanis Club as they raised money to stock the school library at the school in a low-income area where he worked. He later was the principal of the first elementary school for gifted & talented kids in our community. They'd be turning over in their graves now to think the State of Texas was taking desperately needed funds away from public schools in favor of private schools. We've seen what most voucher programs do in other states. Let's don't let Texas make the same mistake.

Saran Snelgrove, Retired teacher
Self
Jefferson, TX

Vote YES to voucher system. The voucher system will require low performing schools to compete for funds. Low performing schools ,JeffersonIsd, do not worry about any regulations from TEA. They do not make sure the students receive the Texas teks. Tea has an innovation plan and strict steps on filing complaints that does not help parents. Now, Tea does not rate the schools. If Tea cannot help parents with low performing schools and can't rate the schools then redirect the funds to rural CTE centers. Texas should not pay for Tea and the STAAR test without ratings.

Since Texas schools can decide whether they want to work hard or not on students receiving the Texas teks parents should be given choices too. Parents can not receive help with low performing schools. We are told just to move to a better school with our tax dollars still going to the low performing school. Time to change the system for the students. The world is too competitive for students to have to stay in a school with protected adults not doing their job. Thanks.

Jessica Sutton, Mrs
Self
Waxahachie, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB3 as I have let all of the Reps know multiple times. Texas taxpayers do not want the expansion of funding private education.

Lori Stenger
Self
San Antonio, TX

NO VOUCHERS. This is a scam. Vote No!!

Laura Ruffino
Self
Cedar Park, TX

I live in cedar park Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Laura Ruffino

Josue Flores
Self
Round Rock, TX

I'm against the school voucher bill in Texas because it takes money away from public schools and gives it to private institutions with little oversight. Our public schools, especially in rural and lower-income areas, are already struggling with funding, and this will only make things worse. Instead of pulling resources away, we should be investing in our public schools—supporting teachers, improving facilities, and making sure every student has access to a quality education. Vouchers don't fix the problems in education; they just make it harder for the schools that most Texas families rely on.

Beverly Price
Self, retired
Houston, TX

Besides cutting funding to Public Schools, this bill will give parents 10 times more money than what they contribute to public education, all paid for with our tax dollars. If someone wants to send their child(ren) to a private school, paying for it is THEIR responsibility. This is nothing more than welfare for the wealthy.

Carroll Strane
Self
Edna, TX

I urge you to VOTE NO for HB 3. I am a registered Republican voter from Edna Texas. I have lived and worked in and around Jackson County my entire life. I have been a chemist, a public school teacher, a basketball coach and a school board member. I know that for too long the State of Texas has given our public school system and our teachers too little support and funding. Still, I am shocked and truly disgusted at the latest stunt to rob the public school system of the funding it needs. If you are unaware of how many of our students in small towns and rural communities don't even have access to private schools, you should. If you are going to pass legislation affecting education, leave your office and go meet the teachers and students you are robbing of resources when vouchers by any name take funding away from public schools and teachers. I have no problem with private schools or parents who choose them. It is their right and responsibility to make that decision AND to make those payments. Tax payer dollars should go towards providing an excellent education for all Texas students, especially those whose families have no access or realistic ability to pay for a private school should they have one near enough to attend. Public schools can provide greater opportunities for students to access diverse programs with a focus on STEM, the arts, current & future trades as well as special education. A well educated populace can supply the workforce talent for a wide range of jobs and industries. Quality public education is essential for a prosperous state with opportunities for a great quality of life for all Texans. Thank you. PLEASE VOTE No for HB 3

Colleen Lyon
Self, Librarian
Austin, TX

I am writing to ask you to vote against the voucher bill/education savings account program. Our public schools are one of our greatest strengths as a state, and using public funds for private schools does a disservice to the majority of Texans. Private and charter schools are not required to accept all students and are not required to provide the same level of support as our public schools. I know this as a parent of an elementary age student who has an IEP. Like all parents, we wanted the best possible education for our child, so we briefly looked into private schools. That's when we discovered that the range of accommodations and support she gets related to her IEP would not exist in a private school. We also discovered that the private schools weren't interested in enrolling our child. Thankfully, our child's public elementary school has fully supported their learning. Our child is even in the Gifted and Talented program in part because of the accommodations that allow them to fully participate in school. This bill does not include requirements that these schools have to support kids with IEPs, and it does not include transportation options to these schools. So, it seems like it would really only benefit families with students already enrolled in private schools, those kids who do not need additional support, or those who are well off enough to have reliable transportation. I want all students to be able to attend good schools. If there are public schools that aren't meeting the mark, then we need to improve those schools - not disinvest from public schools. Please protect our wonderful public education in this state and vote against vouchers. Thank you.

Kimberly Stephenson, Dr.
self - Director of Education
San Antonio, TX

This bill will boost wealthy families by supporting them in sending their children to private or parochial schools, while distilling the "have nots" in public schools that are held to higher standards. The wealthy do not need this support. Rural families aren't as able to use this support. Urban and suburban schools benefit from students learning alongside peers of different backgrounds, races, and religions and need this funding to continue to supply quality instruction.

If the government truly wishes to improve student experience and outcomes, you can fully fund the public schools.

Mimi Barreras
Self
Magnolia, TX

I am vehemently opposed to HB3 as a homeschool parent, a certified teacher, as a private teacher, and a homeowner and taxpayer, of which I have been all over 34 years. This bill adds burdens to legal private school entities via testing requirements and curriculum oversight. It is particularly inequitable toward homeschoolers, but I can tell you that most homeschoolers will not comply with the oversight. It is concerning to me also that I have chosen to keep my children home for 30 years to educate and at the same time I hv paid heavily into the local isd for 25 years - this past year to the tune of almost $9K. It's like being penalized and double taxed. In addition, this bill is big spending and even more big spending in future that is unknown for 100K kids, .02% of the school population in texas. That's a ludicrous waste of $$$$$$.

A huge concern has been the utter lack of concern by every Rep I have approached that this is a bill no one I know wants. I do know people indifferent to it, but homeschools and public school teachers are vehemently opposed. No one seems to care. You need to care! You do nooooot want to make the homeschool community angry. No one is more educated and politically active than homeschool moms.

All I can see is the $ behind this bill. Why have Texas reps suddenly given over to big donors instead of listening to their constituents? It's baffling.

Celeste Jones
Self
Lindale, TX

Please vote NO to HB 3. The future of Texas education relies on what happens with this bill. It will ruin all education in Texas, if this bill is passed. Lets use these funds to better public education, and pay teachers a wage they deserve.

Laura Stanczak, Ms
Self/retired Texas teacher
Salado, TX

I urge you to vote NO to vouchers! Vote NNO on SB 2 and SB 3!

Recent reporting by ProPublica found that Texas private schools are significantly whiter than their surrounding communities, with white students making up more than double the enrollment of public schools: 55.6% to 26.4%.

Voucher schemes offer families no real choice, as private schools control all enrollment decision.

There are no accountability standards to ensure taxpayer dollars are effectively spent and no evidence that private schools improve educational quality.

Texas voucher would eventually add billions of dollars to the state budget.

Texas public schools, where the vast majority of students will continue to be educated, are underfunded, a increase of 220.00 will not catch to inflation.

Private schools are not accountable to families or communities.

Their boards are not elected, and frequently not even in the same state and private schools are not required to exceed or even meet public school standards.

The universal voucher plan that Gov. Abbott supports has been used in other states to funnel tax-paid subsidies to wealthy parents who already were sending their children to private schools, while many low-income families, even with vouchers, can't afford private school tuition. The income level of 140,000 per family in no way should be considered "low income"

The implantation of vouchers will defund the Teacher Retirement System. Vouchers will cause TRS to no longer be actuarially sound . This is from Jerry McGinty.

Fully fund Public Schools and vote NO for vouchers.

Gina DeBottis Metts

Self - retired
Houston, TX

Texas has not adequately funded our public schools for years. The last update to the SBA (student basic allotment) was in 2019. In order to just get back to that level of spending, the SBA needs to be increased by at least $1400/student to account for inflation. Although that number will still keep Texas students below the national average and keep Texas in the lower 10th percentile in public school support, it is significantly more beneficial to our students than the paltry $200/student cited in HB2. Other dedicated funding (e.g. for school safety) should not count towards the in-classroom funding tally. Quality public schools are essential to providing a competent and competitive Texas workforce for the future. Our public schools must be well funded to achieve this objective.

Rhea Liq

Self
Dallas, TX

As a parent of 2 public school students, 3rd and 6th grade, I have seen firsthand the struggles our public schools have faced. Reduced funding year after year has caused parents to have to pay for more for our children. This includes simple upgrades to the school, field trips, and in one case, saving our assistant principal from losing his position. In addition, my children have had teachers leave mid school year multiple times, making the transition of learning extremely difficult. Last summer, my 3rd grader lost his classroom teacher and his gifted and talented teacher. He was assigned to a new class with a teacher whom he was afraid of, and a class filled with more than the limit of 22 students per class. My 6th grader receives special education services where the service has deteriorated due to lack of available staffing. Our public schools cannot suffer any more losses and focusing on a private school voucher program will only create more private schools who do not meet standards or private schools who will not admit students from the public school system. This further divides and separates the different economic groups but also reduces funding for our students. There has been no increase in per student funding since 2019, and this bill will only increase funding per student by $220. This doesn't even match the rate of inflation. The education savings account program will continue to siphon dollars from public school funding, making it difficult for those of us who will continue to use public schools as the subsidized education account will not help pay for a full private school tuition. As a result, I am against HB3.

Beverly Sylvester
Self/Retired Educator
Fort Worth, TX

I am against passage of this bill and it to fail!

Jan Sawyer
Self
Plano, TX

I am a retired schoolteacher of 47 years. There is a reason why we have public and private schools. It's all about money. We pay a lot of money (taxes) for public education. It is not right to take part of this money and give it to private institutions. Let them do their recruiting and fundraising. Public schools are having their own problems of closing down schools for lack of students. Think about your bill. Every student is allowed so much money, when money is taken away from a local school district, that money has to be "made up". How is that done.....MORE TAXES. Please don't approve this bill.

Caroline Werner
Self
PLANO, TX

I am a parent of a gifted child with a significant behavior disability. She has three special ed teachers and a gifted teacher who help her thrive in the general education environment. There are ZERO private schools in the DFW metroplex who would accept her. She needs fully funded public schools to thrive. School vouchers will not help her (because there are no private schools who meet her needs) and will harm her because it will defund her school district, making it more difficult for her to access services and supports she needs. Her behavior has improved significantly with the supports and staff that a fully funding school district can offer, and she is working 3-4 grade levels ahead. Without the level of special education supports she has, she would be in a self contained classroom.

Elizabeth Clark, Mrs.
Private citizen
Georgetown, TX

Taxpayer funds need to go to Public NOT Private Schools!
Our Public Schools have been neglected for 5 years - DO NOT send Public dollars to Private Schools.
Billionaires do NOT dictate how taxpayers dollars are spent. Stand up for the hard-working Texans.
Vouchers HURT our neighborhood schools!
Vouchers HURT our rural communities !
We HAVE choice in our public schools right now! But the legislature is NOT funding CHOICE in public schools!
Texan billionaires just want WHITE, CHRISTIAN PRIVATE schools! We do NOT agree and you need to demonstrate courage and commitment to hard-working Texans and say NO!
We voted you into office to represent US -- say NO to VOUCHERS!
The Texas Senate was bought out by the Billionaire Texans -- the House needs to represent the people of Texas and show more courage!
State government has a constitutional responsibility to adequately fund public schools. Let's start doing that ! 5.5 million children are depending on it !

Julie Avary
Tax payer; grandmother
Colleyville, TX

School choice Vote NO. Our public schools need that money in Texas. We don't know the possible fraud that would take place if HB3 passed. Kids should go to the school in their neighborhood. Teachers should be paid on their merit. School tests like the STARS TEST, must be eliminated.

Trina Bailey
Self (Attorney)
Lucas, TX

As a mom of three kids—twin boys with dyslexia who attend public school and a daughter in private school—I see both sides of the education system. We have school choice. My family is evidence of that. I don't believe taxpayer dollars should fund private education. That's why I oppose HB 3 and the voucher program.

First, the bill doesn't do enough for public schools. The increase to the basic allotment is too small and doesn't keep up with inflation. Public schools are struggling to cover rising costs—teacher salaries, classroom materials, and student support services—but this bill barely moves the needle.

Meanwhile, HB 3 would give $10,000 per student for private school tuition. As a parent with a child in private school, I know firsthand that private schools set their own rules which is why we don't send our dyslexic twins to the same school as our daughter. They aren't required to provide special education services, and they don't answer to the same accountability standards as public schools. My family made the choice to pay $40k annually for private school, and I don't expect taxpayers to cover that cost. Public funds should support public schools, where the vast majority of Texas kids learn.

Another issue? Unfunded mandates. If the state requires schools to provide something—like security—it should also fully fund it. Right now, schools are being forced to stretch already-tight budgets to meet these mandates, taking resources away from students in the process.

Finally, special education funding remains inadequate. My twins have dyslexia, and I know how critical support services are. But the state's SPED reimbursements don't even come close to covering the real cost of educating students with special needs. Schools are left scrambling to fill the gap, and kids don't always get the help they need. I asked lawmakers to fix this, but HB 3 doesn't do that.

I value both public and private education, but they are not the same. Public dollars should be invested in public schools, where they benefit the most students. HB 3 fails to do that, and I strongly oppose it.

Thank you for reading my comments.

Alicia Taylor
Self
McKinney, TX

Against!! The proposed voucher program will negatively impact the services and support my autistic son receives through public special education.

Jamie Roberts
Self
Austin, TX

Please say NO to the voucher bill. As a public school teacher, I know the power and inclusion within our schools. Texas should do everything in its power to support public schools rather than to take money to give to private schools via vouchers. The reality is that most students that are not able to afford private schools on their own will likely still not be able to attend because of the high cost of private school tuition or because they cannot provide their own transportation. I have also seen many students have to come right back to public school because they got kicked out of private school for minor behavior issues. Please prioritize our public schools.

Lisa Robertson, Mrs.

Self- Special Education Coordinator Leander ISD

Liberty Hill, TX

Hello, I am submitting this to urge you to vote “no” to HB3. I strongly oppose the use of public funds for private school. As a Special Education Coordinator in public Texas schools (over 24 years experience) and as a parent of a student who graduated in 2023 with and IEP for Autism and a daughter who currently receives accommodations as part of a 504 plan, I have had unique experiences and knowledge in this area. This proposed funding allotment for private schools is problematic in a number of ways, #1 being that it set up our public schools even further towards failure. The funding per pupil would be off balance, in favor of the few selected students who actually are selected for private schools. If private schools are given this money, they should be subject to the same over testing and IEP/504 mandates that public schools must follow. Too many families of children with special needs are not accepted into these private schools, or are forced to leave (still keeping their $) only to return to public school. This is also the case for families leaving to homeschool, with no plan for meeting learning needs of their students- only to return further behind to public school. We need your support to raise the funding in public school by keeping local dollars local. We have had no increase since 2019. The other concern that occurs with HB3 is the increase of disproportionate populations no going to private, who will further make services unequal in public schools. There was a statement about the success of other states in the SEC going private- have you looked at what public schools have turned into in states like Alabama? Any family with income send their kids to private. They are not much further along than when schools were segregated. I worry that this will be our future in Texas. Families here have always had choice! It just does not need to be funded with Taxes. What about people with no children? Next we will say they do not need to pay their share either. We invest in public schools for the good of our communities. The children are our future! Please invest in them! We have exceptional services here in Texas. As a special education coordinator I am proud of the services we provide! We need funding for teacher training and recruitment. We need support for teacher pay and less focus on state assessment, a system that takes our funding with no return. Say no to vouchers! Last year when teacher pay was withheld due to vouchers failing, was a slap in the face to all educators. You have kept public schools deprived of funding that is available, needing to be released. My own child is attending a trade school and had learned so many amazing skills through his special education services and career and tech classes in high school. This balance of programming is also not available in private schools. Please say no to HB3!! I am happy to provide any other information that maybe useful! Thank you!

Angelica Knickerbocker

Self

VICTORIA, TX

As a Texas mother, we do NOT want this 'savings voucher' scam.

This is bullshit.

Greg Abbott does NOT have the best interest of public schools in mind for Texas families.

Samantha Price
Self, Teacher
Sandia, Texas, TX

As a mother, taxpayer, teacher, Conservative and concerned citizen of this great state - I strongly oppose House Bill 3. As a teacher, I've had the privilege of working in both public and private schools. I've seen the chokehold that standardized testing and state mandates (many unfunded) have on our public school system. Through no fault of their own, the hardworking teachers and administrators in our public schools are bound to these ridiculous, developmentally inappropriate assessments as a determinant of their "success".

As a parent, one of the sole reasons I am considering private school for my own children is to avoid the STAAR test. It seems as though the state government is actively working to take away the option of a private school free of government interference, under the guise of "school choice". Requiring students who use ESA's to take an assessment not only affects those students, but the school as a whole. As we've seen in public schools, teachers are forced to teach to the test in order for students to perform well.

Aside from that, as a taxpayer, it's appalling that the government would use taxpayer money to pay for private schooling. Just as many conservatives widely agreed that federal student loans should not be forgiven on the taxpayers dime (because taking out those loans/going to college was a CHOICE), private school tuition should not be funded by Texas taxpayers. That is especially true when we consider the fact that this program will benefit less than 2% of Texas children. Will private schools be held to the same transparency standards as public schools when it comes to school finance? Even more importantly, if this bill passes, will the state commit to funding our public schools adequately? 98% of the children in Texas are attending schools that are operating on 2019 budgets in 2025 economic times. Our governor loves to twist the facts and make it seem as though schools are being funded at "historic" levels and that is simply not true.

Lastly, the fact that these funds must be used with "approved vendors" is corruption in broad daylight. Who approves these vendors? What are they looking for when approving vendors? Who is benefitting from this? Why does a man from Pennsylvania have such an interest in Texas' education system? These are all questions that deserve true and honest answers.

Thank you for your time,
Samantha Price

Kyle Click
Self
Abilene, TX

I am writing to voice my disagreement with the establishment of any type of school voucher program in Texas. We should use this funding to fully support our public schools rather than give subsidies to rich families, because make no mistakes, that is the true purpose of this bill. This will disproportionately favor wealthy and religious families, and leave poorer and disabled children behind with substandard education. Please vote against this bill and move to support strengthening our public schools instead.

Jennifer Harrell

Self; Public School Educator and Parent

PFLUGERVILLE, TX

As a parent and educator with 22 years of experience in Texas Title 1 schools, I am very concerned about the impact of school vouchers on the most vulnerable student populations, including special education students, those with 504 plans, and emergent bilingual learners. Potential challenges include:

Limited Access to Private Schools: Many private schools are not required to accept students with disabilities or emergent bilingual students, meaning families using vouchers may not have as many choices as expected. Private schools lack the specialized programs or trained staff necessary to support students with special needs effectively.

Loss of Legal Protections Under IDEA and Section 504: Public schools must comply with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and Section 504, which ensure students receive individualized services and accommodations. Private schools are not bound by these laws in the same way, meaning students who leave public schools for private institutions might forfeit crucial support.

Financial Barriers for Families: Vouchers rarely cover the full cost of tuition, uniforms, materials, transportation, etc. leaving families to pay the difference, which can be a burden for those with lower incomes.

Impact on Public School Resources: When students leave public schools using vouchers, public schools lose funding but are still responsible for serving the majority of students, including those with the highest needs. Reduced funding can lead to cuts in special education programs, dual language, and other services critical to vulnerable students who remain in public schools.

Language Support Limitations: Emergent bilingual students will struggle in private schools that do not offer English as a Second Language programs or dual language. Public schools are legally required to provide language support services and qualified teachers, while private schools are not held to the same standards.

While school vouchers aim to provide more choices, they may not benefit the most vulnerable students as intended. Without guaranteed legal protections, adequate funding, and access to specialized support, students with disabilities, 504 accommodations, and emergent bilingual needs may face greater challenges rather than increased opportunities.

Linda Estrada

Texas State Teachers Association

Donna, TX

HB 3 is a voucher and will funnel taxpayer dollars through education savings accounts to students for private school tuition and related expenses at an initial cost of $1 billion in state funds for the first two years that should go to our public schools.

That amount will increase in subsequent years, at a growing loss to public education and other critical public services.

State tax dollars must not be diverted from public to private schools. I oppose vouchers and related schemes — including education savings accounts, tax-credit scholarships and for-profit virtual schools — that use tax dollars to pay private school tuition for selected students while undermining public schools where the vast majority of Texas students are educated.

Voucher schemes across the country have proven to be burdensome on state budgets, and a Texas voucher would eventually add billions of dollars to the state budget without an additional funding mechanism.

The universal voucher plan that Gov. Abbott supports has been used in other states to funnel tax-paid subsidies to wealthy parents who already were sending their children to private schools, while many low-income families, even with vouchers, can't afford private school tuition.

I urge you to vote NO to vouchers! Vote NO on SB 2 and HB 3!

Terri Hiaumet

Self

Henderson, TX

I am strongly against HB 3. Any money being put into the voucher program should be dedicated to our public schools. The voucher program does not guarantee all children in this state an education. Children with disabilities, children who live in rural areas and children who come from low income families all have the right to an education and one that is free from religious influence. It is not the job of the state to give religious instruction which would be impossible with the private school vouchers.

Sarah Ruiz

Self, writer

Austin, TX

Please do not pass this bill. Instead of creating school vouchers, Texas should be investing more in public schools to ensure that everyone, regardless of income level or location, can access high-quality public education. I strongly believe that public education is one of the greatest services that our country and our state provides to its citizens. It ensures our economic stability by developing tomorrow's well-prepared workforce, and it provides employment opportunities for teachers and educators. My mother was a dedicated public school teacher for over 20 years; and even now, several years after her retirement, I still hear from her former students about what an amazing teacher she was and what a positive difference she made in their lives. My sister has also been a dedicated public school teacher for over 15 years, and I don't want for her, her fellow teachers, and her students suffering because of efforts to privatize education in this state. Please protect our public schools and give them more funding instead of launching this school savings account and voucher program. Thank you.

Rhonda Miller

Purple for Parents United - Self

Godley, TX

Good morning, Mr. Chairman and members of the committee. I'm writing to you today to address education in Texas and particularly school choice. As I've traveled throughout multiple states helping Americans to understand what has happened to education in America, I always ask the same question. If leaders truly wanted to fix education, why are they not removing the globalist tentacles that control it? I'm asking you that very question this morning. School choice, no matter how you spin it, does not address this problem. In fact, it further expands the globalist control into private schools and homeschool. Let's take a look at just a couple of influencers who are promoting school choice. Jeff Yass has given Governor Abbott over $10 million to advance school choice. Were you aware that Jeff is connected to the Arabella Advisors network of usurpation of our country? Were you also aware that Jeff supports the Save The Children organization that has been funded by USAID, Gates, Ford, Open Society, Blackrock and the Dave & Lucinda Packard Foundation? These same organizations fund Arabella and Jeff is in their network of influence. Additionally, were you aware that Corey DeAngelis is also connected to the Arabella Advisors network and is influencing Governor Abbott? You can see the connections here:<https://purpleforparentsindiana.org/sites/default/files/2025-03/Texas%20School%20Choice%20Chart.pdf>. You can also see the Arabella Connections here:<https://purple4parentsunited.org/sites/default/files/2025-03/Arabella%20P4P%20Networks.pdf>. We know that the Rockefeller's, Gates, big Pharma and more have all infiltrated education to align it with the United Nations agenda of global control. Bill Gates even admitted such on video when he admitted that the standards and curriculum will all align to the tests. The same people who write the tests also write the standards and curriculum. If Texas truly wants what's best for the future of Texas, it would be in the best interest of the future generations to remove these tentacles from education and get back to the basics of reading, writing and math and watch children flourish. Otherwise, we will see the continued demise of our state and nation. Texas has an opportunity to really lead the way by eradicating the globalists once and for all. I implore you to have the courage that Texas is so widely known for and take such action and not simply expand the globalist grip on the minds of our future leaders. Thank you!

Juliana Gaddis

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose the vouchers

Charlotte Davidson

Self- former educator

Spring Branch, TX

Please do not pass this bill which only benefits wealthy people who already send their children to private schools. I served as a special educator for 30 years in Texas. I have seen first hand how special education students are denied necessary services at private schools. After wasting money and time taking their children with special needs children to private schools, parents would wearily return to public schools to receive the needed services for free. Public schools in Texas need to be fully funded, not defunded. If you would like for parents and students to have a choice, why not offer school choice within the public schools as Garland ISD has done for many years? Please do not pass this bill!

Anna Weaver-Guerra

Self

El Paso, TX

Vouchers are a scam

Stephanie Taylor

Self

Plano, TX

I do not support the school voucher scam that is being pushed by billionaires in Texas. It is theft, plain and simple. ALL Texas children deserve a decent education (which they can't get right now due to extremists banning books and refusing to address rampant gun violence, but I'll save those comments for later), not just the ones with rich daddies or ties to the powerful. We will not be able to fund public education properly with this bill. We can barely fund it now, in spite of exorbitant property taxes and record income from the lottery. We have to stop stealing from middle class Texans to fund tax breaks for wealthy developers and premium education opportunities for a select few of our children. This proposal is unconstitutional and morally reprehensible. Our once great state needs to stop leading the way to the bottom and learn from other failed states instead of repeating their mistakes. The farther the gap between the opportunities for the haves and the have nots, the closer we get to becoming California. Look at what Hollywood and Silicon Valley have done - regular people can't afford to exist there, so the employed ones are leaving and the recently laid off are begging on the streets. Don't California my Texas. Keep public education for the PUBLIC. Manage our money with us in mind, not yourself. Not political operatives or your donors. Not billionaires who don't need another dime from us. Please.

Dolly Rackley, Mrs

Self

San Antonio, TX

I believe it is time to give parents choice on the education of their children. There are many things in the current public school curriculum that is not appropriate or acceptable. Vote to affirm the passage of HB 3.
Thank you for hearing my voice.

Becca Hogan

Parent of Children in LISD - Instructional Assistant

Leander, TX

I strongly oppose the Texas school voucher bill (HB 3) for several key reasons that directly impact the future of our public education system. As someone who is a product of a Texas public school, whose mother was a dedicated public school teacher in Texas, and as a parent with children currently attending Leander ISD elementary schools, I have seen firsthand the value and potential of our public schools. Public education is a cornerstone of opportunity, and this bill threatens to undermine that foundation in ways that will harm our children, teachers, and communities.

The governor's strategy of withholding essential funding from our public schools to push this bill forward is not only harmful—it's a betrayal of the teachers, students, and families who rely on these institutions every day. Our public schools have faced years of financial strain, with funding levels stagnating since 2019. Meanwhile, inflation has skyrocketed, increasing the cost of living for families and the cost of supplies and resources for schools. Teachers, who are already underpaid and overworked, have left the profession in droves. It's clear that instead of addressing these issues, the governor's priority has been to promote a voucher program that will do nothing to help the struggling schools that serve the majority of Texas children.

Furthermore, the evidence from other states that have implemented school voucher programs shows that they disproportionately benefit wealthy families who already have the means to send their children to private schools. Rather than creating equitable opportunities for all students, this bill would simply serve as a tax break for the rich, funneling public funds into private institutions that have no obligation to serve the diverse and vulnerable populations that our public schools are committed to educating.

Our schools need more resources, not less. We need to prioritize increasing teacher pay, improving classroom conditions, and ensuring that every child—regardless of their background or zip code—has access to the quality education they deserve. This voucher bill is a step in the wrong direction, and it will only exacerbate the disparities in our education system.

I stand firmly against HB 3 and urge all Texans to do the same for the future of our children and our state.

Kyle Hogan

Parent of Children in LISD - IT Manager

Leander, TX

I strongly oppose the Texas school voucher bill (HB 3) for several key reasons that directly impact the future of our public education system. As someone who is a product of a Texas public school, whose mother was a dedicated public school teacher in Texas, and as a parent with children currently attending Leander ISD elementary schools, I have seen firsthand the value and potential of our public schools. Public education is a cornerstone of opportunity, and this bill threatens to undermine that foundation in ways that will harm our children, teachers, and communities.

The governor's strategy of withholding essential funding from our public schools to push this bill forward is not only harmful—it's a betrayal of the teachers, students, and families who rely on these institutions every day. Our public schools have faced years of financial strain, with funding levels stagnating since 2019. Meanwhile, inflation has skyrocketed, increasing the cost of living for families and the cost of supplies and resources for schools. Teachers, who are already underpaid and overworked, have left the profession in droves. It's clear that instead of addressing these issues, the governor's priority has been to promote a voucher program that will do nothing to help the struggling schools that serve the majority of Texas children.

Furthermore, the evidence from other states that have implemented school voucher programs shows that they disproportionately benefit wealthy families who already have the means to send their children to private schools. Rather than creating equitable opportunities for all students, this bill would simply serve as a tax break for the rich, funneling public funds into private institutions that have no obligation to serve the diverse and vulnerable populations that our public schools are committed to educating.

Our schools need more resources, not less. We need to prioritize increasing teacher pay, improving classroom conditions, and ensuring that every child—regardless of their background or zip code—has access to the quality education they deserve. This voucher bill is a step in the wrong direction, and it will only exacerbate the disparities in our education system.

I stand firmly against HB 3 and urge all Texans to do the same for the future of our children and our state.

flora gill

Flora Gill

houston, TX

This is welfare for the wealthy with no accountability for those schools. They don't have to take special needs kids. They don't have to take poor kids. Most truly poor kids won't have the extra thousands of dollars available to cover the rest of tuition, transport, and breakfast and lunch. Their family may share a car and really rely on the bus. If they are on SNAP, they may really rely on school lunches. $164k is not a low household income (my husband and I felt like we had "made it" when we made that much), the median household income in Texas is $79k, it should at least be below that. Or you could base that on the Federal Poverty line... But you can't do that because neither of those folks can afford the extra costs that will come with private school. My daughter is in CCISD and she is getting a world class education. She's reading fluently in kindergarten and already passed into 1st grade math. Her school builds an amazing community, that my fancy private school educated husband is kind of jealous of - he never had that. She goes to school with kids of all colors, religions, nationalities, and income levels, and you learn about the world from that! During a snowday, we walked to a playdate with a classmate 10 doors down that we would've never known without public school. Public school is one of the few places where you can come together with folks across party and ideological lines and realize that we are in this together fighting in good faith for the future. I know all the republicans Senators and House Members are gerrymandered into never ending power and feel that you should do whatever the big donors say so you don't get primaried. The voters are not your customers anymore, maybe we're your product?... But I think this will backfire on you. There are tons of republicans in this area that do not like vouchers because they know math. In a world where every podcast ad is sayin "we cut out the middle man to save you money" Why is Texas adding in a middleman to skim profit off the top of our tax dollars when they can be so much more efficiently spent as a school district. Why should someone raising 2 kids in a condo on a single mom's income pay for someone with generational wealth in Bay Oaks to go to private school? Studies show this money will go to the kids already in private schools like it did in AZ and LA. This doesn't make any sense. Do not pass the vouchers bill.

Andrea Dirnberger

Self

Austin, TX

Vote no for vouchers. I do not agree with reallocating public school fund to support private tuition when public schools are already underfunded in our state. It is unacceptable that our state has the eighth largest economy in the world but ranks 46th out of 50 in school funding. All children deserve a quality education.

Kathy Powell
Retired
Gonzales, TX

The voucher program uses taxpayers dollars to subsidize affluent families whose kids go to private schools which can discriminate and do not have to admit everyone

Jessica Neufeld
Texas Mom
Austin, TX

I am a working mom of two elementary-aged children in public school. I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools from our underfunded public schools. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. In fact, I've learned the cost of this voucher system would balloon from $1B to $5B in just a few years (2030). We don't want any of that here in Texas. This bill will harm our most precious and beloved resource - our children; and dim the potentially bright future of Texas by hamstringing the leaders, innovators, and caregivers of tomorrow. Please fund our public schools by increasing the basic allotment to at least the national average, index it to inflation, and tie funding to enrollment not attendance. Please don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Allan Parker, President, The Justice Foundation
The Justice Foundation
San Antonio, TX

Dear Members of the House Education Committee

We support the school choice provisions of HB3. After decades of innovation and courage by over 35 other states, it is now time for Texas to begin to recognize the power of improvement for all children created by parental involent. We support Hb3 parental school choice plan by the Governor, Speaker Burroughs, a majority of the Texas House, and the Texas Senate in SB 2. This time for Texas history to continue the expansion of "general diffusion of knowledge that is essential to the preservation of liberty" required by our Texas Constitution.

Kathy Riggle
self/retired educator
Pearland, TX

As a Native Texan and retired Educator, I oppose school vouchers and this Bill. I am a product of public school in HISD, college educated, parent and grandparent who has depended upon public schools in Pearland, Friendswood, and Pasadena ISDs, plus a retired teacher. We need to be strengthening our public schools and their focus on providing quality education to ALL students, regardless of their needs and religious beliefs. I also have experience with Private schools in the Houston Bay Area. My experience has been that they value parents with financial ability, so they will accept and mainstream students who should be receiving Special Education that they do not offer. This impacts the student who is not receiving Special Ed, plus the remaining students who must accommodate the slower learning pace that results.

Chelsea Williams
Self
FORT WORTH, TX

Public funds for public schools! Private school children can pay their own way. We already have school choice in Texas and this bill and SB 2 will destroy public education. VOTE NO.

Patricia Merrill

self

Austin, TX

I oppose education savings accounts or vouchers because they would take dollars away from public schools which are already underfunded. Vouchers are backed by billionaires not Texans. Public schools are already deficit spending and losing teachers. Vouchers would cause a greater loss of teachers. We cannot afford to have a shadow educational system, especially one that is unaccountable. Protect public funds, protect public schools, and protect rural areas where public schools are the cultural center of the community.

Linda C Elissalde

self - retired Texas Public School Teacher

Crystal Beach, TX

I am a retired Texas Public School Teacher. My parents and relatives were proud public school teachers. The majority of my instructors from elementary school through graduate school were exemplary pedagogues.

I served 35 years as an elementary educator. I was an adjunct history professor in local junior colleges and supervised student teachers for the University of Houston. Generous professionals shared their skills. Often it was, "By my pupils I was taught".

Most qualified for government aid programs. School personal often paid for needed supplies. Local businesses, friends and family helped out on special occasions. Students became experts at composing thank you letters.

I wrote letters to state representatives. Will private schools serve special needs pupils? What about bus service? Will church schools accept and respect children from different religions? Will private schools use the same TEA curricula, standards and tests as public ones? Not one answered even one question.

My hope is that everyone will support public schools. That would be appreciated by those who place the education of our young as a top priority. I am filled with gratitude for Texas Legislators who support the Texas Public School System so it can meet the needs of ALL Texas students.

Sincerely,

Linda C Elissalde

Marla Johnson

Self

San Marcos, TX

I am opposed to giving tax dollars for use for private schools. We should be building up our public schools which serve all children and which are accountable to meet certain standards. The proposed school vouchers will not actually provide a good choice for most children — there is no transportation, the additional cost required to attend is prohibitive and there is extremely limited availability. Private schools are not held to standards needed to receive public funds. Build up the public schools with every available dollar.

Lisa Herrera

Self - marketing executive

San Antonio, TX

Taxpayers funds should be used to strengthen public education, not for private school tuition. We should increase the per student allotment for public school students to ensure Texas produces well educated citizens who will contribute to our economy rather than funnel money to the wealthy, who benefit the most from an ESA/voucher program. Students like my very bright, dyslexic son are looking at an education with fewer in school resources to acquire at a free, appropriate public education if you pass this bill. Private schools often will not accept children with learning differences and so many more kids will fall through the cracks if you pass this bill. Please consider ALL the kids in Texas, not just the ones who already have financial resources in their favor. We could be a leader in this country when it comes to public education, if we just invested in it. Let's do better.

Valerie Kosa

Self

Tyler, TX

We already have school choice. Many choose their local public school, many choose private school, and many choose to homeschool. Making those choices come with a cost. But it is our cost, not the government's.

Conservative ideals are all about less is more. Less government equals more freedom. When the government steps in, it takes away from our individual rights and autonomy. These are basic principles we learn in government and economics class. These basic principles are throughout our constitution.

Not everyone will qualify for this. How does that make it equitable? Those of us who pay our taxes and pay our fair share may not be afforded the "choice" you refer to in this bill. And this is because we chose despite the odds (both of my husband and I are 1st generation Americans and 1st in our families to graduate from college). We have worked hard for everything we have. We continue to pay ridiculous student loan payments and don't qualify for help or relief due to our income and our jobs. We pay for all of our own educational expenses, and now we are continuously asked to pay for everyone else's. That's not the American way.

We came here for freedom. We will continue to fight for freedom. Once the government steps in and says they know better how to spend our money, there are huge red flags. That is not American. We have choice. We need to continue to allow citizen autonomy to decide where and how we educate our children. We choose to teach our children to think for themselves instead of a standardized test where you have to guess how someone is wanting you to think. We choose to focus and specialize where our children's interests and abilities lie. We choose to teach them about respect and their responsibilities as citizens of a free country and we choose to teach them the basic fundamentals that make our country great.

This bill does nothing to help anyone. It adds oversight and bureaucracy where it doesn't belong. It adds an unnecessary price tag. How is that Conservative? What does it save in the end? Those who cannot participate in the program for various reasons are forced into it even if they opt out because of the regulation it will eventually create.

Education Savings Accounts are not school choice. Anything that takes away autonomy and adds regulation and bureaucracy is not Conservative. What does this bill actually accomplish? What is the end goal? Who will actually benefit? Have you thought this through outside of the talking points of a paid lobby.

Please reconsider your vote.

Michelle Sloan

Self

Georgetown, TX

I am opposed to HB 3 for many reasons. The legislature has not funded public schools properly for at least the last 6 years and now they're proposing to give $10,000 to families whose children already attend private school?!!

How about rural districts? Public schools are often the largest employer and schools are the hub of these communities (Friday night football for example). How many private schools are there in these rural Texas towns.

Private schools don't have to accept everyone and can terminate a student's attendance when it suits them. And what about special education? Are private schools required to serve these students?

$10,000 is not enough for your average Texas family to pay for a good private school. Any private school that charges $10,000 per year won't be much of a school.

How many seats are available at these private schools? I believe that the idea behind all of this is another way for white families to send their children to "good schools". By this I mean to schools that mostly serve white middle and upper class students. We're slowly going back to the days of school segregation. I find this idea to be shortsighted. In today's diverse world we need to learn to get along and work alongside people who look and think differently from us. We benefit from exchanges of viewpoints and ideas.

Finally the idea for these vouchers is just a way for Gov Abbott to satisfy his rich donors who will more than likely benefit from this. More private schools will need to be built and guess who will have the money to invest in this?

I believe the Texas public schools are worth the investment. Let's increase the daily allotment by $1000 per child, let's pay our teachers like the professionals that they are and let those families who have the means send their kids to private school on their dime. I do not want my tax dollars spent on this.

Thank you

Gina Mateer

Self- owner of Interoceptive Nutrition, LLC

Austin, TX

In your statements today and previously, you have consistently pushed the possible positive effects of this universal ESA program – without a single mention of the downsides.

Experiences in the other states has shown that Universal ESA voucher programs fail to achieve improving educational outcomes for students. In fact, research shows vouchers have substantial negative effects on academic achievement: For example:

1. Studies in Louisiana, Indiana, and Ohio found that students who attended private schools using vouchers performed worse than similar peers in public schools. These negative effects persisted over years, meaning they were not a temporary result of students' transition to a new school.?

2. Studies of voucher programs in Washington, D.C., and Alabama found no significant improvement in student test scores.?

3. Vouchers fail to deliver even on non-academic measures. Parents do not report greater satisfaction with schools, nor a greater sense of safety, with the use of vouchers.?

4. Indiana's program has been described as the poster child for the segregating effects of?

vouchers

Claims that vouchers improve academic performance are simply false

Furthermore, vouchers harm under-resourced rural public schools and their communities, with no benefit to those rural students who cannot find any private schools.

Voucher programs drain millions of dollars from public sources but are subject to virtually no public accountability—a fraction of the requirements imposed on public schools. Unregulated, unaccountable voucher programs are a waste of taxpayer dollars.

It has also been shown in the other states that:

* Vouchers are more expensive than public schooling?

* Vouchers shift education expenses to the parents?

* Vouchers subsidize private education for students who would not otherwise have attended a public school?

* Voucher programs do not change the fixed costs in public schools?

* Vouchers cost taxpayers money to subsidize private education – often for the more wealthy?

* Vouchers create new subpar education vendors to suck up the increased demand for profit sake?

Question:

What makes you think that none of that will happen here in Texas starting next year???

Jenn Wood

Self

Nevada, TX

I think you all already know that your constituents are overwhelmingly opposed to this, even in the reddest of areas. We want to fund public education, not this. Please do not pass this mess and pave the way for Texas to be even stupider.

Billy Cargile, Mr.

Self

Red Oak, TX

I was under the impression that the purpose of this institution was to represent the people of the great state of Texas. Why are decisions being made, based on massive donations that originate from a billionaire that is not even a resident of Texas. This is blatant corruption, and it is our children who will suffer for it. Is there not a shred of integrity left in Texas state government?

Keri Stern
Aisd
Austin, TX
I oppose

Jill Smits
self
Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers, which will harm our already-strapped public school system!

Mickey Culpepper
Self
Cypress, TX

No vouchers for private schools which lowers funding for public schools

Holden Culpepper
Cypress Fairbanks ISD
Houston, TX

No ESAs and no Vouchers, it's a terrible idea.

Amanda Chumchal
Self
Keller, TX

Texas public schools need more funding, not less. Education Savings Accounts are just another form of school vouchers that divert taxpayer dollars away from public schools and into private institutions with little accountability. Our focus should be on strengthening public education to serve all students, not creating programs that primarily benefit a select few. I urge lawmakers to reject ESA proposals and prioritize fully funding our public schools.

Ashlyn Alvarez
Self
Austin, TX

Kids are watching. They are listening. And they understand when something will impact them. They also react.

Here is a letter my 8-year-old wrote to you, the members of the Public Education Committee:

I don't think it's fair that people are trying to take money away from public schools. And I think our teachers deserve money also. My teachers helped me get better at Spanish and reading. And please do not take books way from young children like me. And listen to what public education teachers want.

I hope we are able to deliver this letter to you in person before this hearing. She even drew a picture of her school with a note that reads, "Vote No to Vouchers."

Please listen to one of your young constituents...vote no to HB3!

Emily Davis
Self
Round Rock, TX

Please vote no on this. I want fully funded public education and not welfare for the wealthy. I want to be the smartest state in the nation and the only way to do that is to educate everyone. I want my children's school to continue to grow and foster their "Leader in Me" program. The only way to do this is to keep public education fully funded. Teravista Elementary is the first in Texas to have achieved the title of a Legacy school, 6th in the world. The voucher program will squash this success.

Michael Garrett
Self
Decatur, TX

All students in Texas deserve to be fully and equally represented and funded. Give every student 10,000 per year, not just voucher students. All students that receive state funds should

Claudia Hurst
Self
Weatherford, TX

A hard NO on education savings accounts, AKA vouchers. The governor is saying the majority want vouchers yet constituents at town hall meetings are shouting NO to their representatives. Time for a NO vote on education savings accounts, AKA vouchers. A fiscal money pit.

Robin Meador
Self retired
Abilene, TX

I am against this bill concerning school vouchers. I have grandchildren who attend public schools, I also own my home and pay property taxes. I live on the poorer side of Abilene, I live in the house my grandparent owned. Unfortunately it is hard to get our streets and public schools repaired or upgraded on the north side of town. I can only imagine how much harder that is going to be with our tax dollars going to private schools. My daughter cannot make up the difference that a voucher doesn't pay. I don't tax dollars going to private schools when public schools will suffer. Please vote no on school vouchers.

Jolene Slama-Saenz
Reilly Elementary PTA
Austin, TX

We oppose HB3 the school voucher program. They are not in the best needs of our public education system. We need to take care of our kids in this public school system, not cater to the ones in private schools.

John Peterson
Self
Leander, TX

On this bill, the Eyes of Texas are Upon You.
And I don't mean that like the University of Texas Alma Mater. Genuinely, everyone is watching to see, will my representative choose to make Texas Education even worse than it already is by approving this Bill? Or, will s/he stand up against the smear, smoke-and-mirrors campaign and agenda Gov. Abbott is pushing? Anyone with half a brain cell knows this Bill is WRONG for Texas. Vote "No". Texas expects it.

April L. Blair, Ms

Self

Dallas, TX

Please vote No! This will not help families that wish to send their scholars to private schools. It will not cover the cost of the private education that this bill is proposing. Therefore the scholar will return back to public education and this may cause a gap in the scholars education because of any missed time.

Carol Watts, Ms

Self

Austin, TX

I wish to voice my opposition to HB 3. I urge representatives to support public education and neighborhood schools and vote NO on vouchers and ESAs. Our neighborhood schools are suffering after 6 years of no increase to the Basic Allotment. Vote no on vouchers/ESAs and vote to fully fund public schools with a $1500 increase in the Basic Allotment. Thank you.

Janelle Allen-Croxton

Self, self

Bridgeport, TX

I do NOT support this. The Government will not control what I teach Homeschooling my Child!

Connie Rossi

Self

Mesquite, TX

No vouchers. Listen to the people. The governor is holding funding for schools hostage to support his agenda.

Dallas Windham

Self - Retired

Fort Worth, TX

I oppose HB 3. Public funds should not be used for private schools!

Melissa Bryan, Dr.

Self, elementary school principal

Fort Worth, TX

I urge you to fully fund public schools, adjusting for inflation before you even consider adding any type of educational voucher to the budget. Fund our public schools fully.

Paul DeGrove

Self

Garland, TX

Please vote against this bill and any other bill that authorizes an education voucher program. Public tax dollars must be used for public schools, not private schools or home schooling programs. Vote against any bill that create voucher programs and increase funding for public schools which has not occurred since 2019.

MARY COLE

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I ask that you vote against ANY voucher program or other program that diverts funding otherwise intended for public schools.

Brenda Elias

Self/parent

Palestine, TX

I support public schools and I want my hard earned taxed dollars to go towards public schools and not towards private schools vouchers I support public schools and oppose private schools vouchers my kids deserve to be educated and all the public schools need the funding not the private schools.

Amy Monkman

self/ teacher

Cedar Park, TX

As a teacher of 30 years, I am adamantly AGAINST this bill. We need a bill that supports public education. We need to put the needs of students and teachers first. We need public education for ALL students. This bill does not support students with learning differences. Greg Abbott has said that vouchers, which this bill is, take away money from public schools. Please DO NOT allow billionaires to run Texas like they are running our Nation. Vote NO for HB3.

Jean Paulsel, Dr.

Self - Early Childhood Education Consultant

Weatherford, TX

“Texas Constitution, Art. 7, Sec. 1. SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE OF SYSTEM OF PUBLIC FREE SCHOOLS. A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the DUTY of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.” The idea that this plan adequately funds public schools is nonsense. Vouchers are unconstitutional. The founding fathers knew the worth of a public education system. In Europe, only the wealthy were educated. Our public education system was the first in the world and a grand experiment to have an educated populace. Benjamin Franklin said, “The good education of youth has been esteemed by wise men in all ages, as the surest foundation of the happiness both of private families and of commonwealths. Almost all governments have therefore made it a principal object of their attention, to establish and endow with proper revenues, such seminaries of learning, as might supply the succeeding age with men qualified to serve the publick with honour to themselves, and to their country.” He also said, “An investment in knowledge pays the best interest.” An investment in the quality education of ALL our children will, indeed, pay the best interest for our communities, our cities, our state, and our nation. Thomas Jefferson said, (Jan. 14. 1818) "A system of general instruction, which shall reach every description of our citizens, from the richest to the poorest, as it was the earliest, so will it be the latest, of all the public concerns in which I shall permit myself to take an interest." I am appalled to see the leaders of this great state actually WORKING to destroy public education by allowing school vouchers. This will only give wealthier parents more personal wealth as they send their children to private schools. Poor and middle class parents will NEVER be able to use these funds since private school tuition will still be out of reach. Our schools are already woefully unfunded. Ask any teacher how much money they put into their classroom each year. Tax dollars should be used to support public education. Texas ranks 38th in the nation in quality of education (<https://worldpopulationreview.com/state-rankings/public-school-rankings-by-state>) or, 29th using another source (<https://www.usnews.com/news/best-states/rankings/education>). Whatever the source, we rank in the lower half of the states. How will destroying our public education system help our rankings, and help our children achieve the success they deserve? They are our leaders of tomorrow. Don't you WANT an educated, accomplished generation of children to be able to take the lead when we are all gone? Don't you want to leave this great state in better condition than you found it? Is a wealth/class division actually what you want? VOTE NO TO SCHOOL VOUCHERS AND GIVE ALL TEXAS CHILDREN THE OPPORTUNITY TO REACH THEIR POTENTIAL.

Hope Corrales

Public schools

Plains, TX

I believe in public education!!

“I strongly disagree with this bill’s approach to school funding and teacher compensation. It does not adequately address the root causes of educational inequality and may disproportionately impact underfunded districts, particularly rural communities. Additionally, it fails to consider the unique needs of students requiring special services, potentially widening the gap in support for these vulnerable groups.”

Wendy Wu

Self

Plano, TX

I am against HB3 to provide funding for private schools. The majority of families attend public schools. Also those that can afford to go to private schools don't need vouchers. Additionally when someone moves from a private to a public school the voucher doesn't follow. Please vote against HB3. Thanks.

Raymond Root

Self

Manvel, TX

No public money for private schools. This directly violates the state constitution.

Kathy Guerra, Ms

Self-Retired Teacher

Frisco, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers and in favor of fully funding public schools!

Ann Kowalsky

Self

Houston, TX

Going to vouchers will deprive most of the children in Texas of an education. If the voucher is for $10,000, well we all know that will not pay for a private education. So people that already give their kids a private education based on their personal choices will just get a $10,000 check subsidizing their choice. Without public education, most children will be out of luck.....as will the state of team as be out of luck if the Texas Governor and his cronies go for private education. I mean, really, how can anyone imagine this is just. Why would anyone want to deprive families of the educational opportunities necessary to succeed in this world. Why does a state that wants to keep women pregnant without offering any assistance for the care of children? Why does this state push women down and also fail to provide the means for children to thrive? Education provides opportunity. What is wrong with you people?

Kelli Reddy

Floydada ISD

Floydada, TX

I am against this bill. I feel it is very unfair to the students in my area. We have no school choice! This bill would take away program funding from our students. Please vote NO!

Lisa Parker
self, homeschooling parent
Cedar Park, TX

We are a homeschooling family, and we DO NOT support school vouchers. We already have choice in Texas.

Any family can choose to homeschool or to send their children to a private school. That's their choice, and they should use their own funds to pay for it - like we do.

I was a public middle school teacher before homeschooling. Public school teachers have to earn licenses and have to continue their education. They are qualified to teach Texas' children. Public schools need and deserve the funds allocated to them.

I DO NOT want my tax dollars to go to a religious school - or another unaccredited private school or another homeschool. Those schools can be funded by simple capitalism. If the school is good, parents will pay for it with their own money.

Vouchers will allow substandard schools to thrive with undeserved handouts.

Please vote NO on school vouchers.

Tammy Estes
Self
Lubbock, TX

Against, property taxes are way too high as it is.

Jeremy Pam Self / Principal
Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Randolph Bauder
Self-Forensic Engineer
Bryan, TX

The comments related to Texas' position being 44th in the nation are not relevant to this bill in my opinion. This is focusing on status and funding, not on the welfare of the children actually attending school. Many comments like this opposing the bill are focused on money and status, rather than the education of our kiddos.

Amy Richards
Self
Houston, TX

Have political courage, save our public schools and vote no on vouchers. Vouchers will not help children be better educated, and 90% of all Texas children depend on public school education. Private schools can reject any student for any reason, public education serves everyone! Be decent, do the right thing, our future is at stake.

Virginia Essary

Self

Kyle, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Moshe Naparstek, Rabbi

self

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Jack Nokes

Self

Austin, TX

I am writing in opposition to the creation of the school voucher program taking public tax dollars to underwrite tuition to private schools. This violates a long-held practice that public money should not be spent for private purposes. In addition, this program will further degrade the quality of public education in Texas. Our future depends on strong public education for all our citizens, not just for those who can afford a quality private school. Invest some of our $30+ billion surplus in public education, not a subsidy for those who can already afford private schools.

Michelle Nguyen

Self

Austin, TX

Hello,

I am a proud graduate of Texas public schools and advocate for a fully funded public school. My son has autism and the establishment of education savings account would defund our public schools and further hinder our special education program. Private schools and vouchers are not parents' choices, it gives a school choice to openly discriminate and decline support for students with special needs. School choice shouldn't mean depriving my child and other special needs children of their chance to be supported and learn in their own way.

Vouchers and education savings account programs benefit rich families by taking funds and support from vulnerable families especially those with special need children. Every child deserves a chance of a high quality education with a fully funded public education system.

Ashley Svenson, Ms self- genetic counselor
Austin, TX

As a Texan committed to strong public education, I firmly oppose school vouchers. Vouchers divert critical funding away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of students, and instead funnel taxpayer dollars into private institutions that lack accountability and transparency. Public funds should remain in public schools—ensuring that every child, regardless of their zip code or background, has access to a high-quality education. Rather than undermining our public school system, we should focus on strengthening it by investing in teachers, resources, and programs that benefit all students.

Kristen Maurel
Self
AUSTIN, TX

The implementation of school vouchers in Texas would be a costly and ineffective policy that threatens public education, funnels taxpayer dollars into private institutions with little accountability, and violates the principle of the separation of church and state. Vouchers, which use public funds to subsidize private school tuition, have failed in multiple states, providing a cautionary tale for Texas lawmakers. Additionally, the U.S. Constitution and the Texas Constitution both contain explicit language to prevent government funding of religious institutions, making voucher programs constitutionally questionable.

Several states have experimented with school vouchers, only to see negative outcomes. For example:

1. Wisconsin – Milwaukee has had one of the longest-running voucher programs in the nation, yet it has failed to improve student outcomes significantly. Multiple studies have found that students in voucher schools perform no better—and often worse—than their public school counterparts. A 2019 study from the University of Arkansas found that Milwaukee voucher students lagged behind in academic achievement when compared to students in traditional public schools.
2. Indiana – Under former Governor Mike Pence, Indiana rapidly expanded its voucher program. However, a 2018 study by the University of Notre Dame found that students who transferred to private schools using vouchers experienced significant declines in math achievement.
3. Ohio – A 2020 study of Ohio’s EdChoice voucher program revealed that students who used vouchers to attend private schools performed worse on standardized tests than those who remained in public schools. Furthermore, the program drained millions of dollars from public school districts, exacerbating funding inequalities.

Texas cannot afford to repeat these mistakes. Instead of improving education, vouchers undermine public schools by diverting essential resources away from the majority of students who rely on them.

Publicly funded voucher programs also raise serious constitutional concerns. The First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution includes the Establishment Clause, which states:

“Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.”

This clause has long been interpreted to prohibit government funding of religious institutions, including religious schools. In Everson v. Board of Education (1947), the U.S. Supreme Court reinforced this principle, stating that the government cannot “aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another.” Many private schools that would receive voucher funds are religious institutions, meaning Texas taxpayers would be forced to subsidize religious education in violation of this principle.

The Texas Constitution is even more explicit in its prohibition of public dollars for religious schools. THE CITIZENS HAVE SPOKEN- WE DO NOT WANT VOUCHERS.

Stacie Brown
self
Bluff Dale, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Please properly fund public education.

.”

Allison Winslow, Mrs.

Self

Waco, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Evan Reifman, Mr

Self

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Courtney Ainsworth

self, public information specialist

Leander, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3. I'm the product of Texas public schools and my children are now enrolled in Leander ISD. LISD has long been a preeminent district in this state, and yet, as state funding hasn't increased in six years, we are facing a $34 million deficit heading into the 25-26 school year. This will result in decreased staffing, the loss of the district's IB programme, and untold additional impacts. The Texas state government's obsession with passing vouchers instead of increasing public school funding shows your constituency that the ultimate goal is to hamstring public schools and privatize schools. This is one of the few pieces of legislature that I have found bipartisan support for in all my local circles. Republicans do not want this, democrats do not want this. Increase public school funding and vote no on HB 3.

Kyle Swift
Self
Decatur, TX

My name is Kyle Swift, and I am a constituent living in Decatur. I am writing to express my strong opposition to the school voucher bill, SB 2, and to urge you to vote against it.

Local schools in Decatur ISD stand to lose an estimated $1.2 million under SB 2, which would be devastating for our community. Our schools are already underfunded, over capacity, and teachers underpaid. This bill would exacerbate these issues. As a dedicated volunteer at my children's schools and my wife a substitute teacher, we witness firsthand how underfunded they currently are. We have outstanding schools and teachers despite these issues and they do amazing work at educating students regardless of status or ability.

Public funds should remain in our public schools, rather than being diverted to unaccountable private schools and providing discounts to wealthy families already sending their children to these institutions. It is perplexing that our political leaders support this bill when the overwhelming majority of Texans do not. You claim this is about school choice, but it is not as we already have school choice. I choose to send my kids to public school as it is considerably better at educating my children than ANY private school around. This bill is all about our political leaders and Governor wanting to funnel public funds to private institutions and companies that operate for profit. Most of these institutions view students as mere statistics and a way to make a profit.

The House, Senate, and Governor who support the "Education Savings Accounts" plan may continue to hide behind the school choice and ESA branding, but the informed members of your electorate see through it. This is simply a voucher, coupon, or discount for private school education. The only Texans who favor it are those who stand to benefit from it—billionaire donors, private schools, and private school parents. Please do better for your constituents and the children, teachers, and parents in Texas by keeping PUBLIC funds in PUBLIC schools.

Thank you,
Kyle

Amanda Pritchard
Self
Spring, TX

Strongly oppose HB3 that will decimate TRS for all loyal employees, as well as take needed money from our public schools.

Joshua Goldstein
self, Director of Software Engineering
Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

John Herron
Self
AUSTIN, TX

Please. Do NOT vote for HB3.

Do NOT support school vouchers or sending public dollars to private schools. Decades of PUBLIC schooling has made America great - it's likely what got YOU where you are today. Sure, public schools could be made better, but moving funding AWAY from public schools isn't the answer. Supporters say 'it's about parental choice', but what's just as important is determining how our kids are COLLECTIVELY educated - it's about more than 'my kid'. We should be just as concerned about educating the kids down the street - it's their education that will determine the direction of society, our future economy, the prevention of crime. Privatizing education TAKES AWAY public benefit. I don't want my taxes paying for the private schooling of someone else's kids. And school vouchers will cost too much in long term - it's unsustainable. Be smart, support public schools. Don't break the public school system.

Laura Warden
Self
Austin, TX

No vouchers! The majority of children in Texas use public education; it needs funding !!!!!

Dylan Highfill
Self
Arlington, TX

Fund Texas public schools

Christina Lizaso, Ms.
Self
Carrollton, TX

I oppose spending public money on private education. No states that do this are overall benefiting marginalized students.

Tierney Hubbard
Self
Flower Mound, TX

Please vote no to this bill. Our public schools are desperate for this funding. I choose public school for my children even though I can afford private school. Please don't take away this choice from me!

Jesse Johnson
SELF
Austin, TX

Public tax dollars are supposed to benefit THE PUBLIC. Diverting these funds to private, religious and home schools does not benefit THE PUBLIC.

I am completely opposed to any diversion of public funds for school to anywhere but the public school system. Public school is in dire condition as is and under attack. Diverting money to private/religious/home schooling only dilutes it further, harming those who need the most help. Private schools are not OPEN enrollment. Wealthy private school attendees don't need vouchers anyway. Diversion of public funds to religious schools violates separation of church and state, and also do not allow anyone to attend their schools. Homeschoolers are making the choice not to participate at all and should not get public money as it's no benefit to THE PUBLIC.

Sincerely
Jesse Johnson

Linda Mundwiller, Mrs

Secular Houston

Houston, TX

Vote "no"

Desaray Granzow

Self

Leander, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3.

The diversion of public funding to private entities is fundamentally harmful to both the public and private sector and fundamentally wrong.

This further defunds public education with specific harm to students - like my child - with disabilities. Funneling $1 billion of public money to a very few individual families does nothing to help the 14% of our public school students receiving special education services. That's almost 800,000 students of which at a minimum 750,000 students would still be in the public system under this legislation. These education savings accounts are completely inaccessible to at least 90% of our disabled students and that's before considering the private schools: 1. Have no obligation to accept students with disabilities. 2. Have no obligation to follow rights protections of IEP's 3. Can and do charge well over their base tuition for students with disabilities even if the minimal services they provide are inadequate. 4. They may expel a student at any point in time and often do once the first test cycle occurs.

In the meantime, while $1 billion is funneled away from public schools, the majority of students in those environments will suffer yet again as this state refuses to properly fund special education with an increase in the allotment lacking for decades.

In districts like mine that offer robust programming, ever improving models for delivery of services, and access and support for students like my child who require services, this growing pile of unfunded mandates, ridiculous restrictions, and continued restriction of funding, seems purposeful. I would like to think the best of everybody in this legislature, but it's a very hard thing to do when we see legislation like this, and the legislators who refuse to listen to the parent voice and the student voice who are all telling them quite clearly and quite directly that this is bad policy and it is directly harmful to our students

Not only is it harmful to public schools, but it's also harmful to the private sector ideals with more regulations and more restrictions coming toward the private sector — and those proponents are being pretty clear and loud with the fact that they did not ask for this.

It seems nobody really wants this except for a few people with a lot of power in the legislature who are veering away from their public responsibility and from their fiscal responsibility of our public dollars.

I asked everyone take a step back look at the system. Look at the actual finances and the large $24 billion surplus that our state has and do the right thing for our students and our families.

Say no to HB 3, update the special education allotment / funding mechanisms, fund public education, where you have a duty in the state of Texas to provide adequate public education, and keep public money in public schools.

Elizabeth Henderson

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Elizabeth Henderson

Sarah Schimmer

Self

Richmond, TX

Please fully fund public schools. Oppose voucher system.

Jeff Dyke

Self

Houston, TX

Fully support HB3 and school choice!!!

Amy Stine
Self
Spicewood, TX

I am a parent of 3 children that have wildly different educational needs. I made a choice after Covid to homeschool my youngest, keep my middle son in public school, and my oldest in a small private school. We were lucky to make this decision. All of our kids are happy and in their elements. Since we are paying out of our pocket for my oldest and the curriculum for my youngest, you'd think that I would be PRO voucher, but I am staunchly against it.

I love the freedom that homeschooling in Texas provides and I don't want the government in my business dictating what I can and can't teach. Even though I don't have to apply for a voucher, I feel like this plan will eventually regulate homeschooling.

In addition, I don't want prices to go up for private schools that will be accepting vouchers.

Most importantly, and this is the most obvious reason, I don't want money taken from public schools. Governor Abbott can twist his words any way he wants, but this plan WILL take money away from public schools, and students and staff will suffer. He knows this, yet he continues to lie to the public that it won't affect them.

We know that this plan will only benefit people that are wealthy and already have the means to send their kids to private schools. It should come as no surprise to anyone that many people, including the Governor's wife, will benefit from this plan. There's a large billboard on Highway 71 in Bee Cave advertising the micro school where his wife happens to be a board member. We all know the millionaires and billionaires are behind this awful plan.

There is not a SINGLE benefit of vouchers to public school students. The Governor knows this, the legislature knows this, the people know this, and yet we are fighting tooth and nail to oppose this.

If you read the comments on any of the Governor's social media posts, you'd realize this is not a partisan issue- Republics don't want this either.

Please don't take away from our fantastic public schools to make your friends richer. You will single-handedly ruin this state with this plan.

Brandy Swigart
Self. Homemaker.
Sachse, TX

We do not need coupons for the rich. We do not need to take public funds and put them into private unregulated schools. ESPECIALLY when Abbots wife works for one! Talk about conflict of interest.

Release hostage funds to pay teachers more.

Katharine Hsu
Self
Plano, TX

Rather than providing money for alternate options, use the money to improve the options already available for families in their neighborhoods.

Jennifer Boyd
Self, mother
Shallowater, TX

LEAVE FUNDING IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS. Nobody wants a voucher program. Do not take money away from public schools where the money constitutionally belongs!!!!!!

Ellen Winstead, Ms

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Ellen Winstead

Amy Parks

Self

New Braunfels, TX

Texans do not want this school vouchers. We want our teachers in Public schools to receive a annual pay raise, and our Public schools to receive more funding academically. The vouchers only help the rich and wealthy. This does nothing for the parent who can barely keep a roof over their head and food on the table. Stop Defunding Education.

Jenna Crawford

Self, homeschooler

Hockley, TX

Conservative values focus on limited government involvement. Introducing this program will not benefit education for a vast majority of Texas children. This bill, like many others, is a gateway to collecting data, controlling information that is being taught, and introducing the government overreach into private and homeschools. Homeschoolers should remain free from any government interference whether direct or indirect in the coming years. Look at who benefits the most from this bill- it's not Texas children. It's the companies who will see the contracts for the "approved curriculum" that is being pushed. It's a control of information and dangling money at parents with a multitude of strings attached.

Jeff Furrh
Self
Klein, TX

As a seventh-generation Texan and an educator for nearly 30 years, I am writing to express my strong opposition to private school voucher programs. Education is a cornerstone of our state's future, and I firmly believe that taxpayer dollars should remain within public schools, not diverted to private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability and accessibility.

My commitment to education runs deep—my mother was a teacher, I have dedicated my career to serving students, including time in charter schools, and my daughter is currently training to become an educator. I have seen firsthand how public schools strive to serve all students, regardless of their background or needs. Private schools, however, are not required to adhere to the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), meaning students with disabilities may be denied the services and protections they are entitled to in public schools.

Additionally, the proposed voucher amounts do little to truly expand school choice for low-income families. The cost of private school tuition far exceeds the voucher amount, leaving the poorest families without viable options while providing a financial benefit to wealthier families who already send their children to private schools. Rather than increasing opportunities for all, vouchers create an inequitable system that favors those with existing means.

Furthermore, public tax dollars should not be used to subsidize private industry. Our tax dollars should be invested in strengthening public schools, ensuring competitive teacher salaries, reducing class sizes, and expanding resources for students, not funding institutions that operate without public oversight.

I urge you to stand against private school voucher initiatives and instead advocate for policies that strengthen our public education system for all Texas children. Thank you for your time and service to our great state.

Sincerely,

Jeff Furrh

Robbie Kuykendall
Self
Lufkin, TX

As the child of two former Educators, and a product of public education, and the parent of a child attending a public school in the state of Texas and a rural community, I would like to make it known that I STRONGLY disagree and disapprove of Greg Abbott's "school choice" bill. If the governor or Mike Morath of TEA, who we've yet to hear remarks from, cared about the children and Educators of Texas he would've never held funds hostage and blackmailed his constituents into supporting him. The governor has not supplied Texas district with the funds due to them and has watched leadership, teachers, and students struggle with lack of funding. There is absolutely no way you'll receive whatever Abbott hasn't promised you via Trump or via his donors. Listen to the parents and teachers involved with public education. We do not want these vouchers. I want the resources for my district for my child.

Do your job and vote as your constituent want.

Paul Toler, Mr
Self
Bryan, TX

I am not a fan of private school funding but given the legislature and governor plan to implement such a program, I urge the House to pass a bill that models other states with private school voucher programs. The proposed $10,000 per student funding is too much. Florida has the richest program at $8,000 and the other states with private school funding programs range from $4,000 to $7,000 per student. Texas first priority needs to be upgrading our overall public school education programs to at least be in the top quartile of the nation in order to continue to attract and retain businesses. Texas currently is clearly in the bottom quartile of public school funding. Whatever the elected Legislature does for private school funding, it should double that public school funding per student. Texas has been trending downward in public education support for too many years. I urge the House to be bold and reverse that trend and make funding public education the #1 priority (where a large majority of the population will be educated) and fund private school vouchers at no more than 50% of per student funding provided to private school vouchers, with income limits closer to 300% of the poverty level.

Oscar Maldonado
Self
Hebbronville, TX

I do not support HB3

Molly McNeill, Mrs.
AISD
Abilene, TX

I am not in support of HB3 and these supposed changes. We need to not make rash decisions on behalf of our teachers and students but consider well thought-out answers to better support our state's EDUCATION. Why are we holding billions of dollars captive and not tapping into those funds FIRST? This is very alarming. I will be forever more paying more astute attention to these bills.

Phyllis Hanvey
Self
Georgetown, TX

No public money for vouchers. Vote No on vouchers. SUPPORT Texas PUBLIC schools. PLEASE.

George Heike
Self/Retired
Dallas, TX

Vote against. This is not a good way to fund education for all.

Angelica Rios
Self
Liberty Hill, TX

I oppose HB 3 and ask my representatives to do the same. Thank you and have a blessed day!

Daniel Alvarez
Self/construction
Weslaco, TX

I believe that this would greatly benefit the child in helping fund the school he/she is attending. Further I believe it will better help those who are financially struggling and will better help them meet their needs in education.

Ryan Angell
Self - Teacher
Tyler, TX

If you want to fix public school, ditch no child left behind, it should be call all children left behind as it forced inclusion of special needs students in to mainstream classes where they couldn't get the attention they needed to be successful without holding the test of the class back. We need to be bold and admit not every student is a mathematician or a poet. And it is proud work to be a plumber or mechanic. Allow students to enter vocational training as an alternative to mainstream education in high school and let the teacher focus on the students who are academically driven and chose that pathway. With the increase in Hispanic and Spanish speaking students, we should invest more in teaching the English and having resources in their native languages for complex ideas and advanced studies. Lastly, caping is an epidemic with young adults, and I respect the harsh stance on discipline mandated for the state- at the same time it is important to acknowledge that it is a addiction and kids will have trouble quitting. AND mandatory DAEP is a lot- especially when those referrals are held against the school's academic rating. Just my thoughts.

Glenda Pollock
Franklin county democrats
Talco, TX

Keep our schools publicly funded. Our children deserve quality public schools. My tax dollars should not be used to fund alternatives. Using our children as pawns to enrich private education, home schooling or religious schools is not right.

Polly McKissick
Self
Center, TX

This is not good for our educational system and favors the wealthy.

Joanna Tarica
Self
Pearland, TX

This bill would be a gross injustice for all school aged children in Texas including those in public, private and home school learning environments. When our elected officials deem the desires of billionaires more significant than the very vocal factions of constituents demanding that they be heard, we know our government is on the wrong path. As a former Texas public school teacher and current parent, I vehemently oppose this bill and hope that common sense will prevail and you will vote NO on BH 3.

Jennifer Crisp
Self
Abilene, TX

I do NOT support this bill. I support fully funding Texas public schools. My local district is increasing class sizes and cutting staff due to inadequate funding from the state. I have seen no evidence that offering vouchers or educational savings accounts improves education for all students. Please vote NO.

Martha Reyna
Jolt Action
Elmendorf, TX

Hello, my name is Martha Reyna and I am a constituent in Elmendorf. I would like the Public Education Committee to say NO to House Bill 3.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them for the future. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our public schools, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private schools. There is no oversight for these private schools and they don't disclose why they choose or don't choose certain s certain students. House Bill 3 diverts tax dollars away from public schools, and those dollars should stay in public education.

I'm a concerned Texan and I ask our representatives to vote NO on House Bill 3.

Ann Locasio, Dr.

Self, Treatment plan coordinator

Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts.

Hillary Benoit

Self

Orange, TX

School vouchers should not be made legal in Texas because they could exacerbate educational inequality and divert crucial funding away from public schools. Public schools already face budget constraints and are tasked with serving a diverse range of students, including those with disabilities and from low-income families. Allowing vouchers would siphon resources from these schools, making it harder for them to maintain quality education for all students. Moreover, vouchers often favor private institutions that may not have the same accountability or transparency as public schools, leading to a lack of oversight and potentially widening the achievement gap between affluent and disadvantaged students. By focusing on improving public schools instead of creating a system that funds private institutions, Texas can ensure that all students have access to a high-quality education.

Kimberly del Angel

Self

Austin, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Jane Woodward

Self

Stephenville, TX

Vouchers take money away from public schools and therefore hurt the quality of education of Texas students - this in turn hurts all of us. Every child had the right to a quality education - that is why we have public schools - do not pass this voucher bill and stand up for all Texas students, not just some.

Debby Schmucker

Self

Rockwall, TX

I vehemently oppose school vouchers for our public education system in Texas. Governor Abbott needs to fund public schools to the level they deserve, pay teachers the salary they deserve- and NOT HAVE IT BASED ON STUDENT TEST SCORES- and allow Districts to use funds the way they need to support the schools in their Districts. Sat NO TO VOUCHERS.

Sarah Randall

Self

Austin, TX

I support voucher program because texas public only teaches the bare minimum and then moves on to supporting high school football which is sexist and misogynistic. There is no academic rigor, nor motivation to maintain high standards. Only ticking some checkboxes. Our kids are not some numbers. Only special ed kids gets extra support, normal kids are packed in a classroom like pigs with teacher to student ratio 1:25. Yes, they show 1:8 ratio including admin and special ed staff but the actual number of a normal classroom is 1:25. Public education should be dismantled completely as it only serves the immigrants who can't afford anything

Doug Killen

Self

Fort worth, TX

I am strongly opposed to school vouchers and not funding public education.

Robin Lockhart

Self

Mesquite, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a Texan resident, practically my entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Mandy Korzekwa

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school vouchers in the state of Texas. Vouchers divert crucial public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas children, to subsidize private and charter schools that are not held to the same accountability standards.

Our public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, support, and opportunities to students of all backgrounds. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public school system by increasing teacher pay, improving resources, and ensuring every child has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting any voucher proposals and focusing on policies that uplift public education for all.

Thank you for your dedication to the future of Texas students.

Tannya Lee

Self

Cibolo, TX

Please vote No. This bill would be a terrible detriment to the most at-risk population and deeply affect special education. It will greatly affect my job as well.

Vickie Cothran
Retired teachers
Granbury, TX

The passage of vouchers is not fair to the average and lower socioeconomic families. They will still not be able to afford private schools.

I am a retired teacher who is very disappointed in our governor and legislature. I have always been proud of our school system, but it has been hurt by lack of funding the past year and now could possibly be devastated. Private schools will not accept ALL students. Vouchers will hurt our public schools! Vote NO!

Michelle Hernandez
Self - IT Manager
Flower Mound, TX

"It shall be the duty of the Legislature of this State, to make suitable provisions for the support and maintenance of a system of Public Free Schools." This bill does not support the students, parents, voters, constitution or future of the State of Texas. When the legislature expects the Public School system to operation on a paycheck of 6 years ago while facing the bills of today then are not fulfilling their constitutional duty. This is not about school choice, parents have fantastic choices in the public school system. I dare you to educate yourselves about what public education actually offers the students of Texas instead of listening to a few donors. The majority of Texas families, students and voters have been communicating loud and clear.... we do not want education savings accounts, school choice or whatever other branding is tried. Fund Public Education at the levels needed for 2025.

Meer Jumani
Self
Sugar Land, TX

HB 3 is a deeply flawed bill that puts politics over the needs of Texas students, teachers, and families. It threatens the integrity of our education system by restricting educators' ability to teach honestly and support their students effectively. Instead of addressing real issues like school funding, teacher retention, and student well-being, HB 3 imposes unnecessary bureaucratic hurdles that do nothing to improve learning outcomes. I urge lawmakers to vote against HB 3 and stand up for Texas students by prioritizing real solutions that strengthen our public schools rather than weaken them.

Courtney Harris
Self/Teacher
Hilltop Lakes, TX OPPOSE

Heather Bland-Ho
self; former teacher
Austin, TX

We keep hearing from Gov Abbott and many voucher proponents, “everyone wants this.” But that is simply not true. Texans are not interested in the voucher scam; we love our kids, believe in public school teachers, support our neighborhood schools and want them FULLY FUNDED.

Yet we keep hearing these claims, so I made Public Information Release requests to TX House Republicans, asking them to share tallies of the numbers of their constituents that are FOR or AGAINST the Voucher Scam. Most hid behind a section of gov code in refusing to share that information with me, even though I was not asking for any confidential information- simply tallies that show what Texans truly want- and I feel like we’re owed this information since many lawmakers are running around trying to make this sound like a done deal.

But you’re hearing the truth in the raucous town halls- and the truth is in the tallies, too. Two Reps shared data with me- and it tells quite a story. And to be clear, these reps are in solidly red, heart of Texas districts.

How many constituents want the Voucher Scam? 3%
How many constituents want ESAs? 2%
Even looking at a term like School Choice, how many constituents want it? only 18%

How many constituents are in favor of supporting Public Education and local schools? 100%

Look, I know you’re all facing a lot of pressure to pass this; and we saw what happened when Abbott (with Jeff Yass money) “primaried” lawmakers who stood up for local schools. But we saw the playbook where they didn’t even mention schools and instead painted falsehoods about other issues. We know the playbook now- those of us in this fight would be HAPPY to join you and to tell your constituents how you stood up for them and for your local, public schools and you refused to let the billionaires change our way of life and turn off our Friday Night Lights.

Vote NO on HB 3.

Thank you,
Heather Bland-Ho
Proud Texan, former teacher, mother of 3 public school students (who tried private schools and did not find them better)
Resident of 78746

We keep hearing from Gov Abbott and many voucher proponents, “everyone wants this.” But that is simply not true. Texans are not interested in the voucher scam; we love our kids, believe in public school teachers, support our neighborhood schools and want them FULLY FUNDED.

Yet we keep hearing these claims, so I made Public Information Release requests to TX House Republicans, asking them to share tallies of the numbers of their constituents that are FOR or AGAINST the Voucher Scam. Most hid behind a section of gov code in refusing to share that information with me, even though I was not asking for any confidential information- simply tallies that show what Texans truly want- and I feel like we’re owed this information since many lawmakers are running around trying to make this sound like a done deal.

But you’re hearing the truth in the raucous town halls- and the truth is in the tallies, too. Two Reps shared data with me

Paige Gonzalez
Self/Mom
Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the use of school vouchers as it does not offer “school choice” for all but only the select few who are already financially able to afford private school tuition and would be paying it themselves anyway. It completely takes away from those who cannot afford private tuition and casting them aside once more. Everyone should have an equal right to a quality education regardless of socioeconomic status or capabilities and funds should be used to better our public school system while also giving our teachers a livable wage that is most deserving. We need to become a state who leads the nation in public education and no longer look like an embarrassment for falling so far behind for the sake our children’s future- not for political gain.

Heather Sayre, Mrs
Self- public school teachers
Argyle, TX

Please don't take away from students and teachers that need this funding to make school available with LRE.

Jesse Silverman
Self
Austin, TX

This bill will destroy public education and the families who rely on him. Be ashamed for letting this bill get so far.

Al Brien, Mr.
Private citizen
Houston, TX

Texans don't want this, put it on the ballot and let Texans decide.

Timothy Hoffman
Self
Sachse, TX

I have children entering public school in a few years. There is no way this bill can be allowed to pass! It will bankrupt Texas public schools. There is no way you can force private schools to accept certain students so this will only benefit the wealthy at the expense of middle and lower class Texans, especially those with disabilities. This is funded by taxpayer money that should be used to support the education of all Texans. It is not acceptable to funnel it into private schools for the benefit of only the wealthy. This bill must be stopped. Abbott's massive out of state political contributions must be stopped. His scheming to replace Texas lawmakers with his own yes-men must be stopped.

Jennifer Peet
Self
Groom, TX

Public funds should be for public schools. Teachers and schools in Texas are already UNDER funded!!!! My husband has been a HS/JH Math teacher and a coach for over 25 years. We have had a child in PUBLIC school for over 21 consecutive years. My mother was a business manager for rural schools for over 30 yrs., and I have been a business mngr. for almost 5 years. We have some great schools in TX. They cannot all be defined as the same. It us a shame and disgusting watching public education be intentionally financially crippled for agendas that have no intention of supporting public education. Tax compression in 2019 with no plans for offsetting/compensation while surplus sits in the Texas education funds and school districts are bring forced to cut teachers and programs. It is very obvious representatives and officials have no intention of listening to parents in public education, teachers or those who actually support public education. Rural schools have huge impacts on small communities. Pay attention!!!! It is not all about populous mega cities and the private schools avaiable to only those areas.

Orson Guenthner

Self

Joshua, TX

Done. Here is what I submitted.

I am opposed to HB3 for the following reasons:

First - GOP voters voted on Proposition 11 states: "Texas parents and guardians should have the right to select schools, whether public or private, for their children, and the funding should follow the student."

HR3 is opposed to Proposition 11. The money doesn't follow the child. It is not available for all Texas children.

Second- The 2024 Republican Party of Texas Platform states on Page 15, "Parents' Rights — Plank 84. School Choice: We support further empowering all Texas families to choose from public, private, charter, or homeschool options for their children's education and funding which shall follow the student with no strings attached. We oppose regulations on homeschooling or the curriculum of private or religious schools and believe a constitutional amendment should be adopted accordingly. In lieu of funding, citizens may use property tax exemptions."

HB3 does not align with the GOP plank. The money doesn't follow the child.

The GOP asked voters essentially do you want "school choice" by using specific terms for what is meant by school choice. Now the Governor and the legislature are changing the definition and passing it off as "school choice".

In the famous words of Obi Wan Kenobi, "this is not the school choice we are looking for".

The bill also suggests to use new money, possibly even from the "surplus" rather than the funds following the student. That new money would go to private institutions which is possibly a violation of the Texas constitution.

I would ask that this committee require the HB3 to be modified so that it aligns with Proposition 11. If you are unable to do that then you must vote NO because this bill is not what the people of Texas have asked for.

Nancy Kirk

Self / retired teacher

Abilene, TX

Please say NO to these two bills. They will weaken the public schools system. Public money should go to public schools. Please think about the children of our state and not rich cronies!!!

THELMA BOWIE, MS.

TECSD CITY INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

TEXAS CITY, TX

I AM OPPOSED TO HB3 BECAUSE HB 3 WILL HAVE A NEGATIVE AND DISASTROUS IMPACT ON PUBLIC EDUCATION/

Lisa Cooper

Self

Driftwood, TX

I am a mother to two public school children and I oppose this bill. Please vote against it and save our children and public school system.

Natalie Barron

Self

Houston, TX

I wholeheartedly oppose vouchers. What a terrible thing to do to Texas children.

Kayla Kubitza

Self

Mart, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

VICTORIA WALTHER

Self

Sugar Land, TX

I would see the Texas government fully fund public education, ensure our public schools can succeed and thrive and meet the needs of all community students, including students requiring interventions, supports, additional help, before and after care, before attempting to pass out tax payer dollars to privately owned education institutions. The idea that this is what Texans want is ludicrous and offensive. The proposed school choice vouchers are inappropriate at a time where our schools are losing staff, are underfunded and thus underperforming.

Thank you for your time and consideration

Tiffany Wentworth

Self

Round Rock, TX

I do not agree to vouchers being used for private schools!

Thomas Ainsworth

Self

Pearland, TX

School choice is an ABSOLTE MUST HAVE!!!! The way the public education system has been overrun by liberals has no place in TX! School vouchers insures that parents have the ability to remove their children from problem schools and districts. Just today, reported by ABC News, there was a stabbing at a middle school in TX. A PUBLIC middle school. The personal accountability has removed itself from society and thus, our public schools. Teachers should not have to deal with such things!!!! Giving the people the right to choose where their children attend schooling is the only option.

Sheila Shrode

self- Senior Manager Operations Accounting
Spring, TX

Dear House Education Committee,

I am writing to urge you to oppose House Bill 3, which would divert much-needed public education funding to private school vouchers through Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). As a parent and taxpayer, I strongly believe that taxpayer dollars should be used to strengthen our public schools, not subsidize private education.

Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students and are the backbone of our communities. Redirecting public funds to private institutions would deplete resources from already underfunded public schools, making it harder for them to provide quality education, retain teachers, and support students with special needs. Unlike public schools, private schools are not held to the same standards of accountability, transparency, or accessibility.

Private schools are not required to accept all students, which means they can and often do turn away those with special needs. Public schools must accept all students, which means they cover the additional costs of the special needs students that the private schools turn away.

Private schools do not have to provide transportation for students while public schools do so again public schools cover transportation costs which private schools don't.

Private schools are not required to take the state mandated STAAR test but the public schools do and have to cover all costs required for teaching and administering the test.

Majority of Texas counties do not have private schools so none of those countries would benefit from ESAs/vouchers.

So why should we be giving public money to private schools when public schools clearly have more costs, are underfunded and serve the majority of Texas children?

It seems to me the only reason the House and Senate are even discussing Education Savings Voucher is because Gov. Greg Abbott is determined to make them pass. It is greatly concerning to me that one of Abbott's biggest donors ($12 million) is Jeff Yass who is a pro-voucher supporter from Pennsylvania. Why are we allowing someone outside of Texas to have such a large influence on the education of our children?

Texasans deserve a strong, well-funded public school system that benefits all students, not a voucher scheme that primarily serves a select few. I urge you to stand with Texas families and invest in our public schools instead of diverting funds to private institutions.

Please oppose House Bill 3 and any efforts to undermine public education.

Sincerely,
Sheila Shrode

Meredith Connely
Self - Teacher
Cedar Park, TX

I am a 26 year veteran teacher and have worked in public schools my entire teaching career. I absolutely oppose HB 3; I want my tax dollars to support public education, which serves all Texas children. HB 3 does not give all families a choice and it's disingenuous to claim that it does. Families already have a choice to either send their children to public school or to send them to private or charter schools. But tax payers shouldn't have to pay for non-public education. Vouchers have been a documented failure in other states who have instituted the program. Why would you try to force that upon us? The truly noble action would be to fully fund our public schools!

pixerelli Sunshine-Fuhry

Self

Elgin, TX

I am against private school vouchers and support fully funded public education. My 2 sons attended public school, and graduated. My 3rd son transferred to private school and it was the best place for him and we chose for him to attend. Public school is a right and needs to be provided for all children. Private schools are a choice. If parents choose to send their child to a private school, they are responsible for paying for it. That is why they are called private schools. Funding has been cut and continues to be cut to public schools, please do not pass this bill that cause them to lose more funding.

Italia Perez de Diaz

Self - Housewife

Humble, TX

I do not support public money to go unaccountable private schools.

Janet Anderson

Self/Retired CPA

Arlington, TX

I am vehemently opposed to HB 3. We need to strengthen our public school system - NOT provide money for vouchers. Taxpayer money should be used to provide for all students - not to supplement the rich who are already sending their children to private school. There are already options available to parents with charter schools. Perhaps if you were to provide sufficient funds to the schools there wouldn't be substandard schools. Education for ALL children is critical. You wouldn't allow citizens to build a garden with public funds from the parks department or build a driveway with roads funds. Why on earth would you think that it is a good idea to fund a private school education? Your verbiage tries to camouflage its real purpose - face it - you can't put lipstick on a pig. Call it what it is - subsidization of upper middle class and rich families who have already pulled their children out of public schools to avoid the wonderful diversity that we have in public schools. Please vote against this harmful bill and make an effort to increase funding to our public schools and teachers.

Deborah Farr, Mrs.

Self/Homeschool teacher

Cleveland, TX

Chairman Buckley and Members of the Committee,

Thank you for allowing me to share my testimony. My name is Deborah Farr, and I am a homeschool parent who believes every child deserves an education that fits their unique needs. That's why I strongly support HB 3.

Every child is unique, and a one-size-fits-all approach doesn't work for everyone. My children have never attended a public or private school. My husband and I have always homeschooled our six children. Our first child graduated in 2013 and our last two will graduate in 2028 and 2030. We currently have three adult children applying their skills in the workforce, one young adult child attending college, one freshman in high-school, and one 8th grader.

House Bill 3 will help us financially as we choose this educational route that is best for our children. In addition to paying taxes which go towards public schools, we also cover the cost of curriculum, computers, testing, supplies, transportation, and extracurricular activities for our homeschool. The ESA program would be a great benefit for the education of our children. I urge you to support this bill and put the power of education back where it belongs—in the hands of parents. Thank you.

Dylan Ballard
Public Education
Andrews, TX

I oppose HB 3 in regards to an education savings account. My reason for this is due to the impact it will have on public education. The argument is for "school choice," well students and families already have school choice available to them. Families can send their students to a private school or even home school them if they want. HB 3, will also financially harm public education and all of its offered services/programs, maybe not in the immediate future, but it will in the long run. Also, public education teachers should be given a raise without the passing of an education savings account program. Public school teachers have to go through so many things that are REQUIRED by the state in order for our districts to get their adequate funding. We have to teach our students in a way that gets them to pass a STATE mandated test and if we do not meet a certain criteria then our district is essentially shamed by receiving a bad accountability rating. It's almost as if the state wants public education to fail. If the state wants to improve public education, give us the raise we deserve and give us more freedom to actually TEACH our students the curriculum they need to be successful in whatever they choose to pursue.

Blake Wright
Public education
Lantana, TX

Say no to vouchers!

Amy Garrett
Self
AUSTIN, TX

I appreciate the opportunity to share my thoughts on HB3. I am a concerned parent with two children in Austin Independent School District. Paul Colbert shared his historical testimony with your Education Committee last Thursday. To me, it illustrated the strategic financial suffering of a once effective public education system. Our schools are underfunded, our teachers and staff underpaid, and the TRS has made little adjustments for inflation. Vouchers would be the tipping point and lead to the end of public education as we know it.

My children go to a small school (under 500) and they love it. My son started kindergarten in 2020. Despite zoom learning and masks, he still talks about his K teacher. Our principal at the time, fought hard to keep our community informed and connected. It was the best place for my family to start school during a pandemic no less. I quickly became involved with our PTA. Our school hosts 6-8 family events a year, this includes garden days and dances. We have teachers that have been here 25yrs. Some have retired and still sub here frequently. Several families are '2nd generation', meaning their parents went here. Isn't that incredible? We have no buses because 'zone' is just that small; people walk/bike or take a 5 minute drive. It's a real community! I would do anything for our staff and teachers. When families have struggles, we support and reach out. We organize meal trains and endless play dates. Our playground is full afterschool with because some days we just can't get enough. I mean it! And it breaks my heart to say that this precious community that has worked so hard, is now in jeopardy of crumbling with the looming threat of vouchers.

Teachers have left over the last few years. It's just too expensive to live in Austin when you're not getting competitive raises and benefits are decreasing. Many move home to San Antonio, Houston, or the outskirts of large cities. Teachers have been asked to Do More With Less. My son started 4th grade with a veteran teacher. She left late September abruptly. It was all just too much. He had various substitutes for 3 months. Now he has a brand new teacher, born this century, who commutes 40 minutes and has a job on the weekends. WHAT IS HAPPENING?? A system has been starved of resources. It's like triage in dozens of school districts across this great state.

Vouchers will not benefit a single child at my school. 20% of our students receive special education services. There's not a single school in Austin that will accommodate all 80 of these kids, let alone for $11,500. They don't have to accommodate anyone. If vouchers pass, the balance will tip at TRS and all these lovely teachers with 25yrs will bail because they have no other choice.

They are walking history books. They've seen it all and are still giving their all to these kids.

Can you believe I didn't know the meaning of true community until I was 40 with a 5yr old? I implore you to absorb the data and VOTE NO!!

Randa Tepfer
Self
League city, TX

I ask that funds not be diverted from public schools therefore I do not support school choice.

Leigh Brown
Self
New Braunfels, TX

I strongly urge you to reject any school voucher proposals that divert public tax dollars away from Texas public schools.

Vouchers do not increase educational choice—they subsidize private schools at taxpayer expense, often with no accountability, no transparency, and no requirement to serve all students. Texas already struggles with underfunded public schools, teacher shortages, and rural districts that would be devastated by losing even a fraction of their funding.

If you truly want to support educational choice, fully fund public schools, raise teacher salaries, and invest in better resources for all Texas students. Public tax dollars should stay in public schools that serve all children—not private institutions that can pick and choose their students.

I urge you to vote NO on vouchers and stand up for the nearly 6 million Texas public school students who depend on you to protect their education.

Angelica Quiroz
College Students
El Paso, TX

This bill negatively impacts public schools. If they would vote to fund public education we wouldn't need vouchers! At the moment public education is understaffed, overworked, and underpaid! Public school teachers are committed to their students to provide the best education. Students are receiving their services. If the state passes this bill it will greatly affect students and educators in the public setting. These "choice schools" do not adhere to the law like public school. They don't have to provide special education. Therefore in October public schools get an influx of students because these "choice schools" tell parents that this is not the "best choice" for their child and they have to take them back to their home school.

Please vote NO on this bill.

Your constituent,
Angelica Quiroz

Steven Vaughn

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3 (HB3). While the intention to provide parents with more educational choices for their children is commendable, HB3, in its current form, poses significant risks to the integrity and effectiveness of our public education system. Millions of kids in this state depend on public education.

Implementing the ESA program as outlined in HB3 would allocate public tax dollars to private schooling options. This redirection of funds threatens to diminish the resources available to public schools, which are already facing financial challenges and lack of quality teachers. According to the Texas American Federation of Teachers, such a shift could exacerbate the financial strain on public schools, leading to larger class sizes, reduced programs, and diminished support services for students.

The proposed ESA program could result in decreased enrollment in public schools, thereby reducing the number of active school personnel contributing to the Teacher Retirement System (TRS). A reduction in contributors could jeopardize the financial stability of the TRS, potentially affecting the retirement security of current and future educators.

While HB3 aims to prioritize low-income families and students with disabilities, it does not mandate private schools to accept all applicants. This lack of requirement may result in the exclusion of the very students the bill intends to support, thereby failing to provide equitable educational opportunities. While HB3 aims to provide educational choices, in practice, voucher programs often fail to serve low-income families effectively. The proposed income eligibility threshold for the ESA program is set at $156,000, which is significantly higher than the standards used for other assistance programs, such as free school lunches or food assistance. This broad definition dilutes the program's focus on the poorest families, potentially diverting funds away from those who need them most.

Additionally, private schools may have tuition rates that exceed the voucher amount, and they are not obligated to cover additional costs such as uniforms, books, and transportation. This financial gap can make it challenging for low-income families to afford private schooling, even with a voucher, thereby limiting their access to the purported benefits of the program.

Laura Malloy

None

San Angelo, TX

Please do not implement vouchers in Texas. Those of us in rural areas do not have access to private school. Increase funding to public schools!!!! Gov Abbott seems to be the only one wanting vouchers. Vouchers are NOT school choice!! Stop calling it that. Abbott has held public education hostage by withhold funds. Now he has bankrolled the candidates that would for vouchers in order to get the bill to pass. Sickening. We need to fund our schools!!!!

Warren Horgan, Mr.

Self/retired

Fort Worth, TX

I'm contacting you today to urge you to vote NO on HB3. Vouchers or ESAs take money from our already underfunded public schools and gives it to private schools with no accountability. Public money belongs in public schools.

Additionally, I'm asking you to fully fund our public schools.HB3 does not increase the basic allotment enough to fully fund our schools or even to catch up to inflation since it was last raised in 2019.

I urge you NOT to support any voucher or ESA bill as these do not align with the priority of Texas voters or your Constitutional duty, to provide public education to children of Texas. The number of students benefiting from voucher and ESA bills is less than 2% of Texas students, while there are 5.5 million students who attend public school! In fact, 150 Texas counties do not even have a private school. How will vouchers improve their schools? Bottom line - Public dollars should stay with public schools, which educate the vast majority of Texas students.

Voucher programs in other states have not been successful and have not shown improved outcomes for students. It seems very short sighted not to consider the failures that other states have seen when considering vouchers for Texas.

So please, fulfill your Constitutional duty to Texas and ensure the success of our public education system. The majority of Texans from either party do not support vouchers.

Vote NO on any voucher or ESA bill. Vote YES to fully fund our public schools.

Thank you for your time and consideration,
Warren Horgan

Rose Reeser

self Retired attorney

Austin, TX

Article 7 of the Texas Constitution provides, "A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools. (Feb. 15, 1876.)

Texas public school students are suffering because of inadequate state funding.

Public money should be used to fulfill your Constitutional duty, not to give a handout to parents who choose not to avail themselves of the free, public education mandated under our Constitution. Vote against HB3.

Glenda Walker

Self

Mineral Wells, TX

I am against this school voucher program. Our public schools need the money. This is only going to benefit the wealthy, which is, of course what you seem to strive for anyway. However, there are a lot of good honest people who need a good public education system for their children. Please vote against the school voucher program.

Doug Heick

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Vote no on Vouchers. Support public education by helping all 5.5 million students, not just the select 100,000.

Jeanette Rowsey
Self and family
Round Rock, TX

As a grandmother of two elementary aged Texas public school students, I came to Texas to watch them grow and succeed. Please do not pass this bill that would gut our state's public school system by the time they enter high school. Don't sacrifice the bright future of Texas for the sake of private profits!

Lauren Blitzer
Self
Dallas, TX

Public school is funded by public dollars for the general public. Do you see a theme here? Do not allow public dollars to be spent subsidizing unaccountable private schools that don't have to admit all students, or private education savings accounts. Instead, fully fund our public schools.

Hyojin Han
self/nurse practitioner
Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts that will drain resources from the public school system, lowering educational standard especially in rural schools, resulting in school closures, hiring of uncertified teachers, and jeopardizing Teacher Retirement System.

Katharina Neufeld
Self / homeschool Mom
Seminole, TX

Hello . I am commenting regarding the Education Committee hearing on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment ".I would like to ask Representative Ken King to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice " legislation like HB 3. Thank you !

Laura Perella
Self, baker
Dripping Springs, TX

I do not support the school voucher program, as it directly hurts those that do not have school choice, contrary to the rhetoric coming from the Texas government. School choice is pull funding that our public schools desperately need and hand it to those that are already capable of affording charter/private schools. Charter and private schools can also deny any student for any reason and do not require the same standards as public school. They can deny aid to students that require disability assistance and other forms of assistance, such as IEP. I implore the TX government to fund public schools that educate the majority of our Texas students and provide the aid to those in need. Our children are the future of this country and we cannot turn our backs on them in favor of higher earning families.

Debbie Lauersdorf
Self
Houston, TX

I oppose vouchers for charter/private schools. As a retired public educator, I support our public schools that provide an amazing education to ALL students.
Please vote NO to vouchers.
Thank you,
Debbie Lauersdorf

Jennifer Salmon

Self - teacher

Frisco, TX

HB3 - ie:school vouchers will destroy public education. Parents already have a choice. I have taught in Plano ISD for 30 years & we have students from all over Plano in our building (& always have). Home schooling & private education is also a choice. This voucher program takes from the public & gives to private. Look at what has happened in other states. This is not a sustainable solution. You are only helping those already able to afford private school. $10k only pays 1/2 of a private school. Private schools don't want (& don't have to take) struggling students, leaving them to the public schools where law makers will say we are failing them. Fund our schools so we have the resources to help them. Abbott is a spin doctor selling us crap. I'm a republican through & through, but this is wrong & I will vote against every one of you voting for this! Abbott is holding our tax dollars hostage in order to get his vouchers (which the majority of informed Texans) DO NOT want!

Allison Vanderwoude

Highland Park ISD Education Foundation

Dallas, TX

Funding for public education is a statewide problem. School Districts are shutting down schools or making very impactful budget cuts in order to make their budgets work. This cannot keep happening. Public education in Texas should be a priority, not an afterthought. I feel vouchers are a bad idea for this very reason. Please prioritize PUBLIC education. There is no reason public tax dollars should be supporting PRIVATE schools that are a luxury. I would never ask that state to fund a country club membership or travel club because I didn't think my city parks and public gathering spaces were good enough. That is the comparison you need to really think about. Thank you.

Stephanie England

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote no. Do not take public funds away from public schools.

R Stephen Sprowls

Northwest ISD

Ft Worth, TX

This comment refers to Section 29.362 within HB3 and the 5% third-party administration fees. Since HB3 doesn't have a Fiscal Note attached to it yet, I'll use the one attached to SB2. It estimates the financial impact to start at $1.0 Billion in 2027 and balloon to $4.5 Billion in 2030. When I add in the 2028 & 2029 dollar estimates, this equates to $12.6 Billion over 4 years. According to Section 29.362, the TX Comptrollers office will get a 3% administrative fee of the $12.6 Billion totaling $378 million. Also within Section 29.362, third party vendors will receive a 5% administrative fee of the $12.6 Billion totaling $630 million. When I add the $378 million and the $630 million, that's over $1 Billion in administrative fees. This means the State of TX wants to spend $1 Billion administering $12.6 Billion. Make that make sense. When did the Republicans become proponents of a bigger government bureaucracy and wasteful spending? Why can't the Comptroller's office administer this program with their current in-house talent? Or are the third-party vendor fees just a way to reward campaign donors with ties to these companies in other states? Republicans on the Education Committee, please justify the fiduciary necessity of both administrative fees in Section 29.362 of HB3.

Melissa Roberts

Northwest ISD

Roanoke, TX

If you want to push through a voucher, give Public Schools the same amount! Every child is worth $10,000, not just rich kids whose parents can send them to private school.

Dardon Ann Hayter

Self

Pasadena, TX

Public tax dollars Belong in public schools and should not be diverted to private schools and their upper-income students. A free public education is a constitutional right! Don't destroy public education and the American constitution!

Lisa Ornelas

Self

San Antonio, TX

NO to HB3, we do not want vouchers! Support our local schools.

Mike Stanton

Self - teacher

Allen, TX

As a 28 veteran teacher in Texas public schools, I am firmly opposed to the proposed voucher program. I definitely believe in school accountability. Public schools serve their community and the state as a whole; simply throwing money at them does not guarantee a quality educational experience for students. But, allowing parents to take valuable funds that could be used to improve schools and using that money to fund private schools (that have no accountability measure in the state) is short sighted and leaves the majority of Texas students behind.

Katie Fulkerson, Mrs.

No

Lantana, TX

Dear Representative Buckley,

I am writing to express my strong support for the continued funding and implementation of HB3 to enhance school safety across Texas. Ensuring that public schools receive the necessary resources to protect students and staff is critical. However, I am deeply concerned about efforts to introduce school vouchers, which would divert taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools.

Vouchers would weaken public education by funneling funds to private institutions that are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. Instead of expanding voucher programs, we should focus on fully funding public education, increasing teacher pay, and strengthening classroom resources—all of which are essential to student success.

I urge you to continue advocating for strong public school funding, including HB3 safety initiatives, without diverting money to private school vouchers. Please stand with Texas families and educators by keeping public funds where they belong—in our public schools.

Thank you for your time and commitment to Texas students.

Kristin Fida

Classical conversation McKinney north

Frisco, TX

“Hello, my name is Kristin Fida___. I am calling regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of “parental empowerment.” I would like to ask Representative Richardson to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing “school choice” legislation like HB 3. Thank you!”

Ashley Boyd
Homeschooling
georgetown, TX

My name is Ashley and I want to express my concern for this bill as a mom of special needs child with lots of disabilities. With all due respect I don't want government my child's schooling bc she learns differently then a lot of other kids like her. We've tried public schools they failed her all there concerned about is age no concern for her being behind all the other kids my point I'm making my child learns with one on one and she can't get that anywhere but homeschooling with me as her mother that knows her better then anybody else. The way she has to be taught no teacher on earth could do it nor will she let them bc of the disabilities she deals at no fault of her own. My child education is very important to me and her daddy I would appreciate it very much if government would stay out of my child's homeschooling education with me as her mother thank you

Jonathon Trevino
Self
San Antonio, TX

basic per-student funding allotment, which hasn't been increased since 2019, from $6,160 to $6,380 and require that 40 percent of that be used for school employee compensation, teachers and other professional employees as well as support staff. That portion currently is 30 percent. The proposed increase in the basic allotment is woefully inadequate. School finance experts believe an increase of at least $1,000 is necessary to meet inflationary costs alone.

Krista Lee
Self
Amarillo, TX

I am firmly apposed to school vouchers. They hurt public schools and are nothing but a cash grab for the governor's donors. I will vote against any elected official that votes in favor of this bill.

Sofia Andry
all children
San Antonio, TX

The voucher program is a scam for our public schools and our education system will suffer because of it. What our state needs is to fully fund our schools, better pay for teachers and more support for the 98% of children of Texas. Currently our elementary doesn't have funds for art, music and even paper for teacher copies. We also need our lunch programs fully funded so students can eat every day. Many children are food hungry. Thank you. A mom of three in San Antonio.

Marcus Johnson
Self
Houston, TX

This bill has no benefit whatsoever to the public at large. Gatekeeping funds for the sake of school vouchers adds no benefit to the Texas education system, because it cripples the public school system and keeps it from meeting the needs of the students and staff.

If you truly want to see our future leaders thrive, then support them by killing this bill and freeing the billions of dollars that was meant for public education. Selling public education up the river under the guise of "parental choice" is NOT the answer. People pay for their children to go to private schools for a reason. Properly funding public schools (as well as other measures) will give every child the opportunity to become well-rounded, educated citizens within society.

Again, I respectfully ask...please kill this bill. Thank you.

Chelsea Harned

Self

Carrollton, TX

FUNDING:

Taxpayers want to know that their tax dollars are being well-spent. Vouchers will take public tax dollars to pay for private schools without any accountability, so taxpayers have no way to compare schools to know if their tax dollars are being well-spent.

Taxpayers do not want to subsidize already affluent families by giving them money to send their children to private schools. As currently proposed, the education savings accounts are primarily a tax break for people who are already in private school or can afford that option.

Private schools receiving public taxpayer dollars are highly vulnerable to fraud and abuse. Their governing boards, if they exist do not have to meet in public or disclose how funds are spent. Private schools do not have to meet financial standards and are not measured by the state's fiscal accountability system.

State-funded vouchers will take needed dollars from public schools. Vouchers take dollars from public schools that are already underfunded. Every dollar sent to a private or home school cannot be invested in public schools. Voucher advocates say funding schools and funding vouchers are separate, but in Texas, where "funding follows the student," public schools will lose needed funding as millions of dollars are siphoned to unaccountable private institutions.

The cost of voucher programs accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4,557,317,230 spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program.

SCHOOL CHOICE

Parent choice? Not really. Private schools choose whether or not to accept a child to attend their school. PRIVATE SCHOOLS CAN, AND DO, DISCRIMINATE and accept only those students that fit their academic and social criteria. Public schools cannot discriminate against any student.

The real problem with "school choice" is the creation of yet another education system (traditional public schools and charter schools already exist) that allows students

Melissa Perry

Self

Lufkin, TX

Need help? Try this script:

Phone 512-463-0508

trent.ashby@house.texas.gov

Hello, my name is Melissa Perry and I'm a constituent in Rep. Ashby's district.

I'm writing to express my strong opposition to the school voucher scheme, SB 2, and ask them to vote against it.

Public funds should stay in our public schools, not be divvied up to unaccountable private schools. Do not sell out our kids for billionaire donors — Texas families are watching.

I implore the representative to vote NO on school vouchers and stand for strong public schools, not corporate interests. Thank you for your time.

Rachel Barker

Self as a parent and public school teacher in Special Education

Dallas, TX

I am very much against this bill. It is unfair. If you're giving $10,000 per kid to private, give $10,000 per kid to public schools. Stop trying to line the pockets of those who can already afford private school, because there is nothing in those schools for my students with special needs, for low income families that cannot afford lunch, uniforms, transportation, and after school care. Put it to a vote by the people. Let us decide.

Katie Paulsen

Self, Software Proposal Manager

Houston, TX

I am writing today to encourage legislators to vote NO on HB3 (against school vouchers). While some people in my metro area of Houston, TX would benefit from this bill, it overwhelmingly is in favor of those who are already in higher socio-economic groups, those who already send their children to private school. Our public tax dollars should not subsidize a this choice made by some families based on their own privilege. Further, the concept of private school vouchers don't even really apply to all across the State of Texas. A fact: 158 out of 254 Texas counties have no private school option. This means that, again, public tax dollars are being sent to cities and communities across our state that already have plenty of educational options for their students. This is a completely disingenuous campaign, initiated and pushed by our Governor. Based on the facts, Greg Abbott has been in office for 10 years, and during that tenure the education system in Texas has only gone backwards. We are 44th in the nation for per student spending. It is shameful that a Governor would withhold educational tax dollars from funding our system. This voucher campaign stinks. Everyone knows it. I am the product of public schools. I come from a family of educators - my sister teaches AP and general World and United States History at a public high school level. My sister-in-law teaches special education in a public high school. My father-in-law and mother-in-law are retired public middle school teachers. I count dozens and dozens of friends and acquaintances across the educational, administrative, and educational support spectrum. 95% of those friends and family are in public schools, and have their kids in public schools. 100% of my social network is AGAINST school vouchers.

I have already written my elected representative (Representative DeAyala) to vote NO, but since he has posed for photo ops with our Governor, lauding the voucher program, I am concerned that he is not listening to the will and urging of his constituents. Vote NO to HB 3 - we do not want vouchers. We already have school choice. Fully fund public school education. Thank you.

Jamie Fredericks

Self

Midland, TX

I am strongly OPPOSED to HB 3, and I have asked my representatives to vote NO on the bill.

DeLana Carter

Self

Houston, TX

Please do not sell out our public schools! Vote NO!!!!

Edith Nordloh

Self

Houston, TX

Voucher systems are welfare for the wealthy. Many Texas communities don't even have a private school program available to them and the $8,000 proposed would cover less than half of private school tuition. This is a scam that undermines urban communities and steals from small town residents and rural citizens.

Just say, "No."

Do what is right for Texas children and taxpayers and defeat this bill.

Brandi West
Self
Kingwood, TX

Texas does not need to "follow" other states in these failed voucher aka school choice programs. Texas should be the LEADER in properly funding public schools and making sure EVERY school can provide what is needed for students, and teachers. Teachers shouldn't have to turn to Amazon wish lists to supply their rooms. Students shouldn't have to struggle to have wifi access while at the school. Let teachers teach again, and not have to focus on test taking skills instead of teaching our kids to think and reason.
FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS WITHOUT STRINGS ATTACHED.

Ruben Ramirez, Mr Ruben Ramirez
Self
El Paso, TX

Vouchers will not benefit all students!

Rudiche Welchptak
Self
New Braunfels, TX

I am very anti voucher. I don't believe public funds should be used in the private sector. You are the same people who are against student loan forgiveness, because wealthy people don't have to take out loans. You are clearly for welfare for the rich and not the common man.

Tara McBee
Self
Huntsville, TX

Please do not rob the children of Texas. Fund public education. Private schools and charter schools should not be given public funds. Please do not rob our children of an education.

Christy Cobb
TAFT/HFT
Houston, TX, TX

So many teachers have worked their entire lives to face the possibility of having retirement dreams taken away by this bill. Please vote no.

Nina Brodsky, Mrs
self
Austin, TX

Texas schools are already suffering from budget shortfalls. They can't survive with more cutbacks. Our industries depend on an educated populace to hire from. It is what makes businesses strong. We will only need more immigrants to fulfill our jobs if we neglect the education of Texans. Some school districts don't even have private schools. Those that do cost way more than $10,000 or $12,000 a year. It will benefit the wealthy and hurt those that are not. It is a disgrace.

Suzanne Bathe, Retired Teacher
Cypress Fairbanks ISD
Houston, TX

We already have school choice. We do not want or need this bill. Step up to the plate for the kids of Texas and fund public education!!

Bobby Duncan
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I am a parent of 3 current and 1 future Fort Worth ISD children, and I'm writing to share that I strongly oppose this bill. We should turn our focus to full funding our public schools, and placing the faith of our state government behind a majority of children who will be future leaders of our communities.

Passage of this bill will be the greatest disservice this legislature will have ever brought upon future Texans.

Do the right thing.

Robin Barela
Self/School Counselor
Forney, TX

Please vote no to school vouchers. Our most vulnerable population is dependent on public schools. They are why we pay taxes we do. Or have a future without every child's input and contributions

Alton Biggs
Self, President, Biggs Educational Consulting
Commerce, TX

The Texas Constitution doesn't delineate many duties of the Legislature. I urge to read Article 7, Section 1 because a plain reading does not mention flowing public money to any homeschool, private school or religious school. Parents already have every right to educate their children however they see fit, but they ought not to expect the public to fund their wishes, except as stated by the Texas Constitution.

I know you don't need a refresher on the Texas Constitution, but I'll quote Article VII, Section 1 for you: "A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools."

Therefore I urge you to oppose any adoption of a scheme that diverts tax dollars to such private entities – especially when it clear that more money would go the support of a student in private school substantially more than one in a public school.

I implore you to follow a plain reading of the Texas Constitution and vigorously defend it should the Legislature pass any bill – such as SB 2 – that clearly violates Article 7, Section 1.

Certainly our PUBLIC schools are not presently fully funded. The current budget proposals don't come close to funding the PUBLIC schools. Therefore, no PUBLIC school funds should flow to PRIVATE schools. Additionally CHARTER schools and home schools should NOT be considered public schools until they follow every RULE and MANDADE that public schools do, including requiring the State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness (STAAR).

Thank you in advance for your service to Texas and our citizens.

Emily Goulet
Self
Austin, TX

No to school vouchers. Save public schools.

Mark Choate

Self

The Woodlands, TX

The bill as stated is a misappropriation of funds because the public will be funding the private schools education and private schools are not required to adhere to the same public school standards agreed by the texas legislature, such as teachers don't have to be certified, don't have pre-approved curriculum, don't offer special need services, nor require state assessments. Therefore the bill is avertly providing incentives for parents to use an education system that is not monitored nor controlled by the texas legislature, which can lead to further unattended consequences in the future, such as teaching that don't follow the voted texas statewide curriculum. Furthermore, the amount of each voucher is greater than the amount funded per head in the public school system. Therefore, there is misappropriation funds to an education system that was not voted by the texas legislature. If we provide vouchers we need to ensure 1)the amount per student is equivalent, so all kids have the same opportunity whether they choose private/public and 2)private schools should be held to the same standards as agreed by the voters through the texas legislature.

Amy Spiro, Ms

Self/writer/consultant

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the private school voucher plan that is on the table. In fact, I oppose private school vouchers in any form however, this plan is ridiculously expensive and will create a monstrous bureaucracy that Texas simply can't afford and definitely doesn't need. Let's invest in our local public schools.

Lindy Frazer, Mrs.

Self

Round Rock, TX

I would like to submit a comment against HB3 or a rewrite of HB3. Public funding is the backbone of public services. With those services, tax payers require accountability, standards and oversight. When we fund public schools the oversight and mandates are extensive. HB 3 gives taxpayer money to families to subsidize their student's private school tuition. There is no oversight of the services that taxpayers are paying for. No expectation of curriculum, certification/training, outcomes or fiduciary responsibility. It's just "free money" without any oversight. Not only is this a private school entitlement, it will siphon money away from our commitment to public schools. I hear that this is "school choice", but we already have school choice. Parents may enroll their student in their home school district, in a magnet, in a charter, in a private school, in an online public school or in a private school. There is no limitation to a parent's right to choose the best educational fit for their child. However, the public tax payer money should not be used to pay for this personal decision. If I have private security - should I get a rebate from what is being paid into our police force? If I buy my own books, may I siphon money from our public libraries? If I have my own fire fighting equipment.. again should I not have the choice to use it and get a rebate back from the fire department? The choice to use a private business, rather than a public one, belongs to the tax payer. However, the choice to siphon money away from public services is not. This is a give away. I am a financial conservative. This is not financially responsible. This is not partisan. To support and fully fund public education is the backbone of our democracy. We make our country great, by offering and giving a high quality public education. Not by giving money away to private or homeschools who have no mandates for educational outcomes, responsibility to serve all students or financial oversight. Please make the right decision and either stop HB 3 or add oversight and responsibility to the private or homeschools who will benefit from the tax payer subsidy.

Thank you,

Lindy Frazer

Parent of two public school children for K-12

Also.. a parent of the same two children at Baylor University (private school). I believe that private school can be an excellent choice for students and one that families pay a premium for, but do not anticipate a subsidy.

Vicki Luu
Self
Houston, TX

I began homeschooling my then 4th grader and 6th grader in January of 2020. My son needed one-on-one attention and public educators were not able or possibly not willing to provide the 401 accommodations I was told he would give. The homeschool choice was an easy one. But it is one that we saved up for and chose to invest in. It was easily affordable for us. I work part time while my husband works full time. We are already FREE to make any choice we have. This "Saving Account" will raise taxes and force tax payers to pay for people who choose to use a very expensive private school or spend their money on legos for Christmas, like friends of ours do in Arizona. The "no strings" attached line, is not acceptable for reasons mentioned above. Texas is THE FREEST State in our Union. This "free" money will is not free, nothing is free! It comes from Tax Payers. What is the purpose of this bill? Is it to help fund public schools? Because public schools have used their funds for sports stadiums, performing arts buildings, too many administrators who have no idea how to teach in the classroom, and much more. What public schools fail to fund with these moneys includes, but is not limited to special needs students, discipline problems, and teacher training in these areas. Public schools don't need more money. They need to use the money appropriately. This savings account will only raise taxes and force ME to pay for someone else's expensive education, toys, or trips they justify as "education." These are easily accessible already to those who want and need them. DO NOT TAKE AWAY OUR FREEDOM!!! The consequences of this bill far outweigh any benefits it supposedly will bring. Thank you for your time and deep consideration.

Laurie Higginbotham
Self/Lawyer
Austin, TX

Please vote against school vouchers. It's against the Texas Constitution. Most Texas counties do not have a private school. This will defund public schools. Moreover it will not cover even half of the cost of any private schools. It's welfare for the rich because no middle class or low income family can afford private schools. Please do not destroy Texas public schools by defunding them. What makes America free is our education of all children. Private schools can reject children and will not accept children with disabilities, and will discriminate against children based on religion and gender. This is not an acceptable use of tax dollars. Vote NO! Over 70% of Texans do NOT want vouchers!!! No corporate welfare.

Stephanie Garcia
Self
San Antonio, TX

HB 3 will take money from public schools and communities that need the funds. All it will do is provide a coupon for the wealthy to attend the affluent private schools that they already go to. We need to make sure that ALL students are afforded a Free Appropriate Public Education. I'm a public school educator, and we need our schools to be fully funded. Stop trying to keep the poor poorer, while making the rich richer. That's all HB 3 will do. It's not okay.

Bunnie Twidwell, Mrs self - non profit board member
Austin, TX

Do not take our tax money to fund private schools. Tax money is for public schools only! My taxes SHOULD NOT support unregulated private for profit schools.

Tim Carrasco
self
San Antonio, TX

School vouchers are a “misguided policy” that redirects public education funds and puts them into the hands of private institutions, leaving taxpayers and public school students to deal with the fallout. Supporters of this bill claim that vouchers provide families with more choices, but they fail to mention the steep cost paid by ALL tax paying families and the public school system itself.

First, property taxes do not decrease under this “misguided policy” which means taxpayers see ZERO relief.

Second, the benefits of vouchers are LIMITED to families who can afford private school tuition that far exceeds the voucher amount.

Third, this creates a system where the majority of students in public schools, suffer from underfunding and wealthy private school owners reap the rewards of reappropriated public funds.

For lower-income families, vouchers are not a meaningful solution. Parents who cannot afford the remainder of private school tuition are left behind, and transportation challenges only add to their burdens. At the same time, public schools are forced to stretch their already limited resources even thinner, leading to larger class sizes, reduced programs, overworked public teachers, which all leads to less support for students. This system amplifies inequities and erodes the principle of education as a public good for all. We should do what “Jesus” would do and focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure EVERY child has a fair shot at success.

In closing, please do not support this "reverse Robinhood" tactic of funneling public money into private interests which only deepens educational divides.

Thank you.
Tim Carrasco

Anita Hebert, Dr.
Shallowater ISD
Shallowater, TX

I am the Superintendent of Shallowater ISD and write opposed to HB3 which would allocate state funds for vouchers for school children for private schools or other types of schooling. First, my district is operating within serious budgetary constraints while the challenges we face have only grown. We face head-on the accountability measures leveled on us by the state and used as weapons by some in government office to say we are “failing.” I challenge this notion as I lead a high-performing school district with kids with high values, high levels of parent engagement, and great care for our students in poverty and our students with special needs. We had great hope when we were funded more appropriately in 2019 and given policies that that our schools could build on. Since then we have received no increase in the basic allotment, and the behavioral challenges and the vast inflation we face have forced us to make very difficult decisions in our budgeting, particularly reducing staff at a time when we need all hands on deck. No proposals for funding our schools provide anywhere near the $1345 level needed to get us back the the level of 2019. The $1B set aside for vouchers are funds that could be used to support our public schools rather than short them.

In addition, the first level of prioritization for vouchers is earmarked for special education students. I want to give you our experience from the past few years. We have had some special education students with significant challenges academically and behaviorally. Some were at the level where our school, with our lack of funding and training, were beyond our capability to manage. We sought private schools who might be equipped to provide help to these kids. They were refused admission in every school or program we reached out to—even when we offered to pay.

I have 43 years of experience in public education and have seen some of the best and worst moments it has to offer. I know our teachers are ready to rise to any occasion. But we need your support—not sending the lifeline elsewhere. Please say no to the voucher fallacy that it will improve Texas. We have too much at stake. Fund AND support your public schools to be the best in the land!

Sandra Castille

African American Cultural Soc

Port Authur, TX

Relating to the establishment of an educational savings program

Lacey Camp

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Vote NO for school vouchers. Represent ALL Texans, not just the elite!

Kelley George

self - Procurement Manager

Pflugerville, TX

The Texas school voucher bill, which proposes using taxpayer dollars to fund private school tuition, raises several concerns regarding its impact on education, taxpayers, and rural communities. School vouchers shift taxpayer dollars from public schools to private institutions, reducing funding for already underfunded public schools. Public schools serve the majority of Texas students, and reduced funding could lead to larger class sizes, fewer resources, and lower teacher salaries. Texas public schools rely on state funding based on student enrollment, so losing students to private schools through vouchers directly affects their budgets.

BABITA DAWARE

self

TROPHY CLUB, TX

Texas should ensure the constitutional obligations to public education are fully met and funded before implementing an ESA/voucher program (Texas Constitution, Article 7).

Removes $1 billion from the state's budget that could otherwise fund Texas public schools.

Creates a new budgetary commitment in the state that will increase. SB 2 is projected to reach $4.6 billion in four years.

ESAs allow tax dollars to be spent without transparency or accountability. Private schools/students choosing vouchers should be subject to the same financial and academic accountability.

Comptroller has the sole ability to select five organizations to run the program, opening the door to political favoritism, lack of transparency, and a structure that benefits vendors and their pocketbooks rather than students.

Fund schools first.

- Ensure the state's constitutional obligations to public education are fully met before considering or developing any private-school voucher or Education Savings Account program. The Texas Constitution, Article 7 provides a commitment to support and maintain public free schools.
- With more than 90% of students in Texas in public schools, those students deserve full funding for their schools before any discussion of diverting taxpayer money for private school subsidies. They are Texas' future workforce.
- A voucher or Education Savings Account program would create a significant new financial commitment for the state while Texas public schools remain underfunded.
- Voucher programs in other states regularly grow well beyond their projected costs. In Arizona's universal voucher program, the cost grew from a projected cost of $65 million to an actual cost of $900 million in two years – an increase of 1400%.
- Private schools can pick and choose which students to admit while public schools proudly welcome all students with all needs.
- Education savings accounts and similar voucher plans allow tax dollars to be spent without transparency or accountability. Texas public schools adhere to state-mandated academic and financial accountability standards. Private schools are not required to meet the same academic standards as public schools, and they do not report test results, graduation rates, and other performance measures to the public

: Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500.

- To keep pace with inflation, the Basic Allotment should be increased to $7,500 to keep pace with inflation, an increase of $1,340.
- The Basic Allotment, the base funding mechanism for all Texas public school districts, has not been adjusted from its current amount of $6,160 since 2019.
- Establish a formula-driven increase to the Basic Allotment based on the rate of inflation so it does not have to be manually adjusted.

Fully fund full day Pre-K. • School districts currently receive only half-day funding for providing full-day Pre-K programs for qualifying students.

- The state is requiring all school districts to provide full-day Pre-K programs for qualifying students

Mary Ann Quintana Mary Ann Quintana

Self

Tomball, TX

Texans do not want vouchers! Parents, public school teachers, private school teachers, homeschoolers are all speaking against this. I don't understand why Abbott is pushing so hard for something none of his constituents want. It will hurt children. That is all that needs to be considered. Kids.

Jenny Hooper

Self

Austin, TX

I have worked in Texas public schools since 2006 as an educator and cannot support any legislation that would potentially take money away from schools serving all students, with accountability systems in place and transparency in their curriculum/instructional materials. Private schools do not have the same safe guards that public schools have to make sure all student get what they need. We should be funding our public schools better so that we have inclusion teachers, teachers have time to purposefully plan for needs in their classrooms and time to communicate with parents. A voucher system will not lead to a better educated workforce—students ready for college, career, or military service. The political show isn't worth gambling with student outcomes and the future of Texas.

Kathleen Serff, Ms

Self

Austin, TX

I feel my tax dollars should be used for public education with teachers meeting public standards and accountability for students.

Tracy Colon

Self / Human Resources

Florence, TX

Opposed

Brandie Metzger, Ms

Self

Dallas, TX

The education of our populace is important to our future state. Our ability to provide that education to the general population relies on tax dollars that should be equally distributed among all school districts to provide for the best education our state can offer. By allowing private schools to receive funds, that money is being misallocated to a minority of the population and decreasing the ability to properly provide education services to the majority thereby providing even more of a mediocre education system than we have today. Our focus should not be on stripping funding from public education, but instead on propping up our education system to ensure more of our youth receive an education that allows them to be successful for their sake, and our own.

Paul Serff

Self

Austin, TX

Against the bill

Alison Jefferies

Self

Houston, TX

I am against vouchers for private and homeschooling. I am for more money for public schools due to inflation, not enough money for special needs students and unfunded mandates. Please vote against vouchers.

Tad Wychopen

Self

Pharr, TX

I think having a education savings account for a school choice program would be a very helpful tool for underprivileged families in our area. South Texas has some of the lowest education and graduation rates in the state. It would be a blessing to many families to have funding to be able to send their kids to private schools or whatever school they choose. I am in favor of the school choice bill.

Victor Vedia
Self
San Antonio, TX

While the voucher program may provide benefits for some children, it is not a universally effective solution for all students. The implementation of this program raises significant concerns regarding its overall impact on students, families, and communities.

One primary concern is that voucher programs often redirect public funds from already under-resourced public schools to private institutions, which may not be held to the same accountability standards. This can result in decreased funding for critical services, including special education support, speech-language therapy, and other essential resources that public schools are required to provide under federal and state regulations. Consequently, students with disabilities, those from low-income backgrounds, and English language learners may face even greater educational disparities.

Additionally, private schools that accept vouchers may not be equipped to serve all students, particularly those with special needs. Many private institutions are not legally obligated to adhere to individualized education programs (IEPs) or provide the same level of support that public schools offer. This exclusionary practice can leave vulnerable students without appropriate services, forcing families to either seek alternative options or return to public schools that may now have fewer resources due to voucher-related funding shifts.

Beyond the financial and accessibility concerns, the program's overall effectiveness remains questionable. Research on voucher programs has shown mixed results, with some studies indicating little to no academic improvement for students who utilize vouchers. In some cases, students who transfer to private schools through voucher programs experience declines in academic performance compared to their peers who remain in public schools. This raises concerns about whether the program truly enhances educational outcomes or merely serves as a mechanism for diverting public funds without clear long-term benefits.

Moreover, the potential socioeconomic and community impact cannot be overlooked. Public schools serve as vital community hubs, providing essential services beyond education, including meals, counseling, and after-school programs. When funding is diverted, these services may be reduced or eliminated, disproportionately affecting marginalized communities that rely on public education as a cornerstone for opportunity and stability.

Given these concerns, while a voucher program may be beneficial for a select group of students, it is not a comprehensive or equitable solution. Instead, efforts should focus on strengthening public education, ensuring adequate funding, and implementing policies that support all students, particularly those who are most vulnerable. A robust public education system benefits the entire community, fostering equity, access, and long-term academic success.

Jennifer Henderson, No vouchers
Self
Frisco, TX

vouchers pose a risk to state budgets, students and families, rural schools, and special education students. Without strict regulations, regular audits, and transparent reporting of student academic results, ESAs can misuse public funds and harm students' potential for learning and achievement. Rural Texas in particular could suffer if funding is removed from public schools, the lifeblood of many small communities, as well as a major employer in many areas. private schools and vendors are under no obligation to accept or serve students with special needs. And even if a student with special needs attends a private school with a voucher, they will likely forfeit the protections they have under federal law.

Jenny Christie
Myself
Fort Worth, TX

Say no to school vouchers. Fully fund public schools.

Benita Miller, Ms
Self; retired teacher
Waxahachie, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers, school savings accounts or any attempt to use state funds for private school use. Public education is the bedrock for an educated citizenry and needs and deserves our support now more than ever. Promoters of vouchers for private schools are misleading parents when they loudly proclaim parents should have a choice. It's a compelling emotional appeal but an empty promise.

Negin Mirhosseini, Dr.
Self
Edinburg, TX

Ensure that funding for public education is prioritized first.

Erika Aigner-Varoz
Self
San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution. DO NOT pass this bill, because it will devastate our school and show that you are more loyal to the powers that be, than to your constituents who voted for you.

Dorothy Mallona
Responsiveed
Lewisville, TX

I teach at Founders Classical Academy of Lewisville, TX. I moved out here 8 years ago from Central Florida where we had no options for school except public school or to pay for private. My 4 children were floundering. My oldest got involved in illicit drug use and sales. Meanwhile, the education was sub-par and not readying them to be prosperous individuals in a free society. I moved my entire family to Texas so we could have better choices. I have been thrilled with Founders and know each day my children are being taught to seek after the good, the true and the beautiful. I am so grateful for the teachers and administrators that pour themselves into my children every day. I want this opportunity to be available to every parent in the state of Texas. Please vote YES for school choice. Thank You, Dorothy Mallona

Lyka Walton
Self
Wichita Falls, TX

This is a waste of taxpayer money. This bill does not guarantee every child will have the same access and will exacerbate the educational gap further. Shame on you for trying to pull one over on the people.

Marisa De La Rosa-Alvarado, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

I am a Texas public school teacher, a very proud Texas public school teacher. I'm also the daughter of two retired Texas public school teachers. Education has been my life. I grew up in public schools. I am a product of the Texas public school system. The same public school system that gave me opportunities to succeed and to graduate and attend The University of Texas at Austin. With that Texas public education, I was able to succeed at UT and graduate with a BA in History as well as Texas State University with a Master's in Curriculum and Instruction. It's the same system I returned to and have poured my heart and soul into the last 17 years of my life. I have taught over 2000 students and have seen them also succeed. One of those students is a graduate of Duke University and now, my colleague. Public schools are not failing students, Greg Abbott and the Texas Legislature are failing students. Greg Abbott would rather give our tax payer dollars to the 100,000 students that already attend private schools instead of fully fund our public schools that serve 5 million students. You refuse to give teachers pay raises so districts can attract the best and brightest as well as keep those successful veteran teachers to teach our students. Fully funding our public schools would give us the resources we need, the time, and the means necessary to make our students successful. Vouchers are not the answer as they would only help those few already attending private schools instead of ALL our students in Texas. You are taking funding away from the majority and what service does that do? Our students DESERVE better than to give tax dollars to private schools that don't have to follow the same rules as our public schools do. It's time to do your jobs and listen to your constituents. Fund our public schools and say no to vouchers.

Tom Murphy

Self

Pearland, TX

No school vouchers. No public funding for private education.

Karen Byers

Self, nurse

Navasota, TX

Please vote no to school vouchers. Increase the basic allotment for public schools. Use state taxpayer money for public schools only, or require private schools to follow every law that public schools do. Level the playing field, make everyone do the same or use tax money for public schools. The basic allotment is still from 2019 and it is not $15,000, it's barely over $6,000. Stop with the lies and support public schools. We are not failing. Say no to school vouchers for rich people.

FRANCES LOFLEY

Self - Facilitator

Lubbock, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB 3 as this will negatively affect a huge disproportionate of lower and middle class families in all of your communities as it would require them to make up the difference in tuition for sometimes multiple children, and the vouchers provided. Rural and suburban communities have a limited amount of options, with most of them lacking any other education options at all.

Alice Butterick

Self

Austin, TX

School Vouchers are an unnecessary financial supplement to the wealthy, and upperclass citizens; and funds private schools which at their core are private or religious businesses. A much better use of that money would be to try to make Texas public education the best that it could be for ALL students. A solution would serve ALL Texan students, isn't the Texas Government supposed to work for ALL TEXANS?

Earl Dyke
Self Wealth Management
Houston, TX

Please support House Bill 3 establishing education savings accounts for Texans.

Monica Huerta
Self/ Physical Therapy
San Antonio, TX

I don't agree with this bill regarding vouchers for private schools. We pay taxes for public schools for every child to attend. Private school is a choice for parents who want and can afford this privileged type of education. Therefore if they cannot afford it they should send their children to public schools instead of using more of our tax money for something that is a choice.

katherine merrifield
self
WYLIE, TX

I do not support this voucher system, as a parent to 2 children with vision disabilities, the funds that are allocated from property taxes needs to remain in the public school district. Let the private schools remain private, and allow families to deem how they want to get there children there without the deterrent to the existing public school system that is in place to provide for the children. If a private school is looking for state funding that is a huge red flag that the allocation of funds from the tuition or prior alumni support is being misused.

Wendy Clark, Ms
Self
Austin, TX

I am firmly against the voucher program. I support public education and do not want any of my property tax payments diverted to private schools through this scheme. This is not the way to fix school funding or improve education for Texas' children.

Angela Groves
self
Fort Worth, TX

THE TEXAS CONSTITUTION
ARTICLE 7. EDUCATION

Sec. 1. SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE OF SYSTEM OF PUBLIC FREE SCHOOLS. A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.
(Feb. 15, 1876.)

Sec. 7. APPROPRIATIONS FOR SECTARIAN PURPOSES. No money shall be appropriated, or drawn from the Treasury for the benefit of any sect, or religious society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the State be appropriated for any such purposes.
(Feb. 15, 1876 .)

No to vouchers !

Cynthia Rives

Self

Denton, TX

The State of Texas should not have vouchers or ESA. We should not use public money for private use. We should stop withholding funds from our public schools. We need strong public schools and well-paid teachers. The public schools bring our communities together and we need to support them. Don't let greed ruin our communities. We don't need private school companies to come in the Texas to make money and ruin our public schools. Dont tell me Arizona's voucher program are a successful. I know better. We don't want to go the way so many states have gone and know now it was a mistake. No vouchers! Spend the money on public schools and pay our teachers well! It will help the whole state!

Michael Schultz

Self

Austin, TX

I'm a product of the public school system and I turned out all right, but I'm deeply annoyed with how the state of Texas won't properly fund public schools. Robinhood is a failure. We need to fund the public schools fairly so that each student can get the same excellent education. We do not need private schools. And we certainly don't need to be making it easier for people to abandon public schools for private ones. If people are unhappy with public schools, then we should focus on funding them properly. And we should stop being so obsessed with testing, especially if the private schools don't have to worry about tests.

Aaron James, Precinct chair 4204

Myself

White Settlement, TX

We don't want an expansion of government and that's what school choice is. If we pass this bill, this is an invitation to globalism. We need to teach basic curriculum to the students and get them away from the devices. HB3 is a vendor bill.

Carmen Merritt, Ms.

Self, employment specialist

Waco, TX

I do not support this voucher system. It will destroy public education!

Brendan Kennedy

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill as a lifelong Texan, soon-to-be parent and public education supporter. If this bill passes, it will continue to strip resources away from public schools in favor of private education that benefits the wealthy. My family will have to strongly consider leaving the state to another which supports its public education system. Please vote no on this bill and fully support public schools.

Clare Joachim

Self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill as a public school parent in Austin Texas.

Kathy Warren

Texas school

Dimmitt, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB 3, vouchers, and the creation of education savings accounts.

Marshall Romero

Students Engaged In Advancing Texas

Houston, TX

Chair and Members of the Committee,

My name is Marshall Romero, and I am a student from Alief Early College High School. I am here today to strongly oppose school vouchers because they divert crucial public funds away from the schools that need them most—schools like mine, where students rely on every single resource available to receive a quality education.

I attend a public early college high school, where I am working toward both my high school diploma and an associates degree. The opportunities I have now are thanks to public funding, yet schools like mine are already underfunded, understaffed, and overstretched. If we implement a voucher system, we are effectively abandoning students who rely on public education. Private institutions are not held to the same accountability standards and often exclude students based on income, ability, or background. Proponents argue that vouchers provide “choice.” But what kind of choice is it when private schools can turn students away based on disability status, English proficiency, or financial constraints? Public schools do not have the luxury of exclusion—they are public and they serve EVERYONE. Instead of sending taxpayer dollars to institutions that can pick and choose who they educate, we should be investing in the schools that uplift all students, regardless of their ZIP code or economic status.

I also want to emphasize that many low-income families, like mine, cannot afford the gap between what a voucher provides and what private schools actually charge. The reality is that vouchers overwhelmingly benefit wealthier families who already have access to private education. They do not serve the majority of Texas students.

I urge this committee to stand with students like me: students who believe in the power of public education to uplift communities and create opportunity. Do not let school vouchers take away from public schools, the backbone of Texas. Education is the bedrock of this county, and we are entitled to consistently well-funded and equal education by the Texas Constitution. Fund our public schools, invest in our teachers, and support the future of every Texas student, not just of those who can afford it.

Chris Donofrio

Self

The Woodlands, TX

I oppose this bill.

Please let it die in Committee.

Our taxpayer money is better spent on strengthening our Public schools and teachers.

I oppose HB 3. Please let it die in your Committee. Our taxpayer money should be spent on improving our Public school educations of their students.

John Lee

Self

SAN ANTONIO, TX

School vouchers are taxpayer-funded subsidies given to private schools and vendors without transparency and accountability for results.

Private schools are not required to accept all students nor assess alignment to state curriculum to track student progress. Private schools do not have reporting or accountability for the use of taxpayer funds or student performance. Private schools do not have to provide special education services for students with learning differences or disabilities.

For these reasons, I oppose this bill.

Jennifer Smeby

Self, teacher

Mansfield, TX

No vouchers! Fully fund our public schools. Our tax money should not belong in private schools.

Kitty Woo Ham, APRN, FNP

Self (family nurse practitioner), my kids, and my community
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill. I do NOT want school vouchers.

John McGlothlin Jr

Self
Austin, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

P.S. Did you know that private schools can exclude students with disabilities? Or throw them out if they don't want to provide special education services??!

We truly need to support our public school system!

There was a story/article about this in Sunday's Austin Statesman . I'd read about it in a Coalition for Texans with Disabilities legislative brief as well.

That ALONE should eliminate vouchers!!

Julie Hinaman

Self
Cypress, TX

Please listen to your constituents and vote NO to HB3. Almost 70% of the people testifying at the 21.5 hour hearing are AGAINST vouchers/ESAs. WHO do you serve as a TX Representative...your constituents or the Governor's donors?

Jenna Groves

Self - healthcare staffing

Eules, TX

ESA's are a false sense of choice for Texas students and parents. Every family already has the right to choose how they want their children to receive an education in the state. Over the past 30 years, we have watched the decline of public education under Republican leadership due to the underfunding of Texas public schools, not paying our teachers what they are worth, the out of touch STAAR test that does not measure actual learning progress and so many more policies that have led us to this moment. We reject out of state and in state billionaires paying for votes so they can make more money as vendors and push an agenda that the MAJORITY of Texans do not want. I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy.

Amber Schmidt

Self

Windcrest, TX

This Bill is disgraceful and disgusting. ALL Texas school children deserve a chance at a quality education, not just a privileged few! Fund public education - Do Your Job! Texans are angry about this bill. We don't want this bill! Throw it out once and for all. Tell Abbott NO!

Sean Loraas, MR

self

Austin, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB3 and any legislation that diverts public education funds toward private school vouchers. As a [concerned citizen/educator/parent], I believe that public funds should remain dedicated to strengthening our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students and are a cornerstone of our communities.

Using taxpayer dollars to fund private school vouchers undermines public education by reducing resources available for teachers, special education services, and essential programs that benefit all students, particularly those in rural and underserved areas. Unlike public schools, private institutions are not held to the same accountability, transparency, or non-discrimination standards, making vouchers a poor investment for Texas taxpayers.

Instead of diverting funds to private interests, I urge you to focus on fully funding public schools, increasing teacher salaries, and ensuring that every child in Texas—regardless of ZIP code—has access to a high-quality, equitable education. Our students, families, and educators deserve policies that support and strengthen public education, not ones that weaken it.

I strongly urge you to vote against HB3 and any similar measures that prioritize private interests over the future of Texas public schools.

Anita Cobb

Myself

Buda, TX

Oppose!

Abigail Johnson

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

Jennifer Torres

Wylie ISD PTA

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3. Support public school in TX and fully fund our schools! Do not send public money to private schools!

Debbie Berry
Self - retired
Allen, TX

No. Do not support. Put money into our public schools, support our teachers and provide a good education to our kids!

Lisa Cockerell
Self/Teacher
Stamford, TX

This bill will take money away from public schools and redistribute it to wealthy people. I will vote against anyone who votes in favor of it.

Katharine Holding, Mrs.
Self
Pflugerville, TX

As a citizen of Texas it pains me to see that this legislation is being considered again. We know that Greg Abbott has received over $12 million dollars from a megadonor in Pennsylvania for the sole purpose of getting vouchers in the Texas Education System. He used this money to attack fellow Republicans in primaries (not about this though) and get in place those that he know will do what he wants, not what Texans want. This is NOT what our government should be about. I am sickened that he interfered and that we are now truly considering this program without strong exclusions. You want vouchers for those that qualify for free/reduced lunches...great! You want vouchers for students with documented Individualized Education Plans...great! What I do not want to see is families that are 400% ABOVE the poverty line receive these tax dollars for private schools they already attend. I have heard that it is "their tax money so they should decide how they want to spend it for their child's schooling." Well, what about my tax dollars for roads I don't use, state parks that I never go to, or services I don't utilize. I don't receive that money back to use for my personal trips, nor do I want to because it is about the betterment of the whole. You say that you aren't taking away from public education because this is a different pot of money - well why can't that pot be directed to ALL students in education and not the 100,000 it might serve? We know you have continued to underfund public education as a state and have pushed those costs to the tax payers through higher property taxes so that you can build this huge surplus. If this bill passes, then I lose hope that this government is really about "for the people" and instead it is about "for the rich that can pay us through lobbyists so that legislators (and the governor) can make the most amount of money possible." I urge ALL that truly care about education for children to vote NO to HB 3 or to rewrite it with true limitations on who it serves.

Charles McCollum, Mr.

self

Austin, TX

House Bill 3 (HB 3), currently under consideration in the Texas Legislature, proposes the establishment of Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) to facilitate public funding for private schooling. While proponents argue that this measure enhances educational choice, a critical analysis reveals that HB 3 could significantly undermine the financial stability of public schools, thereby affecting the quality of education for the majority of students who remain within the public system.?

Financial Implications for Public Schools

The introduction of ESAs as outlined in HB 3 would divert public funds to private institutions. This reallocation poses a direct threat to the financial resources available to public schools. Public education in Texas has historically faced funding challenges, with the state ranking in the bottom ten nationally for per-student funding, despite a student population that is over 60% low socioeconomic. Even with recent funding infusions, including the passage of previous bills like HB 3 in 2019, Texas remains approximately $4,000 behind the national average in per-student funding. ?

Raise Your Hand Texas

Implementing ESAs could exacerbate this funding gap. As students leave public schools for private alternatives, the funding that accompanies them—often calculated on a per-pupil basis—would also depart. This reduction in funding does not proportionally decrease the operational costs of public schools, which still need to maintain facilities, pay staff, and provide services. Consequently, remaining students may experience diminished resources, leading to larger class sizes, reduced program offerings, and deferred maintenance, all of which can negatively impact educational outcomes.?

Impact on Special Education Services

The potential effects of HB 3 on special education services are particularly concerning. Approximately 780,000 students in Texas require special education services. While ESAs might offer these students more schooling options, many private institutions lack the necessary resources or willingness to accommodate them. This situation could leave special needs students with limited or inadequate educational support, undermining the intent to provide equitable educational opportunities. ?

expressnews.com

houstonchronicle.com

Equity and Accountability Concerns

HB 3 raises significant equity and accountability issues. Public schools are mandated to adhere to state accountability standards, ensuring a baseline quality of education and equitable access to resources. In contrast, private schools receiving public funds through ESAs may not be subject to the same rigorous oversight. This discrepancy can lead to inconsistent educational quality and a lack of accountability for taxpayer dollars, potentially widening the educational attainment gap between different socioeconomic groups.?

expressnews.com

Conclusion

While the goal of expanding educational choices is commendable, HB 3's approach through the implementation of ESA

Maureen Dobyms

Self/ Project Manager

Tyler, TX

VOTE NO ON HB3! I DO NOT SUPPORT THIS BILL!

Sylvia Garza
Self
Edinburg, TX

Please do not fund vouchers. They will not help our public education students. The impact they will have will be devastating to our communities and school children. Thank you for your consideration.

Samady Garza
Self
Austin, TX

Please prioritize funding for our public schools. We have seen across many states the inefficient use of vouchers and how they have not addressed any needs of our most vulnerable students. I do not want my tax dollars sent to private schools. I beg that you instead grow your investment in public schools that are serving the majority of students in Texas and can support the hard working teachers of Texas. We owe it to our kids to give them the best investment in their futures.

Michelle Porter
Self/ OTA
Red Oak, TX

This Bill takes away funding that should have been allocated for public school education. Vouchers have failed in other states over and over. Texas does not need to be another state. Many of our students if they have a private school near them won't be able to take advantage of the voucher because of the overall cost. Give the same guidelines for both with acceptance, money, class size, teacher qualifications, transportation, nutrition etc. then offer the Bill. This is only helping the wealthy few as it stands right now. If Abbott believes in this so much it should be on the ballot and let Texans decide at the polls.
Thank You

Timothy Buchanan
Self
Aledo, TX

Dr. Bucket, I am opposed to HB3 because I do not believe it will improve education in our Great State. You and I both know that the private schools are not going to accept the public school students who are low performing nor will they accept the ESL students. What I see happening is public schools losing their higher achieving students to private schools making public schools struggle even more. I would not be opposed if HB3 stated that vouchers must go to the low performing students and/or ESL students and the private schools must accept these students. Thank you for your service,
Tim Buchanan
Killeen HS
Class of 1979

Gabe Kirchner
Self
Austin, TX

This state doesn't need private school vouchers. The state needs to be a leader in educating the next generation of Texans and Americans by opening up access to 1 quality public education system. Competing systems has been tried in Arizona and even in Sweden and it has been a failure. It's a giveaway to private, wealthy interests. This country was built by investment in public education and we are tired of the lies and distortions and fear mongering of our elected officials. You aren't acting like leaders in any sense of the word. The eyes of Texas are upon you.

Madeline Vanek

Self; therapist

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Kellie Vugrincic

Self - Chief People Officer

The Hills, TX

I oppose House Bill 3 and its proposal to implement school vouchers in Texas. Public education is the foundation of a strong society, and it must remain fully funded and accessible to all children. Instead of diverting resources away from public schools, we should be working to strengthen and improve the system we already have. We need to ensure that every child in Texas has access to the resources, support, and opportunities they need to succeed, no matter their background.

Michelle Corey

Self

Flower Mound, TX

I am against any vouchers of public for private schools. As a taxpayer, I have paid enough over the many years of my life and refuse to help the rich put any voucher towards private schools!

Deidre Summers

self

DeSoto, TX

Hello,

My name is Deidre Summers I am with the DallasISD .I am a Public school teacher.I am against the school vochers. This would not benefit the low economics students.

Most of them would not have the extra money to attend a private school , nor transportation to get there. Also it would take money from the public schools that is badly needed to provide the necessary resources need for those students .I would like the committee to oppose this bill. Thank youthe opportunity to voice my concerns.

Elizmen Ghim

self/Teacher for Homeschool Students

Double Oak, TX

As a homeschool graduate and now teacher for homeschool students' classes, I urge you the House, to NOT PASS HB3. I have personally experienced the benefits of homeschooling and the freedoms parents have, to choose education for their own children. While this bill may appear to provide parents with "choices," it actually violates their freedom to choose. There's no such thing as a "free lunch." In exchange for any money, the state government gives to families, there will be regulations and monitoring. This only opens the door to the slippery slope of surveillance and tyranny, not choice. Texas has been a state of freedom for families who love their children and want to provide what they believe is the best education. I know families who moved here to be able to enjoy this freedom. To support this bill, is to take away parents' rightful freedom to educate their children and to inhibit the growth and best interests of our next generation. Most of all, don't forget that God Himself is the One Who gives you the power to lead our state. You must follow His design for how families, education and government are to run. He has given parents the ultimate responsibility to educate, not the government. Please honor Him, by opposing this bill and SUPPORTING PARENTS AND THEIR FREEDOM INSTEAD!

Rhonda Frazier

Self, SLPA

Lubbock, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Elisha Holmes

Myself and my children

String:lubbock, TX

I am requesting that my voice be heard and that my representative, Dustin Burrows vote "NO" on HB3.

Clark Laughlin

Self

Houston, TX

I do not support or want an education savings account or voucher program. I believe this to be harmful to public education and I insist, rather, that public education in the state of Texas be fully funded. Texas should not be funding private school education.

Selynda Vizena

Self

Taylor, TX

I opposite HB3, as a registered republican, I will ensure that I don't vote straight party ticket and will vote for those that support public education and our public education teachers.

Penny Thorne

Self, educational interpreter for the deaf

Arlington, TX

We need public schools and the funding to give the best to out students.

Lesli Hullum
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I'm opposed to vouchers as they will rob any student with a slight disadvantage of an equitable education. Whether dyslexic, physically disabled, English-language-learner, socioeconomically disadvantaged, or learning disabled, America was founded on principles that give everyone the chance to succeed. This program would rob students of that chance gutting public education for the benefit of private schools who would rather fund the benefit of the wealthy. It's the most unAmerican policy that we could institute.

Students with disabilities fundamentally cost more to educate, but this bill would stifle those students from receiving an equitable education in public school, with the current federal legislation under SPED with public schools being on the hook to accept every student and educate them every day. If we are using the bulk of public school funding to educate those who have been rejected from private schools due to the burden of educating struggling students, we won't be able to provide a reasonable education for those who simply don't have the means to attend a private school (bussing, transportation, minor disabilities or language barriers).

I have 20 years in public education and I can't imagine a more crippling political movement than this current bill.

Annette Lewis
ATPE/ Raise your hand texas/Air Force mom
Paris, TX

All Texas School children deserve to have a great education, Not just I select few. You all have a responsibility to Make sure all Texas children Have access to that great education, not just a select few. Take an active part As a texas leader. DO What it takes, put the Committees together To solve the problems in the texas education system. Make the statement be bold In doing so Take a stand for all Texas school children. Finally,Let's make Texas a place that draws great educators After all we are Texas the best of the best. Vote no On HB3

Jennifer Jefferson
Self
Austin, TX

Dear Committee Members,
I write today as a public school parent. I urge you to vote against establishing an educational savings account program. Public schools in Texas are underfunded. Taking money that could be provided to schools that are accountable to Texas citizens and open to all to provide for accounts that go to private schools with no accountability and can be restrictive to students is not an appropriate use of funds. I strongly oppose all measures to create savings accounts that will not benefit all students.

Christina Bishop
Self (Public School Teacher)
Weatherford, TX

As a 10 year public educator, I strongly oppose HB3. Texans deserve a fully funded, transparent public education system that benefits all children. HB3 does not accomplish that goal. We need increased transparency for where property taxes are going and increased regulations so monies paid to school districts stay in public education. For these reasons I ask you vote no to HB3 and any other bills with school vouchers attached.

Laura Crockett
Self/manager
Shavano Park, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Derick Smith
Self - Attorney
Katy, TX

Vouchers are only intended to give money to rich families. Vouchers steal money from public schools. Public schools are doing amazing things for our kids. Poorer people cannot afford private schools with the amount of money in the voucher bill. The voucher bill is a scam. Vote against HB3 and vote against vouchers.

Savanna Polasek, Mrs.
Self, entrepreneur and communications specialist
Cedar Park, TX

I am deeply disturbed by the lack of funding for public school students in Texas. A single cent taken from public school funding is a travesty. Although my family continues to impact and stay in the Texas economy, if we feel that our children are not being cared for academically we will leave this state. You are going to lose professionals and you are setting yourself up for the gutting of your future economy, citizens and workers. Every dollar you cut now will mean more people in prisons, less people able to read, less people able to contribute to this great state. Defunding teachers while every other industry has risen with inflation just means they will leave to another career and we will continue to have non credentialed, ineffective, teachers. Until Texas is first in the nation in education spending and outcomes, you have no right to take our tax dollars and use them to subsidize wealthy private school attendees. And to think that after Santa Fe and Uvalde you would not fully fund school safety but make blanket laws without funding is despicable. The blood is on your hands. What you are doing is hideous .I hope at the end of your life you remember when you sold our future for your own and I hope your children and your children's children never forget it. Let me be clear, I don't support vouchers under any form or circumstance. Allow innovation and funding for operations, salaries, materials, transportation, and schools will succeed. Keep class sizes low. Follow the research on learning. Then maybe you won't get booted out next term. Good luck and do the right thing.

Lorri Wright
Self
Fort Worth, TX

ESAs are not going to help the majority of Texas school children. They will hurt our public schools and the Falkland communities that depend on them. Fund our public schools fully. Let the wealthy continue to send their kids to private schools. They don't need a handout. Keep our tax dollars away from the wolves that are chomping at the bit to pocket these precious dollars and use it to open subpar private schools. Please don't allow this to go forward. Show communities that you care.

Krisa Payne
Self Idalou, TX

I disagree with this bill! It will hurt our public school, teachers and administration. Not sure why there is even a bill to be passed or looked at such as this. Please be better.

Julie Judd
Self/ accountant
Lucas, TX

Vehemently against school vouchers!! Fund our public schools, NOT private ones!

Janet Counts, Teacher- Retired

Self

Glenn Heights, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Lakshmi Ananthakrishnan

self

Irving, TX

I thank you for your work in addressing the important issue of school funding so we can ensure that our teachers and school staff have the support that they need to operate successfully. I am writing to express concerns that the current increase of $220 for the basic allotment in HB2 is only $220 is not sufficient to adequately fund the increasing needs of our public schools. I ask that you amend the bill to fully fund our public schools via a basic allotment increase of $1340 per student. To keep up with inflation since 2019, we need an increase of $1340 per student, as noted by Fund Schools First. I also ask that you allocate funding based on enrollment, not attendance. Lastly, I fully oppose vouchers; I support taxpayer money going to public schools, not private schools. However, if vouchers were to remain on the bill, private and charter schools that accept vouchers should be held to the same accountability standards as public schools, with regards to STAAR and other standardized testing, reporting benchmarks, and other requirements and standards that public schools are held to.

My child's excellent public school, McCoy Elementary, is closing due to budget deficits in Carrollton-Farmers Branch ISD. Insufficient funding is deeply affecting our BEST public schools. We need your help. We have stellar teachers throughout CFBISD; we need adequate funding to enable them do their jobs. Please fully fund public schools.

Dominique Cruz

Self

Conroe, TX

I urge you to oppose the expansion of school vouchers in Texas. Public schools are essential to our communities, providing equitable education to all students, regardless of their background or income. Vouchers, which redirect public funds to private schools, would undermine this system by diverting critical resources away from public schools, exacerbating challenges such as overcrowded classrooms, teacher shortages, and inadequate funding.

Expanding vouchers would:

1. Increase inequality by mainly benefiting wealthier families, while leaving low-income students in underfunded public schools.
2. Undermine accountability, as private schools that accept vouchers aren't always held to the same educational standards as public schools.
3. Weaken public schools, further diminishing resources, programs, and teacher support for students who need them most.
4. Reduce local control, as private schools receiving voucher funds are not accountable to local communities.
5. Shift focus away from improving public schools, instead of investing in solutions like better funding, teacher pay, and specialized programs for students in need.

Rather than diverting resources from public schools, we should be working to strengthen and improve them for all students. Please prioritize the future of our public education system and oppose school vouchers.

Gloria Vela, Ms.

Self

San Antonio, TX

It will be difficult for a single parents to drive their kids to a private school and make it to work on time. Do they even have before and after school care?

In Texas, we have public schools that meet the needs of kids with different capabilities. The public schools have regular pre-ap and AP classes. We have charter schools and magnet schools. The public schools meet the needs of kids who need special equipment and special teachers.

Michelle Fink, Ms

All students in Texas

Forney, TX

This is the most lawful and American way to give education choices to all children and tax payers!

Melissa Hernandez

Self

Corp Christi, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars.

Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas.

We will ALL remember how you vote on this.

Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda?

Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"?

Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor?

These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people.

VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL!

Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few!

Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children.

Susan Sabo-Wagner

Self

Cypress, TX

I have two sons in public schools, I have a 17 year-old in CyFair ISD as a junior, and a nine-year-old as a third grader. I have been nothing but pleased with our public schools until this last year went so much has been taken away due to the fact that our state government has chosen to argue over the fact that private schools or voucher systems may be better for our children. I work in an area in healthcare where I know far too well that the state of Texas is far too large with far too few private schools within reach from many of our rural areas to know that this is not an acceptable avenue for all of our youth. I was raised in a public school. My children are raised in a public school, and there is absolutely nothing wrong with public schools. To give more funding toward private schools and elite schools that are out of reach for many of our Texans is completely out of touch with constituents in the entire state. It is time that we start listening to the people that we represent. It is time that we start to live and empathize with the people that actually elect us into office. Rather than look to our leaders in government who threaten that we meet their own choices, made by party lines only I implore you to look into your deepest heart and understand what's actually best for our children in the state of Texas that we love so much.

Ashley Howard

Self

Cypress, TX

Education savings would take money from public school which affords educational opportunities to all students, not just elite and well educated students. This should not even be a discussion until public schools are fully funded, allowing schools and educators to prove what they are actually capable of, providing a future and real choices for every student. Putting additional dollars towards private school and homeschooling would be a detriment to the multitude of students being served by the public education system every day.

Cathy Nichols

Self

Centerville, TX

I strongly oppose these bills. Public education and other public funded entities need the expertise of lobbyists who research and know the workings of the Capitol.

Andrea Cervantes

Self

Austin, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a social worker who has worked in Title I schools across Central Texas, I have seen firsthand the impact of underfunded schools on students, families, and communities. For the future of all Texas children, I urge everyone to vote against the creation of a voucher program and to fund our public schools. Thank you.

Doreen Martinez, Dr.

Self

Katy, TX

I am a public educator with 30+ years of experience as a teacher and an administrator and I am a product of public education. I am opposed to any type or form of a voucher that will take away funds from public schools. The majority of our Texas children are in public school. We educate every child who enters our school, irregardless of the learning levels, abilities, disabilities, discipline issues, and more. We need our public funds to educate our children. I ask you to please vote no on HB 3 and/or any bill that will negatively impact the future of our public school children. Please don't defund public education! Our Texas children deserve a high quality education from our public schools. The vouchers will not be able to cover the total cost of a private school and these schools do not welcome every child to attend their schools. I urge you to please stand tall and fight for our Texas school children!!!

Kayla Keese

Self

Corinth, TX

I am a product of Texas public schools, and currently a teacher in Denton ISD. My son attends public schools. I am a lifelong conservative voter who is OPPOSED to this bill and to vouchers in Texas. Our public schools can thrive with the proper funding, and I have seen what vouchers do to public education, and education in general. The people of Texas have spoken loud and clear on this, and they will not forget the Representatives who chose to not listen to their constituents. Do the right thing and vote NO to vouchers, and fund the great public schools of Texas fully!

Charles Allen

Self

Houston, TX

I am a father of three homeschooled children and I oppose this bill.

DONNA K WRIGHT, Retired teacher

Self

Murphy, TX

I am strongly against vouchers

Kirsten Hogan

self, florist

Austin, TX

As a former public school teacher, I oppose HB 3. I worked in a property-poor school district and saw the inequity that my students encountered because of the circumstances they were born into. Parents who worked multiple jobs just to barely make ends meet, single parent households, and non-native English speakers comprised the majority of my students. They rely on public schools and their resources (school busses, after school activities, etc.) to care for and educate their children. They deserve to send their kids to schools that have equitable access to resources and well-paid teachers.

Only public schools are charged with the responsibility to provide ALL children access to a free and equitable education. However, because of underfunding, public schools in rural and property-poor districts experience vast inequity in their public schools in comparison to wealthy districts.

Parents should and do have the right to choose where their children get educated, taking money away from public schools is NOT the answer. I urge you to oppose HB3 and vote no, because pulling any money away from public education will only widen the gap of inequity.

Erin Thompson

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose HB 3 as well as any other bill that creates Educational Savings Accounts. Please fully fund public schools so that ALL children in Texas have access to a quality education.

Lee Whitley

Self

Austin, TX

Against school vouchers and HB3. Why not just increase the standard amount per student or give our surplus budget to schools. The choice is couched language and if passed should be for those at or below the national poverty line not 200% more.

Alicia Olshanski

Self

San Angelo, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Mary Ann Baltzer, Mrs.

Self

McKinney, TX

There is no evidence that Education Savings Accounts, or vouchers, are an effective way to educate students. They help religious schools and wealthy students who can afford to attend expensive private schools. They do nothing for middle and low income students or special needs students who can't not afford the additional tuition and transportation to private schools. Those schools often will not accept the average Texas student. Stop trying to benefit your wealthy donors who stand to profit from ESAs. Show the public the fact based research that proves ESAs will work in Texas.

Matt Menefee

Self - Teacher

Waco, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As Taxpayer and supporter of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Elizabeth Jordan

Self

San Antonio, TX

Please do not pass this bill out of committee. Texas students deserve fully funded public schools. This bill will only provide people who can already afford private schools a kickback to make that choice more affordable for them. School choice means the schools choose not the parents. We must fund our public schools so that ALL Texas students have access to the next possible education.

Justin Calvert, SGT.

Self - My occupation is not necessary.

Willis, TX

Tax funds should not be used to pay for private schools. Private schools are selective of who they enroll, whereas public schools are unable to be selective due to being funded publicly. I should not have to pay for schools that are selective of children they enroll.

Amy Saylak

Self-retired

Bryan, TX

I urge lawmakers to NOT use any taxpayer monies to fund any kind of private school education without accountability to the state as to test scores, teacher pay, students served, etc. unless and until this state FULLY funds our private schools through teacher pay raises, etc.

Donna Beavers

Self

Rusk, TX

I am against school vouchers

Carin Champion

Self - independent contractor, Student Affairs Assistant, & retired K-12 educator

Austin, TX

As a retired educator of 28 years in the state of Texas, I am firmly against, and deeply concerned about the proposed school voucher program. This would be detrimental to most students and families across the state, as well as public schools. I am very familiar with how school funding works, and know that this would cause much harm to students and families in our state. We all know that vouchers are not truly school choice. Most people hoping to benefit from school choice would not be able to afford the tuition of a private school, even with vouchers. The people who would ultimately benefit from the voucher system would be people who can already afford to send their children to private school, so it is actually only choice for those who are already well off. Not only that, it would raise every citizen's taxes, since public schools would be forced to raise taxes in order to make up for the further deficit of our already poorly funded education system in Texas. If you truly care about children of this state, you would find a way to fund public schools in order to improve them, rather than taking more funding and support away. If this passes, it becomes clear to everyone that the purpose is solely to dismantle public education, and not to assist families seeking better education for their children. Many of us already know that this seems to be the plan, but constituents who do not truly understand how it works, will find out the hard way, at the expense of education of their children. Though as a public servant, my main concern is for students and families, I must also point out that many retired educators like myself, and future retirees, would suffer, as the Teacher Retirement System of Texas would be affected by the passing of this bill. Fund our public schools and stop the nonsense. Your constituents are profoundly unhappy with the proposed school voucher system.

Ana Sosa

Self

San Antonio, TX

Please don't hurt Texas children. We learn empathy for different people through adversity. Keep funding public schools!

Leslie Smith

Self

Aubrey, TX

This bill is not in alignment with what Texans want. We want to be the best, we want to have the best, and we want to offer the best. This only removes options and opportunities from our children. How embarrassing to take pride in such a strong economy and then spend so little on our future in the way of our children's education. This is not Texas values.

Davis Payne

self

New Braunfels, TX

Public money belongs to public schools! No to school vouchers. It is already a choice. If you can't afford it then go to public school.

Jennifer Meyet

Self

Round Rock, TX

I do not believe that tax payer dollars should be used for private schools. I feel this is a great injustice to our public schools and also violates the separation of Church and State as established in the first amendment of US Constitution. As such, I believe that any voucher scheme, or savings accounts which are to be used for private education is a violation of the very principles our founding fathers stood for. They believed it so important that it's in the FIRST amendment. Please do not pass these bills which strip public dollars for private schools.

Jenny Anderson, Lead SLP

Self

Victoria, TX

I Oppose HB 3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Brenda Percastegui

Self

Del Valle, TX

I do not support giving public funding to private schools.

Mandy Menzer

self

Austin, TX

I am a Texas parent with two kids, who are very different from each other in personality and interests. My kids have attended both public and private schools throughout their education and we are fortunate to have had positive experiences with all of the schools that we have been involved in. Even as much as I enjoyed our private school experience, I am strongly opposed to school vouchers for a wide range of reasons. However, the primary reason is that public schools are bound by a wide range of rules and restrictions. If these rules and restrictions are important, then private schools should be bound by them as well in order to receive public funds. If these rules and restrictions are NOT important, then they should be optional for our public school districts to follow. Thank you for your time.

Briana Kerner

Self

Spring, TX

I homeschool and I oppose this bill.

Cindy Babcock

Self

ATHENS, TX

This bill is full of misinformation and deceit. Texas students need quality education and for the most part, receive it in our wonderful PUBLIC schools despite the lack of constitutionally mandated support. Texas teachers deserve at least a $10,000 raise across the board with no caveats. This GOP controlled committee and the Texas legislature with just a few exceptions seems to have no desire to learn about our public schools and our excellent teachers. As a Texas teacher with 38 years experience, I am disgusted by the lack of accountability and support which I'm seeing from our elected officials. For once, do the right thing and your duty for the teachers and students of Texas instead of your donors.

Trish Orgis, Mrs.

Self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Sincerely,
Trish Orgis

Emily Chen
Self, engineer
Austin, TX

Public funds should be used to fund public schools, NOT private schools. Vouchers are a subsidy for wealthy families who already attend private schools. Public schools are already hurting budget-wise and the voucher program will only exacerbate public school budgets which are already spread too thin.

Craig Rogers
Self/atty
Corpus Christi, TX

No vouchers.

Melinda Savoy
Self
Magnolia, TX

I am NOT in favor of this bill, any bill related to it, and request a vote of NO to ESAs, vouchers, or school choice. As a tax payer with grown children who benefitted from public schools supported by local funds, Texas funds and federal funds, I feel this bill hurts the millions of students in Texas who couldn't afford private schools supported even with financial assistance. The backbone of a free society rests in the strength of its educate members. Public schools need to be strengthened through more funds being distributed to public schools and not to private. I am horrified at the many ways politicians and others working behind the scenes with shady and overt political financing and threats to politicians that individuals wanting to divert public funds to private schools who have no oversight. I fear the money diverted from public schools, and given to private entities and owners of private schools and would be squandered on pushing even more political agendas instead of educating children. I ask for better and more funding, be directed to public schools to strengthen our entire society, including those who cannot afford private education, even with assistance. It has been repulsive to watch representatives like Cecil Bell Junior vote for people and support bills like vouchers, this one in particular HP three, and realize that he's being paid or threatened to support vouchers. Please, in the name of all Texans and the right to a free and public education, do not vote in favor of HB3.

Travis Faulds
Self
Austin, TX

Stop trying to cripple public education. These scams Abbott and every other Republican in this country come up with just to kill public education are sickening. As long as they keep coming up with "creative" ways to dismantle our children's futures, myself and others will be there to RESIST. STOP SCAMMING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Holly Boyter
Self
Duncanville, TX

Public education needs to remain public and allow ALL students to receive the same amount of investment. Vouchers will adversely affect rural schools and schools in underfunded districts. Properly funding ALL schools is what the focus should be!!

Birdie Carter
TSTAHB3
College Station, TX

As a retired educator, I am not in favor of the bill. It is unfair to the public schools in Texas. Every school should be held to the same standards in Texas. It is not fair to the public schools. It will destroy the public schools in Texas.

Bree Rolfe
Self
AUSTIN, TX

I have been a public educator in Texas for almost 20 years. I taught for 17 of those years. I have a masters degree. I'm a published author. I mention this not to brag, but to highlight that I am a product of the Massachusetts public school system. A system that spends almost triple the amount per student than Texas. I was valued in my schools and so I spent my adult life doing the same for my students. I chose to live and teach here in Austin Texas because I believe in this community that gave me the gift of being a teacher.

I'm here today to talk about my students who don't have the choices this bill will give. I left the classroom two years ago to support students in temporary living situations including homeless, foster, and since we keep mentioning them, military connected students. There are currently over 1300 families experiencing homelessness in Austin ISD and some of those are homeless, unaccompanied minors. Most of my job is removing barriers for these students and this bill is full of barriers.

If schools are properly funded they can be a place of magic and transformation. I have helped students sleeping outside find housing through LifeWorks stabilizing them enough to attend college. I have advocated for the special education rights students who were sleeping on benches who didn't have a parent who was capable of advocating for him. I am the person who provides emergency clothing and food when a family is evicted or their house burns down.

The students I serve will never benefit from this voucher system. They are rarely considered when people are making decisions. But they are for sure the people who will be harmed when you remove funding from public schools and shovel it into private schools with no little to no oversight. They are the students who charter or private schools accept initially and then toss out when they realize the needs are too great. You claim "school choice," but it's the schools who will be choosing. My students rarely have choices. My niece is a former foster child. My two best friends were both in the foster care system and experienced homelessness in their childhood. Without public schools, they would not have survived. And they remind me of this every time I call them and express hopelessness or frustration in my job. They remind me that one person can be the difference in a child's life. And I know what will be lost if public schools lose funding for positions like mine. Private schools will not accept or support my students. They will not let their parents shower on campus or send the kids home with food because they aren't required to do the hard things that we do in public schools. And caring for ALL students in all situations is hard. I am grateful to be there for families in their worst moments. But I am asking that you understand that a public school is a sacred community space. Removing funds from our public schools will be devastating for the students who will never be "chosen" by a school.

Janet Barberee
Self
Mansfield, TX

I strongly support our public school system and oppose the voucher system.

Kacie Beaver
Self Fluvanna, TX

Please do not take any funding from public schools! If we need to service different learning styles in the public school system then increase funding for public schools but sending money to the private sector is not the answer!!!

Joanna Shabat, Mrs.
Self / Mother, queen of all jobs!
Houston, TX

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Texas can be just that more awesome of a state to live in!!

Meagan Brooks

Self

Frankston, TX

I am writing to express my deep concerns about HB3 and its private school voucher proposal. As a parent of a child with disabilities, I urge you to oppose this bill because it threatens students who rely on Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) and special education services.

Public schools are legally required to provide support under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), ensuring that students with disabilities receive the accommodations, therapies, and specialized instruction they need. Private schools, however, are not required to follow IDEA, and many do not provide adequate support. If a student leaves the public school system using a voucher, they may lose their right to these essential services.

This issue is personal for my family. My son depends on an IEP for academic success, and our public school is legally obligated to follow it. If we were to use a voucher, we would be left without the same protections. Many private schools deny admission to students with disabilities or refuse to implement IEPs, leaving families responsible for thousands of dollars in extra costs for special education services. The reality is that a voucher won't cover these expenses, making private school an unrealistic option for many families.

Beyond special education, HB3 will harm public schools statewide by diverting taxpayer funds to private institutions that lack accountability. Public schools serve all children and are required to provide high-quality education, yet HB3 would take away funding, forcing larger class sizes, program cuts, and fewer resources for students—including those who rely on special education. Meanwhile, private schools receiving voucher funds are not required to meet the same performance, financial, or accessibility standards as public schools, meaning taxpayer money could fund schools that exclude students based on disabilities, learning challenges, or behavioral needs.

The impact of HB3 is even worse for rural communities, where private school options are scarce or nonexistent. For families in these areas, vouchers provide no real choice—only a loss of resources for the public schools they rely on. Without public school funding, rural students will suffer the most.

While HB3 is framed as expanding “school choice,” the reality is that students with disabilities will have fewer, not more, options. Instead of shifting funds away from public schools, we should be investing in smaller class sizes, increased support staff, and better funding for special education. Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students and provide critical services that private schools are not obligated to offer.

I urge you to consider the long-term consequences of HB3 and the harm it will cause to students and families across Texas. Please stand with Texas families and oppose this bill to protect students with disabilities and the integrity of public education.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Kristina Bloskas

Self

Anton, TX

Please do not pass school bonds

Shamik Jani

self - corporate strategy

Austin, TX

My kids used to attend private school and there is certainly a need for private schools in Texas. However, their funding should not come from our property tax dollars as they are needed for public schools. My kids attend Eanes now and the district gets ~$8K/student and needs every cent + significant donations from the community.

Vote no on HB3.

Kim Kozmetsky

Self - Mother

Austin, TX

Say NO to VOUCHERS! The majority people of your state do not want this. You will DESTROY public education. Listen to your constituents. This should have been on a BALLOT. Vote No. do the right thing for this great state we love. The kids deserve better.

William Eudy

Self

Goldthwaite, TX

I strongly disagree with this bill's approach to school funding and teacher compensation. It does not adequately address the root causes of educational inequality and will disproportionately impact underfunded districts, particularly rural communities. Additionally, it fails to consider the unique needs of students requiring special services, potentially widening the gap in support for these vulnerable children. In addition, the way it has been proposed and communicated has lacked integrity and is beneath the standard of excellence that should characterize our state.

Elizabeth Hightower

Self - VP of Operations

Ricahardson, TX

As a Texas parent with two elementary school children and a toddler, I am deeply invested in the future of our public education system. I strongly oppose the proposed school voucher bill, which I believe is a harmful policy that will divert much-needed funding away from our already underfunded public schools.

Vouchers do not offer real choice for most families—only those in the right location, tax bracket, and with the right educational needs will benefit, while the vast majority of Texas children will be left with even fewer resources. Instead of siphoning money away, we should be strengthening our public schools to serve all Texas students.

I urge you to stand against this bill and fight for real investments in our public education system. Our kids deserve better.

Amy Dulock

Self - homeschool parent

Gainesville, TX

As a homeschool parent, I am strongly opposed to this bill. The freedom that we have enjoyed as homeschoolers is something that we have watched get stripped away by other states' school choice bills. On the outset, the bills all seemed to be opt-in, with strings attached to those opting in. However, as we have witnessed time and time again, the execution of the bill never stays the same for long, and requirements have been amended and added. In most cases, those requirements have expanded beyond those homeschoolers who opt in to the voucher program. The freedom to educate my children as I choose is one that sets Texas apart from the majority of homeschooling states, and I am opposed to this bill because of its long-term effects on my family.

Cindi Jennings

Self

Grand Saline, TX

Putting money in the pockets of the wealthy while stealing money from public education is such a scam. The vast majority are against it, so do the right thing and vote NO!!!

Elena Ansley

Self

Houston, TX

I am a homeschooling mother and am opposed to HB 3.

Margaret Goodman, Blanco County Chair

Self, retired

Blanco, TX

I am opposed to an education savings account or vouchers. These monies would fund private schools and take money away from public schools. Public schools have not received a state operating raise that meets inflation. 2/3 of Texas Counties do not have a private school, and lower, working class families could not afford them. Private schools do not have requirements and tracking like public schools. EVERY Texas child deserves access to a fully funded, quality education! If you pass this HB 3, then please fund public schools at the same level.

Regina Pires

Self

Cypress, TX

We do not want this. We do not want school vouchers. We want fully funded PUBLIC schools. Not welfare for the wealthy.

Rhiannon Kutzer

North Houston Charlotte Mason Homeschoolers

Houston, TX

I am a conservative and I reject HB-3. Having homeschooled in a handful of states during my husband's Navy career, a big part of why we settled in TX is that Texas has one of the best homeschooling laws in the country currently. Please reject HB-3 and keep homeschooling free. Our freedom is our success. The pursuit and maintenance of freedom is why our family chose military service. My oldest graduates our homeschool this year and is attending his top choice university on scholarship. What we do works. This law would change that.

HB-3 will raise costs and decrease quality of all educational options even for those who don't participate. Taxpayer-funded ESAs create a captive market. Instead of educational curriculum providers having to compete with money I might spend on my grocery bill (which causes them to make the best product possible for the lowest possible price to me) they have a captive market of dollars that can only be spent on educational products.

The bill redistributes wealth and decreases competition. Parents will choose to spend taxpayer money via ESAs on approved vendors rather than their own non ESA money on unapproved vendors. This will eliminate smaller competitors and consolidate monopolies amongst vendors. This is the opposite of the touted "competition." In Arkansas, for example, a similar law resulted in a 700% increase in extracurricular prices. Seven HUNDRED percent. That's not a typo. This immediately prices anyone who doesn't want to participate out of the market. This is a very similar process to what created the student loan crisis in higher ed. The government got involved in "funding" via student loans, and all the colleges raised their prices. There are now only a handful of schools able to stay independent of taxpayer funds and the associated attached strings. This is an innovation killer and a race to the bottom. Freedom from regulation is the way to increase competition, innovation, and therefore success. True conservatives don't grow government, squash competition, or increase regulation.

Statistically, homeschoolers academically outperform their public and private school peers, and turn out grads that are more civically engaged than their peers. They also currently 1) don't cost Texas any money at all, and 2) pay property taxes which support their local public schools. We pay for education twice, and the price of freedom is worth it. Leave us alone. We'll continue benefitting our communities and costing nothing.

For more on why homeschoolers reject this bill please see this Scholé Sisters podcast episode on school choice titled "Freedom Isn't Free:" <https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast/schol%C3%A9-sisters-camaraderie-for-classical-homeschooling/id1078113453?i=1000696743744>

Thank you for your consideration. I urge you to reject HB-3

Rhiannon Kutzer

Amy Diehl

Self

Austin, TX

I am opposed to HB 3

Gloria Otto

self

KYLE, TX

I'm a parent of a child in private school here in Texas. We work hard and apply for scholarships to send him there. But if TX public schools were in better shape, maybe we wouldn't feel the need for private school. Texas COULD boast of the best public schools in the nation if it committed the same amount of time and energy giving ALL kids the best as it does to passing a voucher scam. We are homeowners, we are both employed, we pay taxes, but we do NOT want tax dollars to help us pay for our kid's private education. The simple facts of the matter are that there are many districts in Texas and families in Texas for which vouchers do NOT increase their school choices. School funding should be equally applied to all schools and all districts, and Texas is already failing at that metric before adding in a stupid voucher program, which will take ADDITIONAL state funding to run and implement. This is a waste. I urge you to vote no.

Emily Dieringer

Self / Parent

Austin, TX

Hello.

I'm commenting today as the proud parent of two public school students in Austin ISD. I have seen firsthand the amazing work that our district and its teachers manage to do with limited resources. I often find myself wondering what our public schools and the students in them could accomplish if the State of Texas were to FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. The possibilities are endless. But, instead, we keep beating the dead horse of vouchers.

Vouchers (aka education savings accounts) have been rejected by Texans time and time again because the majority of Texans agree that our public taxpayer funds should not go to private schools. I'm all for the freedom of parents to choose where they send their children to school--but if that choice involves a private school, then the parents need to bear that financial burden. Vouchers would be especially harmful to rural schools, given that most rural counties--which account for the majority of all counties in Texas--do not have any private schools.

Nebraska and Illinois have tried vouchers and are ending them. Voucher programs in Florida and Arizona have been economic and academic disasters. Studies have shown no improved academic outcomes in states with vouchers. Let's learn from the mistakes of other states and abandon the idea of vouchers in Texas. I implore you to say NO to vouchers and YES to putting $1,300 per student into the basic allotment. It's past time to fully fund our public schools.

Sincerely,

Emily Dieringer

Jinny Castoldi

self - recruiting operations manager

Dallas, TX

I am a parent of two children who attend public schools and am urging you – please DO NOT PASS THIS BILL. Our public schools are already working on tight (and often underfunded) budgets. The money should go back into our schools. We should have more transparency where all of this funding is going to (in detail!) line by line. Abbott has already created a disaster with our public schools, and now instead of fixing it, he wants to defund them even further. This is all obviously to benefit HIS agenda and make Texas education worse.

At minimum, allow the voters to have their say on this vs. making the choice behind your desks. This is bipartisan NOT WANTED. Especially rural TX – they will be hurt the worse with this bill.

Save our public schools – pay our teachers more, fund the programs to benefit our children, and make Texas proud.

Laura Dehart

Self

San Antonio, TX

As a constituent whose children are enrolled in public schools and as a former public school teacher, I implore you to vote against HB 3, to vote against the establishment of a school voucher program. Public schools are already underfunded; vouchers will siphon money away from public schools who desperately need funds to pay teachers and staff decent, living wages; for school supplies and facilities maintenance; to assist and feed low income families; and to fund other educational programs such as special education, sports, fine arts, and STEM. Families already have school choice options; private, charter, and magnet schools, if they do not feel their local public school as a good fit for their child. I'm also concerned about how school vouchers will affect TRS that so many teachers and school staff rely on. Please fund Texas public education for our children and our future according to the Texas constitution.

Sincerely,

Laura Dehart

Cathylynn Brown

Self

Austin, TX

I am adamantly opposed to vouchers. It will decimate public schools A vibrant public school makes for a vibrant city

Jennifer Jefferson

Self

Austin, TX

Good afternoon. I am a parent with a child in a Texas public school. I oppose establishing an education savings account program, particularly when our schools are underfunded and there is no accountability for the public money that will be heading to private schools. Public schools have to demonstrate how they use funds AND have to provide an education for all. Private schools that would receive this public money would not be held to the same standards. This approach would take money from schools, hitting rural and urban areas particularly hard. Please do not privatize public funding.

Linda Ann Rodriguez

self

KYLE, TX

All Texas children deserve the best education and teachers. They are ALL OF OUR FUTURE. Please do not hurt our public schools by voting for an education savings account program. This is tantamount to a discriminatory policy that will hurt all Texans.

Abigayle Hoeft self— medical student
Houston, TX

I am appalled by the action of the Texas GOP to take funding from our already struggling public schools in order to funnel taxpayers money into private schools. Firstly, there are over 5 million students in Texas, and just over 1200 private schools in the state. These schools are aggregated in large cities, such as Dallas and Houston, but leaves Rural communities behind. The schools charge steep tuition, upwards of $10,000, more than the voucher programs would provide, ensuring only the wealthy will benefit. Finally, the schools can deny students based on disability. The schools are not required to provide accessible options and 504's to students. Therefor, this program will not only leave being millions of Texas Children, but it will specifically discriminate against low-income, disabled, and rural students.

Carolyn Qualls
Carolyn Qualls
Greenville, TX

I have three children that went thru the Texas public school system. Now I have five grandchildren in the public schools , the last two both need speech and dyslexia programs. The problem with the vouchers will cut funding needed to continue improving these programs. The wealthy families can already afford their private schools and will hurt our funding to public schools. This is not the way I want my property taxes to be spent! My taxes are already too high and the school tax will increase if this foolish and wrong bill is forced onto our taxpayers! The surplus that Abbott has been withholding from our public schools should be used for teacher pay and improvement to our schools! I am against this bill and hope it fails, the citizens of Texas should get to vote!

Michelle Tharp
self
Austin, TX

Please do not pass this bill. Privatizing education is NOT the way to fix education. Please listen to educators in the classrooms and work to meet the needs of ALL students. Pulling money out of the public school system is NOT the answer. Money should be invested in the system. Allowing districts to hire and retain certified teachers is a starting place. When teachers can not make a livable wage, they leave education to find a better job. Schools are desperate for teachers so they are hiring people who are not trained and certified. Thus diluting the quality of education. Start by rewarding quality teachers in all disciplines, not just core classes. Invest money throughout the school not just in career tech. Public education is a very broken system that will only worsen with the voucher system.

Sarah Montgomery
Self
Sunnyvale, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I am a native Texan and went to public school - as did my mother, my uncles, my brother and my husband. My children are in public school in Texas now. The fact that Texas public schools have been underfunded while the state sits on a huge surplus that was allegedly intended for public schools is devastating to the educators and children in Texas. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas Constitution.

Camille Gilliam
Self
Lubbock, TX

Completely opposed to the use of tax dollars to be used for home school or private school. If tax dollars are used for private school, they should be required to accept any child who applies.

Tanya Belk
Moms
Pflugerville, TX

My name is Tanya Belk and I live at 18813 Pencil Cactus Dr., Pflugerville, TX 78660 and wanted to write to express my deep OPPOSITION TO PRIVATE SCHOOL VOUCHERS. We need to support our public schools and giving folks who already have enough money to send their kids to PRIVATE schools is deeply unfair. They do not need a voucher/coupon to do so. This is taking funds away from our public schools. Many of the counties in Texas don't even have private school options and therefore those kids would not even have access to this. Public schools provide every child with an opportunity to succeed and I am committed to supporting that with our tax dollars. Education is the great equalizer and it is our duty to create educated citizens that can serve not only our country, but the world, for all of our benefits.

Thank you for your consideration in considering my opposition to these private school vouchers.

Have a great day!

Amanda Edens
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Matt Dodds
Self
Round Rock, TX

I support public schools and strongly oppose HB3. If we have money for vouchers, we have money to fully fund public schools first!

David Pooley self - scientist
Austin, TX

As a parent of three children in Texas public schools, I have serious concerns about the school voucher program shifting funds away from our public schools and over to private schools that aren't even held to the same standards. These vouchers will serve as a nice discount for families with children already in private schools, i.e., those who can afford to send their kids there. Private school tuition would still be expensive and out-of-reach for many Texas families even with these vouchers. The country's largest voucher programs in Florida and Arizona have had poor results both financially and academically, including massive state budget and spending issues.

For the 6 years I've had kids in public schools, we've endured constant budget shortfalls locally due to school funding issues. The recapture system of school funding already takes exorbitant amounts of money away from our schools in Austin, leaving us with chronic budget issues. I'm greatly disturbed at how much of my "Austin ISD" tax payment leaves our area entirely, even as the district is constantly needing to make cuts. Funding is insufficient to pay teachers what they deserve, making it hard to attract and retain the talent needed to instruct our next generations. Texas is already one of the worst-funded states in the country when it comes to education. This is embarrassing, and our kids and teachers deserve better. The proposed voucher program will only serve to exacerbate all of this by taking more money away from our public schools.

If public schools are so broken that you think families need an alternate choice, then it is incumbent upon you - the Texas legislature, Greg Abbott, TEA - to focus on FIXING those problems by providing appropriate funding, at least $1500 additional per student vs. the inadequate $220. It is a moral and practical responsibility of the state of Texas to provide a quality public education to all our students that will prepare them for the future.

Heather Pate

Self / Investor, Philanthropist, Retired Engineer

Austin, TX

My name is Heather Pate, and I am a graduate of Texas public schools. I am also a parent of two children currently enrolled in Austin ISD, and an involved school volunteer. I have seen firsthand how continued yearly budget reductions have impacted our students.

I invite you to come inside our schools to see what underfunding schools looks like. The middle school sports uniforms are woefully old. Our schools have ongoing maintenance needs that increase each year. Supply costs continue to increase, as due training and curriculum. Our PTAs try to bridge gaps, but that isn't sustainable.

My child's math teacher left during the middle of the year to relocate and transition to a non-teaching job, as the cost of living in Austin became unaffordable on a teacher's salary. Teachers at both of my students' campuses have left for similar reasons. Underpaid and overworked in a high cost of living city. Losing teachers because they haven't been adequately financially compensated for the job they perform doesn't make sense if we are working towards a goal of having a top educational system in Texas. In corporate America, we pay people for performance and adjust for inflation.

Vouchers have proven unsuccessful financially and academically in states such as Arizona, Florida, Nebraska, and Illinois. My 8th grade public school teacher taught us that we learn history so we don't continue to make the same mistakes. So let's learn from voucher history in other states, and not repeat history. Data in other states has shown that voucher students with great financial need aren't using vouchers, but rather students that were already enrolled in private schools. The comprehensive cost of private schools in most areas is still cost prohibitive for low income families. This voucher is not about school choice for all. It is funding for those who can already financially afford private school.

In smaller towns, private schools aren't even an option. My sister and her family live in West Texas, where she is a proud small district middle school (and formerly high school) educator and administrator. The school is the epicenter of their small community. The school feeds the students and provides stability. There are no private school options within 45 minutes of the school, which makes private schools infeasible as a school choice. Withholding taxpayer dollars for school vouchers in these small communities doesn't make sense. Fully funding the public schools to meet today's budgetary needs does.

I am asking for this Committee to increase the funding for our public schools by at LEAST $1300 per student to account for inflation since 2019. In reality, Let's help Governor Abbott achieve his goals of making Texas's educational system the BEST in the country by funding the public school system we already have. Making this investment is important, not only for our students, but for future business and commerce growth. Let's focus on using public funds to fully fund public schools.

Stephanie Frye

Self and Texas families

Sweetwater, TX

Say no to vouchers, vote to fully fund public schools. Taking care of our state and the children in schools is important. Please say no to vouchers.

Thomas Lindholm

Self

Austin, TX

I am against this.

Anne Heard, Mrs

Self- retired special ed teacher

Buda, TX

I do NOT support school vouchers! These will take even more money away from public schools!!

Kristy Hill
self - librarian
Fort Worth, TX

I am the mother of three public school children that are now adults (or almost adults). My oldest son attending a public school system that I graduated from and was able to take advantage of their center for advanced learning to gain invaluable skills in audio/visual production, as well as take dual enrollment courses in high school. My son had severe anxiety as a young child and into high school. There were days we didn't think we'd be able to get him into the school building because his anxiety was so high. The access to highly qualified, empathetic school counselors and highly motivational curriculum in the AV courses were what got him through. He graduated from college with his BA in Media Studies from the University of North Texas this past December. Without his individualized education he received from teachers (not an IEP- just teachers who cared enough to expend a lot of personal time and energy on each student) he is now embarking on his career of choice.

My middle son took the same advanced learning courses in AV as my oldest. He also found his place in musical theatre. He participated in UIL for One Act and was the first student from our school district to advance to state for the UIL Film Festival. Because of public education and all of the opportunities it afforded him, he received a full ride scholarship to the University of Texas in Austin and is in the Radio, Television, and Film program. He's now a college sophomore.

My youngest son has autism and is a senior in college. When he was three years old he was nonverbal and noncompliant. We were incredibly lucky to live in a school district with an early learning center where children his age could receive public preschool and special education. Because of this early intervention my son is now a thriving high school student in all general education classes, has been accepted into the University of North Texas media program, and will begin there in the fall.

I spent 22 years working in public education as a teacher and a school librarian. Our governor's and representative's hostility toward public education and librarians made it unbearable for me to continue working in a public school environment. I'm watching fine arts programs, libraries, and special interest course options disappear from my school district. For the first time in the 46 years I have lived and worked in this school district, the children attending are receiving a worse education than I did because of the moves of political actors determined to end public education and hold funding hostage. Parents already have the right to choose where and how to educate their kids. Our public school need to be fully funded. Our taxpayer dollars should not be going to religious and private institutions that do not have to accept all children of all abilities from all socio-economic demographics. Please vote 'no' on house bill 3.

Liza Sanchez
Self Doctor mom
Austin, TX

I opposed the bill. I do not want school vouchers.

Michael Kinser
Self
Houston, TX

I am TOTALLY against HB 3 for too many reasons to list here. But it is not comprehensive nor fair to ALL STUDENTS AND TEACHERS!! PLEASE VOTE AGAINST HB 3!!

Justin Howard
Myself
San Antonio, TX

This bill is worse than a reverse Robin Hood. It takes from everyone to give a handy rebate to wealthy people already attending private schools. Those schools can deny admittance to kids whereas our public schools cannot. It's a money grab, a giveaway to wealthy religious zealots.

Laura Kinser
Self
Houston, TX

I am FIRMLY against HB-3 for too many reasons to list. Please vote NO!!

Laura McNeill
Self;Licensed Clinical Social Worker
Carrollton, TX

I am a native Texan. My father, my children and myself all attended public schools in Texas. My mother was a teacher for 22 years. I want my tax dollars to support public schools and teachers. Private schools should not get my tax dollars. Build up our education system instead of tearing it down. Stop listening to the big money donors and listen to the citizens of Texas. We do not support this bill. And shame on the politicians lining their pockets instead of doing their job.

Evelyn McAdam
Self
Huntsville, TX

These vouchers are a step towards instituting Christian nationalism, which is anti-American and egregiously unconstitutional. One in five adults read at a 6th grade literacy level and these vouchers are only going to make that percentage worse by keeping the less privileged less educated (which is damaging to society as well as our economy).

Vickie Utley
Self
Grapevine, TX

I oppose the school voucher bill

Lee Graham
self
Galveston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

I respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 I support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you for remembering you work for the people and not for private schools.

Kindly,
Lee A Graham, PhD

Erin Castle, Dr.

Self (educator)

Lubbock, TX

I have worked in the Texas public education system for 14 years, and I have been continually disappointed in our state's abysmal funding for the services provided. Every year, funding has decreased while expectations increase, and we educators are asked to do more with less. Every year, as teachers have quit, I have watched those positions get cut while class sizes increase. If legislators take the time to examine how education savings account programs have impacted states that have already implemented vouchers, they would be able to see how harmful the measure is for public schools. Instead of infusing money into private schools, which maintain the right to deny anyone entry, voucher or not, and to raise their tuition at will, why does Texas not put this kind of energy into properly funding public schools and giving teachers raises that are not attached to test scores but to covering cost of living more adequately? No one is stopping students from attending private schools or stopping private schools from offering scholarship opportunities. Parents can opt to send students to high performing public schools when their zoned school is underperforming. Many districts allow for open transfer anyway, where students can choose their destination based on specialty programs. We have school choice. This legislation is masquerading as school choice that already exists, and it will allow for further depletion of public school funding.

Matthew Stotts

Self, GIS Analyst

Round Rock, TX

Please vote this down! I do not approve of a single penny of my tax dollars going toward ESAs. The State is being stiff armed into a voucher system that ONLY benefits the wealthy, instead of directing funds where needed to improve public education in Texas. The number of hearings the legislature has held on this matter is disgraceful.

Tu Ngo

Self

Richardson, TX

Parents who can afford private school do not need additional tax dollars for enrollment. Public funding needs to stay within the public education system.

Amrita Starche

Self, parent

Austin, TX

Thank you for doing your best to ensure that Texan students have access to the highest quality education available to them. This is so important, because a well-educated population benefits every single person in the state.

That said, any shortcomings in the public school system can and must be resolved before public funding should be used for private school education. Any dollars taken away from public schools and given to private schools have a significantly shorter reach and far less buying power in terms of number of students assisted. It's much more fiscally responsible to invest our public dollars in public schools, where they can serve many more of our 5.5 million students in Texas.

Chairman Buckley spoke earlier about not knowing whether this bill would cause any students to leave public schools. What is the point of this bill if it is only going to be used by families whose students are already in private schools or homeschooled? They have already made their choice and can afford the cost of that choice. Pouring $1B into families who do not need the funds with no oversight on student learning seems to be an irresponsible and unnecessary tax break for the wealthy.

Our public school students can succeed and have access to the best education possible- in fully funded public schools.

Instead of wasting public funds on ESAs, please increase the basic allotment by at least $1300 and tie school funding to enrollment rather than attendance. Please vote NO on HB3.

Lauren Freeman
Sed
Georgetown, TX

I am against this bill. Please do not support.

Sarah Bown
Self
Austin, TX

My son has autism 1 and was put on an IEP. He is now THRIVING at his public elementary. I couldn't afford private school even with a voucher so you're just taking money away from my amazing and smart son who deserves as much of a chance as anyone else. Now that he has a good start and will get a good public education he can become a productive member of society!! We were really struggling before!! He lost his Medicaid for 8 months because I filled out one form incorrectly and it was a NIGHTMARE without his therapy. I finally got it back and he's doing so well. This is all to say that all of these programs create a great start for kids!!

I am so grateful for my son's public school. And for those wondering, no, no one is "indoctrinating" children in public schools or talking about being gay or trans or whatever lies are being told on Newsmax. This just ISNT HAPPENING!! My son has assembly every morning where he says the pledge of allegiance to our flag. He's come home so many times with pictures of our flags, so proud of his country. Vouchers will take over $29m from our district. Please don't hurt school children.

Katherine Brown
Self, homemaker
Buda, TX

I am strongly opposed to this bill and the devastating consequences it will have on our public schools.

Angelic Guillory
Self Nederland, TX

"Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution."

Kelly Decker
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I do not support vouchers. I live in Fort Worth Texas. I am a business owner and I have four properties. I have three children and I am against this. 1. It will kill our budget and 2. It will destroy public schools. Budgets are needed to be responsible to tax payers and public schools are needed to develop our citizenship and society. Both are critical for making Texas a pleasant place to live.

Anne Armstrong
Self, Teacher
Plano, TX

The public outcry against this bill has been huge. Constituents feel they are not being represented by elected officials. To supplement non-public school with government money is unconstitutional, and is not support the common Welfare by ensuring that every student has an opportunity to a free an appropriate education. Please listen to your constituents and vote against the voucher bill. Thank you.

Sharon Ciccarelli, MA CCC/SLP, Retired
Self - Speech-Language Pathologist (Retired)
AUSTIN, TX

This is a protest against passage of HB3. As a retired public school speech-language pathologist I know from experience that students with special needs frequently do not receive the services specified in their individualized education plan (IEP) once they leave the public system.

I frequently had families transfer to a private/charter school that promised some service that their neighborhood school could not provide due to lack of state funding. Most often this was an after-school program; our parents worked long hours typically at low-paying jobs and needed a safe place for their child until they were off for the day. I made sure each family had multiple copies of the child's current evaluation and IEP so that they could provide them to the new school at enrollment for continuation of services. Many, many times I would later see those parents and hear how their child was either not receiving services at all or at a reduced frequency for their educational needs. Often those minimal services were not even being provided by licensed and certified personnel.

Voucher programs have been tried in other states with less than stellar results. Graduation rates and test scores do not go up. Businesses in those states report difficulties in finding qualified job candidates. Let's learn from their experiences and take a better path.

The governor's obsession with school vouchers is simply another gift to his wealthy friends and funders paid for by hard-working people. Although he claims that students with special needs will have "priority" the reality is that allocated funds will not cover the cost of private therapies and private/charter schools do not have to meet the stringent standards for special education that public schools do. We have made significant gains in providing inclusive and supportive services for special needs students and such legislation will erase this progress. Texans most certainly know a con job when they see one and this one does not even require glasses!

Use our tax money to fully and equitably fund our public school districts so that they can hire the best teachers and licensed and certified support personnel, build and maintain up-to-date facilities, provide necessary materials and maybe provide "extras" like afterschool programs that will actually support working Texas families. Doing so will provide all Texas children, not just those with wealthy parents, access to the very best education we can offer.

Maggie Stern
Our Schools Our Democracy
Austin, TX

We are concerned with potential problems for our public education system with HB 3's impact on open-enrollment charter schools.

First, we are concerned that this allows a charter school to game both the accountability system and the school funding system.

Accountability system – A charter school with a related taxpayer-funded private school could conveniently shift its lower-performing students to its taxpayer-funded private school right before STAAR time.

Funding system – Some public charter schools, paid monthly, have related private schools, which can be paid quarterly under this bill or which can require parents to pay tuition upfront at the beginning of the year. What is the plan to prevent fraud and games that could double fund the same student who moves between these two schools? Can a private school take a quarterly (or full) amount of tuition upfront, bank the state's money, and then kick the kid literally downstairs to the charter school where the money comes in monthly?

Also, we recently learned about $870,000 compensation to a Texas charter school leader, and TEA already has little oversight of this type of waste of our tax dollars. How much more “off the books” compensation commingled with taxpayer-funded for-profit institutions could this bill generate?

Second, HB 3 makes charter school defaults more likely to harm the Permanent School Fund (PSF). Charter schools can get a PSF Bond Guarantee for their bonds, and that designation means the corpus and income of the PSF will be at risk in case of default. However, to get a PSF guarantee, charter bonds (not approved by any Texas voters) can be barely investment grade and generally are entirely dependent on rising or stable student enrollment. Vouchers will fuel major volatility for charter schools' enrollments. The Texas PSF currently guarantees about $5 billion in charter bonds, including several “charter junk bonds” whose underlying ratings already have slid to below investment-grade. In fact, one PSF-backed junk bond charter with declining enrollment and other problems recently closed, with its bonds defeased as another charter took over its properties. As charter school enrollment declines, more charters could have PSF-backed “charter junk bonds” that put our PSF at risk.

Joanna McBride
Self
Austin, TX

Vote NO against school vouchers and increase basic student allotment to $7500.

Marisol Berrios
Self
Houston, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, whose entire family are products of the public education system, as well as a public school teacher for almost ten years, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Alicia St.Germaine
Self
Nacogdoches, TX

Why are we not looking into making public school more equitable with more funding instead of trying to increase the already egregious gap between public and private schools? Public schools have created and WILL continue to nourish brilliant minds and everyone should be eligible for those resources.

Allison Masaki

Self: program director

Sugar Land, TX

I am very agains HB3. I attended two private schools (Fort bend Christian in Sugar land, The Village School in Houston), and two public schools (Clement's high school, Texas Tech University) in my educational career. I now work for a Tier 1 university. My son is now in grade school on the public path. I believe that I am qualified as a life long student of both education styles and resident experience of both the Texas Panhandle (13 years), and Texas Gulf Coast (27 years). This bill will hurt our students. Most private schools worth their salt are at least 30k a year in tuition. What type of accreditation standards for private vouchers is the State going to find worthy? The whole point of private school is so the school doesn't have to adhere to the state's educational dictation. How will the overall health of educating students be addressed? This feels like a flipped version of the Robin Hood Law from the 2000s. Take from the poorer and rural ISDs and give to the larger privatized educational circuits. Taking from kids to help other kids didn't work 25 years ago and will not work now.

TRS will be affected. I've been working in higher education for 7 years. If public schools loose attendance, then districts will cut teachers, thus less individuals will be paying into TRS. Shouldn't we be bolstering our public funding, look into district spending, build better programs that attract students and teachers alike, creating jobs, and filling a retirement infrastructure that *could be the envy of all?

We already have school choice: a parent can choose to move their child to a private or charter school. A parent can choose to move houses/apartments to a different zone. As a parent, I have full control over where my son has the potential to attend school. If the "savings program" allows parents to take "their" tax dollars and spend it in a different educational realm, then could I take the same $10k and designate it to my ISD, or will the ISDs still be underfunded if Abbott doesn't get his vote....again?

I care deeply about our current students. What is going on isn't working, but allocating funds away will not work either. Robbing Peter to give to Paul has always been an idiom used to describe pointless movement of a temporary solution that never really solves any problem. That is what the Robin Hood Law was 25 years ago and that is what Voucher Programs are today.

Kathy Shrader

Self

Cedar Park, TX

While I acknowledge that families want more educational choices, this school voucher program does not create real choice for families. There are certainly many issues with our public education system that prevent it from effectively serving students, but funneling money out of this system and into private institutions through vouchers is not the solution to our problems. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education. Additionally, these programs as implemented in other states lack proper accountability, exacerbate inequality, engage in exclusionary practices, fragment communities, exacerbate segregation, and decrease academic achievement. Instead of diverting funds to private institutions, perhaps you should focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has access to a high-quality education. This issue matters to me and I vote. With great respect for public education! Thank you

Ronnye New, Mrs

Self

East Bernard, TX

Ian a second generation Texas educator; teaching for 33 years in a rural 3A school. I am opposed to the voucher bill. It is not a bill to level the playing field for all students. It will create the haves & have nots further separating the education opportunities of students. This bill is not in the best interest of ALL Texas students, as well as it will devastate rural, small school districts and TRS. I am opposed to the bill & will use my vote to remove the public officials who push the bill through.

David Wohlberg

Self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Vanessa Camacho

Self

El Paso, TX

As the mother of public school children, I stand strongly AGAINST the establishment of an education savings account and strongly FOR fully funding public schools. This bill will take taxpayer money away from what they are intended to fund just to please Governor Abbott's wealthy donors. Please consider the devastating impact this bill would have on public schools.

Liz Kent

Self

Austin, TX

Against vouchers.

Kellie Lewis

Self

Austin, TX

HB3 makes some positive steps for school funding, but does not raise the allotment nearly enough to account for inflation, nor does it raise additional funding for serving bilingual students. Please oppose this bill.

Rebecca Seabrook

Self

Houston, TX

Ten years under Abbott have resulted in little more than underfunded, and in some cases, severely underfunded schools. This latest stunt, meant to appease donors and not Texas students, will only exacerbate this. I ask you to vote against this bill.

Donna Reagan

Self

NORTH RICHLAND HILLS, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools.

Cori Feldman

Self

Richardson, TX

Please oppose HB 3 as it is proposed. Diverting funds to private school vouchers instead of the many many other opportunities available to better the public education system is a disservice to ALL Texas families. Please hear and give weight to the loud vocal majority of the people YOU were elected to represent who oppose this bill.

Abigail Johnson

Self

Wylie, TX

No vouchers

Ashley Canfield

Self

Georgetown, TX

I was homeschooled my entire life. Home educated my children for 6 years. Married a teacher who gave 10 years to private education. He is now 15 years in public education. I'm vehemently against Public funds going to private institutions. Public education is already grossly underfunded. The least of these are at a disadvantage.

Private education is a luxury. But more important private institutions are not given the same requirements.

Public institutions offer transportation, technology, free/reduced cafeteria, theater, choir etc. not to mention staff with college degrees and teaching certificates. I could go on and on. AGAINST

Michele Dierschke

Children of Texas

San Angelo, TX

The solution is simple. Let the people vote. Senator Charles Perry's vote was not a vote based off input from his constituents. The people cannot trust our senators and representatives to vote for us anymore. The governor has threatened, enticed, and corrupted that avenue and the weak have been sucked in to his plan.

There are many reasons vouchers are a bad idea. You have heard all those reasons so I won't reiterate. Bottom line is that HB 3 will hurt children enrolled in public schools.

Let the people, not politicians looking for personal gain, settle this matter. Put it on the ballot.

Roseline Arihi Akwukwah

Self

WYLIE, TX

'NO TO VOUCHERS' & "NO TO SB3"

Rebeca Ciavarino

Self

Azle, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

kelly Elverum

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I OPPOSE this proposed House Bill.

Texas needs to support PUBLIC Schools and not divert money away from well established century old institutions. If Texas desires to assist lower income families with the ability to send their children to good schools, then increase funding to public school programs! Breaking up community connections, increasing traffic congestion and making kids get up earlier to travel and wait longer after school to get home is irresponsible and unnecessary! Do not pass this bill!

Jennifer Marvel

Self - teacher and homeschool parent

Lewisville, TX

Thank you for considering my comments.

I am a teacher working for a virtual public school serving students all across Texas, and a homeschool mom. I STRONGLY OPPOSE the use of public funds for private schools or home schools. Public money should support public schools, period. I support the rights of a parent to choose the school that best fits their needs, but that choice already exists. Students can attend their local public school, with all that entails, for free. Students can attend a private school, IF IT EXISTS in their area and meets their needs. Students can attend a charter or virtual school, such as my school, at no cost, but with the restrictions and oversight (such as attendance, teacher certification, STAAR testing, etc) that go along with a public school. Students can be homeschooled. All of these constitute robust school choice. Adding voucher money does not truly increase school choice - the exact same options will still exist. The only difference is that a specific subset will receive funds and students who need it most will likely not be able to access it due to physical location, special needs, acceptance by selective private schools, and so on.

I choose to homeschool because I want the freedom to make decisions, determine curriculum, assess progress, and so on in the best interest of my child and based on my own judgment. There's only two possibilities here with the proposed 'education savings account': either I will receive public money without additional oversight and control, or I will have to accept oversight and control from the state. The first is unacceptable because public funds should never be spent outside of public oversight, and the second is unacceptable because it destroys my freedom of choice, which is the primary reason I choose to home school. That limits my choice, rather than expanding it.

Please listen to your constituents. I am a conservative Republican voter and have consistently supported my local Republican candidates. I cannot continue to support representatives that choose to disregard the clear and obvious opinions and desires of their constituency. I am highly active in my local community, serving on several boards and volunteer organizations, and we have had many discussions on this topic - and NONE of my peers, neither Democrat nor Republican, have expressed support of this bill. We do not want it.

Again thank you for your consideration and I do hope to see the desires of the citizens of Texas shining through in the decisions you make this session, rather than the personal preferences of the Governor. Stand strong.

Jennifer Marvel

Christy Watley

Self-educator and administrator

Woodway, TX

I oppose HB3 as it does not level the playing field but advances our already school choice option to private schools, again widening the gap. How can you take public money and give to private for profit organizations. Yet our public school children are being neglected by with holding money that was already supposed to be given to them. You are stealing from public school children again Robin Hood of taking from the most deserving and giving to the wealthy. So sad and unfair.

Angelique Weaver, JD

Self

Shallowater, TX

I fervently oppose HB 3 and want you to fully fund public education.

Angela Averhoff

Self

Decatur, TX

Parents have the right to choose the education for their child. They do NOT have the right to use public funds in order to do that

Melanie Young

Self

Bryan, TX

I am a public school educator. As a professional who is held accountable to state standards, I truly struggle to provide the education our students deserve while trying to meet the parameters set by the state. We strive to do this with minimal funding. As an administrator, I see educators feeling overwhelmed, overworked, and underpaid due to the lack of funding. Adding in this program to allow more funding to go to private schools instead of public schools is not meeting the needs of our students and educators. Taxpayers' money funds public schools and this program will not help allow school choice to students in middle or lower income families, it will simply provide a less burdensome tuition to families who are capable of funding their student's education with or without the savings account funding. Our taxpayer dollars need to stay with our public schools, educators, and students. This money can be better utilized to reach more students and provide them an even better education than the current funding is providing.

Cynthia Meridith

Public Schools

Lewisville, TX

I as a Lewisville Texas resident m against any voucher system. This will only hurt our public school systems and make it difficult for ALL children a good education

David Templin

Self

Austin, TX

So the state is calling vouchers, savings accounts now? This only benefits private schools, starving public schools of funding. It also fails to cover full tuition of said private schools keeping poorer families from being able to send their children to private schools. Perhaps the state could try to actually fund public schools adequately. Ultimately if your unable to do anything but funnel tax money into a select few private business perhaps it is time we have new representatives in the state government.

Chris Stokes

Self - Sales

Wylie, TX

Taxpayer dollars should not be used to fund private schools. Stop forcing this on the everyday American, we don't want it! Fund the public schools so great teachers will stay in the education field where they are meant shine!

Michelle Alvarez

Self - stay at home mom

San Antonio, TX

Representatives, please remember ALL of the children and families in the state of Texas that you are supposed to be representing and looking out for. Spending money on vouchers is not serving the majority. Fully fund public education!

Janice Faught

Self

Robinson, TX

As a life long Republican, I will NEVER vote again the any Republican that supports this bill!

Janette Moline, Mrs.

self retired

Murphy, TX

No to vouchers

Kristi Palm

My self and my kid

Leander, TX

Not fully funding public schools in Texas while redirecting public money toward private school vouchers for less than 1% of students risks causing significant harm to the education of ninth graders and all public school students. Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students, and underfunding them jeopardizes their ability to provide quality education, adequate resources, and support services. Redirecting funds to private school vouchers leaves public schools with fewer resources, resulting in overcrowded classrooms, outdated materials, and reduced extracurricular and enrichment opportunities. These factors disproportionately impact vulnerable student populations, widening educational disparities and limiting opportunities for success. Until public education is fully funded, prioritizing private school vouchers risks leaving the vast majority of students, including ninth graders, at a disadvantage and undermines the public school system's ability to provide equitable and high-quality education for all. Public education must be strengthened and supported as the foundation of a strong society. It is important to educate ALL the children, not some of the children. Please listen to the many constituents who are affected by the loss of appropriate funding to our public schools.

Sandy and Bert Stevens

Resident of Texas. Retired educator

Portland, TX

We say and vote NO to HB3. by Buckley. We want our opposition recognized by congress.

Konise Millender, Mrs.

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am not in favor of school vouchers. I am especially not in favor of my tax dollars going towards vouchers without a comprehensive plan to return any monies requested by families for a voucher if they return to traditional public school. Charter schools were started in response to "school choice". Families have more choice than ever. Many of the larger districts offer a choice of magnet and specialized programs. Even our rural schools have started offering more choices. Parents and children can choose from the nearly 1000 charter school offerings in the state of Texas. Parents can also send their students to private, online and other parochial schools. There is more choice than ever. In addition, parents who can already afford to send their children to paid or private schools should not have the option to cash in on vouchers. Removing funds from public school for a child who is already enrolled or intends to go to private school denies resources from the students who attend public school.

Mark Buchanan, CPA

Self

Lavon, TX

I'm very strongly against this bill. We should not be taking any money away from an already struggling public education system. It's a disservice to our children to allow parents to use public monies to pay for a private education. Parents who choose to pay for private education do so out of their own pockets. Money from the Texas government should not, in any circumstance, be used to subsidize that private education. If anything, our PUBLIC school teachers deserve more pay and more funding.

Angela Lund, Principal

Self

Sour Lake, TX

As a public school principal, I see firsthand the great need our students and families face. Please, please do not take additional funding from them, from us. This would directly impact our community. We need our schools to thrive for our students. I am counting on you to not let us down. Properly fund our schools so we can provide quality teachers and staff and give our future leaders every advantage to pursue their education and dreams.

Alanna Park
Self
Tomball, TX

No school vouchers. Tax dollars go to public schools

Lisa Henson
self
Cedar Park, TX

I am vehemently against HB3! Vouchers are a horrible idea for public schools as they will drain funds away from them and they are already underfunded! The total school choice theme is a scam as many students will not be accepted at private schools. The poor will still be segregated from the rich in the voucher scenario. If your child has special needs, their need will not be met in a private school setting. Private schools do not have to accept students and I don't think parents understand that. Parents also need to know that $10,000 is not enough to cover private school tuition at most schools. That along with having to provide transportation, laptops and school uniforms adds even more money! Please do not let some billionaire dictate to the voucher decision. Please support ALL the students of Texas!

Ivy Ellis
FORT WORTH ISD
Benbrook, TX

Vouchers are a thief to education and all students! Please vote no to vouchers! The future of Texas needs students to remain in public education and be supported! My four sons will be an excellent addition to our state and their public school experience is a major factor!

Kendra Taylor
Self
Glen Rose, TX

I am against HB 3. As a Republican, I believe we should not be giving tax payer money to private entities. Instead we should fully fund schools instead of relying in federal assistance and property taxes. The federal government is cutting funding across the board. School choice already exists. I can put my kid in a private school, but it is my responsibility to pay for it if I choose to. The state should not subsidize the wealthy, and let's be honest, that is what this bill is aiming to do.

Cheryl Moses
Self
Stillwater, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Hilary Handy
Self, Clinical Social Worker
Lockhart, TX

I oppose HB 3. I have worked as a school social worker in public schools, my mother just retired from teaching and my children benefit from special programs including 504 and gift programs. I support a robust public education program and firmly believe that all children have a right to quality, free, public education. The voucher program threatens the stability of the public school system and is not equitable in the proposed funding structure. Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a social worker who has worked in Title I schools, I have seen firsthand the impact of underfunded schools on students, families, and communities. Privately run schools that wish to benefit from public funds and be held to the standard of public schools already have an avenue through the charter school program. It is unfair and unreasonable to pay families directly for school choices with no accountability for where those funds are spent and no oversight for the quality of education the state is funding. Further there is no requirements or protections in private schools for students that require special programs to be successful. For the future of all Texas children, I urge everyone to vote against the creation of a voucher program and to fund our public schools.

Judy Stokes, Mrs,
self
Garrison, TX

I do not support this bill you are going to hurt our public schools! These private schools are not going to help educate our special needs children or those who cannot afford private school you will be hurting 90% of our children for the 10% please do not vote against our kids

Nathaniel Fenster
SelfHB3
Plano, TX

I do not support this bill.

Christine Wong
self/illustrator
Denton, TX

I oppose HB3

Emily Freeman
Self
Austin, TX

Please increase funding for public schools. Allow our kids to complete with other states. We love Texas and we love our kids. Please support their education by increasing funding for all public schools before you adopt a voucher program

Ann Loeffler
Self
PLANO, TX

If you truly value Texas educators and education as has been claimed, this voucher bill cannot be passed into law. It will destroy TRS and public education as we know it. The future of this state depends on all areas of education to fully function. Please stop undermining public education and the secure future of educators that have served selflessly their entire career. Thank you.

Jackie Weems
self / homemaker
San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB3

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds should not go to private schools.

Glenda Bee, Ms.
Self/ public school teacher
Beaumont, TX

I am a public school teacher, and have been for 33 years. My career has been working mostly with low income students, that include special Ed, dyslexic, and 504 students. Many of these students are economically disadvantaged. Vouchers would not help these students. Vouchers would only help the already rich and powerful, and leave the economically disadvantaged, who could really benefit from vouchers (but won't be able to afford, even with vouchers), by the wayside. Please, VOTE NO to vouchers!! We could only be better off with help, and not sabbatoge of the public school system. Thank you.

Erika Aigner-Varoz
Self
San Antonio, TX

NO!!! I support public education only! I do not want my money or any public funds to support private and/or for-profit schools. Our country and education system should not be bought and/or sold to the highest bidder. Please STOP this now. Education is a necessity and right for all people--not just rich, white, Christian, straight, and able-bodied males. The campaign to do this is classist and bigoted in every way. NO!!!!

Laura Ybarra
self
Georgetown, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Patricia Bendurski
Self- Hospice worker
Fort Worth, TX

I do NOT support vouchers. I do NOT support vouchers. VOTE NO ON VOUCHERS!!!
Public education is a founding principle of the UNITED STATES of AMERICA.

The Founding Fathers, including Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, believed that public education was essential for a functioning democracy and the preservation of liberty. They advocated for systems of public education to ensure that all citizens, regardless of their background, could be informed and capable of self-governance, viewing education as a fundamental duty of the government.

Vouchers are a scam. And, they are used to promote Jim Crow era education policies.

I do NOT approve of taxpayer dollars to be used at Private and tax exempt Schools.

I have lived in Texas all 43 years of my life. Thanks to Texas Public Education- I was the first in my family to graduate from College. 2/3 of my nieces also attended TX public schools K-12 and they are now college graduates. One is an elementary teacher in TX public schools, and a new mother.

What we need are more funds devoted per public school student, free lunches in all TX public schools, more DEI training for our teachers and more funding for liberal arts which enhance reading and math proficiency as well as Social and Emotional skills.

We do not need to prop up already wealthy private families and schools. Not to mention their overpaid administrators.

VOTE NO TO HB 3

Jennifer Maddox

Self - Educational Diagnostician

Temple, TX

I have been in education for 30 years and would like to express my disapproval for HB3. Taking money away from an already struggling public education system is ludicrous. The state hasn't funded public education in years but wants to spend extra money on a small number of people at the expense of the entire public school student population. I work in special education and know that many of the students would never be accepted if they are severely physically handicapped (needing medical attention or personal care services) or any behavioral issues. If the state gives money to these institutions they should accept ANYONE who wants to go regardless of religion, inability to fund the delta (leftover cost between tuition and voucher/ESA), location (should provide transportation), or educational needs.

If you take money away from the public school, who is responsible for making up the cost to fund the public schools? It's the local tax payer through their property taxes. Nothing should be done without the guarantee that ALL kids who apply are accepted but since it's a lottery, that it cannot be guaranteed. It's gambling with the economic stability of our public education system.

Again, I am opposed and would sincerely hope that those who are for vouchers would listen to the many of us taxpayers AND educators that will ultimately feel the financial and emotional effect that will come from the passing of this disastrous plan.

Dianne Powell

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am against school vouchers that drain funds for public education and serves to focus on specific groups of families. Education should be equally and equitably available to all children. Please reconsider this important education component of our state.

Diana Dominguez-Medin

Self

Corpus Christi, TX

Public school is the cast majority and thats where we need our funds not private sector which is a CHOICE NOT A NEED

Marilyn Whitney

self

Mansfield, TX

I strongly oppose ESAs. Private schools don't have the room for public school students. Private schools are not held accountable for reading and math scores. Private schools are not required to hire "highly qualified" teachers. Private schools can't transport students from across the district. The ESA will NOT cover the needs of low income students. As a 33 year public school educator, please do NOT allow ESAs to pass!

EDITH GILLEN-HALL

Self retired

Fairfield, TX

Please vote against vouchers, or at the least allow the citizens, the tax payers, to vote on them. Gov. Abbott says everyone wants "parental choice". Allow the people to actually have their voice.

Tesslyn Mustain

Self

Houston, TX

Absolute no to vouchers, euphemistically dubbed ESA's or Parent Choice. No matter how you label it, it still reeks. Only purpose it serves is to benefit a small % of Texas kids in private school at the detriment of the 5.5 million kids in public school. Especially our most vulnerable kids in special education and English language learners. States who adopted vouchers blew massive holes in their budgets, while 75% of the users never attended public school. They want a discount but obviously managed the tuition without it. Vouchers will lead to even less funding for public education which has seen impacts from inflation like everyone else. But no increase to the basic allotment, $6120, since 2019.

You math isn't mathing. If this bill moves forward, we'll remember at the voting booth, that your priority is not your constituents

Jennifer Martin

Self

Commerce, TX

Please protect our PUBLIC school funds. To make an example, what is I would like to have a road built on my private property for my private use. Why can I not use public funds for this?!?! Because those funds are for public roads that EVERYONE has access to and can utilize. It's the same principle that you are using to strip money from our public school funds. Overwhelmingly, the ones who will benefit from this are the wealthy. The statistics from other states support this. Your constituents are loudly calling you out on this issue, and WE will voice this in the next election!!!!

Stephanie Duncan

Self

Austin, TX

No vouchers

Claudia Sandoval-Sosa

Self, bilingual special education teacher, 14 years

Round Rock, TX

K

I am submitting my testimony that vouchers/school choice is not meant to benefit the vast majority of Texas children. While children at large would lose out on funding for their school, students with disabilities are especially often left in the dust whenever changes to funding are made. Very few private programs exist that can provide the FREE APPROPRIATE PUBLIC EDUCATION that these students require and deserve. When students attend public school, we have to figure out how to best serve their needs; we cannot simply "invite them to not return" like private institutions can.

In addition to being admitted to a school that can meet the needs of the student, private institutions do not exist widely enough to support rural areas of the state. This automatically disqualifies students from having any chance of accessing anything other than their local, public school.

It is my belief that the good of our main is to have an educated public; a public that can think analytically, can process information, and can make decisions based on facts rather than accept whatever headline or half-truth is being shared. I acknowledge that some people do not wish to have an educated population. That is a sad way to go through a career, build on shell games rather than appealing to reason.

As a public school bilingual special education teacher of 14 years and as a parent of a student receiving services, I appeal to the committee to fund public schools so that they can serve the community, provide supports to help students succeed, and continue preparing students for their future, whatever option they may choose from a wide array because of the diverse possibilities presented to them.

I thank you for your time and consideration.

Laura Tovar

Self

Sachse, TX

Vouchers will NOT help Texas students. Please do not allow them to become another thing we Texans are ashamed of.

Adrian Munoz, Mr.

Self

Ysleta Del Sur Purblo, TX

No vouchers for public schools

Julie Duckett-casey

Self-Educator

Port Lavaca, TX

This bill will be DETRIMENTAL to a district like ours. Our district is already required to give MILLIONS of tax dollars back to the state due to Robin Hood. Now, we will be forced to give even more tax dollars away. This bill could potentially cost our district $1,451,168, as well as the inability to fund 27 teaching positions and increase the student to teacher ratio 7.06%. Public education has been underfunded for YEARS!!! It is not fair to continue to punish the children whose parents CHOOSE to have their student enrolled in private school. PERHAPS, if it is so important to help fund private schools, you all should consider funding amounts to be equal for each child whether they are enrolled in public or private.

D'Arcy La Rotta

Self

Houston, TX

Please vote No to the "Establishment of an Education Savings Account Program" aka "school vouchers." Instead, please fund public schools properly. Vouchers have been a failure everywhere they've been implemented, resulting not just in lower academic scores for children overall, but also for the large cost to taxpayers. States like Arizona have had to take money budgeted for other things to continue sustaining the voucher system. Texas cannot afford to support two sectors of education...no state can.

We already have school choice (my two daughters attend a dual language school that we are not zoned to). Subsidizing private schools where the schools have the choice of who gets to attend is taking away choice from parents...especially because public schools will have fewer resources and either provide a lower quality education, or be forced to shut down.

The people who profit from public schools are primarily the private school owners. The ones who suffer are children, Texas' economy and your taxpayers.

This is very unpopular and if you were to put it to the people to vote, both republican and democrat Texans would overwhelmingly vote no.

tge guardrail put in to offer this only to parents whose children are not in private schools already is not sufficient. At most schools the amount of the voucher won't cover the full tuition.

One other thing to consider is that many rural areas don't have private schools.

Please vote NO to HB 3.

Angela Fogo
SELF
Lubbock, TX

Dear Legislators,

I urge you to vote no on the proposal for school vouchers. Instead of supporting a system that diverts public funds to private institutions, we should focus on strengthening and fully funding our public schools, which serve the majority of our children. School vouchers only exacerbate inequities and drain vital resources from the schools that need them the most. All children, regardless of background, deserve access to quality public education, and we must prioritize policies that ensure every student has the opportunity to succeed within the public education system.

Sincerely,
Angela Fogo

Caitlin Gabor, Dr
Self
Austin, TX

Do not defund public schools. School choice just means people are selected against and or don't have enough money to go to private schools. We need public education for all.

David Wedemeier, Mr
Self
Fort worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Raychel Faulkner
Self
Higgins, TX

Say no to school vouchers! We already have school choice in Texas! Tax money is for PUBLIC not private!

Jacqueline Luplow
Self/retired teacher
Houston, TX

I taught in the suburban Houston area for almost 30 years starting in 1994. I have watched as more importance was put on state testing as classes such as home economics, shop, and languages (French and Spanish) were reduced or outright replaced with more time in tested subjects. I continued to teach my students the required concepts using a variety of materials so that I could help as many as I could to understand and be able to use their new knowledge. Soon, what I could use became limited. Administrators were encouraged to micromanage the staff and admonished for disciplining the students. I retired because it was no longer teaching for me, it was monitoring students progress for testing. This state has done a horrible disservice to the citizens of Texas by dismantling public education slowly but surely. Teachers have been holding it together for far longer than politicians thought they could. They made it through Covid with no guidance and fed their community during the summer, when the government did not. You say our system is broken. Yes, but by your own hands. It's as if you had something to gain by the downfall of public education. The Texas Constitution declared that free public education was a priority. Make it a priority. Our civil construct has us paying for public education to be free for all students. Vouchers for private school does not follow that construct. Paying Texas tax money into private schools or even homeschooling, does not follow the Texas Constitution. This bill is not a mandate from the masses, it is a push from politicians with wealthy backers who may or may not have a vested interest in the outcome of this bill. Please do not allow the gaslighting of Texas residents to continue with the passing of this bill.

Annette Montgomery

self

Memphis, TX

I would like to go on record as opposing this Bill. It is a failure of the Texas government which will harm generations to come.

Betsy Greenberg

self

Austin, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers as these benefit parents who choose to send their children to private schools and hurt public schools. Please vote NO on HB 3 by Buckley.

Rebecca Forrester

Self

Cat Spring, TX

I am opposed to HB3. No public funds should go to private vendors. I live in a rural area and there are no private school options near me. My choice is for my public school to be fully funded. Take the billion dollars and either put towards our public schools or give us some property tax relief. This bill is not conservative!

Angela Groves

self, Educator

Fort Worth, TX

THE TEXAS CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 7. EDUCATION

Sec. 1. SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE OF SYSTEM OF PUBLIC FREE SCHOOLS. A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.

mia stuart, Ms.

self

Sachse, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS

Ariana Hernandez, Dr.

Gonzales Primary Academy

Gonzales, TX

As a principal, Texan American, I am deeply against school vouchers for the following:

1. My district is projected to lose $1,041,234! That could mean as many as 19 fewer teachers for students, 20,824 fewer library books, and a projected increase in the student-teacher ratio of 6.58%.
2. The long-term financial implications of vouchers are concerning. The cost is expected to skyrocket to a staggering $4 billion by 2030. Texas, already struggling with underfunded public schools, cannot afford such a risky experiment. Texas ranks in the bottom 10 in per-student public education funding.
3. Our students, the future of Texas, deserve more. Let's do the right thing for them!

I urge you to vote against HB3. Please, for the sake of Texan students, let's protect our public education system.

Erin Knippa
Self - Teacher
Helotes, TX

Vouchers take away from children in public schools. They are discounts for the rich. Please focus on putting your focus on public schools and funding public schools. REJECT VOUCHERS.

Stacy Croft
Self
Galveston, TX

I am strongly against using a BILLION dollars being directed to provide vouchers for less than 2% of Texas students. What kind of crazy math is that?! There is no equitable way to provide the very limited number of vouchers to Texas families. Not to mention how unfair it is to the millions of rural families with no access to a nearby private school! ALL Texas students deserve quality education: public schools should be fully funded. Period.

Patricia Roundy
self
Forney, TX

This bill is not for the people and children of Texas. The state government has been purchased by "christian" nationalists. They can afford to pay their own tuition for their kids and do NOT need to steal money from my grandchildren's education. this is just a money grab by rich "ministers" If you want to subsidize them, then tax them and their churches. Not like they help anyone but themselves. And of course, "elected" officials

Kelly Inman
Texas Public School Teachers
Sulphur Springs, TX

I have been a teacher/administrator in Texas Public Schools, both large and small districts as well as urban and rural communities. I have first-hand knowledge that refutes any claims by proponents of HB 3 and school vouchers. If the school voucher program passes, it will destroy the Texas Public Education system which may be what y'all want. And, it will cause smaller communities to fold and move to more urban areas which would hurt many other auxiliary industries like farming and agriculture. Again, that may be what you are looking to accomplish. It feels like Texas is becoming another California, Oregon or Washington. If you would spend any length of time in a school classroom, you would find out just how amazing the faculty and staff of the districts are and how hard they work. Rural schools are communities with less than 5000 people living there...just fyi.

Shannon Wu
self
Allen, TX

I want to say I am frustrated by this bill and believe that money shouldn't be set aside for vouchers and we should fund our schools. My daughter is in 10th grade, she had 4 teachers quit mid year on her last year. Some they were able to replace, other classes she had long term subs. The teachers left for higher paying jobs. Public schools won't get the teachers we want, if we don't treat them with the respect and pay they deserve. Also, we already have school choice. I choose to send my kids to public schools, i have friends who choose to send their kids to private school, and I have friends who homeschool their children.

Leslie Hartman
Self
Muenster, TX

Vote No to HB 3! I do NOT support HB 3. I do not support distributing state dollars to private learning institutions. I do NOT think HB 3 has Texans best interests at heart. There are not enough characters available for me to list all of the issues that can be found in HB 3. It is the very antithesis of small government and Republican values. Invest in our public schools instead!

Kate Yarbrough
Self
Friendswood, TX

I do not want vouchers to pass!

Debra Axum
Rockwall ISD Council of PTAs
Rockwall, TX

Please DON'T PASS VOUCHERS!! Thus will devastate our already stressed public schools! That money needs to go to public districts so they can keep their doors open. Private schools are for the rich and they don't have special programs available for SPED students. We need this money poured into public schools!!

Pamela Hanf
Self- retired nurse
San Marcos, TX

I see no excuse to provide tax dollars to private schools. Our public schools need more support, our students need more support, our teachers need raises. Do not give my tax dollars to private schools! I can't even imagine how wrought with fraud these programs will be. You will bankrupt public education

Lee Ann Risner
Self
Ben Wheeler, TX

I feel HB 3 would be detrimental to Texas education. Any money allocated for education should all go the public schools. If there is so much money available for so called, school choice, then it should have been going to our kids already. This is a very sad and bad idea!!!

Leigh Ann Artho
Self
Argyle, TX

I am a parent of nine children. I have utilized homeschool, private school, hybrid schools, and public schools in educating my children. I strongly urge you to listen to parents who oppose the ESA program. We have school choice and it is a parent's responsibility to decide and invest in the best fit for a child. ESAs will inflate private school costs, require unwanted and unwarranted government overreach into homeschools, and devalue our Texas public schools. The top indicators for student achievement within schools are teacher quality and low student to teacher ratios. It is imperative that our state INVEST tax dollars into these priorities by fully funding our schools. Give local control back to districts and allow them to create the choices within their schools that best meet the needs of their student populations. Do not create another government entity; protect the ones already created.

Brayden Pond, Mr
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Shaina Weisgerber
self- substitute teacher Canyon ISD
Amarillo, TX

Voucher are not the answer. Listen to the thousands upon thousands of educators in this state for once.

Lex Seifert
Self
Grapevine, TX

Against this bill. Please represent the overwhelming public opinion to stop vouchers.

Miriam Jackson
Self
Austin, TX

Dear Members of the Public Education Committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB3 and any effort to divert public funds to private school vouchers or education savings accounts. While I attended private school as a child, I wholeheartedly support public education because I have seen firsthand the immense value it provides to all children, regardless of background or income.

My own child is thriving in our public school, and we are incredibly grateful for the dedicated teachers and staff who create a supportive, enriching learning environment. Public schools are the backbone of our communities, ensuring that every child has access to a high-quality education, resources, and opportunities that prepare them for the future.

Redirecting public funds to private institutions weakens our schools, leaving fewer resources for students and educators who need them most. Unlike public schools, private schools are not required to serve all students, including those with disabilities or those from disadvantaged backgrounds. Public tax dollars should remain in public schools, where they can benefit every child—not just a select few.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting HB3 and instead investing in policies that strengthen our public school system. Our children deserve a well-funded, equitable education that benefits all students, not just those who can afford private schooling.

Thank you for your time and commitment to Texas students.

Julie Treaster
Self medical technologist
Springtown, TX

I live in a small rural town where private schools are few and far between. I believe these vouchers are going to do more harm than good. I want our state education tax dollars to be used where ALL students in Texas will benefit, not a select few. I know governor Abbott thinks this is such a good program and tells us all these other states have implemented this voucher program. However there has been nothing but problems and the very people that the voucher system was supposed to help, actually did not help them at all. Please please please Vote NO on the voucher bill, HB 3!!!!

Jill Ritter
Self, retired
Houston, TX

This is another to take money away from public schools. The main goal is to have more children in "private" schools so that they can indoctrinated with right wing racist homophobic beliefs. Republican control of Texas government have ruined what was once one of the best public school systems in the country.

Shawn Kastanos Frisbee
Self
Houston, TX

I am a parent of a seventh grader and I absolutely do not want school vouchers. Please do not be bought by these corrupt losers. Say no to vouchers, they are preposterous, and you know it.

kimberly handy

self

wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS NO TO HB3

Marie Chang

Self/ Small business owner

Harlingen, TX

As a small business owner who doesn't make enough to afford private school tuition for my child, I am wholeheartedly supporting HB 3 because it offers a transformative solution for families like mine. This bill's establishment of an Education Savings Account (ESA) program provides us with the flexibility to choose the best educational options for our children, regardless of our financial situation. HB 3 is a game-changer for families who strive to provide the best educational opportunities for their children but face financial barriers. It levels the playing field and ensures that every child, regardless of their family's income, has the chance to succeed.

Kelly Soter-Gunn

self

Fort Worth, TX

Legislature, please do not establish a ESA/voucher program. Once again I am voicing my opposition to this program. Parents of students are free to spend their money wherever they wish. If they wish to pay tuition instead of using the public school, they can do that. But don't spend taxpayer money on this concept. We all know how the math works. Private school tuition exceeds the voucher amount so low-income students are not going to pay for private school with this program. Wealthy families will simply get a discount.

Sally Ann McClain

Self

Livingston, TX

As a proponent of public education, I believe strongly that the voucher bill is yet another "Jim Crow" effort to marginalize certain populations and empower others. I taught in Title I schools believing education is one of the most important ways to fight poverty. This bill widens the gap between the "have" and "have not" citizens of our state. Data from Arizona has proven this ideology and its implementation detrimental. I implore you to put politics and political favor aside and vote NO for HB 3.

Kristine McNutt

Self

Argyle, TX

My name is Kristine McNutt, and I am a resident of Lantana, Texas. I am writing to express my concerns regarding House Bill 3 and the proposed school voucher system. I do not support House Bill 3, as I believe it undermines the public education system that serves the majority of Texas students. School vouchers divert much-needed resources from public schools, potentially leading to reduced funding for schools that serve the most vulnerable children. This shift in resources could widen the educational inequality gap in our state. I strongly believe that this important decision should be left to the voters of Texas. Allowing citizens to vote on this bill ensures that the will of the people is heard and respected. I respectfully urge you to reconsider supporting House Bill 3 and allow Texans the opportunity to vote on such a significant issue. Thank you for your time and for considering my viewpoint. Sincerely, Kristine McNutt

Marsha Hayes

McMillin J H

Wylie, TX

I do not support this bill. I kindly request that you vote no on this bill.

Raquel Beattie
Self
San Antonio, TX

Texas should focus on funding public education. Vouchers/school choice is a misappropriation of taxpayer funds. NO to vouchers.

Rebekah Hastings
self
San Antonio, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 and its plan for Texas education. Education savings accounts are a scam sold to families who just want what's best for our kids but will only benefit private companies and those to whom they give kickbacks. They will not benefit my 3 children who live in a low-middle income household— vouchers won't cover enough tuition to make a private school affordable. They won't help my neighbor's kids who live below the poverty line and rely on school transportation while mom works. They won't help the wealthy families at church because private schools will just raise tuition to offset the voucher amount. It won't help the kids in my own school who need special education services, because private schools can choose not to offer them.

In fact, the so-called education savings account will actively harm the educations of all of the children I've mentioned, because they will further draw funding away from public schools the Texas State government is already underfunding. So what will help TX children? Fully funding the public schools that we have.

Virginia Sandoval
Self
Carrollton, TX

Please do not pass a voucher/school savings bill under any name or any circumstances. I don't agree with any of the lies that have been stated to cover the true purpose of this bill.

D shindler
Retired pre-K/ special ed teacher
Bay City, TX

Vouchers are so wrong, especially in a small town. I live in Bay City, Tex. There is only a Catholic school Pre-k -5th! We need to keep strong early educators that will get children ready to learn...Pre-k has proven itself over and over again! I loved 30 years with this age group and helped so many parents getting an early start on school. Please don't take money away from Public School.....I can think a a millions reasons why this is a bad idea but I know you won't read it!

Arthi Rajagopalan, Ms
Self
Austin, TX

Our public schools are the one of the main pillars of our society. Any efforts or money spent for our future generation will help shape our society's future.

Peggie Hobbs
Self
Chireno, TX

This is the most ridiculous thing to come down the pike in a long time, and is an ivert attempt to please the evangelical right so that their pocketbooks stay open. I VOTE NO!!!

Michelle Christie, Dr self- Child Neurologist
Coppell, TX

My name is Dr. Michelle Christie and I am a proud product of the Texas Public School System. I attended public school in Katy ISD, collage at UT Austin and earned my medical degree at UT-Houston. It was the excellent Texas public schools that taught, encouraged and readied me for a challenging career in Child Neurology. I am honored to serve our Texas Children and now practice in Dallas Texas. I am so proud of the education I received from Texas public schools that I now trust the Texas Public Schools to educate my own children. My oldest child attends elementary in Coppell ISD and my youngest will start Kindergarten in Coppell in the Fall. My oldest receives services from the Texas Gifted and Talented Program and without it he would not be successful due to his advanced level learning needs. As a family we rely on the special GT services offered by public schools. Private schools do not offer GT services or the rigorous curriculum needed for the beautiful minds.

As a child neurologist I have the honor of working with many children who need special education services. I have worked with many families that have had to leave private school systems so that their child's physical therapy, occupational therapy and learning disorders needs can be met. Private schools have no mandate to care for these wonderful children with special needs. Please do not leave these children behind. Please keep funding and providing the services they need.

I am so proud to be a Texan who was educated by our public school system and who now gets to serve our Texas Community. Please help us continue educating all Texans.

Please fund Texas Public School System to meet the needs of all children and say NO to Vouchers.

Megan Oracion
Self
ABILENE, TX

Please vote no.

Mary Roszel
Self
Marble Falls, TX

Vote no! Our children deserve a proper education. They do not deserve to give it up to help the wealthy. What will you do when children do not have food and cannot read or write?

Barbara Leonard
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Teresa Taylor, Mrs.
Self
Sachse, TX

I don't believe this bill will help the majority of students in Texas. Many counties in Texas have no private or charter schools and the vouchers aren't large enough to fully cover most private school tuition, so it doesn't help lower socioeconomic students. We need to fully fund our public schools if we want to provide a quality education for all. Thank you!

Margarita Panzer

Self

San Antonio, TX

As someone who has had my children in both public and private schools with a household income, putting me in the top 5%, I oppose the use of taxpayer funds for this purpose. School choice isn't giving people who can afford private tuition taxpayer funds. Using the money to assist low income and at risk students to better afford college education and trade school is true school choice, not to mention would break the cycles of poverty, abuse, unemployment, crime, and unplanned pregnancies while saving billions in government assisted programs. School choice is education breaking the chains of poverty, inequity, and inequality.

Stacy Martyak

Self

Austin, TX

This program would be bad for Texas kids and bad for Texas.

Mariola Schmid

Self

Frisco, TX

Absolutely no vouchers.

Melissa Day

Self/mother, higher education administrator

Denton, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3 (HB3), which proposes the establishment of an education savings account (ESA) program in Texas. I urge you to vote against this bill in the upcoming session to safeguard the integrity and effectiveness of our public education system.

Financial Implications

Implementing an ESA program as outlined in HB3 would divert essential funds from public schools to private institutions. This reallocation threatens to exacerbate existing financial challenges faced by public schools, including budget deficits, campus closures, declining enrollment, expired pandemic relief funds, inflation, and teacher shortages. ?

Lack of Accountability and Transparency

Private schools receiving public funds through voucher programs are not held to the same standards of accountability and transparency as public schools. This discrepancy can lead to inconsistent educational outcomes and a lack of oversight in the use of taxpayer dollars. ?

Public Opposition

A recent bipartisan poll indicates that a significant majority of Texas voters oppose school voucher programs that utilize public funds for private education. Specifically, 65% of voters are against such programs, with opposition spanning across political affiliations: 95% of Democrats, 72% of independents, and 42% of Republicans. ?

Potential for Increased Segregation

There is evidence suggesting that voucher programs can lead to increased racial and income segregation in schools. This undermines the goal of providing equal educational opportunities to all students, regardless of their background. ?

Risk to Teacher Retirement Funds

The proposed voucher system could also jeopardize teacher pension funds. As public school enrollment declines due to voucher programs, the reduced workforce could destabilize the Teacher Retirement System of Texas, threatening the financial security of current and future retirees. ?

Conclusion

For these reasons, I respectfully urge you to vote NO on HB3. It is imperative that we focus on strengthening our public education system rather than diverting funds to programs that lack accountability and public support. Our commitment should be to enhance the quality of education for all Texas students within the public school framework.

Thank you for your attention to this critical matter.

Sincerely,

A concerned mother & Texas resident

Julie Retersdorf

Sodalis Senior Living

Austin, TX

I am against this bill as i feel to takes away from the wonderful Texas public education my children received. I feel people who want private education have already decided their budget and can afford. I would hate Texas to become the new Kentucky in standards

Beth Reuben
Self
Georgetown, TX

I am a retired, but passionate 40 year public school teacher:
Taxpayer funds need to go to Public NOT Private Schools!
Our Public Schools have been neglected for 5 years - DO NOT send Public dollars to Private Schools.
Billionaires do NOT dictate how taxpayers dollars are spent. Stand up for the hard-working Texans.
Vouchers HURT our neighborhood schools!
Vouchers HURT our rural communities !
We HAVE choice in our public schools right now! But the legislature is NOT funding CHOICE in public schools!
Texan billionaires just want WHITE, CHRISTIAN PRIVATE schools! We do NOT agree and you need to demonstrate courage and commitment to hard-working Texans and say NO!
We voted you into office to represent US -- say NO to VOUCHERS!
The Texas Senate was bought out by the Billionaire Texans -- the House needs to represent the people of Texas and show more courage!
State government has a constitutional responsibility to adequately fund public schools. Let's start doing that ! 5.5 million children are depending on it !

Deena Crawford
Self
Hurst, TX

I am a parent of young children who are benefiting from Texas public schools. I am also a former Texas public school teacher, and will continue to support the work our Texas public educators do each day.

I am against this bill. Public dollars should NOT be going to private schools. While I have nothing against private education, public money belongs in public schools. The ESAs will only benefit a small amount of Texas students, many who already attend private schools!

ESAs provide very little benefit to the vast majority of students in Texas, and will do nothing but divert needed resources from our public schools.

Public schools serve ALL children, including special education students, bilingual students, and students from low socioeconomic backgrounds. These are the students I want my taxes to support, and I want that support to be in our public schools!

I urge the House to vote against the creation of ESAs and I, instead, urge them to keep our tax dollars in the public school and increase the basic allotment by at least $1400. Our young Texans deserve it!

Donna Gregory
Self - Retired
Dallas, TX

I am writing to oppose school vouchers/ESA's. Studies show that high-risk students who get vouchers for private school often have worse outcomes and end up back in the public schools with learning loss. It has been found that around 75% of students who received vouchers were already in private schools so it ends up being welfare for the wealthy. Private schools aren't required to accept all students like public schools. Why not improve the public schools and provide more choices under the public school umbrella instead of splintering into different organizations.

Courtney Sumner
Self Accountant
Cedar Park, TX

I'm against this Bill! I vote No to HB3!

Amanda Davis

Self

Coppell, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House Public Education Committee,

It is no secret that Governor Abbott is unethically advocating for the passage of this bill. His out of state donor, Jeffrey Yass, is expecting his quid pro quo. But repeatedly, nonpartisan constituents across the state have rejected ESAs and vouchers. Please listen to us and vote NO on HB 3.

Thank you,

-Amanda Davis

Elizabeth Ekstrand

Self

Carrollton, TX

As a parent of children in public schools, in a district where schools are closing due to insufficient funding, I strongly oppose HB3 and ESA / Vouchers. This is not what the people of Texas want and many have made their voice known about this. If you are so confident in its success, put it to a ballot wide measure so ALL people can chime in on it. I know for a fact that my elected officials in my district do NOT represent my opinions and values on this matter. I encourage you to vote NO on vouchers, ESAs as it is a scam and is not what is best for Texas or our children in public school.

Katelyn Price, Teacher

Self teacher

Douglass, TX

This bill will ruin public education and will destroy the ability for our most vulnerable sub pops to get an equal opportunity education. Stop this nonsense!

Claudia Ramming

Pearland Community

Pearland, TX

I'm writing to express my VERY strong opposition to the school voucher scam, SB 2, and ask that my representatives vote against it. I live in zip code 77581.

The local public schools in Pearland ISD stand to lose as much as $8,657,817 under SB 2, which would be a devastating loss for our community. Public schools were created for all students to attend. Every child, no matter what their parents' economic status is, has the right to attend school and not just the privileged few. If those individuals and families that make $160,000 plus a year want to send their children to a private school, then that is their choice. Everyone else, including those on a fixed income and lower economic status, should not have to pay for their choice, Period!

The way to make our country and this state great again is to put our tax dollars into the public schools so that everyone, and I do mean EVERYONE, has the opportunity to a good education and from there a higher education, if they so choose. While education may not be a "fundamental right" under the Constitution, the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment requires that when a state establishes a public school system (as in Texas), no child living in that state may be denied equal access to schooling.

Not to mention that there would be no accountability or oversight for these private schools and their instructors. These institutions would be allowed to patrol themselves. When in all of history has that worked for the benefit of the whole, and not just for the few? The fact is.... it hasn't worked! Which is why we need our public schools and we need to do more to strengthen the core values of the public school system. The fact is we need to do more to support the public school system we have in place now, and work on reforms to make this system better, so that EVERYONE can benefit, and not create another system where just the privileged few benefit and the rest of us have to pay even more for those privileged few. I should think not!

Public funds should stay in our public schools, and not be divided up to unaccountable private schools. Period!

Emily Hart, Dr self (chemist)
Spring, TX

As a proud parent of 2 children in Klein ISD in Houston, I strongly oppose HB3. There has been no increase in classroom spending for public schools in Texas since 2019, and we all know that the cost of EVERYTHING has increased since then. The Texas Lege should fully fund public schools, NOT establish a fund for private schools that will drain our amazing public school system of all funding! Private schools are not subject to the same standards as public schools; they do not have to accept students with special needs or disabilities; and funding private religious schools with taxpayers' money violates the separation of church and state. Over 50% of all counties in Texas DON'T EVEN HAVE A PRIVATE SCHOOL. A quality, FULLY FUNDED public education that is available to ALL STUDENTS makes our communities smarter, wealthier, and safer!

Mallory Davidson
Self
Ponder, TX

I am writing to ask you to vote no on HB 3.

I am a parent of two kids. My oldest is in first grade at our local public elementary school. My youngest will be enrolling in kindergarten there in a couple of years. We live in Ponder - which is a rural town in the DFW area. We currently live a mile and a half from the elementary school, which takes us 6 minutes to drive to for drop-off and pick-u - as long as there isn't a train blocking traffic at the one stop light in our town.

As you can probably guess, we don't have private schools in our town - and my kids have two working parents who work standard business hours. Our family can't add hours of commute time to and from a private school in another town or city. On top of that, tuition at private schools in the DFW area can range up to $38,000 per year. Families, like mine, who can't afford that would have to settle for private or religious schools well outside of top tier of schools - and find a way to make up the hundreds or possibly thousands of dollars of tuition costs. That's not even including registration fees, entrance exams, enrollment fees, computer fees - or additional expenses like books, uniforms, athletics, extracurricular activities and other miscellaneous expenses.

My point is - this school voucher scam is presented as "school choice", but it does not actually provide choice to my kids and millions of other Texas children like mine. The real choice is given to private and religious schools who choose how much tuition to charge, which students they admit and who they want to expel or turn away.

The data from voucher scams implemented in other states is clear. School vouchers fail to improve student achievement and often result in less desirable outcomes. School vouchers divert taxpayer dollars to unaccountable private and religious schools, while cutting funding for public schools.

We need our state leaders to focus on providing public schools the full funding they need. Our school district, like many others, is struggling to make ends meet with rising costs and no significant increase in funding. We will be moving to a 4-day school week next year in an effort to attract teachers because our schools can't offer competitive salaries. Instead of our child being in school, learning five days a week - we now have to pay of pocket for childcare while we work. We will literally be paying for the failures of our state leaders to prioritize public education.

For all these reasons and more, I am urging you to vote no on HB 3. Please have the courage to stand up the Governor and his donors and stand with the people of Texas.

Please stand up for our children by voting no on HB 3.

Please stand up for our public school teachers by voting no on HB 3.

Please stand up for our families by voting no on HB 3.

Please invest in the future of our state by voting no on any school voucher bill and instead fully funding our public school.

Leslie Farmer
Self - Software Consultant
CARROLLTON, TX

Dear Mr. Buckley and committee,

I am writing to express my opposition to Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3). As a constituent and parent, I am deeply concerned about the potential negative impacts of this bill on our public education system. We recently had to close 4 schools in our district due to lack of adequate funding over the last few years.

HB 3 proposes to divert public funds to private institutions through Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). I believe this will undermine our already underfunded public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students. Private schools are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools, and I am concerned that this bill will lead to a decrease in the quality of education for all Texas children.

I urge you to prioritize the funding of public schools and oppose HB 3. Our focus should be on strengthening our public education system, ensuring that every child has access to a quality education.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Leslie Farmer

Veronica Wallace
Self - consultant
Fort Worth, TX

I'm a proud graduate of a Texas public high school and am opposed to HB 3. Please vote against this bill as it will only hurt the Texas public school system.

Faithe Guerrero
Self, homemaker
Harlingen, TX

As a homeschool parent, I am for HB 3 and look forward to the future of what this bill can do for families such as mine.

Leah Matocha, Mrs.
self, retired teacher
Seguin, TX

I am commenting on the voucher bill. Establishing a voucher bill will drain the public school system of needed funds. I know you have heard all the negatives about this bill so I won't repeat them. Why not take funds and make our TX school systems one of the top notch in the country? Study, research, and implement. There is nothing more important than dreaming of children who are taught highly effective skills and knowledge and schools that implement these strategies. Imagine what neighborhoods could be like with positive influence from the schools!! Vouchers have been implemented in other states with no success. Please remember ALL students. Everyone has the possibility to reach their potential! Vouchers only help a select few and leave our public schools drained and drowning.

Erin Mancil

My children in public school with disabilities/504's

Cedar Park, TX

I strongly oppose ESA's and urge you to focus on supporting public schools. ESA's directly hurt students with disabilities who receive special education services in public schools in the state of Texas. Diverting 1 million of my public taxpayer money to private schools who do not acknowledge IDEA, do not follow IEP's, and only provide services when they are negotiated/Compromised, and then charged back to parents is the theft of services and money to the most vulnerable population in Texas. 14% of the 5.4 million public school students receive special education services. These ESA's are completely inaccessible to 90% of our disabled students and that is before information about the lottery acceptance, whether they will be able to be served, or retained! in the private school setting. There is no accountability. Even if all ESA spots go to disabled students receiving special education services, that still leaves a minimum of 700,000 students with disabilities in our public schools who are underfunded and understaffed. This causes direct harm to our students. It is our duty to protect these vulnerable students in our state. HB3 is unacceptable. There is not enough accountability, parent and student voices are not respected, and I am asking you to have courage to say no to ESA/vouchers and fund our public schools properly.

Thank you,

Erin Mancil

Britney Taylor

self/Assistant Principal

Forney, TX

I believe that public educators are angels sent from God and they have been helping children become productive citizens since the beginning of time. Public school funding should be used for public schools and not for school vouchers.

Judy Webb

Self

Nacogdoches, TX

Vote NO

Mark Juelg

self, retired school teacher and academic assessment developer

Spring Branch, TX

HOLD OFF on HB3 until we get a Constitutional Amendment protecting private and home schools from state and federal infringement. To that end, YES on HJR52 and HJR136.

Margaret Grill

ATPE

Bulverde, TX

As a retired Texas teacher, I am opposed to any voucher program including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools. Public schools are already way under-funded and would suffer greatly under a voucher system. It is a system set up primarily for those already having students in private schools. I am opposed to vouchers also because private schools do not have to accept ALL students, do not require teachers to be CERTIFIED and are not subject to state testing. NO SCHOOL VOUCHERS PLEASE.

Sincerely,

Margaret B Grill

Gracie Sukach
Public schools
Kingwood, TX

Looking across the Houston skyline seeing the buffalo bayou wane through this great city, I know I'm blessed. The public education I received through college has granted me opportunity to work, play, and worship among this amazing Houston skyline. I would like these opportunities to abound for the future generations in my city and state. Opportunities to prosper in a career of their choosing where dreams of home ownership, business creation, and charity can be realized. As a low income student all this was at my disposal but if vouchers are allowed to go forward kids within low income neighborhoods will be denied these dreams. Their job opportunities will be slim without a college education action or technical training. I ask that give more funding to public schools and let the private schools do their own fundraising. They are not held to the same standards so they should be given the same funds, actually more funding. Texans deserve the best free educations and you must do all you can to preserve this great tradition of excellence. If public vouchers go through, you will have failed the next generation of Texans. I know Mr Cunningham knows how beautiful the schools are lined with trees and nature throughout my neighborhood. Schools will close and these neighborhoods will empty as the draw for good schools will be filled by other more well funded states. You decide your legacy on this vote. Vote against vouchers and for public education. Thank you

Tamarra Kebbeh, Mrs.
Self
DeSoto, TX

I wish to state that as a staunch supporter of public education and the lower/middle class, this proposed voucher program gives an undue advantage to already privileged households. My family and I do NOT support this bill and urge you to vote against it!

Courtney George
Self
Haslet, TX

As a tax paying parent I am AGAINST this bill as it will take away funds from our local schools which would affect my job as an elementary school professional as well as my own 3 childrens futures. Please do not fund this bill and consider all sides to this prior to moving forward. Look at the facts from surrounding states who have previously funded vouchers.

Catheryn Smith
Self
Weatherford, TX

This can not be passed. It takes valuable funding away from public schools, that are essential to children of all economic backgrounds. The proposed amount of $10,000 per child would only be cutting a break for those who can generally already afford private schooling. This would cause the gap between rich and poor to become even greater. Please vote no against house bill 3.

Lisa Chambers
SELF/24 year Educator
Dublin, TX

Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) are detrimental to public schools, as they divert much-needed funding away from the already under-resourced public education system. By allowing parents to use public funds for private schooling or other educational services, ESAs exacerbate inequality and create a system of education that benefits only those who can afford additional resources. This undermines the mission of public schools to provide equal access to quality education for all students, regardless of their background or financial situation. Furthermore, the implementation of ESAs leads to a fragmentation of the education system, weakening the community-based support that public schools offer while failing to address the root causes of educational inequality. Instead of strengthening public education, ESAs divert resources that should be used to improve schools, support teachers, and enhance educational opportunities for all.

Take care of PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!! Take care of all the Texas students K-12!!!! Take care of educators!!!!!!!!!!

Elizabeth Scanlon

Self

Austin, TX

Please remember, our taxes, OUR schools. Do not hollow out Texas public schools for ALL, in order to benefit few. It would be irresponsible, disingenuous, and counter to the values and promises of this country. Vote NO to establishing a voucher system, and yes to a fair, accessible, supported public education system for all.

Jennifer Perry

Self

Houston, TX

This HB is not what the people of Texas want! We know it will weaken our public schools by starving them of funding meant to go to our kids from our property taxes. Private school is not school choice! The money funneled to private schools from taxpayers is not a way to improve school choice for Texans. Private schools will not take kids with and learning differences or who have any learning differences. Many kids will be cheated but his bill and ot will leave I lay those kids with no other choice or families that. Cannot transport them independently to school or afford the difference in the voucher amount and private tuition at public schools. Our kids don't deserve to be sorted and separated based on socio economic abilities. Only those with money will continue to be able to attend private school or that don't require any special accommodation or teaching supports.

I am against this HB and what it would mean for our public schools and the children on our community. In Texas we are not a have and have not society- we are all proud of our heritage and come together as a state to protect and support each other. This bill is one sided and puts money in the pockets of those already able to afford private resources while stripping it from an already underfunded public schools system. We have been surviving on a fraction of the allocation we are supposed to be receiving from the state to fund our schools and this would decimate the school districts.

And not only will it hurt the school districts and communities that rely on this education for its people, it will hurt the teachers. TRS relies on a majority and numbers of teachers to contribute to the current pension structure for it to be successful and further support all teachers in the program. By weeding out kids and greatly reducing public school demand, you will no longer have the number of teachers projected in order to allow for the pension program to be self sustaining for future retirees. Private school teachers do not contribute to anything related to the state.

This is a very one-sided bill and meant to benefit one class of people. I have 4 in public school and believe in its value to our community. Our tax dollars should not be given to private interest schools and also used to further divide our student population. Dwindling enrollment is a reflection on the changes the state has made to our doctrines and curriculum not on the quality or benefit a well funded public school can provide. FUND our public schools adequately and do not subvert money to private interest supporters.

Vote NO on HB3! Save our schools!

Dora Saldana

Self, Customer Service Representative

Austin, TX

As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair.

Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Public schools in Texas are underfunded by billions of dollars every year. The Comptroller is projecting a large increase in state revenue over the next two years compared to the past two years, and that money should go to fully funding public education. Public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students, serving all the students in their boundaries. They build the workforce that powers the Texas economy. We can't afford to underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

We elect legislators to represent the interests of their communities. Responding to their communities, Texas legislators have rejected private school subsidies time after time.

In the face of increasing pressure from special interests, I pledge that I will stand with my legislators in opposing vouchers. When they vote against private school subsidies, I will make sure all their constituents know they did the right thing.

Emery Lawson

Self

Denton, TX

I do not support vouchers for "school choice". Public funds should support Public Schools. My children do attend public school and that is where the taxed funds should go. Vouchers will only help a small group of student, but will hurt the majority of students in Texas. Please consider this fact and vote against providing funds for "school

Choice"

Thank you

Emery Lawson

Danny Ringo
Self
Weatherford, TX

Why Texas Should Reject School Vouchers (Education Savings Accounts)

As your constituent concerned about Texas education, I urge you to oppose school voucher legislation currently under consideration. These programs would undermine our public education system while failing to deliver on their promises.

Financial Impact on Public Schools

Texas already ranks in the bottom 10 states for per-pupil funding, with many school districts facing deficit budgets. For each student who leaves under a voucher program, schools lose approximately $10,000 in funding while fixed costs remain unchanged. Analysis shows a 5% student exodus to vouchers would cost the state an estimated $2.25 billion. Districts like Conroe ISD, already operating with an $11.92 million deficit, would lose an additional $29.6 million if 5% of students departed.

Lack of Accountability

Private schools accepting vouchers would not be held to the same standards as public schools. They would not need to comply with state assessment standards, open records laws, or curriculum requirements that ensure educational quality. This lack of oversight creates SIGNIFICANT RISK for mismanagement of public funds.

Who Actually Benefits

Evidence from other states reveals that between 75% and 89% of voucher recipients were already attending private schools. With average private school tuition in Texas at approximately $11,340, voucher amounts typically fall short of covering full costs, effectively creating a subsidy for higher-income families rather than helping those most in need.

Poor Academic Outcomes

Research consistently shows voucher programs, like the one being proposed, fail to improve educational outcomes. Studies in Louisiana, Indiana, Ohio, and the District of Columbia found students attending private schools with vouchers performed worse than their public school peers.

Conclusion

I urge you to oppose the education savings account legislation. The evidence demonstrates these programs harm public schools, fail to improve outcomes, and primarily benefit those who least need assistance. Texas students deserve fully funded (and improved) public schools that serve everyone in our communities. The education of our youth and the future of Texas depends on it.

Masaleen Ohama
Self, Office Manager
Jonestown, TX

I oppose any bill that takes funding away from public schools and into private schools. Please take care of our invaluable public education system, rather than punishing those who cannot afford to send their children to private schools even with vouchers. Teachers and other employees in public education are already suffering with the low budget they have. It should be in our country's interest to have the highest quality of FREE education to every child. Thank you.

Nicole Watson
Self - commercial auto claim adjuster
Argyle, TX

I am against vouchers. We have seen them destroy other school systems. Vouchers are a scam!!! Please do the right thing and fund our public schools. Our teachers deserve raises!!!

Tyler Simpson, Mr.

Self

Lucas, TX

I am a conservative voter that is staunchly opposed to this bill. Universal ESAs/vouchers are not conservative policy. They are a new welfare system that will balloon in size over the years and impact the state's ability to handle other priorities like public education. Plenty of other states have experienced this problem already. Please focus instead on making Texas public schools the best they can be. If Texas has so much excess tax money that can spend $1 billion on private schools, it should, instead, give that money back to Texas in the form of a tax cut. There is no reason that people without kids should be forced to subsidize the desires of others to send their kids to private schools. My parents (who do not have any school aged children) deserve tax relief just as people who have kids in public schools now. Moreover, the notion that Texas would subsidize the private school choice of parents who already send their kids to private school is terrible policy and will result in private school inflation. Vote no on this bill.

Robert Prewitt, Mr.

self

GRAND PRAIRIE, TX

I oppose the creation of school vouchers using taxpayer money for this ill conceived idea. Our Texas Public Schools deserve better and this bill will only harm those public systems. If parents want to send their children to private schools, then they can do so without having to use Taxpayer funds.

Lorraine Minor

Self

Georgetown, TX

Vouchers hurt public schools. Taxpayer funds need to go to public NOT private schools.
I am a retired school teacher and I believe in public schools .

Stephanie McCugh

self, public school teacher

Bowie, TX

I am AGAINST the voucher program being proposed. Again. I'm tired of politicians with agendas pushing these vouchers. There is a reason the voucher program isn't being brought to a vote by common Texans, politicians know that it wouldn't pass. So instead they keep trying to push it through the legislature where votes have been bought and threatened. In my small town, the public school is the heart of our community. My students do not have the ability or means to attend a private school. We live over 30 minutes from the big towns and this bill would not benefit our students. It will take money from my school. It affects the ability to provide what we need for our students. Our schools are already under-funded. This bill would make it worse.

Shannon Bohn

Self/special educator

Rockwall, TX

I oppose funding private education. Our representatives need to work to reflect Texas School Boards outcry to fund education mandates including school safety and it is imperative that the state invest in public education. Increase the funds allocated per student to reflect inflation since 2019 and increase teacher pay across the board state wide. As a Special Educator, I face a teacher to student ratio of 1/20. The best practices recommendations from TASB guidelines impart that a 1 to 7 ratio is needed to support student needs and growth. We need to avoid cuts in staff due to budget deficits and reduce the student to teacher ratios as a signal to taxpayers and voters that Texas cares about its future; Our Children!

Cortney Evans
Self, Educator
Plano, TX

Please do not pass this bill. Public money should not be given to private businesses. These education savings accounts or vouchers will do more harm than good for Texas residents. As the 7th largest economy in the world, we need educated citizens to work in our economy & help Texas thrive. Giving public taxpayer money to businesses under the guise of education is not the way to ensure we remain a leader in the world economy; we need to invest in teachers and public schools.

Monty Exter
Self
Austin, TX

As a Texas parent and tax payer I oppose this bill!

Christina Huerta
Self
Cypress, TX

It is criminal to not adequately fund education in Texas and then try to give the limited funds available to unnecessary causes. Private school attendees are doing just fine without vouchers. Public schools are not doing well now, nor will they be any better off after. At least be honest, say you're racist and want segregation back in schools because that is all vouchers will accomplish. Improving education is paramount to the future success of Texas. Removing opportunities for disadvantaged scholars for the sake of lining your pockets is a shame. I pray that God open your eyes and hearts to the whole of people you were elected to serve regardless if they voted for you or not. That is what is required of a true leading representative. Students can get a great education in public schools, if only you'd support them.

Kent Reynolds
Self, nonprofit CEO
Belton, TX

I am strongly opposed to school vouchers. I don't want my tax dollars used to subsidize private school tuition for families making $150,000 per year. Also, $10,000 is not enough to cover tuition at most private schools, and most families don't have the extra funds to make up the difference between private school tuition and the $10,000 voucher. According to US News at <https://www.usnews.com/banking/articles/2025-financial-wellness-survey> , 42% of Americans don't have an emergency fund, so they sure don't have the funds make up the difference between private school tuition and the $10,000 voucher. Finally, I don't want my tax dollars used to send a student to a private Muslim school, so I shouldn't expect a Muslim to have their tax dollars used to send a student to a private Christian school.

Anna Mishlan
No-Cones Public Ed Leadership Project
Houston, TX

This is a bad bill! Bad for ALL Texans! Most importantly, tacans voted it down when they had the chance and there is an overwhelming super majority of your constituents - those who put you in office and gave you the honor of representing Texans - who do not support this! It is Bad for public schools, private schools, and homeschoolers, students, parents, and the community! It will bring us farther away from a state of educated Texans by dumbing down education, bankrupting the school system and the state of education. We will all be harmed. These children will one day run the state - you will be old and relying on uneducated Texans, who are less educated because of you - to take care of you in your old age! How do you think they will treat those who destroyed their public schools?! VOTE AGAINST ESA!! They are bad for all and will bankrupt our state! Just because you weee once a student does not make you an expert in education - just the opposite - you don't know the first thing about what's best for students or teachers! I am married to a public school leader of 20 years, she is an expert and will be the first to tell you this is NOT what's best! The research is clear on that point!

Sheryl Pace
Self-Stay at Home Mom
Kingwood, TX

My son is classified as a special needs child and has an IEP. He is currently in 7th grade and thriving due to the accommodations and wonderful support staff the school offers. Prior to receiving support, he was a struggling student. I am very proud to say he is now a straight A student and recently was inducted into his school's first National Junior Honor Society! That would not have been possible just a few years ago. I am very concerned about this HB3 bill proposal. I don't see how taking Monday from a fund to support public schools will benefit those like my son. Even if he gets "priority" to apply to a private school, the cost is still extremely high, locations are few and far between and most importantly, he would most likely NOT receive the card and support as a SPED student. There's is no accountability. Please do not support this bill. It is from the wealthy for the wealthy and those kids that are already in the private system. It's it a parent choice program!!

Matthew Hargis self - reseller
Austin, TX

Tax money should be used for the benefit of all. Therefore our tax money should not flow to private schools, especially not when our public schools need it so much more. Private schools have every right to exist - as long as they rely on private funding!

Melissa Flowers
Self/sales
N Richlnd Hls, TX

ESA program will not support the majority of Texas families, this is not a conservative ideal in any way, taking public money to invest in private enterprise with little to no mandates.

Mark Garrison, Dr.
Self
Amarillo, TX

Research shows that vouchers don't work – in fact, they have been proven to lower achievement since their inception. Is a disservice to the residence of Texas to fund such an initiative traditional public schools should be supported and funding should be increased.

Ann McDonald
Self
Livingston, TX

I strongly disagree with this voucher bill. We are not stupid! Parents have choice already! You are hiding behind a bill that only helps the rich with tuition. Give me a break. Gov. Abbott is threatening house members if they don't vote for it by not funding their schools in their districts. Shame on him!!! It's not a savings account unless it's you Abbott.

Kathie Thompson, Retired Superintendent
Self
Bogata, TX

Vouchers are not in the best interest of all kids in Texas. If it is not good for All kids it should not pass.

Timothy Reynolds
Self
College Station, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers. Our public school teachers and administrators do a fine job and taking public funds from them to underwrite private schools is neither encouraging of the good work they do nor a fiscally responsible use of tax dollars.

Scott Meeks
Self
New Braunfels, TX

Dear Legislators:

Please don't take my tax dollars and give them to private vouchers or private/parochial schools!!! You will be harming the future of this state!

Remember when you got mad that Biden paid off school loans with tax dollars??? You will be guilty of much worse — your law will become an unending maelstrom.

Autumn Goodwin, Mrs.
Self Public Educator
Austin, TX

Dearest House Members,

I am a mother of two wonderful young Texas men, the wife of their father. We have a traditional family. My husband works in data analytics and I am a Provider of Dyslexia Instruction at a Central Texas high school. I have taught English I, English II and other various reading and writing courses. I care about all of the students in my community. I don't have any agenda other than teaching kids how to read and comprehend the information. I only teach from district and parent approved books and I encourage students to be kind and aware of the world around them. I can say with certainty that academic learning is the goal of all teachers in Texas.

With that said, Education Savings Accounts will not be helpful to Texas students. In fact, it will hurt the majority of them. With the price of private tuition being at minimum two times the ESA amount, only families with wealth would be able to afford to use them. Furthermore, telling families that this is about choice is a lie. Texans already have choices for education. My district, for example, has different career focuses at our many secondary campuses. If a student from one area wants to study automotive technology, they would be able to apply and attend the school I teach in. Our district provides also provides programs in music, arts, animal science, culinary, engineering, biomedical sciences, and many more.

On another note, ESAs would take away from small towns like Rocksprings, Tx. They have an average of 15-20 kids per graduating class. The school already struggles financially and doesn't have a private school within a 100 mile radius. The teachers are paid the minimum salary for the state and the school struggles to keep their staff.

Passing HB3 would only succeed in taking away from our Texas Public Education, which before republicans took over, was the most envied system in the nation.

Every time republicans complain about our system and how they perceive us teachers as failing students, remember that they have been in control of our education system since January 17, 1995 and since that time has chipped away at our funding and our ability to freely access resources and teach our students. They are the ones that brought in Lucy Culkin's reading materials killing literacy rates for over two generations.

Kill HB3 and fund our public schools. Doing so will achieve a better educated population, lower property taxes, lower rates of homelessness, and so much more.

If HB3 is passed more money would flow from those of us that work hard for every dollar we earn and put it into the pockets of the billionaires that have benefited from our labor.

An educated Texan is a happy, productive, prosperous, loving Texan who will be more likely to keep their tax dollars in the state.

Thank you for your time, leadership, for a small portion of you, your support,

Mrs. Autumn J Goodwin

Dennis Holt, Mr
Self
Denton, TX

I am against HB 3 for a number of reasons. I find this bill goes against my conservative values in that it creates more government with the oversight that will be needed. It will be a waste of funds to pay for these people and there is no transparency and too many avenues for fraud and no detailed plan on the “what if’s” of this bill. I am against any state funding of private schools that might be affiliated with religions such as Muslim schools as well as private schools started for LGBTQ students and their families. I am against our public schools having to provide any special educational services to students who are in private schools or home-schooling. The educators, diagnosticians, and therapists are employed by the public schools so why should they have to service students not enrolled in public schools. This makes no sense to me. I do not feel it is right that public funds follow students into private/parochial schools and/or homeschooling when these alternatives do not have to administer state mandated testing or follow state approved curriculum. Get rid of any mandated testing and other state requirements that private schools do not have to follow and thus level the playing field for all involved. At this time after hearing and reading both sides of this issue that ESA’s are just a scheme ripe for fraud and a waste of money that will only enrich a privileged few and the donors who will benefit monetarily from these bills.

Lois Kochie
Retired teacher
Houston, TX

Please do the job you were elected to do instead of just trying to please Trump.

Jeanne Lott
Self
Benbrook, TX

Please vote against HB3. I do not support vouchers. I am in my 29th year of working in public education and sent my child to parochial schools PreK-8th so I am aware of both sides of this issue. We cannot lose more money in our schools, we just cannot. Please keep public money in public schools. I am also very concerned about the funding of TRS as I will be retiring in the near future. If vouchers go through, it is inevitable that TRS will lose money and I am quite honestly terrified that I will lose my retirement money that I have worked all of these years for. Please vote NO to vouchers. Thank you for reading my comment.

Kristina Czekaj

self, teacher and parent

Keller, TX

I am in opposition to HB 3. This program will bankrupt the state - other states like Arizona are spending so much money on their ESA programs that they had to decline money for water infrastructure improvements in order to pay for their ever-growing school voucher program. And the data repeatedly shows that the majority of people using it are those whose children already attended private school before the ESA programs started. It is coupons for the ultra wealthy.

Instead, please fully fund public schools by adjusting the amount spent per student to match inflation. This alone will be a huge help to districts. Then fully fund all mandates passed referring to special education and safety for schools. These improvements will help ALL STUDENTS.

The Texas Constitution requires you to set up an 'efficient system of public free schools,' but you have yet to do that until you fully fund our public schools. Then and only then, if things aren't working, should you be considering alternatives. These programs are a scam that are just redistributing the wealth to people who are invested into educational programs, and families will not see any benefit.

Please picture your children, and your grandchildren. You cannot choose who they will be, or what abilities they will have. They might have special needs in the classroom. If so, they will not be able to get the help they need to succeed in school. Why? ESA programs will take away public funds from public schools and these programs will be some of the first to have to stretch their means (they already do). Private schools do not and will not take these students because they are not equipped with staff or space to help them.

Picture the thousands of students in your district right now who are wheelchair-bound, have a crippling disease they did not choose, struggle to speak or think clearly, and so many others who are currently receiving these services. Are you ok with reducing/stopping their services because you voted for a program that will bankrupt their current schools?

Please picture the families who cannot afford to send their kids to private school, and their children are struggling at their current school. Even an ESA of $10,000 will not help them attend a $15,000-25,000 a year private school (even if private schools don't raise their tuition, which many will).

Once you factor in the cost of transportation and other expenses (and that many families have multiple children in school), you can see how this does not help families in need.

This ESA program affects ALL of us, even people who do not have children at home. When this program bankrupts the state budget, everyone will suffer as all types of necessities and improvements will be stopped. Do you want to be responsible for the program that bankrupts Texas' economy - one of the largest in the world? I don't think your children or grandchildren would approve. Please vote in opposition to HB3.

Thank you, Kristina Czekaj

Trina Church
Self Employed
New Braunfels, TX

Texans overwhelmingly rejected this voucher scam being peddled as "school choice" during the last legislative session. Proponents of this scam know full well that voucher experiments in other states have been an utter failure. This will blow a hole in the State budget as it did in Arizona. It will defund public schools. It will leave children whose parents cannot afford private school tuition in these already-underfunded schools. This will have net negative long-lasting and far-reaching implications to public schools in Texas.

Private schools have no accountability to the State for scores, curriculum and admission criteria, among other things. This means they can essentially discriminate with respect to admission. The discussion of "prioritization" is smoke and mirrors-prioritization is NOT admission. Private schools have demonstrated in other States with voucher scam programs that they will raise tuition in response, making it even more unaffordable to many in our State.

Parents who make $500,000 are not entitled to taxpayer funds to pay their children's tuition bill, and Texas taxpayers ought not to be asked to shoulder that burden as a result of Greg Abbott taking donations from special interest groups to promote this nonsense as "parental choice".

This is a wealth transfer of public taxpayer dollars into the hands of private school owners, and Texans do not support it regardless of the AFT and other Heritage Foundation's propagandistic dog and pony show.

NO to vouchers. NO to billionaires Jeff Yass, Tim Dunn and Farris and Dan Wilks forcing students into this position. We already have school choice. Parents may opt to homeschool their children. They can send their children to magnet schools. They can send their children to any parochial school they prefer. They can send their children to any private school they choose. To say that this is "school choice" is absurd and nothing more than deliberate disinformation.

NO TO VOUCHER SCAMS IN TEXAS.

Alexis Gross
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I oppose vouchers in all forms and demand that you use public money to fund public education. Do not funnel our tax dollars to private schools and home schools.

Stephanie Vandine
Self
Lufkin, TX

I am against vouchers, and I am against giving more money per student to private schools. Support our public schools!

Jennifer Weidenbach
Self, Licensed Specialist in School Psychology
Denton, TX

I oppose HB3 on so many levels. What I can tell you is that over the last 30 years the Republican Party in Texas has been planning this, vilifying public schools and teacher, defunding traditional ISDs while promoting charters and private schools, but only holding traditional ISDs accountable for things like special education, English Language Learners, McKinney-Vento, etc. This bill, and the similar Senate bill, do nothing except take more money away from traditional ISDs and put it in the hands of wealthy private school owners and boards. I won't even say the money is a tuition break for parents because we all know the private schools will just raise tuition to account for this influx of money. And one of the beneficiaries of this will be none other than Governor Abbott's wife. As a public school employee, a parent of a public school student, and a Texan I OPPOSE THIS BILL.

Hadley Hollingsworth

Self teacher

Houston, TX

You know this is bad for poor families and families in rural areas. You wouldn't have had to buy elections from people in your OWN PARTY that had the integrity to stand up to you otherwise. Private schools are not sufficiently regulated. Most schools aren't big enough to offer quality education for less than 10,000 a year. Private schools can turn students away for whatever reason they want. They don't have to provide for students who are disabled. This is what people vote for who want an uneducated populace.

LeAnn Wilkins

Self

Hico, TX

As a recently retired teacher and grandparent of public school kids, I am vehemently against HB3. This will cause a greater divide between the socioeconomic gaps. There is no way around that. The rich will get all the resources and the poor will be left picking up the crumbs. On a personal note, I have four grandchildren. Three of these kids are in public schools. One isn't old enough to be in school. Of the three in school, two are in their school's gifted and talented program, and one is on the autism spectrum. Any private school would take the GT kids, but they would not take my sweet baby who is on the autism spectrum. Public schools teach ALL CHILDREN!! We do not handpick who we think is deserving of our services. This bill is so wrong, and it makes me extremely sad that anyone would think this is good for ALL of our kids. Please, say no to HB3.

Paloma Alaniz

Self

Round Rock, TX

The future of our State's workforce depends on a strong population, empowered with knowledge and opportunity. Investments in education show their return for many years, most significantly when children who grew up within households dependent on government assistance become earners that pay into those systems. As the cost of living rapidly increases from year to year, the need for a strong middle class will keep our State afloat. A move to vouchers will essentially be a reversal of a Robin Hood situation, stealing from the poor to give to the rich. This state is great because it has been the home of countless success stories of ascent. We cannot take that opportunity from Texas learners who depend on their classrooms in public schools to grow the wings needed to take flight and find their own success story. The teachers who foster this growth already do so much with so little. Taking even more from them will certainly impact their willingness to continue to serve. Teachers and our children deserve our best, not less.

esmeralda tijerina

self/ homemaker

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose vouchers for private school. Pay the public school teachers and programs that have continually supported our Texas children through COVID, school violence and lack of support with gun laws and who are some kids only relief from tough home lives. The vouchers will only make private schools increase their tuition and create a large disparity between the financially privileged and the financially disadvantaged. I also strongly believe the Texas constitution was established to create a state so great that every citizen, regardless of race, privilege, or gender would be allowed access to an education as great as Texas itself. Please act in accordance with these values and end this voucher nonsense.

Maria Borrego, mrs.

self

Pflugerville, TX

I am opposed to this bill as it is not going to benefit the majority of people and school districts across the state will have to lay off staff which will harm our children and their education.

Mary Cato, Ms
self/retired
Arlington, TX

I strongly oppose school vouchers and favor fully funded, high quality PUBLIC education.

Chrystal Hayes self accounting
Denton, TX

Public schools have been slowly stripped of funding for the last four decades. Teaching to the test has made it worse. Teaching higher order thinking was removed while my child was still in Junior high. We are no longer delivering educated graduates & the stripping of funding to shift to vouchers will make it even worse. Republicans keep saying they are there to fix things but they have been in charged for the last forty years & it has gone from bad to worse. Vouchers look more like the last straw before completely breaking our education system. We need to fully fund our schools & educators and start teaching how to think again. All the current legislature seems to want are mindless sheep that just follow what they are told. We are worse off for this. We need thinkers to advance as a society both at home and on a world stage. Stop stealing our children's future one underfunded school at a time.

Leslie Ward
Westside Elementary PTA
CEDAR PARK, TX

I live in Cedar Park Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Matt Maudlin
Self/business
Spring, TX

As a parent of 2 school aged children, I have ALWAYS had educational freedom/choice/rights, where their education is concerned. There has been a lot of misrepresentation, to the citizens of Texas, that voucher bills will allow parental choice for families. In particular to those families with limited income, in public schools. The governor has pushed this narrative time-and-time again, especially when visiting only private schools. If vouchers are truly designed those particular students, why has he not visited a single public school? Here's your answer. The vouchers will simply become a subsidy for families who already have children in private schools. Students with limited resources, that could receive a voucher, still would not have the means to attend a private school. They would be required to provide their own transportation, informs, meals, technology, and more. These cost are well above the proposed voucher amount. Public schools are required to accept all students, while private schools are able to select desired students. In its current form, HB 3 is not a sound bill that must not be moved to the full Texas House.

Carolyn Nuessen, Chair
CoryellcodemocraticParty chair
Gatesville, TX

Children of low income, Disabilities and Family stress/trauma should receive $$$. Rich should have grants but there should be a limited amount especially in rural area.

Linda Guajardo
self (retired)
san Antonio, TX

I am against vouchers for education.

Judy Gradford
Self
Austin, TX

Vote no on HB 3. Vouchers are a scam to make us all dumb. Please fund public schools for everyone.

Jennifer Kruppa
Self
Houston, TX

The establishment of ESAs in Texas will erode our valued public schools. It is unconscionable that the government would give $10,000 per child to attend private schools, which are not held accountable to TEA standards and STAAR testing, when children in our Texas public schools only receive the basic allotment of $6,160 per student. Additionally, private schools are not beholden to citizens. They may pick and choose students to enroll as they wish. They are not required to provide services to autistic and dyslexic children and may deny them admission. Where are these children supposed to go? Their only option will be the underfunded Texas public schools. Additionally, it is unfair to the children in public schools that they are subject to STAAR testing and all of the pressure that goes along with that, when children in private schools will be receiving even more state funding, but not be accountable to take the STAAR tests. Finally, the argument that $10,000 is enough to fund a private school education is ridiculous. Any half-way decent private school in Houston is at least $15,000 a year, most are more than $20,000. The money needs to be put into public schools to make them stronger. Every Texas legislator that is selling their constituents out, especially the children they are elected to represent, should be ashamed of themselves.

Nola McKey
Self
Austin, TX

I urge my elected representatives to reject school vouchers in any form. You don't have to be a schoolteacher or a TRS recipient to know it's simply not right to take monies away from already underfunded public education in Texas to give to individuals who want an alternative education for their child. We need to be increasing funding for Texas public schools rather than undercutting them!

Sincerely,
Nola McKey

CYNTHIA BOWEN
MY HOUSEHOLD
AUSTIN, TX

VOTE NO ON VOUCHERS! HORRIBLE FOR RURAL COMMUNITIES, HORRIBLE FOR DISABLED CHILDREN, ONLY BENEFITS THOSE WHO ARE ALREADY IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS, GIVE MONEY YOU ARE WASTING TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!!

Carrie Rickman
self
Kingsville, TX

Hello, I am in opposition to HB3. The government should not make education savings accounts (ESA) available. This bill, while it may appear as though it is doing a service to the American people, it will only increase the division between social classes and allow unnecessary regulations to be put in place for families who already have the freedom to choose alternative education opportunities. Furthermore, implementing ESAs would cause an economic inflation making the American people more dependent on government funding. Homeschooling families already have opportunities available that allow them to choose from a variety of curriculum options as well as freedom to teach their students through the lens of their own worldview. There are numerous resources online and curriculum is widely available to serve families. If a family requires additional support, their own community can provide that support. As a homeschooling mother of over fourteen years, I have learned that my community is my biggest support system. Used curriculum fairs, homeschool meetups and a variety of homeschool extracurricular programs have provided opportunities for my children and myself throughout the years. Additionally, my church and work have also provided support and guidance along the way. Funding from the government would only complicate things for families making them dependent on government handouts rather than empowering them to provide the best education for their children by modeling for them how to research and strive to succeed.

Government funding for private schools also provides a false idea of reality. While it may seem that these "free" funds will help families have opportunities that were not afforded to them before, the funding does not guarantee the family these opportunities. As with the history of inflation, when money is provided from the government, economic costs increase. This has been the case anytime government funds have been handed out to the public. The American public will have funds to attend the school of their choice until the cost of said education increases to such an extent that these families are not able to send their child to the school of choice. Instead, families can utilize other resources for funding their child's education, such as their church, work, or community. When families are in need, communities pull together to make things happen. When the government steps in to provide funds, community backs off, and economic inflation happens.

I urge the House not to push this bill through. If the government wants to help the people, then do so by empowering them to be independent from government funding and search out ways to provide for their child's education.

Keith Kirkpatrick
Texas Educator
Rockwall, TX

I oppose HB 3 and am opposed to vouchers and ESA's in any form. Texas parents and children already have school choice and 290,000 students are already exercising options other than public schools. 5.5 million Texas children need for their schools and districts to be appropriately funded and not used as leverage to appease billionaire donors. It is incredibly unethical that Governor Abbott is refusing to appropriate fund Texas Public Schools until a voucher type program is passed. Welfare for the wealthy is not what's needed for our Texas schools. Appeasing a handful of billionaires, a few of whom don't even live in Texas yet donate tens of millions of dollars to Governor Abbott. I strongly oppose HB 3.

Cheryl Higdon, Mrs.

Self - teacher

Kerrville, TX

Please vote no on all voucher bills, don't take money away from public education. Until longitudinal data can be presented showing how students showed more growth over time in voucher states, how parents were effectively monitored regarding spending (all school funds spent on educational supplies and activities only), how the vouchers will be monitored over the school year (as in, the parent took the voucher to homeschool and in October changed their minds, then tried to re-enroll in public education), how public schools aren't going to lose what little funding we have, and how this is actually in the best interest of all school aged children - including rural (where there aren't private schools available anyway), then you should vote no. There isn't data to support the loss in funding for public education and frankly, our students can't handle the loss of education they will experience if they aren't given quality education during their time away from public schools, only to dump them back into public education with even less funding than we have now. This does not help the children. No data or evidence has been produced that shows the vouchers being successful over time, only that parents took advantage of the "free" money and wasted it on things like trampolines and Xboxes, only to re-enroll their children in public education because they wanted their free babysitter back or because they didn't know how to be a teacher to their child. Homeschooling only works if you treat it like a school setting, where the expectations are to work during school hours, where you are qualified to teach your child, and help them understand why they got things wrong. Teachers go through years of training and it's not because any person can just wake up and say, today I'm going to be a teacher. Please protect our children, please protect their education. We can't afford to take funds away from public education.

Ludie Hyppolite

Self/ Nurse

Temple, TX

School Choice!

Heather Vacek

Leander ISD

Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Heather Vacek

Courtney Poole

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I'm writing to implore our elected officials to vote NO on the House Bill 3 concerning school vouchers. Public funds and taxes should only be used for public schools. We should be funding our public schools and districts, not choking them of finances. Allowing public funds to go to private institutions is not an acceptable use of tax payer money and will decimate our public education system. Please listen to your constituents and vote NO on this bill. Thank you for time.

Marilyn Hartman

Self, Retired

Austin, TX

I AM VERY MUCH AGAINST THIS BILL! TAXPAYER FUNDS SHOULD NOT BE USED TO SUPPORT PRIVATE SCHOOLS, WHETHER NON-DENOMINATIONAL, PAROCHIAL, EVANGELICAL, OR OTHERWISE. This bill should be considered unconstitutional in that it flies in the face of separation of church and state in the case of religious-oriented schools. There is no oversight of any private schools; they can set their own standards, select the students they want and not admit others, and discriminate against children and families in terms of race, religion, gender identity, disabilities, and other categories. Whether any of us have school-age children or not, we all support PUBLIC schools, and we should continue to support them through our tax dollars; choice should be more prevalent through the ability to choose a public school outside one's own district that best fits one's child. In addition, school vouchers (education savings accounts) take tax funds away from public schools, which are already under-funded. If anything, tax funds for public education should be increased and fully used to IMPROVE public schools and the QUALITY of dedicated teachers in them. FULLY FUND AND IMPROVE PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND PAY TEACHERS IN ORDER TO GET THE BEST EDUCATION FOR OUR CHILDREN THROUGH PUBLIC EDUCATION. WITH FULL FUNDING, WE CAN BRING STANDARDS UP IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO BE COMPETITIVE WITH THE EDUCATION IN OTHER DEVELOPED COUNTRIES -- RIGHT NOW THE UNITED STATES LAGS.

How many low-income students will be able to afford private schools, even parochial, with the education savings amount? It won't cover the tuition at most or all private schools, so does the family have enough to pay the difference? When this pool of low-income kids can't take advantage of these vouchers, the bulk of the funds will go to people who are already sending their kids to private schools, or personally have the means to do so -- I STRONGLY OBJECT TO SUPPORTING THOSE CHILDREN WITH MY TAX DOLLARS, and other Texans do as well.

Furthermore, it is wrong that Texas proposes to give more for each voucher than Texas pays per student in public school funding, by several thousand dollars. Where's the equity in that?

If this scheme is to indoctrinate more of our students in specific, conservative curriculum and thinking, this is shameful. This subverts critical thinking, which is necessary more than ever in this complex world.

PER POLLS, THE MAJORITY OF TEXANS ARE AGAINST TAX-PAYER FUNDS GOING TO PRIVATE SCHOOLS OF ALL KINDS. IF THE TEXAS LEGISLATURE PASSES THIS BILL, THEY ARE OUT OF TOUCH WITH CONSTITUENTS AND SOMEHOW OUT FOR THEIR OWN GAIN. PLEASE VOTE THIS BILL DOWN -- IT IS VERY WRONG FROM MANY PERSPECTIVES!

Dorothy Mundy, Dr

Self

Dallas, TX

Stop stealing our taxpayer money to fund rich people to send their kids to private schools. You want to do something useful work on making our public schools and public teachers better. You complain about inflation and don't pay teachers!! This is aimed at Morgan Meyer who is a traitor to our schools in HPIISD. Stop supporting the billionaires that are buying our elected officials.

Kayla Meadows

Self

Mckinney, TX

No to vouchers and give our public schools the funding that has been withheld since 2019!

Donna Beto

Self-Retired Teacher and Lifetime Member of TSTA

Bryan, TX

I am a retired teacher with 36 years experience teaching in public schools. It seems to me that you are turning a blind eye to Texas voters and especially teachers who keep telling you that giving taxpayer money to private schools is all wrong and very unfair to most students except those already enrolled in private schools. Texas Legislators should instead be increasing funding for public education and giving Texas teachers a substantial pay increase. Listen to your constituents and vote "NO" to the savings account voucher program.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Beto

Polly Walton
Self - Retired Texas Teacher
Arlington, TX

Please do not vote for HB 3 that would approve vouchers and take money away from my Arlington ISD school children. The Arlington ISD has choice for all students. Students may go to any school in the AISD they wish to attend. HB 3 would take millions of dollars away from our fine public schools. AISD schools have not seen an increase in student allotment funds since 2019.

Our private schools do not want vouchers and the bureaucracy that comes with the voucher money.

Please do not vote for HB 3.

Thank you,
Polly Walton

Rod Joseph Rodriguez, PhD
Self
Austin, TX

I am a Texas taxpayer and also a public school teacher with 30 years of experience.

We need to keep public education for the PUBLIC and accessible by all to serve ALL children, adolescents, and families.

We need public education that includes special education and other learning support programs and services for all Texans.

Texas private schools remain un-accountable to families and civic communities — their boards are not elected, and frequently not even in the same state — and private schools are not required to exceed — or even meet — public school standards and accountability systems.

In fact, there are no accountability standards to ensure taxpayer dollars are effectively spent and no evidence that private schools improve educational quality for students and families.

Moreover, private schools, like many charter schools, do not report student learning progress nor participate in state assessments that reveal to the taxpayers the student learning goals and outcomes achieved and met. Moreover, private school teachers--and many charter-affiliated staff--are not part of the State Board for Educator Certification as professional teachers and administrators.

Overall, the voucher plan that Gov. Abbott supports actually funnels tax-paid subsidies to wealthy parents who already benefit from exclusive private schools that do not uphold state and federal requirements for access, while most working-class families, even with vouchers, cannot afford the exclusive private-school tuition.

I am against school voucher schemes in Texas and urge you to Vote NO on SB 2 and HB 3. Thank you.

Kristen Mallery
Self
Parker, TX

Please vote no. This will only further advantage the wealthy and disadvantage the poor. If a parent wants to choose the school for their child, then they can do so through choosing the neighborhood they live in, or pay for private school. Taxpayer funds should not be going to private schools.

Lily Schmitt

Self

Allen, TX

Vote NO on HB 3. I have 3 kids in public schools. I need you to vote NO on HB3!

Alejandrina Gonzalez

Self, Retired Educator

Cypress, TX

I am deeply disappointed that this legislation is still insistent on school vouchers or “education savings account program” that will hurt all students regardless of whether they attend public, charter, or private schools. Public schools have long educated the brightest students and even those with limitations. Every one of them had a desire to succeed. Yes, some were more vocal than others but they tried in their own ways. As a retired middle and high school educator that taught in several public school districts in Texas I was fortunate to witness their accomplishments and their disappointments. Look at the National Merit Scholars across the state. Excellent example of success in public schools. The most industrious students with the greatest challenges were often those students that you want to penalize with these school vouchers that will be paid for by our tax dollars. I have taught students at risk, regular classes, honors, gifted and talented, college bound and vocational classes. Social economic status was never known. Parents that have their children in private schools can afford to pay but not all children want to attend these “private” schools. It always amazed me when students would share that they had attended a private school and hated it and were happy to be in the public school sector for many reasons. Often those schools pay teachers even less and many of their personnel are uncertified teachers. I have experience in a private school as well. I tried to have my own children in a catholic school and the priest was known to favor parents that contributed above and beyond the usual donations. Knew his donors and their children by individual name. Corruption is everywhere when it come to money, isn't it?

I stand against school vouchers because they discriminate against children with so much potential that need a free public education to survive in this vastly changing world. Money is the root of all evil. Don't you agree? Every child needs to feel welcomed and to be educated by standards that are clear and achievable, regardless of the economic status of parents. School vouchers will further promote the idea that children will be judged not by their achievements but by their ability to buy a high passing grade. When do we ever hear of a private school student by name to highlight an achievement? Yet, there are ample examples of children in public schools that did the impossible. Many of these public school children grow up to be successful adults because they value their education. Some of these children might be in your chambers today, glowing representatives of a public school education. Now I realize that most went on to college but did a public school education stop them from achieving their goals? Not at all. Will vouchers make a difference? Only to the unfair treatment of all children.

Therefore I urge The House to say No to HB 3 by Buckley. It is unfair, unsustainable, and just wrong.

Thank you.

DAWN Baranowski

self

Cat Spring, TX

I oppose both these bills that will fund school vouchers or school choice This will not be good for Texas especially in rural districts and counties. The people already have a choice if they want to home school. If they have a private school option those school aren't required to provide some reverting a public school does or even to accept the student. I have four grandchildren in two small, 4A school districts in my county their parents are happy with the school and what all they offer. Again I oppose Both House Bill's 2 and 3!

Sarah Spencer

Self foster parent and substitute teacher

McKinney, TX

As a Texas foster parent I have seen firsthand the damage of privatizing public services. There are roughly 30,000 children in Texas experiencing foster care. Of those, a majority will never have the option of private school. And there are millions of Texas children that will still be attending Texas public schools with or without vouchers. We have failed these children already through privatizing foster care and withholding school funding. At our title 1 school I have been amazed at what the teachers have been able to do with reduced funding. But I have also seen the toll on teachers and students. There are good teachers leaving where students will continue to have no choice but to stay. Yass, Dunn, and Wilkes are not elected officials and should not be influencing educational policy. This vendor bill is unacceptable government overreach, irresponsible spending that is sure to cost more than budgeted, and a moral failure. This will further fail thousands of children experiencing foster care and millions of Texas children whose constitutional rights include education. And with such a pro-life legislative body, the education, healthcare, and school lunches for foster children and children in low economic situations should certainly be considered a top priority unless your prolife stance is performative only.

Katherine Bacon, Dr.

self; professional counseling

Houston, TX

I oppose this education savings account program in Texas. The $1 billion in funding for this program could instead be used to fund mental and behavioral health programs in public schools. Thank you, Dr. Bacon

Kerry Davis

Self/ Counselor

Plano, TX

Due to the dire state of mental health and behavioral health programs in our state. I believe the funds would be better served to fund programs in this area. We are woefully unequipped to address the needs of Texas Families and funding this program will add extra weight to an already faltering poor mental health system.

Courtney Harper

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I strongly oppose House Bill 3 and ask that you do not pass this bill. I am concerned that the money used for the ESA's are not going into public education when public schools, unlike private schools have to serve ALL students. As a parent of a special needs child, I want public education adequately funded and it is way underfunded right now in Texas. These ESAs will just be coupons for the wealthy. Additionally, many rural districts ONLY have public schools. Please vote no on this bill!

Karen Verell, Mrs

Leander ISD PTA

Round Rock, TX

NO

REBECCA JOHNSON

Self, Activity Director

GARLAND, TX

I am firmly against this bill which robs middle and lower class children of a decent public education. It only benefits wealthy people by underwriting private education for their children. It's a wrong spirited piece of legislation. Do not vote for it.
Thank you

Chantell Francis

Self

Silverton, TX

I believe this will harm our public schools which by law should be fully funded by the state. I don't understand if you are paying for this bill with surplus money, why can you give it to our schools. You say that anybody in Texas would be able to use these vouchers to attend any private school in their region/district. What you don't understand of people who could afford private schools would already be attending them. You give the vouchers to the low income families but that will only cover a percentage of private school. Private schools require out of pocket payment on extracurricular activities and don't provide transportation, Sped services or have any accountability like public schools do. If you are going to allow tax payer surplus to be used for school funding it should be used for public schools. Make an investment in our children and do better by public education which by law is free for everyone regardless of race, and educational needs. Private schools cannot and will not provide that for our children.

Noelle McSherry

Self - Operations Admin Coordinator

Houston, TX

I oppose HB3. Our public schools need to be fully funded. Furthermore, I can't understand how people who consider themselves to be fiscally conservative are willing to give tax dollars to private institutions with no accountability. Vote No on HB3.

Megan Peterson

Self

Austin, TX

Say no to the school voucher scam

Julia Mickenberg

self: parent, concerned community member

Austin, TX

Greetings, Chair Buckley and members of the Public Education Committee. I am writing in opposition to HB3 because vouchers are a giveaway to the wealthy that will undermine our communities, raise our taxes, lower property values in communities that will no longer have quality public schools (after their funding is diverted to private schools that are not accountable to anyone). In states that have passed voucher bills money is going to people who are already wealthy and the states are being bankrupted by rising costs. Let's make Texas great by adequately funding public education: right now our public schools are some of the most poorly funded in the nation, and now bills are being introduced to divert public funds away from them? The additional funding proposed is totally inadequate, and the proposal to give MORE money per student to private schools than to public schools is especially damaging for kids in rural areas who only have one option, but it also hurts all of us who depend on having a well educated workforce and citizenry. I don't understand the logic of privatizing everything but I do know that it will hurt us in the long run. Thank you for your service.

Jill Lanman, HR Director

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I received an excellent education and graduated from Texas public was a public school teacher as was my mother. I have several friends who are public school teacher in Texas. They and their students have suffered from lack of proper funding of public schools for the last few years. Please do not further erode Texas schools with public school vouchers by using public dollars for private education which will be a further drain on our public schools.

Scott Campbell

Self

Austin, TX

Our family has experienced first hand the difficulties of education children with special needs. We have been told explicitly by multiple private schools that they were “not equipped” to handle the challenges of our children. Currently our children go to an amazing public school, required by law to provide access for all. The educators at their school are well trained and exceptional. Under certain very specific circumstances ESA’s can clearly help individuals where the public school system is unable too, but redirecting money away from public schools puts vastly more students at risk, with families left to negotiate multiple bureaucracies and no guarantee the schools will admit them or have the proper services.

Chris Hendrickson

Self

Boerne, TX

Strongly oppose school vouchers. Fund our public schools.

Heather Gatlin

Self

Lubbock, TX

I believe that diverting public funds to private schools, whether directly or through education savings accounts, will severely harm our public education system

Vouchers will take resources away from already underfunded public schools. This will force public schools to do more with less, leading to larger class sizes, fewer resources for students, and a decline in overall educational quality. Many districts around the state are closing schools and laying off staff (both teaching and support). This has a direct impact on our students.

Private schools receiving voucher funds are not subject to the same level of oversight and accountability as public schools. They are also not required to teach the same curriculum or even standards. Moreover, private schools retain the right to selectively admit students, including the right to deny enrollment to students with disabilities. This creates inequities between the two systems (public and private).

Furthermore, states that have passed similar bills have not seen improvement in student outcomes and in many cases, student performance has actually declined. In addition to draining resources from public schools, many states have found that this type of program costs tax payers millions of dollars more than what was originally anticipated.

Texas has a constitutional obligation to provide a free and appropriate public education. Our Texas legislatures should focus on investing in and strengthening our public schools. This allows all Texas students have access to a high-quality education, not just those that can already afford private schools. Vouchers represent a costly and misguided experiment that will harm our public schools and our students.

Texas families already have school choice. They have the right to choose between public schools, charter schools, private schools, online schools, or homeschool. Public funds should stay in public schools where there are accountability measures in place. I urge you to reject any legislation that would create voucher or ESA plans in Texas. Instead, you should focus on fully funding public schools. This ensures that every child has an opportunity to succeed.

Randy Sedlacek
Self, Director of Operations
Denison, TX

Dear Chairman and Members of the Committee,

I write in strong opposition to HB 3, which is not only unconstitutional but also an unethical attempt to dismantle Texas public education. Article 7, Section 1 of the Texas Constitution requires the Legislature to maintain an efficient system of free public schools, while Section 5 ensures that the Permanent School Fund is used exclusively for public education. Furthermore, Article 16, Section 6 prohibits public funds from being diverted to private entities. HB 3 violates these provisions by funneling taxpayer money to private schools that are not accountable to the public.

Beyond its legal issues, HB 3 is not about helping Texas students—it's about serving special interests. Out-of-state billionaire Jeff Yass has spent millions to push this voucher scheme, despite overwhelming opposition from Texans—especially in rural communities like Grayson County, where public schools are the backbone of our communities. Texans should control the future of our schools, not a Pennsylvania billionaire with no ties to our state. This level of outside influence is unethical and should be illegal.

Our education system is broken—not because of our schools, teachers, or students, but because former lawmakers have spent decades dismantling it through excessive, expensive, and ineffective accountability tests and unfunded mandates. HB 3 does nothing to fix these systemic failures; instead, it further drains resources from our schools while leaving behind the vast majority of Texas students.

Our children deserve better from us. Instead of selling off our public education system to the highest bidder, we should be focusing on fixing the damage already done—eliminating wasteful testing, cutting bureaucratic red tape, and ensuring schools can actually meet the needs of students, not political agendas. HB 3 is a shortcut to privatization that fails Texas students and betrays the constitutional responsibility of this Legislature.

I urge you to vote NO on HB 3. Texans demand real solutions, not political payoffs.

Respectfully,
Randy Sedlacek
Grayson County Republican Precinct 202 Chair

Rebecca Branch
Self
Grapevine, TX

Please I beg you as a mother of two kids in school DO NOT PASS THIS!!!!

Eva Christopherson
Self
Hondo, TX

I emphatically disagree with the Governor's decision to force this ridiculous bill on our state. There is no proof in the other states that have this type of voucher program to be successful. Public funds should go to FULLY funding our Texas Public Education System. Our teachers and students deserve better!

Jo Keena
Self
Bellville, TX

This bill is not only terrible for all of Texas school, but it is especially terrible for rural schools. Our district already runs lean. We simply cannot absorb the additional loss of tax dollars while still providing a similar level of services to our students. Please do not pass this bill. Support public education.

Ricky Shafer, Educator

Self. Educator.

Lubbock, TX

Please support public schools. My tax dollars shouldn't be used to promote religious schools that don't the same rules at public schools. No state testing. They don't have to admit all students. This hurts special education. Please vote with the poorest kids in mind, and don't pretend that this supports them. Empirical evidence from other states suggests otherwise.

Dylan Segundo

Oglesby ISD

Oglesby, TX

No good for public schools

Jo Milam

Self

Waco, TX

Please vote no on vouchers. This is a thinly veiled attempt to kill public education. You know that rural areas will be hurt the most. You know that many many students even w vouchers will not be able to attend private schools. You know that the public schools will start to fail just as they have in other states like Arizona. Yet you still want to kill public education which has and should still be the backbone of our country. Shame on you

Omar Valenzuela

self, restaurant cook

Austin, TX

Relying on school vouchers for education will only reduce the quality of education further in the state ans make it more difficult for the underprivileged in the state to receive education.

Nick Nguyen

self

Addison, TX

Dear Representatives,

As someone who is a son, a brother, an uncle, and previously a student of the public education system, I am strongly opposed to the "School Vouchers." The Texas Education Code's primary goal is to "ensure all children have access to a quality education that enables them to achieve their potential and participate fully in the social, economic, and educational opportunities of the state and nation." If School Vouchers are implemented, this will create further inequality in the lives of our children. You will be robbing many children of opportunities while still handing the upper class a paycheck.

For starters, even with an extra $10,000, many working class families that are struggling to meet basic needs will still not be able to send their kids to private schools. In states where school voucher systems have been implemented, private school tuition has often increased, which renders school vouchers useless. Assuming $10,000 is sufficient, private schools are not even required to provide transportation for students. For working parents, this poses a significant challenge in Texas. Commuting is a huge issue in nearly every city in Texas as our road and highway infrastructure is designed so poorly. In rural Texas, many areas lack private schools entirely, making transportation even more of an issue.

Secondly, private schools can choose who to admit, so children with learning disabilities or those who do not fit the school's culture may be turned away. Many private schools are based off of out of touch Christian values. Which may further discriminate against children coming from different cultural backgrounds, sexual orientation, or religion. Public schools, however, are required to accept all students and are committed to supporting them. As someone who went through the public school system as a minority, it has really opened my eyes to how important it is to be around people who have interacted with other cultures and walks of life. There is so much that is learned from being exposed to people of different backgrounds. Empathy is often a skill that is not taught directly, but experienced. I believe that many people do not develop empathy due to the lack of exposure to different cultures and people when they were growing up.

Finally, under the voucher system, public funds would be diverted to children from wealthier families, who often already have access to private schooling. This would further widen the societal gap between the wealthy and everyone else. Schools should be setting every child up for success regardless of their background. Studies have proven that in states with voucher systems, over 75% of funds go to families already enrolled in private schools.

The solution is not school vouchers, because it would only deepen the economic and racial divides. If you truly care about ALL Texans, you will vote to improve public education and unlock opportunities for all children, no matter who they are.

Sincerely,

Nick N

Letty Tomlinson

self

Cedar Park, TX

No to HB3.

Public money for public schools. It shouldn't be that difficult.

HB 3 does not benefit rural students, nor students with disabilities or higher attention needs.

HB 3 would use Texas taxpayer money to subsidize the boutique education of kids whose parents can at least partly afford private tuition.

HB 3 would facilitate the spending of public money in religious education institutions with no consent of the people and against the time-honored tradition of the first amendment separation of church and state.

HB 3 paves the way for wider disparities between the most fortunate and wealthiest of us and those of us not fortunate enough to have the means for and access to private school.

HB 3 would benefit a small portion of students at the expense of the overwhelming majority of Texas kids.

HB 3 is un-American and un-Texan.

Do the right thing!

VOTE NO ON HB3.

Brenda Gonzalez

Self

Brownsville, TX

Our public schools need adequate funding as it is today, and passing vouchers would impact students, teachers, and public schools tremendously.

Matthew Booth

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Please do not give our tax dollars to individuals. Our families, students, and educators deserve the best public schools that serve all for free regardless of where they live. The state bears a constitutional responsibility to the citizens of Texas to provide a free and appropriate education. Our state should brag about all of our public schools instead of only a few small schools that do not serve all students. We deserve a say in where our tax dollars are spent.

Harold R Reynolds

Self

Nocona, TX

Public schools need to be adequately funded. There are not private schools in my area. Those that want to go to private go but let them pay. Put enough resources in our public schools so they would be the .school of choice. I am afraid private schools are there to make a profit for its investors

Live

James King, Mr.

self / Computer and Technology Management

Austin, TX

I am against HB3 since it in effect starves public education of funding while redirecting the funds to those that need them the least. Public education is an investment in Texas that will allow it to further grow and Texas and Texans to further succeed by developing its own resources.

Johanna Brubaker, Mrs

Self- educator

McKinney, TX

Public schools are supposed to provide free, appropriate, and equal education under the law. HB3 removes support funds that public education needs in order to meet the needs and demands of state requirements to ensure high quality education, highly qualified certified educators, and research proven resources to support ALL student needs. Public school is for all. HB3 creates a divide amongst the state's families and sets up situations that are take away supports and resources. This includes your gifted students, students with dyslexia or 504 needs, or special needs who are not required by private schools to be served or won't provided the proper supports by ill qualifed teachers or materials. HB3 does not provide protections to ensure all students have equal opportunities nor does it ensure students or educators will be held accountable to rising standards. Vote no to vouchers-protect our public schools by releasing the proper funding to create the support systems needed to rise and grow. Without funding, belief and support you will fail our students and our students will fail to take the lead.

Donald Lammers

self

Dallas, TX

I am opposed to using public funds for private schools. Private schools are not required to provide services to all students. Poor famlies will not be able to afford the real cost of private schools. It only helps moderate to high income families. Furthermore it will disproportionately reduce funds to small rural schools. Finally, it will destroy Texas high school football.

Bailey Steffek

Self, public school teacher

Houston, TX

I am a dedicated public school teacher in Aldine ISD and I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3, the proposed school voucher bill.

As a teacher deeply invested in the success of all students, I have serious concerns about the detrimental impact this legislation would have on our public education system. HB3 would divert crucial public tax dollars away from already underfunded public schools and towards private institutions, many of which lack the same accountability and transparency as public schools. This siphoning of resources will inevitably leave public schools with fewer resources to serve the vast majority of students.

Holly Dillahunty, Retired Texas Teacher

Self

Lufkin, TX

I am against vouchers.

Nicole Scott

Self

San Antonio, TX

Texans do NOT support school vouchers. Do not pass HB3. Use that money to properly fund public schools and teachers. Our children deserve it.

Thomas Stratton, Mr

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

I urge you to oppose HB3 for the following reasons:

1. Vouchers don't improve student outcomes. Extensive research shows that voucher programs do not lead to better academic performance. Texas' economic growth depends on a well-educated workforce, and public dollars should go toward strengthening public education, not diverting funds to private schools with no proven benefit.
2. HB3 is not about school choice—it's about private school selectivity. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill doesn't expand options for families; it funds private schools' ability to pick and choose which students they accept. That's not choice for parents—it's choice for private institutions, funded by public money.
3. Public money demands public accountability. Any school or entity receiving taxpayer dollars should meet the same standards as public schools. That means following the same mandates, testing, and accountability measures—not receiving public funds with no strings attached.
4. Texans deserve a direct vote on vouchers. Public dollars should be spent with public input. Some lawmakers claim Texans already had their say during the primary election, but the measure on that ballot was vague and didn't outline the lack of oversight in voucher proposals. Put vouchers on the ballot so Texans can decide for themselves.

This bill isn't about helping Texas students—it's about giving public money to a select few without accountability. I urge you to reject HB3 and instead pursue policies that strengthen all Texas schools.

Thank you.

Emma Connolly

Self

Houston, TX

As a Texan who believes in educating all our children, I strongly oppose HB 3. In the long run it will not help any students. The damage done to a child's education in a voucher school is permanent. I believe the best way to support our children is to pour more funding into our public schools and public programming that all children are able to use and learn from. The school savings account is a bad idea and many Texans are opposed to it.

Please vote no on HB 3

Yosef Goldberger

self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Corinna Crockett

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill, HB 3!

Kathleen Petersen

Self

Lufkin, TX

I am opposed to giving more money to voucher students than public school students. That is called discrimination.

Julie Mahan

Self

Lantana, TX

I am against vouchers and want public schools fully funded.

Karen Anderson

Self

Red Oak, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill. Thank you for your time.

Brian Galaviz

Self

Lubbock, TX

Vouchers hurt public education by siphoning much needed funds into private schools. Private schools don't have an obligation to serve everyone. Public schools do. Public schools are already starved. We should be fully funding the school choices that accept all children to ensure all children receive top notch educations

Andrea Hernandez

Self, homemaker and substitute teacher

Leander, TX

Say no to school vouchers. I want public schools fully funded with at least $1300 base allotment per student.

Cassandra Garza Peña

Self

San Antonio, TX

This bill does nothing to improve education in Texas. We need to fund PUBLIC schools fully, provide adequate pay for public school educators, and resources for children of ALL needs and backgrounds.

This school choice scam is exactly that...a scam that will only harm our children. Put our tax dollars to use by fully funding our public school system, where children of ALL backgrounds and needs are accepted and cared for.

Celeste Williams

Self

Georgetown, TX

I strongly oppose HB3, the proposed "School Voucher" bill, and urge the Public Education Committee, especially Chair Rep. Brad Buckley, to reject this harmful legislation. While vouchers are touted as providing "choice," they primarily benefit wealthier families and ignore the reality of access for all students.

Texas has over 1,300 private schools, but many of these institutions are selective, using admissions processes that often involve fees, entrance exams, and interviews, which limit access for low-income students and those with special needs. Unlike public schools, which must serve all students, private schools are not required to accommodate students with disabilities or offer the same transparency and accountability standards.

The core issue with HB3 is the inequity in tuition costs. Private school tuition in Texas ranges from $6,000 to $20,000 annually, depending on the institution. While HB3 proposes vouchers worth up to $8,000, this amount often falls short of covering the full cost of tuition, leaving families to pay the difference. As a result, only families with sufficient resources can afford the remaining balance, meaning the voucher system deepens existing inequities by making "choice" available primarily to wealthier families.

Moreover, Texas public schools already face a significant funding gap, with a shortfall of over $10 billion annually. Diverting these funds to private schools only worsens the underfunding crisis. Public schools are inclusive and serve all children, regardless of their background, academic ability, or special needs, making them a cornerstone of equity and democracy in Texas.

Rather than diverting funds to private institutions that do not serve every child, we must focus on fully funding and strengthening our public schools. I urge the committee to reject HB3 and prioritize policies that support public education for all Texas students. Public schools are the foundation of our future, and we must ensure every child has access to a quality education. Thank you.

Nina Martinez

Self software developer

San Antonio, TX

I do not support HB 3. If public schools are not a good fit, then let's use this money to make the public schools better. I do not want my tax money spent on private schools!

Brittany Deen
Self, registered nurse
Mansfield, TX

How much of that private schools acceptance number INCLUDES private schools that only take kids with disabilities such as the Notre Dame school in Dallas? That would skew the acceptance rate for children with Disabilities. I want my child INCLUDED with typically developing peers.

Kimi Bradshaw
Self- customer support
Spring, TX

Vouchers disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can already afford private education. Low-income families may have difficulty accessing private schools even with vouchers, as they may still struggle with additional costs such as transportation and other fees.

In rural or smaller communities, private schools are often limited or nonexistent. Vouchers could result in urban families accessing resources while leaving rural districts to shoulder the full financial burden of educating students without the same level of support.

Private schools can have selective admissions policies and may discriminate based on factors like disability, religion, or academic performance. Vouchers could exacerbate this issue by enabling public funding to flow to institutions that do not have to comply with the same anti-discrimination laws that public schools follow.

Private schools are not always equipped to handle the diverse needs of students with disabilities, and vouchers could force public schools to bear the cost of educating these students without adequate resources, as many private institutions do not have the special education programs required by law.

School vouchers take decision-making out of the hands of local communities. Vouchers divert funding to private institutions that may not reflect the values or needs of the community, reducing local control over how education is delivered and funded.

As it stands, this proposal is inequitable in terms of the funding public schools would receive. Additionally, there are no safeguards in place to address situations where private schools refuse to accept students or where a student is expelled and sent back to a public school. In such cases, it is unclear who would retain or control the funding.

Mindi Penrod
Self
Houston, TX

I am against this bill. We do not need ESAs in this state. It will bankrupt public education and our current budget. This is nothing but a way to segregate the haves and have nots. This is not the way to invest in our future, this money should be put back into public education to support it, not a break for the wealthy to support private schools.

Paul Zoch, Rev
BCISD School Board
Bridge City, TX

I would like to express my deep concern on establishing ESA. First, as a fiscal conservative, I believe that this law will create a significant burden on the public finances of the state of Texas. I have researched other states and it seems to create great financial problems. Second, my father was a second generation immigrant from Germany who believed education was the key to financial advancement and independence. We believe that education you could succeed in our country. He strongly believed that education was the greatest equalizer. He only had a basic education, but all three of his children earned advanced degrees and are very successful. I am therefore concerned about ESAs and oppose them and this bill and hope that the state of Texas will not pass this. Thank you.

Duana EISEMANN
Myself
Garland, TX

I am a grandparent/teacher/Texan who opposes HB 3 and any private school vouchers. Our kids and teachers deserve fully public funded schools. Tax payer money should be for public schools and not given to private schools and without any accountability.

Lauren Young
Mom of 3 public school children
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.
This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Lauren Young
(Mom of 3 children in the Spring Branch Independent School District)

Marty Chapman
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.
This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!
Marty Chapman

Susan Meyer
Self/Editor
Austin, TX

My two children are in the AISD school system, and we've been amazed at the passion of the teachers and the ability of the school to meet our needs with such few resources. We could afford to send our children to private schools, but we choose to send them to public school because I believe that wealth shouldn't determine how good an education you should receive. All children deserve access to a good education. The way to do that is better fund our public schools, not to take funds away from them to line the pockets of private institutions. Public funds should go to public schools. This is not about "school choice." The only people giving $10,000 to choose private school will benefit are the people who can already afford to choose private school. The rest, who don't have access to private schools or who can't afford it even with the stipend, will not have a choice...they will send their kids to their underfunded public school. We can make our public schools better so that every Texan will be proud to choose them, but only with funding. Texas should be ranked in the top 10 for education in the state. We should have teachers flocking to work here. Instead we have teachers leaving the occupation because they can't afford to keep working as their raises have not kept up with inflation. I want to live in a state where not only my kids, but all kids can go to their local school and get a solid education from veteran teachers with the resources they need. Please vote No on HB 3. Thank you for your time.

Santiago Chavez
Raise your Hand Texas
San Elizario, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education. Don't allow a billionaire to dictate our state and our education system.

Aurlie Strealay, Retired school speech language pathologist
Self
Corp Christi, TX

Public Schools provide services private school won't. Don't weaken our public schools based on the wishes of you financial contributors. They have more money. We have more votes.

Katelyn Thompson
Self, Professor
Tatum, TX

Please oppose HB 3 and put an emphasis on valuing the education of Texas children.

Patrick Thomas
Self
Cedar Park, TX

Please vote NO on HB3 to oppose this poisonous school voucher program. It helps nobody but those that can afford private school tuition already. This has played out in Arizona, where there is leeching public funding into the pockets of those that already have enough. Don't make the same mistake. Vote NO.

I understand the main argument for this savings program is for those with special educational needs can shop around. But this is a poor argument- private schools are under no obligation to accept such a student! This leaves the student and parents in the original position they were in, at the now- under-funded district. Vote No.

As a proud Texan, I want our public schools to have the resources they need to provide great education for our children. These starved districts need more resources, not less. Pass a clean bill for teachers! Vote No on HB3!

Robin Shipman
Self/retired
Honey Grove, TX

I feel this push to fund private schools should be illegal. How is it legal to fund private institutions with public money?

Texas is large and spread out. Do you understand how many kids live too far away from private schools? Even if their tuition was paid, how would they get to school?

Public schools are held accountable for the performance of students on a mandated STAAR test. The reasoning for this is that they receive state money. Private schools are not. Will they now be held to these standards of accountability? They should.

Teachers in private schools don't even have to be certified to teach there. Why? If they receive public money, they should.

I will never support this ridiculous idea. I strongly believe that money has changed hands illegally to bring this about. I will never vote for a politician who supports this.

Charles Gaddy Jr, Mr
Self
Corsicana, TX

This is a scam it only for the billionaires that own our governor. I have two grandkids that are teachers. One worked for a private school he quit because he had to go back to work for public school. The wages and benefits were not as good and he had no help. The only people that made money the board and the owners. I urge you and hope did veto no to this scam.

Jessica Guevara
Self
Uvalde, TX

Please do not vote for school vouchers they hurt our rural communities with lack of private school education. This is a bad idea & will affect our public schools who are already suffering deeply. Please VOTE NO to school vouchers

Janice Halliday
Myself
Weatherford, TX

Please please please vote against school vouchers! We don't want or need this! Listen to the people who voted you into office!

Matthew Recio, Mr.
Dixie Elementary School PTA
TYLER, TX

We need funding and we like public schools! With our funding it's impossible, please understand!

Kristen Lander, Mrs.
Self - Teacher
Driftwood, TX

Your vote on vouchers (aka education savings accounts) in any form should be a hard NO. Teachers know the truth, parents know the truth, community leaders know the truth...this will hurt public schools and you know that truth too. Please stop thinking like a politician with donors and start thinking like true leaders who are actually interested in the future of our society....in creating an educated workforce, the next entrepreneurs and inventors, the next doctors and teachers. I invite you to not just think about this choice, but rather ACT. Standup for what's right for all our children. Come visit our public schools this will affect, spend a day in our classrooms, with these children, and you might learn something about them and yourself. Vote no. Please.

Yubiel Castelan

Self

Hutto, TX

A private school voucher scam gives taxpayer dollars to unaccountable private schools. Under HB 3, we would be sending our taxpayer dollars to schools that don't have to conduct background checks on teachers, can teach any curriculum, can reject any student for any reason, and importantly, do not take the same assessment as public students, preventing us from even assessing how students are performing. Repeated studies show that vouchers don't by any means improve student performance and often result in poorer performance.

Carrie Nance, Ms.

Self

Cedar Park, TX

As a public high school teacher of 22 years, I am proud to be part of a system that serves such a wide variety of students. Kids of different backgrounds and cultures with an aptitude for the arts, science, and/or sports all together learning from one another as well as their instructors. It is an honor to work with classes that include both readers and those who struggle to read, kids from different countries who share their experiences and perspective, kids who have wealthy families and kids who don't—all together. Each of these students is served by our public school system and I get to help. Such diversity is an asset, representative of the world we live in. By teaching them and fostering cooperation and community in my classroom, they all grow, and I do, too. The district where I work, Leander, provides opportunities for all learners, whether they need challenge or extra support, regardless of their social status or background. What public schools in Texas need to continue providing our kids with these opportunities is funding. The proposal to establish an education savings account program threatens the success of our schools, threatens this system that includes every student. By providing funds to private schools and diverting money from our public schools, everyone in this state suffers. Fund the basic allotment of $1300 per child, say no to this voucher system, and remain focused on educating every single student in every public school. Strengthen our programs, pay our teachers. It's the right thing to do. Vote No on HB3, and focus on ensuring public schools meet the public's needs.

Joa Muns

Self

Plano, TX

Vote NO to Vouchers!

Penney Matos

Self

Mckinney, TX

Vouchers (by any name) are detrimental to public education. Millions of dollars have been spent supporting Texas legislators by private school educational program providers. This is a huge conflict of interest and definitely not in the best interest of our state's children. Oppose HB 3.

Jessica Villanueva

Self

Corp Christi, TX

As a parent and a teacher who has taught in the private and public sector, I strongly oppose this bill. Public school classrooms have been woefully underfunded and the government has had a chokehold on them through the STAAR as well as underfunded mandates. I do believe there needs to be a change in our schools but history and research shows that this is not it. We need better training and curriculum for our teachers. We need an increase in salaries for those working in our public school systems. Charter schools were developed for the same reasons the vouchers are now being pushed. On average, charter schools perform more poorly than public schools. If private schools perform better than public school, which is debatable, it is because they are able to dismiss students they "are not able to serve." I have heard this line often from private schools I have worked with. Also, the majority of private school parents employ personal tutors when the students fall behind. This bill will not only be unhelpful to majority of our children, it will hurt those most vulnerable.

Rebecca Martinez

Self

San Antonio, TX

This bill will only help kids already in private schools. Texas has so many rural school districts, and none of those kids have access to private schools within driving distance. Kids already in private schools are clearly already able to afford that bill. It has been proven in other states, that this program simply causes private schools to raise their tuition, so that even with the voucher, families still wouldn't be able to afford a private school. This takes money away from our public schools, which desperately need funding. Please vote no-follow the research that shows this has no benefit.

Wesley Ammerman, Mr.

Self

Austin, TX

My name is Wesley Ammerman and I am a constituent and taxpayer in Austin, Texas. I strongly oppose HB 3 and the creation of education savings accounts (ESAs) for private school vouchers and urge the legislature to reject this bill. ESAs will divert crucial funding away from public schools. Texas ranks well below the national average in per-student spending for public schools. Rather than subsidizing private education for wealthier families, these funds would be better invested in improving options and supporting students within the public school system that serves the vast majority of Texas children. ESAs in other states have shown that they force rural communities to pay into a system they likely cannot access, fail to protect the rights of students with disabilities, and promote the creation of pop-up schools and vendors who do not provide transparency or accountability for what students are learning. It is time for the State of Texas to invest and support our public schools, our teachers and our students. I urge you to reject this voucher scheme and instead focus on fully and equitably funding our public schools.

Erica Anderson

Self

Mesquite, TX

None

Kathleen Milligan

Self - Marketing Strategy Lead

Katy, TX

I strongly object HB3 and the proposal to take public funding away from public schools and to voucher programs. Public education is critically important to the future of our state, and millions of students and parents across the state depend on public schools. Vouchers would not cover the full cost of private schools, making private schools well out of reach to lower income families. The families that can afford private schools are already sending them, and with vouchers would get a significant discount at the expense of taxpayers and citizens who rely on public schools. House members are supposed to represent their constituents, and the vast majority of constituents in Texas do NOT want this bill to pass. To pass this bill is to tell Texans that you simply do not care to represent our needs, so I implore you to reject HB3 and use our taxpayer dollars to fund public schools.

Lenny Liegl

Parent

San Antonio, TX

As a public school mom of three I am asking for their education to be prioritized over those who choose to move to private school. Their choice should not affect those who are happy with education our children receive. The kids in public school learn to develop and manage differences with others, have a wider variety of class options and learn to have conflict management and understanding. She. You attend a school that is primarily one type of student you don't not learn empathy towards others or how to do exist with others. I her three children that are to of thier class, choosing to continue their education at the collegiate level and so far one D1 athlete. The oldest just graduated for a 6a school, join the corps of cadets at TAMU and will be able to double major because of his public school high school education! My youngest is a freshman and loves everything her HS has to offer from journalism to varsity athletics to taking 2 AP classes her first year in school! Thank you for your time!

Kristy McCoy

Self / Teacher

Celina, TX

I am writing as a concerned constituent to express my strong opposition to HB3. This bill is neither fiscally conservative nor in the best interest of Texas families. I believe anyone who votes for it is prioritizing political donors over the will of the majority of Texans.

The claim that HB3 is about "parent choice" is misleading. Parents already have choices—public schools, private schools, charter schools, and homeschooling—without diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions. Vouchers do not create choice; they subsidize private education at the expense of public schools.

While proponents claim vouchers expand "school choice," they actually drain resources from already underfunded public schools to benefit private institutions with little to no accountability. This is the opposite of fiscal conservatism, which demands responsible spending and efficiency. If public funds are used for private education, those institutions should meet the same transparency and accountability standards as public schools—HB3 does not ensure that.

The basic allotment has not been increased since 2019 and has failed to keep up with inflation. Public schools are being asked to do more with less, while this bill seeks to send even more taxpayer dollars to private schools with no obligation to serve all students. If improving education is truly the goal, the solution is to strengthen our public schools, not divert funds to private institutions.

Additionally, implementing a voucher program of this scale would require an expansion of the Texas Education Agency, adding layers of bureaucracy and massive administrative costs. This contradicts the conservative principle of small government and will inevitably lead to higher costs for taxpayers—all to fund private education with little oversight.

The claim that "money should follow the child" is misleading when the average homeowner pays far less in school taxes than the voucher they would receive per child. This is not fiscal responsibility—it is a government handout to private institutions at the expense of public education.

Taxpayer dollars fund services that benefit everyone, whether we use them directly or not. We all pay for roads, even if we don't drive on every street. We all pay for police and firefighters, even if we never call them. Public education is no different—it is a public good that strengthens our communities and economy. Allowing individuals to take tax dollars for private schooling is like letting people opt out of paying for roads because they prefer tollways.

A matter this consequential should not be decided by political maneuvering but by the voters. If HB3 is truly in Texas' best interest, let the people decide at the ballot box in November.

I urge you to vote against HB3 and focus instead on strengthening the public schools that serve the vast majority of Texas families. No welfare for the wealthy. No vendor bills.

Carlyn Burton

Self

Houston, TX

My daughter is a current student in Houston ISD. I have served multiple years on her school's Shared Decision Making Committee, which made me aware of the school's budget issues to a greater degree than most parents. The State of Texas has significantly underfunded our schools. I have watched our school leaders make decisions to increase class size (beyond TEA limits) because doing so provides a budget cushion for substitute teachers. This same school provides phenomenal support to all learners including those with significant learning differences. While this proposed bill presents the idea that it is giving parents "school choice", the reality is that it only gives a choice to those parents whose students a private school will admit, educate those students without oversight of TEA, assuming the parents can transport their students to the school and afford the total tuition cost. Our public education budgets are run on a shoe string, and this proposed bill only makes these issues worse, spreading those funds (and in fact at a proposed dollar amount that is greater than what goes to public schools) instead to private schools. In my hometown of Seguin, had my parents wanted to attend private school, quality private schools simply did not (and still do not) exist in the area. However, the proposed bill will pull money from a district that needs the funds, which will thereby dismantle our public education system, and teacher retirement funds over time. Though, perhaps this is the goal of the bill sponsors.

Sarah Frerich

Self/ Stay at home mom

Plano, TX

Thank you for taking the time to read this. Below are questions and concerns I have with HB3.

Would private or other schools get reduced funds if students are absent? If not, why?

Most districts allow (If not all) students to transfer schools within the district if they can provide transportation for their student and that spacing permits; just like a child going to a charter or private school would have to do. There are ways for parent choice in public schools.

Public schools have state mandated testing. Private schools do not. What accountability will they have if families are using money provided with tax dollars to do so? Or why are public schools required to have state testing? If both are using state funding?

TEA oversees special programs and staffing in public schools, will they oversee schools that receive vouchers? If not, why is there so much regulation in public school and not private?

Most private schools in the area are more than $10,000 a year per student along with other fees; how will this help those in most need of assistants?

Will this $10,000 voucher be for any private or charter school? Will it be allowed to go to any school not dependent upon religion or qualifications?

Will private and charter schools still be allowed to test to get accepted to the school and still be able to turn away students? Public schools accept all students and do not have the ability to turn away students.

Will private schools still be able to dismiss students who do not perform or follow the code of conduct of that school? This action creates a major difference in what public schools and private schools are allowed to do. The goal at a public school is to educate ALL students. Will the state get a refund if a child is dismissed and they used the voucher?

What states have vouchers worked in? Where do we have to look at and see that it has been done successfully? How have they been implemented in those states? How do those states compare with Texas?

How will we as a state still be able to follow Article VII of the Texas State Constitution where there are establishing and maintaining a free public education system; with such reduced funding to public schools?

Parents must still be able to afford the extra cost, have the ability to drive to the school, and then get accepted to the schools. How will there be enough room for all of the kids at the schools parents choose for their children? How is it justifiable that some get "school choice" while over 5 million students are enrolled in Texas public schools?

How many students will receive the voucher for kids who are going to be in school that are not school aged yet or people who move into Texas?

Kevin Kuhlman

Self/tax payer

Argyle, TX

Let Texans decide and put this on the ballot!

Kristina Santos

Yourself

Austin, TX

Pass

Kelley Piwonka

self

Austin, TX

I vehemently oppose HB 3. This bill is not only harmful to students with disabilities but it is harmful to our entire public school system and all children who attend and public school teachers and administrators who teaching out future leaders. The purpose of this bill is not to provide school choice but to give a discount to the privileged 6% that can already afford private education, while taking away funding from already critically underfunded public schools. Texas ranks 46 nationally for its spending on its public school systems. 46!!

I have 2 small children, one of which, has several disabilities and this program, if passed, this will be detrimental to his education and thus his long term life outcome. It is the duty of the state to fully fund and provide free public education to all children and not to privatize education which is exactly where this is headed. This is a very dangerous bill and 5.5 million children's futures are at risk by putting more money into the hands of private education and those that can already afford it.

Cora Rothe

Self - Retired Teacher

Hondo, TX

Please don't discount public schools in rural areas. They deserve full funding because so many families will not be able to transport their child to some privately run school because they lack transportation opportunities to take their child to a school miles away. We live in a great community with great public schools - please do not vote against public schools because that would have a sad result to a good school system for many students.

Brianna Stewart

Self

Paris, TX

This is not school choice—we already have school choice in Texas. A well-educated society is a thriving society, yet public education is being systematically underfunded while taxpayer dollars are funneled into private schools. These private institutions face no accountability, no state-mandated standards, and can pick and choose whom they serve. This is modern-day segregation, creating further inequities in our education system.

Public schools are in crisis. Class sizes are growing, teachers—especially the best ones—are leaving, and there aren't enough staff members to meet the needs of all students, particularly those requiring special education services. The curriculum mandates handed down by the state are not serving students or teachers effectively. Offering a small funding increase is like handing someone a cotton ball for a shotgun wound—it's nowhere near enough.

I urge you to visit a public school in your district. Speak with the professionals who dedicate their lives to educating our children. See firsthand what chronic underfunding has done. Instead of diverting funds to private institutions that serve only a select few, invest fully in the public schools that serve all Texas children.

Kerrin Watson

Self

Cypress, TX

The Texas constitution states that there should be separation of church and state. Paying for education vouchers with tax dollars is not constitutional.

Travis Arnold

Self

Benbrook, TX

This bill is a slap in the face to public educators throughout the state. Greg Abbott and his republican/billionaire donors have been holding billions of dollars in funding hostage that would help public schools, yet they are purposely letting them fail to push for this voucher scam. Withholding money is not how you fix a problem, you try to fix it by funding schools to get more support, encourage future educators to enter the field that will help elevate the profession, and repair schools to fix basic maintenance to encourage a conducive learning environment. This bill will only help create a wage gap in education and low-income schools/district/families will continue to suffer.

Amy Dubin

Self

The Woodlands, TX

I am strenuously opposed to this bill. It does nothing to further school choice just gives families already able to send their kids to private school another benefit at the detriment to public schools. Instead $ should be invested in improving public schools

Yasmine Anderson

self

Austin, TX

My name is Yasmine Anderson and I have a daughter in the Texas public education system. She's currently in 8th grade and has been in public schools since pre-K. She receives special education services for ADHD, dyslexia, and dysgraphia. I've been reading in my local paper and talking with teachers about the cuts that our local schools are having to make because of budget deficits. At first, I thought it was a district problem, but as I've researched, I've learned that it is really a state problem. Since 2019, the state has not added any funding to schools to take inflation into account, leaving school districts $10 billion behind this year. That means that my school district is operating with 80% of the funding it had in 2019. I know the school district used federal funds during COVID to cover the gaps, but that funding is gone. Already, we're seeing schools close, after-school programs go away, and other supports for kids removed. Schools are losing counselors and librarians. As a parent of a child with learning differences, I've seen firsthand how critical proper funding is for special education services. When resources are stretched thin, it's often students like my daughter who feel the impact most severely. I've also read that the state of Texas has lots of funding in the bank in the Rainy Day Fund and in unspent funds from past years. The Texas Tribune says that amount is about $50 billion dollars. Here's my recommendation: Help school districts catch up to where they were funded in 2019. That would mean adding $1,300 per student, which would cost about $20 billion. You would still have enough funding for lots of other needs. The current proposal in HB2 to increase funding by only $220 per student is simply inadequate and, frankly, an insult to our educators and students. This doesn't come close to keeping pace with inflation. I can't think of a more important investment than our Texas public schools. Businesses moving to Texas expect strong school systems for their families moving in. But we can't have great schools if they are constantly struggling for funding. My daughter deserves better, all Texas children deserve better. Let's fix it now!

Melissa Covington

Self

Schertz, TX

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Angela Fuller

Self

Garland, TX

Make no mistake, were the voucher program presented to the voters on a ballot- it would be voted down HANDILY. This is incredibly unpopular. It strips public schools of much needed funding (my district, Richardson ISD would lose an estimated 15 million dollars in funding, hundreds of teachers, thousands of books.) It will raise property taxes. It robs children of the same opportunities at education regardless of their economic background. It robs children who need services to support their learning (like my son) of those services. It is reverse Robin Hood- robbing from the POOR to pay the RICH.

This voucher scam was voted down by a bipartisan majority in 2023. What is the motivation of an out of state billionaire to donate 12 million dollars to Governor Abbott to force this voucher scam down our throats? To push out legislators who were not "voucher friendly" in favor of legislators who will be yes men for this scam?

This is NOT the will of Texans. Two years ago it wasn't even the will of Texas lawmakers. It shouldn't be forced on us. It is not in the best interest of our children or the future of our state. What a terrible legacy it would be for Abbott.

Please remember, you all work for the people of Texas and for our children- NOT for Abbott and a Pennsylvania billionaire with a suspicious agenda.

Sherry Boyd

Self

Spearman, TX

Do not use public funds to subsidize a private choice! NO VOUCHERS! I am a teacher and I don't want funds taken from public schools to go to people who are already paying for their children to attend the private school if their choice. Our constitution instructs to fund public schools never saying anything about private entities.

Michelle Real, Ms.

Self

Hutto, TX

I am opposed to this voucher scam. Please vote no.

Holly Ohlsson, Mrs.

Self

Katy, TX

As a mother to 4 children, 3 of whom have special education needs, ensuring my children and others have access to a free and appropriate public education is of the utmost importance. We chose our neighborhood based on the exemplary public schools and we have been willing to pay higher property taxes knowing that much of those taxes would go towards educating the next generation. This bill which would strip tens of millions of dollars from our school district would be a disaster for Texas families. Schools are already struggling to meet needs due to the legislature's failure to increase the basic allotment since 2019. This bill would do nothing but strip funds away from those who need it the most and put it into the hands of wealthy families who are already able to send their kids to private schools. This bill is not about choice. It only enhances the choice of those who already have money and would harm millions of Texas children. I strongly urge you to vote no on this legislation and instead focus on increasing the basic allotment, recruiting and retaining high quality teachers, and keeping our children safe. This bill would do none of that. Texans do not want this bill. We want publicly funded, free and appropriate education for our kids.

Kedra Priest

Self

Austin, TX

I do not support HB 3. As a former teacher who has taught in several school districts across Texas I am well aware of the funding gaps in various school districts. HB 3 is nothing more than a tax credit for wealthy families who live in urban areas where they can send their children to private schools. This bill does nothing to promote education for our youth and will lead to further harm to our already under resourced schools.

Robert Peipert

Self

Southlake, TX

I voted for tax dollars to only go to public schools not for public money to be distributed to anything else

Kelly Cline

Self

Austin, TX

I come from a family of public school educators. Six of them are or have worked as teachers in the Texas public school system. HB 3 will make their already difficult job more so. Texas public schools operate under dictates many of which are set by the state government that private schools do not have to operate under. It is alarming that private schools will receive $10,000 per student with no requirements for student outcomes while public schools get less than $7000 per student, but come with a host of requirements. Shifting money from public schools to private schools will further cripple the already underfunded public schools. Please vote against HB 3 and instead increase teacher pay so that public schools can retain well trained and dedicated teachers and bring up public school's per student funding to the same proposed $10,000 per student level that vouchers would give.

Rebecca Haigh

Self

Houston, TX

Our nation love freedom, but school vouchers do not equate to freedom. Quality education with equal access for everyone gains freedom for our citizens. Access to an excellent education allows our citizens the ability to assess and understand the world around us and make choices and decisions for the betterment of ourselves as Americans.

The people who are promoting the vouchers will tell you that it's better to have the freedom to choose than to focus funds solely on public schools. There are multiple reasons this is false.

First of all, public schools must meet the standards set by the government, while private schools are not held to a minimum standard. They are free to hire anyone as a teacher, including those unable to pass teachers certification exam.

The money that comes out of every tax payers pocket will be turned into vouchers for a private school that charges more for substandard education. Do the vouchers guarantee that everyone has equal access to all schools, or do the schools that are actually worth going to have the right to reject students?

Vouchers do not create equal access to quality education. Instead, it takes taxpayer dollars that could be fixing our public education system (which is equally accessible to all in the community); and puts it in the hands of subpar private schools.

If an individual has the funds to send their children to private school, or wants to do homeschool, that is their purgative. I want my tax dollars to fund an overhaul of our public schools. Let's make our school system one that Texans can be proud of!

As one of the most populated states, should we be middle of the road in education? We rank high in stability and economy, so why are our students not top of the nation!

The tech businesses claim they have to find talent outside the United States to staff their businesses. (We all know they just want to under pay for labor); but perhaps we should use all of the funding for education on a singular education system and perfect it.

If we have a strong pool of students that have the scores to gain hirer degrees, then there will be too great a pool of talent to justify giving exemptions to companies who want to be American, but not hire Americans.

Julie Nelson

Self

Midlothian, TX

NO to vouchers! Fund public schools as they should be funded!

Victor Peschke

Self- fire fighter

Dallas, TX

Please vote now against this voucher program. Public dollars for public schools.

Susan Stewart
Self
Pflugerville, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3 - It starves our constitutionally mandated public schools of funding that is needed to effectively educate the more than 5 million public school students in Texas. HB 3 threatens the solvency of TRS. HB 3 lacks accountability. HB 3 threatens the independence of our local, independent schools. HB 3 threatens Texas future by depriving more than 5 million public school students of an education that prepares them for the future. KILL HB 3

Diane Luna
Self- teacher
Round Rock, TX

My name is Diane Luna and I have been a public school teacher for 10 years in Texas. I am asking you to vote no on HB3 the school voucher bill. This bill will take money out of the public school system and put it into the private school system. Texans have lots of choice on where their children can go to school. Public money for public education. I would like you to use some of our State dollars to increase the annual student allotment and maintain our TRS retirement funds. We work incredibly hard to educate anyone who walks through our doors. You can help us do that by properly funding public schools. Thank you for serving all Texans.

Norma Moore
self
San Antonio, TX

Public education needs to be strong in order to see the future demands of our state and nation. There is already school choice with many public school districts providing various alternatives to accelerate scholarship and personal interests. I worked as a public school teacher for 25 years and found the state elective officials have asked teachers to be more accountable and to do more with less while asking very little of private schools in regards to accountability.

Zeb ULLOM, Mr.
Self
Granbury, TX

Going on record to say that I oppose HB3.

Roshni Varghese
Self-Teacher
Kyle, TX

My name is Roshni Varghese and I live in Kyle, Texas. I have been a public educator for 10 years. I am against this house bill as I do not believe public dollars should ever be used for private endeavours, especially within education. Public education provides so much to the students that come through their doors, a lot of which a private school has never been required to provide. All public dollars that have been allowed for education should go toward the betterment of our public schools. Having been in public education for the last 10 years I've seen how the lack of money has stopped us from hiring, from providing resources, from being able to afford trainings for our teachers to grow, and so much more.

This negatively effects the majority of Texan students, as most Texans attend public schools. Additionally, working in a more rural area, I know that private schools aren't an option for a lot of families, so why should money not be put toward the schools they do have?

I also have taught a high amount of special needs students in my career, and I know that these students would not be on acceptance lists of the private schools these public dollars would be going to. Our most vulnerable students are the ones who need the most, and the fact that "school choice" would not benefit them is further reason to be against this bill.

I hope and pray that the committee votes against this discriminatory bill, and show that they truly back the students and families of Texas.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Emily Cabral, Dr.

Self

Dallas, TX

I am writing to share my strong opposition to school vouchers. Vouchers are expensive and will gut already underfunded community schools and charter schools. School choice is NOT parent choice. Vouchers will not service the public good and will hurt children in special education and those experiencing poverty. Vouchers will further erode our democracy. Please do not support vouchers. It is not the will of the people or your constituents. Vouchers will hurt children and families and all people in Texas.

Sarah Lozano

Self - Educator

ROUND ROCK, TX

I am in my 18th year of teaching at a public elementary school. I have worked with some of the most dedicated teachers and hardest-working kids despite their financial situations. We have struggled with the lack of funding, but that didn't keep us from still doing our best. Instead of voting for vouchers that will hurt our children even more, I ask that you fund our public schools - the ones that serve ALL students and not just a chosen few. If Texans truly want this, why not put it to a statewide vote and ask the people you claim to represent? Do the right thing. Do the Christian thing, and take care of our children by funding public education and forgoing this voucher plan.

Jana Pellusch, Ms

Self - retired

Deer Park, TX

Why not simply fund the public schools, which serve everyone? Focus on getting enough resources into the public arena, which is especially critical in rural areas where there is not the same variety of choices that exists in urban areas.

I understand that House Bill 3 would tie the amount allocated for program participants to the state's per-pupil funding.

Isn't it the case that instituting a voucher system involves a whole new network of expenses in getting this program logistically set up and functioning?

I am in favor of taking the state's per-pupil funding amount and increasing it by, say, 5%, 10% ... whatever we can do under the current system.

Let's be smart about funding our public education system. Let's not mess around and screw it up!!!

Merzowski Diana

Self. Interior Designer

Dallas, TX

I oppose HB 3.

I support fully, and adequately funding public education.

Do NOT take our public dollars and divert them to the private schools, religions, parents sending their children to private schools, private school owners, nor private companies that will be hired to administer the program.

Keep our public dollars in the public schools and better yet, adequately fund them and the dedicated public school teachers.

Thank you,

Diana Merzowski

Elizabeth Knapp

Self, teacher

Sachse, TX

I oppose HB 3

William Gibbs, Mr

Self

TAYLOR, TX

Although I'm retired and the grandkids have graduated, I'm still concerned about the future of Public education. I feel like this bill is the first step to taking education away from those who may need it the most.

Anna Lamb

Wylie ISD

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Heather Cherry

Self

Aubrey, TX

I stand firm with Texas PTA as a parent in a school that is actually one that kids would be transferring into based on state scores.

Judy Holloway

Pastors For Texas Children

Ft Worth, TX

NO Vouchers

Ally Haefner

Self - lawyer

Plano, TX

We have four children, the oldest of which attends our wonderful neighborhood Plano ISD elementary school. We have an incredible school with an incredible staff who are already underpaid as it is. This HB takes away funding from my children's education and provides it to those who are choosing to pay for their own child's education for their own personal reasons. They have the resources to do this, while so many in the public school system (our family included) do not. Additionally, there is no check on how private schools establish their pricing. Thus, it's foreseeable that they will continue increasing their pricing while also receiving extra funds under this HB, making it more expensive to actually attend. Additionally, you would be providing less resources to public schools who need the funding because they are available for all to attend. This bill would require public schools to provide the same level of education at a lower cost, effecting teacher pay, which will directly effect retention of quality talent in the public school system. Then it's a dominos effect if you can't hire & retain quality teachers, the quality of education also takes a dive. As a dual income, middle class, large family, we cannot afford to spend inordinate amounts of money on our children's primary education, while also trying to save for their future (hopeful) college education. For those that make the choice to go the private/alternative school route for their families, the cost in part of that decision. This HB would effectively penalize those that intentionally choose public schools for their children. Thank you.

Erin Dutka

Myself

Houston, TX

I oppose HB 3. Public funds belong in PUBLIC EDUCATION!! We do not need discounts/coupons for people already sending their children to private schools. FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS!

William Philips
Father of special needs children
Austin, TX

I do not support this bill. It will be ruinous for public educations as it syphons off big dollars from public schools to private schools. Private schools are opaque, not having to abide by educational standards and can discriminate in enrollment of children of special needs and others. Point is they are private so can run their school without complying to policies and standards placed on Public schools. If public dollars are funneled to this organizations, bills must be passed to ensure private schools are held to account for educating our children. That is missing. In the meantime Public dollars SHOULD NOT GO TO private schools!

Felicia Zimmer
Self
Murphy, TX

I OPPOSE SCHOOL VOUCHERS

Claudia Quintero
Myself and family
Belton, TX

No vouchers

Sara Patterson
Self/volunteer
San Antonio, TX

Good afternoon. I am the product of both public (10 yrs) and private (2 yrs) schools in Dallas. My children were educated in public schools in San Antonio. I am opposed to HB 3. Public dollars should remain in public schools. It is fiscally irresponsible to divert dollars that are so desperately needed in public education to private schools.

Those in the legislature who support ESAs say these accounts would allow for parent choice. However, parent choice already exists in Texas - through public, private, charter, or home schools.

Sending public funds to a private school with religious affiliation would violate the principle of separation of church and state, as set forth in the U.S. Constitution. It would also violate the principle that prohibits a government from establishing of religion is ESA money is sent to a school with religious ties.

Public schools in Texas are underfunded as it is. Using a billion dollars (or more, in the future) to fund vouchers would only lead to the closure of more campuses across the state. What about rural school districts with little to no access to private schools? How would a voucher help them?

I implore you, Chairman Buckley & committee, to vote NO on HB 3.

Representatives Hinojosa & Talarico, thank you for your support of public education in our state. Our kids depend on you.

Janis Northcott, Mrs
Self/ESL Teacher Canadian ISD
Canadian, TX

I oppose HB 3! Vouchers will take money away from public schools that are already struggling, especially rural schools. Please fully & adequately fund public education. Most Texans oppose the voucher system!!!

Marian Thompson

Self

Austin, TX

Vote NO on HB3! Our schools are already suffering from lack of proper funding. My daughter's school is taking apart. Please fund the schools we already have. The last time we need is to take funding away from public schools. Give out teachers raises!

BONIFACE JACOBS

AFT

DALLAS, TX

This Republican supports this Bill ... BUT ONLY after FIRST fully funding the per pupil (which hasn't been raised since before the pandemic) AND teacher pay raises of $12,000. Neither the Per Pupil or Teacher Pay has kept pace with inflation much less added to either schools or teachers. FIRST Teacher Pay! SECOND Per Pupil! THIRD Vouchers!

Christina Drake, Mrs.

Self

Austin, TX

I, like most Texans, do not support school vouchers. Private institutions should not be funneling funds away from our public schools. Instead of dismantling public schools, please just invest in them.

Jutta Biggerstaff

Grandmother

Blanco, TX

I oppose HB 3

Georganna Lujin

Harrison Intermediate PTA

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3.

Eduardo Marquez

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose hb3

lori Peniche

self retired lawyer

Dallas, TX

No, no and no again to school vouchers. Taking my taxpayer money away from public schools and using it to fund private schools is just wrong and un-American. The vouchers are just a gift to wealthy parents who can well afford public schools without my tax dollars.

Jena Trione, School secretary

Self

Arlington, TX

This would affect everything, why would we pay for private school when that is a choice by the parents. It is not a choice made lightly by parents. If someone wants their child sent to a different school it is understood that they pay for it. I own my home and pay a lot in taxes. If my kid funding is cut to pay for private school it would be disastrous and cut all areas of school from sports, arts, and education.

Allison McFarland

Self-parent

Plano, TX

I oppose HB 3!

Carma Schellhorn, Retired Texas Public School Principal self... retired Texas Public School Principal

Mansfield, TX

OPPOSE this bill!!! KEEP all Texas Tax Dollars funding TEXAS PUBLIC SCHOOLS... do NOT vote for vouchers!!

Lauren Witt

Self, Finance & Accounting Recruiter

GRAND PRAIRIE, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. This bill undermines local control and threatens to divert essential funding from our public schools. Our children deserve fully funded schools with qualified teachers, smaller class sizes, and access to necessary resources—not policies that shift much-needed funds away from public education. As a constituent and taxpayer, I urge you to reject HB 3 and prioritize the needs of our students and teachers. Protect our public schools!

Lauren Witt

Kelli Agnew

Self

Garland, TX

I oppose HB 3

Elizabeth Maldonado

Self

Frisco, TX

No school vouchers. Against providing any tax money to for profit private schools. Do not take public funds away from public schools. At the very minimum, bring this to the November ballot and let Texans vote!

Delaina Sims

self retired teacher

Wills Point, TX

Dear Public Education Committee Members, I am expressing my total opposition to HB3. Sending public tax dollars to private schools is outrageous, especially when our public schools are so drastically under-funded. We need more funds for Texas Public Schools so that we can provide an excellent education to all students from pre-K through 12th grade. Schools are over-burdened with unfair rules, regulations, and mandates that Texas Legislators have imposed on them. In America, Texas included, we provide a free public education in order to produce educated citizens. I propose that we increase State public school funding to at least $8,000 per student so that all students have a fair chance to succeed in life. Parents will keep the choice to choose a private or secular school, but it should not be with our tax dollars.

Pam Karter

Self/ retired teacher

Houston, TX

Do not pass school vouchers! They will bankrupt the public school system and Teacher Retirement as well. It only gives money to the rich and won't help disabled students. Bad idea from the start.

Rhonda Bentura

None

Buda, TX

I am against school vouchers. Public schools must be prioritized and adequately funded. I do not support vouchers, bring to the public for a special election so that voices can be heard.

Robert Horn

self/teacher & member of ATPE

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3. This bill will destroy the public education system in Texas. The bill is only going to benefit the wealthy because they can afford to enroll their kids in the private sector; this will be a discount for the wealthy. I do not want my tax dollars or state funding helping the wealthy. Private schools do not have to go by SPED or 504 accommodations & modifications; this will apply another roadblock for students needing these services. The private sector is also going to raise tuition based on principles of supply and demand. An average family income will not be able to afford to attend the private sector because the amount allocated by the state will not be enough. The private sector will not be required to meet the demands of state testing like the public schools; so there will not be expectations for the private sector to have ratings based on STAAR scores. Teachers in public schools are possibly going to lose jobs because of lack of funding, and not to mention funding for TRS. I hope that our legislature considers the long term impacts of this decision. I oppose HB3!

David Franssen

Self

Lufkin, TX

Vouchers are socialism

Beth Daines

Self

Castle Hills, TX

Vote against vouchers! Fully fund our public schools!

Stephanie Rix

Self

Burleson, TX

I whole heartedly disagree with this bill!!! Parents already have the choice on where to send their children. These vouchers would just widen the gap between privileged kids and the struggling ones. Instead the state should take the "excess funds" in the state budget and put that back into the public school districts. There should be no reason a state like Texas is in the bottom 10 states in education and this bill will just make it worse. Please, please, please DO NOT PASS THIS BILL!!!! Please listen to your constituents, if you actually did you'd hear that most of them DO NOT WANT THIS BILL!!!

Also, I would look into what sort of bribery Governor Abbott has committed to "get the votes he needs"

Kathryn Pokladnik, Miss

Self, retired

Irving, TX

I don't agree. I want funds to go to public schools

Brittini Coe
Self, Volunteers Manager
Denton, TX

I would like to encourage public representatives to vote " no" on HB 3 as I opposed HB3. The socioeconomic divided has widened in the last several days , public schools are a place where students of different socioeconomic backgrounds, and religions are able to mix and get to know one another in a system that mimics what adult life will entail. Plus, the oversite of charter schools leaves much to be desired. Are Texas State Representatives assuming that less funding will fix the public schools' dismal performance? I refuse to pay for a student to go to a school that does not teach science, is able to use government funded grants to reject students at will based on arbitrary categories that would allow segregation of students to begin anew. I am happy to use my tax dollars to support an education system that is open, and accessible to all students, irrespective of income but am categorically opposed to school vouchers for parents who just want to opt their students out of the public school experience. There is a reason the Republicans have had to wheel, deal, and cut state Democrats out of the process, to get the process this far. Multiple special sessions, and late nights, and threats from Abbott were unsuccessful because it does not represent what the majority of Texans have expressed desire for. However, par for the course yet again, whether it is reproductive rights, teacher support, or public schools, Republicans do not care what they have to do to get their way. Alienating folks that live here is part of the cost of doing business in our state.

Mary Beth Magallanes
Self
Spring, TX

I do not want this bill to go forward. Vouchers will hurt public schools. My priority is public schools.

Patricia Thompson, Mrs
self/retired
Farmers Branch, TX

Vote NO on HB 3. I oppose House Bill 3
I unequivocally oppose school vouchers and an education savings account program that would all the use of public funds for private or at-home schooling.

Sylvia Bodell
self - self-employed
Dallas, TX

VOTE NO! Strongly oppose school vouchers - using public funds for private schools is wrong and not acceptable.

Daniel Morales
self
Houston, TX

A decade ago the jury used to be out on whether vouchers hurt or harmed learning. The jury is now in and it is absolutely clear from every study on the subject that vouchers harm learning and are waste of public resources. Not only do they harm learning but vouchers amount to a subsidy to my wealthy one percenter neighbors who send their children to private school. How is that remotely fair or right? How does that use of public funds comport with the Texas constitution? The one percenters behind this bill just want a pliant poorly-educated public taught by scared, poor teachers--all the better to continue to extract resources from the citizens of the state. Shame on anyone who votes for this bill.

Shelly Redmond
Wylie ISD
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Veronica Lindsey
Socorro AFT
EL PASO, TX

Please do NOT vote for the ESA program or vouchers. These are a one-way siphon of Texas money away from Texas public schools without ANY way for parents to change their minds and return any unused ESA or voucher funds back to public schools when parents change their minds during the school year prior to the accountability date in October. It is an unfair one way siphoning

Juliet N Smith
self
Austin, TX

I'm a retired teacher of 36 years in public schools. I have volunteered in a private school after retirement. My opinion over the years and based on many situations is that public schools offer such a variety of opportunities that are difficult to find in a private school. Our public schools are a vital source for all children. Vouchers will not supply what many think they will. I live in Austin and the handful of private schools is very selective and many children are not accepted. Also in rural areas there is not a choice between public and private schools especially for special needs students. Also, in small towns the public schools form a special community. I strongly recommend we support all children by addressing the needs of public school instead of vouchers!

Brittany Lehning
McMillan Junior High School PTA
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

De Anna Mondy
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

tara Johnson
self bulverde, TX

School vouchers will be given to private institutions without an transparency or accountability for results. They will undermine public education, shift resources to private schools that are not accountable to taxpayers, and potentially exacerbate inequalities in education access.

Greg Snyder, MR
Self
Austin, TX

I have read a lot about this bill and I just cannot support it. I have heard the argument in favor of it, but I just don't believe that it serves the students and citizens of Texas. Education is a public good and our system could use help, but help will not come if we take money out of the school budgets and give it to private schools. That will only drain resources that the schools need to operate their facilities and pay their teachers. It also seems extremely unfair to allow that money to be given to private schools who are under no obligation to accept students who wish to use accounts to attend. And on top of that for the schools that receive our public money to not have to adhere to the same standards as our public schools just isn't right. It seems like there aren't enough guardrails to prevent scammers and bad actors from taking advantage of the system. From what I have read about other states that have enacted these types of programs, the budgets for them balloon and put a huge tax burden on the constituents or force the states to make cuts to other essential services like parks libraries. I believe we need to refocus our attention on bolstering our public schools, raising teacher pay to attract and retain top quality teachers, and fully funding any mandates that come from the state like testing and security. Let's not sacrifice a generation of kids so that the wealthier among us can have another tax break.

Elisabeth Belile

--None--

Austin, TX

As the parent of a "twice exceptional" (aka both gifted + learning disabilities) student, public school has been a game-changer. Children K-12 who need accommodations for learning differences, due to any type of disability, deserve the education that only a public school can offer. Parents in Texas have the right to choose how and where to educate their kids. When education is left up to a private entity, parents lose their ability to advocate for their children, because private entities are under no obligation to meet the student's needs, especially when they require Special Education, an IEP, or even "just" a 504 that sets them up for success in the classroom and in life. Taxpayer dollars are public funds, and should only be directed toward public schools. The ESA program being proposed here will only serve the already-resourced families who have chosen private school, as is their right, but not where I want my hard-earned tax dollars going. It will drain desperately needed (and long-ago promised!) funds from public education, and children will suffer. Supposedly Texas is modeling the ESA plan on Arizona's program, which has bankrupted that state. There are no safeguards to keep that from happening here, and it is terrifying. The ability to advocate and negotiate, with the full strength of the law behind us parents of kids who utilize special ed services, is why I continue to choose the public school system that gives my child what no other schooling has. In private school, my child was left to struggle when they needed help. I had no recourse to enforce the accommodations we'd asked for and that were needed. That is not the case in public school. I urge you all to take the time to listen to your constituents from all across Texas, the vast majority of whom are strongly opposed to this bill and ESAs. It's not just that it will destroy our public education system by draining and diverting its already-dwindling resources, exactly like Arizona, it will disenfranchise kids w/ "extra" needs by eliminating transparency and accountability. Please vote "no" on this ill-considered, wrong-headed bill that will disempower parents and leave our children behind.

Michael Wei, Dr

Self

Round Rock, TX

Dear Committee members,

"My name is Michael Wei, and I am writing to you today to express my profound opposition to House Bill 3. My personal story underscores the transformative power of public education.

I was born in a small village, where educational opportunities were limited. It was public education that opened doors for me, allowing me to become the first college graduate from my village and the first PhD in my family. This achievement, and the opportunities it created, are a direct result of accessible, quality public education.

My family chose to build our life here in Texas specifically because of the promise of top-tier education for our children. Round Rock ISD, for example, is a beacon of excellence in Central Texas. HB3 directly threatens the very foundation of this excellence. This bill will inevitably lead to a decrease in public school enrollment, triggering a catastrophic defunding of our already struggling public education system. Our schools are already facing a financial crisis. To add another layer of deprivation would be devastating. Consider the reality my daughter faces: due to funding shortages, her 7th and 8th grade math classes have been merged, resulting in a significant drop in educational quality. This is not an isolated incident. HB3 will exacerbate these problems across the state.

Furthermore, HB3 proposes to divert taxpayer funds to private schools without any meaningful accountability. We demand transparency and measurable results from our public schools, and rightly so. Yet, this bill offers no such safeguards for private institutions receiving public money. This opens the door to waste, abuse, and the unchecked misallocation of precious tax dollars. Texas simply cannot afford to create two separate and unequal educational systems. We have seen the disastrous consequences of voucher programs in states like Arizona, where they led to severe financial crises. We must learn from their mistakes and avoid repeating them here.

Ultimately, this is not about politics; it is about the future of our children. We must not allow political agendas to compromise the fundamental right to a quality public education. Our children deserve better. I urge you to reject House Bill 3 and prioritize the investment in and strengthening of our public schools, which are the cornerstone of a thriving Texas.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Michael Wei

William Peterson
self
HIGHLAND VILLAGE, TX

No vouchers!

Leigh Foreman
Yourself
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Leigh Foreman

Elizabeth Trimble Educators
Arlington, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas.

We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Sarah Landa
self
Austin, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education

Tiffany Wise
Self
Mineral Wells, TX

If we were to get this bill passed will the state government have more control over the way Homeschooling parents teach their children? The whole idea of Homeschooling is to teach our children what they need to know for life not what a teacher who knows nothing about the child what they want to teach them and 30-40 other children at the same time. We already get a curriculum that is required education. While it's not cheap, they can still learn just like the other kids in less time and not like a prison system.

Catherine Bibb, Mrs.
Self / self employed
Lubbock, TX

I oppose HB 3. I oppose ESAs (and any form of vouchers) and I ask you to fully and adequately fund public education. ESAs create segregation, weaken our public education system, and waste tax payer money with zero accountability. At a minimum, the basic allotment must increase by $1,000 to catch up with inflation and provide adequately funding for our public schools.

Allyson Bell
Self, elementary school principal
Red Oak, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Haley DeLaGarza
Self
Houston, TX

Please do not enact HB 3. As a leader in higher education, a parent of three school age children, and a lifelong Texan who has attended both private and public schools in our state, I can assure you that HB 3 will not improve the education of students in Texas. Families already have the choice of where to educate their children. They already have the ability to open a savings account for education. HB 3 will rob the most vulnerable populations and thwart the longstanding educational goals of our state. Please choose
To support public education; our students depend on it.

Joshua Kulak, Rev. Dr.
Self
Austin, TX

I am a product of public education in Texas—an education system where my grandfather, father, sister, and sister-in-law have all given of their time, talent, and energy to ensure that every child in Texas has an opportunity to learn and to succeed. This program will undermine their service and will take away that opportunity from countless children by diverting public funds from public schools. Please listen to the voices of your constituents and oppose this bill.

Annalisa ONeal

Leander ISD

Leander, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS!! We want FUNDING for our PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!! there needs to be a $1300 basic allotment for children in school!! Please VOTE NO!!!! FUND OUR SCHOOLS!!!!

Danne Thompson

self

Buchanan Dam, TX

I am so disappointed that this mess is even getting a public hearing! it reminds me of how the ACA ACT was passed. "we have to pass it before we can understand what's in it." I'm sure the globalists are pressuring you to pass this junk, but rest assured, Texans of BOTH parties are against the voucher scam. there is nothing conservative about increasing the size, power, and budget of a failed government agency. NOTHING. There is nothing progressive about giving tax dollars to private, religious schools. Again, NOTHING. it just shines a light of truth that yes, we are an oligarchy ruled by billionaires from the World Economic Forum. Please kill this bill.

Gwen Steele

Self-retired teacher

Burleson, TX

This will wreck public education. It will almost entirely benefit the rich who can already afford private education. Vote no.

Terri Glover

Myself

Mabank, TX

Please do not pass this bill it creates a greater disinvestment and does nothing to help our schools. Only the wealthy will benefit from this. Thank you.

Mark Anderson

BCiSD

Orange, TX

Please fund public Schools. Increase allotment and no to Vouchers. Parents have School Choice now.

Avery Sifferman

Self, student

Plano, TX

Please vote NO on public school vouchers. They dilute essential support for public schools, whose funding is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution that you swore an oath to support and defend. There are more than 5,000,000 children in public schools. At most, vouchers will only benefit about 10% of the Texas school children. We all know that "parent choice" is a false flag to hide the real agenda of privatization and support of private religious schools. The concern about uncertified teachers in public schools is magnified in home schooling. The past practice of underfunding (no increase since 2019) is consistent with handicapping public schools. The proposed increased support of $210 per student is insulting, insufficient, and insignificant. That is clearly inadequate when the proposed diversion to private schools is $10,000 per student.

Thank you for taking the steps necessary to effect the improved education for the State's public school children that you claim, esp. when the federal government threatens to withdraw its support. Please protect education for our children and the future of our great state. Your vote will be observed closely.

Shana Vourazeris

Self

Midland, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Stephanie Apple

Self

Austin, TX

PLEASE do not pass! Passing this will siphon public dollars away from our public schools?!?! How will this possibly help the majority?!

Brenda Newsom

Quanah ISD

Quanah, TX

Save the Rural schools

Gretchen Spieler

Self

Leander, TX

Our children, all of our children, are the future of Texas. We already have school choice and holding OUR money hostage for a school voucher program that strips money away and would harm 5 1/2 million of our children is disgraceful. Texas public schools are already historically underfunded and not because we don't have the funds. We have the money to make our public schools top notch, pay our public school teachers the salary worthy of those molding our states future, and make education in Texas a top priority. No to school vouchers. Release the funds to our public schools as they are supposed to be. And stop wasting valuable time on issues like this, and maybe focus on making our schools safer. School vouchers harm Texas children.

Stephanie Blakeman

Teachers of Texas- FISSD

Mckinney, TX

Do not let this pass!! This is awful for public schools!!!

Kelly Manske

Self

Sugar Land, TX

As a parent of two children in Texas Public School, I strongly oppose HB3 because we already have plenty of other choices in our schools instead of vouchers. My son has autism and I am very thankful and satisfied with the support he receives in our public schools. I do not want to see any funds in schools taken away from our rural and low income students. The disparity and gap in education will grow wider in this state with privatization. We need to support and fund our schools more under our existing programs and choices. Thank you!

Mark Jack

Self

Aledo, TX

Please do not pass this legislation. This is not a good bill for ALL schools or Texans. The minority this will help is insignificant. Tell me how this bill will help rural schools in the Panhandle or West Texas. It will not!

Tara Key
Self
Spring Branch, TX

Please save public education! Vouchers would kill rural schools and increase the divide for the majority of students. There is lack of accountability, exacerbating inequality, and a major potential for discrimination. Our future deserves better.

Stephanie Chamberlin
Self
Lewesville, TX

I do not believe the bill will be benefiting to the community and should not pass as there is already a lack of funding to public school for there to be more taken

Michelle Johnson
Self
Azle, TX

Our money needs accountability!!!! Fully fund public education. Let Texans vote on vouchers.

Chevonne Lorigo-Johst
Pflugerville ISD
Pflugerville, TX

Good morning Representative Buckley and House Public Education Committee Members. My name is Chevonne Lorigo-Johst, I am a school board trustee for Pflugerville ISD as well as a mother to 5 public school children. Thank you all for being here to do the important work of our great state.

I am writing to voice my opposition to House Bill 3, which proposes education savings accounts, also known as vouchers. I am a firm believer that public dollars should be allocated to fund public schools. Public schools are facing significant financial challenges, including the impacts of inflation, inadequate ADA funding, the need for mental health resources in the aftermath of the pandemic, a substantial deficit in special education funding, and largely underfunded mandates for safety and security. If we have additional treasury funds due to our budget surplus, it would be more beneficial for communities—rural and urban alike—to invest in public schools, raise the per student allotment by $1,300, move to enrollment based funding, add a COLA, and fully fund special education, mental health services, meaningful teacher and staff raises, retirement benefits, and safety and security requirements.

I believe there is already choice within public education, and with increased funding, we can offer even greater opportunities in areas such as the arts, athletics, STEM, gifted and talented programs, dual language, CTE, and more. Public schools are accepting of all students, providing 504 services, and fostering a sense of community, all while maintaining elected oversight, accountability, and performance reporting. This is simply good governance of our tax payers' hard earned money at work.

Private schools, while valuable options for some families, are not required to accept all students, and they are under no legal obligation to accommodate students with disabilities. Additionally, they lack accountability to the public regarding how funds are spent or how students and educators perform. It is not school choice, but rather the school's choice on who they will and will not educate.

I am also concerned about the long-term fiscal health of our state. Education savings accounts have the potential for significant financial implications once implemented. Many Texans value fiscal stewardship and accountability for the contributions they make to their communities. While I believe our representatives have good intentions, it has not gone unnoticed that our governor has received record donations from individuals who stand to benefit financially from these savings accounts. I hope our state's children and their futures are not being compromised to enrich out-of-state donors.

Let us strengthen our communities and uphold the principles of our state constitution by directing public funds toward supporting and improving our public school system that serves and supports all children. Thank you for your time.

Sarah Mayo
Self
Cedar Park, TX

Public education is critical for the wellbeing of students in Texas and without fully funded public education our students suffer. The voucher program is not enough to fully fund private, not to mention students still are not guaranteed they will get accepted to private nor do all students have access to private based on where they live. Taking critical funds from public to boost up these vouchers under the guise of school choice is hurtful to the millions of Texas children who rely on and CHOOSE public education. Governor Abbott does not speak for me, or many around me who oppose what the choice program will do to public education. I am a public high school substitute teacher and proud parent of two students in public high school and I can attest whole heartedly that what our public school students need more than anything is for their education to be fully funded; NOT for what little resources their school has to be stripped further at their expense. Thank you for voting against HB3

Kenneth Camp
Self
Garland, TX

I urge you to OPPOSE HB 3. While the proponents of the education savings account plan don't like to call them "vouchers," they function in a very similar manner. Public funds benefit private schools, many of which are religious—a violation of the separation of church and state. Payments are directed by parents but sent directly to the schools.

As a Baptist Christian, I do not want public funds sent to a Muslim school. I do not want my Buddhist neighbors to have their tax dollars sent to support a Catholic parochial school. I do not want my Muslim neighbors to have their tax dollars sent to support a Jewish school. I do not want my Jewish neighbors to have their tax dollars sent to support an evangelical Christian school. Thomas Jefferson was right. It is "sinful and tyrannical" for the government to require citizens to financially support religious beliefs contrary to their own.

I believe all available funds in Texas should be used to strengthen the public schools that educate 98 percent of the children in our state.

I don't want to see any kind of private school voucher program in Texas, because I believe it will hurt the public schools. However, if the House believes it must pass some sort of school voucher program, I urge you to see that it is limited in scope, with provisions that (1) protect religious liberty and the separation of church and state by limiting funds to nonsectarian private schools; (2) limit participation to genuinely needy families; and (3) links the creation of any ESA program directly to guaranteed increases in funds for public schools.

Lauren Cafferty, Ms
PTA and Self
Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

If you truly strongly believe the people of Texas want to divert public funds from public schools, please allow Texas voters to prove that by adding ESAs to a ballot in a public election.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Susan Gravette
Self, Homemaker
Austin, TX

Public schools are essential to educating all Texans and ensuring strong rural communities. Keep tax dollars where they belong in PUBLIC schools and not in the hands of Ms of already wealthy families in PRIVATE schools. I oppose this bill.

Jennifer Burkett

self

Houston, TX

I am in favor of vouchers, but I find it unfair that the amount of money that is proposed to give to private schools is higher than the amount given to public schools. If public schools received 10,000 a student (that which is being proposed for private schools), they could improve the public schools. Some of the problem with the public school is a lack of funding. Teachers are underpaid and leaving the profession. We are left with sub par teachers. Texas schools underperform because they are underfunded. We need to make sure that public schools get the same funding that a student would get to go to a private school

Teanna Kiker

Self / concerned citizen

Houston, TX

All I can say is if there is a voucher program, the $ amount PER STUDENT MUST BE EQUAL. Private schools should NOT get $10,000 per student while public schools receive $6500. That is WRONG. Public schools actually need more than private schools because the public school must provide additional assistance to those who need it. At minimum the amount per student must be equal. Otherwise, this will kill the success of our public schools system. Our public school teachers NEED raises! And I'm not talking about 2%. They put in SO MUCH MORE time than their "contract time". So if you want great teachers, or even decent teachers, you need to increase their pay to compensate them for EVERYTHING they do outside of contract time, even though it is required outside of their contract time. If you do not increase teacher pay, no one will want to teach and if you do not increase funding to equal private school funding per student, Texas will not have a public school system to be proud of. Our future leaders educated in Texas will be short changed. Pass this bill ONLY if teachers get a reasonable raise and each student is funded equally.

Jaime Jaramillo

Self

Shallowater, TX

I vehemently oppose this bill

Marissa Javid

Self - account executive

Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers. Public funding belongs in public schools.

Leah Davies

Self

Austin, TX

As a Texas parent of a public school student, former student of Texas public schools, and proponent of children and families, I strongly oppose HB3 and request that the committee votes no on its passage.

School choice already exists in Texas, no one is trying to limit the rights of Texas families to choose what works best for their children. However, the subsidization of private schools at the cost of dismantling public education is unacceptable. There are many children who attend public schools because communities love their neighborhood schools and teachers. Other families do not have capacity or interest in attending private schools, even with ESAs.

As a social worker and former public school teacher, I know that Texas public schools would struggle to thrive without adequate support, and HB3 would hasten that process of stripping them of vital resources. The supports in HB2 are insufficient and HB3 is insulting. Let's ask ourselves, what would public schools be capable if we fully funded them?

I would hope that the people's elected legislators can understand that all of Texas's children deserve to access free, appropriate public education. This is especially important for children with disabilities and/or special healthcare needs who are regularly discriminated against in the private school system.

An educated populace is critical to community health and economic prosperity. Texans remain steadfast in our opposition to stealing from Texas public schools to give families with wealth a discount for private school costs with our tax dollars. Do right by ALL of your constituents, and vote no on HB3.

Deborah Thomas

self/teacher-librarian

Georgetown, TX

Fund our public schools, Protect TRS (Teacher Retirement System) say no to vouchers!!! No matter how you present this, it is not good for public schools. Why are private school students more valuable than public school students?? Having a voucher does not mean you will be admitted to private school. Tell the parents working multiple jobs to feed their families why their money should provide a private education for someone else. This is shameful!!

Judy LOKEY

self

Houston, TX

School vouchers. I am opposed to school vouchers because of separation of church and state as well as taking funding away from public schools. If a child is not thriving in a public school, there could be an avenue to apply for a voucher based on individual circumstances. I have a granddaughter with ADD who was not doing well in the public school in Yoakum with poor resources in the public school. Her parents are low income but needed to place her in a private, church based, school and she is doing very well. These are the only type of students that should receive vouchers.

Lisa Casillas

Self

Fort Worth, TX

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Please say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Karen Johns

Self-teacher

Andrews, TX

This is NOT the answer for improving public education!

Frank Netscher
Self - web developer
Austin, TX

Passing this will kill rural jobs and education, high school football, teacher retention, and will increase government fraud and inefficiency. It will defund your own pension plans.

Courtney Garrett
self, Librarian/GT Teacher
Plainview, TX

1 Billion dollars for 100,000 students in HB3 and SB2.
8 Billion dollars for 5.5 million students and 400,000 teachers in HB2.
12.5% as much money for 1.2% of the students and 0% of the teachers.
That is a waste of taxpayer money.

The bottom line is you get what you pay for. If you want better public education with more certified teachers, then put your money there. If you want EVERY child to be successful, then put your money where 98% of students can be positively affected.

Here's what the $220 basic allotment increase would look like in my district:
We have 402 students PK-12.
We have 107 district employees.
If 40% of the $220 will go to teachers, that means $88 will be for raises.
 $$88 \text{ times } 402 \text{ students} = $35,376.$

If you are going to count I&S and M&O money as part of funding, then we need to include all of those people who take care of buildings in the raises as well. If you are claiming it is for EVERY student and EVERY teacher, then include them all.

$$35,376 \text{ divided by } 107 \text{ employees} = $330.16.$
On average, our district employees will get a raise of $330.16.
That is less than my daily rate. It is unlikely that $330 will even cover the increase in insurance for next year.

Let's try that with a $1,300 raise in the basic allotment.
 $40\% \text{ of } $1,300 = \520
 $$520 \text{ times } 402 \text{ students} = $209,040$
 $$209,040 \text{ divided by } 107 = $1,953.64$

Make some real decisions and take some real stands. It is long past time to support and fully fund public education.

Luz Andrade
Self
Channelview, TX

I DO NOT want my money to go to Privacy School, if someone wants their kids to go to a private school let them work two jobs to put them through school. Also that my tax money and I only want it to be used to pay for public school. I don't want my money to go to the rich. My money will only go to public schools only!!!

Ashton Smith
Self
Schertz, TX

Vote no-keep our public school fully funded and vouchers out of our state. Public school teachers must be paid a fair wage without strings of getting this passed. We do not want funding coming away from public schools, please listen to the people.

Cynthia Hughes

Self

Leander, TX

It's difficult for me to understand why our elected officials continue to ignore their constituents and what their constituents want. We do not want vouchers. This will drain money from the public education system. This will affect TRS in a negative way. Texas is at the bottom when it comes to school funding. We have not seen an increase to the basic allotment since 2019 and now you are proposing $200? Does the house not understand the significant amount of inflation that has happened in the last couple of years we are demanding that at least $1300 be added to the basic allotment. It is your constitutional duty to fully fund public education, please do your jobs. This voucher program you are proposing will only affect 1.5% of Texas students. What about the other 5.5 million? I am not in favor of vouchers. This is welfare for the wealthy. It is disappointing that our Texas politicians allow out of state influence to dictate how we do things in Texas. Please fully fund public education and vote. No on vouchers. The people of Texas have had it with these games.

Paula Kent, Dr.

Self

Leonard, TX

As a conservative Republican I request that you not allow the Governor to strong arm you into passing a voucher bill that Texans, including conservative Republicans do not want. This will weaken our public schools and will not expand choice. Private schools do not have to accept the students that are difficult to educate, only public schools do that. Taking money from them to provide a coupon for wealthy families' private school tuition will make the job harder. Do not waste my tax dollars on this travesty. Rather, invest in our public schools. They do an extremely difficult job that is critical to the health and wealth of our great state. Fund them and vote "no" on vouchers.

Erin Greene

self

Kingwood, TX

Good morning! My name is Erin Greene and I am a long time Republican and I am against HB3. Vote NO to this bill. Presently, I am a tutor in my community for struggling students. In the bill it references tutor at least eight times and has requirements for a tutor. Would this mean I would have to register and be on an approved list by the comptroller in order to tutor a child? Throughout the bill, the general direction seems to be to control every aspect of a child's education rather than freedom to choose for parents. This is why I left teaching because it was more about controlling the narrative rather than teaching the children how to read, write, and learn math. During the last couple of months, I have observed through articles and news stories the governor attacking former rural representatives and replacing them with ones that will vote for school choice. Furthermore, Abbott's Facebook page reflects a majority of the responses not supporting HB3. If this is such a good idea why is Abbott pushing so hard to pass the bill. Finally, school choice sounds like a wonderful solution to the failing public schools which was created by failed legislation; however, when one researches the issue it is very clear that it has a different goal entirely. Eventually, curriculum will be controlled by the state and all education will be the same. This has happened in other states such as Arizona, Florida, Maine, and Alaska. This will not happen immediately but over time. Recently, I spoke with a home school mom from Alaska and she informed me that friends of hers accepted the money and after a time they had to teach curriculum mandated by the state. Call it what you like strings or guard rails, state controlled curriculum is the end result of school choice not parent empowerment.

Henry Lutz

Self/Security Director

Sabinal, TX

Please FULLY fund public schools. Invest in our public school teachers and students. Our public schools are way underfunded, many operating with deficit budgets. Our hardworking teachers are terribly underpaid. Please support our PUBLIC school systems and quit wasting time and effort on private schools that do not have to meet the same standards and requirements as public schools. As a taxpayer, I do not support giving my tax dollars to a private school or entity or in any way supporting private schools. Thank you for your time.

Kari Ramos

Self

Dalhart, TX

This is theft from public schools

Yolanda Fuentes, Kinder Garden Teacher

Self , retired

Austin, TX

Vehemently oppose the bill.

It will damage public schools education

Darby Tobolka

Self / public school educator

Austin, TX

Public funds need to stay in public schools! No one in Texas wants vouchers! Quit taking money from voucher pushing billionaires! It's not wanted here. Look at all the other places it has been and failed! We do not want this for Texas! All students deserve an education. We currently already have school choice and maybe we should publicize that a little more.

June Williams

Self

Georgetown, TX

Vote no to reflect the opinions of our household.

Danya Lira

Self teacher

Victoria, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Marianne Shivers

Self/Parent

Austin, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB3 and school vouchers. Please support our public schools and increase public school funding to keep pace with inflation at minimum.

Nadia Khan

Self

Austin, TX

In a PTA meeting last week, teachers expressed that many staff cannot afford food by the end of the month, and how grateful they are to parents for bringing snacks, and occasionally pizza, to the break room. One staff member said it was like kids in a candy shop. The mood after that was somber, and many parents broke down trying to express their frustration with the state for underfunding schools. Many parents didn't understand why our full time teachers aren't being paid enough to afford food. Do you understand?

Texans assume we are taxed to support public schools, and yet many struggle with basic needs.

Our teachers and staff can't afford to eat. Please sit with that. Full-time employees, that educate 11 of 12 Texas children, are hungry because they can't afford food by the end of the month, since we're not paying them enough, despite doing the most important job - teaching our kids.

I strongly oppose to the use of vouchers and ESAs as a new means to fund education. These programs DO divert resources from the public system, and undermine the education of all kids, including those in private and home schools relying on public evaluations. If we have extra funds, why aren't our public schools well funded? Private school leaders are not interested in vouchers either. They know it's not sustainable. The State hasn't even curbed the abuse of public funds going to Charter CEOs. Don't put more funds towards systems that are not held accountable for using our tax dollars wisely.

In addition, I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $8,000: Make TX a leader in the country. Teachers and staff don't currently earn enough to make it through the end of the month. (Adults need food to be patient humans with our kids. Basic need.) The system has not seen an increase in dollars from the state since 2011.
2. TIE the Basic Allotment to COST OF LIVING in each district: You can use recapture to rob from Peter to pay Paul, but all signs indicate that Peter is now starving. Purchasing power for staff, goods, and services vary widely across districts, causing pockets of wealth and famine. With a basic allotment that doesn't account for cost of living, no fixed amount will ever cover the cost of education equitably across all regions of this State.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually automatically based on inflation rates, to ensure funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining purchasing power over time.
4. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
5. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates - safety, special ed, and bilingual services, to avoid placing additional burdens on schools that impact every student.

In your hands,

Nadia Khan

Heather Motzny

Self- campus principal

Cypress, TX

I do not support vouchers. Please fund public education.

Lynda Mathews, Mrs

Self

Colleyville, TX

I oppose this bill

Brekka Larrew, Librarian

I'm representing myself.

Lakeway, TX

I serve elementary students daily as a school librarian and care deeply about children, public education, literacy, Texas, and the future of our country and world. I have dedicated my 29 year career to improving literacy outcomes for our students in both Houston and Austin. I beg you, please do not adopt SB 13.

SB 13 will slow down services so that we can be far less responsive to students' reading interests and desires. It will make the library less relevant to their lives in a world where books are already competing against video games and YouTube. We are already losing reading minutes to technology, so our ability to be responsive to our readers— to buy them the content they want to read when they want to read it— is imperative.

Please do not slow down our services by forcing us through a committee process. We are educated with masters degrees and are experts in collection development. Please allow school boards to set community standards to provide guidelines for us. It is not necessary for the state to take a heavy-handed approach that will make things worse for children.

Thank you.

Jimmy O'Halligan

Self

SanAntonio, TX

HB 3 will dilute funding for public education and duplicate services already offered in our community. This will not save tax payer money and is fiscally irresponsible.

Aleesha Mick

self - parent of public school students

Cypress, TX

Please do not vote to pass this Bill. This will take much needed money away from public schools, and in our district, it will cause an even bigger deficit, leading to more layoffs and less opportunities for students. It will only benefit a small percentage of families that can already afford private schools. It's unfair and NOT what I want my tax money to go towards. Don't we want to improve our education standings? We need to be preparing ALL kids for college and to compete in the job market. Taking money away from public schools will only cause Texas education to decline more and people will start moving away.

Pam Keilers, Mrs

Self paraprofessional in public school also served as a teacher in private school

West Point, TX

Please say no to HB3 and no to vouchers . This will not be good for our local area and community. We have a great public school with solid educators at all levels. Veteran teachers enjoy subbing our students. Please consider funding our teachers and students in the public school system like they should be funded. Please fund public schools, teachers, paras and retired teachers.

Raquel Romero

Self

Houston, TX

I am opposed to this bill.

Susan Nolen

Self/educator

Katy, TX

This bill is bad for Texas children. Vouchers have defunded public schools in other states and have cost millions and millions more than projected. This bill only provided funds for a small percentage of Texas children, while hurting millions more.

Laura Orozco

Self

Austin, TX

As a public school teacher I do not support vouchers. I think they diminish the importance of public education. ALL students in Texas should have the possibility of receiving high quality public education. Vouchers will only create a bigger disadvantage towards students of low socioeconomic status and minority populations. As a product of the public school system in Texas I know first hand how vital it is that students receive quality education. And as I previously mentioned as a teacher in a title one school I know that my students will be negatively impacted if this bill goes through.

Stephanie Goolsbee

Self, Mother, Manager

Round Rock, TX

I OPPOSE this bill and I am AGAINST school vouchers.

As a mother of a child in the Texas Public School System, and another starting in a few years, I am very concerned about the effect this will have on our schools. Our school district has already had to cut programs given the budget for the upcoming year, and I am deeply concerned about how this bill will further negatively impact our students, educators, and local communities. Please reconsider your support and prioritize the needs of all Texas students, provide sufficient funding for our schools, and ensure that our educators have the resources and support they need to succeed in the classroom.

Thank you for your service.

Barbara Blevins

Self, Retired Registered Nurse

Shallowater, TX

I have voted Republican for many years. The public school system should be supported by our legislature. I believe this funding will do nothing but undercut our current schools, teachers, and students. Currently we pay our ISD taxes and parents who wish to home school or go to private schools pay the required tuition!

I have seen many students who home school and they are not to public school standards and/or grade level.

I believe many parents will "home school" their children to keep the money from the vouchers.

This change will affect our school system as much as 2 years of Covid has done.

Stephanie Vance

Self, technology

Allen, TX

I am writing in strong opposition to this bill. It will have negative impacts on our community and the education system. It's not right. The right to a public, high quality education is something that all children deserve. All children. I have no desire to subsidize wealthy families as they seek to send their children to private school.

Dorinda Flores McHugh, Ms.

self/retired

Dripping Springs, TX

I am adamantly OPPOSED to providing vouchers for non-public schools. This will inherently diminish the quality of public schools in the state of Texas. Every effort should be made to support funding for public schools as the US Constitution requires a separation of church and state. Private schools, unlike public schools, are not subject to the same public oversight or accountability measures, leading to potential issues with quality and potential for discrimination. Private schools are not required to adhere to the same civil rights protections as public schools and thus voucher programs could enable or exacerbate discrimination based on race, religion, gender, disability, or other factors. VOTE NO TO THIS BILL!

Michaela Taylor

Self

Collinsville, TX

Hello, I am a homeschool mom and do not want this bill passed. We already have school choice, my children were in public school and bullied severally, homeschooling has been the best choice for them. We love the way we learn and the freedom we have to learn. This bill will destroy that freedom, the freedom so many have fought for and continue to fight for. Please do not pass this bill. We don't want it

Belinda Coats

Myself

Lubbock, TX

I think that your constituents throughout the state have clearly stated their views on this bill. I think if all the republicans on this committee and in the house and senate were honest, they would stand up for what's right and what's true: yje majority of the PEOPLE of Texas (not billionaires from other states) don't want vouchers or ESAs. Your constituents want public money to go to public schools. I think it's clear that vouchers DON'T work; they don't help poorer populations, they don't always give parents their choice, and they DO ultimately take much needed money away from the public school system. For years now, under REPUBLICAN leadership, education in Texas has suffered. Please actually support our children, parents, and teachers by commit to better funding public schools. For once, invest in our children and make the honest, right choice and don't pass this bill.

Rochelle Hill

Self

Cypress, TX

As a taxpayer and teacher in a public school, I urge you to vote against school vouchers in Texas. No one wins and many of our public school students will be affected.

Stephanie Nash

N/A

Lubbock, TX

The establishment of this education savings account program would be unconstitutional, allowing the spending of public funds to private schools which would not be held accountable for how those funds were spent or for the outcome of their investment. Public schools do not want this to pass because they stand to lose funding; private schools do not want this to pass because funds provided by the tax payer have strings attached. Texas tax payers will vote against anyone supporting this bill because it does not serve the children of Texas for the greater good. Please do not allow political pressure to cause harm to the children of Texas. Thank you.

Heather Morris

Self

Willow Park, TX

I do not support this bill. Please do not pass HB 3 for school vouchers/education savings account program.

Carla Norvell

Self/teacher

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers are the exact opposite of what Texas education needs and deserves. If we want to lead our state into a more prosperous future with an educated workforce, then helping public schools is the right path, not providing a boon to people who can already afford private schools. The only thing vouchers will do is help bankrupt our state and provide free vacation money to those who need it the least. Signed, a Title 1 high school teacher.

David Kraft-Ishihama self, software engineer
Round Rock, TX

I oppose this bill. The only point of school vouchers is to defund public schools and divert the money to rich schools that don't need it. I'm against school vouchers because they only increase inequality, not decrease it, and make the rich richer.

Rebecca Pugh
Self
Ferris, TX

The fact that this bill is still being considered when public education is so grossly underfunded is an absolute disgrace and shows that our governor and many politicians are so far removed from the reality of their constituents. Let's give a voucher to the rich that can already afford private school and let's watch the private school raise their tuition by.....oh maybe $10,000.00.....while the public schools continue to jump through hoops to pass mandatory tests made up by none other than those wanting to give money away to schools that aren't required to pass the same tests. Private schools do not provide transportation, they are not required to provide special accommodations for those that need them or have a legal right to them. They have to get those where? Oh yes, the underfunded public school. Maybe it's time for the governor and some of the others to head on out to a public school and try substitute teaching, or volunteering in them for a couple of weeks and you might at least have an idea as to what you all are doing.

Sheryl Stacks, Educator
Shaw Homeschool Academy
Collinsville, TX

I do not support school choice vouchers We already have a choice where we want our children educated.
Please vote no.

Rhiannon Villanueva, Mrs.
Self, public school teacher
Corpus Christi, TX

I am wholeheartedly asking you to vote NO on the school voucher bill. It has proven to be a failure in other states and will fail in Texas as well. These funds need to be reserved for PUBLIC School and improving the education of PUBLIC SCHOOL STUDENTS and helping improve teachers ability to teach ALL students. Private schools are funded by those who choose to send their children there. They are able to and will deny education to the most vulnerable of students such as those with learning disabilities and those with challenging behaviors. Those students will end up in public school with even lesser resources than what they have now. VOTE NO on HB 3!

Carolina Vaughn
Self
Denton, TX

I was homeschooled all my school age years, and am currently a mom that is beginning to homeschool my own children and I do not see the need for this bill and I strongly oppose this bill.

Alice French
Self / Administrative Assistant
Dallas, TX

AGAINST. Proposed voucher stipends of $10K are not enough for everyday Texans to opt into this "choice." On the other hand, wealthy Texans who can already afford private school are going to get a free $10,000 discount at the expense of our public schools which desperately need the funds. Private schools also do not have to follow any rules and can deny any student for any reason. School vouchers will only transfer taxpayer dollars from the poor to the wealthy, at the expense of our public schools which are investing in education for every Texan.

Leslie Dare, Mrs.

Self

Mabank, TX

The proposed school voucher program will only help wealthy residents that can afford to drive their offspring to private schools, and will harm public schools by lowering funding even more than the painfully low levels of funding that is currently implemented. It is shameful!! Please vote against this attack on public education.

Hailey Sommerfeldt

Self, student

Katy, TX

Vouchers will devastate an already struggling public education system, and drastically hurt our students. As a student within the public education system, I do not want to see this enacted. Our schools are already underfunded, and allowing this to happen will further decrease funding and cause harm.

Miriam Martinez

Self

Houston, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school vouchers in the state of Texas. Vouchers divert crucial public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas children, to subsidize private and charter schools that are not held to the same accountability standards.

Our public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, support, and opportunities to students of all backgrounds. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public school system by increasing teacher pay, improving resources, and ensuring every child has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting any voucher proposals and focusing on policies that uplift public education for all.

Thank you for your dedication to the future of Texas students.

Dana Schulte

Self

Iola, TX

It concerns me that money will be given in the form of vouchers when money has been kept from public education. The funding amount being given is from 2019 and does not consider inflation since then. We can and should do better for ALL children.

Elizabeth McGrath

self

Cypress, TX

Please share with the public any studies or examples where public funding for private schools has benefited children who come from low-income families? All of the data from states who have passed these types of laws show that diverting public funds for private schools benefit by large margins families who are already enrolled in private schools. I can find no evidence that children most in need (children who qualify for free and reduced lunch) of quality education are the direct beneficiaries of such programs. Without that evidence, let's be truthful here...diverting public monies for private education is for wealthy families. Please find my reference here <https://edtrust.org/wp-content/uploads/2024/10/Who-Really-Benefits-from-School-Voucher-Programs-FINAL.pdf> And if the intention is to pass this HB, then please also outline how you plan to support those students MOST in need in public schools to receive a quality education when they are unable to participate in a voucher plan. Please include a funding plan for Texas's neediest students as well. Otherwise, call this bill welfare for the wealthy, because that is what it is.

Angela Rose
Self - Entrepreneur
Pinehurst, TX

Public education is a constitutional right. Private education is a business. Businesses can do what they please like take your money and then decide a month later your child doesn't fit in and they get kicked out with no refund. Public education is necessary for the betterment of our country and society.

Cameron Samuels

self

Katy, TX

No to Vouchers!

Fully Fund Our Public Schools!

No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!
No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!
No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!
No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!
No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!
No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!
No to Vouchers!
Fully Fund Our Public Schools!

Angie Bixby
Self
N Richlnd Hls, TX

I do want vouchers.

Rachel Wilcox
Self
Houston, TX

Opposition to House Bill 3:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to Texas House Bill 3 regarding school vouchers. While proponents claim that vouchers offer more educational opportunities, they ultimately harm Texas children and our public education system. Here are five key reasons why:

1. Diverts Public Funds from Public Schools – Vouchers take taxpayer money away from public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students. Instead of improving struggling schools, this bill would weaken them further by reducing funding.
2. Lack of Accountability for Private Schools – Unlike public schools, private schools receiving vouchers are not held to the same academic standards, teacher certification requirements, or financial transparency, making it difficult to ensure quality education.
3. Exacerbates Educational Inequality – Vouchers primarily benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition, while low-income students are often left with insufficient funds to cover tuition and other costs. This worsens existing disparities rather than addressing them.
4. Fails to Guarantee Better Educational Outcomes – Studies from states with voucher programs show mixed to negative results in student achievement. Public schools have more oversight, support systems, and experienced educators dedicated to student success.
5. Undermines Rural Schools – In rural areas, where private school options are limited or nonexistent, vouchers provide no real choice. Instead, they drain resources from the only available educational institutions—public schools that serve entire communities.

Texas should focus on strengthening public education, increasing teacher pay, and ensuring all children have access to high-quality schools rather than diverting funds to private institutions with little oversight. I urge you to vote against HB 3 and invest in solutions that truly benefit Texas students.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Rachel Wilcox
9739 Springview Ln. Houston TX 77080
979-220-8142

Brandi Manes
Self
Richardson, TX

Please do not redirect money from the kids who need it most! Private schools will not provide care and services to kids who public schools are required to take care of. This is irresponsible, classist, and nobody but the wealthy donors to republican campaigns wants it. It hasn't worked anywhere else that's tried it. Nothing is keeping private schools from denying entry to the kids they don't want. It is appalling that it's even on the table.

David Chapman
Retired
AUSTIN, TX

My name is David Chapman. I live in Williamson County, I was educated in public schools in Amarillo and Lubbock. I sent my kids to Round Rock public schools, which is where my grandkids currently attend. I am a semiconductor engineer, retired as a VP of product development.

Since I graduated from public schools in the 70's I have watched the Texas Legislature starve public schools of necessary funding, while loudly, and shamelessly, complaining schools are failing, and today, having amassed a staggering budget surplus, HB3 proposes to start giving that surplus away to people who don't need it. Our Representatives, for 50 years, have failed to fund the public education mandate explicitly enshrined in our Texas Constitution.

Texas has not funded public education at rates necessary to keep up with inflation, much less at the levels needed for enough born and bred, home grown Texans to win in the world high tech economy. And believe me, I know. I have spent my career working with all the folks we have had to import to keep up.

Texas public schools, properly funded, are perfectly capable of providing a vast array of world class educational choices. Instead, they are living on scraps, and fighting for survival. If you want choice, fund Texas Public Schools.

This voucher scam is clearly financially irresponsible, morally reprehensible, and a naked, despicable attack on ordinary Texans. Stop this right here, right now.

John Charlton
Self
Littlefield, TX

Sad, for profit schools are wrong. Turning the clocks back to FDR racist religious policies, just another way to have segregation while taking money from poor schools. Make a lot of promises but it will be a disaster for rural and poor schools.

Kelly Kozlowsky
Self
The Woodlands, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. School voucher programs overwhelmingly benefit the ultra-wealthy while harming everyone else. Every version of these programs is deeply flawed, and people across the political spectrum should reject them.

Public schools exist to provide a quality education to all students, regardless of income. This benefits entire communities—well-educated adults contribute positively to the workforce, while lack of education often leads to economic and social burdens.

When voucher programs funnel taxpayer money into religious schools, they effectively direct public funds to institutions that (1) are not accountable to taxpayers, (2) already enjoy tax-exempt status, and (3) can charge tuition beyond what vouchers cover, creating yet another revenue stream at public expense. Thank you.

Linda Howe
TCA
San Antonio, TX

I am opposed to HB 3. Please vote against it. I have been a faculty member, a public school teacher, and a high school counselor for 40 years. My children were educated in NEISD in San Antonio. The public schools are responsible for educating all students. They need additional funds to be more successful at teaching all students. Taking funds to fund students in private schools takes funds from public school students. Please do not vote for an education savings account program.

Kara Deverter
None
San Antonio, TX

I urge our representatives to prevent all measures supporting school vouchers from moving forward. Such programs remove tax money from our public school system, which is already underfunded, and would hurt the majority of students in Texas.

Matt Shuss
Self
Austin, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, the largest and most expensive school voucher scheme ever proposed in Texas. This bill takes taxpayer dollars meant for public schools and redirects them to private schools that lack transparency, accountability, and equal access for all students.

Public tax dollars should support public schools, which serve every child, regardless of ability, income, or background. Texas lawmakers have not increased the basic per-student funding allotment for public schools since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and a record budget surplus. If there is money in the budget for education, our priority should be fully funding public schools first—ensuring teacher raises, better resources for students, and improvements to school infrastructure—before sending tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

Furthermore, HB 3 does not even prioritize the students who need the most support. It allows families already in private schools—including those making over $200,000 per year—to receive taxpayer-funded vouchers. Wealthy families will get a discount on private school tuition while public schools lose funding, harming the vast majority of Texas students.

This bill also fails students with disabilities. While HB 3 offers larger voucher amounts for special education students, private schools are not required to accept them or provide the necessary services. Public schools are legally required to serve all children, yet HB 3 shifts funding away from them to schools that are not obligated to meet these needs.

Texas public schools educate more than 5.4 million students—far more than private institutions ever will. If we truly care about education, we should be investing in strong, well-funded public schools that serve everyone, rather than subsidizing private schools that can pick and choose their students.

HB 3 is bad for Texas families, bad for students, and bad for our public schools. I urge legislators to reject this costly and irresponsible voucher scheme and instead invest in fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education.

Montena Lacy

Self

Austin, TX

I'm very concerned that kids with disabilities will not be able to secure the education they deserve through a voucher system. I don't think private schools will willingly serve these kids at a high level, if at all, because it costs them more, is more work and requires more staff. They can just say no to kids/parents with greater needs. If parents pull their children out of public school to try private school and then come back they will lose their IDEA standing. That is certainly something that needs to be addressed. The child's IDEA assessment/certificates need to be protected so they do not fall behind trying to get a reassessment to re-enter public school. I also don't like the idea that all special-needs kids will be the main children populating the public schools. That feels like segregation. Students without disabilities need to do life with the students that have disabilities and vice versa. I feel like our society has worked very hard to mend this part of the broken education system, and I would hate to see it move backwards.

Praying for God's wisdom and His will to be done in this complicated situation

Thank you!

Kelly Raley

Self - property tax payer

Houston, TX

School vouchers have no place in Texas. Any money that would be spent on administering the program and for the payment of said vouchers should instead be invested in educating our over 5,500,000 public school students. People who choose to send their children to private schools, or to home school, have a right to do so. But they do not have a legitimate right to use public funds to do so.

If Texas would do a better job ensuring Texas children get a quality public education then fewer parents would feel the need to seek alternative education programs.

If a representative feels they will be "primaried out" for not voting for the voucher plan, but they don't anyway, then at least that representative can look at themselves in the mirror knowing they did the right and honorable thing for Texas public schools and current and future Texas school students.

Lance Lawrence

Self

Liberty, TX

If we are going to spend 5 billion of taxpayer dollars let the public vote on it. Put it on the ballot. This is not what we voted on in the primary. The bill is different than what we were presented.

Braynard Werner III

Self

Plano, TX

Please do not support vouchers that will take away money from already strained public schools and funnel it to private institutions. Education used to be a point of pride of the USA, supporting a meritocracy idea where we could nurture the best minds, regardless of pedigree, and they could contribute to America by inventing great things or solving difficult problems. Vouchers funneling money away from public schools and into elite private ones will make it harder than ever to uncover these mental diamonds in the rough and foster their skills. I'm tired of much of the rest of the world being able to mock our education system. And anyone in the private sector knows you typically have to invest in something to improve it.

Ann Daughety, Ms

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I respectfully ask the members of the Committee to consider all school age children. Please keep public tax dollars for public education. Support the public schools by adequately funding the schools and pay teachers. We all benefit from an educated public. Also private schools are not always available in rural areas. Private schools aren't required to admit everyone and the amount of voucher will not always cover the entire cost. Plus there is no accountability on the quality of education. Please support public schools with public funds.

Cammie Cooley

Self

Humble, TX

As a tax payer, I want my taxes to pay for our public schools, not religious institutions that are not required to report spending. Vouchers are limited and do not represent the entire population. They are extremely costly to the tax payer and only benefit those who can already afford a private school. Texas students already have school choice, as they can choose any school in their district. This is not about school choice. Vouchers have also been proven to negatively affect students with disabilities. Please consider funding our public's school system, instead of supporting a voucher scam.

Stephen McHugh

Self/QAEngineer

AUSTIN, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, the largest and most expensive school voucher scheme ever proposed in Texas. This bill takes taxpayer dollars meant for public schools and redirects them to private schools that lack transparency, accountability, and equal access for all students.

Public tax dollars should support public schools, which serve every child, regardless of ability, income, or background. Texas lawmakers have not increased the basic per-student funding allotment for public schools since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and a record budget surplus. If there is money in the budget for education, our priority should be fully funding public schools first—ensuring teacher raises, better resources for students, and improvements to school infrastructure—before sending tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

Furthermore, HB 3 does not even prioritize the students who need the most support. It allows families already in private schools—including those making over $200,000 per year—to receive taxpayer-funded vouchers. Wealthy families will get a discount on private school tuition while public schools lose funding, harming the vast majority of Texas students.

This bill also fails students with disabilities. While HB 3 offers larger voucher amounts for special education students, private schools are not required to accept them or provide the necessary services. Public schools are legally required to serve all children, yet HB 3 shifts funding away from them to schools that are not obligated to meet these needs.

Texas public schools educate more than 5.4 million students—far more than private institutions ever will. If we truly care about education, we should be investing in strong, well-funded public schools that serve everyone, rather than subsidizing private schools that can pick and choose their students.

HB 3 is bad for Texas families, bad for students, and bad for our public schools. I urge legislators to reject this costly and irresponsible voucher scheme and instead invest in fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education.

Sincerely,

Stephen McHugh

Stephanie Eivens
Public School Teacher
San Angelo, TX

As a public school teacher at a rural school, a mother to a graduate of a rural school and a 2nd grader at a rural school, a graduate of rural school, I beg of you to not pass this bill. It is a complete dismantlement of public school and will be detrimental to rural schools. We already have choices.

Nicole Lozo, School Counselor
Self
AUSTIN, TX

I oppose this bill and I'm against school vouchers.

Alaina Kurz
Self
Houston, TX

Why don't you just say it like it is, you're diverting taxpayer funds from public to private schools. The rules for private school should be the same as public school. ANY child should have the chance to get the same education no matter their economic or ethnic status. They need the same accountability, test students annually and report achievement data; financial transparency; accept ALL students; hire certified teachers; meet the same safety requirements as public schools. Most important, FUNDING PUBLIC SCHOOLS FIRST by increasing their basic per-student allotment, which hasn't increased since 2019, to offset the impact of inflation and RESTORE the $4.6 billion in funding that was withheld in 2023. Stop pandering to the rich and give every Texas child the same level of education, no matter what. I don't know how you sleep at night knowing what you're doing to the children of Texas.

Sofia Castano
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and I'm against school vouchers.

Anish Reghunath
Self, Engineer
Allen, TX

Do not defund my school!

This bill is just a way to divert taxpayer dollars to the wealthiest families in the state.

Deborah Vasquez
Self, retired
San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will destroy our public school system that serves everyone including children with special needs. My husband & I sent our children (now adults) to parochial school. We never expected any assistance from the state - this was our choice as parents. The thought of providing funding to parents to pay for private school is absurd and so very wrong.

As a taxpayer I expect our state to fully fund the public school system. I also wonder who will benefit from the voucher system? Millionaires do not need to get any richer with our taxpayer funds. No to school vouchers, vote no!!

Laurie Duke

Myself/parent/former public school teacher

Fort Worth, TX

House Bill 3-Vouchers are a NO. I am a parent and today my children's district was having a special budget workshop to deal with the manufactured crisis that Gov. Abbott and this legislative body has created in a poorly disguised attempt to pass vouchers. Tell me how my kid's public school is supposed to provide the services my child needs if they are already operating at a deficit? How are they supposed to give a quality education and services when they can't even fill some hard to fill positions like special education teachers? My kids love their school, they love their teachers. I have one child who should have zero desire to go to school because of the struggles he is currently under, but you know what he goes because he knows there are people who "get him" there. We are not funding public education at levels we should and we are not making policy that encourages people to go into teaching much less special education. Last session we made it clear we do not want vouchers! Kids are going to be waiting no matter which way you go. Waiting for a spot to open, waiting to be accepted, waiting to be screened out when the private school realizes they can't do it. Fund our public schools 1st. Public education is not a for profit venture it is a common good. And let me tell you this Eagle Mtn. Saginaw is more property rich and they have already lost career counselors, lunch monitors, and my neighborhood school has a rotating door of school counselors (#3 in 5 years). Mind you the school I taught at for 15 years had only 2 different counselors during that time and were serving a much more disparate socioeconomic status then this school has ever known. No vouchers.

Patricia Doyle, Dr.

Alliance AFT

Dallas, TX

I vehemently oppose this bill. It is unbelievable that you would use tax dollars for private schools while starving public education. Our students deserve better. Our teachers and support staff deserve better. The law requires that you fully fund public schools. Do what's right for your citizens and reject this bill!

Marissa Curtis Gough, Dr

Self - epidemiologist

Austin, TX

I am opposed to education savings accounts. Our tax dollars should not go to private schools. Instead we need to fully fund our public schools.

Steve Sedlacek

Self

Allen, TX

Please do not dilute and bankrupt public schools. Other states have proven this does not work

Terri Walling

Self

San Angelo, TX

No vouchers! Yes public schools!

Lisa Brisendine

Self

Grapevine, TX

Just SAY NO TO VOUCHERS

Christine Hallford, IT Project Manager

Self/IT Project Manager

Wylie, TX

TX is a diversely populated state. As such, the minimum requirements for all TX school districts should provide for teaching for ALL school aged children in the state, including towns, cities and rural areas.

If wealthy parents want to send their children to private schools, let them.

It is my understanding that Greg Abbott, still, has not released federal money, earmarked for TX schools as a result of the pandemic.

Why is that?

Using tax money for public education is barely covering the cost of providing education NOW!

By taking said money away from public schools will continue to degrade public education, even further.

IT SHOULD NOT BE DONE.

Consider this: take 50% of tuition costs for private schools, and give that money to public education, to ensure a level playing field for ALL TEXAS SCHOOL AGE CHILDREN.

Julie Densmore

Self

Denton, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers as they only help the rich. Don't take away from our public schools funding education!

Lynsey Littlejohn

Self, buyer and single mom

San Marcos, TX

Texas must reject voucher schemes that undermine the foundation of public education. Instead, we should invest in strengthening our public schools to provide high-quality education for all students, regardless of their zip code or income level. Supporting a robust public education system is crucial for cultivating an educated workforce and ensuring equal opportunities for every child in Texas. Let's prioritize the future of our children and our state by committing to a strong and equitable public education system.

Aexandria Schaeffel

Household resident

Highland Vlg, TX

Schools districts haven't been sustainable a few years. I left teaching special Ed in TX with physical injuries due to few staff and so much more. Listen to parents, students and teachers who know first hand funding must go up, merit pay is biased Sp. Ed. teachers. Raise PP $to1,300 to catch up.

Lauren Saldana

Self- therapist

Wylie, TX

I am adamantly against school vouchers. There are too many factors at play that make that the wrong choice for the majority of students in this state. It would damage everything about the public school system and what it stands for. It is a joke that the rich want to get richer by crippling those beneath them. NO to vouchers.

Claudia Carpenter

Teachers
Austin, TX

I oppose HB3! Do not do this to public education!!! Fund public schools!

Abel Crosby, Mr
Self/Engineer
Cypress, TX

I vehemently oppose the passing of this bill. It's a back door to increased legislation as well as increased taxes. I oppose further control on the part of the government for my children's education and do not agree with this rhetoric of "choice". The public school system is broken due to a collapse in morals and ethics and has nothing to do with the need for more funding. Fix the family upon biblical principles and you will fix the issue of education.

Janice Pennington
Self
Joshua, TX

I oppose vouchers. They will harm our public schools and they will put my teacher retirement in jeopardy

Sarah Hensley
None
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill

Kevin Kelly
self, entrepreneur
Austin, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Kasha Korbut
Self
Lakeway, TX

No Vouchers!

Jessica Batch
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Elizabeth Benefiel

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3. I am concerned about the impact of this bill on public education.

Caitlin Nelson

Self, copy editor

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Julie Johnson

Self

Big Spring, TX

All bills that support giving money from public education to institutions of private education, are weakening the future of our children and therefore our great state. Private education should not be funded by tax dollars. Instead fully fund public education and stop holding public education hostage to further the agendas of the wealthy.

Stephen Rice

Self

Austin, TX

Public funds should be used to fund public schools, NOT private schools. This is non partisan, the majority of small, rural communities don't have a private school option. They need their public schools fully funded! Further, similar programs in other states have been proven to lead to failure for public education in those states. Let's learn from their examples and not make the same mistakes! Texans, you already have unrestricted school choice.

Melanie Mullan

Self

Austin, TX

I object to the pillaging of already over-stretched public school coffers. We need a healthy public school system to maintain vibrant communities in our state where all have the chance to learn, grow, and thrive in life. I oppose the use of dollars intended for public schools for an education savings account program.

Christi Cox

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose sending public funds away from public schools.

Barbara Balliette

Self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose sending public money away from public schools to private schools.

Maria Rosales

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Please oppose this bill, this will take away funding from public schools and give more money to the parents that can already afford private schools. Please fund public schools that are in desperate need of funding. I am a voter that believes in public education.

Debra Campbell

Self

Allen, TX

I oppose HB 3. Providing vouchers will not be in the best interest of public schools and the kids that attend them. Most students cannot afford private school tuition. Tax dollars should not subsidize the choice to attend a private school, but should be used to improve the public school system.

Li Huei Huang

self, data analyst at Texas DFPS

Austin, TX

Please improve our public school education for our 5.5 million school children in Texas without losing the funds to the private education voucher program. I am not against the high quality education either in public or private settings. However, the public schools have been the center of our community and the foundation of the development of my child. He can go to the school to meet up with his friends and I know that he is safe there because we know the neighborhood kids going the same school. Each child deserves high quality education as well as a sense of belonging in the community where his or her family lives. The private school voucher may be one of hundreds of solutions to improve our education system, but it should not be passed out at the expense of our public schools. Texas needs more fundings and supports to our dedicated and compassionate educators who devoted to the children regardless how much overtime they have worked to meet the demand of the public schools.

Flor Barr

Self

Edcouch, TX

Is the best decision for the family

Joan Chapman

Self. Retired educator

Plano, TX

Stop this nonsense!! Take care of public schools!!

Christy Spisak

Self

Spring, TX

We already have school choice and I choose public education for my child. Please vote for what is in the best interest of our children, and vote no to HB 3.

PS - please fully fund our schools!!

Leigh Blake

TEXAS TAXPAYER

Coppell, TX

I am a Texas Parent and Taxpayer and I support empowering parents with ESAs.

Karen Laywell

Self

Georgetown, TX

Texans do NOT want this!!!! As a parent who works in my children's public charter school I see what magic these teachers work with the abysmal funds they are given. Texas has a great opportunity to better their public schools. Vouchers isn't it. Please consider properly funding public schools and doing away with this bill. All Texas children deserve a solid education. Not just the wealthy, not just the neurotypical. All children. I hope that you all will see that Texans do not want this bill.

Sue Borenstein

Self - Parent to 3 children

Cedar Park, TX

NO vouchers! Put money into public schools, not vouchers. We need to increase the Basic Allotment per child by $1300 at least.

Danielle Cannon, Dr.

Self

Austin, TX

I am writing to voice my concern for HB 3. Vouchers continue to discriminate against students with disabilities, strip away students' human and civil rights, and worsen racial segregation. Please vote against school vouchers.

Karin Montero, Dr

I oppose the bill, I do not want school vouchers.

Austin, TX

I do not want vouchers, I oppose the bill

Heather Kalenak

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I'm a parent to public school students, one of which receives special education services. I am also a teacher. We need fully funded public schools. I do not want hard-earned tax dollars should not go to private schools where students like my child will not be accepted. We need more resources and better pay to go to public schools to make them better.

Public schools are at the center of our communities and create the next generation. They should be the focus. Many rural districts do not have access to private schools. Where will their portion go?

Sabrina Berus

Self/ finance

Plano, TX

No vouchers.

Vouchers are going to lead to a lot of unintended consequences and put American education further behind the rest of the world.

Heather Ressler

Self

Prosper, TX

I oppose this bill. Please do not add to the stress of teachers and students already. This would completely dismantle our education for ALL kids.

jose Gutierrez

self

Spring, TX

I am in opposition to HB3. Rural communities will suffer. I support more funding for public education.

Rachel Deering

Myself

Dallas, TX

I am firmly against the use of vouchers to support private schools. My taxpayer money should fund public school systems that are non-religious.

Reuel Nash

self

Austin, TX

I oppose House Bill 3.

If this bill passes, public schools will be ruined. If that happens, small businesses in Texas will have to teach new employees how to read, write, and do arithmetic just like they did 200 years ago.

My family operated a business in Waco during the time of segregated schools. I can remember my father interviewing young men who went to the poor schools to make sure they could read a ruler before hiring them.

It is the obligation of the leadership of Texas to provide strong public schools. It is in violation of the Texas Constitution to use public funds for religious schools. It is in violation of Supreme Court rulings to use public funds to support segregated schools. Vouchers, as implemented in HB3 violate all of this.

In other states where vouchers have passed, the private schools have just increased their tuition by the amount of the voucher. No new students attend the schools. At the very least, amend the bill to require any school that accepts a voucher accepts it as payment-in-full with no additional tuition, scholarships, or fees required. Otherwise, this bill is obviously intended to be a transfer of public funds to the wealthy.

Shanna Eldridge

Myself

Austin, TX

School Vouchers are a farce. They are designed to benefit the wealthy and no one else. This could easily be renamed as the "Child Left Behind" bill. Vote against school vouchers. It's a totally unamerican and unfair Bill.

Melissa Clark

Tax payer

Houston, TX

I am a tax payer of the State of Texas and strongly oppose the school vouchers because it will create further inequality, harm low-income schools, and divert critical public funds away from public education. Private schools do not require state-certified teachers, lowering the standard of education, while the vouchers will primarily benefit wealthy families and drive up private school tuition, just as increased access to student loans led to rising college tuition. Instead of funding private schools, Texas should invest in public education by raising teacher salaries, increasing benefits, improving classroom resources, providing additional compensation for teachers with advanced degrees, expanding access to after-school tutoring, and supporting pre-service teachers who could serve as valuable tutors. Additionally, funds should be allocated to improving school safety by hiring more officers, installing metal detectors, reinforcing classroom doors and windows, conducting random locker searches, using firearm- and drug-sniffing dogs, and providing free mental health counseling for students. Public schools also need stronger physical education programs that encourage fitness, better food choices in cafeterias, expanded STEM education in robotics, AI, and programming, and increased access to vocational certifications in trades like HVAC, welding, automotive repair, electrical work, and plumbing. Furthermore, while I am a Christian, I firmly support the separation of Church and State, and I oppose the use of public education to promote religious ideology; programs like the $60-per-student Bluebonnet curriculum improperly insert religious content beyond historical context, which should be left to homes and places of worship. The voucher program is a waste of taxpayer dollars and fails to address the real issues in Texas schools. I urge you to reverse course and redirect these funds toward strengthening public education, increasing teacher pay, expanding student resources, and ensuring Texas becomes a national leader in public education rather than a state that abandons its public schools. Thank you for your leadership, and I hope you will take action to oppose school choice and invest in a stronger, safer, and more equitable public education system.

Angela Payne

Self

Granbury, TX

Vote no for vouchers!

Daniel Little

Self

Cypress, TX

As a current private school family and soon-to-be homeschool family, I do not support this bill.

Dana Yezak

Self

Snook, TX

As a widowed tax payer, it takes all I can save to pay taxes each year. I find it totally reprehensible that those taxes would be given to someone to use outside of my county and school district. Living in an area with a rural school, I can see the lure of wanting to choose another school, however most of our people cannot afford the extra travel into the local big city to access a private school. They don't have the extra funds for uniforms, books, extracurricular activities, lunches which aren't provided by the school, etc. The state needs to release money to the school districts across the state to pay for safety upgrades, to afford more teachers and pay raises, and to put technology in place that will help our students more than an education savings plan. It is absolutely not common sense to take money from the taxpayers to pay for some thing that is not in their district. Many of the local private schools do not offer special education programs, CTE programs or accept students with discipline issues. That nulls any choice for some. Also, private schools don't answer to state guidelines, so those entities will not like the intrusion. If they get tax payer monies they should be accountable like public schools. They don't want that. Governor Abbott and others in support of this plan are trying to act like the federal government in taking taxpayers' hard-earned money and giving it away to other people who maybe have not paid in, or will be able to afford what goes beyond the allotment. This also gives families who have already made the choice to use private schools a little extra money because most of them can already afford to send their children elsewhere. I am completely opposed to this measure. I will be watching my State representation to see how they vote on this bill. I will vote accordingly thereafter.

Jolie Sanchez

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the Texas bill to fund school vouchers instead of investing in public education for several important reasons. These reasons are grounded in concerns related to equity, quality, long-term social impact, and the undermining of public education's foundational role in American society.

1. Undermines the Public Education System

The most significant concern with the bill is that it undermines the public education system, which serves the vast majority of students in Texas. Public schools provide a vital public good, ensuring that all children, regardless of their background, receive an education that helps them become informed and engaged citizens. Redirecting funding from public schools to private vouchers weakens the infrastructure of public education, which could ultimately lead to a deterioration of the quality of education for the majority of students.

Texas already has one of the largest and most diverse public education systems in the country. By shifting resources away from public schools, we risk further exacerbating the disparities that already exist between districts, particularly between wealthy and lower-income areas. Public schools have a responsibility to educate all children, including those with special needs or from disadvantaged backgrounds, but this commitment is threatened when funds are diverted.

2. Inequality and Access Issues

School vouchers, which allow families to use public money to attend private schools, disproportionately benefit families that already have access to better educational opportunities. Wealthier families are often in a better position to supplement the voucher amount with their own funds to access more expensive private schools. On the other hand, lower-income families, who may be the ones most in need of educational support, often face barriers such as transportation costs, limited availability of private schools in their neighborhoods, and inability to cover the gap between the voucher amount and the actual cost of tuition.

Additionally, the distribution of vouchers could exacerbate segregation in schools. Many private schools have selective admissions processes, which can lead to the exclusion of students from diverse socioeconomic backgrounds, racial groups, or those with disabilities. Public schools, in contrast, must accept all students, which makes them an essential equalizing force in society. Vouchers could effectively push already marginalized groups further away from access to quality education.

3. Quality Control and Accountability

Public schools are subject to rigorous standards and accountability measures set by the state and federal governments. These standards help ensure that students receive a high-quality education, regardless of where they live. Private schools that accept vouchers, however, are not held to the same level of scrutiny and accountability. In many cases, they are not required to follow the same curriculum standards, provide special educa

Yareli Cruciani

Self - Program Manager

Dallas, TX

This program is the wrong move for Texas education. My husband is a public school second grade teacher. What happens to his already underfunded district if this moves forward? What happens to his pay? This isn't how we support our school districts, teachers, and most importantly, our children. Please do not pass this bill.

Donna Allen, Ms

Self

New Braunfels, TX

Do not fund private school vouchers for the wealthy while under-funding public education. This is a bill supported by a few wealthy Texans and the Republican lawmakers only.

Yael Nathanson, Esq
Self
Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Lauren David, Dr.
Myself - Psychologist
Austin, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Melissa Bailey
Self / Federal worker
Saint Hedwig, TX

Vote NO! This is a travesty

Liliana Guevara

Dickinson ISD

Dickinson, TX

Please do not defund Dickinson ISD

Chaya Lazaroff

Self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Julienne Williams

Self

San Antonio, TX

Does the public get to vote for this and if so, when?

Alicia Hawley-Bernardez, Dr.

Self - faculty

Fort Worth, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to any effort to implement or expand school voucher programs in Texas. These programs threaten to undermine our public education system, diverting essential funds from already under-resourced public schools to subsidize private and religious institutions with little to no accountability.

Texas public schools serve the vast majority of students in our state, including children from diverse socioeconomic backgrounds, students with disabilities, and those who rely on the stability and structure that public education provides. Vouchers siphon away public tax dollars that should be invested in improving our public schools—hiring more qualified teachers, reducing class sizes, and providing essential support services such as counseling, special education, and mental health resources.

Additionally, voucher programs fail to deliver on their promise of better educational outcomes. Research has shown that students who use vouchers to attend private schools often perform no better—and sometimes worse—than their public school counterparts. Unlike public schools, private institutions are not required to accept all students, meaning that vouchers can exacerbate inequality by allowing schools to discriminate based on religion, disability status, or academic ability. Public tax dollars should not fund institutions that are not held to the same transparency, non-discrimination, and accountability standards as our public schools.

Furthermore, rural communities in Texas stand to lose the most under a voucher system. Many rural areas lack access to private schools, meaning that vouchers would not provide families with real educational choices. Instead, these programs would drain vital resources from the only schools available to them—our public schools—forcing budget cuts that harm both students and educators.

Texans value strong public schools, and we must prioritize policies that support and uplift them rather than dismantle them. If the goal is to provide high-quality education to all children, then we should invest in proven strategies: increasing teacher pay, expanding access to early childhood education, and ensuring that all public schools receive equitable funding.

I urge lawmakers to reject any voucher scheme that seeks to privatize education at the expense of Texas' public school students. Our focus should remain on strengthening our public schools, not weakening them through misguided policies that primarily benefit private interests.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Marce Stayer

self

Houston, TX

I urge you all to NOT establish an education savings account program for private schools (vouchers). The Texas legislature has been remiss for many of the last years in supporting public education and although you state that public funding will not be affected, we see from past actions that this is not true. The school vouchers will not all poor families to send their students to private schools, nor will it allow families with special needs students to send their children to private schools. The appropriate remedy is to adequately fund PUBLIC schools as a means for fostering a better future for Texas.

Patty Quinzi

TX- American Federation of Teachers

Austin, TX

Testimony of Dan Doonan

Executive Director

National Institute on Retirement Security

March 11, 2025

Thank you for the opportunity to submit written comments on House Bill (HB) 3. My name is Dan Doonan and I am the Executive Director of the National Institute on Retirement Security, a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization based in Washington, DC. I'd like to highlight that NIRS does not conduct research on education or the various impacts of different types of schools. We do, however, conduct research on public pension systems, including pension plans for teachers, such as the Teacher Retirement System of Texas (TRS). My comments will focus on the potential impact to TRS from HB3.

For the benefit of your deliberations, I'd like to make a few key points to inform your policymaking debate:

? Prior testimony noted that if the total number of teachers in TRS continues to grow as projected, the plan would not be harmed.

? It is worth understanding that the allocation of pension costs could be impacted within Texas' schools if the move toward private education occurs more in some jurisdictions than others.

? Finally, the ultimate impact on TRS from HB3 would depend not just how widespread the adoption of private school options is, but how geographically dispersed the shift is toward private schooling.

Cost Sharing and Risk

Retirement benefits are earned by workers over the course of decades during a career, and then paid out over more decades. This makes retirement and pensions a long-term project compared to other financial endeavors.

Cost-sharing, multiemployer plans typically utilize future payroll as the base for funding these earned benefits if there is a gap between assets and plan liabilities.

The laws governing private-sector multiemployer plans recognize the impact of employers leaving the system and require departing employers to pay their share of accrued costs, which is commonly referred to as a withdrawal liability.

The change in HB3 would look different, as it wouldn't be public schools themselves choosing to leave the plan. Instead, it would be the drift of students and educators out of the public schools and the resulting shift in who is paying for the accrued liabilities that would have an impact. However, the math is the same if the potential decline in teacher payroll is viewed as a partial withdrawal.

These dynamics were laid out in the discussion in the Committee on Pensions, Investments and Financial Services hearing.

Beyond Financial Stability of TRS: The Allocation of Pension Costs

Beyond the broader question about the fiscal impacts on TRS, it is worth understanding that the allocation of pension costs among school districts and various communities in Texas could be impacted.

While NIRS does not study educational vouchers or charter schools at NIRS, I am aware that charter schools in Louisiana tend to be concentrated in and around New Orleans. These schools have an option to enroll their teachers in the teacher pension

Amanda Whittenburg

Self

Plano, TX

As a parent of Plano ISD students, and a homeowner and taxpayer in Plano, I do not want my taxpayer dollars going to fund private school educations. Lawmakers say that this gives parents "choice". However, my neighbor with a special needs daughter cannot take a voucher and walk into any school she wants and use that voucher. She can, however, walk into any public school and they must accomodate her. My relative who lives in the Panhandle 100 miles away from a private school cannot use that voucher. They can and do attend their local public schol. Rather than funding those vouchers, lawmakers need to listen to their constituents who are begging them to fully fund their schools rather than taking funds from the schools and putting them towards schools that are not available to anyone.

Scott Moser

Self, Engineer

Pflugerville, TX

Good morning, Representative Buckley and Members of the House Public Education Committee,

My name is Scott Moser, and I have called Texas home for the past 12 years. As a concerned community member, I appreciate the time and effort you dedicate to shaping the future of our state.

I am writing to voice my strong opposition to House Bill 3, which seeks to implement education savings accounts, or vouchers. Public tax dollars should remain within the public school system, which serves all students and is already under immense financial strain. Schools across Texas are grappling with the rising costs of inflation, inadequate ADA funding, the urgent need for mental health resources, a major shortfall in special education funding, and largely unfunded mandates for school safety. If we have the means to invest more in education, those dollars should go toward strengthening our public schools—raising the per-student funding allocation, moving to an enrollment-based funding model, providing cost-of-living adjustments, and fully funding essential programs like special education, mental health services, teacher pay increases, retirement benefits, and school safety initiatives.

Public education already provides families with choices, and with better funding, schools can expand opportunities in areas such as STEM, the arts, athletics, career and technical education, gifted and talented programs, and dual language instruction. Public schools welcome all students, provide essential services like 504 accommodations, and ensure financial transparency, accountability, and community oversight. This is what responsible use of taxpayer dollars looks like.

Private schools, while a good option for some families, do not have the same obligations. They are not required to admit all students, nor must they provide support for children with disabilities. Unlike public schools, they are not held accountable for how they use taxpayer funds or how they measure student success. This is not true school choice—it is an opportunity for private institutions to choose whom they will and will not serve.

Beyond these concerns, I worry about the financial implications of this proposal for taxpayers. Once established, ESAs could become a long-term fiscal burden, diverting critical resources away from public education. Texans value fiscal responsibility and transparency, and I fear that these accounts would primarily benefit special interests rather than students. It is also troubling to see that our governor has received record campaign donations from individuals who stand to gain financially from this initiative. The future of Texas children should not be sacrificed for political and financial gain.

Public funds should be used to strengthen our public schools, ensuring that every child—regardless of background or ability—has access to a high-quality education. I urge you to uphold the values of our state and invest in a system that benefits all Texans. Thank you for your time.

Andrea LaGrone

self

Austin, TX

Despite claims that vouchers help low-income families, the reality is that they primarily benefit wealthy families who already send their children to private schools and who will use vouchers as a subsidy. Private schools and corporate-backed charter networks profit from public funds with little oversight.

The only winners here are politicians who receive donations from billionaire lobbyists, dark money influence, and pro-voucher organizations. Vouchers are not a grassroots effort—they are heavily funded by billionaires and corporate interest groups that want to dismantle public education. Groups like the Koch network, the American Federation for Children (backed by Betsy DeVos), and ALEC (American Legislative Exchange Council) have poured millions into pushing voucher schemes across the country. Jeff Yass (NOT A TEXAN) has donated over 10 Million to Abbott so he could pass vouchers. To pretend this is for the good of our Texas children is laughable at best and blatantly dishonest and entirely scrupulous at worst.

As public schools lose funding due to vouchers, they are forced to lay off teachers and staff, cut essential programs like arts, music, and special education, and increase class sizes and reduce student support services. Meanwhile, private schools receiving vouchers can operate without certified teachers, standardized curriculums, or any obligation to meet state education standards. We know this entire ESA/voucher concept is a complete and total scam, it is NOT popular with or wanted by the majority of Texans and I implore you to reject this bill and this program full stop.

Andrante Etheridge

Self

McKinney, TX

Please don't allow this to happen to our public school system. I am a product of public schools and it has been critical to my success and the success of my family. Our underserved children will be at a clear disadvantage with this bill. I am depending on you to take a stand against this

Teresa Bogar

self - public high school teacher

Taylor, TX

As a proud Texan and current public high school teacher, I am writing to urge you to vote NO on House Bill 3 (HB 3) and stand with Texas public schools, students, and educators. This bill threatens to drain critical funding from our public schools by diverting taxpayer dollars to private school vouchers—hurting the very institutions that serve most Texas children.

Public schools are the backbone of our communities. They educate all children, regardless of ability, background, or zip code. Redirecting funds to private schools that aren't held to the same standards undermines our public education system and leaves rural and working-class communities with fewer resources and fewer opportunities for students.

Additionally, HB 3 could destabilize the Teacher Retirement System (TRS) by reducing the number of active educators paying into the pension fund. Retired teachers, who dedicated their careers to Texas students, deserve financial security—not uncertainty.

I urge you to protect our public schools and educators by voting NO on HB 3. Instead of dismantling public education, we should be focusing on fully funding our schools, raising teacher pay, reducing class sizes, and strengthening TRS for current and future retirees.

Please stand with Texas students, families, and educators—and oppose HB 3.

Ryan Fullam

Self

Hutto, TX

Please do not pass HB 3. The last thing we need is for our education to go down the drain like we saw in Arizona with education vouchers

Carole Wall
Self/ Property Management
Leander, TX

Stop with the voucher scam. FULLY FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION. Leander ISD would've had a balanced budget if not for you yahoos are bought and paid for by a billionaire in West Texas. I'm not paying for rich kids to go to private schools. Stop trying to destroy public education. Year and year and year. WE ARE TIRED AND DONE.

Katie Morgan
Self, Talent Manager at Chevron
Houston, TX

I am a parent and we have used both public and private schools for our son. In order to maintain the high quality of both, we cannot have private school vouchers. Vouchers only ignore our public schools which we as parents work very hard to build up through our donations of both volunteer time and money. I work at Chevron and as a company we are also huge supporters of public education.

Texas has many counties with no access to private schools. Vouchers will not make private schools more accessible.

Private school vouchers are not the solution to the challenges facing our education system. Public education has a proven track record of providing a quality education to millions of students, and it is essential that we continue to invest in and improve this system. The future of Texas depends on the education of our children, and the best way to ensure that all children have an equal opportunity to succeed is by strengthening our public schools, not defunding them.

I strongly urge you to reject any proposals for private school vouchers and focus on the long-term investment in public education that will benefit all Texans.

Marci Polly
Self, Public School CFO
Shallowater, TX

ESAs are not good for public education and the students and teachers in our great state! Fund schools adequately and allow the great educators and administrators to succeed and reach new heights. By sending state funds to private institutions with less accountability, you are only hurting the Texas education system and will have bigger problems to solve in the future!

Chris Dahl
Self
Mckinney, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS

Levi Marinovsky chabad
Cypress, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Sarah Shearer
Self- educator
Leonard, TX

As a teacher, I am against HB 3. I've never been very involved vocally in politics. I keep myself informed and vote accordingly. At this point, I am so appalled by the complete lack of respect for Texas educators and the students they teach. HB 3 is a disaster waiting to happen. I think there needs to be reform in education, but this is the wrong way. Begin my fully funding public schools, pay ALL staff (including aides, librarians, diagnosticians, etc.), and get rid of the STAAR! At this point in time, I will no longer be voting party lines unless change happens. I can't believe so many Republicans think this is good for our Texas children. It is a sad, sad day in Texas if this passes.

Marissa Martin
Self
McKinney, TX

I am a product of a quality public Texas education. I am a life long Texan and chose to continue a career in Texas as an educator. I love my state and have to firmly express my concern and disdain for this bill.

As an educator, specifically a music educator, I fear that this bill will harm public schools and eliminate the possibility of a well-rounded education with music. The bill is firmly anti- public education and anti- special programs such as athletics and fine arts. These programs which set Texas apart and make us incredibly competitive in.

I pray we can continue funding public education and supporting our future by striking down this bill.

Sara Smith
Self
Austin, TX

I am a mom to a daughter with an IEP, she is dyslexic and needs intervention services. I am concerned that the voucher program will deplete funds for students that have IEPs. I do not want vouchers!

Susan Wright, Librarian
Public Schools
Watauga, TX

This will kill public education and this is all about making the governor rich. This will do nothing for our regular middle class and lower class students. This cannot pass!

Robyn Lukeman

Self, retired

FW, TX

The combination of this bill and the loss of federal funds will damage the already struggling public schools in Texas. The cost to public education far outweighs the benefit to a very, very, very small percentage of students who aren't already enrolled in private schools to enroll. Consider all of the children, please. This, especially if it includes vouchers for home schooling will go down in history as a very costly mistake for the children of Texas.

Susan Cummings

self

Baytown, TX

I am writing in fierce opposition to the establishment of an educational savings account program. Texas tax dollars should adequately support rigorous instructions and appropriate services for ALL students and should not be sent to parents who can afford private school without robbing public schools. There is NO ESA or voucher system that would not hurt public school districts. Support for vouchers and ESA shows that Texas supports a two tiered system of education that does not serve the students or democracy.

Brent Rich

Public schools

Nacogdoches, TX

90% of Texans rely on public education. Over 150 counties don't even have a private school option. Do what Texans want and need: a strong fully funded public school system

Jacque Endres

Self

Muenster, TX

I am a born and raised Texan, Republican voter all my life. I say NO to Vouchers! State Tax dollars are for State Public Schools. If any of my representatives vote yes for vouchers I will never vote for them again and will actively work to have them voted out of office! Greg Abbott has already lost my support and I will never vote for him again! Private schools should not be covered with public funds! Every conservative friend I have is against vouchers! Vote No on vouchers or pay the price! Signed a lifelong conservative voter!

David Ives

self

Grapevine, TX

NO VOUCHERS!!! FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!

Marca Hiller

Self

Wylie, TX

I am opposed to HB 3 and so are a lot of other Texans. It will negatively impact TX public schools. We should not allow public funds to go to wealthy kids so they can go to private schools. Their parents can afford to pay for this on their own without taking public tax funds out of public schools.

Laurie Garner
Self/retired
FORT WORTH, TX

I am opposed to this bill. I have worked with children for 40 years. Public vouchers are not a good option. Especially for rural areas. I have a family ranch in Shackelford County. These children would not benefit. It is also not good for TRS of which I am a part of. Please vote NO to HB3

Kathleen Hazlewood
Myself
Arlington, TX

I am against school vouchers unless vouchers can only be spent at schools that meet the same requirements as public schools.

Kaitlin Kelsey
Self (Public School Parent)
Uvalde, TX

How do you decide which private schools are approved organizations for students with the vouchers?
Why is less than 2% of Texas children more important than 98% of Texas school aged children?
Do your job and fix the public school system!!!! You are failing your public school students and families and teachers and schools by passing this voucher. We don't want it.

Gabrielle Guevara, Mrs.
Self and Children
Dickinson, TX

Please do not defund our schools. Our whole community has a great sense of pride for our Dickinson Gators. We are like a Friday night lights town and we love our schools and administrators who are already working with the bare minimum. Please give our public school teachers and schools what they deserve- fair wages, funding for all of our extracurricular activities and programs so that they have the ability to make a difference our student's lives. Knowing that my property taxes helps fund our schools takes the sting out of paying. Please do not pass the school voucher bill.

Cassie Schaps
Spring Branch ISD
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
 - 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
 - 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
 - 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
- Thank you!

Ellen Cartsonis

self

Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts in Texas. Greg Abbott's attempt to suck resources from public education in order to provide what amount to additional, unneeded tax breaks for the wealthy is reprehensible.

Leah Norman

Self - Social Worker

Austin, TX

I do not support school vouchers – they will take money away from our public schools, worsening the quality of education available to all Texans. This bill only supports private institutions and the children whose parents can afford the price tag to send them there. This is not in the best interest of children in the state of Texas. Rather, the state should be further investing in the public education system to strength it for all Texas children, regardless of their socioeconomic status.

Carla Smith, Dr.

Self

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas Constitution. Our future depends on the fair and equitable instruction provided to ALL students in Texas public schools.

Mandy Riordan-Villa

Self

Liberty Hill, TX

Vote No

Andrea Molnar

self

Tomball, TX

I do not believe that HB 3 would improve public education, but rather defund it. This would not give all children equal rights to a good education. Also, the property tax money saved by homeowners would not be sufficient to send a child to private school, therefore only those with means already would benefit, creating a larger divide between rich and poor.

I feel this is exactly the purpose of HB 3 and is just being sugarcoated to fool the public into thinking this would be a benefit for all.

Vicki DeBusk

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the bill. I do not want school vouchers.

Kristy Castillo

self

Bryan, TX

I want to note my disapproval of this bill. We should add more funding to public education not take it away for private schools, or the like.

Kelly Van Meter

Self

Lakeway, TX

I strongly oppose a voucher or education savings account. This takes money away from public education in order to provide subsidies to send kids to school with no accountability and no requirement to serve all kids. The proposed amount doesn't even over half the cost of most private schools, and therefore these voucher funds will only be used by families who can already afford private schools. There are very few private schools who serve students with special needs. It is beyond my understanding why the current bill allots more per student for private school than public school. I work with schools all over the country and it is shameful that our teachers are underpaid and our schools are among the lowest in terms of funding. Fully fund public schools.

Diane R Miles, Dr

Retired public educator

Dallas, TX

Please vote against HB 3. Public education and benefits for all children is critical!!

Audra Blevins

Public education as a teacher/coach

Lubbock, TX

As a public educator who has served kids and families for 22 years, I am opposed to this absurd bill. This is being pushed by people who have no background in public education. While I believe in parent choice, that already exists in Texas. This won't level the field for anyone. Where I teach, there is no access to private schools for an hour at minimum. So how is that benefitting our parents? Why hasn't public education been funded like this in the past? I spend a lot of my already low salary supplementing my classroom. My education that I personally worked hard for and my experience can predict confidently that this will end in more students being left behind and rapidly multiply the gaps we are seeing in our students. This is going to wipe out small rural schools and leave those people with no option but to drive long distances or homeschool, which isn't the least restrictive environment for some kids. This is a personal agenda and isn't the best thing for the future of Texas. Our youth will be our leadership in the blink of an eye. Stop holding our funds hostage to personal agendas. Do what is right for all Texans. Release funds to Texas schools so we can have the top education system in the country. Texas is the best state in this nation, but not investing in our children's education will see us quickly fall behind. I would love to see the house call some of us small teachers to Austin and hear our voices and stories. Call our students and parents and let them speak. Look at us in the face and tell us that we aren't worthy of being given the best chance to be amazing. I am lucky to work with some of the brightest, most creative, driven, and loving people in the state, teachers. Do the right thing, don't kill our struggling education system with this bill.

Kim Millikan

Self/retired

Lakeway, TX

Free, mandatory public education is a hallmark of the U. S. Government and all successful countries worldwide. It is essential for human civilization. We can choose to pay to send our children to a private or parochial school but must fund and support an excellent public school system. This bill will gut public education in Texas, and hurts everyone. Not just some kids, not just some schools. We all benefit from fully funding and generously supporting education for all. No vouchers!

Timothy Gillen-Hall
Self-high school teacher
Kilgore, TX

This bill isn't in Texas, it's students, teachers and schools best interest. We both know it will not accomplish the supposed intent-to give parents choices for their children's school careers. Instead it will drain funding from public schools already in deficit budgets and cutting positions. Instead we should be looking at how to fix and make better our public schools. Give funding to cover inflation. Take away laws and regulations that have been put into place that are creating unnecessary blocks on student and teacher time. For example the number of tests students are forced to take each year with staar and other similar tests. Make education not just about age but instead students progress at their ability level. Continue to expand programs that will help the work force and not force all students to be on a "college path". These are just a few ideas of what we could and should actually be doing with the money instead of trying to force feed a voucher program that has failed in every state it has been put into place. I don't understand how defenders of Texas and it's "small government" ideals could possibly be thinking this is a good plan. That creating more government positions and instituting a program that will just continue to grow and drain funds- see Arizona will somehow make our future and the futures of our students better. I implore you and the rest of the House to do the best thing for Texas and get rid of this Bill. Raise funding to at least cover inflation. Start working with educators from across the state and let's come up with an actual plan to start fixing the things that are wrong with our educational system as it is now. This Bill will not help our students, and is not what's best for the future of our great state.

Laurie Andrews, Mrs
Self
Dripping Springs, TX

As a 30 year veteran teacher, half with special needs children, I am ?? against supporting this bill. There is already a process for parents to choose a private school, home school or ask for a district transfer. Anyone can create a savings account for anything. Personal responsibility. This bill will erode public education where children are receiving high quality curriculum. Great teachers, great schools. The focus should be only on enhancing funding sources for school, staff and programs. We must pay young teachers more for retention. They then can become master teachers. Please vote this bill down. Thank you.

Cristina Hidrobo, Mrs.
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers

Anthony Elmo
Retired
Fort Worth, TX

ESAs are a coupon for the rich - no thank you. Do not support and I am a parent of three ISD kiddos in Fort Worth.

Cheryl Brown, Ms.
Self
Georgetown, TX

I have taught in the Texas public schools, and have raised 3 children who attended Texas public schools. I am strongly opposed to the establishment of an education savings account program for many reasons. For all children who receive 504 accommodations as well as special education services, I am deeply concerned about the lack of provisions they will receive should we move forward with the education savings program, which will effectively steal money from poorer students in order to give wealthier families a discount on their private school education because the amount allotted will not be enough for poor students to afford private school tuition. As funding is pulled from public schools, our most vulnerable students will lose funding for much-needed services and resources. I'm also concerned about our tax dollars funding private religious schools. If we move forward with the education savings account program, funding will be taken from public schools, and our most vulnerable students and families will suffer most, followed by everyone else in our society that benefits from a well-educated population.

Kelsey Ahern
Self, Engineer
Austin, TX

Good afternoon. My name is Kelsey Ahern and I live in zip code 78731. I am a proud mother of three public school students and have been closely tracking the policy debate on school funding in our great state of Texas. I ask that you vote NO on HB3 relating to the establishment of an education savings account program. Instead I ask that you prioritize fully funding public schools so that ALL students in the state (rural, urban, across all socioeconomic backgrounds) have access to an education system that Texas can be proud of. This includes modifying school funding to be by enrollment rather than attendance, increasing the basic allotment by $1,300 to catch up with inflation, and support strong teacher and staff pay raises. As written, HB3 allows people making above $160,000 to apply such that the richest families may benefit. Our tax dollars should support ALL students, not just a select few. Please prioritize strong public schools for all Texas children. Thank you for your time.

Stanford Rogers
Self Retired
Buda, TX

I do not support my tax dollars being used to pay for private schooling when I am already paying for s public school system and a Charter School system.

Very few low income students will be able to use the voucher for many reasons.

You will no doubt hear many of those reasons provided by others who will oppose this legislation.

I am also appalled at the prospect of Mr. Yass profiting from his 6 million dollar contribution to defeat folks who would not support vouchers.

Vote No on HB 3.

Tiffany Butler
Self
Sanger, TX

Good afternoon,

This bill should not be passed, as it will significantly impact private schooling institutions. I am a former public educator and I do not agree with many of the policies in place currently or where TX public education is. As a result, we have decided to homeschool our own children. Passing this bill would completely eliminate free choice when it's comes to our children's education and instead, places a governing hand into our private education. I choose to not have any government interference in how we decide to educate our own children. I do not want any type of "funding" to trickle down to homrschoolers or even private schools, as this will allow say-so in things like testing, curriculum choices, etc. I urge you to vote AGAINST this bill!

Linda Licke
None
Austin, TX

I oppose this plan!

Benjamin Prince
Self
Austin, TX

As a Texas public educator I strongly oppose this bill. It will have devastating consequences for our public education system. It stands to benefit the wealthy at the expense of the middle class. It robs us all of our future. We need a broadly educated populace, capable of meeting the unknown challenges that will face us and them.

Patricia JANG

self

Austin, TX

I am a parent of two students in the Austin Independent School District. I am begging you to vote NO on House Bill 3. I do not want my tax money being used to fund private schools, while the vast majority of Texas children are in the public school systems. This proposed legislation would bring ruin to the budgets of our public schools in Texas. Our system is already so underfunded, with many districts having to close schools and lay off workers due to budget shortfalls. Our public funds must support public schools, not for-profit schools that do not have to meet state educational standards. For the sake of Texas's children today and in the future of Texas, please vote NO.

Claire McLoughlin

Self

Carrollton, TX

As a constituent, I am OPPOSED to Bill HB3 by Buckley

School vouchers have many disadvantages, including:

Undermining public schools

Vouchers take funding from public schools, which serve most students, and give it to private schools. This can hurt public schools that are already struggling.

Discrimination

Vouchers can discriminate against students with disabilities, and can exacerbate racial segregation. Private schools can also discriminate in admissions, discipline, and employment.

Lack of accountability

Private schools are largely unaccountable to taxpayers. They can pick and choose who to serve and how they serve.

No evidence of academic benefit

There's no reliable evidence that vouchers improve student success. In fact, some programs have shown to have a negative effect.

Undermining democracy

Vouchers can erode democracy by giving tax dollars to private schools that are far removed from the electorate.

Diverting attention from reforms

Vouchers can divert attention from needed reforms, such as smaller class sizes.

Creating corruption opportunities

Private schools with little accountability could lead to corruption.

Francheska Brinkley

Self

Justin, TX

Please increase the basic allotment for students to 7500

Doug Weiss

Self, management

Pflugerville, TX

I believe this bill to run counter to the public education mandate in the Texas Constitution. Diverting the public funds; property and sales tax dollars that I have paid, to subsidize the affluent private schools amounts to nothing more than a handout for the rich. It's anti-American and anti-Texan. As a native Texan, I'm proud of my public education and believe that a properly funded public school system is the only way to ensure Texas's continued prosperity.

Neil Gowler
Self
Cedar Park, TX

Vouchers will primarily benefit families already able to afford private education, while draining desperately needed funds from underfunded public schools. I urge you to vote against the voucher program and instead fulfill your duty under the Texas Constitution to fully fund public education — for our children and our future.

RHONDA KNIGHT
Self
WILLS POINT, TX

Please protect public schools and taxpayers dollars by voting against vouchers / education savings accounts. Thank you for listening to your constituents.

Chassity Sullivan
Self
Cedar Hill, TX

School districts across the state are having to do more with less. The funding given to the districts have not increased since 2019 and many districts are in budget deficits. Improving school funding would help our districts fill these gaps. The Education Savings Account (ESA) will pull money from already struggling districts and send the funding to private schools which do not offer equitable education for all students.

My son is 9, non verbal and diagnosed with Autism. When my son was 3, we interviewed/applied for acceptance into a private school. During the interview, I mentioned several times that my son had autism and was non verbal. I asked if the school had the resources to teach him and I was assured they did. My father in law went to get him fitted for the uniform and had my son with him. My son began to stim by jumping up and down and making noises. After they saw my son, they told us they could not accept him into their school. Offering vouchers does not help kids like my son because private schools have the right to choose who they want in their schools and private schools are not required to follow IEPs and 504s for students in special education.

Kathryn Suied
Self
Dallas, TX

If these “Education savings accounts” are supplied or supplemented by my taxes, I strongly oppose. Education money should go to our public schools only.

Lindsay Crowel
Self
AUSTIN, TX

I support public schools and strongly oppose HB3. If we have money for vouchers, we have money to fully fund public schools first!

Jennifer Skjonsby
Self
Houston, TX

This voucher scam will destroy public education. I am against it. Every study done has shown a decline in student performance when vouchers were enacted. Vote no on vouchers!

Miriam Cotlar
self, mother
Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Brittany Conkling
Self
Conroe, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools.

As Taxpayer and supporter of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program.

Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas Constitution

JB Bobbitt
Self
Houston, TX

Great bill. Let the funding follow the child.

Solomon Pacht
Self
Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike. Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Concerned Citizen
Self
Spring, TX

A strong public school system is necessary to grow this country. Vouchers only benefit those who can afford private education. Every child deserves a quality education, in a safe environment, close to their home. Please vote against HB3

Susan Smith
self - retired
Amarillo, TX

Quit catering to special interests from the far right and invest as much as you can in our existing public education system. Fix what's broken, aim for improvement, celebrate your successes. I'm almost 74 and know that in my lifetime, parents have always had the choice to send their children to "other" schools. If they want to keep doing that, let them. Why are you trying to reinvent the wheel? Meanwhile, listen to the younger voices in the educational community who can tell you what "works" and what doesn't. It's now their turn to educate Texas children.

Jessica Burgos
Self
Austin, TX

A public hearing at the Texas Capitol is happening on the school voucher bill (HB 3). Use the link below to ensure your opposition is on record. Not a drill. Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the constitution.

Jeanne Reinelt
Self
Dallas, TX

Please do NOT pass this bill! Save the integrity of our public schools. Our future depends upon them!

April Allen
Self
Austin, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB3. School vouchers do not work. They will only take money away from public school districts. There is no accountability if a parent decides to "home school" on what curriculum will be used. If a student takes the money and goes to a private or charter school and then gets kicked out, or needs to move back to public school, the money will not go with them. I live in an affluent neighborhood where parents already have choice in where they send their kids to school. Every year, several kids enroll during the school year at the public school. They were either kicked out for behavior, or the services they need are not provided in the private schools. This is not a bill that will only harm public schools. If parents want to send their children to private school, then that is their choice. If I want extra security for my house, I don't get to take money away from the city police force just because I don't feel their security is adequate for my house. I can't get a voucher for more fire protection and take money away from the Austin FD. This bill will be harm for years to our schools and students and no state has been successful using this idea. Our school districts are already underfunded. Please try to adequately fund the schools and please think about Texas children!!! Please vote no on HB 3. Thank you!

Lisa Deese, Ms
Myself
Waco, TX

We the majority of Texans don't want vouchers!

Maggie Gorski

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter

Shannan Riemer

self

Austin, TX

Dear Members of the House Committee,

I strongly oppose HB3 vouchers because they redirect much-needed funding away from our public schools. Instead of channeling taxpayer money into voucher programs that defund our system, we must invest in our public education by properly funding our schools, this means hiring and retaining quality staff and reducing classroom sizes to manageable levels.

When funds are diverted from public schools, we lose essential resources needed to support our teachers and students, maintain safe and engaging learning environments, and provide vital services that contribute to educational success. Voucher programs not only weaken the public school system but also exacerbate segregation and inequality within our communities.

Our focus should be on bolstering public education by increasing investment in our schools. By doing so, we can ensure that every child has access to a quality education in well-supported classrooms, which is the foundation for a stronger and more equitable future.

Thank you for considering my perspective. Please support initiatives that strengthen our public schools rather than those that undermine them.

Sincerely,

Shannan Riemer

AustinISD Parent

Michelle Berry

self/retired

Cypress, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you for your consideration, Michelle Berry

Rachel Rehwinkel

Self / Stay at home parent

Austin, TX

I do not want my family's tax dollars to be spent on private education. Public dollars should serve the public schools. Our family will strongly consider leaving the state if this bill passes. We do not want to subsidize wealthy private schools and families. We are an income bracket that most would consider wealthy and are very familiar with the families that this bill would most benefit - other wealthy friends and neighbors who do not need state support!

We do not want to subsidize religious education. We believe in a separation of church and state and find it inappropriate that our taxes would be spent teaching children any specific religious concepts or beliefs.

We believe in every person's right to religious freedom and strongly believe that is a domain that is the responsibility of the family and not the state.

Every child in Texas deserves a well funded public education. This bill would not serve that goal and would undermine funding for the existing underfunded public school system.

Thank you for your consideration.

Jana Henderson

Self

Cumby, TX

I am strongly opposed to funding private schools with public funds. It is taxation without representation and not supported by Texans. Although I have no issue with private schools or home schools, public funds should stay with public programs.

Shawn Ryan

self - a parent

austin, TX

Honored Members of the Committee,

My name is Shawn Ryan, and I am the father of two Texas schoolchildren and the husband of a dedicated educator who has spent over a decade teaching in our public schools. As a parent, I have seen firsthand the critical role that well-funded public schools play in shaping the future of our children and our communities.

I am strongly opposed to HB 3, the voucher scheme that would divert public tax dollars away from our already underfunded public schools to subsidize private education for a select few. Instead of helping the vast majority of Texas families, this bill would only deepen the funding crisis that public schools—especially in rural areas—are already struggling to overcome.

Private schools, unlike public schools, are not required to provide transportation, meal services, special education programs, or even certified teachers, leaving many families with no real alternative. Texans across the political spectrum have rejected voucher programs time and time again because they recognize the harm they cause to our students and communities.

Rather than funneling public money into private institutions, I urge you to increase per-student funding by at least $1,300 to ensure that Texas public schools have the resources they need to educate and support every child. Investing in our public schools is investing in the future of Texas.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I hope you will make the right decision for Texas students and families.

Sincerely,

Shawn Ryan

Elizabeth Davis

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and I'm against school vouchers!

G Lewis

Self

Abilene, TX

Don't do this! Love ALL children. Educate ALL children. Please take excellent care of our teachers.

Vouchers do not help! Vouchers delineate. Be courageous and let this bill die and re-focus the states education energies.

Jose A. Gutierrez Jr., M.D.

Self

Hebbronville, TX

I do not think it will benefit our children or the public schools in general.

Janice Airhart, Ms.

Self, former public school teacher

LEANDER, TX

I strongly oppose any form of school vouchers or education savings accounts (ESAs) in the state of Texas. Taxpayer dollars should be spent on actions that can benefit all Texas citizens equally. ESAs do not. Besides the fact that there is little oversight of the use of these funds, by what measure will students be judged on the effectiveness of instruction? There is no reason to believe that private school teachers are in any way better trained or more conscientious than public school teachers. There is no built-in transparency or accountability for administrative costs. I do not want my tax dollars bankrolling such an enterprise.

As a former public school teacher, I am well aware that classrooms are underfunded. I purchased hundreds of dollars of classroom supplies each year so that my students had materials for lab projects. Not all teachers can afford to do this. No teacher should have to.

I am convinced that the voucher movement is a thinly veiled effort to reinstate racial segregation in our public schools, and I am appalled. What is ironic is that this move toward segregation is accompanied by other moves to institute prayer and Ten Commandment posters in classrooms, purportedly to emphasize "Christian values," actions which are decidedly unChristian. Perhaps the legislature needs to follow Christ's example, rather than appropriating his name for underhanded and self-serving practices.

Ultimately, I urge you to defeat HB 3, because it funnels public money from all Texans for the benefit of a select, already privileged, few. You shroud this in terms of "parents choice", but whose choices count? Only the few who already have access.

This is money that could be better spent by investing in public schools, which benefit a broader range of Texas families.

Emma Schleich

Self

Fort Worth, TX

A free and high quality public education is a fundamental right and an investment in our country's future. Pass this bill would strip public schools of resources that are already lacking. Underserved, rural, and low income students will continue to fall through the cracks and there will be even more class division than there already is. Private schools are not required to provide transportation or special education services. This bill is an attack on my profession and my students. It is 100% classist and racist. Texans do not want this.

Beverly Schulte

Self

Nazareth, TX

Please fund public schools and vote NO for vouchers.

Megan Vosters

Self

Lumberton, TX

I am against any bill that includes any type of voucher system, such as educational savings accounts.

The most important reason is that vouchers have never been able to help the students they claim to help. The students that need vouchers rarely have transportation to a private school, the financial resources to pay the rest of their tuition, or parents that can help them navigate the application process.

To be clear, I don't hate private schools. I personally loved the ways prayer was woven throughout our day when I taught in the Catholic Schools, but that doesn't mean I think tax dollars should pay for private schools.

Private schools don't have to admit everyone, like public schools do.

Private schools don't have to offer any support for students with IEPs or 504 plans (some do, but they are not required by law to do so like public schools are). Side note for anyone not in education: you'd be surprised by the number of students with IEPs and 504 plans.

Public school provides a free appropriate education for every student that walks through our doors.

School choice already exists... if for any reason parents want to choose something different for their child than their local public school, they have always been welcome to choose private school or homeschooling.

As a parent, and as a teacher, I believe in public education.

I also believe Texas needs to find a better way to fund public education. There's plenty that's broken about the current system, but vouchers are not the solution.

Mindy Rossetto

self, stay at home parent

Austin, TX

The only people who truly want to use public funds for private schools are billionaires and Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick, who have been bought and paid for by billionaires to pass this voucher scam. Teachers, school administration, students, and, most importantly, parents, do not want vouchers. Most of Texas does not want what the legislature is ramming down our throats. We do not want to subsidize wealthy kids to go to private schools they already afford, in the fewer than half of Texas counties that are home to private schools. I want to subsidize the poor by providing the state constitutional required public school system, FULLY FUNDED, via taxes. I know the billionaires don't pay theirs, so why is the legislature letting them dictate how mine are used?!

Jesse Hart
Self
Lewisville, TX

Dear Representatives,

I'm reaching out to ask you to oppose HB 3 and any proposal that shifts public education dollars to private vendors through school vouchers. This bill isn't about improving education—it's about funneling taxpayer money into private hands at the expense of our students. It's wasteful, harmful, and undermines the integrity of our public school system.

Schools in our district are already struggling with overcrowded classrooms, limited resources, and overworked teachers due to insufficient funding. Instead of fixing these issues, HB 3 would take even more money away from public schools, contradicting the Texas Constitution's promise of a free and effective education for all students.

Taxpayer money should strengthen our public schools, not fund private education programs that lack oversight and accountability. I urge you to put Texas students first—reject HB 3 and any effort to introduce school vouchers.

Thank you for your time and for standing up for Texas children.

Sincerely,

Jesse Hart

Elizabeth Edgar self, former teacher current stay at home mother
Austin, TX

I am a former special education teacher and currently a stay at home mother of a child with an IEP. My father is a retired professor of Educational Psychology, his father was an elementary school principal, and my extended family is full of public school teachers. I feel that free and fair public education is a cornerstone of our great democracy. It is our responsibility as Texans to make sure that we properly fund public schools and compensate public educators. We need to raise the allotment for students and protect the Teacher Retirement system. Our public schools are struggling, and it is immoral to propose reducing already insufficient funding to enrich private schools with public funds. I also have grave concerns that these charter schools will not match our vital public schools in meeting the needs of students with disabilities, of students in rural communities, and students who are already facing socioeconomic challenges. This is not good for children, not good for parents, not good for educators, and not good for Texas.

Miranda Finley Hunt
Self
Austin, TX

There are no successful voucher programs that benefit the tax payer or children. Other states have drained budgets supporting vouchers that go to private schools that raise their tuitions. Vouchers are a scheme for transferring public funds to private pockets and absolutely no students benefit. Please think about responsible tax payers and their children when deciding on this Bill.

Dietra Marquez
Self
San Antonio, TX

Vouchers for private schools is a scam and doesn't help poor students

Harold Albers

retired

Art, TX

I am opposed to supporting private schools. All tax money must go to public schools that do not reject students like private schools do. The rich do not need taxpayer help. Do your job and fund public schools adequately without Robin Hood.

Austin Mitchell

Self - teacher

Fort Worth, TX

I am for this.

Karen Haught

Self, Homeschooling parent and grandparent, PhD candidate.

Magnolia, TX

My name is Karen Haught and I am addressing this committee via written note, since I am busy homeschooling my twelve-year-old granddaughter in Houston while you are meeting. I urge the Education Committee to reject House Bill 3, even though I know it is favored by our governor. I offer a unique perspective, since my homeschooling career spans forty years—dating back to the years before the Leeper case was decided.

I homeschooled my son, who is now forty-five years old and a successful COO of a multi-million-dollar private company. I wrote a private homeschooling bill that was about to be presented in the Texas Legislature, when the Leeper case was decided that made Texas a homeschool-friendly state. As stated, I am homeschooling my granddaughter who, at age twelve is above level in Math, at college level in reading, is a rising young golf star, and is preparing to take the PSAT.

HB3 on School Choice, while sounding beneficial on the surface, is already identified as the backdoor means by which those who wish to impose government control over private homeschooling intend to do so. There are far better ways of addressing the problems in our public schools than implementing a law under the guise of "parent empowerment" that will be used to instill governmental oversight on private homeschooling families and restrict the rights and freedoms of parents to oversee their children's education without interference from the government.

Texas has one of the largest private homeschooling populations in the country and has seen great success among homeschooled children. I would like to meet with Representative Cecil Bell, Jr. to discuss these matters privately; but today, I ask that he please join this large constituency in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3, unless it includes specifically-articulated acknowledgement of the rights of parents to determine the nature and direction of their child's education and upbringing and the rights of private homeschools to be free of government oversight over matters including, but not limited to" the number of teaching hours or days; methods of instruction; teacher requirements and standards; type and content of curriculum beyond the basics of math, reading, spelling, and good citizenship; religious instruction or the instilling of religious values; the teaching of social values and ideologies beyond basic good citizenship; methods of instruction; and the need for testing.

Regards,

Karen Haught

TONIA MCGEE

SELF

DENTON, TX

There are currently about 350,000 private school students in Texas. The state only has money for 100,000 of those students to receive vouchers. (Approximately $10,000 per 100,000 students = 1 Billion Dollars.) That is less than 33% of the currently enrolled private school students. But how many more students will put in a bid to be part of the lottery system to choose who gets the voucher? That means your child is even less likely to receive a voucher.

Additionally, 80% of those considered "low income" will get put into a lottery system to possibly be able to obtain these funds. So only 80,000 people out of the currently enrolled 350,000 students will get a voucher. That is a 28% chance now, and less once others put in their bids.

Interesting fact:

The Senate defines Private School low income as 500% of median income, or approx. an income of $156,000.

The State defines Public School low income as 200% of median income, or an income of approximately $40,560 and $57,720 for a four-person household.

Interesting, right? It is harder to be low income if you go to public school than if you go to private school.

Only 20% of Currently Enrolled students who make more than $156,000 a year will be eligible for the lottery. This does not take into account the unknown number of students who will be putting in their bids as well. That is only a 5% chance to get a voucher and will be less once others put in their bids.

Next, let's say you do have a student with special needs. Private schools do not have to accept your child. If they do accept them, they do not have to provide accommodations.

Let's look at schools that advertise that they do accept students with special needs. (See link below.) Are any of these in Denton?

Lewisville? Flower Mound? Gainesville? Even the largest cities in Texas have less than 5 schools that advertise to accept special needs students. The Closest one to me (Denton) is in Grapevine. Annual tuition $21,000+ depending on grade level.

Then add in uniforms, technology, and after school activities/ extra-curriculars.

Also, many private schools do not provide transportation to sports, band, choir, or other extra-curricular activities so that is on the parent as well. If one is truly low income (as the public schools define low income,) then likely transportation is an issue.

Not to mention the additional $10,000+ one must find to pay the tuition, etc.

Another problem created by giving public school money to private schools is an increase in class sizes.

Lewisville ISD is closing 4 of its schools. Northwest ISD is cutting 100 teacher positions next year. This will increase class sizes.

See the YouTube link below. Typical class sizes will be up to 30 students in a high school class, and 24 in elementary classes.

And what is the average class size of private schools? 15-20 students.

This is simply unacceptable. Properly fund public schools. Do not pass HB3 Please!!!!

Megan Graham

Honey Elementary PTA

Lubbock, TX

Public education is critical to the success of our communities and the future of our state. Funding public education is the foundation of success for our future generations. Implementing school choice will actually diminish school choice, especially those with the most financial need. The have nits will be even further away from opportunities as private schools deny admission, increase costs, or don't provide accommodations. If we truly love our state, we should be supporting those that need it most.

Please use public dollars to fund public education. Families who want and have access to private education are already attending private schools. We need to fund and support our public schools, teachers, and students.

Matt CORTEZ

Animal Emergency Hospital of North Texas

Eules, TX

Vouchers have been proven over and over again to not work. I am against any bill that would set money aside for them when they could instead be put towards our public school system

Taylor Cortez, Dr.

Self

Eules, TX

Dear Representatives,

I am writing to urge you to vote NO on HB3 and reject any efforts to divert public funds to private vendors through school vouchers. HB3 is not about helping students—it is a vendor bill that prioritizes profits over education. This is government overreach and irresponsible spending that hurts students, taxpayers, and our local communities.

Our district is already struggling due to inadequate funding. We see the effects firsthand—larger class sizes, fewer resources, and overworked teachers. Instead of addressing these urgent needs, HB3 would siphon money away from public schools, violating the Texas Constitution's guarantee of a free and efficient public education.

Public dollars belong in public schools. Texas taxpayers should not be forced to fund private and unaccountable education programs while our neighborhood schools continue to suffer. I urge you to stand with our students, teachers, and communities—vote NO on HB3 and say NO to vouchers.

Thank you for your time and your commitment to Texas children.

Sincerely, Dr. Taylor Cortez

Genelle Gibson

Self

Missouri City, TX

Vote No to JHR140

Matt Flickinger

Self/ High School English Teacher

Austin, TX

School vouchers are an absolute scam and "school choice" is a clever way of rebranding a cash grab for the lowest need Texans: the wealthy and privileged. Vouchers help only the wealthy at the expense of everyone else. The problems with this bill far outweigh the benefits. Simply put: first, there are not enough private schools in Texas to accommodate the number of children in Texas, especially when geography is considered as there are entire, enormous counties with simply NO private schools in existence; secondly, private schools have neither the means nor the responsibility to educate ALL Texas students (including students with learning, financial, or other needs not met in private schools); third, private schools need not admit anyone they deem unworthy of admittance according to any, unregulated reason they may define respectively; fourth: this entire plan reallocates Texas taxpayer funds into the hands of private schools without oversight; and lastly, there are too many issues and elements yet undetermined. Texans deserve a plan to help our students, all of our students. Reject this voucher nonsense for the good of all students.

Jean Steensma

self, retired

Round Rock, TX

Please vote NO on HB3. I believe this bill and the voucher program will cost the state too much money over time as the program gets more and more expensive as time goes on, as seen in other states with similar programs. I also believe that this will hurt public education which is already terribly underfunded. The public school system needs a big increase in funding and not to lose any money. I also don't like that charter and private schools and other non public schools would be using public taxpayer money and would not be held accountable and held to the same standards as public schools. They do not have to accept or educate special education students or those with behavior/emotional needs. Therefore please vote NO to HB3. I do not want to see public schools suffer due to this. We had 5 children go through the public school system very successfully, including one with special needs, and I believe the public school system is very valuable to our community. It needs to have increased funding and not less.

Pamela Tevis
Self
Dickinson, TX

I am requesting you vote AGAINST school vouchers. As a member of the Texas government, you and the governor have had the power to overhaul TEA to benefit ALL students. If vouchers are being pushed so hard because our current quality of education is not acceptable, it is your fault! You have had the ability all along to make a difference. Instead you are kicking the can down the road deflecting attention from ineffective leadership and touting school vouchers! Shame on anyone who votes for vouchers. I find it hard to believe that your informed constituents overwhelmingly asked you to vote for vouchers. The Texas legislators have already demonstrated their inability to oversee our educational system, and the lack of details of how vouchers work will only lead to segregation and fraud. Just the fact that our governor is strong arming representatives to vote for this should raise red flags! Not to mention he is playing with the surplus of tax money like it's his own personal bank account. Obviously tax payers have been over charged and the money should be returned to tax payers not for representatives finding ways to spend money it. There are too many unanswered questions. How long do you think $1 billion will last? A family with 4 children (K, 2nd, 4th, 6th) will cost $360,000. Where is future funding coming from? What systems are in place to vet the number of private schools that will pop up? How are these students' performances going to be evaluated? Who is going to oversee the programs and where is that money coming from? What is the rationale for 20% going to anyone? Why not simplify the program and make it available to only students zoned to underperforming schools? This gives public schools the incentive to improve eventually eliminating the need for vouchers. This would benefit ALL students.

Please vote for what your constituents want and not the governor or republicans.

Please represent your constituents not your party.

Thank you
Pam Tevis

Jana Spinks, RN
Self
San Antonio, TX

Help those that need help! Public schools are for America and for Texas.

Alisha Woodall
self
Richardson, TX

I am writing to vehemently oppose the Education Savings Account Program. This initiative not only weakens the public school system but also undermines the very fabric of our neighborhood communities. Instead of investing in local schools and supporting our dedicated teachers, it redirects taxpayer funds away from public schools, leaving them with fewer resources to serve the majority of students. This reckless decision doesn't just impact our immediate communities, it disproportionately harms disadvantaged students who rely on public education as their only option.

This program fuels inequality, diminishes community involvement, and reroutes local taxes to private entities that have no stake in the well-being of our neighborhoods. My family specifically chose to buy our home based on the outstanding public school district and to see that investment stripped away is nothing short of a direct assault on taxpayers like myself who have committed time, money and energy to our local communities. We have made the conscious decision to invest in our local schools and ensure that our children learn in safe, nurturing environments within our own neighborhood.

The very idea of tearing public schools away from local communities and forcing families to send their children to private institutions (many of which are religious or ideologically driven) is not only unjust, it is unconstitutional. This should never even be up for debate.

Neal Legan
Self
Dallas, TX

I oppose school vouchers and ESAs. Please vote No!

James Rice

Self

Perrin, TX

No vouchers! Public dollars for public schools. I do not wish my hard earned tax dollars used to supplement tuition for children of the wealthy. We have public schools which have never been funded appropriately. Take care of my community school.

Zeke Romero Romero

Myself

Temple, TX

I am a registered republican and I don't want school vouchers! You are defunding public schools. I'm proud of my rural school.

Jennifer Hemm

SELF

Belton, TX

I oppose school voucher bill HB 3 that will only benefit the rich and wealthy. As a constituent I ask that you do not pass this legislation.

Heather Garcia, Mrs

Self, educator

Arlington, TX

Committee members,

Please do not allow HB 3 to pass. Public money is meant for educating the next generation of our society. All students deserve an excellent education. Taking funds away from public education is not going to improve the ability of our most vulnerable students to obtain the thing most likely to improve their life- an education. We need an educated society, not just a good education for those that choose it. We can't allow public schools to fail. Let's use the funding to improve public schools, not defund them and take away the most American thing we have- the ability to improve one's own life through education. I am afraid for the future of our society and the division of the "haves" and "have nots" this will cause when those left in an underfunded public school cannot compete. How can public schools survive when only the toughest most needy students are left. Who will be able to handle teaching then? Don't do this, please.

Joanna Klose

self

Austin, TX

Children are the future of our community, family and world. We must ensure they are given every ability to grow.

This is why I strongly oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Thank you and I believe you can stand up for the good of everyone not just private interest!

Allison Sliva
self -- retired educator
Bay City, TX

I am a retired teacher of 18 years, and also worked in school communications for 12, and I am opposed to HB3. (I did teach 4 years at an exclusive private school in Houston, and have taught in large and small, rural and urban districts — Public dollars belong in public schools!)

Here are some major points:

Private schools can deny families from enrolling.

Families would have to waive their children's rights of such things as federally protected special education or language services. There is no accountability to the state or parents about how the voucher is used or how students who use it are educated and treated fairly.

Vouchers for decades have been tried in other states, and all have failed to improve student outcomes — many studies available regarding this. In fact, states who have already tried vouchers are ending their programs. In Florida & Arizona, the voucher programs have been disasters academically & financially. The vast majority of voucher users already can afford to send their kids to private schools as in the experience of the 2 largest voucher states, Florida & Arizona.

I retired in 2020 from a Title I district as the Chief Communications Officer. — Bay City ISD. We have no real private school options where I live, except for a small Catholic school that houses grades PK-5. Rural communities such as mine would be devastated by the further degradation of our public schools.

Put $1300 toward the basic allotment before giving away public dollars to vouchers!

Caitlin New
Self
Cedar Park, TX

Vote no for HB 3. Keep public funds in public schools and focus instead on increasing the quality of public education in Texas. Raise basic allotment, pay our teachers more, reduce teacher to student ratios, protect access to 504 services, and focus on better student outcomes. This is what constituents in Texas have overwhelmingly said they want. Listen to your constituents and do not pass this unpopular legislation.

Allison Cone
Self —accountant
Cedar Park, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3 regarding school vouchers, masking as “school choice”. Our tax dollars should not be spent to fund private schools that are not legally required to offer education to every child, regardless of economic standing or ability. I am a mother of a student under SPED and another student under 504. I am a single parent that fled an abusive situation and saved my children. Private school is so far out of reach, it's not considered an option, but my children are intelligent and kind and deserve just as many opportunities as a child that has parents with more economic means

This bill will only defund our public schools more, and take away every child's right to a fair education.

Public education benefits everyone. Children who are educated grow up to be educated adults who can fully participate in the economy. Defunding public schools by creating vouchers hurts everyone's future.

John Carson

self/homeschool parent

Aledo, TX

I am writing regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment". I would like to ask the committee to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3.

Christy Fay

Self

Mesquite, TX

We DO NOT want vouchers! It's not fair to our children and taxpayers.

Peter Dodd

Self

Grapevine, TX

Please do not sell out our Texas children and allow this education grift to pass. It is anti-public good and will lead to even more inequality of opportunity and outcome for Texas students.

Barbara Wiederaenders

self, retired

Austin, TX

Public Education, House Bill 3. I oppose this education savings account program. I urge you to invest the same amount of extra money into Texas public schools for the benefit of all students. Private schools are able to solicit funds from private sources for scholarship assistance. Investing more in public schools will make private schools less attractive. We need full enrollment in public schools, not rewarding those who pull out. I speak as a member of a congregation which sponsors a child day care center. I can donate to that as I wish. I want my tax dollars to support superior PUBLIC education for all Texas children. I do not favor using taxes to assist church-sponsored private schools.

Jeannie Ryan, Mrs.

Self

Lorena, TX

School vouchers will hurt public schools. I am a public school teacher in a small rural town (Troy ISD, Troy, Tx). Greg Abbot had investors give millions of dollars to advertise school vouchers as "school choice". Vouchers will only help students who already attend private schools. Middle class or below will not be able to afford the difference between how much a voucher provides and the total price of public schools. Over half of the children at my school are title one students. There is no viable school for them to choose within driving Distance even if they wanted to attend another school. Private schools can deny entrance for any reason. They rarely, if ever, accept special ed students. Private school teachers don't have to have a degree to teach, which will lower the chance of having a qualified teacher. Private schools don't have to pass the rigorous testing that pupils schools have. This whole policy will take from the poor to give to the rich which will further education inequality.

Terra Pennington, Rev.

Self - Presbyterian Pastor (PCUSA)

Stephenville, TX

As a Christian it is my belief that all children deserve a quality education, not just children of the wealthy. I want my tax dollars to stay in public schools so all children can have a well funded education.

Terri Metcalf

Self

Houston, TX

Vote NO to HB3 and fully fund public schools

Robert Shindell, Dr.

Self - Professor

Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, TX Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools.

ESAs (vouchers) directly hurt students with disabilities who receive Special Education services in Public Schools in the State of Texas. Diverting $1 Billion of my PUBLIC taxpayer money to private schools who do not even acknowledge IDEA, do not follow IEPs and only provide services when they are negotiated, compromised and then charged back to parents at exorbitant rates well above typical tuition rates it is theft of services and money to the most vulnerable population in Texas.

14% of the 5.4 million public school students in Texas receive special education services. That's 760,000 students at a minimum. These ESAs are completely inaccessible to at least 90% of our disabled students, and that is before they have a chance at any lottery or know if a private school will accept, serve, or retain them. There's no accountability. Not of services, not of the $1 Billion of public taxpayer money this legislature wants to pour into private schools and not of impact or outcomes of our disabled students.

Even if we say ALL of the ESAs go to disabled kids receiving special education services, that still leaves a minimum of 700,000 students receiving special education services in underfunded understaffed Public Schools that this state put in this situation. This causes direct harm to these students with disabilities, the most vulnerable individuals in society, and it's at the hands of those who are supposed to represent us.

This is unacceptable. I want this legislature to take accountability, listen to the parent voice (and students), and have the courage to do the right thing: say No to ESA/Vouchers and Fund our Public Schools properly.

Thank you. Please stand up to the West Texas Billionaires who are hijacking our public school system and trying to turn our state into a theocracy. These Christian Nationalists have no business in our schools. The separation of church and state is part of the foundation of our nation and it is YOUR JOB to defend the constitution!

Michelle Renner

Self

Pleasanton, TX

How are vouchers going to help rural communities that don't have any other options? It appears that our already struggling schools will have to continue doing what they are doing with less money. My granddaughter is in life skills. She is 3 years old and she suffered an injury at birth. What is going to happen to her? Conversations and decisions regarding the educational system in Texas needs to consider rural communities with no access to public transportation. It seems that the Texas government has forgotten about us.

Mary Golden

Taxpayer

North Richland Hills, TX

Voucher program. TEXAS ranks LAST in educating our children and Abbott wants to choke off more public school funding???? I am so embarrassed to tell anyone I live in Texas. Would move out but family is here.

Haley Buchman
Self
San Antonio, TX

By allowing vouchers, we are diluting the power of any school system to educate our children. Parents with students already in private schools will continue to have their children in private schools just with a taxpayer discount. This will not provide families with a choice because those who are not able to afford private schools just with will still not be able to afford it even with the voucher discount. This program will further separate the haves from the have nots.

As a retired public school teacher, I am not against private schools at all, however I am against having public funding going toward private education. If this happens, private institutions MUST be held accountable to the same standards as public schools. They MUST provide all the special programs public schools are required to have to educate EVERY child.

Charity Dillon
Self
SPRING, TX

I DO NOT SUPPORT THIS!!! I WILL VOTE AGAINST EVERY SINGLE REPUBLICAN IF THIS IS PASSED.

Kyle Warren
Self, business owner/entrepreneur
DRIPPING SPRINGS, TX

Please do not do this. My public school friends don't like this, my private school friends don't like this. My homeschooled family of 6 does not want this at all. Please, listen to your constituents. Look at Abbott's facebook posts about so called "school choice" - the angry faces are leading the way. Please don't give into the politics. Do what is right, and vote this down.

Ashley Nielson
Self
Leander, TX

These vouchers are tremendously hurting public education. As a teacher, this is disgusting to see all of our schools suffering because you are trying to give money for vouchers. We all know that this money is not used for the people that really need it. Great teachers are getting laid off, classroom sizes are getting too big, and Texas public education is Truly suffering. I'm so embarrassed as an educator of where our education system is going in Texas. You need to do better, and think about how many people this is affecting and our wonderful students and teachers. As a mother of four kids and a teacher, I want to make our public school system systems the best they can be, because this is where I want my kids, not a private schools. I want them right in their own community.

Stephanie Bayer
Self/ Teacher
Mckinney, TX

Vouchers are a scam and not good good for public education, children, or families. This bill will only serve to further diminish our public schools and to hurt public education overall.

Brandy Wright
Self
Cleveland, TX

This. I'll is going to destroy public education!!ry the public vote on it. We don't want this

Amy De Rosa, Mrs
Self-grandparent who pays for and oversees grandkids' education
Harker Heights, TX

Where is the money for ESA budget coming from? What guarantees can the state give that the ESA budget will grow and endure such all families and students will always be guaranteed school choice, not just those with special circumstances.

Jamie Dion
Self
El Paso, TX

As a resident of Texas this bill will give me & my children less choice in education. Texans do NOT want school choice that requires testing, limited curriculum and regulations that we currently do NOT have. Please consider the ways in which this bill will be reducing our rights as parents. Thank you

Emily Adhikari, Dr
Self physician
Irving, TX

As a child of public school teachers who is now raising children attending public school and witnessing neighborhood schools under increasing stress during to budget cuts from the state, I am extremely distressed to see that this bill is still being considered. The Texas public school system has many strengths- chief among those open access for all communities, and top quality free education for all Texans. By pulling students and funding from public schools, the state breaks the main system that is in place to allow all students equal access to this high quality education. Instead of committing money and resources to addressing the challenges faced by public school teachers and students, the state is pulling the rug out from under the schools themselves. The effects on the future of Texas public education will be long lasting. I oppose HB-3 and hope the supporters of Texas public education will vote against this misguided bill.

Katie Hildebrand, Mrs.
Self, homeschooling parents
Seminole, TX

Please note, that we, as a Texas homeschooling household, oppose this bill. We do not need or want funding from the government. We greatly appreciate the freedom that we have had in Texas in the past and recognized that we already have school choice. Please vote no, on behalf of us, and on behalf of thousands of Texas residents who are also opposed. Thank you!

Jessica Legut
Self
Cypress, TX

No vouchers!

Ruth Shrader
Self
Austin, TX

Please vote no for school vouchers. It's only going to support the wealthier families and take away from those who have no option but the public school system. Please do not choose vouchers!

Philip Overbaugh
Self
Austin, TX

I am adamantly opposed to giving vouchers for private school students. Vouchers will destroy public education and will confiscate public tax dollars to promote religious beliefs and faiths. This is un-American and unconstitutional - a direct violation of the separation of church and state.

Christi Kelly, Mrs

Self manager

Whitehouse, TX

TEXANS DO NOT WANT the voucher system. Abbott is strong arming you reps and it will cost you your jobs in the long run. We are watching how you vote and taking notes. It us a money grab for those already attending private schools and does not address the needs of a vast majority of the state. No private schools in the area, they cost considerably more than 10k, inability for most to provide their own transportation. Homeschoolers and private schools DO NOT want the curriculum and testing that comes with it so they won't accept the vouchers.

Mark Villines

Self teacher

Coppell, TX

No no no no! Please be rational and level headed when choosing! You were elected to be selfless and put the best interest of ALL Texans first! This voucher bill is NOT what is best for kids! Fully funding ALL schools and improving them is what is best for kids! Prayers you make the right decision

Katherine McClellan

Self

Leander, TX

Fund public schools fully! Say no to vouchers that will take away from public education and only help the wealthy who are already paying for private school. Private schools should NOT be funded with tax payers dollars when they do but have to follow any state guidelines or attendance rules when getting paid per student per day.

Ally Thompson, Miss

Self

Beaumont, TX

No to school vouchers. Fund our public schools!

Carolyn Stone

Self / retired nurse

Houston, TX

I am against a school vouchers program giveaway of our tax dollars that should all go to public education, which is already under funded in Texas. Private school vouchers only benefit wealthy families, since they basically get a discount on what they are already willing and able to pay for. If they want a private education, they can pay for it. Private schools discriminate on admissions as they see fit, and are not even available in all cities/towns in the state. They are not accountable for their spending. The diversion of funds from public schools to private school vouchers damages the resources available to public school students and thus damages the quality of the public achool education. Every Texan should want a strong, quality education for every Texas student. This is a public good, benefiting not just individuals, but society as a whole.

Alex Budke

Self

Grapevine, TX

I have not seen any rational points for school vouchers, nor consistent success when implemented in other states.

Amy Moore

Self

Austin, TX

Texas House of Representatives

Committee on Public Education

Public Hearing on HB3

March 11, 2025

Dear Honorable Representatives,

I am writing as a Texas parent, taxpayer, and voter to ask the Committee not to move forward with HB3. This is not what the overwhelming majority of Texans across the state want for their hard-earned, taxpayer dollars. This bill is not fiscally responsible, as it creates another bureaucratic system, and it has virtually none of the accountability we ask of our public schools. Please listen to the voices of your constituents, many of whom do not have a private school or tutoring company in their county.

Texans want their local, public school districts to thrive, which has been hard for them to do because they have not had a basic allotment raise since 2019. If there is $1B sitting in an extra pot of money somewhere, then please use it to bolster our public school districts across the state.

Thank you for your consideration,

Amy Moore

BD Pitts

Self; Retired Texas public school teacher

Austin, TX

After receiving an excellent education and graduating from Texas public schools and universities, I taught in Austin and Round Rock school districts, retiring recently at age 73. My students and I suffered from lack of proper funding of public schools; that paucity of funding continues. Please do not further erode Texas schools with public school vouchers by using public dollars for private education which will be a further drain on our public schools.

Emilio Nicolas

self, attorney

Austin, TX

Good evening: I am a constituent in zip code 78735. I write to voice my opposition to HB 3. I respectfully ask my Representative and this Committee to vote "no" and fully fund public education instead. We already have meaningful school choice in Texas-- what we need are more financial resources to better use the existing, working, and necessary infrastructure. HB3 does not even make economic sense. Without regulation over the tuition, private schools have no impediment from raising their tuitions to essentially negate the value of the voucher; and a student who could already afford it will take advantage, resulting in a profit for the school and no greater access to education compared to the students' previous positions. Thank you.

Cristella Lupin

Self- Speech Language Pathologist

Austin, TX

As a parent, public school special educator, and third generation Texan - I oppose vouchers. It is plain to see that the cons far outweighs the pros. Public dollars are for public schools. Everyday, I make a choice of how I will drive to work. Will I take I-35 or will I take the toll road 130? TXDOT maintains I35 and some days, it is the fit for me but other days, I make the choice to take the tolls. I make the choice, I pay the price. The toll company maintains the road so why would I ask TXDOT to send funds for the maintenance of the toll road? Public and private schools are like the TXDOT maintained highway versus the toll road. If you choose the road to the private school, you pay for that. Vouchers do not truly make private school more affordable and leave vulnerable populations without a choice. Texans do not want vouchers. We are aware that our governor so wants to please mega donors Farris Wilks and Tim Dunn by making this agenda item pass. Farris Wilks and Tim Dunn do not represent Texas. We do. We are the voice. We are the majority. 2026 is very close. Texas will remember that Greg Abbott does not care about public school students or educators.

Anne Markwell, Ms

Self, Denton Co. Precinct Chair #2102

Dallas, TX

Please vote against HB 3 AN ACT relating to the establishment of an education savings account program. I oppose it as it stands because it does not help Texas students across the board and it would create a costly new layer of bureaucracy to administer it, namely Certified Educational Assistance Organizations. Vote NO on HB 3.

Thomas Holmes

Self, music teacher

Dallas, TX

We already have evidence from multiple states that voucher programs do raise achievement and more importantly, do not help poor students attend private schools in any appreciable number. Most Texans believe that public dollars belong in public schools. Instead of listening, you have decided you know better and have used out of state money to primary lawmakers who stood in the way. Despite my fiscally conservative beliefs, I believe funding schools is one of the most important jobs of government. The more people who have access to good education improves our entire society and works as a great equalizer, disadvantaged and poor people a chance to rise up and seize the American dream through hard work.

Sam Soto

Self/ Public School Principal

Austin, TX

As a voter, taxpayer, and public school principal, I cannot in good faith and conscience support HB 3. I request that this committee vote NO to ESAs or any other voucher program in Texas. Public education has been underfunded for years and is currently $4,400 behind the national average and ranks 46th overall. Historically, voucher programs promote segregation and have scammed citizens for decades by falsely promising equitable opportunities to economically disadvantaged families and communities of color. If we open the door to vouchers in Texas, all 1,200 public school districts in our state will suffer financial repercussions, especially in rural communities. In addition, vouchers fail to protect students with disabilities who receive special education services and deceive families into believing that the voucher will cover the full tuition bill. Rather, vouchers will subsidize private education for families who can already afford it. Governor Abbott and proponents of vouchers speak of the benefits of such programs but fail to speak the truth about how private and charter schools are not held to the same standards as public schools under TEA policies. Longitudinal studies conducted in other states have concluded that voucher programs increasingly defund public education while student achievement data is often misrepresented to inflate their achievements when compared to public education data. I encourage all Texas legislators to have the backbone to fund public education with the $21 billion from the state's general revenue. Ultimately, Texas parents can send their children to whatever school they choose, public, private, or charter, but public taxpayer dollars should NEVER go toward funding private education.

Arden Rolf
Self
Corpus Christi, TX

I am a hardworking, 4.0 gpa student studying forestry. I have been in public school all my life and it is part of the reason I have been so successful thus far. I made friends with a diverse group of people and I was taught by teachers who were motivated not by money, but by a passion for teaching, that I doubt can be found in any other profession. A major argument against public education is that it is "not as good" as private education in terms of curriculum. I don't see how this is possible when I have met many a private student who doesn't have a basic understanding of the world around them. Private schooling as it stands now is a detriment to those students. If we give more power to the private school system, the public school students will continue to get the short end of the stick. Many politicians use the term "school should be about learning" and if you truly believe that, you would be a strong advocate for public schools. Your priorities do not lie with the welfare of Texas children. This bill only stands to make the rich richer and weaken the school system that works to serve the poor. Over 90% of Texas children go to public school. It is economically infeasible for every child to be in private school. With the money you could use for this preposterous proposal, you could better the entire Texas education system instead of practically demolishing it.

Debra Howsmon
Self
Kingwood, TX

I am against vouchers. You say it is a way to help children, but if you really wanted to help ALL children, you would fully fund public education and reduce the rigor of STAAR exams. If we are to compete NATIONALLY, we need to re-examine what is taught, when it is taught, and how it is taught. Study what is done in Finland, Denmark, and Japan. Why are their schools so successful. Do what those country do, and you would make our public schools better than any other schools in the nation. Our children deserve this and so do we because our children are the future.

Maria Guerra
Public school employee
San Antonio, TX

I am a speech Language Pathologist working at the public school elementary school level. I have two children attending Northside ISD elementary schools and I attended public school in Teaxas from kindergarten through 12th grade. I am asking my legislator to vote no on HB 3. Taking money from our public schools' funding to give to parents to send their children to public schools doesn't make sense. First of all from what I understand parents would receive 10,000 per child to attend private school while the base amount districts receive from the state is 6160 per student. Second, why are we not instead focusing on funding our public schools? We have teachers working so hard to teach our children but are not being supported by our state. Our focus needs to be on our public schools. Parents in Texas already have school choice, I don't want my tax money to go to families who choose to send their kids to private school. Another thing is that many districts don't have private schools in their area and many private schools are able to reject students based on behavior and abilities. Public schools accept all students from all socioeconomic backgrounds and all disabilities. Please vote no on HB 3 and please fund our public schools.

Jerin Tyler
Self Director of Practice Care
Shallowater, TX

My name is Jerin Tyler. I am a lifelong republican and a student of a private school growing up in Lubbock Texas. My children attend Shallowater ISD, a public school that does not have the funds it needs for these kids to thrive. We are fortunate to have a foundation that supports our teachers and students for necessary equipment. I am appalled at the voucher program. Call it what you want but it's sending state money to parents to then send to a private school that does not have to follow state testing guidelines. Take that money and fully fund our school systems. To my republican friends, if you want to keep your job and keep Texas Red, you must vote no. This savings account system is robbery of public schools and the propaganda that is going around that schools are funded fully is grossly wrong. We have to do what is best for our kids. If you want to save money get rid of the STAAR test. It's a waste of our money. I believe that people have school choice. You can elect to do what you see fit with your children but tax payers should not foot the bill. As a conservative in Texas, it is so disheartening to see so many wanting to die on this hill as schools have to consolidate to even survive. When this happens you are increasing the student/ teacher ratio but we want to send money for kids to go to private school. I was fortunate that my parents had the means to send me to the school they thought was better for me. I made the same choice for my kids. Please I urge you to vote no. There is so much more than just school funding at stake. You are all gambling your political careers on this and you will lose. Fully fund public schools with that money. The amount of money per student needs to be increased and teachers need a raise. Do the right thing and vote no. You do not want to under estimate all of the educators in this state that will be coming for your jobs. Everyone who votes yes will have a very hard time getting re elected. Governor Abbott (whom I voted for since he first ran) should step aside and let someone else run this state. He is a great governor but has committed political suicide with this agenda item. Stand with the constituents and vote no. Our children's future depends on it.

Amy Hall
Self
Lubbock, TX

If tax money is provided to other entities other than public schools, they should be held accountable in all aspects as public schools. Teachers' "success" is determined by student performance on one day in the year administered through mandated testing. Those same mandates should apply to other entities receiving tax funds. Public schools are required to accept and teach ALL students including those that are medically vulnerable and provide necessary support for their learning. All other entities receiving tax funds should be required to do the same. This is not an equitable bill and discriminates against public schools, rural areas, those less fortunate, to name a few. This bill is a coupon for the rich!

Jason Parker
GCISD Parent
Grapevine, TX

Against vouchers 100%. Fully Fund public schools 100%.
Fully funded public schools give the overwhelming majority of children the best opportunity to succeed and become assets to our communities.

Sabrina Mayberry
Self/Kindergarten Teacher
Red Oak, TX

Dear Representative,
I am a taxpayer in the State of Texas, so I want it to be documented that I do NOT support vouchers nor an education savings accounts (ESAs) program. In fact, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools in Texas. We have had inflation of over 20% since 2019, the last time funding was provided for Public Schools in Texas. I want it to be documented that I support the following:
? an Increase of the Basic Allotment, and
? Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflated amount of over 20%.
Representative, we must support our Public Schools with the proper Funding necessary.
Sincerely, Sabrina Mayberry

Jeremy Cuttrell
self
Friendswood, TX

I do not support this bill. It will hurt so many students and their education opportunities.

Stacie Tovar
Self- teacher
Houston, TX

I am against vouchers since they will take away from public school funds. Public schools need money so that everyone is able to school.

Michelle Patiño
Self
Pearland, TX

Listen to your constituents. VOTE NAY.

Lindsay Klatzkin, Mrs
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I do not approve of this bill and believe damage to our public education will be detrimental

Dina Kuhlman
Self
Argyle, TX

Put this on the ballot and let Texans decide!

Sarah Green
Self
Grapevine, TX

My family and I vote NO on school vouchers. Free up the extra reserve money and fund our teachers and our schools!

Robyn Kozan

Self

Keller, TX

I oppose HB3 and do not want you to vote for vouchers. Please fund our public schools.

Dawn Weisman

self/Retired

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose school vouchers because they drain funding, have a lack of accountability, don't improve student outcomes, increase taxpayer costs, allow discrimination, and adversely effect rural communities.

Siiri Marquardt, Ms

Self/ Assistant director of special education

Austin, TX

I have worked in public education since graduating college in 2006. I have worked for a Texas ISD since 2013. I have worked with Special Education students first as a school psychologist and now as an assistant director for special education. I see how hard all our teachers and staff work every single day. They pour all their energy into helping kids. Over the years, especially the last 6, I have seen how our schools are not being properly funded. This impacts districts in so many ways. The current cover bill will just pull more money they could go to our public schools. Our students, our future, deserve better. Education is the great equalizer and Texas has more than enough money to increase per student spending. I am disagreement with this bill and any form of vouchers or ESA for Texas. Instead I challenge the legislature to properly fund schools.

Jennifer Barbaste

Self

Carrollton, TX

Please vote against ESA and vote for public schools

Tiffany Hazard

Self- interventionist

Fort Worth, TX

Public education should be your main priority, not private schools. The public schools are in desperate need of being fully funded. The affects of your decision to support private school vouchers will be detrimental to my school. Please consider how this will affect students, teachers, and the communities we live in.

Laura Klein Plunkett, ms

Self

Georgetown, TX

I strongly support Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) from the 89th Regular Session, which establishes an Education Savings Account (ESA) program, because it empowers families, enhances educational freedom, and promotes equity in education. This bill allows parents to direct state funding toward approved education-related expenses—such as private school tuition, tutoring, or online courses—tailored to their child’s unique needs, giving families greater control over their educational choices. It prioritizes vulnerable students by offering higher funding for children with disabilities (up to $30,000 annually) and establishing a lottery system that favors low-income households and those with special needs, ensuring access for those who need it most. By funding ESAs at 85% of the statewide average per-student amount, the program maintains fiscal responsibility while redirecting resources to families rather than institutions, potentially saving the state money as reported annually under Section 29.371. Additionally, HB 3 fosters accountability through audits, preapproved providers, and annual reporting, ensuring quality and transparency. This innovative approach not only supports a “general diffusion of knowledge” as intended by the Texas Constitution but also prepares students for college, careers, or military service, making it a forward-thinking investment in Texas’ future.

Stefan Morrow

Self

Pasadena, TX

Fully fund public schools to levels that would match 23% increase from 2019 to just keep pace with inflation. Why is a public school student only worth $6350 or so but private school warrants $10k. This bill is a money grab for those who don't need it at the expense of those who do.

Cyndy Hurtado

Cyndy Hurtado

Houston, TX

All children deserve free education !

Gabrielle Hany

Self

Bandera, TX

Texas public schools are facing unprecedented challenges and need unprecedented support. Fully fund Texas public schools so teachers and school staff can earn a livable wage. Make teaching salaries attractive to students choosing a career and competitive to similar jobs that require a bachelor's or master's degree. Give public schools the funds they need to support legislative mandates such as HB 1416 without needing to rely on parent waivers or volunteers. Provide districts with the monetary means to provide essential support services to students that need them and funds for high quality instructional materials in all available areas. Public school teachers are not feeling like they are being backed by their elected officials. Show them they are wrong.

Savannah Cummings

Self

Little Elm, TX

This education savings account program doesn't not benefit myself or my child. It is actually detrimental to her education and my job. I'm a public school teacher. Only the rich want this. The public schools need funding.

Maria Gant

self

Plano, TX

Vouchers would significantly drain funding from already struggling public schools, potentially leading to decreased quality of education, while providing little accountability for private schools receiving voucher funds.

Vouchers would primarily benefit middle-class and wealthier families who are already able to afford private school tuition, while not adequately addressing the needs of students in under-resourced areas.

Rural areas in Texas often have limited private school options, meaning vouchers could significantly impact the funding of their public schools without providing viable alternatives.

Alissa Chaney

Self

Lubbock, TX

I honestly am not sure what more we need to say here. I think that your constituents throughout the state have clearly stated their views on this bill. I think if all the republicans on this committee and in the house and senate were honest, they would stand up for what's right and what's true: the PEOPLE of Texas (not billionaires from other states) don't want vouchers or ESAs. YOUR constituents, republicans and democrats together want public money to go to public schools. I don't know how many more statistics, experts, research, superintendents, teachers, parents, etc need to testify.. I think it's clear and it has been presented in a concrete manner that vouchers DON'T work; they DON'T help poorer populations, they DON'T create new opportunities for student success, and the DO ultimately take money away from the public school system. So, honestly, I don't understand why we are still here, talking about this. It's time for the leaders of this state to make Texas stronger and truly great. For years now, under REPUBLICAN leadership, education in Texas has foundered and stayed stagnant.. why don't you make a change- actually support our children, parents, and teachers by FULLY funding public schools. For once, invest in our children and not your stocks or billionaire donors. It's time. Make the honest, right choice and don't pass this bill.

Melinda Cofield

Self Teacher and Parent

El Paso, TX

As both a public school teacher and a parent of public school students, I strongly oppose HB3. This bill threatens to undermine the quality of public education in Texas by diverting critical resources away from our schools. Texas educators are already facing overwhelming challenges, including underfunding, teacher shortages, and increasing demands without adequate support. Instead of further weakening our public school system, we should be investing in our teachers, students, and classrooms. Public schools are the foundation of our communities, serving all students regardless of background or ability. HB3 does not reflect the needs or desires of Texas families who rely on strong, well-funded public schools. I urge lawmakers to prioritize real solutions that strengthen public education rather than dismantle it. Vote NO on HB3!

Debra Nelson, Dr

Self

Frisco, TX

Parents already have school choice but if elected officials believe that the public wants a voucher bill then they should put it on a ballot for the vote of the people!

You need to fund public education and quit pretending like you have because the leaders have done nothing but shove this legislation through because big money has paid for their votes.

The children of Texas will continue to be the losers if this bill passes but the wealthy donors will be extremely pleased.

Stephen Davis, Mr

Self

Henrietta, TX

Listen to the people of Texas not the Billionaires who are buying your vote with donations to your campaigns. This bill is flawed in so many ways. Please vote no for the majority of your constituents who do not want this bill to move forward.

Christy Holt

Self

Seguin, TX

I am a public educator who has been teaching for 29 years. I do not support vouchers. Texas needs to give teachers raises! I only make $72,000 after teaching so long and new teachers in my district make $55,000. We need to focus on paying teachers what they deserve and fund public education to bet meet the needs of all students!

Leah Mitchell Mitchell

Self

Lenorah, TX

What a disgrace to our teachers and students of Texas. You are selling us out. Vouchers are not the answer to our educational needs, it is merely a way for greedy politicians to abandon our students and to pad their pockets. Invest in our schools, our teachers and our students.

Cindy Fisher

Concerned parent / self

Austin, TX

This bill is an attempt to dismantle the public education system in this state under the guise of choice. I vehemently oppose it. This hurt rural and urban schools alike.

Howard Bell

Self

Canton, TX

As a lifelong Republican, I will no longer support a party that will give tax dollars to a private organization that does not have the same rules as public schools. The Staar test is a joke and everyone but our legislators acknowledge this, this voucher bill only helps the rich as poor people will still not be able to afford a private school. I beg and plead to not pass this bill. It's not right, it's not fair. You want public education to get better, then quit teaching to a test. We don't need vouchers and please end the Starr test for something more realistic where teachers can actually teach and have fun and explore in the classroom.

Elizabeth Kalbacher

Self, mortgage banking

Austin, TX

I do not support this bill. Any attempt to divert public funds away from colic schools only serves to hurt the students and families that need it most. These children are our future and these types of bills take away opportunities. Bills like this do not provide better opportunities for students who need them most. I urge all representatives to vote against this bill.

Elissa Ducar

Denton TX

DENTON, TX

My tax dollars should not go toward school vouchers. Every student in Texas deserves the best public education that they can receive. Perhaps our surplus is better spent on making sure that districts are better funded, and that our teachers are fairly paid.

Julie Knapp
Wilchester Elementary School
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Carrie Couch

Self/ speech language pathologist

Vernon, TX

Please consider adding speech language pathologist to the professionals to be considered for raises. Speech pathologist are school employees who are required to test, provide services to children who meet special education eligibility as speech impaired. We coordinate instruction with teachers and parents. We prepare for and present at ARD meetings. We provide information to school staff regarding language development and provide ways for all children to communicate through AAC, improved articulation and language.

Carly Broussard Broussard

Self, Children's Minister and school volunteer

Bridge City, TX

I am urging representatives to oppose this bill. As a parent and volunteer at our local public school, I believe this bill will not help Texans, but will hurt them. The opposition from constituents is loud and clear despite the Governor's repeated attempts to make it seem otherwise. You represent US, not just large donors. LISTEN to your constituents. We do not want ESAs. We want public schools to receive full financial support from our state government.

William Eakin

Self

Kingwood, TX

If private schools receive tax payer funds through vouchers why are there no requirements for accountability ?

Chrystal Jansz, Dr

Self

Lubbock, TX

I do not support vouchers or the proposed voucher plan, despite what local officials are saying. Instead of polling constituents they developed a narrative based on their own wishes. A representative is to be a facilitator of the voice of the people. I have three children educated in public school, one of which receives special education. I have a doctorate in special education. If you argue that schools are failing children now, what does that say about the governor, TSBOE, TEA, and the like? Further defunding would further their failures thus far in ensuring schools ARE meeting the needs of students. I already have a choice for schools. We chose not to continue with private school after preschool once we saw the lack services offered and accountability required. We would never have considered taking money from public schools should we have chosen to stay at the private school because live in a community. It's not hard to understand that all of society benefits from a quality public education system; those systems produce the workers who we come in contact with daily. It's a pretty basic concept.

Carla Youngblood

self/retired teacher/Conservative Voter

College Station, TX

I am a retired teacher and conservative voter. I am not for passing school vouchers. My concerns: -school voucher passing will be the end of Republican/Conservative dominance in the state of Texas. (Many Conservative voters DO NOT approve of the school voucher system),

-just like everything else corruption and illegal use will follow,

-private schools will just raise their tuitions to adjust for this allowance and this Bill becomes a mute point.

There is NO reason for this Bill. Fix public education by giving more voice and support back to the teacher. STAAR, MAP testing (DATA) are causing district administration to micromanage all aspects in the school. Teachers are way overworked and stressed. I had an administrator from College Station ISD say that teachers are teachers and will do the inhumane work load because of who they are. This is the main stream assumption which is causing teacher burnout and frustration. Curriculum needs to be assessed and readjusted so students are learning age appropriate skills at an appropriate pace. Discipline is a MAJOR factor in our academic decline. Thus, the reason why parents send their children to private schools. STOP giving parents so much control! Give control back to the teacher. Listen to veteran teachers. They will bring your public school systems to greatness.

The TX teacher incentive allotment is unfair and is more like a lottery. There are teachers who are excellent, but because of who their students are they will never earn the incentive, but others who cheat or are lucky to the the right students will earn this extra money. This incentive needs to go!

Parents are the main influence over what type of student enters the school. Students who have absent parents ---mainly students from low socioeconomic household--- move multiple times in a year and cannot receive a consistent education. Many of these students hear their parent bad mouthing teachers and the education system and bring this attitude to school with them. Also, students who watch parents behaving badly bring these actions and behaviors into the classroom. I have worked in many types of schools and I believe student behavior is the most telling factor as to whether a student passes or fails. Not all students will go to college. A school to educate these types of students should be developed.

Again, a school vouchers system is NOT the way to help TX education. Listen to veteran teachers, NOT current administration. These are the people who will help overhaul the TX education system and bring TX to greatness. Republicans who vote for this part of HB 3 will most certainly be serving their last term and if Gov. Abbott continues to push this, hopefully this will be his last term.

Paola Howard

Self

San Antonio, TX

I do not support this bill. Public taxes should pay for public schools.

Diane Olsen self - Aquarium Curator
Galveston, TX

School vouchers will not be of use to most Texas children. For example in Galveston there are only a few private schools and together they can take less than 500 students (approximately 200 elementary and 300 high school). There are over 7000 students so the vast majority will not be able to use the vouchers but they will all have a loss of funding for the public schools that they attend. In rural Texas there are no private choices. With Texas ranking in education being so low we should be making sure that all children benefit from fully funded schools and not give money to the few that even have an option.

Cody Satterfield, Mrs.
Public school educator and parent
College Station, TX

Good morning, I strongly oppose HB 3 and I kindly request that the House votes NO to school vouchers. It will be detrimental to the 5.3 million public school children who are already underserved in the State of Texas. I am not sure if you are accurately aware of the cuts school districts are making because of the lack of funding. We are having to close schools, raise class sizes above state required numbers and cannot serve the students who need the most support such as our special education students because of lack of funding.

School vouchers will further weaken our public education system. Reform is needed but not in the way of school vouchers. I personally am having to make the decision if withdrawing my TRS or leaving it and hoping for the best. School vouchers will defund MY retirement and leave me with nothing. We take care of 5.4 million public school children each year. There are doctors, lawyers, teachers, and even politicians because of us! We are the least protected and paid group of employees you have working in Texas. Please don't hurt the children of Texas. Please hold government accountable for fully funding and serving all public school children in Texas.

Please vote no to school vouchers.

Sincerely Mrs Cody Satterfield
Fighting Texas Aggie Class of '96 and '00

Christi Machel Brewster
self
Houston, TX

Good morning, all. As a retired certified school nurse with 35 years of service, I have had a first-hand experience of the funding needs of public education: lack of quality salaries for campus-based personnel, limited to no funds for needy services for the at-risk student population, and circumvented mandatory Special Education services. HB 3, as written, would enhance all of the inadequacies I previously indicated. As currently written, this school voucher bill would take public tax dollars away from public schools to subsidize a student's private school education. Many have stated this bill is "school choice". I beg to differ. Only clear choice in this process is the private schools' who have the ability to choose which students are accepted for enrollment, and which are denied!!! So, tell me again, why you would choose to "rob Peter to pay Paul" by using public tax dollars to assist so few (who are already receiving private school education) thereby short-changing the "remaining" many attending public schools? The students of public education are waiting for your reply. I can hear those students saying, "Nurse, why they (Texas House of Representatives and Senators) hate use? What did we do to them?"

Kira March
Self
Austin, TX

No school vouchers! Public schools are struggling enough!

Cori Dullnig
Self
Houston, TX

We want fully funded public schools not a private school discount for rich people. If Texas had a surplus last year then why are we spending less per student than most states. My children attend a HISD school, Parker Elementary, where fortunately we have been minimally impacted by the TEA takeover. It is a special place that houses a 65 year old music magnet program. As a title I school, these music learning opportunities are available to every student. The potential to develop a next generation top composer or performer is available to everyone, which most families can not afford outside of school. Schools like this are in jeopardy with the implementation of vouchers. HISD stands to lose over $60 million if 5% of eligible student leave. We simply can't handle that deficit. Vouchers have no place in Texas, especially when many counties don't have anywhere to spend their vouchers. Protect our public schools that give EVERY student the opportunity to succeed.

Cathy Allen
self
Converse, TX

I am very opposed to using my tax dollars to fund private schools. I pay school taxes in two counties Bexar County and Bell County, I have no kids in schools. I don't mind paying these taxes for public schools, but I don't want my tax dollars going to private schools who has a lottery system to pick and choose which student they will allow in. If people choose to send their kids to private schools, then they must have the money to pay for it, why would taxpayer fund education for the wealthy? Don't take money for our public schools, instead, pay our teachers more, repair our schools and give them the resources they need to improve our public schools' standings.

Gabriela Campsteyn Duenas
Self, Teacher Assistant AISD
Austin, TX

As an educator, its difficult to go day to day without feeling like it's harder to save money and to do work for my students, it's probably the hardest job i've done but it's helped me become the person I am today. I wish there was more I could do and hopefully this gets passed to help budget better.

Robert Kloppenburg
Self
Spring, TX

I do not support this bill. Instead increase funding for public school students. My tax dollars should not go to private schools.

Loretta Padgett
self retired
Canyon Lake, TX

America was made great by an educated workforce provided by free public schools. Further bifurcating Texas education sows distrust in institutions that have provided a common experience for citizens. The paltry spending on public schools and giving larger sums to homeschoolers sows division and ignorance. This bill, giving tax money to the wealthy who have the means for transporting students to far flung private schools is unfair. We count on government to even out the opportunities for all citizens. Cow towing to special interests does not serve the public at large. This bill is a sop to the christian nationalists wanting to indoctrinate the public to their world view. This money is better spent on life long learning programs. Education should be secular. Let them be indoctrinated on their own money.

Melina Espiritu-Azocar

Self

San Antonio, TX

Parents of Texas do not want your voucher scams!

I am a mother of children in San Antonio public schools, an active PTA parent, a community advocate, and a public school teacher. Public dollars belong in public schools—where they serve all children, not just a select few.

As a taxpayer, it is not my responsibility to subsidize private school tuition for the wealthy while our public schools remain underfunded and our teachers struggle. Instead of prioritizing the needs of our students and educators, you are diverting resources through vouchers—tax cuts for the wealthy—while public education suffers.

This is an outrageous betrayal of Texas families, and it must not pass.

Billi Lycett, Esq.

Self

Flower Mound, TX

I am not in favor of this. Our public schools need funding to ensure a strong foundation of education for all.

Sharon McKemie

Self/retired public school teacher

Dallas, TX

As a retired teacher and grandmother to children in public schools I oppose the voucher bill that would take money from taxpayers to support the wealthy who already have their children in private schools. Public schools and especially rural schools need money to support the programs in place that provide education to all children. Public schools are already underfunded and in need of more funding and support. This bill will severely damage public schools and Texas children in public schools.

Salvador Meza

Self

Austin, TX

Hello,

I am a former teacher and coach for 8 years at Austin High School in Austin, Texas. I believe that public schools should be fully funded. Tax payer money shouldn't be given to private schools., especially without accountability.

Gennie Holcomb

Self/Teachers

Terrell, TX

As a veteran Texas public school teacher (22 years), taking public money for private schools is wrong. It will only hurt the vast majority of school children and only help a very small percentage of already well off families. Fully fund public schools and raise the basic allotment to meet inflation. Period. All else is failing me, my students, my colleagues, and my public school child.

Benjamin Hollander

Self, software engineer

Cedar Park, TX

School vouchers will not make schools better, or provide more opportunities for children. It is a subsidy that will largely benefit families who can already afford to send their child to private school. Stop withholding funding, and make our schools better! Collecting taxes and then not spending the money is theft.

Marilyn Whitney

self

Mansfield, TX

I strongly oppose ESAs. 1. As a teacher in public schools for 33 years, I know that schools have been barely making ends meet for the last 5 years. Our district superintendent has said she will have to close schools if ESAs pass. I would like to keep my job until I retire. 2. Private schools cost more than the ESA would provide. Only the rich would get a discount on their private school tuition. The students who would benefit the most from an ESA cannot afford the difference between the ESA and tuition. Also, they don't have the transportation to get there. 3. Private schools are not required to accommodate Special Ed or students with learning disabilities. Again, this is an equity issue.

Texas is great, and the US is great because ALL students have access to an excellent free education. ESAs are NOT the way to achieve excellence.

Caroline Ferguson

Self

Mansfield, TX

Good morning. I want to express how detrimental school vouchers would be for Texas, but it also directly affects my children. We have experienced first hand how private schools can decline any and everyone they want. My children are diagnosed autistic and adhd. They are both above average in their grades. My youngest is in kindergarten, and was reading before he even started school. The problem wasn't their "intelligence". They saw their diagnosis and immediately assumed they were disobedient children. If critical funds are taken from public schools, the already declining quality of these schools will only continue to decline. My children deserve a good foundation of education for their lives. Every child in Texas deserves it.

Carol Roewe

Self

Graford, TX

No school vouchers. Funds should go to our Texas local school system in support of students, curriculum, programs and teacher pay raises. Private schools are a choice one can make if they choose to pay for it.

Kelli Kojis

Self / educator

Huntsville, TX

This is not in the best interest of all. My biggest issue with this is that fact that private school students will get 10k while the student allotment for public school students is barely above 6200. This is not equitable. Private schools do not have to follow the TEA mandates that public school have to fund. Public schools cannot kick out students who misbehave while private can. Public has to service all needs of student while private can choose or not provide some services. This is not apples to apples. I am all for choice however, the funding is not the same. Why do students get more money going to private schools? Why not invest in fixing public schools?

Rachel Collier

self, Oil and Gas Land Professional

Austin, TX

I am writing to share my opposition to HB 3. I am a product of the Texas public education system and now have a child in the Texas public education system. As the child of a single mother, I would not have the success that I enjoy now without the excellent education that I received from Texas public schools. Private schools were not an option for me then and I believe that HB 3 would not make them any more accessible for a family like the one I grew up in. I am very active in my child's school's Parent Teacher Association (PTA) and have been appalled at the underfunding of public education. Last year our PTA discussed options for our association to fund a salary for a teaching position that was going to be eliminated due to lack of public funds. It also shocked me to hear how little it would take to fund that salary. In my opinion, that is unacceptable. Our teachers are underpaid and our public schools are underfunded. School choice is already very accessible in Texas and redirecting public funds away from public education would be a detriment to all of the child of Texas. In fact, the passing of HB 3 will be profoundly harmful for not only this generation of public school students but for generations to come. Rather than redirect funds to for-profit schools who already dictate their tuition rates so as to exclude the average Texan family, funding of public education should be increased. The salary of the average public school teacher in Texas is so disrespectfully low and the demand on them, with increasing class sizes and continued budget cuts, dwindling resources for aids and special education services, has become so extreme that the teacher attrition rate is at a record high. Proponents claim that HB 3 would incentivize public schools to improve to retain students. I ask, how can they improve when our state continues to erode public education? How can we retain our best teachers when they are forced to leave the profession to earn a living wage? For the sake of all Texans, vote no on HB 3.

Rhonda Hurst, Ms

Parent of school age children

Highland Village, TX

I am for real school choice with no strings. This bill is not school choice. It's another government approved program that will have assistance from the TEA. An agency that is responsible for the state of public education in Texas. The performance of public schools is the main driving force for school choice.

- * Requires use of only state approved vendors (instructors education materials, schools, etc.).
- * Requires standardized testing of participants
- * Requires immense data collection of participants. A free commodity to be used by big tech.
- * It creates a bloated administrative state to manage the program and outsourcing to big tech.
- * Allows illegal aliens to participate.
- * The only choice allowed is government approved.
- * So many strings it looks like spaghetti.

Sharece Prince

Childress ISD/Elementary

Childress, TX

No vouchers bill. It will take millions away from our public schools.

James Green

Self

Plainview, TX

Vouchers will harm public schools. Public dollars should not be tied to private education, particularly when there is no accountability attached with them (private schools do not have to accept all students, state tests such as STAAR don't have to be taken in private schools, etc.). Furthermore, the constitution state constitution says that the state is to fully fund and provide a public education. This has not been adequately done in years. It is time to fix this. We are in a literal crisis: there are no teachers and schools are having to shut down or release staff due to budget shortfalls because of the games being played by our state's top leaders. The kids are the ones suffering. Please, fully fund and protect our public schools. Parents already have school choice—if they don't like their options, they can choose to go private or home school. Not only that, but when did giving out public dollars to fund private expenses become a Republican / conservative talking point or value?

Jennifer Ward

Self

Houston, TX

I am 100% opposed to this bill as a Texan and the parent of a daughter attending public school in Texas.

I don't understand why this government is so determined to gut public schools and hurt Texas children . Similar bills have been voted down in the past and frankly this should be put on a ballot for the public to decide.

Sandra Eliason, Dr.

Self

Pearland, TX

Please respect local control of education. Local boards are responsible for educating students in their geography area. All funding should be equal for the public schools and equally controlled. TEA should not get 10% of public school dollars. Local board know better what students need to know and be able to do in their district than TEA. Local board can choose open enrollment and tutoring for students who need more instruction. Equal accountability is important. Choose a basic skills test and administer to all students not Star to public and not to private. If anyone receives state funds the students must be tested on the same measure of performance. I feel all fund should be run through the local school district to prevent fraud and assure each child is being properly educated and tested on basic skills.

We do not want students to be treated as a funding source and not educated.

English only in schools would improve education.

Vouchers will disrupt education; let's try local control without TEA restrictions first. Yes, the state did increase funding but required the districts to hire security officers with those funds. TEA even skimmed off Covid funds! Why?

Please give local schools an even playing field and they will succeed for our children

Lucila Seri

Self

Arlington, TX

Do NOT support this bill. This will be a burden to taxpayers, won't benefit many children and it allows the government to influence the private schools and home schoolers. Not to mention the data collection requirements on the children. Republicans that read the bill know its terrible for taxpayers and children and its no true choice.

Katie Gordon

Self

Arlington, TX

ESAs are not supported by the majority of Texans. Fund public schools and invest in the established system that educates over 5 million Texas children. Increase the basic allotment by $1,200 and fund raises for teachers (not through TIA).

Lola Hurt, Mrs

True texas Project

Addison, TX

Against

Grady Arnold, Rev.

Myself

Menard, TX

I am for school vouchers.

Elizabeth Piner

self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill that will divert precious funds from our public schools without transparency and accountability by private schools. Where is the “choice” for rural Texans in areas where there are no private schools. This is a give-away to wealthy families and private vendors to the detriment of most of our children.

Colleen Murphy

Arlington ISD

Arlington, TX

I am a public school teacher and have been so for 26 year. Public schools provide a wide range of options for every learner, from public, charter or magnet. We have continued to effectively do our jobs despite not receiving any additional funding since 2019. We went back into the classroom during the pandemic at the direction of a committee (TEA), who made that decision via a Zoom meeting because they felt it was too risky to meet in person, and continued to serve our community. We are asking you to fully fund public education and not siphon money to private entities. Public dollars serve the public in public schools. Public schools serve all learners and do not turn away anyone. We are NOT broken or defective, so there is no need to search for “a way out”, or a “choice”. Any deficits public schools have sitcoms directly at the hands of our governor who has withheld the needed funds for us to be completely successful. Public schools serve over 5 billion children and families and literally create a functional society. Stop trying to destroy us for your own gain.

Lillian Barrilleaux

Self DallasISD substitute teacher

Dallas, TX

The proposed bill would harm students served by public education and its programs, especially the Special Education population/students with disabilities. It would not help close the gap between lower-performing students and schools and higher-performing ones, but make it considerably greater. If school buses were not required to be provided, such as in a private school setting, attendance will suffer and/or cause hardship to families. Within public education, we already have school choice to pursue magnet and single-gender programs. I was served by a couple of these: Townview TAG and Irma Rangel Young Women’s Leadership School in DallasISD. Therefore, tailored programs are available without the cost of tuition to attend. I now substitute teach mainly at Rangel and Trinity Heights Talented and Gifted - another great example of a special school within the public system.

Cindy Cockerill

Self

Utopia, TX

Please concentrate efforts on fully funding education for ALL Texas children and not just the few who want vouchers. Public money for public schools.

Amanda Cox

Self

Tuscola, TX

ESAs or vouchers do not work. They do not help anyone except wealthy families. These private schools they’re being approved for can legally discriminate against students for their race, sex, sexual identity, religion, socioeconomic status, etc. These schools can hire unlicensed and unqualified individuals to serve as teachers. There are no checks and balances on these schools. What’s to stop them from raising their tuition by the amount of the ESA or voucher and raking in the extra money. There is no one they are accountable to except themselves. What’s to stop them from creating all white schools? If you want a private, Christian school education for your child, you pay for it. Public schools should be fully funded and teachers should be given long awaited and deserved raises. The only reason the public school system is “failing” is because Texas lawmakers and our Governor refuse to fund our schools. You want them to fail so that you can usher in your highly unpopular ESAs or vouchers. In the other states that have tried this, it has bankrupted the state and education levels have not increased. If you care about Texas schools and Texas students, drop this idiotic scheme and fund the schools.

Janet Clemenson, Ms

Self, Licensed Clinical Social Worker

Houston, TX

Good morning!

As a constituent and fierce advocate for Texas' public schools, please consider the following arguments AGAINST HB 3:

1) Funding private (mostly Christian, here in Texas) schools with taxpayer dollars violates the Establishment Clause of the U.S. Constitution. It strips away the wall of separation between church and State AND violates religious freedom by favoring one religion over other religions or a belief in no religion at all.

2) Presented under the auspices of "parental choice," this bill is really about the school's choice. Private schools can reject any student they want, for any reason they want, ranging from disability to ability to pay, from gender and sexual orientation to having the "wrong" religious beliefs, and to the color of a child's skin.

3) Most research has shown that educational outcomes for a child leaving public school for a private school are, at best, not improved, and, in many cases, made much worse. In the case of worse outcomes, this deficit often persists over several years. Sadly, private schools are not held accountable to the State for these poor outcomes (as the child's neighborhood public school would be).

3) The money provided in these educational savings accounts falls woefully short of the actual cost of a typical Texas private school education, and services that would be provided free of charge by the public school (transportation, after school programs, special education, and testing and support for learning disabilities, to name a few) would end up being additional expenses that the child's family would have to pay on their own.

4) A child's rights and protections secured in public schools by law (e.g., Title VI, Title IX, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act, and the Every Student Succeeds Act) are not guaranteed by private schools, thus stripping students of First Amendment, due process, and other constitutional and statutory rights.

5) Private voucher schools typically do not adequately serve students with disabilities or low-income students. In fact, in nearly all states currently operating a school voucher program, the majority of students using these funds were ALREADY ATTENDING their particular private schools. In this case, my tax dollars will very likely end up helping families who earn an income sufficient to afford a private school education already.

6) School vouchers can bring back a form of school segregation in which states whose school funding is already inadequate are forced to fund two different education systems - one public and one private - all on the taxpayers' dime.

Please vote AGAINST HB 3. Turn your efforts toward improving the very public schools that the vast majority of Texas school children attend. Adequately resourcing our public schools will ensure that these children can compete in their communities and in the larger global economy.

THEIR FUTURE IS IN YOUR HANDS. Do right by them.

Thank you!

Nancy cline

Self

Carrollton, TX

Please adequately fund public education by $1300.

Please do not establish education savings accounts.

Deborah De Hoyos

Self

Frisco, TX

I oppose this bill. I understand priority will be giving to lower income and special education students, but I believe it is wrong that essentially, everyone is eligible. As seen in OK, the majority of the funding for ESAs will go to families that fall above the TX median income or that already can afford to send their children to private schools.

As seen in other states, ESAs are bad for state economies. There is no evidence that this improves student learning outcomes, but there is evidence that ESAs balloon and eat away at state economies and budgets. I fear that the passage of this bill will spark the creation of more private schools, but because of the lack of oversight, these schools will be poorly managed and some will close as quickly as they opened. That will be a true misuse of funds.

Private schools should be privately funded. Public tax dollars should go to public schools that serve the majority of Texan children.

Lars Kuslich

self

Dayton, TX

This bill does not fit with the idea of "school choice" and should therefore not be voted out of committee. As a reminder, school choice refers to the idea of a parent being able to freely choose how their child gets an education without outside influence or control.

Education Savings Accounts, by their very nature, introduce outside influence and control from the state. Naturally, there are a few examples in this very bill. For example, private schools would be required to provide "annual administration of a nationally norm-referenced assessment instrument or the appropriate assessment instrument required under Subchapter B, Chapter 39" (section 29.358(b)(2)(B)). In addition, section 29.363 requires certain participating parents to be audited by the state and justify their expenses. The bill also requires the collection of personal and sensitive information in section 29.3715, such as the child's age, race or ethnicity, disability status, and the school district they live in.

These are just some examples of the control and influence the state would acquire by the enactment of HB 3. Such control is fundamentally incompatible with the idea of school choice. The people who advocate for school choice want LESS control by the state, NOT MORE control. Therefore, I say again that this committee should reject this bill.

Sara Cress

self

Houston, TX

I grew up in the Texas public education system. My parents were at poverty level. There weren't better private schools around for my parents to put vouchers into, so that would have been worthless to them and to me. Instead, I received a decent education funded by the state and taxpayers. I went on to the Dean's List at UH and graduated near the top of my class. My parents needed so much help, but a school voucher wasn't on the list of things they needed. They needed access to food stamps, affordable healthcare, a livable wage and a knowledge of renters' rights. Put taxpayer money to those initiatives. Or maybe you think their hardship -- which continues today, which I now have to pay for -- was worth it to make me a part of the economy. I've been sacrificed to every government shortfall my entire life and I'm tired of it.

Fund public schools. Do not give taxpayer money to private schools.

Kristin Eichenberger

Self

Richardson, TX

Dear Members of the Committee,

My name is Kristin Eichenberger, and I have dedicated over 20 years to teaching in Texas public schools. I am deeply committed to our schools and their essential role in shaping capable, empowered, and engaged citizens. Today, I urge you to vote no on HB 3 and reject this harmful legislation.

School vouchers will further weaken our already fragile public school finance system. Over the years, I have watched resources dwindle—too few staff, too little funding, and increasing demands on teachers to fill multiple roles beyond instruction. Diverting public funds to private institutions will only deepen these challenges, widening the gap for students who rely on public education the most.

Vouchers also leave behind Texas's most vulnerable students. In rural communities, where private schools are scarce, public education is the backbone of opportunity. Students with special needs will have fewer options, as many private schools are not equipped—or willing—to support them. Low-income families, unable to afford the additional costs of tuition, books, uniforms, and transportation, will not benefit from vouchers, furthering inequities instead of solving them.

As a lifelong educator, I have devoted my career to ensuring that every child, regardless of circumstance, receives a high-quality public education. I believe deeply that our schools must serve all students, not just a select few. I urge you to stand with Texas students, teachers, and communities by rejecting HB 3.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Kristin Eichenberger

Richardson, Texas 75082

Kimberly Kleppe

Self

McKinney, TX

Please oppose school vouchers. This will bankrupt our public schools which is not fair for our kids. The kids who are already at private schools are only getting a coupon, while other still will not be able to afford the tuition. Private schools can pick and choose who they will accept. Public schools are available to everyone. Please oppose school vouchers.

Beverly Schulte

Self

Nazareth, TX

Please fund public schools not private schools. Vote NO for vouchers.

Sam Tinsley

Self

Garland, TX

As an educator I am opposed to vouchers for private schools. Teacher pay has not increased bearly enough and this bill takes money away from public schools funding. Those who can afford private schools should pay for it. This bill is nothing more than a gift to the wealthy whereas eeneded yo be helping the less fortunate.

Rachel Bauer

Self, energy sector finance manager

Frisco, TX

Hi, my name is Rachel Bauer. I am a lifelong Texan who graduated from the public school system, and I have three children. Two of my children are current public school students, and my third will join them in public school next year. Additionally, my oldest child was diagnosed with Type 1 Diabetes in fifth grade, at which point, we enrolled her in 504/IEP to ensure she could continue her education while allowing her the additional support needed to treat her life-threatening condition at school. I respect the right of my fellow parents to put their children into private schools; however, that is a choice, and it is completely inappropriate to allow public dollars to be diverted to private schools. It is especially egregious in my opinion because private schools do not have the same level of accountability as public schools in terms of admission policies, standardized testing, transportation allowances, attendance requirements, or 504/IEP support. The frustration that I feel as a Texan by my representatives withholding public school funding as a bargaining chip to be used each session for these school voucher votes is immeasurable.

I have the unfortunate luck of living in a district represented by Matt Shaheen, who based on his office's canned response, has absolutely no regard for constituents with differing opinions. At the end of the day, there are some representatives who are only willing to do the bidding of special interest groups, and as a lifelong Texan and voter, that's just something that I've had to come to terms with here. I hope this reaches enough of you who are willing to represent the people.

Jennifer Juarez

Self

Plano, TX

This bill is not based on what is best for Texas students. It is solely an attempt to appease wealthy donors. What is best for students is to increase funding to public schools. Of the 5 million public school students in Texas, over 3 million depend on the schools for more than an education, including meals. This is not a burden, but our responsibility. Offsetting the cost of private school for those families who CHOSE that path will make providing for the 60+% of economically disadvantaged students even more difficult.

It is duty to stand up for, work for, and protect the students whose families are struggling to make ends meet as well as a family that is in the "middle". Our family sits in that middle category, even with this voucher program private school would be unattainable for our children. But I KNOW that their public schools aren't getting the funding that they need and the money that is due to them via the tax dollars that I have paid.

Our daughter's elementary school is struggling as it is to make ends meet. This year our PE coaches had a budget of $200(!) to replace equipment. Thankfully, our outstanding PTA spent $2400 to get them the supplies they needed for a 40 year old school that serves 520 children in north Texas. Most schools aren't getting not as lucky in their PTA department and PTAs should not need to be filling such large gaps created by the state.

This bill is not widely supported by Texans. And, definitely not supported by this Texas family! Only by the elected officials who are greedy for power and money.

We see you. We know who is not listening to their constituents. The tide is turning and a few wealthy donors can't keep you in office forever when the rest of your district looks for someone who actually wants to make things better.

Lisa Kallies

SELF/RETIRED TEACHER FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Crosby, TX

HAVING ESA'S WILL CREATE A DUAL SYSTEM OF EDUCATION AND ONE OF INEQUALITY. THIS WILL BE UNCONSTITUTIONAL. THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT REASON TO NOT PASS THIS BILL. I WILL ALSO ADD THAT IT IS GOVERNMENT OVER REACH. MAKE THE SYSTEM BETTER FOR ALL STUDENTS. IMPLEMENT THINGS IN OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS THAT WILL HELP US AS A SOCIETY AND STOP LETTING "THE FEW" CHANGE THE SYSTEM. ESA'S ARE AN EASY OUT AND THE FIX IS NOT SUSTAINABLE. I WILL ADD THAT I HAVE A GRANDSON IN PRIVATE SCHOOL. I AM NOT AGAINST PRIVATE SCHOOLS. I WANT THEM TO STAY PRIVATE.

Jodie Barnett
Self Teacher
McKinney, TX

As an public school teacher serving some of the most impoverished and marginalized students in our district, I find it morally reprehensible that any Texan would push to further defund schools and programs attached to them, that don't give families an advantage rather level the playing field for them. As you are aware, districts all over the state are having to make significant cuts to staffing as well as keystone programs that are integral to student success. Texas will continue to rank among the lowest in performance if they continue to rank among the lowest in student expenditures. The wealthy don't need financial support to attend private schools. Families who do need these vouchers can't afford the transportation or the remaining balance of tuition after the voucher has been applied. Texas knows this. And so it is appalling to watch as you dismantle our public education system for profit in the private sector. You are doing a unimaginable disservice to your constituents and their children. Texans will continue to be a joke amongst other states in the union until you chose to make amends for your moral turpitudes. Vouchers do NOT work. Studies from Arizona and Oklahoma confirm this sentiment. Stop treating our students and educators like lab rats. We do not deserve to be dragged through the dirt. Our professional opinions have weight and they matter. Unless you've spent at least 10 years in this profession, you have no basis for making decisions that have far reaching implications and impacts that will be seen for years to come as our student fall further behind and are irreparably harmed. This is a form of forced segregation. I am saddened to know that I am living in a state that puts profits over people, knowing full well that building these students up is what is going to make Texans more competitive and productive when ranked amongst similar states. This is a slap in the face to all educators who took up this charge to guide our youth and show them they can be everything they want to be, unless of course they lack transportation and adequate funding. Please stop this madness. Stay on the right side of history.

Nicholi Hoskins
ATPE and TRTA
Coppell, TX

This is an issue most Texans are against. They know it's just one more thing the Texas GOP wants to privatize. We have corrupt prisons and very high tolls due to privatization. This new Republican Party promised to not raise taxes so now I have to pay $100 a month in tolls. (Very tricky of you!) This voucher bill is an extremely discriminatory bill designed to help the wealthier people who can already afford private school get reimbursed for their choice. It's a welfare program for the elite. These private schools are not required to take all children. They are not held to the same high standards the public school districts must require. It's a very self-serving bill so that our Congressmen and their friends can legally steal money from our already underfunded public schools.

I personally feel that the Republican Party wants to keep the masses ignorant so that they can easily manipulate them with their propaganda. You know this new Republican Party is guilty of using propaganda.

I've been a public schoolteacher for 38 years. I've personally seen how public education can bring people out of poverty. You need to be plowing as much money as you can into public education if you really want to make America great again! A strong middle class with an educated workforce is the only way to do it. That's how we got great. Poverty and desperation are what causes crime. Quit catering to the rich!! Do something for the common good!

Madison Fail

Self; researcher (UT Austin); in-home caregiver
austin, TX

Public schooling is the cornerstone of the American dream. I attended a Title 1 school district (Kennedale ISD) where public funding provided students with free lunch and access to career programs. My mom is a public school educator at a Title 1 school. She works with children year after year who need public school for food, security, and the opportunity to pull themselves up. As an in-home caregiver, I have witnessed a forgotten, yet vital, aspect of access to public education. I care for a young man with cerebral palsy. He is severely mentally and physically impaired and requires constant attention. He is 22 years old, and without public schooling, his parents would have had to pour thousands of dollars into care during business hours. Subsidies for private schooling sounds like a good idea, but only if the funds aren't redirected from public education. The ability for everyone to not only learn, but survive, has been a hallmark of public education in the United States since its birth. For schools like mine and my moms, any decrease in funding will result in less aid to vulnerable students and more dated materials. I would not have had even half of the opportunities I've been afforded without my school using state and federal funding wisely. Please, I beg, consider more than your fears of indoctrination. The content that teachers are allowed to teach is regulated, and in my experience, enforced to be clean. Again, I don't see a problem with subsidies for education savings, so long as the funds aren't taken from the public. The work done to teach students is imperative, but public schools also provide a haven for many vulnerable people. Thank you

Rhonda Freeland

Public education
Corsicana, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill. Start taking care of public schools and public education! As a teacher I do not support this and hope you listen to your constituents and oppose as well! Put public education first!

Hayden Cole

Self
Round Rock, TX

I am a parent/Texan who opposes HB 3 and any private school vouchers. Our kids and teachers deserve fully public funded schools. Tax payer money should be for public schools and not given to private schools and without any accountability.

Elizabeth Leyva

Self/ college teacher
San Antonio, TX

I am absolutely opposed to any bill that diverts public funds to pay for private schools vouchers.

Kerry Wollak, Ms

Self

Tomball, TX

Dear Texas Representatives,

I am a retired teacher and have grandchildren living in Texas. I am against school vouchers. It is bad for Texas taxpayers, public education, and bad for children in our public school classrooms. Public taxes are for public schools not private schools that are attended by the wealthy. Public taxes are not for religious organization schools. Taxes are for fully funding high quality public education.

Please vote NO on HB3.

Kerry Wollak

Hilla Kozuch

Self / Mother at home

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Criselda Armenta

Self-Educator

Monahans, TX

Public schools in Texas are suffering from lack of funding especially in rural areas. These students don't have a choice for private school. I was teaching from an out dated curriculum and using old materials. For 26 years I have been funding and supplementing my classroom with my paycheck to enhance my students learning experience. Vouchers are a scam for the rich and for those funding your campaigns to make more money and to further erode public education. Teachers are leaving because a lack of support and because they can make a better salary elsewhere. Small districts lack nurses, librarians, counselors and certified teachers, no one wants to join a profession where their public officials berate them, are taking away all autonomy. Vouchers will only cripple public education more.

Another concern is what will happen to my pension? I am close to retirement and am fearful that this will scam will rob TRS since there will be less public school teachers paying into the system. Texas has shown very little concern for retired educators. I feel that this will fall on deaf years because certain parties are so blinded by money and their own ideology that they refuse to listen. On Governor Abbott's social media pages it is obvious by the comments that they majority of Texans are against vouchers. If this passes it will be obvious to the public that you do not support them, you do not listen and that your only priorities are pushing your agenda.

Kelly Pickle

Retired school administrator/teacher/superintendent

Paris, TX

The cost of this bill is outrageous! In addition. The constitution clearly limits funds for PUBLIC SCHOOLS! Use the money to offer additional per student funding and a solid raise for the amazing teachers/staff already fixing it their all in Texas! The results from other states who have implemented vouchers have shown staggering costs, and no impact for students needing the most help! You've seen negative reports about the impact of the voucher plans. You've read posts by MANY Texans opposing these bills. Please think about what vouchers will do to ALL communities in this state. Have heart and protect our public schools in Texas!

Jennifer Alexander

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I am against hb 3. We should appropriately fund public schools, increasing the allotment by at least $1k per student. Vouchers are wildly unpopular and would only serve to make rich people richer. Those who vote for it blatantly ignore the will of the Texas people.

John Meinert

self

Austin, TX

Please oppose the school voucher system. Vouchers take away money from public schools and funnel it into schools that are unaccountable to the community and the public. Fully fund public schools so that every child can have a quality education.

Emily Lawrence, Mrs

Self

Lufkin, TX

Say "NO" to vouchers! This bill, force fed to you by our corrupt governor, who is under the influence of money and cronyism, is bad for Texas! When we insure that ALL Texas children get good educations, especially the poor, Texas's future shines brighter. Do not give public funds to private schools who will be unaccountable to the citizens who paid them! Do not give more money to private schools per student than public schools. My local representative has lost my vote and my support by working with the governor on this bill - please reject it! Our state already ranks 41st in funding for public schools - please don't push us to the very bottom of that list - we don't want to be the laughingstock of our nation. Texas children (and their voting parents) deserve better! Please take a stand for public schools, students, and the future of Texas!

Sherri Ramirez, Teacher!!!

Canton ISD/TEACHER!!!!

Canton, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Chelsey Perkins

Self

Katy, TX

Fix public schools! ESA invites only create choice for those that can afford the differential. The majority will still stay in public schools and will have even less funding... special needs, arts, we all know the detrimental efforts of these programs dwindling - yet HB3 tees us up for this failure.

Buckley, We will need to see your data claiming special needs entrance into private school is 19%. I am very suspicious about that data- what needs are included? Is it comparing apples to apples?

Gary Meyer

Self

Austin, TX

We need to better fund our public schools. This bill will be detrimental to our public schools and the majority of Texans that send their kids to those schools. It will only benefit those with means and the private institutions they send their kids too. Wealthy people don't need a leg up, especially on the backs of those who are less fortunate. Do better.

Donna Roberts

Self

Abilene, TX

VOTE NO!!!!!!!!!!

Tonya Lantrip, Mrs.

Self

Gordon, TX

Education Savings Accounts (ESA) / vouchers are not good for public schools. The primary purpose for this hard push is to help those who are already enrolled in private schools. Currently, our state does not use public tax dollars to pay towards private school tuitions. If this passes, then this will put a strain on our states' finances, as well as financially hurting our current public schools and teacher retirement. Public schools need to be fully funded first. Teachers need to be guaranteed their retirements. Teachers also need to be paid higher wages. Please support public education. Let's be the state to lead the nation in having the best public schools that are fully funded and supported. I am worried that our state will instead be known as the state that was more concerned with making the rich richer. It is already well known that Mr. Yass has had a huge influence on our governor and republican representatives. Please know that conservatives do care about about and support our public schools. Conservatives are concerned about this plan for wasteful spending.

Heather Vaughn

Self - Homeschool Educator

Splendora, TX

As a parent who has home-educated my children for the past 20 years, I respectfully oppose HB 3 and urge that it not be passed. Homeschooling is both a right and a responsibility that I hold as a parent, and I do not wish to receive government funding for the education of my children. Accepting such funding—or being compelled to do so—would grant the government undue influence and authority over what my children are taught.

I am proud to have successfully graduated two children. One is currently a pastor pursuing a doctorate, and the other is preparing for the LSAT in pursuit of a law career. We have never sought nor do we require government assistance for our educational choices. Therefore, I strongly request that this bill be denied.

Connor Dugan

Self

Austin, TX

The CHOICE of going to private or charter schools is a CHOICE. With that CHOICE comes the ramifications which would be a parent/parents pay for their child to attend these schools. If you truly want to fix the problem then you invest in the current public school system and proving the teacher with the funding to create a better environment. Everyone should have the opportunity to have access to a place where they learn and try to better themselves for the future. By taking this money that could be used to better the public school system and pay for someone's tuition which is their CHOICE is wrong. No one gets their private college tuition paid for when they choose to go private university. Is the state going to create charter schools in low income areas? Or will this only be in areas that have the money to fund and create these schools on their own. It's bad enough your forcing one religious ideology in the classroom (thought America allowed for religious freedom). And this is coming from a Roman Catholic who attended both a private and public school growing up. The money you would say would be used to pay for this should be used to help the public school system be the best that it can, used to entice better teachers to come and educate students, what put in is what you get out. Maybe do a study of the top states on education in the US and see what they do that separates them from Texas. Finally the CHOICE of going to a private charter school is that of the parents and if they want their children to attend that is on them to cover the cost not anyone else. If they cannot afford if then they should demand the state does better for the public system not asking for a "handout" to pay for it. It's never "socialism" when it benefits are on the other foot.

Bridget Horsford

Self

Abernathy, TX

I am a third generation educator, and this bill demonizes teachers. This is disgusting. There is school choice now. Parents do know what's best for their children, and they have the power to act accordingly. Calling it "school choice" is a scam to trick people. They think we are stupid. That's the bottom line. I have nothing against private schools, but they should not be funded by the government for many reasons. One, teachers do not have to hold any type of certification to teach at a private school. Two, they have zero accountability (no state testing which our government is currently shoving down public schools throats). Three, they do not have to serve all children. They can deny whoever they want without cause.

I'll just leave this data right here:

According to the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), Texas ranks 4th in student achievement. That's not because of state funding—it's because of the passion, resilience, and dedication of our incredible public school educators. Yet, Texas ranks 45th in school funding and 29th in teacher pay. Imagine what our schools could achieve if they were actually supported.

Release the funds. This bill is unconstitutional. Withholding public funds to make sure you stay backed by your billionaires is unconstitutional. Educators and parents do not support this.

Olivia Knuffke

Self

Irving, TX

To say this bill would be life-changing for parents and families in Texas, is an understatement. As a country and, particularly as parents we want to offer our kids the very best education opportunities. The school choice bill would allow families to make the best education choice for their children. please pass this bill!!

Magdalen Garcia

Self Texas champion bank

Alice, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability

Kimberly Moore

Public Schools

Austin, TX

Public schools are already struggling, to have this bill pass our public education system is bound to fail even further than it already is. Please do not pass this bill. I am happy to come speak or show support in any way possible. I am a mother of two daughters at Brentwood Elementary School. Thank you for listening to our voices! concern.

Jillian Brady, Ms

Self Public educator

Austin, TX

Our school district has been careful with funds, but with no increase in the Basic Allotment in 6 years and other pressures like inflation and increased needs, we have had to let teachers and other vital staff go, increase class sizes, and discontinue programs that are beneficial to our students. I am angry about this; it will affect my child's school experience. I demand that Gov Abbott stop playing games with my child's future and FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. I also demand that you VOTE NO ON THE VOUCHER SCAM so that our limited money and resources can be put to the best use for our students- and we have full accountability and transparency of that money. This issue matters to me and I vote. Thank you.

Nicole Ebner

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Autumn Kippes

self

Austin, TX

Hello, my name is Autumn Kippes, and I am writing to voice my opposition to HB 3. I adamantly oppose creating another wasteful government program, specifically one that diverts public funds to private schools. As a 6th generation Texan born & raised in New Braunfels, fiscal conservative voter and parent of two children with dyslexia in public schools, this bill is not about our children or parental choice. It is about giving public dollars to millionaire donors via scam CEO vendors and providing subsidies to students already in private schools - a direct violation of Republican principles. It is financially irresponsible and will break our public school system that provides invaluable services to our entire communities. Please vote no to HB 3. Thank you for your time, I am watching the debate and the outcome of the vote closely.

Jennifer Hoffpauir

Self

Austin, TX

School vouchers only help those who can already afford private school. They take away funding from public schools and will hurt Texans in rural areas and those who need special accommodations. Stop this voucher nonsense under the guise of “school choice” and just fully fund public schools in Texas.

Jocelyn Bacon

Self

HOUSTON, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you.

TRISH NISWANDER

AFSCME 1624

Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers

We need a fully funded public education system for all children. Please vote no on this voucher scam.

Laura Whiles
Self / insurance
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

I respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Laura Whiles

Allie Sauls
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Aidan Haney
Self
Lufkin, TX

I am against this bill because it hurts the access to education for marginalized students. As a student, defunding public schools to fund private schools is a direct attack on public education. The people of Texas don't want this bill to pass. Politicians are elected to serve, not to rule. Passing this legislation will be remembered as the biggest attack on public education in the history of this state.

Heidi Mason
Self
Georgetown, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed education voucher system. While the intention may be to provide more choices for families, I believe this policy could have unintended consequences that ultimately harm the quality and accessibility of public education for all students.

First, the voucher system disproportionately benefits wealthier families who can already afford private education, leaving lower-income families with limited options or fewer resources to fully participate. This exacerbates existing inequalities in our education system and undermines the principle of equal opportunity for every child, regardless of their socioeconomic background.

Additionally, diverting public funds to private schools, which are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools, risks eroding the quality of education provided to the majority of students who remain in the public system. Public schools, which educate the vast majority of our children, could face even greater underfunding, resulting in overcrowded classrooms, fewer resources, and reduced opportunities for students.

Rather than diverting public funds to private schools, we should focus on strengthening and investing in our public education system to ensure all students, regardless of their background, have access to high-quality education and the support they need to succeed.

I urge you to reconsider the implementation of education vouchers and instead prioritize policies that enhance and improve public education for all students.

Allison Stephenson, PA
Self, physician assistant, mother of elementary child
San Marcos, TX

We have excellent public school teachers and schools in our community that need to be fully funded. Our kids deserve a solid education. Taking money from public schools and redirecting it to private schools, hurts millions of children for the benefit of a few. It allows for funds to go unmonitored and to fund schools with unchecked propaganda or religious basis. Vouchers pull money from our poor districts and puts that money into corporations. My child relies on IEP with 504 accommodations. The vouchers are useless to her, because no private school would accept her without charging a lot of added tuition to cover her daily accommodations. This program does not "improve school choice" it is a poorly disguised attempt to defund public education to allow the private sector take over Texas schools. Vote NO on HB3!!!

Danielle Smith
Self, teacher
Portland, TX

Vote NO on HB 3 and other bills like it. Stop supporting legislation that undermines the public education system. Vouchers are bad for the public education system as a whole. According to actuarial analysis, they will be bad for the solvency of our teacher retirement system. They move public funds without transparency or equivalent accountability. They cost our poorest and most vulnerable populations, while putting money in the pockets of people who already have resources. What could you be doing to SUPPORT the public education system instead of tearing it down?

Vicki Partin
Self
Spring Branch, TX

No vouchers! I taught in public schools 39 years. I saw students come back to public school from private school- behind academically and lacking social skills to relate to kids different than them. I spent plenty of my own money for special activities and materials for my classes. I KNOW public schools meet the needs of all children! Please support public education- not private school!

Nicole Murphy

Self - teacher

Katy, TX

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Say NO to SB2 & HB3!

If this bill passes I will explain to my children how the greedy hands of others has cost them opportunities. What a low and evil thing to do... taking advantage of children and their right to education.

Lorena Canales

Self

Boerne, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Tiffany Farris

Self/teacher

Wimberley, TX

ESAs are just a way to funnel taxpayer money to private schools, while defunding public schools. "School choice" is only the private school's choice of who they want to educate. There is no accountability for private schools, and while the bill may say the recipients are required to meet state standards, the schools themselves are not required to meet state standards. Furthermore, there is only negative data coming out of states that have passed school vouchers. Texas must fully fund PUBLIC education; it's in our constitution.

Clayton Maxwell, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

Please invest in all Texas school children and vote no on vouchers! My son goes to a public school in Texas and is already suffering mightily because of it being underfunded. The teachers work too hard have too many students and aren't getting enough support. It is shameful that Texas schools get less per student than a majority of the states. Every day I see the stress that public school, teachers and students are living under because they are under funded. Invest in the future of all Texans education not private schools.

robbie fusselman

self retired school counselor

Crosbyton, TX

As a retired educator and tax payer, I disagree with establishing an education savings account program. I am 85 years old and I have watched and experienced the erosion of education in the state of Texas especially in the rural areas. I respectfully request that Texas not establish a voucher program.

Melissa Lauderdale

Self

Mexia, TX

Please protect our public schools by defeating this voucher program! Texas is not short on funds as evidenced by the largest rainy day fund in history! This is a scheme to rob from the poor and give to the rich masquerading as school choice. Please stop this from happening!

Monica Dabney

Self

Mansfield, TX

I am totally against using public funds for private (often religious based) education under the guise of school choice. Parents in Texas already have the choice on how to educate their children (public, private, home school, etc). I believe this will just be a way for parents who already have their children in private school to get a kickback (I can even see private schools raising their tuition rates by the amount of the voucher in order to increase their revenue). We all know that private schools can pick and choose the students they want to enroll and giving them public funds with no accountability (unlike public school accountability) will further strain and erode the public education system in Texas. This no strings attached distribution of public education funds is dangerous and wrong.

Kyla Spady

Mom - Instructional Designer

Leander, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

I am writing today as a former K-12 educator, a proud public school supporter, and a concerned Texan. I strongly urge you to vote against House Bill 3, Governor Greg Abbott's so-called "school choice" bill. While this bill may claim to provide families with more educational options, the reality is that it threatens to weaken our already underfunded public schools and leave countless Texas children behind.

Public schools are the heart of our communities. They serve every child, no matter their background, economic status, or learning needs. As an educator with over a decade of experience in Texas classrooms, I have witnessed firsthand the incredible dedication and tireless efforts of teachers and staff who give their all to help students thrive. Public schools are accountable to parents, taxpayers, and their communities in ways that private institutions are not. Diverting critical funding away from these schools will only widen the achievement gap and reduce opportunities for students who rely most on public education.

HB3 promises vouchers that would subsidize private and religious schools, yet these institutions are not required to meet the same standards of accountability or accept all students. This creates an unfair playing field that disadvantages students with special needs, language barriers, or socioeconomic challenges. Our tax dollars should not be funneled into institutions that can pick and choose whom they serve.

Instead of implementing policies that erode public education, we should be investing in solutions that strengthen our schools. Texas educators are facing overwhelming class sizes, inadequate resources, and an alarming teacher shortage. Directing funds toward competitive salaries, updated learning materials, and expanded mental health services would do far more to improve educational outcomes for all Texas children.

As a parent and former educator, I know that families want the best for their children. But siphoning money from our public schools to fund unregulated private education is not the answer. I urge you to stand with Texas educators, parents, and students by voting NO on HB3.

Emily Newell

Self

Dallas, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB3. As a mother of school age children in public education, I am worried about the future of public education in Texas and wish to be represented by bills and candidates who will actually fight for the children of Texas and the proper public education that they deserve.

Shawna Wilson
Self-Parent-Voter
Fort Worth, TX

Dear Representative,

I am writing to express my concerns about Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) and its proposed Education Savings Account (ESA) Program. While the bill aims to provide parents with more educational choices, I believe it presents significant risks to our public education system and the students it serves.

One of the primary concerns is the potential diversion of funding away from public schools. By allocating state funds to private education options, HB 3 could reduce already limited resources for public schools, leaving them with fewer teachers, larger class sizes, and diminished programs. This would especially impact lower-income districts, increasing educational inequality and further disadvantaging students who rely on the public system.

Additionally, the bill lacks adequate accountability for private schools and homeschooling, which are not held to the same rigorous standards as public schools. There is no guarantee that students who utilize ESA funds will receive the same quality of education. Without oversight on curriculum, teacher certification, and testing, the program risks promoting inconsistent educational outcomes. There is also the possibility of misuse of funds without strict monitoring, which raises concerns about financial inefficiencies and waste.

HB 3 also disproportionately benefits wealthier families. Private schooling and homeschooling often involve additional costs that many low-income families simply cannot afford, even with ESA funds. This could result in further segregation, as wealthier families move their children into private options while lower-income students remain in underfunded public schools. Special needs students, who require specific services often mandated in public schools, may not receive the same level of support in private institutions, leaving them without critical resources.

Furthermore, studies on similar programs have shown mixed results, with no clear evidence that private schooling or homeschooling leads to better educational outcomes. Shifting students to private schools through the ESA program does not guarantee improved academic performance, and could instead create a two-tiered system where only certain students have access to quality education.

Finally, the administrative burden placed on parents to navigate the ESA system could disproportionately affect disadvantaged families. For many, the process of applying for funds, finding certified providers, and ensuring proper use of resources may be too complex, limiting access to the very choices the bill aims to provide.

Public education is a cornerstone of our society, and weakening it through programs like HB 3 threatens the future of millions of Texas students. I urge you to reconsider support for this bill and prioritize strengthening our public schools, which serve all children equally.

Sincerely,
Shawna Wilson
Proud parent of 4 Public School HS graduates, 2 State college graduates and 2 in state college

Kristel Hise
Myself
Lufkin, TX

This bill will destroy an already damaged public education system. Do not Pass this bill and expect to get re-elected.

Candice Whitton
Self / homeschool mom
Nevada, TX

Oppose

Landry Sprinkel, Miss

Wylie PTA

Wylie, TX

As a student I do NOT want vouchers!!!

Amy Whitehead

Self

San antonio, TX

No vouchers. Saying taxes should give parents a choice is ridiculous. I have no children and pay taxes for an educated population rich or poor. Unless you want to send me 26 years of paid taxes, then do whatever you want.

Angela Pinkerton

Self parent/teacher

Godley, TX

No to vouchers and HB3.

Fund public education based on enrollment not attendance.

Lisa Altman

Self

Austin, TX

We do NOT want vouchers!!! This needs to be put to a vote by the people! If our representatives vote in favor of vouchers we WILL VOTE YOU OUT!

Sue Vallejo

None

Round Rock, TX

NO,NO NO to HB 3that takesMY public school tax dollars & gives it to private schools that can pucker & choose their students & robs our public schools of much needed funding. Support public school which serve ALL students,no to vouchers for private schools.

Annie Livingston

self

Austin, TX

I want to start by saying I am not opposed to private schools. I sent my own child to private school for a year during Covid to have smaller class sizes. I have many friends that send their children to private schools. What I am opposed to is PAYING FOR OTHER KIDS TO GO TO PRIVATE SCHOOL. If I want to send my children to private school, I would NEVER ask for others to help me do that.

I want SCHOOL CHOICE... I don't want to HAVE to send my child to private school because you defund my public school to where the class sizes are so large and the materials are so old that they can't learn to their potential.

What about the rural kids with no private schools near by? What about the low kids that won't be able to get into private schools as the competition rises because you have defunded our public schools?

Why don't you let the Texas citizens VOTE on these vouchers? Why can't we choose what we want for our children? And for our tax dollars? Many other states have been able to VOTE ON THIS MATTER...why can't Texas?

Please help our children by FUNDING our schools and not by defunding them.

Angela Halbert

Self

Houston, TX

As a voter and a teacher, I urge you not to pass this choice Bill. Go read all the comments on your governors Facebook page thousands upon thousands of comments of people against this. If y'all are so confident it will pass. Please put it to a vote. It looks very greedy that y'all are trying to pass this.

Hope Hillier

Self- Teacher

Amarillo, TX

I went to the library and they didn't have a book I wanted. So I told them I needed them to give me a Barnes and Noble gift card so I could go get the book.

This is what vouchers are like. Why is the money designated for public schools going to other individuals and organizations? Why does someone just get to decide the taxpayers need to give them money for a private entity?

As a teacher, I'm gravely concerned this will damage public education for years and decades to come. This isn't a "challenge" to do better as some politicians and want to be politicians say. Public school educators have to jump through the hoops of state mandates and bills, but a private school can get taxpayer money and not have to do any of these things?

A private school can deny someone with special needs or not have to bus them in or feed them.

Vouchers are a coupon for the wealthy, this is not going to help middle class students or underprivileged students. This creates one more hurdle for public education and hurts educators and students in public education.

Patricia Warley

Myself

Angleton, TX

I have emailed my state representative multiple times and have submitted my comments via this portal. I am 100% opposed to this bill. Passing this voucher scam will ultimately hurt our Public School system. In your words, our school system has been broken for awhile. But Abbott and the GOP have been in charge for almost 2 decades or more. So if the system is broke, that's on ya'lls watch. I don't want my tax dollars going towards welfare for the rich. I demand they go straight to the Texas public school system. There are many that agree with me, on both sides of the aisle. This is not a partisan issue, so stop trying to make it that way by blaming the other side. Do the right thing and support our public school system for once. Fund them adequately and stop holding their funds hostage in order to please Abbott's rich donors.

Artie Borders, Mr.

Retired

Houston, TX

Please don't support ANY position to redirect federal funding to parents or citizens who make conscious decisions to send their children to schools that they choose to pay for. The free choice of education must not be diluted with parents who CHOOSE to opt out for a paid option.

We will be facing an effort to eliminate federal funding if the Department of Education is eliminated. That fund brings great relief to public schools who hire teachers and support staff to meet student expectations and goals. That burden will fall on states, which will now have to find creative ways to fund schools. Adding a voucher option isn't a citizen's right that the state should be weighing in on at this time. The public education standard is the right of ALL Citizens. If I as a citizen opt out of it and choose the private option then I have rejected my free option and I MUST PAY FOR MY CHOICE.

Shawna Ford

Self

Aledo, TX

As a retired public school educator, I am against HB 3 and any voucher/ESA system that takes money from Texas public schools and sends it to private or home schools, especially without the same level of accountability and requirements that legislators have placed on public schools. The public school system we have in Texas is a direct reflection of our elected officials who have passed laws, approved standards and curriculum, and placed many unfunded mandates on public schools. Texas public schools need more local control and less Austin interference, allowing teachers to get back to doing what is best for students. Vote NO on HB3 and any other voucher/ESA bill and fully fund Texas public schools.

Christine Lipschitz, Mrs.

Tax payer, parent, voter

Dallas, TX

As a mother of two kids in elementary school and former educator these are the reasons I am against this bill:

- this bill is just making government bigger, not smaller. Now the government will even be in our private schools as there will be strings attached to the money and reporting, testing, etc of students whose families accept the money. Private school parents will not have privacy of their child's data from the government. This is government overreach.
- this could even snowball into giving tech companies the opportunity to lead homeschool programs and we know that kids sitting in front of a computer all day is not the answer.
- this is incredibly expensive and a bad use of tax dollars. The administrative cost to run the ESA is huge. This is money that goes into the pockets of private companies, not schools, teachers, or families.
- ultimately this is a vendor bill. We need to get all these private companies who are trying to make a profit at the expense of our students out of our schools. It's waste and a classic example of policy being set by the private companies who stand to benefit from it.
- We have a great elementary school. All kids should have this but we know that right now there are failing schools. Let's stop wasting all this time talking about vouchers and focus on making all of our schools as great as the public school our kids attend.
- There isn't middle ground on this - either you are for raising our taxes to pay for all of this or you are for taking money away from amazing neighborhood schools like ours to pay for it.

Amy Hufford

Self

Austin, TX

The voucher plan is an awful idea. I was the fourth generation in my family to attend a public high school here in Austin – Austin High. My children attended public schools here in AISD as well. We know that public schools can do a fantastic job when they are properly funded. I am disgusted to see how teachers cannot support themselves on the salaries that are so low due to the lack of state funding. Do not send money to private schools. Do you really want to live in a society that is under educated? It makes our state a more dangerous place to live when people are uneducated, desperate and cannot advance out of poverty. Fully fund public schools!

Ashton Jeanlewis

Self

Houston, TX

This bill is exactly what tax payer money is meant for! Supporting our community and future

Laurie Coker, Dr.

N/A

South Padre Island, TX

Don't do this! Please.

Thelma Gomez

Self

Pampa, TX

This bill is detrimental to the public school system of Texas. It benefits a select group and harms the majority. That majority elected the governor to work for the people of the state instead of those with a vested interest. In most areas of Texas, no private school option is even available. How does this benefit the people of Texas? Catering to those with wealth and influence does not serve the state of Texas.

Sheridan Henley, Dr.

Self

Pearland, TX

Funding private school tuition with tax payer money without equalizing expectations is hurting communities and students across the Texas. We should be funding public schools and providing a significant allotment increase to public education. The notion that public schools receive $16000 per student is false and misleading. The state sends $6100 and the rest comes from local property taxes. So stop misleading the public. I gladly pay my share of school property tax to ensure that my children and others in my district are given opportunities to succeed. I choose for them. I do not want to subsidize the wealthy to send their children to a private school. In addition, public schools are held to high student accountability systems with the use of STAAR and we do not make private schools take the same assessment. Not only do they not take the same test, they are not held to the same TEKS curriculum. Fund our public schools. No to HB 3

Gracie DVillasenor

Self

Weslaco, TX

I'm totally against school vouchers. I'm a retired teacher but my daughter is a teacher in the public schools and I'm worried about her future in the teaching profession.

Jenell Fisher

Self- Educator

MONT BELVIEU, TX

I oppose school vouchers. It is NOT including the best interest of our kids or educational system.

Carisa Brown

Self, parent of two Public school students, and Texas public school educator.

Lampasas, TX

Vote NO to HB 3. This is not going to support what is best for our students, it is not going to empower parents or educators to ensure all kids have the beat education and its not going to support Texas education to be the very best it can be. My own children deserve better. My students deserve better. Texas education deserves better.

Terra Anders

Self

Taylor, TX

I am standing in opposition to HB3 as written and implore the House Representatives to vote No! There are far too many loopholes, vague language, enticements for private vendors to milk the system and allowances for creating an unfair playing ground that will shatter Texas public schools. This bill has nothing to do with giving the poorest and neediest children and parents choice. It is about asking taxpayers to foot the bill for those who can already afford private schools. If this was about giving the poorest children a choice, the language would clearly limit its application to those who really need the help. Taxpayer money should stay in public schools and Texas should fully fund public schools NOW to fulfill our commitment to the 14th Amendment . Vote no on HB3 and fully fund our public schools so they have a chance to provide a safe and strong educational environment for our kids.

Jennifer Wages

Self

Denton, TX

Vote NO on HB 3. Fully fund public education.

Ruth Todd

Self

Bastrop, TX

Without public schools society will falter. What this bill does is to rob tax dollars meant for public schools to be given to the most wealthy to segregate schools. Minorities and children with disabilities will be and are now excluded. Sports, Arts, and Music will be on the chopping blocks in rural school districts because of lack of funding. Without Fine Arts and sports many children will just quit school because they have no reason to go. Rural schools will start closing down because of lack of funding. Of course everyone knows that is what the Governor wants and that he wants an uneducated populace to be able to control. Life expectancy will decrease and many will leave the state and country to find a better way of life for their children. This is not good for the people of Texas or the country.

Ashley Shine

Self - Educator

Richardson, TX

School voucher programs divert public funds away from public schools to private (often religious) private schools. This is a direct violation of the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment. Taxpayer funds are not to be used to favor religions. Public schools are accountable to ALL taxpayers and obligated to serve EVERY child. There are multiple concerns with vouchers.

- Vouchers drain resources from public schools. Texas public schools are already greatly underfunded. They have not received an increase in the student allotment since 2019. The state constitution requires that public schools are properly funded.

- Private schools receiving voucher funds lack the level of oversight and transparency of public schools. They are not required to take STAAR/EOC and receive an Accountability Rating. There is no guarantee that a private school offers a quality education.

Private schools are not required to follow IDEA and can reject any student for any reason. Public schools cannot turn students away. Public and private schools cannot be judged against each other because they do not follow the same set of rules and expectations.

- Vouchers are welfare for the wealthy. Most of the students who will benefit from a voucher system already attend private schools. The general public should not be subsidizing their private education. In states where vouchers are in place, the average cost of private schools has increased by the value of the voucher.

- Vouchers can exacerbate socioeconomic and racial segregation by allowing families to use public funds to attend private schools that may select students based on criteria that exclude certain groups. After all, vouchers were first introduced in response to Brown vs. Board of Education.

- In many rural areas of Texas, public schools are the cornerstone of the community. Private schools are not an option as they do not exist in most rural areas.

I believe, as do most Texans, that strengthening our public school system is the most effective way to ensure that all Texas students have access to quality education. I respectfully request that you consider these concerns and vote against HB3 and for all Texas children.

Sincerely, Ashley Shine

Elizabeth Peacock

self

Buda, TX

Public schools and private schools do not have to play by the same rules - private schools are allowed to discriminate & can remove a student for any reason. Public schools have to provide an education to special needs students, students with behavioral issues, students who do not yet speak English, etc. It is absurd for private schools to receive public funding when they do not play by the same rules.

Additionally, Texans already have school choice, and this bill actually removes choice by decreasing public school funding and forcing magnet schools to close. This is simply welfare for the wealthy.

Mary Milham

Self

Whitehouse, TX

I am a retired educator and special education administrator. I am against this bill because I do not believe it will be beneficial for all children. I believe the bill will benefit families with the highest incomes and the advertising for the bill is not comprehensive about the true costs and application process for accessing private schools. The $15,000 is only a drop in the bucket for all of the fees to attend a private school which most families will or be able to meet. Nor will they be able to provide their own transportation.

In regards to special education, unless it is a school for specific disabilities such as autism, it is unlikely that private schools will accept students w anything but maybe a mild learning disability.

The most elected private school in our area does not have a special education department with a diagnostician. If they suspect a disability they call the district public school and request an evaluation under Child Find. The diag I spoke to, said the private school has requested several evaluations this year and all of the results were negative for disabilities. If private schools use public schools for evaluations and other sp ed services, then they are further taking staff time, monies and other resources from public schools that are already under funded.

Please vote no.

Robert Gibbons

Education Austin

Austin, TX

It is the duty of the legislature to adequately fund a public school system. Once installed, a private voucher system will grow in cost and deplete much needed resources for public schools.

Tandy Diamond

RISD parent

Dallas, TX

Support Texas public schools!! I am NOT in favor of Governor Abbotts voucher bill!

Sandi Dunn
Self
Houston, TX

As a Texas educator with 19 years of experience, I strongly oppose HB 3 and urge lawmakers to reject this harmful legislation. This bill seeks to establish Education Savings Accounts (ESAs), which are simply another form of school vouchers that divert taxpayer dollars away from public schools and into private, often unregulated institutions. This would have devastating consequences for Texas' already underfunded public education system.

Public schools serve all students, regardless of ability, background, or socioeconomic status. Private schools, however, are not held to the same standards and can selectively admit students while refusing to provide services for those with disabilities or specialized learning needs. By shifting state funds into ESAs, HB 3 would reduce critical resources for public schools, forcing them to operate with even fewer funds while still serving the vast majority of Texas children.

Texas already ranks near the bottom in per-student funding, and this bill would only exacerbate the problem. Instead of investing in teacher salaries, classroom resources, and student support services, HB 3 funnels public money into a system that lacks transparency and accountability. This is especially concerning given that private schools are not required to administer state assessments, follow the same curriculum standards, or provide financial accountability for taxpayer dollars.

Additionally, ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition, leaving behind the students who rely most on public education. Rural communities, where private school options are limited or nonexistent, would see no benefit from this bill, yet their schools would still suffer from funding losses. HB 3 is not about providing choice—it's about dismantling public education in favor of privatization.

Texas should be strengthening its public schools, not undermining them. I urge lawmakers to reject HB 3 and instead focus on real solutions—such as increasing per-student funding, raising teacher salaries, and improving classroom resources—that support the 5.5 million children who attend Texas public schools. Our students and teachers deserve better.

Kelly-Ann Clarke
self
Dallas, TX

I do not want public funds diverted to private institutions. That is not school choice nor is that the point of property or school taxes. If it was, let me keep the money instead of giving it to you to then give back to me! Stop the smoke and mirrors! Kids with special needs and low income kids lose with this "choice". Emotionally damaged kids in foster care won't have the support they need in public school and when they slash the tires of the private school kids, you can take credit for that "choice". I am am happy to pay my taxes to go to schools so kids are not undereducated. It makes the neighborhood and country safer if all kids have a chance to get good education for free. If you can afford private school, good for you. That is your choice! Spend your elected official time on how to create better functioning schools, not just shifting the money. Privatization isn't always better.

Carl Jones
Self
Spicewood, TX

This bill is bad for our public schools, bad for our kids, bad for our teachers and bad for Texas. We don't need another $80Mm annual budget to administer public tax dollars to allocate funding for vouchers that mostly benefit wealthy families that already send their kids to private schools. Over 70% of kids enrolled in private schools are from wealthy families. They don't need a subsidy at the expense of lower & middle class families that need public education resources. Stop this bill and stop neglecting our 5.5 million kids in public schools. Save our schools and save our kids all over Texas! Properly FUND our public schools!

Reed Bilz, Ms
Indivisible Texas 12
Fort Worth, TX

Due to tax relief last session, public schools are cash strapped. They need more money allotted per student enrolled. An additional $220 would bring Texas closer to the national average, but $300 would help make up for the struggles the districts have had to endure.

Charter schools do not need more money. The majority offer inferior education and public money should stay with public schools.

Meri Sue Michalak
Self/Educator
Pflugerville, TX

School vouchers do not benefit our public school system. In fact, they will hurt our schools. Vouchers supply money for families who most likely already send their children to private schools, which are not regulated by state mandates anyway. Why should tax money be spent on education for private entities and not our public systems? It is unfair, unlawful, and unethical.

Elizabeth Vargas
Self
Pflugerville, TX

I am vehemently opposed to this bill! We may as well be handing money to churches next. It should be illegal for my public money to go to a private institution. I have four children who will all go to public school. Number one because I don't have an extra $50k/year to spend on private school, even with this bill, and number two, public school teachers are more educated! We go to highland park education. We're in the bilingual program and my kid got into gifted and talented. He is so special and so is everyone that works at that school. PLEASE DO NOT LET THIS BILL PASS!!! Thank god my children don't have special needs too or they would be totally out of luck with this bill. Private institutions, and even charter schools, can reject kids for whatever reason. I believe in public schools and will fight for them forever!!!! And I don't think people can deny that this will not be enough to change anyone's mind in the end. It will be welfare for the wealthy and it is something that the governor is bullying everyone into and IT CAN NOT HAPPEN. I, along with a lot of people in sure, will end up MOVING before I'll live in a state with this rule. Thank you and please let's keep this from happening.

Heather Roell Oshman, Ms
Self
Austin, TX

No vouchers. Please keep public money public.

Jan Reed, MS
Self - Retired
Austin, TX

School vouchers will take money away from our public schools in Texas and do not truly offer a choice for parents. In many rural and smaller towns, their only option is their public schools, which are an anchor for their community -- they have no other choice. Also, private schools are not obliged to take the state tests like STAR or TAKS and neither are they obliged to admit all students, especially handicapped or disadvantaged students. This school voucher bill is really designed to help wealthy families pay for their private schools and to avoid being integrated. Our tax money should not pay for this. This is in no way helpful for ALL Texas children.

Ann Ehrenburg
Self. Retired
Amarillo, TX

I am against school vouchers. I fully support public education.

Kelsey Cockrum

Self

Austin, TX

Parents in vast numbers do not want the vouchers bill to pass. We need to follow the money in the other states that have attempted this method, all with more failures than success. Parents already have a choice, we should take the money we would pass out from vouchers and use it to better our free for all public schools. We should follow the methods used by other countries that make their public education so great. We should end testing that accounts for the funds of schools, and just fund them appropriately with the thought of ALL children deserve the best. Regardless of what their family can afford or "choose" to do for school.

We are also not even thinking about rural communities with this bill. What about those children. Just fund public schools to make THEM the best.

Matthew Boehm

Self

Austin, TX

Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) may seem like a promising solution to expand educational opportunities, but they come with significant concerns that could undermine the public education system and hurt students in the long run.

First and foremost, ESAs divert much-needed funding from public schools. Public schools are already underfunded and struggling to provide adequate resources for all students. Diverting taxpayer dollars into private accounts, often used for private school tuition, means that fewer resources are available to support the majority of students who rely on public education.

Moreover, ESAs often disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can supplement the funds to pay for private schooling or other educational options. This exacerbates educational inequality and leaves lower-income families with fewer choices and fewer resources to invest in their children's education.

Public education serves the purpose of ensuring every child, regardless of background or income, has access to quality learning. ESAs undermine this goal by encouraging a system of "education for the few," instead of a system that benefits the many. Instead of focusing on policies that create division, we should be investing in strengthening and improving public education for everyone.

Lastly, the lack of accountability in how ESA funds are used is a serious concern. Private schools and educational service providers aren't held to the same standards as public schools, meaning there's less transparency and less oversight regarding the quality of education that students are receiving.

Rather than further eroding the public education system, we should be working to ensure that all schools are well-funded, well-equipped, and inclusive, offering a high-quality education to every child in our country.

Please do not pass this bill and instead focus on raising the base allotment for each Texas student by $4,000 in order to put our education system within the top 25 of state spending across the United States.

Felicia Rains, Ms.
Self, Piano Teacher
Austin, TX

As a Piano Teacher for children for over 25 years, I have seen the enormous benefit of public schools. Vouchers will undermine public schools: Vouchers divert funding from public schools, which serve most students, to private schools.
Discrimination: Vouchers can discriminate against students with disabilities and exacerbate racial segregation.
Subtracting from public accountability: Private schools are less accountable to taxpayers than public schools.
Failing to meet student needs: Vouchers can fail to meet the needs of students with disabilities and special needs.
Not improving student performance: There is no reliable evidence that vouchers improve student success, and some programs have shown negative effects.
Eroding democracy: Vouchers can erode democracy by giving private schools that are not accountable to the public control over how public tax dollars are spent.
Creating corruption: Private schools with little or no accountability could lead to corruption.
Diverting attention from needed reforms: Vouchers can divert attention from needed reforms, such as smaller class sizes.
Reducing fair access: Vouchers can reduce fair access to educational opportunity. . There will be tax dollars going to schools that are not required to meet any state accountability standards. It will decrease funding to public schools. Most families will not be able to afford private schools even with the vouchers. Vouchers are a gift to the wealthiest families and a punishment for families who don't have the money or have special needs or disabled children. We need to be funding the public schools not taking money away from them.

GILBERT LARA
EPTA/TSTA
EL PASO, TX

VOTE NO ON VOUCHERS TEXAS NEEDS TO PRESERVE PUBLIC EDUCATION

Christene Nemetsky
Georgetown ISD
Georgetown, TX

Taxpayer funds need to go to Public NOT Private Schools!
Our Public Schools have been neglected for 5 years - DO NOT send Public dollars to Private Schools.
Billionaires do NOT dictate how taxpayers dollars are spent. Stand up for the hard-working Texans.
Vouchers HURT our neighborhood schools!

Lucy Kocich
self
San Angelo, TX

No to vouchers. support public schools

Carrie English
Self, Teacher
FORT WORTH, TX

Every society needs a well-educated populace to function. As a Fort Worth ISD teacher and parent, I know very well how our schools are already struggling from lack of funding. Taking even more money away to give to prosperous private schools makes absolutely no sense. Give more money to the public schools, so we can educate the doctors, police officers, engineers, and teachers of the future, and our state will thrive in the new millennium. This voucher scheme benefits only the wealthy, and even the wealthy will suffer when public schools can no longer educate the average Texan. Please don't put us in the (bankrupt) position many voucher states now find themselves in. You don't want to tell your grandchildren that you presided over this looting of our schools (which are a right enshrined in the state constitution!) Please do what I'm sure all of you know deep down is the right thing, and save our schools for future generations of Texans.

Elizabeth Ramos

Self

San Antonio, TX

Keep public funds in public schools

Angela Lewallen

Self: taxpayer and parent

Lewisville, TX

I am opposed to hb3. Public money should be spent on public schools. I am opposed to giving tax dollars to an entity that will spend that money on curriculum for which the public has no oversight. It is an offense to the history of our nation to label our schools as failing and, instead of addressing the challenges, to give up and offer welfare to the wealthy instead. No to hb3.

Maggie Ma

Lakeview Elementary PTA (PTA Vice President)

Sugar Land, TX

I work closely with our local elementary school as the PTA Vice President and I see first-hand how much support our school needs and the funds that our PTA has to bring in to provide for basic necessities like classroom supplies and equipment. Our public schools need MORE funding, not less! Our public education has so much potential to be bigger, and better, but we really need the support of the government. Please invest in public schools, were ALL students have an equal right and privilege to learn.

Linda Terry

Self

Ft. Worth, TX

I strongly oppose HB3!!!!

Kay Winfield

Self

Burleson, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools.

Julie Hawkins

Self

Dallas, TX

We are NOT for the voucher program and believe it be harmful to public education and not improving education in the least.

Gina Cramer

Self, Program Evaluator

San Antonio, TX

I am a proud product of Texas public schools and I strongly oppose vouchers. Public dollars belong in public schools! Our public schools are already deeply underfunded, and any scheme to remove money will not improve education outcomes in this State.

Instead of taking dollars from our already under funded public schools through a voucher program, we should be putting more money into our public education system in Texas so that all students have an opportunity to thrive

Scott Benton

self/family

Frisco, TX

I have children in public schools in Lewisville ISD. This will cost our state BILLIONS and only serve a few, with zero accountability. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. By providing great quality public education to everyone, we are lifting up our entire state for the better. Say YES to supporting Texas public education and the teachers who serve to create a better future for our children. NO VOUCHERS!!! FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS BETTER!

Erin Mancil, Mrs.

Self

Cedar Park, TX

We are raising two public school children in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools.

ESAs (vouchers) directly hurt students with disabilities who receive Special Education services in Public Schools in the State of Texas. Diverting $1 Billion of my PUBLIC taxpayer money to private schools who do not even acknowledge IDEA, do not follow IEPs and only provide services when they are negotiated, compromised and then charged back to parents at exorbitant rates well above typical tuition rates it is theft of services and money to the most vulnerable population in Texas.

14% of the 5.5 million public school students in Texas receive special education services. That's 760,000 students at a minimum. These ESAs are completely inaccessible to at least 90% of our disabled students, and that is before they have a chance at any lottery or know if a private school will accept, serve, or retain them. There's no accountability. Not of services, not of the $1 Billion of public taxpayer money this legislature wants to pour into private schools and not of impact or outcomes of our disabled students.

Even if we say ALL of the ESAs go to disabled kids receiving special education services, that still leaves a minimum of 700,000 students receiving special education services in underfunded understaffed Public Schools that this state put in this situation. This causes direct harm to these students with disabilities, the most vulnerable individuals in society, and it's at the hands of those who are supposed to represent us.

This is unacceptable. I want this legislature to take accountability, listen to the parent voice (and students), and have the courage to do the right thing: say No to ESA/Vouchers and Fund our Public Schools properly.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Erin K Mancil

Heralio Perez Jr, Mr.

MCA

Edinburg, TX

Would like if we can be part of this bill, and help with our kids education funding.

Rachelle Moore

PTA parent in Collin County

Plano, TX

Struggling with the cost of everything all while trying to provide the best education options for my child. I moved to Plano for the schools and live close enough to walk to Bethany Elementary in Plano Texas. We can't afford private school and moved to this area because of the school district. This bill will hurt public schools and teachers. Make the bill fair by putting caps on the rich. Who don't need vouchers and making private schools have to follow the same rules as public and maybe this might be a good idea. But right now this bill is written and for the wealthy. It is not ok and I support Texas public schools and teachers.

Janelle Colligan

Self

Wylie, TX

'NO TO VOUCHERS' & NO TO SB3

Abigal Rios

Self / Chef

Liberty Hill, TX

I am in opposition to HB 3. I oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

If the reason for vouchers is truly schools choice, then additional accountability measures must be added to the bill.

Measures such as:

1. No elected official past, present or future nor any family member by blood or marriage may financially benefit from the ESA program in any way, direct or indirect.
2. No family with a child currently enrolled in an education entity other than a Texas public school may use an ESA. They already have choice and they use it.
3. No education entity may deny admittance to a child choosing to use an ESA
4. No education entity admitting a child via an ESA may dismiss the child during the current school year
5. Any education entity that dismisses or denies continued enrollment to a child using an ESA before 5 years or graduation must fully refund the state plus a 25% penalty
6. Any education entity that accepts a child via an ESA must abide by the same rules, policies and procedures as every public school.

I oppose HB 3.

Tina McNeil

Self

ALLEN, TX

As an active member of the Allen Isd PTA and a proud born and raised Texan, I am 1000% against this bill and what it stands for. This false idea of this being a "parents choice" is laughable at best and at worst is insulting and demeaning to the amazing Teachers and staff at our schools as a whole who have been UNDER funded and UNDER paid for far too long. As a tax paying citizen I want my money to go back in to my community that I am actively apart, not to some savings account for a private school that I never had intentions of sending my children to in the first place. Parents should get to choose where and how their money is being spent and a voucher program is something I do not and will not ever support. I choose to support my child's teachers who have been with him since kindergarten, I choose to support my school district that works together to make sure every child in our district has the tools needed to succeed, I choose to support my community who comes out in droves to help each other in times of crisis or in need. Many in my community feel the same and hope we are heard when we say a voucher program is NOT what Texas schools need or will ever need.

marta rozanich

Self

Ft worth, TX

We need you to stand up for Texas families and kids. Do not decimate our neighborhood schools, our rural communities. Fix the current system and fully fund public schools. We do not want coupons for the wealthy. Please vote no on HB3. Respectfully.

Emily Jelen

self

Dallas, TX

Please consider that public schools already have the programs that you claim people need to go to private school for. Plus, your voucher program will only provide a small amount of support for the children in Texas, removing money from the public schools that are already squeezed by your refusal as a legislature to support public schools by keeping up with inflation. My son, for example, is very well supported by the 504 program, to keep him in small-group settings for testing, and by giving him more time for testing, because he has ADHD. If you all support this voucher bill, programs like this, and many other very important programs (our PTA, for example, has already had to help the school pay for reading and math support programs that the school can no longer afford because of the lack of legislative support ($) for public schools). Please keep the state funding (that comes from us, the taxpayers) with the public. People have many choices already for public schools, and public schools are held accountable by testing requirements. Keep supporting public, let your voters decide where they want to go. Plenty of private schools already have scholarships for the students who want to go there and cannot afford it. Keep it this way. Public schools need your support MUCH more.

Andrew Femath

Self and PTA Board Member

Boerne, TX

As a father of three young children and a PTA Board member at Leon Springs Elementary in NISD-San Antonio, I fully support the Texas school voucher bill. While I am committed to my local public school, I also strongly believe that parents should have the right to choose the best education for their children—regardless of financial status.

For many middle-class families like mine, the opportunity to send our children to a faith-based private school, such as our local Catholic parish school, is simply out of reach due to cost. This bill would give families the financial flexibility to make the best educational choices for their kids, whether that be public, private, or religious schools.

School choice should not be a privilege only for the wealthy—it should be an option for all Texas families. I urge lawmakers to pass this bill and give parents the freedom to decide what's best for their children's education.

Dianne Baskin

Self

Denton, TX

Vouchers are bad for all Texans and public education. Fund public education not private schools.

Brandi Pace

Self/Parent of Texas public school students

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools.

Thank you all. I learned so much yesterday and I look forward to going back on April 3rd to fight again!

James Lifton

Self - Student at UT Austin

Austin, TX

I oppose the Texas school voucher bill because it diverts much-needed public funds away from our public schools, which serve most students across the state. Vouchers undermine public education by funneling taxpayer money into private institutions, often with little accountability or oversight. This shift not only exacerbates educational inequities but also weakens the foundation of our public school system, leaving the most vulnerable students—those who rely on public education the most—facing even greater challenges.

Laura Mattingly

Self

Kyle, TX

Texans should not be forced to foot the bill for schools that a parent CHOOSE on their own. This is stealing money from public schools and our communities. Voucher programs have historically not done well in other states. I have children in Hays county school district and these schools struggle enough as it is to provide basic necessities for our students. Funneling money from the poor to the rich is not a matter of school choice but a matter of punishing the poor to line the pockets of the rich. Private schools are not accountable for how they spend money, who they can accept and deny, and are not held to the same standards for equity as public schools. Please do not pass this bill as it will be detrimental to our public school system!

Dinah Stowers

Self

Cooper, TX

I wholeheartedly OPPOSE HB3 and giving of public tax money to private schools.

Rebecca Parada

Self, Teacher

Richardson, TX

Our public schools are not even fully funded. How can we be talking about funding new educational programs when we don't even fund the one we have? We can't say we have tried everything with our schools if we haven't tried fully funding them and paying our teachers a professional wage and increasing the state contribution for health insurance to reduce the teacher cost for insurance. If we did that, we would attract quality teachers and have the best programs for our students. Currently we are below the national average on per student funding. Additionally, assuming we have the money now to start funding new programs, will we always have this money? What happens if our budgets get tighter? We all know teachers were fired or had their pay frozen in the recession of 2008. The state did not use its rainy day fund to pay for schools. The reduction of money from the state for our schools has meant increased property taxes for all Texans. Instead of looking for novel ways to spend on education outside of public schools, fund them to reduce our taxes. And don't reduce our taxes at the expense of public education unless the state will pick up the difference. Our public schools are the hub of our communities and provide many services to the community beyond classroom instruction.

Diane McElroy

Self/nurse

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Sarah Romo de Vivar, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Legislators,

I write to urge you to vote NO on HB 3. Vouchers are a hand-out for well-to-do families that send their children to private schools.

Vouchers do NOT help our children that attend Public Schools, what would truly help our Texas families is to fully fund our schools.

I'm so confused as to why we Texans are ok with being 43rd in the nation when we compare ourselves to other states and how much they pay per pupil in public schools. It's truly an embarrassment. We are roughly the 10th economy in the world or so; how do we expect to compete with other states and/or nations when our children don't receive the adequate funding needed for them to succeed in schools.

Not everyone has the option to send their children to a private school, for many it's a luxury they couldn't afford EVEN with the voucher.

I urge you to instead look inward, look at what needs to be done for our children, the right and just thing to do is to ensure that the MAJORITY of children in Texas have Public Schools that are fully funded. It's not hard!

Our children deserve better!

Sincerely,

Sarah Romo de Vivar

Mother of 3 children who attend Public Schools in Texas.

Georgia Gandino

Self, Preschool Teacher

Flower Mound, TX

I am asking for an increase in basic allotment for public schools throughout the state. While I vehemently oppose the voucher program, I recognize that lawmakers are insistent on passing such a terrible idea. In the meantime, our public schools, public school students, and public school teachers deserve SO MUCH MORE than what is currently being provided by the state. As a taxpayer, a resident, a voter, and a parent of children in the public school system, I am BEGGING you to please vote to do right by the children who will shape our future. Invest in them. Provide THEM with every opportunity to go and do great things. Make our great state even more appealing by giving our children a world-class education.

Rachelle Arechiga

Self/Teacher and Parent of public and private school children

San Antonio, TX

As a parent with one child in private school and two in public school, and as a secondary teacher, I am highly opposed to school vouchers for the following reasons:

Private schools are not equipped to handle an increase in student enrollment due to lack of facility size and staff. They often do not require teachers to be certified, they do not follow any recognized national standards for curriculum (unless required for specific courses such as AP classes). Those who have high enrollment due to vouchers could pick the best students, leaving weaker students to attend public schools that will have even tighter budgets.

Public schools are best equipped to educate large numbers of students, and should be provided the money to do so well. Public schools continue to educate despite lack of funding, teacher shortages, social apathy, and political ineptitude. The students they could reach and educate with proper funding would demonstrate that vouchers are completely unnecessary.

Vouchers also do not take into account the transportation needs of those moving schools, the impact on traffic and parents' jobs, the impact on the communities that would lose business around the schools being left, the negative impact on traffic/energy/staff at even the larger good public schools people may try to move to, etc.

Vouchers are poorly thought out plan that will have negative results for all but a few students who manage to move to a "better" school. Instead, we should be better funding ALL PUBLIC schools to allow them to hire staff, offer class sizes, and provide programs that benefit the majority or the students in the state.

Bobanne Richardson

Self- HSE Lead / Medic

Colleyville, TX

Good afternoon,

I am writing to let you know that I am against HB3.

Tax payer money should fund public schools only. No school voucher program with tax payer money should ever be considered. It's time to fully support and fund public schools and stop doing favors for billionaires who fund candidates. Do what is right for the people of Texas, especially our children. No to HB3!

Dessie Allen

Self

Austin, TX

I'm a firm believer that our time, talents, and treasures should go towards improving our public schools if we truly want to thrive as a society in the future. Our public schools are the heartbeats of our neighborhoods- they're institutions that connect us as a community and should be strengthened! No vouchers!

Jessica Requejo
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am against vouchers. I came from a private school. I saw the downsides and upsides. My daughter went to a charter school where the kindergarten teacher coached her through passing without her learning a thing. She would verbally test her over paper tests and lead her with the answers. The next year we moved her to a public school where we uncovered her learning disabilities and a path to success. My opinion is that public money needs to stay public. Furthermore we need more money to keep up with inflation and having an educated society able to compete in a worldwide economy.

Please find another way to help families that choose private education. Taking from the general and majority is just not the way.

Thank you for your time.

REBECCA RATLIFF
Self; Business Owner
Plano, TX

I strongly oppose stealing money from public school funding to support private schools. Vouchers and ESAs divert public taxpayer dollars to private institutions without oversight or transparency.

Heather Nelson, Citizen and Tax Payer
Myself - you know, the person you represent
Dallas, TX

I oppose financial of any sort for private school. I paid to send my 2 kids to private school by foregoing vacations, driving older cars, and managing my budget. Classic bootstrapping that I thought Texas valued! Vouchers and ESAs are handouts for the wealthy and private education interests. I want and expect my tax dollars ($18,000 in 2024!) to fund public education for all Texans and not for religious schools or homeschooling. Heather Nelson, Dallas TX

Jeffry Pollard
Self
Fort Worth, TX

No public money for private schools, they don't have to meet the same requirements as public schools. Public schools are underfunded and you should not take away funds to give to parents for private schools.

Maria Moussa
Education- Assistant Principal
McKinney, TX

I am strongly opposed to House Bill 3, which seeks to implement a voucher system for education in Texas. While I fully understand the desire for innovation and improvement within our educational system, I believe that this proposed measure would be detrimental to the future of our public schools and to the students who rely on them. First and foremost, it is critical to acknowledge the state of public education funding in Texas. Public schools are already severely underfunded, and rather than taking funds away from these institutions, we should be prioritizing their support. For years, the basic student allotment — which is the foundation of school funding in Texas — has remained stagnant since 2019. During that time, costs associated with education, including teacher salaries, instructional materials, and infrastructure, have only risen, further straining schools and districts across the state. Despite the state's significant budget surplus, which is currently in the billions of dollars, this core funding has not seen an increase. This creates a clear contradiction: the state has a substantial surplus, yet the very institutions responsible for educating our children are left to operate on outdated funding levels. The voucher system proposed in HB3 would divert funds away from public schools, exacerbating this already dire situation. A voucher system would allow public dollars to be used for private school tuition, which is particularly concerning given that many private schools do not have the same accountability standards as public schools. This shift of resources would harm the majority of students who attend public schools, as these institutions would receive fewer funds to address their pressing needs. Public schools in Texas serve the vast majority of our students — including those from low-income families, students with disabilities, and English-language learners — and many of these students would be left with fewer resources and support to succeed. Rather than investing in a system that would drain public schools, Texas should be focusing on increasing the basic student allotment to ensure that our public schools are properly funded and equipped to meet the needs of all students. The state's budget surplus could be a powerful tool to correct the underfunding crisis that has persisted for far too long. These funds should be directed toward improving teacher pay, reducing class sizes, updating outdated infrastructure, and providing support for students who need it the most. Instead, HB3 proposes a diversion of funds that would not only weaken public schools but also fail to guarantee better outcomes for students. Moreover, there is no conclusive evidence that voucher programs lead to better educational outcomes. Studies from other states have shown mixed results, with many private schools participating in voucher programs not necessarily offering superior education compared to public schools.

Sara Murray
Self
Dallas, TX

I oppose this bill.

Rachel Cameron
Self
Cypress, TX

School vouchers in Texas is a horrible idea and the House schools vote “no”. These vouchers will divert public funds away from already underfunded public schools, worsening educational disparities. Rural areas, where private school options are scarce, would see little benefit, leaving students with fewer resources. Additionally, vouchers primarily help families who can already afford private school tuition, rather than low-income students who need support the most. Without strong accountability measures, taxpayer money could fund unregulated schools that lack transparency or proper educational standards. Instead of improving education for all students, vouchers risk deepening inequities and weakening the public school system.

Julie Brown
Self
Abilene, TX

Please reject school vouchers in Texas. Public schools need to be fully funded so the next generation will receive a good education. People who want to access private schools already have this option. Any school who accepts taxpayer money should be held to all the rules, regulations, and testing standards as public schools including students with disabilities.

Melissa Wegleitner

Self

Wylie, TX

No to school vouchers

Erin Uhlaender

self - elementary principal (pre-k through 5th grade)

Cedar Park, TX

I serve every student.... white, black, brown, Asian, English speaking, bilingual, homeless, economically disadvantaged, learning disabled, gifted and talented, dyslexic, autistic, typically developing, with down syndrome, and everything in between. I cannot and would not turn ANY child away from public education, yet you want to allow millions of dollars to funnel into school settings that REJECT students daily. You say school choice, I say discrimination. As a tax payer and a lifelong educator, these funds belong to EACH AND EVERY CHILD in the state of Texas. Not just those who apply and fit within a tax bracket or spreadsheet. You say school choice, I say continuing the economical divide. My school accountability is directly tied to STAAR testing. In fact, it is how I am perceived as the instructional leader on my campus. However, other schooling options these funds would go to are NOT held to the same standards, do not receive an A-F rating, and are not required by TEA to publicly present their student data and progress. Allowing tax payer dollars to funnel into the private setting should only be allowed if these schools are held to the EXACT SAME rating and performance measures. You say school choice, I say unethical practice.

Cynthia Aguilar, Educator

Laureles Elementary, LFCISD

Combes, TX

I oppose the HB3 Education Savings Account (ESA) for several key reasons.

First, the ESA would divert vital public funds away from public schools, which are already underfunded. By allocating taxpayer money to private education through ESAs, we risk exacerbating the inequities that already exist within our public education system. Public schools are required by law to accept every student, regardless of their background, special needs, or academic ability. In contrast, private schools participating in ESAs often have selective admissions policies, which could lead to the exclusion of marginalized students. This contributes to a system of educational inequality, rather than addressing the root causes of the issues public schools face.

Second, there is no guarantee that ESAs will improve the quality of education for all students. While ESAs provide financial incentives for families to choose private schools, they do not ensure that those private institutions are held to the same standards of accountability as public schools. Public schools are subject to state oversight, standardized testing, and teacher certifications, which are intended to ensure that all students receive a quality education. ESAs, on the other hand, could funnel public money into unaccountable private schools that may not provide the same level of educational rigor or support services, especially for students with special needs.

Lastly, the expansion of ESAs could lead to the further privatization of education, which undermines the idea of a universally accessible, equitable public education system. Instead of investing in the improvement of public schools for all students, HB3 could create a two-tiered system that leaves disadvantaged students behind, making education a commodity for those who can afford it, rather than a universal right for all children.

For these reasons, I believe that the HB3 Education Savings Account is a step in the wrong direction for ensuring a fair and equitable education system for all students.

Sarah Kallansrud

Self, self-employed

San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be FULLY funded and tax payer funds should NOT go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Albert Tindall, Dr.

Self/Retired

Coppell, TX

I am opposed to the use of any public funds to pay for vouchers to support education. If people wish their children to attend private educational institutions, they should pay for that privilege.

Pubic education is already underfunded.

Tara Rowe

Self

Wylie, TX

I am against. I believe that surplus funds should be used to recruit, train, and retain good educators. Look at what is happening all over the state in special education programs. Look at Millsap ISD and try and say those women were appropriately trained. Look at the percentage of uncertified teachers we have who absolutely should not be in a classroom, influencing kids at any age. Why are school districts so desperate that they will provide exemptions for a man with three DWIs? If/when the DOE is dismantled, Texas needs to have a solid education program, and the proposed savings account program is not the way to establish that.

The social media campaign has been ridiculous, claiming that y'all have public support for this. Not one single person that I know, who knows what this bill would do, supports it. If your polls say otherwise, it's because of the way the questions are worded, or the people responding don't understand or won't be affected by it.

I am a conservative republican, and this is the one thing that I absolutely do not agree with. You make kids take the staar test and reward schools for "closing the gap," but then you want to divert funds to private schools, knowing how many kids will get left behind. The kids who can't logistically get to a private school even if tuition is paid for. The kids in special education who would never be admitted. It's so sad to me that so many of you are pushing for this as an "emergency" item. Providing our kids with a safe environment and an appropriate education is the true emergency.

Nicole Ostrom

Self Self-Employed

Wylie, TX

NO to vouchers

Erin Sledge

Self, teacher

Fort Worth, TX

This is a terrible bill. Keep public money in public schools. I will be voting against everyone who voted for vouchers in every election for the rest of my life. This whole bill is a scam, and we should be fully funding public schools instead.

Janine Conway

Self - retired military veteran

Stephenville, TX

As a 20+ year military veteran, I have lived all over the world and observed how the local school districts operated with regards to my sons. I have been in states that implemented a voucher system and it brought more harm than good. Private schools raised their prices ,and hardworking parents of bright children still could not afford to send their children to these venues. Other "private schools" sprung up and accepted the vouchers, thus drawing resources, peer talent, and interactive parents away from the local school district. Implementing vouchers widened the education gap rather than solving it. In other words, vouchers defeated the purpose for which they were sold to the people of that state. Passing this bill is a clear sign to Texans that this House cares more about benefiting the wealthiest among us rather than making quality education accessible for all who desire and will work hard for it. I urge you not to pass HB3. Thank you for your time.

Noah Belveal

Self

Argyle, TX

I am a public school teacher and I am extremely in favor of school vouchers. I want the freedom to teach well and get paid accordingly.

My son is 3 and he is learning at the 1st grade level because I have the freedom to teach him without the brokenness of public education. Please approve a version of school vouchers that allows qualified teachers like me to get funding to teach outside of established schools (public or private). Please don't perpetuate a system that economically forces me to submit my children to a system that will squander their potential.

My family is not rich, and we may not be able to afford continuing homeschool if no funding support becomes available. And if anyone says public school is free, my family pays 10,000 annually in property taxes. That is the same amount we would get back if we had a school voucher. Please support Texan families' freedom to use the money on real education.

Ashley Long, Dr.

Seld

Cross Roads, TX

I consider myself privileged enough to actually benefit from this bill in how it was designed. It was designed for parents like me who could send their kids to better schools than the ones they're children are in. I hold a PhD in higher education. I know what resources my kids need to succeed.

And yet, this bill undermines the heart of education in our state and nation. We cannot simply (1) treat perceived "academic rigor" as the only indicator of student success and (2) reduce the quality of already under resourced programs. This bill might sound good on paper but the reality is a widening of the success gap and the top getting more resources to further the divide. I know what happens to kids who miss out on enriching experiences in favor of silver spooned chances - they end up with no grit, no persistence, no self-advocacy, and no appreciation for hard work.

For a group so often criticizing "snowflakes," you sure are creating them with this bill.

Nicole Ellis

Self, Director of Marketing

Aledo, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB3. This bill threatens to further defund our already underfunded public schools, including my district, Aledo ISD, which stands to lose over $6 million. Public schools in Texas have not received a substantive funding increase since 2019, despite rising inflation and growing student needs. We currently rank 41st in education and 46th in public school funding. For a state that prides itself on being the best, these rankings tell a different story.

"Education Savings Accounts," touted as a tool for school choice, are nothing more than a mechanism to funnel taxpayer dollars into private institutions, benefiting the wealthy at the expense of public school students. This is not about choice—it is about systematically draining resources from public schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children. Even with these accounts, the average middle-class or low-income family will still be unable to afford private school tuition. And even if they could, private schools are under no obligation to accept them, particularly students with disabilities or those needing additional support. HB3 is misleading in its promise of opportunity while actively exacerbating inequity.

Furthermore, HB2's proposed $220 per-student increase is woefully insufficient when inflation has reduced the buying power of current funding by $1,340 per student. The Learning Policy Institute has shown a clear positive correlation between school funding and student success. Cutting public school budgets disproportionately harms low-income students, who rely on school resources the most. These students experience lower graduation rates when funding is slashed, further widening the opportunity gap.

Speaker Burrows claims, "Families deserve options," but families wouldn't be seeking alternatives if our state properly funded public education. The push for private school vouchers is not about improving education—it's about deepening segregation and exacerbating inequality. Texas must prioritize fully funding public schools, ensuring every child has access to quality education, rather than redirecting taxpayer money to subsidize private institutions that serve the privileged few.

I urge you to vote NO on HB3 and stand up for Texas public schools. The future of our children—and our state—depends on it.

Sincerely,
Nicole Ellis

Angie Yarbrough

self

Dallas, TX

I, Angie Yarbrough, a concerned Texas citizen and parent of two children in Richardson ISD, strongly oppose House Bill 3 (HB 3) and urge you to vote against it.

HB 3's proposed Education Savings Account (ESA) program poses a significant threat to our public education system and the future of Texas children. This bill, if passed, would divert $1 billion from our state budget to fund private education for a select few, potentially decimating our public schools in the process.

The ESA program, while marketed as "school choice," is effectively a voucher system that primarily benefits wealthy families who can already afford private education. This misallocation of funds comes at a time when our public schools are in dire need of resources to address various challenges, including teacher shortages and aging infrastructure.

Furthermore, HB 3 lacks proper oversight mechanisms for participating private schools. Unlike public schools, which are held to strict accountability standards, private institutions receiving these funds would operate with minimal supervision. This lack of accountability is concerning, especially when taxpayer money is involved.

The bill's funding mechanism, which ties ESA values to public education spending, is particularly troubling. As more students leave the public system, it could lead to a downward spiral of reduced funding for public schools, potentially forcing increases in local property taxes to make up the shortfall.

We should learn from the experiences of other states. Similar programs in Indiana have shown significant challenges, including diverting resources from public schools and lacking financial transparency and accountability. These issues have contributed to Indiana's decline in per-pupil spending rankings and have raised major concerns about the impact on public education.

Instead of funneling money away from public schools, we should be investing in strengthening our existing education system. This includes improving teacher pay, reducing class sizes, and providing more resources for special education and early childhood programs.

HB 3 represents a fundamental shift away from the principle of public education for all. It threatens to create a two-tiered education system, exacerbating existing inequalities and leaving many children behind.

I implore you to prioritize the needs of ALL Texas children, not just a privileged few. Vote against HB 3 and instead focus on legislation that will truly improve educational outcomes for all students in our great state.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Angie Yarbrough

Concerned Texas Citizen and Parent

Katrina Benson

self, public school parent and Texas taxpayer

Allen, TX

I oppose HB 3. The Texas public school system is valuable! Its purpose is to provide a fair, quality education to all Texas children. Well-educated children today are well-prepared adults tomorrow. For years the Texas legislature has failed to properly prioritize and fund the Texas public school system and now bows to the pressure of special interests who want to funnel public funds -- my tax dollars -- away from the Texas public school system and into the pockets of special interests and their private schools. You cannot convince me that all Texas children stand to benefit from this or that all Texas children will now enjoy easier access to private schools. They will not. Please show your support for our children and our communities by supporting our public schools.

Emily Herrington

myself and my community

Austin, TX

I oppose the initiation of education savings accounts. Please properly fund public schools in Texas. My family and community relies on our public schools. Please support families like mine that absolutely need a well-supported public school system, so our schools can carry out legislatively mandated activities. Using public funds for private education will weaken public schools. The education savings account bill will cost Texans billions to support schools and education content that has NO oversight. It's not fair and it's not right.

Please do the right thing and vote NO on this bill.

Julie Paasche, Ms self (research director)
Austin, TX

I oppose taxpayer-funded vouchers for private schools and I am against HB 3. Having excellent preK-12 education for all Texans should be a high priority for our state and taking tax dollars away from public schools to subsidize private education will weaken our public school system. The public schools, and especially public school teachers, should be getting MORE money, not less. Public tax money should NOT pay for private education or home schooling.

Brianna Burpo
self
Fort Worth, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to Texas House Bill 3 (HB3) and its provisions related to school choice. While I believe every child deserves a quality education, I am deeply concerned that this bill prioritizes private and charter school funding at the expense of our public schools.

Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas children and are the backbone of our communities. Redirecting taxpayer dollars to private institutions through voucher-like programs weakens public education by diverting critical funding away from classrooms, teacher salaries, and student resources. Instead of expanding school choice in a way that benefits a select few, we should be strengthening the schools that serve all children, regardless of their background or zip code.

Texas public schools need increased support, not funding cuts. I urge you to oppose HB3 and instead advocate for policies that invest in public education, provide teachers with competitive pay, and ensure all students receive the high-quality education they deserve.

Thank you for your time and for considering the needs of Texas students, families, and educators.

Billy Stone
Self
Cleburne, TX

I have long been a Texas Republican. I am urging you to vote against the use of my tax dollars to support private school vouchers in any form. We need to work on ways to support and improve public education. The vast majority of people in our state do not have the ability to attend a private school. The availability and/or financial ability even with a state subsidy is prohibitive. I don't believe the use of public funds to educate a few privileged groups is the right thing to do. The rhetoric used to convey the bill has also been incomplete and misleading. Please vote against the bill for the good of democracy.

Thank you
Billy Stone

Scherron Richard Self/Field Director
Arlington, TX

I am a taxpayer in the State of Texas, so I want it to be documented that I do NOT support vouchers nor an education savings accounts (ESAs) program. In fact, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools in Texas. We have had inflation of over 20% since 2019, the last time funding was provided for Public Schools in Texas. I want it to be documented that I support the following:

- an Increase of the Basic Allotment, and
- Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflated amount of over 20%.

Representative, we must support our Public Schools with the proper Funding necessary.

nicole Williams
self
Wylie, TX
I OPPOSE HB3

Taylor Hennig
Self
Lavon, TX
I oppose HB 3.

Jennifer Pomaes
Self
Wylie, TX

Public funds belong with public schools only! Private schools are selective in who they admit and it is rarely students with disabilities. I have an adult autistic son and no private school would admit him because they "didn't have the resources" to help him. I guarantee private schools will not increase admissions for these kids. Private schools will also increase their tuition by the cost of the government handout you provide the parents. This is nothing but a money grab and attempt to privatize education in Texas. Instead, fund public schools! There are thousands more students than vouchers, so what about those kids? Equity in the school system involves funding public school for all kids of all abilities. The public and educational community is clearly against vouchers! Listen to your constituents, teachers, parents, principles, administration and do your job, which is to CARRY OUT THE WISHES OF YOUR MAJORITY ELECTORATE. Not YOUR wishes, Abbott, et al. The tax paying constituents!

Meredith Siegel
Self - Housing Rehabilitation Manager
San Antonio, TX

Diverting public monies away from public schools would harm Texas families and businesses by devaluing the education attainable by most people. This will not increase school choice for most families, and particularly not for students who benefit from specialized education plans. Having a well educated populace benefits individuals by helping realize their intellectual potential. It helps businesses by creating a more capable and informed workforce, and by widening the field from which business innovation can sprout. Narrowing this field by LARA ring the public education system will hurt Texas in the long and short term. I urge you to oppose this bill.

Kay Bunker, Mrs
Self retired
Colleyville, TX

Vote no to school vouchers. My tax dollars should not fund private schools.

Katherine BURTON
Myself - Recreation Supervisor
WYLIE, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Liana Benavides, Mrs.

self/homemaker

San Antonio, TX

Funding has been withheld from Texas public schools since COVID. If our schools were properly funded, we could retain the best teachers and provide the best opportunities for our children. Vouchers are nothing but a scam designed to help the wealthy save money on private school tuition. The $10k voucher would not help parents of lower socioeconomic statuses. Local schools are closing. What is going to happen if a child is asked to leave a private school? What school would they have open to attend? Our Governor needs to listen to the majority of his constituents who are speaking out against vouchers. The choice parents really want is for our neighborhood schools to receive proper funding so our children can continue to attend those schools for free. Our public schools offer transportation, meals, academic options, and extracurricular activities. Private schools often do not offer as much as our public schools do by way of extracurricular activities. Children need more aside from academics. Please say no to vouchers.

Heather Rule

Self

Austin, TX

As a taxpayer I want my support to go to those who are most in need. An equitable world makes us all better and funding needs to go to public schools for the benefit of our society.

Leah Barber

Self - Product Manager

Wylie, TX

I want our tax dollars go to students who need free public education and not people who want to CHOOSE to take their kids to private school. We ALREADY have school choice. We. Already. Have. It. Let's infuse that money into making our schools better and paying teachers more. NO VOUCHERS. I do not want my tax dollars going to a private school that isn't under the same restrictions as public school. I do not want my tax dollars going to the rich who can already afford it. NO VOUCHERS.

Swapna John, Mrs.

Wylie ISD

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Barbie Castellano

RRSP

Richardson, TX

Please do NOT implement an education savings account. Public schools are vital to a healthy democracy. The amount of the vouchers does not begin to cover the necessary expenses of attending a private school and will add a further divide between the haves and the have nots. Finally, voucher systems make no economic sense and have caused serious financial issues for states that have attempted to implement a voucher system. VOTE NO for the good of our country!

Allison Mccomic

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Quinn Veltkamp

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Heather Craig, Mrs

Self

Houston, TX

Please stand with Texas families and vote no to vouchers. Texas public schools serve alol our children and deserve to be fully funded. ESAs have no accountability and serve special interests, not our communities. My children are in public schools that work hard to serve all, and we see them having to make cuts because they are not fully funded. Please listen to your constituents and defend public schools, say no to vouchers, and fully funded our public schools. Thank you

Sasha Smith

Self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose education savings accounts. I understand the goal is to give parents a choice in schools but Texas parents already have that choice. As the parent of a child with special needs that receives special education servives, I can tell you that we looked into private schools for our child. None were a good fit or willing to work with our child's behavioral challenges. Thankfully, our child qualified for, what was called at the time, public preschool for children with disabilities. Our child was three years old when she began her public school journey. It was challenging, yes, but she graduates this year and it is all due to the dedication of the staff, specialists, and teachers at her public schools.

I can only imagine how much more incredible that journey could have been in a fully funded public school. Please don't deny families like mine the quality education their children deserve. We all know the ESAs would take funding away from our public schools. I know you say the goal of these ESAs is to give parents like me a choice in where to send our child. It turns out, no private school would serve our child, so what good would an ESA do for us or other families with children like mine? I think we all know the answer.

Fully fund our public schools and you'll see there is no need for an ESA program. I've seen the incredible work our schools can do while they are critically underfunded; imagine the heroes you all could be if you fully funded them.

Nannette Flowers

Self

Austin, TX

No vouchers! Vote NO to vouchers

Diana Overhauser

Self, Hr Manager

Plano, TX

DO NOT APPROVE SCHOOL VOUCHERS- The public does not want to see funds taken away from public schools. This is a disgrace.

Kathryn Delamarter

Lewisville ISD

Lewisville, TX

The Texas Legislature has been starving our public schools for long enough. It's time to fully fund all public schools and invest in the future of our supposed great state. What good is a strong economy without great public schools to educate the masses? I get the point of offering parents a choice in their child's education, but the thing is that parents already have a choice without handing out a billion dollars of taxpayers' money. I am an educator and have dedicated my life to educating other people's children for the past 23 years. Please listen to educators when we ask that you fully fund our public schools and quit playing politics with Texas children's education. Just say no to vouchers, education savings accounts, or whatever fancy words you want to use. 5 million Teas children are counting on you to do the right thing!

Valerie Martin

Self

Frisco, TX

I love our great state of Texas and appreciate all of the hard work that our legislators put into keeping Texas awesome. I am, however, against the school voucher program and am afraid of the consequences of that kind of program in Texas. We should improve our public schools that are in our neighborhoods and put tax payers dollars towards public education. I stand with many educators, republicans, democrats and Texans who oppose this bill and hope and expect our legislators to do the same. Thank you!

Hildur Salinas

Self - Special Education Paraprofessional

Coppell, TX

The voucher system has not worked in any other state. It's going to damage special education and our special needs youth is already vulnerable

I am against HB 3

Peter Ball

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on the expert testimony and the fiscal note presented for HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Jason Mauss

Education

Houston, TX

Vote against HB 3---say NO to vouchers / education savings accoutns. Please fully fund Public Education by releasing money to each ISD to help our children, economy, and state.

Yvette Rodriguez

Self

Del Rio, TX

Dear Representatives,

Thank you for your service to our great state of Texas. As a retired teacher/librarian, I urge you to take more time on fixing the parts of public education that need fixing and increasing funds to much needed struggling schools. We want strong educated Texans. The STARR tests need to be reexamined and high stake testing should be replaced by achievement tests. We need to really look at the root of a problem not divert monies from public schools to private schools which do not abide by the same rules as public schools. Let's be fair and realistic. In addition, how many students are really going to benefit from this "choice"?

Please introduce bills that will help our young Texans thrive. We have ranked low in the past 10 years and it's time to make an informed change.

Who do you really serve? Do you really want to be attached to a bill which likely will not benefit most of our Texans?

Please give this consideration.

Thank you,

Yvette Rodriguez

Jaymie Archer, Lt
Self policy advisor
Cypress, TX

Thank you so much for empowering parents like me to take charge of their kids education! We live in democrat controlled corrupt Harris co and pay taxes that equate to 1.5 students in an above average private school tuition bracket. We are both educated and highly skilled professionals but with the outrageous co & ISD taxes and without an ESA, our kids and their amazing teachers are stuck in the perverted and abusive pub ed system. We have to seize the day, pass education choice for ALL TEXAS CHILDREN and launch their future and the future of this great state into the next millennia as the rightful leaders we have always been! Texas first! Texas always!

Jolene Pereira Katz
Self
Round Rock, TX

As a parent and a Texas PTA member I urge you to oppose HB3 and prioritize adequate funding for public school children. Texas families already have a school choice. Public money demands public accountability—any school or entity receiving taxpayer dollars must meet the same standards, mandates, testing, and accountability requirements as public schools. Let Texans decide! Vouchers would use public dollars for private education, and Texans deserve a voice in this decision. Urge lawmakers to put the measure on a statewide ballot and let the people vote!

Narda Holguin
Self
IRVING, TX

You tout Florida and Arizona as leaders as leaders in school choice and you are right. However, their education outcomes are way worse than Texas! I worked with Florida teachers and they said, first hand, that vouchers are really only for the rich and lower income children can not pay the difference. Way to go, Texas, try to spin it all you want. Currently, we parents, do have choice, but what we don't have is money. Support public schools and by all means raise teacher's wages!

Suzanne Gomez
TAFT
Houston, TX

Hello Legislators, I am a retired teacher that knows what it means to put a good amount of my paycheck into my classroom to give my students an equal and equitable level of resources and tools to learn, work, and achieve in life. Public Education doesn't deserve cutting, yet it is from the local, state and 50%+ at the federal level. The majority of Americans come from public schools, give them the same opportunity as those financially fortunate!

Kristy Bailey
Brownsboro Elementary School
Brownsboro, TX

I am a public school principal, and I am writing to express my concern with the Voucher Program being put forth in HB3. I have seen what the lack of funding has done to our school district. I am in a rural community, and the deficit has caused us to cut positions that we desperately need back for Behavior Support as well as the growing mental health crisis in today's students. In addition to this, our Special Education numbers are higher than ever. We need funding for the staff required to take care of these students and meet their needs. Our school district is the heartbeat of our community, and the closest private school is 20 miles away. If vouchers are the way forward let them stand alone and do not tie the funding needs of public school to the voucher program! The House and Senate have held on to money for the last six years instead of funding public schools and providing teacher raises - not Teacher Incentive Allotment checks but TRUE raises for ALL teachers without meeting a moving target. Please do what is right by over 5 million Texas children and fund public schools by using the money that is being set aside for a voucher plan! The future of the state of Texas requires that we do better for our public school teachers and students! A voucher bill is not the improvement we need. Listen to those in administration and on the front lines of a world that significantly changed after COVID! We need to do more for our students, and that can only be done through funding public education and saying NO TO VOUCHERS.

GINGER BURKHOLDER

self/self employed

Arlington, TX

NO to School vouchers! NO PUBLIC FUNDS FOR PRIVATE SCHOOLS! NO to any public money going to religious organizations or businesses. Vouchers are huge failures in the other places that have implemented them. School vouchers are a scam.

Sandra Zills

self

Manor, TX

Vouchers are harmful to public education in Texas because they divert critical funding away from already underfunded public schools, exacerbating inequities and reducing resources for students who rely on them the most. Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students, including those with disabilities, English language learners, and students from low-income families. Voucher programs primarily benefit private institutions that are not held to the same accountability standards, often lack transparency, and can discriminate in admissions. Instead of improving educational outcomes for all students, vouchers weaken the public education system by redirecting taxpayer dollars to private and religious schools, leaving many students with fewer opportunities and a lower quality of education. Strengthening public schools through better funding, teacher support, and equitable resources should be the priority for Texas lawmakers, not subsidizing private education at the expense of the public good.

Stacye Anderson

retired engineer, taxpayer

Houston, TX

Please vote against HB3! Sending tax dollars to private schools and homeschool parents with no standards to meet and no accountability is ripe with opportunities for fraud, will not help those in failing schools who cannot afford transportation to a private school and subsidizes parents who already send their kids to private school. This is NOT conservative! Thank you for receiving my comments.

Melinda Northcutt

Self

Porter, TX

Please do not vote for this bill. I don't agree with spending our taxpayer public money to benefit private institutions

Denise Berry

self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3 by Buckley. Data shows that about 60% of those using voucher like programs such as ESA were already enrolled in private schools, thus making this a program that gives money to the rich, while taking money from the remaining public schools. Without accountability, transparency and equity, I do not want my tax dollars, which are already stolen for recapture, going to rich families while children in poverty remains underfunded, unrepresented by our state leaders, and held accountable to developmentally inappropriate testing requirements (STAAR). This is not a parents' choice program as many students will be unable to afford the entire tuition, have access to transportation, or have disabilities or behavioral issues that make them unable to be accepted to these private schools. Texas should do better.

Micheal Harris

Self

Bedford, TX

I do not support ESAs, vouchers, or any other use of public funds for private education without the private entity being held to all of the same accountability and transparency requirements as public education.

Mark Pollack
Self - Office worker and Parent
Richardson, TX

I am submitting a comment that I Do NOT support Bill HB 3. As the parent of two public school students and a graduate of Texas public schools the effort to undermine the public school system is ridiculous and counter productive for every part of our state.

The ESA program is just a clever name for school vouchers which will decimate the already stretched public school budgets. Where does government leadership think the next generation of tax payers and workers in the state will come from and how educated will they be if public schooling is undercut in favor of ESAs (though I acknowledge that is likely the end goal of the governing party if the state).

My tax dollars should not go to cover the cost of private schooling for children. ESA programs are also a money grab for wealthy families who already send their kids to school and could likely afford to do so anyways. Low income students and certainly students with disabilities of any sort do not benefit from this program.

Remember that the weakening of the public school system will hurt rural areas the most and that school systems are the largest employers in most communities so cratering the budget of these institutions will be devastating for those communities.

Spending billions to create new programs is not conservative especially when Texas has a budget surplus and public schools are underfunded. It'll also raise tuition at private schools as they'll know this funding is available.

By advancing the bill you are making the choice to end effective public schooling in the state and shame on you for doing so.

John Heron
Self
Elmendorf, TX

Vehemently opposed to school vouchers

Perry Daniell
Wayside Middle School-EMSISD
Fort Worth, TX

Public education in Texas is under attack by wealthy individuals that want to offset their expenses for a private education. Just because I don't like the public park does not mean the government should pay for my country club fees. Public school teachers have suffered through years of assault on our schools by congress underfunding our schools. We press on but we need relief. Each year you expect us to do more with less. Public schools need a raise in the student allotment that has been the same since 2019 before COVID's 20% inflation. Private schools are not even held to the same standards or made to take the STAAR tests. Help teachers now, and please do not defer our funding to private institutions or home schools. Thank you.

Thomas Goranson
Self
Dallas, TX

Defunding our public schools to put money in the hands of private schools is a terrible idea. Do better.

Kelly Hankey
Self/attorney
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3!

Ellen Schmidt
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am against ESA/vouchers. Public schools in Texas have been severely underfunded for years and all this bill will do is take more funding away. Private schools can cherry pick their students, aren't required to support special education or learning disabilities, aren't required to take STAAR, and have questionable curriculum. Public funds should go to public schools.

Miriam Alfonzo
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vote NO! Private schools in my area are more than $30,000 a year per child. The vouchers only cover $10,000, leaving parents to pay $20,000 per child. Middle class parents would still be unable to pay this even with the voucher. The only families who could pay this are the wealthy class who already pay to have their children in private school. This is not a bill that will support our working and middle class families! The voucher program has failed in other states who've implemented it and it has also destroyed the public schools in those states. Fund our public schools!!

Carolyn Soroka
Self
Austin, TX

As a Texas public school educator and the proud mother of 2 children enrolled in Texas public school, one of whom receives special education services, I am strongly opposed to this bill. It would lead to irreparable consequences for our public education system, which is already in crisis, not to mention leading to a huge reduction in the capabilities of school districts to appropriately serve students with special education needs. A robust public education system is necessary to ensure that all Americans are well-educated in order to participate in a functioning democracy. I fear for the future of Texas and the future of America if this bill gets passed.

Cindy Easley
Self
Abilene, TX

Your Texas teachers say no to vouchers! Stop calling it school choice.

Sandra Kuehl
Self - Retired
Houston, TX

In a few words, ABSOLUTELY NOT...this program does nothing but steal public education funding so that your party can shove your FAUX christian values into the schools...My father always said if you want private schools pay for it yourself NOT with our tax dollars...and I feel the same way now...SHAME on your party if it continues to tow the FASCIST RACIST SEXIST line set up by the governor....

Susan Rodriguez, Mrs.

self/retired

Fredericksburg, TX

Texas does not need a school voucher program. We need to increase funding for our public schools and improve programs that are lacking so that we don't have to provide "vouchers" for people to seek out services in private schools, which can reject any student that they don't want to admit. Here are my concerns with vouchers:

1. Many rural areas have no private school available at all. These districts should not suffer by diversion of dollars to fund vouchers.
2. In other states that have tried a voucher program, very few low income people can use the vouchers, because of the money not being enough for tuition, or lack of schools in their area and lack of transportation. The program just becomes a handout for the rich who were already paying for private schools.
3. Separation of church and state is vital to our system of government. Our founding fathers came to the New World to be able to practice the religion that they wanted to. We don't have a "state religion" and no public dollars should be diverted to religious schools. If people want their kids to receive a religious education, then they can pay for it themselves.
4. Public schools are already in crisis due to lack of funding, which is causing teacher salaries to not stay competitive. We need to pay teachers like the professionals they are. Funding a voucher program will take away from this important initiative.
5. Some of the proposals being talked about have a higher per student funding amount for charter schools than for public schools. This is outrageous. We need to treat all students the same. Also the per student allotment for public schools is way too low and has not been adjusted for inflation. We should use budget surplus to rectify this problem for all students.
6. One of the things that makes America great is free, high quality public education. Vouchers are the beginning of the end for public schools.

Carol Soph, Ms

"Self" retired

Denton, TX

Public taxes should only pay for public schools.

Heidi Bray

Yourself

Austin, TX

Claims that Vouchers improve academic performance has been proven to be false. Other states have shown it has failed. We are 46 in the nation academically because you are holding funding hostage

Stephanie Chandler, MD

Self-pediatrician

San Antonio, TX

I am a general pediatrician in San Antonio, as well as the daughter of 2 parents that were public school teachers for 30 years. I attended public schools throughout my entire K-12 education, and I have 2 daughters that are both thriving in public schools. The population that I serve is primarily low income families, many of which have one or multiple children with special needs. These families depend on public schools to educate their children and provide the appropriate resources to address their unique needs. Children with special needs are able to receive speech and occupational therapy services at the school. These services are invaluable to parents who would not be able to provide these services to their children at home. Many of my families have one or no vehicle, and they rely on public schools to transport their children to and from school. These families also rely on public schools to provide a well balanced breakfast and lunch for their children every school day. From a personal view, I have a daughter who has ADHD, has been identified as gifted and talented, and has a disorder of written expression. Her public elementary school provides her with services for ALL of these special needs to help her reach her greatest potential. I know that private schools are not required to provide special education services, meals , or transportation. This makes education at a private school impossible for many families, even if they had a voucher to cover the tuition. I understand that the public school system is not perfect, but the hard working teachers and staff at public schools do as much as they can with the resources that they have. Decreasing funding of public schools to provide vouchers for private schools is not the answer. This will only hurt the families that rely on public schools to provide their children with a high quality and free education. Therefore, I urge you to vote NO on House Bill 3.

Judith Quander

Self

Sugar Land, TX

In my district, our public schools are the bedrock of our communities. They are important to how we develop and maintain friendships, how we create villages to support our children, and why we purchase our houses. Our public schools will suffer and the people are pushing this bill do not understand the importance of public schools to communities because they send their kids to private schools. High school football games define our falls with families coming to support neighbors. This bill will decimate this spirit. This bill is anti American and I am so surprised that a party that is built on traditional values would support something that undermines communities, neighborhoods, and the longstanding role of public schools in our neighborhoods.

Holly Attick

Texas resident and mom

Leander, TX

Please vote no to this. While parent choice is a good thing it should not be at the expense of our public schools and the 504 and other programs that they provide that private schools do not. We started my son in a private Christian school, but had to leave because he needed a 504 due to ADHD. He is thriving and making excellent grades and becoming a Boy Scout working on Eagle Scout and joining ROTC and band in high school. Without the programs that we received and the assistance in public schools, my son would've fallen behind. Had he been left in private school?

Theresa Briseno

self

Cedar Park, TX

Hi, my name is Theresa Briseno, and I live in Cedar Park, Texas. I'm writing today because I want my legislators in the state of Texas to stop pursuing Educational Savings Accounts (ESA) and I want them to instead focus on FUNDING Public Education. Public money should go to public schools which serve 5.4 million Texas Students. Thank you for your time.

Wendy Kalthoff

Not Employed

Austin, TX

I am against vouchers. We need to put our money into public schools.

Sincerely,

Wendy Kalthoff

Lynn Cipriano

AISD

Austin, TX

“Texans clearly do not want vouchers- voters on both sides of the aisle know it’s a bad deal. Our public schools face many challenges, but with fully restored funding, they can meet those challenges and educate our Texas kids to their potential. Please vote to FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS and VOTE NO on any voucher/ ESA bill. I vote and this matters to me. Thank You! Lynn Cipriano

Georgia Wheat

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose Texas school vouchers. I want my public funding in public schools.

Valerie Sandham

Retired

Georgetown, TX

Please vote against vouchers. Vouchers hurt neighborhood schools and rural communities. Vouchers hurt neighborhood schools and rural communities. Vouchers give money to people who can already afford to send the children to private schools.

Holly Morgan

self/professional high school registrar

Dayton, TX

I am adamantly opposed to ESAs for Texas Students. Studies and examples in other states have shown that they don't "work" as intended and mostly subsidize private school enrollment for those who already pay for private school. If you want to fix Texas school, then adequately fund Texas schools. Don't work to find ways to privatize education and funnel money away from areas that need help.

Vanessa Zertuche

Self, parent, former PTO President, and district volunteer in Coppell ISD

Irving, TX

As a conservative taxpayer, I am stating my strong opposition to house bill 3. Texans do not want ESAs. ESAs will ultimately divert funds from public schools where the majority of Texas children are educated, and they will not give choice to Texas families who cannot already afford private schools. ESAs will divert public taxpayer dollars to private entities that are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. This creates an astronomical lack of transparency. Diversion of funds away from public schools to private schools will force public schools to make further cuts to critical programs and personnel. This will in turn harm our great state’s ability to abide by the Texas constitutional requirement of providing a free public education to the children of Texas.

Nathaniel Harris

Self

Mansfield, TX

This will do nothing to help children or improve schools. There has been no positive impact in any state that has done this and it has done is lead to a ballooning budget and money going to those who already have it. This will harm students , schools and the TRS retirement that teachers have. Been paying into for their whole career. We should instead actually fund our public schools, eliminate the graft that is the current state mandated end of course test system. This was just rejected by voters in Tarrant County and should be put up for all citizens to vote on if the supports are so sure of the public's desire for this bill.

Ann Johnston, Retired public school teacher

Self

Arlington, TX

I am a retired public school teacher in Texas and I oppose vouchers. They do not allow for a fair and equal education for all our school children. The people in rural Texas do not have private schools to go to. The people in big cities may not be able to make up the difference between what a voucher gives them and what it actually costs to go to a private school. This is a scam by Governor Abbott and is a terrible idea for our children. I appeal to your willingness to educate our children the best way we can. Vouchers is NOT the way.

Emily Klarin

Cypress Fairbanks ISD

Houston, TX

I am strongly against school vouchers.

Sarah Negovetich

Self: Non-Profit Development Director

San Angelo, TX

If I'm unsatisfied with the level of security that the local police provide to me, the state will not supply me with private security officers. If I feel that the selection of books available in my public library is lacking, the state will not purchase books of my choosing for me. If my kids don't like the amenities at the local city park, the state will not buy us a swing set for our backyard or pay for a membership to the country club. There are dozens of public access facilities and services that we all either utilize or pay privately for and education shouldn't be any different. A well-educated population is essential for all of us and this program strips away vital dollars from the public education system, leaving it ill-equipped to prepare the next generation. Not to mention the fact that this bill, once again, leaves out rural communities who don't even have a private school to choose.

This bill is being touted as a way to even the field and allow parents more control over their children's education, something they already have through private education and some of the most laxed homeschooling laws in the nation. The reality is this bill is just another way to move dollars into the hands of wealthy donors.

I realize that my comments won't be enough to convince you to put your conscience before your pocketbook. And sadly, history tells us that white men are inclined to ignore the warnings of educated women and then play ignorant with the shit hits the proverbial fan. When our public school systems start crumbling under the weight of doing more with less, you will easily blame lazy teachers and inept school boards and gleefully pull them under state control. Shame on you for catering to the desires of a few over the needs of the many. In Texas, we are supposed to take care of each other, but this legislature seems hell-bent on securing their re-election on the backs of the hardest working Texans out there.

Joe Palmer

Family

Temple, TX

Rep Buckley,

I am sure that you are aware of the property tax exemption provided to our disabled veterans. As a teacher, coach and administrator at both the campus and district level for 40 years, I think the same tax break should be offered to private and homeschool parents. If their child(ren) are not electing to attend the public school simply exempt them from local school taxes that year. Application would be made annually through the tax office.

Ross Schumann

Self

Humble, TX

I am writing in support of HB3.

Texas has long seen its rural and inner city families be subjected to lack of quality educational opportunities. This harms our ability to train the next generation for the jobs we need. This deprives our children of the ability to become sufficient, successful adults and cements systems of poverty and increases the likelihood of incarceration.

It is past time we allow Texas parents to be in charge of their children's education. We need to empower parents to support their families and make decisions about their children's future regardless of what zip code they can afford to live in.

For too long we have been asked to be patient while our public school systems get reformed. It is clear that there is no reform for the public school system as it is a system designed to fail. Despite massive increases in funding, public schools continue to underperform and leave our children without proper education.

Please, ensure that the future of our state is in good hands by passing HB3 and empowering parents to make better decisions about their children's education.

MARGARET CUMMINGS

self, retired, Environmental Compliance

GALVESTON, TX

SB2 HB 3 Please ensure equal quality of education for Public Schools and Charter Schools. Accreditation should be the same. Please do not bring back segregation of economic groups to the schools.

Dr. Virginia Rondero Hernandez

Self, Retired

San Antonio, TX

Do not make the same mistake as the Pharisees in the Trump administration who tricked us and plan give to the well-off at the sacrifice of those of lesser means. Remember what Jesus Christ told us in Luke 11:39-42:

Then the Lord said to him, 'Now you Pharisees clean the outside of the cup and of the dish, but inside you are full of greed and wickedness. You fools! Did not the one who made the outside make the inside also? So give for alms those things that are within; and see, everything will be clean for you. But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and herbs of all kinds, and neglect justice and the love of God.'

Kathleen Cates

Self

McKinney, TX

Do not vote for this bill. Instead you should fund the public schools. You will destroy public schools if the vouchers are passed. Only private school parents who already have children in private schools will benefit from this bill. Stand up and help the children who attend public schools.?

Judith Harman
Self, retired
Fort Worth, TX

Dear Public Education Committee Members,

I wish to express my strong opposition to HB 3 and any legislation which brings universal vouchers to Texas. This state - and this country - became global economic leaders BECAUSE of its universal public school system. Voucher programs in other states no NOT have positive economic or educational track records. The voucher program will not serve the needs of the majority of Texas children or Texas families and will not bring long term economic benefits to Texas.

Texas children deserve schools that teach ALL children, provide appropriate educational programs for special needs, have accredited teachers, and measure the educational progress of its students. Using tax dollars for anything else is irresponsible.

Please make a big investment in TEXAS PUBLIC SCHOOLS rather than spending our money on unproven products. Make Texas schools the top in the nation. Make us Texas proud.

Sincerely,
Judith Harman
2222 Winton Terrace East
Fort Worth, TX 76109
817-690-8201

Colleen Meyer
Self
Garland, TX

Dear Members of the House Committee,

I am strongly apposed to HB 3, establishing education savings accounts. The Texas legislature should focus on funding and improving education for ALL Texas children, not just those who can afford to pay for private education, or even the difference for what this bill would not cover. Public tax dollars should be used exclusively for the public. I am an active Christian, but I don't believe religious institutions should be subsidized by public funds either.

I was born in Texas and have lived here my whole life. I was educated in Texas public schools, as was my daughter. We had our challenges, but were still able to get a very good education. If you would simply properly fund public education, as is your mandate, people would not need to look for expensive private alternatives.

Thank you for doing the hard work. I hope you ultimately make ALL children in Texas your priority.

Respectfully,
Colleen Meyer

Rachel Lerberg
Self
ARLINGTON, TX

I would like to register the strongest possible opposition to HB3. This bill steals money from public schools, which support all children from all walks of life, and funnels it to a small percentage of wealthy children and families. This bill is representative of the Texas governor's shameful ongoing attempts to weaken our public schools. Parents, students, teachers and community members across my home city of Arlington have been raising our voices as loudly as possible to oppose this measure, but the governor and legislators who have signaled their support are not listening. It is now up to the House to hold the line and refuse to steal from public school kids to create welfare for the wealthy. Vote no on HB3. We are all watching this vote, and we will remember and publicize your actions.

Melissa Cobb
Self
Stephenville, TX

Please do not allow this bill to fail! As a parent of 5 children, two who have either completed or are about to complete their education, one who is currently homeschooled, and two that will be entering school age soon, I need options outside the traditional school setting. I have seen the school system fail two of my children already, and had I been given an affordable second option, I would have quickly taken it. Our kids deserve to not be in a cookie cutter environment where individual needs are ignored and struggles in skills are simply passed along. My daughter managed to graduate without being able to make change for $1, which she attested to in her last ARD, thanks to the No Child Left Behind and the failure of the school district to address my repeated concerns. As parents, we deserve and need options. Parents do know what's best for their children, not government employees, bureaucrats, lobbyists, and teacher unions running scared of losing their gravy train. We educated our kids and had the highest literacy rate in the world prior to the introduction of the current education system. We need our kids to stop being a part of "The Great Social Experiment." We need to stop teaching to tests and teach to creativity, self-exploration, ingenuity, and the ability to critical think and use common sense. We have totally lost that in the current education system. As the child of two lifelong public school teachers, I have seen to degradation of our school system since the '80s when I started school. It is time to return control to the parents, the one's that best understand the needs of the children today. Thank you for taking the time to read and hear a voter's voice.

Hunter Reynolds
Self/Law Student
Willow Park, TX

To the committee, HB 3 is a dangerous first step towards privatization of our public schools. That endgame does not align with Article 7, Section 1 of the Texas Constitution. Who is the Legislature looking to appease with this bill? Many Texans filled your townhalls, your social media, and these public comment sections to let you know that we are anti-voucher and pro-public education. Billionaires from other states have sent their army of lobbyists and social media warriors to fight for these vouchers, yet when confronted with real questions about how the program will work, these agents have no substantive response. State leaders have been dancing a little sidestep every step of the way. No one in office seems to want to have a real conversation, dare I say debate, about this issue. They walk out when the heat gets too hot. This bill will create a huge multi-billion-dollar program, an entitlement program for the wealthy. Data from other states show that the majority of school vouchers go to families who already send their kids to private schools. This is wrong for Texas. I understand the desire to help kids with special needs. So why are we not prioritizing the public school system that must take all students, no matter their abilities? Private schools can and do discriminate through their admissions process, which it appears will be left untouched by this bill. The argument that new private schools will "pop up" to meet the demand speaks for itself. Are "pop up schools" really good for children? The data suggests "pop up schools" do more harm than good. Article 1, Section 7 of the Texas Constitution does not allow appropriation of state money or resources to go towards religious organizations. This bill would do just that. And then, if the state decides to ignore this constitutional provision, the taxpayers would be obligated to pay for the religious education of other kids, any religion. Make sure you consider what that means. And rural Texas children will be left out. Rural schools will be hurt. Our conservative small towns need the state's support. Vouchers will not help rural Texas. I urge the committee and the respectable Representatives to vote against HB 3. Reject Education Savings Accounts. This may be the most significant vote in your career, because this is about the future of Texas and the "continuance of civil liberty."

Mary Vines
Self
Lubbock, TX

I do not support public funding for private schools that are not under the supervision of publicly elected official, are able to pick and choose who is admitted, and are not held accountable to set standards. These funds should go to support public schools and raise public school teacher salaries.

Elizabeth Gorman

Rise school

Dallas, TX

No to HB 3.

Patrick Horalek

Self

ARLINGTON, TX

I fully support vouchers and school choice. 100% In favor of vouchers, without question or hesitation.

Michelle Williams

Self, Real Estate Advisor

Frisco, TX

No

Karen Lopez, Mrs

Self

Fort Worth, TX

vote AGAINST school vouchers.

Elena Kotrla

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

Denis Thompson, Mr.

myself

Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3. I disagree with Republican elected officials who are working to destroy public schools by intentionally under-funding public schools. Please do not take money away from my daughter's school via this "vouchers-for-private schools" scheme.

Joe Cardenas

Texas HOPE

Louise, TX

Public tax money should never go to private ventures such as private schools or charter schools that divert funds away from brick and mortar public schools. School choice already exists in Texas and doesn't need further experimentation that defunds the majority of Texas' students who reside in countries that are primarily rural and where no private schools exist. Voucher schemes in other states have been a failure for the vast majority of students except those that already attend private schools that cherry-pick students. The voucher agenda is a diversion from the real issue of fully funded public brick and mortar public schools and certified teachers- end the political baiting and fund public schools!

Becky Ewart

Self

Bedford, TX

Clearly this is an issue that is very controversal and one that a few people in Austin do not need to decide. Put this in a ballot and let the people vote. This is fair to all. This large sum and the future money that this entails should not be given with out the vote of the people. If the federal government is resolving the office of public ed and sending it back to states then let people vote!

EM Branagh

self/retired

Austin, TX

By all measures, it would require $24B to get schools to their 2019 spending levels. So while the state touts an increase in the amount it has spent on public schools, this has only been to fulfill their obligation to hold the absolute $s spent on education whole i.e. to back fill cuts caused by the state's cut of property taxes. If as they claim, Republicans are interested in improving education in Texas, redirect this wasteful spending on vouchers to our public schools. Make TX public schools the envy of the US - move us from 29th in the US to #1.

On a personal note, I am not interested in funding by neighbor's decision to send their child to a private school. The state does not give me $ to hire my own police force because I don't like the Texas State Police Force i.e. we don't pick and choose what we will and won't pay for and get a rebate on our taxes for those choices. I strongly urge you to vote against this bill and instead I would like to see these things:

the Basic allotment tied to inflation indexes to Gov Abbott cannot hold it hostage anymore

The basic allotment become enrollment-based vs. attendance based

Full funding to make up for 6 years of missing funding

Again, Vote NO on the Voucher Scam.

Thank you.

Hollyann Wood

self, parent, student, artist

AUSTIN, TX

I urge you to oppose HB 3 and fully fund Texas public schools. This bill diverts taxpayer dollars from our public schools, which educate over 90% of Texas students, to private institutions with little accountability. Our schools are already facing teacher shortages, rising student needs, and are being forced to cut programs, increase class sizes, and limit services due to not being fully funded and having to make do with less and less every year. Public school investment has not kept up with inflation.

Private schools are not required to serve all students, follow state curriculum standards, provide performance data, or maintain financial oversight. If public money is being spent, there must be transparency. HB 3 lacks accountability.

While promoted as a "school choice," HB 3 benefits only a small group of families. Vouchers do not fully cover private school tuition, leaving many working-class and rural families unable to access private schools: IF there are even private schools near them. Meanwhile, our public schools who are required to serve any and all of our Texas students will be forced to do more with less.

Folks claim that we live in a meritocracy and think that means talent and effort alone, but there are additional components to what we think of as merit. They are: investment and opportunity.

We undermine our state's future when we underfund our public schools. We must invest in all of our students, our public schools, and our teachers. If we raise the amount of money per student that our public schools get to the amount that the state is proposing to give to private and homeschooled children, our public schools could surpass even the best private schools in performance.

If we use state funding to provide more opportunities in our public schools, we can give our children, our state's future, the life experiences and connections that make up the fourth leg of merit. They can meet and connect with more leaders, they can explore more career opportunities. They can be challenged with more interesting projects, field trips, and classroom resources. What starts in Texas could change the world, but only if we give all of our students those opportunities, if we find the diamonds in the rough and invest in them and give them opportunities.

This state used to raise presidents. Now, we're in a race to the bottom of national achievement due to cuts in public school funding. This must change. Vouchers will just take us to the bottom faster: we can see that in every single state that has implemented them.

Strong public schools help create strong communities. When schools suffer, property values decline, businesses struggle, and workforce development weakens. Texans of every stripe have consistently rejected voucher schemes, recognizing that public funds should support schools that serve all students. Being anti-voucher is a non-partisan issue.

I appreciate your time and efforts to protect Texas public education from this voucher scam.

Shawn Brossart

self

Austin, TX

I am writing to express my opposition to HB 3. This bill is putting more money in the hands of people that already have enough for public school - this has played out CONSISTENTLY in other states where vouchers were permitted. Our household wants fully funded public education. Our school system already struggled enough - it should not be crippled further by this bill. We have lived in 4 other states and the education system is by far the worst of any other state we have lived in. Please do not cripple it even further with this bill.

Cathleen Pittman

Self

Katy, TX

Establishing an ESA is not serving all students in Texas. Please fully fund our public schools, increase the basic allotment, adjust for inflation and support the 5.5 million students in Texas.

Elizabeth Sosa

Self

Kerrville, TX

I oppose HB 3

Rachel Pluebell

Self - bank

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3/SB2. It is not in the best interest of Texas schoolchildren.

Julia Phillips

Self

Arlington, TX

This bill needs to be rejected! As a 30+ year public school teacher, it will not serve the students who need it the most! Low income families and families with special needs children will not benefit from this. Rural school districts that have no private school options will be hurt by this financially. We have do many charter and academy school options, we already have school choice! Why is the proposed voucher amount thousands more than the state funding for each public school student? Will the voucher money be decreased based on a students attendance like in public school? Our public school teachers need your support, not this bill that will likely lead to bigger class sizes, budget cuts and schools having to close or consolidate.

Magdalena Ruiz

Self

Houston, TX

Vote no.

Reason 1.

There are already 350,000 private school students and 539,000 homeschoolers. These students will most likely apply for vouchers on top of our 5 million public school students.

These vouchers really aren't what our PUBLIC tax dollars are for which is for PUBLIC schools.

Spending $1,000,000,000 to help about 100,000 students will hurt our public schools.

We have over 5 million public school students.

Reason 2. Public schools WILL lose funding. Not may lose funding. Will lose funding.

Reason 3. Private schools don't have to follow state curriculum requirements, administer standardized tests, or publicly report student performance.

Reason 4. Many rural areas in Texas don't have private school options.

Reason 5. Using taxpayer money to fund religious education raises constitutional and ethical concerns.

Our public schools are already going to lose funding by the loss of federal funding. This is going to be detrimental if it is passed.

Kathie Herrick

self

kyle, TX

On behalf of a proud family of two generations of public educators and students who attended public schools, I urge you to vote NO on the "education savings account" bill aka voucher bill.

Public education is the lifeblood of a democracy. Public schools are open to ALL and as such we learn to interact with others different than ourselves. A quality we are in need of today more than ever.

The modus operandi of those advocating for vouchers is to "break it" by underfunding public schools and then propose the only way to fix it is to support privatization allowing selectively choosing their school population.

We need to fully fund public schools and value public school teachers!

Crystal Brewster

Self

Austin, TX

This bill will destroy teachers and children and it will be on you

Carolyn Mabarak

Self

Georgetown, TX

Please vote no for school vouchers. Our state needs to fund public schools and not anything else. Our students are depending on you and only you can make this happen. Vouchers will never help the students of Texas.

Sincerely, Carolyn Mabarak

Theresa Ehninger

Self

Katy, TX

I am for school choice.

Shelby Aaron

Self, Operations Manager

Pflugerville, TX

Please vote NO on school vouchers. These vouchers will further the disparities for our public schools and only widen the learning gap between those children who attend public schools and children who already go to private or charter schools. Unless there is a clause preventing these vouchers from going to ANY children who already attend charter or private schools (which there is not), this will only help children who are more fortunate. Our public schools need more funding; I do not want my taxes going to this program.

Jan Knox

Self

San Marcos, TX

I am very opposed to school vouchers. Public education is negatively impacted and ability to access private schools is very limited for poor and rural students. Also does not provide enough to allow any but wealthy to truly benefit. They do not need it.

Trudy Jaloway, Retired mom and grandmother

Self

Austin, TX

I am against passing school vouchers. Governor Abbott has been pushing school vouchers because it helps wealthy individual that send their kids to private schools. These parents can afford to send kids to private schools and do not need money that is meant for public schools. It is those parents decision to send their kids to private schools and it is wrong and to steal money from public schools and give to private schools. I am also upset about this being passed because it hurts out special need kids. Private schools do not have to accept them as students.

Gov Abbott wife is on a private school board so I consider this a conflict of interest on Abbotts part. Gov Abbott wants his wife's school to enrich itself.

Lastly people of a certain income can not afford the extra money they will still have to pay . Gov Abbott has not been giving the correct amount of money to public schools. Why not? Because he wants them to fail. Do not pass school vouchers.

Kenneth Macpherson, Mr.
Galveston County Voting Precinct 276
Galveston, TX

Vote No on House Bill 3

Diverting public money to private schools is a terrible idea.

The 76 supporters of the bill are Republicans.

The controversial program, also called "school choice," would use public money to pay for children's private school tuition.

Democratic senators criticized the proposal for defining low-income as 500% of the poverty line.

Teachers' unions and public school supporters have been lobbying lawmakers against vouchers, saying such a program would drain resources away from their already struggling public schools, which receive state funding based on student attendance. State budget officials recently concluded in their analysis of the Senate voucher proposal that public schools may see their funding decline due to students leaving the public education system to participate in the voucher program.

The House and Senate align on some aspects of their respective voucher proposals — like opening eligibility to virtually any school-aged child and not requiring private schools to administer the state's standardized test — but they differ in key areas, signaling the battles that could dominate the next few months as lawmakers try to agree on the program's final structure. Neither bill requires private schools to accept students who do not meet their standards. Nor do they require private schools to follow federal and state laws ensuring students with disabilities receive proper evaluations and learning accommodations.

Talarico blasted the decision not to put an income cap on who can apply for education savings accounts, saying it could give taxpayer money to wealthy people who could already afford to send their children to private schools. Many of the children who benefit from the voucher programs in other states come from wealthier families whose children had already attended private schools.

"We asked Chairman Buckley for a cap on income, making sure that millionaires and billionaires can't raid our public budgets," he said in a news conference. "That has not appeared in the bill. We look forward to fighting on all of these measures as the bill goes through committee and on the floor and exposing this scam for what it is."

Rebekah Olsen
Self, stay at home mom
Austin, TX

I ask you to vote NO on HB3 until public school allotment is increased to $10,000 per student. We do not need to give coupons to our wealthiest residents. Help public school children!

Rachel Rahm

Self

Spring, TX

Dear representative, I would like to ask that you oppose HB 3. As a child growing up in public schools in Carrollton, Texas, I experienced first hand just how wonderful the public school systems in Texas are. From early on I was taught by public schools teachers that cared for me as a student and individual. Teachers that celebrated my achievements and helped me grow from and achieve greater things from my shortcomings. I was exposed to diversity through the public schools students I walked the halls alongside, students that came from all socio-economic backgrounds. I had access to programs like the bio-medical academy at R.L.Turner High School which projected my collegiate and professional career to what it is today. Public schools gave me this and so much more.

Now, as a parent raising my two small children in Texas, one a first grader in a Texas public school, I fear that this bill will directly, and negatively, impact the experiences my children have in school.

My husband and I are hard-working, upper-middle class Texans working day in and day out to provide our children with more than what we had growing up. We feel proud to send our children to public schools, but fear we will have no choice should this bill pass, than to send our children to a private school. A private school that would limit my children's individuality because a private school can choose what types of students they accept or reject. A school that would limit my children's exposure to diversity because a private school can reject a child because of their religious or financial background and/or academic abilities. I fear that if this bill passes, my children will receive limited resources and support at their public schools because the schools will lose students and funding respectively. I implore you to say no to HB 3 and the limits that it will place on not just my children, but all of our state's children.

I fear I will not be able to give my children the same or better childhood I was given just simply because I will lose the choice to send my kids to public schools directly due to the voucher program. Please, I urge you, say no and allow Texas parent's like myself to give my kids the school experience we choose to give our children.

J Giese

self

Denton, TX

I oppose ESA's, vouchers, or any other means to use public funds for private education.

Rather than catering to a privileged few, the Governor should focus on creating the conditions for a strong Texas economy.

What's needed is the full funding of Texas public schools to provide the resources to prepare our 90+% of students to become productive workers and citizens in the future.

ESA's/vouchers would do nothing to grow the Texas economy. They would not encourage investment in Texas. New businesses and employees who would spend money on goods and services, pay taxes and other economic activities are needed if progress and growth are to come to communities across Texas.

It's a very "rainy day" across the state for public school districts. It's time for all in the Texas legislature to step up and use those funds to do what's best for our students and what is best for Texas' future.

Virginia Burgan
Self; Homemaker
Frisco, TX

This bill is not about 'school choice'; it's about schools choosing which students they want to serve. This legislation creates a two-tiered system:

- For the wealthy: It offers a taxpayer-funded discount on private school tuition, a benefit they hardly need.
- For the vast majority of Texans, especially those in rural areas: It offers nothing. In counties where private schools are nonexistent, this bill simply diverts vital public school funding, further disadvantaging students who already lack resources.

This program isn't about expanding opportunity; it's about exacerbating existing inequities. Private schools often lack the same accountability and transparency as public schools. They can cherry-pick students, exclude those with disabilities, and operate without the same rigorous standards. This undermines the very purpose of public education: to provide a quality education for every child.

Let's be clear: this is not 'school reform,' it's 'welfare for the wealthy.' It takes from the struggling public system and gives to those who already have more.

Prioritize the education of all our children, not just a privileged few.

Christina Sudderth
self
AUSTIN, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Kate Reed Hauenstein, Teacher
Self
Cedar Park, TX

Please do not let this bill pass out of committee. I have been a public schoolteacher for 17 years in Texas, and my district is already seeing the negative effects that lack of funding for public education can do. My campus alone had to cut 14 teachers for next year, which means fewer programs for students and bigger classes for the rest of us. Most significantly to me, the district cut the IB Programme, in which I have taught for 15 years, and which both my children are part of. This tragedy will only get worse if funds are further reduced by vouchers, which will further reduce the resources public schools get, to the benefit of private schools that don't have the same obligations or regulations. Please support public education and do not pass HB 3!

Sharon Blythe
Self
Austin, TX
Opposed

Julie Tolle
All educated Texans
Denton, TX

If you are truly listening to your constituents, you know that almost NO ONE is in favor of the education savings account. We will be watching how you vote and will base our election choice on it in the future election.

Trenicia Williams

Self

Plano, TX

I am against this bill and believe that funding should be used for ongoing management and enhancement of our public schools!

Sam Klarin

Self

Houston, TX

I strongly oppose as these vouchers are a misuse of tax payer dollars. Nothing more than a handout to the wealthy while further marginalizing the hard working poor citizens of the community. Wealthy folks have every right to send their children to private school, my hard earned dollars should not go to something that only benefits a select few who already live privileged lifestyle. This is wrong on multiple levels and feels like a slimey political move. Please do your jobs and protect your constituents rather than cozying up to wealthy power seekers.

Jesse Miller

Self entrepreneur

Houston, TX

No vouchers

Monica Chattman

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Please fully fund our education system. We need to at least increase at the rate of inflation! Please do the right thing for the children of Texas! I am begging you to do the right thing.

Linda Maldonado

Self/Retired

San Antonio, TX

As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair.

Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Public schools in Texas are underfunded by billions of dollars every year. The Comptroller is projecting a large increase in state revenue over the next two years compared to the past two years, and that money should go to fully funding public education.

Private schools pick and choose which students to admit. Vouchers force taxpayers to subsidize private schools' preferences. And without elected boards or state oversight, vouchers give away tax dollars with no financial or academic accountability.

Public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students, serving all the students in their boundaries. They build the workforce that powers the Texas economy. We can't afford to underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

We elect legislators to represent the interests of their communities. Responding to their communities, Texas legislators have rejected private school subsidies time after time.

In the face of increasing pressure from special interests, I pledge that I will stand with my legislators in opposing vouchers. When they vote against private school subsidies, I will make sure all their constituents know they did the right thing.

Lisa Sauer
Self
Houston, TX

If the voucher bill is passed it will be the beginning of the end of public schools leaving most voters in the state, who do not have the ability to pay for private school even with a voucher, with diminished opportunities for their children to receive quality education. There are voters who believe in public schools and don't want to send their children to private schools with or without a voucher and in many rural areas there are no private schools to send their children to and vouchers will negatively impact the TRS retirement system. All of this to make more money for corporate cronies of Greg Abbott??!! If vouchers pass, the voters of Texas will remember the names of their representatives who supported the bill.

Rochelle Ran
Self, parent and teacher
Garland, TX

Vote no on HB 3! I am a Texas parent and a Texas special education teacher at a title 1 school. I am very concerned that house bill 3 will negatively impact my coworkers and students. HB 3 is a voucher scam for wealthy families to get a discount on private school. The average Texan, a parent like me, does not benefit. Our public schools are already struggling. Say no to billionaire influence and do what is right by your constituents. This is not the answer!

Renee Hebert
Self retired
Kountze, TX

Vote NO. When Bush was governor this was a thing I supported.
This HB3 should not be passed. It will greatly impact my grandchildrens public school funding.
Vote NO.

Brittany Thomas
Lewisville ISD
Lewisville, TX

I am urging the house to OPPOSE HB3 as it will destroy education as we know it. It will ruin teacher retirement. Education is the backbone to society and you are trying to ruin it with this bill. You are creating segregation in schools- the haves and the have nots. In public school we take any and all.

Peter Rodrigues
Self - Retired
Austin, TX

The purpose of public schools is to provide an education for all children born in the United States. Anything that detracts from public schools harms the children of the United States. Charter schools, and the education savings account program that will support them, fall into that category. Charter schools don't guarantee to educate all our children. But they do guarantee to take money away from the public school system that does. In Texas, where a large percentage of public schools are already underfunded, that could have a huge negative impact. If anything, Texas should be putting more money and resources into public education, not taking them away. I urge you, if you truly value education, to vote against HB 3.

Michelle Lunday

Self - community member

Trophy Club, TX

As a parent of a student that has received special education students but is currently not enrolled in public school, I do not support ESAs. If properly funded and supported, students needs could be met in the public school system. If the weighted allotment was at a higher amount and special education multipliers were appropriate to meet the needs of the student, then we could hire, train and retain special education teachers, paraprofessionals, and support staff (therapists, reading specialists, interventionist).

We are a family that has done public school, private school and now homeschool. The ESA provider would not come near covering what our private school tuition was or the expenses with choosing that option or 4 hours in the car a day going from Trophy Club to Dallas and back twice a day, gas, maintenance, tolls, and our time. We were lucky though because we could do it both the time and financially, and we also had an option of a place to go. Students outside of the major metroplexes don't have these options.

I strongly urge you to vote no on ESAs and not move them forward.

Douglas Burns

Self

Richmond, TX

This is basically a subsidy for rich people to send their kids to private school. This is the antithesis of providing quality educational resources for the students and families that need it the most.

Maiko Rocha

Self / Software Engineering Manager

Austin, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House Committee on Education,

I am writing to express my deep concern regarding the ongoing financial crisis facing Austin ISD and school districts across Texas due to the state's failure to increase the Basic Allotment since 2019. The consequences of this funding shortfall are dire, and without immediate and substantial action, our students, teachers, and communities will suffer irreparable harm.

Austin ISD alone is facing a $110 million budget deficit for the upcoming year. This deficit is forcing district leaders to consider drastic cost-cutting measures, including closing schools, reducing special programs in elementary schools, cutting secondary teacher planning periods, and decreasing essential school staffing. These potential changes would have devastating impacts on students' learning experiences and teachers' ability to provide quality education.

The root of this crisis is clear: the state's Basic Allotment has remained stagnant at $6,160 per student since 2019, despite soaring inflation and a historic state budget surplus. In real terms, this means Texas public schools have been receiving less funding per student every year, making it increasingly difficult for districts to maintain competitive teacher salaries, invest in student support programs, and provide high-quality educational resources.

The Texas House Committee on Education is currently considering a $220 per-student increase to the Basic Allotment, but this amount is woefully inadequate. In order to simply restore funding to 2019 levels adjusted for inflation, schools need at least a $1,340 per-student increase. Anything less than this fails to address the severe underfunding that has occurred over the past five years and will continue to leave Texas students behind.

Texas prides itself on being a leader in economic growth and innovation, yet our public education system is being forced to operate on outdated and insufficient funding. We must prioritize investment in our children's future. Schools need adequate resources to hire and retain qualified teachers, provide essential academic and mental health support, and ensure students have access to the tools they need to succeed in an increasingly competitive world.

The state has the means to act. With a budget surplus exceeding $32 billion, there is no financial justification for underfunding our schools. The choice before you is clear: invest in our students and the future of Texas, or allow continued neglect that will result in teacher shortages, overcrowded classrooms, and declining student outcomes.

I urge you to support a significant increase in the Basic Allotment, meeting or exceeding the $1,340 per-student threshold needed to restore adequate funding. Please do not let another legislative session pass without addressing this critical issue. Texas students, families, and educators are counting on you to do the right thing.

Tessa Pernoud, Mrs.

Self

Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Tessa Pernoud, I am a parent in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs. These includes:

Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

John Alexander

Self

Fort worth, TX

We need a bigger increase in school funding than the $220 per student proposed. Inflation has gone through the roof over the last 6 years and the school funding should be increased proportionally. I don't understand why our elected officials in Austin hate public education... how is an uneducated or poorly educated population good for the future of texas. Shame on you if you don't support better funding for our schools

Carol Caron
Self/parent
Willow Park, TX

I am for school choice, vouchers, etc. It's time, please pass something that will enable parents to choose what is best for their child. Personally I have a child with Down Syndrome at Aledo ISD. It's been a tough year since we found out that the school does not believe my child should be able to have access to the general education curriculum. They have lied to me about what is going on and provided inappropriate work with no real plan for teaching my child. Despite an IEP with reference to general education work and spending 30 minutes in each subject area in the general education class my child has been denied access to those lessons this year. The school has denied my requests to even get the lesson plans to review with my child at home. I have had to use the public information act to obtain records that the school should have been able to provide to me (work samples and data tracking). I have also found evidence that the district assumed my child could not learn and pushed us to a different school outside of our zoned school in order to house her in 'alternate' curriculum. Despite my protests at ARD meetings the school refuses to consider any other options and I am starting to realize I'm fighting for something this district does not provide. The entire district does not mainstream kids with Down syndrome even though IDEA and ESSA say they should. The district complains about budget shortfalls but have paid thousands of dollars to their attorney to be in my meetings (I am unrepresented). The district has also admitted that they do ZERO training for staff about Down syndrome or the learning profiles or teaching strategies that work. In my situation with a rural district I have very limited choices since private schools will normally not accept children with Down syndrome and so far there are no charters here. I am currently paying out of pocket for reading and math interventions which are very costly since the school will not provide anything. A year ago I would have balked at any bill with the addition of money for 'homeschooling' thinking that parents would just take that money and then 'unschool' their kids. Now I'm on the other side and feel like I need some sort of relief to either put my child in a more appropriate school who believes my child can learn or to teach her on my own and use outside providers to fill the gaps. The public school situation is broken and I don't even know what school I can trust to do the right thing for my child. Please pass this bill and make sure you have accommodations for situations like mine with special education students.

Karen Santhanam
self
Cedar Park, TX

I am opposed to HB3. The majority of Texans do not want vouchers. We want public schools and public schools funded at significant levels. I personally do not believe that private school education should be paid for by our tax dollars. People have many choices in education already. Public funds should be used for public education. Support our public schools!!!

Emily Hutchinson
self
Dripping Springs, TX

I am AGAINST school vouchers as they have proven in other states to be failures; lowering test scores and funding. Public funding needs to be kept with public schools, NOT private.

Gabrielle Moore
Self, Realtor
San Marcos, TX

Dear Committee Members,

Vouchers — by whatever name — divert state tax dollars from our neighborhood public schools to private businesses. They also do not give lower income families any actual choice. This is theft of our tax dollars.

I OPPOSE vouchers and SUPPORT adequately funding our neighborhood public schools, as does every client I speak to considering a move into Texas and our area.

Thank you,
Gabrielle Moore

Marjorie Seward, Mrs.

Self - Concerned Citizen, Mother, Grandmother and Supporter of Texas Public Schools

Mesquite, TX

Dear Members of the House Public Education Committee,

I am writing to express my opposition to HB3 and its proposed Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). While I understand the goal of expanding educational options, this legislation risks harming public schools and failing to serve all students equitably. My concerns are as follows:

1. Public School Funding: HB3 diverts critical funds from public schools, which serve the majority of students. This will worsen underfunding and resource shortages, disproportionately impacting students who rely on public education.
2. Accountability and Standards: Private schools receiving ESA funds are not held to the same standards as public schools. They are not required to follow state curricula or administer standardized tests, raising concerns about transparency and quality.
3. Inequity and Accessibility: ESAs may deepen educational disparities. Wealthier families can supplement voucher amounts for private tuition, while lower-income families cannot, leaving them with fewer opportunities.
4. Religious Concerns: Many private schools are religiously affiliated, and using public funds for ESAs risks violating the separation of church and state.
5. Impact on Rural Areas: In rural communities with few private schools, ESAs offer little benefit while draining resources from public schools, leaving families with fewer options.
6. Lack of Evidence: There is no conclusive proof that voucher programs improve outcomes. Expanding ESAs without evidence is premature.
7. Teacher Qualifications: Private schools are not required to hire certified teachers, raising concerns about instructional quality.
8. Selective Admissions: Private schools can exclude students with disabilities or academic challenges, leaving vulnerable students behind.
9. Bureaucracy: ESAs create administrative complexity, diverting resources from classrooms.
10. Fraud and Abuse: Without oversight, ESA funds could be misused, wasting taxpayer dollars.

I urge you to oppose HB3 and focus on strengthening public education to ensure every child has access to quality schooling. Thank you for considering my concerns.

René Craft

Self

Austin, TX

This bill will harm students with disabilities because private schools do not need to accept any student they don't want to teach. My son has autism, over his 19 years in public schools, I applied for him to attend private school to more than 20 private schools. I received 20 no, we can't take your child responses due to his complex needs. The only place that serves the disabled student is public school. A hearty NO to this bill from this mom. Sincerely, Rene Craft

Michelle Yanez

Public schools

Kerrville, TX

Taking public funds to divert them away from public institutions will kill public education in the state of Texas. Our Texas founding fathers always wanted education to be accessible to all and wrote it into our state constitution in Article VII.

The lie that is being printed by Republicans state officials that "we will fully fund public's schools AND create ESAs" isn't financially feasible. Yet once you take money from public schools, it will never return and will destroy programs like art, orchestra, choir, ROTC, robotics, culinary, welding, construction, and every other elective we offer at our local high school. This is robbing our kids of a future.

What's the rush with passing this now? Because the Governor wants it? Let the voters vote on it in the next state constitutional amendments election.

Jennifer Stamps

Myself

Austin, TX

I am a mother of a public school student. I oppose HB3. We need more public funds going to public schools; not less. Studies show vouchers do not equate to improved academic outcomes. Furthermore, HB 3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas families already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity with public money - that is not right!

Lenora Claus

self

Frisco, TX

I am NOT in support for House Bill 3. I would like to keep my tax dollars to support my public schools. I do not want any of my tax dollars to be pulled from the schools.

Elizabeth Jenkins

Self

Haslet, TX

I strongly oppose House Bill 3, as it threatens to dismantle the Texas public school system and undermine the education of millions of students across the state. Public education is the foundation of a thriving society, and this bill seeks to weaken that foundation by diverting essential resources away from our schools.

Governor Abbott has previously stated his commitment to supporting public education, yet this bill directly contradicts those promises. Texas families rely on strong, well-funded public schools to ensure that children receive the high-quality education they deserve. However, instead of investing in our schools, HB 3 pushes policies that will ultimately harm teachers, students, and entire communities.

We do not have to look far to see the disastrous consequences of similar legislation in other states. Where these policies have been implemented, they have led to school closures, teacher shortages, and a widening gap in educational access—particularly for low-income families and rural communities. Texas must not follow in these footsteps. We cannot afford to bankrupt our public schools in favor of policies that do not serve the best interests of our students.

Our teachers are already facing immense challenges, including overcrowded classrooms, low wages, and a lack of essential resources. Instead of addressing these pressing issues, HB 3 makes it harder for schools to function effectively. If we truly care about the future of Texas, we should be passing legislation that strengthens our public education system, not one that weakens it.

Furthermore, public school funding that has been withheld since 2019 must be released immediately. These funds belong to our students, and they should be used to improve school infrastructure, increase teacher salaries, provide better resources, and support programs that help students succeed. Keeping these funds locked away while our schools struggle is unacceptable.

I urge all lawmakers to reject House Bill 3 and take a stand for Texas students, teachers, and families. We need policies that enhance and support public education, not ones that jeopardize its future. The long-term success of our state depends on a well-educated generation, and that starts with ensuring our public schools have the funding, resources, and support they need to thrive.

I pray that this bill is defeated and that our legislators prioritize what truly matters: the education and well-being of Texas students. Now is the time to do what is right—protect our public schools, invest in our children, and secure a brighter future for Texas.

Francisco Acosta

Self, Engineering Manager

San Antonio, TX

Please don't pass this bill out of committee. Instead, help to work to fully fund our public schools. Educating our children should not be a political issue. It is the future of our country. Don't cave to the politics of underfunding public schools. That only hurts us all in the long term.

Rebecca Sova

Self

Kerrville, TX

I do not support this bill. As a taxpayer, mother, homeowner, or 3rd-gen Texan, this bill is not in my best interest. My grandfather had to request to go to a public school in his district, because of the preservation of racism even after Brown vs the Board, and this will only limit education for children of lower incomes again.

Jay Thompson

self

Hurst, TX

Thank you for allowing me to submit my comments on the pending HB3 regarding Education Savings Accounts also known as vouchers. The different funding for public school students and private school students seems to say one student group is more important than the other; both student groups should be should be the same; if one receives deductions for student absences, then the other should receive deductions also. Both student groups should be required to take the State assessment and report it publicly; if public schools are mandated to meet security requirements, then private schools should also be required; both groups should be required to take special education students so families are not split with one student in public school and the other in private school; students in both groups cannot be expelled for disciplinary reasons during the school year; and to receive full state funding both student groups must have certified teachers.

There are multiple options for campuses for parent choice at public schools in all of our suburban and urban areas.

The time is now to appropriately fund our state universities, public schools, special education, and mental health appropriately!

Surely, as wealthy as Texas is we should be state ranked higher in the USA than 42nd in per student pubic school funding!

James Garvin, Dr.

Self - retired

Fort Worth, TX

As Tax payer and native Texan I am writing to express my strong opposition to this bill which is essentially a "voucher" bill. I went to public schools here from first grade all the way through high school (graduating from L.D. Bell in the HEB school district. I went on to graduate with a bachelor's from Austin College in Sherman. I also received a PhD from Florida State University and returned to the DFW area with my wife to work and raise our children. All 3 of our children also went to public schools (from kindergarten through high school) and all 3 subsequently received bachelor's degrees or higher. My wife worked as a public school teacher and administrator in the public schools. My wife and I are both very concerned about the serious negative effects that vouchers will surely have on our public schools! A good quality and free public education is one of the bedrocks of our democracy. If we weaken it instead of maintaining and improving it then we will surely be weakening our democracy! Despite inflation and increasing demands placed on schools and teachers the funding for public schools has not been increased for more than 6 years. Districts all over the state are having to make very difficult decisions about which programs and even schools to close due to increasing costs. Vouchers won't help improve or strengthen public schools - they will only help students who are already attending private schools! Vouchers will in effect be using our tax dollars to subsidize private schools and prevent those tax dollars for being used to strengthen the public schools! This bill is the exact opposite of what we should be doing with our tax dollars! The American dream and our democracy depend on good quality public education - Please say no to vouchers!

Sherrill Burgdorf

Self

Arlington, TX

I disagree with the need for vouchers. I am the mother of a child with special needs. We need to support our public schools because they accept all students. The public school allotment should be increased by more than 220.00 to be fairly funded. I believe in choice and believe public schools offer choice. If a small rural district does not offer choice then that means an increase in their allotment will help fund more programs in that district. Please vote against the voucher program as it is not fairly finding our public schools.

Sunnie Fox
Self
Cedar Park, TX

This bill only benefits the rich. Abbott has been bought out by billionaires and it's disgusting he has stooped this low. Everyone deserves an education. My tax dollars demand this! No to any type of voucher. Fund our public schools.

Kathy Brown
Self
Belton, TX

It should be a crime to hold school funding for public schools until vouchers are passed. You are hurting our children's education, schools, employees. Shame on you for holding those funds hostage. That's the same as holding out children and schools hostage.

Jennifer Margolis-Husted
Self
Austin, TX

Texas needs the legislature to fully fund public schools. Vouchers have no place in Texas. Voucher programs in other states have devastated their public schools. Vouchers in Texas would harm many more children than they would help. Let's be smart and make an effort to not be in the bottom half of public education funding nationally. Thank you.

John Anthony
Self
Naples, TX

I am writing to express my opposition to the so called school voucher program being considered by the Texas Legislature. I believe the voucher program will undermine the public schools in our state. If we have funds available to issue vouchers then these funds should be put into public schools, not private schools. I respectfully request that the Texas Legislature not approve this bill.

Amanda Conroy
Self
Katy, TX

I am opposed to vouchers. Please ensure that public education is fully funded as stated in the Texas Constitution.

Linda Guy, Ms
self- retired Pediatric Nurse Practitioner
Austin, TX

Please do not allow public tax dollars to go to private schools! Public funds are for public services, such as fire, police, public health services & public schools! Public schools are the backbone of our communities & need our full support, not this absurd idea allowing funds to go to private, especially religious schools. thank you.

Jenna Maynard
Self
Plano, TX

I do not want my tax payer dollars going to private schools. Texas needs to start fully funding public education and paying teachers a living wage. We, the taxpayers, are tired of our representatives not listening to the wants and needs of their constituents. Please invest in our public schools and stop trying to destroy them. Stop trying to force something that the large majority of Texans DO NOT want.

Avery Benitez self/mom to 4
Dallas, TX

I am very passionate about public schools. They are good for EVERYONE. It is in everyone's best interest to have well educated children. What will happen to all those kids who don't get an education if public schools fail? Where will they go? How will they support themselves? And if they can't support themselves, who will help them? Where will they end up? Public education has long lasting effects. Let's do the best good for the most kids. The best is adequately funding public schools and making them the best in the country.

Andrea Pa
homeschooler
Cypress, TX

I homeschool my child and do not want this bill passed.

Carmen Macias, Dr.
Self
Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably. My children are emergent bilinguals and are best served by public schools as public schools have the most experience serving emergent bilinguals.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely, Carmen Macias

Vielka Harrison, Mrs.
Señf
McKinney, TX

Please know I do not support HB3. I would like to see our public schools fully funded. I stand against school vouchers.

Hilary Mosty

Self

Kerrville, TX

From our PTA: That time again. PLEASE PLEASE leave a comment if you can't get to the Capitol to testify. Spears the word far and wide to all TEXAS especially outside of Austin tx

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Leslie Box

Self

Dallas, TX

Please!

Save our public schools!

Vote NO to vouchers!!

Katarzyna Roe
Self - Director of Operations
Austin, TX

I am writing to oppose HB3. School vouchers or ESAs have not proven to be an effective use of tax payer dollars. HB3 does not outline or mandate sufficient effective oversight, transparency and accountability. While the bill states that preference would be given to children with disabilities should demand exceed the available slots, private schools are not required to accept students who do not meet their standards. Nor does the bill require private schools to follow federal and state laws ensuring students with disabilities receive proper evaluations and learning accommodations. Additionally, the bill does not adequately address how public schools would deal with the loss in funding as attendance levels drop. The negative impact to the majority of students exceeds the perceived benefit of a minority of 'private' enrollees.

Texas is constitutionally obligated to fund public schools, and that funding is primarily based on attendance. If a voucher program caused students to leave the public school system, schools would receive less money. I worry that impact would pile onto other challenges exacerbated by a yearslong lack of meaningful state funding increases. Those problems include budget deficits, campus closures, declining enrollment, expired pandemic relief funds, inflation and teacher shortages.

Helen Elizondo, Mrs.
Self
Grand Prairie, TX

I oppose bill HB3, it does not benefit all students all around.

Grace Farley
Self, social worker
Austin, TX

I am a proud product of Texas public schools as a graduate of Keller High School in Tarrant County and the University of Texas. I now work as a social worker with youth in schools and community settings in Central Texas. My nonprofit works in predominantly Title I schools and I have seen many schools lacking the resources they need to support their students including adequate staffing, functioning infrastructure (water fountains, toilets), and supplies. While the intention behind House Bill 3 may be to provide greater educational choice, I must oppose this bill due to the unintended consequences it will have on the very students it aims to support. Our schools rely heavily on funding that is determined by student attendance. This bill, by redirecting funds away from public schools, risks diminishing the already scarce resources available to our Title I schools and their students. These schools serve as a critical safety net for low-income families, offering much more than just academic knowledge. They provide nutritious meals, mental health resources, and a sense of community that is integral to the development of these children. By shifting funds to support private education through savings accounts, we detract vital support from the public schools that need them most. The funding model proposed here might prioritize a certain number of low-income students for the program, yet it inherently neglects the broader community left behind, thinning the support for those not selected or unable to participate in the program. This could lead to greater disparities within our education system, leaving the most vulnerable with even fewer resources. In short, implementing this bill could very well exacerbate the challenges faced by our low-income Title I schools, further stretching their limited resources at a time when they should be receiving more support. While choice is critical, it should not come at the expense of the public institutions that serve as the foundation for so many.

Lavon Burton
Self / retired educator
ABILENE, TX

NO!!!

Rachel Harris, Mrs.

Self, Senior Advancement Communications Director at TCU, a proud parent in Fort Worth ISD, representing Arlington Heights High School, Monnig Middle School, Ridglea Hills Elementary School
Fort Worth, TX

Please vote against HB 3 by Buckley. I am a proud parent in Fort Worth ISD, representing Arlington Heights High School, Monnig Middle School and Ridglea Hills Elementary School. I went to Austin for Texas PTA Rally Day on Feb. 24 and met with legislators to express our strong opposition to all vouchers. Please take care of ALL students by supporting our public schools. Do not vote for HB 3 or any other voucher or so-called "school choice." Be courageous, and take care of all of our students. They deserve it, and we demand it!

Lisa Winniford

Self, Stay at home mother
Houston, TX

I homeschool my four children, and I am opposed to this bill.

Heather Hunt

Self
Denton, TX

I oppose this legislation for the following reasons:

ESAs threaten the stability of our public school system. Texas public schools are already underfunded, with many districts struggling to provide adequate resources, pay competitive teacher salaries, and maintain infrastructure. Redirecting state funds to ESAs exacerbates these issues by siphoning money away from public schools and into private institutions or unregulated alternatives. This disproportionately impacts rural and lower-income communities, where public schools are essential hubs for education and community engagement. Unlike urban areas that may have more private school options, many rural areas lack viable alternatives, meaning ESAs will primarily benefit wealthier families who can already afford private education. Another primary concern is the lack of accountability and transparency associated with ESAs. Public schools are subject to strict academic standards, financial reporting, and accountability measures to ensure that taxpayer dollars are used effectively. In contrast, private schools and homeschooling programs that receive ESA funds are not held to the same standards. There are no guarantees that students receiving ESA funds will receive a quality education or that taxpayer money will be spent appropriately. Without clear regulations, ESAs open the door for fraud, waste, and abuse, as seen in other states that have implemented similar programs.

Furthermore, ESAs do not provide actual choice for all families. The money provided through an ESA is often insufficient to cover full tuition at many private schools, making it an ineffective tool for low-income families. Instead, ESAs primarily subsidize families who already send their children to private schools or who can afford to supplement the ESA funds. This creates an uneven playing field where public schools are financially weakened, and education becomes a privilege rather than a right. Lastly, ESAs set a dangerous precedent for the privatization of education. Public education is a cornerstone of democracy, ensuring every child can access free and equitable learning opportunities. Shifting public funds to private institutions erodes this foundation and moves us toward a system where education is commodified rather than treated as a public good. Suppose Texas truly wants to improve educational outcomes. In that case, lawmakers should focus on adequately funding public schools, raising teacher pay, reducing class sizes, and expanding access to programs that benefit all students rather than diverting funds into a program that benefits a select few.

For these reasons, I oppose the ESA legislation and urge lawmakers to prioritize strengthening public education rather than undermining it.

Robyn Tatman

Self/former teacher
Richardson, TX

Please vote no for this bill! It is not in the best interest of the children of Texas. Our strength and future are in properly funded public schools with well paid teachers! Funding private schools at a higher per student rate which do not have to hire certified teachers or pass state testing is not where our tax money should be allocated.

Shalom Meltzer
Texas Torah Institute
Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.
Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.
Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Please support HB3 and the ESA program.

Simone Kern self, journalist
Houston, TX

I strongly oppose using any state funds towards private education. Our public schools in Texas are already shamefully underfunded and unequally funded. The Texas Supreme Court has repeatedly found that the state funding mechanism violates students' constitutional right to equal access to education. We need more funding for public schools and local control over public schools. Greg Abbot's plan of a state takeover of Houston public schools has been disastrous. His plan to divert funding from public schools to private ones will only provide tuition breaks for the richest Texans and constitute a further attack on our public schools. We love our public schools, and we need our public schools to have strong communities and better lives for our children. Please vote against this disastrous attack on our schools!

naama weingarden self-commercial title
DALLAS, TX

We need vouchers and money towards private education. All the proprty taxes I pay and on top of that no help from govt for anything related to my kids private education. It's not ok. No tuition money, no lunch money, no buses. Am I paying taxes to fund the illegals' education. Please help!

Dre Grace Hannon
Self
Amarillo, TX

HB 3 is only a vehicle for those waiting in the wings to set up private schools that they can receive all sorts of tax exemptions on. I work in a public school and this is segregation at its finest. Public schools are not failing, but kids are coming from more brokenness and trauma than I have ever seen before. Setting up ESA won't do anything but leave the sped, 504, behavior, Emergent bilinguals behind. You guys have taken a California and New York model of education that was a democratic idea, put some republican spin on it as "parent choice" and it's nothing to do with choice. Parents have choice- they can pay for their choices. I've never called for an ambulance, Fire truck or police officer, but I'm willing to pay for them for the common good. Public schools are for the common good. Here in the panhandle, we would just be sending our money to Dallas, Austin and Houston because we don't have the same resources. Believe it or not, we have towns that don't have a gas station or a grocery store, but they do have a school. The school is the hub of the community. Think Lefors, McLean l,Happy Texas. Many 1A schools are like this. You will be helping to destroy rural Texas. Why should my tax dollars go urban Texas? Why have we let an outsider from Virginia tell us what Texas should look like? Several of the states who have chosen this path have found it to be a complete financial drain after it has been in place for a few years.

HB 2 is also a bad idea because TIA takes years to implement in a district and many of us have no measurable standards. I'm also a school counselor and I'm paid like a teacher but we are left out of the supplemental pay. And we know it's not a real raise because it's a short term allotment. Meaning the districts will have to pick it up, the legislature would have to choose to keep it funded in two years or take away the allotment. It's not a real raise.

Please do not pass these bills- they are bad for all of Texas.

Julia Edwards
Special Education Teacher
Georgetown, TX

Once again I am reaching out to you as an educator, parent and taxpayer of the state of Texas to stand against school vouchers. School vouchers undermine public education by diverting funds away from already underfunded schools, leaving disadvantaged students with fewer resources. As a special education teachers, these are my students. Oh pass this bill, my students will be directly affected.They also promote inequality by often only benefiting those who can afford to cover the difference in costs, leaving low-income families with fewer choices. Not to mention rural communities that do not have private school choices anywhere near them. This can widen the achievement gap rather than improve the overall education system. School vouchers only improve

Jill Hutchings, Ms
Self
McKinney, TX

Fully fund public education!
Oppose HB3 (vote AGAINST vouchers)!

Suzette Dracoulis
Self
Round Rock, TX

Say no to vouchers!!!

Karin Simpson
Self - Social Worker
Cypress, TX

I am a Texan and I care about our K-12 public education system being well funded for all our students. I do not support HB 3, the education savings account bill. I ask for all our elected representatives to oppose this bill.

Kristen Worrall
Self
Austin, TX

Vouchers hurt everyone

Laura Cook
Myself a Texas Educator
Lubbock, TX

I strongly oppose school vouchers because they divert essential public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students. Using taxpayer money to subsidize private schools undermines public education, limits resources for teachers and students, and disproportionately harms marginalized communities who rely on public schools for equitable education opportunities. Our focus should be on strengthening public schools—not weakening them by funneling funds to private institutions that are not held to the same accountability standards. Please stand with Texas families and reject any efforts to implement school voucher programs. Please vote against House Bill 3

Michael Bartlemy
Self
Austin, TX

This bill does nothing to help education in Texas and only serves to continue to undermine public schools and the kids who need them.

Cynthia Gard
Self
Rockwall, TX

Vote NO to establishing an education savings account program. I think this program will be detrimental to public schools in Texas and the majority of the children in the state. People already have a choice to send their kids to private schools and shouldn't receive state funds to pay to do so because private schools are not held to the same standards as public schools. Also, a private school should not receive more funds per child than a public school does. EVERY CHILD in Texas deserves to receive a quality education! What happens when a private school closes its doors in the middle of the year after receiving the funding for their students? The money they received would then be wasted. What happens when a private school kicks a student out of their school? Would they be required to return a portion of the money back to the state? Fully fund our public schools so Texas can be proud of the education our children are receiving and show the rest of the country that Texas really cares about ALL our children.

Jennifer Dale
self
Austin, TX

Texas public schools need more money not less. Please send a message to Governor Abbott that holding funding and bullying our representatives to pass bills like school vouchers that only benefit special interest groups will not be allowed in Texas! Tax money should go to paying for education for ALL not just the privileged FEW.

Sheryl Van Hoose

Self

Austin, TX

HB3 is not a bill to support Texas education. It takes money away from our public education system; a system that is set up for all kids not some kids. It gives more financial support with less restrictions (testing, transportation, attendance requirements, special education) to the private programs. How can you defend such a system? A system where many families that support HB3 are already sending their kids to private/charter and are going to get financially rewarded if this bill passes. As someone who spent their learning years from elementary through college (University of Texas) in the public school system, I appreciate the opportunity that I had to learn in a diverse environment, a place for all students, where the color of my skin, my faith, my financial background didn't matter. My children also went to public universities after graduating from the Texas public school system. And now my grandchildren's education is at risk. Please vote No for HB3. Thank you.

Graciela Bell, Dr.

SAISD

San Antonio, TX

Please support public education and say NO to vouchers. Use the taxpayer funding to invest in teachers and public education.

Jerod Martin

Self/ small business owner

Cooper, TX

As a lifelong Texan and someone who has been in public education as well as homeschool, I do NOT support these bills and what they seek to create. There are three main fronts on which I base my opposition. 1. The methods used by the governor to “get this passed”. 2. The government invasion into the private education system(s) and those who CHOOSE to forgo the public education OPTION. 3. The government will approve curriculum and testing for all those who take the bait....i mean money.

1. Governor Abbott has used his political muscle to politic against candidates who, because they were representing their constituents, did not vote in alignment with his agenda. Abbott also took dark money contributions from donors who would benefit from this legislation as did representative candidates he was backing. Governor Abbott also vetoed a bi-partisan bill that would have exposed his donors. Governor Abbott has publicly said he was working against those who opposed his “choice” agenda. He has coerced representatives to make them get in line with passing these bills. These are open ways to subvert the will of the people. He will not put it on the ballot for the people because he cannot control the people but instead works through less than honorable means to control them. I ask that you stand in opposition to the governor who has shown less than honorable means of pushing this legislation through. Gregg Abbott and Shelly Luther have alienated more than just this one conservative. Bigger government = less freedom....look at history.

2. We have school choice NOW and have had it but WITHOUT the necessity of government interference. As a whole, the data says that private education yields a better individual....though not all the time and there are great individuals that come out of public education or should I say rise above the “failed public education system” (Gregg Abbotts words). That is a system he is ultimately responsible to manage and HE HAS FAILED TEXAS. Hold him accountable and if someone had failed you in one thing would you give them another thing or give them more to oversee? That’s insanity. Leave government out of private education and let government take care of what it already has responsibility to manage. Tossing more money at it doesn’t fix it.

3. Look at the effectiveness of government approved curriculum and testing. They teach to a test. Is that freedom? This will be applied to all students and institutions who have one individual in their number that take the money bait. Is that freedom?

Governments never give freedom because it isn’t theirs to give and they are not the source of freedom. I remind you all men are created free but it is government that puts the shackles on them and this idea that Governor Abbott is granting freedom is a sham and I ask that you do not be a part of this abusive behavior. Do not joint the ranks of those abusing the freedom of Texans. You are who you associated with and you vote will tell more to more than one.

Lindsey Ward

Self

Spring, TX

The school voucher bill does nothing to help the families it claims to be helping. 158 counties in Texas have no private schools, and the ESA does not provide enough for those families to both pay the full tuition for a private school AND provide transportation for their students.

Chaim Averick

Self , teacher

Dallas, TX

Teacher Perspective on Supporting HB3 and Education Savings Accounts

As educators, we believe in the importance of supporting HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the highest quality educational opportunities.

Education is not a one-size-fits-all solution; it is essential that families have the freedom to choose the best educational path for their children. This bill empowers parents to make informed decisions, which ultimately benefits students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

With nearly half of the states already implementing school choice programs, it is time for Texas to embrace this opportunity. By doing so, we can ensure that all students have the chance to thrive in an environment that meets their unique needs.

Becky Bullard

Self / communications

Austin, TX

I urge the members of the committee to vote against House Bill 3. I am a parent of two children who attend public elementary school in Texas, and their education has been disrupted due to the woeful underfunding of our public schools and the teacher shortage crisis. These struggles would become worse if you decide to take taxpayer dollars away from our public schools and give them to private schools.

Last week I comforted my fifth grader as she cried after learning that her class would be getting its third teacher this year. "I don't blame Mr. Adrian," she said, through tears. "He found a job that paid more, I totally get it. Teaching is so hard – you have to care for a bunch of kids who can be loud and don't do what you say. And teachers make almost no money! I'm happy for him. I just can't believe this is happening again."

Mr. Adrian, a U.S. veteran, had selflessly stepped in to teach my daughter's class, putting his advertising career on pause to help our kids even though he was not credentialed and had never previously taught. The school simply couldn't find any other available qualified teachers – a situation that is an epidemic all over Texas. He did a tremendous job under difficult circumstances and though the kids were sad to see him go, they understood that the blame lies in the system and not with the teacher.

Last week our principal explained to us that we were, in fact, fortunate to be in this position by comparison to what other schools in the district and across the state are experiencing. Apparently many other classes at other schools are being taught by a rotating cast of temporary substitutes, with no consistency whatsoever from week to week. Our children deserve better than this. Our teachers deserve better than this. Texans, who contribute to one of the largest economies not just in the U.S. but in the WORLD, deserve to have a world-class public education system. But instead we continue to be short-changed by our state legislature.

Most of the teachers at our school do not have more than a couple years teaching experience, and it is getting more difficult to retain teachers. Teachers who have left the profession are clear about why – the demands on them are tremendous and the pay is pitiful. Many have to get second and third jobs to make ends meet. At a certain point they can no longer sacrifice their own well-being for our kids.

Texas is the "stickiest" state in the U.S. – 82% of native-born Texans stay put here their whole lives. If we further deprive the more than 5 million students in our public education system in favor of giving our tax dollars to a few thousand private school kids, we are setting this state up for disaster for generations to come.

Thank you for your time and attention and for your service to the great state of Texas. Please vote against HB3 and instead focus on fully funding our public schools.

Jami Lampert

Arlington Heights High School PTA

Fort Worth, TX

We do not support the proposed education savings accounts. Although there is a separate bill addressing public school funding, the money going to vouchers would be better spent adding to public school funds. Texans already have several choices in education and any choice a voucher adds would only benefit a very small group of people and is not worth the cost. In order to be fair the legislators would need to add requirements to private schools and home schooled lessons that these groups likely do not want. We already have private, public, charter, and home school. We do not need a new subgroup of schools that accept these vouchers. I went to Texas public schools and my kids are going to public schools. If we used tax payer money and Texas funds to make public schools better then you would not need to keep creating other options. Spreading funds over more schools makes no fiscal sense. Our public schools need work and to do the work they need funds. Let's not give up on them. Let's give them the support they need instead of creating options that take away students. We need to bring students back to public education. If parents still do not choose to stay in public they still can opt out by paying for private, going with charter (which is free) or homeschool. The answer to so many problems is education. We need to provide a better public education to all kids in Texas and the only way to do that is public schools.

Viviana Mata

Self

Houston, TX

I am a homeschool parent and I OPPOSE the passing of this bill.

Danielle Chapman

Self

WILLS POINT, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+ million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember in the next election how you voted on this bill.

Sarah Pablo

Self, homemaker

Bedford, TX

The majority of Texans do not want this bill passed. Texas has enjoyed true school choice with no government interference. As a conservative, less government is more. This bill puts government involvement right in the middle of education. Whether it's public, private, or homeschool, let the parents choose and let them factor in the costs if it comes to that. Fully fund our public schools, pay our teachers what they are worth, and leave homeschoolers alone.

Serena Wedeking

self

college station, TX

Beyond all the arguments that everyone has stated, re: there will be no actual benefit to the tax payer, and in fact it looks like that this will likely as not harm public schools particularly rural areas. I personally don't want my tax dollars going to the funding of various private school that I, as a tax payer, have no expectation of input regarding the operations of private schools. As it is, if I wanted to I could run for a school board, go to meetings and potentially influence policy. I would have no recourse over what the local private schools do, let along the web of homeschoolers. Please no on pass this. It is a bad idea.

Cheryl Hughes

self/retired

Canton, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Angela Reyes
Muleshoe ISD-TCTA
Muleshoe, TX

I do not support school vouchers. We are a small town, with no private schools within 150 miles. There is no need to vouchers because it does not pertain to ALL TEXANS. How can a bill be made for only a tiny percentage of students. Please do not take away from tax payer money to give a coupon to rich families to send their kids to private schools. Schools are safer than ever! Tons of money is pouring in for that already. Public schools are doing great academically. My school that my children attend is a Blue Ribbon School. Public schools are better than ever!

Eric Boatman
Self - Music Teacher
Plano, TX

This bill is not something that serves this state or our students. It is a political non-issue to advance a small amount of political ambitions. Help kids by funding districts so they can provide MORE opportunities. Your cuts and this bill will do the opposite. If you care about kids then you will not support this bill. If you care about teachers, especially ones in fine arts like myself, you will not support this bill. If you want Texas to be higher in the best education systems in the country, you will not support this bill and instead fund districts and Teacher Education Institutions. Please do not support this bill and listen to the majority of your constituents who do not want this.

Andrew Dickerman
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
 - 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
 - 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
 - 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.
- This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Jeff Kacines
Self
Allen, TX

I am adamantly against HB 3. Funds should be focused on our cash-strapped public schools and not diverted to private schools.

Shana Owen, Ms.
Red Oak ISD
Corsicana, TX
Vote no to vouchers

Crystal Morris

Self

Graford, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Nathan Riojas

self

Shallowater, TX

It's simple. You were elected to represent your constituents. The vast majority of your constituents do NOT support a voucher program. You must vote accordingly.

Holly Koch

Self

Dublin, TX

I am absolutely against HB 3. Public should stay in public schools. I ask that this be brought to a state vote. The vast majority people are against this, and it is not even a part of an issue.

Jennifer Hoitsma

Self

Tyler, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Alicia Arroyos, Mrs.

Self-former teacher

Missouri City, TX

I am against the voucher system. Public schools are underserved and need more money. The rich can afford to send their kids to any institution they want. Low income and many middle class families would not be able to afford to send their kids to private schools. As a former teacher, I know many, many public schools are in desperate need. Please do not pass the voucher system. Thank you.

Deidre Carlton

Self/ Teacher

Arlington, TX

Please properly fund our public schools. Leave the decisions to the local districts. My children are receiving an incredible education in our local district thanks to the amazing teachers who work tirelessly during these underfunded times.

Belen Badejo
Self/Telecommuter
Fort Worth, TX

If anything, this money should be ADDED to Public Education & not to private school. We already have school “choice”. This would just lead to increased tuition to private institutions. They aren’t struggling like our public schools are. It’s a shame all the fundraisers our public schools still have to do on top of to get state funding but still struggling to provide a decent education for students. This is not part of the “American Dream” to have even further economic segregation. And this is going to turn Texas into a complete mess & RAISE CRIME RATES. These crime rates are eventually going to move into those “wealthier” neighborhoods cos our economy as a country is in a sinkhole & Texas won’t be one of the wealthiest states anymore. Most businesses started flocking to us because of Covid & avoiding the Covid restrictions but don’t think that won’t drive them elsewhere once they see what a sinkhole Texas has become cos quality went down the drain. Keep on lining your pockets with that back door money & keep putting the pressure on the “poor people”. If there was such success in other states that have that voucher program, the general public would feel different. I BEG YALL to go live life on barely $100 a day to get a reality check on how average people are feeling right now!!

Julian Lopez Jr
Parent
Georgetown, TX

And under comments “Honored Members of the Committee,
I am a family member of two Texas schoolchildren and a strong supporter of fully funded public education. My family relies on Texas public schools, and I have seen firsthand the impact of underfunding on students, teachers, and communities.
I am strongly opposed to HB 3, the voucher scheme that would divert public tax dollars away from our already struggling public schools to subsidize private education for a select few. Instead of helping the majority of Texas families, this bill would only deepen the funding crisis, especially in rural areas where private school options are scarce or nonexistent.
Unlike public schools, private institutions are not required to provide transportation, meal services, special education programs, or even certified teachers, making them an unrealistic option for many families. Texans across the political spectrum have repeatedly rejected voucher programs because they recognize the harm they cause to our students and communities.
Rather than funneling public money into private institutions, I urge you to increase per-student funding by at least $1,300 to ensure that Texas public schools have the resources they need to educate and support every child. Investing in our public schools is investing in the future of Texas.
Thank you for your time and consideration. I trust you will make the right decision for Texas students and families.”

Karen Bondy
Self
Austin, TX

Schools using vouchers should have the same requirements as public schools.

Theresa Cruz
Self, education
Houston, TX

No to vouchers!! Public schools educate every student. Private schools do not. Public schools have to show accountability for students enrolled, mandated state testing, certified teachers and do much more! Private schools do not! This is not about giving families a choice; it's about prioritizing the wealthy over middle and lower income. Public schools are already severely underfunded and expected to do more with less all the time. This voucher program is not going to make getting a good education for everyone—it's going to ensure those who can already afford private school get a bonus. Scores are low and education is taking a hit because Texas won't properly fund schools and make public education a priority. It's more than a priority, it's likely the most important thing we can do in our lifetimes. We have to educate all of our kids, they are our future and the next generation of leaders. That can only be done if we truly support our public schools and provide the necessary funding to ensure that all students have the opportunity and access to a great education. Vouchers are a scam and I truly believe that it's another way for the wealthy to gain more wealth and that there's a monetary incentive as well for our elected officials. Why else is this getting pushed so hard? Why else are millionaires from other states donating money to our Texas leaders to get this voucher scam passed? It's truly disgusting and so disappointing to know that funds are available to build up public education and those funds continue to be held hostage at the whims of our governor and his supporters. Please vote NO to this voucher scam. It's truly robbing from the poor to give to the rich.

Austin Beam
Self
Midland, TX

I oppose HB3 and any form of vouchers / ESAs. Texas public education needs investment, not to have funds diverted to private interests. This bill does nothing to serve those who most need educational support. Instead, it provides welfare to the wealthy and offers a discount to the private education of those who can already afford it. I fully support the individual right of families to choose private school if that's best for them, and they already have that choice. Nothing more needs to be done.

These programs have ballooned in cost in other states and have not demonstrated any meaningful change to student outcomes.

This bill is being supported by private interests who intend to profit off of Texas taxpayers. It is a scam and unfortunate that the citizens of Texas are taking a back seat to these private interests, some of which aren't even within the State of Texas. Texans do not want this. Quit wasting our time and taxpayer money. Please kill this bill and invest in Texas public education instead.

Monica Hollins
Self
Austin, TX

I am voicing my opposition to HB 3. I am proud of the education my child gets within our public schools. I am sad that the vouchers will disenfranchise so many children that will not have the means to transportation to private schools, if they could afford it. Abbott mentioned that we don't have to worry about Football being affected with this. I am not concerned about sports, I am concerned about the public schools education and special education being funded. I am worried about the communities that will be destroyed when schools close, I am worried about those that will miss out on education, due to their schools closing and the failure to launch into adulthood, because Texas decided that the wealthy were more important than those that we are called to lift up. Please vote No.

Lauren Maples families & educators
Austin, TX, TX

Vouchers will erode our already under funded education system. I feel obliged to express my concerns with the concept of funneling tax dollars to parents in an attempt to weaken public schools in Texas.

1. There will be tax dollars going to schools that are not required to meet any state accountability standards. The Catholic church schools are often excellent, but many private schools are not on that level. Many private and parochial schools maintain their academic ratings by rejecting below-average students. Private schools are not required to take anybody. What school will be the school of last resort for students who are failing?

Krista Corley
Self - Attorney
Richardson, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future.

Sergio Plaza III
Self/Planning Manager
Austin, TX

Good evening. My name is Sergio Plaza and I speak today in opposition to House Bill 3.

For six years, I had the privilege to work alongside talented, committed, and passionate educators within Texas public schools. Every day, I witnessed these individuals put their heart and soul into their students.

I won't tell you that our schools are perfect. I don't believe anyone who has worked in them will. But framing them as "failing," as many supporters of this legislation do, is a cop-out. What I can tell you is that Texas schools do their best, despite being left at a disadvantage by this body. Our public schools are better than this Legislature allows them to be, but they are held back from their full potential because of this body.

Paraphrasing, Section 1 of Article 7 of the Texas Constitution:

It shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.

How do you do that?

It's not HB3 or SB2, but going beyond HB2, I ask this body to learn how much it costs to fully educate a child. What does it take to educate those with little resources at home? What does it take to educate a child with special needs? One whose first language isn't English?

Let's not only make sure Texas leads the nation in dollars per student and teacher salary. Let's make sure all our students aren't distracted from learning because they're hungry. Let's make sure they have clean air in their schools. Let's allow our teachers to teach and develop our students without being attacked.

Anyone who has ever worked in a school will tell you that what a student brings from home affects them in the classroom. Let's lessen the burden of stress on them and their families by expanding Medicaid, increasing affordable housing, and raising the minimum wage.

What you should not do is allow yourselves to be bullied by Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick. This is supposed to be the People's House. You're capable of building the best public school system in the country, truly investing in Texas families, and most importantly, scrubbing this bill and telling one Billionaire from Pennsylvania that our schools are not for sale. We can do all this instead of putting public dollars to private use.

Thank you.

Alisa Starbird
Self
Houston, TX

I am absolutely opposed to vouchers. Our public schools must be fully supported financially, with no money going to private schools. Public schools are the backbone of a free and informed society.

Nancy Fernandez
My family, my children
Willow Park, TX

Please review a data from other states that have adopted these measures. Arizona is one of them. Their voucher program did not work. Instead, give schools support. It is saddening to me that I am a kindergarten teacher with a class of 22 with no support and a class full of various needs. Our district maintains they are operating with a very limited budget. This can't continue. It is very sad and I can't imagine the repercussions this will have in our children.

Kristian Stewart
Self, IT Analyst
Houston, TX

I oppose HB3 because it will defund the same public schools that educated my son and others like him. Title One schools like his needs these funds to produce productive citizens that contribute to our society. Families like mine will not benefit from this, our children will not benefit, nor will our communities. For these reasons please do not pass HB 3. Thank you.

Molly Parks
Self Manchaca, TX

school to place our son. In his first year he did pretty well. His reading and writing improved but not quite rebounded. We continued to work alongside that private school to help my son thrive. As he continued into his second year at that school, we found my son falling behind again. After meeting with the school they quickly dismissed his ADHD diagnosis that they had previously acknowledge. They said they couldn't help him. The tuition at that school is $40k. They doubled their tuition from one year to the next.

After all that shuffling of schools we decided to seek public education knowing the requirement to serve all students regardless of learning ability. At 6th grade he entered public school and now in 7th he has leveled up. He's making straight A's. He's recently signed up for accelerated classes in the 8th grade. He feels confident and proud. We owe all of this advancement to the teachers and specialist that his public school provided. Neither of his 2 private schools could or would step up and help him. He just needed a little extra push.

My girls are also now in 1st grade in public school. We found out last month that their school is slated for closure next year. We transfer across districts to attend this ISD. With the school closure the remaining elementary schools are now expected to be overcrowded and thus they have eliminated district transfers. Now our school choice has been taken away as a result of inadequate public funding resulting in massive budget deficits, school closures, pay raise freezes, elimination of Spanish immersion and PLC's for teachers. Inadequate funding has caused this. Holding public funding hostage to get vouchers passed has stripped school districts to a point of failure. Fund the schools properly and the kids will thrive. When we chose private schools we never asked for subsidy. We made the choice ourselves, funded it ourselves. Found it inadequate and now attending public schools, we are funding legislative support inadequate.

We have choice now. We shall not be forced to share our taxes with religious schools & schools who cannot & will not provide full service education to all students.

Juana Sanchez, Mrs
Self
Brownsville, TX

“Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, current public school educator, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.”

Tommy Ward
Self
Abilene, TX

Public Schools deserve the funding not private schools. Bad on Greg Abbott for getting paid to support this travesty

Shannon Bender, Mrs
Self
Amarillo, TX

I'm am against School Vouchers. It will be detrimental to our communities and is not a one size fits all. Parents already have school choice. Keep the tax money where it is intended to go to public schools. We have great public schools in this state that need the funds and serve way more students than private schools do. Listen to your constituents and vote against vouchers.

Benito Estrada

Self/ educator

Kyle, TX

I do not agree with this bill.

Anna Marquez

Self

Creedmoor, TX

I am adamantly against this bill. It is unfortunate and unfair for money to be stolen from public schools for those individuals who choose to use private schools. Private schools are for those who make the choice to pay for their children's education. Therefore it should come out of their pockets not funds for public schools. Whomever decides to apply for private schools is deciding so knowing it will be paid for by their own money

Katherine Brown

self

Austin, TX

Texans clearly do not want vouchers- voters on both sides of the aisle know it's a bad deal. Democrats and Republicans in Texas have come together against vouchers for many decades. Our public schools face many challenges, but they can meet those challenges and educate our Texas kids to their potential when given appropriate funding. Please vote to FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS and VOTE NO on any voucher/ ESA bill. I vote in every election and this matters a great deal to me, my family, and my community. Thank you.

Devi Shah

Communities in Schools of Central Texas

Austin, TX

This would be a detriment to minority children and lower income families. Making choices that are at a disadvantage to lower income families and that are an advantage to higher income families is the most anti-Christian thing. Literally taking from the poor to give to the rich.

Jamal Jackson

My damn self

Dallas, TX

I am completely against taking money out of public schools and transferring it to private schools by establishing these saving accounts.

Cari Sturch

Self, Public Educator

Commerce, TX

Utilizing public taxpayer funds to subsidize private education is a blatant misuse of funds. It is a gross overreach and wholly unsupported by Texans. Public education should be fully funded by the state government and privatization would not even need to be discussed.

The voucher program will undermine the financial stability of the state government, the public education funds, and negatively impact TRS funds. Do not pass this bill. I do not support this bill or ANY bill calling for public tax dollars to be funneled towards a private education. Vote no.

Brian Miller
Myself and family
Cypress, TX

I do not support vouchers for private schools. Doing this in other states has shown that vouchers almost exclusively benefit people who are already paying and can afford private schools. They very rarely provide a choice to those in public school as claimed.

I demand the SAME accountability for private schools as for public schools--testing students annually and reporting achievement data; providing financial transparency; accepting ALL students; hiring certified teachers; and meeting the same safety requirements as public schools. FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS FIRST by increasing their basic per-student allotment, which hasn't increased since 2019, to offset the impact of inflation and RESTORE the $4.6 billion in funding that was withheld in 2023.

Gary Ligon
Self/retired chemical engineer/engineering manager/project manager
Cypress, TX

Under no circumstances should any taxpayer dollars be used to subsidize or otherwise fund private schools via "vouchers" or "education savings accounts".

This bill needs to be completely rewritten to fully fund public schools with money from the state general fund at a per student level that is 25% more than the 2019 funding level. In addition, this rewritten bill must restore the $4.6 billion that was withheld from public schools in 2023.

Annette Johnson
Self - retired social worker
Tomball, TX

I am totally opposed to HB 3- the voucher bill. Currently our public schools are struggling to survive with one of the lowest per student funding of any states. The per student allotment has not gone up in more than 5 years and schools are having to cut back on critical services. The voucher money will rob our public schools by luring students to private, and often religious institutions. These private schools are not required to do mandatory testing or to accept special needs students. This is not a fair fight. And, making vouchers available to families earning more than $160,000 per year is ridiculous. Low income families will be in the minority in terms of using the voucher stipends. Many of them will still not be able to afford good private schools or will lack the transportation to get their child there. These are just a few of my concerns about vouchers. PLEASE VOTE NO.

Carina Renteria
Self
Cedar Park, TX

I don't support vouchers for Texas.

Katherine Hernandez

Self - Teacher

Dallas, TX

Texas Republicans and Democrats sometimes have a difficult time agreeing on things, but with the introduction of this bill I have seen both “far right” and “far left” individuals speak out loudly AGAINST ESAs (vouchers, etc.). Overwhelmingly, this is NOT what the majority of Texans want. Public money deserves to stay in the public. Sure, there is a possibility that some kids who do not already attend private school may get a chance to do so, but there is a 100% chance of hurting the majority of Texas kids.

This bill would see funding cut to schools, ultimately resulting in cutting important programs such as the arts and would very likely result in the closing of multiple schools. It would also result in major layoffs for school personnel, adding to an already high unemployment rate.

I urge the Texas House of Representatives to listen to the people of the state they are supposed to represent, and not vote this bill into law. Our state slogan does not need to be “Illiteracy rates, unemployment, and school closures are bigger in Texas.”

Part of what makes Texas the best state in the nation is the very real possibility that you can grow up with nothing, and make something of yourself. This bill would take away those opportunities from a majority of Texas students. Texas public teachers impart invaluable knowledge into their students that goes beyond the curriculum. We teach our kids to persevere, to find their passions, and ultimately we give them space to figure out what kind of people they want to be.

The Purple Party of Texas has spoken...we do NOT want to establish a voucher system in our state.

Thank you for your time.

-Katie

Rebecca Passmore

self - teacher

Hardin, TX

I have been a public school educator for 23 years. I do not support any voucher program. Please keep tax payer dollars in the public schools, which offer more services for different student needs. Please listen to Texans, instead of corporations and big money.

Aruna Jahoor, Dr

Self

Austin, TX

Vouchers are another example of government handouts to take independence away from private schools while failing to meet obligations to the public schools we the taxpayers are already responsible for, if there is extra money in any budget fund the public schools so you don't have to keep increasing my property taxes. I am against the educational savings account

Thomas Marsden

Self, Architect

Austin, TX

Please cancel this bald face lie and extraction of necessary funds for public schools. Education savings account is an oxymoron in this regard, but what a fun euphemism for defunding public education! This money should be equally distributed to ALL the children of Texas and not only to the very very wealthy that can afford private school. These people need no government aid. This is a tax cut wrapped in a word salad of misdirection and non sequiturs. When I explain what this bill actually is doing to my wealthy Republican friends and family they are shocked and ask why this is necessary. Stop working so hard to kill public education, and start working to make this society just a little bit more equitable.

Julia Kovach
Self/Caregiver
Austin, TX

I urge you to oppose HB 3 and support Texas public schools. This bill diverts taxpayer dollars from public schools, which educate over 90% of Texas students, to private institutions with little accountability. Schools already facing teacher shortages and rising student needs will be forced to cut programs, increase class sizes, and limit services.

Private schools receiving taxpayer funds are not required to serve all students, follow state curriculum standards, provide performance data, or maintain financial oversight. If public money is being spent, there should be transparency in how it is used. HB 3 lacks that accountability.

While promoted as a "school choice," HB 3 benefits only a small group of families. Vouchers do not fully cover tuition, leaving many working-class and rural families unable to access private schools. Meanwhile, public schools serving most students will be left with fewer resources.

Strong public schools create strong communities. When schools suffer, property values decline, businesses struggle, and workforce development weakens. Texans have consistently rejected voucher schemes, recognizing that public funds should support schools that serve all students. HB 3 threatens that foundation.

I appreciate your time and consideration in protecting Texas public education.

Lorie Barnett, Mrs
Self, retired teacher, business owner
Paige, TX

I oppose any voucher/ESA for Texas

Kaitlyn Ramey
Self - Parent
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Alexa Volpe, Dr.
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am writing to oppose this bill. I do not believe this bill would improve public education, and will most likely harm the public school system. Evidence from other states indicates that school vouchers are not helpful for all students, especially those who are already impoverished. These vouchers will help parents of means achieve their goals. Charter schools often do not have bus systems, cafeterias, or libraries, and therefore do not adequately serve all students. Public schools are held to higher accounting and scrutiny standards as compared to charter schools, private schools, or homeschooling. At the very least, hold these to the same standard. Texas has sovereign wealth funds of immense proportion for public education. Please use these to fund schools instead of holding funds back unless a voucher bill is passed. It hurts our society to under fund public schools.

Mollie Miller
Self
Houston, TX

I do not support HB3. Public funding belongs in public schools.

Stacy Blanchard
Self
Sachse, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Eddy Morelock
Texas PTA
Lubbock, TX

Senator Buckley, please know that the parents and educators in West Texas are not for HB3. We have school choice in the Lubbock area and this bill will not benefit the rural community. Our teachers need a pay raise, our schools need more funding and our students need the support of the legislators we vote for.

Thanks

Eddy Morelock

Krystal Moldovan
Self
Houston, TX

Not in favor of ESAs or Vouchers

Brittany Gray
Self/Teacher
Richardson, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Robert Allen
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Shanon Coffey
Texas educator
Wylie, TX

No to VOUCHERS! No to HB3.

Brittany Gray
McMillan JH
Richardson, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS & NO TO HB3

Wendi Farquhar
self
Pittsburg, TX

The residents of Texas do not want the "vouchers" that are represented in this bill. The government overreach to private education is not accepted or asked for. The funds that are proposed for this should go to public school fine arts or work programs. Private school is and has been a choice for Texans. Home school is a private school option. We do not need more government regulation introduced to private education in the form of money control and testing.

The governor and those who support this have been lying. I know many families with school age children who feel the same as I do.

I have called, texted, messaged and posted on social media. I have not received a response from any representatives or the governor's office. So, from my perspective, the people are being ignored.

Michelle Sortor

Self

Hurst, TX

Public schools need to be fully funded. Public money does not belong in private schools. Rather than diverting public money to private schools to provide unaccountable special education services to a handful of students, fully funding special education services to all children in Texas who need it. Rather than enriching private schools, use taxpayers' money to improve Texas education services for all children.

Tamara Bowles

self - teacher

WYLIE, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Chelsea Hoyt

Self

Arlington, TX

Please vote no to HB 3

Craig Watts

self

Austin, TX

I'm against this bill and specifically using general revenue funds (i.e., taxpayers' money) to fund an education savings account program. Thank you.

David Plotkin

Self

San Antonio, TX

Public education needs these funds. Private schools will not fill the needs of the majority of Texans. Do not route money that is badly needed to make Texas public education great again towards private schools that cater to the rich. The rich do not need this money, they are already in those schools.

Gretchen Pierce

self, stay-at-home mom

Austin, TX

I am a mom of two young children, one of whom attends an Austin ISD elementary school and another who will attend in the fall. We love our neighborhood school. It is a wonderful community that my son is so happy to be a part of, and he is excited to go to school and learn every day. We do everything we can to support our school, not just because we love it, but because we know that the state does not adequately fund public schools in Texas. Our schools need as much help as they can get to provide a well-rounded education for our kids.

We appreciate that everyone has a choice in Texas about how to educate their children - public school, private school, or homeschool. That choice already exists. We don't need to, and shouldn't have to, use public taxpayer money to facilitate that choice through a voucher program. For many families who do not already attend private school, the voucher would not cover enough of the cost for their child to attend a private school. Those children will remain in their public schools, which will be even more underfunded than before due to vouchers draining their resources.

Our school district, like most in Texas, is already in a financial crisis. This is because, when adjusted for inflation, we actually receive less money than we did in 2019. Texas is a state with a lot of pride about its history and accomplishments, but being in the bottom ten states for per student funding is not something to be proud of.

If neighborhood schools lose students to vouchers, we will be in an even worse financial crisis. Our neighborhood schools should not have to suffer while our tax dollars fund private schools that do not have to meet the same requirements as public schools. Our public schools, which 90 percent of students in Texas attend, should not be a lower priority than private schools, which only 10 percent of students attend.

Students in Texas, both in public and private schools, are the future of this state. We should want all of them to receive the best education possible, as they are our future leaders and innovators. If you implement vouchers, our public school students will lose teachers, staff, programs, resources, and services, which will have a negative effect on the quality of their education. That is a high price that 5 million students in this state will have to pay for this so-called school "choice" program.

Please use your power as a state representative to protect our neighborhood schools like the one my son attends. We do our part to support our school, because we know how important it is to our community. We need you to do your part as well, and say no to vouchers.

Stacy Bostick

Self/educator

Belton, TX

Please vote against vouchers HB3. Issues concerning parents about public education include standardized testing, class sizes, teacher turnover, limited special education & GT funding, and behavior. These are not issues with which teachers have control, but you do. All but one of these is a result of decisions regarding funding and testing made by the Texas legislature. The other, behavior, is the result of families and society neglecting their roles in raising and supporting children. As Gov. Abbott has said, "the people defunding public schools are parents... When they leave, the funding for that child leaves, too." Defunding public schools is not what they want. The concerns they have will only be made worse with HB3. The majority of Texans will still attend public schools. If we want to help ALL Texas children, we must NOT remove funding that is needed, and that is what HB3 will do. Looking at what countries who do better than us in education, they have highly trained and respected teachers (less teacher turnover because teacher pay is about the same as other professionals with the same amount of education.) Top performing countries have less standardized testing and more focus on creativity and critical thinking. These countries invest in early childhood education and much of this education is play-based learning, which is how children learn best. This is important. When children start school not ready to learn or who have not been read to or had much oral communication over the course of their lives, they start school already behind their peers. Even with excellent teaching, it will take time to close those gaps between them and their peers. In high performing countries, education is highly valued and parents actively support their children's learning. Respectfully, it is being made more difficult for parents to value education and educators when, sadly, there are many politicians saying and doing things that undermine both. In addition, high performing schools have more equity in education. School funding is spread more evenly instead of relying heavily on local property taxes. This is not the case in Texas. They also provide early interventions to ensure no child falls behind. Sadly, with no raise to the basic allotment since 2019, interventionists and librarians are two of the positions being considered for cuts in my district. We need more help, not less. The best thing you can do for Texas children is to fully fund and improve public schools, not fund an additional system that costs an additional billion dollars and is expected to rise to five billion in year five. As George Washington once said, "Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience." Every day, we tell our students to do the right thing "even when no one is watching". I am asking you to do the same thing, but Texans are watching. Let's work together to strengthen public schools. All children, not a select few, are depending on you.

Emily Hermans

self, educator

Austin, TX

As a public school parent and as someone who went through public schools in Texas as a child myself, I am deeply disappointed in the Republicans pursuit of a voucher program through HB3. This will take money directly out of our public school systems, which need is desperately, and put it in the pockets of wealthy families to send their children to the private schools that they already attend and pay for. This is a disservice to all Texans and will have devastating impact on the educational prospects of our students. Texas already lags behind most other states in educational outcomes, because of the lack of investment on the part of our legislature to ensure the best possible opportunities for students. I oppose HB3 and encourage any lawmaker who is looking out for the best interests of all Texans--something that you claim to do--to also oppose it.

Susan Scott

Self

Snyder, TX

I am 100% AGAINST using my tax money to fund any type of charter school, private school, or homeschool. It is the state's job to fund public schools for the good of society.

Yolanda Figgs

AFT CyFair

Cypress, TX

No

Ashley McCormack, Mrs.

Self and teacher

Blossom, TX

Stop Vouchers

Debra Decker, Mrs

Self/ public school teacher.

San Angelo, TX

I am extremely worried about funding for public education. My classroom has mechanical problems from old HVAC system that needs replacing, ceiling leaks, door won't seal, original plumbing and electrical from 1960 when the building was constructed. Our buildings need serious help and my salary after 33 years teaching CTE is pathetic. Public education needs a serious infusion of money and savings accounts scare my profession.

Lisa Johnson

Self

Claude, TX

Please do not vote for school vouchers. Rural public schools will suffer because the majority of rural schools do not have private schools close to them. Our rural public schools are also the heart of our communities. As a public school teacher for the last 31 years, our public school students deserve better from Texas. We work our tails off to provide the very best education for our students and those that vote for vouchers are letting them down. Please say NO to vouchers.

Lauren Benner

Self / Elementary Reading Language Arts Coordinator

Midlothian, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

I strongly urge you to oppose any efforts to implement Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) in Texas. ESAs divert taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools, weakening the education system that serves the vast majority of Texas students.

Public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education to all children regardless of background, ability, or financial means. Instead of funneling money into unaccountable private institutions, we should be fully funding our public schools, increasing teacher pay, and ensuring all students have access to quality education.

ESAs lack transparency and accountability, allowing public funds to be used for private schooling, homeschooling, and even unregulated education expenses without clear oversight. This opens the door for fraud and misuse, while leaving many students—particularly those in rural and underserved areas—without real educational options.

Texans deserve a strong public school system that benefits all students, not a voucher-style program that prioritizes a select few. Please stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting ESAs and investing in the future of every Texas child.

Meagan Nelson, Mrs.

Self, home maker, home educator

Mount Pleasant, TX

I do not support HB3. I do not support government intervention in our private schools. I do not support autonomy taken away from private schools. I am not in support of anything within HB3, most notably the inclusion of homeschoolers. I don't want homeschoolers touched by this bill or any future legislation whatsoever. There does not need to be a new budget created to subsidize private school tuition. I am concerned that there is no cap on the proposed budget. I am disturbed that poverty level income is described as being so high in this bill - that does not make sense. I want to be clear that I will not vote for any representative in any future election who votes in favor of HB3, any school choice legislation, or any ESA or voucher program. Respectfully, HB3 is trash.

Andrea Mercer
self
Montgomery, TX

Hello, my name is Andrea Mercer. I am contacting you regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." I would like to ask Representative Bell to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you!

Nova Olson, Mrs
Self
Godley, TX

This bill as written is wholly problematic.

1. This expands government by creating new reporting, new positions within the Comptrollers office, new analysis needs, etc.

2. This bill provides funds for a VERY small number of students. This leaves the current system STILL VERY BROKEN.

Students are failed by the current system and there is NO REMEDY in place and doesn't appear there will be for quite some time. This is UNACCEPTABLE.

3. This does not help public schools with funding (where the MAJORITY will stay) and therefore doesn't help the many great teachers who will STILL be left with inadequate funds to teach with. Teachers are already so burdened with testing requirements and endless administrative duties that their ability to teach creatively and effectively is decimated. The TEA is horrible. Morath needs to be fired. The TEKS effectively destroy the profession of teaching. Recently a doctorate student in Texas wrote a scathing dissertation about the TEA. They had her paper embargoed for TWO years. ZERO accountability.

Teachers are faced with innumerable problems and this bill will only exacerbate the problematic educational system in Texas. This is incredibly expensive. With property taxes out of control, Texas property owners are maxed out. People are losing their homes because of the lust for more money.

THIS HAS TO STOP.

Our college system is in a shambles. It's a money grab instead of a education. Tarleton's education & nursing program, part of A & M for goodness sakes, is in chaos. Schools are partnering w schools where kids are going and the schools are failures. We are failing our kids on ALL fronts!!!

Stop this and rewrite. Period

Anne Howell
Self
Dallas, TX

You've heard from your constituents: Texans do NOT want vouchers! You represent us, not out-of-state megadonors. Say NO to Abbott's corrupt for-the-wealthy-only scheme.

Mayra Olivares-Urueta
Self
Arlington, TX

This will not help our public schools or students!!! Do not move this forward!!!

Michelle Muecke
Self
Houston, TX

I oppose this bill because it will gut public education and ALL kids deserve a quality education.

Monica Barroso

Self

Sugar Land, TX

Public schools are the foundation of our communities, providing all students—regardless of background or income—with access to quality education, resources, and opportunities. Fully funding public education ensures smaller class sizes, well-trained teachers, up-to-date materials, and enrichment programs that benefit every child.

Voucher programs, on the other hand, divert public funds to private schools, many of which are not held to the same standards of accountability, inclusivity, or transparency. These programs weaken our public schools by draining much-needed resources, leaving the majority of students with fewer opportunities.

Instead of siphoning taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we must invest in strengthening our public schools. Every child deserves a fully funded, high-quality education—not just those who can afford private tuition. Let's stand together to protect and support our public schools. Say no to vouchers and yes to a stronger future for all students.

Cheryl Hassell

Self, Retired teacher

Keller, TX

Do not use my tax dollars to subsidize private education for anyone that can afford to pay. Do not use my tax dollars for schools that do not openly accept ANY student, regardless of political, social, or religious beliefs, regardless of ability and special needs.

Nicole Dickson

self

san antonio, TX

Vouchers are going to hurt the poor the most and their access to education and subsequently their ability to lift themselves out of poverty. Vote no on vouchers.

Anna Winterbottom, Mrs.

Self/retired educator

Sandia, TX

Please do not pass the voucher bill. It is not a good fit for public education. I feel our governor is trying to please his wealthy constituents. He's been keeping money for public education hostage for several years. He's acting like a spoiled child who wants his way. He is a disgrace to public education.

Melody Kolb

Self

Comanche, TX

I am against ESA because private schools and homeschoolers do not have to abide by the same rules that public schools do. Get rid of STAAR and let teachers teach again! Fully fund public schools first!

Alison Potter, Teacher

Plano Isd

Richarsson, TX

I just don't understand why you don't want to support our children and teachers . As desperately need a raise and this voucher program is awful. There is no way this will work . Again , the governor just wants to help the rich and the heck with the poor. It's so sad to hate those that need help .

Lori Muecke
Self
Houston, TX

I am wholeheartedly opposed to an educational voucher program. It is a clear scam to further separate the 'haves' and 'have nots', giving additional advantages to those who have wealth. How did we get a point in society where we don't care about the quality of EVERY child's education. If we want to be leaders on the world stage, whether that is as a beacon for freedom or economically, then we need a well-educated citizenry.

Jayne Serna
Self
Leander, TX

Hello House Education Committee,

Thank you for your desire to serve the state of Texas and your constituents. I do not believe that ESAs should be created until our current public school funding system (recapture, deficit budgets, underfunding special education) is fixed, the basic allotment is adjusted at least to meet inflation, and Texas funds public schools above 40th in the country. Let's fully fund our public schools!

Many thanks,
Jayne Serna
Taxpayer and educator

Renece Weathersby, Reverend AFT- Cyfair ISD Houston, Texas
Houston, TX

The Gregg Abbott's Voucher Scam is just that. It does not benefit the public education nor families who are not billionaires who can afford to pay for private education and the difference using the vouchers. The vouchers defund public education and the welfare of our children, and teachers lives.

Stephanie A Silva
Self/Special education teacher assistant
Grand Prairie, TX

I do not like the voucher idea. This agenda is not going to benefit the average or special education student. Abbott wants this so badly only for his own personal agenda. He does not care about jobs lost to lifetime public service school staff or the students that will lose out because of this. He has already caused significant damage to the public schools by throwing a tender tantrum and withholding public school funds until he bullied everyone into getting his way.

Fred Weaver, Mr
Self
Helotes, TX

Please do not fund Vouchers. Fully fund public Education. Retired School Superintendent.

William Fagelson, Dr.
Myself
Austin, TX

I want to register my strong opposition to the proposed school voucher program. Every state that has implemented this scam has found that it is an abject failure, unless the goal is to further damage our public schools. This scheme does nothing to help working class families afford a private education and everything to subsidize those who can already afford it. In turn, those who do use the program have worse results academically than those who stay with their public schools. Please show some common sense and stop this scam from ever seeing the light of day.

Sharon Evans

SELF

Early, TX

NO TO ALL VOUCHER BILLS

Charles Kirk

Self, Teacher, Career and Technology Nederland ISD

Beaumont, TX

I would like to take a moment to state my thoughts, as a public school teacher in the classroom, on HB 3, Educational Savings Account. The bill as written will be detrimental to the public school system in Texas, particularly, Career and Technology Education. Funding for CTE comes directly from student enrollment in these programs and is directly tied to these programs. If the bill is passed without some modifications and protections to public school funding for CTE, enrollment in public schools will definitely be reduced, reducing the number of students enrolled in those programs, which will automatically reduce the funds for those programs. This will put the teachers and staff who teach these subjects at risk of a reduction of force due to the lack of students in those programs. This will in turn affect the workforce that these programs are building and cause Texas to slide backwards in terms of a trained, young, work force. Private schools will not be able to pick-up the loss of those programs.

While it is true that yes, funding for the bill may not be taken directly from public school, it will never the less be taken from public schools in terms of the loss of enrollment, which is where public school system in Texas receives its funding based on the enrollment and attendance of students in that district. With the vouchers, enrollment will be decreased, and funding will be decreased to the public schools as well, so in fact the bill will cut funding to public schools, not increase it.

I submit to you, yes freedom of choice for parents is important and it can be done fairly to all parties concerned, but just not this way, I respectfully ask that the committee table this bill, study the problem at hand, and rewrite the bill where fair and equitable solution can be found and that all parties concerned will have both a gain, as well as a loss in that freedom.

Brittany Gurganus

Self

Abilene, TX

Please listen to the overwhelming majority of Texans. We DO NOT want ESAs. Fund public schools adequately!

Jana Reid

self

GRANBURY, TX

Vouchers are NOT conservative and will not improve student achievement in Texas any more than they've done in any other state. Many counties do not have a private school option. Private schools don't have to enroll every student and cost more than the vouchers/ESAs will provide, so how is a poor student to provide the difference while also paying for uniforms, meals, fees, transportation, etc.? The barely over $200 increase in allotment for public schools is woefully inadequate, continuing to starve the public schools out which has been the MO of the last few years. And yet, public schools like Granbury High where I teach has landed students on TV shows about high school BBQ competitions and offered up to 36 hours of dual credit instruction for students to take to college when they graduate, not to mention AP credit, industry-based certifications, and choirs recognized at the TMEA as honors choirs--the best of the best in the state of Texas. Despite efforts to starve the majority of public schools and their students out, they're flourishing and soldiering on. Please do NOT approve vouchers and continue starving out public education, the hope for the future of our students and the production of workers to build the Texas of our future.

Pam Sellers

Retired teacher

Sulphur Springs, TX

No to ANY vouchers in Tx. Fully fund public schools. Listen to constituents that have repeatedly and strongly opposed these schemes.

Lindy Barnes

Self

Austin, TX

No

Jill Smith

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am a Texan and SUPPORT school choice and vouchers!

Christina Guerra

Self

Houston, TX

!!

Naomi Hurst

Self

Garland, TX

I am writing to ask you to support HB3. My children received a great education in the Richardson School District back in the 90's. Now my grandchildren are in RISD and their mother is a former teacher in the district. The public schools met our families needs for a long time, however, as it is the case for so many children these days, our grandson has been diagnosed with ADHD and despite the best efforts in the public school they were not able to provide the educational experience he needs. Our son made the difficult situation, with great financial burden, to move our grandson to a private school where he is now thriving! These are the kids of families who will benefit from your support of this bill. Thank you for voting to help all types of children and all types of families like ours.

Bria Cirkiel

Self

Austin, TX

NO VOUCHERS - PLEASE SUPPORT OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!!

Kristine Bruening

Self -public school teacher PK3

Austin, TX

Who taught you when you were little for you to be in the seat you are now? It took a seat at a public school to do that.
Remember?

Ashleigh Johnson, Mrs.

Self

Colleyville, TX

As a sixth-generation Texan and a rock-solid conservative, I was raised to believe in fiscal responsibility, local control, and strong communities. That's exactly why I stand against school vouchers—because they violate every one of those principles.

Vouchers aren't about 'choice'—they're about taking our hard-earned tax dollars and handing them over to private schools with no accountability. Schools that can pick and choose their students. Schools that aren't required to accept every child, especially those with special needs. Schools that don't answer to taxpayers like our public schools do.

Let's call this what it is: a government handout to private institutions at the expense of our neighborhood schools, particularly in rural Texas, where public schools aren't just an option—they're the only option. When you strip funding from our local schools, you aren't just hurting kids—you're gutting the heart of our communities. And once those schools close, they're never coming back.

Conservatives don't believe in wasteful spending. We don't believe in government picking winners and losers. And we sure as hell don't believe in undermining the very institutions that built this state. If you claim to back the blue, support small-town Texas, and care about the future of our workforce, then you should be fighting to strengthen public schools—not dismantle them.

The real conservative stance? Fully funding public education, keeping our tax dollars where they belong, and rejecting this reckless voucher scam. Texans are too smart to fall for this. We stand for strong schools, strong communities, and a strong future for every kid in this state—not just the ones who can afford it.

Becky Smith

Self, non profit executive

Houston, TX

I oppose HB 3. I am a parent with a student in public school. I believe vouchers will further divide the "haves" from the "have nots" and do generational harm.

Lisa Savage

Self

Alvin, TX

This Bill is a dismantling of public education, which is the bedrock of our great democracy. There is overwhelming evidence in states who have implemented school vouchers that prove this to be harmful to public school funding, resources, enrichment programs and overall success, with data showing that the vouchers are largely used by higher income households with children who already attend private schools. There are more rural counties in Texas than urban, with no access to private education for those who are most marginalized. This bill is simply theater for representatives to push a partisan initiative that only drives a bigger gulf between low income households and the wealthy. If this Bill is passed, you will be inviting an organized, passionate, blue wave in Texas in retaliation for ignoring your constituents for favor with officials being bought by those who will line their pockets through private education. If you have even a shred of integrity you will vote no on this bill and turn your attention to properly funding our anemic public school systems. Shame is the only viable outcome for any elected official who votes yes on HB3. Instead, you have an opportunity to be a hero for ALL students by creating rich learning environments within our public education system. I implore you to do the right thing and vote no on HB 3.

Addie Elsbecker

Self mom

Austin, TX

This voucher program is a great to the education of the children in Texas, especially the lower class families that depend on public school. If we take away their education and resources we take away the future of America.

Meagen Gumm
Public Schools
Goliad, TX

As a public school parent, I will answer "yes" when asked if our public schools can do better. However, Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) and taking money away from public education in Texas is not the answer. Please, for the sake of our kids and communities vote NO on HB3 and spend your time crafting a thoughtful, well-rounded plan on how to better public education

Robyn Best
Texas Online Prep HS
Rowlett, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Beverly Hurd
Self
Spring, TX

I oppose HB 3. Support our public schools.

Rebecca Humphries
Texas Teacher representing Texas children, educators both current and retired, and schools
Round Rock, TX

Our public schools are amazing places of learning for all students. The programs go beyond just the classroom and stretch into things like science Olympiad, dance and athletics, fine arts programs, and clubs of all kinds to engage students and bring them a sense of belonging (we even have a crochet club at my school). I have been teaching for 22 years, I'm a single mom, and I have poured my life into this work. I already work 2 jobs and am currently trying to make and sell crafts to supplement that further. I am also the Student Council sponsor at my school who sent two brilliant student council members to the capital for the PTSA rally day. They are very concerned and disheartened by what they state government wants to do with the funding of schools. They are frustrated that a voucher program would give more state funds (tax payer money) per student who would attend private school than what is allotted for public school students. They wonder why their state feels they have less value than a private school student? As a teacher who is well versed in the MANY public school choices there already are, I wonder how you can justify this move that actuarial reports showed could bankrupt the TRS retirement we have worked so hard for? Vote against this bill.

Teachers and schools have been demonized long enough. I am tired of being repeatedly "slapped" in the face with talk of how "bad" our public schools are. We work so hard for our students.

Furthermore, if I wanted to buy an expensive new car, I wouldn't ask the transportation department to fund it. It would be MY choice. If parents want to send kids to private school, let them do so on their own dollar.

Final thought: When talking to God (if you believe in Him) or even looking into the eyes of your own children, would you rather say you protected the institutions that support, protect, and love students? Or would you rather tell them that you did a great job spending the money that lobbyists provided so you could help the wealthy get a coupon?

This bill is wrong in every way. Do the right thing. This isn't just a politics thing. It is a soul searching issue of morality. Vote no.

Heather Powell
Self
Cypress, TX

I am not for school vouchers.

Clinton Arias

Self

Lubbock, TX

My name is Clinton Arias, and I am a proud Texas resident and the parent of a public school student in Lubbock. I am writing to strongly urge you to oppose any efforts to implement school voucher programs in our state. As a father, I want my child—and all Texas children—to have access to a strong, well-funded public education system that provides every student with the resources and opportunities they need to succeed.

Voucher programs threaten to divert taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools and into private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability or accessibility. Unlike public schools, which serve all students regardless of ability, socioeconomic status, or background, private schools can pick and choose who they accept. By siphoning funds away from public education, vouchers would further strain resources for the students who need them most—particularly those in rural and low-income communities.

Texas public schools are already facing significant challenges, including teacher shortages, outdated materials, and inadequate funding. Rather than redirecting public money to private schools that are not required to serve students with disabilities or adhere to state curriculum standards, we should be investing in strengthening the schools that educate the vast majority of Texas children. Our teachers deserve better pay, our schools need more resources, and our students deserve a fully funded education system that prepares them for a successful future.

Public education is the foundation of a strong economy and a thriving democracy. Weakening our public school system through voucher programs will only increase educational inequities and limit opportunities for countless Texas families. I urge you to stand with Texas students, families, and educators by opposing any voucher programs that take funding away from our public schools. Instead, I ask that you prioritize policies that support and strengthen our public education system.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Natalie Garcia, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

Education is a right not a privilege and as a longtime resident and taxpayer in Austin Texas I strongly disagree with any private school voucher programs. Our tax dollars should be allocated to properly fund educational materials, safe and functioning facilities and to pay proper living wages those working in public schools. Those who can afford private school are welcome to choose that option but not with my tax dollars.

Brianna Madruga

Self

Austin, TX

I am an Austin resident and have been a proud public school parent and volunteer for 8 years. I am frustrated that HB 3 is being considered for Texas, as it is a blatant effort to defund our public schools. This will negatively impact 5.5 million Texas public school students, all to provide a small subsidy for wealthy families with students who already attend private school. Public funds should ONLY be used to fund public schools. Not only is the voucher amount not even half of what a private tuition costs near me (Private schools in my area are $20k and above), but also many rural communities in Texas don't even have a private school within their area as an option for their students. This issue is non-partisan, both Democrats and Republicans in Texas agree that this voucher bill is a scam to benefit the wealthy. Voucher programs all over the country have failed and are currently being repealed and cancelled (in Nebraska and Illinois). It's also important to note that Greg Abbott has accepted $12 in contributions from Jeffrey Yass, a billionaire Pennsylvania who personally benefits from a voucher program in Texas. Texans deserve fully funded public schools. This should be the priority. We see through this voucher scam and are unwilling to sacrifice great schools for all for a subsidy for the wealthy.

I request that the Committee does NOT allow this bill to move forward. I ask that the Committee instead add an additional $1300 to the per student allotment and invest in the 5.5 million public school students in Texas. What a hero you could be for our community! Thank you.

Kelly Sult

Self, Business Owner/Consultant

Stephenville, TX

I vehemently object to the passage of the School Voucher system in the State of Texas. Parents already have a choice in which school to send their kids to. This is just an attempt to funnel public money to the hands of already wealthy families who can already afford Private schooling. This system will completely DESTROY our honorable system of public education in the state of Texas. Instead, we demand that you fully fund Public Education and Educators and find ways to elevate Texas to the top of the rankings in our country, instead of continuing to undermine our educational system.

Julie Henry

Self, orientation and Mobility specialist (former educator of 20 years)

Jacksonville, TX

I completely opposed the voucher system. I am a former educator of 20 years. I was a special ed teacher, a general ed teacher, a school counselor, a 504 coordinator, an assistant principal, and ran ARD meetings. The voucher system will devastate our education system. It will only help the rich kids. When I was a school counselor and an assistant principal I was in lower income schools. There is no choice in our rural counties. In our more urban counties there is a choice, but many of the middle income families still won't be able to afford it. School choice means that if a student has a disability and the best choice is a charter or a private school then they may not receive services. I am now an orientation & Mobility specialist with a nonprofit. I know multiple students with vision impairments that are not receiving services because they go to Charter or private schools. This will be devastating to our educational system. I was contemplating going back to education this year. If we go to school choice I will not go back and we will lose many more great educators.

Crystal Alarcon

self

Muleshoe, TX

I vote no for vouchers. Does not pertain to Muleshoe Texas. We want a teacher pay raise. Do not take tax payer money for rich students to go to a private school. Schools are safe and Texas schools are the best in the nation!

Maria Person

self, Director

Austin, TX

I am a Texas resident and product of the public education system and urge you to fully fund the public education system and do not use our tax dollars fund private schools. I oppose HB3 and school vouchers and Educational Savings Accounts that take public funding and use it to pay for private education. The schools are not held accountable to the same regulations as the public schools. The money in other states has created budget problems and the funding goes primarily to those who can afford to pay for private school and are already enrolled. Private schools and home schools are able to select and reject students, so are not fulfilling the mandate to educate all Texas children and should not have the funding. Instead, fully fund Texas public schools by raising the basic allotment by at least $1000, tagging the funding to inflation, and making the funding enrollment based. The funding has been stagnant since 2019 while we have had high inflation and the children of Texas need schools funded to provide the mandated education.

Kenneth Nelson

Self

Allen, TX

Please do NOT pass this bill taking funds from public education

Amber Wilson

Self

Dallas, TX

I strongly disagree with this bill's approach to school funding and teacher compensation. It does not adequately address the root causes of educational inequality and may disproportionately impact underfunded districts, particularly rural communities. Additionally, it fails to consider the unique needs of students requiring special services, potentially widening the gap in support for these vulnerable groups.

barbara taylor

Self

Conroe, TX

The negative impact of the school voucher proposals far outweigh the positive. I feel strongly that this is not the right decision for our students.

Whitney Ellis, Mrs.

Self, Realtor

Woodway, TX

As a parent to 3 school aged children, please put money into the teachers' salaries to make our public schools even more admirable and wanted. Until you've sat a day in the life of a teacher filled with children, how can you possibly take money away from public schools when your job is to make public education strong and promising for all? Please say NO to vouchers but yes to our teachers and public schools.

Courtney Mullaney

Public school employee, parent

Fort Worth, TX

Vouchers are in no way the best interest of our state. Our public schools are struggling with the allotment not increasing since 2019 in the face of extreme inflation. School choice already exists for those who want to attend private school, I urge you to stand for the population as a whole, who DOES NOT support vouchers. Please do not vote for this to be created, it is almost universally opposed, please stand for constituents.

Arnetta Murray

Self

Iowa Colony, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed establishment of an Education Savings Account (ESA) program in Texas. While I fully support efforts to improve educational opportunities for all students, I am deeply concerned that this program will divert much-needed public funds away from our public schools, ultimately weakening the education system that serves the majority of Texas students.

Public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing equitable education to students of all backgrounds, abilities, and socioeconomic statuses. By redirecting taxpayer dollars to private and unregulated educational institutions through ESAs, we risk undermining the resources that our public schools desperately need for teacher salaries, special education programs, classroom resources, and infrastructure improvements.

Additionally, ESA programs lack sufficient oversight and accountability, raising concerns about potential misuse of funds and the quality of education provided in non-public settings. Our focus should remain on strengthening public schools by investing in educators, expanding resources, and ensuring that every child, regardless of their zip code, has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to oppose the establishment of an ESA program and instead support policies that reinforce and enhance Texas public schools. Our students, teachers, and communities deserve a fully funded, equitable, and accountable education system that serves everyone fairly.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Casey Sharp

Self

North Richland Hills, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the public school voucher bill currently under consideration. While proponents claim that vouchers expand school choice, the reality is that they divert critical taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools—schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children.

Public funds should be used to support public education, not subsidize private schools that are not held to the same accountability standards. Unlike public schools, private institutions can selectively admit students, discriminate based on income or ability, and operate without the transparency required of taxpayer-funded entities. The voucher program would ultimately widen educational disparities, benefiting wealthier families while leaving behind students in rural and low-income communities who have no access to private schooling options.

Texas public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, meals, special services, and support for all children, regardless of their background or challenges. Instead of siphoning funds away, we should be investing in teacher salaries, infrastructure, and classroom resources to ensure every child receives a quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families, teachers, and students by voting against this harmful bill. Protect our public schools—our children's future depends on it.

Thank you,

Casey Sharp

Concerned and Proud Parent of a Texas Public School Child

Monica Lopez

Self

McKinney, TX

Do not support

Coral Davis

Self senior panel manager

Arlington, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Derek Bridges

Self, engineer.

Austin, TX

I oppose the use of public funding for private school vouchers which will detract from public schools' resources and may benefit certain vested interests.

Lori Kerrigan

SELF

Austin, TX

As a Texas PTA member, I urge you to oppose HB 3 and prioritize adequate funding for public school children! Studies show voucher programs DO NOT equate to improved academic outcomes -HB 3 is NOT a parent choice bill – This bill funds private school selectivity with public money.

Joshua Shankles

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB3. Until public schools are fully resourced we should not be considering diverting public resources to private educational entities.

Sandra Fry

Self

Rowlett, TX

I am not in favor of the education savings account. ALL children need an education from thriving public school agendas that teach a true and diverse curriculum. Teaching only the wealthy in private schools will not accomplish this and promotes illiteracy and uneducated in the majority of Texas families. The allotted amount in the family will hardly cover the huge costs of sending a child to a private school. It would be more conservatively used to educate a larger proportion of students.

Laura Bagheri

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

shannon evans, FNP

self

austin, TX

NO to this bill

Patricia Jolley

Self retired teacher

Bastrop, TX

I oppose HB 3. Keep public money in public schools. Let private money fund private schools.

Maricia Startz

Self

Victoria, TX

I do NOT support HB3. Tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools. Fund public schools!!

Amanda Armbruster
Self - Licensed Professional Counselor
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Andrew Riddle, Sharyland ISD Board Member
Sharyland ISD
McAllen, TX

To the Members of the House Public Education Committee,

According to Don't Defund My Schools, implementing a large voucher program would strip $3.9 million from Sharyland ISD, diverting essential resources from public schools to private institutions that lack public accountability. This could result in the loss of up to 74 teachers, 80,000 fewer library books, and a projected 7.12% increase in student-teacher ratios—all of which would significantly impact students' education.

Even a smaller voucher program would be detrimental to our community. A reduction of $795,000 in funding would mean the loss of 14 teachers and an increase in the student-teacher ratio by 1.10%.

HB 3 does not truly provide parental choice. Instead, it allows private schools to reject students based on disability, race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Section 29.368 of the bill grants private institutions broad authority to turn away students at their discretion, making it likely that many struggling students—those who need the most support—will be left behind. Every child deserves access to a quality education, regardless of background or ability.

Texas already offers school choice through inter-district transfers and public charter schools. Vouchers are not the answer—they do not expand real choice but instead redirect public funds away from the schools that serve all students.

I urge you to fully and appropriately fund our public schools and ensure that public dollars remain in our community schools, where they support every child, not just a select few.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Lisa Wood, VP Digital Solutions
Self
Quinlan, TX

I SUPPORT this education savings account program. The public school system is failing and continuing to not provide proper education. Parents need other choices.

Leo Peters
self
San Antonio, TX

I AM OPPOSED TO any move to take money away from Texas funding of Public Schools.

Georganne Warnock
Self
Terrell, TX

I am opposed to vouchers and any private entity funded with our public tax dollars. Fund our public schools.

Camron Rushin
Self
Austin, TX

Vote no. School vouchers are a scam to siphon money from the poor to pay for the education of the rich. It is also unconstitutional for tax dollars to go toward religious schools.

Christina Mikhail
Self
Austin, TX

I urge you to oppose HB 3 and support Texas public schools. This bill diverts taxpayer dollars from public schools, which educate over 90% of Texas students, to private institutions with little accountability. Schools already facing teacher shortages and rising student needs will be forced to cut programs, increase class sizes, and limit services.

Private schools receiving taxpayer funds are not required to serve all students, follow state curriculum standards, provide performance data, or maintain financial oversight. If public money is being spent, there should be transparency in how it is used. HB 3 lacks that accountability.

While promoted as a "school choice," HB 3 benefits only a small group of families. Vouchers do not fully cover tuition, leaving many working-class and rural families unable to access private schools. Meanwhile, public schools serving most students will be left with fewer resources.

Strong public schools create strong communities. When schools suffer, property values decline, businesses struggle, and workforce development weakens. Texans have consistently rejected voucher schemes, recognizing that public funds should support schools that serve all students. HB 3 threatens that foundation.

I appreciate your time and consideration in protecting Texas public education.

Summer Fuqua
Self
Abilene, TX

I strongly oppose this bill and implore Governor Abbott to fully fund PUBLIC schools. ALL students and teachers deserve to be fully equipped and supported and vouchers is not the way to do it!

Melissa Glouchkova

Self

ROUND ROCK, TX

As a Texan and a tax payer, I DO NOT want my taxes paying for private school vouchers. It is a fundamental right to EVERY child and citizen of this state to have access to quality education. Vouchers will only destroy smaller communities, endanger our communities by creating low level competencies, shame those with disabilities who can be discriminated against, enhance the wealthy who are already able to afford luxuries such as private schools, and divide our state even further. They are unlawful and the rhetoric being spewed behind these vouchers is nothing but false and propaganda.

I AM AGAINST VOUCHERS AND MY TAXES BEING USED FOR SUCH!

Melissa Glouchkova

Lynn Blair

None

Conroe, TX

I am an advocate for public schools and therefore I am strongly opposed to this voucher bill.

Christine Zimmer

Self

Willis, TX

As a parent of two boys with intellectual disabilities and severe autism, I oppose House Bill 3. Do not take public tax dollars to fund schools that will not accept my sons. Use tax dollars to FULLY fund our public schools.

Jessica Campos, Mom

Self

Houston, TX

My name is Jessica Campos, and I am a parent in Houston ISD. I keep hearing that 'parents know best,' but let me tell you the truth—many of us don't always know, not because we don't care, but because we are struggling to survive in this economy.

Many of us are working nonstop, sometimes two or three jobs, just to put food on the table. We don't have the bandwidth to research every policy change, every school rating, every so-called 'choice' you claim to give us. Some of us don't even have internet at home. Some of us don't have cars to drive our kids across town. And what happens when we finally do find a school we think could help? If our child has a disability, they can just say no. Private schools don't have to take our kids. They don't have to provide bilingual education. They don't have to offer special education services.

So tell me—who does this really help? Because it's not families like mine. HISD is 50% Spanish-speaking, yet most of our parents have never even heard of 'school choice' because no one is explaining it to them. If you really cared about helping us, you would come into our communities, talk to our parents in our language, and ask what we actually need.

I am one of these parents. I have a child with special needs, and I am fighting every single day to get her the education she deserves. Instead of making public schools stronger, you are forcing families like mine into a system that wasn't built for us. Vouchers don't help when private schools can turn our kids away. 'School choice' isn't real when it only works for the privileged few.

What we need is investment in public schools, not a system that pushes out the families that need them the most.

Lawrence Ford
Self Retired Banker
Bryan, TX

Public schools are for ALL students in our state. They have strict rules and regulations and high accountability standards that private schools and homeschooling do NOT have. Private schools and homeschooling are choices parents make when they don't want their children to "associate with regular students" who attend public school. Please vote AGAINST this bill and keep our state funding where it belongs-in public schools. Also, our governor and his major donors should NOT benefit financially from this bill!

Sandra Wilson
Self
Southlake, TX

I would like it to be known that I oppose HB3 and school vouchers which will take money from public schools and given to wealthy families who are already sending children to private schools. All 3 of my sons are dyslexic and I fear that programs like Language Science will be cut when funding for public schools transfers to private. HB3 does not respect the separation of state and church which is becoming more frightening each and every day.

.ary Emily Schultz, Ms
My grandsons!
Houston, TX

I fully support Public Education. Therefore , I oppose, and want YOU to oppose HB 3.

Laura Pillow
self, homemaker
Lantana, TX

I am against HB3, as are most Texans. This harms our public schools, which are already severely underfunded. Please use our tax dollars to adequately fund our public schools instead.

Beth Hatla
Self, Retired Teacher
Victoria, TX

I am a retired Texas public school teacher who strongly opposes private school subsidies, also known as the education savings account program. Early in my career, in the 1980s, there were already people who were laying out the groundwork for this scam. I think they had some good points but did not fully realize to what extent this sort of program could be or would be perverted to the will of disingenuous and deceitful people who would turn it into a money-grab. I strongly believe private school subsidies are wasteful, inefficient, and unfair to the families of this state. Our future depends on a free public education available to ALL students. I believe our public school system, if fully funded and loved, can be the BEST in our country, IF only you will be brave and honorable in VOTING No to HB3 and moving forward with rigorous intent. Thank you.

Ying Jia
Self
Keller, TX

I am writing to oppose HB3. The school voucher will put the public schools in a dangerous situation for fund. Without the regulation on the private schools, the money from school voucher may not be used wisely and appropriately.

Michael Williams
Self
Humble, TX

I do not support this bill and it should be voted No

Emily Cowart

Self

Denton, TX

Vote no

Roxann Morris

Teachers

Shallowater, TX

No vouchers!!

Serena Ahmed-Arroyo

Self

New Braunfels, TX

I am a New Braunfels constituent staunchly against this bill. This is a scam to benefit people already in private schools, not lower income communities. Our public schools will lose funding because of this bill. Why are we letting out-of-state billionaires primary out Republicans who were against vouchers? Texans made it clear for years now that we do not want vouchers in our state. Yet, we are letting out of state billionaires decide what happens here. Please vote against this bill.

Aitu Taube, Business owner

Self - business owner

Houston, TX

To the members of the committee:

I am a business owner and mother of two public school children. I am strong believer in and supporter of public schools in my community, because strong public schools make for a vibrant and fiscally strong community. Good public schools increase property values, which in turn increase property tax revenue, which SHOULD BE FED BACK INTO THE SCHOOLS....NOT INTO PRIVATE EDUCATION that serve a fraction of the community. Beyond this basic belief there are multiple reasons I do not support this bill:

1. Public schools must adhere to various subject curricula approved by the state. Private schools will not be verified if they adhere to the same standards in the TEKS.
2. Public schools and their districts are given “report cards,” but private schools won’t have them.
3. The public elects boards of trustees to select a superintendent, set a budget and create policies that support enforcement of state and federal education laws. Again, will private schools be required to be transparent and will those tax dollars from vouchers be properly accounted for?
4. Public schools are required to take in any student at any point in the school year. Private schools limit enrollment numbers and limit enrollment periods to the semester before the new year starts.
5. Under current law, students with special needs must be supported with personnel and equipment where required. There is no such requirement for private schools. In fact, they can tell the parent that they do not have the ability, nor will they acquire the necessary personnel or equipment to assist a severely handicap child.

Our family has chosen private school at various times in our kids’ education but that is our choice and I DO NOT expect or support tax dollars being stolen from public coffers to pay for this choice.

Public schools in Texas have not been fully – and adequately- funded since at least 1999. Parents and teacher organizations have been there to fill the gap in my community but it is time for that to change.

I urge all of you to vote down this voucher scheme because it is against the values of Texas. Look at our constitution for the state. It talks about fully funding our public schools, not giving tax dollars without accountability and transparency, to private schools.

Vote this down and end this.

Thank you.

Feel free to contact me, and if you want, I can come down to Houston and have a conversation with any of you. If you come, you will see my face on every public school in the community. I put my hard earned business dollars back into our public schools because I believe education is a RIGHT for all and not a privilege for some.

Sincerely,
Aitu Taube

Paula Barnes
Red Oak ISD
Burleson, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill. Thank you!

Charlene Fowler
Self
Canton, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Jeremy Anderson
Self
Corpus Christi, TX

Vouchers are bad for the public education system as a whole. They will be bad for the solvency of our retirement system. They move public funds without transparency or equivalent accountability. Vote NO!

Lauren Henry Wolf
Leander ISD teachers
Austin, TX

As a public school teacher in Leander ISD, I am against school vouchers being used to fund public/private charter schools in Texas. Please instead increase the standard allotment funding per student to help better fund our public schools.

Jacob Heller

Self

Victoria, TX

I do not agree with this bill. I am not for it. I am against it. Parents already have a choice as to where to send their kids. You all are dictating what the public schools can/can't do. But without the proper funding, how do you expect them to do their jobs appropriately. Please vote AGAINST HB3!!!

Michele Thompson

Self/Realtor

Burleson, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children.

Jennifer Bundy

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am adamantly opposed to SB 3 and any voucher system which will use funds that should be allocated to public schools.

Paola Baradello

Self

Austin, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Paola

Mary DuPont

Self

Wolfforth, TX

I strongly disagree with this bill's approach to school funding and teacher compensation. It does not adequately address the root causes of educational inequality and may disproportionately impact underfunded districts, particularly rural communities. Additionally, it fails to consider the unique needs of students requiring special services, potentially widening the gap in support for these vulnerable groups.

Jennifer Richardson

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Education Committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Jen Richardson

Janet Beavan

Self

Plano, TX

I am against this bill!!

Mary Moran
Self, Nurse Practitioner
Conroe, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely, Mary Moran

Celeste Quesada
Casa Suerte
Austin, TX

What's this about an out-of-state billionaire giving Greg Abbott $12 million to pass a private school voucher bill? I have a sister and other family members that have been teachers. I've also got two kids going through the public education system. I vote and I am for Public School Education.

Kerry McEniry
Personal family - attorney
Houston, TX

My household includes two voting adults and two school age children. We support public education and believe the state should adequately fund our public schools. The voucher program is a terrible concept and we do not support it because of how much funding it will remove from our public schools.

Rache Ritter
Self
Angleton, TX

Chairman Buckley and Honorable Members of the House Public Education Committee, My name is Rachel Ritter, and I am writing to express my strong support for Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). Growing up, I lived off the 610 Loop in Houston, in a neighborhood that wasn't the nicest but wasn't the worst. One of my best friends at the time was my neighbor, Darlene. We were zoned to a high school that consistently ranks in the bottom quartile of Texas high schools, with academic performance significantly below state and district averages on STAAR End-of-Course exams. The school's four-year graduation rate ranges from 75.6% to 86.7%—lower than both the state and district averages—and its dropout rate was higher, ranging from 3.5% to 6.4%. Over 90% of students qualified for free or reduced-price lunch. My parents were deeply concerned that I wouldn't receive the quality education needed to go to college or build a successful future. At the time, our only real options were to move to a different neighborhood or pay for private school. Fortunately, through their hard work and sacrifice, my parents were able to send me to a private school. Darlene didn't have that option. She and her brother lived with their elderly grandparents, who simply couldn't afford private school tuition. As a result, Darlene attended our local high school, while I went on to graduate in the top 10% of my private high school class and earn a substantial academic scholarship to a university. I often wonder how Darlene's life might have been different if she had the same educational opportunities I did. Sadly, circumstances and something as arbitrary as a zip code determined our futures. With the passage of ESAs, stories like ours don't have to repeat. Every Texas student—regardless of background or income—will have the opportunity to succeed. Low-income families already demonstrate high utilization rates for educational choice programs. For example, Texas charter schools primarily serve low-income neighborhoods—half of charter school students come from areas with a median income of less than $54,000 a year. Yet, the demand for charter schools far outstrips supply, with over 66,500 children currently on waitlists. Also, it's clear that Texas students are struggling like those currently attending my zoned public high school. According to the Nation's Report Card, only 23% of Texas 8th graders—and just 17% of low-income students—are proficient in reading. This ranks Texas 42nd in the nation. In contrast, Florida—once ranking 33rd in reading and 27th in math—now ranks #1 in both, thanks in large part to the implementation of ESAs. Expanding educational options through ESAs will ensure that every child in Texas has access to a world-class education and the chance to reach their full potential. I strongly urge you to support educational savings accounts. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Antonia Guerra-Watson, Dr
Self psychologist
Southlake, TX

Texas public schools are a valuable, essential resource for our children, families and communities. They deserve to be fully funded and supported by the Texas government. No funds should be diverted in any way from public schools to private institutions.

Debbie Kines, Mrs.
Djksel
CANTON, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Christiana Sherrill

self/editor

Dallas, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,
Christiana

Jennifer Svedersky

Self, photographer

Austin, TX

Please do not use public funds to support private schools. Our state has underfunded public schools for years, and then our leaders complain about the quality of public education. Let's use our rainy day fund and the surplus to shore up public education rather than create something new. The proposed $10K voucher won't even cover private school tuition at the best schools, and doesn't cover transportation. This reeks of "Tax cuts for the rich."

Hadassa Pam
Self / Regional Manager of Development
Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Gail Chancellor
Self
Woodway, TX

I support public schools and teachers. I do NOT support HB 3 or voucher programs.

Margaret Parkhill
Self
San Antonio, TX

Just say no to vouchers! Try properly funding schools! Stop resegregation!

Natalie Weimer, Ms
None
Fort Worth, TX

As a parent in Fort Worth, Texas, I believe that public schools are the backbone of our community and a significant economic driver. I absolutely reject any type of voucher program for Texas.

Lynn Phillips
Self
Haltom City, TX

I am opposed to HB3 because it will fund private schools with little or no oversight by elected officials, but receiving funds from Texas taxpayers. We pay taxes for the good of ALL Texans, which include many different faiths, different philosophies, and a wide range of educational techniques. Texas families already have the choice of schools and homeschooling. Every family can choose the PUBLIC school that fits their lifestyle and goals for their children. In PUBLIC schools, we are assured the teachers are qualified and safe. Private schools have no such guarantee. We risk children being taught radical philosophy that will be the antithesis of "good for all" I do not want my tax dollars going to religious schools whose whole purpose is to steer students to a particular way of life that may or may not enhance public life. Vouchers will deplete fine arts programs and special education. Private schools are not required to accommodate anyone and choose their own admission standards that exclude many Texans, regardless of financial consideration. I believe this will lead to the most vulnerable being disregarded in education.

For these reasons, and more, I oppose taxpayers subsidizing private schools as well as homeschooling. Raise the pay of our teachers to a minimum of $70,000, and you will attract the best personnel to the enhancement of EVERY student, the state of Texas, the USA, and the world. Make Texas the envy and example for every state of the Union. Our public schools should be the best in the United States. Now THAT is something for Texans to brag about!

Nicholas Scott, Rev.

Self, United Methodist Pastor

Fort Worth, TX

My name is Rev. Nick Scott and I serve as a pastor in the United Methodist Church. I am also a parent to an 8th grade public school student in Fort Worth ISD. I am writing to argue against any bill that would institute a school voucher program for Texas.

I do not believe that the school vouchers would be beneficial to the majority of Texas youth or their families. The vast majority of those who would benefit from it already have access to private school education and the means to pay for it. Furthermore, examples from other states who have implemented school vouchers reveal that access to more money for private schools has resulted in those private schools raising their tuition making private school just as unaffordable for those who already can't afford it. This school voucher program would benefit the most wealthy and harm our most marginalized.

I have heard the Governor of our state suggest that public schools will not lose any funding. But this just isn't true. If there are less students in public schools, they will receive less funding as a result. Ramifications include closing of school campuses, smaller workforce, and more crowded classrooms. This will not help public schools to succeed.

The figures I have seen also suggest that should school vouchers pass, the state taxpayers will be giving more money per student to private school students than we will for public school students. Its strange that we would consider a private school student to be more valuable than a public school student.

As a pastor, I also strongly believe in the separation of church and state. I do not believe that public money should be used to support private schools, many of which are religiously affiliated.

I hope that we both agree that we want to see public schools serve Texas and its children well! We probably both agree that there is room for improvement within public schools. Public schools would have the best chance to succeed if they had a partners in the the Texas legislature and the governor's office rather than having opponents who have given up on them. Expecting improvement while at the same time robbing them of resources is not a good way forward. I encourage you to support what is best for most Texans and their communities. Support public education. Say no to vouchers.

Irene Glover

Plano ISD PTA

Plano, TX

I am writing to plead with the legislature to oppose this bill and instead fund public schools with a minimum increase of $750-1000 per student. Public schools are one of the most valuable and impactful services in our community. Please consider the needs of many over the select few. The money that the governor is trying to push to private schools could do so much good in the public schools. More so than ever our public schools are staffed by teachers who care and want to be there. So many have left because of the governor's freeze on funding. Their jobs are so much harder than they used to be due to the constraints they have been put under by not increasing funding since 2019. Those who have stayed have done so for the love of the children they teach. We should increase their resources instead of diverting some of those resources away to public schools that cannot and will not accept every child. Those with special needs that are the most vulnerable will be among those most hurt by this bill, as schools are faced with cutting needed services due to lack of appropriate funding. We should be supporting those who provide accessible services to all, not earmarking millions to benefit one small group of mostly privileged families. It is a shame that our governor is pushing to take money and services away from the vast majority of Texas children.

Sabrina Tidwell, Ms

Self

Corsicana, TX

No vouchers. Public school should be supported better

Smita Ramagiri, Mrs

Self

Austin, TX

Public schools need all funds

David Kennedy

Self and my children

Conroe, TX

I strongly urge you to oppose HB 3 and any efforts to implement a school voucher program in Texas. Vouchers divert critical public funds away from our already underfunded public schools, weakening the education system that serves the vast majority of Texas students. Instead of increasing educational opportunities, vouchers primarily benefit private schools that are not held to the same accountability standards, do not guarantee student protections, and often exclude students with disabilities or special needs. Public tax dollars should be invested in strengthening our public schools—ensuring smaller class sizes, higher teacher salaries, and better resources for all students—rather than subsidizing private institutions with little oversight. Please prioritize the future of Texas children by rejecting HB 3 and keeping public funds in public schools.

Jackie Guerrero

Self/ Teacher

Plainview, TX

I worked for child protective services for 10 years before I became a teacher. Teachers need a raise, support and not testing. We don't need vouchers, we need staff and parents to get involved with their child's education. We don't need money for private schools, we need public school funds to be released. Teachers deserve more, the students and families deserve more! Texas should give more and do better!!

Pamela Jones, Ms.

Self/Retired Educator

Caldwell, TX

I spent my entire teaching career in a private school setting. I firmly believe that private schools should be funded by the parents/guardians of their students and NOT by the State. I believe that public education is just that— for the public. State money should be directed at improving the quality of established public schools that exist to educate all students, regardless of socioeconomic status. Teacher salaries and benefits should be increased as well.

Yehudah Abrams

self

DALLAS, TX

Bring Texas back to the forefront of educational choice and value. Please vote in favor of the ESA program. Thank you for your time and effort.

Sarah Carrasco

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and I'm against school vouchers

Chyenne Degelman

self

Austin, TX

Vote NO- I think I put the comment in the wrong bill at first.

Callie Ryan self/ SAHM
Austin, TX

As a parent of two public school elementary students, I believe that while vouchers may seem appealing, they ultimately undermine families like mine.

We recently explored private middle school options and found the process misleading and manipulative. If schools come to view families as consumers, rather than community members, I envision a mountain of brochures on family dining room tables, calls for a multitude of school tours during work days and weekends, and families knowing all the while that they are being fed stories spun by marketing professionals (paid for with voucher/tax dollars.) In an education marketplace, without standardized metrics to make informed comparisons, families cannot effectively evaluate schools without having to navigate a mire of promotion and spin. And once they are at a school, how can they trust that their students aren't consistently viewed through a marketing and retention lens, which often favors optics over true growth (and may even abandon students with challenges)?

More concerning is the instability this system would create. Great schools are communities, not educational products, and that is why a competitive marketplace model doesn't work for schools. Instead of lasting communities, I foresee a revolving door of students and teachers at Texas schools, while families and staff feel compelled to constantly comparison-shop for school upgrades and try to find "an even better fit" for the following year. Gone will be the days when kids get to know their classmates and neighbors for years.

In a world where community ties are already fraying, our neighborhood public schools provide families with stability and connection, and steer us all away from our self-selected enclaves, back into public life.

Public schools unite neighborhoods and provide clarity and consistency for families. We need well-funded schools with clear standards, not a chaotic marketplace that forces parents to shop for an education "product" rather than rely on a learning community. As a ninth-generation Texas family, we are proud of our public schools and believe in the value—and imperative—of public education for Texans. We urge you to protect its future by ensuring adequate funding.

Mary Nokes
Wren Nokes Therapy
Austin, TX

Many school districts like Austin Independent School District are suffering because their funding is distributed and doesn't stay in Austin. They need each child to attend public school to be able to improve the quality of education services and infrastructure. Teachers across the state need pay raises to ensure hiring and retention of the best in their field. Vouchers take away from this need and the population using vouchers are upper and middle class citizens. We need the same opportunities offered to our low SES students and families.

Machaela Zellmer
Self; Teacher of Students with Visual Impairments, Certified Orientation and Mobility Specialist
Goliad, TX

I live in a rural Texas community and work for a Special Education Cooperative that serves students needing special education services in 10 rural school districts. Our schools are already struggling. None of the campuses I serve have been fully staffed in years. We do the best we can for our students with the scraps we are given. This will kill our small school districts and possibly even our communities. I urge you to vote NO!!! Texas students and Texas teachers deserve better!

Rebecca Miller, Mrs
Self; homeschooling mother of 8
Tomball, TX

I am against HB3, as I would like to keep Texas homeschooling as it is, with no strings attached.

DaBraylon Elliott
Self Full-Time Student
Tyler, TX

I strongly disagree with this bill's approach to school funding and teacher compensation. It does not adequately address the root causes of educational inequality and may disproportionately impact underfunded districts, particularly rural communities. Additionally, it fails to consider the unique needs of students requiring special services, potentially widening the gap in support for these vulnerable groups.

Debbie Temple
Self
Ovilla, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Torrey Venable-Frey
Self
Austin, TX

Do not pass vouchers. Our schools are already hurting for funding, this will be detrimental to the success of public schools. Texas already has one of the lowest funding per student rates, you cannot take more and expect Texas children to get a decent education. Do not hurt the masses for the few. We could afford to send our kids to private schools and don't because we value public education. Please show the same by voting against HB 3 and no to vouchers. Project the education of Texas children.

KATELYN DARCY
Self- operations manager
Humble, TX

Taxpayer money should be funding PUBLIC SCHOOLS, PUBLIC EDUCATION. This bill is LARGELY unsupported by republican constituents, and almost universally unsupported by Democrat constituents.....WHY are the representatives ignoring the will of the people to push this through? Every taxpayer should want better PUBLIC education accessibility for students, and the ramifications of this bill will do exactly the opposite.

Sarah Miller, ms
self
Austin, TX

There is not enough money to take from public schools to fund this. THIS WILL RAISE TAXES!!! It will hurt rural communities the worst where private schools are not an option. Please stop this bill!

Eva Porras
Self
Humble, TX

I oppose HB3. I want to keep funding public schools. I want my taxpayer money to go towards public education. They don't get enough funding as it is.

Jody Johnson, Ms.

Self

Dallas, TX

I strongly oppose the bill to provide private school vouchers. We already have choice. This will make it harder for children with developmental and other learning issues to get a good education. Other states like Arizona have had vouchers in place and it is bankrupting the state.

Leslie Moree-Kerin

Self

Leander, TX

I am AGAINST HB3. Put the money back into the public schools. We need the best public schools for our students. This will benefit the whole state.

Stefanie Hansen

Self

Flower mound, TX

Vote no for HB 3. Vouchers will not solve the issue and will only make things worse long term. We should be increasing funding for our public schools to help teachers and students thrive.

Tina Haney

Self

Mabank, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Jennifer Davenport

Self

The Woodlands, TX

Please, no, for the sake of public schools. This will hurt the majority of parents and students in Texas, so I'm not sure why it's even up for consideration.

Public schools need more funding.

Private schools do not serve everyone.

Educating everyone is in the best interest of all. I believe that was established early on in our nation. It's what made this country great!

Kellye McGarry

Self

Richardson, TX

Dontdefundmyschool.com

Joann Subia

Self

Odessa, TX

I am AGAINST school vouchers! Do your job and fund our public schools fully. Period. You are NOT God around here. You cannot will this to happen. We don't want your classist vouchers.

Margitta Rawlings

Self/Army Veteran

Paige, TX

I believe it is a parents right to choose how their child or children are educated. That includes their religious education.

Sarah Gregory

Self, teacher

Round Rock, TX

Vote no on HB3. We need fully funded public schools for our children. School districts in our area have large budgetary deficits due to years of inaction by our state legislature. Programs, services, and staff are being cut at our public school. Class sizes are larger than ever, and special education staff is stretched thin. School district leaders are making difficult choices on what to cut now when so many programs have already been cut. Our children deserve better. My child's GT services are provided by parent volunteers because GT services have been cut at her school. My other daughter's teacher has over 22 students in her first grade classroom. Our children are truly our future and they deserve better. It is by no means fair or equitable to provide more state funds for private school tuition than we would provide for a student attending a Texas public school. Only Public schools are equipped to provide the range of services (special education, dyslexia, English learner supports) that our children need. Further, private school do not face the same accountability and scrutiny. They do have elected boards nor do they disclose the same information as public schools. We need the support of our legislators to save Texas schools. This bill is not an efficient or good use of tax payer money. Do right by our kids and fully fund Texas public schools, and reject this wasteful use of funds that will benefit children from wealthy families.

Gordon Taylor

Self

New Braunfels, TX

Allocating tax money for private school vouchers is not conservative, it isn't small government, it broaches church and state. I have not voted in a local election, but if this goes through I will be registering to vote out any and all I can who helped make it happen. This hurts teachers for one, but worse it hurts millions of kids.

Yolanda Sampson

Self

Grand Prairie, TX

Dear Representative,

As a taxpayer in the State of Texas, I do NOT want an Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) Program. I pay my public tax dollars and, therefore, want my money to Fund Public Schools in Texas. Public school funding has been stagnant since 2019 while we have had inflation of over 20%. Our children and all the educators, and staff, deserve to have the funding. To be clear, I want to reiterate the following:

?
?
?

I do NOT want vouchers/ESAs.

I support an Increase of the Basic Allotment.

I support Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.

Again, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools (not private schools) in the State of Texas.

Sincerely,

Yolanda Sampson

Katie Read

Lubbock ISD/ Special Education Teacher and Mom

Lubbock, TX

As a parent of an Autistic student in Public Education, we have to LOOK at ALL students, not just the “normal” students. They deserve the right to have the same education as everyone around them. If we go to a voucher system, that right is taken away from them. Right now in Lubbock, TX we do not have a PRIVATE school that would accept my son into their school. That is NOT fair for him. As for my daughter she’s on the totally opposite side of education. She is in Gifted and Talented which a program that allows students an outside of the box learning. If I send her to a private school, that’s great for her but how as a 2 teacher salary household am I going to pay that tuition without going into debt or having to take out a loan. There is not enough funding to make vouchers make sense for a family who are not the “rich and wealthy”. We as a state, should be considering ALL families with ALL types of students. Right now that is not happening and it’s very concerning for me as an Educator and as a Parent of a Special Education student. Remember those types of kids deserve EVERY right that other students deserve!!! If we are going to start taking away their rights then we are breaking the FAPE Law and the IDEA law!! Please please please take inconsideration ALL students!!!

Gina Coleman

Self

Leander, TX

Please do not pass HB3!!! I have taught for 23 years and each year gets harder. Please do not add a financial issue to our state/districts. The amount of students with special needs rise every year. We need the money to go toward faculty and staff for public schools so that students that attend public schools can have a quality education. Districts have a hard time keeping teachers and have to hire unqualified people. Public schools needs support in the way of more hands on deck which in turn will help keep teachers.

Thank you for your time.

Arlene Hastings-Hill

Self

Baytown, TX

Please do not vote for school vouchers!!!

Jason Noyes

Self

Aubrey, TX

Please vote NO to vouchers for the great state of Texas! We do not want tax dollars going to private education. Please fund our public schools with tax dollars and give teachers a raise.

AW Wydeven

self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3, which diverts public funds to private schools with little accountability, undermining public education while benefiting a select few instead of strengthening opportunities for all students.

Trisha Lynn

Self

Rockwall, TX

My name is Trisha Lynn. I represent myself, my public school kids, & my husband- an elementary music teacher. We vehemently oppose HB 3. The Trolley Problem is an ethical dilemma meant to spark discussion over choice and decision-making. In the Trolley Problem scenario, you are riding in a trolley that has no brakes while traveling full speed ahead. You must choose to either let the trolley hurt five people standing on the track ahead, or pull a switch to divert the trolley onto a different track upon which only one person stands. What should you do? It's a bit somber to compare the establishment of Education Savings Accounts to the Trolley Problem, so I'll jazz up the metaphor to make it a bit more palatable! Imagine you're riding on a bright & shiny trolley, the ESA Trolley, and it's loaded full of money that was picked up from the Surplus Station! The ESA Trolley is headed straight down a new and pristine track where up ahead there are about 100K students waiting- some from private schools, some from homeschools, and a few from public schools. How exciting for those kids that will be showered with funds from the ESA train- all without any strings attached!! But wait, there's a fork ahead and on the other janky and rusty track are many, many, many more students- about 5.4 million students- all from public schools. They look haggard compared to the smaller group of students located on the nicer track ahead. You must make a decision. Your constituents are screaming at you to pull the switch and divert the trolley and its funds to the larger, more needy group of students. However, you remember that if you deliver the ESA Trolley funds to the smaller group of students then there will be another trolley, called the Too Little, Too Late Trolley coming along right behind you to serve those other kids. The other trolley isn't bright & shiny nor quite as full as the ESA Trolley- relatively speaking- but it's bigger than the previous little trolleys that used to deliver scraps to the students waiting on the rickety tracks. So, you confidently stay on the track that takes the ESA Trolley straight to the small group of students that will benefit from your generosity. For some, it actually is a fresh start, so they understandably jump up with glee! You're proud of yourself because you just saved 2% of all students in the state! Technically, less than 2% because most of them were already CHOOSING to attend private schools and homeschools, but the point is you delivered the most important trolley of all, the ESA Trolley that saved SOME! Woohoo! The other 98% of students have those scraps and leftovers to get by. Dilemma solved. The Trolley Problem has been critiqued for its "unrealistic simplification of moral decision-making" & "lack of consideration for the complexity and diversity of real-life ethical situations." This is how I would describe ESAs. They are not a simple fix, they are not ethical, and the real reason for them is not a moral one. Say no to ESAs

Emily Porter

Self, physician

Georgetown, TX

I am a mother of 4 children in private Catholic school which is a choice I make. However, I'm a huge proponent of the public educational system despite it being grossly underfunded. In fact, our school district, Liberty Hill ISD, has such a large deficit already that they are being forced to go to a hybrid schedule next year with longer school days and many 4-day weeks. They say it is to save money with bussing and teacher retention, but it is very disruptive to families with 2 working parents and very harmful to children who need extra services like speech. We had planned to enroll our kids in public high school, but, due to budget cuts; they cut the gifted & talented programs and many extracurricular activities. Further defunding public schools will harm wealthy and struggling families alike.

Lushia Briggs, Mrs.

Self

Mansfield, TX

Proposing that ANY funding be reappropriated from our public education system is abhorrent and a gross betrayal to the children you all, supposedly, care for. This state is flush. Educational funding should only be increasing. Period. Our teachers already do not make what they deserve in this country and they are further accosted by ridiculous proposals like this. The voucher bill is exactly what the public says it is and very unpopular. We KNOW what quality school districts add to a community that charter schools can't and never will. Please prove me wrong and reject this bill. The only acceptable form is for children to have choice but not at the expense of public education. Our schools are pillars of our communities and, for many of us, why we chose to live where we do. I'm under the impression that you all are scheming to fortify the school to prison pipeline and couldn't care less about less fortunate kids getting the path greased for them. I am sick and tired of not liking y'all. But, every time when it really counts you prove me right. Please, please, please prove me wrong today. My grandmother taught for 30 years in IA. Public education is so important to the fabric of any community. It should be priority and it should insult everyone that it is on the chopping block like we can't afford to do better. How hurtful to educators to be told, basically, 'you're not worth the stretch.' It's gross and wrong and not what I've envisioned the soul of this state to be. We love ALL of our children. We love our educators. We must invest in both across every institution they share. This is a really base thing. Prove me wrong, please. Also? This entry form is crap. I'm sick and would like to look over what I've typed but being limited to 2 lines at a time is a set up. Y'all will just have to deal with the stream of consciousness above. My words are sincere.

Helen Taylor

Self, student

Houston, TX

I am a student at Carnegie Vanguard High School in Houston ISD. I am the type of student whose story voucher proponents like to tell. I am neurodivergent—I have ADHD, DCD, and dysgraphia. I went to a private school after being bullied severely and not getting what I needed at a public elementary school. But I am still against HB3 because I know that the majority of kids in similar situations to mine will not be able to benefit from private school the way I did. I was very privileged. The private school that I went to was a sizable portion of my parents' income, much more than a $10,000 voucher would pay for, but my dad had money he inherited. While my private school did not provide any 504 accommodations, my mom knew how to find what I needed and was able to find a school that fulfilled all my needs for disability accommodations for all students, which at that time could be fulfilled through a Montessori-style education, a school-provided laptop and lots of typing and cursive practice. Because my mom was a writer, she could provide the extra writing help that I needed. All this meant that I was able to find a school that fit me. Any student without expendable income, reliable transportation, and a parent who could navigate the system and find a school that fit them with my exact support needs (which were not much compared to some other kids) would not have had the same success. You can't make your success story neurodivergent kids when they can't go to these schools unless they win the lottery of privilege and opportunity, like I did. Our public education system is like a giant ship with a big crack in it. Outside the ship there are lifeboats full of kids who are already safe. You have two options. You can fix the ship (aka, fund public education), or you can throw life vests to the kids who are already on the lifeboats while throwing an iceberg at the ship (aka, HB 3). The majority of kids who can find their perfect choice school are those who will already be able to succeed without vouchers, and those who fail will be those who really need the support. Fully fund public education. That's where the kids that need you are.

Darren Payne

Self

Lubbock, TX

I fully approve of house bill 3 and public education reform. I would like the right to choose which school would fit my children better. Please give us the right to choose. Our schools are failing. There is no competition. The unions have full control and there is no other way but to give us freedom to choose. Please vote in favor of this policy change and give our future students a chance to become great. Not be stuck in failing schools with liberal, agenda driven teachers.

Angelic Gutierrez

self

Lago Vista, TX

I oppose ESAs (education saving accounts) and support public money being used for public education.

Aaron Morris
Se
Shallowater, TX

Please vote no to vouchers!!

Ashley Dehoyos
Self
DECATUR, TX

Our public school system is already severely underfunded, many districts in the DFW area and across Texas are in a financial crisis. They are dealing with old facilities, overcrowding, large class sizes, and no raises for teachers despite record inflation. Texas is one of the richest economies in the world, we pay some of the highest property taxes to fund schools, and our schools are failing. This bill will further take funding from our public schools, disproportionately effecting rural and poor communities. The vouchers that are proposed would not help the communities that are suffering the most in Texas' terrible education system. This is unacceptable. Our legislature should be looking for ways to fund and improve our public education system, not decimate it. These vouchers would without a doubt benefit wealthy communities and would further enable unfair and inequitable education in our state. If you vote for this bill, you are sending a clear message to our children that some kids matter more than others. Your donors may thank you, but you have an obligation to your constituents, and the vast majority do not support this bill. Listen to the voters, not the donors.

Sarah Polidore
self
Austin, TX

As a Texas mother of 2 public school elementary kids, I oppose HB3!
Public schools are in dire need of full funding and education efforts need to be spent funding our public schools so they can properly educate our millions of Texas kids. Texans don't want vouchers or an education savings account program. Texans want fully funded public schools. And we will be watching closely and vote accordingly.

Janet Theriault
Leander ISd
Cedar Park, TX

I want all money to go to public schools. No vouchers for private schools. Public schools are the future of America!

Linda Johnson
Self Caseworker/Eligibility Specialist
Fort Worth, TX

I believe vouchers will hurt our kids. They will not be good for our education. I got a wonderful education in the public school system, as did my children and now my grandchildren. They both thrive in school!
Voucher will not be available to all of us. I pray public education is not taken away from our children!

Rebecca Smit
Self/retired
Austin, TX

No vouchers. No ESAs. Fully fund our Texas public schools and give our teachers a substantial raise

Katharine Nichols

Self

Houston, TX

Our public school need more funding. I am completely against providing vouchers to individuals seeking private education for their children. What we need is funding for our public schools, so that we can provide a strong educational foundation for ALL children in the state of Texas.

Larry Shuman

Self - Retired

Sanger, TX

As a life-long conservative Republican, I cannot believe the number of legislators who are abandoning their constituents to support this bill. Please represent the people and vote against this, or at least let the people vote on it. Do not abandon those students who will suffer if this bill passes. Do better. Support public education.

Tasha Ford

Self

Round Rock, TX

As a Round Rock resident, former teacher with an MA in Education, and active PTA executive board member, I strongly oppose HB3 and its voucher program. This bill would divert critical funding from our underfunded public schools, harming the education of millions of Texas children.

Private schools lack accountability and can exclude students with disabilities, leaving vulnerable children behind. Moreover, many rural areas lack private school options, making vouchers impractical for these families.

Texas ranks 46th in per-student funding. Instead of subsidizing private schools, we should focus on fully funding our amazing public schools to ensure every child has access to quality learning.

I urge you to prioritize public schools and reject HB3. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Tasha Ford

Conner Praba

Self, Student

Austin, TX

I was raised Texan. I grew up with bluebonnets in my yard, went to school, and recited the Texas pledge every morning. But I was also taught that when someone wants to take something from you, it simply isn't right to roll over and let them Come And Take It.

HB3 will defund and ruin Texas public schools, the same schools that I have relied on for the last decade for my education. Vouchers will screw every Texas public school student out of the education that they are entitled to. Now, that just doesn't seem right. And for what? To put Texas's budget in the red? To take public, taxpayer dollars and put it in the hands of private schools? Vouchers would cost the state billions when we can barely afford to keep schools open for 5 days of the week. How on earth can that be justified? How on earth does that follow any common sense?

HB3 is screwing 5.5 million Texans out of our godgiven right to a quality education. It is those same 5.5 million Texans that are your constituents, your future voters, but most importantly, we are Texans, and it is your job to serve us- don't ever forget it.

Vote no on HB3

Klaudia Hunter

Self

Mansfield, TX

Please oppose this bill. I just bought my first home in 2023 and something I looked for on where to buy was good public schools. I don't have kids, but hope to one day and my hope was to keep growing in my house and give my kids a proper education with the standards and affordability public schools offer. That hope is dwindling with this bill as it will take money away from our schools who desperately need even more. We should be investing in our public schools, not in coupons for those who are already doing well to do something they may already choose to do today without us subsidizing them. We cannot expect young families like mine to want to buy homes here as the public schools become worse, especially in when many do not want or cannot realistically afford all that comes with private schools become worse even with a coupon. This will hurt our home values and weaken our communities, as we weaken the services and education we deserve.

Billy Grumbles

Self

Ackerly, TX

As a conservative, lifelong Republican and a 27 yr teacher and coach I want the committee to know that I stand firmly against vouchers/ESA. School choice already exists in Texas. Public monies should not be used for private schools.

Adam Feind

Self

Justin, TX

Please do not pass vouchers to pull potential funding from public education. 1. Fund public education adequately - Texas should be in the top 25th percentile by US states for public education funding for all Texas students especially special needs students. 2. After funding public education adequately at the top 25th percentile then fund vouchers with remaining funds if and only if any organization receiving Texas vouchers has the same or higher requirements for educational standards and mandates as public education - must meet testing standards, special Ed standards, transportation standards, data reporting standards, and any new standards that are mandated for public education. And when these 2 items are met put the agenda to a vote by the people of Texas - yea or nay. (Public funding for any savings account must be tied to same/same requirements a public ed or it should never be passed)

Stephanie Stekier

Self

Houston, TX

Hb3

I oppose school vouchers as they are taking away from our public schools. Budget cuts are becoming increasingly common for our public schools and making it difficult to provide an equal opportunity for our public school students. The gifted and talented programs are in danger of being terminated due to funding. Every dollar taken away from public schools is a disservice to the community.

Shannon Norton, Dr.

Self

Austin, TX

My husband and I were foster parents in the state of Texas and adopted through the foster care system. One of our children needs extra help at school due to some of the experiences she faced as a young child and the public school system has been integral to our family's ability to meet her needs. I have three children in public school and firmly believe it is the best choice for our family. Defunding public school hurts the ability for my children's and thousands of other children's needs to be met. I stood by kids in some of their hardest days by being a foster parent, the state of Texas should not be abandoning these children now.

Jonathan D'Elia
Leander ISD
Leander, TX

This is not a school choice, Bill. This is a coupon for the very rich to send their children to private schools with taxpayer money. DON'T DO IT!

Gabriela Diaz
Self, nonprofit
Kingwood, TX

Our public investments cannot become private piggy banks. How can we hold public schools so accountable that the state will disenfranchise voters and take over districts, but this bill will give money to private schools with no accountability? This bill is not conservative. This bill is an insult to the Texas constitution, article 7. It will place TRS in danger. It will defund our public schools, and the voters will not forget. You can serve your constituents, or you can appease an opportunistic governor who has received millions to sell out our future. Vote NO on HB3.

Renee Weist
Self
Friendswood, TX

HB3 is a bad bill for our children. It will destroy all public schools of funding, and will send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools. My tax dollars belong in the public school system, not stolen by the scam created by Gov. Abbott and his billionaire donors. Say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Long Truong
n/a
Sachse, TX

I reject the bill, it takes funds from public school and gives it to private schools.

Jamie Ford
Self
San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB3 as a former TX public school educator, taxpayer & parent to 3 TX public school kids. Our teachers, students & schools demand to be funded properly. We see this game for what it is: a scam robbing public schools of resources to give more $ back to families that can already afford to send their kids to private schools. I oppose HB3 & Texas R's would be ashamed of themselves if they had a sliver of dignity left.

Melissa Castillo
Self
Woodville, TX

Please vote no to HB 3! ESA's are not good for Texas children or families.

Wanda Mathews

Tax Payer

Dallas, TX

As a grandparent, parent, and taxpayer in the great State of Texas, I am appalled that our elected officials are withholding the finances from our children and teachers and have been since 2020. The cost of living has increased since 2019 (the last time received funding) and is over 20%. This is not the proud Texas that I know. We love our children and take care of them.

Representative, I do NOT support vouchers, nor do I agree with an education savings account program. I believe in our Public Schools in Texas. So, I want to reiterate the following:

- We need an Increase in the Basic Allotment.
- We need Funding for Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.

Representative, let us take care of our children in Texas.

Elaine Macbeth

Self

La Vernia, TX

As a Texan and homeschooling family we are absolutely NOT in favor of these bills. Please listen to your constituents that have put you in office. Vote No!

Deanna Perkins

Self

CEDAR PARK, TX

I am a 20-year public school educator and parent in the Leander Independent School District and I oppose HB3. I urge you to stand in strong support of public education by voting AGAINST any school voucher proposals. I have seen firsthand how our local schools are struggling to meet the needs of students under an outdated and insufficient budget. Our district is currently making drastic staffing and program cuts just to stay operational, all while inflation continues to drive up costs. Despite these financial strains, we are still operating on a budget from 2019, while $4.5 billion was withheld from public schools because vouchers did not pass last year. Holding these funds hostage from Texas public schools to appease a few rich donors is unethical and unacceptable.

Implementing a school voucher system would only worsen this crisis, particularly for suburban districts like ours. While vouchers may appear to offer "choice," they ultimately divert essential taxpayer funds away from public schools and into private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability or accessibility. Private schools do not have to accept everyone. They do not have to accommodate SPED or 504 services. This disproportionately harms suburban students like the ones who live in District 20, who rely on well-funded public schools for high-quality education, extracurricular activities, and special programs. Not only that, private school students with special needs (SPED and other) will use the public school system to get tested.

Most private schools' prices are well over the $10K amount and the designated 100K lottery "winners" that are considered the low-socioeconomic/SPED population will not be able to afford the difference in tuition and fees even after the voucher is applied. Private schools can even raise their tuition to assure the low socioeconomic population cannot afford it, even with the ESA. Not only that, but transportation is not provided and neither are meals.

We also know that this does nothing to help the rural parts of Texas since 158 out of 254 counties have no nearby private schools.

Lastly, I am highly concerned that if you vote FOR vouchers, you are NOT doing two things that you were sworn in to do as a Representative of Texas:

Listen and speak for what your constituents want. You are supposed to be the voice of the majority.

Uphold the Texas Constitution by defying Article 7: "duty... to establish and make suitable provision for...an efficient system of public FREE schools."

Instead of funneling public funds into private schools through vouchers, I urge you to advocate for increased public school funding, so our students and teachers are not forced to do more with less year after year. Your vote on this directly impacts the success of our students and the job security of the teachers who are your constituents. Please do not fall for Greg Abbott's tactics. The majority of Texans do NOT want VOUCHERS.

Jeffrey Piwonka

Self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 as it will divert funding from public schools creating financial instability in a system that is already drastically underfunded. I think funds should be allocated from the budget surplus to give teachers and TAs a wage increase. They perform an extremely demanding duty in educating the next generation of adults in this state and should not struggle to feed themselves or family as they do now.

Jennifer Gruninger

Self, Marketing at High Tech Company

Cedar Park, TX

This bill does not meet the needs of the majority of students. This bill may negatively affect public schools that provide critical services to the same qualified participants of this program, creating even more disadvantages for those not covered by this program or accepted to the program.

Iva Beck
Self, retired teacher!
Lamesa, TX

Please fund public education properly to take care of all students in Texas.

Harla Ballard
Self/Retired
Fort Worth, TX

Please do pass the school voucher bill. Years ago, I was not opposed to the voucher system. However, as I have become more educated, I now see it in a different light. It is an attempt to weaken public schools which are a hallmark of our democracy. It will hurt the rural, and poorer school districts the most. It is nothing more than an attempt by Greg Abbott to appease his mega donors.

Frances Marusarz
My children
Austin, TX

Please do not fund other schools before fully funding our public schools. You have not given public schools a chance. Do not give valuable funding away to private schools when you haven't even fully funded your public schools.

Heather Horn
Self
Arlington, TX

I am staunchly against this bill. It will destroy public education. No teacher I know supports this. Please veto this bill.

Cynthia Hopkins, Dr
Self
Corp Christi, TX

Read the research that has been published. Vouchers have caused private school tuition to rise so much so parents with low SES still can't afford private school. Makes better fiscal policy to fully fund the traditional ISD because they educate more students.

Jana Johnson
Self/retired
Nacogdoches, TX

As a former elementary school teacher, I strongly support this bill. The current state of public education is sad indeed and Texas parents deserve options for providing their children with a quality education!

Kuo Zhang
Self
Eules, TX

Please don't ruin the public education system.

Lenora Hamilton
Self/parent/taxpayer
Plano, TX

The creation of ESAs, aka the school voucher system will devastate the Texas public education system. Proponents of HB 3 have failed to provide evidence that this system will not funnel taxpayer money away from public schools, further reducing the support students receive, especially those with special education needs which could be supported in properly funded public schools. Voucher systems have already created massive budget issues in Arizona - how will Texas avoid the same pitfalls? How will transparency be upheld to show how funds are being applied? How do we ensure the quality of education offered at private schools without standardized testing? How can we know that private institutions will accept any and all students presenting a voucher without discrimination. Additionally, I believe the voucher system is unconstitutional, violating separation of church and state, putting public funds into religion-based education. I stand firmly against HB 3 and believe this is an issue too big to not empower with a vote the Texas taxpayers who will be funding this system which is doomed to fail.

Christina Lawrence
Self, bookkeeper
Flower Mound, TX

Please keep public dollars in public education! We love our public schools and it has been devastating to watch the decline in our district and many across TX as funding has been stalled. Districts are being forced to make many tough decisions bc of the lack of increased funding to even account for the rise of costs since 2019. Our district had to completely change the MS schedule to cut cost. As a result teachers have to serve almost double the number of students in a shorter period per day. This does not benefit anyone compared to the smaller class size and increased daily time that had been allotted for a core subject with utmost importance, ELA. Public schools serve ALL students. Private schools can pick and choose who they will accept. If public dollars are used, they should carry with them the same requirements from the state with all mandates! ESA/vouchers are like welfare and I don't think it is fiscally responsible to give $ without accountability. If you truly want what is best for TX students let the people of TX vote directly for a ESA/voucher program on their ballots. Don't make it be forced upon them bc the Governor & his wealthy supports are making it so.

Carolina Ochoa
Yourself
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force. HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents. Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools. We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Carolina Ochoa

Tamra Snell
Self
Pflugerville, TX

I want you to know that this Voucher Scam represents a fight between a bi-partisan, pro public education coalition vs. billionaire mega-donors who control Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick. Your constituents love their kids, believe in public school teachers, support our neighborhood schools and want them fully funded. We don't want a Voucher Scam that will eventually defund our local schools. I would like to see these things:

- the Basic allotment tied to inflation indexes so Gov Abbott cannot hold it hostage anymore
- the basic allotment become enrollment-based vs. attendance based
- full funding to make up for 6 years of missing funding

Vote NO on the Voucher Scam. I vote and this matters to me. Thank you.

Frances Thomas
Concerned citizen
Lake Dallas, TX

Texans - if you haven't already submitted a public comment on HB3 (aka the voucher scam), please take a few seconds to save our public schools! Feel free to copy mine if you'd like.

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

I strongly urge you to reject any school voucher proposals that divert public tax dollars away from Texas public schools.

Vouchers do not increase educational choice. They subsidize private schools at taxpayer expense, often with no accountability, no transparency, and no requirement to serve all students. Texas already struggles with underfunded public schools, teacher shortages, and rural districts that would be devastated by losing even a fraction of their funding.

If you truly want to support educational choice, fully fund public schools, raise teacher salaries, and invest in better resources for all Texas students. Public tax dollars should stay in public schools that serve all children - not private institutions that can pick and choose their students.

Please vote NO on vouchers. 6 million Texas public school students are depending on you to protect their education. These vouchers are absolutely discriminatory. Giving families $10,000 per student while only giving schools just over $6,000 per student is ridiculous considering all the services public schools provide. Private schools can be discriminate on who they allow in, they don't have to provide services for students with learning disabilities, emotional or physical disabilities and they don't haven't to adhere to state mandated testing. Vouchers can also be used for parochial schools which goes against the principle our country was built on, separation of church and state. Please vote against this.

Kate Burke, Ms
Self
Houston, TX
We OPPOSE HB3

Cynthia Olivares
SELF
San Antonio, TX

I am AGAINST this Bill

Michelle Ailara
Self
Grand Prairie, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Gail-Ann Krieger
Self
Westlake, TX

I oppose the bill. Public K-12 schools should be the only grade schools and higher schools receiving our tax dollars. Educating our state’s children in fully funded public schools is in the absolute best interest of everyone. Private schools are a private option and schools not be supplemented with tax dollars; they can charge tuition and fund raise if parents want to send kids to private schools.

Melissa Walden
Self (Teacher)
LUBBOCK, TX

Please continue to FULLY fund Public Education. This bill does not support the needs of a majority of Texas Residents. There are MANY rural schools that need support and funding!

Denise Davis

Self

Lufkin, TX

I am a parent of a student with learning differences so they are special Ed . We took our student to private school, hoping they would help but they basically looked us an eye after two years of attendance and said we don't know what to do, you need to take them to public school. This is the reality of private school. Public schools serve all students. Private schools serve the few. Not only did the private school say they didn't have the skill to help our child, the Director of the private school also chose to skip a grade in curriculum for math so that he could say their students were working at a higher level. He looked me in the eye in a private meeting and said that students only learn new skills every other year in the math curriculum. This was a third grader. This is a blatant lie. Do not take funding from public school students to gift private schools. Why are our children in public school worthless than a private school student? Why would Abbot choose to give more money to the private school than the public school per student? This in the math curriculum. This was a third grader. This is a blatant lie. Do not take funding from public school students to gift private schools. Why are our children in public school worthless than a private school student? Why would Abbet choose to give more money to the private school then a public school per student? This makes no sense. Please hold a Townhall. Please know that we are watching. Please know that we vote.

Joan Michaud

Self

Sugar Land, TX

Abbott and Republicans are trying to take $1 billion from Texas taxpayers and give it to wealthy families who are already sending their kids to private schools. This will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties (more than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send your kid too, even if you could afford the difference between what the voucher pays and what tuition costs!). I do not agree with school vouchers and ask that you please do not pass the education savings program!!

Amy Key

Self

Mansfield, TX

Please use extra funds to improve and maintain the public schools in our state. I am a public school employee and my 2 children graduated from Mansfield ISD. I know the challenges that schools face daily and the extraordinary lengths they go to to stretch every dollar. Parents already have a choice, but we owe it to our children to give them the best opportunity for free education.

Linda Henrie

Self

Sachse, TX

Vouchers are nothing more than a welfare program for the wealthy and are harmful to public education. School districts across the state are faced with budget cuts, and this action will make it worse. Out-of-state campaign contributors are funding politicians to pass this program. It is detrimental to children, and I challenge each of you to stand up for what is in the best interest of the state and not wealthy individuals that don't reside here.

Sona Shah, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

This will have a negative impact on our child's education and society at large. No to vouchers.

Amanda Beggs

Self

Groveton, TX

Please hear the voice of the voters on school choice. We are overwhelmingly AGAINST school vouchers. Please consider not approving this voucher. Let the people actually vote! We love Texas and we love the school choice options we have now.

Melody Poage

Self

Weatherford, TX

Vote NO for the sake of our children, teachers and public schools! That money can be better spent on improving our public school systems by providing more staff, more and better transportation (especially our rural districts), programs for special populations such as ELLs, SpEd, low income, and especially Covid-recovery and social/emotional support. VOTE NO because Texas already has school choice and Abbott's plan will only HURT those who already can neither afford private school tuition nor have private schools close by. Thank you for considering ALL our Texas students!

Rosalind Harmon

Self Retired teacher

Houston, TX

I taught public school for 33 years. I believe all children should be given an opportunity to learn in a healthy, thriving environment. The Federal and State funds allocated for public schools belong to all the students. If others choose to go to private or charter schools, they can already attend these schools without taking away from students who choose to attend neighborhood schools. We already have choice. I don't think it is fair to supplement private school fees especially if there is a variable public school available. Please vote not to defund our public education system.

Jana Darling

Self

Austin, TX

I'm a former Texas public school teacher. It's obvious you don't make public schools stronger by removing funding and funneling it through t organizations with little oversight. Im sure our Representatives in Texas know that already, which is why vouchers haven't progressed through our legislative branches before. However, Texans know if it's back on the table due to the unprecedented $6million dollar donation from a megadonor to Greg Abbott in order to buy him. Greg Abbott is for sale, I only hope there are enough representatives in Texas that are honest enough not to sell themselves, Texas teachers, and the future of public education in Texas.

Elaine Townsend, Mrs

Self

Granbury, TX

As a retired teacher I oppose vouchers. Why are we reverting back to education for the few who meet certain requirements? I personally know students who were told they could not go to a private school because they did not want a child with Down Syndrome or ADA. Why would a private school even want to get involved with government in their school. I thought that is why they started a private school. Please NO

Brenda Sanford

Self

Red Oak, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Diane McMichael

Self

Austin, TX

Every child, regardless of where they live, deserves equal access to high-quality education. Please fully fund public schools and vote down any attempt to take public money from public schools.

James Holt, Educator

Bushland ISD

Amarillo, TX

Please vote no on HB3 and support public education.

Zoe Trieff

Self - Environmental Specialist

Sunset Valley, TX

Texas is one of the richest states yet is 46th in funding students. Texas is attempting to starve public education but millions of Texan children benefit from it. This voucher bill is just another way to remove a public benefit and turn it into an entitlement for the already-wealthy who are choosing to send their children to private schools. I want public money in public schools benefiting the children of Texas.

Denise Garza, Mrs.

Brownsville Independent School District

Brownsville, TX

As a School Board Member, I oppose school vouchers because they divert critical funding from public schools, weakening the resources and opportunities available to our students. Every child deserves a strong, well-funded public education, and I am committed to ensuring our district remains equipped to provide the best for all students.

Courtney Waters

Self

Arlington, TX

Dr. Buckley and Committee Members, as an educator, parent, and property owner in Texas, RSAs are not a good decision for our schools, teachers, or students. They are not a good idea fiscally. Our schools have been underfunded since 2011. IF our schools are broken, it is because of Greg Abbott. I would like our Texas Reps and Senators to start fixing them, not breaking them more. Fund our schools first.

We have the opportunity with our budget surplus to make these schools better and stronger. Stronger schools mean stronger communities. Funded education means healthy communities.

Susan Morgan

self

Dallas, TX

I do not support diverting tax dollars to any kind of program for school choice. I do support investing in a public education system equal and open to all. I am the product of the public education system, a first-generation college graduate and a leader in my community. Please vote against using my tax dollars to fund private education and vote for bills to strengthen public schools to make opportunity available to all young Texans.

Russell Smith

Self

Warren, TX

This is a scam built to fill the pockets of the elite and rob the families of the poor and struggling. If this is truly the land of opportunity, there shouldn't be a bill such as this.

Brittney Rasco

Self

Petersburg, TX

The vouchers that you are all wanting to pass, will kill our little school district! It won't fix anything. Instead, private schools will increase prices and this will take funds from public to give to private schools. Our education system is broken, but this isn't the answer!

Josh Westrom

Argyle ISD

Argyle, TX

I would encourage you to vote No on HB 3. There is a much more conservative way to implement education savings accounts. As written, this bill unnecessarily grows the size of government by paying $50 million a year to the Comptroller and private companies to process private school applications. It mirrors what other States have passed because lobbyist have written it to create a new tax payer funded business in TX that doesn't exist today. Not conservative. This bill benefits vendors and donors mostly. It is swampy. You can pass a school choice bill that eliminates the vendor payments and big govt provisions by providing tax credits or requiring private schools that accept ESAs pay for the administration of the program. This bill is also grossly unfair in that it lacks accountability, attendance requirements or any restrictions on curriculum that is imposed on public schools. A smaller phased in program that targets kids in struggling schools or in poverty would be a much better approach than a massive, universal bill that will be fraught with fraud and abuse. You were elected to cut spending, limit new programs, decrease size of government, lower taxes. This bill does the opposite and will impact your credibility as a conservative legislator. Many are paying attention and catching on to this scam. Start over and limit the scope and size of this bill.

Caitlin Landry

Self

Midland, TX

While voicing opposition feels like a futile task at this point (since Texas is basically operating as an oligarchy on this issue), I want to register my opposition to HB 3 nonetheless. I am a conservative homeschool mom who opposes HB 3 for all of the reasons the hundreds of people who registered testimony during the senate hearing opposed SB 2. It's welfare. It's government expansion. It's a vendor bill. It's giving government a money foothold into private education options. It will cause inflation in tuition & services. Many of these things are documented in other states that have already passed school choice measures. It's so disappointing that Texas is following suit and introducing a socialist program. Are you able to identify and defend why this is different from universal basic income or student loan forgiveness? I'm asking all of the senators and state representatives to strip away the buzz words and the pressure from donors and special interests and be honest with themselves about what this bill actually is, and whether the majority of their constituents actually want this. Thank you for your time. We're praying for a miracle and that we'll all be shocked by the No votes that uphold the TRUE education freedom we already have in our state.

Lucy Hsu
Self
Cedar Park, TX

This bill does nothing but to put FREE money in the hands of upper middle class and up to send their kids to private school. $10k isn't all of the sudden going to allow people to go to private school. Cost of a decent private school is at least $20k plus. Private school is also not outfitted to serve special needs. I work in the private school arena and I know people leave private school to get service at the local schools. There are no specialized private school to address special needs in the greater Austin area. Those school would have cost 40k plus. Stop lying to the public that this is about school choice. Make public school better. Those who want to go to private school will figure out the finances on their own. In Texas we also have the choice to go to charter schools which have a different approach than traditional public schools. The choices are there. Government should stay in the lane to fund public/charter schools instead of paying people money to go to private schools.

Debby Harris
Self
Austin, TX

While I acknowledge that families want more educational choices, this school voucher program does not create real choice for families. There are certainly many issues with our public education system that prevent it from effectively serving students, but funneling money out of this system and into private institutions through vouchers is not the solution to our problems. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education. Additionally, these programs as implemented in other states lack proper accountability, exacerbate inequality, engage in exclusionary practices, fragment communities, exacerbate segregation, and decrease academic achievement. Instead of diverting funds to private institutions, perhaps you should focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has access to a high-quality education. This issue matters to me and I vote. Thank you.

Deborah Bednar, Dr.
Self
Orange, TX

This bill will hurt the rural school systems that are at the heart of our small town communities.

Daniel Miller
Self/City Administrator
Strawn, TX

I do not support school vouchers. They will have a negative impact on our rural public schools. Small towns in Texas center around their public schools. Many are underfunded. I support reduced state interference in their curriculum and fully funding the small schools.

Lisa Brown
Self
San Antonio, TX

I would like to ask our legislators to PLEASE vote against school vouchers today. The bill is not in the best interest of our children, our state, our nation, or our democracy. Public education is an important pillar of our democracy to ensure we have an educated populace and maintain our strength as a nation. Taking money away from public schools to give to wealthy families who are already able to send their kids to private school if they want. Our responsibility is to provide an education. We are already providing that. It is up to families if they don't want to avail themselves of that and support it. Other states such as Arizona have seen devastating impacts on their budgets as a result of voucher programs, and vouchers to public schools will line the pockets of corporations while not guaranteeing a good education. Also, we see administrators of private charter schools giving themselves exorbitant salaries instead of spending the money on education. Private schools do not have to abide by the rules that public schools do, which is another reason they should not benefit from taxpayer money. Please, in the interest of our children and our future, vote AGAINST the voucher bill.

LeighAnn Standridge

Self

The Woodlands, TX

As a concerned Texas resident, parent and education advocate, I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3 and the proposed Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). This legislation would be catastrophic for our Texas public schools, which already face significant funding challenges.

We Already Have School Choice in Texas

It's important to recognize that Texas families already have numerous educational options:

- Open enrollment public schools
- Magnet schools
- Charter schools
- Homeschooling
- Traditional private schools

These existing options provide the variety and flexibility families need without draining crucial resources from our public education system.

Diverting Public Funds to Private Institutions is Harmful- The proposed ESAs would redirect taxpayer money away from our public schools, which serve over 5.4 million Texas children, to private institutions that:

- Are not required to accept all students
- Are not held to the same accountability standards
- Are not mandated to provide services for students with disabilities
- Are not required to report academic outcomes consistently

Public Schools Serve ALL Texas Children- Unlike private institutions, our public schools have a legal obligation to educate every child, regardless of their learning abilities, economic circumstances, or background. By diverting funds to private schools through ESAs, we would be undermining this fundamental mission and further straining already limited resources.

Unproven Educational Benefits- Research on similar voucher programs in other states has failed to demonstrate consistent academic improvements for participating students. In fact, several studies have shown negative academic impacts for students who used vouchers to attend private schools.

Rural Communities Will Be Disproportionately Harmed- Many rural Texas communities have few or no private school options, meaning ESAs would primarily benefit urban and suburban families while rural public schools would face devastating funding losses without providing actual choice to those communities.

Better Solutions Exist- Instead of diverting funds away from public education, we should:

- Fully fund our public schools to reduce class sizes
- Increase teacher pay to attract and retain quality educators
- Invest in modern facilities and resources for all students
- Expand successful programs within the public system

I urge you to oppose House Bill 3 and any legislation that would divert public education funds to private institutions. Our tax dollars should remain in our public schools, which are the cornerstone of opportunity for all Texas children.

Respectfully submitted,
LeighAnn Standridge
Montgomery County

Catharine Wall

Self

Austin, TX

I am opposed to the establishment of the education savings program that would provide vouchers using public funds to pay for private schools, whether secular, religious, or home-based. Vouchers would take away money from the neighborhood-based public schools that are available to all Texas children and put it in the hands of schools that may not have the same level of accountability. HB 3 is bad for our Texas public schools and bad for our civic culture. Please vote against HB 3.

Amie Super

Self

Ft Worth, TX

My comments & opinions represent those of myself, my husband, our adult son & his wife. All four of us are registered voters, Republican voters, and we ALL strongly oppose HB3 & SB2 aka, the ESA Voucher Bills. We have "School Choice" already. I HAVE read the Bill and the Financial impact, at least for SB2, and listened to every bit of Public Education Committee thus far. I've attended & watched debates on these two bills, and considered researched BOTH "sides". I have neither the time nor space to fully address the complete basis upon which we all four have come to the same conclusion. I can only relay to you our extremely strong opinions that neither SB2 nor HB3 be passed out of this House Committee & certainly not passed during this 89th Legislative Session. Neither of these two ESA/Voucher bills will achieve the goals we are told drove those who wrote them. We DO believe ALL parents should be able to choose an education pathway that best meets the needs of their children. The "strings" attached to these bills are far too intrusive, financially cumbersome on so many levels, & would create, by design, a completely separate lane of education that would still be under the thumbs of government in one form or another but with even less community oversight. My children's children, our grandchildren, will NOT benefit from the provisions of these bills while generations will pay for them. Please, vote NO to HB3

Catherine LaBrenz, Dr.

self

Mansfield, TX

I oppose vouchers and want state funding to remain in public schools. As a family and community researcher, I am concerned about the elitism of private schools and the ability to turn families away, particularly for children who may require specialized services and help. In fact, in my work with children in foster care, we often had a difficult time getting any other schools to accept them into programming given the trauma and associated behaviors. I strongly oppose vouchers and would like to see stronger investment in public schools in Texas.

Ginger Jackson

PISD

Pearland, TX

Don't take money away from public schools. Do more to make public schools better so children don't have to go to a private school just to receive a decent education.

Elizabeth Ballard

Self

Lubbock, TX

I'm a Texan who has grown up with a single mother working as a teacher. I've seen the hard work and dedication that goes into education. My husband is a teacher and works so hard and diligently to care for his students and make sure they have what they need. Teaching is so much more than a job. I care about our K-12 public education system being well-funded for all students. I do not support HB 3, the education savings account bill, and I ask for all representatives to oppose this topic. Thank you for your time.

Meicell Amor
Parents of Liberty Hill
Liberty Hill, TX

Vote NO to HB 3. Protect our public schools by voting no. The voucher system diverts money away from public schools and does not guarantee quality education at private schools; there is no reliable evidence that vouchers improve student success. Private schools are not held accountable to the public control over how public tax dollars are spent which can lead to corruption. Transportation is not provided and they do not cover the full cost of tuition, which will exclude students from low-income backgrounds. Private schools do not have to accept all students, which will exacerbate inequalities between different student populations, including children with disabilities. Protect our students and ensure that every child has access to

Beverly Thomas
Self
Carrollton75006, TX

Please do NOT support this bill! Our governor continues to voice that it is what Texans want. I have yet to find anyone who supports it other than one family member who has had their children in private school for years and can well afford it. My husband is a medical professional and I am a retired teacher. We do not support this bill. If our governor believes most Texans do, then it should be put to a vote to verify. As a volunteer in a very low income public school, I can assure you that those children will not benefit from this bill. They need more public school resources. Please oppose education savings accounts that will most definitely not benefit the vast majority of Texas children who need help..I do not want my tax dollars spent that way. Thank you.

Michelle Alkhatib
Self
Highland Village, TX

Of the 5.4 million public school children in Texas, nearly 950,000 live in rural areas, where options other than their local public schools are slim to nothing. That is nearly an astonishing 18% of our public school children in Texas. It's mendacious to claim that vouchers will give these families more choice when that means driving many of miles daily to attend a private or religious school. It's not a realistic or affordable option for many Texas families in rural areas of our state.

I have little doubt that the parents in Texas will have to foot a large portion of tuition because taxpayer funded vouchers only picks up a fraction of private school tuition.

Fund the public schools first! Parents in Texas already have a choice. Among the state's 1,026 public school districts, families already have the choice to select magnet campuses, public charter schools, public online schools, or a more traditional K-12 option. Within many school district boundaries, families also have the option of open enrollment — or the ability to select a school other than the one in their attendance zone. Some neighboring school districts, such as ours, allow transfers among students to accommodate specific needs, including academic, health, and family issues.

With due respect, please stop making this a political lined agenda. Both Republicans and Democrats oppose the HB3 as written. Do better for the future of Texas! Do NOT VOTE for HB3!

Samantha Duré

Self/ general education public school teacher

Denton, TX

In relation to HB3, I would like the representatives to vote in the negative. I agree that there are families who do not feel successful in the public education system. However, the diverting of public funds away from public schools to a lottery of applicants for private education is not a viable solution. Our profession in education works hard to support strategies and interventions with students that are evidence and research based. Why are we not doing the same when it comes to this bill? The evidence from other states who have tried these same ideas shows failure to reach or impact the citizens you are trying to assist. In the long term, I believe this will not create competition as stated repeatedly in the bill, but cause public schools that are underfunded to lose the best in their field and cause the schools to become desperate. If we want public education to become more competitive and more efficient, then it starts by keeping the funding to support our students and educators already in public education. We will be evaluated as a state, as a nation, and as a community by what we put into our public services. As a tax payer, I ask you to hear my opinion and take all sides into account. I want the money I pay in taxes to help make all public services something to be proud of. I speak especially about where I see our children learn and grow in public schools.

Melinda Sadler

Self

Cypress, TX, TX

This bill does not help anyone. Even the poor won't be helped because it only covers maybe one semester of school. It's a total waste of money and time in our government. But what else would I expect from this government. The shame is I'm a Republican!!!!

Amy Murphy

self

Round Rock, TX

The voucher system is a pyramid scheme that will harm the most vulnerable. This will only increase wealth disparity and cause parents to bear more burden. Teachers will suffer due to high demands from parents who want to pay less for more. The wealthy will benefit by having more funds funneled to less qualified people. Ultimately the system will crumble and those at the bottom will be hurt the most.

Maple Galindo

Self

Odessa, TX

The school vouchers system is the most blatant and shameless act of greed and corruption enacted against our state that I have thus far seen. This is an attack on the working class and our access to education.

Traci Hoelscher

Self

Cedar Creek, TX

I am a constituent in zip 78612 and I am asking my representative to vote NO to HB3. I want fully funded public education.

Debora Fathauer

Self

Brenham, TX

Oppose.

Shirley Crosby

Self

Temple, TX

Please vote against this bill. Thank you.

Tracey Sorrell

Self. Teacher

Helotes, TX

This bill is unfair to public schools, especially the rural schools. It takes money from already financial strapped districts. It only helps students who's parents can already afford to take their children our of the public school system. It also will negatively affect the TRS system that is also struggling to pay retired teachers. Stop this bill!

Juliann Fulton

Self

Bushland, TX

Defunding public education will be detrimental to rural schools. Please do not defund public education

Rachael Duke

Self

San Antonio, TX

Please protect public education. School vouchers should not take away from what public education needs.

Jessica Rosales

Self

Austin, TX

My family opposes Vouchers. Please fund PUBLIC education.

Stacy Humphries

Self

Houston, TX

The voucher plan will drain funds from the long underfunded public schools and only benefit a small number of Texas families, many of whom already send their kids to private school (without vouchers). The income level in the bill is too high and the number of families who will be helped is tomorrow small. Fix our public schools, don't weaken them further!!

Jamie Gardner

Self

Austin, TX

The state of Texas desperately needs to fully fund our public schools with an investment of $10 billion from the state surplus to return funding back to 2019 levels. What better use of tax payer dollars is there than in our children and the future of Texas businesses and citizenry? Our teachers, students and communities deserve and demand this investment. Siphoning off ANY taxpayer dollars for private schools is wasteful when public schools are being forced to close or lay off teachers due to funding shortfalls. Have courage and do the right thing for our children and Texas.

Gunjeet Bhatt

Self

Cypress, TX

Don't defund my public schools!

Diego Ortiz
Self
Victoria, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Erin Weber
Self administrative assistant
Austin, TX

I do not support school vouchers or the use of taxes to fund private or charter schools. Public schools desperately need this funding to provide fair and equal access to education for all Texas children.

Emily Crocker
Self. Massage therapist
Austin, TX

Please don't defund our public education system and allow people to start private schools with no regard for education. Public funds should not support religious and private schools!

Tracy Geiser
Self
Cypress, TX

This is my 29th year as a public school teacher, and of all of the bills that have been passed by the state of Texas in that time, this one makes the least amount of sense to me. Parents do have choice right now as to where to take their children for schooling. Many choose to take them to private schools, or to homeschool, and that is fine. Give them their school taxes back. Let them make the decision to use their tax dollars at the school of their choosing. But to use money that the public has set aside for public education, and give it to people already paying for private education does NOT help the parents of poverty whose children are truly stuck in failing schools. Quit taking money from public education just because donors who want public education to fail are giving YOU money. As a Republican voter since I was 18 years old, I find this bill shameful and close minded. Do better!!

Karen Thornton, Mrs
SEL - educator
Lubbock, TX

No school vouchers, keep free lunch & CEP program. Keep funding for food vouchers for poor, stop any discrimination against gays, lesbian, any minority group that freedoms may be taken away from. This is America!

Cindy Mott

Self retired

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public domain
Thank you

Cindy Wright
Personal
Richardson, TX

I am a product of Texas public schools, have relatives who have and are current public school teachers, have children who are products of public schools and grandchildren who will (hopefully) be attending public schools. I am strongly opposed to the establishment of an education savings account program for many reasons. If we move forward with the ESA program, monies will effectively be stolen from poorer students in order to give wealthier families a discount on their private school education because the amount allotted will not be sufficient for poor students to afford private school tuition. As funding is pulled from public schools, our most vulnerable students will lose funding for much needed services and resources. This would include the possible loss of 504 accommodations that do not have to be supplied from private schools. I'm also concerned about my tax dollars funding private religious schools. I oppose giving government funding to schools that aren't held accountable to the same standards public schools must uphold. Students who live in rural areas may not even have access to private schools within a reasonable distance from their homes. Public schools serve ALL students who choose to use the, but private schools are able to pick and choose students, which would effectively discriminate against vulnerable students who have higher support needs. The application of ESA vouchers is effectively allowing segregation of high income white families from generally lower income families of color. Public school, like many services provided for with tax money, serve the good of our entire community, regardless of whether individual people and families utilize public schools. Public schools that are struggling need more funding, not less; the withholding of available funds by our Texas state politicians is unethical in the face of inflation. It seems our politicians want to withhold and even pull funding from public schools and then turn around and say that they are failing when they themselves have contributed to the problem. Everyone benefits from an educated populace, whether or not they personally attend public schools. If we move forward with the ESA program, funding will be taken from public schools, and our most vulnerable students and families will suffer most, followed by everyone else in our society that benefits from a well educated population. I am fiercely opposed to education savings account program. And I am very disappointed with my state and those elected to SERVE the constituents of Texas for how they have forced this issue, have not listened to the lack of support for ESAs and have not allowed the people of Texas to vote on this issue.

Mary Beth Hardesty-Crouch, Reverend self - United Methodist clergy
Allen, TX

As a United Methodist pastor, I took a sacred vow to serve God in the name of Jesus Christ, and to serve all of God's created people. I know you have also taken a sacred vow to care for the people you represent. Thank you for your commitment. Caring for the people you represent extends to public school children. The public schools in my community are among the best in the state. Families move to our area from out of state, as well as, from across the world because we have great public schools.

I am very concerned about the voucher bill and its impact on my community. This bill breaks the sacred trust given to the legislature to act in the best interest of all of God's children. Taking away public school funding threatens our ability to educate all of the children in our care. Teachers and school administrators who tirelessly teach and engage with our children will experience a lack of support. I am also concerned that our communities will be further divided into ideological groups creating more Muslim and Christian schools who see the other as a threat. Moreover, children being left behind will not get their needed resources for education.

Our schools are a gift to the community. First United Methodist Church of Allen supports our schools through partnerships, volunteer programs and "Back to School" events. A senior pastor of First UMC Allen I volunteer at Boyd Elementary in Allen, and provide care for all of our teachers, staff and administrators in the Allen ISD. I am also a very proud parent of a graduate of Allen High School and a 7th grader at Ford Middle School and have been thoroughly impressed by and grateful for the teachers and staff and administrators who have taught and led my children.

Please do not vote for the voucher bill (SB2 & HB3). Please stand with your communities and keep our public schools strong. I pledge with you to make our schools even better through community support and our sacred investment. Please vote for all of the children in your care.

Matthew Burnham

Self - Engineer

Austin, TX

Dear Representatives,

My name is Matthew Burnham and I'm a parent of three in the Texas Public Schools system. Every single lawmaker in Texas should be appalled about the systemic under funding of public education.

We need and demand better:

- A minimum $1,300 increase to the basic allotment—because anything less keeps districts in crisis.
- Basic allotment needs to be based of ENROLLMENT, not attendance.
- A transportation funding increase that reflects actual costs—because the last adjustment was made when gas was $1.00 and bus drivers made $6.50/hour. Today, districts pay drivers $24/hour minimum, and we all know gas prices are not a dollar.
- An increase in special education funding—because our kids deserve the services and supports they are legally entitled to.
- Higher teacher pay—because we cannot retain educators when they're underpaid and overworked.
- Reimbursement for special education evaluations—because districts shouldn't have to fight for what they're required by law to provide.
- Full funding for Dual Language programs—because our multilingual students deserve access to a high-quality education.
- A complete revamp of recapture—because Austin ISD is paying over $900 million annually while unable to afford to educate its own students.

You were elected to lead and to serve the citizens of Texas. Not the small percentage of rich donors pushing extreme agendas. Please do your jobs and fully fund our public schools and show Texans where your priorities and morals are held.

Sincerely,

Matthew Burnham

Gloria Roberts

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3. The state of Texas should be using funds to improve public education. education. Governor Abbott is perpetuating the idea that a public education in Texas is substandard.

Erika De La Rosa

Self, Education Advocate

Houston, TX

As someone from a low-income family who benefited from a private school education, I do not support HB 3 nor do I support education savings accounts or vouchers. My mother, a single mother, relied on family support and financial aid to afford a Catholic school education for me. I benefited greatly and eventually was able to secure a full scholarship to Texas A&M University in College Station. After graduating, I taught for ten years in the Houston Independent School District. My time helped me realized that there is no acceptable reason that only a few children from any underserved and underresourced community should benefit from a good education. What this bill does not address is the root issue of educational inequity. Our Texas public schools are not adequately funded, and after years of said underfunding, robust programs cease to exist in communities whose income is at or below the poverty line. What our elected representatives should put their attention to is ensuring that the schools that are doing their best to serve millions of children in Texas are provided with the funding and resources to adequately educate our Texas children. I benefited from a private school education, but too many of my friends, family members, and church peers did not. We should put our attention to serving the places where our children currently are - which is public schools - not where a few could end up. Thank you; please vote no on HB 3 and put our attention to our public schools.

Suni Salinas
Self
Amarillo, TX

Please consider public education teachers when you discuss this bill. I have devoted 17 years of my life to public education and this feels like such a slap in the face. Please don't let big money determine the fate of education in Texas. Look at the research from other states that shows how "school choice" has negatively impacted education. I am sorely disappointed in Governor Abbott and his push for this. Please listen to the people in this state and choose what is best for all people.

Casie Newman
Self dental hygienist
Shallowater, TX

I highly disagree with this voucher bill. This is a band aid on a deeper problem with education!! Pay teachers more!! Back them with discipline, respect and support. Come on Texas, do better for our kids as a WHOLE!!!

Stephanie Brendel
self
Austin, TX

Taking away funding from public schools is so incredibly privileged and awful for the lower income residents of Texas! I think that everyone in a elected government position should have to send their children to public schools - THEN they would be funded properly, because politicians would care about their own children's educations even if they don't care about the education of others.

Judy Clark Johnson
self
Tomball, TX

Re HB 3 vouchers: This bill is setting up an elite education vs. public education system that will harm the public education system by reducing the funds available to them. Taxpayers must NOT be forced to support private schools. Shame on anyone who supports this unfair bill!

M.L. Klein
Self
Helotes, TX

Vouchers will only hurt our children. This is not being pushed by parents or teachers, it's being pushed by extremely wealthy men, many of whom own the private schools that will in fact benefit. This bill steals money from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 4th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I beg you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and don't dump money in the pockets of the ultra wealthy who would like nothing more than to see public education collapse, and private, unregulated, unwanted, unneeded, unfit schools prosper, ultimately creating an uneducated citizenry, able to be more easily manipulated.

Jessica Nwanze
Self
Spring, TX

I think this bill is a horrible idea as there is already private schools if people want to go and removing funding to public schools will hurt many demographics of people who depend on public education. I strongly encourage all to vote no on this issue.

Brad Bentley
Self
Stephenville, TX

I am very opposed to using Tax Payer dollars for private and/or home schooling. Texas needs to improve the public school system by increasing teachers pay and making necessary improvements to schools as needed. I am concerned that with the cost of a good private school the main beneficiaries will be those in the private schools and not under represented students.

Michael Stewart
self
Austin, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

John Mathews, Dr.
Lumberton ISD
Lumberton, TX

In consideration of the 5.5 million students served by public schools, please do not approve this bill that takes away needed funding to provide a voucher that can only be utilized by the wealthy. While I know there may be enough vote to pass vouchers, please consider fully funding our schools in such a way that ALL students benefit.

Elizabeth perez
Self
Houston, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Kristen Washam
Self, retired
Houston, TX

I oppose HB3. Vouchers will only benefit a small percentage of Texas students, mostly those who can already afford private education. There is nothing conservative about spending billions of taxpayer dollars on handouts that are essentially welfare for the wealthy. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Natalie Ledyard
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I do not support the voucher program Gov. Abbott is proposing for Texas Public Education. It will harm our already struggling education system and perpetuate existing problems, only hurting the children it is supposed to be building up. Please listen to the people of Texas and do not pass this.

Carla Flores

self as a Texas Public School Retired Teacher

San Marcos, TX

Please vote NO to the school vouchers program. It will cripple students and teachers in the public school classroom. There is not enough funding for teachers, programs to help students, etc. You didn't vote for it the last several times, so you know it's a very bad idea. Stand up and do what's right for our children!

Thomas Sims

Self

Austin, TX

I am a father of two students in Texas public schools, and I oppose HB 3. Texas should devote its limited school funding to improving public schools, not sending money to private schools that aren't an option for most Texans. Most Texas counties don't even have a private school. This bill might help a few families be able to afford private schools, but there will be many more families who still can't afford that option and so will continue to send their kids to public schools. And if HB 3 passes, those schools will have less funding and less ability to provide students the best education possible.

Dorothy Hemphill

Self

San Antonio, TX

A public hearing at the Texas Capitol is happening on the school voucher bill (HB 3). Use the link below to ensure your opposition is on record. Not a drill.

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools., I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Matthew LaDue

self

Austin, TX

The actuarial analysis of the senate version of this bill found that "even a small adjustment such as a decrease in the projected covered payroll growth could be enough for [The Teacher Retirement System] to no longer be actuarially sound according to the statutory definition. TRS' analysis also notes that it is possible an increase in the contribution rate may be necessary in the future if payroll does not grow as currently projected following the passage of this bill." HB 3 does not include any provisions to offset lost TRS contributions. There's no requirement for private school employees to contribute, nor is there a funding mechanism to replace what public schools would lose.

Other states, such as Arizona and Wisconsin, have seen funding problems since implementing voucher programs. Local taxpayers in Wisconsin have voted to increase taxes in their districts to supplement the losses that have been caused by funding two school systems (public and private). I do not believe that people in Texas want their property taxes to go up. Especially if it's mostly helping upper class people pay for private schools that their children were already going to.

That's another issue with this bill. It will not promote "school choice" for most students in Texas. Most students will never have the opportunity to go to a private school, because there are no private schools in their area. And if schools do get added, they are not under any of the regulations that public schools must follow. Public schools serve all children, and shifting taxpayer dollars to unregulated private institutions undermines their ability to provide quality education.

On a personal note, I hope to have children someday. I want to be able to send those children to a quality school. I worry that with the passing of this bill, that is less likely to be a reality. Please vote "No" on this bill. Thank you for your time.

Michele Pisciotano

Self

Bedford, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Constitution

Tamara Konjevich

Self / teacher

Garland, TX

I oppose HB3. Do not give vouchers. Protect our public schools.

Stewart Youngblood

Self, Product Manager

Allen, TX

I am against this bill.

Yissi Sternberg

Self / therapist

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Lauren Mitrani

Self/Teacher

Round Rock, TX

I oppose this bill and against school vouchers.

Donna Lundborg

Self

Woodway, TX

Public funds for education must remain in public schools. It's as simple as that. Say NO to school vouchers.

Sayani Neogi

Self

Cedar Park, TX

No to the bill

Jessica Flores
Self
New Braunfels, TX

I strongly urge you to reject any school voucher proposals that divert public tax dollars away from Texas public schools.

Vouchers do not increase educational choice. They subsidize private schools at taxpayer expense, often with no accountability, no transparency, and no requirement to serve all students. Texas already struggles with underfunded public schools, teacher shortages, and rural districts that would be devastated by losing even a fraction of their funding.

If you truly want to support educational choice, fully fund public schools, raise teacher salaries, and invest in better resources for all Texas students. Public tax dollars should stay in public schools that serve all children - not private institutions that can pick and choose their students.

Please vote NO on vouchers. 6 million Texas public school students are depending on you to protect their education.

Heather Hill
Self
Austin, TX

Look at the data from the states that have adopted a voucher program and tell me how they're successful... I'll wait. Ah, can't find the data to support vouchers? That's because it doesn't exist.

This bill is being pushed by a man that has funneled millions of dollars into our governor's pocket.

I say 'no' to vouchers; not only because I am the spouse of a teacher and have 3 children in public school, but because it is what all of our people deserve. Fully fund public schools and stop restricting them. Pay teachers a living wage and watch our schools thrive.

Jamey West
Self
Beaumont, TX

Vouchers will not give choice to those in rural areas with no private schools; or parents that cannot afford the difference in cost or other costs associated (ie school uniforms). This is taking away from the poor to give to the rich, plain and simple. Public education is a need in our state. This goes against freedom of religion as well, as private schools are almost always religion based.

Laurence Toenjes

Self

Clear Lake Shores, TX

1. The most significant factor in determining how Texas schools perform on STAAR exams is the percentage of students who are eligible for the federal Free or Reduced Price Lunch (FRPL) program.
2. Between 1995 and 2023 Texas public school enrollments grew from 3.67 million to 5.50 million. 94% OF THE GROWTH WAS DUE TO INCREASES IN THE NUMBER OF FRPL STUDENTS: 45% to 62%!
3. Using the percentages of students in schools who achieve the Meets Grade Level (MGL) standard, the average results for all grades, all subjects, in regular (ISD) elementary and middle schools, for 2023-2024 are:
 - a. FRPL students: 35%
 - b. Non-FRPL students: 63%
4. The problem is amplified because the MGL success rates for each type of student—FRPL or non-FRPL—decrease as those students are enrolled in schools with higher percentages of FRPL students. (see http://polinetworks.com/TEADTA_2024/index.htm .)
5. The negative impact of higher percentages of low-income children in schools is reflected in the school grades assigned by the organization Children at Risk (CAR). Those grades are widely circulated, and unfairly label schools with high percentages of low-income children as “failing schools.” Using CAR’s grades for 2024, placing elementary and middle schools into quintiles based on FRPL percentages, only 4.5% of schools in Q1, with the lowest FRPL%, received CAR grades of D or F. Among those in Q5, with the highest FRPL%, 51% received a CAR grade of D or F. Such assessments are inaccurate and unfair.
6. There is no evidence that private schools are exempt from the negative impact of large percentages of low-income students. Evidence shows Charter schools are not exempt.
7. Vouchers will not help Texas school children. Vouchers might allow a small proportion of students to escape the problems associated with high concentrations of low-income children in individual schools. But the problems facing those children left behind, and their schools, will worsen as a result.
8. The authors of a major study which compared the performance of students in public and private schools came to the following conclusion: “In sum, we find no evidence for policies that would support widespread enrollment in private schools, as a group, as a solution for achievement gaps associated with income or race... once one accounts for family background, the existing supply of heterogeneous private schools (from which parents select) does not result in a superior education (even for higher income students).” <https://journals.sagepub.com/doi/10.3102/0013189X18785632#table-fn4-0013189X18785632>
9. Adoption of a publicly-funded school voucher system will not improve the education of Texas students, but will more likely result in decreased resolve and resources to design and fund effective public education programs for all students.

Shaka Hawkins

Palacios ISD

Bay City, TX

I do not support HB 3. Funding should not be taken away from public school students so that members of the Texas legislature can fill their pockets with money.

erin skidmore

self/self employed music teacher

hurst, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Jill Miller

Self

Richardson, TX

No vouchers! Stop stealing from public schools! Let the people of Texas vote on Vouchers! We would vote NO!!!

Melody Trott, Secretary

Self, secretary

Mineral Wells, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Kathleen Scott, Mrs.

Self- homeschooling mom

Houston, TX

I am a homeschooling mom and I oppose this Bill!

Faith Pope
Parent, self
Buda, TX

It is obvious that Governor Abbott is very motivated to make school choice happen in Texas. Every time I hear Texas leadership call it 'Parent choice' it infuriates me as it shows how blind this bill is to the reality of education in Texas.

NO school would EVER accept my son! And if they did, he would not last long there. Therefore, I don't have a choice as a parent.

My son is one of the most resilient kids I have ever known and I have worked with children for 31 years. We adopted him at birth however the deck he was handed at birth was one that has required hard work, advocacy, understanding, collaboration and a tremendous amount of faith. My husband and I have a biological daughter along with our adopted son. However with our son, we have said several times that it has taken a village to raise him. That village has included incredible teachers, administrators, coaches, special education teachers and Counselors. It hasn't been an easy road and there have been many mishaps along the way but this village has come together to do what was and is needed for my son every step of the way! He is a junior in high school and we are so incredibly grateful for all who have walked with us in this journey!

I went to private schools my whole life, my husband went to public schools. I have friends who have their children currently in private schools. I have friends who home school. None of my friends who home school nor send their children to private school, need the $10,000 gift Texas is proposing with this bill. The people who need that additional funding is public education. If we actually funded public schools adequately, we wouldn't need to try and sell a 'Parent choice' bill.

Public education is the responsibility of the governor and all of you who have been voted in. Yet Texas leadership, you all, are doing nothing to support it. Get your bodies into public schools, spend an entire day with administrators and teachers, have face to face forums with them and THEN decide if the problem is choice or funding and support.

This bill is a privileged way out to say you all are doing your job.
Privileged for parents who can provide transportation.
Privileged for parents whose child doesn't have learning disabilities.
Privileged for parents whose child doesn't have behavior needs.
Privileged for parents whose child isn't medically fragile.
Privileged for parents whose child doesn't have second language learning needs.
Privileged for parents who can pay the extra amount that private schools will charge.

Go into public schools! Spend time observing. Spend time talking to administrators, teachers, Counselors. Fix the problems they are facing or maybe, just provide them the funding so they CAN!

I am forever grateful for the people who have invested in my kids through their public schools.

I grow increasingly frustrated with the people in Texas government!

Do what is right for ALL kids! Make funding public schools be the bill that is passed! FaithPope

Becky St John
Self
Grapevine, TX

To the Members of the Committee:
Thank you for your service to the parents, students, teachers, and taxpayers of Texas.

It struck me as ironic as I began to complete this form, that it autofills "Texas"—to testify on a bill that was filed on behalf of a Pennsylvania billionaire.

While I'm sure the committee members believe they have the interests of Texas students in mind, this is not the way to accomplish anything the bill purports to solve—and results in wasteful, excessive, bureaucracy, as well as the (rightful, if accepting taxpayer money) invasion of government into private and homeschools.

This bill also steals necessary resources from our Texas public students and classrooms—which IS your constitutional duty. To expand that duty into private and homeschools is actually an erosion of our freedoms and expansion of government.

There are myriad other reasons to oppose this bill: Texas should be a leader, blazing its own path, not a follower of other states' failed vouchers.

You will hear many other reasons today to oppose HB3, all valid. Again, I applaud your efforts to support students, but this is not it.

I'm not a billionaire, but I am a Texas voter, taxpayer, and parent—even better.

Respectfully submitted.

Katie Daggett
Self
Pearland, TX

Public education is a cornerstone of Texan society. It's one of few places where students and families come together behind a common good, common experience. They unite communities - whether thru rallying neighbors behind a championship team or celebrating spelling bee winners at the elementary school, public schools and quality public schools are key.

Let's put public, college ready education at the forefront of this session, and let's get an increase in public schools funding passed!

Elizabeth Chennell
Self
Austin, TX

School choice is important, but vouchers are NOT the way to achieve it. As a mother of three sons, wife of a Pediatrician, and daughter of school teachers, I understand how important it is for parents to advocate for what's best for their children's unique needs, and one size does not fit all. HOWEVER, school savings accounts, or "vouchers", are damaging to the vibrant public school system that is a vital part of the education, safeguarding, and wellbeing of over 5 million Texas kids. These kids rely on our public schools, and our schools deliver, on an already extremely stretched budget. Please listen to the majority of parents in Texas, who put their trust in public schools.

Maryellen Duffield, Ms.

Self

Dallas, TX

Hello - I respectfully ask that you vote NO on HB 3. My children were educated in Plano ISD and now they work in Richardson ISD and 5 of my 7 granddaughters are students in Richardson ISD. For 35 years I have had close experience with public education in Texas. For ALL of that time public education has been underfunded. Each year the state government figured out ways to reduce the amount received by school districts. And now with total and complete disrespect for the value of public education in communities and for children you continue to contemplate vouchers and you try to deceive the public by calling it a savings account program. This is merely a bill to strip funds away from public schools and give them to wealthy families who do not need the help. The private schools have no incentive to help children with special needs and families with few resources will never be able to utilize this program. The damage that will be done to rural school districts and rural towns is unimaginable. Local schools are the heartbeat of rural communities and this bill will strip them of needed resources. This bill is the beginning of the end of public education. You are robbing your citizens of the education they need to become productive citizens in Texas. This is an ignorant and cruel bill that will only result in suffering for communities and students all across Texas. Please vote NO on HB 3 and vote to protect rural communities and ALL students in Texas.

Nancy Herron

Self

Austin, TX

Texans clearly do not want vouchers- voters on both sides of the aisle know this. Our public schools face many challenges, but with fully restored funding, they can meet those challenges and educate our Texas kids to their potential. Please vote to FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS and VOTE NO on any voucher/ ESA bill. I vote and this matters to me. Thank you.

Melissa Yarborough

self

Houston, TX

Vote no on HB 3. Do not redirect our public funds to private schools. There is no real choice for students; the choice is for the private schools that choose how much state money they want to receive and from which students.

For public school students, there is no guarantee that a seat will be available at a private school. Seventy percent of voucher funds in America go to students who were already in private schools.

If a seat becomes available, there's no guarantee that the student will be chosen for that seat. Private schools have limited availability, and they are not required to accommodate special needs students. Unlike public schools, they are exclusionary.

Even if a child is accepted into a private school, there is no guarantee that they will receive a quality education. Public school students in other states who have switched to private vouchers have scored the same or worse on state tests than their peers in public schools. Also, private school scams abound to get free state money with little regulation.

One billion dollars is a lot to spend for private schools to educate just a small percentage of our public school students. It is wiser to invest that money--our taxpayer money--into supporting our public schools.

I urge you to vote NO on HB 3.

Cilicia Landers

Self- student

Austin, TX

I believe that this will negatively impact my and other families that can't afford private education. It will take away funds from public education, making those institutions less able to do their jobs of educating Texas youth. Do you really want the population of Texas to become more ignorant? That is the only reason to support this bill. Please vote no on HB3.

Nan Coneway

self

Hereford, TX

Honorable Committee Members,

I am writing to ask you not to approve HB3. I taught 3rd grade bilingual education for 40 years in Hereford, Texas. Our public tax dollars need to stay in our public schools. I am also concerned about the long-term financial stability of TRS if HB3 passes, because this is my income during my retirement. Please do not approve vouchers in any form this session.

Thank you,

Nan Coneway

Matthew Malone

Self

The Woodlands, TX

I am AGAINST using public money for private education and am asking my representative (Rep Toth) and other House members to vote NO or against this bill.

Miguel Guimbarda

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and I am against school vouchers.

Virginia Black

Self, homemaker, constituent

San Antonio, TX

I am writing to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose House Bill 3 in Texas.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down House Bill 3, which diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools.

At the Hearing in Austin today, it was CLEAR that there are some very organized groups lobbying for this voucher scheme. These same groups also have the most circuitous answers to simple questions. As a constituent, and as a parent to kids in the public school system, it was extremely aggravating hearing the private school lobbyists talking in circles instead of straight up answering that yes, they do want the money these vouchers would provide, but aren't so sure they actually want ALL students to be eligible to attend their private schools. It was apparent that they fully intend to exercise their own discretion over who may or may not "fit" the culture of their school. If institutions wish to retain that level of discretion over admissions, then they should not be funded by public money, but should find their own funding.

Say NO to vouchers that use tax dollars to fund the tuition at exclusive private schools.

Christina Tu

Self - physical therapist and homeschooling mom

Grand Prairie, TX

Please oppose this bill! Not good for Texans!

Pamela Towns, Ms

Self, Registered Nurse, Homeschooling parent

Bryan, TX

I do not support in any way any "school choice" program that will increase the tax burden on the citizens of Texas. This program creates more government, costs more money, and is not a true "school choice." Allocating the monies already collected from taxes and giving it to the parents of the children of Texas for the sole purpose of allowing them to use it on the education of their choice is true "school choice." We don't want another program, a new program, or anything that creates more government. We want to use the money how we want to use it for the schooling of our choice.

Cathryne McNamara

self—secondary public school teacher for 25 years

Austin, TX

Please continue to vote no on and speak out against educational savings accounts, which are vouchers, as well as other public school attacks and attempts to defund, demoralize and emotionally and financially bankrupt public schools, students and teachers.

ESA/vouchers will further defund public education as have all the unfunded mandates over years, including most recently having a police officer on every campus, one point of entry, fences, 504 mandates, etc.

ESA/vouchers will largely be handouts for wealthier families who likely can and already pay for private schools. Most other families cannot make up the differential financially, including total tuition costs and extra costs, like uniforms and what not, or physically—drives/rides, etc.

ESAs/vouchers will send public school money to UNACCOUNTABLE private and charter schools that do not educate all students regardless of race, religion, ability and history and that do not have to meet the same TEA standards and testing that public schools do and that often do not even have a mandate of degreed and certified teachers. There is often not academic or financial accountability.

ESAs/vouchers may likely create financial chaos for the state and definitely the public schools; look closely at what is happening in Arizona. Often legislators have not taken into account the families that are already at private schools who will come for their ESA as well. Will these ESAs intentionally bankrupt public schools and maybe the state?

ESAs/vouchers make me wonder who will benefit financially; I have long thought that students' minds are the last natural resource Republicans might try to exploit for profit. Who will make money off of the "managed" ESA accounts? The details suggest that the accounts will be state managed? Who earns money from the investments, growth and interest on these accounts? How can we fund these at 10k per student when we currently fund public school students at 5+k per student, if that. Will a family with three children feasibly be given 30k in unaccountable funds for whatever form of education they wish? What private equity firms are waiting for this exploitation? Will there be public reporting and accountability for the use of these public funds being used for private institutions? Will we really know what our public dollars will be supporting?

ESAs/vouchers do not work for smaller cities and towns that only have one public school option.

I also wonder whether ESAs will damage TRS and public educator pensions as often private schools only offer 401(k)s.

If this ESA legislation passes, will the same standardized tests, practices, mandates, attendance to funding ties be mandated for these private schools?

Please put forth and into place policies and statements that will FUND public education FIRST before private; we have not seen what that could look like, and I have hope that it could be good. You have an ethical responsibility to support public schools.

Wanda Hogan

Self/retired

Tomball, TX

This bill steals our tax money and hands it to owners of charter schools. I am appalled that the Texas legislature can be bought when this is clearly opposed by the majority of Texans for many reasons. It will not help us. It will hurt many people, including teachers and students who need special education. Texas public schools are especially good at providing students opportunities in athletics and performing arts. Private schools cannot do this at the same level of excellence. Are you really willing for public funds to be channeled to Islamic schools? Is this not a potential threat to our security? The experiment has already been conducted in Florida and North Carolina. Is Texas going to "follow the leader" rather than standing up to this scam and teaching the rest of this country just how great public education can be? My children moved here with their children because of the high caliber of the public schools. This systematic destruction of public education is a travesty. Please hold the line and defeat "education savings accounts" (vouchers).

Melinda Bass

Self, educator

Austin, TX

I want you to know that this Voucher Scam represents a fight between a bi-partisan, pro public education coalition vs. billionaire mega-donors who control Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick. Your constituents love their kids, believe in public school teachers, support our neighborhood schools and want them fully funded. We don't want a Voucher Scam that will eventually defund our local schools. I would like to see these things:

- the Basic allotment tied to inflation indexes so Gov Abbott cannot hold it hostage anymore
- the basic allotment become enrollment-based vs. attendance based
- full funding to make up for 6 years of missing funding

Vote NO on the Voucher Scam. I vote and this matters to me. Thank you

SANDRA HOOVER

Self

LEANDER, TX

I do not want my tax dollars funding any private schools. A public education should be a given in any modern society. We should all want our kids to succeed, not just the few who are able to send their kids to private schools. Our society depends on the kids learning to read and be productive in whatever they choose to do. Please give our teachers the tools they need to teach, for ALL students. Let me be clear, I don't support vouchers under any form or circumstance. Allow innovation and funding for operations, salaries, materials, transportation, and schools will succeed. Keep class sizes low. Follow the research on learning. Then maybe you won't get booted out next term. Please help ALL of our public schools and make Texas education one we can be proud of!

Marisa Tellez, Ms.

Self

Laredo, TX

I do not support vouchers!

Valerie Lengel

Self

Allen, TX

I oppose HB3 in its implementation of school vouchers and ESAs. This bill does not lay out a well thought out plan on implementing "school choice," but instead benefits the monetary interests of key stakeholders. Public schools are imperative to the community, laying the foundation for future professionals. Vouchers would divert needed funding from public schools and create a market where private schools would only cater to the wealthy. I strongly urge you to vote against HB3.

Christian Arste, Mr.

Self

Round Rock, TX

I do not support vouchers!

Christina Marty

Self

Austin, TX

I'm highly opposed to vouchers for private education. Texas public schools should have better funding and teacher salaries should be increased. Private schools are not required to accept poor or disabled students. Private, religious, and home schools are not accountable to the state. Studies of similar programs found that voucher money largely goes to students ALREADY in private schools. My tax dollars support public education and I expect the Texas legislature fulfill their duties outlined in the Texas Constitution to do so as well, rather than creating savings accounts for private education.

Allison Hasday

Self

Austin, TX

I don't agree with taking more money away from public school teachers. These teachers have worked tirelessly to educate our children without a raise in years. They deserve better. Vouchers aren't parents' choice, they are a move from public education.

Marcy Farrell

Self editor

Austin, TX

Vouchers are a terrible idea. They help wealthy families and drain public education. We can provide excellent public schools if we FUND education. Please do what's right for ALL TX kids and families.

Mackenie Morgan

Self

Eules, TX

As a parent of kids in elementary school, government money for education should remain in public schools. The money is meant for public school, not private school. Parents have always had a choice in where to send their kids to schools and vouchers will not make a difference. In the end, vouchers would only help those who are wealthy and already have kids in private schools, and only help few students in the state. There are too many factors working against most families where they would still not be able use vouchers for school of choice to transfer to a private school because they won't be able to afford it, won't have transportation to it, private schools won't have specialized programs/ services that their child may require, etc. Public schools are already underfunded and the Texas educational system ranks at the bottom for the nation. Put the money back into public schools to educate the kids that are our future. I implore you to vote no for HB3 and no for school choice vouchers!

Stephanie Beasley

Self

Austin, TX

This is purely another tax break for wealthy families. Public schools are necessary for a free and democratic society.

Hilde Tredoux

Self

Weatherford, TX

I do not think the voucher program will benefit our public schools

Juli Smiddy

Self

Allen, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers

William Sabbatini

Alief ISD/ myself

Richmond, TX

Opposed vouchers

Kay Hill

Self, retired registered nurse

Sanger, TX

It makes no sense to give money to private schools, taking the money from public schools, while still giving all the responsibility for special ed evaluations to the public schools. If the private schools want public money, then they need to be taking public responsibility. They should be subject to all the rules that public schools are subject to if they're taking tax dollars. It also makes no sense to base funding for public schools on attendance but private schools get the full amount, even if they kick the kid out on day two or the kid never has to show up. Fund public schools with public money. If people want to choose private schools, they can choose to spend their own private money on it.

Danuta Reich

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Shalom Tauber

Self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Rebecca Wolverton

Self

Haslet, TX

10000% AGAINST this bill and the concept of school vouchers for private schooling for the rich. The data is CLEAR that this does NOT benefit the majority of children of Texas and only stands to cause irreparable harm to public schools and ultimately our future generations of Texas. I am a born and bred Texan (born in Tyler, grew up in Palestine, and currently reside in Fort Worth). Both of my children attend public school and I have opted to have it that way. But that is because it was always the assumption that TEXAS took care of TEXANS. Not specifically harming the public for a select entitled few. Texas should completely abandon this ridiculous voucher program and instead INVEST in public schools and teachers. Vouchers are NOT the solution. Paying teachers what they deserve instead of insulting masters prepared instructors with a ridiculous salary and unsustainable expectations. Invest to EMPOWER schools , eliminate the STAAR testing (I mean... private schools are excluded from the requirement...make that make sense).

I'm a registered voter in Tarrant county, and the daughter of a retired primary school educator. Catering to the rich and privileged for the sake of favor and campaign donations will lead the fall of our democracy, because the foundation of any long standing civilization requires empowering ALL the members. It's time Republicans AND Democrats start standing up for ALL CITIZENS, not just certain groups. If that's what your intention is, then you are not fit to be in a position of power and should immediately resign.

Texans pride ourselves on doing what is good and right and just. We help each other when in need. We DO WHAT IS RIGHT FOR THE LEAST OF US. Honor what it truly means to be a Texan government representative and hold true to your promise.

Jordan Alexander

Texans

Amarillo, TX

Oppose HB3

Lorinda Moya

Self

Austin, TX

I am against school vouchers. This is unnecessary in the state of Texas.

Jessica Thompson

Self/Educator

Killeen, TX

As a concerned educator about the possible passing of this bill, I have attempted to voice my concerns, but those concerns seem to be ignored by Representative Buckley. I am absolutely against the approval of school vouchers in the state of Texas. I am concerned that this bill will gut public education and leave many educators jobless and create further barriers to all students in Texas having adequate access to a free and fair education. I would like to know why, if so many constituents are opposed to this bill, can it not be placed on a ballot? Many Texans are willing to vote against this bill, but Representative Buckley seems more concerned with satisfying Governor Greg Abbott and his billionaire donors than ensuring all of his constituents have fair and equitable access to education. Texas Republicans seem hellbent on satisfying donors, instead of listening to constituents. Why do we have wealthy donors from both in and out of state interfering with our programs? Why are native Texans being ignored when it comes to this issue? This is absolutely not fair. There are many factors to consider, including the effect this will have on property owners, insufficient funding for public schools in a society currently experiencing high inflation and a looming recession, and how insufficient funds will affect our student population throughout Texas. Greg Abbott has rallied against public schools in the hope to dismantle a fair and equitable education system that has been serving Texas students for many years. How will this affect our most vulnerable student populations, including low income and students with disabilities? Why can Representative Buckley not create a bill in which there is an income cap on families who can receive this bill? There seem to be limits on families with 4 or more children making a certain amount, but what about families who have the same amount of children that makes upwards of $500,000 per year? This bill is nothing more than welfare for the wealthy disguised as a bill to trick average Texans into believing the system being created is for them, when it is in fact working against them. If lower income families can only qualify for public assistance if they make a certain amount of money, why is this not the case for wealthy families in Texas already sending their children to private schools? I would prefer for Representative Buckley scrap this bill if he truly cared for his constituents who live in a poorer district. I would also implore Representative Buckley to find answers to the questions he is being asked. It does not seem that he can explain much about his own bill and makes up answers on the spot. This is not helpful, nor is it reassuring to stakeholders within the public education system. Thank you for your time and taking my comments into account.

Deborah Pardo

Self

Seabrook, TX

This bill is horrible. No public funds for private schools

Michelle Flores

Self / Analyst

The Colony, TX

As a Texas resident since 1980 and a parent to two school aged children, I DO NOT support this bill that would strip public school funds to give to wealthy parents, and our taxpayer dollars should not be using public school funds for private schools. The Governor of this state needs to release all the funds that he is holding hostage for public schools and allow school districts to fund their schools and teachers. This is blatant CORRUPTION that the public is aware of. Abbott is corrupt and was bought by wealthy donors that are pushing this school voucher scheme. This hurts all children across Texas to strip funds away from them and their schools.

Elizabeth Wetterhahn
Self, Marketing Research
Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Eric Griffey Private
Fort Worth, TX

Vouchers will harm children. Please don't put profits over the future of our children

Pauline Gray
Self
Coppell, TX

Any tax payer monies for the benefit of the private sector should be held to the same accountabilities as tax payer funded public facilities, including but not limited to population served, services provided, and standardized accountability testing. Additionally, monies funding each should be equal per student.

Christie Cooper
Self
Katy, TX

I oppose HB3. As a parent of a special needs child and the spouse of an educator I think it's awful what the state of Texas and our government is doing to educate. Not only that but the out right lying to your constituents faces. We know this will hurt public schools and take money away from already under funded schools. You are hurting our children and the educators that serve them.

Elizabeth Joseph
Self
Irving, TX

Totally against school vouchers. It's theft of my tax dollars from public schools. My property value will lower with poorly funded public schools. Most importantly, it is not a just public policy.

Sharon Cozort

Self

Houston, TX

As a parent who sent her kids to private school, I understand the desire to be able to offset some of that expense with the money I saved our school district. However, I also understand that every kid who cannot afford private school, regardless of a savings account deserves to have a good public school education. Destroying public education in the name of "choice" is misleading and a fallacy. Most families still won't be able to afford their kids to private school and even if they could private school schools are not obligated to accept them. Private schools are not regulated in the same way public schools are. There are predatory schools who will take advantage of parents and convince them to take out loans that they can't afford to send their kids to private schools. This is a disaster in the making. Please vote now on HB3 and all other voucher bills.

Marissa Torres

Self

Houston, TX

As a homeschooling parent, I do NOT support HB 3 or school vouchers.

Jean Brazil, Mrs.

Self Retired teacher

Mansfield, TX

I am opposed to the establishment of educational savings accounts. I worked as a special education teacher for 30 years, often with the severely disabled. These students will not be allowed in private or charter schools. Giving vouchers for private schools robs these students of their right to a free and appropriate education. Without this, it denies them their chance at independent lives as adults. Without strong schools with robust funding, special needs students are hurt immeasurably.

Sharon Bradford

Self and as a retired teacher

Wylie, TX

I am very concerned about the effect school vouchers will have on the public schools. Having taught for 23 years I know the value of our public schools. I am really bothered by the negative comments about our schools. I am a lifelong republican and have been very active in Republican Women of Texas both at the local and state levels. I will not in the future support or vote for anyone who votes for vouchers. I know the quality of our public schools having taught in several during my career. Please do not create vouchers or education savings accounts. If there are individual schools that need improvement, concentrate on that.

Melissa Davis

Self

Austin, TX

I stand firmly in opposition of HB3. The proposed school choice bill is only intended to benefit private schools and families who can already afford to send their children to private school. This is incredibly negligent and does not address the obscene shortage of funding for public schools. My friends and family who are educators will be directly impacted negatively by this bill, while Texas educators are already underpaid and stretched thin. This bill has no accountability measures, as private schools are not held to the same standards and requirements as public school. This would be detrimental to low income families, families in rural communities, and families with children who are disabled or have special learning needs. Similar policies have not been successful in other states; why do the authors and supporters of this bill think Texas will be any different? I'm asking that Texas Legislators use common sense approaches and not divert funding from real solutions. Please do not allow taxpayer money to fund private institutions.

Kasey Roebuck

Self

Austin, TX

I am a public school teacher, and a public school parent. I want the best education for my students, my kids, and I want an educated community. HB3 takes funding from the public schools that serve everyone. Public funds belong in public schools. Between recapture and the continuous lack of adequate funding from the state, I have seen many valuable services for our kids and community go unfunded. Texas needs to fully fund our public schools with significant increase in the basic allotment. Texas needs to update the recapture laws that are starving our tax rich school districts, and Texas needs to forget about funding a voucher program that will divert funding from public school and hand it to private businesses with no educational responsibility.

Norma De La Rosa, Mrs.

El Paso Teachers Association/TSTA/NEA

El Paso, TX

The Constitution calls for a separation of church and state. Allowing taxpayer money to be used for an education savings account program, but let's call it what it really is, vouchers is a blatant violation. Families already have a choice to send their children to private schools and that is their choice, but tax money is the means by which government entities as outlined by our constitution are able to provide the services that goes back to the taxpayer. Many of our families in El Paso could never afford to send their children to private schools even with this ridiculous voucher plan. Public Schools were established by our forefathers to provide all citizens with an education and by approving this bill, you are taking away that opportunity, particularly for our most vulnerable students and it is a violation of their right to a free public education. Instead of criticizing our public schools, budget that money into our public schools. That will enable them to find all the resources needed to provide the excellent education we as educators strive to provide for all of our students; provide those funds so that our educators who spend countless hours working with our students, preparing lesson plans and providing so many opportunities for our students to succeed, are provided a salary that professionals should receive and our hourly employees are no longer living below the poverty level. These dollars can be and will be better used in our public schools for all children, not a select few. This is just a scheme to allow the rich to pay for an exclusive education that they can already afford. This is also just a scheme to devalue and cripple public education to ensure that the masses are uneducated and that is wrong, dead wrong! This is an issue of fairness and equity for all Texas children, not a select few. The future of Texas is at stake here if this bill is allowed to move forward and pass. I urge you to vote against HB 3.

Lynn Badgett

self, speech language pathologist

Cedar Park, TX

Hi, I am writing today as a concerned parent of a child in public school. Our elementary school is the heart of our neighborhood community around Brushy Creek in Cedar Park, TX. Our school is already under-resourced and in dire need of money to improve the facilities. And you are voting to take MORE money away from our public school? To allow wealthy people to subsidize their children's private education, people who likely wouldn't have utilized public education anyway? This action shows blatant disregard for the wellbeing of the majority of hardworking, middle class constituents like my family.

Research I've seen from voucher programs in other states shows that voucher programs do NOT improve education outcomes, test scores, or even non-academic measures like improved satisfaction or safety. Worse, vouchers directly harm people in rural areas who may not have easy access to private school education. Private schools face little accountability and do not deliver on any academic or non-academic measure. What makes you think that vouchers in Texas would be any different?

Please vote NO on the HB 3 school voucher bill.

Sarah Lechner

Self

Leander, TX

NO to VOUCHERS program!

Please FULLY fund PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Please allow $1300 Basic Allotment per child, please close the gap between pandemic funding that has run out and what schools are receiving now!

Dena Silva

Self Education Director

Fort Worth, TX

Vote NO on Vouchers. Vouchers are a scam and have no proven track record of success in any other state. Public education is imperative for the success of our state children. Our state money should not go to religious organizations, which a large percentage of private schools are. There is a complete lack of oversight on spending in private schools, while it is a requirement of public schools. VOTE AGAINST VOUCHERS and WORK FOR THE PEOPLE YOU REPRESENT. FULLY FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Tessa Burns

self - teacher and parent

Austin, TX

As a parent and a taxpayer, my money has been sent to the State of Texas with the belief that the public schools of this state would be fully funded. I am against school vouchers. The vast majority of Texas children are educated through our public school system. The logical, smart, and fair plan is to send the money that taxpayers have already paid, and continue to pay, to the public school districts in this state. This state has an education system in place that reaches ALL children. Let's work to make it the best system in the country! Fund our schools. Release the surplus. Do what is right for the children of Texas and the future of our state!

Sheila Redman

Self

Shallowater, TX

I am a Republican and also a public education teacher. Please vote no to vouchers! You are stealing from many to serve the few.

Amy Slaughter

Self

Galveston, TX

Please do not pass this bill for school vouchers. It's not right, it's not fair, and it's detrimental to all Texas stands for. It erodes public schools to benefit people who don't need it.

Hannah Embry

Self

Dripping Springs, TX

Vouchers will benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. This bill also fails students with special needs as private schools are not required to make accommodations or modify educational curriculum and strategies for these students. As a native Texan, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Tarri Miller
Self teacher
Arlington, TX

Please do not vote for these bills that are in no way beneficial to education, educators, and families who depend on these services and programs.

Kimberly White
Self/ public schools
Clyde, TX

This will refund our rural schools and lead to the collapse of our public education!! Take this energy and vote to increase school funding for PUBLIC SCHOOLS, increase teacher wages, improve those school programs for rural communities. This will not benefit anyone except for those who can already pay for private schools. Vote No on this bill!

Emily Klement, Dr Emily Klement
Emily Klement, LLC
Muenster, TX

Please stop this voucher madness. Parents always have had school choice - the answer is to fully fund public schools. Simple. Thomas Jefferson said of an educated nation: it will grow and sustain democracy! I'm concerned about our state if this goes through - who will it benefit? Could it be investors in vouchers? What's the truth?

Melissa Keyes
Self
Argyle, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Cecily Rodriguez
Self
Carrollton, TX

As an parent with children in public school I am against school vouchers for many reasons including, Rather than improving education overall, school vouchers undermine the public education system, leading to a lack of investment in the public schools that serve the majority of students. This can create a cycle of decline, where public schools become more underfunded and less effective.

Diverting funds to private schools can limit the financial resources available to public schools, potentially exacerbating teacher shortages and making it more difficult to attract and retain qualified educators.

With a child who has an IEP and needs extra support public school and loving, nurturing educators are a must.

Private and charter schools do not provide support for children like mine.

We should be pouring everything dollar we have into our teachers and public schools. I know many parents moving kids out of charter and private schools because their children are falling behind and not getting support needed.

We do not want to be controlled by billionaires and politicians who care more about their personal gain and greed. Texas politicians have already let us down in so many other areas.

Have a backbone and stand up to the bullies, just as we teach our children to.
Listen to your constituents and vote NO to vouchers!

Caite Hill

Self/ Parent of a school aged child

San Antonio, TX

Please pay attention to what you all are doing. Please help ALL children be able to attend school. The vouchers will take from the poor to give to the rich and will end up hurting a lot more than it helps. Please do not take away opportunities from our future, our children.

Louie Minor

Self

Killeen, TX

As a resident and voter of HD 54, I strongly oppose HB 3 and the use of public funds to private schools. I support allowing HB 3 to be voted on by a statewide ballot measure. Put the proposed $1 Billion into public schools or property tax reductions. The largest levied tax on any property now is school taxes. This is not helping the problem only making it worse by reducing students in districts. This will not help any rural districts. Vote No.

Sue Fuentes, Coach/Teacher

Shallowater ISD

Shallowater, TX

Please understand how detrimental the voucher system will be to public education.

Allison Moulder

Self, social worker

COLLEGE STA, TX

As a social worker and Texas-born resident, I am writing to express the immense negative repercussions of the education savings account/voucher program. Our public schools need more funding, not less, and this bill will take away needed funds from impoverished students and essentially redistribute them to wealthy families who do not need the assistance. My kids will be fine- my husband and I have enough education and skill to provide anything our kids need educationally. I worry about kids whose parents do not have the time and skill that I enjoy. Our public schools are foundational to our country's success. Texas can do much better for our students than this bill.

Lindsey Wineholt

Self - Speech language pathologist

Austin, TX

I am a parent of 2 children in Austin and my spouse is a public school educator. We support public schools and ask that you vote against any legislation that diverts money away from public schools, as this does. Thank you.

Hannah Estes, Miss

Self

Forney, TX

Do not pass this bill. This would greatly impact many of our bright students who need public education in order to succeed. Every family wants the best for their child but not every family has the funds for a private education and keeping food on the table. What you are proposing is unrealistic and laughable to the millions of Texans who graduate and benefit from these programs to further their education EVERY YEAR. Myself included when I graduated from Rockwall High School in 2016. While I lived in an affluent town I grew up in Shreveport, LA. My family and I moved here and we could not afford private education even despite living in the richest county in TX. Imagine that? The money you think your communities have to fund this voucher simply isn't there. The funds have been misappropriated and moved to sectors less needed such as cutting funds for various art programs to fund stadiums. Say no to this bill. Otherwise please understand you will have this on YOUR conscience that you let millions of students go without. And when our country years from now reflects this when we make it onto yet another list, don't be shocked you were warned.

Heidi Dudley

Self

Lindale, TX

Vote NO to vouchers!!

GABRIELLA RIVERA

Self

Falfurrias, TX

Against

Megan Graves

Self — social worker & parent

Fort Worth, TX

I am writing in opposition of HB3, as a parent and Licensed Clinical Social Worker in the state of Texas. The diversion of taxpayer funds away from public schools would deprive already underfunded districts of vital resources, ultimately harming the education of the vast majority of Texas students. While the bill claims to prioritize low-income families, the income threshold is set remarkably high, excluding many truly disadvantaged households. Moreover, rural communities often lack viable private school options, rendering vouchers ineffective in providing educational choice.

Instead of undermining public education through privatization, these funds should bolster our public schools to ensure all children, regardless of zip code or family income, receive a high-quality education.

Texas should invest in proven strategies like reducing class sizes, updating facilities and curriculum, and attracting/retaining excellent teachers - measures that benefit all students equitably. Abandoning our commitment to public schools through misguided voucher schemes is a disservice to Texas children and families. Thank you

Rachel McCreary-Fielder, Dr.

Self -physician

Georgetown, TX

As a physician, it is clear that access to a well-funded public education is in the best interest of Texans. As a parent, my children deserve to have their schools fully funded rather than my tax dollars supporting unregulated private schools through vouchers/education savings accounts. My sons are seventh-generation Texans, and the right to a public education is in the Texas Constitution.

Natalie Wimberley

Self

Kyle, TX

NO to vouchers!!!!!!!

Amy Johnson

self

Austin, TX

I vote NO against school vouchers and increase basic student allotment to $7500.

Melissa Girard
Self/homeschool teacher
Cibolo, TX

Hello, I'm writing because I am adamantly opposed to this bill. I believe some intention in this bill is for equity, but this bill is a mess. If we want equity across all demographics, this won't help. In fact, it will make it worse! As a homeschool parent I already have free choice and total control. I take my responsibility to heart and am pouring into my children's education. I don't want or need government help or regulation. If I did, I would choose public school. The biggest issue I have with this bill is in the "choice". It's not true choice; parents can choose where to send their kids, but can they get transportation or help in getting them outside of their district? No, that's not included. Are private schools already charging families, already offering financial aid/scholarships (at least some)- yes. This will only offer a rebate program to families who can afford private schools tuition. That's not equity; that's a handout to those who have the means to already pay the fees. I know our local district already struggles to support kids on IEP/504 plans. Focus on how to put more dollars to that; that's helps with equity. Those students need the help. The families were both parents work to live paycheck to paycheck- they need the help. This bill won't help them; it'll make it more obvious our representatives are in it to get what they can out of it. Truly disgusting and a travesty to those who live more in poverty. Speaking in regards to the homeschool community- none of us want the government to come in and regulate. We pay our property taxes and never see a dime for our own kids. Yes, that's can stink at times, but I wouldn't choose differently. I want for everyone to be able to choose how to educate their children without a bribe on how to do it. If homeschoolers could be exempt from a portion of property tax, that's all I could live with. We make sacrifices and choices everyday; that's life. Getting a kickback is a handout and I have no desire for that. I don't believe that's what Texans really want. What is being proposed is a way to invite government to actually expand their control over citizens. Enough!!! Keep the money with the public school system, find more efficient ways to support them. Private/homeschool shouldn't be in government reach.

Lisa Forrester
Self
San Marcos, TX

Against

Eric Hilton
Self
Dallas, TX

As a homeowner in Texas and a father to three children invested in the public school system, I very much oppose HB 3 and I want to see tax dollars going towards funding public schools, and only public schools, in Texas. I will not support any representatives in the future who voted in favor of HB3, as they will show their allegiance to the elite minority in Texas rather than their mass constituents that attend Texas public schools ben cotlar self, CPA

houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Richard Wick

Self

Spring, TX

I have two grandchildren that attend Kuehnle Elementary with the Klein ISD. Please vote against the School Vouchers. Private schools can select who they want to attend public schools have to accept all even with disabilities So please vote against vouchers and give the $ to public schools.

Purna Bajekal

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Purna Bajekal

Aubrey Stock
Lovejoy ISD (Parent)
Lucas, TX

My name is Aubrey Stock, and I am a mother of five young children in Lovejoy ISD. I am here today to express my strong opposition to HB3 because it diverts critical funding away from our public schools at a time when they are already underfunded. HB3 creates an Education Savings Account (ESA) program that would give taxpayer dollars to private and homeschool students with little to no transparency or accountability. While I fully support parental choice in education, that choice should not come at the expense of our public school students. This bill proposes giving ESA students 85% of the funding a public school student receives, yet public schools are subject to rigorous accountability measures, testing requirements, and financial reporting that private and homeschool students are not. If public dollars are being used, there must be public oversight. In addition, the vagueness of “85% of what a public school student receives” gives me great pause as no one in the legislature that I have met with over the last 18 months seems to be able to articulate consistently what the actual average of what a public school student really is. Our tax dollars should not be treated with this lack of transparency.

Furthermore, this program is being introduced while the state’s basic allotment for public schools has only been raised by $220 per student in HB2—far below what is needed to keep up with inflation. Our schools are being forced to do more with less, and now HB3 proposes diverting even more funding away from them. If we truly want to give families better educational opportunities, we should be fully funding our public schools rather than creating a separate system that benefits a few at the expense of the majority. Several other Lovejoy moms and I have spent almost two years now lobbying our representatives and the legislature to increase funding for our kids. We are actually extremely grateful for the legislators who have supported our bill (HB977/SB1613) for more funding for our GT students, but in reality, it still feels like we are scrounging for crumbs at the dinner table. Please direct your full attention to the vast majority of our public school students and our educators. The future of Texas is truly in your hands.

I urge you to oppose HB3 and instead focus on meaningful school finance reform that strengthens the schools that educate 5.5 million Texas public school students. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Jason McDonald
Self (Teacher)
Azle, TX

As a Texas public school teacher of 16 years, I have a long list of reasons to oppose vouchers.

That said, you already know them.

All I will say is this; the system is rigged.

It's rigged to make it appear that many (or most) public schools are failing.

It's rigged to allow special interest money to influence this topic.

It's going to be rigged to help the rich use public money for private school.

I now its rigged, and all of you know it's rigged.

Jason McDonald

Anh-Linh Kearney
Self
Austin, TX

Texas public schools deserve to be fully funded. Charter schools cannot replace the accessibility and education provided by public schools. I do not want my state dollars going towards taking money from public schools and giving it to private schools. This bill would do irreparable damage to our public school system, one of the core functions of government we need you to support rather than cut.

Christopher Bowdle

Self

Houston, TX

My comments are for the purpose of speaking AGAINST the passing of HB3 on an education savings account program.

This bill will inevitably do harm to all students in the state of Texas regardless of where these students currently attend school for the following reason:

- The effect, whether intended or not, of this bill will be to increase the desire and ability for families to move kids from public to private schools. In turn, public institutions will be gutted, unable to operate and provide services for those most in need. Essentially destroying the fabric of our education system. Education in America is a human right and this bill fundamentally removes that right from the most vulnerable people in our society - those that would benefit most from having a solid education. In turn, private schools who don't have the facilities to handle increased enrollment will be inundated with applications and ultimately have to increase tuition in response to maintain exclusivity. This is a simple economic problem with a simple outcome.

The Result - Immediate turmoil, lack of understanding how and where to apply to schools where a student has a chance to get in. This will strain the infrastructure of the private school system and remove funding from well established public schools - nobody will end up receiving the education they deserve and Texas will fall farther behind the rest of the states in this country in educational quality. We will be the laughing stock of the nation and our kids will be handicapped for life.

Stefany Vierra

Self

The Woodlands, TX

I am a homeschool mom and I oppose this bill.

Megan Morris

Self

Wylie, TX

The parents of Texas are BEGGING you to NOT divert money away from our public schools and funnel into private schools/the wealthy families that already attend private schools. they can afford it. Even with a "voucher" many every day Texans could not afford private school. Not to mention the lack of transportation, available options in rural areas, etc. This is going to only hurt our children's education, NOT help them. Please vote "NO" on this bill and keep our public schools safe!!

Richard Shannon

Self, retired

Moulton, TX

I am firmly against vouchers and support fully funded, high quality public education.

More than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send a child to even if the family could afford the difference.

Jakob Pahima

Self

Houston, TX

Please have this bill pass through! We should have the right to send our kids to a school of our choice which shares same values

Janice Shank

Self

Goldthwaite, TX

Please vote no to Vouchers!

Kendra Beshirs
Self-public educator
Powderly, TX

Please support public education and support all children by funding public education adequately. This is our future and the public school community does not want money leaving public schools.

Edwin Nimitz
My self. And three retired Texas Teachers
Katy, TX

School Vouchers allow the parent to choose of what school district is good for for their child. And i think it's a fair deal all the way around. The parent gets to choose of what school that thier child attends. It can be a large district like Houston. Or it can be a small district like Round Top/Camine

Regardless of where the family lives in Texas. My point is. Let the parent do the choosing and not the state or the school districts.

Now, will this system be fair to the larger districts like Dallas. Austin. San Antonio, Katy or Humble? Probably not, because they will be loosing students & state funding to smaller districts. And i think it's better for the smaller districts. Because that means, more students, more state funding! (And unfortunately. More headaches

Like the lack of school transportation, classes would be bigger, not enough teachers. Ect...

And school districts across this state can and should be able to limit the number of vouchers that they can accept.

One more thing, GIVE A SIGNIFICANT COST OF LIVING WAGE TO RETIRED TEXAS TEACHERS!

Dianne Newman
University of north texas/self
Denton, TX

Keep money with public schools. Vouchers are unnecessary. Know your overall constituency.

Julie Pickren, Honorable
TX SBOE #7 / Self
Pearland, TX

I am in support of HB 3. Parent's have a God given right to direct the education of their child.

Brandy Collins
Self
Wolfforth, TX

Speaking for myself and every other parent I have spoken to, vouchers are a terrible idea. This will take away from the historically underfunded public school education system and funnel money into the already wealthy private schools. Will there be guarantees that private schools will not charge tuition over the limit of the voucher? The wealthy can pay that, however the common folk, whom this bill is allegedly designed the serve, cannot. If they could, they would already be in the private school system. These families, like my own, will be forced to remain in the public school system, which would now be even more crippled and bled dry. Enrichment departments cut, staff fired due to lack of funds.

Did anyone even speak to REAL Texan families before drafting this bill? Take a poll? A vote? Any measure to gauge how the families affected by this bill felt?

This bill would be more effective if it guaranteed that the public school system could access the same funds and resources, or guaranteed the public school system would not lose the minimal funds it already has.

Additionally, the conflict of interest here with Abbot's personal stake in funding private schools due to his wife's involvement should be making us all take pause. Do not pass this bill. Do not approve vouchers. Our current public education system needs massive funding and reform, not to be tossed aside in favor of a program that will only benefit the top of the pyramid.

Ruth Kravetz representing myself
Houston, TX

I am a Harris County resident, an HISD parent and am opposed to HB 3. Vouchers defund public schools, harm student learning, and discriminate against vulnerable kids.

Vouchers subsidize private school tuition for the wealthy; 70% of voucher recipients nationally were already in private schools
Vouchers come in way over budget. Arizona's voucher scheme costs 1400% higher than advocates promised
Vouchers have caused the largest academic declines ever recorded, surpassing learning loss from Hurricane Katrina and the COVID-19 pandemic
Many voucher-funded schools discriminate against LGBTQ+ students or those with special needs.

Karen Amador
Self
The Woodlands, TX

In order to protect Texas' most vulnerable citizens, children, this bill must be rejected. Parents overwhelmingly don't want this to pass. Courting a few well off families and billionaires with serious conflicts of interest at the expense of a the vast majority of our children is inconceivable to anyone with a strong sense of ethics and pride in our state. To take money from public schools and give it to schools with different or no accountability measures in place is a slap in the face of every student who has suffered through state testing and through the teaching that invariably suffers because of the stakes of it. If parents want to send their children to a private school, fine. That is their choice. They should not be subsidized by the rest of the state.

Molly Bunker
Self
Plano, TX

Please vote NO for the voucher scam. This bill will be detrimental to education. I have two children in PISD schools and we already face underfunding. The vouchers will divert crucial funds desperately needed to fund our schools. Special Education is already severely underfunded. Our daughter accesses special education in Plano ISD. We see the effects of budget shortfalls since COVID. She formerly had a smaller class size and more one on one instruction. Currently, she is in a larger class with less help and behavior students take the attention away from her learning. Vouchers have the potential to harm students with disabilities and undermine the rights guaranteed under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. VOTE NO!

Mary Kroll
Krause Elementary Brenham ISD
NAVASOTA, TX

Please stand for public education, education that serves ALL kids. If passed this will take away from public education, an institution that is already underserved and undervalued. Teachers are pulling thousands of dollars a year out of their own pockets to serve the students in their classroom.

Thomas Kelly

Self - retired businessman

Austin, TX

Why has Jess Yass, a billionaire investor from Pennsylvania, contributed $10 million to help Greg Abbott promote school vouchers in Texas? Does he care so much about rural county citizens that he wants them to have a fair shot at sending their kids to private school? Perhaps not, given that most rural counties don't have any private schools. Does he want poor urban families to have a chance to send their kids to private school? Perhaps not, given that most private schools cost more than the voucher maximum and don't provide transportation. Does he want rich families in urban counties who already send their kids to private school to get a rebate? Maybe, but why not promote it as the private school rebate law? Could there be another motive? Jess Yass is a proud Libertarian. If you read the fine print on Libertarians, you'll soon learn that they don't believe in public education, and they don't believe in taxation. If Libertarians had their way, only private schools would exist, and the only students attending would be those who could afford them. What would happen to our literacy rate? It would fall dramatically. Ask yourself this: Would Jeff Yass care?

Kamilla Stokes

Self/government worker

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the "school voucher" bill. I have one daughter attending a public high school in my Austin neighborhood and am thrilled with her education. Austin's property taxes fund nearly 25% of all money paid into the Recapture System, more than the next three highest-paying systems combined. I'm glad to be able to support less financially stable and rural public schools. But it is a bridge too far to now have my taxes used to pay for private schools – schools allowed to reject any student for any reason; have no state oversight; not required to accommodate disabilities; and not even required to meet minimum competency. When a public school slips in competency, the state cuts their funding or even closes the school. Private school vouchers will NOT allow low-income families to escape poor, low-performing schools and the public schools will suffer from losing students (and losing per student funding). These statements are not hypothetical – we can see them playing out in real time in states that have implemented school vouchers. The State of Arizona implemented a school voucher program in 2022. Over 70% of the voucher money went to students who had never attended a public school. <https://www.forbes.com/sites/petergreene/2024/02/24/how-much-are-universal-vouchers-costing-arizona/>. There are nearly 300,000 students enrolled in private schools in Texas. <https://texasprivateschools.org/>. Now taxpayers are expected to pay $10,000 per student annually resulting in a cost of an additional $3 billion. I strongly urge you to vote no on HB 3.

Carie Aguirre

Self

College Station, TX

Please support public education. Public money should be kept in public schools. Vouchers do not provide choice when private schools are not required to follow the same laws. Public schools are already underfunded. Vouchers will do a huge disservice to our communities. Please follow your constituents' needs.

Thank you,

Carie

Catherine Burke

Self

Fair Oaks Ranch, TX

This would do irreversible damage to the public school system. Public Schools currently are in crisis and do not have enough money to sustain consistent education across the state. Staffing and $per student rates are too low to have high quality education in areas of income or in areas of Low income. Teacher and staff salaries are lower than most in our country. Labor positions barely keep staff/employees over the poverty line in Texas.

Taking money away from public schools will be so damaging. The fear people with "home school" for the voucher will further lower scores and opportunities for student success.

This is a huge mistake.

Rachel Blanke
Self
Sugar Land, TX

I am a homeschooling mom and I do not want this.

Ben Danielson
Self
Round Rock, TX

I'm opposed to HB 3. This is not what the voters of Texas want. Listen to the voters, not private outside interests making money off of our kids.

Donna Acosta
self
Porter, TX

Vouchers have been a failure in most of the states that have adopted them. They are fiscally irresponsible and places a burden of debt on the state. In addition, vouchers educationally have not proven to be overall particularly helpful to the majority of students. Given this, I cannot understand why our representatives are standing behind this radical idea that will leave most of our students behind. Vouchers are a bad idea that no one wants. Can't we just let this go?

Brook Pumphrey
Self
Carmine, TX

Texans do not want vouchers!! Special needs children will not get the support they need if this bill is passed.

Cinthia Villanueva, Mrs.
Self Texas educator
San Antonio, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

5. There's no clear plan with this money when students transfer out of a private school in the middle of the school year.

6. Students that attend title 1 schools will not be able to account for transportation costs and issues since most private schools are nonexistent near poor school districts in Texas.

Thank you

Angela Greco
Self, Garden Designer
Austin, TX

Hello! Please vote against the expansion of school vouchers. They will rob our public education system of much-needed funds while subsidizing private schools. I'm aware that there's some nuance to the topic of charter schools, but I would love to see more robust support and renovation of public education. Thank you.

Mia Huo
self
Austin, TX

I do not support HB3. The Texas government should do its job and focus resources on public schools. HB3 would make quality education less accessible and harm students going to public schools. If you truly care about the future of Texas and the prospects of ALL Texas children, you should not let HB3 pass. Public schools are your responsibility, not private schools.

Meredith Davenport, Dr.
Self / Physician & Parent.
Wimberley, TX

My name is Meredith Davenport. I implore the committee to VOTE NO on HB3.

I grew up in Round Rock, Texas - my mother worked as an administrative assistant and my step-father as an electronic salesman. Public schools offered a lifeline for me as I was growing up and also showed me what was possible beyond high school. After graduating salutatorian of my high school class while also engaging in many extracurricular activities, I attended an Ivy League University where I also played volleyball. I returned to Texas for medical school and residency at UTMB in Galveston. I have practiced OB/GYN in the state of Texas for 20 years, taking care of thousands of women in our great state. This would not have been possible without the opportunities afforded by public education.

My husband (retired after 23 years of service in the TX ANG, F16 pilot) and I have raised our 3 children in rural Wimberley. When my kids were pre-K and early elementary, they attended a local private Montessori school which we funded with our own money (not taxpayer dollars). This was a true choice that we made based on my husband's early life experiences and we were willing to use our own money to pay for it. When it was the right time for each of our children, we transitioned them to public schools in Wimberley. It has served each of them very well and public schools have offered each of them wonderful opportunities that would not have been possible at the local Montessori school which has since closed.

I have attended WISD school board meetings off & on for the past 3 years. Watching our leaders continue to ensure high quality education with less and less funding has been heartbreaking. They have done all that they can to cut expenses and next we will have to cut programs that benefit our kids long-term if we don't increase public education funding.

I have done the research on school vouchers and how it has impacted other states' public education systems. The data is clear - vouchers give a tax break to people who are already attending private schools. Like our family did, I feel strongly that private schools are a choice and with that choice come the requirement to pay for it with their own money, not taxpayer funds. In states that have utilized vouchers, that money is ultimately being taken out of the pockets of public schools. In a rural area with no real private school options, if you defund our public schools, our public schools will close. Then the only "choice" is to bus rural kids long distances to attend a school in another city. We have a lot of pride in our schools here in Wimberley, it means something to be a "Wimberley Texan". Not only do we lose that by losing our local public schools, but our kids spend hours commuting just to obtain an education. Please do not harm the children in my community by passing this HB3. VOTE NO on HB3 and choose to direct more funds to public education.

Jacquelyn Sanderson
Self
Lubbock, TX

I do not support the school vouchers as I currently do not have enough information to ensure that there will be no negative effect on funds available for public schools and their programs

Andrew Parkyn, Dr.

Self, Archaeologist

Fate, TX

This program needs to be scrapped with more money invested in an already cash strapped public school system. Vouchers do not cover the cost of sending children to private school who cannot already afford it. As it would generally not cover the full cost for many private schools. The better approach would be to find additional money for public schools to improve building, facilities and to give teachers a much needed pay raise. That way the best public school teachers would want to continue teaching and general education levels would improve by better teachers and facilities. Stop this reverse Robinhood policy where the poor lose out to give to the rich who do not need the additional funds. No one is actually making parents choose private schools and is therefore optional and should not be used to take money from the public school system. My three boys are all in public school and are excelling in their respective years. I would hate to see their education standards decline to benefit those who choose private school.

Scott Schroeder

Self

Austin, TX

Please accept

James Briscoe

Cypress Fairbanks Independent School District

Cypress, TX

Subject: Opposition to School Vouchers in Texas

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school voucher programs in Texas. As a dedicated advocate for public education, I firmly believe that vouchers undermine the foundation of our public school system and divert much-needed funding away from the majority of students who rely on it.

Public schools serve all children, regardless of background, ability, or socioeconomic status. Diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions through vouchers weakens public education by reducing the resources available for teacher salaries, classroom materials, and essential student programs. This loss of funding disproportionately impacts rural and lower-income communities, where public schools are often the only educational option.

Additionally, private schools receiving voucher funds are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. They are not required to serve all students, including those with disabilities or English language learners, and they do not have the same transparency in financial and academic performance. This lack of oversight raises concerns about fairness and the responsible use of taxpayer money.

Instead of diverting funds through vouchers, we should focus on strengthening Texas public schools by investing in teacher retention, modernizing classrooms, and ensuring that every student has access to high-quality education, regardless of their ZIP code.

I urge you to stand with Texas public schools and oppose any voucher legislation that threatens their success. Thank you for your time and your commitment to the future of Texas students.

Julie Duckett-Casey

Self

Port Lavaca, TX

Public education needs to be appropriately funded before giving money to private schools. Parents already have school choice as they are able to choose where to send their children. Those who can afford it are already enrolled. The only thing a Voucher will do is cause the institution to raise the yearly fee for that student to attend. It is RIDICULOUS that the children whose family cannot afford private school already are being punished by not being appropriately funded in public school. The State of Texas should be ashamed of how they are treating public schools and those who attend them.

Michelle Kenyon

Self- mother

Spicewood, TX

Please, please do not pass this bill. We need tax money to go to our public schools! The only people that benefit from this bill are the wealthy, who will already be spending their money on private school, with or without the voucher. Or schools are already suffering from being underfunded.

Donna Friend

Self

Lewisville, TX

Please oppose vouchers and vote instead to raise the basic allotment for Texas public schools! As a 28 year educator, I am proud of our students and the work we do daily. Visit public schools. We are succeeding with what little budgets we have. Imagine what we could do if fully funded. Please.

Joseph Filip

self

Austin, TX

This attempt to redistribute the wealth of tax papers away from our community schools to wealthy parents who send their kids to private schools is a disgrace to the values of this state. If private schools can take public money they must be accountable for accepting anyone into their programs, that their costs are audited, and that they are held accountable to the same academic standards as public schools that are supposedly failing so horrifically.

Chris Schneider

self

Leander, TX, TX

$ should follow the kids. DOGE the schools. Fire 90% of the admins, cut Supe's salaries. Make failing kids stay back like we used to. Common sense!! No new spending, in fact cut spending!!!

Cassie Hertenberg

Self - retired Texas teacher

Spring, TX

Please, please do not establish a savings acct program for parents. I do not support this.

Henaris Curiel-Shaw, LCSW-S

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill. Do not support school vouchers.

Roxann Stclair

Self teachers

Shallowater, TX

Public schools are too important to allow draining their funds for private schools that are already funded through pay. VOTE NO to this bill and let's solve the problems on public schools instead of draining the funds to funnel to private schools. Absolutely ridiculous that this is even a thing. If there are struggling public schools in areas where kids should have school choice FIX THE BROKEN SCHOOLS.

Josefa French

Self

Corinth, TX

“AGAINST. Proposed voucher stipends of $10K are not enough for everyday Texans to opt into this “choice.” On the other hand, wealthy Texans who can already afford private school are going to get a free $10,000 discount at the expense of our public schools which desperately need the funds. Private schools also do not have to follow any rules and can deny any student for any reason. School vouchers will only transfer taxpayer dollars from the poor to the wealthy, at the expense of our public schools which are investing in education for every Texan

Amanda Campbell

Self

Allen, TX

I oppose HB 3 due to the costs anticipated to support the program - $11B over the next 5 years - and the lack of the same fiscal transparency and academic standards as public schools required of institutions receiving taxpayer funding.

Shari North

Self

Dallas, TX

No school vouchers for private schools. Fund public schools that have accountability.

Arla Hollins

Self

Fresno, TX

If we just put money into our public schools and paid our public school teachers what they need to be paid, this would not be necessary

Lori Wilhite, Former teacher

None

Canyon, TX

Voting yes for vouchers is wrong ! It will create a bigger caste system than we already have. Education the masses is what defines America. Let those who want to go private do so without all the extras public paid resources if they choose. Vouchers will kill many, many small communities with other far reaching effects. Please vote no.

Charlotte Taylor
self / User Experience Researcher
Allen, TX

I urge you to vote against HB 3, the Texas school voucher bill. While choice can "sound: appealing, vouchers divert critical resources away from public schools, exacerbating inequities across our state.

Public schools serve every child, regardless of background, disability, or socioeconomic status, ensuring equity mandated by both state and federal laws. Vouchers funnel public money into private institutions that can legally exclude students based on academic performance, disabilities, religion, or economic circumstances. This creates an unfair, two-tiered educational system that contradicts Texas' constitutional obligation to provide quality education to all.

Vouchers also undermine the principle of equal opportunity. Strong, well-funded public schools build communities and form the foundation of a robust, career-ready workforce. Weakening public education today jeopardizes Texas' economic competitiveness tomorrow by limiting the skills and preparedness of future workers. Numerous studies (including from the National Education Policy Center) demonstrate vouchers do not reliably improve student achievement but often increase segregation and inequity.

I trust your commitment to fairness, community strength, and economic prosperity for all Texans. Please vote "no" on HB 3 and prioritize public education that supports every child equally.

Sara McMullen
Self
Bryan, TX

I am a public school teacher in Texas. I vehemently oppose HB 3. By design and implementation it will drain funding from already underfunded Texas Public Schools. Also, the proposed increase of basic allotment of $220 is insufficient. That "increase" doesn't even cover the monumental inflation that has gripped the country. School vouchers are not about providing "school choice" they are designed to take money away from public schools and provide taxpayer dollars to institutions that do not meet uniform accountability standards required of public schools. I vehemently oppose this initiative and the bill should fail as it will only hurt and further disenfranchise all Texas school children.

Kim Fisher
self/public school teacher
Murchison, TX

As a homeschool mom and public school teacher, I am writing to not only do my public school colleagues opposes this bill, my homeschool friends and family oppose it. A voucher system is not what anyone is asking for at this time. After the recent presidential election the climate of the people seem to want less government spending, and less government involvement in our lives. As a homeschool mother, I love that Texans have the right to homeschool as they wish, and do not have the regulations that other states have. Our community does not wish to have any government money and regulations interfering in how we educate our children. We all know that with money, comes obligations, we would prefer as a community to not have public funding and let us go about our lives. As a public school teacher, I hear from all of my colleagues that this is not wanted. How can Governor Abbott and our representatives be so blind as to not see most Texans oppose this, and have been commenting and posting about it since we were aware of this new spending plan. Please listen to your constituents and oppose this new voucher bill.

Janice Pennington
Self
Joshua, TX

Texans do not want vouchers. Please fully fund public schools. Vouchers will harm small districts and they will harm rural districts. Vouchers will also have negative effects on teacher retirement and I am a retired teacher.

Jerry Christenson

Self

Cibolo, TX

Vote no

Angie Nobles

Self

Georgetown, TX

Billionaires do NOT dictate how taxpayers dollars are spent. Stand up for the hard-working Texans.

Lynette Heckmann

Self

Georgetown, TX

NO to public school vouchers! As a product of both private and public education, the value to private schools is mostly to instill religious values. The academic value of those schools can be debated with some doing a better job than others. But sucking money out of public education, the state's responsibility, to funnel to private schools, not the state's business, is anathema to how taxpayer funds are to be budgeted.

Ava Jackson

Self, food service

Huntsville, TX

Public education has inherent value to society.

Anita Harris

Self

Waxahachie, TX

I oppose the school voucher bill for several reasons:

1. It has been used politically to avert funding for public schools.
2. Although I am a Christian, I do not think school is the place to teach Bible stories. There is something called Bible school for that. You should check it out. I used to teach it.
3. Young children in a school environment can't discern fact from stories. Little who think SpongeBob really lives in the ocean are too impressionable to be critical thinkers. My faith waits until children are older before the choose to join it, and they must take classes to learn more about the faith before they take that step.
4. Separation of Church and state is one of, if not the most important, tenets of the U.S. Constitution. Our Founding Fathers lived under religious oppression in England before coming here. In their wisdom, they determined that no one religion should play a role in our governmental affairs. I am a member of the religion that oppressed them, so I can say this from a place of not seeing history repeated. A child's religious beliefs should be dictated by their parents and their faith.

Thank you for your consideration of my comments.

Carla Cowdrey, Mrs

Self

Decatur, TX

I oppose HB 3 because it will take away needed funding from public school and it will only benefit the kids already going to private school. Private schools do not have to accept all students- this leaves those with disabilities left out. Private schools can also raise their tuition in order to further exclude students. I also have concerns about the Governor 's acceptance of an I sane amount of money from billionaire "preachers" in order to push this through. He is not thinking of the students of TX. According to US News and World Report, TX ranks 29th in the country for education. This is unacceptable and will push what's left of our great state further down.

Beth Jones
Self
Bellaire, TX

Texas has the responsibility to educate all its children. Public funds should benefit all the public, not only the rich. Stealing public funds to benefit private schools leaves millions of rural, poor, learning-disabled, and disabled children without access to the education they deserve. In addition, data from every voucher state argues against all the claims made by the governor and his retinue. This bill is pure evil.

Jennifer Hobgood
Self
Athens, TX

I do NOT support this and the governor does NOT have the best interest of children and families with this “voucher” system. Someone is lining pockets for their own interest.

Robin Smyers
Self
LANTANA, TX

I am 100% against HB 3, against vouchers, and want our public schools fully funded. We as a state are not taking care of our future and we must protect public education in our schools. Parents already have school choice. We do not be needing to fund people who don't need the money. Please protect our students and support our teachers.

Carol Wilson, Mrs.
Self - Asst. Minister for Children and Church Promotion
Arlington, TX

I do not support this bill that does not support our public school children and parents who depend on our support.

Bryan Smith, Mr
Self
Manor, TX

I strongly disagree with the establishment of an education savings account program. This money should go to funding our public schools.

Paula Medina
Self
Floresville, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

I respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 I support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you for remembering you work for the people and not for private schools.

Kindly,

Paula Medina, RN

Karen Kleinpeter, Mrs
Self
Magnolia, TX

As a previous homeschool parent, I strongly oppose this bill.

Natalie Neugent
self/retired educator
Hurst, TX

Public schools need more money to educate ALL children. Vouchers will not work for those who need it the most. I keep hearing on the news that special education students will get help first, but often private schools are not equipped to help those students. Public schools are! Also, many rural districts are too far from any private school for those students to be able to benefit. PROPERLY FUND OUT PUBLIC SCHOOLS! That's what needs to happen to help ALL children succeed.

Courtney Dinyarian

Self - Mother of Four, EPA attorney

Dallas, TX

I am a mother of four, a public school alum, and plan on sending my four children to public school. Two of my four children are currently enrolled in our public elementary school and both receive special services: one for Gifted and Talented services, and one for speech services. We believe that our public schools are a critical element in a Democratic society. Our tax dollars are an investment into the greater good. I abhor the idea of education savings accounts and it truly seems like everyone does. I don't know a single person who supports it, not any of my Republican friends, not any of my private school friends, nobody. Why is this happening? Who is this benefitting? Follow the money. Do we really want our tax dollars to go toward religious schools? If you're not compelled by that, what about tax dollars going to Muslim schools, with teachers from the Middle East coming here to teach radical jihadist anti-American ideals? Think this through. It's an absolutely terrible idea.

LEA SHAH

home

San Antonio, TX

I strongly oppose SB2 and HB3, which would divert public funds to private schools through education savings accounts. These bills threaten to undermine Texas' already underfunded public schools, taking away critical resources from the majority of students who rely on them.

Taxpayer dollars should be used to strengthen our public education system, ensuring every child has access to quality teachers, well-funded classrooms, and necessary support services, not subsidizing private institutions that lack accountability and can selectively admit students.

Rather than funneling money into a program that benefits a select few, Texas should focus on increasing teacher pay, improving school infrastructure, and expanding educational opportunities within public schools. Our priority should be to invest in the success of all Texas students, not just those who can afford private tuition.

I urge lawmakers to reject these voucher programs and instead commit to fully funding public education for every child in our state.

Jody Steele
Self/Education Teacher
Seminole, TX

My name is Jody Steele, and I am a teacher and coach in Seminole ISD. I am extremely concerned about any version of a voucher program, and I am asking you to oppose HB 3 or any other voucher legislation.

Our public schools are the heart of our community, and the state should focus on these schools instead of diverting funds to private schools.

Unlike public schools, private and home schools have very little accountability to taxpayers, and don't have to conform to most state and federal laws regarding curriculum standards, financial accountability, teacher qualifications, student performance, special education, and student health and safety.

Charter schools are already siphoning off students and funding from our school system, and a voucher program would create a third education system for the state to support.

Other states, like Arizona, have created a budget crisis by introducing vouchers.

Teachers and other employees are in desperate need of improved compensation, and low salaries are contributing to the shortage of qualified, certified teachers. Available funding should be directed into the classroom.

Unless strictly limited, vouchers tend to benefit families of students who are already attending private schools or those with greater wealth.

Private schools can refuse to admit a student for any reason, including for special education status, family religion and disciplinary history, while public schools educate any student zoned for attendance.

The highest performing private schools are unlikely to accept voucher students due to costs (tuition is higher than the amount of the voucher) and concerns about state regulation.

As with charter schools, even a "limited" program is very likely to be expanded in future years, to the ongoing detriment of the overall state budget, including public schools.

Our public schools already offer choices, including magnet schools, virtual education, CTE programs and much more.

Vouchers are not school choice. School choice already exists and multiple families/parents across the state utilize this. Support public education for all by properly funding public schools, along with supporting teachers by increasing compensation. All of this should be done without being tied to vouchers or anything else. It is the correct thing to do.

Sincerely,
Jody Steele

Julie English
Self
Spring Branch, TX

As a previous public school teacher, and as a taxpayer, I am AGAINST this bill. It is wasteful, hurtful to our communities and not at all how I want my taxpayer dollars spent! If you truly wanted to help Texans gain a better education, you would fund a free education system for ALL and provide access to quality public school education as opposed to segregating by class and faith! ALL students deserve better education and every child deserves an equal investment in their futures. Spend the money on expanding public school funding and improving the learning environment through more options for valuable experiences inside and beyond the classroom brick and mortar. Do not vote to waste my tax dollars on private schools run by uncertified, often unqualified, religiously biased "educators" who might have good intentions but limited accountability. Their own education levels are often questionable. If you want better education, you need to invest more into our publicly promised systems. You can't expect to improve student outcomes if you spread our funds even thinner. The best public school teachers are already overworked and underpaid. I know that when I taught at public schools, I often spent 1/4-1/2 of my paychecks to supply my students with their needs. Public school teachers are the most dedicated people I have know throughout my life experience. They want to give everything to student success. Help them help our kids succeed! Vote NO!

Kristi Burrage
Self. Registered Nurse
Coleman, TX

The “school choice” bill using vouchers hurts public schools. My children do not have the option to attend private school due to our rural location. Tax dollars should NOT be used to fund private school education. This bill will only decrease the amount that wealthy parents spend on their children’s private school tuition. This is no way will help public school funding. Public schools are where tax dollars should be spent. Public schools are required to accept all children that reside within their district. Private schools are allowed to choose which students they accept. This bill doesn’t support “school choice”. It supports welfare for the wealthy.

Echols Vickie
Self
Fairview, TX

believe in the power of public schools to transform lives and strengthen communities. I’ve seen firsthand how dedicated teachers and school leaders make a difference when given the resources and autonomy to serve their students effectively. However, I have also seen the damage caused when misguided policies burden schools with unfunded mandates, strip away local decision-making, and discourage teachers from staying in the profession.

I am speaking today in strong opposition to House Bill 3 because it threatens the strength and stability of Texas public schools in three critical ways.

1. Unfunded Mandates Increase the Financial Burden on Schools

House Bill 3 places additional financial and operational burdens on school districts without providing the necessary funding to implement them effectively. Many districts across Texas are already struggling with underfunding, rising costs, and teacher shortages. This bill forces schools to shift resources away from instruction, student support services, and classroom needs to comply with state mandates. Instead of supporting schools with the funding they need, this bill increases costs without solutions.

2. Erosion of Local Control and Decision-Making

Public education is not one-size-fits-all. Each community in Texas has unique needs, and local school boards and educators understand those needs better than the state legislature. House Bill 3 takes decision-making power away from local school leaders and imposes a state-driven approach that disregards the voices of those who work in and support Texas schools every day. When policies are dictated from the top down, they often fail to address the real challenges schools face, creating unnecessary obstacles rather than solutions.

3. Negative Impact on Teacher Recruitment and Retention

Texas is facing a severe teacher shortage, and this bill makes the problem worse. Teachers are already overworked, underpaid, and undervalued. Instead of supporting them, House Bill 3 adds more bureaucratic hurdles and top-down directives, pushing educators further away from the profession. If we want to attract and retain high-quality teachers, we should be investing in higher salaries, better working conditions, and policies that treat teachers as professionals—not burdening them with more mandates that make their jobs harder.

Jamie White
Self
Magnolia, TX

I am opposed to spending public money on private education for the few at the expense of million of public school children. This bill had nothing to do with choice and everthing to do with profit. Public money need to be invested in raising our sorely underfunded public schools. Branding vouchers as choice is a feeble attempt to mislead the public since choice is already available. Put thos4 extra billions into creating a first class public school system for ALL children an not a select few..it should be obvious that Texans do not want this. Please stand up for children, not profiteers. Show us what you are made of.

Cora Mueller

Self. Retired elementary teacher.

Lubbock, TX

I oppose HB3. Vouchers (educational savings accounts) are not the solution. Fully funding the TEXAS public school system is the solution.

Susan Honeywell, MS

Self

Montgomery, TX

No

Melinda Cox

Self

San Antonio, TX

Opposed to HB3.. we need equity for all and there are too many strings in this bill. It even goes against Republican Party principles

Kelsy Ehmann

Self

North Richland Hills, TX

I oppose HB3 and would like my property tax money to stay in our public schools.

Laura Russell, Mrs.

Self

Denton, TX

Vote NO on HB3. Raise the basic allotment and fully fund public education.

Jamie McGivern

Self

League City, TX

Please vote NO for Texas education vouchers. Removing funds from public schools to pad the pockets of wealthy is unethical. There are no accountability measures in place for parents to not take the money and actually use it towards private school education. Schools need more instructional coaches to support research-based instructional strategies that will move students and education forward. Districts need tighter accountability measure for principals. Principals are the instructional leader on the campus and should make decisions, drive movement, and follow-up on what should be happening in schools. But no where do we get to give feedback on what is happening on campuses. Vouchers will remove critical funds from public education which will domino into removing instructional coaches and leave teachers stranded. VOTE NO and increase the allotment of per-student funds in public education.

Susan Getter

Self

San antonio, TX

My full heart is 100 percent vouchers. No matter how hard you try to convince yourself that parents know what is best for their child, what you are actually saying is only the wealthy know what is best for their child because they are the only ones actually able to take advantage of vouchers. I want ALL children to have the chance at a great education. That is through supporting public school. We all benefit from everyone being educated. Show Texas you care for Texas. Not just the wealthy that have the means and ability to use a voucher. Love all of texas. Vote for public school!

Genevieve Rodriguez

Self

Elmendorf, TX

Fund public schools. Support teachers and all staff in the trenches serving the students and future of Texas and the USA.

Debbie Gossett

Self

Wichita Falls, TX

I do not support tax dollars being used for private school vouchers

Deborah Douglas, Dr.

Self

Burnet, TX

No to school vouchers, please.

Rhonda Boylson

Self

Granbury, TX

Follow what the actual constituent's of the state want , not outside interest groups . No to school vouchers

Pam Hamburg, Mrs

Self

Justin, TX

Please don't pass this voucher scam. Our public schools need funding. I am a retired teacher. I worked 29 years in our public schools. I have spent my own money for supplies while teaching. Our schools need funding to help support our ambition to educate our future. Currently the district that I live in will be letting teachers go because they don't have the funding to pay them. This will mean larger class size for sure. More students in a classroom makes teaching so much harder than it already is. Discipline problems will be numerous in this situation. Public schools take all children while private schools take the selected ones. If a parent wants their child to go to private school they will find the money to pay for their education. It has been done that way for many years. Public school funds should not be given for private education. Also, I have read/heard that this voucher program will make TRS bankrupt, Then what will happen to the retirees. Our retirees have worked for their retirement and should be able to receive their retirement without the worry of losing it. Again, please say NO to vouchers.

Tina Church, Mrs.

All public education students!

Allen, TX

I am a public educator and oppose vouchers. Education is critical for our future generations. Do not create an educational savings program.

Patrick Hall

Self

Sealy, TX

I'm the son of a school Superintendent. My mother was a junior high English teacher. My wife is a 20 year teacher. I'm a lifetime Republican Voter. In no way is vouchers okay. Private Schools are not held to the same standards. Private schools can reject students. I pay higher taxes to live in better districts. This is the death knell of public education in Texas. I am formly not in support of this bill. I will cast my vote against any Texas House member or politician that I can that supports this bill no person I know, with any party supports this.

Maria Ryan, Mrs.

Self - Teacher

El Paso, TX

This program will disproportionately affect many Texas families who rely on public education. We are already at a point where funding is scarce which is leading to overcrowded classrooms, layoffs, and lack of resources. These vouchers are a scam that is tailored only to helping the rich. As a constituent I refuse to support legislation that aims to cut resources for children and families who live in rural areas, and/or live in low-income communities.

No vouchers!

Myrna E Zapata

1945

Sunset Valley, TX

Texas schools needs support and money, do not abandon our public education. It's the backbone of our country. Private schools are business for profit, they need to get their own money not the tax payers money!! Make our schools better, do not attack their stability and existence!!

Lenzi Hart

Self

Shallowater, TX

Statement Opposing House Bill 3

As a 22-year veteran English teacher in Texas, I am deeply opposed to House Bill 3, which would divert public funds to private school vouchers. This bill is a direct attack on our public education system, which serves as the foundation of our communities and the only real path to opportunity for countless children across our state.

Public schools are the lifeblood of our neighborhoods, bringing together students from all walks of life and ensuring that every child—regardless of zip code, family income, or background—has access to a quality education. For many students, especially those from low-income families, public schools are the only way they can reach their full potential. Instead of fully funding and strengthening these schools, Texas lawmakers are once again attempting to siphon taxpayer money away from the very institutions that need it most.

Let's be clear: vouchers do not improve education. They do not increase opportunity. What they do is take public dollars and hand them over to private institutions that have no obligation to serve all students, particularly those with disabilities, those learning English, and those in the greatest need. This is not about "school choice"—it is about subsidizing private education for families who are already wealthy and privileged, while abandoning the students who rely on public schools.

If Texas truly cared about education, we would fully fund our public schools. We would ensure competitive teacher salaries, reduce class sizes, update outdated facilities, and provide resources that allow every child to succeed. Instead, lawmakers continue to undermine public education, starving it of the funds it needs to thrive.

House Bill 3 is not a solution; it is a betrayal of the millions of Texas children who depend on their neighborhood schools. I urge every lawmaker who values fairness, opportunity, and the future of this state to stand against this harmful bill and commit to strengthening—not dismantling—our public education system.

James Jarratt, Mayor

Self

Granbury, TX

I have read HB 3, and 4 and find them to be a good start. I'm sure there will be adjustments after a couple of years of use. For now, we should push as hard as possible to implement these Bills, eliminate TEA and eliminate TSBA as they in no way serve to educate our children.

Jim Jarratt - Mayor - City of Granbury

Debra Diffie, Grandmother

Self

Alvord, TX

I am a retired educator (39 years) with three grandsons in a 2A public school. Small communities revolve around rural ISDs. Parents who elect private over public schools have and will continue to do so without government assistance. FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS ADEQUATELY. TAX DOLLARS SHOULD GO TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Lauren Kaminski

Self/educator

Cypress, TX

Fund public schools. Vouchers are not the answer and are only helping the wealthy who already attend private schools. Put all that money into public schools, schools are struggling because they are not properly funded and haven't seen an increase in funding in years.

NICHOLAS LONGO

Self

PORTLAND, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can currently afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools in urban and rural areas. Please vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Martha Dominguez, Dr.

AFT

El Paso, TX

This bill will destroy public education in Texas combined with dismantling the Department of Education that President Trump plans to do. Public money should NOT go to private education. Public education in Texas is not funded appropriately. For example, Salvador Cavazos, Superintendent of Valere Public Schools, a small charter network, makes $870,000 (for the past three years) to lead a District with 1,000 students and three schools. Obviously, this is not a private school, but it's a charter school, different than public schools/education. Again, public education needs the money!

Enda Herzog

Self/retired

Mt Pleasant, TX

I am against HB 3 because I do not want my taxes going to private or parochial schools. Put that money in to our state's free public schools so all children have all they need to learn. Listen to the people who are against HB 3 for various reasons that are important to them. Thank you for reading.

Georgia Whittington
Mothers for Democracy
Covington, TX

This bill will harm public education and should not pass. Giving more public funds to private schools does not make sense.

DEBBIE GONZALEZ, Ms.
McAllen ISD
McAllen, TX

This House Bill if passed is a death sentence for public schools and educators like me. This bill does not level the playing field for ALL students. It separates us even further from the haves and have nots. Texans already have school choice and I don't feel that tax payer money should fund private or charter schools for any reason. If a parent(s) choose to send their child(ren) to a private or charter school that has tuition, THEY and ONLY they should pay that. This bill is nothing but a scam!

Rhonda Houston
North Hi Mount E.S. - Teacher
Fort Worth, TX

May it be know I am not for vouchers toward private and charters schools. Return the funds designated to public schools. No to HB2 and vouchers.

Kelly Elliott, Dr.
self (professor, parent, citizen)
Abilene, TX

As a parent of two Texas public school children in Abilene, as an educator, and as a citizen of the state of Texas, I am writing to express my vehement opposition to HB 3. Taxpayer dollars that are earmarked for public education must go to public schools, not funneled into other channels. Because many Texas families do not live near enough a private school to make use of the proposed vouchers, it is abundantly clear that this bill will not actually benefit a majority of Texas families. Rather, it will reduce the cost of private education for families who already pursue private schooling and are able to pay for it. This bill is a political performance by the governor and members of Congress. It benefits the wealthy and will harm students who live in poorer districts. This bill will not improve teacher pay, teacher retention, or programming in our public schools. The majority of Texas residents do not support vouchers. If Rep. Buckley and Gov. Abbot are so certain that Texans want what they are calling school choice, then they should put it on the ballot and let Texans vote on it. But we don't want vouchers. We want well-funded, well-supported public schools that serve ALL Texas children. We want teachers who are paid well and supported appropriately in retirement. I urge my congressional representatives to do their job by representing the real concerns of their constituents. NO VOUCHERS.

DeeDee Haralson
Self/Texas Educator
Cibolo, TX

Dear Members of the Texas Committee on Public Education,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed school voucher system in Texas. I firmly believe that every child is entitled to a free, public education, and that families should have the option to enroll their children in private schools if they choose. However, diverting funds from public education to support private institutions is a travesty that undermines the very foundation of our public school system.

Instead of focusing on school vouchers, we should direct our attention towards addressing the shortfalls and challenges faced by our public schools. By investing in the improvement of public education, we can create an environment where parents feel confident in choosing public schools for their children, thereby reducing the desire to seek alternatives in private education. Furthermore, I have significant concerns regarding the accountability measures in place for private schools. If state funds are allocated to these institutions, will they be subject to the same accountability standards as public schools, such as the STAAR assessments? To my knowledge, there is little information available regarding the state accountability measures enforced on private schools, particularly in relation to students with disabilities. It is crucial that all educational institutions receiving public funding are held to the same standards of accountability to ensure that every child receives a quality education.

The analogy of higher education is often used to justify school vouchers, where students may choose between public and private universities. However, unlike higher education, public schools are mandated to provide free education to all children. It is concerning that we are creating a system where any student can attend a private school funded by taxpayer dollars when the government has a responsibility to ensure a comprehensive, free public education for all.

Moreover, the funds that would be allocated to private schools could be better utilized to provide much needed raises for teachers or by funding programs that foster academic growth in public schools. Educators play a vital role in shaping the future of our children, and they deserve to be compensated fairly for their dedication and hard work. There are also many programs that do not receive enough funding to operate effectively. These would help improve the quality of education within our public schools. I urge you to reconsider the implications of implementing a school voucher system and to prioritize the enhancement of our public education system. Let us work together to ensure that all children in Texas have access to the high-quality education they deserve.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,
DeeDee Haralson

Stephanie Martinez
Self
Schertz, TX

Vote NO on school vouchers. It is not a benefit for students but for billionaires

Linda Rowold-Brown

self. Retired public school teacher and administrator

Austin, TX

If a large voucher program is implemented in my school district, Pflugerville ISD, it would drain $10,371,343 from neighborhood schools to unaccountable private schools, and result in a projected increase in student-teacher ratio of 7.24%.

If enacted, this voucher program would mean there would be fewer public school teachers paying into the Texas Teacher Retirement System, which would affect funding for current TRS retirees as well as future retirees. The retirement system would be threatened.

Public schools provide a well-rounded education for all children, including the gifted as well as the disabled. Private schools have the propensity to be elitist, as those students would be from homes of parents who have the means to provide transportation. Some private schools would furnish an education of narrow scope, submitting to demands of parents with a narrow world view or with demands of a religious nature. Religion is properly taught in their churches and at home, or in schools funded by those families, not with public funding. A significant part of a student's education is to learn to be with, learn with and work with students from a wide variety of backgrounds, one that is representative of the real world, where one day they will be working as adults. A public school education will offer an advantage to students attending them.

A voucher program for private schools in Texas will destroy our already poorly funded public schools. Voucher systems are not working in Kansas, Arizona or Louisiana.

AMBER NEWSOM

Self/project manager

Wylie, TX

I do not believe this bill is fair to the more than 5.5 million public school kids. We are taking away much needed funds from the schools the vast majority of our students attend for the sake of giving everyone the "opportunity" to attend private schools. These schools are not beholden to the same standards as public schools, do not have to accept those with disabilities, do not have to take the same tests, and do not have to maintain their pricing, and do not have to provide transportation for students. Those who already attend will benefit, while the state of Texas cannot even meet basic monetary needs per student. Districts everywhere will suffer, more pressure will be added to already overwhelmed admins and teachers, and overall this decision to help a few will be to the detriment of our children's education.

Dorshelle Meyer

Self. Small Business Owner

Medina, TX

Taxpayer dollars should only fund public education. Also many private schools are religion based, separation of church and state must be preserved. We strongly oppose HB3 which will divert funds from public education in the long run.

Meghan Ferguson, Ms.

self

Belton, TX

School choice is such a weasel-worded way to name this bill. This bill would rob from already underfunded public schools to give wealthy families a $10,000 per year coupon to attend private schools. $10,000 isn't going to help poor families fully afford tuition, supplies, uniforms and anything else a private school requires for all their kids for the entire year. This helps no one except the kids already attending private schools, whose parents can already afford it. I am not going to pay for this, I would rather my property taxes go toward properly funding public schools. Hell, billionaires and high multi-millionaires should be taxed at a higher rate to help fund public schools. Private schools don't have to follow 504 or IEPs, don't have to admit special education students, and would set millions of kids behind because of this. Why don't you investigate Jeff Yass's involvement in the making of this proposed bill, and what he has to gain from it, from the sale of his education software to private schools? I don't want my money to go to some software developer in Pennsylvania. I want proper, equitable PUBLIC EDUCATION for my kids! From teachers who are paid enough to not have to take on side-jobs, so they can put their FULL ATTENTION ON TEACHING! The state of education in Texas is already a disgrace, don't damage it further with this wolf bill in sheep's clothing.

Beverly La Rock
Self-representing Galveston County
Galveston, TX

I am asking you to vote NO on House Bill 3. There are many fees associated with private schools which low and many middle income families could not afford. There are few services for disabled children.

BARBARA ANDERSON
self, retired teacher
AUSTIN, TX

"While I acknowledge that families want more educational choices, this school voucher program does not create real choice for families. There are certainly many issues with our public education system that prevent it from effectively serving students, but funneling money out of this system and into private institutions through vouchers is not the solution to our problems. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education. Additionally, these programs as implemented in other states lack proper accountability, exacerbate inequality, engage in exclusionary practices, fragment communities, exacerbate segregation, and decrease academic achievement. Instead of diverting funds to private institutions, perhaps you should focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has access to a high-quality education. This issue matters to me and I vote. Thank you."

Marianne Gould, Ms.
self/retired public school teacher
New Braunfels, TX

As a retired public school teacher, I am embarrassed that my home state, Texas, is so far down the list of per capital funding for education...40 out of 50. That in itself is unacceptable. Per capital funding for public education has not received any increase since 2019. Again, unacceptable. When Texas doesn't even care enough about public school to adequately fund its students, there is absolutely no reason to be having a discussion about vouchers (or whatever new name is being used presently). Again, unacceptable. Taxes raised by the public should benefit the public...not the private. Public school teachers must supplement their classroom from their meager paychecks, which they willingly do because Texas teachers care about their students and want them to have the opportunity to become civic minded citizens of their state and their community. Teaching is an art...taking years to develop and they are doing an extraordinary job with what they are given in resources! But this cannot continue. Teachers are tapped out and stressed. With so many counties in Texas not even having access to charter schools...with minimal regulations being required for staffing/numbers/accountability etc....with smaller numbers of students being affected...why, oh why...would vouchers even be considered? Privatization of schools doesn't help students learn to get along with students who are not like them. Privatization of schools doesn't help the populace the constitution of Texas requires. Privatization of schools does benefit the wealthy and privileged. The main point I wish to make is that PUBLIC FUNDS BELONG IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS. Many, many Texans are watching how you vote on this and will see how you vote...and remember that when voting. Will you stand up for public schools being adequately funded or will you vote what Gov. Abbot wants...to remain in good stead with him. Don't think that Texans will not remember all the 'special sessions', at taxpayer expense, held to try and get vouchers passed. Don't think that Texans will not remember all the 'special money' thrown toward candidates that would vote for vouchers in the primary election...to defeat candidates that were willing to keep an open mind and listen for their constituents. Texans will remember. Please vote against vouchers! Vote to keep public money in public schools!
Thank you.

Julie Faletti

Self

Austin, TX

I am the parent of a Texas public school student and a former teacher. I believe that public funds should stay in public schools. Establishing a voucher system for private education will directly impact the quality of education received in public schools. Private institutions are not held to the same standards as public schools and are not required to meet the needs of all students. Rural school districts without access to private schools are particularly vulnerable if this bill passes. It is shameful that Texas lawmakers who vote yes on this bill are ok with spending more money per private school student than per public school student. This is discriminatory and will only serve to decrease the overall quality of education in this state. It is already at an embarrassingly low national ranking and will only get worse if this bill is passed. Please fully fund public schools and leave our taxpayer money where it benefits ALL Texas students.

Erin Rocheleau

Self, CyFair ISD teacher

Katy, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school vouchers in the state of Texas. Vouchers divert crucial public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas children, to subsidize private and charter schools that are not held to the same accountability standards.

Our public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, support, and opportunities to students of all backgrounds. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public school system by increasing teacher pay, improving resources, and ensuring every child has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting any voucher proposals and focusing on policies that uplift public education for all.

Thank you for your dedication to the future of Texas students.

Erika Garfias

Self

PEARLAND, TX

Hello, my name is Erika Garfias and I am a constituent in zip code 77581 I am calling to ask my representative to vote NO on HB 3. I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy. Thank you.

Vahista Ussery

Self

Fort Worth, TX

No vouchers! It's a bad choice for everyone!!! Please support our public education system; stop hurting it!

Rebecca Roman

Rebecca Roman

Austin, TX

HB 3 harms public schools by draining already limited resources, widening educational gaps, and prioritizing private interests over students. It weakens communities, lacks accountability, and shifts taxpayer money away from schools that serve all children. How does this help students in rural areas with no access to private schools? How does this help students that can not afford the additional costs of private school, above and beyond $10,000. Can the $10,000 be given to the public school if that is the school of choice?

What is happening with all the additional funds that have been collected through our taxes? Why haven't the public schools received any more funding?

Strong public schools benefit everyone—HB 3 must be stopped.

Jennifer Thompson

Self

Dallas, TX

We don't use tax dollars to reimburse Texans for building a private road, using private security, or other private services. We should not use tax payer dollars to pay Texans to go to private school, especially with little to no rules about the education and services that private school must provide.

In addition, it is highly inequitable to make law that will give private schools $10,000 per child, but give public schools thousands less per child. Public schools in Texas are drastically underfunded because of the choices of the Texas legislature. Texas elected officials acknowledge there are funds available, but they won't spend those funds on public schools. This must stop. As Texas citizens, we oppose HB3, oppose public dollars in private schools, and call on our elected representatives to fully fund public schools.

Jaylyn Sprinkel, Mrs

PTA

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3!!!!

Jennifer Longley

Self/Marketing Consultant

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools. Evidence suggests that Education Savings Accounts do not effectively serve low-income families. Despite the argument I continually see supporters of this bill use, this is not truly a step forward for school choice, as the program is ultimately financial assistance for families that can already afford private school and will not help low income and rural families. As a tax payer, I do not approve of using public funding for private schools that are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. This lack of oversight will ultimately lead to inconsistent educational quality and does not afford equal opportunity to education for all Texas school students.

Virddie Montgomery
School Board/Retired educator
Sachse, TX

This bill is really not a voucher. In my mind a voucher would be money that a student could take to any school he/she would want to attend. This bill is a subsidy for private schools. I think most people might give more support for this if there truly was "school choice." That simply is not the case. I worked in a private Christian school for three years. I can assure you that private schools will not take everyone. They will only take good academic students and they are not equipped to handle poor discipline students or students with special needs. They also will not take money if there are strings attached to it and I can't even begin to imagine the state allowing money to go to a school that does not have to meet the standards of public schools. Private schools have a nest egg on the ground and only have to teach to the group they allow. Public schools teach all levels and types of students with high expectations. Private school teachers do not even have to be certified and there is not much accountability on issues that public schools deal with daily. There is no PEIMS in private schools. This only opens the door for students who are already successful getting to go to private schools. Private schools will raise tuition when this new money comes in....you can count on that. No one is likely reading this at all so I will not go on and on, but could fill up volumes on the evil involved in HB3. It you want more.....just call me at 214-282-8369.

Nova Harmon
Timewise Park Elementary PTSA
San Antonio, TX

The people want fully funded public schools, not private school vouchers. Please, please do not vote in favor of HB3, protect our public schools and every child's right to education!!

Katy Nieman
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I oppose HB 3. My heart is burdened by the schools that are lacking adequate funding, including my children's schools. As a parent I want my children to feel that as a state, we have invested to the best of our ability in their future. After all these students will one day become leaders who be leading us. Please show the parents of public school children that you care for the quality of their education in the public schools.

K K
Self
Austin, TX

I'm Kai! I'm four. I go to my sister's school now because I'm a big girl. I like school. Please give our public school teachers and public schools money.

Christine Hansanuwat
Self
Leander, TX

Keep public dollars in public schools. Public tax dollars should not pay for private schools! Public schools need to be funded adequately and state mandates must be state funded.

Lynda Null
Self
Conroe, TX

This bill does nothing to support the students who could most benefit from it. Most students cannot afford the rest of the tuition, the transportation or other costs. It is taking the money away from the students that public school due the most to support. Please vote no.

Amanda Hartz
Texas PTA and my family
Katy, TX

I am writing to express strong opposition to HB 3 and the establishment of an education savings account (ESA) program. Texas PTA and public school advocates do not support diverting taxpayer dollars away from public schools to fund private or unregulated education options.

Public schools are the heart of our communities, serving all students regardless of background, income, or ability. ESA programs risk draining vital resources from our already underfunded schools, making it harder to retain quality teachers, provide essential services, and maintain strong educational opportunities for every child.

Instead of shifting funds away from public schools, Texas families want investment in our existing school system—increased teacher pay, more support for special education, and improved resources for students. Public money should remain in public schools, where accountability and oversight ensure that funds benefit all children.

Texas PTA stands for strong public schools, and we do not support HB 3 or any effort to weaken public education.

Priscilla Smith
SELF
Wylie, TX

I am against the vouchers.

Charlotte Johnson
Self
Austin, TX

HB3 is problematic in many ways that were eloquently outlined by Rep. Hinojosa, Rep. Talarico, Rep. Bryant, and many of the citizens who testified.

As you heard loud and clear during the hearing, the vast majority of Texans do not want vouchers. We want the Legislature to fully fund "an efficient system of public free schools" as provided for in Article VII of the Texas Constitution.

As Rep. Talarico pointed out, a bipartisan majority rejected the Governor's voucher plan in 2023. In retaliation, Governor Abbott refused to provide any additional funding to public schools. Funding has been stagnant since 2019, and Texas is now 43rd in the nation for per student funding! Public school districts across the state are facing tens of millions of dollars in deficits. Gov. Abbott's action has caused harm to every public school, teacher and student in Texas.

The solution to improving student outcomes in Texas is not to create an expensive and elaborate new system with few safeguards for a tiny minority of students. The solution is to fully fund public schools. Please vote no on HB3 and any other school voucher bill.

Margot Moczygemba, Ms
Self and retired
Corpus Christi, TX

I don't want my tax dollars to be used on school vouchers! These vouchers only benefit the wealthy. Medium and low income families cannot afford to send their children to private schools. Private schools pick and choose who they admit and there is no accountability. I have six grandchildren who attend public schools and they are very smart and well educated in the current system. I DO NOT WANT MY TAX DOLLARS TO GO TO THESE SCHOOLS. Abbott has refused to fund public schools. He should be impeached!

Lucy Neveloff
Self/Business Manager
Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS
NO TO SB3

Sandra Crenshaw
Self /Rancher, former Texas teacher
Port Lavaca, TX

I am against establishing an education savings account program & allowing taxpayer funds to be paid to private schools. Government bureaucracy is the reason our public schools are in the state they are in. I hope that our awesome state of Texas can help to change this. It is time for Texas to step up to the plate and make our public schools ones that we can be proud of. Instead of taking money from public schools making the job of educating even harder, quit wasting our money on testing materials allowing those entities to become rich and put those funds toward increasing teacher salaries, limiting class size, and creating opportunities for non college bound students to enter the workforce. If we go to a voucher system I fully expect to see our courts tied up with legislation because students are either not accepted or kicked out of private schools since taxpayer money would be involved. Focus on fixing our public schools because our future depends on it.

Noah Ryan
Self
Wylie, TX

No to SB3 and no to vouchers!

Bethany Feldman
Self
Grand Prairie, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools.

Catherine Buentello, Mrs.
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am a special educator at a public school in San Antonio. I am writing to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose House Bill 3 in Texas.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down House Bill 3, which diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools.

Say NO to vouchers that use tax dollars to fund the tuition at exclusive private schools.

Jared Chapman
Self
Mount Pleasant, TX

I am AGAINST school vouchers and I am AGAINST this bill.

Dolores Bedinghaus

Self

Buda, TX

Please do not vote for hb 3. I feel that this will greatly affect my grandchildren s education. Two in high school and one in middle school. They are all in public schools and are all honor students. This bill will affect our education by taking away the great teachers they currently have. Poor families cannot afford private schools and would be discriminated against by allowing this bill to continue. DoNOT PASS HB 3. Thank you.

Julie Ulrich

self

Austin, TX

I respectfully as that you do not pass this bill out of committee. I oppose any sort of bill establishing education savings accounts or vouchers. I believe these will harm our public schools by depriving them of needed funds. This has been the case in many other states that have tried this. I am a Texas voter and I do support fully funding existing public school mandates, not diverting funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. Please fund our public schools by increasing the basic allotment and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Anette Carlisle

Anette on Education—self, podcaster, 30 year elected public education trustee and regent, Amarillo ISD and Amarillo College
Amarillo, TX

This bill, or any version of vouchers/ESAs, will negatively impact Texas for decades and more to come. Public dollars belong in public education. And all our citizens need and deserve a first class education. This will take money from public education, and from the future economic viability of Texas.

Elizabeth Williams

Wylie ISD PTA

Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS & NO TO SB3

Chelsea Gillispie

Self

Wylie, TX

This bill is devastating to public schools. I urge you to listen to your constituents and vote NO to a voucher scam!!

Barbra Craig

Self

White Deer, TX

We cannot let down our children. This will diminish the quality of education and eventually increase poverty and crime.

Joann Smith, Ms.

Self - Manager

Wylie, TX

No to vouchers and no to SB3.

Michael Ciavarino

Self

Azle, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Stacey Hensley, Assistant Principal

LubbockISD

Lubbock, TX

This bill will not do what it states. It is not enough money for low income families to afford it thereby NOT giving true school choice as stated. Texas ALREADY has school choice. Also, not holding private institutions that receive funds to the same standards as public schools is flat WRONG. Public schools HAVE to take every kid regardless of any factor. Private schools do not. If I could pick and choose my students I could make the hard data say whatever I wanted it to. This is NOT the answer for ALL students in Texas with regards to education!!

Leslie Aguilar

Self

Fort worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Terri White Taylor

Self

Arlington, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS

Dustin Loyd

Myself and household

Willow Park, TX

I OPPOSE HB3. It violates the GOP platform by creating more government and gives public dollars to private entities. It is welfare for the wealthy. Public dollars belong in public establishments. If this was a truly about children you would adequately fund public schools, but the GOP has done all it can to ruin Texas and wreck its public schools. This started with Gov. Bush and his NCLB legislation, was continued through underfunding of education by Gov Rick Perry and to this day Gov Abbott continues his push for Vouchers being disguised as school choice. It was simple, as the guy that appointed Mike north to the TEA, Gov Abbott is ultimately responsible for his labeling of a “failed public schools.” It first started with the creation of the term DOI or district of innovation that allowed districts to hire uncertified teachers due to a shortage and a need. Then post COVID there was clear drop in math and reading levels because of the pandemic so he used the rigged STAAR test data and push his “failed” lane and Yass’s agenda to create vouchers. The Gov and all those who were primaried in and support vouchers were bought by Yass, Wilkes and Dunn. Those who donated expect a return on their investment and seek to become wealthy through their shares in the ESA vendors all under the guise of “school choice.” I completely oppose HB3!

Kim Pettiet

Self

Fruitvale, TX

Please listen to your constituents! You were elected to represent your constituents and we are saying NO resoundingly!

Christina Johnson

Self, Academic Program Coordinator at UT Austin

Austin, TX

I am a born and raised Texan, having lived in Fort Worth, San Antonio, and Austin. I taught in a public charter school for 8 years until the hours (many unpaid) and lack of support for students, teachers, and local administrators forced me to step back from that calling two years ago. Many of my former colleagues have been forced to do the same.

I have seen firsthand what a lack of support means for student well-being and learning, especially for those in need of 504 and IEP plans. If the problem is striking now, it will only worsen if an education savings account and voucher programs are put into place. I beg of you not to divert what critical resources we do have to benefit a small group with less need in the private school system. Private schools have no obligation to admit all students much less serve all their needs and have no curriculum oversight. Public funds should stay in public schools. The vast majority of your constituents with direct experience in our school system believe this. Please listen to us. Please vote in opposition to HB 3.

Our democracy cannot function without good education. Let's make sure every single Texas child no matter their circumstances has access to the latter so they can participate in the former.

Mallory Shaddix

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose HB3. I am a long time resident, parent, and community volunteer in the spring branch ISD in Houston. Vouchers do not hold the private schools accountable for results. That's not a conservative responsible use of our tax dollars. Our public schools need more funding and they are held accountable. The local elected trustees and the state are holding our public schools accountable for academic success and fiscal responsibility. And importantly they educate all children, unlike private schools, who can select their students. I favor a significant larger investment in our public schools. They are the economic engine of our state and the best investment we can make.

Sincerely, Mallory Shaddix

Steven Cairns

Self

Dallas, TX

This will hurt everyone through the weakening of our public schools and help only a few. Please stop trying to pass this unnecessary bill!

Travis George

Self

The Colony, TX

Why should tax payers subsidize the rich? Anyone who has the money to send their child to a private school is making a decision to forgoe public schools. They can send their child to public school and instead they make a choice not to. That money should be used to improve our public schools not further subsidize the rich.

Jess Buck

Self, producer

Austin, TX

Please vote no on the voucher bill – our public education needs funding!

Harley Eckhart
Self Executive Director
Pflugerville, TX

I urge committee members to vote "No" on HB 3. As a product of a Catholic/private school, I strongly believe that state/public funds should NOT be used for private school tuition. Public/Taxpayer funds should be reserved for public schools. Respectfully submitted.

Christa Call
Self
Gainesville, TX

I STRONGLY OPPOSE HB2. This will defund public education by pulling money from each school district and giving it to public schools. This will give our tax dollars to private institutions and encourage them to move into our rural area to poach children from our public schools. There is so much opposition to this bill on social media and everyone I talk to dem or republican. Our area is strongly republican and even they see this bill for what it is. More oversight on their private lives with schooling, because private schools and homeschoolers accepting money from the government are subject to oversight by the government. They do not want that. We all know this has to do with Greg Abbott's financial backers. Do not ruin Texas education. Do not pass this bill.

Teague Shosh
Self
San Antonio, TX

I strongly oppose school vouchers. The detriment to the majority of students in Texas and to public schools as a whole will be immense. I do not believe this bill is in the best interest of the majority of families in Texas and only benefits a few.

Kent Grusendorf, Pres.
Liberty For The Kids
Austin, TX
Strongly support HB3

kema biediger, Teacher
Self
San Antonio, TX

Public money should be for public schools and private money for private schools. As a public school teacher in a title 1 school I vehemently oppose the voucher program. Too much funding will be lost in a system already struggling to keep students growing and learning. It's ridiculous to think about the huge disadvantage our special needs students will face such as increased class sizes due to decreased title 1 funds and decreased funds available for class support. This bill would be catastrophic to the public education system.

Lara Jackson
Self
Murphy, TX

Please vote no- this in NO way benefits our children's education

Deborah Cholette
Self
Van Alstyne, TX

This is not what is good for students, families, and schools.

Sara Ambriz
Self
san Antonio, TX

School vouchers only help those who are already affording it to get a break. THEY DO NOT HELP LOW INCOME STUDENTS!!

My children went to private high schools 20 & 25 yr ago, respectively, the amount being proposed was their tuition then! Meals, uniforms, sports equipment & other extracurricular activity expenses were not included in tuition.

These bills are a 'kiss up' for donors. Once the $ goes to a private school there is no accountability for how it's spent.

Lana Sather
Self Kennedale, TX

I am vehemently opposed to HB 3. It is my opinion that taking my tax money under the guise of public education then giving it to private education is THEFT. Any representative that votes for this bill will not receive my vote in any upcoming elections.

Cheryl Dobbins
Self, parent, finance mgr
Spring, TX

I do NOT support vouchers for private schools being funded by tax payer dollars. Invest more in our PUBLIC schools and to protect both our students and our teachers. Private schools are not the answer!

Julie Clemente
Self
Temple, TX

I oppose school vouchers, they will not benefit every student in texas we should be using this money to improve and better fund our public schools and their teachers.

Charla Cogdill
Self/ Texas PUBLIC school teachers
Lubbock, TX

Fund PUBLIC SCHOOLS with PUBLIC money!!! Parents have ALWAYS had a choice to send their students to the educational institution which they deemed appropriate. All this will do is segregate students. What is this - 1960?!?! What you need to focus on in education is PAYING the teachers a livable wage and treat us as the professionals we are!!! You will NEVER get my vote again and neither will my representative or senator that is going along with this scam. LISTEN TO YOUR CONSTITUENTS!!! If you are so sure that Texas parents want vouchers, put it on a ballot and prove us wrong. But you won't, because you KNOW we don't want it. Public schools should be funded with public money!!!!!!!!!!!! NO TO VOUCHERS!!!!!!

Cynthia Levinson
NA
Austin, TX

I absolutely oppose voucher bills!

Jerrell Walker

Self - Realtor (retired educator)

Richardson, TX

As a retired educator (29 yrs) I am dismayed that this conversation is still going on. Out of all of the issues going on in our state the Governor has chosen this as his hill. The issue is not, whether vouchers should be provided. Instead, the issue, to me, is that the spending of public dollars toward private institutions. As a tax payer in the state of Texas I object to my taxes going to a private institution that is already funded by the people who would rather send their children their instead of to a public school. For what it is worth, I have been a voter since 1982. In each election since then I have voted Republican. The governor's actions will alienate die-hard Republicans, like me, and in the long run end up costing us a whole lot more. Can we not get onto bigger, and more important issues?

Rhonda Cabello

self

Austin, TX

School vouchers will hurt rural students and since Texas has more rural schools than any other state this is a lot if children! These kids (over 600,000) do not have the option of attending a private school because there are none in their area!

Erica Ciszek, Dr.

self, educator

Austin, TX

The ESA program could undermine the core principles of public education in Texas. Public schools provide children from all walks of life with a shared educational experience that fosters inclusivity and unity. By funding private education through ESAs, we risk creating an even more fragmented society, where access to education is determined by wealth, geography, and privilege rather than a commitment to ensuring every child has an equal opportunity to succeed.

As a parent of two elementary school children, I have significant concerns about the proposed establishment of an Education Savings Account (ESA) program in Texas. While proponents argue that ESAs provide more freedom for families to choose the best educational path for their children, I believe the program would ultimately harm the very students it aims to help, including my own children. Here are several reasons why I oppose the implementation of an ESA program in Texas.

First, ESAs would divert critical funds away from public schools, which serve the majority of students in the state. As someone who values public education, I worry that this program would lead to underfunding, overcrowded classrooms, and a decline in education quality. Public schools are a vital part of our community, and teachers, administrators, and staff work hard to provide an environment where every child can succeed. Shifting funds to private schools or homeschooling options through ESAs undermines the public education system and could have long-lasting negative effects on all students, including those who remain in public schools.

While the concept of an ESA program may sound appealing, it poses significant risks to the quality and equity of education in Texas. Rather than diverting funds from public schools and perpetuating inequality, we should focus on strengthening and improving the public education system that serves the vast majority of students. As a parent of two elementary school children, I strongly urge lawmakers to reconsider the establishment of ESAs in Texas and prioritize investments in public education that ensure every child has access to a high-quality education, regardless of their family's income or background.

Renee Roth

self

Dallas, TX

I have strong opposition to HB 3 and to urge you to reject this harmful legislation.

The introduction of school vouchers will only serve to destabilize the already fragile public school finance system in Texas. Our public schools are already underfunded, and taking taxpayer dollars away from the public system through vouchers will further exacerbate these financial disparities. Every dollar diverted to private institutions is one less dollar available to our students, teachers, and schools.

Unlike public schools, which are subject to rigorous oversight, accountability, and transparency requirements, private schools that accept voucher funds are not held to the same standards. There is no guarantee that these institutions will provide a high-quality education, and taxpayers have no means of ensuring that their hard-earned money is being spent effectively. If we are going to spend public funds, those funds should go toward systems that are accountable to the public, not unregulated private institutions.

Vouchers disproportionately disadvantaged rural and marginalized students. I grew up in Paris, Texas, where there were no private schools. Our town relied on the public schools as a form of community and belonging. Additionally, marginalized students, including low-income students and students with special needs, are less likely to have access to private schools that can meet their unique needs. Vouchers will further entrench inequality and widen the gap in educational opportunities for those who need it most.

Vouchers impose a dangerous form of religious favoritism in our education system. By allowing taxpayer money to fund private schools with religious affiliations, we risk violating the principle of separation between church and state that is fundamental to our democracy.

Renee Roth

Jennifer Jensen

Self, Human Resources

Plano, TX

VOTE NO. Fully fund our public schools Say NO to vouchers.

As a taxpayer, parent, and Christian, I am disheartened by the current threat to our public schools. My husband and I are your target audience. We voted republican for decades. Now, we are deeply concerned by the direction of our state leaders.

Our older daughter graduated from Plano ISD with honors in 2021. She entered Texas Tech with a full year of credits and an academic scholarship. She will graduate with her masters in accounting in August.

Our younger daughter was a public school student through 10th grade. After a late autism diagnosis, we chose to enroll her in a specialized private school where she thrived through graduation in 2024. She is now enrolled in Collin College.

Along with the majority of the state tax payers, we say NO to school vouchers.

Funding for our public schools is crucial. Voucher programs may be well intended, but they are flawed and proven to weaken public schools. In the end, they serve as a savings account for the wealthy, and they grow the economic and educational divide.

My 77 year old mother grew up as a white student during segregation. She lived in blissful ignorance. She is ignorant no more, and she too sees the ills of the voucher scheme.

I implore you to be better. Say NO to vouchers.

Choose to do the right thing. Protect and INCREASE funding for our public schools. Allow our dedicated educators to do their jobs with fewer hurdles, and pay them equitably.

In the interest of ALL Texas students,

Jennifer Jensen

Kathryn Jensen

Self

Lubbock, TX

This bill is dangerous to our quality of education and is outright theft of taxpayers' dollars. This will further degrade the state of our public education and propel us towards the bottom of national education rankings. This will make Texas a worse and less desirable place to live and start a business.

marian strauss, Dr

Taxpayer

Georgetown, TX

My family is adamantly opposed to school vouchers or ESAs.

As a grandparent of both private school and public school students, we believe that public tax dollars should not go to private schools. Separation of church and state! Public schools must be fully funded. Stop the lies and do the right thing by Texas students.

Sarah Gomez

Self/Homemaker

Seminole, TX

My name is Sarah Gomez and I am a homeschooling parent to five children. I am writing to express my opposition to SB3 because I am concerned that the autonomy we have now as a homeschooling family will be lost in the near future if this bill passes.

As a homeschooling parent, I value freedom from the government strings and regulations in private education and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment". I believe the $1 billion investment made through public money should not be used to fund private school education of any kind but instead be used to fund public education institutions that desperately need the funding to pay teachers or make much needed improvements to the schools. If the government helps pay for private education, then most likely private schools will lose their autonomy on what curriculum they want to use and the subject matter that is taught. Government money should be used to fund government establishments.

I enjoy the many freedoms that the state of Texas offers in comparison to other states. Raising and educating my children the way my husband and I feel is right for them is one of the most important freedoms at this time. Many other parents feel the same and that is why they are willing to spend their own hard-earned money to invest in their children's education and not rely on the state to endure this task. Please allow Texas to continue to be a stand-out state by opposing SB3 and allowing private education to keep its value.

Thank you, Chairman Brad Buckley, and members of the committee for reading my testimony. Your consideration for my concern is very much appreciated.

Nancy Simoneau

self / former teacher, retired

Clyde, TX

I do NOT support vouchers at all. Our tax dollars should not support private schools. You will hurt our public schools with this law. Knowing that people were elected to support Greg Abbott, I suspect that vouchers is a done deal. If that is so, there should AT LEAST be equality for students. The vouchers should not be any amount above the payment to schools per students enrolled. You will definitely hurt small towns with this path.

Marlene Gonzalez

Self

Houston, TX

Leave the school system the way it is!!!! The vouchers will not help all children only the wealthy ones. Us middle class people will not benefit from this.

Jennifer Simpson

Self

Frisco, TX

Against this bill Education savings accounts would hurt marginalized communities

Ashley Weathers

Self

Houston, TX

Opposed to this bill!

Kayla Glover

Shannon Elementary PTA

Rockwall, TX

Okay

Holly Demond

LewisvilleI ISD & self

Lake Dallas, TX

I have been a public school teacher for 30 years and deeply believe in the benefit of public education. DO NOT pass vouchers - we need to keep tax payer dollars in Public education. Please join the thousands of others to NOT defund public schools!!!!

Deborah White, White

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote against HB 3 . It would harm our public schools.

Aubrey Jaklich

Self

Helotes, TX

As a former Texas educator with 14 years of experience, a husband who is a current educator, and 2 children in public education, I strongly oppose HB 3, which seeks to create an Education Savings Account (ESA) program. This bill is nothing more than a voucher scheme that will take taxpayer dollars away from public schools and redirect them to private and unregulated institutions. Public funds should support public schools—not private interests.

Texas public schools serve all students, regardless of income level, ability, or background. Private schools, on the other hand, are not required to accept all students, provide special education services, or follow the same academic and financial accountability standards. Yet HB 3 would allow taxpayer dollars to be used for private school tuition without ensuring those schools meet the same expectations as public institutions.

At a time when Texas ranks near the bottom in per-student funding, it is unacceptable to divert resources away from our public schools. Teachers are leaving the profession due to low salaries and overwhelming workloads. Schools are struggling with overcrowded classrooms, outdated materials, and a lack of essential student services. Instead of addressing these pressing issues, HB 3 would drain even more funding from the schools that serve the vast majority of Texas students.

Additionally, ESAs do not truly provide “school choice” for all families. They disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition, while lower-income families are left behind. Rural communities, where private school options are scarce or nonexistent, would suffer the most. The reality is that vouchers and ESAs do not expand opportunities—they widen inequities.

If Texas legislators truly care about education, they should be focused on fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and providing the resources students need to succeed. HB 3 fails to do any of these things. I strongly urge lawmakers to reject this harmful bill and prioritize real solutions that strengthen our public education system rather than dismantling it.

Lori Lee

Self

Dripping springs, TX

I do not support this bill. Please fund public education for Texas, not private education special interest groups.

Samantha Lott, LMSW

Texas Social Workers (School/Mental Health)

Denton, TX

Texans DO NOT want vouchers!!! As a school social worker, I see first hand that we are struggling due to lack of funding and resources. Elected officials have done nothing to address the mental health crisis and have enacted policies that only make things worse. Taking funding from schools with exacerbate these issues. Do the right thing for Texans and students and vote no!!!

richard whites

self

houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Richard Whites, I am a parent in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

- Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.
- Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.
- Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.
- Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs. These includes:

1. Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500
2. Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.
3. Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.
4. Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.
5. Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

I urge you to prioritize our students by closing these funding gaps. Texas schools cannot afford to keep operating with such large deficits, and our children deserve better. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Melissa Burkett

Self, retired

Houston, TX

I oppose HB 3 because it will result in underfunding of public schools, which need increased funding. In addition, private schools typically have uncertified teachers and provide an inferior education. The few excellent ones will remain unaffordable by poor parents trying to use vouchers. Please take the money planned for vouchers and invest it in our public schools.

Megan Raby

Year

Austin, TX

As a Texan and higher ed educator, I urge you to reject vouchers and fully fund our neighborhood public schools. All Texans deserve a high quality education to prepare them to be fully engaged citizens, and to be ready for college if they desire. Vouchers will sap strength from Texas's already under-funded public school system, funneling public money into expensive—but less publicly accountable—private institutions. Especially in rural areas, public schools play a critical role in local communities. Vouchers are a threat to the long-term financial health of neighborhood schools, and to the access to high quality public education that all Texas children deserve.

Margaret Beach
Self, homemaker
Allen, TX

Please support public education by voting AGAINST HB 3. We need to keep public money in public schools.

Sarah Perez
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I oppose this bill it will hurt public schools and private schools don't even want to participate

Grace Heis
Self
Denton, TX

Doing this is not in the best interests of Texans, not by a long shot. If at any point you got into public service with genuine interest in making people's lives better, there is no way you can vote for this with a clear conscience. Public education is one of the key pillars to successful democracy. Choice exists right now. Bit a single state that has done this so far has a better showing in education for it, the data is clear as day, if you care. Don't do it.

Kristen Miller
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

Barbie Mosley Educators
Schertz, TX

Statement on HB 3 and Its Detrimental Impact on Public Education. VOTE NO!!

The lack of support among educators for HB 3 is a direct reflection of the devastating consequences this legislation will have on public education in Texas. Rather than strengthening our schools, HB 3 threatens to deepen disparities between districts, undercut the ability of teachers to provide quality education, and divert critical resources away from the students who need them most.

Educators across the state recognize that HB 3 fails to address the real challenges facing public schools—underfunded classrooms, increasing student needs, and a teacher workforce already stretched thin. By imposing unfunded mandates and prioritizing punitive measures over meaningful support, this bill will exacerbate inequities, particularly in rural and low-income communities, where schools already struggle to keep pace with wealthier districts.

Public education should be the great equalizer, ensuring every child, regardless of zip code, has access to a high-quality education. However, HB 3 moves Texas in the opposite direction, creating a system where only the most privileged students thrive while others are left behind. Texas educators are united in opposing policies that weaken public education, and we urge lawmakers to listen to those who are on the front lines of our classrooms every day. Our students deserve better, and the future of our state depends on a strong, well-supported public school system—not one dismantled by harmful legislation like HB 3.

Faith Morin

Self - executive assistant

Flower Mound, TX

I ask you to vote NO. Our public schools are the bedrock of society. To intentionally underfund public schools is unethical, immoral, and in direct opposition to your duties to your constituents. Public schools should be FULLY funded.

I live in a wealthy district with wonderful schools - one of the main reasons we bought a house here is because of our public schools. However, I had no idea how schools were funded and therefore didn't understand how my vote contributed to intentional underfunding. Sadly, due to Republican inaction, my district is having to close 5 elementary schools this year. My children's school is one of them. The hole this creates in our lives - educationally, socially, emotionally, and physically - is enormous. And entirely preventable had you given us the funds we needed. The funds that were there. The funds we deserved. Now my children will bear the mark of this forever. It became personal. And I will not stand by while billionaires and certain religious groups try to privatize what is a right to all children. I voted Republican for years and years with great ignorance at how that choice has now taken so much away from my family. This is wrong. Consider the irreparable harm this causes to all - but especially the most vulnerable. You are pushing constituents away. You are enraging them with your false statements and callousness. Any vote other than "no" is a vote against most of the children in Texas.

As a mother, as a human, I ask you to stand with the people and against the lure of political power. Principle over party. This should not be a difficult choice.

Thank you for your time.

Melissa Endicott, Dr

Self

Houston, TX

As a parent of 3 neurodiverse children, I strongly support public schools not vouchers or ESAs. While on the surface it might sound appealing, private schools don't have to accept my kids, can remove them based on their disabilities (and keep their funding), and don't have to provide accommodations or FAPE. Private school tuition would be well in excess of any voucher you provide, limiting the benefit to families already more financially stable and able to afford tuition. Private schools are also not providing transportation, limiting even more those who can benefit. Vouchers are likely to wide the achievement gap and further destroy public schools. Well educated constituents benefit our state and all children deserve to be educated in strong public school.

It's time to say no to vouchers and support schools by fully funding them. We need at least a $1000 increase in the basic student allotment. It's time to add an automatic inflation adjustment and a cost to educate adjustment. Bring back the early recapture payment discount. Support districts already reducing property taxes using homestead exemptions by allowing full credit for those exemptions in the funding formula.

You have manufactured the "failing public school" narrative by using a poorly written STAAR test, forced unfunded mandates on schools and failed to provide a basic student allotment that our schools need (our kids deserve better than the bottom 10 in funding in the nation). Stand up and do what is right for our kids and not your financial supporters.

Before you vote, I encourage to investigate how many private schools are in your area, the average tuition and added expenses, their application fees (yes!), the policy about kids with disabilities, and exclusionary policies. If you are lucky enough to have a special education private school, consider if they can only address one or two disabilities, their cost and added fees, and how many kids they can actually accommodate (hint- on average about 15% of kids have a documented disability).

I would encourage to listen to the dialogue from your constituents. Deciding that a majority of Texans want vouchers based on one question on a republican primary ballot is not strong support of your viewpoint. Public schools might help you understand a the quality of supporting documentation used to argue your viewpoint.

Sincerely,

Melissa Endicott, DVM, ACVIM

Jessica Brysch
Self engineer
Floresville, TX

Please support public schools and not special interest groups. School choice is aimed at lining the pockets of those who are already wealthy, and doesn't provide support for special needs, bussing, childcare and other elements necessary for this bill to be a tool that equalizes the ability for anyone to choose a 'best' school. Our government should not be subsidizing private education. Our government should invest that funding into our current education system to make it better for everyone (not just those who can afford it)

Thanks for your time and consideration.

Blair Nash
Self, attorney
Fort Worth, TX

Please reject HB3. It will irreparably hurt Texas public schools and thus its children and Texas itself.

Meredith Sealy
Self
Houston, TX

Stand with Texas families, not special interests! This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers!
Testimony on HB3 is clearly against this bill. Please listen to the people of Texas! This is a guaranteed way to damage the education of nearly all children in Texas by pulling funding away from public schools, including my own children. No to vouchers!

Kathy McCowan
Self
Mesquite, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3
No vouchers!!

Marston Meador
self/retired
Carrollton, TX

Oppose the establishment of education savings account program. It will benefit families who already can afford private schools more than low income families.

Fabiola Lujan
Self
Wylie, TX

"I oppose HB3"

Phillys Hill, Dr.
Self
Little Tuver, TX

To the Honorable Brad Buckley:

I have spent 36 yrs. in K-12 public school education. I have worked as a teacher, a campus administrator, and a central administrator; therefore, I have witnessed first-hand the difference public schools make. I have also seen the learning gains that new students who came to our school often had when they entered from private schools with curricula that lacked math and science rigor. I have also seen private schools in the area turn away special needs students that we readily served in public schools.

As the principal of a Title I school (Reeces Creek Elementary), I conducted two to three home visits weekly because many of the parents of students who attended our Title I school had no transportation. These students excelled in our school, and it became a nationally recognized National Blue Ribbon School.

We were continually looking for additional funding to provide opportunities and academic support for our students. It is such a disappointment to see our elected officials support vouchers. I understand your political pressure of getting "primaried" and losing your position, but I want to ask you to think about your own family: how has public education served you and your family? Please give others the opportunity to have the opportunities and support they need.

We should not divert our tax dollars to private schools when public schools in Texas have been inadequately funded for many years.

Also, why are invited guests (often vendors) allowed to speak without time limits during hearings, while others are timed and forced to wait through these long-winded sales pitches? This should be changed.

Respectfully,
Dr. Phillys Hill

Paula Rogers
Self
Jefferson, TX

I do not support this bill. Vouchers are not conservative in any way. This is a blatant attempt to create a two tiered educational system. One system gets more money and less accountability while public schools serve all students with less money and have accountability. Many public schools offer transfers thus creating choice. If schools accept public money they should have to accept all kids including kids with disabilities and second language learners and take STAAR.

This is an absolute travesty and public schools will never recover.

Erica Guerra
Hartman PTA
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3

Charlotte McHale, Mrs.
Self/Educator
Houston, TX

Vouchers are a way for the rich to stay rich and for the poor to be denied an education. Please vote no to HB 3- it threatens to shut down the Texas public school system, which is the last thing our students in this state need.

Karen Mills
self
San Marcos, TX

Please don't vote for school vouchers.

James Cheshire, Mr.
Self
Weatherford, TX

I am against establishing an ESA program. Vote against this bill!

Tiffany Nall CO Gilbert Zamora
Just Us for Justice
Amarillo, TX

This system is inherently unfair. It benefits the rich.

Holley Simons
Self
Austin, TX

Texans are against vouchers. We want public dollars to stay in public schools. Education is a public good that should be accessible to all.

David Howard
Self
Lubbock, TX

I am 100% against school vouchers. I keep hearing that people want them, but I've asked almost 1000 people and no one said they did. Although, none of them were current private school attendees. Get out of your elite echo chamber circles and listen to the people of Texas.

Amos Veltkamp
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Tammy Olsen
Self/Teacher
Farmers Branch, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3 and encourage the House to listen to its constituents. Public Schools deserve funding. Private schools should not be funded by taxpayers. I am a private school mom and a public school teacher. It is MY responsibility to pay for my children to go to private school. It is also my responsibility to pay PUBLIC SCHOOL taxes so ALL students are educated. I know that the House heard from more citizens that oppose this bill than they did that are in favor of this bill. Please read all comments in your social media platforms and you will see that the majority of Texans OPPOSE HB 3. Please do the job that we voted you in for. Please listen to your constituents.

Shere Kossie-Driver
AFT ALDINE
Shepherd, TX

I am on the frontline as a Texas teacher, I have experienced the negative impact of underfunding public schools to erroneously fund school vouchers. STOP the madness. I say 'NO' to school vouchers.

Mary Gregory

Self - nurse

Kerrville, TX

In full support, I continue to not agree with the public education system and their lack of accountability in Godly education so I choose to send my daughter to a Christian education program yet none of my tax money supports the varied education that parents have the right to in decision for their children.

. MAE MARGARET CROSBY, CHAPLAIN, DR

NAACP, NCNW, WFG, WSB, BEMER, MOREMITO, MANUTECH

DALLAS, TX

THANK YOU HB-3

Heidi Saenz

Self- Educator

Cleburne, TX

Even though my children are blessed to attend private school, I am a product of public school. Because of our public school system, I was able to go to college, earn several degrees, and now teach at the University level. Some of us are blessed to be able to send out children to private school- for whatever different reasons we make that decision- but for those who can't (and let's face it, most people, even with vouchers will not be able to) we need to fully fund a public school system that sends out competent, confident, successful, young men and women who will be contributing members of society- like I am today, thanks to the public school system and teachers who poured into me and my dreams.

Kristi Walston, Mrs

self retired

Round rock, TX

I am vehemently opposed to private school vouchers. It will be a huge, insurmountable financial burden to public schools. No more subsidies to the ppl who can most afford private school. Stand up against the scam of our tax dollars!!!! We're watching!

Ryan Fuhrmann

self - Utilities

Denton, TX

The vast majority of Texans oppose this bill or any version of it representing school "choice" or vouchers. As we have seen in other states implementing similar systems, the effect would be draining funding from public schools and putting it in the hands of wealthy Texans who already send their kids to private school. This is nothing more than an attempt to put the public's tax dollars into the hands of the wealthy, which has become an issue across all facets of public funds. Abbott is pushing this entire issue for no other reason than to appease his wealthy donors who would directly benefit from this kind of legislation. There is not much in the political landscape that unites voters across the spectrum, but this issue does. Texans of all walks of life and political leanings oppose this legislation and know it as a distribution of wealth to the haves from the have nots. Enough is enough. Grow a backbone and do your jobs for TEXANS, not the wealthy donors funding your campaigns. It is disgraceful and a slap in the face to the public educators and administrators who are in the trenches each day fighting for Texas kids while being under-funded and over-mandated. Oppose this and all other related bills.

Abby Foreman

Self

Carrollton, TX

As a mother of 2 children in public school in Dallas ISD, a product of public school, and a child of a mom who taught special education in public schools for over 45 years, I strongly oppose public schools. My children go to highly-rated, public magnet schools in DISD. I literally stay awake at night, sometimes in tears, dreading what will happen to those schools if the district uses untold millions in funds from vouchers. To ensure their high-quality teachers and extracurricular activities, such as orchestra, art, and math and science competitions, don't get snatched from them what the legislature should be doing is FULLY fund public schools. By allotting far more to each private school voucher than they do to each public school child, the legislature is making it clear that they do not truly care about public school children, who make and will continue to make up the vast majority of students in Texas. In short, if the legislature cares about Texas kids, it will look out for them, instead of pandering to the ultra-wealthy, by fully-funding Texas public schools and opposing HB3.

Christy Hood

Self/32 year Texas public school teacher

Temple, TX

HB 3 is not fair or equitable to Texas public schools. This vast measure should be sent to the voters of the great state of Texas. This HB will benefit politicians that are supported by wealthy donors. Neither group does not know anything about educating our future Texans. As a life-long supporter of the Republican Party, I can honestly say that I am quite ashamed of these ideals and beliefs. Please reconsider HB 3 so that the great state of Texas will continue its legacy of greatness.

Carrol McDougal, Mrs.

Self

Salado, TX

I am AGAINST school vouchers. Our state is way behind in funding our public schools. If attention & funding throughout the past years had been provided we would not have the drastic number of parents seeking private or home schooling. We are losing our teachers because of wages & the STAAR test.

Jake Rugg

Self

Corinth, TX

This bill is grossly negligent in how it will separate the 'haves' from the 'have nots'. Please keep funding our public schools and do not aid the rich with needless vouchers.

Bibianna Maddox

self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3 for the establishment of an education savings account program. I would like to see more efforts being put into helping our public schools rather than taking money away from them. Many school districts are having to cut staff and find other ways so they are not going into a budget deficit. Private schools do not need state money. There are areas of Texas that do not even have access to private schools. This type of program does nothing but create a bigger gap in learning disparities between those who are wealthy and those who are middle to lower class.

Private schools are on held accountable to the state for ADA requirements and providing the support for those with handicaps and special needs. If these types of schools want state funds, then there should be the same requirements that public schools are held accountable.

Linda Frerich

self - part-time bookkeeper

Rowena, TX

I want to be marked on the record as against HB 3.

Laurie Pompa
Self, Attorney
Austin, TX

Dear House Public Education Committee,

I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Private schools pick and choose which students to admit. While the current bill is supposed to prioritize children with disabilities and low-income children, if there are no requirements, or even incentives, for private schools to accept these children or to open schools in rural and poor areas, it is unlikely vouchers will increase access to public schools for these groups in any meaningful way. Vouchers will instead end up in hands of the privileged few who already had access to private schools. If you want to ensure a quality education is available to ALL children in Texas, you must fund public schools, not underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

Thank you,
Laurie Pompa

Joni Owen
Self/ retired public school teacher
Dallas, TX

This is a scam to provide additional monies to families who aren't in need. Funding public education has never been a priority for the Texas legislature as evident by our national ranking. School vouchers wouldn't improve this, it would hurt it. If Texas school children really were the focus of concern, then vouchers wouldn't even be a thing. Increasing funding for PUBLIC schools would be the focus!

Ashley Prevost
self - director
Austin, TX

I oppose education savings accounts because private schools aren't held to the same accountability measures to public schools, over time they have the potential to bankrupt public schools especially in rural locations where they serve so many community functions, and because we shouldn't be supplementing private education with public dollars.

Rebekkah Dellaccio-Bazley
NORTHWEST ISD
FORT WORTH, TX

I completely understand the complaint that people are forced to pay taxes that support public schools even when they do not send their students to public schools. However, we are also forced to pay taxes on hospitals that we might choose not to use or roads that we avoid due to our preferred route. I am from Louisiana where parents pay $10,000 to $30,000 or more per year per student for private schools. Here in Texas, we have an amazing public school system that was the #1 reason we chose to move to this state. In Texas, private schools are not a necessity but are a status symbol for the wealthy. There are gifted teachers, beautiful facilities, and more resources than a private school can offer. As a nurse married to a police officer, we are homeowners, automobile owners, and we spend money for food and entertainment as well as our necessary living expenses. Multiply that millions of times over for other people who, like us, moved to Texas just for public schools. Please realize that adequately funding public schools is an investment in Texas's economy because so many companies and families move here specifically for the public school system. When you see it this way, it is hard to argue, right? Please provide the minimum $7500 allotment per student for public schools so that we can continue to benefit from this truly essential part of what makes Texas such a special place. Thank you.

Adam Perez
Self
Austin, TX

Please vote NO on school vouchers

Elizabeth Walters, Ms.

Self/student

Fort Worth, TX

I oppose HB3. Public school is the biggest reason for my success in college, and all students, regardless of wealth should have the opportunity to receive a good, fair, and accessible education. Also, we should not be forcing students into private schools where there are fewer regulations and rules to follow. Every Texan has the right to an education, the state of Texas has no right to decide that only wealthy students deserve the chance to learn.

Brandi Black

Self, provider service advocate

Rusk, TX

I DO NOT SUPPORT you all taking money out of the public school system. Education is a right in this country. It is very obvious by the amount of times Abbott has brought these voucher proposals to a vote that he is in someone's pocket and is not concerned about the education of our children. A dumb populace is not good for our state or our country. Couching these vouchers as school choice when people of lower incomes will still be unable to afford private schools, which also have the right to pick and choose which students they accept, and avoiding town halls where your constituents are voicing their concerns about said vouchers, is ridiculous, to say the least. You should not be taking money from public education to fund vouchers that have been shown in other states to not be beneficial and that will lead to lower quality education (especially for those of a lower socioeconomic background who, again, even with vouchers, will most likely not be able to afford private schools), segregation, and perhaps a host of other issues. You're supposed to be representing ALL of your constituents, not just the wealthy. Invest the money you all want to spend on vouchers on paying our teachers better, providing the students and teachers better resources, IMPROVING OUR PUBLIC EDUCATION SYSTEM.

Steven Baxley

Self, minister

Haslet, TX

It is time for the Texas legislature to adequately fund Texas public schools. The per student rate should be increased at a minimum to $7500. If Texas has funds for vouchers, then it should have funds to dramatically increase funding for public schools as well. I am a life-long Republican voter.

Mallory Jones

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Increase the basic allotment to AT LEAST $7500 and create just as much financial accountability as you do academic ANYONE receiving taxpayer funds.

Arlin Alvarez

Self

Austin, TX

I still remember my favorite teacher from 1st grade, Ms. Cheatum—stern but loving. I quickly learned the lesson of “not talking while others are talking” after writing it on wide-rule paper, line by line. She was patient, understanding, and ensured we had the educational foundation we needed. Our 5th-grade talent show revealed hidden talents among my classmates—and how bad I was at singing! Of course, the best part of the day was recess, playing “Bar Tag” on the parallel bars, where I usually came in second place. ?? Middle school was... well, middle school, but the teachers handled it with grace. My 8th-grade history teacher taught us U.S. history and the stock market—my stock had the highest gain! With the help of my middle school counselors, I got into a Magnet High School that helped shape my career. My public school years were full of phenomenal memories (too many to list)!

Think back to your childhood public education—those inspiring teachers, the friends you made, and the experiences that shaped who you are. Now, imagine if those opportunities were taken away from today’s kids. That’s what HB 3 will do if it passes, and I’m asking you to vote against it because it diverts money away from our public schools.

My daughters (ages 8 and 5) deserve a strong public education system—better than what I had, better than what WE had. Voting for this bill will harm our public education system, just like we’ve seen in other states.

We Want Fair Funding: Support an increase in the basic allotment, move to enrollment-based funding, and policies that support districts.

Worsens the Teacher Shortage: Underfunded schools mean fewer teachers. Teachers need real pay raises and smaller classes to stay in the profession. We need policies that focus on teacher retention and increase staffing.

Lacks Accountability: Public schools are held to strict standards, including STARR testing. Private schools taking voucher money have no real oversight. If they get to set their own rules, why are public schools held to higher standards? And it's OUR taxpayer dollars—where’s the accountability?

This Isn’t About School Choice: Public resources should NOT fund religious, private, or homeschools. Families can make their own educational choices, but my tax dollars should not be used for that.

Vouchers Have a History of Discrimination: Vouchers were originally used to avoid integration after Brown v. Board of Education. HB 3 continues this trend by prioritizing families who can already afford private schools, widening inequalities.

We’ve come so far, only to go backward. This isn’t about being “woke”; it’s about ensuring every child gets a quality education.

The Bottom Line: This Bill Hurts Public Schools

This bill drains billions from public education, worsens the teacher shortage, and lacks accountability.

If YOU truly care about education, invest in public schools, not take resources away.

Please vote NO on HB 3 and focus on real solutions that help all Texas students.

Christin Jones

Self

Rhome, TX

Please consider upping the cost per kid in public school to $7100

Jeleah Roth

Self

Plano, TX

As a homeschool mother of 4 I oppose this bill.

Misti Naples

Self

Austin, TX

I am against the school voucher program. It will hurt our public schools and tge families that rely on these schools. The amount offered to individuals isn't enough to cover full tuition and will be detrimental to those that can't afford private schools to begin with. This is simply greed on the part of our governor and his wealthy friends that stand to profit from this Bill. This isn't what families of public school children want. We are already not receiving our fair share in Austin and this bill is insult to injury. I will not support any member of the state legislature that supports this bill.

Melissa DeGraff

Self, mother of 3 children in Texas schools

Pflugerville, TX

Vote no on HB3. Public dollars belong in public schools. This voucher problem will only help a small number of students and will raise private tuition prices. Its a money grab and will weaken our public schools. Public schools need support. Our education system is one of the worst in the nation.

Alisha Fickle

Self, teacher

FORT WORTH, TX

Please Increase Basic Allotment for public schools to $7500 to allow for ISDs to account for inflation and increase in expenditures. We need to keep our teachers and our student/staff ratios. Without this increase, our school will have to lay off teachers. Please save our public schools!

Rodela Rosaisela

Self

Schertz, TX

NOBODY wants public finding for private schools except Abbott, who wants to line his pockets. This will be DETRIMENTAL to the public school system and the majority of Texas children, especially the most vulnerable--SPED, 504 and EB students. NO TO PUBLIC FUNDING OF PRIVATE SCHOOL VOUCHERS ONCE AND FOR ALL!!

Sara Cauble

Self

Tolar, TX

Requesting an increase in allotment due to inflation and cost of living

Angela Gonzalez

Self

El Paso, TX

We need school choice. Parent would be able to find a school that is a best fit for their child and family. All parents should be able to get a school choice voucher.

Valerie Sisk
Northside ISD
San Antonio, TX

Representative Buckley,

As an education leader in Northside ISD, I see firsthand the growing gap between the funding our schools receive and the rising costs of providing a high-quality education. HB3 must be the way forward, and absolutely can't be giving a student a pencil without any lead, helpful in theory, but not enough to get the job done.

Inflation has risen nearly 20%, yet the state's Basic Allotment remains stuck at $6,160 per student—the same as it was in 2019. Meanwhile, school districts across Texas are struggling to keep up with teacher salaries, student resources, and operational costs, all of which have increased dramatically. To put it in perspective, if we had adjusted the Basic Allotment for inflation, it would be over $7,000 per student today. That's the difference between hiring a quality teacher or leaving a classroom overcrowded.

In Northside ISD, we educate over 100,000 students, and we're seeing firsthand how these funding gaps impact our ability to recruit and retain the best educators. Districts are in deep deficits and are dipping into their reserves just to keep schools running—it's like trying to fill a leaky bucket with a teaspoon.

We know Texas values education, and we know you do too. Investing in our schools now means stronger communities, a more competitive workforce, and a future we can all be proud of. So, let's not let inflation steal opportunities from our students. We're not asking for a handout, just for the state to keep up with the times.

Representative Buckley, please keep the faith, as I know Texans believe in doing what's right, and right now, increasing the Basic Allotment is the best way to ensure our schools remain strong. Let's make sure Texas stays a leader in education, not just in spirit, but in actual dollars. I remember the "Don't Mess with Texas Public Schools" movement, and we need you to assure we meant that then, now, and always.

William Brummett, Mr.
The Brookside School (Austin, Texas) & Self
Austin, TX

As a Texan, teacher, and school leader who is unable to afford private education for my own children and who desires to help other families have access to high-quality educational options, I am FOR HB 3 and support empowering parents with ESAs. This program would empower parents and create a new educational landscape and marketplace rooted in the principle of freedom rather than feudalism. It would enable educational entrepreneurs like me to create new private schools, including ones that are more affordable than many current private schools that are designed to serve very wealthy families. I strongly believe that Texas will see new private schools in small rural towns and urban neighborhoods where many people have complained that "there are no private schools so how would this benefit families from that town or neighborhood?" I am so thankful for so many brave Texas House Members and Senators willing to stand up for parents, faith, and freedom, as well as teachers and school leaders, by supporting and co-authoring ESA bills this session. May God bless your resolve to stand with the Governor, each other, and the majority of Texas families and get this accomplished with haste!

David Vaughn
My grandchildren
Waco, TX

I have three children. One is a physician in Waco. One has a masters degree and works for Apple Computer in Austin. One is a police lieutenant in San Angelo. Two sibling brothers and myself are Electrical Engineers. My sister is an CPA. All were educated by the Texas public school system. Our education had been the foundation of generational wealth. I want the same opportunity for my grandchildren and ALL TEXAS CHILDREN. Please do not rob them by supporting the voucher system.

Barbara Watterson

Self/Educator

Austin, TX

While I acknowledge that families want more educational choices, this school voucher program does not create real choice for families. There are certainly many issues with our public education system that prevent it from effectively serving students, but funneling money out of this system and into private institutions through vouchers is not the solution to our problems. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education. Additionally, these programs as implemented in other states lack proper accountability, exacerbate inequality, engage in exclusionary practices, fragment communities, exacerbate segregation, and decrease academic achievement. Instead of diverting funds to private institutions, perhaps you should focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has access to a high-quality education. This issue matters to me and I vote. Thank you.

Maria Redecop

Self, homemaker

Seagraves, TX

Please oppose HB 3!

Rachael Morales

Self

Abilene, TX

I demand that you represent your Texas constituents and vote against this bill. This bill is will jeopardize educational opportunities for thousands of children and only lines the pockets of the wealthy. Do your job and vote "no!"

Kenneth Shier, Teacher

Self

Corinth, TX

To our Representatives, from your constituents -

We urge you to stand firmly against HB3.

By providing taxpayer dollars for private school vouchers that will exceed the basic allotment for public school students by thousands of dollars, we risk undermining the very foundation of our communities and our state.

By prioritizing private school vouchers, we are effectively placing the interests of a few individuals above the needs of the many. This is a direct contradiction to the values of equity and fairness that our public education system strives to uphold. We must resist any efforts that prioritize profit over the well-being of our children.

The financial burden placed on taxpayers to support private education, without the checks and balances that govern public schools, raises serious concerns. We must ask ourselves: who truly benefits from this legislation? The answer is clear: it is the billionaires and special interest groups who stand to profit from the privatization of education. Their influence has already corrupted the integrity of our political system, as seen in the support of Governor Greg Abbott and others who prioritize profit over the future of our children.

It is imperative that we prioritize public education and the recapture dollars that are being held hostage by Greg Abbott. These funds should be utilized to enhance the quality of our public schools, ensuring that they have the resources needed to thrive. By investing in our public education system, we are investing in the future of Texas—our children, our workforce, and our communities.

I implore you to listen to the voices of your constituents who believe in the value of a strong public education system. LISTEN. NO ONE WANTS THIS. Opposing HB 3 is not just a political stance; it is a commitment to our children's future and to the principles of accountability and transparency that our public schools uphold.

Please stand against HB 3 and ensure that our public schools continue to receive the support they need to provide every child with a quality education.

Thank you for your time and attention to this critical issue.

Emily Weems

Self

Houston, TX

Here's why I oppose School Vouchers:

1. There will be tax dollars going to schools that are not required to meet any state accountability standards. The Catholic church schools are often excellent, but many private schools are not on that level. Many private and parochial schools maintain their academic ratings by rejecting below-average students. Comparing private schools vs public school achievement so unfair. Private schools are not required to take anybody.
 2. The vouchers most likely will not cover the cost of the schooling. Private and parochial schools are expensive, with students often having to pay for e-textbooks and other things that public schools provide. Private schools do not have subsidized lunch programs for low-income families. Private schools also typically require uniforms, which is an additional cost. The reality is that this will really just funnel money to people rich enough to already send their kids to private schools.
 3. There is a provision to pay parents a reduced amount for home schooling. I knew one couple who home schooled their kids for medical reasons and were really good at it. The many others I have known that home schooled should have left their children's education to professionals.
 4. Private schools usually do not have any form of school transportation, which makes them completely impractical for families with two working parents who depend on neighborhood schools and school buses.
 5. Private schools are not required by the state to have any special education programs. Approximately 13% of Texas public school students are enrolled in some form of special education and require a wide range of services that private schools are not required or able to provide.
 6. Texas public schools are chronically underfunded. Texas ranks 44th out of 50 states on funding. This is despite billions of dollars of surplus tax dollars. It is intentionally underfunded by the same governor and State Legislature that want to take more money out of the system to reward their rich friends who send their kids to private prep schools.
 7. The cost of the program is probably being vastly understated. If you want to see what can happen with the cost of a school voucher program, just look at the state of Arizona. Their voucher program is completely breaking the budget for education in the state. I doubt Texas will be any different.
- The reality is that school vouchers are not a way to improve education in Texas. Adequate funding from the state and parental support of a system that is trying diligently to serve everyone's needs would be a big help.

Sincerely,

Emily Weems

Parent of two boys in public ed

Charles Phillips

Self, aerospace

Houston, TX

This bill MUST be defeated. It is clearly a gift for the wealthy, the amount of money made available cannot pay for a good education. Some schools will open that will accept this amount of money but they will soon be shown to not meet any recognized educational standards. So the wealthy that now send their kids to private schools will just get a big check. The public schools will be forced to cancel art and music classes, cancel Advanced Placement classes, because they cost additional money. I am NOT a "liberal" in any form, I have a BS in Physics from Angelo State University in San Angelo. I am a retired USAF Lieutenant Colonel. We should improve public education by making the school years longer, we should raise our expectations for graduation. But this will lower the learning in public schools and will produce a number of low quality private schools (that will soon fail). We will have to hire people to run our complex economy from other States and from other countries, we will not produce enough Texans with the skills to operate our systems.

Anne Stryker

Self

Houston, TX

I am AGAINST school vouchers. The Republican Party is destroying Texas. They've been in power almost 30 yrs and we have nothing to show for us. Just extremist politicians who are bought and paid for by special interests. Our public education system is one of the lowest in the nation because the Texas Legislature and governor don't spend any money on it. They aren't about "kids." Vouchers will only elevate the "elite."

Jennifer Lyon

Lee Elementary

Austin, TX

AISD Austin has provided so much value to our family beyond being free appropriate public education for all. My daughters, 12 year old twins, have various special needs. Our family considered the ability of a private school to create an environment we can trust, and time and time again, we have found the support of the local public school to be the best fit for them.

Therefore, our family of four opposes Texas HB 3 and the establishment of an educational savings account program.

Thank you.

Linda Montoya, Executive Director of School Leadership

Bryan ISD

College Station, TX

I vote NO to Education Savings Accounts and Vouchers. Public school funding needs to go into making the public school system the best and strongest in the state. Sitting at number 42 is not ok. Holding public school funding hostage after the last legislative session 2023 when vouchers were attached and did not pass after numerous special sessions was not a good decision for our Texas children nor was it good for teachers. Using public funds for private school students is not the answer. Our Texas children and teachers deserve better. I strongly vote NO to ESAs and Vouchers! This is not a political issue this is a Texas issue that will affect all 5.4 million children in the state of Texas. 158 out of 254 counties in Texas do not even have private schools. Taking public funds and making them available to the wealthy is shameful. Taking 12 million dollars from a billionaire donor is also shameful. It is a sad day in Texas when the governor is not fighting for public education which is the backbone to our communities. You are creating a system of haves and have nots! There is no research that proves ESAs and vouchers provide a better education for children. On the contrary, what has been proven is that has made the wealthy wealthier. I have worked in public education for 33 years and have watched our public school system decline over the last 10 years because of the lack of support from Governor Abbott and the legislature. Do what is right by the 5.4 million children in Texas by making the public school system #1 in the nation, compensating our teachers who educate every single child who walks through our public school doors. Build these heroes up and support them in every way you can. They educate our doctors, lawyers, nurses, musicians, politicians, teachers, artists, athletes and they receive few accolades! NO to ESAs and Vouchers! Fully fund our public schools!

Erin Cotter, Dr

Self, author

Austin, TX

I do not approve of this bill. Public funds belong in public schools and as a Texan taxpayer I'm not sending someone's else child to a private school with my money.

Jeanette Castelan, Mrs

self

Leander, TX

I have three children who have been in the Texas education system. One who is currently in high school with an IEP. Our journey has been tough getting appropriate support throughout her time in school. Even with proper rules in place, they are vague and difficult to enforce. Taking money OUT of the school system for vouchers to go to the ALREADY privileged families, hurts the entire system that Gov Abbott is keeping underfunded with his hold on the school budget. The DEA found our state to be illegally capping the number of students receiving special education services and demanded the cap be lifted. They did, however no additional funding was provided and we have been doing more with less ever since. Children with special needs do not thrive in private schools as they can be legally discriminated against if admitted at all. Our schools and children deserve a proper education that is properly funded, not shuffling around money with the recapture that has been going on for years. Now this bill wants to gut it further. This is insane that it is even being considered. Please vote against robbing our children for the privileged few and lining the pockets of the private school sector. Public institutions are to provide and serve the public, not profit and abuse them.

Carol Hollaway

self

Galveston, TX

I am steadfastly opposed to HB3 and SB2--two private school voucher scams. These efforts serve only to subvert the public education of Texas' children using my tax dollars. Instead of appeasing three billionaires with their white Christian nationalist agendas, you could better serve your constituents by improving education for all children. You should concentrate your efforts and state funding on improving our public schools, which you have systematically shortchanged for so long. No one is fooled by this attempt to segregate our state's school children into whites and nonwhites, haves and have-nots. Your constituents do not want this. When will you give them a chance to be heard? Where are your town hall meetings? You are fooling no one so stop touting this legislation as an answer to better education. Put that $1 billion into the state fund for public education and concentrate on improving the education of all our children.

Jacqueline Flesher

Kealing Middle School PTA

Austin, TX

As a parent of middle schoolers, Henry and George, who attend an Austin magnet school, I understand the importance of school choice. However, I believe that school vouchers are not the solution. Rather than diverting funds away from public schools, we should focus on improving and adequately funding the schools that serve the majority of students, ensuring that every child, regardless of background, has access to high-quality education. Our magnet school is a fantastic option for my children, but we need to ensure all public schools have the resources they need to provide exceptional education for all students. Let's invest in our teachers and public schools, not in programs that undermine them.

I strongly support increasing funding for Texas teachers to ensure they are among the highest-paid in the nation. Teachers play a crucial role in shaping the future of our children, and it's time we prioritize their compensation to reflect the immense value they bring to our communities. Investing in teachers will have a lasting positive impact on our education system, benefiting students, families, and Texas at large.

Brandon Broom

BSc Ocean Engineering - retired, Aransas County Democratic Party

Rockport, TX

From the perspective of my stated career background, I have found no studies or analysis to support any claim that the proposed Education Savings Account program will contribute to advancing goals of achievement in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) in Texas. From what I have gleaned in reviewing the TEPSAC website, I find it appalling to see statements on the TEXAS LEGAL REQUIREMENTS webpage such as: "Accreditation: optional, Registration: no requirements, Licensing: no requirements, Approval: no requirements" and under the TECHNOLOGY category it reads "No state policy currently exists". Looking at the robust state of private institutions existing in Texas today, it also seems that a dire need for assistance from the State of Texas for parents wanting to embark on this risky path for their families is not a reliable claim. Furthermore, while there are existing programs for STEM development under TEA and none that I can see recognized under TEPSAC, why on earth would the vast community of professionals in the great United States of America committed to the ideal of protection the public interest through standards of accreditation in STEM related professional societies be blithely accepting of entry level prospects schooled in formative years under such a paucity of oversight? This program is not even close to passing a test for noxious components! . I urge every member of the 89th Legislature to support, enhance and improve standards of public education in Texas.
I DO NOT SUPPORT REPRESENTATIVE BRAD BUCKLEY'S LATEST BILL!

Kristine Robinson

self / social worker

Austin, TX

I am opposed to HB 3. School savings accounts, aka vouchers, are a way to further extract funding away from our underfunded public school system. Our public schools need an increase in their basic allotment. This bill essentially provides subsidies for higher income Texans to send their children to private school. Bills should focus on the good of all, not the good of a few.

BobbieAnn White, Dr.

Self, Associate Professor

Salado, TX

As a former school board member (Salado ISD) who served 6 years, I became quite familiar with school funding. Additionally, I am a product of public-school education (Corpus Christi ISD) and my husband Dr. Heath White is a product of public school education (Daingerfield ISD). We and all our friends/colleagues are against the voucher program.

Our state constitution is one of the few that promises to educate our population, yet we are behind and continue to cripple our public schools. Public school has not been appropriately funded for more than 10 years, despite the state continuing to have a surplus in taxes. And, despite Dr. Brad Buckley's previous attempt to do so (thank you Dr. Buckley for trying to fund our schools). When other states are in surplus, taxes are refunded to the taxpayer, yet our state continues to keep the money rather than spend it where appropriate (on public education). We need quality education for all not just for those who can afford it. Vouchers take our hard-earned tax dollars out of our underfunded public schools and gives those dollars to private schools. We (the state) may have enough money to pay for both vouchers and public-school funding now, but when that surplus runs out - we know what will be cut - not vouchers - it will be our public schools...

Part of the reason we have been able to thrive as a state is that we are fiercely independent. Please continue to be so and stand for ALL students in our state - uphold our state constitution: "state legislature is responsible for establishing and maintaining public schools." - Thank you for the opportunity to be heard.

Erin Valdez

Self, Higher Education Professional

Austin, TX, TX

Texas has an historic opportunity to improve the lives of millions of children by creating an education savings account program. I was homeschooled in the 1980's in Florida. Neither of my parents had a college education and we were very poor. Nevertheless, my mom and dad wanted what was best for their kids and were resourceful in identifying curriculum and support groups to provide us an education that gave all of us a chance to be successful and happy. If ESAs had been available at the time, the program would have made a huge difference to my family. As early homeschool pioneers, we faced skepticism from family and scrutiny from strangers. But my parents were confident in their choice and made enormous sacrifices to educate us at home. Texas needs to join the 15+ states with universal school choice to allow ALL families to educate their children according to their values. I hope that this legislature will make history by voting with parents for HB 3.

Jessica Payan

Community member

San Antonio, TX

Our public tax dollars need to remain at public schools, not private. If allowing private schools access to these funds is unavoidable then they MUST have the same accountability as public schools and required to serve students with disabilities.

Heidi Gibbons

self retired

Austin, TX

Please vote no on HB 3. We all want well-educated Texas children. Strengthening public schools I believe is a smarter use of Texas funds. Accountability, qualified teachers, all students are welcome at public schools. Assistance is in place for children with disabilities. Private schools have none of those traits. Didn't you attend public schools? Please, as a 48 year resident of Texas and long-time voter, I'm asking you to just vote NO on HB 3. Thank you.

Jania Villarroel

Srlfy

Arlington, TX

Dear House Committee Members,

I am a Latin, conservative, homeschool family in Tarrant county and a masters level professional. My family chose for me to focus on educating our son and on one income. We take education very seriously and after researching educational methodologies from around the world we settled on homeschooling since we are life long learners and no model fits our educational beliefs. As proud Texans we value our homeschool freedoms and we proudly fund our son's educational needs ourselves. We are not interested in any government subsidy to continue to homeschool our son. Nor are we interested nor believe in standardized testing or public funds going towards private interests. We strongly believe in the Leeper ruling of homeschooling being defined as a private education. As you can see, we already have and execute our "school choice". Our only position of consideration would be our homestead taxes being exempt as homeschoolers to utilize as we see fit in our son's education. As your constituent, we ask that you do not support government education subsidies in our beloved state of Texas. If people are interested in these limited government subsidies then they are welcome to go to states like California that embrace big government and subsidies of all kinds. We the people of Texas are more interested in our freedoms and we ask that you protect those freedoms by not voting for HB 3. In our vast homeschool communities we have yet to meet anyone in support of this bill this session nor as history has shown in past sessions. If for whatever reasons you feel the best position for you would be to not listen to your constituents by voting for this bill, please add language that distinguishes between accredited private organizations vs unaccredited private entities like homeschoolers which would keep the Leeper ruling intact and our freedoms in place. However, moving forward with this bill would also be fiscally irresponsible to the people of Texas. We don't need more government and we homeschoolers do not educate with the government. Please vote no HB 3.

Kelsey Wise
self-teacher
Grapevine, TX

I am opposing HB 3 because it directly undermines the quality of education that Texas students receive. The bill proposes funding cuts and prioritizes property tax reductions over adequately investing in schools, which can lead to larger class sizes, fewer resources, and potential job cuts for educators. Something, I have personally experienced in my 7 years as a kindergarten teacher. As teachers, we're already stretched thin with limited resources, and HB 3's measures would make it harder to provide the individual attention students need to succeed. It also fails to address the real issues of underfunding that have disregarded our education system for years, further burdening teachers who are already working tirelessly with fewer resources. Simply put, this bill doesn't support educators or students—it deepens the challenges we face in the classroom. I am strongly opposing this bill and hope that you follow suit with what the majority of Texas constituents want, not what is of benefit to you, personally.

Debra Haer
Self/retired
Richardson, TX

I oppose vouchers! You're stealing money away from public education!

Amanda Verell
Self, parent and digital product manager
Leander, TX

Vote NO!
Fully fund public schools. No vouchers!

April Siver
Self
Sanger, TX

I am writing to request that you vote against the education savings account program. I am 100% positive that this bill will be of no benefit to the students who need help with their education, nor to the majority of the students in the state. Please be warned that we Texans are getting tired of those we entrust to manage our money in our collective best interest, doing the exact opposite. If you can't understand what is in the best interest of our state system of education, we are capable of finding your replacements. We are all watching what each of you vote for. This is not a threat; it is a promise!
Thank you for reading this.
April Siver

Jennifer Tyson
Self/ hairstylist
San Antonio, TX

HB3 goes against Texas constitution Article 3, Section 51, of the Texas Constitution provides in part: "The Legislature shall have no power to make any grant or authorize the making of any grant of public moneys to any individual, association of individuals, municipal or other corporations whatsoever.

Y'all better rethink this bill.

Maranda Lehnerz

Self

Austin, TX

Please do not vote HB 3 out of committee. Our students deserve fully funded public schools, not a system that siphons public tax dollars to 1.8% of the student population. If we want to make Texas #1 in Education, public schools need the full support of the state. It is not fiscally responsible nor does it align with fiscal conservative values. How will the education savings accounts be funded in the future? Why are you ok with spending that much money on so few students?

I am the parent of a child who receives special education services. Our public schools provide services for my child like ADHD accommodations and accommodations for dysgraphia. What private schools in Texas offer these services and would take my child? If private schools are not required to meet the same standards as public school how can you tell me that she would be treated fairly? How many available spots are there for students with disabilities? You need to provide a list as a resource for parents. Prove your assertion that you want to give students with disabilities a "choice."

What aid will be provided for transport and additional costs needed for private schools? A better option is to competitively fund our public schools. Don't let Texas be at the bottom of state funding dollars in this country. Our kids deserve well funded public schools. Texas could be a great driver of innovation if we invested in our students. Imagine the possibilities if we didn't have to worry about budget deficits!

How would you vote if you were beholden to our kids and no one else? Stop HB 3—Texan students deserve it.

Andrea Alaniz

Self

Hutto, TX

A private school voucher scam will defund our neighborhood schools. Even the smallest voucher program being proposed would result in millions of dollars drained from our schools. As DontDefundMySchool.com demonstrates, class sizes will grow, teachers will get laid off, and neighborhood schools will close.

Chantelle Valdez

Self

Round Rock, TX

I do not support school voucher systems. This will impact my family greatly and take away support within the public school for my children. Please think about the families that will not be able to utilize the voucher system and consider the deprivation of support this will cause.

Martha Flores

Self/education

Lubbock, TX

I would like to request a 1500 increase in the Basic Allotment for all public schools in Texas. Please.

I would also like request for you to Vote NO on the Vouchers (HB3).

Arden Decker, Dr.

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose ESAs (education saving accounts) as outlined in HB 3. I support public money being used for public education.

Kelly Peschke

Self- pharmacist

Dallas, TX

Please vote against the education savings account. We want more money going to public school funding. Please don't support vouchers. Support an increase in the basic allotment for public schools.

Kaylynn Burns

Self

Friendswood, TX

An education savings account would be providing money to mostly those who already choose to put their children in private schools. The amount this would provide would not cover the tuition at private schools and most low income to middle income families cannot afford the difference. Also, private schools do not have to accept all students so many would not be accepted. Private schools do not provide the needed services for many students with special needs. In addition, there is no transportation and most activities will have additional fees. If a student gets removed from a private school, the money would not go back to public schools. Public schools accept all students and provide needed services for all students. Public schools are required to meet state standards but private schools are not. Private schools do not require teachers to meet state certification standards. Texas public schools receive funding based on attendance so more students in private school means less funding. Texas already does not provide adequate funding for students. Texas needs to provide more funding for public education and not education savings accounts (vouchers) that would mostly benefit the wealthy.

Kelly Grey Carlisle, Dr.

Self

San Antonio, TX

No! No! No! to school vouchers. Private K-12 schools don't need welfare and they shouldn't get state funds unless they are forced to accept and support all students. Our neighborhood schools are something a Texans can be proud of and they deserve our support. My children thrive in their schools, especially in the marching band, honors courses, and stem. Their teachers are caring professionals who devote their careers to our students. Do not destroy our amazing public schools to give a handout to already well-funded private schools who have no interest in educating the vast majority of our children, especially those who are struggling, have learning disabilities, or come from disadvantaged families. No!

Erica Courtenay-Mann

Self

SPRING, TX

The Hidden Dangers of Education Savings Account Programs

Education Savings Account (ESA) programs are often marketed as a way to expand school choice, but the reality is that they undermine the quality of education for working-class families while funneling public tax dollars into institutions that are not held to the same standards as public schools. These programs primarily benefit students who are already in private schools, rather than expanding opportunities for those in struggling communities. Studies of similar programs have shown that the vast majority of voucher funds do not go to new students seeking better educational options but instead subsidize tuition for families who were already paying for private education.

Unlike public schools, private institutions are not required to admit all students, particularly those from low-income backgrounds or those with disabilities. Families who rely on specialized support services may find that the schools accepting ESA funds are unwilling or unable to meet their needs, leaving the most vulnerable students with fewer options rather than more. Additionally, private, religious, and home schools receiving these taxpayer dollars operate with little to no oversight. They are not required to adhere to state curriculum standards, provide certified teachers, or demonstrate academic success in the same way public schools must.

Ultimately, ESA programs redirect public funds away from the very students who need them most, benefiting a select group while leaving many behind. These policies enable institutions that lack accountability and often turn a blind eye to the mistreatment of marginalized students, further widening educational disparities rather than closing them.

Carmen Deluna

Self

San Marcos, TX

Dear Texas Legislator,

As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair. Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Public schools in Texas are underfunded by billions of dollars every year. The Comptroller is projecting a large increase in state revenue over the next two years compared to the past two years, and that money should go to fully funding public education.

Private schools pick and choose which students to admit. Vouchers force taxpayers to subsidize private schools' preferences. And without elected boards or state oversight, vouchers give away tax dollars with no financial or academic accountability. Public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students, serving all the students in their boundaries. They build the workforce that powers the Texas economy. We can't afford to underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

We elect legislators to represent the interests of their communities. Responding to their communities, Texas legislators have rejected private school subsidies time after time.

In the face of increasing pressure from special interests, I pledge that I will stand with my legislators in opposing vouchers. When they vote against private school subsidies, I will make sure all their constituents know they did the right thing

Sara Burleson

Self

Midland, TX

I am against HB3 due to private schools receiving tax payer funds. Texas was built on public schools and educating all students in Texas. Not only will a few students be able to use the money but you are also building another bureaucracy to funnel the funds to schools. The absurd amount of waste is enough to vote no. Texas needs to fund public education not private schools. Tex's should set the highest standard for public education in this nation.

Also the private schools will not be held to the same standards as public schools regarding mandates and testing. How is this fair? Please stop and think about what you are Texans to support when the support is not there for this bill.

Andrea Brothers

Self

Austin, TX

We do not want vouchers in Texas!

Phyllis Webster, Ms

Self

Plano, TX

As a retired public educator I saw first hand the effects of funding on public schools. Public schools are the backbone of this nation. State funding for private and charter goes against every public school child. It promotes segregation , teaching of religion, etc. Americans have a choice to send their children to private school if they want a religious or segregated education for their child, but that should not be supported by our tax dollars. Low income students , inner city and rural students will suffer. It's a disgrace that dollars intended for our public schools are being held hostage by our governor so he can get the vote he wants. Please stand up for public education. Please put our tax dollars to work where they are needed the most.

Beth Warmerdam

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Please say NO to HB 3.

Thank you.

Julie Minnick

Self / Parent/Consultant

Austin, TX

I have two children who attend Cypress Springs Elementary in the Dripping Springs ISD. We LOVE our school, teachers and administration and want public dollars to stay with public schools. A main reason we moved to Dripping Springs was because of the wonderful public education that our children would receive. The dollars paid by taxpayers should continue to fund the 5.5 million children that attend public schools and not the small minority that attend private schools. We want to see MORE funding for public schools, not less! Please vote NO to HB 3

Casey Feldt

Self

San Antonio, TX

Education is the foundation of our society and it is our greatest equalizer, if appropriated fairly. Giving money to a private school takes public funding away from public education. Private schools do not have to follow the same regulations and requirements as public schools and are "rated" by a separate set of standards. If you want to give public dollars to private institutions then make them play by the same rules.

Jessica Hayes

Self -teacher

Anna, TX

Our schools need funding and support. There are so many important positions that need their roles to be safeguarded. When funding is taken, pivotal roles are being lost and teachers and students will suffer the consequences.

Terry Krotz

Self

Bryan, TX

Dear Members of the Texas Legislature,

I am writing to express my concerns regarding the proposed school voucher bill, which aims to allocate public funds to private educational institutions through education savings accounts. While I understand the intention to provide families with more educational choices, I believe this bill, in its current form, may have unintended consequences that could negatively impact our public education system.

One of my primary concerns is the potential diversion of essential funding from public schools to private institutions. Public schools rely heavily on state funding to provide quality education, and redirecting these funds could exacerbate existing resource shortages, particularly in underfunded districts. This shift may lead to larger class sizes, reduced extracurricular opportunities, and diminished support services for students who remain in the public school system.

Additionally, the bill does not mandate private schools to accept all students, which raises concerns about equitable access. Without such requirements, there's a risk that private institutions might selectively admit students, potentially excluding those with special needs or from low-income families. This could leave the most vulnerable students in under-resourced public schools, further widening the educational disparity. ?

Transparency and accountability are also significant issues. Private schools are not held to the same standards as public schools in terms of curriculum requirements, standardized testing, and public reporting. Allocating taxpayer dollars to institutions without robust oversight mechanisms may result in inconsistent educational outcomes and a lack of public accountability.

Furthermore, the proposed voucher amounts may not fully cover private school tuition, especially in more expensive institutions. This could limit the practical accessibility of private education to families who can afford to pay the difference, thereby not effectively serving the low-income families that the bill intends to help. ?

Given these concerns, I urge the Legislature to reconsider the implementation of the school voucher bill. Instead, I advocate for increased investment in our public schools to address existing challenges and ensure that all students, regardless of their socioeconomic status, have access to quality education. Strengthening the public education system benefits not only our students but also the broader community by fostering a well-educated and equitable society.

Thank you for considering my perspective on this critical issue.

Sincerely,

Terrance Krotz

Paula Lezama
Self - Research Assistant
Manor, TX

I am writing to express my deep concern about HB2 and the proposed $220 increase per student for Texas public schools. While any increase is appreciated, $220 falls far short of the $1,000 to $1,400 that education experts say is necessary to properly support our students. This also does nothing to address the $4,400 gap between Texas's per-student spending and the national average.

It's especially disheartening to see how the pride Texans feel about everything being "bigger and better" doesn't extend to supporting our children's education. This is painfully evident in the lack of investment in our schools, where teachers, staff, and administrators are doing their best with a steady decrease in resources.

My own experience as a parent has been a mix of both hope and heartbreak. My 6-year-old son was born prematurely and has developmental delays. He has been fortunate to have a dedicated team of teachers and staff who have gone above and beyond to ensure he has the tools and support he needs to overcome these challenges. They've developed individualized plans for his needs and offered after-school help, all while working with a stretched budget.

However, despite their best efforts, the needs of our children are so vast, and the resources so scarce, that many things simply fall through the cracks. Whether it's classroom supplies or specialized services for children with developmental delays like my son, we are forced to make do with the bare minimum. Teachers and staff are working tirelessly, but they are constantly running up against the limits of what is possible with the resources at hand.

My son's school serves a community where over 60% of students live under the poverty line. We cannot rely on the goodwill of philanthropists to fill the gaps left by a government that has failed to properly invest in our children. It is frustrating to hear that we are "blessed" because things could be worse, but that's not a solution—it's a reflection of how far behind we are compared to other states.

I urge you to reconsider the proposed funding and to increase the per-student allocation to better meet the needs of Texas students. However, I also strongly urge you to immediately disburse the $220 per student from HB2. While this amount is far below what is truly needed, it will still make a difference in the short term. Our teachers and staff are doing everything they can, but without the necessary funding, there is so much they can do. We saw what happened with educators leaving the system in masse, we see the inability of our schools to retain the best and brightest. How are we supposed to rise innovators and creators ready for the challenges of this changing world when we are unable as a society to provide even the bare minimum?

Please listen to the voices of parents, teachers, and advocates who have been calling for change. The future of our children and our state depends on it.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Carol Hubbard Concerned Texan
Georgetown, TX

Dear Texas Legislature -- you are serving your state at a historical time in Texas. Public Schools are on their last leg after the state government successfully cut off their oxygen the last 5 years. If you are not losing sleep at night, you should be. Now we have the last straw, you are going to concede to our governor's wishes and divert public tax dollars to private education. Some say this is a concession we must make. We do not agree. We believe you can say NO to vouchers and YES to public education funding. But if you must concede, then at least have the courage to fight for SUBSTANTIAL public school funding so we can ensure Texas teacher salaries are competitive and our curriculum is robust and truly prepares our children to future employment and participation in our democracy (or what is left of it). With teacher salaries 44th in the nation and our academic performance at 32nd, we are a failing state. Yes, a state that has one of the largest economies in the world, but we can not even educate our children properly. Shame on us, Texas. It is time to really get to work and fix our public schools -- not force them to close.

Carol Caron
Parent
Willow Park, TX

Please pass this bill. Public education is failing. My child with Down syndrome is being denied access to general education in the 4th grade. Despite laws like IDEA and ESSA the school denies my repeated requests to include my child. We need options from the school districts that regard themselves as untouchable. Vote YES!

Susan Gebren
Self
Bedford, TX

Please do not pass HB3. My HEBISD would loose over 9 million dollars. I have taught in private and public schools. Instead of paying for vouchers, let's funnel that money into public schools, public charter/ magnets, Let public schools have the freedom of private schools.

Melany Troller
Self
Georgetown, TX

As a voter, property tax payer, and mother, I oppose any amount of public funding for private schools. This is an unacceptable use of my tax dollars and undermines our public school system which sustains and supports all of our children. These funds would be better used to improve struggling schools and strengthening our communities. This bill effectively throws money away and is a drain on our economy. We, the voters and your constituents, do NOT want this.

Patricia Goode
SELF
North Richland Hills, TX

I OPPOSE THE TRANSFER OF TAXPAYER FUNDS TO PRIVATE SCHOOLS. INSTEAD, PUBLIC SCHOOLS SHOULD BE FUNDED AT THE HIGHEST LEVELS IN ORDER TO EDUCATE ALL STUDENTS AND INCREASE TEACHER PAY. RAISE THE ALLOTMENT PER CHILD AT LEAST BY $1000 AND BASE THE ALLOTMENT ON ENROLLMENT, NOT ATTENDANCE. FOLLOW THE LAW OF TEXAS AS DELINEATED IN THE STATE CONSTITUTION, ARTICLE 7, SECTIONS 1,5C, AND 7. DO THE RIGHT THING FOR RIGHT THING FOR THE COMMON GOOD.

David Wiley
Self - retired
Lakeway, TX

I am completely opposed to this bill and the concept of school vouchers. They are effectively a tuition subsidy to the wealthy and the term "school choice" is a serious misnomer. Our state has a huge budget surplus and our public schools are seriously underfunded on a per student basis. Vouchers will add further to this mess by diverting funds which should be going to public schools. Let those who choose private and religious schools fund their own tuition. Now THAT is school choice. The least fortunate and well off of our population will not be helped by vouchers, either because their locality has no private schools, or because their incomes are so low that even with a voucher they can't afford them. This is a serious matter and the governor is completely disingenuous, if not dishonest in his campaign for vouchers. He is completely beholden to a few wealthy campaign donors. Most Texans, including many republicans are against vouchers. Listen to the voters! Vote no!

Alondra Deleon
Self
Rockwall, TX

Juan Cervantes

Self

Plano, TX

I am in opposition for the education savings program. Using tax dollars to help pay for private programs that do not have any regulatory requirements for admittance and are free to push their own agendas isn't supporting education for all. It's just a tax break for those that can already afford private education. Any local leader that votes for this is doing this for a few instead of looking to provide more tax dollars to our public education system already in place.

Cynthia Engel, Ms.

Self

Dallas, TX

I strongly oppose the school voucher program. Public schools are already underfunded and would be hurt by vouchers. I also strongly oppose cutting property taxes, since they fund our schools.

Patti Burks

self - retired

Dallas, TX

I do not believe that the school vouchers system creates real choice for families. While it may help a small number of families, it will be to the detriment of the majority of Texas children and public school districts. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education and enrich private institutions. We need to strengthen our public schools so that all Texas children, regardless of background or economic ability will have access to a high quality education.

Michelle Jordan

Self

Fate, TX

School vouchers defund public education (my kids are students and I am a teacher at a public school), they allow tax payer money to go to private schools that have no accountability, they benefit mostly the wealthy, they are bad for rural communities, and they leave students behind especially those with disabilities. A parent is free to send their kid to private school, but you can't ask the tax payer to foot the bill. We have a limited budget for public schools and we simply can't afford it. Public dollars should be for public schools.

Ashleigh Diacogiannis, Mrs

Self

Austin, TX

I plead with you to pass this bill! I am the mom of exceptional kids and we have turned to public, private, and homeschooling to educate them. I would love to take the full allotment of government funds they could benefit from at public school, but even a fraction of that would seriously lighten the burden our family has had to bear. I know this legislation won't solve EVERY problem, but that doesn't mean we can't solve ANY problems. And this legislation will be a godsend for many Texas families, including my own!

Diane Watson, Retired

Self retired

Pflugerville, TX

The Texas State Constitution outlines the duty Texas has to make suitable provisions for and maintain an efficient public education system. Any vouchers passed in Texas should not take away from the goal of educating the 5.5 million students currently enrolled in Texas public schools – young Texans who are the future workforce and driver of our economic success for the long term.

The 89th Legislature should focus on investing in public schools and strengthening the teaching profession, so current and future generations of Texans will continue to have high-quality educational choices in our neighborhood public schools. No Vouchers

Amy Hwan
Self
Houston, TX

This bill is a voucher scam. How is it not crystal clear that providing school vouchers or ESAs is simply welfare for the wealthy? The entire school voucher idea is a terrible idea designed to line the pockets of those wanting to profit off our kids. The states which have tried school vouchers had disastrous results and Texas should avoid following their footsteps. We already have school choice. Those of us who wish to take our kids to private schools can do so at their own expense without using taxpayer funds. Using public funds for private charter schools and private religious education institutions is a serious breach of our state's constitution. What Governor Abbott needs to do is fund public education, not starve it and then declare that it is broken and in need of repair by school vouchers. What will prevent private schools from increasing their tuition costs by the same amount of the vouchers? How will they be accountable to the public? Who will enforce compliance among pop-up charter schools? What standards will they be held to? What certifications are needed to open up a school or teach at a private school? What if there are no such schools available in the area? Who will provide transportation to these schools? Who are the select few that will benefit from these vouchers? Private schools can pick and choose who they want as students. There's nothing prohibiting them from refusing to teach special education students, non-English speakers, or those in need of accommodations. What then? The funding for the public schools which already have standards in place will have been siphoned off by this voucher bill. The solution is simple: fund public education with public funds per our state's constitution. Do not create a voucher system ripe for fraud, waste, and corruption.

Sabrina Ogle
Public School Teachers and Students
Dallas, TX

I am writing you today to defend the foundation of our communities—our public schools.

Public schools educate the students private schools don't want.

When private schools reject students with disabilities because they require too much support, public schools provide the resources they need to succeed.

When private schools turn away children with behavioral challenges, public schools give them structure, guidance, and a second chance.

When private schools refuse to enroll English language learners because they require extra resources, public schools teach them, support them, and open doors to their future.

When private schools push out students who struggle academically, who can't afford tuition, or who don't fit their mold, public schools lift them up, meet them where they are, and help them thrive.

Vouchers don't expand opportunity. They take taxpayer dollars away from schools that serve everyone and hand them to private schools that pick and choose.

Public schools don't turn students away. They don't sort kids into "too difficult" or "too many resources." They educate every child, no matter what.

We must invest in public schools because public schools invest in all of us. Let's fund them, strengthen them, and fight for them—because every child deserves a school that won't turn them away. Vote NO on HB 3 and support those who support ALL students.

Thank you.

Shawna Ostlie
Self/Parent
Fort Worth, TX

I am very concerned about how HB 3 will effect my daughter's education. She has Down syndrome, which is already misunderstood by many. With the many changes in DEI, please remember the children like her that inclusion positively helps. I know many parents that have conservative values that are concerned about this bill.

Judy Crowe, Mrs myself, Professional Fine artist and teacher
Bluff Dale, TX

Please vote against school vouchers...please protect our public schools! Our public schools are the backbone of every community, including our small community. Our public schools are essential in providing quality education for all children and young adults. Thank you for your vote to protect our communities by protecting our public school systems.

Stephanie Harding, M.Ed, LPC
Self, Licensed Professional Counselor
Lubbock, TX

Over the past three years, Texas' ranking for youth mental health care access has declined, highlighting a growing crisis in the state's ability to provide adequate mental health services to its younger population. This drop is credited to factors such as a severe shortage of child and adolescent psychiatrists and limited mental health resources in schools. FCCWELLBEING.COM Once they get to college, it's much worse. When it comes to providing access to mental health services to college students, Texas ranks last in the nation with a 0.0 score on a scale of zero to 10, according to a new study released recently. "The obstacle Texas students face in getting care is the lack of an available workforce in mental health, the analysis by addiction treatment facility Origins Recovery found. The behavioral-health researchers crunched numbers from the U.S. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) and rankings from Mental Health America.... Texas placed second-to-last to Arizona in mental health workforce availability, which the study identified as the biggest problem to access, alongside one in five Texans not having insurance. What's more, even more Lone Star State residents have insurance that doesn't cover or inadequately covers mental health treatment." The $1 billion in funding for this program could instead be used to fund mental and behavioral health programs in public schools. Also, consider more funding for the Children's Behavioral Health Strategic Plan, instead of the school voucher program, which has failed in other states.

Mariann Jones
Self
Lewisville, TX

I urge you to vote against this bill. We need to fund our public schools not private schools. All students deserve an education. Diverting funds to the private schools will hurt the public schools and teachers in this state

Deborah Harkness
Self, artist
Lago Vista, TX

Do not support defending our public schools to give wealthy people money for their kids to go to private schools. Every student deserves a fair education

Rebecca Bain, Mrs.

Fruitvale ISD

Fruitvale, TX

Vouchers are segregation of rich and poor, this is welfare for the wealthy and it is not at all about parent choice but about huge donors in your pockets. We the people, all educators are banning together like never before and will vote out all who support this push for vouchers.

Public dollars belong in the constitutional requirement for free public schools, outside of that everyone should fund their own choices, if they don't believe that what the government is providing (which by the way is great public schools- have you been to Van Zandt County? Every district is fantastic, come see us.) is sufficient they are welcome to transfer districts or pay to go to a school that chooses who they allow in, chooses what they will teach and who they allow to teach it and has zero accountability to our great state. Public education has guardrails, public accountability, and is open to educate all students!!! ALL, this voucher push is embarrassing our great state- with fantastic rural schools. If you need to fix Dallas, Houston and San Antonio- create legislation for those areas, the rest of the state is in great hands.

You have no way of policing the chaos this will bring, we already have a mess with so called home schooling which really outside of a few really good folks is parents who don't want to hold their kids to standards and let them quit school and we sign off that homeschooling is happening. So, we end up with uneducated youth and now we want to hand them money and no accountability? It makes zero sense.

The super majority of Public schools in Texas are providing a wonderful education to all children!!! Not just some students but all, and we need to fully fund and fully support those efforts. Teacher are the best we have in this world, they sacrifice themselves for the greater good- our children. They are underpaid, overworked and unappreciated by the state of Texas- and you want to further hurt them and our children. It is shameful!

It's never too late to rethink, reconsider and make the right decision, never to late- everyone can respect that...

Shirley Izbrand, Mrs.

Self

San Antonio, TX

Support our public schools! Support our communities. Support accountability. Support education for kids of all abilities. Support fairness. No taxpayer dollars for public schools.

Theodore Croy, Dr

Self

China Spring, TX

Will the difficulty that children and their families have in accessing these ESAs be less than or equal to the difficulty that property tax payers have experienced in accessing the $24billion in surplus funds that the legislature seized and continues to hold? This precedent shows that the money only flows one way in Texas and that is away from taxpayers. Will taxpayers be able to choose to opt out of paying for the failing system that we are already saddled with? Please discuss.

David Diehl, Dr.

Tax Paying Home-Grown Texans

Houston, TX

Texans do not want Greg Abbott's private school voucher scam. If people have them money to place their children in private schools, let them do it. Do not take tax money to fund private schools. We don't want lower income children being denied anymore than they already are. And by the way, we damn sure do not want a select religion to be the focus of curriculum. Choice in the religion one follows is personal. Christianity and Catholicism can never be forced upon Texans as a state religion.

Katina Osth

Retired teacher

College Sta, TX

Support public education. Vouchers are smoke and mirrors. I don't want my tax dollars used for private schools.

Joni Groom
Self. Retired.
Cedar Creek, TX

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Dianne Miller
Self. Retired Public School Teacher
Buda, TX

Public Schools are the main education avenue for most students in the US. Public Schools need public tax monies to go to Public Schools ONLY! Public School Teachers must be supported with proper equipment and supplies as well. I do not want my tax dollars going to any type of private school or charter school. My tax dollars must go solely to Public Education.

Amy Wolford
Self—teacher
FRISCO, TX

First of all, the name here is misleading. This is not an "education savings account program." Thus is a way to give rich people a coupon for the private schools they're already using (while pandering to them for votes), and simultaneously destroying public education under the guise of "school choice." It is stupid, it's wrong, it's unethical, it's unconstitutional, and it's not what the VAST MAJORITY of people want. Pleas

Barbara Wiggins
Self
Killeen, TX

This bill will defund public education in the state of Texas. Please don't pass this bill. All children in this state have the right to a free education. There's no such thing as an education savings account program. No private school in this state has tuition for just $10,000. Poor students and their families cannot pay a remaining balance out of pocket. So what would be the plan? Have those kids parents clean the school?

Ann Valme
Self/social worker
Austin, TX

I am writing to voice my opposition to HB 3. I am asking my Representative and this Committee to vote no and to instead fully fund public education. We already have meaningful school choice in Texas - what we need are resources so that our public schools can deliver the education that each child in Texas deserves, and that which has already been mandated, with accountability and due process ensuring that delivery. We do not need resources for privatized schools to thrive with no or little accountability to the public. I don't believe proponents of this bill can point to any examples of similar laws in other states achieving any of the objectives that are the supposed motivation for this bill. To the contrary, voucher systems like this are a failed experiment, and if this bill moves forward, this will predictably harm more families than it helps. Thank you.

Shawna Rasco
Self
Lubbock, TX

I am a long time educator and this bill will have devastating impact on public schools. Everyone deserves a fair and equal education!

Linda Elmer
Self
Houston, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers. Please fund our schools!

Evelyn Matthews
Salado Area Republican Women
Jarrell, TX

By implementing HB3, parents will have the opportunity to choose what they feel is best for their children.

Traci Marlin, Mrs
Taxpayer, voter, parent, spouse of a teacher
McGregor, TX

My public taxes should not pay for someone's choice to go to a public school or home school. If the money follows the student, the same amount should go to public schools. And funding tied to education should include equal ties to mandates, special programs, and accountability. Be fair.

Mary Oconnell
Self - educator & parent
Round rock, TX

Please do not pass this. It will HARM the children of Texas. All of society benefits from having quality public schools. Tearing funding away through vouchers (even if they're paraded as something else) is a detriment to our schools. Texans love their public schools! It's the reason we moved to this state. Parents already have school choice, both within public schools and the private sector. Those families already choose to pay for private Ed and don't want vouchers to cause their tuition to increase. This bill helps no one except the billionaires who poured into the campaigns. The people who benefit are the ones who get richer (hint: it's not the general public).

Travis Thompson
Self
Graham, TX

I oppose.

Alan Gant, Dr.
self, retired
Plano, TX

This bill removes funding from the Texas public school system, which is already struggling for more funding. In much of rural Texas, there are no available private schools, so the reduction in funding will be especially hard felt. In other states that have funded similar voucher systems, only those already able to afford private education are using these voucher funds, so no additional access is provided. Public schools in Texas are popular throughout the state, and polls show that a significant majority of Texans are opposed to vouchers like this bill proposes. Please vote what Texans want and against this bill.

Kelly Strzinek
Self
Keller, TX

Public school funding should be first. Increase allotment to catch up to inflation. THEN create a voucher program with what's left.

Zabel Kimberly, Mrs.

Self

Ingleside, TX

No vouchers!!! I have worked in Public education for 34 years. It's already underfunded. I'm not against people choosing where their children attend school, but it shouldn't be paid by the public school system. Please don't demolish public education and the future of educators.

Marilyn Crain

None

Austin, TX

I do not approve of funding education vouchers using tax payer money. This will weaken public education in Texas. Vote no

Ashley Marling, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

The education savings account program will devastate communities across Texas and bankrupt our public schools. We are already operating on a very limited budget for education and calling it school choice is a lie. We cannot afford already decide on where to send our children. Teachers, counselors, school administrators work tirelessly with our children to provide a meaningful education and strive for a safe learning environment with what resources our govt provides. This program is a lie and will have significant severe implications. NO SCHOOL VOUCHER!

Julie Rounsaville

Self

Grapevine, TX

VOchers are NOT an emergency ??

Increase basic student allotment is an emergency

Tomorrow, March 11, the Texas House Committee on Public Education will hear HB 3. Let's make it clear: Public money demands public accountability!

Texans have rejected vouchers since 1957—yet lawmakers are once again pushing them through with SB 2 and HB 3.

?? Vouchers drain public school resources.

?? They don't improve student achievement.

? They aren't about "parent choice"—private schools choose their students.

Ellen Morris

Self

Graham, TX

This bill will do irreversible damage to all public schools but especially to rural schools . Our schools must have financial support from the state and teachers must be compensated for the position they have. The money spent on testing (all phases from creating questions to analyzing data) should be spent on students and teachers. The industries that are locating to Texas will not find a workforce that has the skills necessary to work . Texas is far behind in supporting vocational/technical education in schools. Please vote against HB3. Your responsibility is to do the best for the students of Texas

Lynda Rhodes

Self

Odessa, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.”

Tamey Williams
Self
pflugerville, TX

The voucher program proposed in HB2 has been rejected over and over by the Texas legislature for good reason. The overwhelming majority of Texans, both Republicans and Democrats, do not want taxpayer dollars meant for public schools going to private education, including religious schools.

Vouchers have been tried for decades in other states and, without exception, do not promote improved academic outcomes. Numerous studies have proven this point.

States that have tried vouchers are ending their programs. Voters in Nebraska repealed their program, and the legislature in Illinois cancelled its voucher program. There's no need to jump on a bandwagon that is already in the ditch!

The two largest existing voucher programs (Florida and Arizona) have been disasters both academically and financially. The major beneficiary of vouchers can already afford to have their school-age children in private schools. This has been the experience in Florida and Arizona.

The majority of counties in Texas do not have any private schools. Even where there are private schools, most do not offer transportation and are located in areas inaccessible to low-income families.

The amount offered does not begin to cover tuition at most private schools. Families would also need to cover other expenses, including uniforms, books, field trips, sports, enrichment and lunch. It just does not make any sense, except as a subsidy for wealthier families.

The Texas legislature should be focusing on its main job, which is supporting great public school education! Schools are grossly underfunded, with a $10 billion cut in real dollars since 2019 due to inflation. Put an additional $1,300 dollars per student into the basic allotment first, before you consider giving the public's money away to voucher and provide school funding based on enrollment, not average daily attendance.

Greg Piwonka
Self
Austin, TX

I am against school vouchers. Fund public schools. I don't want my taxes going to private schools who are not accountable.

Angela Newman
PISD/teacher
McKinney, TX

I oppose HB3 and support full funding of our public schools instead. ALL students need the support and HB3 doesn't support ALL kids. Vote NO

Laci Car
Self-teacher
Paris, TX

Vouchers will do nothing but destroy our public school system! Please say no!

Cynthia Rauzi
self
Round Rock, TX

Please do not use our tax dollars to subsidize private schools. Parents currently have a choice of education, they can use our public schools or pay for private education. Private schools have different standards than public schools and should not be funded by the taxpayer. I resent the idea that I will be subsidizing someone else's education. Good schools happen not just because of funding, but also from being part of a vibrant community of parents and neighbors who are invested in its success. As a resident of TX and a parent of 3 children that were well educated in the Round Rock Public school system, I ask that you sideline this voucher program and instead invest in our public schools. It is important for our community, our workforce and our way of life to have a well educated population. Let's fund and invest in our public schools, work to improve public schools and stop encouraging parents to leave them. I fear that the people of lower income will not benefit from a better education but will still be priced out of private schools and have to rely on a depleted public school, the same for rural families. I am also deeply frustrated that this measure is being pushed through after years of being voted down. Texas does not want school vouchers. If you truly believe that we do, put it to a vote. Thank you for your consideration.

Michael Kanin
Self/nonprofit professional
Austin, TX

This destruction of public education stands to benefit only the richest Texans. Please stand up for the rest of us. Vote this bill down.

Laura Cannon
self, Retired Teacher
New Braunfels, TX

I taught in Texas Public Schools for 41 years, my 4 children graduated from Texas public schools and now one grandson attends a Texas public school. I believe in public schools and their very important place in the education of Texas youth. Often they are the cornerstone of a community, the gathering place for community members from all walks of life who care about their children and gather together in mutual support of those children. Splintering Texas families to various private schools will not support Texas values. Public schools need funding now and that funding should not go to private facilities that are not bound by the rules that public schools abide by. I once had a child who had been schooled at home enroll in my third grade class. He was very behind in reading and he told me they hadn't worked on reading. There are no checks on home schools. Please save our tax money for public schools.

Robert Sormani, Dr.

Manor ISD

Manor, TX

Honorable Committee,

I am writing to express my opposition to HB3 relating to the establishment of an education savings account program.

First, I do not see why we would provide public money to finance a private citizen's choice. While I have no issue with private schools, I know many great private school educators, public tax dollars are collected to promote the public good. We pay taxes for police and fire protection and roads and libraries, all things that are a public resource. We do not pay taxes for private police or fire protection or private roads or book collections. I do not understand then why we should pay tax money for a private school that by its nature limits enrollment to only those families it wants. If families want to attend private school that is their choice, but their choice should not be supported by our tax dollars.

Second, all the public money that is provided to public schools comes with accountability measures designed to ensure the tax money is well spent. There is an elected school board that exerts local control and oversight and determines whether the local community's desires are being implemented. Why would the legislature send money to private schools with no accountability to the public? Private schools do not have to disclose any financial information or even prove students are growing in their knowledge and ability. Public money should not be given away freely.

Finally, I want to remind legislators that public schools, when properly funded and supported, produce amazing results. America has put a man on the moon, discovered cures to diseases, and built skyscrapers. All these things were done long before there were such things as vouchers. The men and women leading the way are products of the PUBLIC school system. Instead of allocating funds to a private school voucher system, use those funds to support the school system that built Texas into the economic powerhouse that it is today.

Thank-you for your consideration, Dr. Robert Sormani, Superintendent of Schools, Manor ISD

Mary Mesa

Teacher

Granbury, TX

This is wrong! It will tank public education, taking away so much when we do have enough right now. We have a spoiled rotten Governor who is a bully! Any elected office that puts his needs /wants above that of the voting public who strongly opposes something is a sham. He and you should be ashamed of yourself. You are ripping money out of the hands of your voting public and putting into the hands of wealthy white people. I went to private school and wanted to kill myself on most days. I hated it. It is one sided and preys on the weak. We do not need this in Texas!

Jamila Morrison

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose Texas voucher bills, as they take vital resources away from public schools. Instead, we should increase the basic allotment to $1300 for public schools and fund them based on student enrollment, not attendance. Let's ensure schools have the stability and resources needed to educate every child, regardless of attendance challenges. Let's invest in public education, not undermine it with vouchers.

Matthew Moore
Self, Financial Software Developer
Cedar Park, TX

Dear House Education Committee,

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Kay Clum
Talkington School for Young Women Leaders
Lubbock, TX

This bill will directly impact the education of children who rely on public institutions instead of private ones. Education shouldn't be something that needs to be bought, especially for anything below college level education.

Amy Irvin
Self
Arlington, TX

I am against this bill. This bill would take resources away from public schools like mine (Arlington ISD) - my family is reliant on the teachers and special education support staff who provide services to my children. One of my children receives speech therapy support, and I know the district is already constrained on speech therapists - if they lose funding and are not able to keep staff like speech therapists, that will directly harm my child's development. She has flourished because of the special education services and teachers at our school. Do not take away funding from schools who are already resource constrained.

Catherine JOHNSON, Ms self/financial advisor
Farmers Branch, TX

I know many people who work in education, including my 2 sisters, Mary and Amy. All agree that this is bad for public education because it takes much-needed funds from the districts and gives the money to parents who don't need it and can already afford the cost of private school. We are robbing the poor and the middle-class to subsidize schools for the rich. Terrible idea.

Natalie James
Self
New Ulm, TX

I strongly oppose any public funding for vouchers, education savings plans, or any financial support for private/home schools. Fully fund public schools without strings attached or hoops, like TIA.

Erica Linebaugh Individual
Fort Worth, TX

I am against vouchers. Public schools should be funded appropriately with our tax dollars. We already have school choice in Texas and the people that have money are already going to private schools. Texas children deserve better. Vouchers will only increase inequity and serve as a disadvantage to those with no choice but to go to public school. Texans have spoken and constituents are against this program and as an elected official your vote should represent the interests of the people you serve.

Natalie Hendrickson

Self

Boerne, TX

Strongly oppose school vouchers. Fund our public schools.

Matt Arend

Self - Sales

Mckinney, TX

As a voter, I oppose HB 3, ESA's will strip much needed funding from our public schools and divert it to private institutions. Texas public schools are already starving - 80% are in deficit. Please keep public tax dollars in public schools. Our kids are counting on us to do the right thing!

Please reject vouchers and fully fund public schools to ensure every child can access a quality education.

Sincerely,

Matt Arend

Collin County

Allison Biehl Garson, Mx

Self, public school teacher

Houston, TX

I am writing to strongly urge you to oppose any and all voucher bills, including HB 3. I am a public school teacher and a parent of a public school student. I oppose vouchers for three reasons. First, they do not help our vulnerable students. Vouchers are predominantly used by wealthy families who already have the means to send their children to private school. Vouchers send public money to schools that are allowed to discriminate based on religious, LGBTQ, or disability status. This is NOT how we create a generation ready to lead. Second, vouchers take money away from public schools. Numerous studies have shown that spending more per student IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS is an effective way to improve student outcomes such as test scores and graduation rates. Third, vouchers will cost more money than they save. In Arizona, the voucher program cost 1400% more than its proponents states. In Texas, introducing vouchers would also create an additional 80 plus million dollars of new state administrative bureaucracy.

For these reasons, I urge the committee to vote NO on any and all vouchers bills, including HB 3.

Normali Cruz, Teacher

Irving ISD

Fort Worth, TX

I am reaching out as an educator within your district to share my concerns regarding HB 3, which I understand will soon be reviewed by the House Public Education Committee. I kindly ask that you oppose this bill.

As a member of the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE), the largest educator group in Texas, I actively participate in shaping the legislative priorities of our organization. The ATPE Legislative Program clearly opposes any form of voucher system, including tuition tax credits, education savings accounts, or any similar programs that would funnel public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools.

Thank you for considering the perspective of educators in your district

Chad Walters, PA

Self/society

Abilene, TX

I have one child in private school, and one in public school. The child in private school already has special privileges due to smaller class size, better teachers, and not as many behavioral issues at school. The child in public school faces issues with disruptive conduct from other students, large class sizes, and the quality of teachers will continue to diminish as pay eventually decreases. I oppose the bill for school vouchers and think the money should be kept in public schools. Also think there are ethical concerns due to our governor receiving gifts from rich donors who support vouchers.

Wendy Mueller

Self

San Antonio, TX

Public education as required by our state constitution is for the public good, not the betterment of individuals, and as such education dollars must serve the common public good. Pulling funds from Texas' public schools to pay for private for-profit schools will severely underfund our public schools. Additionally, for the vast majority of rural Texans, there aren't any private schools as alternatives to their local public schools so they will lose money, lose programs, lose educators, and submit their children to more crowded classrooms without any of the so-called benefits of the ESAs.

I have no school-aged children but happily pay my taxes to support my local public schools because I want a well-educated community, and good public schools support strong property values.

VOTE NO ON HB3!!

Alison Spurlock

Self, parent

Austin, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, which would divert public taxpayer dollars to private school voucher programs. This bill threatens the integrity of Texas' public education system by siphoning much-needed funding away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students.

Vouchers do not improve student outcomes and primarily benefit private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability and transparency as public schools. Instead of weakening public education, the legislature should focus on fully funding our schools, increasing teacher pay, and ensuring that all students—regardless of ZIP code—have access to a quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families, educators, and communities by voting NO on HB 3. Public funds should remain in public schools.

Further, there needs to be a significant increase to the basic allotment to account for inflation since 2019 and all current and future mandates need to be fully funded.

Banks Miller

Self

Plano, TX

I write to oppose the school voucher bill. It is my belief that it includes all insufficient oversight of how monies will be spent at these schools.

Sharon Kremer
Indivisible Denton
Denton, TX

This bill alleges to solve a problem that doesn't exist: school choice.
Parents have a choice already.
This bill makes a mess of school funding and is fiscally unsound, per Legislative Budget Board.

The real solution for Texas Public Schools is to fully fund them, which restores them.
Public schools have been financially sabotaged for 10 years. The committee heard Paul Colbert's expert opinion last week. Use that evidence to do the simple act and Constitutional act of fully funding public schools.

Gana Crenshaw, Mrs.
Retired public school teacher in Texas for Texans.
Flower Mound, TX

Please save Texas public education by not voting for vouchers. The U.S. system of free public education has served Americans well for all these years. Why not continue to improve public education by your support? Remember our constitution provides for the separation of church and state.

Charlene Krenzke
Self
Spring Branch, TX

HB3 would reduce funding for public schools in Texas. Currently both students and teachers do not receive enough funding from the state of Texas Government.

Amber Ward
Retired/Self
Spicewood, TX

Good morning. My husband and I both attended Texas public schools, kindergarten through college graduation, and a graduate degree for him. We benefited from our Texas public school education as we moved around our nation as he served in our United States Navy for 21 years, and I worked at a variety of civilian jobs and in volunteer positions in support of our military families. We retired home to Texas to raise our two sons in our public school system after our life experiences confirmed our positive opinions of the value of public school education. I grew up in a rural Texas school district and we both grew up in families that could not afford private school. Private schools did not exist in my home town, just as they don't in many rural Texas towns today. I am grateful for my public school education and want the same for our children. We support the opportunities and life lessons of a public school education. We support the right to a quality public school education for all Texas children. I believe that the quality of education for our Texas children directly affects our state, nation, success, strength, and national security. While he is sadly not my state representative, Representative James Tallarico speaks to my beliefs on this matter and always reminds me of the "love thy neighbor while minding your own business" Texans that raised me. For love of our state, our nation, and all of our children, please vote "no" and against public school vouchers. Thank you.

Anthony Deahl
Self
Frisco, TX

Single Parent in a Wealthy Zip Code in Frisco. I see MANY wealthy families everyday, they don't need ANY help subsidizing their children's private school tuition. Just say NO to destroying Texas Public Schools.

Connie Garza
Self
Edinburg, TX

No school vouchers

Kristin Williams

Self

Austin, TX

HB 3 by Buckley

Stephanie Franklin

Self- public school teacher

Centerville, TX

I oppose House Bill 3 because public funds should not be used to support private schools, especially when Texas has yet to fully fund its public education system. Instead of diverting taxpayer dollars, we should prioritize strengthening our public schools to ensure all students receive a high-quality education.

Felecia Lloyd

Self

Garrison, TX

This will shatter and destroy public education!!Our children deserve better..especially those with any type of special need

Matthew Jones

Self

Elgin, TX

I oppose this bill. There are no restrictions on the use of vouchers for those who are already enrolled in a private school those allowing discounts for wealthy households. It has no provisions for children that live in rural areas and their ability to get to a private school. Just like Arizona, Texas will start to see a deficit in its budget in a few years.

Cindi Rockett

Myself

Eules, TX

I firmly oppose this bill on the following points:

- Private schools are hard to find in our expansive rural areas. These constituents will rarely have a choice, but will suffer the adverse effects of depleted funding.
 - Private schools will retain the right to refuse admission of applicants. This defies the definition of a choice.
 - The state of Texas' abysmal funding of public schools will not be able to improve while funding private education. Texas laws clearly state the responsibility of the state is to fund public education.
 - This bill will only increase the disparity between the wealthy and the non- wealthy in the long run due to the disparate funding amounts being provided towards education. There is no future where that education could be equal.
- Do the honorable thing for your current and future constituents. Vote no on this bill. It is wrong for Texas.

CINDY ROQUE

MATA MONTESSORI SCHOOL - DISD

Dallas, TX

Please no vouchers. Our public schools need all the funding they deserve to better serve our population

Julie Dickerson

Self and students attending public school / therapist

Austin, TX

I am vehemently opposed to the establishment of the educational savings account program. It does not benefit the majority of our students in the state of Texas.

Mark Cichock, Dr.

Self

Houston, TX

The very idea of school vouchers is an affront to education designed to enrich charter schools for the wealthy and compartmentalize students in underperforming schools to their detriment. It is not some form of “noble” experiment and will only serve those seeking to infuse the educational curriculum with religion while further demeaning the abilities of our children to think critically. Oppose this bill!

Terri McDaniel

Self

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will hurt the 5.5 million public school children. Vouchers are a scam! Vote NO to billionaires taking over the education of Texas children!

It's proven in other states to be a scam! Fully fund our public schools! The children of Texas deserve better than this! Parents have always had school choice!

Isaac Rodriguez, Dr.

Santa Rosa ISD

La Feria, TX

This proposed bill would negatively impact public education in the state of Texas. As a sitting Superintendent in a small rural school, this would hurt public funding across the state of Texas for all public schools.

Natalie Zambreski

Self, Mother and Small Business Owner

Weatherford, TX

As a Texas mother of two school-age children, including a child who receives special education services, I am urging you to oppose HB 3. With this vote, you hold the future of millions of Texas children in your hands. Passing this bill means choosing to undermine public education, defund schools, and strip resources away from students and teachers who need them most.

Texas lawmakers cannot claim that public schools are fully funded while also arguing that they are failing students so badly that tax dollars must be rerouted to private institutions. Which is it? If Texas schools are so well-funded, they should have everything they need to serve all students—but we know that isn't the case. Texas ranks among the bottom 10 states in per-student funding, and the basic allotment has not increased since 2019, despite years of inflation, rising costs, and teacher shortages.

Public schools are already struggling under these conditions. HB 3 will make it worse. It will drain even more funding by incentivizing students to leave for private schools that are not required to accept all students, provide special education services, follow state curriculum standards, or hire certified teachers. These private institutions are not obligated to serve all Texas families—so why should our public tax dollars be funneled into them?

Meanwhile, public school teachers—who already dedicate their lives to educating Texas children despite low pay and increasing workloads—will be hit even harder. Fewer students in public schools means fewer resources, staff cuts, and even greater demands on teachers already burning out at alarming rates. Many are buying their own classroom supplies and taking on second jobs—how much more must they sacrifice before lawmakers invest in them?

Additionally, Texas public schools are funded by attendance, not enrollment. Every student who leaves through this voucher program means less money for those who remain, leading to larger class sizes, fewer teachers, and fewer resources, disproportionately harming low-income students, children with disabilities, and communities where public schools are the only option.

If lawmakers truly want to improve education, they should fully fund public schools—not dismantle them.

This vote is a defining moment—one that will have real, long-term consequences for millions of Texas children, teachers, and families. If you vote to pass HB 3, you are voting to weaken Texas public schools, punish hardworking educators, and create even more inequities in our education system.

I urge you to listen to the parents, teachers, and students you were elected to serve and oppose HB 3. Texas families are watching, and we will remember who stood up for public education—and who chose to dismantle it.

Sincerely,

Natalie Zambreski

Gennie Westbrook

Self

Cooper, TX

I oppose HB 3 or any other form of school vouchers. The Texas constitution requires the legislature to provide adequate funding for public schools. I can't fathom how anyone who understands that Constitutional provision could advocate taking a single dime of public money to support private schools. Public money belongs in public schools. We need at least a $1500 increase in the allotment for public schools and no vouchers ever. We already have school choice in Texas. Parents can put their children in any school they want. In other states vouchers have resulted in exploding costs, shutting down of public schools, and lower achievement. The voucher turns out to be a coupon for the wealthy to keep their children in the private schools they already attend, because the infusion of public money causes the private schools to increase their tuition, and the private school is still out of reach for low income families.

Zulema King

Self

Boerne, TX

Parents already have school choice with charter schools. Vouchers will hurt non title 1 districts that are already hurting like Boerne iSD. We are losing great teachers due to pay.

Graciela Melendrez

Self

Pflugerville, TX

Good morning Representative Buckley and House Public Education Committee Members. My name is Graciela Melendrez.

I am writing to voice my opposition to House Bill 3, which proposes education savings accounts, also known as vouchers. I am a firm believer that public dollars should be allocated to fund public schools. Public schools are facing significant financial challenges, including the impacts of inflation, inadequate ADA funding, the need for mental health resources in the aftermath of the pandemic, a substantial deficit in special education funding, and largely underfunded mandates for safety and security. If we have additional treasury funds due to our budget surplus, it would be more beneficial for communities—rural and urban alike—to invest in public schools, raise the per student allotment by $1,300, move to enrollment based funding, add a COLA, and fully fund special education, mental health services, meaningful teacher and staff raises, retirement benefits, and safety and security requirements.

I believe there is already choice within public education, and with increased funding, we can offer even greater opportunities in areas such as the arts, athletics, STEM, gifted and talented programs, dual language, CTE, and more. Public schools are accepting of all students, providing 504 services, and fostering a sense of community, all while maintaining elected oversight, accountability, and performance reporting. This is simply good governance of our tax payers' hard earned money at work.

Private schools, while valuable options for some families, are not required to accept all students, and they are under no legal obligation to accommodate students with disabilities. Additionally, they lack accountability to the public regarding how funds are spent or how students and educators perform. It is not school choice, but rather the school's choice on who they will and will not educate.

I am also concerned about the long-term fiscal health of our state. Education savings accounts have the potential for significant financial implications once implemented. Many Texans value fiscal stewardship and accountability for the contributions they make to their communities. While I believe our representatives have good intentions, it has not gone unnoticed that our governor has received record donations from individuals who stand to benefit financially from these savings accounts. I hope our state's children and the

Jacqueline Serrano
Self/public school employee
Austin, TX

This bill needs to not pass. I am speaking for myself as a parent but also for all the children I help as a public school employee. I am begging as someone who sees how much our children need public schools on a daily basis.

Kimberly Darden
Self
Pearland, TX

Public education and the necessary funding must not be gutted for vouchers. Public schools in Texas have been inadequately funded by the Texas Legislature, directed to do more with less, and is now threatened with a false "school choice" proposition. As a parent, tax payer, and educator, I do NOT support the establishment of an education savings account program (or voucher program) in Texas.

Tracy Kindla
Self / Small Business Owner
San Antonio, TX

This bill is not what Texas students needs right now. Fix public school funding first. Representatives in rural areas know some of their districts are already running at a deficit. Deeply disappointed

Kristina Schaeffer
Self
Belton, TX

This is absolutely ridiculous. Just fund the public schools. Texas is so low in public education and letting the rich only get education will not help. You will have less doctors, nurses and teachers not providing adequate education. You are going against your own people. Very few are rich. There are more us middle and lower income people.

Abby Olsens
Self
San Antonio, TX

Public education is the backbone of our country, giving every child the chance to succeed, no matter where they come from. But right now, public education in Texas is struggling because it's been underfunded for years. For the past decade, state and local governments have cut funding, leaving our schools and teachers to make do with less and less.

As a mother of four kids in Texas public schools, I've seen firsthand how hard teachers and staff work, often with outdated materials and overcrowded classrooms. They do everything they can, but it's not enough. Our schools deserve more support, not less.

That's where school vouchers come in, and that's where the problem is. Vouchers may sound good—they promise more "choice" for parents. But what they really do is take money away from public schools and send it to private ones. This hurts the public schools that need funding the most, especially in lower-income areas.

Vouchers don't fix the real problems in education. Instead of improving our schools, they send tax dollars to private schools, which mostly help wealthy families who already have options. Meanwhile, public schools are left with even fewer resources to support the kids who need it most. Vouchers deepen the divide between the rich and the poor.

Let's be clear: private schools that take vouchers aren't held to the same standards as public schools. They don't have to follow the same rules for teacher qualifications or special education services. They can even choose who they accept, meaning many kids—especially those with disabilities or extra needs—get left behind.

The truth is, the voucher system is just a way to make money for private companies, not a real solution for our kids. It doesn't fix the problems in public schools—it just takes away the funding that could be used to make them better.

What we need is a real investment in our public schools. We need to pay teachers better, reduce class sizes, update materials, and give every child the support they need. We shouldn't be giving our tax dollars to private schools; we should be funding the schools that serve every child, regardless of their background.

It's time to say no to the voucher scam. VOTE NO on HB 3, and let's focus on the real solution: fully funding our public schools. Our kids deserve better.

Susan Sparks
Self
Lubbock, TX

I am a public school mom! I cannot afford private school even with the savings! I'd prefer my money for my children to go to Public School! I am one of many that are in the same boat! Fund public Schools!

I DO NOT support education savings account!

Cynthia Dockery
Self, Director of Curriculum
Waxahachie, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Maryam Jafarnia
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force. HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents. Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools. We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!
- Maryam Jafarnia (Parent in SBISD)

Brin Stoner
Self
Del Valle, TX

The proposed bill presents serious concerns for education funding, equity, and community cohesion. It would strain already limited resources for both rural and urban schools by enabling student departures without addressing the fixed costs these institutions must maintain regardless of enrollment numbers.

The exemption of charter schools from standardized testing requirements like the STAAR exam creates an uneven playing field. When different institutions operate under different accountability standards, we cannot make fair comparisons or ensure consistent quality across all educational options.

This bill essentially provides a subsidy that fragments our educational community. Rather than bringing parents together across income levels to work toward better schools for all children, it enables withdrawal from the shared project of public education.

Most troublingly, data from neighboring states like Louisiana demonstrates that similar charter school initiatives have not delivered improved educational outcomes. On average, charter schools perform worse than their public counterparts despite operating with different rules and standards.

I urge you to vote against this bill. Our focus should be on strengthening public education through evidence-based improvements that benefit all students rather than diverting resources to alternatives without proven success. We need solutions that unite our communities in supporting education rather than fracturing them.

Sholom Lazaroff, Rabbi
Self
Houston, TX

As a religious Jew in my early twenties trying to raise a family, I know recognize the struggles and challenges my parents had to go through to give me an education according to our tradition. As I've never been a recipient of the public school system and G-d willing neither will my children, I sincerely hope that this bill passes, enabling a reclaiming of the tax dollars my family and I pay to go to education for a few more Texas residents than before

Justine Cherne, Ms.
Self; Legal Assistant
Needville, TX

I oppose taking $1 billion from Texas taxpayers and give it to wealthy families who are already sending their kids to private schools. This will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties (more than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send kids to even if they could afford the difference between what the voucher pays and what tuition costs!).

I have witnessed how such a program has ruined public education in other states. I had the good fortune to move from a state with poor education to Texas in 1980 when education was generously funded. Because of the great education I received in the Texas public school system, I am a productive citizen and tax payer of the State of Texas.

It's bad for the Texas taxpayer, bad for public educators, and bad for the kids in our public school classrooms.

Hope Soliz
Self
San Antonio, TX

A public hearing at the Texas Capitol is happening on the school voucher bill (HB 3). Use the link below to ensure your opposition is on record. Not a drill.

Here's what I said:

“Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.”

Craig Campbell
Retired self
Austin, TX

Washington is cutting funding for school lunches. Save the money for the chaos from Washington.

Manuela Haberer
Self
San Antonio, TX

Public schools need appropriate funding and need to not have standardized text! Do not support vouchers! They vouchers will only make things worse and inequitable for public schools. Vote Pro- Public Schools

Elizabeth Leckbee
self
Pflugerville, TX

As a mother and a Texan, my family and I are AGAINST this voucher bill. Please listen to the parents that have children in school in Texas and kill this bill !

Dawn King
Self
Houston, TX

I am against school vouchers. This is not the same for poorer people because they will not be able to afford private schools even with vouchers. This will draw money away from public schools too.

Kimberly Leaverton
self
Stephenville, TX

I oppose the creation of an education savings account. 1) Public tax dollars must be used for public services. 2) Data does not support the use of vouchers to improve school choice among those who cannot afford private schools. 3) There is little to no accountability by private schools to the state for these public dollars. 4) Texas needs to address public school funding and improve public education for ALL Texans. 5) If the “appropriate “ amount to allot to private schools per student is $10,000, how is that not the appropriate amount for public schools? Other money allocated to public schools are required to be used for legislative-mandated purposes, which do not apply to private schools. 6) The creation of this program is fiscally irresponsible. 7) Public schools serve ALL Texans but private schools can choose their students - or exclude them. Public dollars must be used for public purposes. 8) Accountability. Transparency. Where are these guidelines in this proposed program? 9) Stop allowing out-of-state billionaires influence Texas. 10) Texas public school teachers deserve better. Texas public school students deserve better from you.

Soumya Nagesh

Self

Austin, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee,

I am writing to express my opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Kathy Lathen

Self

Denison, TX

Is the education savings account open to all Texas student or only 100,000? Before this bill moves forward, teachers basic pay and increments need to be addressed. If this makes it so only increases to teacher pay are by merit, then this voucher program should be redrawn and put priority in funding public schools and increasing teacher pay across all 254 counties of Texas.

Lorie Barnett

Retired teach and business owner

Paige, TX

Absolutely NO on vouchers/ESA!! Just fund public education to the highest dollar amount! Not $200!

Meredith Watkins

Self

wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3!

Andrea Cole
Myself
Palacios, TX
No to vouchers

Brent Johnson
Self
Happy, TX

As a parent of a student for Happy ISD, I do not support vouchers. Our public schools are struggling and our tax dollars should go to our public schools. If the rich want to send their kids to a private school, that is their choice and they can pay for it. My tax dollars should not go to their private school. Sending my kids is unrealistic. This is all just a political stunt by Abbott and he refuses to listen to anyone, but the ones who have bought him. Like they always say, follow the money. Abbott has shown his true colors. It's about time he listens to those who actually voted for him.

Karen Walters
Self
FORT WORTH, TX

No to vouchers. Rural Texans have no access to "private school". We need more money in public schools!

LaTaShaw Thomas
self
Allen, TX

House Bill 3 threatens to weaken our public education system by diverting funds away from public schools and pushing harmful policies that do not support students, teachers, or communities. Texas schools need more funding, better resources, and real solutions—not political agendas that prioritize privatization over public education.

Say NO to HB3! Support our students and teachers! ??????

#IOpposeHB3 #FundPublicSchools #SupportTeachers #NoToVouchers

Tammy Clark Clark
Self
Tolar, TX

This Texan is against esa/voucher programs. There is nothing conservative about public funds going to private entities. There is nothing proper about not fully funding public schools and fixing that system to be the best for the public good as it can be. I only support public monies going to entities that have the same rules, regulations, oversights and accountability as the public schools are held to... same access to funding should mean same standards, reporting, and oversight. This conservative Texan opposes ESA/voucher bills.

Terri Nathan
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I work for a Title 1 school. Even if you give out students $10,000.00 they still couldn't afford private school. And you will take the money they need to fund their public school. Please don't pass this. Texas students need these funds for a strong public education.

Leslie Weston
Self/Family/Community
Keller, TX

I am writing today to express my extreme concerns about vouchers/ESA. Your impactful position determines the fate of public education and all of our young (and future) Texans. School voucher programs have negative consequences, such as increasing racial segregation, providing inequality, harming public education funding, and lacking accountability and transparency. Several studies found that voucher programs negatively impact student achievement. I, along with most Texans, are not in favor of ESAs or Vouchers. I hope I can count on you to be equitable, in providing justice for our great State of Texas by voting against ESA/vouchers.

Carlie Wofford-Chen
Self, Marketing
Plano, TX

This bill is not based on what is best for Texas students. This is solely an attempt to appease wealthy donors. What is best for students is to increase funding to public schools. Of the 5 million public school students in Texas, over 3 million depend on the schools for more than an education, including meals. This is not a burden, but our responsibility. Offsetting the cost of private school for those families who CHOSE that path will make providing for the 60+% of economically disadvantaged students even more difficult.

Our family is not ED and we consider it our ministry, our privilege to stand up for, work for, and protect the students whose parents are not even getting by at this juncture. Our very special elementary school is struggling as it is to make ends meet. This year our PE coaches had a budget of $200 to replace equipment. Luckily our PTA spent $2400 to get them the supplies they needed for a 40 year old school that serves 520 children in north Texas.

This bill is not widely supported by Texans. Only by the elected officials whose greed for power and money wants the financial backing from already wealthy donors who want to further line their pockets.

We see you. We know who is not listening to their constituents. The tide is turning and a few wealthy donors can't keep you in office forever when the rest of your district looks for someone who actually wants to make things better.

Carol Cate
Self
Allen, TX

I am asking you to vote no to the school vouchers bill. Our tax dollars should stay in our public-school system that serves all Texas children, including the kids that need it the most. It ensures they have access to the kind of education that grows the Texans of the future. Neighborhood public schools are the glue that helps hold our communities together and funding them only serves all of us versus the select few. Please vote NO, thank you.

TaNeika Driver-Moultrie
Texas PTA
Killeen, TX

Rep. Buckley, I am not in favor of the vouchers as you are well aware. I, as a parent of a public school student, want more funding to be allocated to Texas public schools, please and thank you.

Brandy Griffith

Self

Wylie, TX

Passing this voucher will remove the protections Brown VS. Board of Education established. School choice freedom is nothing more than a guise for discrimination. All the children that are white, privileged, talented and gifted, and affluent will access the best education, while the brown and black, special needs, impoverished, and at risk will remain in underfunded schools. Public school staff will be left with an overwhelmingly large class size, even less resources and supports for students that don't just get it the first time hearing the information. Special education programs and 504 plans are at risk. What about TRS? The vouchers were made to satiate a small group of wealthy donors who want more money for the schools their children attend. Public education has flaws, but this is because it is ran by people who have never worked in a classroom.

Lucy Stowell

Self/Librarian

Sachse, TX

Please do not vote for school vouchers. It will undermine public education. It is an ideology that will ultimately benefit the wealthy. As a middle-class parent with five children my resources are spread thin. I need to be able to count on quality public education. Finding private schools and transporting my children there would take away valuable time and resources that we do not have. Please continue to fund and increase funds for quality public education in the state of Texas. That is the whole reason my family chose to locate here. Thank you.

Jaylyn Sprinkel, Mrs

Pta

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3!!

Michael Jenkins

Self

Haslet, TX

As a husband and a father, I strongly oppose House Bill 3 because it threatens the future of Texas public schools and the quality of education our children receive. Public education is the backbone of our communities, and this bill will only weaken it, leaving families like mine with fewer options and fewer opportunities for our kids to succeed.

Governor Abbott has previously stated his support for public schools, yet this bill goes against that promise. Instead of helping teachers, students, and parents, HB 3 pushes harmful policies that will drain resources from our schools, making it even harder for educators to do their jobs and for students to get the education they deserve.

We've seen the impact of similar legislation in other states—school districts left scrambling for funding, teachers leaving the profession, and children paying the price. Texas cannot afford to go down that road. If we allow this bill to pass, we are putting our children's futures at risk, particularly in rural areas and lower-income communities that depend on public schools the most.

As a father, I want my children to have access to the best education possible, but that won't happen if our public schools are underfunded and unsupported. Teachers are already struggling with overcrowded classrooms, low pay, and a lack of essential resources. Rather than addressing these issues, HB 3 only makes things worse. If we truly care about our children's future, we should be investing in our public schools, not dismantling them.

On top of that, the state has been withholding millions in funding from our schools since 2019. It's time to release those funds and put them where they belong—into the classrooms, helping teachers and students. That money should be used to improve school facilities, raise teacher salaries, and provide better educational opportunities for all Texas children.

I urge our lawmakers to reject House Bill 3 and stand up for Texas families. We need policies that strengthen public schools, not ones that take away critical resources. The success of our state depends on ensuring our children get a strong education, and that starts with fully supporting our public schools.

I pray that our leaders will do the right thing and put our children first. Now is the time to protect Texas public education and secure a brighter future for all of our kids.

ANGELA HARVEY

Self retired

Saginaw, TX

Please do not do this to the children of Texas. We need more money for public schools not less. I want my six grandchildren to be able to go to their neighborhood public schools. It's the start of community awareness that shapes our country. Our teachers are already under paid and under valued. Every child from every background deserves the same great education and opportunities. This will tear down our Texas education when it needs to be built up. It will caught parents to leave Texas. Please don't destroy our public schools. Let's work together to make them great again.

bryan lyde

self

wylie, TX

I support school choice with an expanded budget beyond $1B.

Jami Snodderly

Self

Cedar Park, TX

No to school vouchers this will hurt children with disabilities because charter schools are not equipped to handle and educate them

Rebecca Ugalde
Self
San Angelo, TX

I AM A TEACHER AND DO NOT APPROVE OF VOUCHERS AT ALL!!!!!!

Heather Johnson
Self, LPC Associate, Educator
Spring, TX

I'd like to first applaud you for your membership in such a very important committee. The education of Texas children is one of the most important jobs society has, and it is our patriotic duty as American citizens to ensure that children are educated fully.

With the above statement in mind, I'd like to express my full opposition to the proposed House Bills 2 and 3, which both vastly undercut the financial needs of our Texas students, teachers and communities. Legislation about education requires your direct participation in the communities, schools and classrooms you represent. Yes, you clearly attended school, and perhaps have children who attended school many years ago, but until one can directly see how irresponsible and uninformed legislation has lead us to where we are today, they have no business deciding what is best for TODAY's children. Today's children operate on a different paradigm that was decided for them by legislation that did not consider all the aspects of childhood development.

On behalf of our children, our teachers, and our great state, please consider the long term repercussions in enacting either of these bills in their current form and vote NO to ESAs!!

Gregory Daniel
Self
Belton, TX

I believe school choice ESA go hand in hand with public schools. Parents need access to "every tool in the tool box" to educate their child. When public school isn't a good fit i believe the money for education should follow the child where ever the parents decide. School choice is about competition, free enterprise and unleashing American creative talent to solve education challenges. ESA will reduce cost of education over time and get parents more engaged and empowered. God bless Texas!

Jeff Howard
Self
Belton, TX

I speak in favor of HB 3. Texas is long overdue offering an educational option for Texas students and parents. Currently 64% of the States in the country offer some type of School Choice, Idaho just passed a version last week making it the 32nd State to give parents and children an option. Education is not a one size fits all endeavor, in fact "one size fits all" is the worst possible model for anything. Parents as the primary educators, know the needs of their children, and should have the option to meet those needs. Again, I stand in full support of HB 3. Thank you.

Cristie Montgomery
Self/teacher and mom
Lorena, TX

I am a 5th grade public school teacher and a mom of four kids in our public school system (1 graduate, 2 high school, 1 middle school). I am writing to ask you not to pass HB3. I don't believe it's what the people in our state want, and I don't believe it's best for our state's children or the future of our state. I love our local public schools (Midway ISD), and I can say as a TIA Master teacher that I believe that what happens in my classroom is incredible—engaging, full of love and encouragement, and focused on helping kids grow. I'm so proud of what is happening in my classroom.

At the same time, I know that as public schools we can continue to grow. We should have far less testing and more engaging and hands on learning to help kids love to learn. Let's talk about that all day. In fact, I got my master's degree in school leadership and would love to be part of bringing about change to make our schools even better.

But I can tell you with certainty that taking money away from schools for education savings accounts will not help our public schools that serve almost 5.5 million kids each day. In fact, the majority of the money will end up going to families who can already afford private school while taking money away from kids whose only option will still be our public schools. Let's not make education worse for 5.5 million kids to pay for 100,000 kids to attend private schools—many of whom already attend those schools.

If you are set on making tax money available for private schools, I would ask that any private school that takes the funds be required to give STAAR tests and be required to accept any student. Let's make our tax money be distributed fairly so we can really compare apples to oranges!

Please value our kids and our educators who are doing the good work every day by voting no for HB3. Strong public schools are good for kids and good for Texas, so let's put our attention and our money there!

Annie Good
Self/ office assistant to a construction company.
Belton, TX

This program has not been successful in other states. See the report of a news channel in Oklahoma that published the results and data since it was implemented: https://kfor.com/news/local/data-reveals-oklahoma-school-choice-program-sending-significant-share-of-funds-to-wealthiest-families/?fbclid=IwY2xjawI67tdleHRuA2F1bQIxMQABHRUgiStaXV-i1vVbT6KNOZvxQj0wnmKetj4dsgwwiZYmNT67MZOQ8vdQA_aem_lsR4RDD_dOh69UJVxIgJBg

As a Texas homeowner, I am very concerned that our Public Schools will continue to struggle to provide equitable education for ALL Students! Charter Schools and Private Schools are not held to the same testing accountability, fiscal accountability, or provide services for students with disabilities as public schools are required to provide. Charter and private schools DO NOT have to enroll or educate ALL students, as public schools have to do. Public Schools DO NOT GET THIS CHOICE! Parents already have a choice of public charter schools or public school, along with the option of private schools. Yes, private school means they as a family may have to make financial sacrifices to provide this option for their children. It is their choice or option. Public school students deserve to be funded with the best education, we as a state can provide, if we want to encourage students to be productive members of society. Please support our public schools, educators, and the majority of your Texas Constituency that wants a good public education for their children. These vouchers will not provide enough funds to pay for private school tuition. The average and disadvantaged families will still not be able to afford private schools even with this option. LOOK at the DATA from other states and how this has only benefited those who make over $60K and how it has mostly benefited those who make over $100K. I am very disappointed that our legislature is wasting so much time on this bill rather than trying to fix other important issues in our state.

Alice Washburn
Personal / myself
Austin, TX

Please keep public money for public education.
Our public schools are underfunded, understaffed, so our children are underserved..
All of our children deserve the best education. The f parents choose to send to private schools, then they should be able to fund their choice.
Vouchers will not bring better education to the underprivileged, it will only make the services they receive less. Texans should want better for all our young Texans

Rebecca Gross
self / manager
IRVING, TX

I strongly oppose using any taxpayer, public funds to support non-public schools. Our public schools have a mandate to educate all students, regardless of ability, disability, or income. Public schools are also obliged to follow standards and have public accountability. These schools need full support from taxes intended to support public schools. IF any funds are used outside the public school system, institutions or individuals receiving those funds must be held to the same standards as public schools. Public schools are what make American and Texas great NOW. Let's keep it that way.

Paige Brown
Self, editor
Houston, TX

Public funds should not go toward private schools, period. Those schools can cherry pick their students, kick them out at any time, send tuition costs higher anytime they choose, and skip the wildly unpopular and expensive STAAR test, etc. Our public schools are willfully starved for funding right now, and our beloved CFISD made painful cuts because of this. When my veteran English teacher friend tells me she simply can no longer be the teacher she has always been because all of her classes are larger, AND she has an extra class of 30 students because English teachers' planning period was taken away, I sit up and listen. ESAs would be an outrageous financial drain on the state budget, and they still will not help those with discipline issues, those with special needs that they are unwilling or unable to work with, and those who can't afford the sticker price of private schools. Our most vulnerable students deserve fully funded public schools, and our public school teachers deserve the resources that will help them be their best at work (and not quit to find a new vocation, leaving our students in the lurch). Ditch the ESAs, continue with the school choice we already have (CFISD has a 70 campuses open for student transfer next year, not to mention charter schools, private schools, and homeschooling), and fund our public schools as your constituents want you to do.

Claudia Lambert
Self
Kyle, TX

This bill will hurt our public schools, plain and simple. If lawmakers would properly fund public education, we wouldn't need vouchers in the first place! Right now, our public schools are understaffed, overworked, and teachers are underpaid. Despite these challenges, public school educators remain dedicated to their students and work tirelessly to provide a quality education.

However, passing this bill will only make things worse for both students and teachers. Public schools will be hit hard, while these "choice schools" aren't held to the same standards. They don't have to provide essential services like special education. This leaves public schools with an influx of students in October when parents are told their child's needs aren't being met, and they have to return to their home school.

We can't let this happen. Please vote NO on this bill to protect our public schools and ensure all students have access to the education they deserve.

Leticia Trigo
Self
Edinburg, TX

Please save our public education from vouchers that are welfare to the rich!

Kathy Griswold
Self
Plano, TX

I would like to say that I am definitely against HB 3 as i believe this will ruin our schools in Texas. Public money needs to go to public education and teachers salaries. If this passes I see children getting left behind in public schools. This is not a good direction as we have seen it fail in other states.

Meghan Harper
Christie Elementary PTA
Plano, TX

I am the proud mom of kids in public school. I am also the product of a private AND public school education. When I decided in 8th grade to move to public school, my decision was largely driven by the vast choices of extracurriculars offered in public schools. What I did not expect was how far behind, academically and socially, I would be compared to my new public school peers. There's no oversight in private schools. The academics, nor the teachers are help to ANY standard. I've watched over the past 30 years as this state and Republican leadership have purposely kept the same public schools underfunded. I've watched as programs have been cut, and now, schools are closing all over the state. This Bill claims to be school choice. We all already have school choice. This bill is meant to drive public funds away from public schools and into private institutions. It stands directly in violation of the Texas State Constitution. Why does Republican leadership stand up and speak ill of Texas public schools when they've directly controlled funding, curriculum, and all state-wide control since 1994? Why does Republican leadership punish our students and our teachers when the state was a multibillion dollar surplus MEANT to fund schools? I stand directly opposed to ESAs because I believe in the Texas Constitution and believe EVERY student in Texas deserves their public education to be fully funded.

Nissa Lind
self
Austin, TX

How dare you take tax player dollars and fund private schools with no requirement for accountability and STAAR Testing hoops that you make public schools jump through. I do not support vouchers, coupons or ESAs for private schools in Texas. It's a huge waste of money increases the size of the government to operate a new ESA system. I guess big government is just fine with the author of it benefits the wealthy in the state. We live near several private schools and are a solid middle class family just out of living paycheck to paycheck. We could not have put my son into any of the private schools besides the fact that even with a voucher we could not afford it, but primarily because they do not offer dyslexia support and special programming that he received in public school. They do no offer the incredible International Baccalaureate program and are much more limited in AP or ACC dual enrollment options than the closest public high school. The public high school does a much better offering of college prep than a small private school. The difference at the small private schools is they have a college counselor that helps and in some cases over the boundary to make those students sound better. It's anecdotal, but I've heard some interesting college application processes at private schools that gives those students an advantage. We are paying less per year for the first year of college than the closest private high school costs! Even with an ESA that high school is for the wealthy. ESAs sound like welfare for the wealthy to me. The people I know who send their kids to private school don't need a coupon and the neighbors that can't afford to send their kids to private school, $8-10K off the price isn't going to enable them to send their kids to a $30K a year school. So if you are so intent on giving tax payer dollars to private schools, then why don't you take accountability in the form of the state testing system? Yet another unfair advantage to private schools. If public schools receive state money and have to spend months on accountability testing, then private schools should too if they are going to receive state money. Every other state that has a voucher system has all kinds of headlines about how the test scores have dropped implementing vouchers or coupons for private schools. Just in the past week alone, I've seen negative headlines about the Oklahoma, Arizona, and Indiana voucher system problems and their test scores dropping. Is that what you want for Texas?

Kathleen Fowler, Retired teach, school administrator and district administrator

Texas Public Schools

Lubbock, TX

Seeing town hall meetings, which are meant to be a discussion with attendees asking specific questions have been a lectures on what's best in your opinions about HB3. When do you plan to listen to your constituents? When do any of you who are advocating so hard for HB3, visit public schools so you can see the truth about what's happening there? HB3 will segregate low income and special needs students just as certain communities have been segregated in years past with funding going to upper middle class and wealthy as it's stripped from public schools.

Your unfunded mandates have been doing that for decades then money was held hostage because the people of Texas didn't vote your way last year.

You are to be mouthpiece for the people of Texas, not for a few people who donate money from all over this country to strip public schools, and in doing so, segregate our children.

Please listen without your mind made up. There's much to learn by listening to those who know public schools and their students the most intimately.

Kathy Fowler

806-790-4275

79424

Michelle Helmers

Self

Leander, TX

HB2: I support increasing the Basic Allotment to at least $7500 per student

HB3: I oppose the creation of school vouchers. Please fully funded public education instead.

Lisa Prewitt, Mrs.

Safe communities across Texas grandma

San Marcos, TX

No education vouchers in Texas. Support public schools don't divide our children anymore to haves and have nots. It's not healthy and safe for children nor communities. Children don't get to pick their families income and the state should not choose their destiny because of the families's income.

Kelly Villanueva

Self

San Antonio, TX

I oppose this bill because it hurts public schools that are already struggling with funding. It also takes away supports for special education students because private schools and charter schools often do not have the resources or staff to support these students so ultimately it falls back on the now underfunded public schools to support these students. As you know there is currently thy no cap on the number of students that can be in a self-contained classroom and currently our self-contained students with the highest needs are sitting in classrooms with class sizes larger than some general education classrooms. As a teacher at a low-income school, most of our families rely on the public schools to provide these students real resources that their students need. Even if the supports were available at a public or charter school , many families aren't able to even get their students there due to constraints around transportation or their work hours. Most charter schools and private school do not offer bus services to their students. Even with priority funding and possible additional funding for special education students, the hurdles that low-income families face to attending private schools are great. Additionally there are no private schools in our immediate area so the distance to get students to is a huge barrier in itself. I strongly oppose this bill and hope that the Senate will stop this bill from defunding our public school system.

Bethany Yates, Dr.

Self

Sachse, TX

This bill is offensive and an insult to Texas schools. I am a teacher. My Republican family sees how public schools are treated by GOP politicians. The Republicans in my family have agreed to not vote for another Republican solely based on this issue. People are angry about giving a coupon to the wealthy on the backs of poor children. This is a cruel bill based on a lie. Your constituents are far more against this than you give them credit for. Don't let Greg Abbott destroy your job.

Amanda Torres

Self - Public School Educator & Parent

Cedar Park, TX

This voucher bill is highly detrimental to fellow Texans and our society as a whole. Wilks, Dunn and other wealthy/billionaire elites are the select few that will benefit financially, but this financial greed and power grab will come at a cost for them. Their immoral, corrupt intentions and those that follow (as opposed to lead) will stifle in their greed and disdain for self. Our educational systems should only be led by the people of Texas and not by those that have financial gain and power. This bill will lead to a dystopian society where no one benefits. The oppressed will continually rise causing more fear-based living for ALL. Our society deserves better and should have free and equitable education for all. It's shameful and quite embarrassing that we are choosing to descend rather than ascend. Education needs to evolve with humanity. Be better humans and do what you are elected to do which is to support the best interest of your constituents, not the billionaire/wealthy elite. Texas and our nation are for all of us to share equally. Vote no to any voucher pushing bill. Morals, values and emotional maturity should drive all legislative decisions not money, greed and power.

Holly Dunham

China Spring ISD

Waco, TX

As a school board trustee for a Texas public school, I am appalled that our legislators are still considering passing vouchers (ESA). Mountains of research* regarding vouchers in other states show it's NOT the solution we need in Texas. What we need is for legislators to get off their high horses and fund public schools properly.

As a Republican, I am embarrassed by my representatives and governor. You should all be ashamed of yourselves for not listening to the public, who's resoundingly opposed to this legislation. For not listening to school districts, who are begging for funding help since we have not had a basic allotment increase since 2019....but the cost of everything has gone up, and for not listening to parents; parents of public school students as well as parents of both private school and homeschool students, who are overwhelmingly opposed to this bill.

To quote one of your testifiers yesterday, "This bill is a skunk we're trying to pass off as a kitty cat." Please, for the sake of ALL children in Texas, do not pass this skunk of a bill, or any other voucher or ESA bill, and PLEASE fund public schools appropriately. Put an end to the madness of the governor holding public schools hostage because he hasn't succeeded in getting what he wants in a voucher bill. Show teachers, parents, and school districts across the state that you want Texas to be amongst the very best education systems in the country by funding public schools properly, saying no to vouchers this session.

Research and articles addressing the many issues voucher programs are fraught with in other states:

*<https://www.nea.org/nea-today/all-news-articles/no-accountability-vouchers-wreak-havoc-states>

* <https://time.com/6272666/school-voucher-programs-hurt-students/#>

* https://papers.ssrn.com/sol3/papers.cfm?abstract_id=3376234

Jordan Fruge

Self

Houston, TX

I am writing to submit my support for flexible ESA's and school vouchers. I believe that parents and students deserve a choice and that the introduction of choice will encourage all educational institutions to improve the level of education provided to their students. I also submit that Robinhood is a broken program that must be dramatically overhauled so that tax dollars are raised and used within districts more fairly and equitably.

Kay Pruett, Dr.

Self

Austin, TX

Our public schools need this money. Students at risk do not have the necessary funds to make use of a voucher. Education is a right that needs to be equally available to all.

Andra Villegas

Self. Retired educator and tax payer

N Richlnd Hls, TX

Public schools should be supported. Vote no to vouchers and vote NO to education savings account. Public money should support public schools and ALL children.

Donna Beto, Mrs.

Self

Bryan, TX

I am a retired Texas teacher with 36 years serving in public education. I urge you to vote "NO" to HB 3-the so-called savings account. This voucher is misrepresented as a 'school choice' issue, when it is nothing but an extra benefit for families of students already enrolled in private schools. Nothing about this bill benefits low or middle income parents, students with disabilities, students in rural school districts, or public education in general. Please listen to the teachers and not Governor Abbott's office. Please listen to your constituents. The majority of Texans do not want school vouchers.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Beto

Gilpatrick Peyton

self

San Antonio, TX

I think a true education savings account should consist of a Texas parent keeping his/her own property tax in a savings account so that a private school/homeschool could be paid for. I do not think the state should pay for private schools and especially not homeschooling.

Jamie Williams

self

Oakwood, TX

There are several reasons why I believe Texas should not pass educational savings accounts (ESAs):

Diverting Funds from Public Schools: ESAs drain resources from public schools, which are already struggling with funding. This would lead to larger class sizes, reduced programs, and fewer resources for students who remain in public schools.

Lack of Accountability: ESAs lack oversight and accountability, making it difficult to ensure that our tax dollars are being used appropriately. In other states, ESA funds have been misused for non-educational purposes.

Equity Concerns: ESAs primarily benefit families who can afford private schooling, widening the gap between wealthy and low-income families. This would lead to increased segregation and inequality in our education system.

Impact on Rural Areas: There is little to no access to private schools in rural areas, making ESAs not beneficial for families in these regions. This would exacerbate educational disparities between urban and rural areas.

Potential for Fraud and Abuse: Without strict regulations, fraud and abuse will occur in the administration of ESAs. Ensuring proper use of funds (our tax money) would require significant oversight and administrative costs.

ESA's Undermine Public Education: ESAs undermine the public education system by promoting a market-based approach to education, which does not address the needs of all students, including those with disabilities, those in foster care, those living in rural or impoverished communities.

Lauren Smith

Self, Educator

Lubbock, TX

Vote NO on Educational Savings Accounts and Vouchers

My name is Lauren Smith, and I am a National Board Certified Teacher (NBCT) with 11 years of teaching experience in Lubbock. I am a proud public school educator, and I am urging you to vote NO on Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and vouchers. I care deeply about my students and their future, and I believe these policies will harm, not help, our education system. For over a decade, I have witnessed the incredible work happening in our public schools despite dwindling funding. Our educators create magic every single day, making a profound difference for the 5.5 million public school students in Texas. Public schools provide so much more than just academics—they offer stability, nourishment, and a safe place for students to learn and grow.

Every day, students arrive at school excited because they know they will receive a nutritious breakfast, lunch, and end-of-day snacks. They come seeking safety and a place to thrive in a world that can often feel chaotic. They are given the opportunity to learn math, reading, science, social studies, health, music, art, digital citizenship, and so much more. They engage in enriching extracurricular activities such as chess, robotics, drama club, honor choir, student council, UIL, Destination Imagination, cross-country, and countless other programs that shape their futures. Not to mention the Career and Technical Education opportunities our Middle Schools & High Schools offer. Across Texas, our educators go above and beyond, investing their time, money, and hearts into their students. Yet, they are doing so under increasingly difficult financial constraints. Our public schools are not failing—our state is failing to fund them adequately. Imagine if your resources were continuously stripped away and handed to others while you were already struggling to make ends meet. That is exactly what ESAs and vouchers will do to our public schools.

The reality is that many of our best veteran educators are leaving the classroom because they simply cannot afford to stay. Those who remain often take on second and third jobs, driving for Uber, delivering for DoorDash, and even selling plasma just to cover their basic needs and support their families. Diverting public funds to private entities will only worsen this crisis, further reducing teacher pay and forcing more passionate educators out of the profession. This is not sustainable.

Instead of funneling money away from our public schools through ESAs and vouchers, I urge you to spend time in our classrooms. Talk to real public school educators. See firsthand the challenges we face and the incredible work being done despite those obstacles. Rather than dividing limited funds, I challenge you to be bold and fully fund public education. Together, we can address the issues facing Texas education, but vouchers are not the solution. Stand with Texas educators, stand with Texas students, and vote NO on Educational Savings Accounts.

Sandra Hicks

Self-Retired public elementary school teacher

Lumberton, TX

I spent 35 years as a public school teacher, and am very concerned for the future of our state's education system. Our school system is not perfect and is in need of some changes, but many of the problems have been directly caused by our state's lack of commitment to properly funding programs, salaries, security, etc. State mandated testing has not only cost monies that could have been put to better use, but also has demanded increased expectations that are unreasonable for our students. While educators are aware of our schools' shortcomings, we also know that providing much needed funds meant for public schools to private schools instead, is not the answer. What a farce to say that the citizens in Texas want this!! On a previous Republican ballot, the question was asked if citizens supported "school choice". At that time, many were not aware of just what that meant. What a shame that voters were misled and not told that "school choice" really meant taking public tax dollars and using it to pay for private education through vouchers. I know a lot of people, and am not aware of anyone who supports this awful bill.

Our representatives are elected to support and carry out the needs and interests of their constituents, but many seem to have turned their back on us and our children to push through bills that Gov. Abbot is insisting on.

Again, shame on those of you who know better and are voting for vouchers supported by our tax dollars.

Please Vote NO on HB3 and any other bill that diverts moneys to private education. Stand up against Gov. Abbot and for the children of Texas! They are depending on you!

David Mustol

Self

Missouri City, TX

This bill will effectively rob middle class and working schools of much needed funding. Please stop this bill!

Christine Maynor-Burchsted

Grandparents/ Parents for Public Schools (GPS)

Round Rock, TX

I am reaching out to ask that you vote NO on HB3, the ESA/ School Voucher bill. As a parent and concerned Texan, I want my state to invest more in our public schools and into our Texas communities that rely heavily on the health of their local public schools.

HB3 will take tax dollars away from our public schools which will ultimately harm all Texans and especially hard hit will be our rural communities, less affluent communities and students with physical or learning disabilities, like my son, who relies on his public school's Special Education services and IEP to access a quality education, which all of our children are required by law to receive. The bill claims to give priority to children with disabilities and low income students; however it fails to address the lack of private and charter schools that can accommodate children with disabilities and it makes no requirements for private schools to follow federal and state laws ensuring students with disabilities receive proper evaluations and learning accommodations. The lack of private school options in rural and less affluent communities and the absence of school busing to these schools puts them out of reach for many communities.

ESA/ School Vouchers mostly benefit the wealthier families that already enroll their children in private schools. Families making up to $156,000 are given priority but the bill does not put in place an income cap so very wealthy families making over $156,000 per year can use our tax dollars to pay for their private school educations which is not right. As a result, school vouchers increase property taxes which most Texas are opposed to.

As a Texas parent, I am asking that you say NO to HB3.

Thank you for you time,

Christine Maynor-Burchsted, DVM

Brittany Johnson
self
SOUR LAKE, TX

I am a mother of two from Sour Lake, Texas. I am also a former teacher and the daughter, daughter-in-law, and niece of amazing Texas teachers. Our public school district, Hardin-Jefferson, is composed of 250 square miles. It is an amazing district but unfortunately we do not have a lot of industry for us to operate with unlimited funds. Passing this bill will cripple our school district financially and we will be forced to eliminate valuable programs and staff positions. This is cruel and unnecessary as we don't even have any private school less than 30 minutes from us. Please vote NO to this asinine bill and save our rural public school districts.

Traci Dunlap
Self, Teacher
Austin, TX

My name is Traci Dunlap. I'm a Kindergarten teacher, and a proud member of Education Austin, Texas AFT, and the Texas State Teachers Association. I'm here to speak in opposition to HB 3.

Public schools educate over 5 million students in our state, and yet we are grossly, and perpetually, underfunded. But here we sit, spending yet another legislative session focused on siphoning money away from our public schools and the vast majority of Texas students who attend them.

Vouchers, or ESAs, will hurt our students. Our public tax dollars should not be diverted to unaccountable private schools. We know from other states, such as Arizona and Oklahoma, that student outcomes are no better, and are often worse, when students use vouchers to attend private schools. We also know that most students using vouchers are from wealthy families who use them to subsidize their private school education. Vouchers are promoted as a way for families to have "choice," but in reality, it's the private schools that have the choice, and unlike public schools, can deny students entry as they see fit.

Vouchers will also hurt public school employees. After years of underfunding, most school districts in Texas are currently operating in a deficit budget, closing schools, cutting vital programs, increasing class size, and even laying off employees. We can't afford vouchers!

I'm a veteran teacher of 37 years. I love my students and my school, but retirement is on the horizon. I've made sacrifices over the years to stay in this profession, but one of the reasons I could tolerate the low pay is the promise of a pension that I could never outlive. Now I'm hearing that a voucher program could destabilize TRS and put my pension and retirement at risk. As someone who has spent my entire career in the service of my community, this is unconscionable and infuriating. I should be able to count on my pension and retire with dignity.

We have a record surplus in our state budget, and you have a real opportunity to do right by our public school educators and students. ESAs are not right for Texas. We are counting on you to keep public dollars in public schools.

Leslie Dominie
Self
Wylie, TX

Protect public education. Give public education the resources that have been promised yet not given since 2019.

Ana Tijerina
Self
San Antonio, TX

Already established public schools are the more logical, business-minded investments anyone can make. With all the overhead costs already built-in, public school funding only need cost of living adjustments. A voucher will not make a strong dent as the additional funds toward public schools. Stop trying to make individuals rich by funneling funds to their charter schools. Fully fund public schools to get the best bang for your (our tax) bucks.

Damian Gonzales
Self-General Manager
Garland, TX

Texas House Bill 3 is a direct attack on public education. Instead of properly funding our schools, supporting teachers, and ensuring students have the resources they need, this bill pushes a voucher scheme that siphon taxpayer dollars away from public schools to fund private education with little accountability. Vouchers are NOT the answer—they divert critical funding from already underfunded schools, widening the gap between privileged and struggling students. Even with bipartisan opposition, Greg Abbott is forcing this through, ignoring the will of the people and the lawmakers who know this bill will do more harm than good. If we truly care about the future of Texas education, we should be strengthening our public schools, not dismantling them for political gain.

Barbara Roberts, MS
TCTA
Richmond, TX

Vouchers are not for Txs they are for the rich. While serving just of handful of Texans it will further under fund Texas schools and cost tax payers more to operate feuding educational systems.

Faye Inglis
Self/ former public school teacher/ retired
Dripping Springs, TX

School vouchers are a subsidy for the rich and will deplete public schools of much needed funding. Many rural counties and school districts do not even have a private school. Private schools can turn down any student for admittance. Public schools cannot by law refuse admittance, setting up extra costs for special education. Public tax dollars should not subsidize private enterprise and profit.

Blythe Barajas
Myself
Plano, TX

If vouchers are worth $10k, then the basic allotment per student in public school should be $10k.

Linda Collins, Ms.
Retired Teachers
Austin, TX

Please vote NO on HB 3. Parents and students need public schools that are fully funded. Please put our hard earned tax dollars into the public schools, not away from them. It is the responsibility of the legislature to establish quality public schools for the families of this great state. Please don't let them down. Thank you for your service to the people of Texas.

Linda White, Mrs
Texas AFT
Corpus Christi, TX

Public tax dollars should be spent on public education

Mary Green
Self
Galveston, TX

Tax dollars need to go to public education, not private. Stop holding back money from school districts.

Deborah Jones

Self

Malakoff, TX

I belththis bill will decimate public education. You have legislated what must be taught and then complain about the result. This will do a disservice to our challenged special needs children and will not help the lower economic students. Do not pass this bill.

Camille Cavazos

Self-public school educator

Harlingen, TX

I DO NOT want vouchers!! Absolutely not!

Amy Servat

Teachers

Houston, TX

Nobody wants this! This is merely a money grab that will look very bad in hindsight. Be on the right side of history.

Sue Lasseigne

self

Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Sue Lasseigne, I am a parent/community member in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs. These includes:

Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

Patricia Romano

Self-retired

Leander, TX

I am opposed to using tax dollars for private school vouchers unless those private schools are held to the same admission standards and testing requirements as public schools. Defunding the public education system will be detrimental to the Texas economy in the long run.

Heather Ramirez

Self

Baytown, TX

The HB3 bill will hurt our public schools which are at the heart of the Baytown community. Public schools are already underfunded. The tax dollars being held hostage need to be released so that our students have what they need to succeed. Please fulfill your role of serving and representing your constituents and vote no on HB3.

Shannon Jorge
Self
San Angelo, TX

Please do not approve this bill. Public schools are the foundation of our freedom and democracy. This voucher bill will take the already limited funding from public schools and give it to private schools that don't need it and are not held to any standards. This money belongs in public schools. Let's keep it there.

Krista Milam
Self
Austin, TX

As a parent, I strongly oppose this by bill for the havoc it would cause in public education. All Texan children deserve access to a great education and this bill funnels money away from that cause. Please stop moving money away from our public schools. We will vote you out in a heartbeat when we can, if this passes. No one wants this, not republicans nor democrats - this is a deeply unpopular move.

Kathryn Zimmerman
Self, Occupational Therapist
AUSTIN, TX

A voucher program in Texas would significantly undermine public education by diverting critical funding away from public schools, exacerbating inequalities, and weakening educational accountability. While those of this Committee might argue that school vouchers increase choice and competition, the reality is that they create a system that benefits a few at the expense of the majority, where many rural and underserved communities depend heavily on public education.

Public schools in Texas rely on state funding, which is primarily based on student enrollment. When students leave public schools for private institutions using vouchers, the funding that would have gone to their education in the public system follows them to private schools. This creates a financial shortfall for public schools, forcing them to operate with fewer resources while still having to meet the same operational costs, such as teacher salaries, facility maintenance, and student support programs.

Vouchers also disproportionately benefit families who already have the means to supplement tuition costs. Most private schools charge tuition far above the value of a voucher, leaving low-income families unable to afford attendance even with financial assistance. This leads to a system where wealthier families receive public money to offset their private school tuition while lower-income families remain in an increasingly underfunded public school system.

Moreover, rural communities, where private school options are limited or nonexistent, would see no benefit from a voucher program. Students in these areas would remain in public schools that face declining resources due to funding losses. This creates a two-tiered education system in which well-funded private institutions cater to a select few, while the majority of students face worsening conditions in their underfunded public schools.

Public schools are legally required to provide special education services to students with disabilities, ensuring that they receive appropriate accommodations and support. However, private schools are not bound by the same obligations under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). Many private schools lack the resources or willingness to accommodate students with special needs, meaning that voucher programs often leave families of children with disabilities with fewer educational options rather than more.

A voucher program in Texas would ultimately harm public schools by diverting essential funding, exacerbating educational inequality, reducing accountability, and weakening special education services. Public education is designed to serve all children, and policies should focus on improving this system rather than undermining it. Rather than pursuing a voucher system that benefits a select few, Texas should commit to strengthening its public education system for the benefit of all students.

Sandy Burton
Self retired
Cedar Park, TX

Public education must be the focus of state government. Taking public money and diverting it to a voucher system for private schools is no substitute for improving public schools. I urge all committee members to consider the results in other states that have adopted this system. Nothing good has come of it in other states. Please remember we have 158 counties in Texas with no private schools. How could a voucher system possibly work for the children in those counties? Thank you for your consideration.

Amanda Lyn Schulze
Self and my son
Mckinney, TX

Due to federal and state funding my son's school is cutting the services he needs the most like Special Education, Fine Arts, Interventionists, the GT program (because he is twice exceptional like a lot of kids). They're cutting more than 70 positions. I should be clear we live in a great school district, we moved here for the schools. It's a very affluent area but yet the public schools here are cutting necessities bc of the lack of funding. Stop this nonsense with the voucher program which only benefits people who can either already afford private schools can almost afford private schools. Those schools don't support kids like my son, who have super high IQs but are also on the spectrum or with ADHD. If you want to make a difference, make charter schools and private schools offer Special Education and be held to IEPs. Or fun public schools enough they can offer buses to all kids, not just ones who live over 2 miles from the school. Do better!!!

Nicole Daniel
Self—parent
Austin, TX

This voucher bill is will do nothing but defund public schools and divert public dollars to families who already choose private school. It provides no new access to families in rural areas where there are no private schools to choose from, and will just bleed their existing schools of resources. Texas public schools are already facing impossible budget cuts that I see first-hand as an elementary school parent. This is a failed experiment that has been tried before in other states. It doesn't work, and I am opposed.

Linda Murdock
self
Buda, TX

Please save our public schools and vote 'NO' on HB 3. I am against vouchers.

Brad Wynne
Self
Little Elm, TX

I formally testify against the HB 3 bill.

Jessica Barlow
Self Stay at home mom
Midland, TX

To whom it may concern,

My Name is Jessica Barlow and I am a stay at home mom,But I am a home schooling parent also.I like that I have the freedom to teach my children in the best way that works for them. But that they also get the one on one attention that kids in public schools don't. I started homeschooling knowing that our tax dollars would still go to the public school system,and We are were and still are okay with that.We also like that is homeschooling is free of government strings . That there are no restrictions or regulations holding us down. Government strings would take the love we have for homeschooling. Please vote against HB3 relating to the establishment of education savings accounts.

Sincerely Jessica Barlow

Paula Everett

Taxpayer

Haskell, TX

Protect our Public Schools!

Protect our Texas children!

Protect and encourage our Public school employees!

Protect our Retired Teachers!

Vote No to Vouchers!

Thank you

Paula Everett

Retired teacher

Retired school board trustee

Walt Rivenbark, Mr.

Self and thousands of others in CISD

Southlake, TX

This bill is horrible for the kids of Texas and will make education even worse for public schools. You held public school funds hostage for over 5 years to try to get this voucher scam approved. Please fund our public schools properly. We already have school choice. So not vote for this voucher scam bill.

Chrissy Beltran, Instructional coach & consultant

Buzzing with Ms. B

El Paso, TX

I absolutely oppose this bill. This bill will take funding from our already under funded public schools and give it to private schools who have a few accountability measures. I do not approve of my tax dollars going to a school that teaches whatever it wants, however it wants. I do not approve of my tax dollars funding a Christian fundamentalist educational program. I do not approve of an education savings account program because public education is the one thing we provide to every person in this country. How dare we got the funding from public education to provide it to private schools. I am absolutely not in support of this bill.

Debbie Zintgraff

self

San Antonio, TX

As a mother of three adult children, my husband and I have used both public and private education in Texas. I was very involved in my children's education volunteering as room parent, PTA member and officer, theater-mom, band-mom and field-trip chaperone. I found the education they received in both schools to be outstanding. The separation of church and state is a very important principle to our family. As a Christian, I support the public schools to provide education in academic subjects like reading, writing, math, science, computer science, theater, art, foreign languages and extracurricular activities like sports, drama, language clubs, etc. but do not support the indoctrination of any religious education. It is up to the parents to share their faith at home, to take their children to church, to pray and worship together, and to read their sacred books like the Bible together. The private school is not accountable to the Texas government and has its own admittance criteria and curriculum. Our tax dollars should be used to fund public education for the good of all citizens who may or may not share the same religious beliefs. Keep religious education out of the public schools and keep tax dollars out of private schools. This is for the good of both institutions. If our tax dollars are funding a private education, then the private schools must be held to the same accountability as public schools such as student standardized testing, financial reporting, and must make changes to admission criteria. As a parent of a student in a private school, I would also be concerned that the private school's curriculum would also be influenced by the secular state, which is a conflict for the private school. And don't school vouchers contradict The Texas Constitution, Article I, Section 7 which explicitly states that no public money shall be appropriated for the benefit of any religious sect or institution? Bottom-line, in my opinion, I think it's best to keep religious education funded by parents and churches SEPARATED from public education funded by public taxes.

Julia Borg

Self

San Angelo, TX

As a Texas resident, I am against the school voucher system. In no way shape or form do I support it. Parents already have school choice. It's the parents decision to be involved in their child's academics. I'm a voice for those that private schools will refuse and decline. We need to support the public and all of our children. Better never means better for everyone, it means worse for some. Worse for our public schools including the children and staff.

Rachel Miller

self

Dallas, TX

Greg Abbott's HB 3 voucher is a scam. Save our public schools. Please vote against vouchers.

Sanford Dochen

self: retired community/gov't relations exec

Austin, TX

I am totally against school vouchers. Acknowledging that many public schools aren't performing at top expectations, I believe the solution is to rethink our approach to education, create more school/community/business partnerships and provide more assistance to families in order to better support their kids who are struggling.

As we've seen in other states, what starts out as a relatively minor expense can balloon to major budget challenges. Mingling public dollars in a religious-oriented school seems a clear separation of church and state---the First Amendment. There have been so many trends in education, but some are fads that are tried but disproven. Vouchers are the latest fad to address issues with public education when instead, upholding the values and virtues of community-based public schools contribute to our economy and free society. VOTE NO ON THIS BILL!

Amy Thomas
self Cibolo, TX

I am a lifelong Texan, a conservative Republican, a parent of former and current public school children, and a grandparent to public school children, and a public school board trustee. I strongly oppose HB 3 and urge lawmakers to reject any attempt to divert public funds away from Texas' public schools through an Education Savings Account (ESA) program. This bill is nothing more than a voucher scheme that will weaken our public education system, undermine transparency and accountability, and leave Texas students behind.

1. ESA Vouchers Undermine Public Schools

Texas' public schools educate over 5 million children, yet they remain underfunded, with many districts struggling to provide competitive teacher salaries, maintain safe school buildings, and afford essential instructional materials. Instead of addressing these pressing issues, HB 3 would siphon tax dollars into private schools, many of which lack accountability, do not serve all students, and are not required to meet the same academic and financial transparency standards as public schools.

2. No Real Accountability or Oversight

Public schools are held to strict academic, financial, and ethical standards, ensuring taxpayer dollars are spent responsibly. Private schools that accept ESA funds are not required to follow these same regulations. They do not have to serve students with disabilities, provide services for English learners, or follow state curriculum standards. This lack of oversight creates an environment where funds can be misused, leaving students and families without recourse.

3. ESA Vouchers Favor the Privileged and Leave Rural Students Behind

Vouchers primarily benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition. The average cost of private school tuition in Texas far exceeds the proposed ESA amount, making it inaccessible for lower-income families. Additionally, most rural areas in Texas lack private schools altogether, meaning families in these communities would see no benefit from this program. Instead, their local public schools would suffer funding losses without an alternative option.

4. The Real Solution: Fully Fund Public Education

Rather than diverting funds to unregulated private institutions, Texas must invest in solutions that strengthen public schools for all students. This includes increasing the Basic Allotment, raising teacher pay, ensuring schools have the resources to meet the needs of special education students, and improving access to mental health services. Lawmakers should focus on real solutions, not policies that dismantle public education.

Texans want strong public schools, not privatization schemes. HB 3 is not about parental choice—it's about defunding our public education system in favor of an unaccountable program that benefits a select few. I urge the Legislature to reject this bill and instead prioritize policies that truly support Texas students, educators, and communities.

Andrea Krieger

Self and my school aged children in the public school system.

Mckinney, TX

Do not pass HB3 out of committee. Please focus on making our public schools whole instead. Fully fund them, so all Texans can benefit from a state of the art public education system. Funding should be tied to inflation, based upon enrollment, and any mandates should be fully funded in addition to basic allotment. Our public schools, children, teachers, and district staff are counting on you to do the right thing. SB3 should not leave committee. Instead let's pass a bill that fully funds our public schools.

Marlo Rockhold

Self

LEANDER, TX

Republicans say "the people want this," but the only vote we've had was in the primaries on the Republican ballot. In no way does this fully represent "the people" of Texas or what they want. Put your money where your mouth is, and put this to a statewide vote. Let all of the people tell you what they want instead of assuming. If you cannot give solid numbers of how many of the full voting population want this, what are you even doing as a REPRESENTATIVE of THE PEOPLE.

Lynne Ferguson
Self / book editor
Austin, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB3 which will be a disaster for public education. I believe that access to free and fair public education is one of the bedrock principles of our democracy and that undermining it by taking money out of the system is un-American. If this passes Texas will cease to be a state that is competitive on the national stage because in order to be a successful state we need to be educating our children, not starving them and our schools of resources. Stop this pointless, wrong-headed, and harmful legislation.

Nico Willis, Ms.
self- university student and retail manager
Austin, TX

The fact of the matter is this—school choice vouchers will hurt the children of Texas. There is no scenario in which school choice vouchers do not systematically disadvantage poor children. If the goal is to prevent Texans from succeeding, that's what this bill will do.

Erin Tigelaar
Self
Austin, TX

Do not pass HB3 out of committee. Focus on fully funding and supporting public education - the system that educates the vast majority of Texans.

Jennifer Knight
Self
San Antonio, TX

I STRONGLY DISAGREE with taking money away from public schools in Texas to give money towards school vouchers. I think vouchers will just weaken our public schools which will weaken our Texas workforce. If people want their children to go to private schools, they should pay for the tuition themselves.

Sara Stewart
Self
Little Elm, TX

No vouchers! You are defunding public education to privatize education. It's shameful and disgusting. Honestly, I do not know how you can call yourself about public servant.

Lisa Stone
self, educator
Houston, TX

You already know the facts about public schools vs school vouchers. Most Texans want to support public education because it's helped so many Texans better themselves and their eventual families' lives. Public school education saves money because it gives people tools to earn their living and contribute positively to their communities.

I join all those asking you to NOT give tax money to fund school vouchers in any form.

Please do the job you're elected to do by caring about the majority of Texans' well being: preserve tax funding for public schools NOT for school vouchers.

Katie Newell
Self, Project Manager
Austin, TX

I am expressing my strong opposition to HB3. As a constituent and Texan, i expect the legislator to oppose HB3 because it's bad for Texas.

Elizabeth Diebold
Self/Retired
Argyle, TX

Please vote no on vouchers. Our tax dollars need to be spent for our public schools. Unlike private schools, our public schools do not pick and choose students , but educate ALL our children. Public schools are the backbone of our society and our future.

Alexia Haywood
Myself as a taxpayer
Austin, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers. Public taxpayer money should stay in public schools! Vouchers will serve the wealthy while further draining our public schools that are struggling due to lack of funding. You were elected to serve ALL Texas families, not make money for the rich.

Anna Stratton
self
Amarillo, TX

I do Not support the establishment of HB3 an establishment of education savings program. Vouchers give choice to private schools and NOT most Texas families. The voucher doesn't even cover the cost of most private schools. This is a scam that benefits the wealthy only and not the average Texas family. We are outraged about it. Texas citizens want our public schools fully funded

Joel Tijerina
Self
Boerne, TX

I do not support the passing of this bill. This bill will not benefit all Texas students and will hurt the majority of the children in public education. By passing this bill, only the wealthy will benefit which does not make a majority of the Texas students. Please do not vote this bill in.

Molly Cohen
Self, homeschool mother
Pflugerville, TX

I am a homeschool mother of two children. I do not want to see our public schools suffer under a bill like this. I do not support an ESA or vouchers. I want the kids in my community to have everything they need. We should be giving more money to public schools, not distributing it out in the name of "choice." Texans already have choice. As a homeschool mother, I am an example of that choice. I do not want to take a dime at the expense of my neighbors' and friends' children who are all enrolled in public school. I do not want to take a dime at the expense of my friend who is an elementary teacher without the resources she needs as it is. Invest more in public schools so parents don't feel the need to look elsewhere. Invest in our teachers and the students. Provide more special education funding, pay teachers more, hire more support staff. That's where the money should be going.

Suzy Richards
Self, teacher
College Station, TX

As a public school teacher, I am well aware of the challenges facing public education in Texas due to lack of funding by the state government. I oppose HB 3 because it would be detrimental to public education by draining funds from public schools and putting public money into private schools. Teachers need raises without strings attached. Per child funding for public education needs to be increased by the state. Public money given to wealthy private citizens to send their children to private schools is a scam, no matter the face backers of this horrendous bill try to put on it. Support public education by eliminating vouchers and increasing funding to public schools.

Patricia Contreras
AFT
Socorro, TX

I say no to school vouchers

Judy Cole
Myself
Canton, TX

I oppose HB 3. This bill does nothing but take my tax dollars from my public schools. Texas is ranked 45th in education and this bill will make us 50th.
The Governor needs to release my tax dollars he has been withholding for years from our teachers, and schools.
This issue has been opposed by the taxpayers for years. Governor Abbott needs to open his ears. No to Vouchers No to the scam. No to Mr Abbott taking money from outsiders & wanting to inflict his will on Texans.
No to HB 3!

Mark Klyn self/School Psychologist
Henrietta, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB 3 a school voucher boondoggle. Many of the reasons for this being bad for Texas have already been stated. The debate is settled except that it appears that the supporters of this bill have been unduly influenced by outside (of Texas) or wealthy oilmen with alternative motives for passage. It is clear that the supporters of this bill are not listening to the majority of their constituents. Other states who have implemented similar vouchers disguised as ESA's have blown their budgets while the majority of the money has gone to those already enrolled in private schools. This will be schools' choice not school choice. School choice is already abundantly available in TX.

Meanwhile, over the past 20 years, despite the false information put forth by those in our highest offices in Texas, true funding for Public Education has been strangled by the legislature. I have been around long enough to remember the phrase, "Starve the beast," as a way that some members of the legislature have described public education funding. There has been a purposeful and well schemed effort to starve public education in an effort to demonstrate in propaganda that our schools are failing. To the contrary, our public schools are providing amazing services under weathering support. Support our public schools! Vote no or allow Texans a statewide vote on vouchers! Let the public decide. Pay attention to the majority of constituents, including many private or home schoolers, who are opposed to vouchers.

Candace Myers
self
Austin, TX

I do not support diverting money from public education in Texas to unaccountable parochial schools. Please find a different way to fund private education choice, rather than pilfering our already under funded public schools.

Nikhil Batra

Self

Austin, TX

Please do not vote for this. Rural families will suffer!

Vanessa Bingham

Self

Arlington, TX

We don't need tax credits or vouchers for private schools. Sooner or later you'll come for homeschoolers. It's always the way of a govt program. Please don't stick your nose under the tent to let yourself in. Just say No to Vouchers!

Donna Beto

Self-retired teacher (Life Member of TSTA)

Bryan, TX

I am a retired teacher in public education for 36 years. Please vote "NO" to school vouchers! The only people who want this are Governor Abbott and wealthy parents who already send their children to private schools. That is a minority of your constituents. I am asking you to vote with the majority of your constituents who want state funding to continue going to their local public schools.

*Private schools are private businesses

*Private schools do not have to hire certified teachers

* Private schools are not state regulated regarding special education

*Private schools do not require state testing

*Private schools do not have to accept all students, because they have their own set of criteria

*Private schools have the freedom to turn away students with special needs such as autism

*Private schools set their tuition levels way beyond what the voucher savings account would pay for each student

Most Texans are against using tax dollars to pay private school tuition for selected students while undermining public schools where the vast majority of Texas students are educated.

I urge you to vote "NO" to vouchers, educational saving accounts, and school choice (by whatever name). It is still funneling taxpayer dollars to private schools when the money belongs in public schools.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Beto

Lonnie Perez

Self

Georgetown, TX

We do not need vouchers. Support public education!

Kathy Mochel

RootEd/Self

San Antonio, TX

Say NO to Vouchers. Vouchers will take money away from public schools. They serve to increase inequity in our education system. I am already paying taxes for my student to attend public school. I love my neighborhood public schools. I love the teachers and the opportunities they have to pursue sports, the arts, clubs, multiple pathways to careers at graduation or furthering their education at top notch universities. Fully fund public schools and don't be fooled by this voucher scam. Vote NO!! Please. For the future of our Great State!

Tamiqua Rhodes
Self, School Counselor
Pearland, TX

This is not the answer to our broken school system in Texas. We should focus on having the right people working for TEA to ensure school districts are held accountable.

Jack Moon, Educator
Deer Park Ind. School District
Pasadena, TX

vouchers divert essential funding away from public schools, which serve the majority of students, to private institutions that often lack accountability and transparency. This shift can exacerbate inequalities, as public schools may struggle to provide quality education with reduced resources. Additionally, vouchers may not cover the full cost of private school tuition, leaving low-income families unable to afford the difference, thus failing to offer true choice. Furthermore, private schools are not required to adhere to the same standards and regulations as public schools, potentially compromising educational quality and inclusivity. Overall, the introduction of school vouchers could undermine the public education system, widening the gap between affluent and disadvantaged students.

Cassidy Lane
Self
Clyde, TX

I am against this bill!

Greg Hendrickson
Self
Kingwood, TX

Protect public education by killing the school voucher bill. All Texas school children deserve the same education.

Pamela Williams, RN
AFT
Houston, TX

I am totally against taking tax payers money to support PRIVATE EDUCATION. If a person wants their child and/or children to attend a private school they should send them with their personal funds not taxpayers money, I sent my children to private schools (not charter schools) and pay for it by working extra jobs.

Susan Grantham
Self
Austin, TX

I benefitted greatly from being raised in Texas and being educated in its public schools. My children are going to Texas public schools now, and they have already lost services available to me a generation ago. Please reverse course and invest in our public school system, where I, as a secular citizen, felt protected and welcomed. Where my classmates from a wide range of socioeconomic conditions lived the "melting pot" promise of our democracy.

I do not want my tax dollars to be taken and spent on students choosing private schools, which are unregulated and violate the separation of church and state.

I would reconsider this voucher system if public school teachers were given higher salaries and children in public schools were being funded equally to those with families choosing to attend private schools.

Ami Gandhi

self, guest educator with Round Rock Independent School District
Cedar Park, TX

I am a Texas resident, a parent, an educator, and a local PTA board member, and I am strongly opposed to HB 3. I am a strong advocate for public education and believe firmly that every child deserves good schools, good teachers, and a good education. It is the job and responsibility of publicly elected officials in Texas to support and adequately fund Texas public schools. It is the job of publicly elected officials to VALUE public education and to work to improve it in all areas of Texas that have struggling schools. The answer is not to give up on public education and use taxpayers' dollars to privatize education. The state government is not entitled to redirect public funds from public schools toward private schools; public officials were elected by Texans to represent ALL of their best interests and not just the minority that can afford and has access to private schools. Not to mention that there aren't nearly enough private schools in Texas to house all of the public school students in struggling districts so HB 3 will serve to help only the privileged and significantly hurt the underprivileged.

Last year my children's school district paid 10 million dollars of OUR community's taxes to recapture and yet the state government is sitting on this money and failing to use it to adequately fund Texas schools and adequately compensate Texas public teachers and staff. It is failing to support public education in this state even though it has "recaptured" billions of taxpayers' dollars to do so. HB 3 is not the answer; HB 3 is an example of public officials failing to meet the needs of ALL their diverse and numerous constituents. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Julie Degollado

Self

La Feria, TX

I fully support this bill!

Glen Hill

Self

Haskell, TX

I do NOT support an ESA bill of any sort. If you fully fund public schools first (and truly fully fund not claim the numbers are what they aren't), improve teacher pay, and increase the SPED weights then we can talk about ESA's. Until then, let's work on the system that supports ALL students and not just those we choose.

Laura Salinas-Soria, Mrs.

AFT

Corpus Christi, TX

No, to vouchers...no to Greg Abbott!

Pamela Rogers

Self

Katy, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school vouchers in the state of Texas. Vouchers divert crucial public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas children, to subsidize private and charter schools that are not held to the same accountability standards.

Our public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, support, and opportunities to students of all backgrounds. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public school system by increasing teacher pay, improving resources, and ensuring every child has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting any voucher proposals and focusing on policies that uplift public education for all.

Thank you for your dedication to the future of Texas students.

Justin LeFoll

Self

Katy, TX

I do not understand why you are pushing private vouchers that help wealthy people. This bill does not aide those who need it most. Abbott keeps pushing this political agenda but it does not help those with poverty, special needs (unless you have money), and most demographics. Where is the data that this is working? What I have read this is not working in other states. Stop the political agenda and support things that truly will make a difference.

Marcy Sabol

AFT

Sheridan, TX

I am opposed to Education Savings accounts or vouchers. The legislature should focus FIRST on fully funding PUBLIC education.

Chartle Burns

Dallasisd

Dallas, TX

Not i favor

Ann Glaess

Self

Mount Vernon, TX

This bill will harm our rural public schools. We don't want it.

Janet Sweezey

self - retired

Houston, TX

I am asking you to not pass HB3. Texas legislators can not say they prioritize raising teacher salaries and adequately funding public schools when the school voucher program will divert taxpayer dollars and decrease funding for public schools due to lower attendance figures. HB3 is flawed because it directly funds approved vendors instead of students, leads to budget overruns, increases costs for private schools that do not want to participate and establishes a framework that invites future regulations, based on the legislature's past actions regarding charter school and ISDs. In addition, while HB3 has a tier system of providing vouchers (vs. SB2 which states that the low income family threshold is $156,000 per year), none of the measures propose that vouchers be used for families at or below the federal poverty level ($32,150 or 14% of Texans). Even if the vouchers focused on Asset Limited, Income Constrained, Employed families (43% of families trying to stay afloat according to the United Way), $10,000 would not be enough for these families to send their children to top-ranked private schools. In Arizona, only 1% of the families in the poorest zip codes had a voucher while the wealthier zip codes had up to 25% usage. Another concern is how will these poor families transport their children to the private school. Finally, while HB3 promotes vouchers first for families with special education students, private schools and vendors are under no obligation to accept and serve students with special needs. Even if a student with special needs attends a private school with a voucher, they will likely forfeit the protections they have under federal law. In public schools, students are guaranteed admission, transparency of funding and services as well as accountability for academic performance and protections under IDEA which private schools are not required to follow.

Again, I implore you not to pass HB3 as a parent of children who attended public schools and a speech pathologist who worked in the schools for over 30 years. Our public school students, teachers and faculty deserve to be fully funded in order to provide an exceptional to all students, not just ones that can afford a private school tuition.

Amy Hickox, Mrs

Self

Dallas, TX

The voucher program is not a data driven decision. Public money being funneled to private schools and charter schools with no oversight or accountability will negatively impact our rural and city school systems that are already stretched thin.

Adrianna Henderson

Self

Kyle, TX

As a former public educator of 16 years, parent of a public school student, and current substitute teacher in Hays CISD, I strongly oppose the school voucher scheme. This is simply a way for the governor to further cut funding to public schools and line the pockets of his donors. A majority of counties in Texas do not have private schools. This will gut rural education. The governor must fulfill his duty and fully fund public schools. Governor Abbott knows a vast majority of Texans are opposed to this voucher scheme and if it was brought to a public vote, it would fail miserably, which is why he's trying to force it through the legislature. I urge you to vote no on this terrible bill that will do nothing to improve education for the students of Texas.

Heather Cuevas

self

Austin, TX

This voucher program would cost the state over $2 billion and will primarily benefit wealthy families. Not only are they costly, but they have been shown time and time again to not improve educational outcomes and likely worsen them. And unlike public schools, private school voucher programs lack accountability and oversight. Vouchers put power and choice in the hands of private schools NOT parents. Vouchers are the waste, fraud, and abuse we need to get rid of!

CARRIE GETZ

self

Austin, TX

Vouchers divert funds away from public schools, which already face budget constraints. Vouchers can discriminate against students with disabilities and exacerbate racial segregation. Vouchers give money to private schools that are not accountable to taxpayers. There is no reliable evidence that vouchers improve student success. In fact, some programs have shown negative effects. Vouchers raise concerns about the separation of church and state and civil rights protections. Vouchers can lead to wasteful spending and tuition increases at private schools. Vouchers may not be a realistic option for families in rural areas or low-income families. Vouchers may worsen educational conditions for middle and low-income students.

Sherrie Hendrix

Self, Retired

Montgomery, TX

I graduated high school in 1957, a significant year in my memory of Texas attempting to pass a Jim Crow school voucher law. School vouchers weren't intended as a purpose for good then and they still aren't. For 85 years, I've had high hopes that our local, state and federal governments would only consider bills aimed for the good of the majority of their citizens and residents. I urge Texas lawmakers to recognize that Greg Abbott's obsession with school vouchers takes us back to a dark place and time. Calling them an ESA doesn't make them any prettier. Neither my great grandchildren, nor anyone else's should be deprived of the best education available with the public school system. If it's not obvious, I'm registering my Texas born/mostly raised/retired opposition to HB 3. I remain hopeful.

Elyse Munselle

self

Austin, TX

I strongly urge you to vote against the HB 3 legislation. First, I am concerned that this bill would negatively and disproportionately affect children of color, children in rural areas, and other low-income families, while helping families that do have enough money to pay for private school get a discount. Taking funding away from our public school systems means that so many children will miss out on critical student services, security measures, and other educational programs. The low-income areas are the public schools that benefit the most from those programs, and you would be knowingly and purposefully underfunding them. In addition, A singular focus on armed personnel overlooks many other proven safety strategies. Secure campus design, improved communication systems, early threat assessments, and community-based partnerships play a significant role in preventing violence. True school safety goes beyond firearms and requires a multi-pronged plan that includes student well-being, family engagement, and local mental health services. By neglecting these facets, HB-3 offers only a short-term, piecemeal approach to a complex issue. I strongly urge the Legislature to engage a broader coalition of stakeholders—educators, parents, mental health experts, law enforcement, and students themselves—before moving forward with a bill that will profoundly shape the learning environment. Such input can help refine the legislation so that any new measures are both effective and fiscally responsible.

THERESA DAVIS

private Citizen

AUSTIN, TX

VOTE NO FOR SCHOOL VOUCHERS.

Deborah Garcia-Lopez, Mrs. Garcia-Lopez

Self

Brownsville, TX

I am a local resident of Brownsville and I do not want the school vouchers to be approved!!

Vicki French

Tax payor

Austin, TX

I disagree with the vouchers. Rich families can afford to send their children to private school without any money but will get more money anyway with the vouchers. Poorer people can't afford private school even with the money/credit they get so the rich get richer & the poor stay the same. Also it will hurt public education.

Sarah Gonzalez

Self

San Antonio, TX

Please do not vote yes on this. Public education needs the funding, not parents of kids already going to private school. This will not help students who live in areas with no private schools. What this will do is take away needed money from public schools and cause less qualified teachers to work in public school. This will have a huge effect on our future society if public education declines in quality. This means less kids graduating and going on to higher education. This will mean more kids dropping out of school. When public education declines, our qualified work force will also decline. What I don't understand is how so many people who grew up in public education and became successful, would now want to take that American Dream away from our next generations. When people start talking about school choice, it already is there. In San Antonio alone there are tons of options for free charter schools. School districts are letting parents have school choice where they can attend any school on the district. It is flabbergasting that our representatives are taking money from rich donors and voting against the future of Texas education and work force. Since when does money determine what is right? This bill is so wrong. Please vote no to save the future of Texas.

Naveen Nattam

Self

Austin, TX

I am against the establishment of a public savings account for schools in Texas. Not only does it deny funds that are better served to bolster our public education system, it gives my tax money to people who do not need it and can already afford to send their kids to private school. The total allotment neither covers the entire cost of attendance including tuition, uniforms, or supplies required by these schools, nor does it do anything to prevent private schools from then raising their prices after the voucher has been put into place. There are already scholarship programs that are readily utilized for the few they want to include in their programs. Many rural counties don't even have private schools available to them within a reasonable distance, making it impractical or even impossible for them to attend. Where is the choice in that? Furthermore, public schools are given money based on daily attendance and enrollment, so assuming this program actually did what you claim it will (which it won't), it will further remove money from our public schools which are already sorely underfunded. This bill is outrageous in its blatant move to privatize public education, further a religious agenda to erode the separation between church and state, and garner more power and money for those that already have it, making the divide between those that have and have not even greater.

Amanda Stark

Self

Mckinney, TX

I was born in a small town in the Texas panhandle. I grew up in the agricultural industry and I know the meaning of community. I also know that school choice is important. My parents chose to homeschool myself and my siblings for the majority of our education. They also taught us that public education benefits us all and never wanted funds from the government to help with our private homeschool education. I believe this today as an active member of the Texas PTA, and advocate for fully funded Texas PUBLIC schools. Say no to public dollars going to private schools. Fund our schools fully and give them the help they actually need to see our children - the future of Texas THRIVE. My faith has taught me to take of all, and that is what tax dollars do in public schools. I also implore you to think about the lasting impact this will have on TRS, the teacher retirement. Think back to your education and your favorite teacher or public university professor. Think about the cafeteria workers, the custodians, the music directors, the coaches. Do not defund their retirement they worked tirelessly for while educating you- our future. Think about the librarians who provide a safe space and what this bill will do to the teachers, staff and ultimately our children and their level of education.

Kirk Swann

Self photographer

El Lago, TX

I am completely opposed to this school voucher bill. The continuing dismantling of public education in our state is horrible. This effort is nothing more than providing a discount to people who can already afford the choice they ALREADY HAVE to send their children to private of religious schools. Appealing to struggling parents in schools that are doing their best with dwindling resources is at best misleading. Private schools have little accountability and no requirement to enrollment children with special needs or discipline challenges. This bill allows private schools to cherry pick the students who are already achieving and thus dooming neighborhood schools to more funding challenges. I am steadfastly opposed.

Regina Martinez

self employed

Pflugerville, TX

Our oldest daughter has ADHD and learning differences. She gets the best of both worlds in her collaborative model school - 3 days at school in a classroom and 2 days at home where we can work with her 1:1. ??A traditional school with 5 days of in-class instruction would not be the best option for her since she thrives on this collaborative model. Her 2 days at home gives her more flexibility to complete assignments and 1:1 help to work through difficult concepts. It helps catch anything that 'falls through the cracks' during her 3 days in the classroom. But classroom time helps give her structure, education from a certified teacher, and time with peers & friends. Our school's model gives her the BEST possible chance to succeed without burnout or discouragement.

?We sacrifice a LOT to make this happen each year. Tuition at our child's school is around 7k-11k per child. While not out of reach, it's a struggle. We carefully budget every single penny and postpone many things we'd like/need to have. Our vehicle has 272k miles. We can't afford both a car payment and tuition. Every creak and rattle reminds me that our child's school choice is a ticking time bomb we can only afford for so long. So tell me, how long can I push my 2011 Kia Sorrento before we need to cave, buy another car with payments, and give up the best possible option for our child?

With vouchers, more middle/lower class families like us can experience the peace of finding a school that gives your child the best option possible for their learning differences. It should no longer be for the upper middle class only.

Ellanor Cook

self

Austin, TX

Hello, my name is Ellanor Cook and I am a constituent in zip code 78731. I am writing to ask my representative to vote NO on HB3. Voucher programs in other states have exploded beyond their initial budgets, draining resources from public schools. Worse, vouchers do not improve student achievement and, in many states, lead to a decline in achievement. Furthermore, the reality is that vouchers are not about "parent choice" because the only choice in a voucher program belongs to private schools that can hand-pick their students and are not accountable to taxpayers or the state. Texas parents already have school choice, and vouchers undeniably funnel public tax dollars away from our already-strained public schools. In a state that currently has a surplus of roughly $24 BILLION, it is unconscionable that we continue to be one of the lowest funded public education programs in the country. We are currently $4,000/student BELOW that national average. I am asking for full, longterm funding of public education in the state of Texas.

Julia Jonas

Self, attorney and parent

Austin, TX

I am strongly against private school vouchers. Adopting a voucher system would not only harm public school students and their families. They're also bad for all Texans. By diverting funds away from public schools, vouchers weaken the education system that fuels our workforce, economy, and communities. They increase costs for taxpayers while benefiting only a small percentage of families, often those who can already afford private tuition. Rural Texans, who rely almost entirely on public schools, see no benefit. Strong public schools are essential for a strong Texas, and voucher plans only drain resources while offering little in return. Please use state funds to strengthen the schools that we already have.

Derrick Almeida, Mr.

Self, teacher

Richmond, TX

I oppose vouchers and as a public servant you should oppose the use of public funds to go to private entities. You have taken an oath of office to help the public, not private interest. Vouchers in other states have taken more and more public tax payer money to fund it. There is already school of choice with charter schools. A voucher program would take money from the public education system and holds no accountability to the private schools on how to spend public tax payer money. Please vote NO for any voucher bill or voucher scheme.

Teresa Myers

Self

Emory, TX

We do not want vouchers. Funding should be made to our public schools above all else. To do less is a disgrace to our state and Tre people you serve.

Purva Patel

Self-LPC, Parent, Homeowner

Houston, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3 (HB 3) currently being considered in the Texas legislature. As a taxpayer, homeowner, and parent, I have deep concerns about the potential negative impacts this bill could have on our state's educational system.

Firstly, HB 3's provision to allocate taxpayer funds for private school tuition and homeschooling resources diverts much-needed funds from public schools. Public schools rely on these funds to provide quality education and resources for all students. By reallocating these funds, we risk undermining the quality of education in public schools, which are the backbone of our community.

The governor likes to say on his social media that "school choice" gives parents the freedom to decide what education is best for their child. In fact, the bill would take away my choices as a parent who cannot afford to cover the extra costs that would come with private school beyond what the voucher provides, nor can I provide an education via homeschool as effectively as a public school teacher. Thus this bill would leave me with NO CHOICE but to send my child to a public school facing lower and lower funding.

Moreover, rural areas may be disproportionately affected by HB 3, as they often have limited or no access to private schools. This could lead to a decline in enrollment and funding for rural public schools, further exacerbating educational disparities between urban and rural communities. While I may not live in a rural area, I believe all Texans deserve access to quality education.

Additionally, as a homeowner, I worry about the resale value of my home if young families no longer have confidence in the schools associated with my neighborhood. Property values will fall and thus tax revenue as well, further depleting available funds for public schools.

As a concerned taxpayer, homeowner, and parent, I urge you to consider the long-term consequences of HB 3 on our state's educational system and to oppose this bill. Our focus should be on strengthening and adequately funding public schools to ensure that all students have access to quality education, regardless of their socio-economic status or geographic location.

Laurie Pompa

Self, Attorney, Casis Elementary PTA President Elect

Austin, TX

Dear House Public Education Committee,

I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Private schools pick and choose which students to admit. While the current bill is supposed to prioritize children with disabilities and low-income children, if there are no requirements, or even incentives, for private schools to accept these children or to open schools in rural and poor areas, it is unlikely vouchers will increase access to public schools for these groups in any meaningful way. Vouchers will instead end up in hands of the privileged few who already had access to private schools. If you want to ensure a quality education is available to ALL children in Texas, you must fund public schools, not underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

Thank you,

Laurie Pompa

Brittany Young
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I am writing to request the committee to vote NO on HB 3. As a lifelong Texan, who proudly attended public school and a mother with two children in public school, I am incredibly disappointed by HB3. A quality education should be accessible and available to all. I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy. Thank you.

Carl Medders
Self
Dallas, TX

I am opposed to any bill that takes funds away from public or prevents public schools from meeting their future demands. As I read this bill, it does both and does not require the accountability for private schools taking public money as it does public schools.

Courtney Howe
Self
Argyle, TX

I am against the education savings plan. Public funds belong in public schools. Majority of Texas counties do not have private schools. This is not something that will benefit the majority of Texas students. Private schools can deny entry to any student for any reason. Please see the outcomes in Oklahoma and Florida where tuition of private schools has skyrocketed after introducing vouchers. This is welfare for the rich, to line the pockets of the even richer.
We are a higher income family, my husband is a physician, but if Texas doesn't fund public schools appropriately we will be looking to leave the state. Thank you for your time, thank you for serving our state, thank you for representing the wishes of your constituents. Vouchers should be put to a statewide vote, not pushed through by Abbott.

Kevin Lebanik
self
Fort Worth, TX

You are voting to allocate $10,000 if I want to register my children at a private school but only $6,200 if they remain in public school. Make that make sense? You are voting to give $10,000 to transfer to a private school, that some NEW state dept will "approve". Sounds like we are spending more tax money creating more bureaucracy, additional govt depts that as we've seen with DOGE, will just steal, launder and waste tax money. This bill as written is horrible. It makes no common sense. The only thing it does is waste more tax payers money and creates more ways for politicians, state employees and select "private schools" to steal money.

You want "school choice", its simple. Give us parents $10,000 account to give to whatever school we decide to register our student at. I decide to keep my student at a public school, they get $10,000 per student. I decide to transfer to a private Christian school, boom they get $10,000 towards that tuition. I decide to home school, i don't need the brick and mortar so maybe that account allows $2,500 to use for schooling. I submit a receipt just like an HSA account.

Just like that school choice initiative is solved. Remove stupid STARR testing. Remove recapture(robinhood) tax relocation. Like most things, this is way simpler than you politicians are making it.

Justin Torres
Self - Calibration Technician
Houston, TX

Dear Texas Legislator,

As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair.

Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Public schools in Texas are underfunded by billions of dollars every year. The Comptroller is projecting a large increase in state revenue over the next two years compared to the past two years, and that money should go to fully funding public education.

Private schools pick and choose which students to admit. Vouchers force taxpayers to subsidize private schools' preferences. And without elected boards or state oversight, vouchers give away tax dollars with no financial or academic accountability.

Public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students, serving all the students in their boundaries. They build the workforce that powers the Texas economy. We can't afford to underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

We elect legislators to represent the interests of their communities. Responding to their communities, Texas legislators have rejected private school subsidies time after time.

In the face of increasing pressure from special interests, I pledge that I will stand with my legislators in opposing vouchers. When they vote against private school subsidies, I will make sure all their constituents know they did the right thing.

Sogol Ahmadinia
Self
Dallas, TX

I do not have children. But as a Texan I have a vested interest in the future workforce having a proper education. This voucher scam will destroy public education in Texas, taking money from the poor to give to the rich. It is shameful. If we want our Texas economy to continue to thrive we NEED a competent t work force. We need our children to have access to quality education and to not be excluded due to finances. Please do not set Texas back for generations. Let us continue to be a successful economy.

Regan Mangiameli
self-teacher
The Colony, TX

Properly funded public schools will benefit the entire state of Texas. All children deserve to have a strong education that is free, accessible, and reliable. "Education savings accounts" have been proven to be unsuccessful. Use the funds to increase the basic allotment per student—no strings attached. Texans deserve fully funded public schools.

Sandra Farmer
Self
Houston, TX

This is a scam. It creates an entitlement for people wealthier than the average Texan. Put the money into special education and help dyslexic kids read. It is not your job to pay off Abbott's political donors. It is your job to make sure ALL Texas children get a good public education.

Emily Wheelwright

Self

Georgetown, TX

Please vote no!! I have 5 children in Texas public schools and the budget cuts are already significantly impacting their education. Our middle school principal, who we love, was laid off today. Please vote no to school vouchers and release more funding for public schools. Texas can do better than this for it's public education.

Leslie Wright

Self

Katy, TX

If private schools receive public funding they should be held to the same standards as public schools and they should be required to provide the same services as public schools. A school that does not serve disabled students does not deserve public funding.

Lauren Benson

Self; admin associate

Dropping Spgs, TX

I vehemently oppose HB3. As a parent and lifelong Texan, I want the children and future of Texas to thrive by fully funding and investing in our public schools, NOT through vouchers that benefit the wealthy. All children in our state deserve quality public education.

Kayla Clendeninn, Dr.

Self Physical therapist

Houston, TX

This is a terrible idea. Tax dollars are for public schools, NOT private schools. Fund our public schools! Texans already have school choice. Greg Abbot is an out of touch, corrupt, incompetent governor. Elected officials should represent the people, not the billionaires who buy them. The people overwhelmingly do NOT want this. A popular vote would end this immediately.

Erin Trujillo

Self

Justin, TX

Our children cannot succeed if they cannot keep up with inflation prices. Say no to vouchers, it's just welfare for the already rich and they don't need it.

Jodi Barr

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Our teachers work tirelessly and spend a tremendous amount of their own money to help fund their classrooms. Students and teachers deserve better. Please help to get this increase to pass.

Casey Helmick, Dr.

Self

Haslet, TX

Public schools need increased basic allotment per student. No increase since 2019 is leaving our students with less than they deserve. Support public schools instead of defunding them!

Jeffrey Pernoud, Mr.

Self

Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Jeffrey Pernoud, I am a parent in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs. These includes:

Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Starla Huebner, Mrs.

self and homeschoolers

WYLIE, TX

Hello. We are among the many homeschoolers in the North Texas area that are in opposition of HB 3. We have actively opposed these bills for over a decade for these reasons: Texas already has "School Choice" because parents are totally free to educate their children in public or private schools, including homeschool. ESA's contribute to the creation of control drawing private schools into the public school system. "School Choice" legislation that has passed in states like AZ, OK and NJ has created debt that legislators have had to resolve. Additionally, similar legislation in other states has created an influx of money into the private sector changing the market and increasing education costs from tuition to curriculum for private schools and homeschoolers. Further, in its current state HB3 looks more like a "vendor bill" pumping money into companies rather than a true "school choice" bill for all. Further, the 1.6% of students able to utilize these ESA's doesn't assist the greater population, takes potential funds from the public school system, and communicates a negative message to the 1,000s of public school teachers and staff who are working to serve our next generation. In addition, as seen in other states like OK, bills like this create the real potential for more regulation of homeschoolers. Less than a year into Oklahoma's program legislation was brought to their floor to increase regulation for all homeschoolers whether they were participating in the program or not. True education freedom will only come through the autonomy of private schools away from strings like testing, curriculum alignment, and government intervention. Please consider directing these funds to improving the public school system that is already in place instead of offering an "opportunity" to 1.6% of the public school population. For these reasons, and more, I oppose HB3 and ask that the House legislators do the same. Thank you for your time.

Crystal Nguyen
Self/business owner
Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Crystal Nguyen, I am a parent and community member in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs. These includes:

Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

Krista Guerrero
Self Jersey Village, TX

Public Education Funds should only fund public education. Not a single cent should be taken from public education and given to those who can afford private school education. This bill and the people who are pushing it are misleading those who believe they will have a "choice." This bill needs to be voted down because it shows no benefit. This bill robs the poor and gives to the wealthy.

Hannah Elmore

Self

Grapevine, TX

I believe this bill would be a huge mistake. This bill doesn't give choice as it claims. A very small percentage of students would even be able to use this money. I believe in the long run this will drain much needed funds from public schools which serve the largest percentage of Texas students. There are multiple counties in Texas that don't even have access to private schools. This bill does not serve students. It only serves our governor who has been bought out by someone who isn't even from Texas. This is bad for Texas & bad for Texans.

Rachel Beavers Beavers

Self

Corp Christi, TX

Public funding should go to public schools. Public schools serve all students. Public schools need increased funding.

Danilo Colop

self

St. Paul, TX

Thanks for the opportunity. I disagree with the Vouchers, and I disagree with SB3. No to Vouchers and No to SB3. "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." John 8:32.

Toshia Kimball

McMillan Junior High School

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3 by Buckley.

Carol Hubbard, MS

self

Georgetown, TX

Public Dollars should be going to Public Schools -- NOT Abbott's white christian private schools! Say NO! to Abbott's agenda!

Rachael Abell

self

Grapevine, TX

Our public schools are already underfunded and burdened with excessive regulations. Redirecting taxpayer dollars to private institutions that lack accountability does not improve student outcomes.

Even a small shift in enrollment impacts every public school. Fixed costs remain, but funding shrinks—leading to school closures, larger class sizes, and the loss of essential programs. Despite ISD's making painful cuts this year, 70% of school districts are operating at a deficit while covering billions in unfunded costs for special education, transportation, and safety.

Research from multiple states shows that voucher programs do not lead to better academic outcomes—and in some cases, they make them worse. If we want real solutions for students, vouchers are not the answer.

Instead, Texas must invest in its public schools by increasing the basic allotment, adjusting for inflation, and funding schools based on enrollment rather than attendance. Our children's future depends on it. Vote no to HB 3.

Zina Wormley
Self
Westworth Village, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Stephanie Boothby
Self, Texas PTA member
San Antonio, TX

I'm writing as a parent of 3 kids in public schools and a longtime PTA board member at my kids' high school, middle school, and elementary school. Please vote no on HB 3 and any other so-called "school choice" voucher programs. This will only help students who are already able to afford private schools. Lower income students will still not be able to afford private schools. It doesn't help students who have special learning needs, as private schools are not required to help special education students. Additionally, please remember that our public tax funding should not be going to religious schools who have no accountability standards required by the state. The most concerning part of this bill is that it doesn't specify that public schools will receive funding through this. Instead, they will lose funding. If our public schools receive money from attendance, it doesn't take a genius to figure out that they will lose money if students move to private schools. Please do your job and help our public school students and do not give into special interest groups.

Gena Ray
Self
Claude, TX

I do not want to use public funds to pay for church schools or other private schools. Public funds need to fund public education only.

Eileen Bauerschlag
Self
Boerne, TX

My family and I are against HB 3. We homeschool and still believe all money should stay in public schools. We don't think it should be used for vouchers for private schools and don't want the money as homeschoolers either. The public schools need the money. The teachers need to be paid more AND the money should not be used for vouchers. They have their hands full, have you seen the students they are dealing with? We urge this bill to be dead and the committee to vote no on it.

Ashly Thompson
Self
Spring, TX

As a public school educator in a Title I district, I see firsthand the impact of underfunding on our most vulnerable students. I also write to you as a parent of a high-exceptionality child who relies on the resources and support that public schools provide. HB3, which promotes school vouchers, is not what Texas needs.

Vouchers will divert much-needed funding away from public schools, further deepening inequities and harming the very students who rely on us the most. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions with little oversight or accountability, we should be investing in strengthening our public schools—where all students, regardless of background, are guaranteed an education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by opposing HB3 and prioritizing equitable funding for public education. Our students deserve better.

Shelley Hines
Self/Brinker Elementary School
Plano, TX

I wholeheartedly oppose this bill. Our public schools are financially struggling as is. If this bill passes, it would severely undercut funding for public education. Furthermore, most low income families can't afford private school tuition even with the vouchers (annual tuition at most Private schools in Texas is double the financial assistance provided by these ESA vouchers).

Keri Thomas
Teachers
Corpus Christi, TX

Hell no to school vouchers!!! Fund our schools accurately. Give public school education the money it deserves.

Melissa Torrez
Self, public school teacher, voter
San Antonio, TX

I DO not support this bill. Public education is already underfunded and this will further deepen its deficits. Additionally, Abbott and those who support this bill have been deceitful in representing the need for this and have ignored clear data from other states that have implemented similar funding.

Jennifer Wollock self professor of English
College Station, TX

This program drains funding from the public school system of Texas and leaves children throughout the state without any suitable options, since private, charter, and religious schools are not appropriate for many students. An outstanding public educational system is being dismantled in favor of a form of Sunday School, and not a good Sunday School at that. I have watched this happen as a parent and as a teacher of 41 years standing, now illegally retired from teaching at my former school. I have witnessed bullying at all levels, from the top down, in the course of this project. Nothing good will come of it. If it is intended to strip the students of moral clarity, dumb them down as voters, and limit their options for future employment to slave labor, then it would seem to be well designed for that purpose. If that's not what you are trying to do, please stop it right now. Enough damage has already been done.

Sarah Rothan, Dr.
Self, radiologist
San Antonio, TX

Myself and my family are staunchly against school vouchers. They will steal money from our public schools to line the pockets of families who can already pay for private school. This is not the choice Texans want for their families. Strong public schools create an educated society, which is something we should all want.

Gary Sweet
Self Lancaster, TX

Hello. Please reject the school vouchers. This bill is a misguided misnomer. It is not school choice. Most reputable private schools will not accept the majority of students who apply. Also, these private schools are not capable of servicing all students, especially those with special needs. With all the money in surplus we should be financing our public schools, not destroying them. Supporters claim this does not take money from the public schools but each time a student is withdrawn that school loses money as our system pays schools BASED ON ATTENDANCE. Thank you for your consideration.

Jasmin Brown
Hartman elementary PTA wylie tx
Wylie, TX

NO TO hb3 no to school vouchers. It will hurt the families of texas.

Jeffrey Poole, Mr
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I am not in favor of the school voucher system you are trying to pass. Republicans are lying, in saying it will not take funds away from public schools. Every student that is pulled out of a public school, that school will lose funding for each student that gets to a private school. We know that and we know the Republicans are outright lying, in saying public schools will not lose funding.

Stacy Gray
Self
Arlington, TX

Having 2 children in the public school system, we as a family are AGAINST this.

Megan Henderson
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I strongly disagree with the establishment of school voucher programs that will steal money from public schools and funnel funds to private school where school standards and equity are not required to meet public school standards.

Susan Bridges
Self/Retired Teacher
Lubbock, TX

I stand firmly against and oppose this bill! I personally do not know ANYONE who supports this scam legislation. Greg Abbott and all of his puppets need to be voted OUT of office. They do not represent what is in the best interest of Texas public school students.

Larry Banks
Self
Dallas, TX

I'm requesting a no vote on HB 3 by Buckley

Justin Reed, Mr.
Self - teacher
San Antonio, TX

It's imperative we think of the most vulnerable populations when considering defunding public education- because this ESA plan will do exactly that a según education for the masses. Instead of giving a tax break to those who can already afford private education - we should double down and reinvest into the greater good of the majority. ESA's will not get more children into private schools but rather give a "coupon" discount to those already there and take away from those who could never afford private education ever. If you have public education the investment you talk about in funding private schools - public education could fix many of its shortcomings. Increase teacher pay and offer diverse enrichment programming with additional funding currently being withheld. We owe our students that! Please reconsider your efforts in pushing ESA's and let's fix public education!

William Longino, Dr
Self, Dentist
Sulphur Springs, TX

I oppose school vouchers. I want public schools fully funded.

Courtney Lorence
Self
Richardson, TX

I do NOT agree with vouchers. Public money should never be mixed with private. There is a reason you pay if you choose to go private as a parent, its a LUXURY that you can afford. Taking public money away is the start of spiral and opens an opportunity for mismanagement.

Jenny Nelson, PharmD
Self-Pharmacist
El Paso, TX

Thank for the work everyone has done. For far too long the TEA has been allowed to control education in Texas. As a hardworking parent, I would like the freedom to choose where I want my children to receive an education without being financially stretched to do so.

Katie Moncivais
Self
Round Rock, TX

Just because I am pro-public education does not mean I am anti-private school education. I am an open-minded adult who acknowledges that every child learns at their own pace and that some children thrive in the private education system. That's fine and that is a choice that families can already make for themselves. What I don't agree with is the proportional imbalance of the money that you propose to underfund or take away from the majority of public school students vs. the small percentage of families who could benefit from vouchers. As my children do not need any accommodations at school (yet), I won't even get into the imbalance of legalities, restrictions and regulations on private schools. What I hope for is a Texas that supports education by investing more in the system that over 5 million students already use. How can we say that Texas is great when we are in the bottom 10 in state funding per student? We should be near the top as we invest in the future.

Tara Rowe
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3. See my previous submission for commentary. Apparently saying "I'm against it" was insufficient. This is one of the reasons the average person can't stand politics. You try and make it difficult for people to not only voice their opinions, but to be COUNTED.

I oppose HB3!

Kristina Neighbors, Mrs
Self public school teacher
Era, TX

I am a public school teacher with ten years of experience struggling to barely make $50,000. I have a masters degree in education. My three daughters go to a Texas public school and my husband is also a Texas public school teacher. Our lives revolve around school and it's activities. We do not want vouchers. We use every cent of the money we receive for students. The citizens of our communities donate to fund so many of the things our students need at school- smart boards, magnetic white boards, teacher trainings, student technology and so much more. These are the type of foundational things that the state should be providing for our students already. Please, for the love, pay teachers more! I just read that the $10,000 supposed pay increase for teachers only includes classroom teachers and is riddled with red tape. Please do not embezzle the taxpayers hard earned money for your own personal gain. The Texas public school children need this money and the teachers, who are so underpaid, are so tired of paying for our own supplies. Where your treasure is, your heart will be also and it looks like you treasure the private school kiddos who already have choice. I am a Christian who chooses to make my local public school better. My precious public school is amazing despite the state's lack of funding. Do not fund vouchers.

Kelly Tyler
Self - special needs mom and special education teacher
Fate, TX

As a special education teacher and a mother of 2 children who are neurodivergent/special needs, these school vouchers trying to be passed are a slap in the face. Private schools can still deny anyone, and almost 100% of the time the students I serve would be at the top of the rejection list. My own children would also most likely be denied entry due to autism and ADHD respectively. Our public schools are severely underfunded, our teachers and aides don't get paid nearly enough, and these vouchers would take even more money away from us. Please think about ALL children, not just those that fit into the box of what perception private schools put off.

Jane Rupp
self -- Speech-language pathologist
Austin, TX

I am a mother of two children who attend public schools in Texas. I am also a speech therapist who has worked in a Texas school district. As a business owner, I understand and appreciate the value of competition in driving positive change. At the same time, I don't see how the voucher system as presented thus far will create healthy competition that will improve our schools. What we really need is more funds going directly toward serving students. The voucher system does not appear to fully account for the needs of children in special education and the limitations families would face in being able to use vouchers for an alternative school option. Creating a voucher program, in my view, puts special education programs and the children within them at significant risk. There is also a risk for students who need 504 accommodations and protections that private school typically does not and will not provide. The voucher system also seems unfair in that only a small percentage of people would be able to benefit from its use. On top of all that, when there is little to no accountability, a program is likely to fail. I see many logistical issues with how the program would be run and can't see how there will be a significant increase in value for students in Texas with the proposed plan.

Adam Dyer
Self- Teacher
Plano, TX

HB3 is an unnecessary and irresponsible attempt at defunding public education. Every instance of "school choice" this century has led to lower scores, worse conditions, and poorer outcomes for everyone involved. A no vote is the only responsible vote.

Jennifer Nelson, Mrs.
Hallsville ISD
HALLSVILLE, TX

House Bill 3 and school vouchers in Texas present significant concerns for public education. HB 3, while aimed at improving school funding and teacher pay, also imposes rigid mandates that burden educators without addressing systemic issues like classroom overcrowding and the need for sustainable long-term funding.

School vouchers, on the other hand, divert public funds to private institutions, which often lack the same accountability and transparency as public schools. This shift undermines already underfunded districts, particularly in rural and low-income communities, where students rely on public education as their primary pathway to success. Instead of improving educational outcomes, vouchers create an inequitable system that prioritizes choice for a few at the expense of the many.

Rather than funneling taxpayer dollars into private education, Texas should focus on strengthening its public school system—ensuring equitable resources, reducing teacher shortages, and providing targeted support for students with diverse learning needs.

Mary Woodard
Self
Desoto, TX

I oppose HB 3 and urge the House to fully fund public education as required by the Texas Constitution. Thank you.

Stephen Cryan
self; home builder, rancher
Sealy, TX

I STRONGLY OPPOSE THIS BILL.

Brandy Shaw
Self, CPA
MISSOURI CITY, TX

I am writing to say that I am against House Bill 3. The republicans in the Texas State legislature have for years underfunded our public schools and held funding hostage for their pet projects. They have literally put the education of 5.5 million Texas children as a low priority and are now prioritizing the wealthy donor and families and not what their constituents want. This bill should be put to a full state vote at the voter level, but you will never do that because it would fail drastically! No one wants this bill, and the voters will remember. We will remember for the next election, and by the Grace of God you will all be voted out for politicians who actually care about all the children in the state and not just the 1%. Welfare for the wealthy is not ok! Giving free money to for profit institutions is not even in the realm of conservative values. And let Abbott know that helping the wealthy over the poor is absolutely against his so called "Christian values" also.

No to vouchers!! Listen to your constituents and not your donors that fill your pockets.

Sandy Heiman
Self
CANYON, TX

Absolutely 100% against school vouchers. They will destroy our public schools and TRS. Please listen to the people, not the politicians.

Laura Hess, Dr
Self/High School Teacher
San Antonio, TX

I would like to advocate for: Significantly increasing the Minimum Salary Schedule to ensure educator starting salaries are at least $45,000. This will help shrink the pay gap between small/rural districts and large/urban districts.
Ensuring all teachers, librarians, counselors, nurses, and diagnosticians with at least two years of experience receive a raise.
Ensuring all educators with five or more years of experience receive a raise of at least $3,000.
Ensuring all educators with nine or more years of experience receive a raise of at least $6,000

Rachelle Ray
Self, concerned mother
North Richland Hills, TX

Vote no to vouchers.

Stephanie McGrew
Self, Homeschool Mom
Killeen, TX

Hello, my name is Stephanie McGrew. I am contacting you regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." I would like to ask Representative Buckley to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you!

Arye Shapiro, Dr.
self, artist/educator
Austin, TX

Everyone deserves a quality education. Most people receive their education in a public school as not everyone can afford private schooling. This bill will shunt funds away from public school systems and toward private schools. Public school systems desperately need additional funding to educate ALL children, including special needs kids. Rural school systems will be especially hard hit by any funding cuts.

Thomas OConnell
Self - CFO
Austin, TX

The Texas Constitution says to fully fund public education in Texas. This bill furthers the gap between fully funded and minimally supported. When 5 students leave a public school for a private one, the public school does not use less electricity, they don't need fewer custodians, in fact, almost nothing changes in the expenses related to those students, but now that school will lose money, and have to employ the same staff, in the same building. In fact, they are still held to the same high standards set forth by Texas.

On the other hand, you will have a private school, with far less accountability to the state and to their students, able deny students with disabilities, employ non-certified teachers, profit off of their school, among other concerns. The state has not had public education fully funded in over a decade, let's try that before siphoning that money to private entities. Please please do not pass this bill.

Patricia Abril-Gonzalez, Dr.

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Representative,

I urge you to stand with Texas families and prioritize the future of our public schools over the interests of private institutions and vendors. This bill is not about empowering students, teachers, and communities—it's about diverting public funds to private entities with no accountability to taxpayers or the state.

As an educator and parent, I see firsthand the devastating impact of underfunding our public schools. This bill threatens to further drain resources from the very institutions that serve the majority of our children. The ones paying the price for this decision are our students and their teachers—those who are already stretched thin and deserve better.

Public schools are the backbone of our communities. They need robust funding to provide quality education, support dedicated educators, and ensure every child has the opportunity to succeed. Please stand with our kids, our teachers, and the future of Texas by rejecting this harmful bill.

Sincerely, Dr. Paty Abril-Gonzalez

Liesal Miller

self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Alec Draganski, Mr.

Self

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Richelle Smithee, Pastor

Self. Pastor

Burleson, TX

I am in support of HB 3. I ask that you please support and pass this bill. Thank you!

Amanda Thomas

Self/cyber security senior analyst

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Lori Sloan

Self

Beaumont, TX

If people want to their kids to private school, they need to for it themselves. They should NOT take it out of the hands of our already underfunded public schools. It isn't fair to anyone!

Jacob Lusk
Self, educator
Longview, TX

I oppose of the school voucher program as outlined in HB 3 for the following reasons. 1) There is no mechanism in place to measure how successful private schools are compared to public schools as private schools are held to lower standards and aren't required to participate in STAAR assessments as public schools are. 2) The core of this bill violates the basic, conservative principles that republican voters share. 3) This bill will establish a segregation of wealth among our communities where the wealthy will use government assistance to fund a private school education and less fortunate students will have no other option than to attend an under-funded public school.

Please vote NO on HB 3. It does not serve the interests of ALL Texas students. School choice already exists, just as for-profit book stores exist along side municipal libraries.

Stephanie Seuser, FAC Teacher
Self
Austin, TX

Education of students is critical for future success for the student their families, cities, counties, states, countries. Texas has both urban and rural students. Both are important. Public schools are the best choice for all students in all areas of the state. All students need monetary support from the legislature. Stop putting money in the pockets of private business and support all students across the state by funding public schools. Private education doesn't support Special Education that money comes from the federal government. Public schools provide education for all students across.

Jacob Lorenzo, Mr
Self
Houston, TX

I am writing today as a firm supporter of school choice and the proposed voucher system for Texas. Parents deserve the right to choose the best education for their children, whether that be public, private, charter, or homeschooling. The future of our students should not be limited by their zip code or financial situation. If we truly want to empower families, we must give them the ability to decide where and how their children are educated.

The voucher system is not about dismantling public education—it's about improving educational outcomes for all students. Competition breeds excellence, and when schools are incentivized to perform at their best, everyone benefits. Public schools will have to innovate and improve, and families will finally have real options that fit their children's unique needs.

For too long, Texas lawmakers have debated this issue while families continue to struggle with underperforming schools and a one-size-fits-all system. Enough is enough. The time to act is now. If legislators fail to pass school vouchers this time, my support will go elsewhere—to candidates and organizations that truly prioritize parental rights and student success.

This issue is not going away. Parents are more engaged than ever, and we demand action. The next election cycle will reflect the choices made today. Texas has the opportunity to lead the nation in educational freedom, and I urge our lawmakers to stand on the right side of history. Pass the voucher system now, or risk losing the trust and support of those who put you in office.

Texas families are watching. Do the right thing.

Myrtha Munoz, Teacher
Self
Canutillo, TX

Vouchers are a joke. Only high income families will qualify, but yet, they don't need the help. Meantime low income families suffer for less school benefits and founding. Public system it's been a blessing, and if it's going down it's because the useless STAAR requirements that put students and teachers and nervous breakdowns.

Meg Young
None
Pinehurst, TX
Say no to this bill !

Elena Cataldo
Self
Spring, TX

Vote NO to the Voicher program! This is a scam to severely defund public schools which should be strengthened to allow ALL children access to excellent education AND allow teachers to be paid a respectable wage! NO to vouchers!!!

Linda Barrett, M.ED
Self
Austin, TX
Don't approve vouchers!

Sara Amanda Reed
Self
Burkburnett, TX

1. Vote "Nay" to HB3. No Vouchers or ESA of any kind.
2. Fund public education through increasing the Basic Allotment by $1100 or more.
3. Pay Texas Teachers with a raise that is not an unfunded mandate or 2 yr sunset bill.

Voting in favor of HB3 will result in being primaried as you do not listen to your constituents.

No Vouchers. No ESA. No Subsidies.

Jandel Crutchfield
Mansfield ISD school board
Mansfield, TX

I urge the opposition against Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) that siphon public resources away from our public schools. ESAs are detrimental to our public education system as they redirect public dollars to private institutions. As per the Economic Policy Institute, this can lead to a disparity in the allocation of funds and potentially widen the gap in educational quality between public and private institutions. Mansfield ISD is a high performing district that deserves to keep its funding in tact for all of the learners in the district. We intentionally hold high standards and go above and beyond to provide staff like instructional coaches to assist teacherd in ensuring their lessons meet each student needs. We have a registered nurse at every campus, and pay the extra money to make this happen even though it isn't a mandate because we value our students. Students are also able to transfer schools within our district should they face any issues on their current campus. We offer a multitude of choice programs in our district including STEM, Fine Arts, P Tech, dual language, early college high school, etc. We cannot afford to have funds divertef away from these programs and continue to remain the high performing district we are. Please do not defund our success.

Katelyn Byler
Self
Mt Enterprise, TX

I oppose using tax dollars to fund ESAs. Parents in Texas have always had a choice. Any use of public funds should include ALL oversight and accountability expected of public school.

Mindy Sullivan

Self

Goliad, TX

I am a retired Texas public school educator with 37 years of experience. I am against vouchers. I live in a small, rural South Texas town. There are no private schools in this town. The closest ones are 30 miles away. People who these vouchers are supposedly for (poor, underprivileged) would have no means of transporting their children. Public funds should not be used for attendance at private religious schools. Private schools do not offer same level of services to sped children and can remove those who do not meet their criteria. Private schools are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. All in all, a terrible bill and idea. NO to vouchers.

Jessica Aaron, Public School Teacher and Parent of 2 Children with Special Needs

Self

Longview, TX

I highly encourage all parents to do research about what is going on right now. Please consider the following to see if HB 3 would benefit your family:

1. A child may not get the supports he or she needs in a private school setting if he or she is struggling. If your child does develop a need for tutoring, intervention, and/or testing, you may have to pay out of pocket for the necessary consults, evaluations, therapies, academic assistance, etc.
2. A private school is not required to implement any strategies included but not limited to differentiated instruction, accommodations, and/or modifications to help a child be successful in the classroom as well as provide inclusion for activities.
3. A private school reserves the right to deny admission or dismiss a student at anytime if a child struggles behaviorally, academically, and/or the family is unable to cover costs.
4. Vouchers alone will not cover the full cost of sending a child to private school. Along with tuition, a parent/guardian is required to cover the cost of registration, meals, supplies, and uniforms(if applicable). Also, this does not include field trip fees, enrichment activities, or extra curricular activities.

In conclusion, HB 3 will provide financial assistance to families who have children that attend private schools. These schools would most likely not be able to accommodate the needs of my two children with special needs. HB3 would not benefit my family due to the fact that my children would not be able to attend private school.

Sheri Cantu

Self

Montgomery, TX

I do not support HB3! We do not want vouchers in Texas. Support public education and not the private entities.

Jennie Birkholz
Self
Round Rock, TX

Vote No
I am a taxpayer, small business owner, parent of two kids that receive special services from public schools and a wife of a public school employee. We are also a strong Christian family, actively involved in our community and schools. When evaluating options for schools for our kids, the only local private school was on our list because our kid went to pre-K there. Despite him already being enrolled, the bar was set too high and we knew he not only would not be accepted but he would not thrive. My child has a dyslexia and other learning disability which put him "behind" in pre-k. He was also curious and a critical thinker and had many questions about God and scripture and was not afraid to ask them. To be accepted into the school you have to submit test scores, grades, letters of support from a pastor and attest your faith in Jesus Christ. As faithful Christians, we believe that a child's faith will grow and with his baptism we commit to growing that as his parents. My tax payer dollars should never go to an entity that would reject a kid based on a statement of faith or already proven academic abilities. Education is where you go to learn, so why would you screen out children that need that very service the most? This is a bad bill that only seeks to float churches that are floundering with decreasing butts in the pews and dollars in the collection plates. I know, because I work with these churches everyday.

Use our taxpayer dollars wisely. They should go to public schools that serve every child, and are the economic backbone of our communities. This is not a R or D issue. This is about doing the right thing for the people of Texas.

Carolyn Franks
Self
Kilgore, TX

I urge you to consider how deep of an impact this bill will make on public education for years to come. As students leave so will teachers. I heard yesterday one of the members said you can have a class size of 15. Tell me where that is possible? We are a small rural district and had to cut 32 employees this year because of our deficit. Those teachers are no longer contributing to TRS. The students in those classes are now spread into other classes, where they were already crowded. I would invite anyone of you to come spend a day in our district observing our students and teachers. Yesterday I heard many speak on how private school teachers have good relationships with their students, and how they are willing to help them any time. Guess what, that happens in our school too. Please be courageous and not a coward! Vote no on HB 3.

Thank you,
Carolyn Franks

Kim Caston
Self - retired
Dallas, TX

I oppose all Vouchers and ESAs. I am a lifelong Republican and will no longer vote Republican in my district if this passes.

LISA PETTY

self - retired educator - 29 years serving Public Education in Texas. TRS Recipient.

CLEBURNE, TX

First, according to TEA Commissioner Mike Morath's testimony at the Public Education Committee meeting on February 25, 2025, presented the following handout:

<https://capitol.texas.gov/.../f8e1a795-659d-43d9-8290...>

According to slide 3 of the handout, Texas families have the "Current Learning Options," which could be rephrased as "Existing School Choice":

Public Charter Schools: 422,930

Virtual and Hybrid Schools: 51,904

Private Schools: 286,624

Homeschool: 494,251

1,255,709 students are in charter, private, homeschool, or online.

230,858 more students are transfers to another public school district.

In other words, they are "not trapped by their zip code."

1,486,567 students are already taking advantage of school choice without the use of my taxpayer dollars. PLEASE STOP calling it school choice - this already exists according to TEA.

Second, Private schools do not have to admit students who need special education services, nor are they required to provide special education services to any admitted students.

How is a voucher to attend a private school beneficial to special needs students?

If the proponents of school choice TRULY want to help low-income and special needs students of Texas, then 100% of the vouchers should go to students who are not currently attending a private school. The data from several states with school choice programs shows that approximately 75% or more of issued vouchers go to students already attending a private school. I believe there are two main reasons for this: 1. Low-income students cannot make up the financial difference between the voucher and the tuition and thus end up not accepting said voucher, which leaves more funding available for other students. 2. Private schools are more than happy to retain students that are already admitted. Please do your due diligence in researching the results of school choice programs in other states and who the actual beneficiaries are:

<https://www.ncpecoalition.org/voucher-recipients>

Thirdly, if the proponents of school choice TRULY want to help low-income and special needs students of Texas, they would visit those students in public schools. The governor's visits to private schools - where hundreds of thousands of students already have school choice without the use of taxpayer dollars - only promote the false narrative that this is for "every" student. The people of Texas see straight through the façade of who Governor Abbott is trying to cater to, and it is far from an altruistic desire to help our low-income and special needs students.

Finally, please review the effect of this legislation on TRS, per the Actuarial Impact statement:

<https://www.capitol.state.tx.us/tlodocs/89R/impactstmts/html/SB00002IA.htm>. It is well known that teachers are so undervalued by our state legislature that we have to secure post-retirement jobs to maintain our meager lifestyle after retirement. Please don't take that meager amount away through ESA legislation.

Faith Barnes

Self

Granbury, TX

I am in opposition of house spill three for many reasons. The most obvious concern for me is as the government you have a constitutional duty to give all children a free education this does not include private entities. If house Bill three is passed this will further damage, the public education system you say is damaged. I do not agree that this bill gives low income or special needs children priority. If this bill was to pass, it should have a cap. I also do not agree with private schools getting my tax dollars for marketing. I beg of you fix the broken system put the money where it belongs until we see address difference. what needs to be changed is the ADA needs to be tied to enrollment not attendance. Put the billions of dollars to students and families in the public school system and beyond that help with mental health counseling or emotionally disturbed children. This is not the bill to pass through for ESA. You will be creating another broken program On my tax dollar.

Jennifer Knight
Self-teacher
Midlothian, TX

As a public school teacher in a title 1 campus, I do not support vouchers. My students would not benefit from losing money for their education being sent to a private school. If money would be released and sent to public schools appropriately, then our students would be properly educated. Instead, we are spending more of our own money, making budget cuts and increasing class sizes due to lack of funding. Vouchers will not hold private schools accountable like public schools, which is not equal or fair. If public dollars are going to private schools, the expectation and accountability needs to be the same as a public school's accountability.

Jennifer Miller
All Students of Texas
Marquez, TX

I oppose HB 3. Public schools should be fully funded. Just as public park dollars don't support private parks and public security dollars don't support private security initiatives for the chosen few, public dollars should not support private schools. Private schools are not mandated to follow state requirements or to allow ALL children attend. If all schools were made to follow the STATE mandates, testing, and entrance requirements then this would make sense. This bill is not setup to improve education for the state of Texas.

Hillary Kaupert
Self
Austin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill. The voucher program is a scam designed to reinstate segregation and further drive disparity between student resources. It is also unconstitutional as it uses my taxpayer dollars to pay for and support religious institutions, which I have no interest in doing - as is my constitutional right. This bill is designed to enrich privatized business at the expense of the taxpayer and our children's educations and futures. I dissent and the people of Texas do NOT support this bill.

Pamela Willey
Self/ Retired teacher
LUBBOCK, TX

I oppose this bill because it will weaken public education, which is already underfunded. Education has been underfunded for several years, and teacher pay in Texas is lagging. It is not fair to give more money to private schools that are mandated to take all students who live in their attendance zone. My grandson, who is Autistic, will not have student choice because private schools do not accept or are not required to offer the services that he needs. I taught in a lower socio-economic area in Lubbock, and these students will not be able to attend a private school because they do not provide transportation. All this bill will do is help people who already attend private schools. Please consider fully funding public schools so that they will continue to provide the best education for all students.

Larry Hosek

Self

Hutto, TX

Vouchers are a blatant attempt to destroy public education. I urge all of you to vote against HB3. Without well funded public schools our democracy will die and you cannot fulfill your constitutional duty:

"A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools."

The legislature has NEVER fully funded public education. That has caused the many issues we have in public education. Especially the neglect you have show to our teachers - it's despicable.

HB3 does nothing to fix public education and will only make it worse. I again urge you to do your constitutional duty and vote against HB3.

-Larry Hosek

Sheryl Horton

self

Austin, TX

I am writing as a former public school teacher and a mother of students who went to public schools for 12 years each. NO PUBLIC FUNDS FOR SCHOOL VOUCHERS. This is only helping those with money to send their children to private schools. Our monies should be used to IMPROVE our public schools, not bleed them dry till they collapse entirely.

Annette Wills, Grandmother

Self/Grandson

Weatherford, TX

I say NO to Vouchers, ESA's, whatever you decide to call them. I say NO! Parents already have school choice: public school, private school, or home school. Our schools aren't underperforming, they are under-funded.

Jennifer Tacon

Self, teacher

Waco, TX

I have been a school teacher for over 20 years. By diverting public funds from public schools, HB 3 will weaken already underfunded public schools. Teaching is already a difficult profession and feeling unsupported by my elected officials makes it even harder.

Taylor Nelson

Self - marketing director

Pflugerville, TX

No to school vouchers! This takes away money from public schools and gives it to families who can already afford private schools.

Kortni Harris
Eustace ISD
Mabank, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Thank you,
Kortni Harris

Billie Curtis
Self
Burleson, TX

Vote no to vouchers! Our tax dollars should not go to private schools. Fund our public schools! This has been voted on multiple times and has failed because Texas residents do not want this! Vote No!!!

Judy Whitley
Self
Dripping Springs, TX

I am a retired teacher and a grandmother to a child with Down Syndrome. I oppose the school voucher program. Private schools are not going to be able to meet her needs, and neither will public schools if there isn't adequate funding.

Jennifer Mills
Self
Spring, TX

I am a teacher in public school, a parent of public school and I went through public schools to obtain my master's degree in family therapy. The funding that is currently given to schools is based on attendance. If students are not at school, I still have to plan to teach them but yet my school only gets money if the student shows up. That is not the same deal being proposed in this bill. There are no strings attached to the private schools getting money and they are not required to do all the testing that the state of Texas mandates us to do. The district already must pay for transportation for students or as a great state of Texas- we are willing to say Texans should not be educated??

The students I have that try public schools typically come back within one year or less, would their money come back to public school? The students that try private school, which there is no legislation dictating what they have to teach or not teach so they may not be taught, typically come back within big gaps in there learning. I am extremely disappointed in our states lack of funding for children's education. This will be another chapter in the history book for future Texans to learn about and how embarrassing that politicians cannot make decisions for all children.

Cynthia Walker
Self
Allen, TX

I oppose HB3.

Katie Saylor
Self
San Antonio, TX

Please vote NO for vouchers.

Shonda Cady
Self
Dallas, TX

I oppose HB 3

Rachel Harris
Self
Coppell, TX

I am concerned that pushing school vouchers will undo neighborhoods, penalize communities and weaken the overall well-being of the residents of Texas. I was born and raised in North Texas and am raising five children here. We have benefited from public education. I started substituting in the schools during Covid to keep schools open. I often sub in sped classrooms as well one-on-one with students who need additional help. I fear the resources would be depleted for these kids who are showing up and trying. I see exponential benefits of educating everyone. Please do not support school vouchers. States who've implemented this program has not seen growth. It has harmed overall education and devastated communities. A strong community is based on a well educated community. It is our duty to provide strong education to the residents of Texas and not a select few who would benefit from "school choice." I would be happy to further share my thoughts as needed. God bless, Rachel Harris

Kathryn Langley, Ms.
Self
Austin, TX

I am strongly opposed to using public tax dollars to fund education savings account. I will not list all of the reasons for my opposition to this bill, but I will say that using tax payers dollars to fund private schools (which is usually what education saving accounts are) is fundamentally wrong. I firmly believe (and polls reflect) the majority of Texans are opposed to this bill.

Melissa Gray
self
Nevada, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Patrick Balaguer
Self/Account Manager at database company
Austin, TX

I am not in agreement with vouchers for private schools. This will drain tax dollars from public schools, who must take all children. Private schools can pick and choose. Vouchers for private schools will hurt our public schools, and is a mis-use of my tax dollars.

Tyler Farrer
Self - Banker
Wylie, TX

Vote NO to school vouchers. Vouchers will pull funding from our public schools which are already underfunded. Our public schools need more support, not less. School vouchers will primarily benefit those who are already in private schools while causing a significant strain on the state budget. Public tax dollars do NOT need to be used to fund private schools which have no accountability. Support our administrators, teachers, and students by voting NO to school vouchers.

Susan Rader

Self

Dallas, TX

Against vouchers. Money for public schools should go to public schools. I attended DISD public schools and graduated from a public high school to attend a public state college.

My father was a teacher after he completed his Master's through the GI Bill at SMU. He later became a principal in DISD.

Public schools work if you fund them accordingly. Give teachers and public schools the funding that is being withheld from our children. Public schools work!

Yolanda Morales

Self

Harlingen, TX

Vote no for school vouchers

Elizabeth Gray

Self--retired

Austin, TX

NO to vouchers--do not privatize our schools. Thank you.

Kebran Alexander

Self

Dallas, TX

I am against any expenditure of public education dollars into the private school market that falls outside of IDEA and IDEIA (Special Education) requirements. Further, I believe that all local money should be required to stay in the geographical area of the state and district from which it was taken. The investments in public education are investments into the future of our workforce. We should look to improve our product with focused spending rather than water down our educational opportunities by diluting the impact of state dollars by increasing the number of potential recipients of the same state dollars.

Cassandra Osterhoudt, Mrs.

self, legal assistant

Arlington, TX

Representative Buckley: My name is Cassandra Osterhoudt, and I live in Arlington, Texas. I was born and raised in Texas and attended public school growing up. I am forever grateful for all my teachers during those years, and for the experiences I had. I was very involved in band from 7th grade through 12th grade, and then joined the Goin Band from Raiderland. I have two boys in public school right now. One in 5th grade and one in 9th grade. Both of them have had excellent teachers and experiences while in public school. My oldest is in band and plans on joining marching band next year. They have both really excelled in their classes thanks to teachers who truly invest in their students. It is, and has been, my choice to send my children to public school. If I wanted to send to private school or charter school, then I would. I believe they are getting a great education where they are at in public school. Vouchers/ESAs, whatever you want to call them, are not what is best for Texas. It is truly sad that funds are being withheld from public schools so the Governor can appease donors. Put public money into public schools! Thank you for your time.

Erik Wilson, Hon.

Dallas ISD Parent

DALLAS, TX

Why I Oppose HB 3 as a Proud DISD Parent

House Bill 3 (HB 3) imposes unfunded mandates on school districts like Dallas ISD while failing to address the real issues affecting students, teachers, and families. Instead of investing in education, this bill forces schools to redirect resources away from classrooms to comply with state-imposed security requirements.

Unfunded Mandates Strain School Budgets

HB 3 requires costly security upgrades without providing the necessary funding. While school safety is a priority, forcing districts to cut programs, raise taxes, or shift funds away from student learning is not the solution. The state should fully fund safety measures rather than leaving schools to bear the burden alone.

Takes Resources Away from Student Learning

Schools already face budget shortfalls, and HB 3 forces them to prioritize compliance over education. This means fewer resources for STEM programs, arts, mental health support, and teacher salaries—all essential to student success. Instead of improving learning conditions, the bill diverts funds from where they are needed most.

Fails to Address Teacher Shortages & Public School Funding

Texas faces a teacher shortage crisis, yet HB 3 does nothing to raise salaries, reduce class sizes, or support educators. Retaining quality teachers should be a top priority. Still, this bill ignores teacher attrition's root causes and adds new bureaucratic burdens on schools.

Lacks Community & Parental Input

As a DISD parent, I believe education policy should reflect local needs and not be dictated by state mandates. HB 3 was passed without meaningful input from parents, teachers, or administrators. Schools should be given the flexibility to determine the best safety measures rather than being forced into one-size-fits-all solutions.

A Better Approach

Instead of HB 3, the state should:

- ? Fully fund school safety without cutting student programs
- ? Raise teacher salaries and improve retention efforts
- ? Engage parents, teachers, and administrators in decision-making
- ? Support mental health resources as part of a holistic safety plan

Conclusion

HB 3 fails our students, teachers, and schools by prioritizing mandates over meaningful solutions. As a parent and community advocate, I strongly oppose this bill. I will continue fighting for policies that genuinely strengthen public education in Dallas and beyond.

Lorraine Hammer

School Counselor

Austin, TX

Vouchers are not a positive for Texas families. Schools already suffer from low enrollment, losing funding due to property tax disparities. Trying to retain teachers and staff. Students deserve to receive the best public education at all Texas schools.

Alison Clare

Self (certified teacher, LMSW, JD)

Austin, TX

Hello, my name is Alison Clare and I am a constituent in zip code 78735. I am writing to voice my opposition to HB 3. I am asking my Representative and this Committee to vote no and to instead fully fund public education. We already have meaningful school choice in Texas - what we need are resources so that our public schools can deliver the education that each child in Texas deserves, and that which has already been mandated, with accountability and due process ensuring that delivery. We do not need resources for privatized schools to thrive with no or little accountability to the public. I don't believe proponents of this bill can point to any examples of similar laws in other states achieving any of the objectives that are the supposed motivation for this bill. To the contrary, voucher systems like this are a failed experiment, and if this bill moves forward, this will predictably harm more families than it helps. Thank you.

Holly Anderson
Self - General Counsel
Houston, TX

As a rational person who is beholden to no donor I oppose this bill. Providing vouchers only benefits those who can already afford to send their children to private school and does so at the expense of gutting public school funding. It is our responsibility as taxpayers and yours a legislators to fund a functional public school system that provides equal access to educational experiences for all children. Public school dollars should not fund school that lack accountability and do not satisfy the requirements applicable to other u schools. Private schools do not have to accept children with learning disabilities and can provide whatever education they choose. Many rural areas don't even have access to private schools. Texas parents already have the choice to educate their children in whatever manner they choose - homeschool and private schools included. We do not need to divert public funds from public schools to provide choice. This is the clear request of big donors putting pressure on the governor who in turn pressures the republican legislators. It is not in the best interest of Texas or the voters.

Nathan Bray
self
McKinney, TX

To whomever this may concern,

My name is Nathan Bray. I attended school in the McKinney Independent School District for almost every grade. I consider myself blessed for being zoned for this district in particular, for it has sought excellence in education for the duration of my time there. I especially feel gratitude for my special education coaches. I was put on a 504 plan for something called a processing delay, which I now think had something to do with a later diagnosis of inattentive type ADHD. The person I am today is one who loves to learn and is not afraid to study a difficult subject. Though one can never be certain of the would-have-beens in life, I surely doubt that I would still be as curious as persistent, if it were not for the model staff of McKinney ISD. They showed me that my learning disability does not bar me from academic success.

What brings me to write this open letter is my concern for the wellness of all public schools in Texas if ever the voucher program is implemented. What programs might shrink if a voucher program siphons funds out of the public system? Will there be fewer special education teachers on staff, and will all of the next generation of students receive the needed interventions to succeed? I understand that not every public school passes muster. A year in an intercity school in Phoenix has kept me from becoming complacent about one's quality of education, and it saddens me to think that not every school in the U.S. manages to deliver the same level of support to its students. We can all hope for a day where each school district is in a place where it can pursue excellence and not just survival.

We must do more than hope, because society is built from, and is maintained by, the efforts of the many. I think of 1 Corinthians 12:21-26 that speaks of how vital each part of our body is, and how they are all co-equal to each other. Like the organs in our body, each professional is dependent on the efforts of other professionals for their industry to prosper. This is the reason why I never want to be shopping for the best private schools in town. I want the public school to be pursuing excellence, for what good does it do for me to afford the best private school for my would-be children, if the state on the whole is in decline, because it has chosen to not invest in itself?

I have full confidence in what a well supported public school can provide for Texans. I ask that we do not divert funds from the public school system with a voucher program, or do anything else that would tie the hands of our teachers.

Respectfully,

Nathan Bray

Jaclyn Wiggins-Camacho

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students. As the President of Reed Elementary PTA and a parent of two kids who attend public schools, I've personally seen how public education provides so many benefits. I would rather see our state fund and improve our public schools than funneling it into private schools.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Kylan Francis

Self

Silverton, TX

Vouchers are not the way to help education in Texas. The only people who will benefit are the ones who are already paying for private schools. They can already afford to pay for their kids to attend private school, why should the citizens of Texas be required to pay for their choice. We need the legislators of Texas to focus on fixing the public school system by removing the STAAR mandates that are making our kids stupid. The government focusing solely on a standardized test that wants to trick our kids instead of seeing if they have learned a topic. Our kids have lost the ability to problem solve and it is because of how our teachers are required to teach because of the standards set by the government! No one in rural Texas or low income neighborhoods want vouchers and HB 3, we want our public school system to get better and removing the 'smart and rich' kids out of the public school system isn't the answer. I don't know what Governor Abbott gets by pushing this agenda but we need our legislators to step up and vote for what the people want. Vote NO!

Cassie Thomasson

Self educational diagnostician

Keller, TX

Sometimes when I think about all of us in public education absolutely busting our butts to educate ALL children while you sit on the outskirts and make asinine attempts to defund public schools I am too angry to function.

Parents already select where their kids can attend school by living in a district or attending elsewhere. School "choice" is an absolute sham and fear grab and every single person pushing for it knows it. If you actually cared about students with disabilities you wouldn't have gutted MHMR. If you actually cared about communities you would know strong public schools lead to strong communities. If you actually cared about ALL students you would know that public school are rural kids only option. If you actually cared about individuals with disabilities I wouldn't have parents crying in ARDs because they have no where for their 22 + age student to go because facilities cannot keep their doors open. How many of you have stepped foot in a public school? Walked the halls, met the teachers? I'll personally invite you out to central high school in Keller Isd. While our PAC bought school board has fraudulently misappropriated THOUSANDS of dollars in funds adults still show up for the most vulnerable of our society day in and day out. No raise, no step increase. While having to wear armour for the way parents speak to us because you and yours have used fear mongering as a tactic to push your ... or should I say your handlers ... agenda. While doing more with substantially less me and my team maintain dignity, overcome insurmountable obstacles, and ensure student progress. Stop with the crap. FULLY Fund public schools and let those who wish to educate their children in private schools (schools that do not have to accept children with disabilities) continue to put their money where they would like. So no to this house bill. The other option is to put it to a vote and let your constituents make the choice. You are a party of people to say they hate government overreach, yet from where I am standing yall are nothing but arms grabbing things that don't belong to you and not releasing money to the most vulnerable and impacted of all Texans. Grow up.

Stephanie Hardy

Self, financial analyst.

Lumberton, TX

I am in support of education vouchers for Texas. I went to school in a district with multiple elementary, middle, and high school campuses. The quality of education varied greatly from on school to the next. My sister and I went to two different set of schools (by using a relatives address) because my education was so sub par. I know so many parents of kids from my high school that would have loved the opportunity to send their kids to a different school to give them a better education.

Donna Wright

Self/teacher

Mansfield, TX

Vouchers have no place in Texas. Fully fund public schools and let us reach ALL Texas students! Voting for vouchers is the surest way to guarantee catastrophic results for our children's futures.

Linda Akins

Self. Retired

Haltom City, TX

I oppose the efforts to establish a school voucher program. This will rob public schools of much needed funds and use taxpayer dollars to help wealthy families. Middle income and poor families cannot afford private schools, even with voucher funds. We need to support public education in Texas.

Janine Fields

Self

Mesquite, TX

I am strongly opposed to the education savings account program. It is clear that through this entire process there has been no attempt to put in place true accountability measures for the recipients of this funding. As long as private schools do not have the same expectations or accountability as public schools, public funds should never be used in this manner. I am a taxpayer and a consistent voter, and I strongly oppose this bill.

In addition, the use of taxpayer dollars to fund programming and curriculum that is religiously based clearly violates the separation of church and state.

Mary Jane Hetrick, Dr.

Self

Austin, TX

Riley Gaines, an advocate for fairness on the playing field, recently visited our Texas Capitol on behalf of ESA proponents. The irony is that ESAs as currently championed are analogous to athletes like Riley being forced to compete with hands tied behind their backs while wearing weighted vests. Alternative schooling options cannot impartially be compared to a public school district unless there are the same accountability standards for student outcomes, including the same testing mechanism, the same fiscal performance and budget transparency requirements, open records and meetings, and provision of the same special education and other required services, including Individualized Education Plans as determined by an ARD committee. Otherwise, public school districts are being forced to compete on an uneven, unfair playing field.

While I also feel strongly that a voucher system is not fiscally conservative and I'm horrified at the creation of an entirely new level of bureaucracy at a time when we are supposed to be looking for areas to cut, from what I have heard, you are hearing that message from the multitudes. So, I will highlight one other area that does not seem to be discussed as much, and that is the unintended consequence of public tax dollars going to religious schools (e.g., Muslim schools, Hindu schools) that do not believe in the same God. Again, ironic given the number of bills focused on The Ten Commandments, "In God We Trust" signs, prayer in schools, etc. I will highlight a couple of articles covering this eventuality in other states. From The Brunswick News/Orlando Sentinel (3/16/23): "Most Florida students using state vouchers to pay for private school spend their scholarships at religious schools, as their parents select campuses where lessons from the Bible, the Torah and the Quran are taught alongside traditional academics. At two of Central Florida's Islamic schools, girls must wear hijabs, a head covering worn by some Muslim women, as part of their school uniforms. IBN Seena Academy — its mission to nurture children "in an Islamic environment" free of the "evils of modern society" — and Leaders Preparatory School combined received more than $1.6 million in taxpayer-funded scholarships this school year to educate more than 430 students." (https://thebrunswicknews.com/news/national_news/taxpayer-funded-vouchers-in-florida-go-mostly-to-religious-schools-pay-for-it-yourself-rabbi/article_a93761f9-3ea0-5ca8-af33-42b9dee16da2.html.) And, from WFAE in Charlotte, NC (7/4/23): "Mecklenburg County's top recipient was Intellicor International Academy, an Islamic school on the grounds of the Muslim Education Center in east Charlotte. It got almost $1.3 million for 214 students." (<https://www.wfae.org/education/2023-07-04/ncs-school-voucher-program-pays-for-a-lot-of-religious-education>.)

There are just so many reasons to oppose vouchers or ESAs with public tax dollars.

Christy Bowling, Mrs.

Self, public school principal

McGregor, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Juli Miller

Self

Freeport, TX

Public funds should go to public schools. Vouchers, school choice, education savings programs do not work as we've seen in other states. Money should be put into improving public schools. Funding for teacher raises, student resources, special education, smaller class sizes, fine arts etc. All Texas students deserve a good education not only the rich ones. A generation of poorly educated citizens serves no benefit to anyone. In a state as wealthy as Texas, it's abhorrent that more money is not spent on Public education. Shame on everyone who supports this bill!

Taylor Kraft

Self, maritime

Celina, TX

By doing this you'd be taking away funding from public schools that truly need it and be forcing students to go schools that don't truly care about them

Amanda Gavin

Self

Princeton, TX

No, I don't want vouchers.

Marlene Bullard

Self

Tornillo, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than 11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with 4.6 billion spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Wren Fair

Self

San Antonio, TX

Please do not support HB3, which gives public education money to private schools. These schools don't have to serve students with disabilities and many counties in Texas don't have a private school options. My son is entering kindergarten this year and I want him to have a well funded public option. Free, quality K-12 education makes our state stronger and more competitive globally. Don't sell out Texas students and teachers with this bill.

Cheri Liess

Abernathy ISD

Abernathy, TX

Please vote "no" on the school choice bill. Students in rural areas do NOT have school choice. Students in rural areas need to have their needs met where they live - which is not near a private school - and your voucher to "help them" will not cover transportation OR tuition.

Please FUND our PUBLIC SCHOOLS. And please, please, listen to those who voted for you and not outside money who has a school choice already.

Carlie Fullam, Mrs

Self

Hutto, TX

Please vote no!! We do not support this bill.

Heather Wells, Mrs.

Self

Midland, TX

Make our public schools better by increasing funding per student instead of giving it to private school vouchers! Rural areas and children with disabilities won't benefit from vouchers. As a public school employee, we don't want this. Vote no!

Cristina Deleon
Self, Public School Teacher
Royse City, TX

We, the people, teachers, and parents of Texas demand you to say NO to HB 3 and school vouchers. As a public school teacher we know that these vouchers will only cover a small fraction of the 5.5 million students in Texas. We KNOW school choice is already an option in Texas — how do we know? We currently use the “open-enrollment” option for our son to send him out-of-district to attend the public school of our choice. Don’t choose to make everyday life worse for our public school children and teachers by depriving them of funds to succeed.

We also know private schools do not require teachers to be certified nor do they have to accept every student (or accommodate them.) This is UNETHICAL to push this on Texas families, their children, and taxpayers. Texas Teachers and Parents DO NOT support leaving any child behind - we believe in and support Public Schools and you should too. We must fight for EVERY child like they are our own.

SAY NO to HB 3. Help preserve our education system not DESTROY IT! Thank you for your time.

Deanna Clemens
Self
Pflugerville, TX

As a school psychologist who worked with at risk students and students with disabilities for close to 20 years, I beg you not to do School vouchers. These accounts will be appealing to parents of kids with disabilities who often feel their kids are overlooked or that they have to fight to have their needs met. But if they get a voucher, then they have to find a school that will take their child and that can provide the types of services they need. And if the school says that they can they still have to waive all of their federal rights under IDA? Their children will no longer have protections. There is no recourse if their children are not getting the services that they need. And you know where they’ll go back to when the private school says oh sorry we can’t help your child. They’ll go right back to the public school because the public school can’t say no to any students. It’s completely unfair. That private schools are not held to the same standards of accountability and that parents of children’s disabilities would have to give up their rights to try and experiment to see if the private school can meet their needs and if they can’t meet their needs, their child is just lost a year or more of education. Public dollars need to go to pay for our already underfunded schools pay to give more special education pay to pay teachers more do not give taxpayer money to families for private school. The only constituents you want this are those who already have their kids in private school look at other states this is a failed experiment.

Skylar Plunkett
Fort Worth Independent School District
Fort Worth, TX

This bill will only help those already paying for private education.

Linda Perkins
Self
Abilene, TX

I am totally opposed to any tax money being used to pay for private schools. As a retired teacher, I've watched legislators bleed the public schools dry for decades. If you couldn't fully fund public schools for the 30 years you've been in power, you have no business funding private schools. Your gimmick (by whatever name you choose to call it) is nothing but transferring money to the families who have plenty to pay for their children's education if they choose to not send their kids to public schools in their community. It is nothing but providing a stipend for the higher income families and starving the disadvantaged and difficult to educate. Curriculum can be designed to teach whatever they choose with no state accountability or consistent standards. Other states have tried this and it never goes well for taxpayers. Put all the money you're proposing for your gimmick into public schools and watch what can happen to improving education in Texas schools. You owe it to the families and children in Texas to look out for all their interests. VOTE NO FOR ANY VOUCHER BILL!

Briana Aguilar

Self

Alice, TX

I do not support school vouchers. Tax dollars are for public schools.

Verna Mages, Mrs.

Self - Retired

Lindsay, TX

Please vote no on school vouchers. We need to support our public school system.

Lauren Ehrlich

Self, teacher

Weatherford, TX

As a supporter of Texas public schools, I am writing to express my opinion on House Bill 3.

I oppose HB3 and educational savings accounts/vouchers in any form.

Support our public education system & our Texas children over corporations, profit & billionaires.

Texas students deserve strong, well-funded public schools. I'm asking that you ensure all schools that receive state funding are held to the same transparency requirements, accountability standards, and enrollment practices as public schools.

Thank you for your time and commitment to Texas public schools.

Angelica Stoner

Self

Austin, TX

To whom it may concern:

As a parent and a concerned taxpayer, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed school voucher system that would use public funds to reimburse families for private school tuition. While I respect the right of parents to choose private education for their children, I firmly believe that taxpayer dollars should not subsidize that choice.

Public education is the foundation of a strong, thriving society. Every child deserves access to a well-funded, high-quality education, regardless of their background or their family's financial status. Redirecting public funds to private schools weakens our public education system and undermines its ability to serve all students.

This bill would also make families with considerable financial means eligible for vouchers, allocating taxpayer money to individuals who do not need the assistance. Private school is a luxury, and it should not be publicly funded at the expense of the schools that serve the vast majority of our children. Instead of diverting funds away from public schools, we should be investing in their improvement—raising teacher salaries, reducing class sizes, expanding resources, and ensuring that every child has access to a world-class education.

I urge you to reject this proposal and prioritize strengthening our public schools, which serve as the cornerstone of opportunity and economic prosperity for our state.

Thank you for your time,
Angelica Stoner

Emily Perry

Self, Bookkeeper and MOTHER

Austin, TX

I am adamantly opposed to the school voucher scam that Abbott is pushing to benefit his wealthy donors. It clearly does not benefit the nearly 5 million students in Texas' public schools. If passed, this scam will lead to decreased funding for public schools, as well as increase segregation and inequality in Texas. I am not good with words, so will keep this short. But we all know this is bad news for Texas. This voucher program will be used to undermine public education and further prove that our state is not serious about improving the quality of public schools. FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND LEAVE PRIVATE, PRIVATE - AS THE LITERAL TITLE DESCRIBES, IT IS PRIVATE AND SHOULD STAY THAT WAY. Please do what is right for our kids. They are our future and we depend on our lawmakers to act in the majority's best interest, and not that of the elite 1%.

Marissa Banegas

Self

Bedford, TX

This bill is not what's best for ALL students. If we put the money going towards these vouchers back into our public schools we truly would be working toward the good of EVERY Texas kiddo. This bill will help a handful of students while harming the majority. With that in mind, please vote against this bill.

Gloria Brown, Ms

Self/retired

Blanco, TX

As proud product of Texas Public Schools & a Texas Public University I am shocked & appalled that our RICH state with MILLIONS of dollars in rainy day fund can not fully fund public schools & is trying to destroy what our tax dollars are meant to support PUBLIC schools NOT private schools! Public funds belong in public schools ONLY! I do not support vouchers/ school choice etc whatever you call it. The idea still STINKS!

Cassandra Barreda

Self

Brownsville, TX

Against

Abigail Hernandez

Self- parent

Dallas, TX

I want to express my strong opposition to the school voucher scheme, HB 3 and ask Texas to vote against it.

Public funds should stay in our public schools, not be divvied up to unaccountable private schools. Do not sell out our kids for billionaire donors — Texas families are watching.

I implore our representatives to vote NO on school vouchers and stand for strong public schools, not corporate billionaires.

Private citizen cannot take funds from the Texas Parks to redo their backyards. Nor take from the Texas highway fund to redo private driveways. Public monies should remain for public schools

Gloria Vela, Ms.

Self

San Antonio, TX

I do not want my school district to lose $23,522,042 and force parents to drive so their kids will get an education.

William Shelby

Self

Boerne, TX

While HB 3 looks well intentioned on the surface, it leaves no room for public tax dollars to be siphoned off for private education. These lottery conditions may be the only political way you can propose a bill that "appears" to help those most in need, but we both know those most in need either don't have enough to fund private education even with an ESA or private schools won't accept students with special needs making your prioritization just a ruse to satisfy those who might be less informed. I have read nothing in the HB 3 summary that says how many students this bill might actually positively impact nor any research after implementation in similar states that support the bill. I recommend going back and looking at more research on how ESAs have impacted other states longer than standard election cycles. Remember students are in schools for 12 years or more while election cycles are as short as 2 years.

Patricia Carey

Concern Grandmother

Arlington, TX

The passion of this bill will be detrimental to the public education. It will not help special needs so all the special needs that it's been done now with Texas public schools will be lost. We have a lot of kids that depend on that and need that and now we do have a choice of schools you can go to you. Can you can go to any school you want to But now you're taking money from taxpayers giving it to people that have the sources to go to a private school or whatever do not pass this bill please you would hurt Texas school students.

Jane Aguirre, Dr

Self/Retired

Temple, TX

I support School Choice. Public school has failed for decades academically. It makes sense to provide for the education of the public by distributing the taxed dollars back to families for school selection of their choice. Forcing children to attend substandard public schools is poor governance. HB 3 addresses the issue for a limited number of Texas students initially, hopefully with expansion in coming years. Thank you for your prioritization of students over politics.

Alison Prince

Self, Program Manager

Pflugerville, TX

Do not use our tax dollars to fund these private school vouchers, which truly only end up benefiting the middle and upper classes who can already afford these. I say this as an upper class citizen that we must take care of the those who cannot afford proper education. If you are truly Christians and people of God you will look inside your hearts and understand that we must not pass this bill. Funding MUST remain with public schools.

Luke Orth

Self, Social Worker

HOUSTON, TX

Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) threaten public education by diverting critical funding from already underfunded schools. Redirecting taxpayer dollars to private accounts reduces resources for the majority of students who rely on public education.

ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families who can supplement costs, widening educational inequality and limiting opportunities for lower-income students. Additionally, private schools lack the accountability and oversight required of public schools, raising concerns about transparency and quality.

Rather than weakening public education, we should invest in strengthening it. Please oppose this bill and instead increase the base allotment by $4,000 per student to align Texas with the top 25 states in education funding.

SAMUEL BOULTON

Self

Austin, TX

No

Stephen Wyman, Mr.

Self: retired

Georgetown, TX

There does not appear to be any benefit for public schools in this bill. The credit for private school vouchers, though it might be couched in non-threatening language, offers naught but less money for the far more important function of properly funding the public schools of Texas. Directly fund only public schools. No to the, "savings account program."

Julie Davis

Self

Sherman, TX

Texans do not want school vouchers. We want our public schools funded. Voucher scam is welfare for the rich.

Kayla Allen

Self

Bullard, TX

As a public school teacher I am strongly opposed to giving state funds to private schools. We work very hard under strict guidelines and are held accountable for our students' performance on state testing. Private schools will be getting this funding with none of that affecting them. We keep hearing and reading that "this doesn't take away from public school money..." However, if a student goes to a private school under this proposal, the daily allotment from that child goes away. Also, the daily allotment is severely lower than what you want to give parent to go to private school - even with raising it! To add to that, the daily allotment is affected by a student's attendance - it is not a blanket amount. Our profession is being diminished by our governor, legislators and representatives and it is affecting the numbers of graduates going into education. Our governor has held billions of dollars hostage that could be giving teacher raises, raising base salaries to make our profession more inviting and instead of doing any of this he just keeps pushing his own personal agenda. If the voucher system is really what you believe the people of Texas want, then put it to a statewide vote and let the people decide. Because the people who have been elected to represent us are not listening.

Kim Barton, Dr

Myself

Boerne, TX

I'm opposed to school vouchers when it means diverting public school district funds away from public school districts. Please fully fund our public schools.

Susan Terese
Self
San Antonio, TX

This is unacceptable and will bankrupt our public schools. I am so tired of Texas children getting the least amount of funding for their health and education. This is the future of our state and we want them to be healthy and competent. Private schools are mostly Christian in Texas and many do not even teach proper history and evolution. Public school needs to separate from religion as the law states, separation of church and state. Our public school systems give children so many opportunities and benevolent teachers give so much of themselves, they deserve more from our state government. If Texas is the land of opportunity then show it by properly funding our public school system and keep our tax dollars in the system. I have had 3 children go through the Texas public school system and have so many unique experiences from band, chess club, Latin competitions, varsity soccer, dance, journalism and French honor society, their teachers and these programs have taught them so many invaluable life skills. Please don't bankrupt our school system. These teachers that have meant so much can't take another cut their pay and a failing public school system. The voucher program will not work for public schools as it has not worked in other states. I will be leaving this state of this bill passes. It is too sad for our children to not have funding for education and bright futures.

Libby Johnson
Self - Homemaker
Temple, TX

There's no way to spin the ESA bill in a good light. Funneling public school funds that are already scarce to essentially cut more privileged parents a discount for private school is not okay. We already have school choice. All this will do is hurt a massive group of vulnerable children. The general Texas population is largely against this; take a look at Governor Abbott's public Facebook page to see just a sampling of the people upset about it. This bill is NOT for ALL Texas children. It needs to die in the House.

Alicia Olshanski

Self

San Angelo, TX

As a concerned constituent, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the school voucher proposal, HB 3. This bill threatens to siphon vital funding away from our public schools, compromising the quality of education for the majority of children in our community.

Public education is a cornerstone of our society, offering equitable opportunities to all students, regardless of their background or socioeconomic status. School vouchers undermine this fundamental principle by diverting public funds to private institutions that often lack the same standards of accountability and transparency. These programs widen inequalities, leaving already underfunded public schools burdened with greater challenges and even fewer resources.

Our public schools not only educate our children but also serve as the heart of our communities, fostering inclusivity, diversity, and civic engagement. Instead of dismantling these institutions, we should be working to strengthen them. I implore you to listen to the voices of your constituents who value a strong public education system. Please stand with us and vote against HB 3.

Governor Abbott's persistent efforts to withhold public school funding in pursuit of his voucher agenda represent an alarming disregard for the well-being of Texas students and communities. For years, his actions have jeopardized the future of countless children to advance a scheme that Texans have overwhelmingly rejected. The blatant manipulation of public funds for private gain is not only unjust but deeply unethical.

Moreover, it is troubling that the governor continues to push a policy that stands to benefit his own family, as his wife serves on the board of a new private school in Dripping Springs. Such a conflict of interest raises serious questions about integrity and transparency. Texans deserve better than these dishonest and self-serving practices.

HB 3 is nothing more than welfare for the wealthy. Passing this bill will cause irreparable harm to our public education system, driving hardworking families out of our state in search of better opportunities.

I urge you to protect the integrity of public education and the future of Texas students by opposing HB 3. Our children, communities, and state deserve policies that build up our schools, not tear them down.

Barbara Yerby

WCRTA

Taylor, TX

Vouchers are devastating for public schools, teachers, retired teachers, students, etc. There are many reasons why we should not have our public taxes pay for private schools. We know that Abbott was given money to pass vouchers and students are not the reason why. Many private schools are not accredited and many of their teachers are not certified. They are not held accountable to the state. Give the money Abbott is holding hostage to the public schools where it belongs and not to private schools. Keep separation of church and state. If a parent wants their children to go to private schools, they can find a way to pay for it. If public schools had the money they needed, we wouldn't be 44th on the country.

Jennifer Garcia

Self

Lubbock, TX

Please say NO to this bill. Homeschool parents don't want it. Public school teachers don't want it. Education needs an overhaul, but this is not the way. Homeschooling families want government meddling nowhere near their children. This is why than ran from public education to begin with. I've been watching many comments under the posts of different reps, influencers, as well as Gov. Abbott. There is little to no support for this. Please scrap it. Do something, but not this!

Respectfully,
Jennifer Garcia

Kryisia Lynes

Kryisia Lynes

Houston, TX

I am the parent of a special needs child who attends private school. I should be happy about this bill because it will benefit me. However, I am aware that I am extraordinarily privileged because I live in a city with many private school options, including ones for children with special needs and I have the financial wherewithal to pay the higher tuition that is needed to provide these children with an appropriate education.

My child was refused admission to the neighborhood school as a result of the magnet program allowing the school to select against him. His test scores will not improve a school's performance.

The fact is that many families do not have $25k-$50k pre-voucher and that even if they did, most schools have waiting lists and are pretty competitive. Private school turn down more difficult candidates regularly.

Parents want a good education for their children. Underinvestment in public schools has created the situation where a decent education is simply not available to many families within the public school system. Given inadequate public schools, of course parents want an alternative. But what they would prefer is a public school system where their children are safe and they receive a good education that meets their needs.

Rather than vouchers to further impoverish the public system and enriching private schools, we should be investing in the public system ensuring that we as a society live up to the promise of caring for each other and building a better society.

In other jurisdictions that have implemented vouchers, schools have increased tuition in an amount similar to what is paid. The data is not promising. Polling to ask if parents want a better education for their children is meaningless at best.

I will say that the suggestion binding the amount available for vouchers to public education spending is commendable. But for children with special needs, it will not make a difference: there are not enough spaces in private schools and it is not something that the profit motive can solve.

Please invest in public schools. Educate the children of the great state of Texas.

Natalie Betts, AVP Sustainability

Self, AVP Sustainability

Austin, TX

As a Texas parent of an elementary student, I strongly oppose this bill. This will take resources away from our public school systems, which offer all Texans transparency, accountability, and reliability, none of which is offered by private schools that would receive our public funds under this program. We need to be focused on investing in the success of our public schools. Please vote no.

Ladhawndra Elmore

Self

Midlothian, TX

I do not agree with the voucher system. It is not equitable to all.

Belinda Villarreal

Self

San Antonio, TX

Good afternoon,

I am a parent in favor for ESA program. Three years ago my husband and I removed our kids from public school because we were not happy with the curriculum, class size, and environment. We have been homeschooling since then. Our children have excelled academically. My husband and I would have enrolled our children in private school but it is too expensive for us. The ESA program would enable us to enroll our children in the private school of choice because our children don't belong to the state; they are a gift from God to us. I believe our tax dollars should follow our children to the school of our choice. The public schools don't care about our children they are just dollar signs to them. We value our children and their future!! Please vote in favor for the ESA program.

Heather Blachly

self

Plano, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3. This is a direct attack on our schools, our students, and our educators. Please try fully funding our public schools for a change! There is no accountability requirements for private schools in order to receive taxpayer money through vouchers. Private schools can decide who to accept in their schools. Private school are not required to follow federal and state laws for learning accommodations. There was a 24 billion dollar surplus last year, Texas HAS the money to fund our schools! I VEHEMENTLY OPPOSE HB 3.

Audria Lewis

self

Wylie, TX

I oppose this bill because it isn't fair across the board. We all know that not EVERY parent will have a choice, and we also know that those public funds WILL NOT be accessible to lower income families. PUBLIC FUNDS ARE FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS - NOT PRIVATE. Maybe those Private school parents should contribute financially to public schools if that's the case. Gregory Abbott does not care about the lower - middle class families. He only cares about the wealthy. If he did - he wouldn't be trying to push this so hard. He knows the majority of Texas families DOES NOT WANT THIS. I can't wait until he is finally voted out - HE DOES NOT LISTEN TO US NOR DOES HE CARE. Why would you take public school funds especially from already underfund schools. Put the money there.

Jill Mccord

Self/chef

Allen, TX

I oppose HB3. Public money should stay in public schools. Parents have a choice currently on where they can send their children. There is no reason to take public money away from schools that have legal requirements for all students regardless of their status or intelligence. Do not pass vouchers for people who are already sending their children to private schools.

Meredith Cress

Self, business woman

Sugar Land, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Jeannine Lee

Mothers for Democracy

Garland, TX

One would think that after voting against the voucher scam for 3 sessions that Gov. Abbott would understand what Texans want. Instead, he's letting his personal vendetta and billionaire bros place us back here once again. This time with Republicans that he and his donors funded. These are rural Republicans and this scam will harm our Rural communities the most. They don't have the private schools (nor the income for private schools) and what about the needs of special education?

I'm 66 years old and grew up in East Dallas. My dad and his family went through DISD as did I and my 3 siblings. My children were educated in Arlington, Texas. I am a strong supporting of public schools and strongly believe that the taxes collected are meant to support public schools, not private. Private schools only follow the rules that they have created within their own school. Private schools are a choice and a very expensive one that few Texans can afford. The vouchers will only support a small minority amongst the millions of school aged children in Texas. This is a sham and it's pro-Abbott. There is nothing here that benefits our children, especially those in lower income families and in the rural areas. That our taxpayer dollars that we pay for our public schools have been held hostage until the governor gets his way is childish and selfish. When will this state (and this country) stop thinking about their own selfish needs of money and privilege and more about the future of our children?

This needs to stop. Vote NO for HB3.

Jessica Grady
self
Fort Worth, TX

Public dollars are for public schools! Taxpayer dollars shouldn't be entrusted to private corporations. Private schools aren't accountable to taxpayers, aren't subject to testing, they are allowed to discriminate, and they can pick and choose their students. Fully fund our public schools, that are open to EVERYONE without discrimination and have full transparency.

Katie Sanders
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vote NO on HB3. I want all education money to stay in public education where it is needed.

There is nothing to prevent private schools from raising their tuition to make it just as hard to attend for those without means.

Let's invest in and improve public schools so it's the best and cheapest option for the most people.

PLEASE DON'T GIVE UP ON PUBLIC EDUCATION!

Kristin Black
Self/Media Buyer
GEORGETOWN, TX

I am a concerned Texas parent and oppose HB3. HB3 has no income limits, meaning rich families could use our tax money to send their kids to private schools. Private schools get the choice of who to let in, not the parents. Private schools are not forced to take the STAAR test. Public schools receive less funding if their accountability/testing scores are undesirable. Most Texans don't want vouchers; take a look at all the comments against vouchers on Governor Abbott's posts. Texas schools are already underfunded—about $4,000 behind the national average in per-student funding. This bill will make things worse. Schools are paid based on how many kids attend. Here's what we're asking to fight for instead: Fund schools based on enrollment, not attendance. Increase the basic allotment by at least $1,300 to help fix the $4,000 gap in funding. Support pay raises for teachers and school staff so we can keep the best educators.

The bottom line is that public taxpayer dollars should not be going to private education. Texas will only be strong and successful when we do more to fund public education.

Michele Smith
Self
Austin, TX

I am very much against the proposed school voucher system. I believe it is part of a systematic plan to take apart the public school system in the state. The bill, as written, would only allow children of already affluent families to attend the better private schools, as working class families could not afford those schools even with voucher funds. Meanwhile, public schools would be drained of funding to pay for vouchers. The voucher plan would be particularly harmful to rural areas, which have few private schools.

I am distrustful of legislation that is bankrolled by billionaires who are not even from Texas. I have to wonder what their motives are. Please vote against this legislation.

I moved to Texas from Louisiana, where a voucher system was put in place years ago. It wasn't long before it was discovered that numerous private and religious schools receiving voucher money were subpar and were not state accredited. Therefore, students who went to those schools and wanted to attend college could not. I suspect the proposed Texas system would fail everyone but the wealthy.

We cannot be a success as a society without an educated population. Please vote against this legislation

Sincerely,
Michele Smith
Zip Code 78759

Mariana Kuhl

Self- public school teacher.

San Antonio, TX

I do not support school choice/vouchers. These essentially defund public education, which would result in major cuts for my district.

I would like to request to raise the funding for public schools so that we do not have to have the budget cuts that are coming to my district.

I have a kindergartener starting school next year and feel that class sizes of 22 are already too big and am worried that the programs we want to enroll him in will also be cut due to the budget. Please do not pass the school vouchers. Save public education!

Jacline Contrino

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this school voucher program. I think it will leave behind the kids that need it most - low income and special needs kids.

Loretta Aguilar

Self

Tornillo, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs.

Tammie Gilfillian, School counselor

Self

Stowell, TX

Vote NO !! This is not good for the majority of the school children who need assistance.

Anna Sundarababu

Self

Austin, TX

The voucher program proposed has been rejected over and over by the Texas legislature for good reason. The overwhelming majority of Texans, both Republicans and Democrats, do not want taxpayer dollars meant for public schools going to private education including religious schools.

- Vouchers have been tried for decades in other states and, without exception, do not promote improved academic outcomes. Numerous studies have proven this point.
- States who have tried vouchers are ending their programs. Voters in Nebraska repealed their program, and the legislature in Illinois cancelled their voucher program. There's no need to jump on a bandwagon that is already in the ditch!
- The two largest existing voucher programs (Florida and Arizona) have been disasters both academically and financially.
- MOST IMPORTANTLY- The major beneficiary of vouchers can already afford to have their students in private schools. This has been the experience in Florida and Arizona.
- The majority of counties in Texas do not have any private schools. Even where there are private schools, most do not offer transportation and are located in areas inaccessible to low-income families.
- The amount offered does not begin to cover tuition at most private schools. Families would also need to cover other expenses, including uniforms, books, field trips, sports, enrichment and lunch. It just does not make any sense, except as a subsidy for wealthier families.

The Texas legislature should be focusing on its main job, which is supporting great public school education! Schools are grossly underfunded, with a $10 billion cut in real dollars since 2019 due to inflation. Put $1,300 dollars per student into the basic allotment first, before you consider giving the public's money away to vouchers.

Sherry Waldrop

Self

Arlington, TX

I absolutely oppose diverting billions of dollars from our public schools towards private school vouchers. Private schools primarily serve the well off, private schools don't give disabled kids enrollment, private schools don't provide basic transportation and the quality of teachers is sub par. Public schools allow students of all socioeconomic backgrounds learn, all races, our disabled & special needs youth are cared for too. We need our public schools that are full of wonderful, caring and dedicated teachers. By the way, our teachers deserve a raise. Please do the right thing and fund our public schools with the budget surplus!

Becky Renfro

Texas Teachers

Runaway Bay, TX

Vote no on vouchers!! The money needs to stay in public school. The people that attend private school don't need a coupon!! I'm a retired teacher and want to see our public school funded with government money!! VOTE NO ON VOUCHERS!!

Sabrina Mayberry

150517

Red Oak, TX

Dear Representative,

As a taxpayer in the State of Texas, I do NOT want an Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) Program. I pay my public tax dollars and, therefore, want my money to Fund Public Schools in Texas. Public school funding has been stagnant since 2019 while we have had inflation of over 20%. Our children and all the educators, and staff, deserve to have the funding. To be clear, I want to reiterate the following:

? I do NOT want vouchers/ESAs.

? I support an Increase of the Basic Allotment.

? I support Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.

Again, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools (not private schools) in the State of Texas.

Sincerely, Sabrina Mayberry

Cynthia Martin

Self, retired teacher

Houston, TX

Vouchers have been found to be devastating to all populations especially those that are in need such as our disabled and lower income students. I strongly encourage you to vote against this bill!

Tammie Harness

Teachers

El Lago, TX

Please fully fund public schools and not give public money to private sector...stealing from poor to give to rich.

Jacqueline Kelly Dodson
Self- public education teacher
Sunnyvale, TX

Abbott's lies have gotten us here and he needs to be stopped. "School choice" already exists as in parents have the right to choose local public, private, charter, or homeschool. Giving vouchers that won't cover private tuition to a very small portion of parents in our state will not fix or improve anything but will continue to destroy public education. Abbott wants public schools to fail so the rich can get richer. He does not care about students, definitely not about teachers, and does nothing to support public education. The success of our state and country depend on public education. He needs to stop the vouchers because that is not what Texans want and definitely not what we need. Stop holding money hostage to get what you want and FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS with every penny possible. Give equal opportunity to every single child in our state, not just the ones with rich parents. If Abbott ever spent any time in public schools, he would see where the true needs are

I do not support House Bill 3 as a tax-paying citizen, as a parent, or as an educator.

Do not pass this bill.

Fernanda Marques Fulkerson
Self
KINGWOOD, TX

I oppose HB3 and do not want you to vote for vouchers. Please fund our public schools. Only the rich that do not need the money will benefit from this. The $10000 won't even get close to paying for private school so that won't make a difference for low income families, they won't have a choice regardless

Michelle Moseley
Self, dental hygienist
Cedar Park, TX

Say NO to ESAs and YES to Funding Public Education

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.

Margaret McKinney
Frisco ISD/Self/Parent and Teacher
The Colony, TX

My name is Margaret McKinney, and I have been a public educator in the State of Texas for 24 years. I am a product of Texas Public Schools, and my children are products of the public school system in Texas. My mother, father, brother, grandmother, grandfather, two aunts, 1 uncle, and 2 cousins are all current or former educators and administrators in Texas Public Schools. I teach 6th, 7th, and 8th grade in Frisco ISD. Today, we were told that one school in Frisco is closing because we do not have the budget to repair the building. As a result, the wonderful school where I teach is going to get more students from the school that is closing. This means that our class sizes are going to increase. As it is, my 6th grade GT Language Arts class had to combine this year. This means I have 32 children in a small space trying to do amazing and wonderful things. If our schools were fully funded, I would not have such a full class and more space to move around while we do our projects. School vouchers are for the rich. They are not for the poor. That is a trick being used by the government. My 6th grade class was able to 'get' that easily, so I am confused why your committee seems to question it. In order to illustrate how they work, I turned a stuffed animal in my room into "Poverty Phil". Phil's family got $10,000 for the State to attend Legacy Christian Academy. LCA costs $24,000 a year. Poverty Phil is not going to be able to go to LCA even with you $10,000 gift. The state has not helped him. The state has helped "Rich Ricardo". Rich already attends LCA, and if vouchers are passed, Rich's family can finally take that Disney cruise they've been saving for because the state just gave his family a $10,000 bonus. To attend a fundamental Christian school. This is wrong. My GT classes are learning AP Literary and AP Language terms, they are learning high school level literary analysis, and they are building Utopia models and inventing governmental structures. My students deserve a fully funded school. All students in public education deserve a fully funded school. Our schools have been doing more with less for years, and vouchers are going to hurt students and teachers by stretching them even more than they are already stretched. I am a 50-year-old single mom, and I deserve to be able to retire at a reasonable age. TRS is a mandate. I didn't choose it. Teachers had no say in that decision, but it is OUR retirement. It is OUR social security. For TRS to be dismantled because vouchers have disrupted its continuity is not OK. Teachers, once united, have a LOT of voting power. We will remember what happens here today, and we will remember who made the decisions. Many of the politicians who are enjoying their position today will not be there anymore when we have the chance to vote out those who did not support public education today. Support your schools, your students, and your teachers. Vote NO for HB 3 and against ESA/Vouchers. Thank you for your time.

Flora McCracken TaxPayer
Dallas, TX

Dear Representative,

As a grandparent, parent, and taxpayer in the great State of Texas, I am appalled that our elected officials are withholding the finances from our children and teachers and have been since 2020. The cost of living has increased since 2019 (the last time received funding) and is over 20%. This is not the proud Texas that I know. We love our children and take care of them.

Representative, I do NOT support vouchers, nor do I agree with an education savings account program. I believe in our Public Schools in Texas. So, I want to reiterate the following:

- We need an Increase in the Basic Allotment.
- We need Funding for Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.

Representative, let us take care of our children in Texas.

Sincerely,

Kelley Watts, Dr
Self
Houston, TX

Please support keeping all funding for public schools in the public school system and oppose any voucher program that would redirect these funds.

Kathryn Holzer

Self

Frisco, TX

I oppose an education savings account program. This program will not help more families obtain better education. Texans already have the right to choose their education. This bill sounds like it will add restrictions/mandates to homeschoolers where there currently aren't many. It will still allow private schools to turn families away. It will take funding away from public schools where the majority of Texas children have no choice but to go due to their location (rural towns without private/charter options), financial ability, or services that are offered (special ed, dyslexia, etc). This program is not in the best interest of the children in Texas.

I do not believe taxpayer money should be available for funding private education.

Amy Millar

Self, Teacher

Bedford, TX

As a former public school student, former public school teacher, and current parent of public school students, I believe in the power of public schools. Public schools can create an environment rich in encouragement, support, security, and knowledge for its students. I know many public school staff members and their dedication to their students to provide a positive learning experience. Great schools across the state of Texas create great communities across the state of Texas. To continue providing great education experiences and great schools across our state, we need increased funding to our public schools. Public school staff members are working to meet the very different needs of their diverse students and can be more successful in helping their students reach their full potential with more state funding. Please help our public school students and staff members to be the best version of themselves by increasing their funding and steering away from an education savings account program. Students all across our state depend on the security of their public schools in the forms of dependable adult role models and educators, peers for social experiences, and meals. Please continue to support these students and their families by allocating funding to public schools, not to education savings accounts.

Shellie Cecchine

Self

San Antonio, TX

Opposing HB 3: Support Public Schools for Real Student Success

I strongly oppose HB 3 because it diverts public tax dollars to private schools through vouchers, despite clear evidence that voucher programs do not improve student outcomes. Numerous studies, including those from states with long-standing voucher systems, show that students using vouchers often perform worse or no better than their public school peers. For example, research on voucher programs in Ohio, Indiana, and Louisiana found that students who transferred to private schools through vouchers experienced declines in math and reading scores.

Instead of shifting funds to private schools that lack accountability and oversight, we should invest in our public schools, where the vast majority of Texas students are educated. Public schools serve all children, including those with disabilities and those from low-income backgrounds, and they provide essential services like transportation, special education, and meals that private schools are not required to offer.

Rather than wasting money on a system that does not work, we must focus on strengthening our public schools by increasing teacher pay, reducing class sizes, and ensuring all students have access to quality resources. Our commitment should be to a strong, well-funded public education system that benefits every child in Texas—not to an unproven voucher scheme that only drains resources from our schools.

Cynthia Lovin

Self / Spiritual Director

Pflugerville, TX

I am deeply opposed to diverting taxpayer money from public education to ESA / vouchers for private schools.

Joe Blanda

self

Austin, TX

Dear House Committee member,

Please do not foist so-called Education Savings Accounts (aka vouchers) on Texas. ESAs (or vouchers) are a scam designed to enrich their billionaire backers at the expense of our public schools. They will drain money and resources from the entire TX public school system, which needs all the help it can get, given that it's under constant attack from you guys (mostly Republicans) in the Legislature.

I believe ESAs (or vouchers) are part of a long-term effort to get rid of public schools in Texas altogether. What will happen, instead, is that they will become a gigantic anchor on the TX economy, while their billionaire backers make off with the loot. Look at what's happened in other states that have adopted them. They have become a gigantic boondoggle. The same thing will happen in Texas. For all our braggadocio, we are not immune to stupid. I think you know this, and I hope you care.

Pollye Hunter, Dr.

Self- Physical Therapist

Sunnyvale, TX

I have been in Public Education in some capacity (teacher, coach, physical therapist with SpEd, and current school board trustee), and this is a bad deal for Texas. While I understand the intent, the proposed implementation won't work. Public schools will be underfunded, poor students in underperforming schools will still not be able to afford private schools, and private schools will get more funding without having to comply with the same state mandates as public schools. I have always been a staunch conservative, but I cannot and do not support this bill.

Jonathan Price

Self. Former teacher and Administrator for 25 years in public schools

Groesbeck, TX

This bill was about choice for ALL then it would include the following provisions or amendments:

1. No elected official past, present or future nor any family member by blood or marriage may financially benefit from an ESA
2. No family with a child currently enrolled in an education entity outside of Texas public schools may use an ESA
3. No education entity may deny admittance to any child choosing to use an ESA
4. No education entity may dismiss a child admitted via an ESA during the current school year
5. Any education entity removing or denying continued admittance to a child before 5 years or graduation must fully refund the state plus a 25% penalty
6. Any education entity accepting ESA's must abide by the exact same rules, policies and procedures as every public school

If this bill truly wanted to protect ALL children and provide choice for ALL then ALL children would have protections..... this bill allows for choice for a select few.

Additionally, all this bill accomplishes is to free public funds for the profit of a few individual businessmen.

Pay attention to the majority of the voters in this state and vote this bill down. Show your constituents that you will vote the will of the people not the will of a few Republicans beholden to their benefactors.

Suzanne Potts

Self/nonprofit staff

Austin, TX

As a parent of two incredible young men who attended Texas public schools, I strongly oppose School Vouchers. Our oldest son was diagnosed with significant learning, physical, fine and gross motor skills, speech delays and autism at a young age. I am sincerely concerned about what the proposed voucher bill and education savings account program will do for students with disabilities like my son. He was not eligible for his "school choice" as many of the charter and private schools would not accept him because of his significant learning challenges. With the limited resources that public school offered him, paired with incredible paraprofessionals, special education staff and dedicated teachers, he was able to thrive in a public school environment. I feel that every Texas child should have the opportunity to learn where they can be most successful, that they should be welcomed into learning and that public schools should be fully funded. I believe that public school dollars should remain in PUBLIC SCHOOLS, not just offered to a select few who are able to utilize them. I worry about rural Texas, where private or charter schools are limited and public school dollars will be drained even more. And lastly, I worry about discrimination that our son and others like him would face within a private or charter school setting. Children of all abilities, socioeconomic status and regions of Texas should have equal access to an incredible education here in our great state. Please vote no on this voucher/education savings account program and uplift all Texans who want to succeed.

Rebecca Robertson, Mrs

Self, retired teacher

Coppell, TX

Fully fund public schools! The proposed $289 annual increase is not sufficient. This amount needs to be increased by $1,300 just to get back to where we were in 2019. Texas schools are having to close and are in danger and cuts will have to be made to fine arts and many other enrichment programs and special education. Texas football programs are also in danger. Have the courage to do what the majority of your constituents are asking you to do and what's best for the children of Texas. Vote NO to HB2 and fully fund our public schools!

Ealina Melton

Self

Boyd, TX

I am against HB 3 and this is being twisted to say the majority want this. This is not what was voted on and I oppose school choice/ HB 3

Katie Keith

Self

Dublin, TX

As a conservative, lifelong Texas resident, I adamantly oppose school vouchers. Public funding should always stay with public schools. The money allocated to funding school vouchers should be placed into the public school system. Texas is among the lowest per pupil funding states, despite claims made by our governor via social media. Our local, rural school districts are suffering from lack of funding - teachers are leaving nonstop, being replaced by non-certified replacements. My junior high student can't had a 7th grade math teacher all year because they cannot find anyone willing to accept the job. The situation is dire and something has to change for the betterment of our kids and future generations. School vouchers are NOT the answer. Fully funding our schools districts is the answer. Allow them to operate with the proper resources and you'll see our schools system flourish as intended.

Erin Bierwagen

Self/teacher

Dallas, TX

Done

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Janie Blackwell

Teachers

Fate, TX

No for vouchers!!! This is not in the best interest of students and Texans!

Bradley Davidson

Self, Educator

WAXAHACHIE, TX

I'm a lifelong Texan. I've also been a Texas educator for 17 years. I've worked in a public ISD, and I'm currently an instructional coach at a large public charter school. I believe in the power of a public education, and I also think that choice is important. The public charter movement gave parents a powerful choice, but it also gave them the security of knowing those schools would have a level of accountability from the state.

HB 3, on the other hand, is a mistake. It claims to offer parent's choice, but in reality, the private school is the one with the true choice. They choose whether or not to admit students, including those with disabilities. They also choose their tuition rate, and can raise it to match any new demand. They choose the standards they feel are important and they choose how to hold themselves accountable.

Finally, when you look at data from other comparable states that have implemented voucher systems, the vast majority of families who take advantage of the program already had their children in private schools. Thus, the program simply subsidizes the wealthy who use private schools rather than expanding true choice to parents who need it. Please, say "no" to HB 3 and instead, fund our public schools. We desperately need the funds to continue the incredible work we're doing every day.

Janet Bond

Self - retired public school educator

Cross Plains, TX

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Mary Harris, Dr.

Texas Impact

Denton, TX

I have worked for 44 years as a teacher in public schools or in teacher education at public institutions of higher education. I support public education and oppose HB3.

Public schools serve as the centers of community in most Texas neighborhoods and towns. They provide opportunities for communities to receive immunizations, for limited English proficient students to learn English, for disaster-struck students to continue the school year, and for parents to directly support the education of students. Where would Texas communities be without Friday night football?

The ESA proposal of HB3 will destroy the public schools that are centers of Texas communities wealthy enough to host private and religious school businesses run by people who may know very little about child development, how to teach reading, or how to manage a school budget that addresses the overwhelming number of regulations for schools established by the Texas legislature over the years. I am sure you are aware that other ESA-adopting states found many of the students served were already in private schools, suggesting lack of need for public funding by their parents. The Center for Intercultural Development (IDRA) includes on its website the story of Edgewood ISD, where in 1998, the Children's Educational Opportunity (CEO) Foundation offered tuition for private schools. The parents of a third of the children sent them to private schools; about two thirds kept their children in public schools. Within one year, the school district had a $3M shortfall due to the loss of no longer enrolled students. The IDRA website offers parallel calculations for each Texas House district.

Already, in Texas, due to failure to adequately fund public education, most new teachers are uncertified. Teacher certification guarantees that an individual has passed a criminal background check in a system that has reciprocity with other states. Teacher certification guarantees a teacher knows how to manage a classroom, has updated knowledge of the curriculum and methods of teaching at the relevant level in the field of certification. Certification should be required of teachers of any state-funded student.

When I first moved to Texas, we were adopting statewide standardized testing that led to annual administrations of what is now the STAAR. As you know, test results are important in the current state rating of schools and districts. How the state curriculum and accountability system may apply to private and home-schooled students receiving publicly funded vouchers is an important question. I think that schools whose students are publicly funded, should be accountable for teaching the state curriculum as is currently accomplished by the STAAR. I urge you to insist on accountability for learning of all state-funded students.

Texas is a wealthy state, and we deserve excellence in P-12 education for all students!

Amanda Pfeifer

Self / Database Engineer

Leander, TX

I grew up in a small rural school district. We had school spirit and were proud of our school and our students, but we did not have a lot of resources. Luckily the school had a few band instruments we could use if our parents couldn't afford to buy one; we always managed to have new(ish) sports team jerseys, even if the ancient air conditioning system in the gym sometimes malfunctioned. We had to buy our own cheerleading uniforms and do fundraisers for class trips because there wasn't budget to the school to pay for us to go. Our parents and community gave what little they could to make sure the kids had what they needed, even if it wasn't always the newest and shiniest. A voucher program that removes thousands or hundreds of thousands of dollars out of a school like mine would have a devastating effect not just on the school, but on the entire community. How can a town rally around a football team if the school can't afford to keep on the Friday night lights? How can we provide a quality education to the next generation of Texans if we can't afford to pay the teachers? When the arts programs are the first ones cut as a result of budget shortfalls, the silence where there were once fight songs will be deafening. When there's not enough funding to support dual credit or vocational programs, our children will be less prepared to continue their education or enter the workforce, which will cost Texas even more money. Top talent such as physicians will continue to flee our state as it becomes clear we won't provide quality education for their children. I was proud of my Texas education and I have been successful as a result of it. So has my husband. My husband's mother was a school superintendent who worked tirelessly to ensure every single student in her district had what they needed to be successful. We are proud of our Texas educations and we want our daughter to have the same opportunities to attend great Texas schools. HB 3 will break our education system even more and destroy that dream. Please, don't destroy the future educational opportunities for millions of Texas school children.

Kelley Lawrence
Self, registered nurse
Allen, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Julie Nance, Educational Diagnostician
Self
Carrollton, TX

Please vote against this. We are already losing the DEA, which may be good and may not but do we really need to dismantle so much at the same time?

Susan Pascoe
Self - retired
Austin, TX

Vouchers will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties (more than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send your child to, even if you could afford the difference between what the voucher pays and what tuition costs!

The push for vouchers is bad for the Texas taxpayer, bad for public educators, and bad for the kids in our public school classrooms. The public school system needs money to pay teachers, upgrade classrooms and provide essential services. Please use state money for activities that really require it - prison reform, improving the state foster care system to mention two areas.

Julie Peckham
Self
Austin, TX

Please Please support and fund Public Schools with PUBLIC money. Our Texas Constitution ,Article 1, Section 7, and Article 7, Section 5 instructs us to do that, not support private schools. A voucher is a diversion of public funds. Tax dollars are public funds. Schools are accountable to all voters, who have a say in curriculum, teaching standards and performance measures. this is how we prepare our future workforce and future leaders. Faith communities were instrumental in starting the first public schools in the U.S. and remain among its staunchest advocates. Please stand up to Abbott and say "NO!!!" to public vouchers. Do the right thing

Benita Reed, Dr.
Self
Grand Prairie, TX

Dear Representatives,
I am a parent, taxpayer, school board trustee, and educator (of over 30 years) in the State of Texas. I oppose HB3; I do NOT support vouchers, nor do I support education savings accounts (ESAs). I support and advocate for Public Education and, therefore, want our State Legislature to Fund Public Schools in Texas. Public School Funding has been stagnant since 2019 while the cost of living has increased, and we have had inflation of over 20%. I am paying my taxes and want them to Fund Public Schools in Texas. Our children, educators, staff, and all who care for our children deserve more respect; thus, they deserve the Funding. To be specific, I want our Texas Legislature to assume their fiduciary responsibilities by doing the following: Increase the Basic Allotment and Fund Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.
Again, I want my public tax dollars to Fund Public Schools (not private schools) in the State of Texas.
Sincerely,
Benita Reed

Beverly Rogers
ROGERS & CO
Dallas, TX

Vouchers take funding from public schools, which serve most students, and give it to private schools. This can hurt public schools that are already struggling.
Public education needs MORE funding and passing this bill could be catastrophic
Please consider the children

Senada Perkins
Myself
Denton, TX

As an educator and wife to an educator and three in middle school, public funding should stay in public school. My children deserve an education where schools are properly funded and teachers are given an appropriate raise to deal with inflation. Furthermore, private schools are able to turn away any student that doesn't make their school look better. Public schools accept any child, no matter how aggressive or high needs. Our classrooms are large and we have to purchase materials to fill in the gaps. All to make our students successful. We vehemently oppose any public money going outside of where it is needed and where it's needed is public schools.

Dawn Candler, Counselor
Public school children in Texas
Grand Prairie, TX

Vouchers will destroy public schools in Texas. We are already one of the lowest funded public school systems in the USA. This will only make things worse. Our children are our future so if the goal is to destroy our future, HB3 will do that. Abbott wants to attract companies to move into Texas. Education is what attracts people to states. Our underfunded schools will not be something that attracts people to move. If Abbott truly believes we are "indoctrinating" students then he needs to look at the TEKS - Texas Essential Knowledge & Skills - what TEA requires us to teach. The attack that public schools are under is a shame. Our kids deserve better.

ANNE WOLFE
Self SEGUIN, TX

Please DO NOT pass school vouchers!

Dianna Freeman
The children of Texas
Kyle, TX

I respectfully request that Texas taxpayer dollars be used for Texas Public Schools only! Tax money does not have a place in financing private schools. Please consider the importance of funding public schools for the children of Texas!

Suzanne Miller
Self
Arlington, TX

I strongly oppose the concept of school vouchers and fully support public education. An education is the debt we owe to future generations and benefits us all. There is no greater investment society can make. If parents choose to send their children to private schools, they do so at their own expense, not at public expense. I strenuously object to public taxpayer dollars being withheld and diverted away from our public schools. The continued efforts to bring this to pass is an erosion of trust in our legislative system which is supposed to represent ALL Texans.

Paul Dunk
self
KATY, TX

The writing is on the wall that the political majority in Austin will be forcing Gov. Abbott's voucher plan on Texas... NOT because they care about Texas children, but because they FEAR the attacks that will come from the billionaires backing this new plan to access the pockets of Texas taxpayers. The rhetorical question, behind the push to establish a taxpayer subsidized private school system in Texas, that begs to be answered is WHY are a few billionaires willing to spend millions to manipulate the Republican primary elections on this issue. Do they care about kids... or making more millions off of taxpayers? The schools voucher scam is wrong for Texas for many reasons... they are NOT parent choice, the voucher school picks who gets in not the parents... they pull funding from public schools in the form of the basic allotment of any student who leaves... they violate the intent of Art 1 sec 7 and Art 7 sec 1 of the Texas Constitution... they will create a taxpayer subsidized segregated school system that further divides Texas children based on issues of socioeconomics, religion, and political ideologies... AND THEY ARE THEFT from the pockets taxpayers in the form of your way to common vendor bill that serves a VERY FEW at the cost of the VERY MANY. WAKE UP lawmakers... you are on the wrong side of this issue!

Shannon Horner
My family
Round Rock, TX

I'm against this bill as it will negatively impact our public schools. Please use this money to support public schools instead

Tasha Blagg
Self
Clarksville, TX

School vouchers are not what TEXAS voters want. We want our public schools to be fully funded with teacher wages secured completely. Vote no for vouchers that take public money away and give to private accounts.

Carley Newlin
Self - real estate agent
Royse City, TX

It is your job as our constituents to support the ideals of the people you represent and the people have spoken - we do NOT support this push for a voucher program. It is time for you people to actually do what is best for the people you supposedly represent, not for only the rich. The working class does not support this bill. This is a bipartisan issue and the majority agrees. Please do the job you were elected to do by the people - not what Greg Abbott and his rich cronies want.

Jason Blake
Self
McKinney, TX

This bill does not support freedom for home school families. Please vote no today.

Kyle Atwood
Self
Holliday, TX

I am saying NO to vouchers!!!

Jamie Justus
Self
Austin, TX

Please oppose this bill. I am concerned that this bill will lead to less money in our public schools and will widen the gap in opportunities for children from families with lower incomes.

Tom Ausley
Self/retired attorney
Austin, TX

I have four children and ten grandchildren who have received excellent education and graduated from Texas public schools. Two of my daughters and one granddaughter now teach in Texas public schools. They and their students have suffered from lack of proper funding of public schools for the last few years. Please do not further erode Texas schools with public school vouchers by using public dollars for private education which will be a further drain on our public schools.

Kristi Giemza
self, nurse practitioner, co-founder of Every Child Every Day
Lubbock, TX

I am a mother of two children, one of whom graduated last year, and one who is a thriving junior in Lubbock ISD. As someone who cares very much about my community and public education, HB 3 is going to be not only a financial boondoggle down the road, it is going to continue to erode the resources of the public school system. I live in the 84th district, and it is no wonder that Mr. Tepper is scared to have a public town hall. I have met no parents, teachers, or community members who think vouchers are a good idea. Tepper seems to have no interest in listening to his constituency, or vote in the best interest of the community.

I'm going to provide some excerpts from an op-ed I wrote for the Avalanche-Journal earlier this year, and I think it summarizes most of what Lubbockites are thinking:

families remain the final decision makers, even when public schools area social norm. If they do not care for what's on offer, they can (as they have always been free to do) educate at home or pay for a private education. When Salter compares education to "other goods that are essential for communal flourishing," he invokes the example of "wholesome and nutritious food, [without which] we could not have a community." The comparison holds, but not for the reasons he thinks. Public education is meant to serve the most for the highest good, and it offers nutritious fare to as many as possible at minimal cost. But if you don't like the cafeteria food that is served there, it doesn't mean that you're entitled to a steak dinner on the taxpayer dime."

ESAs or vouchers, or whatever you want to call them, are in no way conservative. Instead of creating a parallel system with little to no oversight, please consider funding our properly funding current public schools (aligned with inflation since 2019) and creating more choices within our local districts.

Moreover, as a parent of a bright child with ASD and inattentive ADHD, there are no opportunities and choices within the private schools on offering in Lubbock. I'm sure in rural areas the offerings are even more scarce. If you do pass some sort of ESA bill, which would be harmful for Texans in the long run, it must have the same quality measures, regulations, and oversight that we require of our public schools. Schools that accept vouchers must accept students regardless of learning differences, as 20% of children are diagnosed with some type of learning difference. This is only fair.

Thanks for your time and consideration,
Kristi Giemza

Julia Lynch
Just me
Marble Falls, TX

I am against school vouchers. Public funds (from my taxes) are for public schools. Giving taxpayer funding to private schools violates separation of church and state. The founding fathers made this separation fundamental in our constitution and it is not outdated.

Stacey Blackstone

Self

Sunnyvale, TX

I am against HB 3 for several reasons. First, I do not think that public dollars should be used to fund private education, especially if it is religious in nature, as I believe in the separation of church & state. In addition, this bill is deliberately continuing the trend of underfunding our state's public schools by barely raising the basic allotment (& still not to inflationary levels since the last change in 2019). At the same time, HB 3 will provide $10,000 for private school vouchers. Why are private school students worth so much more than the 5 million public school students in Texas? Why do Texas Republicans continue to insist on underfunding our public schools when Texas has the 8th largest economy in the world? We could be leading in educational outcomes if we would make more of an investment in our children but we are not doing that. This is why we rank in the bottom 10 states for educational outcomes. You can't be for Texas children & Texas teachers & continue this massive underfunding of our public schools. Furthermore, this bill does not require private schools to be held to any of the same standards that public schools are held to in order to receive public funds, so there is absolutely no accountability. Private schools do not have to accept or keep students with complex special educational or behavioral needs, yet this bill again, rewards them with almost double the funding. There has been significant public pushback to this bill, will you listen to your constituents?

Kristina Giometti, Dr.

My children / pharmacist

Plano, TX

The establishment of an education savings account program is detrimental to an already suffering public school system in Texas. Our elementary school has an operating shoestring budget of only $34,000 for approximately 600 children. Our school serves many children on a subsidized school meal program. Our school district is suffering and reducing programs due to shrinking funding. The establishment of an education savings account program in Texas will further limit funding for our public schools. It is not a solution for Texas.

Mark Smith

Self - retired

Austin, TX

I write to oppose HB 3. The plan to take funding from public schools to give to parents to use in unaccountable private schools is a terrible idea. First, in many rural parts of the state, people don't have the option of private schools. Second, these schools, unlike public schools, are not required to serve all students and may reject, among others, students with special needs. Third, these schools are not accountable according to the same standards as public schools so there is no assurance that students will receive the same quality of education as in public schools. Finally, this takes key funding away from public schools that have been the bedrock of education in our country and that have a mission to address the learning needs of all students, and are fully accountable to the state and taxpayers. Please oppose this bill. Thank you.

Danielle Mitchell

Self- my children

Frisco, TX

Where to start.... I am a lifelong conservative and I am opposed to this bill. It is NOT conservative in any way shape or form. It grows government and harms our public school children. The only people who benefit from this bill are out of state vendors. You have managed to unite people from all political spectrums in opposition to this bill.

It is frustrating to see all that my home district has had to cut knowing that that state has failed to properly fund our schools. This bill is not popular with anyone that I know. This type of legislation has been a bust in Most states that have passed these types of bills. You must vote no on it.

Patricia Ray, Ms.

Self - Instructional Coordinator

Katy, TX

I do not support the voucher system. First of all, I do not understand how it is O.K. to not give public schools their money the last two years after the voucher system vote failed. We are a democracy. The governor does not have the right to hold back money because he did not get what he wanted.

At this time, private schools do not take students with discipline problems, and most only take students who make good grades. Also, public schools do not have to give the STAAR test. Are the private schools going to have to follow the same rules as public schools if they are funded by the government; teach ALL students, even if they have behavior problems and don't always make the highest grades? Are the private schools going to teach students who need special education services? At this time, the public schools test students in the private schools. Are the students in private schools going to have to take the STAAR test? All schools funded by the government should have to follow the same rules. How much more money is going to be needed to have someone run the voucher system for the private schools? We currently do not have a committee that is charge of private schools because the schools are PRIVATE and run by private entities. It does not make sense to use our tax dollars to support private schools as if any school is funded by the government, the school should have to teach all students, behavior problems or not behavior problems, smart or students who need special education services, and should have to take the STAAR test. This then would eliminate private schools as we know it. This would take away needed funds from public schools. The school voucher system does not make sense. I voted for our current governor, but I do not support a person who keeps money from the public schools because he did not get what he wanted. I did not vote for this.

Frank Maldonado

Self

Justin, TX

I oppose this bill. The privatization of public education should be admonished by all. We put our children's livelihood at risk when we reduce access to public education!

Yelin Martin

Self

Austin, TX

Please do not put these resources anywhere other than back into our public schools. We need schools to be supported so that we can support our community and our children. Say NO to vouchers and show them all true leadership!

Minda Anderson

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote NO for all vouchers/ESA bills. Our public schools deserve to be fully funded. Voters do not want vouchers, we want to have strong public schools which will only come with better funding. Thank you.

Lisa Trittin

Self- public school admin

ROUND ROCK, TX

The responsibility of our elected officials is to support the WILL OF THE PEOPLE! The state of Texas does NOT want vouchers. Fully funded public schools give our students many choices and provide for the needs of the children of Texas. Please do not steal from them to help wealthy people for a program that has proven unsuccessful in any state that has tried it.

I have been a public school educator for 31 years and am so proud of what we have accomplished, even without the proper level of funding. Our work is critical to the lives of the children of Texas. Please support our children.

Crystal Intfen

Self

Azle, TX

As a supporter of Texas public schools, I am writing to express my opinion on House Bill 3.

Texas students deserve strong, well-funded public schools. I'm asking that you ensure all schools that receive state funding are held to the same transparency requirements, accountability standards, and enrollment practices as public schools.

Thank you for your time and commitment to Texas public schools.

Shannan Murray

Pearland

Pearland, TX

I absolutely disagree with everything about this bill. My public tax dollars should not pay for private education with no accountability. Stop calling it school choice. There is already a choice - its about money and public schools are held to different standards. Private schools can deny access to anyone they want- i dont want my tax dollars paying for this. Keep public money with public schools.

Lauren Bennett

Self teacher

Round Rock, TX

If vouchers are provided to families for alternative schooling (private, charter, etc) it would be the demise of our public schools. I am against vouchers.

The public schools in states who currently have a voucher program retain unequipped educators, lack of resources and technology and the pool of students are at a disadvantage.

Private schools are still expensive. Even with voucher, parents will need to still pay an obscene amount of money for an education that is paid for completely by their tax dollars.

Jeremy Graslie

Self

Dallas, TX

I do not believe that HB 3 will help our education system and believe it will have negative impacts our on community. I ask the House not to pass HB 3.

Cheryl Cunningham

Self (retired educator)

Abilene, TX

Educational savings accounts will only help the rich, to the detriment of public education. This viucher system is a scam that is harmful and ill advised.

Jennifer Lee

Self

Temple, TX

I oppose this bill in it's entirety. This bill will destroy public education, and that's the point. All over the US, the states who have vouchers have had to begrudgingly admit the vast majority of the ESAs/Vouchers/Coupons have gone to wealthier families who were already sending their children to private school. Oklahoma is the most recent example of this. This "program" will be taxpayer funded discrimination. Private schools will receive taxpayer dollars while being able to select their students, deny entry to those who don't fit their version of "greatness", and have no financial transparency. ESAs/Vouchers do not provide ALL parents with choices, every household will not benefit from this program. Families deserve to have fully funded public schools as a choice, rather than having a private school they cannot afford, public schools that are crumbling, or homeschooling by someone who may or may not be qualified to teach their child.

Honestly, this is a test for the Republicans who were purchased by pro-voucher billionaires. What will it be? The millions you received, or the masses who have shown up at town halls, on social media and in Austin?

Eleanor Bryant

Self

Austin, TX

We must, for the sake of our society, our economy, our future of innovation, educate ALL children to the best of our ability. Taking funds from public schools and giving to the wealthy, who are the ones more likely to use the voucher funds, will seriously inhibit our ability to have a society where anyone can thrive and innovate.

Rebekah Marchbanks

Myself and my kids

Cleburne, TX

School vouchers & special needs students

I am the single, adoptive mother of four children all from foster care here in Texas. Three of my kids has 504 accommodations and one has IEP special needs plan. One of the four has extensive medical needs and currently has home health nurse with him most of the time. From my understanding the house bill would fund my children with vouchers as they fall into a certain category of special needs but also possibly lower income as my income. I want to ask before you vote if you would please consider that you are leaving my children with what will be the leftovers of the public school system when you pull a mass of its funding. My kids are already at a huge disadvantage in this life. Pulling funding from public schools to give to private schools will hurt my kids. There are absolutely no local private schools that will even remotely consider my kids with 504s much less mass amount of medical needs and an IEP, that's just laughable to think they even would. It's private school because they can pick and choose. Not to mention that the yearly costs of private school near me is roughly $30,000 so the voucher barely scrapes the surface and won't cover books or uniforms. I'm the only income for these four precious kids and we definitely can't come up with the rest that the voucher won't cover. Not to mention that none of the local schools would even consider admissions for my kids. If we drove to a private school that would admit them with special needs it would be an hour both ways to school on a good traffic day and then I wouldn't be able to work due to drop off and pick up as times, lack of transportation for the kids that far from home, and so on. I can't even begin to explain how complex it is to just care for one medical needs child and that driving that much in the car daily is extremely unrealistic and uncomfortable for him. My hope is that you can see from this single moms perspective how this would hurt my kids, take the funds from their school when they are the ones that need it most. Please think of them. Thank you!

Gail Shooter
Self, teacher
Lubbock, TX

I am a teacher and a parent in Lubbock ISD.

Lubbock ISD has been careful with funds, but with no increase in the Basic Allotment in 6 years and other pressures like inflation and increased needs, we have had to close two elementary schools and one middle school this year. Our district has had to propose a bond to close four more schools. Every campus has had to cut teaching positions, and district administration in the curriculum department has been gutted. I am angry about this; it will affect my child's school experience. I demand that Gov Abbott stop playing games with my child's future and FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. I also demand that you VOTE NO ON THE VOUCHER SCAM so that our limited money and resources can be put to the best use for our students - and we have full accountability and transparency of that money.

Instead, I want to see these things:

- The basic allotment tied to inflation indexes, so Gov Abbott cannot hold it hostage anymore
- The basic allotment become enrollment-based vs. attendance based
- Full funding to make up for 6 years of missing funding

While I strongly oppose vouchers, I recognize that they are likely to pass and become law. That said, I would like to urge the Representative to either file or support the following amendments.

1. Lower the lottery priority qualification for low income families from 500% above the poverty line to 185%, aligning it with qualifications for reduced-price school lunches.
2. Ensure funding for students with disabilities by matching, dollar for dollar, the voucher amount used by these students with additional funding for special education programs in rural districts that do not have private options.
3. Match the funding for vouchers to the funding for public school students by either reducing the voucher amount by $4,000 or raising the per-student allotment for public school students by the same amount.

Elizabeth Molter

Self, retired certified teacher k-6, K-8 Reading
Midland, TX

As a veteran educator of 33 years, I am against ANY bill bound to cause further dismantling and destruction of public schools in the name of "free choice." We already have free choice for families to send their students anywhere they decide and follow the process the schools require including tuition and admissions. That may mean residence in certain districts and an achievement test score to qualify. Parents who want more for their children should work and sacrifice to make that possible, and not be entitled to withhold their fair portion of taxes in order to pay for private school choices. This entire proposal is a sacrifice of the education of a majority of students, to give public funds to a select privileged few. But it will be enough to cause a further shortfall of funding and of numbers of students for schools already struggling.

The entire path to this type legislation is appearing to have been proceeded with speculations of inappropriate manipulation of support as well as funding support for personal gains and favors. I have seen a massive campaign to manipulate the public to encourage this unconstitutional misuse of taxes for this proposal. I have responded to so many social media posts that I am able to argue against any claim that this is good for Texas. Public Education is a promise and dream of every family, not just the wealthy, or those persons with connections to upper-middle class or elitism. I am very opposed to SB2 and any other legislation that impulsively claims this will benefit the future of Texas. Government has caused the decline of public schools over the years that I taught with rigid testing that has derailed true teaching of knowledge and all content area skills. It has pushed certified, expert veteran teachers out of classrooms by requiring a mandatory Reading Academy participation. Who benefitted from that program I would like to know! Mandates of DEI and refusing to stand up for schools to correct students with discipline that caused toxic and unsafe classrooms filled with unruly students. In schools we were told not to send discipline reports to the office which led to discouraging discipline for bad behavior. Look into what is truly needed. I say vote NO. Big politics, favors, and discrimination against supporters of public school should raise eyebrows to cause concerns and an investigation into the very ethics of these bills. Look into the real purposes of this proposal and the true effects it will cause.

Margaret Soderholtz

Self, teacher

MCFADDIN, TX

If parents of private school students can get a voucher for $10,000 to pay for their student's education, then Texas should provide $10,000 for every student enrolled in a Texas public school.

Texas has a strong economy but ranks in the bottom 10 states with regard to per student spending and teacher salary.

Public schools have to accept every student who lives in their attendance zone. Students can't be denied admission because of behavior, poor attendance, or special education needs. Texas public schools are held accountable by state through the STAAR tests and financial audits. Texas public schools are required to follow the TEKS and use state approved instructional materials. Texas public schools must comply with federal laws as well.

Private schools can deny admission to any student, they aren't required to follow special education guidelines, and they aren't required to administer the STAAR test or follow the TEKS.

If a private school accepts state funds or tax payer money for a student's tuition, then they should be held to the same accountability standards as public schools.

Enrollment in education programs has dropped. There aren't enough certified teachers to replace teachers who retire or leave because they are frustrated with heavy work loads, large class sizes, and having to fill multiple rolls. Vouchers for private schools will contribute to the dwindling teacher workforce.

The approximately 348,000 students currently enrolled in private schools have never been accounted for in the state budget. Although there is a surplus now, what happens when there isn't a surplus? In 2011, the state cut over $5 billion dollars from the education budget. What happens to vouchers if the state cuts the education budget again?

If a parent receives a school voucher from the state of Texas to send their child to a private school and then enrolls the child in a public school during the same school year, do the parents or the private school have to pay back the money?

Kerri Hirsch

Self

McKinney, TX

I strongly oppose this bill. We need to properly fund our public schools to keep dedicated staff and essential programs. More and more people in the community are becoming outraged at the state officials pushing this measure. This is not in the best interest of your constituents.

Angela Cabrera

self

ABILENE, TX

I am against school vouchers. It does NOT help the average Texan student. There are parts of districts that offer public school choice within their boundaries. Public school money should NOT go to private schools. When the money goes to private schools, it deprives many of the general public of their basic educational rights. If a parent wants to spend the money for private school, it should come out of their pocket, not take the money from public schools.

Jody Slaughter

Self

Lubbock, TX

By most accounts, we are on the precipice of a recession. Texas is fortunate—we have enjoyed a surplus for the last few legislative sessions. However, there is no ongoing funding mechanism for this ESA program.

So what happens next session if there is a deficit instead of a surplus? Where does the money come from to continue or expand it, as its proponents have already indicated they plan to do?

It will come from public schools—a system that is already critically underfunded. Do they have too many administrators? Yes. But those administrators are required to fulfill thousands of mandates imposed by this body and state regulatory agencies. If you want to fix our education system, that is the perfect place to start.

Your job as legislators—your sworn duty—is to protect and defend the Texas Constitution, including Article 7. You alone have the power to do that, to create the efficient system of free public schools that our Constitution requires. Do not let special interests convince you that this is impossible. It is possible. And it is what our children deserve.

