

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES COMPILATION OF PUBLIC COMMENTS

Submitted to the Committee on Public Education
For HB 3
Compiled on: Wednesday, March 12, 2025 5:09 PM

Note: Comments received by the committee reflect only the view of the individual(s) submitting the comment, who retain sole responsibility for the content of the comment. Neither the committee nor the Texas House of Representatives takes a position on the views expressed in any comment. The committee compiles the comments received for informational purposes only and does not exercise any editorial control over comments.

Hearing Date: March 11, 2025 8:00 AM

Gabriela Hawthorne
Self
Northlake, TX

Hello,
My name is Gabriela Hawthorne and I'm a constituent in zip code 76247.
I am reaching out to ask my representative to vote NO on HB3. I want fully funded schools, not welfare for the wealthy!

Stefanie Nelson
Self
Frisco, TX

As a former public school teacher, current mother to three children in public school, and PTA board member, I am very invested and afraid for the future of Texas public schools. I have researched other states that have implemented school choice and/or vouchers, and it does not improve public schools from what the data show. Texas already has school choice in that parents can choose public, private, charter, or home school for their children. As it is, public school teachers, administrators, and support staff are incredibly undervalued. If anything, we should be providing more funding for teacher salary increases, additional support staff, and smaller class sizes. Please do not allow our children's generation of learners to struggle unnecessarily! They deserve happy teachers and well supported schools. If Texas voters can't vote for/against this on a ballot, then you are our voice.

Hollie Hebner
Self
Richardson, TX

I am against this legislation. A 10,000 dollar voucher would only supplement a private school education for my 5-6 year old child. I live in a suburb, so there are lots of school options near me. I checked into tuition for private schools in my area and found no schools with tuition less than 10,000 dollars, except one single religious school. Taking money from public education would be damaging to a system already struggling to keep classrooms filled with high quality and well paid teachers. I am very happy for those who can afford private school tuition, but they should still have to pay public school taxes; in the event they are no longer able to afford private school, their child should be able to attend a fully funded public school. This argument doesn't consider those who live in rural areas where public schools are sometimes the only option for students in that area. These students would suffer from the lack of funding. This bill only helps those who already have the means to help themselves. Not to mention that private and religious schools can deny whoever they like. SAY NO TO VOUCHERS

Lindsey Mohr
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Offering all American children a quality public education is a crucial tenet to a prosperous and democratic society. I believe that tax dollars already give families the choices that they need, more so than in other states like NY, with programs like school choice. I believe that public schools need to be accountable to taxpayers via regular testing. I believe that enacting HB 3 would cause further damage to public schools that are already underfunded. I prefer we choose public school safety over diverting tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to taxpayers.

Christina Larkin self, President, Memorial HS PTSA
Frisco, TX

As president of Memorial High School PTSA, I see first-hand the impact of the lack of funding to our public schools. In our district, I've seen school budgets slashed and now, vital programs will be cut because, after years of operating on deficit budgets, we now have to prepare for even more greatly reduced funding from the state. All so those funds can be transferred to families already paying for private school. Our district has long been the destination for many looking to move to a city with the best schools. The district is now showing signs of decline, primarily due to the budgeting difficulties of working with an allotment that has not been increased since 2019. Your decisions to support the wants of the wealthy few are coming at the expense of the needs of all Texas students. The public overwhelmingly indicated that they do not want vouchers, based on the many failed attempts to pass them in previous years. Continuing to push for them despite widespread opposition reflects a general lack of concern for the needs of all Texas students. If you truly care about Texas students, consider funding Texas public schools FIRST, with the surplus that has existed for years. Once public schools are fully and properly funded, use any remaining surplus to support savings accounts. Families that can afford private school already do not NEED education savings, but will gladly accept the discounts to their tuition. Families who cannot currently afford private school will likely STILL not be able to afford it after the $10,000 voucher, so public education needs to be able to support their needs, including the needs of special education students and students with disabilities (students who have no guarantee of support in the private education system). The current budget surplus came from our tax dollars, and as a taxpayer, I want those dollars to go to the services I support, including public education, not subsidizing the wealthy.

Other states that have implemented voucher programs, such as Arizona, currently see budget crises as a result of their poor decision to move to a voucher system. Texas should not strive to follow by their example.

This bill claims to give parents a choice in their student's education, but they can already choose other opportunities, and many choose to move to locations with the best districts (as has been the case in my district). Your plan will reduce the quality of ALL Texas public schools. However, instead of enabling (forcing) parents to pick a better private school, many parents may simply decide that Texas no longer supports their family's best interest and will start looking for other states who will actually lead in supporting their student's education. Businesses will no longer want to move to areas like Austin and North Dallas, because their employees won't want to send their children to inferior schools (or to have to pay for private schooling).

For all of these reasons, please prioritize PUBLIC school funding.

Madeline Morrow
Self, stay-at-home-parent
Leander, TX

I strongly oppose the creation of ESAs in Texas. This concept has had little, if any, success in other states, and all of the predictive data I've seen shows it won't work here either. This bill will hurt our public schools. My kids attend Leander ISD schools, and we are already looking at a major funding shortfall for next school year which will result in the elimination of dozens of teacher and staff positions. Please don't take any more money away from kids like mine. In fact, I urge you to instead make a significant increase in the basic student allotment, and to create a structure for annual increases tied to inflation. ESAs are a waste of time, money, and resources, and the people of Texas DO NOT want them. Thank you.

Haelee Norton
Self, social worker
Addison, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3. I am from Arizona, which utilizes a voucher program. It is no surprise then, that Arizona is one of the worst in our country for education. Vouchers are a thinly veiled segregation attempt that only serve to harm the most vulnerable children. They will lead to lower teacher salaries, higher student to teacher ratios, and less funding to our already underfunded public schools, leading to worse education outcomes. As a resident of Texas, I strongly oppose this.

Madeline Holder
SELF
Rotan, TX

Chairman Buckley, Vice Chairman Bernal, and esteemed members of the Committee,
My name is Madeline Holder and I am a constituent from the 69th House District. I strongly oppose the implementation of HB 3 and Education Savings Accounts in Texas. As a concerned Texan and taxpayer, I am deeply frustrated by the idea that my hard-earned tax dollars would be diverted away from public schools, which are already in crisis, and instead be used to subsidize private education. This is not just bad policy — it is an outright attack on our public education system. It is incredibly disheartening to see that, rather than focusing on the real and pressing issues facing our public schools, certain members of this legislature and committee are focused on welfare for the wealthy. This is not leadership. It is a blatant disregard for the needs of the people who rely on public education and the resources that school districts provide every single day. The decision to push forward with ESAs not only undermines our public schools but also deepens the inequalities that already exist in Texas. Public education is meant to serve every child, regardless of their background. By diverting resources to private institutions, we are further cementing a system that benefits only the wealthy, leaving behind the most vulnerable students who need support the most.

If the legislature truly cares about the future of Texas children, it should prioritize strengthening our public schools and ensuring that every student has access to a quality education. Instead of implementing policies that benefit a select few, we need to invest in schools that serve all Texas students and provide the resources necessary for success.

Let me be clear: ESAs will not help students. They will not make education better for anyone. By pushing this proposal, you are actively making the gap between wealthy and low-income students even wider. You're turning your back on the children who need public schools the most — those who rely on them to escape poverty, those with disabilities who deserve equal opportunities, and those who have no other choice but to trust that their community schools will provide a fair education. Texas deserves strong, well-funded public schools that give every child the opportunity to succeed. ESAs are not the answer. They are a distraction from the real work that needs to be done to improve education for Texas students. It's time for this legislature to pick up their shovels and do the work. I urge you to let this harmful proposal die in committee and focus on adequately funding and supporting our public schools. Take responsibility, listen to the people you represent, and work toward a real solution. Education is a right, not a privilege - and it's your job to guarantee that right for this and future generations. I would like to thank the committee members who have advocated for that right thus far, and encourage the rest to begin immediately. NO to HB 3.

Jillian Bailey
Self retired
Austin, TX

I'm for high quality fully funded equal opportunity public education respecting the separation of church and state. There is no justification for taking funding from public schools and giving out vouchers for private and religious schools. That is against our long held American values.

Kyndra Ballard
SELF
San Antonio, TX

As a deeply concerned mother of two, vehemently opposed to House Bill 3, the education savings account program. This bill is not about choice; it's about dismantling our public education system. My son, who has a disability, relies on vital accommodations within our public school system. These accommodations, already stretched thin, are at serious risk of being diminished, or even eliminated, under this voucher program. We're talking about the very support that allows him to thrive. The reality of our classrooms is obscene my son's pre-K class has 25 three and four-year-olds - One dedicated teacher. That's not education; that's crowd control. It's an impossible burden, and it's a direct result of chronic underfunding. Schools in my district have closed, resources have dwindled, and yet, our teachers continue to pour every ounce of themselves into their students. But they're being asked to do the impossible.

This voucher bill will siphon even more money away from our already starved public schools, further exacerbating these problems. We're talking about taxpayer dollars being diverted to private schools with little to no accountability. This is not about empowering parents; it's about enriching private interests at the expense of our children's future.

Texas consistently ranks near the bottom in national public school rankings roughly 38th in the nation, and our per-student spending trails far behind other similarly populated states. TEXAS has taken a 12.9% decrease in per student funding where the national average increased by 8.9% just over the last year! These are facts you cannot ignore, dispute, or rationalize. We have a serious educational crisis on our hands that we cannot ignore. We need to give all of our teachers the hard, tangible raises they deserve. We need to reduce class sizes and provide the resources our students desperately need. This is not about educational choice. This is about private gain at the cost of our children's future.

I know I am not alone in this opposition. I know that the vast majority of Texans want strong public schools. We are not helpless. We will not be silent. We will fight for our children's right to a quality public education. Thank you.

s a deeply concerned mother of two, vehemently opposed to House Bill 3, the school voucher program. This bill is not about choice; it's about dismantling our public education system, and I refuse to stand by and watch it happen.

My son, who has a disability, relies on vital accommodations within our public school system. These accommodations, already stretched thin, are at serious risk of being diminished, or even eliminated, under this voucher program. We're talking about the very support that allows him to thrive.

Let's talk about the reality of our classrooms. My daughter's pre-K class has 25 three and four-year-olds. One dedicated teacher. That's not education; that's crowd control. It's an impossible burden, and it's a direct result o

Kimmie Fink
Self
Liberty Hill, TX

As a parent whose children have attended both private religious and public schools, I urge you to vote against vouchers. When I placed my children in private school, that was my choice, and I didn't expect anyone else to pay for it. The best way to support low income and special needs students is to FULLY FUND their neighborhood public schools NOT to provide vouchers to private schools that 1)don't have to accept them 2)charge more than the voucher covers 3)are not accountable in any way. Public funds should not subsidize tuition for wealthy families whose children already attend private schools.

Brian Gilbert
Self, Public School Teacher
Wichita Falls, TX

School Vouchers constitute fraud and steals funds from their intended purpose which is to fund public education.

Brittany Heisler Wright

Self: parent

Georgetown, TX

This bill is flawed and dishonest in its representation. It does not set our state up for success and regardless of party affiliation, the people who voted for you are loudly asking you to find a different way to support our children's future. Passing this bill shows laziness on your part because you are not actively solving any current issues with public education and it's funding or support for teachers; this bill wants to sweep accountability under the rug for these new charter schools and provide an education experience lacking opportunities for our future leaders. My family proudly chooses public education for the opportunities it will provide and we appreciate the full transparency and accountability our schools are held to. Please support the teachers, staff, volunteers and families that work hard to preserve public education as a benefit to our children, the future of Texas. I challenge you to find a better way to fund our existing, wonderful Texas public schools and the teachers that dedicate their lives to our future.

Kathy Lane

Self, SAHM

Houston, TX

I'm a parent of students in Spring Branch ISD (SBISD) in Houston. I'm also a product of NEISD in San Antonio. I know how important good public education is to the success of students, and just as important, the communities. Free public education is guaranteed in the Texas Constitution. The authors of the Texas Constitution didn't add the words, "Fully Funded" in front of that guarantee, I'm guessing because it never occurred to them that legislators in Texas would put themselves before the Constitution, before their constituents, and before the students they are underserving. By voting for HB3 you are doing just that - putting your own interests ahead of the interests of the state and its constituents.

Vouchers don't work. Voucher programs in other states have exploded beyond their initial budgets, draining resources from public schools. Worse, vouchers do not improve student achievement and, in many states, lead to a decline in achievement. Furthermore, the reality is that vouchers are not about "parent choice" because the only choice in a voucher program belongs to private schools that can hand-pick their students and are not accountable to taxpayers or the state. Texas parents already have school choice, and vouchers undeniably funnel public tax dollars away from our already-strained public schools.

SBISD has already had to make budget cuts due to lack of funding from the state. This included losing librarians and interventionists, closing three schools, and increasing the student teacher ratio in classrooms. Vouchers will only continue to put a strain on public education dollars. These cuts have affected kids like my daughter who had special pull-out sessions for enrichment. This is where high-achieving or advanced students get an extra push in, for example, math. Here they are encouraged to explore math concepts and are pushed to think more critically and deeper about concepts. Without those interventionists, those kids are not able to reach their full potential. Interventionists also work with kids who need catching up on things. Maybe they need more work on a concept that the rest of the class has mastered. Instead of leaving those kids behind to continue to flounder, the interventionist catches them up. Interventionists are essential to keeping the kids on both ends of the spectrum on track, and to keeping all students focused on learning.

I'm asking you to serve your constituents and the people of Texas and vote NO to HB3. You know that ESAs are the wrong thing for Texas. They are the wrong thing for public schools, which serve the millions of Texas children. There is a reason that vouchers haven't passed for years - it's because no one wants them. Rural communities don't want them, big cities don't want them, I don't want them. You shouldn't want them either. They weaken Texas - they weaken our education system and then they weaken our businesses as public education graduates stay to work here in Texas. Vote NO!

Judith Everett, Ms

self

Bastrop, TX

Having been a teacher for many years but now retired, I support public education in every way possible. Both my daughters are teachers - one in Texas and one in Florida. My daughter in Texas's job will be unduly influenced if the school voucher program is voted into practice. What is fair about private schools getting $10,000 per students while public schools only get $6500 per student. What is fair about private schools not having to prove attendance or lose money while public schools diligently keep attendance so they don't lose funding. What is fair about private schools being able to drop students who have problems while Public schools have to make plans for all students with all learning disabilities - emotional or physical. What is fair about rural neighborhoods with limited access to private schools they can afford being given less money and less opportunities within the public school system which will be underfunded. The political influence to get enough votes to pass this legislation when the majority of voters in Texas are against it, just not right or moral. Our legislatures need to start representing the will of the people and not the will of our governor. Please vote no to passing this legislation.

Anita Luna

Self - Retired

Cypress, TX

This feels like something that will benefit upper class families and leave the public schools behind. The fact that Gov. Abbott and Lt. Gov. Dan Patrick want it so badly makes me think this is not a good solution to our education issues. They have done so many things to hurt Texans in the past. I don't trust Republicans on this and urge you to vote against this bill.

Cassie Matthews

Self

Keller, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Cassie Matthews and I am a parent of 4 children in Keller ISD. A lifelong Republican voter, I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical educational programs that serve our students.

The data from the state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend—our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, fine arts programs, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with extremely limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with the actual costs of running these programs. This includes:

1. Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $1000
- 2 Fully funding special education services and fine arts to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.
- 3 Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.
- 4 Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.
- 5 Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs.

When did public education become disposable? It certainly is a necessity for my children and our community. Public education is the most important investment we can make in the future and I urge you to do right by your constituents, many of whom voted for you and trust you to act in the best interest of our children.

Margaret Doss

Self - concerned parent

Flower Mound, TX

Vouchers are going to ruin our public schools and have been a massive failure both academically and financially in other states. Our state already woefully underfunds our public schools and underpays our teachers. Stop this abuse and properly fund our schools!

Ruth Cooper, Mrs.

Self

League City, TX

Stand with Texas families, not special interests. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers!

Tyler Morrison

Self

Arlington, TX

Our public schools and children need the funding more than they need a private school. I stand to oppose this!

Stacy Henderson

Self

Rockwall, TX

Please oppose HB3. School vouchers will only bankrupt public education and separate the wealthy from the poor. You will cost thousands of kids to receive a worse education than they should be getting. Every teacher in America can tell you that smaller class sizes, more resources, and more funding will improve our educational system. By funding public education, better teachers will continue to teach and come back to the profession. Vouchers and ESAs will not bring the best educators to our schools. They will also not provide TOP QUALITY educational options to our rural families, lower SES families, students with disabilities or special needs. This bill only helps the wealthy. I am currently finishing my 20th year in education and can honestly say that teachers are amazing, caring individuals who want to do what's best for our students and see them succeed. When schools are not funded though and we have secondary classrooms of 30-40+ students, it is incredibly hard to build relationships and make sure every student is successful. Please do not vote in favor of HB3! OPPOSE HB3 and then come back with a plan to FULLY FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Lucia Reyna

Self

San Antonio, TX

As a caregiver who had their child in private school and was shut out by them when my child was diagnosed with a learning disability I know first hand about choice. The choice of the school and the choice of the caregivers. Private schools have the choice to not take children that don't fit their agenda to have 99% of their students graduate with As or 100% graduation rates. They have the choice to shut out good students that need just a little bit more help. They have the choice to subject caregivers to higher tuition should they have financial assistance. Caregivers also have the choice to find the best education provider for their child, but if it's PRIVATE education then use PRIVATE funds not Public funds.

Andrea Leinberger, Landowning, property tax paying home school mom

Self, Greenberg Academy 501(c)(3)

Burke, TX

I support H.B.3. because having an ESA would give all five of my Texas based military children the opportunity to succeed. I pay over $7k/year in property taxes to support our Texas children willingly, but having some help with my kids would be amazing. For example, we pay $700 every six weeks for my son's welding classes, while children in local high schools pay little to none. My son was removed from Texas public schools due to physical assault and bullying in Corsicana, TX, and suffers PTSD from this. Now, all my children are homeschooled, seeking the educational environment that will allow them to succeed at their own pace. Thank you for your consideration.

Lauren Young
Mom of 3 public school children
Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Lauren Young, I am a parent/community member in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs.

These includes:

Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

I urge you to prioritize our students by closing these funding gaps. Texas schools cannot afford to keep operating with such large deficits, and our children deserve better.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Lauren Young

Jennifer Graf

Self

Austin, TX

I want you to know that this Voucher Scam represents a fight between a bi-partisan, pro public education coalition vs. billionaire mega-donors who control Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick. Your constituents love their kids, believe in public school teachers, support our neighborhood schools and want them fully funded. We don't want a Voucher Scam that will eventually defund our local schools. I would like to see these things:

- the Basic allotment tied to inflation indexes so Gov Abbott cannot hold it hostage anymore
- the basic allotment become enrollment-based vs. attendance based
- full funding to make up for 6 years of missing funding

Vote NO on the Voucher Scam. I vote and this matters to me. Thank you.

kelly hanania

Self

Lakeway, TX

Please do not destroy our public schools. The United States was built in a foundation of strong public education. Instead of funding private institutions, use the money to build STRONGER public schools. Do in your heart what you know is best for our kids and our country.

Cynthia Garcia, Ms

Self

San Antonio, TX

.

As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair.

Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Public schools in Texas are underfunded by billions of dollars every year. The Comptroller is projecting a large increase in state revenue over the next two years compared to the past two years, and that money should go to fully funding public education.

Private schools pick and choose which students to admit. Vouchers force taxpayers to subsidize private schools' preferences. And without elected boards or state oversight, vouchers give away tax dollars with no financial or academic accountability.

Public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students, serving all the students in their boundaries. They build the workforce that powers the Texas economy. We can't afford to underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future.

We elect legislators to represent the interests of their communities. Responding to their communities, Texas legislators have rejected private school subsidies time after time.

In the face of increasing pressure from special interests, I pledge that I will stand with my legislators in opposing vouchers. When they vote against private school subsidies, I will make sure all their constituents know they did the right thingThe

Tara Walker Leon, Librarian
Bowie High School
Austin, TX

Our school district has been careful with funds, but with no increase in the Basic Allotment in 6 years and other pressures like inflation and increased needs, we have had to let teachers and other vital staff go, increase class sizes, and discontinue programs that are beneficial to our students. I am angry about this; it will affect my child's school experience. I demand that Gov Abbott stop playing games with my child's future and FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. I also demand that you VOTE NO ON THE VOUCHER SCAM so that our limited money and resources can be put to the best use for our students- and we have full accountability and transparency of that money. This issue matters to me and I vote. Thank you."

Dave Augustus
Myself
Argyle, TX

More government never solves problems. Smaller government means more freedom for families to choose. I say this as a homeschooler of 5 children.

Ben Raviotta
Self
Argyle, TX

No to ESA. Fund public schools immediately to inflationary levels. School choice is a give away to rich people!

Amanda Dickson
Self, educator
Leander, TX

I have worked in education for 15 years and am opposed to any kind of voucher program. I strongly urge you to vote no to any voucher proposal. This will take funds from already under funded public schools. Thank you for your consideration.

Farley Flatt
Self
Clyde, TX

I have exclusively voted conservative, but I am very concerned about the impact this bill could have on rural schools where the districts are the cornerstone of the community and a safe haven for often times socioeconomic challenged students. As a School Board President I have seen the effects of the ever moving "goal post" in the states standardized testing with the state often times not setting the standard until testing is complete, which allows for manipulation of the standard and often makes small/rural districts look like they aren't meeting the standards.

As I have researched this bill it is hard to come to any other conclusion than this is an intentional/unintentional attack on rural public education where charter programs are not locally available and only those with the economic means will prosper and small rural districts will suffer.

In our area I know this is a wildly unpopular bill in a mostly conservative area as people are concerned about the ramifications to our district that provides more than just education for our students.

Please vote no on HB3, go back to the drawing board, and come up with ideas to properly compensate teachers, holds educators and administrators accountable, and properly funds districts using standards that more accurately show public schools value.

Coyt Kennemer
Coyt Kennemer/Logistics
Fate, TX

I am writing my Congressman to vote no on House bill number 3 and to support public education.

Paula Hansen
Self
SUGAR LAND, TX

This bill takes $1 billion from Texas taxpayers and give it to wealthy families who are already sending their kids to private schools. This will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties (more than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send your kid too, even if you could afford the difference between what the voucher pays and what tuition costs!).

It's bad for the Texas taxpayer, bad for public educators, and bad for the kids in our public school classrooms.

Austin Pryor
Self, Instructional Coach
Pflugerville, TX

I am proud to be a third generation Texas educator. Like generations before me, I have dedicated my life to ensuring all students find success in our schools. I also firmly believe that every parent should be able to place their child in the school that best fits their needs. With that in mind, this bill does not provide parents with enough information to make informed decisions about where to send their child.

The means by which we currently measure public schools is through their A-F accountability rating, something that private schools do not have. The only means of measurement presented in this bill is the requirement for a school receiving ESA funds to administer a "nationally norm-referenced assessment" and provide the student's results to the parent. This assessment does not necessarily mean the STAAR test, it could be a number of other assessments, which further complicates the ability of parents to make informed decisions. In addition, the accountability rating for public schools takes into account student growth year-over-year and a comparison with schools of similar composition, two metrics that the state has deemed imperative in assessing the quality of schools.

This bill not only leaves out pertinent data parents deserve, but also ensures that any state agency or official cannot impose other accountability measures in the future. In a time where the federal government is doing it's best to reign in unaccountable government spending, it is astounding that the Texas Legislature would be ok blindly providing billions of dollars in taxpayer money to unaccountable private entities.

It is my hope that you reconsider the contents of this bill to ensure that parents are provided all the necessary information to make an informed and accurate choice on where to send their child.

Lisa Libre
Self, secretary
Lubbock, TX

No ESAs, please. Properly fund public schools!

Mika Damron
Self, principal
Baird, TX

I am completely against the establishment of education savings accounts. This is a scam that will negatively impact millions of children. Release the funds and properly fund public schools!

Renee Noelle
Self
Georgetown, TX

NO vouchers! Fund our public schools!! Stop lying to the public about the money you are NOT giving to teachers and students!

Michelle Flannigan

Self, teacher

Frisco, TX

The people of the great state of Texas has proven year after year that we don't want vouchers. Your job as elected officials is to do the will of the people, not push your own beliefs. We, as Texans, are proud of our public schools. Funding vouchers will take funds from public schools and make struggling districts even worse. As a mother, and a teacher, I urge you to have the courage to vote no on HB 3.

Donna Walker

Self

Cooper, TX

I have always aligned with and voted Republican. However, I will not vote for any candidate that supports school vouchers. This is not school choice. This is taking money from school budgets to support students that are already in private school and does not really help those that can not afford private school. I support Abbott in other issues, but this issue will change my vote next round. I see him as a bully, withholding school funding until he gets vouchers passed. Also, using campaign funds donated by billionaires to unseat candidates that do not support vouchers. I see him as greedy by taking the amounts of money from out of state billionaires that will profit from our state's passing of school vouchers. Again, I will not vote for any candidate, in the future, that votes for vouchers. Even though it will be a separate fund, it will decrease the amount schools receive in for budget. Our tax money is for the good of the public, not private. If you want school choice, all the students to move from one public school to another. Finally, look at other states that have passed school vouchers and their current struggles now. Finally, the parts of public school that are disliked are the required by law controlled by our government (curriculum, and STAAR). Please support our public schools and educators and vote no.

Tiffany Headrick

Self

Hondo, TX

Vouchers are wasting time and money. Public schools need full funding and deserve better than this!

Mark Dominey, Rev.

Self, Evangelical Missionary

Frisco, TX

I grew up in Texas attending public schools, including Robert E. Lee High School, named both to oppose desegregation and to promote White Supremacy. In order to learn music I was forced to play “Dixie” on the trumpet, while a large Confederate flag got paraded at football games. I knew this was systemic racism and so I dropped out of band. I wished that I could go to a different school, where academics were treated as more important than football or one’s skin color.

I learned Russian at UT during the Cold War to serve my country, but after smuggling Bibles into the Soviet Union for the persecuted church, I instead felt called into full-time ministry. I did my training to become a missionary at Dallas Theological Seminary and spent 30 years starting churches in Japan and communist China.

As a missionary family we experienced both public schools in the US and overseas, but also homeschooling our kids in English, but later experienced private schools, including Christian schooling, for which we also served as Board members. Therefore, I feel have more experience than most in the variety of educational options, different education problems, or student needs, not just the challenges all parents face in seeking the best education for their children, but also as immigrants learning in a second language, different school cultures & curricula, and of course the challenge of paying for private school tuition.

We must have done something right, because our daughter graduated UT with honors and chose to become a Texas public school teacher. However, after 7 years serving in her dream job, she resigned, frustrated that Texas schools are underfunded and underperforming, influenced by misguided politics, and obviously failing compared to schools she attended in Japan.

As a Christian family with a global mindset who highly value education for all, who see diversity as a strength that enriches society, and thank God for the freedom and equality our Constitution gives us, including for people of beliefs different from our own. We should not be banning books or virtue signaling. As a pastor who experienced in my own Texas school the ritual honoring of a pro-slavery “Christian” racist who killed Americans as some kind of hero, I know all too well that such people are still around, seeking power, and making things worse with bad ideas. And as an honest pastor with concern for how education has been used to divide us, discriminating against the poor and minorities, I must note that more than a few Christian schools even got their start as “segregation academies.”

The majority of Texans have repeatedly rejected proposed voucher schemes because like me they see this as a way to transfer tax dollars for public schools. to instead help what are usually wealthier families. It is poor people who need more help and public schools should be adequately funded. For the Governor to push this again is obtuse and undemocratic. Stop trying to rob public schools!

Rebecca Hughes

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Save Public Education from this attack orchestrated by powerful, wealthy white men. Our Texas children deserve quality Public Education which is guaranteed in our Texas Constitution.

The Savings Account Program is merely a way to destroy Public Education. It is way to take taxpayers money and give to wealthy elite Texans. School choice vouchers are a scam.

Please Vote against this Savings Account scam. Texas children deserve you to honor our Texas Constitution. Fully fund Public Education. Keep our Public Education safe from wealthy vultures looking for free taxpayers funds at the expense of Public Education. Do not fall into that trap the rich have planned to destroy Public Education. Vote against HB3. No Vouchers. No Education Savings Accounts.

Rebecca Hughes

Fort Worth

Beverly Howe, Mrs.

Self - retired Texas public school teacher

Hockley, TX

I taught 38 years in Texas public schools - thirty-five of them at the same school. Over those decades I observed the evolution of our socioeconomic student body go from middle class/affluent to a 70% economically disadvantaged student population. The timing paralleled the shrinking of our middle class through the failure of Reaganomics to actually trickle down to families. Falling tests scores indicated the failure of our economic system - not teachers or educational philosophy or effort. Federal grants helped us provide training on situational and cultural poverty in an effort to reach these flailing students. And they had serious barriers to overcome resulting from a depressed life in poverty. It also provided funding to hire more staff to help these kids who had no support at home with parents who had to work two and three jobs to provide as stable a home as possible. Targeting these students did help these kids, but these strategies cannot close the achievement gap in just days or weeks. The teachers made their best efforts to do so and even created an innovative new structure for teaching throughout Covid with some kids learning from home and others in person. It was a challenging time for all children and school staff as well. But they prevailed as best they could considering the barriers in their way.

I'm proud of these schools, staff and students for their intense dedication and hard work. I would hate to see funds removed from these schools who have served us well for over half a century. Every American child should have the opportunity for the best education possible and to strive to achieve their personal best - many just hoping to rise out of poverty and join our shrinking middle class. To take funds from these schools who serve the common good and are charged with teaching every child who walks through those doors is an insult to our constitution and our communities and our citizens. We NEED an educated citizenry. Teaching the Christian religion and the Ten Commandments in these public places is just as contrary to what the founders insisted as separation of church and state. Do you even have any idea how many different religions are represented in the Texas school system? Hundreds. This bill is an affront to our Constitution and a disaster waiting to happen in more than half of our communities. The children deserve a shot at public education. We need them to become our responsible educated citizenry. THEY are our future.

Samantha Cruz

Public education

Socorro, TX

As a public school educator, I want to tell you that public school funds belong to the students who need it the most. The ones who come from low income houses whose parents might be divorced, and do not have both parents present in their life. Public school funds belong to the students who need support from our school systems that they might not get anywhere else. Students who are low income and maybe only eat the meals given at school. When public schools are funded properly we can adequately support a majority of the needs of our students and teachers. When funds are removed, public schools are forced to have a smaller staff with larger class sizes where it is nearly impossible to service the students adequately. Each child has unique needs and true school choice means that fully funded public schools are the best choice for all. There are countless cases of non certified teachers at charter schools who do not understand the pedagogy behind teaching, who are unaware of how to work with and rather refuse to work with any student receiving Special educational services. The charter and private school is not built for all nor is it accessible to all, and that's what make it charter and private I suppose, but public funds MY tax dollars belong to public schools, to the students who need it the most with teachers who can truly and state certifiably service every child because that is what our training and years of education allow us to do. We can only do this if funds remain in public education. Let people continue to have a choice. Where any one person wants to take children to receive their education is a choice but one that is not viable for all. Vouchers with public funds that would leave middle class or low income households in debt to charter and private institutions only creates another hurdle low and middle class students would have to get through. There is not way around this vouchers do nothing for our students. Keep public school money in public schools. Sincerely, Samantha Cruz public schools educator

Ana Franco-Martinez

Self

San antonio, TX

Do not destroy our public school systems with a voucher program. We already have free choice to go to different schools but supporters of this bill dont want us to know that!! The only people vouchers will benefit is those already affording private school. With each child that leaves a public school, a less fortunate one will dramatically suffer the consequences. Access to a good education is a right we need to support for all kids, not just those who have the means to travel to and/or pay for better schools. Public schools are held accountable to meet standards, while charter/private can basically do what they want. Not mandating teaching certificates, being allowed to only admit students and deny student based on desired demographics, not having expectations for student performance on standardized testing are just a few reasons I. We love, support and are grateful for our local public school and amazing teachers. If this bill passes, thousands will lose jobs, children will suffer for it, and in the long term our great state will too.

Misty Perrin

Self

Houston, TX

Public schools have been held hostage and our children have suffered trying to pass this bill these last several sessions. The public repeatedly tells you we do not want this, and you continue to ignore us. This bill does nothing to serve the public. The amount allocated in the vouchers is more than allocated per child in public schools. It will mean millions of dollars lost for school districts already depleted. For once care more about educating our children in Texas. We used to be a state to emulate and now we are consistently ranked at the bottom. Where we used to flourish in academics, fine arts, music, and sports....we rely on booster clubs to give our kids the bare minimum.

Invest in our future, invest in our public schools. Don't destroy them.

David Nguyen

Self

Pearland, TX

I am not sure if this will even be read, but I want to try and be heard as a resident of this state. I would not be here today without my public education, and I owe my public school teachers everything. I strongly oppose using my taxpayer dollars to cut essential public school funding just to fund private, for-profit schools.

Many families like mine rely on free public education because we cannot afford expensive private academies or private tutors. Public schools are not just an option for us—they are our only choice. Public education gave me the tools to succeed, and I want future generations to have the same opportunities.

Our teachers are already doing more than their job requires, with limited pay and resources. And yet, despite the challenges, they go above and beyond. They shape students not just academically but as good, responsible members of society. How can we ask them to do more with even less? How is it fair to punish innocent children by taking away their favorite teachers, cutting fine arts programs, or shutting down neighborhood schools—all in the name of “school choice”?

Most middle-class families like mine don't truly have a choice. A small voucher won't cover the full cost of private school tuition, transportation, or additional fees. What happens when that money runs out? The reality is, this plan helps a select few while hurting the majority.

If Texas has a budget surplus, why not invest it in improving our public schools, raising teacher pay, and increasing classroom resources? Why take money away from our schools—the schools that Texas taxpayers already fund? Don't we deserve a say in where our tax dollars go?

The public education system is not perfect. No system is. But dismantling it will not fix it—it will only leave millions of children behind. Strong public schools create strong communities and a strong Texas. I urge you to stop politicizing our children's future for re-election campaigns. They are not political pawns.

If we truly care about children's education, let's fix what's broken, not tear down what's working. Let's invest in real solutions that help all Texas students—not just a privileged few.

Thank you for your time.

Lynne Perry

Self/self employed

Austin, TX

I am with the majority who strongly oppose the school voucher bill. Funds should be applied to the public schools where it is desperately needed to raise teacher salaries and to equip every school with the tools to educate. Private schools are just that-funded by the private individuals who choose private schools. That's the democratic way, not forcing our tax dollars to fund a choice for private schooling. This is an idiotic bill the majority have loudly expressed they're against. The majority wishes the elected representatives vote accordingly to represent the majority.

Jonna McGhee

Self/Austin ISD kindergarten teacher and parent

Austin, TX

Vote NO on school vouchers! Save Texas public schools!

Tiffany McGuffin

My community and children

Arlington, TX

Diverting public school dollars to private institutions weakens our communities and our students. Those that have a choice already are able to make a choice. School choice for all of the state of Texas is a myth. School choice is only available to those that have the financial ability, Geography, private availability, transportation, and parents who are able to make the trip are available to do so. School choice only exists for those who can make a choice. I important you to choose to invest in our public institutions and the communities that they support.

SARA BUCHANAN

Self

Houston, TX

This is only going to redistribute wealth from the poor to the rich. People who can afford private schools do not need discounts. It is ridiculous and to say that this is a program for anyone to participate in is disingenuous. No one who can afford private school needs this voucher program. It is only trying to give yet another concession to the Wilk's and Dunn's of this world. Stop supporting the oligarchs. They are fine and always will be. Support the common person and stop trying to destroy the department of education on the state level. Every single person benefits from being insulated by an educated populace and these vouchers are short sighted. Put the taxpayers' money back into the system and improve it. Don't give billionaires tax money. Make them pay their fair share. Stop being cowards and do what is right here. Texas is disgusting for leading the charge on this terrible program. Every one of the people who support this bill should be ashamed of themselves.

Devon Lafferty

Self- rowing coach/manager/parent of a 3rd grader in AISD public school

Austin, TX

Hello, my name is Devon Lafferty and I am a constituent in zip code 78735. I am writing to voice my opposition to HB 3. I am asking my Representative and this Committee to vote no and to instead fully fund public education. We already have meaningful school choice in Texas - what we need are resources so that our public schools can deliver the education that each child in Texas deserves, and that which has already been mandated, with accountability and due process ensuring that delivery. We do not need resources for privatized schools to thrive with no or little accountability to the public. I don't believe proponents of this bill can point to any examples of similar laws in other states achieving any of the objectives that are the supposed motivation for this bill. To the contrary, voucher systems like this are a failed experiment, and if this bill moves forward, this will predictably harm more families than it helps. Thank you.

Brandi Sellers

Self

Austin, TX

No, nope, ????

Victoria Ursi

Self

Frisco, TX

Public money should not be directed to private schools. You have a constitutional duty to provide all Texas children with a free and efficient education and this bill does not provide for either. These funds could help properly fund public schools now - both the $1B now and the $9B this bill would cost in 2030. 97% or more of Texas residents attend public school, and Texas needs to do better by those kids by properly funding their educations and specifically allocating more money to safety.

Amanda Toon
self / campus administrator
Cedar Park, TX

The proposed voucher bill that will siphon money away from our community schools—has no protections for discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, it also explicitly strips disabled students of their rights under the ADA, and there is a lack of accountability and transparency for the private institutions that would be receiving public tax dollars. Please consider the negative impact that this would have on our students and our schools. As a campus administrator and a parent of 3 students who went through Texas public schools, I am begging you to look deeper into the lasting, negative impact it will have.

Andrea Lauterbach
Parents of public school children
Trophy Club, TX

For the 2025 school year, there are 2,163 private schools serving 349,956 students in Texas (there are 9,374 public schools, serving 5,549,672 students). 6% of all K-12 students in Texas attend private schools. Passing an education choice bill to benefit 6% of students and angering the families of 94% of students is absurd. Texas families will vote blue in the next election in revolt. You'll single handedly turn Texas blue if this passes. This is ridiculous.

Joy Kelley
Self
Spring, TX

The children of Texas deserve to have equitable funding across the board for public schooling. Education savings accounts(vouchers) only help those who can already afford private schools. Texas voters have overwhelmingly shown they are against them. Vote NO!

Linda Sharpe
Self
Georgetown, TX

Please Vote NO on HB 3.

School vouchers are not acceptable to the citizens of the State of Texas or any state in America. They will take money away from public schools that are already strapped for funds to educate the children.

Elaine Vogel
Self
McKinney, TX

Vote no on vouchers! Public schools Vouchers benefit the wealthy and will weaken an already stressed Texas public school system. It is wrong to divert tax money to help pay for those who send to private schools or homeschool that is often with curriculum that is harmful. If you are going to support this, then I want a tax Funded account with reimbursement for my school dollars. I haven't had kids in school for years but happy to help support the public schools that educate our young population.

Vote no to vouchers! Support public schools . Texas already has stressed the schools. I taught and had to buy my own supplies! That is wrong and you want to take more tax money from public education. That is wrong! Vouchers only benefit the wealthy and religious who homeschool. It's a choice to send to private schools and the should not get my tax dollars! I have t had kids in school for years but I support public education! By your beliefs I should get a refund for all I've paid in and don't get any benefits. That a wrong way to think! Vote No Vote no on bouncers!

Leticia Smith

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote no to HB3. This bill is widely opposed by your constituents because it will further erode our public school by taking away needed funding.

George Patterson

Self

Nacogdoches, TX

I am a native Texan, and attended public schools, as did my four children. I am strongly opposed to my tax dollars being given to those who choose to attend private I schools, many of which promote religion. This is in direct violation of the First Amendment of our Constitution. Vouchers being considered would only steal from Texas public schools, which are sadly among the poorest in America.

Lelia Beckelman

Self, homemaker

Spicewood, TX

As a Texas resident, I OPPOSE this bill. If it passes, it will do irreparable harm to the Texas Public school system and Texas children. My tax dollars should NOT go to private schools that are not required to provide the same services as public schools! DO NOT PASS THIS BILL!

Jennifer Rys

Self/accountant

Cedar Park, TX

I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts! ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Karol Middleton, Mrs.

self/retired office administrator

Austin, TX

I have had my children in both private and public schools. When I chose to go private, I assumed the responsibility of paying for that privilege. It is not the job of the taxpaying citizens to pay for MY CHOICE to send my children to a school that charges tuition. For a functioning democracy, we need free public education. It is obvious that you want your constituents to be well educated so they will continue to vote for YOU. Please don't undermine our schools. They are inherently necessary to the betterment of all Texans. Thank you.

Kathy Carter

Self

Richardson, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Bill France
Self, Managing Director
Plano, TX

To our honorable elected officials: Please Stop this misguided effort to defund our public school system. It is the foundation of our democracy and the greatest equalizer in providing for the children of our great nation. Without a well educated populace we will not be prepared for our future and handing out money to unvetted private institutions operating for profit is open to fraud and corruption. This is outright capitulation to what should be a doubling down on our public education system. Please stop this back door robbery of our strong public school system by self interested special interest lobbyists. Thank you for your service and your vote for ALL the students and teachers in Texas!

Kat Baltzegar
My family
Mckinney, TX

Public education is our most powerful tool to ensure a prosperous future for our cities, state, County. Private schools are a luxury and those interested should attend on their own dime & not ours. Give money back to our students and teachers so our towns can continue to succeed.

Gary Moats
Self
MCALLEN, TX

I support the education savings account program. Students should be able to choose their education path.

Richard Luttrell
Self
Richardson, TX

I am writing to express my opposition to HB 3, and to encourage our legislature to full fund Texas Public Schools. My faith teaches me to care for everyone, and that includes providing quality public education for every child living in Texas.

After my retirement, I have served as an AVID tutor at Berkner High School in Richardson. There I have witnessed firsthand how hard students, teachers and administrators work to prepare these young people for the challenges of being tomorrow's leaders. They deserve your respect and support. Most importantly, they deserve the funding necessary to succeed. Thank you for your consideration.

Shayne Calhoun, Mr.
Self
Leander, TX

I am opposed to HB 3 for the following reasons. HB 3 threatens to divert critical public school funding to private school vouchers, weakening resources for students, and destabilizing the Teacher Retirement System (TRS) by reducing the number of active educators paying into it. Public schools serve all children, and shifting taxpayer dollars to unregulated private institutions undermines their ability to provide quality education. Lawmakers must vote NO on HB 3 to protect public schools, educators, and retirees instead of gambling with Texas' education system.

KC McClain, Maj Gen (Ret) USAF
Self/Retired
Plano, TX

Before joining the USAF, I taught Middle & High school for 4 yrs. Public schools are the foundation of our nation & the key to America's promise that there is a path for everyone to succeed. School vouchers weaken public education & break that promise. I do NOT want my tax $$ to be used for private education. Make our schools stronger...when everyone succeeds our nation is stronger.

Tasha Yarbrough

Self

Channing, TX

Vote No to HB 3!! Public Schools are the heart of Rural communities. Fully fund public schools and vote no to using public dollars to fund private schools and the billionaires that have bought votes and politicians.

Javier Ruiz Javier Ruiz

Self

Odessa, TX

HB 2 school funding is a joke and an insult to the millions of Texas students. A pathetic increase of $220 per student does not address the many needs schools have in today's economy. The basic allotment should be $1300 to match the rate of inflation. Furthermore, Texas public education has not received any increases since 2019! So in SIX years you figure offering us $220 will satisfy us? Do better Texas!

Tarah Day

Self

Athens, TX

As a homeschool teacher, I am not in favor of this Bill. I already enjoy the freedom of school choice because of hard fought freedoms won before. I feel any regulation to Texas private (homeschooling) is a step backwards. I would rather my school tax go to other children in need of public then be further regulated.

connie bush

Self

Arlington, TX

I am wholeheartedly AGAINST this bill. Parents should not have to answer to government for the education of their children. Any funds coming from government entities will assuredly have strings attached and regulations imposed that will be detrimental to the freedoms of schooling our children as we see fit.

Amy De Rosa, Mrs

Self—grandparent who pays for and funds grandkids' wducation

Harker Heights, TX

The current ESA budget is only for families who meet certain requirements Give us, the taxpayers who are paying for this , an honest, true and realistic time frame for when every family in Texas will be able to access school choice via ESAs. One year? Three years? Fifteen years?

Georgia Thompson, Ms

Self

McKinney, TX

I do not agree with offering vouchers to private schools or to any sort of non public school situation including homeschool. I feel that public schools need more financial support.

Rebecca Fulenchek

Self

Mckinney, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3. Parents currently have school choice. It does not make sense to give vouchers to families who are choosing to pay for private schools. There are so many counties in Texas who do not have private schools in their community or nearby. Please explain how HB 3 serves these families and children who do not have the private school option. I strongly oppose this bill.

Logan Kimble

Self

Austin, TX

We are adamantly OPPOSED to school vouchers. If you clowns could fund public schools appropriately there would be no need for a program like this. Other countries have figured out they need to make education a priority and so should we. If the government privatizes everything, we don't need a legislature do we?

Michelle Whatley

Self

Allen, TX

I am absolutely against this. I work in public education across the state. We need significant funding to help run our campuses. This ESA fund is not necessary. We need 10,100 per pupil STATE funding. We don't know each year our federal funding sources. Superintendents, teachers, and families DO NOT WANT VOUCHERS! Please listen to the people of Texas! Please listen to the fact that we don't want it! We want proper funding, utilization of funding to be used to do better! Republicans have been in Texas office for 20+years to only cause more problems with education. They have had so much time to fix it. Abbott needs to be ashamed of his work. Fix education and vote him out.

Robert Munoz

La Villa Independent School District

La Villa, TX

As the Superintendent of La Villa Independent School District, I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB 3 due to its harmful impact on public school funding. Proponents claim that Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) do not divert money away from public education, but this is simply not true. HB 3 redirects $1 billion in taxpayer funds that could and should be invested in Texas public schools—where over 5 million students are educated.

Public education in Texas is already underfunded, and this significant loss of funding will directly affect the resources available to our students. These diverted funds could be used to support teacher salaries, student intervention programs, special education services, mental health resources, early literacy initiatives, and college and career readiness programs. Instead, HB 3 proposes to shift those dollars to private education providers that do not serve all students and are not subject to the same accountability standards as public schools.

Furthermore, Texas public schools serve every child, regardless of their economic status, learning needs, or geographic location. When public schools lose funding due to policies like HB 3, it exacerbates inequities and disproportionately harms students in rural and lower-income communities—where private school options are extremely limited or nonexistent.

Rather than diverting essential resources, Texas leaders should focus on fully funding our public schools and making targeted investments that have a direct impact on student success. Ensuring that every child has access to a high-quality, well-resourced public education should be the state's top priority.

I strongly urge you to oppose HB 3 and instead support policies that strengthen, rather than undermine, our Texas public schools. Thank you for your time and your commitment to the future of our students and our communities.

Jennifer Steffenson

Self and all rational texas. Account manager, concerned parent

Buda, TX

As a parent of three young children, I am aggressively against the misuse of our tax dollars to fund private school education under the false guise of "school choice" and education spending accounts. Public tax dollars are for public use, not private for profit education. These schools are not held to the same standards as public schools and set their own rules on who to accept. My deaf child can be denied admission because they don't want to support his additional learning needs.

Additionally, our public schools are chronically underfunded, an issue that will only become worse as the current president tries to dismantle the department of education. Texas has a surplus and yet still refuses to fund our education for the betterment of our future generations. Egregiously, Greg Abbott has held these funds hostage, watching our schools and children suffer, as he tries to benefit himself and the policies that his billionaire donors are backing. The majority of Texans do not benefit from this and many counties don't even have private schools within their county to send their kids to if they did want to. Few things have united Texans against the current Texas government like our collective opposition towards the voucher program/ education savings accounts. I implore all members of the house to vote No to HB 3.

Crystal Lamb

self

Spring, TX

I am writing as a parent of a now young man with disabilities & medical conditions, and as a disability retired Texas teacher of almost 20 years. I served over 18,000 students as a music educator. They were my second family.

Passing a school voucher bill will absolutely reinstate segregation, even in ways you may not expect:

You'll hold public schools to a more burdensome, unequal standard (STAAR, attendance, and a dumping ground for what private, charter & home schools will deem undesirables) while not requiring private schools to accept and/or keep poor or disabled students.

Private, charter & home schools will only have to pinky promise that they will enact IDEA & FAPE protections for those w disabilities & learning differences (including dyslexia).

Private, religious, and home schools are not accountable to the state.

Studies of similar programs found that voucher money largely goes to students ALREADY in private schools, and away from my 18,000 students.

My son would not be served under your proposed rules. He would be rejected...kicked out...reviled.

No one would hold a private, charter or home school accountable for their actions.

He wouldn't deserve that kind of treatment.

Neither would ~any~ of my 18,000 students.

This isn't who we are.

Please do not pass this Bill.

Carol Wetterauer

self, retired

Katy, TX

12 Years ago my kids chose to buy a house in Katy ISD because of quality schools. They chose despite having to pay extra in property taxes, for the sake of providing an excellent education for their now 6 kids.

5 years ago my husband and I also moved to Katy ISD to be close to our grandkids. We were ok paying extra in property taxes because again, those taxes meant wonderful schools for our kids.

Today, I'm angry. The promotion of vouchers by our Texas Legislators will lead to even higher taxes, decreased home value, and we will no longer have quality education for our kids.

I know this because the money for vouchers won't come from Texas' $23 billion surplus, but from money already allotted to our public schools. Because 73% of Texas' schools are already underfunded, it won't take long to see negative results. These would be school buildings in disrepair, fewer buses for the kids, fewer teachers due to low wages, leading to crowded classrooms. These things are already happening in parts of rural Texas, and in voucher states such as Indiana, Florida, and Arizona.

Barbara Hanlon

self, retired IT professional, community volunteer

Austin, TX

Vote NO for HB 3 establishment of education savings account program (ESA), which will defund our already underfunded public schools. ESA program would increase inequality by reducing access to educational opportunities for students from disadvantaged backgrounds. ESA program would give private schools the power to choose which students to admit, without being required to serve children with disabilities. Private schools are not required to comply with the state accountability and assessment standards, as are public schools. This accountability is very important for ensuring quality education for all Texas students. Do not take funds away from our public schools, instead put more effort and funding into improving them for all Texas students!!! Vote NO on HB 3!

Barel Alcantara Marte
self, Data Engineer
Round Rock, TX

Dear Representatives,

I strongly oppose education vouchers and advocate for robust public school funding. As a parent of two children thriving in Round Rock public schools, I've seen first-hand the value that public education can provide our society. Both kids have benefited immensely from the Talented and Gifted program offered by our district, and take full advantage of music, sports, and after-school programs – programs vital to a well-rounded education.

Vouchers undermine our public education system by funneling the funds into private schools, that we could be using to expand opportunities in the public system. They worsen inequity, since private schools can be selective and costly - not truly expanding choice for all, especially vulnerable students. Vouchers benefit wealthier students who were already able to afford expensive private schools, effectively turning the funds into welfare for the wealthy. Research on voucher effectiveness is also weak, in part because there isn't as much scrutiny into how the funding is used and how outcomes are affected. Instead, the data that does exist, shows us how school voucher programs often fail. Case in point, it's plain to see what has happened in states like Arizona, Tennessee, Indiana, Georgia, and Louisiana, among others, where budget shortfalls have increased, and test scores for kids in private schools have not improved in comparison to public school students. States with school voucher programs have weakened their public education systems to a point where many districts have had to close schools, stop offering enrichment programs, and freeze any salary increases or layoff teachers.

It is in our best interest, as taxpayers, to invest in public schools. Adequate funding ensures smaller classes, qualified teachers, updated facilities, and essential services. Examples around the world show us how adequate public education funding can dramatically enhance student outcomes and increase quality of life for an educated society. It is a shame that the United States, among the richest countries in the world, routinely underperforms other countries in public education. A country like Finland, for example, spends over $12k USD on average per student, while in Texas we allocate half this amount. Let's strengthen public education for all children, ensuring equity and opportunity for every student in our community. Reject vouchers; invest in public schools – the foundation of our society.

Sincerely,
Barel Alcantara Marte

Sharon Evans, Ms
.self
Early, TX

This calls for a clear NO vote

Solange Hommel
self, retired educator
Killeen, TX

My name is Solange Hommel and I live in Killeen, 76549. As a former teacher and someone who cares deeply about the futures of all students, I am strongly opposed to HB 3 and all other school voucher bills. School vouchers DO NOT level the playing field between the haves and have-nots when it comes to education. Instead, vouchers siphon public funds from public schools which are already struggling with underfunding. Vouchers largely subsidize already privileged families going to private schools that aren't held to the same levels of accountability in hiring, oversight, curriculum, or special education services. Vouchers leave behind rural communities where no private schools exist. It would be far better for Texas schools, students, and families for available moneys to go toward fully funding public schools - providing competitive salaries, quality supplies and materials for ALL students, building improvements, and more.

VOTE NO on HB 3 and ALL school voucher bills. FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Sheri Yates Gallo

Voter

Boerne, TX

I am adamantly opposed to school vouchers as they will take away from economically disadvantaged and give to the rich. Stop being so greedy. Abbott has made enough off of this issue. Send him back empty handed!

No to vouchers!!

Lara Tietz

self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 for the following reasons:

1. Public schools are where children from dissimilar backgrounds learn to interact. Vouchers lead to increased segregation and fragmented society.
2. A weakened public school system weakens the entire community, negatively impacting property values and overall quality of life.
3. Most importantly, private schools receiving voucher funds have less accountability, and no assurance of quality. This affects our future society.

Melissa Ulrich

My children and myself

Cedar Park, TX

Please vote against the vouchers and FOR public education. Our state has put off funding PUBLIC education for too long. Right this wrong before you try to have us subsidize the private schools.

Shelley Ruprecht

Self

Dallas, TX

Please vote AGAINST school Vouchers. These are nothing more than a way to give financial benefits to wealthy with public money while pillaging our already underfunded public education system. It is shameful. This is not about school choice and will greatly harm the education of our citizens.

Kimberly Gaspar- Wolfe

Self

Leander, TX

I live in Leander Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

NO SCHOOL receiving state funds should have a different set of rules than public schools do. It is deceptive and a misuse of our tax payer money.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Stephen Burrell, Dr
Magnolia Bible Church
Magnolia, TX

Empowering parents to direct the moral and scholastic training for their children is the right thing to do. While the state hold a role in general accountability for the use of funds, parents should feel free to direct the education of their own children. I am in favor of empowering parents.

Carol Hubbard
self
Georgetown, TX

Texan billionaires just want WHITE, CHRISTIAN PRIVATE schools! We do NOT agree and you need to demonstrate courage and commitment to hard-working Texans and say NO!

Bridget Bowden
Self - Supply Chain Manager
Webster, TX

I do not support this proposal as it takes state funds away from public education to funnel them instead to private interests. Studies have shown that vouchers primarily benefit those who already are using private school options. Our Texas public schools deserve support to improve our overall level of education in the state. This will ultimately benefit Texas more than handouts of state money to wealthy Texans.

Dan Koller
Self, writer
Coppell, TX

The majority of Texans do not want vouchers. All they will accomplish is providing a discount to families that already send their kids to private schools.

David Hill, Mr.
Concerned Citizen -Self as a retired 40 year Texas Teacher
Lubbock, TX

It is so obvious as to what the purpose of this bill is and it surely doesn't have a thing to do about improving the quality of our children's education. KEEP PUBLIC SCHOOLS PUBLIC !!
Those parents that can afford private or charter schools can surely afford to but not at taxpayers expense. STOP THIS NONSENSE as reducing the crime rate and establishing more and better gun controls would be better legislative time spent.

Amy Monkman
self
Cedar Park, TX

This bill is not going to do any good for anyone except for those who can already afford private schools.
I have been teaching for 30 years. The money that lawmakers have been debating FOR YEARS is best used for public education. Every large school district in Texas is strapped for money. They are having to increase class sizes to decrease teacher pay, cut programs and come up with inventive ways to balance their budgets. Some districts are going to 4 days to try to save money!! Is this what's best for our children? Absolutely NOT!!
Say no to vouchers or whatever name you are calling them now. Stand up to the billionaire bullies who don't care about children. Stand up to Greg Abbott and show him that TEXANS DON'T WANT TO DEFUND PUBLIC EDUCATION!!

Jeanne Good

Self

Austin, TX

School vouchers are a terrible idea. The public is against it. It doesn't give parents "choice" when their entire county doesn't have a private school. It isn't a choice when there is no transportation provided for students. It isn't choice when the private schools can pick and choose who they admit. It isn't choice when special education and other needs aren't required to be present in private schools. Texas should fully fund public schools instead of trying to push this voucher program down our throats. I understand the goal is to further destroy public education so that the owners of private schools can make money, however this will be disastrous for children and families.

Sara McArthur

Self

Dallas, TX

I am against school vouchers and taking money away from our public schools.

Reagan King, Mrs.

Self

Princeton, TX

I am an a mom of 3 (pregnant with my fourth!) taking a break from teaching in public education to homeschool my young children. My mother is an educator to gifted and talented 2nd graders at a public school (Kimberlin Academy) in Garland, TX where she was awarded teacher of the year this year. My Mammy retired as a beloved public school teacher in Richardson, TX where she served her students for decades. I have been educated by the private school system and the public school system. I earned credits from the Dallas County Community College system but attended two private Christian Universities for my undergraduate and graduate degrees. I am a lifelong learner who is passionate about educating our youth. I'm also a follower of Christ who is passionate about showing others the love of Jesus. Given all of these credentials, I believe I am more than qualified to offer an opinion on this bill.

I am VEHEMENTLY in opposition.

Instead of funding private school options, it is IMPERATIVE that we allocate our resources to our severely underfunded public schools, who already serve millions of students throughout the state. Class sizes are too big, there are too few teachers, there are outdated materials, there are overworked teachers who are wildly underpaid — let's fix those issues and make each PUBLIC school an amazing place for ANY and EVERY student to learn and grow.

VOUCHERS VIOLATE THE CONSCIENCE OF TAXPAYERS.

VOUCHERS THREATEN THE AUTONOMY OF RELIGIOUSLY AFFILIATED SCHOOLS.

VOUCHERS THREATEN THE CHARACTER OF RELIGIOUSLY AFFILIATED SCHOOLS.

VOUCHERS DISPROPORTIONATELY DISQUALIFY MARGINALIZED STUDENTS.

Please, please, please: VOTE NO!

Thomas Wynn

Self / Homemaker

Dripping Springs, TX

No to school vouchers! Fund our public schools.

Kaitlyn Loveday

Self

Cibolo, TX

Private schools receiving voucher funds are not always subject to the same accountability standards as public schools. They may not be required to follow state curriculum guidelines, administer standardized tests, or publicly report student performance data. This makes it difficult to ensure that taxpayer money is being used effectively.

Private schools, unlike public schools, can have selective admission policies. They may reject students based on academic ability, disabilities, behavior history, or even religious beliefs. This means that vouchers may not actually give all students equal access to better education options. Private schools are not obligated to accept students and therefore can "cherry pick" students and leave others behind. This does not allow for equal opportunity for all students.

In short, school vouchers can weaken public schools, lack oversight, and fail to ensure better outcomes for students. A stronger focus on improving the public education system would be a more effective way to support all students.

Bryan Waites

Self

Richmond, TX

As a Texas constituent, I strongly oppose Senate Bill 3 (SB3) and school vouchers, as they pose a direct threat to our public education system, rural communities, and taxpayer accountability. School vouchers siphon critical funding away from public schools, funneling taxpayer dollars into private and religious institutions that operate without the same transparency, accountability, or inclusion requirements as public schools.

Diverting Funds from Public Schools

Texas public schools are already underfunded, ranking near the bottom in per-student spending nationwide. Instead of investing in teacher salaries, classroom resources, and infrastructure, SB3 would drain public funds to subsidize private education for a small percentage of families—many of whom already afford private schooling. This worsens inequality by leaving the vast majority of Texas students in underfunded schools with fewer resources.

Lack of Accountability and Oversight

Unlike public schools, private institutions receiving voucher funds do not have to meet state academic standards or follow federal protections for students with disabilities. Texas taxpayers deserve to know how their money is being spent, yet vouchers would allow public funds to flow into schools with no obligation to report outcomes or spending.

Harming Rural Communities

For rural Texans, vouchers offer no benefit. Many communities lack private school options, meaning students and families would be left with underfunded public schools and no real choice. Instead of strengthening the only schools available to rural Texans, SB3 would weaken them, forcing more school closures and consolidations.

Threatening Religious Freedom and Civil Rights

Public funds should not be used to support private schools that discriminate against students based on religion, disability, sexual orientation, or gender identity. Unlike public schools, which serve all students, private schools can reject applicants for virtually any reason, reinforcing systemic barriers and further excluding marginalized communities.

Texans Want Public School Investment—Not Vouchers

Polls consistently show that Texans prioritize funding public schools, not diverting tax dollars to private institutions. If legislators truly care about school choice, they should focus on improving public education for all students, rather than providing a tax break to wealthier families who already have private options.

SB3 and school vouchers are a betrayal of Texas students, teachers, and taxpayers. I urge our lawmakers to fully fund and support our public schools—the foundation of a strong Texas future.

Connie Gooding

Self

Hutto, TX

I want to register my strong disapproval of ESAs/vouchers. School choice is nothing new nor is underfunding public schools. It's time for Texas elected officials, not monied people from other states, to step up and support Texas students.

richard santos

Self, writer

austin, TX

I oppose vouchers that will remove even more funding from our public schools. At a time when the Dept of Ed is being dismantled Texans should be doubling down on our public schools. This bill does the opposite and the ripple effects will last for generations.

Rachelle Mann

Self

Flower Mound, TX

The introduction of H2B into the educational system poses serious concerns for our children's future. At its core, this policy risks widening the already concerning gap between socio-economic classes by effectively creating an unequal playing field in education.

One of the central issues with H2B is that it shifts the focus from strengthening public schools to offering private school vouchers. While vouchers might seem like a fair solution on the surface, the reality is that they only benefit families who are already relatively affluent. Private school tuition often far exceeds the amount covered by a voucher, leaving lower-income families unable to afford these institutions even with the additional support. This leaves private schools as a privilege reserved for the mega-rich, while public schools face further underfunding and neglect.

Public education has long been a cornerstone of opportunity, providing every child, regardless of their background, with a chance to succeed. Undermining this foundation by prioritizing private institutions will result in a generation where only the wealthiest have access to quality education. This isn't just an educational issue—it's an ethical one. Do we want to live in a society where a child's future is determined solely by their parents' bank account?

Supporting public schools, rather than diverting funds to private school vouchers, is critical for ensuring that every child has access to quality education. Strengthening public education benefits society as a whole, fostering equality and enabling every child to reach their full potential.

William Dower, Dr.

Self, retired educator and researcher.

Austin, TX

I am against HB 3. We need to fund public schools 'adequately' as the Texas constitution requires, but this has not been done for a decade or more.

The experience of a public education is more important now than ever, as our society fragments into splinters that do not talk to each other. Public education is a place where we can meet those who we might not ever see later in life, and understand that we are all Texas, and all People.

Bill Sigsbee

Self/ College professor

Garland, TX

I oppose the establishment of an education savings program as it will negatively affect and undercut the amount of money allocated for public education. At a time when the percentage of students reading on grade level is at an all time low, we cannot afford to decrease funding for public education. The correlation between those who do not read on grade level by third grade and matriculation into Texas Youth Commission facilities due to high rates of juvenile delinquency and subsequent matriculation into the Texas Department of Corrections is all too well known. Furthermore, this bill will further divide our state into a "have" versus "have not" state with increasing polarization along the lines of class and race. As a former Dallas ISD student at the elementary and secondary levels and a proud graduate of Adamson High School, while forced desegregation in 1971 in Dallas ISD was a shock for blacks, whites, and Hispanics who had never attended public school together, the positive benefits, in my opinion, far outweigh the period of turbulent adjustment that we all went through. Sure, there were those who had money and fled to the suburbs, but those who stayed, developed a level of emotional intelligence in interacting with people unlike themselves that has endured for a lifetime. The passing of HB 3 will provide another "flight" from public schools for those who have the resources to add to the promised $10,000 per child education savings account. It could be argued that only the lower class children will be left in public schools. Then what? Will the private voucher schools attract the better teachers as they will be able to offer higher salaries and more benefits? Will the students who have parents with greater resources leave a void that cannot be filled in the public schools. Isn't going to school with a variety of socioeconomic classes an education in and of itself? Can't we all learn some invaluable lessons from interacting with those who have more or less than we do? I'm afraid we are setting ourselves up to create more sterile environments in our public and private schools than we already have. Variety really is the spice of life and I feel fortunate to have gone to school with so many classmates who came from varied backgrounds and enriched my life while giving me the opportunity to be more cognitively flexible as a result from being exposed to their varied experiences and perceptions. Therefore, I would vote a resounding "no" to HB 3.

Caitlin Corkill

self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill and believe that it's the ruin of our public education system. This will hurt small rural schools and is unfair to children and parents in Texas. Sending a small % of children to private schools does nothing for the greater good of TX. Instead I believe we need to focus on improving the means in our public school systems.

Catherine Bigler, Mrs.

Self

Georgetown, TX

I disagree with providing school vouchers. We should be investing money in our public schools and our teachers who are woefully underpaid. PLEASE Do not pass the school voucher bill or HB#3!

Cami Skaggs, STEM Coordinator

Self

Perryton, TX

I oppose HB3 and any bill that supports vouchers in Texas. Instead of diverting funds, fully fund Texas public schools as outlined in the Texas Constitution so that ALL students have the resources they need to learn.

Ralph Weston
self
AUSTIN, TX

Please don't make it less likely that students in public schools will get a good education, with high quality, well trained teachers, just so religious schools can lower their costs. When I was a kid, our church had a Sunday school, supported by the church members. The only government support was exempting the church property from property taxes. There's no reason to change that practice.

Leasa Thomas
Self
Lubbock, TX

School vouchers

Maria Allen
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill. I believe it will take badly needed funding away from public schools. Parents who want to send their children to private schools can do so without the State robbing funds from public education, which is what this bill would do.

Karen Amador
Self
The Woodlands, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Linda Taylor
Self
Allen, TX

Vote NO to HB3!!
It's not good for public education.

Sebastian Forray
self, designer
Houston, TX

As a Texas resident I strongly urge you to reject the privatization of education and say no to school vouchers and fully fund public education.

Allison Liles, Rev
Self
Dallas, TX

This is a kickback for the wealthy. Public school is essential for our democracy and society as a whole. Rural areas of Texas do not have access to private schools, therefore they will be penalized by HB3. Private schools can deny admission to anyone they choose, so this wouldn't be school choice for parents. It's horrible.

Leslie Greenfield
self
Fort Worth, TX

I oppose HB 3

Jennifer Gilbreath
self, public school educator
Garland, TX

I oppose HB3

Kelly McGuyer
Self - Senior Analyst
Denton, TX

I'm concerned about the impact of charter schools on my local community. They can drain resources from traditional public schools, leading to overcrowding and program cuts that harm all students, especially those with special needs.

Jennifer Padgett
Self
Royse City, TX

I oppose HB3. This bill does not allow a choice for the majority of our citizens. It will harm the students in Texas.

Pamela A Peden
Self
Wylie, TX

Program should be implemented

Leanne Bochenko, Miss
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I vote no! That funding needs to stay in the Public School system. We have school choice. We do NOT want to fund kids going to private schools. If parents can afford private school they need to pay for it.

Lora Shook
Self
Houston, TX

I would like to ask you to vote against sb3 and redirect those funds to public education. Vouchers only support the families that can provide transport to private schools and do not help the economy and growth for Texas. We recently visited Costa Rica and see first hand that privatizing public schools does not help the overall community and widens the gap between the haves and have nots. Please raise the min allocation and vote no on vouchers. Yes to supporting public education.

Alex Klager
Harrison PTA
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3! No to vouchers!

Helen Heuberger

Self/retired

Austin, TX

I am a firm NO on HB3. This bill is not a parental choice bill. Private schools get to choose and exclude students, unlike the public schools. The private schools can also remove the students during the school year for any reason, once again, unlike the public schools.

This bill is also a bonus for the big dollars/donors behind Gov. Abbott and Lt. Gov Patrick's big push for vouchers. They can build, promote and own private schools which will rake in millions of tax dollars. Texas Republicans have underfunded the public school system for years and, now with HB3, want to make the situation even worse. Abbott threw a fit last session when vouchers did not pass and refused to increase funding for public schools. Big money from in state and out of state billionaires rolled in and here we are again.

Save our Texas Public Schools which serve 5 million + students by increasing per pupil funding by, at least, $1000.00, funding mandates which increase year and

VOTING NO on HB3.

Thank you,

Donna Nell

Myself

Lubbock, TX

School vouchers are in no way beneficial to the students of Texas. I am adamantly opposed to the in any form, including a "Savings Account". As a retired educator, I have seen many cases of poor outcomes when students are homeschooled. Many struggling parents will be tempted to take the money offered for home-schooling and find they are ill-equipped to ensure an appropriate education for their students. Where will the accountability be? Private schools are not in favor of this because of the threat of government interference. To take public tax dollars and give those to private entities goes against the Constitution and the separation of church and state when the school is founded and supported by a church. Please vote your conscience and do what is right for the students of Texas, and avoid voting to favor your political advancement.

Alicia Gutierrez

Self

San antonio, TX

We cannot lose the special education program. Our government should do whatever they can to prevent the removal of this program.

Dana Lynch

self

Eustace, TX

Our children in Texas need a fully funded education, not this. It is a huge "no" to school vouches.

Alexandria Rodgers

Public Schools

Plano, TX

This program will not benefit ALL those looking for an education. It'll only benefit those that can afford it. If I wanted my child in a private school I'd make away for my child to be in a private school without government's help. My tax dollars are for public schools and public education, NOT private schools and private education, where you don't even have to be certified to teach! If we can find away to put homeschooling options inside a public school then I can be behind that, but I do not support a bill that might bankrupt our state and risk the education of our future.

Lori Manning Lori Manning

Self

San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB3. Our public schools need energy penny. Don't make it easier to lane. Make it easier to fix the public schools.

John Hatch, Mr.

Self, educator

Dallas, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 and its proposed education savings program, which would allocate $10,000 per student toward private school tuition. While supporters claim this expands school choice, the truth is that Texas has always had school choice. Parents who want private education for their children—including myself—have always had the ability to make that decision. What this bill really does is shift public funds away from our public schools to subsidize private education, which has never been accountable to taxpayers.

HB3 will not help most Texas families. The reality is that this program primarily benefits those already sending their children to private schools. For many working- and middle-class families, $10,000 does not cover full tuition, especially in urban areas where private school costs often exceed $20,000 annually. Rural communities, where private school options are limited, gain nothing while their public schools lose funding.

A strong public education system is the foundation of our democracy—in Texas and across the country. Public schools serve all students, regardless of background, income, or ability. Instead of diverting resources to private institutions that can pick and choose their students, we should focus on strengthening our public schools. Texas should prioritize competitive teacher pay, classroom resources, and student support services to ensure the 5.4 million children in our public school system receive the education they deserve.

Public dollars should serve the public good. HB3 is a step in the wrong direction, and I urge lawmakers to reject it and invest in all Texas students.

Katharine Kriegel Barden, teacher

self, teacher

Garden Ridge, TX

I am a third generation public school teacher and a parent of children in public schools, and I oppose school vouchers because they siphon critical funding away from public education, undermining teacher salaries, classroom resources, and the overall quality of instruction. Vouchers benefit private schools with minimal accountability, while leaving public schools—open to all students—struggling with reduced support and larger class sizes. Many families already have options such as magnet programs, public charters, and online public schooling, so taxpayer dollars should not be diverted to private institutions. Public schools are the backbone of our communities, and weakening them through vouchers hurts both educators and students, particularly those who rely most on a strong, fully funded public school system.

Ben Wilbanks

self

El Paso, TX

If the state of Texas can't afford to fund public education with approximately $56,000,000,000 annually then you should not pass the HB3 voucher bill. The voucher bill creates a 2-tiered system that's a giveaway to families who can already afford private education and leaves families with children in public schools praying that their quality of education doesn't go down and property taxes don't go up.

Private and charter schools have a lower standard in terms of transportation, nutrition, and especially assistance for students with disabilities. Public schools are legally required to provide services to students with disabilities, whereas private schools do not have to adhere to the same federal requirements. Parents may lose legal protections under IDEA when enrolling their child in a private institution. The bill includes a special education notice requirement, but this does not guarantee that private schools will meet the same standards as public institutions.

Vote no on HB3!

Priscilla Molina

Self

San Antonio, TX

Our public education system is severely underfunded and the private school voucher program would take tax payers dollars away from public education. As a product of public education we need to invest in our public schools and provide all students in public school a high quality education. By taking our tax payer dollars and investing in private school you are continuing to discredit the importance and value of the public education system. This bill is discriminating against students with lower socioeconomic status, students with disabilities, and students in rural communities. This bill will not benefit students in public education. It is my belief that this bill should not move forward.

Susan Brents-Sheldon

Self

Arlington, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 school vouchers. It is NOT fiscally conservative and is NOT providing school choice. It is a scam. To support real school choice, the money should go to properly fund and improve public and charter schools, create public magnet schools, etc, and allow students to go to the district of their choice. I am a concerned voter, special needs parent, and retired teacher.

Tracy McLean

Self

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3. It is not in the best interests of all children in Texas and is a huge overreach by the governor.

Mary Groth

Retired teacher

Grapevine, TX

I am writing to ask that you don't pass the voucher bill as this will not be a good idea. It will hurt our public education. It will ONLY benefit the rich. Please listen to your constituents.

Amy Culbertson, Miss

Self

Austin, TX

Texans overwhelmingly oppose school vouchers by any name. Our public schools are the bedrock of our communities, and public education is essential to a successful future for Texas. If vouchers pass, it will be crystal-clear that those who voted for them turned a deaf ear to their constituents and succumbed to the lure of money from a few billionaires -- bought and paid for.

Veronica Garza

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Katie Lynn

Swlf

Frisco, TX

Please stand with Texas families, not special interests. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers! As a family who CAN afford private school, we choose the public education that Texas has always done better than anywhere else. Let's keep it that way. By providing great quality public education to everyone, we are lifting up our entire state for the better. Why stop that for nonsense vouchers?? Say YES to supporting Texas public education and the teachers who serve to create a better future for our children. NO VOUCHERS!!! We are also members of a private country club, where we pay a hefty fee to play golf and enjoy the facilities and community. What's next? Vouchers for people to join private country clubs? It makes no sense.

Ashley Waits-Kees

Self

Richardson, TX

1. Funding Diversion and Budget Shortfalls

Public schools in Texas rely heavily on state funding, which is determined in part by student attendance numbers. When students leave public schools for private institutions through a voucher program, the funding follows them. This means fewer resources for the vast majority of Texas's 5.5 million students who would remain in the public school system.

Given that Texas already underfunds its schools compared to the national average, further reductions would exacerbate the financial struggles districts like RISD are already feeling.

2. Lack of Accountability and Transparency

Public schools are held to rigorous academic and financial accountability standards, reporting on student performance, maintaining accreditation, and adhering to regulations that protect student rights. Private schools, however, operate with far fewer restrictions. Many are not required to administer standardized tests, report academic outcomes, or disclose financial operations.

By funneling taxpayer funds into private institutions with little oversight, voucher programs reduce public accountability and leave students and parents without recourse when needs go unmet.

3. Widening Educational Inequities

One of the most troubling aspects of voucher programs is their potential to deepen educational disparities. Public schools serve all students, including those with disabilities, English language learners, and children from economically disadvantaged households. Private schools, on the other hand, are not obligated to accept all students. They can set selective admissions criteria, deny services to students with special needs, and exclude students based on religious or disciplinary grounds. This selective process risks leaving behind the most vulnerable students while using public funds to support exclusionary institutions.

Further, vouchers don't cover the full cost of most private school tuition. Families that can't afford to pay the remaining balance would still be unable to access private education, effectively making vouchers a subsidy for wealthier families rather than a tool for equitable education access.

Monica Newton

Self

Austin, TX

Public dollars should stay in public schools. Period. This education crisis is entirely manufactured by lawmakers and lawmakers have the power to rectify it. Instead of syphoning off taxpayer dollars to go to unaccountable private schools, reinvest in our public schools. Fully-fund the schools for all 5.5 million Texan children.

Lizette Martinez-Perera self, Speech-Language Pathologist
Austin, TX

I have worked in elementary schools for over 25 years. We have amazing kids and amazing staff members who work tirelessly to help educate our youngest Texans. There is so much love, but there is weariness as times have become harder. More work, more demands, more behavior issues, more mental health issues, more testing, more safety concerns, more paperwork with less support, less programs, less support staff, and low compensation. Our schools are struggling. Our teachers and staff are struggling. Not because they aren't capable but because our state has continued to strip away programs/support, etc. without building up our education system. As a Christian woman, it's shameful that our state, which has so much excessive money, refuses to invest in our future to provide a strong education for our children. None of us would be where we are today without the guidance, love, and patience from teachers. We know what we need to do to improve our schools!! We need smaller class sizes, an assistant for every teacher, support staff to fill in the gaps for our struggling students and enrichment programs for gifted students, mental health care, etc.! We need to INVEST in our schools, not take money out of our public schools for a few wealthy kids, most of them are not even public-school children. We need to focus on educating our kids! We could have the smartest kids in our nation if we invested in them and our teachers and staff! Governor Abbott set up his task force to see why teachers were leaving after COVID. He knows why, yet he's done nothing to resolve the problem. Teachers do their job with the little they're given and then dig in their own pocket to fill in where needed. How shameful that our wealthy state wants to opt for greed instead of taking care of our own and helping ALL children in Texas. It's time our governor and state legislators do their job and do right by Texas kids, educators and school staff, and their families!! We do not need a voucher scam that only helps the wealthy few when we have a broken system on the brink of collapse for the masses. Not because there's a money shortage, but simply out of pettiness, pouting and greed. It is ridiculous that more than 70% of our school districts are working on budgets in the red and trying to scrimp and save and cut jobs. Texan jobs. And sadly, for no good reason, Texas has the money to fund all our districts. How sad that some of our legislators are willing to sell out our students, teachers, and school staff members for billionaires. Please don't pass this HB 3. Do better, Texas!

Tara Fink
Self/ pharmacist
Fort Worth, TX

No. Vote no. We do not want school vouchers, thereby gutting funding for public schools to subsidize rich kids private school. We are looking to move out of state if this passes and take our two gifted students somewhere they can get a good education.

Candi Tenbush
Self
Hutto, TX

No vouchers!! Do not weaken our public schools for private schools. Public dollars do not belong in private schools. You are not doing this for our students, but for your financial contributors.

Kathryn Clark, Ms.
self
Austin, TX

Public schools struggle to have monies to teach our children adequately now. Teachers always pay for many of their own supplies or use a fund me account so that family and friends may contribute gifts from teaching supplies the teacher has already selected. If you give vouchers to families to send children to a private school, those monies are lost to public education. If someone wants their child to go to private school, arrangements can be made to pay over the school year, schools can give scholarships and many families have no difficulty in paying the cost from their own monies. However, there are other children that will be under served both in cities, but especially in rural areas if vouchers are permitted. I protest strongly the passage of HB 3! Please vote NO to HB 3!!

Perla Cervantes

Self

Lubbock, TX

I do not want to pay for peoples kids to go to private school. The money needs to stay with the public schools

Courtney Easterly

Self/ teacher

De Kalb, TX

I oppose school vouchers. I want public taxpayer money to be used on public education, not on lining the pockets of those that have invested in private schools. If a family wants their child to obtain a private education, then they can pay for that. Public schools should receive full funding and teachers should receive a pay increase. These should not be tied to the passage of the voucher program. The only people benefitting off this are the ones that have paid for Abbott and his cronies. Students and educators are not the ones being considered in this insanity of school vouchers. Nothing about the vouchers is to better the lives of students or educators. Teachers are being used and a promise of increasing salaries is being baited. Pay teachers for their hard work, allow students to receive the assistance they need and deserve to learn best. Stop using the education of a child and the financial status of a teacher to twist the public's view. Vouchers will destroy the education system and anytime the state of Texas says they are jumping in to make a change or a mandate it has never benefitted education. The state mandates the STAAR test in public schools. That test is used to make money for those backing Pearson. The tests have never helped a child succeed. Why would the state believe the ones that mandated such a meaningless test believe they should be given even more authority when it comes to decision making and financial planning. The entire campaign to get school vouchers into our state has been funded by billionaires out of state. We as a state should put our funding back into true education of students, equality, teachers, and bettering our campuses-not into the pockets of these greedy billionaires, including Abbott!

Jodie Morris

All students present, and future

Arlington, TX

Do not pass this bill. You are supposed to work FOR the people, not against. This is as unethical as one can get, as it puts certain people and/or groups above others, when the access to education is supposed to be equal.

JAIME O'NEILL

Self/ mother of 4 and a former teacher

Leander, TX

I am saying NO to VOUCHERS!!! I ask for funding to PUBLIC SCHOOLS, AND I ask for $1,300 Basic Allotment per child.

Jan Seides

Self

Austin, TX

To the members of the committee:

I urge all of you to vote down this voucher scheme because it is against the values of Texas. Look at our constitution for the state. It talks about fully funding our public schools, not giving tax dollars without accountability and transparency, to private schools. Vote this down and end this.

Thank you.

Macye Wade

Self

Lubbock, TX

As a Texas resident I do not support HB 3 or any form of school vouchers. I am a mother of 2 school age children and another child who will be in school in the next few years. While my husband and I attended private schools growing up, that was our parent's choice and financial ability. It is the same for others now. I do not support taking away from the majority in order to provide private school options, etc, for the few. All children should have an opportunity to receive a good education and public schools and educators should receive the support of the Texas government. Do not take away financial resources when they already struggle to have enough financial support.

Kenneth Estes, Dr.

Self/educator

Alvarado, TX

I am in opposition to HB3 and any form of voucher, education savings grant, or tax dollars going to private schools. Texas already funds two separate school systems (public and charters). Giving money to private schools and homeschool students will take needed funds from our public schools that serve most Texas children. Public schools take all kids, regardless of their needs or abilities. We know that private schools are not required to take every child. We all know that school vouchers are taxpayer-funded subsidies given to private schools and vendors without transparency and accountability for results. We would never consider a policy like this for public schools. I have not met anyone who supports HB3, and many wonder why our representatives are not listening to their constituents. We should all want what is best for kids in Texas. Thank you for your time and service.

Stephanie Draper

Self

Justin, TX

My name is Stephanie Draper, and I have been a resident of Justin for over 18 years, serving as a community leader. I am opposed to Bill HB3 and hope you are as well.

This issue is deeply personal to me, as I have three children who attended and graduated from public schools. The idea of future generations not having access to fully funded public schools is unacceptable. My children thrived because of incredible educators like Ms. Little, who helped my son learn to read, and Ms. Green, who taught him the importance of science. I credit these teachers with having a lasting impact on my children's lives, and I know they would not have received the same support in a private school setting.

Diverting funds away from public schools would be a disservice to our children. I urge you to vote against school vouchers and support fully funding our public schools. The future of our kids and the next generation is at stake. Vote to be on the right side of history.

Thank you for your time.

Michelle Picon-Puente, Mrs.

Self, Mother

San Antonio, TX

Dearest Elected Officials,

I urge for you to vote AGAINST School Vouchers. Public school funds must remain in the public school sector to support teachers and students, which is very much underfunded. My children's education at their public school is dependent on YOU to support them. Public schools need more funding! And Per student allotment needs to be increased in AHISD. Vote NO to school vouchers.

I pray you choose to support the greater good. Vote No.

Ana V Castro
Self, Elementary Public School Teacher
Cedar Park, TX

I am a 17-year public school educator in the Leander Independent School District and I oppose HB3. I urge you to stand in strong support of public education by voting AGAINST any school voucher proposals. Let us invest in Public Education by funding them not taking from them and lets value the life and the right to education for all children in this state, not only for the privileged few.

Hilary Pittman
Self
Buda, TX

I urge you to vote NO on HB3 and stand with Texas families, teachers, and communities against school vouchers. This bill would take millions from our already underfunded public schools and funnel it into private school subsidies, with no accountability or transparency.

Here's what's at stake:

?? Defunding Public Schools – Vouchers divert critical taxpayer dollars away from public schools, which serve 90% of Texas children. Rural communities, where private options are scarce, will be hit the hardest.

?? Higher Taxes, Bigger Deficits – Voucher programs in other states have led to massive budget shortfalls and increased local taxes to compensate for lost education funding. Texas can't afford the same mistake.

?? No Accountability, No Standards – Private schools receiving taxpayer money don't have to follow the same academic, financial, or anti-discrimination standards as public schools.

?? Hurting Our Future Workforce – Texas needs strong public schools to prepare students for college and careers. Weakening public education weakens our economy.

HB3 is a bad deal for Texas families. Please vote NO and protect our children's education and our state's future.

As a mother that has 3 children in public school please vote no. Our public schools are underfunded. My kids schools need new equipment and better supplies. It's sad to expect the best from our children when we cant provide them with the best. Vote NO!

D Winbourn
Self
Palo Pinto, TX

I am against vouchers in any form. I am a senior citizen on a fixed income. I desire my tax dollars to stay in my county, Palo Pinto. I support the public school system and Santo ISD. Our family has had four generations go through this school. We did not need vouchers then or now. I graduated valedictorian. My children graduated in the top 3 in each class and have at least a 4 year degree from college. We were poor and were still able to be successful because we strived for the best. Vouchers will take away from the great school system and our students deserve this school system without vouchers.

Jonathan Alexander
Self, teacher
Portland, TX

1. The proposed per pupil funding for an ESA program is greater than the proposed state funding for the basic allotment. Why are they not equal amounts?

2. If private schools accept public tax dollars via an ESA program, can they also deny admittance to certain students, i.e. special needs students? And if so, is that not tantamount to state-sponsored discrimination?

Erin Scarth, Dr.

self - Licensed Clinical Psychologist

AUSTIN, TX

Texas does not need to establish educational savings accounts (vouchers) for students. Texas' citizens should not have to spend public money on private school education. In fact, we should be spending more money on public schools than we presently are. Educational savings accounts will just pull money away from our underfunded school systems that are already running large financial deficits. Further, educational savings accounts will hurt children with disabilities as it did in Arizona. States that have voucher programs have seen class sizes get larger and retention rates drop. School vouchers will destroy small, rural school districts which is the heart of these communities. For these, and many other reasons, I request that HB 3 be able to die in committee and the legislature focus on HB 2 which increases funding to our schools.

Carrie Powell

Wylie ISD teachers

Sachse, TX

As As a teacher in Texas, I have dedicated my career to educating and shaping young minds. Every day, I see firsthand the challenges our public schools face—overcrowded classrooms, underfunded programs, and a lack of resources for students who need them most. The idea of school vouchers, which would funnel public tax dollars into private schools, is not a solution; it's a threat to the very foundation of public education. Vouchers would drain much-needed funding from public schools, reduce accountability, and create greater inequities for students across the state.

Texas should not adopt a school voucher system. As a teacher, I see the real impact of underfunding in public schools, and I know that vouchers would only make things worse. Instead of diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions with little oversight, the state should invest in strengthening public schools, increasing teacher salaries, and providing resources for all students. If we truly care about the future of education in Texas, we must support the schools that serve the majority of our children—not weaken them.

Kendra Zachrison, Mrs.

Self, RN

Driftwood, TX

As a parent who has children in public schools and as a taxpayer I am strongly opposed to vouchers or ESAs. It is wrong to take public tax dollars to fund private schools that do not have to follow the same rules as public schools do. It is common sense that we should ADEQUATELY fund our public schools first and foremost before claiming that public schools are failing our children or considering any type of voucher program.

It is obvious that wealthy people (in and outside of Texas) are funding this scam by buying politicians. (Tim Dunn, the Wilks brothers and Jeff Yass are a few names that come to mind). If vouchers were a good idea they would have passed years ago! And if Governor Abbott believes they will be so great for Texans then he shouldn't be afraid to let Texans vote on it. It's embarrassing that Texas has the 8th biggest economy in the world, yet we are in the bottom ten states for per pupil funding. It is insulting to our teachers that we continue to ask them to do more and more with less funding.

I have family in states that have vouchers (Ohio and Arizona) and have heard the stories of how bad the public schools became after vouchers were started. Both family members were teachers and they have since left teaching because it got so bad. If money is siphoned away from public schools and funneled to private schools Texans will suffer. Stats show that families already sending kids to private schools are the main beneficiaries of vouchers.

If a voucher program does pass, I would like to see that it ONLY be for families that prove to have a financial need and a failed experience in public schools.

This is the only way a voucher program would make sense. Otherwise, it becomes welfare for the wealthy. Furthermore, other states are examples of how a voucher program can balloon. How can public school families trust that Texas will not funnel more and more money from our public schools in order to fund vouchers.

The partisan nature of this bill is also telling. Not one Democrat is sponsoring HB3. I am tired of Republican House members claiming to support public education, but then author or sponsor bills that do anything but help our schools. I urge all committee members to not support this bill. But if they must, then private schools must be held to the same accountability as public schools. It is only fair.

Michael Bond

Self

Leander, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Michael Bond

Jaime Boswell, Mr.

Self Educator

Andrews, TX

Good morning, I am a 3rd Generation Public Educator and my niece is a 4th Generation Public Educator. I'm reaching out today in opposition to School Vouchers that will negatively affect over 1400 Public Schools including all rural ISD's in Texas. The reality is school choice already exists and parents can choose Public, Home, Charter or Private. Since '95 students from low performing schools can transfer to "better" schools to ensure they get a higher quality education. That has been in play for decades and at no cost to taxpayers. If the proposed school choice were truly for all kids why do private Schools still have the right to refuse admissions? Why do privates still have the right to wave special Ed services? If it's for all kids the voucher program would service all kids in all zip codes regardless of dynamic. Stats clearly show Vouchers are mostly used by those already in Private schools who can already afford that specific American Democratic choice. Studies show other States who have in acted Vouchers strain already underfunded Public Schools. Studies show Vouchers do not raise test scores, specifically Staar. It's truly obvious in Texas, where 93% of Texans choose Public that this dynamic should be a focus of support & strengthening, not dividing and funding 2 separate dynamics. Is Public School perfect? No. Can it be better? Yes! And better through intentional funding that is the best in the nation and not underserved. Pay teachers the best in the nation and not underserved. The Elected leaders tout the economic boom in Texas and other top 10 dynamics, including growth, space exploration, companies, trade, etc etc yet Public Schools are met with negative, divisive & toxic rhetoric to appease the few. If it were truly about the kids in Texas we'd be on top in funding, pay, resources & a vision. Vouchers aren't it and will only cause more division, less inclusiveness and less accountability & oversight. The Governor pushes vouchers yet has not stepped foot onto one of the over 1400 public school campuses to support. The reality is Vouchers should be put on a statewide ballot for Texans to decide so everyone is represented & has a voice. We are conservative republicans & life long Texans who oppose vouchers due to their lack of accountability, oversight and due to the political climate of who "gets one" based on vendors who spend $$$ to back certain politicians. It's truly non-conservative and not Texan for the voting public to not have a say. We encourage you to listen & to hear all sides not just political donors. Again, it's all about the kids right?

Natalie Gray

Self - Educator and independent contractor

Austin, TX

Passage of HB 3 is a poor use of public education dollars. Our state already ranks 46th in the nation for public education spending, and our outcomes reflect that. It is urgent that we increase the basic allotment, yet this bill pulls funding away from public schools to support students attending private schools. I am a parent of three public school students, and I taught in private schools for almost 10 years. What was abundantly clear is that private schools have no regulation whatsoever -- they are not required to meet any outcomes, they are not expected to support all students to be successful, and they can open or close their doors to any family, any time, for any reason. Beyond that, they are pricey. The voucher proposal might supplement a wealthy family as they pursue private school education -- but it will not open those doors to middle or lower class families. These dollars are desperately needed in our public schools and diverting them to private schools is unconscionable. Our state's public schools need safe facilities, support for outstanding teachers and principals, and so much more. Every dollar diverted to a public school voucher is quite literally money thrown into the wind with no accountability or responsibility on the part of private educational institutions. Moreover, these dollars will do absolutely nothing to increase educational opportunities across most of our state given how many schools are located in small communities that lack private or parochial options. Students all over Texas have only ever - and may well always have - just one school to choose from given the communities they are growing up in. This bill will not strengthen their education or opportunities. In short, this is a massive investment of "education dollars" that will be spent with no accountability, be awarded to students who need them the least, and will do nothing to shore up the schools that 94% of Texas children attend. Our state is at the bottom of almost every measure related to education. This isn't because we lack strong school leaders and dedicated teachers. It is because we do not invest in our children, their learning, their safety, and the people we entrust them with every day. While I applaud the intent of this bill, the impact of it will be devastating to our state's public school system while benefitting a very small percentage (less than 6%) of children and their families. We can do better. And we must. It's time to step away from vouchers and do something meaningful for children, families, and the future of our state and nation.

Jennifer Sims, Mrs

self/teacher

Austin, TX

Stop what you're doing right now and get your comments into public record now AGAINST HB3! It doesn't take long. It's for the kids!

NO to VOUCHERS

Funding to PUBLIC SCHOOLS

$1300 Basic Allotment

Melissa Tullues
self, IT Project Manager
Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, and say a loud NO to HB 3, and instead focus on supporting public schools which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

In addition, ESAs directly hurt students with disabilities who receive Special Education services in Public Schools in the State of Texas. Diverting $1 Billion of public taxpayer money to private schools who do not even acknowledge IDEA, do not follow IEPs and only provide services when they are negotiated, compromised and then charged back to parents at exorbitant rates well above typical tuition rates it is theft of services and money to the most vulnerable population in Texas.

14% of the 5.4 million public school students in Texas receive special education services. That's 760,000 students at a minimum. These ESAs are completely inaccessible to at least 90% of our disabled students, and that is before they have a chance at any lottery or know if a private school will accept, serve, or retain them. There's no accountability. Not of services, not of the $1 Billion of public taxpayer money this legislature wants to pour into private schools and not of impact or outcomes of our disabled students.

Even if we say ALL of the ESAs go to disabled kids receiving special education services, that still leaves a minimum of 700,000 students receiving special education services in underfunded understaffed Public Schools that this state put in this situation. This causes direct harm to these students with disabilities, the most vulnerable individuals in society, and it's at the hands of those who are supposed to represent us.

This is unacceptable. I want this legislature to take accountability, listen to the parent voice (and students), and have the courage to do the right thing: say No to ESA/Vouchers and Fund our Public Schools properly. Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of ALL Texas students.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Melissa Tullues

Harvey Oaxaca, Mr.
McKinney ISD
McKinney, TX

"I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education."

#trusteetalk

Darby Tobolka

Self / educator

AUSTIN, TX

School choice already exists. We can NOT use public funds to pay for SOME children to get a private education. This is legal SEGREGATION! ALL kids deserve an education. If you want vouchers so bad then have the tax that private school families typically pay to public schools go to private schools instead but MY money.. my choice. And I CHOOSE for my money to go towards the education of ALL students in public schools only. I want our society as a while to Bell will educated so that we can take care of one another in the future.

Dakota Brohammer

Self

Eules, TX

Public education is for the public. Keep it that way

Alvin Lewis

Self/Retired

Glenn Heights, TX

Dear Representative,

As a taxpayer in the State of Texas, I do NOT want an Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) Program. I pay my public tax dollars and, therefore, want my money to Fund Public Schools in Texas. Public school funding has been stagnant since 2019 while we have had inflation of over 20%. Our children and all the educators, and staff, deserve to have the funding. To be clear, I want to reiterate the following:

? I do NOT want vouchers/ESAs.

? I support an Increase of the Basic Allotment.

? I support Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.

Again, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools (not private schools) in the State of Texas.

Sincerely, Alvin Lewis

Tamara Allen Bush, Therapist

Self

Keller, TX

Vote no. JHR 140 will further the divide of racial inequality. The children affected will grow up and remember this and resent their experience and likely not care to be respectful citizens. Who can blame them if others were given a better opportunity. I was one of the first kids in a school that underwent desegregation in the 1970's. That experience was invaluable to me and I am the better for it because I learned in the 2ed grade to see people not color and that all children thrive when given the appropriate opportunity's. Together we are more.

Kelsey Longino

Self- stay at home mom

Belton, TX

I do NOT support HB3. The amount of children and families this will hurt is inhumane, and anti Texan. PLEASE vote no on this bill for the good of our children!

Mary Selby, Ms.

Self, parent volunteer and substitute teacher

Austin, TX

This education savings account or parents school choice is no choice at all.

Teachers, community members, and students have told you what they need to make public education successful. Please increase the basic allotment per student. Please give our extremely hard working teachers the raise they need and deserve. Please vote no on ESAs. The last legislative session said no to ESAs and let us stay the course and continue to keep public dollars out of private vendors hands. True choice on where my tax payer dollars are spent can only happen when that money is spent on public education and not in the hands of private education vendors. Thank you for your time. I am watching how you make decisions that will determine the success of our children and the future of Texas.

Taeyu Hong

Self

Bryan, TX

School voucher programs will destroying the already sorry state of public education in Texas by diverting funds from cash-strapped districts to private schools that already charge money to attend. This would cause the loss of numerous programs that support the enrichment of students' educations, such as art, music, sports, and more; not to mention that educational programs would suffer as well. As a past high school teacher, losing any amount of funding would dramatically decrease availability of supplies and force teachers to take on even more work than they do currently, which is already excessive. Diverting funds from the many to give to the few under the guise of "choice" is not in the interest of the continued growth of Texas, which was once known as having some of the best public schools in the nation. I implore the good representatives of Texas to remove this clause from HB3 and return to funding only the public education with public funds.

Lisa Morales

Self

Nolanville, TX

I oppose SB3 out of concern for our public schools system and the lack of efficacy that this plan will fix the problems Republican lawmakers have created by not funding public schools and capitulating to Gov Abbot's demands. DO THE RIGHT THING and fully fund our public schools to reduce overcrowding; to enhance the special education departments to the degree you say private schools can do. WHICH we know they do not have to do.

In my occupation as a LPC, I provide services to many children whose mental health suffers in response to the poorly staffed classroom; lack of school counselors; violence in the hallways. Teacher friends who give all only to be treated with disregard. This is not a plan for Texas' children.

Thank you forbyour consideration.

Judith Wyble

Self retired educator

Spring, TX

We do NOT want vouchers! It's wasted money for so few kids. There is no accountability and private schools don't have to follow the mandates YOU make public education follow! We WILL vote you out!

Ann Kucharczyk

Self

Fulshear, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to any efforts to implement a school voucher program in Texas. Vouchers divert critical taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools and redirect them to private institutions that are not held to the same transparency, accountability, or accessibility standards.

Public schools serve as the backbone of our communities, providing education to all children regardless of their background, income, or abilities. Texas schools are already facing teacher shortages, outdated resources, and inadequate funding. Instead of funneling public funds into private and religious schools—many of which are not required to serve all students, including those with disabilities or special needs—we should be investing in strengthening our public education system.

Voucher programs also pose a significant threat to rural communities. In many parts of Texas, public schools are the only option for families. By siphoning funds away, vouchers would further strain these schools, leading to staff cuts, reduced programs, and ultimately harming students who rely on them.

Furthermore, Texas voters have repeatedly rejected voucher proposals, recognizing that they do not benefit the majority of students. Public funds should remain in public schools, where they serve all children and ensure every student has access to a quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by opposing any voucher proposals. Instead, let's work together to fully fund and improve our public schools for the benefit of every child in our great state.

Sincerely,

Ann Kucharczyk

Fulshear, Texas

Craig Smith

Self- teacher & Coach

Round Rock, TX

This is so wrong on so many levels. If you ardently believe this is what the people want. Then do the right thing and let us decide. Bullying this bill through shows just how much some want Texas to be an oligarchy, run by the rich. This is not at all how democracy works. This also goes against any conservative values. In the end the rich will be richer. The poor and learning impaired will be further left behind. We were once such a strong state with larger than life individuals. Now we've just become a laughing stock and it breaks my heart. I mourn for the great teachers that constantly have to hear their profession be slandered. Want to improve Texas let's show the world that instead of throwing money to start a new and corrupted system. We'll invest to fix an old and outdated system and make it better than before. The buck stops here.

Cammy Dunford

Self

Frisco, TX

I am a retired Texas public school teacher, having served for 30 years in Pasadena ISD. My father taught for 40 years at Eastfield College in Mesquite, east of Dallas. My son and daughter-in-law currently teach in Frisco ISD, and my grandchildren attend there as well. I believe in Texas public schools.

You've heard all the arguments for and against vouchers, but I am sincerely asking you to look at the LOGIC, or lack of it, with this bill.

1. Public schools must adhere to various subject curricula approved by the state. Private schools will not be verified if they adhere to the same standards in the TEKS.
2. Public schools and their districts are given "report cards," but private schools won't have them.
3. The public elects boards of trustees to select a superintendent, set a budget and create policies that support enforcement of state and federal education laws. Again, will private schools be required to be transparent and will those tax dollars from vouchers be properly accounted for?
4. Public schools are required to take in any student at any point in the school year. Private schools limit enrollment numbers and limit enrollment periods to the semester before the new year starts.
5. Under current law, students with special needs must be supported with personnel and equipment where required. There is no such requirement for private schools. In fact, they can tell the parent that they do not have the ability, nor will they acquire the necessary personnel or equipment to assist a severely handicap child.
6. Many private schools are religious in nature. Because public schools are secular, all students are welcome. Religious private schools can, and have in the past, discriminated against students in admissions because they don't worship or believe the same way.
7. Our nation is a secular republic that does not favor one religion over another. By giving tax dollars to religious schools, we are showing preference and bias. It is the antithesis of what our Founding Fathers created and fought a war over.

Public schools in Texas have not been fully – and adequately- funded since at least 1999. That is when I became a teacher, and I saw shortcomings then. It has not gotten better, because there is no desire by many to actually improve the schools in their communities.

I urge all of you to vote down this voucher scheme because it is against the values of Texas. Look at our constitution for the state. It talks about fully funding our public schools, not giving tax dollars without accountability and transparency, to private schools.

Vote this down and end this.

Catherine Worley, Mrs.

Self

Austin, TX

I am against HB 3. We should keep our tax dollars in the public school system.

Melissa Gable, Dr.

Self

Crosby, TX

While I am highly opposed to these vouchers (or educational savings accounts as you keep calling them) if they must pass. I feel that if a private or charter school accepts the funds from the state for a student, to maintain equity, the private or charter school must be held to all of the same accountability standards that public schools are held to for the same funds. They should be held to the same accountability standards for teacher certification, student attendance rates, and student assessment standards. If the private or charter institutions don't want to be held to these same standards, they can't accept the state funds. It's only fair and equitable for the state funds and a good compromise.

Also, the governor needs to stop lying in his social media posts. The funds slotted right now will only serve a small fraction of Texas children where his is stating ALL students will have a choice. Someone needs to hold him accountable.

Kimberly Taylor

Retired teachers

Arlington, TX

Please don't support the voucher bill

Wendy Helker, Dr.

myself, Licensed Professional Counselor

Flower Mound, TX

It is imperative that you vote no on HB3. We must fully fund our Texas public schools to give all Texans the resources they deserve to become educated, engaged citizens who will one day be taking care of and leading the state of Texas. These vouchers have been proven to be unsuccessful in other states. It makes no sense to take money out of public education and give it to private schools that do not have the same accountability standards as Texas public schools. Stop trying to dismantle our education system. Your constituents DO NOT WANT a school voucher system. We want fully funded public schools, investment in high quality teachers and resources for all children to grow up with equal opportunity.

Sincerely,

Wendy Helker

Tanya Rhoades

Self

Kingwood, TX

I oppose HB 3. As a public school teacher by trade, and the parent of a public school student, it's extremely important to me that we continue to provide for a free and fair public education. Vouchers will steal from the most vulnerable among us, will continue to undermine the good work our public school educators have already been doing at a disadvantage (given the state's lack of proper funding in the first place), and will push Texas even further away from having the educated populace needed to attract business and commerce to our state.

The young people all across our state deserve better than this voucher scam. Do the right thing.

Diana Galindo

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose HB3 and do not want you to vote for vouchers. Please fund our public schools!

Mimi Lawrence
self, physicist
Austin, TX

As a Texas taxpayer I stand in firm opposition to any attempt to implement private school vouchers in Texas, whether these give-aways are called savings accounts, subsidies or vouchers.

Taxpayer-funded private school voucher bills have failed in Texas because they are bad policy.

Multiple studies show that voucher schemes fail wherever they are implemented. In my own lived experience I recall the numerous whites-only "voucher academies" established in Louisiana in the 60's and early 70's. Many of them were money-making scams. The result was a generation of kids - and this was true across the South - denied a decent education.

I urge you to vote NO on House Bill 3! Please do what you can to prevent funding of a voucher scheme that will starve our neighborhood public schools of needed support.

Thank you,
Mimi Lawrence

Diane Arnold
Myself
Snyder, TX

PLEASE vote against this bill. It does not benefit all Texas children.

Angela Holmes

Self

Houston, TX

Senator Nicholas, a republican said this about the possible private school vouchers and I agree!

For the past decade, I have seen various versions of a proposal to use state tax dollars for private schooling. There have been different names with different components, but ultimately, they each had one common element – public dollars for private education. While the latest proposal for Education Savings Accounts has made an effort to be more inclusive, referring to it as "universal" and making it applicable to a larger group financially, it falls short of that goal and is still taxpayer funds for private education. This bill creates the illusion of choice but does nothing to guarantee that a parent's choice for their child will be fulfilled. It offers a chance, not a choice. Ultimately, the true decision-maker in this system is not the parent, but the private school. If your child has discipline issues or needs accommodations for a learning disability, the school will have the choice to remove them. If you can't afford to transport your child to school, you don't have the choice to send them to private school. If the tuition is more than $10,000, parents would have to come up with the remaining balance. One school in my district charges over $13,000 a year. If a family with three children wants to send them there, they would have to come up with an extra $9,000 a year. And that's just for tuition; paying for school supplies, transportation, and uniforms would cost even more. Over 62% of children currently in public schools come from socioeconomically disadvantaged families and many live paycheck to paycheck. They don't have an extra $9,000 in their household budget. That's not really a choice.

The practical, geographic, and financial barriers for some students will be insurmountable and prevent them from utilizing the program. Public schools provide transportation. Private schools do not. A low-income family where both parents work and only have one vehicle could not participate. So, those children would be left out. Many of the rural parts of the state do not have private schools within reasonable travel distances. So, those children would be left out. Special education students are offered extra money in the new proposal. But even that slight increase would not cover the costs to educate those children. There are very few private schools in Texas that will take them, even if they can afford to cover the additional costs. So, those children, our most vulnerable, would be left out. If a child has a discipline record or has behavioral issues, that child would be left out. The same goes for children that are low aptitude and poor performers in school. So, those children would be left out. The bill claims to be universal, but clearly is not.

While barriers to access are problematic for Texas families, elements of the bill conflict with long-standing and established ideals in both (truncated)

Lynda Miller

Self

Hutto, TX

Public funds are for public schools not vouchers. The vast majority of Texans oppose vouchers. Please listen to the people and do not give welfare to the rich for private school.

Tracy Bobbitt

Self

Wylie, TX

Please vote No and keep public funding to public education! I am a parent with to 3 daughters and spouse to a public school educator. We have a choice along with every other parent. Fund the public school and teachers!

Courtney Gantt

Self

Keller, TX

Fund our public schools! If vouchers are passed the funding based on enrollment should be eliminated because not all expenses are per child based.

Lubin Garcia, Jr
Teschler
Weslaco, TX

Your our governor you supposed to support everyone not just the rich!!!

Daniel Typaldos
Self, architect
Dallas, TX

Our public schools need all the resources they can get. The state should put money towards our public schools, teachers and students. Allocating money for private school choice will draw funds and students away from public schools. It will create a burden on low income and people of color. It will provide subsidies to wealthy that can already afford private schools. It will also dilute and degrade statewide standards. Please stop this bill!

Matthew Kuester
Self (Education)
Belton, TX

I come from a family of public school educators, and I am deeply concerned by this bill for multiple reasons.

Proponents of this bill tout "school choice", as if parents don't have the right to choose a school. They do. That's not what's at stake with this bill. For several years, the state legislature has neglected public school funding. Public schools are already under strain; they have required fixed costs (in order to meet the needs of their constituents), and this bill will reallocate funds that could be used to better our public schools.

I'm additionally concerned about the economics of this. These EAPs will allow parents to use state funds for private school tuition; however, thier will be no control over tuition at these schools (beyond free market prices.) I fear that flooding the market with state funds will have several unintended consequences for families (mainly - an increase in private school tuition, cutting into the gains that this bill is trying to achieve.)

I ask you to please reconsider this bill and redirect the funding towards strengthening our public schools. That is how we can best create "a pathway to ranking No. 1 in educating our kids", as Gov. Abbott said in his press release on March 11th, 2025.

Wilson Yager
Self, retired
Corinth, TX

I urge each member of the Texas House to vote NO on HB3. The repeated assaults on public education, of which this bill is the latest, need to stop now. HB3 is a giveaway of public funds to private individuals and institutions who for the most part do not need nor deserve them. Public funds should be used for public purposes. HB3, if passed, will divert money from public education to benefit private schools that are unaccountable for their results and not required to meet the same standards of service as public schools. Absolutely no vouchers for private school education.

Alison Schwartz
Self/Speech-Language Pathologist
Lubbock, TX

I fully oppose HB3 and the use of my tax dollars to be spent on funding private education. My tax dollars should be used to adequately and fully fund only Texas public schools.

Amanda Esquivel

Self

Hockley, TX

As a tax paying Texas citizen, former public educator and grandparent of children who attend public schools, I am asking you to do the right thing for all Texas children. We all know and understand that the vouchers will not benefit the children that it should benefit. This is all a scam to further defund public education. The people who are pushing the vouchers do not believe that all children deserve an education. They know that low income families will not be able to pay the difference between the vouchers and the actual tuition. These are the families who really depend on you to do the right thing.

Misty Hammonds

Self

San Antonio, TX

Fully fund public schools. Vote NO to school vouchers and sending any money to private schools!

Judy Douglass

Self

Austin, TX

Cheating public schools of funding is all this will do. It's wrong.

Hope Scott, Mrs

AFT and Retired Teacher

Port Arthur, TX

The proposed voucher system in Texas raises serious concerns about the future of public education and the equitable distribution of resources. Diverting public funds to private schools undermines the foundational purpose of public education, which is to provide equal opportunities for all students, regardless of their socioeconomic background.

Instead of strengthening public schools and addressing the real issues they face, vouchers prioritize private options that may not be accountable to the public or meet the diverse needs of all students.

Furthermore, there is little evidence to suggest that voucher programs lead to better educational outcomes. In fact, these programs could exacerbate the achievement gap, as they disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition, leaving lower-income students in underfunded and overcrowded public schools.

We should focus on investing in and improving public education, ensuring that every student has access to quality education, rather than diverting resources to unregulated private institutions. It's critical to prioritize long-term, sustainable solutions that strengthen public schools and support all students, not just a select few.

Public schools face scrutiny that private schools avoid because they don't use public funding. Will they be graded as public schools are? Will they take STATE assessments as public schools do? Will they provide services for even the poorest in areas where transportation is lacking?

And they are funded higher than public schools. This requires a no vote! No scrutiny, no public dollars.

Respectfully,

Jennifer Cubelli-Gomez, Mrs

Self - elementary school teacher AliefISD

Houston, TX

There are serious repercussions that will ensue due to the passing of this bill. Repercussions for the special ed department and their funding, classroom overcrowding due to fewer teachers that will be retained in their positions due to lack of funding. Funding is dependent of attendance and enrollment, fewer enrolled students means fewer funds allotted per school. Teachers will be forced out, or will suffer from burnout due to overcrowding. This will also, in turn, affect our TRS funding. My biggest concern is our most vulnerable students. They do not need lawmakers reducing their funding. This funding covers testing for special needs diagnosis, materials, specialty trained individuals including para-professionals and teachers. Don't do this to the kids or the teachers who dedicate their lives to them.

Jessica Fritsche

Self - marketer and parent

Garland, TX

I oppose the creation of school vouchers. You must fully fund public education instead of putting in measures to destroy it. Our educational systems rank at the lowest end of the spectrum across the nation and you cannot blame that on Washington. You can make public education better and our kids deserve that. My kid deserves that. Vouchers will take away resources that public education desperately needs.

Heather Burke

Self. SAHM, preschool teacher, special needs ADVOCATE

Grapevine, TX

We do NOT want this to pass. We want our public education supported with our tax dollars!! Support the middle class and increase TEACHER PAY!

Alena Keene
Self, educator
Fort Worth, TX

How are you going to ensure that vouchers are not going to go to families that are already enrolled in private school? Please address the statistic that there are only 25,000 unfilled seats in Texas private schools. And please compare the current bill to Oklahoma's situation with the overwhelming majority of school vouchers going to families that could already afford private school tuition. How are you going to prevent that situation in Texas?

How are you going to ensure that there isn't any fraud? What if a student is awarded an ESA, enrolls in a private school, pays their tuition, and then withdraws from the private school a couple months later? Will the private school be required to return the full ESA amount back to the state? How will the state track this and hold them accountable? What if a private school student funded with an ESA has chronic absenteeism? Will the private school be required to return a portion of the ESA back to the state for every day that the student is absent? It is unfair that public school funding is based on attendance but ESS payments won't be based on attendance. If private school ESA funding won't be penalized for absenteeism then public school funding shouldn't be penalized for absenteeism.

What additional costs (in time, effort, money) are private schools going to incur if they accept ESA funds for tuition payments? Labor and time is needed to process paperwork. How intensive will the paperwork and accounting be for private school administrative staff? Will private schools be required to provide the state with evidence that ESA funded students have made academic progress and are regularly attending school? If a private school expels or asks an ESA funded student to unenroll because for whatever reason the school ends up not being a good fit will the private school be required to provide evidence for dismissing the student? Will the private school be required to return the ESA money to the state?

Here's an idea if you are determined to pass a voucher/ESA bill in Texas: Lower the income limit to 600% of the poverty line and then earmark 50% of ESA funds to go to families that make under 200% of the poverty line, 30% of ESA funds earmarked to go to families 200-400% of the poverty line, and 20% of ESAs earmarked to go to families 400-600% of the poverty line. Any unused funds in each income category should be returned to public school funds each year to boost funding for things like universal school lunch, universal Pre-k, and special education.

Jon Klekman
Self
Austin, TX

I am the parent of a Texas public school student. I believe that public funds should stay in public schools. Establishing a voucher system for private education will directly impact the quality of education received in public schools. Private institutions are not held to the same standards as public schools and are not required to meet the needs of all students. Rural school districts without access to private schools are particularly vulnerable if this bill passes. It is shameful that Texas lawmakers who vote yes on this bill are ok with spending more money per private school student than per public school student. This is discriminatory and will only serve to decrease the overall quality of education in this state. It is already at an embarrassingly low national ranking and will only get worse if this bill is passed. Please fully fund public schools and leave our taxpayer money where it benefits ALL Texas students.

Arlena Morrow
Self/ Retired
Dickinson, TX

I oppose HB 3.1

Denise McDonald
self administrative assistant
Nacogdoches, TX

I am the mother of 3 public school graduates and now a grandmother of 5 children that, hopefully, will attend public school (if they are still operating with the Republicans underfunding public schools and transferring public money to private for profit schools) in 2 years. I'm tired of seeing billionaires decide what's best for our children. Tim Dunn and brothers Farris & Dan Wilks along with Jeff Yass have decided they want to funnel public money to religious private schools, one of which Tim Dunn happens to own. Public money needs to be spent on public school. I'm a Christian but I don't believe the Bible has mandated that we use the principalities to force people to believe the way we do. Taking money away from public schools will hurt the poor (the least of these) most of all and don't we want all of our children to have a quality education? After passing a voucher scam bill, Arizona is, the model for voucher programs across the country, has spent so much money paying private schoolers' tuition that it's now facing hundreds of millions in budget cuts to critical state programs and projects. Why would we want to go down this path when we can see that it only leads to ruin and makes politicians richer and more corrupt. Please vote no to HB3.

Amitai Plasse, Mr.
Self, educator (community college) and graphic artist
Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3 and any other private school voucher program legislation (also known as "education savings accounts" until there is a significant improvement in the funding of ALL public schools across the state including 1) paying public school teachers a respectable (even living) wage commiserate with their education, experience, and importance to society, and are working in reasonable working conditions 2) classrooms, extracurriculars and special education programs are adequately funded and 3) the private schools receiving voucher money are legally bound and demonstrate in practice that they abide by the same standards of curriculum, admission and support for special needs students as public schools. I am a parent of 3 children who have gone through Texas public schools, I have volunteered in several schools, across the socio-economic spectrum and I know many public school teachers. The state governments underfunding and honestly seeming contempt for the public education system I find shameful. Teachers are woefully underpaid, overworked and often have to fundraise on their own for basic classroom and athletics essentials. Despite having a $30 billion surplus last year the state has done woefully little to even help teachers and schools to keep pace with the cost of living. Until the state shows an effort to prioritize public school success, these "education savings account" seem to just be a supplement for well-off families, a cash grab for private institutions where frankly the standards of education can be in question, about 3/4 of which are religiously affiliated, and at best seems like willful neglect of a large portion of Texas students and at worst a specific effort to degrade our public education system and the future outcomes of a large percentage of Texas students. Please do not move this bill forward.

Melissa Donham, Dr.
Self, assistant professor.
Conroe, TX

As an educator, I strongly oppose the voucher provisions in HB3. Public dollars should support public schools, which serve all students regardless of background, ability, or socioeconomic status. Vouchers take critical funding away from already under-resourced public schools and divert it to private institutions that are not held to the same accountability and transparency standards. My niece and nephew have special needs, and private schools are not required to provide the services and accommodations they rely on. Instead of weakening our public education system, we should focus on strengthening our schools by investing in teacher pay, classroom resources, and student support services. Our children deserve a high-quality education, not a system that benefits a select few at the expense of many.

Lindsay Martinez
self
Austin, TX

As a parent of two public school children in Texas, I strongly oppose this bill. Public funds belong in public schools.

Mary Terry

Self

Vidor, TX

This bill is seeking to undermine public education in Texas, and I oppose it. If parents want to send their children to private school, that is their business on how to pay for it. As a tax payer it offends me that my property tax dollars would be used to fund this. As a taxpayer I don't ask my legislators to write a bill to communally fund my property taxes. This bill is going to create a class system with haves and the have nots. It's going to give a discount to those who can already afford private school, underfund the local public on their behalf. The hard working parents of Texas even with the voucher will not be able to afford the private school. Private schools do not come with transportation services, and support services for children who may need them. Some school districts are the largest employer in some rural counties. Sinking a local economy by purposely underfunding its largest employer, is not the pro business Texas way of doing things. If we are going to keep the Texas economy robust we need to fully fund Texas public schools. We are funding the future of Texas. If parents want to choose private schools they can do it on their own dime, not mine. Thank you.

Stacy Figueroa

Self

Austin, TX

Vote no for vouchers. I do not agree with reallocating public school funds to support private tuition when public schools are already underfunded in our state. It is unacceptable that our state has the eighth largest economy in the world but ranks 46th out of 50 in school funding. All children deserve a quality education.

Linda Merriott, Ms.

Self, educator

Lubbock, TX

I am an educator who believes school choice will allow all entities to benefit. Competition from private school will cause public school to become better! Students and teachers will benefit! Enacting school choice, if done in the right way will benefit everyone!

Christie John

Self, parent of AISD students

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the proposed education bill for vouchers. Public education funding is already severely limited and this voucher program will further lead to unequal educational standards for students. Furthermore, the program's limited scope and lack of availability in many Texas districts makes it an ineffective solution. Prioritizing robust public school funding is essential for ensuring equitable educational opportunities for all Texans, not just a select few.

Andrew Garcia

Self - Sr Rusk Analyst

McKinney, TX

Proper funding for public schools is critical to having a healthy and functioning society in the future. School vouchers will only further deplete scarce resources and funnel money to private corporations that return a worse return (overall education) in the majority of cases. Stop benefiting the rich who already have too much, and contribute to the overall health and success of the state we ALL live in

Jane Maxvill, Ms

self retired

DALLAS, TX

How are these ESA schools going to be regulated? Is the money taxable, if so, does the parent or the student get taxed. How does one form a school? Will they be required to have the same number of minutes a year that the public schools do? Will they be required to post the 10 Commandments or any other information the legislature demands of public schools? Will they be allowed to recruit students for their sports teams (a la Prime Prep)? Can the school spend the money any way they want? Can a group of homeschoolers band together and call themselves a school and then take the money and go to Colorado to ski because it's a cultural experience? Or can they spend the money on soccer clubs, volleyball clubs or private piano lessons? I understand they don't have to take accountability exams like STAAR. How will we know what they are achieving? Will they get to pass on immunizations? They will be able to cherry-pick students so my great-nephew who is autistic probably won't be accepted. What happens if a school kicks a student out? Do they get to keep the money, or will it be prorated? What kind of credentials will teachers be required to show? Will the facilities be required to be ADA compliant? As you can tell, I think this is a scam of the first order. It is Greg's way of screwing public education and rewarding his donors. There is absolutely no need for this. Just fund the public schools like you should and allow dedicated public schools to do their job safely and without fear. If you want to tell us these schools are for the students, you are comfortable with lying about anything. I don't know how you look at yourself in the mirror. But it's as my good friend says, "They don't care about anyone except themselves getting re-elected and sucking on that government teat as long as they can. Talk about waste, fraud and mismanagement." And she's right. I am a Texas woman and I am second class. My daughters and my granddaughter are also second class citizens. My daughter suffered a miscarriage with complications during COVID. I spent the night in the car in the parking garage as only her husband was allowed to come in. I have never seen so much blood in my front bathroom as I did that night before she passed out and had to go to the hospital by ambulance. If that were to happen today, she would likely die. So you can understand if I hate Greg Abbott and all his little thieves. I can't even hope that it happens to all that voted this way because I would never want you to suffer as women in Texas are suffering. What else do you want from us besides complete obedience because I raised my daughter and grandchildren to be compassionate, caring and objective human beings.

Patricia Everist
Self
League City, TX

I do NOT support the Texas School Voucher Bill. As a teacher for over 20 years this is not what is best for Texas students. Charter schools will not have the same level of expectations and education with no oversight. Student comprehension will suffer and the level of preparedness for high level education will decline. The inequity in the amount of money spent of public school education will only further drive a divide for our most fragile groups of students. Please save Texas from one of its greatest mistakes and Vote NO to school vouchers.

This bill creates the illusion of choice but does nothing to guarantee that a parent's choice for their child will be fulfilled. It offers a chance, not a choice. Ultimately, the true decision-maker in this system is not the parent, but the private school. If your child has discipline issues or needs accommodations for a learning disability, the school will have the choice to remove them. If you can't afford to transport your child to school, you don't have the choice to send them to private school. If the tuition is more than $10,000, parents would have to come up with the remaining balance. One school in my district charges over $13,000 a year. If a family with three children wants to send them there, they would have to come up with an extra $9,000 a year. And that's just for tuition; paying for school supplies, transportation, and uniforms would cost even more. Over 62% of children currently in public schools come from socioeconomically disadvantaged families and many live paycheck to paycheck. They don't have an extra $9,000 in their household budget.

That's not really a choice.

The practical, geographic, and financial barriers for some students will be insurmountable and prevent them from utilizing the program. Public schools provide transportation. Private schools do not. A low-income family where both parents work and only have one vehicle could not participate. So, those children would be left out. Many of the rural parts of the state do not have private schools within reasonable travel distances. So, those children would be left out. Special education students are offered extra money in the new proposal. But even that slight increase would not cover the costs to educate those children. There are very few private schools in Texas that will take them, even if they can afford to cover the additional costs. So, those children, our most vulnerable, would be left out. If a child has a discipline record or has behavioral issues, that child would be left out. The same goes for children that are low aptitude and poor performers in school. So, those children would be left out. The bill claims to be universal, but clearly is not.

Jennifer Burnside
Self, coordinator
Elgin, TX

This Bill will decimate the already floundering Texas public school system and remove the limited resources available to students with special accommodations. Additionally, this bill will primarily harm lower income families and single household families. Rather than seeking to privatize and monetize Texas public education, our government should be funding and encouraging public education. This bill will leave so many children behind and cause irreparable harm to Texas public schools. Please don't pass this bill.

Patricia Bubb, Mrs.
Self
Cedar Park, TX

I am a strong supporter of this bill supporting School Choice in Texas. I urge its passage!

Michelle Wadle

self

Austin, TX

As one of 11 children, all of us by the same 2 parents, I am extremely grateful and proud to be a product of public education. I taught in public schools for 17 years and I am also a firm believer in the U.S. Constitution which guaranatees the separation of church and state. Therefore, I do NOT believe that tax dollars should be diverted to private religious schools. I stand behind Rep. Talarico who says that "For over four years, Greg Abbott has held school funding hostage despite a record $33 billion budget surplus". I agree that Texas needs to put more dollars into our public schools, not private school vouchers.

Robyn Carafiol

self - real estate agent

Dallas, TX

Please do not pass HB3. Vouchers that give public taxpayers dollars to families so they can use the money to pay for private schools is a bad idea. There would be little to no accounting from the private schools and home schools for those dollars and for the education those students would receive.

Very importantly, school vouchers would mostly benefit the families who already have children enrolled in private schools. Families who live on an average income or lower would not be able to afford the private school tuition above the amount of the voucher.

School vouchers are segregation, pure and simple. School vouchers would use public taxpayer dollars to benefit the more affluent families, leaving the families of lesser income (mostly people of color) in the public schools which are already underfunded.

School vouchers are wrong. Please do not pass HB3.

Thank you for your consideration.

- Robyn Carafiol

Richard Mullens

Retired teacher

Bronson, TX

This bill will eliminate public education especially in rural areas

Neena Husid

Self - retired voter

Austin, TX

Private school vouchers will hurt further a public school system, that for many, is their only way out of a life of limited opportunities. Bleeding public education creates an ill-informed class of voters who continue to not see the dark agenda of those who disenfranchise them. It's a scam.

Wayne Stalsworth, Mr.

Self

Seguin, TX

Vote no on HB3!!!!

Mary Walker

Self

Driftwood, TX

Please do not pass school vouchers that will definitely negative impact public schools

Elizabeth Lalor

Self

Crosby, TX

No to ESA

Joy McIntosh

Self. Educational Diagnostician

Bonham, TX

I am opposed to this bill. Having been in education since graduation from college in 1971, and earning subsequent degrees or certifications, I thought I had seen the worst. However, I am now convinced that I was wrong, and this is the worst. This is not something designed to improve education for Texas children. If you check with other states who have bought into this bad idea, I don't believe it is "the cow they thought they were buying". I do know this, and I believe former Governor Mark White can attest to the fact, when educators in this great state are opposed to something impacting education, they will rise up. Yes, possibly, you may pass this atrocity; however, you may not be re-elected on your next run for office. When educators have had enough, they can, and will mobilize. Just fodder for thought. Do Not pass this bill. It is wrong for schools, public or otherwise. Do not promise Texans "pie in the sky", because we are fed up with politicians who maneuver and manipulate for their good, and not the good of the people. Vote "NO" to HB3!

Valerie Sandham

Self - Retired

Georgetown, TX

I am very opposed to Vouchers. Our Public Schools have been neglected for 5 years. DO NOT send public money to private schools.

Vouchers hurt rural communities. Vouchers HURT neighborhood schools

Elinor Pisano Anspaugh

Self/parent and pediatrician

Austin, TX

Vouchers are not the solution and are not supported by your voters. Vote NO.

Vicky Le

Self

Wylie, TX

Private schools do not need help. Public schools do. School vouchers are going to hurt millions of students in the public schools system. Public school education is important. Our children deserve better than this. Funding the rich and taking from the poor is not what Texas is about. Let the citizens of this great state vote on this issue. Politicians work for the people. Our voices deserve to be heard!

Michael Helms

Self

Mesquite, TX

Many states are reporting budget deficits due to similar laws enacted for state funding of private schools. It's been proven that this only benefits families already sending their children to private schools. There aren't private schools for all the "regular" families to send their kids to. School vouchers are welfare for the rich. The surplus money earmarked for this program would be much better spent filling the funding gaps created by the legislation's not properly funding schools for years. We all know this was an effort to weaken public schools to help the argument for this program. Even conservatives don't want this program. Please quit playing games with our children's futures and do the right thing!

Ashley Duffy, Mrs.

Self

Cypress, TX

We can't have the school voucher system in Texas. Too many children are at risk to not receive solid education with funds that we, the Texas People, want!! My taxes, your taxes and my neighbor's taxes should go to the public institutions. Withholding funds for the people who have plenty is not just unfair- it's unethical- it's not humanitarian. We the people of Texas should help all Texans to succeed. We should not separate classes even further with haves and have nots. This kind of thinking can affect generations to come and affect Texas as a whole. Say no to HB 3. Keep Texans together! We are stronger together.

Anuva Bonzek

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts in Texas.

Justin Curtis

Self/ Procurement

Grapevine, TX

I don't not support this bill. Vouchers are not what the people of Texas want. This will take money away from the public schools.

Amy Bishop

Self

Fairview, TX

We OPPOSE this bill. Please vote against HB 3.

Carol Saucedo

Self

Austin, TX

I work with SPED kids believe private do not provide programming that meets their needs. A disabled child may be enroll e but there are requirements for Sped in private schools. Pls provide quality and appropriate education for all students. Don't public schools need help too!

Ilene Noonan

Self/Retired

Austin, TX

A program that benefits the few by undercutting a financially struggling public education system will harm, rather than promote, the general welfare. Fully fund public education based on enrollment, tying it to an inflation index. Vouchers for private schools make no sense unless every public program or enterprise is fully funded and there's a still a bunch of cash lying around.

Jamie Bell

Self, teacher and parent

Fort Worth, TX

I am a public elementary school teacher with two high schoolers of my own. My husband and I work very hard to provide for our children and give back to our local church and schools. Being in the classroom with my students brings me so much joy each day. We are fortunate to live in a district that values fine arts, which both of our children participate in. Our district is facing tough decisions regarding staffing and programs because of the financial state of our Texas school system. Although our family has strong Christian values and deep rooted faith, we believe in public education not only for other kids, but also for our own. We choose to send our kids to public school. Our students deserve a great education at our local public schools. Please increase the funding for public schools to $7,500 per student. Our Texas children deserve better. If we want to compete with the rest of the nation and truly make Texas the best, it begins with quality education for all students. The rising cost of gas, food, materials, school supplies, and electricity to keep the lights on has not been met with an increase in student funding. Cutting expenses through staffing and specials programs hurts our students and teachers. Do what is best for Texas and raise the funding per student to $7,500. Thank you

Rachel Dunn

Self

Fort Worth, TX

For the sake of the futures of not only our children but for our society as a whole, I urge you to increase funding for our public schools. The proposed voucher program would be a detriment to not only disadvantaged students but to all, as private schools are not held to the same standards as our public schools. Every kid deserves a chance to thrive in public schools, and the current withholding of public school funds is unfair to students, parents, teachers, and taxpayers who pay their tax bills in good faith that the funds will be used to support their local communities. Please vote NO on vouchers and support increased funding for public schools.

Jillian Round, Dr.

Richardson Independent School District

Richardson, TX

Please consider spending this money towards public schools rather than providing for private organizations that are for profit. Public schools are a sacred trust that deserves investment and support. We are spending out of our own pockets to support our students as teachers. It is time we support teachers the same as George W. Bush did. He understood the importance of a free and equitable education. I am a product of Texas Public Education, and couldn't be prouder of my upbringing/ education. Help us! Support us! Support families that deserve better!

Annette Xiques

Taxpayer, Retired Teacher

Temple, TX

I am against school vouchers. The state needs to fund public schools and return the funds that have slowly been taken away from public schools over the last 30 years.

The school districts need to be backed by the state and given the respect and responsibility to local districts to educate all students. The districts cannot do their job without state financing. Paying for vouchers takes even more money away from public scythe the local taxpayers have funded. STOP ROBINHOOD State FINANCING AS WELL.. NO VOUCHERS!. DO NOT TOUCH TEACHERS RETIREMENT FUNDS.

Dr. Rebecca Palacios, Educational Consultant

Palacios Educational Consulting

Corpus Christi, TX

No to vouchers. Absolutely not.

Kathy Pelzel
Self
Rockdale, TX

Honorable Members of the Texas Legislature,

I respectfully oppose House Bill 3, which proposes Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) in Texas. While the bill aims to increase educational choice, it would undermine public schools and exacerbate existing inequities. I urge lawmakers to prioritize strengthening public education over diverting funds to private institutions.

1. Diverting Funds from Public Schools - HB 3 would divert vital funding from public schools, which already face financial challenges. Texas public schools educate over 5 million students, many of whom come from low-income families or require special education services. Diverting funds to ESAs would further undercut these schools, making it harder for them to meet student needs and widening the funding gap.
2. Lack of Accountability - Public schools are held to strict standards, including curriculum oversight and teacher qualifications. Private schools receiving ESA funds are not required to meet these same standards, putting taxpayer money at risk. This lack of accountability could result in lower-quality education and unequal access for students, especially those from disadvantaged backgrounds.
3. Equity Concerns - ESAs disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can afford additional costs, such as transportation and fees not covered by the ESA. Low-income families, on the other hand, would have limited choices. This policy would increase educational inequities, leaving disadvantaged students behind. Additionally, students with disabilities may suffer, as private schools are not required to offer the same accommodations as public schools.
4. Impact on Rural and Low-Income Communities - Rural and low-income areas would see limited benefits from ESAs. Wealthier families could access private schools, while public schools in these areas could lose more funding and resources. This would harm local communities and further diminish educational opportunities for the students who need them most.
5. Teacher and Education Quality - Diverting funds to ESAs would reduce resources for public schools, potentially leading to teacher layoffs, larger class sizes, and program cuts. Texas already faces teacher shortages, and this funding reduction would only worsen the situation, harming both teachers and students.
6. Increased Segregation - Private schools can be selective in admissions, potentially leading to greater segregation. Wealthier students could attend private schools, while low-income and minority students remain in public schools, deepening educational inequality.
7. Better Alternatives - Rather than diverting funds from public schools, Texas should focus on improving them. Increasing teacher salaries, reducing class sizes, and expanding programs within public schools would provide better educational options without undermining the public system.

While ESAs may appear to offer more choice, HB 3 would ultimately harm public education in Texas. I urge you to oppose HB 3.

Anita Palmer, M. Ed.
Public Education
Humble, TX

I don't want to bill. Abbot is only trying to segregate black and white students. He wants to take us back to the 50s and 60s he is a prejudice races that only wants to do Trump's dirty deeds and eating those who do not need the eight he knows that black kids in brown kids cannot afford to go to private school even if they do get a $10,000 voucher are they gonna pay the rest also it's no guarantee that the private schools will let them in so that we have our issue we me, Anita Palmer do not want this voucher !!

Veronica Ramirez

Self/teacher

El Paso, TX

Against HB3

Our public schools are already in a huge deficit and passing this bill will hinder our school systems even more. Private schools are for the privileged. They do not serve students with special needs. They are not for ALL students. As tax payers we pay to fund public institutions that serve ALL students. Funding private schools is unconstitutional and I'm afraid more of a business transaction than a civic duty of the governor.

Cheryl Hurst, Literacy acceleration specialist

AFT

Red Oak, TX

I've sent numerous reasons to stop school vouchers from going through. I'm sad to say that I feel like no matter what Texans tell you you are not going to listen public schools offer many opportunities for students to go to other campuses within their district if a school is not making the grade a student may transfer anywhere within that district. It is sad that you think the offering private schools to only 100,000 Texas children is going to offer the opportunity of school choice 100,000 children is only a drop in the bucket. If you allow vouchers to go through, you are only playing right into Greg Abbott plan to ruin public schools. Please vote for Texas children, and not against Texas. Children vote against school vouchers, and help save our public schools.

Texas Cook, Ms.

Self, teacher

Houston, TX

Texans want public school. There is nothing more fundamental to the idea of our children prospering than providing them with a well resourced public education. Vouchers are made to steal money from the hands of our children. It's taking their food, supplies, mentors, everything away from them. Vouchers are a punishment for the poor. Instead of being on equal footing, now anyone born to poor parents will be forced to suffer and have no choice in their lives. This is not school choice. This is welfare for the wealthy and it makes me sick. I am a well educated, compassionate individual who became a teacher because I knew I was needed. If you are a public official, please think about how YOU are needed in this moment. You must vote against vouchers.

Jackie Fleschman, Mrs.

Self

Dallas, TX

No to anything going to private schools and away from public schools, teachers and students.

Marie Troy

Cypress Fairbanks ISD

Barker, TX

I fully am apposed to this bill

Kelly Bezio

Self - teacher

Corpus Christi, TX

Voucher programs in other states have been proven to raise property taxes and lower education attainment. What we need are more funds for our public schools.

Bridget Kirby Silsbee ISD
Silsbee, TX

In consideration of HB 3, my concerns are as follows:

Zero accountability or intervention requirements despite the utilization of public dollars. Public schools have been hounded by accountability and intervention when they do not perform to established standards. Those established standards require us to stand in front of our community and be transparent about our performance or lack thereof. The school community has clear evidence of tax dollars at work.

The ability of private schools to turn anyone away at the door without cause. School choice is really just the school's choice. We see evidence of that every day in our own community. Kids are turned away at the door because our community's private school does not have the resources or personnel to support certain disabilities or behaviors. Tax payer dollars should ensure equity for ALL students.

No specificity around testing requirements. We spend millions and billions of dollars on low-quality assessments to test public schools and sanction them when they do not perform adequately. That money could be spent on teacher quality and retention. Instead, testing and retesting requirements siphon our funding on a daily basis. Yet, private schools will not have those same requirements?

The fact that public schools already do so much with so little funding. Schools are having to cut critical positions—teachers, librarians, instructional support, paraprofessionals, administrators—and increase class sizes. You know we have had to do that in our school district. Yet, Governor Abbott has held funding hostage over this situation, starving districts of critical positions. Schools all around us have already had to cut the aforementioned positions. We cannot sustain here much longer.

No requirements for teacher certifications. While yes, we are teaching with more uncertified teachers than ever before in public schools (thanks--in large part--to extreme working conditions, larger class sizes, limited pay, and general lack of support of the education profession due to state decisions), we are still required to develop a plan to ensure high-quality educators serve our students.

Fewer dollars per student afforded to public school children. The current bill would afford public school children receive fewer dollars per student. This will never and could never make sense to me. It is a gross misappropriation of taxpayer money, and the inequity is disgusting. If private school education is worth that much, shouldn't public schools be receiving similar funding, if not more, to adequately support the plethora of needs our students have?

The lack of school choice access in small rural, communities. Our students would have to drive approximately 30 miles to reach an accredited private school. Accreditation matters when colleges review transcripts and diplomas. Our community private school is not accredited. Unfortunately, this means geography will define opportunity.

Ana Roberts
Self
Abilene, TX

Why are we providing funding for private education when the state of Texas has been underfunding all our students for the past 13 years Ive had a child in schools. We have school choice but let those who can afford private education continue the status quo.

Ken Damron
Self/Taxpayer
Austin, TX

Voucher programs are flawed policy proposals. Public taxpayer dollars should only go to public schools. Aside from what the Governor says, public school funding (per-pupil spending) in Texas ranks in the BOTTOM 10 states in the entire country. That is completely unacceptable for a state as prosperous as Texas. Our legislators are expected to do better. Public schools should be the focus and priority of this committee, and the legislature as a whole. The Texas Constitution includes mandates for public school funding - not private. Let's simply abide by that.

Diane Hawley
Self
Fort Worth, TX

This is not what is in the best interest of Texas children. The public school system needs more funding not less funding. This is a scam for the wealthy that can already afford private education. It will do nothing to improve the literacy and education of those that depend on the public education.

Jennifer Smith, Mrs.
Self
Austin, TX

I am against this bill. It will take money away from our public schools which are already suffering because of a lack of funding. If our elected officials are sent to represent the voice of Texans, then this bill should not pass. The majority of this state does not want school vouchers. This is not about choice as there is already a choice for parents who do not want to send their children to public schools—choose to pay and send your children to private. That is their choice and our state government should NOT subsidize that choice. Have pride in the students of Texas. Have pride in our teachers. Have pride in our public schools and vote against this bill. Have pride in our public schools and vote to increase per student funding. Vote no on this bill.

Kay Hesketh
Self
Houston, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. Education should never be a political debate, as a well-educated public makes for a better citizenry, and, therefore, a better future for us all. It's why, as someone who chose to homeschool her own children, I continued to support my own property taxes going towards our public schools. So, as a native Texan, a graduate of Cy-Fair ISD, a former public school teacher, a homeschooling mom, and the mother of a future teacher, I urge every one of you to vote AGAINST the voucher program. Let's continue to fund public education for all our children and, more importantly, all our future, in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Amy Carter
Self/CFO Hempstead ISD
Huntsville, TX

I stand before you today to express my strong opposition to school vouchers. While the idea of giving parents more choices in their children's education may sound appealing, the reality is that vouchers do far more harm than good. They divert much-needed public funds away from our public schools, lack accountability, and ultimately widen the gap between wealthy and disadvantaged students.

First and foremost, school vouchers take taxpayer dollars out of public schools and funnel them into private institutions—many of which are not held to the same standards of accountability, transparency, or inclusivity. Public schools are the backbone of our communities. They educate the vast majority of our children, regardless of income, background, or ability. When we divert funding to private schools, we weaken the very institutions that serve as a lifeline for millions of students.

Second, vouchers do not guarantee better educational outcomes. Studies in states that have implemented large-scale voucher programs, such as Indiana and Louisiana, show that students using vouchers often perform worse on standardized tests than their peers in public schools. If the goal is to improve education, then draining resources from public schools is not the answer. Instead, we should invest in smaller class sizes, teacher retention, and updated resources that benefit all students.

Third, vouchers create inequities. Many private schools receiving voucher funds have selective admissions policies. They can deny students based on academic performance, disabilities, or even religious beliefs. Public schools, on the other hand, welcome every child—regardless of circumstance. When we subsidize private education with public dollars, we are effectively funding exclusionary practices that leave behind the students who need the most support.

Finally, let's not forget the fundamental purpose of public education: to ensure every child has access to quality schooling, regardless of their zip code. Instead of dismantling our public education system through vouchers, we should be strengthening it. We need more funding for teacher salaries, student resources, and school infrastructure—not policies that siphon away resources in favor of privatization.

I urge our lawmakers and communities to reject school vouchers and focus on real solutions that uplift all students. The future of our children—and our nation—depends on it.

Thank you.

Rigo Garza
Macedonian Christian Academy
Donna, TX

Please house the families that struggle financially just to have there kids in a Christian school. I know this bill will help these families.

Rich Elsasser, Dr.
Self
Georgetown, TX

As a parent that sent his kids to a private school I do not feel HB3 is good for education at all. ESAs have not worked in other states, I do not know why you feel they will work in Texas. Why create more separation in schools and our state?

Courtney Laufer
Self
Carrollton, TX

Keeping public money public is imperative at a time public schools are closing down left and right due to not enough funding. My kids school is being closed- and it's the best academically ranked school in our district. My children now have their education compromised due to underfunded public schools. This is not ok- keep public money public.

Michael Joseph
Self retired educator
KINGWOOD, TX

Rep. Buckley and Cunningham:

I am 100% against the voucher program coming to Texas. I do not have a dog in the hunt but what all of my educational experience(26 years) tells me is that it will not help students from poor backgrounds - rather it will give another financial break to middle-class and above families to help finance their private school education. And, this will further weaken our public schools - which for 200 plus years have been instrumental in helping equalize the playing field for all and making sure the American dream is still alive and well. Vouchers will go a long way towards ending that dream for millions of Texans.

In addition, when did we ever start thinking of giving money to places without any accountability?? That is what vouchers will do - and the charter schools do not have to take anyone they do not want to take. I seriously doubt that students in poor areas are going to be able to take their voucher(it will not come close to covering full tuition) and attend a school outside their neighborhood. The true reality of vouchers is that the rich will get richer and the poor, poorer. And the American dream will be less attainable for a big segment of our population.

Knowing you are busy, I appreciate your time on this.

Sincerely,

Michael Joseph

Carla Elliott
Self
College Station, TX

I am a retired voter and lifetime Texan. I am also a former public school teacher. I urge my representatives to reject this bill supporting school vouchers. We attract quality educators and serve our children the best with a transparent and affordable education system. Furthermore, I do not want my tax dollars going to support such a system.

Thank you,
Carla Elliott

Brad Eblen
self/retired teacher
Snook, TX

Please vote "no" on HB 3 and any other bills related to educational vouchers

Jennifer Lo
Self
Dallas, TX

You are rushing into something without thinking of the ramifications or analyzing data from other states who have implemented similar programs. This will devastate an already burdened system. Measures are not equal between public school and the schools that these vouchers will likely go to. How does this level the playing field or ensure access to quality education? Private schools typically do not offer services for students with learning differences or students with disabilities. Devastating the funds to public schools will only decrease access to an education for these students. Please stop and put safe guards in place and equal the reporting/funding between public and private schools if you insist on rolling out this program. The abuses in funding and the decrease in quality education for a state that is already struggling will have devastating ramifications for the families your office is supposed to represent.

Emmett Whitefield

Self

Tolar, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Instead let's talk about adequately funding public schools.

Rebecca Scoville

Self

Galveston, TX

I oppose HB3. It weekends are public school system, which is already under funded.

AMY SMITH

Self

Austin, TX

Please oppose the school voucher bill. We can afford to send our kids to private school and most likely will for middle and high school so this would benefit us but I think it's so detrimental to public schools. It will make it much harder for us to be able to get into the private school we have chosen for middle and high school. There aren't enough private schools. And we live down the street from our elementary school and it's such a great community that will be hurt and I think our property value will be become not as valuable. There are so many repercussions that are not being thought about.

Joanne Spridco

Self

Mansfield, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Angela Faulkner-Muirhead

Self, Educational Diagnostician

Splendora, TX

Please do not pass this bill! This is not a conservative bill and will funnel billions of dollars into private schools. This will destroy public education!

Nik Machado

Self

Austin, TX

Good Evening, Chair and Members of the Committee,

My name is Nik Machado and I'm a sophomore at St. Edward's majoring in Social Work with minors in Criminal Justice Pre-Law and Political Science. I am here today to strongly oppose HB 3 because I know exactly what it means to attend and GRADUATE from a Texas public school. I graduated from McNeil High School in Round Rock, TX in 2023 and during my time in public education, I spent a large majority of my education in title 1 schools. These schools work tirelessly to serve students, despite being overlooked and underfunded.

And now, instead of fixing the issues public schools are actively facing—overworked and underpaid teachers, outdated resources, overcrowded classrooms, and a teacher shortage—this bill will take more away from the children in public education all for the illusion of a choice.

Let's be clear: ESAs are not about "choice." Private schools can pick and choose their students. They don't have to take kids with disabilities, English learners, or students like me—a former foster youth who heavily relied on free meals, dedicated teachers, social workers, and the support of a public school that believed in me. So, who really benefits from this illusion of choice?

Certainly not the 90% of Texas kids who attend public schools.

But I didn't just fight for my own education—I fought for my brother's too. The issues public schools actively face wear heavily on the education of students. My 17 year old brother was underserved and neglected in a Texas public school because of factors he could not control. Today, while waiting to testify, we exhausted our last option and withdrew my younger brother from 11th grade. Not because he wasn't smart or didn't try, but because our state refuses to fully invest in the schools that are supposed to serve kids like him.

Texas kids deserve better than to be neglected in favor of the illusion of choice. Public money belongs in public schools, where it serves all students, not just a privileged few. If we really care about "school choice," let's start by fully funding the schools that already serve millions of Texas families.

I urge this committee to stand with Texas students and vote NO on HB 3. Thank you.

Eileen Bau

self, project manager

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. Public taxpayer money should not be taken away from public schools that desperately need the funds. Private education systems offer no real transparency on what these funds would be used for and it is all too easy for these funds to be misused, and not go towards benefitting students in need.

Aaron Perk
Self
San Antonio, TX

My name is Aaron Perk, a teacher and parent from San Antonio, and I am opposed to HB 3 and similar voucher proposals.

In my experience as an educator, I have seen the effects of underfunding our state's public schools. My employer, a public school district, has been forced to cut allotments for staff, grow the size of classes, and avoid increasing salaries for employees in the face of staggering inflation. As a parent, I have also seen the effects of underfunding our state's public schools. My son's public school district now offers fewer educational programs, faces greater staff turnover, and next year his neighborhood elementary school will be closed. My family and the students I serve were failed by their state government in 2023 when it refused to increase the basic allotment per student in public education despite a historic budget surplus because representatives rejected vouchers.

Who gained from this abject failure of responsibility? The only beneficiaries I can tell are some of the richest families looking to get a tax break, our governor and several legislators gaining credence with a radical separatist fringe, and immensely powerful and wealthy political donors and private interests seeking to enrich themselves further. Most Texans understand what many of these people do not—public education is a public good and not comparable to services provided by a private business. Everyone in our community stands to benefit from well-funded public schools that are obligated to serve all students regardless of disability, income, religion, or background. Creating a redundant parallel bureaucracy to disperse public money to private institutions that are not accountable to taxpayers nor have to serve their children is not in the public interest. The paltry sum offered for increasing the basic allotment this session demonstrates that the legislature cannot have it both ways and must recognize that every dollar dedicated toward vouchers comes at the expense of our constitutionally-mandated public education system.

I implore you to vote against this bill and all voucher schemes.

Laura Dugey
Self
Austin, TX

I am against the voucher bill. I dont want my state representatives to vote for it because they would not be representing me. I would not vote for it. I would let it die.

Public schools should be enriched and teacher should be paid more and we should invest in our children's education in the public system, and not move towards a private system that benefits a few oligarchs!

Natasha Wallace
Self
Caddo Mills, TX

Opposition of the bill & ESAs

Laura Martinez

self-parent

Austin, TX

My name is Laura Martinez and I am testifying on my own behalf. I am a parent of two kids who have benefited from Texas public schools and I am here today to oppose House Bill 3. We are a military family so our kids have also attended public schools in Virginia, Washington State and Department of Defense (DODEA) schools, while stationed in Germany. I would like to focus on the unique importance of strong public schools for military children. Military families typically move every 6 months to 3 years and strong public schools are essential to these children's successful adaptation, as they PCS (move) over and over again.

Beyond the social importance for military children, public schools have common courses and standards which make it easier for students to change schools and pick up where they left off at their last duty station. For 2 years, our kids attended private schools and while the rigor and creativity of the classes was excellent, the curriculum was different, resulting in learning gaps when our kids re-entered public schools.

HB3 would funnel money out of our public schools and into private schools. Of course military children are not the only students who would be impacted by this bill, but I do believe they would be disproportionately harmed. Back in 2018, there was congressional legislation proposed to create school vouchers for military families (HR 5199 and S 2517). There was strong opposition to these bills from military families and organizations such as the Military Child Education Coalition.

In a few short months, my kids will be high school graduates but I am here today for my future grandchildren, my neighbors, and children all over our state. Please show Texas children that you believe in their future: fully fund our public schools and vote no on any voucher or ESA (educational savings account) bill. Thank you.

Kenneth Harrington

Self

Missouri City, TX

Am strongly against HB 3. Providing funds in the amount of $10,000 (or any amount for that matter) takes away from resources that can provide services to others that are in need within the state of Texas. The fact that the state currently only provides about $6380 per student to public schools and would agree to provide $10,000 for student to attend a private school proves that law makers are willing to dismantle the current system for large metropolitan areas within Texas. It is difficult to understand how someone can think that this makes sense. I have no idea who is funneling money to Abbott to get this done, but someone should be doing some digging. I have heard that the money won't come from the current school funds, but it has to come from somewhere. If you have that much extra money, just give it back to the taxpayers or lower the state sales tax. Providing extra money to people who already have enough money to pay for private school is NOT where I want my tax dollars to go. If it is that important, bring it to a vote to the citizens of Texas.

Steven R. Moore, Mr

Argyle ISD. Argyle Community. Myself and my family. All Texas Taxoayers.

Argyle, TX

As a parent of 4 graduated from public schools. A Board Of Trustee's for 18 yrs. 1999 -2019. I understand state funding. I understand teachers pay. I have a private school 1.8 miles from my home. I've had the privilege of being a part of the best district in Texas. Provided by the students, the staff and the community. Private schools don't and won't educate our public students. Especially the ones the need public education and special programs the most. Private schools don't have the room, the educated staff nor the desire to educate all classes of our population. Private school demand much more monetary demands on parents than the vouchers will ever provide. In turn not inviting or excepting any additional amount of students. Homeschool parents want vouchers so they can supplement their income. I heard a mom of three say what she was gonna do with all that extra money. It wasn't going to be used to education her children it was going to used to spoil herself. HB 3 is setting us up for the worse workforce in 6 yrs and beyond we have ever seen. Boucher students are going to suffer and most of all our public school students will suffer. College requirements will need to be lowered just to except our states own students into our state schools. My republican vote stands with my fellow democrats to defeat this bill and to vote out all who support it. Gov Abbott will be the first to go and all him wealth contributors. Call me and I'll stand talk agai st this injustice. Thanks Steven Moore Argyle Texas and proud of it.

Kerry Jonietz
PTA
San Antonio, TX

Please vote no to HB3. It is not what Texas needs. It does not support 5.5 million public school students. It takes public school funds, whether in the education fund or not, and funnels it to private schools. This is not ok. We don't do this with roads and we shouldn't do it with students!

Kristin Gilbert
Self
SAN ANTONIO, TX

Please do not allow the establishment of an education savings account program. Public money from tax payers and government funds should never go to the private schools since private schools are not held accountable to the taxpayers or government. Private schools do not provide education to all children, therefore they should not receive public funds. Please do not allow this to go through and vote no on hb3.

Kelly Gunn
Self
San Antonio, TX

Parents DO NOT want vouchers. Just fund our public schools.

Julia Albright
self, retired
Coppell, TX

I have multiple concerns about House Bill 3:

1. It will divert funds from already strapped public schools - the basic allotment has not been increased since 2019, any educational bill must fully fund public schools with the 2019 basic allotment in today's dollars
2. Corruption - Why is Jeff Yass the major lobbyist behind this bill? Why did governor Abbott accept millions upon millions in campaign funds from Yass? It is because he is a vendor who will run this program. Why did Tim Dunn and Farris Wilks - who have been outspoken about their Christian Nationalist agenda- fund the opponents of true conservative republicans who voted against vouchers in the last session? Not to mention in the hearing yesterday, Representative Gina Hinojosa referenced on page 28 of the bill that the "Educational Assistance Organization" is allowed to accept bribes. The origins of this bill and the content of the bill are full of corruption.
3. Lack of transparency - It is untrue that this bill will benefit low income and special needs families. The voucher will be used by families whose students are already in private school or who already know they plan to send their child to private school. Two reasons behind this: $10,000 is not enough to cover the cost of most private schools so a low income family would have to not only transport their child to school but also pay for the balance of the tuition. There are simply not enough private schools to offer capacity for a significant number of students. If the bill is truly for special needs and low income families, add the language to restrict it to them.
4. It is a tenet of the Texas Constitution that the state provide a strong public education to all children. This bill violates this tenet. In closing, we have to do better for Texas, for our children, for our future. Stop bowing to the money, stop putting your own personal wealth above that of your constituents. YOU have to do better!

Vicki Stone

Self

Lindale, TX

I am asking for another vote on school "choice" vouchers in Texas. I am a registered Republican and live in a semi rural school district. I am not supportive of vouchers. In order to be a great state, we need to be ranked much higher in public education. This is not the way to get there. As a military family, we moved all over and depended on public education in each location. We never had time to apply for, much less get on waiting lists, for private schools. We did, however, choose our homes by school district. In addition, we have a child with medical needs. We were always welcomed in public school programs, with no questions. Great schools make great communities! Educated citizens make great community leaders. Please know that this Republican does not support school vouchers/choice.

Karla Harris

Self

Lake Jackson, TX

I stand firmly against HB3. Public money should not be used for private school. According to the Texas constitution the state is supposed to provide a quality education for all students. You have now added testing that is anywhere between two grade levels to five grade levels of what students are Supposed to be at in order to tell the world we are failing at our jobs. Stop this nonsense. You're above your raisin'

Beth Winstead

Self

Garland, TX

I object to school vouchers being used for private schools. This must not happen in Texas.

Kristan Poirot

Self

College Station, TX

I ask that you vote no to HB3, SB2, or any voucher/ESA bill and instead prioritize fully funding public schools first by enrollment rather than attendance, increase the basic allotment by $1300 to catch up with inflation, and support strong teacher and staff pay raises. This bill allows people making above $160,000 to apply such that the richest families may benefit. Our tax dollars should support all students, not just a select few. Please prioritize strong public schools for all Texas children.

Henderson Katy

Self

Montgomery, TX

Public tax money is not intended for private choices. Vouchers have failed everywhere and are fraught with fraud and corruption. You don't work for big dollar donors. You work for Texas citizens. No vouchers. Full stop.

Junida Howard

Self- educational diagnostician

Irving, TX

This bill is fiscally irresponsible and unfair to public schools who are chronically underfunded by unfunded mandates like police officers or armed officers in all campuses. Please rethink this cruelty of giving private schools thousands more per child versus public schools and not requiring same rules and laws such as IDEA.

JENNA MAYNARD

Self

Plano, TX

I strongly opposed HB3. This is not best for students. This is not best for educators and this is not best for parents. We already have choices for our kids and if parents are unhappy with the public schools around Texas, then your job as a legislature is to fund and fix them. End of story.

Julian McMurrey

Self

College Station, TX

Please vote NO on vouchers!

Olga Medelez

Self/ Teacher

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers would be devastating to public schools! No vouchers

Shanda Gary

Self- homeschool mom

Bertram, TX

There are smarter people than me ready to state facts and figures on why HB3 is an awful bill for Texans. But I can tell you that I have a hard time finding any comments from constituents in my area and neighboring precincts that want this bill. I see support from politicians and political donors and an average citizen like me has to ask why?? The last I checked there was a process for passing laws and it starts with the elected officials knowing what their constituents want and then voting according to that knowledge. Apparently, Texas politicians have forgotten that basic citizenship lesson because what I see is politicians ignoring thousands of comments online, emails, and phone calls OPPOSED to HB3. Let the people vote so the majority opinion is known publicly. I am a conservative Texan. I pay attention. This is an absolute outrage to watch in our great state of Texas. Texas is supposed to lead the way on freedoms, conservatism, and just plain ol' common sense. Texas citizens do not get pushed around by aloof politicians. We get loud and push right back.

Again, HB3 IS NOT fiscally conservative, squeezes out parental choice and freedom, does not help public schools, private schools, or homeschool families. In fact, the Home school families I know will want no part of this voucher system. The constituents demand to be heard on this. When the constituents are this vocal about a bill- politicians better listen. Time to get out there and hold some town halls and explain yourselves. Explain the pros and cons and then LISTEN to the constituents. If you have not convinced them- change your vote. If Governor Abbott got you elected specifically to pass this bill- too bad. If the people say NAY- the representative in our precinct- ELLEN TROXCLAIR- better say NAY.

Emily Kaszczuk

Self/parent

Leander, TX

I strongly oppose the creation of ESAs. I am against diverting public dollars from public schools. All recipients of public dollars should be subject to the same state assessments, accountability, and parental rights.

ESAs divert funding from our public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

ESAs directly hurt students with disabilities who receive Special Education services in Public Schools in the State of Texas. These ESAs are inaccessible to the vast majority of our disabled students, and that is before they have a chance at any lottery or know if a private school will accept, serve, or retain them. The students not served by the vouchers will be left receiving special education services in underfunded understaffed Public Schools that this state put in this situation.

This is unacceptable. I want this legislature to take accountability, listen to the parent voice, and have the courage to do the right thing: say No to ESA/Vouchers and Fund our Public Schools properly.

Marlo Rockhold

Teachers

Leander, TX

I have been in education for 32 years. I also have homeschooled my own child while continuing my role as teacher. I appreciated the ability to make such a difficult choice and have no regrets. There was incredible benefit to her receiving one on one attention at a critical brain development timeframe. This is why I feel strongly about school choice and why I feel strongly that taxpayers should not be paying for this choice. I would have never canvassed my neighborhood telling my neighbors that they each must pay me a set amount of money so I could homeschool my child, with this money benefitting only her and not a larger population. This is essentially what you are doing with vouchers. Yes, you did put this "to vote" on the Republican ballot, but this was not put to vote to the state as a whole. You keep saying this is what Texans want. Well, I'm about as Texan as one can get, with my first ancestor coming here just before Texas joined the nation, and I can assure you that I do not support holding school funding hostage - impacting a vast majority of children in our state - while pushing vouchers that will not only impact a small portion but will have negative impacts on education for years. You say that our schools are failing. What you don't ever say is that teachers are working tirelessly to step up where you have not, to fill learning gaps caused by the curriculum YOU created, manage large student loads with diverse needs and levels with little to no extra planning time or support. You say you want to figure out why teachers are leaving in droves but create a task force for this that originally did not include any teachers. You say teachers are indoctrinating students when the vast majority are not. And you continually insult and disrespect the education that is happening in our schools. This voucher plan is going to be a final slap in the face for many, many people. All so you can push your own personal agendas. Whose indoctrinating whom?

Sandra Harbour, Ms

Abilene ISD

Sweetwater, TX

Please vote no on school vouchers. This undermines public schools and isn't a real offer for those students already on the margins financially.

Heather Lemmons

Self - Admin

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill as I believe that if this is enacted it will lead to the demise of public education and lead to further advantages for those who have less need of such assistance. While I do not oppose private education, the majority of the population cannot choose this for many reasons and this will not enable to be more able to do so, but divert much-needed funds away from those who benefit from public education. With the state of the federal government trying to strip down the department of education, our Texas schools need more aid from our taxpayer funds and we should not be seeking to further limit their capacity to aid all students, not just those who already have a financial advantage available for purchase. Thank you.

Stephanie Boydston

Self - 20 year public school educator

Adrian, TX

Please vote AGAINST the voucher program. Everything has already been said that I would say.

Eric Guerra Eric Guerra

Self

Spicewood, TX

I Oppose.

Josh Hall
Self Joshua, TX

I oppose HB3 for vouchers/ESA's.
We must fully fund public education with at least a $1500 increase in the basic allotment.

Amalia Runnels
self
Austin, TX

If our tax dollars go to private schools then they must also meet the same federal and state mandates as public schools. Such as the following but not limited to:

1. State mandated TEKS and state mandated curriculum.
2. Private schools must give the STAAR assessments, End of Course Assessments, benchmarks, ...
3. Teachers in private schools must meet the same educational requirements, trainings (including the Reading Academy), and be certified through the State of Texas.
3. Each private school must have the same demographic numbers and public schools in their region. For example, If they have the enrollment as 3A public schools in their region, they must enroll the same percentage of special education students (including intellectually challenged and behaviorally challenged), 504, Dyslexic, Deaf, Blind, Dyslexic, ...
4. They must participate in the state school ranking system with the same actions depending on their scores that are based on state assessment scores.
5. They must abide by the same UIL rules and guidelines for academic and sports.

Plus equal funding per pupil

Jan Stone Citizen
Austin, TX

Vote No

Lisa Sniggs
Self
Pinehurst, TX

As a public school teacher that hasn't gotten a raise in three years and public school parent, I think it is absolutely absurd that you would put forth a bill that discriminates against the less fortunate instead of releasing the funds to schools!! Every single state in the country that has enacted a bill like this has seen significant gaps in achievement, pay, funding, and scores - the rich got richer and smarter and the poor got poorer and couldn't advance. Why on Earth would Texas want to join the ranks of other states in the bottom 15 of the country in reading and math skills?!

If you are insistent on being corrupt enough to give yourself a $10K tax break, then at least put requirements on the money!! Any private school, charter, or homeschool parent that accepts the voucher accepts under the same funding laws that public schools abide by - they only get the money based off of attendance!! Also, they should be held to the same achievement standards as public schools - follow the TEKS and be graded on scores from standardized testing in all required subjects. ONLY IF they agree to these stipulations with the funding would I be comfortable.

In a world free of corruption in politics, the money from Robin Hood (recapture) would have been released during COVID to help all public schools and retain high quality teachers. Instead, we have districts laying off teachers because they cannot pay their salaries or districts like mine that haven't given a raise in three years because the funds aren't available.

Please have common sense and listen to the millions of people on social media and thousands that have come to the capitol or sent feedback against school choice and ESAs. Don't make us look stupid like we did with Robin Hood (recapture) in the early 2000s. We should have learned from those mistakes!!

Ted Hsieh
Self
Houston, TX

Please vote against this. Keep funds in public schools!

Lesley Forte
Self
Anna, TX

Please note I do NOT support this voucher bill. However you refer to it, voucher or education savings account, it's a coupon for the wealthy. Please properly fund and care for our public schools. There are other ways to meet the needs of families that do not include hand outs to the wealthy. If this were really about students, congress would help public schools emulate private school strengths, such as decreasing class sizes, increasing teacher pay, offering greater parent involvement, offering better curriculum, particularly curriculum that teachers know is effective, etc.

Jillian Griffin
Self
Austin, TX

I am the parent of two public school students in Texas, one of which has an IEP. I am writing to voice my opposition to the proposed voucher program. I do not want to see tax payer funds allocated to private education. This voucher program will do irreparable harm to students in public education, particularly those like mine, who rely on the public education system to receive special education supports.

I live in a major city, and even here, there are only two private schools that serve autistic children such as my own and the cost of both of those schools is 2-3 times the amount of the proposed voucher amount. Neither school offer transportation, so they are not only cost prohibitive WITH a voucher, they are not feasible for my child to attend. If this is true for someone living in an urban area, with many school choice opportunities (private, public, charter), then it goes without saying that this program cuts out many families who live in counties smaller than my own.

Further, I've been following the news of outcomes for voucher programs in other states across the nation. Academic outcomes have not improved in Florida and Arizona, and the programs have been financially burdensome on those states. Programs in Nebraska and Illinois have ended do to their failure. I would hope our legislatures would have the foresight to see that this program is no different and will fail Texas children as it has children elsewhere.

I respectfully request that you end these attempts at a voucher program in Texas and increase the per student allotment for our public schools.

Thanks,
Jillian Griffin

Leslie Wright, Teacher
Retired teachers of Tx
Friona, TX

We as teachers are against it. It is not what is best for the students. We need a choice. Let us vote what is best for our kids.

Kimberly Parker
Self
Round Rock, TX

An education savings account will pull essential funding from public schools. Please vote against this bill which will impact essential funding for public school and continue to cause a gap in services for those who are most vulnerable.

Brittney Womack

Self

Grapevine, TX

No to HB3. Public education should be fully funded. My children are just beginning their education journey and the damage you would do to their very loved and amazing schools will have the greatest impact on them. I will forever fight for my kids to have the education they deserve as well as kids in areas where this bill will have an even more devastating impact. Our representatives may be able to be bought out by billionaires but moms fighting for the well being of their children's safety and education will not!

Katherine Ortiz

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Katherine

Janita Watson

Self

Austin, TX

I do not support vouchers or other financial aid that takes students out of public education in Texas! I received a great education through public schools in Dallas and San Antonio. My children had fine educations in Austin. Please support public education

Nancy J Rodriguez Rodriguez

Self

New Braunfels, TX

AGAINST HB3. Public money SHOULD be used to FULLY FUND PUBLIC SCHOOL! VOTE NO TO VOUCHERS!

Freddie Paredes

Self

Mckinney, TX

We Texas residents and tax payers have already voted against vouchers, but for some reason our representatives continue to push it as an important part of legislation. We need better funded public schools, not money to private schools. We should not have to pay for people to send kids to private school. Just like you all were against paying for college loans. Let's drop this and improve our public schools.

Audrae Burton

Self

Bluff Dale, TX

I am asking ALL to vote NO to HB 3 and HB2!

Jennifer Thomas

My public school children

Austin, TX

This bill should not be passed. Public dollars belong in PUBLIC schools. "Education savings accounts" i.e. vouchers would rob Texas public schools of money for private schools. And it will not benefit the middle class. This bill would help a minority of people only. It would only further the division between the haves and the have-nots in Texas as well as increase bigotry and discrimination, and we do not need any of that. I am proud of my public school education in Texas. I have a high school degree from public high school in Austin, TX as well as two degrees from a public university, the University of Texas at Austin. I have two children currently attending public schools in Texas. I can see they are getting a great education and that the teachers and administrators are qualified and dedicated. Texans do not need "education savings accounts" i.e. vouchers - they need the Texas Legislature to support the current public school system. Vote no on this bill.

Brett Holder, Mr

Public Transportation Director/Self

Shallowater, TX

How bout we take care of Public Schools! I do not want my tax money spent on private education period. I believe that y'all taking my money for this is nothing short of stealing.

Benita G Zepeda

Retired educator

Lyford, TX

o aid Texas residents in electronically submitting public comments to House Please aid committees on measures or matters included on public hearing. notices.

Jean Whitehead

Self Teacher

Amarillo, TX

Oppose vouchers for private school tuition. The public schools are already underfunded. Turning our tax dollars o er to private school millionaire owners is unconscionable!

Michele Gortney, LPC-S

Self

Alvarado, TX

Private school vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. These vouchers would destroy the public school system that educates the majority of Texas children. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Mary Winkler

Self

Allen, TX

I DO NOT SUPPORT this bill. Texas already does not fund our public schools appropriately, and families already have school choice. There is not one state that has been successful with school choice vouchers. Please DO NOT pass this bill. I am a public school teacher in my 23rd year of teaching in the north Texas area. Texas students deserve better. Fund public schools and don't give away our tax dollars to families that already send their kids to private or charter schools. They can already afford this! Release the funding to our public schools that has been held from them. Every single day on the news we hear of districts having to make tough decisions to make the budget work, closing schools, reducing staff, cutting programs. All of these things hurt our students experiences and are a direct result of not being funded appropriately. Fund our schools based on enrollment and raise the daily allotment to match inflation.

Kara Broeker

Self stay at home mom

Flower Mound, TX

As a parent of four children who have gone through the public school system, I am vehemently against this bill. Taxpayer money should be directed to the public school system of Texas for all of our students. Those choosing to send their children to private schools have always had that choice and will continue to do so on their own dime. Why are billionaires from other states buying our governor and funneling millions to him? Why would those from other states have an interest in the education of Texans? Governor Abbott and every elected official in Texas need to listen to their constituents and say no!! This, along with the dismantling of the Department of Education will completely stop the growth of our system and hurt those who need it most!!

Lorena Higuera, Mrs.

Self

Austin, TX

Education is not better in Texas. In 2022, my son was in a class of 43 students in 4th grade due to the lack of teachers and funding for public schools. HB 3 will further exacerbate public school resources in Texas, and lead to larger class sizes, fewer teachers, and less access to services like special education and extracurricular activities. The bill disproportionately harms marginalized communities, deepens educational inequities, and widens the gap between the rich and the poor in Texas. HB3 threatens to undermine public education by diverting critical funds away from public schools to private institutions, which lack accountability and oversight. Private schools are not required to serve all students, particularly those with special needs or students from disadvantaged backgrounds. However, public schools are required to serve all students.

I am a proud graduate of public education in Texas and I currently have two children in public education in Texas. I hope and pray the quality of education in Texas improves with an increase allotment from Texas. Please keep public tax dollars in public school and fund our public schools.

Ericka Castleberg

Self

Flower Mound, TX

I please fully fund public schools and keep tax dollars in public schools where they belong.

Cori Pratt
Self
Dallas, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Janet Kilgore, Retired teacher
TRS
Honey Grove, TX

Governor Abbott is to be informed that Texss voters are definitely against vouchers for private schools the upteenth time, but Abbott is deliberately going against the wishes of the majority of Texas voters. "Hear it in the back" We want no vouchers. Please fund public school fully and give teachers a decent living wage.

Kelly Moore
Self
Tomball, TX

As a parent and educator,I opposed publicly funded vouchers for private schools.

Linda Filgo
Self and children of tTexas
Waco, TX

No vouchers. The future of our state and vast majority of its citizens depends on strong public school funding. We rank low enough as it is; dont need further defunding.

Aubrey Thomas
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am a parent of 3 elementary school aged children and resident in San Antonio. I oppose HB 3 because I support our public schools. My family moved to Texas about 3 years ago for my job. We bought our home in NEISD because of the amazing public schools. Our children receive an amazing education. Vouchers will divert funding from our public schools and will not provide any public benefit. It is a wasteful use of taxpayer dollars. I was born and raised in Arizona; I have seen how vouchers impact the state budget and harm schools. I don't want that for our schools. Please do not pass this bill. We can do better for our children.

Carmen Lucero
Amarillo Christian Academy
Amarillo, TX

As an educator, mother, and founder of a microschool in Texas, I strongly support HB3 and the creation of Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). This bill will empower parents, expand educational opportunities, and ensure that every child has access to the best learning environment suited to their needs.

As a mother, I understand the challenge of finding the right educational fit. Every child is unique, yet many families are limited to a one-size-fits-all system that may not serve their needs. ESAs give parents the ability to choose the best educational setting—whether it be a public, private, charter, homeschool, or microschool—by allowing education funding to follow the student. This ensures that families, not bureaucracies, determine the best path for their child’s success.

As an educator, I have seen students struggle in traditional settings due to learning differences, social concerns, or lack of resources. HB3 would allow families to seek individualized instruction and innovative learning environments where students can thrive. Education is about more than test scores—it’s about fostering critical thinking, confidence, and a lifelong love of learning. With ESAs, families gain access to the tools, resources, and programs that make this possible.

As the founder of a microschool, I witness the growing demand for personalized learning. Many families seek small, values-based environments that prioritize their child’s academic and character development. However, financial constraints often prevent them from accessing these options. HB3 would remove barriers, making high-quality education available to more children regardless of socioeconomic background.

Beyond individual families, HB3 benefits Texas as a whole. When students find environments where they can excel, academic outcomes improve, communities strengthen, and our workforce becomes more competitive. Expanding educational choice fosters innovation, encouraging all schools—public and private—to improve and adapt. A well-educated population strengthens our state’s economy and future.

Critics argue that ESAs divert funds from public schools, but this is a misconception. Funding follows the child, ensuring that resources are used where they best serve students. Public schools remain a vital part of our system and will continue to receive funding while benefiting from increased educational competition and innovation.

HB3 is about empowering families and ensuring that every child, regardless of background, has access to an excellent education. I urge Texas lawmakers to pass this bill and make ESAs a reality for Texas families. Our children’s futures depend on it!

Leslie Currens self software developer
Austin, TX

Public dollars belong in Public schools. There are so many things wrong with this voucher scam it's hard to know where to begin. Taxpayer money should not go to parents who already are paying for private schools. Vouchers will not be enough to cover tuition at private schools for needy kids. Private schools have no accountability. Private schools can pick their students and reject or eject any student they want for any reason at any time. Parents already have a choice - many already send their kids to private schools, but they also have the choice to go to their public school. Private schools do not cover transportation for students, meals, books, supplies, etc. Public schools are not doing as well as they can because the Texas Legislature has not funded public schools adequately. If you want to improve public schools, don't take money away from them with a voucher scam. Instead, increase the per-pupil funding, and base it on enrollment, not average attendance. Schools still have to pay the teachers and facilities even if a student is out sick. Pay teachers more. Increase Public School funding. Do not bankrupt our state by sending public dollars to rich parents who don't need the money. Vote NO on the Private School Voucher scam.

Jacquelyn Muennink

Myself

Hondo, TX

As a Republican voter, the child of a public school teacher, and a parent of a public school student, I am writing to strongly oppose the push for school vouchers in Texas. While school choice has always existed for those with the means, I have been privileged with that ability and have continuously CHOSEN public schools. Our state should be making the same choice—to fully support and strengthen our public education system, rather than diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions with little accountability.

Parents have always had the ability to make the best educational choice for their children, whether that be public, private, charter, or homeschooling. That choice remains, but it should not come at the expense of public education. The state has an obligation to provide a strong public school system, and if parents decide that an alternative option better suits their needs, that is their right—but it should be funded by personal choice, not by taxpayer dollars intended for public schools.

Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students, including those with special needs, those from low-income families, and those in rural areas where private school options are either limited or nonexistent. Vouchers do not “create” school choice—they simply subsidize private schools at the expense of the public school system, which is already underfunded and struggling to retain quality educators. Rather than diverting resources, we should be investing in better teacher pay, smaller class sizes, and improved educational opportunities for all Texas children.

Public education is a cornerstone of our state’s success, and as someone who has directly benefited from and continues to support it, I urge you to stand against school vouchers. Texans deserve a state government that prioritizes strengthening public schools—not undermining them.

Thank you.

Connie Gooding

Self

Hutto, TX

Strongly opposed to HB3, essentially I see it as a supplemental income for families who have the financial means to select private schools for their children. There all ready exist school choice so this bill should not deceive people by pretending to provide something that is in place now.

Kelly Osang, No on HB3

Self

Dallas, TX

I oppose passage of HB3. This bill is NOT what a majority of Texans want. I . want public schools to be adequately funded. Parents currently have a choice. Parents can send their children to public schools, private schools and they can home school. We do not need legislation to allow these choices. Most private schools already offer scholarships to those in need.

Erin Sutka
self
McKinney, TX

1. HB3 harms public schools and students already crippled by underfunding.
Texas public schools, which serve over 5.4 million children, have not received a meaningful funding increase since 2019. Districts statewide are cutting critical programs, from pre-K and special education to arts and STEM electives, while teacher vacancies soar and classrooms overflow. Rural and underserved communities bear the brunt of this neglect. Now, HB3 seeks to drain billions more from public schools through vouchers, holding taxpayer dollars hostage to fund unaccountable private institutions. This will deepen the crisis, leaving students with fewer resources, fewer opportunities, and fewer pathways to success.
 2. Vouchers lack accountability and exacerbate inequity.
Private schools are not required to adhere to state academic standards, serve students with disabilities, or disclose how they use public funds. They can cherry-pick students, discriminate based on religion or identity, and operate without oversight. Meanwhile, public schools, which welcome every child, are legally obligated to meet strict accountability measures. Diverting funds to unregulated voucher programs subsidizes privilege for a few while robbing the majority of Texas children of the support they are owed.
 3. HB3 ignores real solutions to Texas' education crisis.
Instead of addressing the state's 4 billion shortfall in public school funding or raising teacher pay, $7,500 below the national average, this bill prioritizes privatization. Vouchers do not improve outcomes: studies show they worsen achievement gaps and fail to help most low-income families, who still cannot afford private tuition even with vouchers. Meanwhile, billions in taxpayer dollars remain held hostage in surplus state coffers while classrooms crumble.
 4. Public education is a Texas value and a public good.
Our schools unite communities, drive economic growth, and prepare future generations. HB3 fractures this foundation, pitting families against one another and abandoning the 94% of Texas students who rely on public education. Rural districts, already at risk of closure, cannot survive further cuts.
- Call to Action:
Reject HB3. Unlock the billions owed to public schools, pass equitable funding reforms, and invest in proven strategies: competitive teacher salaries, classroom resources, and early childhood education. Do not sacrifice Texas children to a voucher scheme that benefits the wealthy and gambles with our state's future.

Emy Lou Sawyer
Self
Austin, TX

I am urgently opposed to the voucher program and steadfastly stand behind a fully funded and high quality public education for all our children. I had this for myself and for my children and now want it for my grandchildren. Please open your eyes to reality.

Gina Arefi
Self
The Colony, TX

Taxpayers want fairness. We don't care where a kid goes to school, but if you're going to fund $10,000 of MY hard earned TEACHER salary for kids to choose private or homeschool, then you need your fund EVERY public school student $10,000. Of STATE money- not federal.
You are not playing fair and you are sacrificing students' education, teachers' salaries, and TRS. We can barely get by now working 2 jobs. Please. Be reasonable. Stand up to Abbott and everyone who's in his pocket. Do what's right for Texas citizens. All of them- not just the wealthy ones.

Claudia Ciunciusky Ciunciusky, Mrs
Self
Southlake, TX

We need to have the right to decide where I invest the money for my kids education. Yes to the voucher

Norma Laird
Self
Spicewood, TX

Once again I write to ask the legislature to stand by public schools and say no to vouchers. While vouchers are touted as “school choice” which I am favor of, in reality vouchers are a way to bankroll the rich friends in politics circles to give other rich folks another hand out on the back of a poorly funded public school system. Public schools serve all children, teach to every child’s level, teach ethics/character traits, offer opportunities for leadership, teach the harms of bullying, safe guard against aggressors, work with parents and communities, maintain emails and websites for all to stay current, evaluate, challenge, remediate and maintain ongoing assessments and teach curriculum! Teacher identify the abused, encouraging those who have lost hope, and celebrate every child’s success. There are not assistance helping out and most teacher’s classrooms are bursting at the seams. As a retired teacher, school volunteer and grandmother to elementary age grandchildren, I can speak to the width and breath of the demands on public schools. Vouchers will allow students a partial tuition to a private school which most public school children cannot make up the difference; vouchers will allow private schools to pick and choose who is accepted, leaving the most challenging student to the poorly funded public schools; vouchers will syphon off needed funds from public schools and give to private schools. School choice is a nice slogan, but that is not the reality of what the voucher system will do. It creates a weakened public school system, allows the rich to get yet another unwarranted break and leaves the children of Texas without the funds and schools they need to be successful. If you study the data on vouchers, you will find they are a colossal failure in every instance. Stand up for Texas children and say no to vouchers.

Phyllis Hendersom, Mrs
Self
Orange, TX

Stop the voucher payments. Support public school systems.

Christine Burns
Self - Banker
Frisco, TX

I believe that the passing of this legislation will financially undermine our public schools and not serve the children who need it the most. It will ultimately be used by parents who already send their children to private schools and not benefit ALL children. It would be extremely difficult for lower income parents to drive their children across town to a school that does not provide bus service and the vouchers would not cover the full costs of attending private schools. This is why I oppose this bill and believe that it is private school funding for the rich. Please vote against this bill for the good of all children and not just the wealthy ones. Please fight for our public schools and not against them.

Karen Laney Jones
Self
Denton, TX

Education savings accounts are giving public dollars to specific people in the guise of education. There are not enough open seats or available private schools for this to even be feasible. Public schools should be fully funded to allow the schools to provide the education and services students and families need.

Caitlin Corkill
self
Austin, TX

This bill will not help TX families who need the help, but rather continue to help those who don't. I strongly oppose this bill for TX

Leslie Ragland, Dr.

Self Veterinarian

Austin, TX

This bill will do nothing to help our public schools in Texas. It will just go to the families with the resources to already send their children to private schools. There are many rural counties where the choice of private schools is nothing or next to nothing so the schools in these counties will be robbed of needed funds and no children will be helped. It's time our Texas elected officials listened to the people of Texas and not the billionaires. We don't want this!!!

Celia Zamadics

Self

AUSTIN, TX

Why not put more money into public schools and make them better? Public schools do a great job and could do better with more money. Look at Finland.

On the other hand, vouchers do not improve student academic outcomes. Vouchers are more expensive than public schools.

Vouchers are a subsidy for students who already attend private schools. Do the research. Vouchers are a bad idea for our children.

Jodie Warren

Self- working as an EMT. Former school teacher

Leander, TX

I am a former public school teacher who had children in both private school and public schools. I believe it is critical that tax dollars stay in the public schools. There are many ways to attend schools of our choice and the voucher system does not facilitate lower income families attending private schools effectively. Statistics show that vouchers will severely hinder the ability for strong education for the vast majority of our students who want to be in the public schools. They can also attend charter schools or request to attend a higher rated school in their district.

I urge you to vote NO on school vouchers.

Robbie Ausley

self/retired office manager

Austin, TX

I have four children and ten grandchildren who have received excellent education and graduated from Texas public schools. Two of my daughters and one granddaughter now teach in Texas public schools. They and their students have suffered from lack of proper funding of public schools for the last few years. Please do not further erode Texas schools with public school vouchers by using public dollars for private education which will be further drain support of our public schools.

Noelle Mcaden

San Angelo Tax Payers

San Angelo, TX

San Angelo ISD has wreaked havoc with our tax dollars, I would absolutely prefer my tax dollars to go to a private school. My family is lower income, and my entire paycheck goes to pay for my two children to attend private school instead of have to drown in SAISD.

Debra Decker, Mrs

Teacher

San Angelo, TX

Public schools and teachers need more support. 33 years in the classroom and I will never see the incentive moneys claiming to help teachers. Education should be a team effort. Please don't make teachers jump through more hoops than we already have to.

Jorge Vázquez

Self and any reasonable person

Humble, TX

I strongly oppose this bill. This bill is wrong and it needs to be defeated. Our public school students will suffer because of this. The people of Texas do not want to subsidize rich people's private school for their kids. I'm voting NO!!

Harold Munoz

Self

San Angelo, TX

I'm against this bill. This will be terrible for our school system

Margaret Schuessler

"Self" I'm a teacher

Fort Worth, TX

To the Texas House Public Education Committee,

As a public school Dual Credit Instructor of the Federal and Texas Government, I urge you to protect and invest in Texas public education. House Bill 3 (HB 3) and similar voucher proposals threaten our schools by diverting critical public funds.

Public Education Drives Texas' Economy

The North Texas Chamber of Commerce and other business leaders stress that a strong public education system is vital for a skilled workforce and economic growth. Underfunding schools risks a talent shortage that could drive businesses elsewhere.

Vouchers Harm Public Schools

HB 3 would redirect billions from public schools to private institutions, weakening education, increasing public assistance reliance, and hurting businesses.

Texas Already Has School Choice

Parents can choose private schools, homeschooling, or online public options—without siphoning public funds. Vouchers only subsidize private education while public schools continue serving the majority, including high-needs students.

Private Schools Lack Accountability and Accessibility

Unlike public schools, private institutions can deny students based on disability, academics, or discipline. Most low-income families still cannot afford private education, even with vouchers.

Investing in Public Education Secures Texas' Future

Public education reduces crime, strengthens the workforce, and supports economic growth. Texas must:

Increase per-student funding

Raise teacher salaries

Expand special education and low-income student support

Reduce class sizes and improve facilities

Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students and are key to economic and educational equity. Fully funding them is essential to keeping Texas strong and competitive.

Very Respectfully,

Margaret Schuessler

Rachel Dark

Self

Austin, TX

I'm a constituent in Austin, Texas. I have 3 children in the public school system. Our community does not want vouchers. We want our public school system FULLY FUNDED. We want our TEACHERS to be PAID; they need raises, health insurance, and strong benefits. Expand our libraries and support our public education system.

Maria Quiroz

Self/retired

San Angelo, TX

This is a scam. It will make public schools be underfunded, more than they already are.

Candace Moran, Mrs

Self, Wife, Mother of 7, Home Educator

Cleburne, TX

To whom this may concern,

As a private citizen I oppose this bill for many reasons. My primary reason for opposing HB3 is because my husband and I do not parent with the government. Our covenant outweighs whatever government nonsense politicians are trying to force through in order to line pockets, create new governing bodies, and raise taxes.

Texas has been a haven for families who choose personal freedom over financial handouts. I urge you not to vote in favor HB3, or any other school choice scheme. This is government overreach into the private homes of free Texans. In Texas we already have school choice and do not require help from the government in any way.

Should you vote this into law, I will no longer support you or anyone else who votes in favor of this nonsense. I will back the candidates who have homeschooling families in mind. You were placed there by us, the citizens of the districts you are supposed to represent. Currently, as I see the situation, you are in breach of your obligations to the citizenry.

Larry Glazer

self

plano, TX

I fully support the public schools of Texas that need all the financial help they can get from the state. Private schools should provide their own funding and if the support is not sufficient they should not be open. Should there be any state support of private education it should be means tested focused on helping our the lowest 25% fellow citizens.

Rebecca Rodgers

Self

Arlington, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB3 and asking that you vote against this bill. Texans don't want this. The bill does not match the 2022 & 2024 proposition language on the ballot, nor does it match the language that was told to voters by now-elected representatives on the campaign trail. It has been edited and perverted into an unrecognizable monstrosity that is being debated today.

We continue to create new programs in an attempt to correct a failing system, instead of holding those in the failing system accountable. Education Saving Accounts and School Vouchers aren't the solution to the failing school system in Texas. When administrators and teachers are held fully accountable for actually teaching, then the education system will turn around. We continue to throw more and more money into education and testing and it never gets better, it gets worse. Why? Because teaching critical thinking is frowned upon. Instead, cookie-cutter education is promoted and it is creating a dumb society of people who don't critically think. So if you really want to see change, stop encouraging cookie-cutter education, and start encouraging students to critically think.

Instead of creating new programs, we need to repeal bad laws that are hurting our schools and redirect funding from programs that are causing a drain on the system and hurting our kids.

According to the TEA website, the total statewide recaptured revenue from 2014 to 2025 increased 174 percent. Going from 1.12 billion in 2014 to 3.07 billion in 2025. These numbers reflect inflation. The cost to educate each student has gone up between 3 to 5 fold (depending on which source you look at), standardized testing scores have done nothing but gone down, and drop-out rates have increased. Billions of dollars have been given to the system with no true accountability of those who continue to seek taxpayer's money. With ESA/Vouchers, if no other changes occur in funding, we will see an increase exponentially each year. It is estimated that by 2030, it will cost taxpayers close to 30 billion dollars and the continued broken education system that we have now will only continue, but simply under a new name, because no real changes to repeal bad legislation or to truly educate the child will have taken place.

This does nothing to help the children in Texas, quite possibly, it does more harm than the current system we have in place, due to the language of this bill.

Over and over, people have reached out to their Representatives, including all those who are sitting on the House Committee of Public Education to oppose this horrible bill, and you all respond with a deaf ear to the constituents of this great state. This is a horrid bill and we are asking you as a committee to stop this bill from going forward.

Document Resource from TEA's website: <https://tea.texas.gov/about-tea/government-relations-and-legal/government-relations/public-education-state-funding-transparency-may-2024.pdf>

Kelly Walker

self / marketing

Frisco, TX

Vouchers are not right for Texas. Vouchers undermine the public school finance system. Vouchers disadvantage rural and marginalized students. We do NOT want them, even under the guise of school choice.

Sonia Merubia

self

Austin, TX

I am against House Bill 3 because the state should not support private schools. Instead all that money should support public education.

Allison Kociuruba

self

Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts in Texas.

William Smith Jr

"self"

Houston, TX

As a constituent, I find it appalling that this deeply unnecessary and unpopular bill is not yet dead in committee. The need for vouchers for children to go to private schools at a rate woefully over the rate per student provided by the state now is also galling. If the state can afford this amount of funding per student for voucher, use those funds to INCREASE the amount per student for ALL public schools. Since the state's coffers are so full, why not increase the funding for public education by 50 or 100% per student. This would allow the INDEPENDENT school districts to hire more teachers, renovate schools, and provide for ALL students.

Renee Hester

Self - Data entry clerk for Mckinney independent school district

Mckinney, TX

Do not pass HB3 out of committee. Please focus on making our public schools whole instead. Fully fund them, so all Texans can benefit from a state of the art public education system. Funding should be tied to inflation, based upon enrollment, and any mandates should be fully funded in addition to basic allotment. Working for MISD . They just let job PE aides, library aides, instruction specialist, intervention specialist, paraprofessionals that schedule IEP meeting for campuses, closing program like Gifted and Talented because of transportation cost, closing campuses and turning them into other making SEC class size larger. It has to STOP. Please fund our schools or good staff are losing there jobs, and the schools are losing programs that make them great!

Allison Dearman

Aledo ISD/self/teacher

Aledo, TX

Please consider supporting public education in Texas. Vouchers take funding from already underfunded public schools. As a 3rd grade teacher, and parent to two girls in public education, I see the effects of the lack of funding daily. Programs have been cut, teachers have been let go, class sizes have increased, teachers haven't adequately been compensated for the rising cost of living, and so much more. Please consider the harmful effects that removing funding from public education will cause. Public education is educating our future. Please support the teachers and students in Texas and vote against vouchers!

Kelly Darby

Self, Public Affairs/Comms

Round Rock, TX

I oppose school vouchers/ESAs. My kids are in 9th and 6th grade, have grown up in Round Rock ISD. This bill could redirect as much $19 million away from our district and that is money we desperately need to fund our community schools. Please vote no and let's focus all this energy on building the best public schools in the nation. Sincerely, Kelly Darby

Christy Almond

N/a

Boerne, TX

I have two children in public schools in Boerne, Texas. My children are already in overcrowded classrooms and have lost countless amazing teachers, counselors, and administrators due to lack of funding for salaries and training. Vouchers will take even more money way away from our public schools and will not benefit the poorest citizens, but will be a coupon for parents already paying for private education. Not one person I know who lives in Texas wants this!! Look at the other states like Arizona and Ohio who have implemented vouchers - it's a mess and it doesn't work. We need to fully fund public schools now!! If Abbott thinks vouchers are such a great thing, why won't he let us vote on them? Put them on the ballot? He can't because he's been bought and paid for by billionaires and now he has to ram vouchers down Texans throats. Our tax money should not be funding private school education. Period.

Christy Almond

Edna Hernandez

Public educational leader

Brownsville, TX

We have been limited with funds to help get the right resources and support to ensure we provide a high quality instructional setting for ALL of our students. This bill will set back students even more than the pandemic. Our low socio economic students will suffer and we need to prepare them to be productive future citizens. This bill will hinder that.

Lana Rollans

Self

Norton, TX

I'm asking you to vote no to the voucher scam and fully fund our public schools.

Sara Barrera, Mrs

Self

Weslaco, TX

I strongly oppose this bill! As a Texas resident and retired educator, I know that this would be a misuse of my tax dollars. I do not want my tax dollars to go to private or parochial schools that are not held to the same standards as public schools. If people don't want their children going to public schools, then the burden of paying for their children's education is on them. Plenty of tax payers pay into the system that don't have children at all, so why should these parents think they are entitled to those tax dollars for their children's education? And why should they get more money than is even allotted for public school attendees? That's ludicrous! TRS has warned that this bill will render the teachers retirement system insolvent within a very short time. You have denied Texas teachers the right to participate in Social Security and now you are also planning to endanger our retirement with TRS too? That is not only irresponsible, it borders on criminal. Texas ranks almost last amongst the 50 states when it comes to teacher retirement benefits already. Now you think it's a good idea to make it worse? And it won't even help the wealthy people that much. Studies prove that in states that have voucher programs, the private schools simply increased their tuition by about the same amount that the voucher recipients received. This makes private schools even more unaffordable for the middle class families you claim this bill is meant to benefit. It's all a scam!

Richard Dye

Walnut Springs ISD

Walnut Springs, TX

No one in Bosque County wants vouchers. It will kill our smaller school districts. The problem isn't the vouchers themselves. It's the discrepancy between the $10000 for the voucher and the $6000 for the student who attends public school.

Sarah Hodgkinson

Self, doula

Richardson, TX

The worst thing we can do to our youth and this country is not lean into public education support. This is the opposite of that and will further ruin education in Texas. I wholeheartedly ask that you support public education.

Kenneth Shier, Mr.

Responsible parents

Corinth, TX

Dear Representatives,

You were elected to represent your constituents, Esther they're Republican or Democrat. The people of Texas do not want this to pass. If you're not sure about that, put it on a ballot and let us vote. Don't be swayed by the Austin mafia and the Texas oil barons that are throwing millions of dollars to get their way. Our schools haven't had an increase in per student spending since 2019.

Please tell me something that still costs the same as it did 6 years ago? And please give teachers a raise. Our students, the future of Texas and the USA deserve the best education from the best instructors. Let's ensure that they have this. Let's be the leader in education not an also ran.

Thank you for your time.

Kenny Shier

Elizabeth Vanderkolk

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers in Texas argue because they divert public funds from already under-resourced public schools, potentially weakening the public education system. Vouchers may not truly expand educational opportunities for low-income families and might exacerbate inequities, and that private schools accepting voucher students may lack adequate accountability and transparency. Additionally, I have concerns about potential constitutional issues, like the separation of church and state, if vouchers support religious private schools.

Sarah Sublett

Self, homeschool parent

Midlothian, TX

Hello, my name is Sarah Sublett. I am sending this email regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." This bill provides fake school choice and allows the government too much control over parents rights to educate their children how they see appropriate. I would like to ask Representative Buckley to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB
Thank you!

Deana Lawson

Self

CHINA SPRING, TX

While I believe this savings account sounds great, especially for families like mine who struggle with being able to afford to homeschool, I do not think it is a beneficial bill in terms of government reach. If this bill passes, what kind of stipulations or requirements are going to be put in place to be able to have one of these accounts? Homeschooling in Texas has allowed parents to teach the way they see fit without big brother looking over our shoulders. We have some of the most lax rules for homeschooling and it makes it so much easier on parents struggling to find the proper curriculum to teach. I feel like this bill will come with more rules that will allow the governor say what we can and cannot teach or how we teach, limiting what freedoms parents have currently.

I've homeschooled for some time now and I feel like it's been a great experience but if this bill passes, it will turn homeschooling into nothing more than a public school education, at home. Please do not allow a bill to pass that will enable the gov5more reach into how we, The Parents, teach our children. I do not support that. I understand that you cannot just give money away but there has to be a better way of supporting school choice and the homeschool communities.

Thank you,

Deana Lawson

Homeschool teacher

Rachel Moss

Self

Duncanville, TX

Hello, my name is Rachel Moss and I am a homeschool parent, public school parent, and public school teacher. I am submitting this comment regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday, March 11. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." As a public school parent I value enabling each child to obtain the best education possible and do not believe taking money away from public schools is the way to accomplish this. As a public school teacher I am incredibly worried about the impact the passage of this bill will have on ISDs across the state that are already financially hurting from the effects of inflation. I would like to you to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers, public schoolers, and educators in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you!

James Martin

Self

Benbrook, TX

This is an utterly terrible idea. The people pushing this are clueless about the damage they and the current President are doing to public education in both the short and long term. Not only will Texas strip away funding, but the loss of the DoE will further strip funds from needed schools. The Governor is so clueless, he even took time to post about how this bill will not hurt football, as if that is even close to the primary concern.

Jamie Dion, Mrs

Self

El Paso, TX

Homeschooling parents do not want any changes made to the freedoms we currently have. Texas is the best state for schooling freedom. We don't want any monetary or tax benefits either. Thank you.

TerrANCE Romano

TR Marketing

HOUSTON, TX

HB 2, HB 3 and the parental rights bills complement one another and foster a cooperative education system. When the government supports parents in making the best decisions for their children, all students benefit.

Emmanuel Perez

Self, Retail

Temple, TX

These proposed funds should be used to fund public schools instead. Vouchers would reduce funding as public schools are funded by student attendance. Public schools are also held accountable by TEA; private schools have no such agency for accountability. If you truly value education and the future of this state do not support this proposition. Public schools are the way forward.

Judy Kamen-McMillan, Mrs.

Self: Substitute Teacher

San Antonio, TX

Our esteemed President is doing away with the Department of Education and you, the governor and legislature of Texas have been refusing to properly fund ISDs. You claim the pot that will pay for vouchers (please call them what they are) is separate from the one that funds schools and pays teachers in one breath, and in the next you admit public schools may have to suffer a bit because that's not the case, but hey! parents will have choices, and won't everyone be happy then?! The fact is, states that have implemented voucher programs, like Arizona, are melting down their budgets, and in the case of AZ resulted in 2024 in a $1.4 billion budget shortfall, so it's nonsense that you won't be taking from Peter to pay Paul, and it could very well cause Texas to go broke, a situation that will be exacerbated when Trump's Education Department goes away and you are left holding the bag to implement special programs rather than the feds, who won't fund them any more.

Furthermore, this does NOT create school choice for anyone but the rich folks who are already sending their kids to private schools and who will be grateful to pay less thanks to your handout. Private schools don't need and usually don't accept children with special needs, behavioral, or academic/learning issues. They accept only the easiest kids to teach and work with, which will leave the former population stuck in severely underfunded public schools. Rural districts don't even have private schools as an option, which will take dollars away from their only schools and send them to the rich folks in urban areas. That's not "choice" for the vast majority of public school students.

Right now there are teaching positions that are vacant in our local public schools because they can't find dollars to pay certified people and subs are being asked to shoulder the load. Right now our local ISD (NEISD) is having to shut down neighborhood campuses and bus kids further away because of the budget shortfall, and this will only get worse.

Your alternative to vouchers is to look at the improvements you'd like to see in public schools and fund them! Create more magnet programs that will really give families choice. Create campuses for special needs and interests that will allow public dollars to stay in the hands of local ISDs and create REAL choice.

I say NO NO NO! to vouchers, and I know I'm in the majority. Do NOT pass this bill!

Zachariah Flores

Self

Houston, TX

It's a scam. It only benefits the rich. Don't defund public schools.

Bryan Freeman, Mr.

Self (Public School Teacher)

Mansfield, TX

I speak for myself, other public educators, students and parents across the Great State of Texas when I say we are firmly AGAINST this bill and any bill promoting the formation of ESAs or Vouchers using our taxpayer dollars. Public education is and has been severely underfunded on a per pupil basis for decades now and this bill would only further deteriorate the conditions inside our public schools. This bill allows the wealthy parents a way to get a discount on their CHOICE to attend private education while kids with disabilities or from certain backgrounds can still be denied from the school of their choosing. Not to mention the countless 1A and 2A schools in our rural areas where kids may have no private school within 50 miles of them...how does this in any way help them out. The $200 increase per pupil is a joke compared to inflation and a slap in the face when put alongside the $10000 coupon that will be given out for students to attend private school. And I ask you, what stops these private schools from blanketly increasing tuition to offset these vouchers?

I implore you to vote NO on this ludicrous bill and get back to serving the millions of kids in our public schools and paying teachers more to encourage them to stay in the classrooms

Anna Baker

Self

Houston, TX

We should always look to our past when going forward. We should be looking at how vouchers in states like Arizona and Florida have had a negative effect on students, public schools, and state budgets. Public dollars should stay in public schools and should not be used to subsidize private schools and vendors. Any voucher should have the same guidelines, oversight, and accountability that is required in public schools. Students are left vulnerable when the requirements are not the same for educational institutions. With students in mind, I oppose the vouchers being established in Texas.

Shelly Swafford

Self

Denton, TX

My name is Shelly Swafford, and I have devoted 25 years of service to public education in the state of Texas. In that time, I have witnessed firsthand the deep challenges faced by our schools, particularly in the areas of funding and equity. I am reaching out today to urge you to take action in prioritizing the distribution of public education funding and saying no to private education savings accounts. In short, the Texas Constitution does not guarantee funding for private schools. It does, specifically Article VII, focus on the establishment and maintenance of a system of free public schools. It places the responsibility on the state to provide adequate funding and support for public education, not private institutions.

I would like to remind you of key principles established in the Texas Constitution (Article VII, Sections 1-3):

-Free Public Education: All children in Texas are entitled to a free public education.

-State Responsibility: The state has the responsibility to ensure that an efficient system of education is established and maintained.

-Adequate Funding: The Texas Legislature must adequately fund public education to ensure that all students have access to quality schooling.

I implore you, please uphold the tenets of our Texas Constitution and do not allow our public education dollars to go to privatized education savings programs.

Jim Sewell

Self

Salado, TX

Oppose to this bill. It will hurt our school and not help intercity schools. When Abbott has to smear solid Republicans such as Rep. Shine to get his way, you know it is not good for Republican Party or Texas.

Please change your mind and let HB3 die. Thank you, Jim Sewell

Kresta Atkin

Self

Seguin, TX

ESAs hurt public education. They take tax payer money and give it to private, wealthy, campaign donors and private schools. Public schools are already competing all special education evaluations and IEP meetings for private schools without increased funding (federal proportionate share money cannot be used for evals/IEPs, only services). ESAs take even more money away from public education, which harms our most vulnerable populations as well as Texas in general. Parents already have "school choice" and do not need additional funds from tax payers.

The Republicans funded by Yass are hurting Texans and hurting the reputation of the GOP. Public education has not been adequately funded at all during the years of Abbott's reign. Because of the deficits and barriers the lack of funding created, he is now claiming public education does not work.

Fully fund ALL aspects of public schools and then determine if it works or not. Provide enough funding for adequate staff numbers, quality staff in all positions, adequate supplies and technology. Fund programs to help ensure students are safe, healthy, and ready to learn. Fully fund programs designed to provide early intervention. Create laws that limit frivolous lawsuits from parents and advocates.

Listen to Texans. We don't want vouchers. We don't want ESAs. We want Republicans that protect the middle class, not millionaires. We want Republicans that spend our tax dollars to improve our communities and state, not to improve the bank balance of their out of state donors.

Megan Vargas

Self, public school children

Waxahachie, TX

It is evident in the results of other states that a "voucher system" does not do what the bill writers claim it will do. Essentially we are giving money back to the rich. I've seen this described in so many ways, and as a public school teacher, I'd rather NOT get a raise if it is attached to such heinous claims and actions like this bill. The governor has been withholding money due to the students in this state for selfish reasons because of who donates to his and many other campaigns and politicians. We all know this. We all also know it's morally wrong. So do what is morally right, and vote against this affront to public education. Vote against keeping money from the students, from children. Texas ranks so embarrassingly low in the US, but it's not for a lack of good teachers, it's a lack of resources and enough teachers. Texas politicians have been destroying the public ed system for YEARS, with this purpose. Give us the funding without strings attached. Those funds belong to public education. I wonder why this is even a fight we have to fight. If you vote for this bill, you are denying millions of children a right they should have. I am born and raised Texan and have been proud of it my whole life until about 10 years ago. Our government is broken with personal agendas, outdated views, and immoral actions. Help us change this. VOTE NO. Please.

Christine Robinson

Self

West, TX

If you are going to give $10k of tax- payers money for students to attend private school, then you need to match that for students going to public schools. No student should be worth more to the State of Texas than another based on where they attend school.

Lori Jill Riggs

Self

Lufkin, TX

I strongly oppose the inclusion of vouchers in HB3. Public tax dollars should remain in public schools, which serve all students regardless of background, ability, or financial status. Vouchers divert critical funding from already underfunded public schools, benefiting private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability and inclusivity.

Rather than subsidizing private education, Texas should focus on strengthening public schools by investing in teachers, resources, and support for students with diverse needs. I urge legislators to prioritize the vast majority of Texas students by rejecting vouchers and keeping public funds in public schools.

Karen Lee

Self

Georgetown, TX

Funding the voucher system would essentially defund public education in Texas. Public education needs to be strengthened at the state level especially since the department of education is in such chaos on a national level with the Department of Education expected to be defined. The future is in your hands. A well educated citizenry will improve the lives of all Texans.

Lindsey Cummings

Public Schools

Austin, TX

I beg you to vote against vouchers in Texas. As a mother of two small children, one with special needs, who cannot afford private school even with vouchers, I value our public schools and NEED our public schools to be fully funded. Vouchers will it help the children or teachers. They will only serve to help the wealthy of this state and leave everyone else behind. Please vote AGAINST school vouchers.

Mandi LeBlanc

Self

Austin, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Jermeshia Roney

Self

Arlington, TX

I oppose education savings account/vouchers & support our neighborhood public schools through public

Schemya Andrews

Self

Mansfield, TX

I oppose education savings account/vouchers & support our neighborhood public schools through public

Madeline Kilburn

Self

austin, TX

This is an irresponsible misallocation of education funds. Moving funding away from public schools that already struggle to function with the minimal funding the state allots to schools that can legally discriminate the students they accept is a brain-drain misstep. A state's merit can be calculated by the way it provides for its children and by that measure, Texas's merit is draining rapidly.

Carie Hajek, Mrs

Self

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers only help families who are already using private education while our public schools are underfunded. The Texas Constitution provides for all citizens of Texas that means education opportunities for all socioeconomic classes. It's fair and good for all students to have funding. The voucher program is welfare for the wealthy and we won't have it! Vote against this bill!

Jacqueline Ayala, Mrs.

Los Fresnos CISD / Teacher

Los Fresnos, TX

"My name is Jacqueline Ayala, and I am a teacher in Los Fresnos ISD. I am extremely concerned about any version of a voucher program, and I am asking you to oppose HB 3 or any other voucher legislation."

Lindsay Patterson

Self

Terrell, TX

This is a terrible idea and does not support Texans education. Vote No on this. It only benefits the wealthy and takes from the public education system .

Judy Douglass

Self

Austin, TX

This bill will harm public schools by sending funding to private schools. If a person wants to send their child to a private school, they need to pay for it.

Laura Vasquez

Self/mother

Pasadena, TX

I am a homeschool mother and I do not support this bill. One of my reasons for educating my own children is because I don't want government involvement in any way, including financial.

Paul Nash

N/A

Lubbock, TX

Do not pass this bill. It robs Texas public schools of funds that were intended for them, not private schools. Every child has the choice to attend public schools. It is unconstitutional for these public funds to be spent on private schools who will not be held accountable for how they will be spent. Those who vote for this bill will not be reelected because they did not listen to the will of the Texas public.

Ana Newble

Families all over Texas.

SAN ANTONIO, TX

Under no circumstances is this good for ALL Texas children. This is undermining the public school education system. This will benefit only the wealthy and does nothing for the other 90% of Texas children. It's disgusting I even need to make this comment. No no no! The people of Texas don't want this.

William Whitmire

Self, professor

Conroe, TX

This prospect will undoubtedly hurt public schools in Texas and add to the already-disregarded lack of education in Texas.

Anne McClellan

Self

Coppell, TX

An education savings account program goes against the purpose of public education. Public education gives access to school and community to every child in the state of Texas. The education savings program is for a limited number of students and the schools that accept vouchers do not ensure a free and appropriate education for each child applying to their schools. They deny children and exclude children. Public schools need funding to meet the needs of their students better and public schools do not discriminate on who can come to school all are welcome and have a right to a free and appropriate education. If the state of Texas truly valued teachers and their service and impact, the education savings program would be a non issue. The state of Texas would be about the business of building up public schools and securing funding to meet the needs of students if they valued teachers and education.

Barbara Hankinson

Self

Plano, TX

I learned for the first time today that only 100,000 students will receive these vouchers. This represents roughly 2% of the number of students in Texas public schools, at the cost to the state of $1B. At the same time, simply being eligible does not guarantee admission to the private school of the parents' choosing- further, a majority of the elite private schools have tuitions that are far higher than $10,000. Although proponents of vouchers say that economically disadvantaged will be emphasized in the selection process, a large number of these individual families will not be able to come up with the remainder of the costs to allow their student to attend private school.

Many rural districts have no private schools; attendance would be limited to those schools near enough to the student's home to not require an unreasonable lost travel time daily. Many lower income families depend on school buses to get their student to class, whereas a large number of private schools either have no bus system or service would still be unavailable to a rural student due to bus routes not covering homes at increased distance from the school.

These are numerous reasons why HB 3 is not feasible nor advantageous for the school aged children of Texas.

Please vote "no" on HB 3.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Respectfully,

Barbara Hankinson

Kimberly Hawkins

Self

Port Neches, TX

I am a product of public school education in Texas and I am currently on year 25 of being a public school educator. I am a parent of two children. One who graduated from a public school and is currently set to graduate this year with a degree in music education where she hopes to obtain a job teaching music in public school. My other child is a junior in a public school. Passing this voucher bill will ultimately hurt our public school system and the students and teachers who walk the halls daily. Public school teachers spend countless hours working unpaid, and spend hundreds or thousands of their own money on their students to provide a great education for their students. The state only continues putting more demands on teachers with less support and funding to adequately support teachers to meet these demands. Funneling more money to private schools will leave teachers and students even more spread thin and more frustrated all while trying to still be successful. Programs like fine arts will be the first to be taken away when funds become less. For many children, my own included, these music, theater, and art programs are the only things that keep them alive and thriving in schools. Properly fund public schools, support public school students, and give teachers a living wage. This is how you will see ALL public schools thrive and succeed. This bill is a joke and a slap in the face to all public school students and staff. To attach a pay raise to a bill that will destroy the very thing I do for a living is wrong and shameful! I beg you to think about the thousands or millions of children who will be hurt from this bill. If I was given $10,000 toward my child's private school tuition, I like many millions of other Texas families, still could not afford to send my child to private school. A vote for this bill is a vote against teachers, a vote against children, and a vote crushing the future of our state.

Betty Milburn

Self/retired

Cedar Park, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Betty Milburn

P.S. Did you know that private schools can exclude students with disabilities? Or throw them out if they don't want to provide special education services??!

Rosa York
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose this farce of a bill. Vouchers have never worked and will never work for our great state!

Amanda Cuellar, Dr
Self, engineer
Austin, TX

This bill will only exacerbate inequities in education in our state and gut our public schools. Do not pass this bill.

Thomas McCracken
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Please do not support this legislation as I only want my tax dollars supporting public schools that are available to all. I have had two children graduate from public high school and my third (and final) school-age child is in a private school. I would not accept HB 3 funds on a moral basis, though my wife and I work extra jobs to support our private school choice. Yes, our choice—Texas already has school choice without HB 3. Again, please do not support this bill.

Shruti Patkar
self
Austin, TX

Please dont take MONEY away from already underfunded public schools. Not everyone can afford private schools and if you want Texas students to be competitive in the country and around the world, you cannot be taking funding away from public schools. Public schools is where most kids go to school in Texas and the impact of this bill will be across the state.

Debbie Gillespie
self
Frisco, TX

I am a conservative republican and former public school board trustee. I oppose HB3, vouchers & ESA's. The cost of the proposed programs accelerate very quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6 spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Fund public schools first! Vouchers are not conservative. Thank you for your time.

Karen Stokes
Self
Houston, TX

100% against HB3. Public education for the public. Put the money into public education. No vouchers.

Linda Prem
Self
Keller, TX

I do not support a school voucher program. We must increase spending on public education in texas for every child regardless of where they live Religion or race. This is the future of our country.

Sarah Bay

Ingram Elementary School and Ingram ISD
Fredericksburg, TX

Parents already have school choice. This bill is to provide for the parents that already send their students to private schools. Meanwhile, you will take money away from the public system. Texas already ranks in the bottom 10 in per-student public education funding. Lawmakers should focus on improving the funding disparities in our current system before implementing a new, private system. If a voucher is passed, our district will lose $532,915, meaning we would have to cut nine teachers, raising the student teacher ratio by almost 6%. The private schools are NOT teaching the standards that you are wanting. Students come to the public school extremely FAR behind. This is because the private schools have chosen to do this. They have plenty of funding. Our staff members meet students where they are and work hard to grow everyone. We have already lost staff members because funds have been withheld from the public setting. What a shame for kids?! Please do not vote for the voucher.

Andrea Moss

Self

Spring, TX

Please vote no for Texas school vouchers. I am writing to express my concerns regarding Senate Bill 2 and its proposed expansion of the education savings account (ESA) program. While I recognize the desire to improve educational opportunities for all Texas students, I firmly believe that vouchers are not the solution to the challenges our education system faces. Vouchers will not address the root issues in our schools; instead, they will divert much-needed resources away from public education and exacerbate existing inequalities. Public schools serve the majority of Texas students, including those with diverse needs, abilities, and socioeconomic backgrounds. By redirecting funds to private institutions, we risk creating a system that prioritizes a select few while leaving the majority with fewer resources.

Alicia Sands

Self-Educator

Houston, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a Texan, 4th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

David Villegas

Self

N Richlnd Hls, TX

I pay taxes for many things in Texas. My taxes should go to help the public schools.
Good schools help promote good neighborhoods.
No Vouchers.

Chad Dunlap

self

Murphy, TX

Please vote no to school vouchers. This bill will not properly address education in Texas. Private schools will be incentivized to raise rates and public schools will suffer much needed funding, which has been static since 2019. For the good of the future generations in Texas, please VOTE NO to this law that will harm our state's children and schools.

Paige Rios

Self

Argyle, TX

Please vote NO on HB3 I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy!

Jeri Saper, mrs
Self - Business Owner
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill because it provides funding to a minority of families at the expense of those who cannot afford or do not have the opportunity to have their children in private schools. Public schools are already severely underfunded, and any additional K-12 education funds should go to public schools. Private schools are comparatively unregulated and are not subject to the same testing and standards required of public schools. Neighborhood public schools accept all students, but private schools can deny admission or educational services to any student, including students with disabilities, among others. Use of tax dollars should come with standards and not allow cherry picking of the easiest students to teach. Doing so would leave only the most challenging students in public schools, at a reduction of funding for the public schools (as the daily census would fall if students moved into private schools).

Adrian Wilson, Mrs
Self - social worker
Flower Mound, TX

As a parent of 2 children in the public schools I oppose HB 3. Public Schools need more funding not parents with kids who already attend private school.

Katie Howell
Self
Houston, TX

I homeschool and I am opposed to this bill.

Amy Williamson
Self/stay at home mother
Austin, TX

I firmly oppose this bill. Our public schools aren't failing, they're underfunded and teachers are underpaid. School vouchers will primarily benefit the wealthy. Keep the funding in Texas public schools where it belongs!

Megan Eunson
self
Houston, TX

This is another attempt to take funds for public schools and funnel them to rich donors This is not what Texans want for our children. Please vote against this measure for the betterment of our children.

Brandon Waits
Self-engineer
Willow Park, TX

Please do not let this bill pass. I plan on sending my children to public schools and need the funds to go into those schools!
Taxpayers should not have to fund the wealthiest members of our community.

Jean Treider
Self
Houston, TX

A public hearing at the Texas Capitol is happening on the school voucher bill (HB 3). Use the link below to ensure your opposition is on record. Not a drill.

Here's what I said:

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I am a native Texan and a product of public education. I am a retired public school special ed teacher and educational diagnostician. I ask you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future. Texas has an opportunity and moral imperative to provide rich, quality education to all our children.

John Oliverio, Mr.
Self
Pearland, TX

School vouchers simply don't work. They have been used in other states and the results show lower student achievement and often misuse of funds. The area most affected is math.

Vouchers also have a devastating affect on rural areas and take away more resources for schools in rural areas. Transportation is another area that is affected.

Research in Louisiana and Indiana have shown that the voucher programs do more harm than good.

Also private schools have no accountability and use the money on for the wealthy and hurt the poor and children with disabilities.

Now is the time to help public schools and invest in all children, not just the rich kids.

Vanessa Goldman
Self
Austin, TX

Public education is accessible to everyone! Vouchers will not serve our community or help our teachers!

Sarah Finley
Self
Austin, TX

I strongly OPPOSE Hb3 because it will reduce funding from vital public schools in Texas- many rural Texas counties with limited resources will be hit the hardest by this bill- and will go into the pockets of wealthy families who were already planning to send their kids to private schools and have more than enough resources to pay for that. This bill is anti-choice because it limits options, reduces the quality of education for Texas children, and only benefits wealthy families. We will all feel the negative impact of this bill for multiple generations if we let it pass.

I personally don't have children, and have been paying property taxes in affluent central Austin zip codes for almost 20 years. I'm happy to do this because it's in my personal best interest to live in a community where every child is given the opportunity to thrive and become valuable, contributing members to our society. Quality public education for everyone is a critical ingredient of a healthy, functioning society.

Honey Gray

Self - retired educator, parent, grandparent

Allen, TX

Please consider tax breaks for parents who want to send their children to private schools rather than voting on this unfair voucher scam! Not all children would be eligible for vouchers and public schools and communities will most likely see detrimental impacts! No yo vouchers!!

Mandie Sanchez

Self

Round Rock, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a Texan, 4th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Callie Strickland

Self, school psychology intern Del Valle ISD

Austin, TX

I vehemently oppose this bill. Pulling money from public schools will have devastating impacts on Texas children. Texas needs to be pouring funds into public schools to support teachers, staff, students, and families.

Jill Kersh

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Public funds belong in public schools. Public funds should not go to private schools that have zero accountability and can choose the students they admit. I do not support education savings accounts or school vouchers in any form. Parents already have the choice of how they would like to educate their children.

Public funds should not be funneled into private schools in any way.

I vote for strong public schools!

Michael Henson

Self - Power Generation executive

HOUSTON, TX

I am opposed to this bill for school vouchers. It will rob our already-underfunded public school system from resources it needs to educate the future leaders of our state. Public schools are a bedrock of communities across the state - providing education, enrichment, employment, and civic pride.

Stephanie Kouba

Self - parent of a children enrolled in Grapevine - Colleyville

Grapevine, TX

Please do not take away the already limited resources in our public schools. We need good, accessible education in order for our state to thrive! Vouchers will take away this money and give it to schools most of the Texas population ca not afford anyway. This will be a disaster. And voters will remember who did this when public schools fall in quality and housing prices fall as a result.

Angela Liss

Self

Howe, TX

I IMPLORE you to vote NO to HB3 and the establishment of vouchers/ESA program. It does not represent the best for the overwhelming majority of our state's students. I am a public school educator of 31 years and fine arts lead in our district and the far reaching effects of this bill will have detrimental effects on the full well-rounded education of our students. VOTE NO TO VOUCHERS!

Jessica Champion

Self

Buda, TX

I oppose vouchers. Public school is the backbone of Texas. We cannot move forward with this private school scam!

Angela Jones

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Sending kids to private school is a personal CHOICE that shouldn't burden Texas' taxpayers. I wouldn't want someone else to pay for any of my personal choices so why should we have to pay for theirs?

Christine Hargrove-Carter

A Concerend Texas citizen

Manchaca, TX

Please vote against a voucher system for Texas schools. They are biased and will only help wealthy Texans who can already afford private schools if they want. We need to properly fund our public schools to make the system fair for ALL Texans. Vouchers will only lower our educational standards for the state.

Debra Self

Self

San Antonio, TX

There are very limited, private schools and charter schools in low income places. Transportation would be a problem, coming up with the extra money would be a problem. This is only a tax break for the rich and does not help those in marginalized communities and they should be your top priority

Suzanne Beaulieu

Self. Education Professional

Spring, TX

This bill, while seeking to give opportunities to some students, leaves many out. As a legislators you must vote NO on HB3. We can do better for ALL students and not just some.

Karla Mcginniss

Self

The Woodlands, TX

Please reconsider the school voucher bill. This will only benefit a small number of people and hurt our public schools. Nobody wants this!

Victoria Limon

Self / Teacher

Buda, TX

This would cripple our public school system and the students they serve

Tanarosa Vasquez, Mrs.

Self/Educator

Lubbock, TX

As an educator in a Texas school, I just don't want anything taken away from my pay. We don't get paid enough as it is. If people want to send their children to a private school they should pay for it.

Shelby Whitfield

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Fund public schools fully. Redistributing public funds to parents for private school reduces school choice. My family has attended both public and private schools and our society depends on excellent public schools. Any ESA/voucher program will destroy the public education system and, in the long term, destroy the Texas economy through brain drain.

Teresa Baumann

Self

Flower mound, TX

I am against this bill and any bill that takes funds away from our public schools

Tina Fairweather

Self

Leander, TX

I am a product of Texas public schools, have taught in a Texas public school, and have two children who currently attend Texas public schools. I am strongly opposed to the establishment of an education savings account program for many reasons. Both of my children receive 504 accommodations, and I am deeply concerned about the lack of provisions for students receiving special education services should we move forward with the education savings program, which will effectively steal money from poorer students in order to give wealthier families a discount on their private school education because the amount allotted will not be enough for poor students to afford private school tuition. As funding is pulled from public schools, our most vulnerable students will lose funding for much-needed services and resources. I'm also concerned about our tax dollars funding private religious schools. I oppose giving government funding to schools that aren't held accountable to the same standards public schools must uphold. Students who live in rural areas may not even have access to private schools within a reasonable distance from their homes. Public schools serve all students who choose to use them, but private schools are able to pick and choose students, which would effectively discriminate against vulnerable students who have higher support needs. Public school, like many services provided for with tax money, serve the good of our entire community, regardless of whether individual people and families utilize public schools. Public schools that are struggling need more funding, not less; the withholding of available funds by our Texas state politicians is unethical in the face of inflation. It seems our politicians want to withhold and even pull funding from public schools and then turn around and say that they are failing when they themselves have contributed to the problem. Everyone benefits from an educated populace, whether or not they personally attend public schools. If we move forward with the education savings account program, funding will be taken from public schools, and our most vulnerable students and families will suffer most, followed by everyone else in our society that benefits from a well-educated population.

Sarah B Flisowski

Self

Brenham, TX

Money for public education should stay in public education. Pay teachers more and help our schools.

camila villarreal self and healthcare
Denton, TX

i oppose school vouchers. I ask this bill not be supported.

Greg Cox
Self - insurance
Lorena, TX

I oppose public funds going to private and home schools.

Julie Jensen
Self
Katy, TX

I oppose HB3. Public funding should stay in public schools, not go to Private schools. Use the money to fix the public education system where it is lacking in special education services or any place deemed necessary. Diverting the funds to “private schools” is not going to offer a true fix to the problem where public schools are lacking. It is a bandaid. Focus where this state has, on public schools. ESAs/Vouchers currently do not have a cap on $ amount a family earns to be eligible for the program, only tiers. If this bill was for the financially disadvantaged, as has been mentioned multiple times during the hearing, there would be a cap so only those that financially need the money receive it. This bill assumes parents of Special education children know all of their rights for their child and as a parent. That is a huge assumption. By giving the parent the choice, the current bill does not protect the child needing special education with the same laws they are afforded in public education. I do not support vouchers or ESAs or any program like it for the state of Texas.

Jennifer Oliverio
Self - Real Estate Development & Construction
PEARLAND, TX

I am adamantly opposed to this bill because it is state funded privatization of education in Texas. I’m a native Texan and have voted on both sides of the partisan spectrum over the years. This is a bipartisan issue. My daughter is dyslexic and even testified on behalf of publicly funded dyslexia education a few years ago. You may remember speaking to her. Private schools don’t provide the type of specific instruction that was required to bring her from a struggling reader who couldn’t name her letters in First Grade to a straight A student in the most difficult classes offered at her Junior High. She is the perfect case study for everything public education can be. Taking our community’s tax dollars and reallocating to private schools means less funding for public schools. This means students like my daughter will continue to struggle. They won’t have the opportunity for the academic success she has had. It’s heartbreaking that all students wouldn’t have that opportunity.

Who benefits from this legislation?

80% of adults in prison are dyslexic. With fewer resources for students, we will have more students who disengage from school, becoming discouraged and eventually underemployed. While those who financially benefit from an increase in our state’s prison population may relish this bill, it’s a long-term mistake for our state and its citizens.

Well-funded, quality public education lifts us all. It provides the opportunity for people to become the architects, builders, service professionals, and public servants that are the fabric of our communities. This bill robs our local areas of tax dollars, defunds our public schools, and causes long term damage to our community fabric.

Texas continues to fall in national education rankings. We claim to have such a wonderful, wealthy state, but we are slipping to lower and lower levels of academic success compared to nearly every other state. We know that in states where programs have been implemented fall further behind in academics - especially in Math. Robbing from the poor to give discounts to the wealthy will only have us slipping further behind. It’s not sustainable economically and it’s wrong morally. Please vote no on this bill.

Signed,
A Texan mom

Elizabeth Stearns

Self

Lakeway, TX

To our elected representatives it may concern, please, please, please do not vote in support of HB 3. Public dollars should stay in our severely underfunded public schools. Parents have the choice to send their children to private schools, but they should pay for that privilege after doing their civic duty and fully funding public schools for the betterment of our local school communities and the world at large into which those kids will graduate. I do not want my tax dollars going to support an educational business whether for profit or non-profit, for that is what all the private schools ultimately are. Many have little regulatory oversight and can discriminate against special education students. Public tax dollars should also not fund private religious institutions to the financial detriment of public schools where students of all faiths are welcome and accepted. Most Texans see HB 3 as a gift for educational vendors who will capitalize on harvesting tax dollars to fund their private educational product. Public schools should not be regarded as something competing with a profit generating business, but rather as a public service designed to give our students a future that will benefit all of Texas.

Erin Demse

Self

Austin, TX

We should not be taking public money and subsidizing private school tuition for those who can already afford it. This is a blatant transfer of wealth from the poor to the wealthy as a due paid by Gov Abbott to his even more wealthy donors. It is a shame that he doesn't value public education and chooses the donor class over Texas children and the future of the state budget.

Melissa Fisseler

AISD

Austin, TX

My name is Melissa Fisseler and I am a parent and a teacher in the Austin Independent School District. I am extremely concerned about any version of a voucher program, and I am asking you to oppose HB 3 or any other voucher legislation. I have 2 children in AISD schools. I only became a teacher because the school could not compensate teachers enough to hire and fill positions. I fear I will need to uproot my family and leave Texas for better school systems. I was born and raised in Texas and my children are 6th generation Texans. I do not want to see Texas fail so many future generations. Education needs to be public and needs to be the best it can be.

Maria Aguilar

self

Hidalgo, TX

I oppose HB! Patents ready have the freedom of school choice. A voucher would mostly benefit parents that already send their students to private school. It would also take away much needed funding for public schools.

Kenneth Fiduk

Self (Software Engineer)

Austin, TX

School vouchers do not work. They have not worked in other states, they will not work for Texas. They lower performance of schoolchildren across the board - public, private, charter - and do nothing but further funnel public money to the oligarchs running rampant in our state and federal governments.

It hurts all Texan children and enriches Abbott's buddies. It is vile, abhorrent, and immoral no matter your beliefs.

Jennifer Dickison

Self, public school educator

Hockley, TX

I do not agree with school choice and vouchers because it will hurt public schools. We are already lacking in funding as is.

Ashley Fryer
Self, publicist
Austin, TX

This is wrong for TX public schools. As a Mom of 2 kids in public school, which is already grossly underfunded, to take more money away from schools and teachers throughout the state to hand more money to private schools is unethical and disastrous for the future of our state. Vouchers will only cause private schools to raise tuition so that the same families trying to gain access to private schools will once again be shut out. There is no upside to this for any student, of a private or public school.

Amy Pool
Self
Austin, TX

Our public schools need more and not less. This will strip much needed funds for public schools that majority of Texans need. We need to improve school system and teacher support not remove money from the system. Research shows that if you take money away from schools there will be a decrease in quality. This will only open the door for abuse. Capitalism doesn't belong in the school system. Governments providing quality public education should be a bedrock for all of our kids no matter their parents ability to pay for a different school. It is not just about saying these kids can choose somewhere else. These kids will have to find transportation which is not easy for all families which will mean these kids will have lower quality schools because money has been stripped to fun savings account. Use our resources to be more thoughtful on improving schooling for all Texan children and not swinging the pendulum further from those who need it most. I'm speaking as a parent who can afford sending my kids to private schools but do not. I support narrowing the gap between what public schools offer children based on their neighborhoods. I do not support the savings account program.

Hannah Guidry
self
Austin, TX

I am pro the voucher program. I think it could be a great opportunity for the education system to reevaluate how it currently operates as well as bring about more options for alternative choices. I have 4 children all who have attended private, charter and public schools and done homeschool at different times. I have also had to hire private tutors to educate my kids in subjects using a scientifically based method of learning that isn't offered in the public school. I think vouchers can bring some healthy competition to the table and with it a start to fixing some things that have long needed to be addressed. I think the current reaction and fears of this possible change is the evidence of an indoctrinated people too afraid to do exactly what education is meant to do, create life long lovers of learning who are able to think outside the box.

Marida Salinas, School counselor
Self
San Antonio, TX

As a 22-year veteran public school educator, I have seen the positive impact that public schools have on the lives of our students, and the positive impacts of public schools in their communities. Neighborhood schools are essential because they are open to everyone regardless of socio-economic status, disability, or familial support system. I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. This program will siphon off funds from already underfunded schools Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.”

Jessica Jenkins
Self & household
Georgetown, TX

Please vote NO on establishing school vouchers! This will not be a benefit for the most needy citizens of Texas. Prioritize funding our public schools and special Ed programs

Dewi Smith, Ms.

Self

Austin, TX

Spending public dollars normally involves more transparency and accountability than the TBD use of vouchers provide. How will the performance of these schools be tracked and shared? I am commenting against this bill.

Erika Vela

Banquete ISD

Odem, TX

I oppose HB3

Dawn Lawrence

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3 because I think it will leave th most vulnerable children in our state out. Private schools will not be required to accept certain students, which will most certainly leave some children behind. The bill also does not impose any admission or enrollment requirements on the private schools that choose to participate in the program, so they wouldn't face any state pressure to adjust their costs and ensure more diversity or accept students from different faith traditions. Additionally, this bill hurts rural districts that don't have access to private schools and I believe it would continue to leave low-income children behind. I strongly believe we should be building up and putting funding into making our Public Schools better.

Joshua Green

Self

Terrell, TX

Taking money away from schools to reward the wealthy while ensuring that the poor receive even worse education is unconscionable and cruel. Vote no on school vouchers.

Amy Lott

Myself -teacher 33 yrs!!

Austin, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a schoolteacher for 33 years, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Holly Scarbrough

Self

Prosper, TX

Vote against HB3. Public school educators, like myself, do NOT support this bill and will rise up and vote against any who vote for it.

Matt Cannon

Self, business owner

Austin, TX

I am adamantly against school vouchers. Private schools are not required to accept kids with any type of disabilities, including ADHD or Autism spectrum disorders. These kids require a robust and well-funded public school system that will support them, not private schools funded with taxpayer money that may reject them. This is a personal issue for my family, and I will forever oppose any of my state political representatives that support this bill.

Jeremy Mendoza
Macedonian Christian Academy
Mission, TX

Our education system needs to reflect one that is competitive on the global scale as well as efficient and the best way to do that is to allow parents to support the school of their choice where their voice can be heard and their input felt. Our current system has let us down even after all the money that has been poured into it, nothing has changed. It's time to change and make a difference!!

Edith Rogat
Self
Austin, TX

State money should be going to build the best public schools possible. This bill destroys public education — for what, a give away to rich people in private schools. I can't fathom spending more money per child on vouchers with no accountability than public schools.

Cindy Burlin
Sslg
Fort Worth, TX

The goal of public education is to ensure that all of our children have the knowledge and skills they will need to vote, maintain, lead and better our society when they reach maturity. This bill hurts us as a society by widening the gap between those who can afford and those who cannot. We all see it. Those who can afford will continue to have more opportunities as we take away opportunities from those who cannot. Public funds belong in public schools so that all benefit. This is wrong and will eventually hurt all of us.

Stephanie Vyborny
self
Austin, TX

A vote for vouchers is a vote against young Texans. Public funds should be used to fund public schools, NOT private schools. The majority of small, rural communities don't have a private school option. They need their public schools fully funded! Further, similar programs in other states have been proven to lead to failure for public education in those states. Let's learn from their examples and not make the same mistakes. This will prove disastrous for young Texans. Please help our kids - no vouchers!

Amanda Goodrich
Self - Epidemiologist
Austin, TX

School vouchers are taxpayer-funded subsidies given to private schools and vendors without transparency and accountability for results. Private schools are not required to accept all students nor assess alignment to state curriculum to track student progress. Private schools do not have reporting or accountability for the use of taxpayer funds or student performance. Private schools do not have to provide special education services for students with learning differences or disabilities.

For these reasons, I oppose this bill.

Sharron Mckelvey, Ms.

Self retired

Houston, TX

I am interested in the poor (low-income students as well as the mid-level students getting advantage of the school voucher programs. I think well off parents should not get the advantage of school voucher programs because many of them already utilize and can afford private school programs. I am very much against ignoring poverty level students and think students should possibly be served from the poverty level upwards toward middle class to ensure everyone can be included and yet all the poor kids are covered 100%. I think people should not milk the system but only as far as education. Needs or unmet needs should be provided, but I don't think a poor family just enlists the use of ALL government programs. I've seen chip members buying such high priced grocery items with snap, food stamps before pulling out their cell phone getting into a Lexus and driving off. Some use any and every program without caring if they need it or not while others seem to be penniless and qualify for nothing. Maybe if receipts were recorded, there'd be less fraud!

Janae Wittner

Self

Industry, TX

No to vouchers! This will not help private schools or public schools. It is not in the best interest of the children of Texas. We already have school choice. Private school, public school, charter school, or home school. Texas should not give more per student for students in private schools than the students that attend public schools. This sends the message that Texas cares more about private school students than public school students. Do what is right not what is republican or democrat but what is truly BEST for the children of Texas. Forget the people bribing you and do the RIGHT thing for the students of Texas.

Jillian DeLaTorre Copeland

Self, Mother of 4 children in Austin ISD

Austin, TX

We DO NOT want your voucher program in Texas! This does not help anyone but those who can already pay for private schools - it's not school choice, it's the school's choice! NO to HB3

Jessica Erby

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Public schools are the bedrock of our communities, providing essential services like busing, special education, and meals for hungry children. They already struggle to meet the complex needs of all students, especially those with extensive special needs. Diverting more funds per child to non-public schools, while allowing them to cherry-pick students, is a deliberate attack on public education. It stretches our schools to the breaking point, defunds teacher retirement, and ultimately robs all children of the quality education they deserve.

Vivian Wright, Ms.

I am representing myself. I am a retired Educational Diagnostician/Special Educator.

Burleson, TX

Please vote against the school voucher program. Private schools do not routinely meet the needs of students with disabilities. They are not required to accept special needs children or follow a child's IEP or 504 accommodations. Public schools are required by Federal law to educate special needs children. All children in Texas should have access to the best education possible. School vouchers do not accomplish this. Thank you for taking the time to read my opinion.

Miranda Hernandez

Self

Corpus Christi, TX

As a parent of a student who attends public school, school vouchers will only continue to hurt the public school system. With the lack of funding that the state already provides the public school districts and to continue to take tax payers money and give it to private schools, who make more than most of these public schools get annually from the state, is a disgrace to the free public school system. We should be putting tax payer money back into our school communities that help build members of society rather than taking from the middle class and once again giving it to the upper class who do not need any extra support from tax payers. We need to support public schools in order to support the future of our state.

Karen Olsson

self, writer

Austin, TX

Vouchers will cost a ton without doing anything for the bulk of Texas's 5.5 million public school students -- the future of this state. Texas public schools are inadequately funded and have been for a while. Districts are squeezed and many teachers can't afford to live in the cities where they teach. This is going to have a huge negative impact on our economy and on our future quality of life. Please raise the basic allotment to fund schools in line with the national average. Don't fund vouchers, help our public schools and the people who work in them.

Molly Roy

Self

Austin, TX

As a voter, an educator, and a parent of a student in Texas public school, I STRONGLY OPPOSE HB3

John Rodriquez

Self- High school student

Brenham, TX

Please say NO to the vouchers. I am a high school student with plans to become a high school biology teacher after college. These vouchers are making me reconsider this decision and making me question the future of public education. I come from a long line of educators in my family so this is very important to me. Instead, please advocate for higher student allotment and teacher raises!

Bob Bentley

Self CEO Insurance Agency

Amarillo, TX

I believe it will cripple our public school system — totally believe very misplaced idea that Governor Abbott & Lt. Governor Patrick are promoting

Mark Strauss, Mr

Self

Brenham, TX

It looks like Govenor Abbott has done all he can to pass the school vouchers. I wish he had put as much energy and time into promoting public education as he has in trying to make it look bad. I went to a private school. I loved my school, but it was a choice my parents made and, as a result, they chose to pay tuition. They had the same opportunity to send me for a free education—it was their choice and they knew they would pay. It makes me sick to think Govenor Abbott spent much of his time campaigning against other Republicans who chose to fight for public schools and vote against school vouchers. I am hoping the House and Senate will do the right thing for Texas and vote against vouchers and for public education.

Miranda Royal

Self

Rosenberg, TX

“Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 8th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.”

rachael hull

Self

Liberty hill, TX

Please support and fully fund public schools. Keep my tax dollars for public education.

Patti Edelman

Self

Austin, TX

I do NOT support the use of any public going to private schools in the form of vouchers or saving accounts. We have not funded public schools adequately for many years and it makes no sense to give any private or for profit schools a nickel. If a parent decides to enroll a child outside the public school system, it should be their choice and their dollars. To rob the public schools of funding in order to work towards privatizing all schools is unpatriotic. Lastly, private schools are not required to enroll all students, thereby creating a two tier for educating Texas students. I have been on record as being against this bad idea since the earliest attempt to privatize public schools and I am even more against it now. Our students, parents, employers, educators and the state deserve better.

Abraham Niman

Self

Dallas, TX

Please support school choice!!

Amanda Padilla

Self - Occupation: Performance Management

Austin, TX

I am firmly opposed to school vouchers. They will subsidize wealthy and urban parents unfairly and will siphon much needed funding away from public schools. Furthermore Texas will have less ability to manage private school resources such as special needs programs and the quality of such may drop significantly. I want my tax dollars to go toward supporting students in disadvantaged areas, and paying teachers appropriate salaries. I do not want my tax dollars going toward private schools, or the companies running them. I am concerned if this bill passes, we will see an increase in predatory private schools designed solely to benefit financially from the voucher programs without regard to student welfare. Texas already HAS a choice on where to send their children to school. Please do not pass HB 3 - A concerned parent and citizen.

Tziporah Pam Self/Agudah
dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Patricia Plowman
Self
Lubbock, TX

As a retired Texas public school teacher and a grandparent to children currently attending our state's public schools, I am deeply concerned about any efforts to implement a school voucher program. I strongly urge you to oppose any policies that divert public education funding to private institutions at the expense of our public schools.

For decades, I dedicated my career to educating Texas children, and I have seen firsthand how vital public schools are to our communities. Public schools welcome all students—regardless of income, ability, or background—while private schools can pick and choose whom they accept. Vouchers would take much-needed taxpayer dollars away from public schools, further straining resources for students who rely on them the most, especially in rural and low-income areas.

Texas public schools are already facing challenges, including teacher shortages, outdated materials, and inadequate funding. Instead of funneling public money into private schools that are not held to the same standards of accountability, we should be investing in our teachers, classrooms, and students. My grandchildren, and millions of other Texas children, deserve a well-funded, high-quality education system that provides them with the tools they need to succeed.

I have dedicated my life to education, and I cannot stand by while policies threaten the future of public schools. I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by opposing school voucher programs and instead advocating for stronger investments in our public education system.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Amanda Alberson
Self
La Porte, TX

School vouchers will hurt already under funded public schools. A large majority of the children will not have the option or the ability to attend a private school. Children with learning disabilities or behavior difficulties will not be able to partake in "school choice" as the schools can and will choose not to admit them. Children living in small rural areas will not be able to choose a school because there will not be one within their area.

This should be a public vote, not a insistence shoved into place by Gov. Abbott.

Thank you for your time.

Rhonda Zaiontz
Self / Secular Houston
Houston, TX

I urge you to vote against this bill. Vouchers will not be beneficial for school children in Harris county. This is a scam and I do not want my public tax money used to fund private schools, especially those religiously-affiliated. I would also like DEI and CRT teachings, which are simply about understanding, acceptance and kindness for others, to stay in the curriculum.

Shannyn Allan Block
Self, mom of 3
San Antonio, TX

Hello, I'm a mom of 3 and a wife of a Texas first responder. We rely on public schools, as millions of other families do- and will not benefit from a voucher program or educational savings program. We have run our budget several times- we simply cannot afford the cost of living, saving for our retirement, our kid's college education AND paying for k-12. This push towards privatization will leave millions of us behind. We simply cannot afford private schools and they do not have to accommodate to kids with special needs, which our daughter has. Our rural friends will also not benefit from private schools, to which there are NONE in driving distance. This is NOT helping working and middle class families with larger families, who don't have the budget to send to private schools even with "help." Public schools are all we can afford.

Clea Mattingly, Mrs.
Self and my children
Dallas, TX

I VEHEMENTLY oppose HB3!!!!

Lorna Torrado, Dr.
Self
Austin, TX

As an educator with over 25 years of teaching and leading I OPPOSE this bill. Depleting even more our public system of resources will have devastating effects for decades to come. Quality education for every child should be a top priority for our state.

Carol Sue Marshall, Dr
Self retired Working with UnitedMethodist of Faith
colleyville, TX

I am a retired educator with many years in the Public Schools and 13 years as a professor/administrator in the College of Education at UTA. I was awarded an Emeritus position for my efforts to prepare effective teachers and improve Public Schools. I taught my classes in the schools, where my students and I worked with the administrators, teachers and students. That process allowed each of us to learn and grow from each other. I KNOW public schools and I know the quality of the administrators from the Supt to the local schools. I also know the students in urban schools (DallasISD) as well as in more rural areas (WacoISD) I created the degree that requires students to complete 2 yrs in Child Development at a community college and 2 yr in Early Childhood at a 4 yr College of Education. I have worked directly with TEA, SBEC, and Gov Bush's office to create appropriate policy for public schools and Colleges of Education. I have also worked with Private Schools.

I KNOW PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SCHOOLS and I BELIEVE YOU KNOW HB3 WILL POTENTIALLY HARM BOTH!

I ask you to:

Fund Public Schools - at least to the level of the average National Public School funding
Understand Bills like HB3 and SB2 return us to Segregation

Remember that you are charged by the TX Constitution caring for our Public Schools

Hold public forums! That is the way to learn that YOUR CONSTITUENTS DO NOT WANT HB3 mandated on them.
Have the courage to stand against Gov Abbott and do what is right for TX students, parents, and the economy,

Susan Mounce

Retired public school teacher

Hewitt, TX

Please do not give public dollars to private schools!

Daley Hilton

Self - mom of 3 public school educated children and prior public school teacher

Dallas, TX

I am a product of Texas public schools, I was a teacher for 9 years in Texas public schools, and now I have 3 children in the Texas public school system. As a Texas homeowner, I want to see ANY and ALL educational spending of taxpayer money to go towards public schools. Public schools are here to serve every Texan that wants to attend and that is where we need to put our money - to build up public education. Private schools are not required to serve every Texan child, they are not held to educational standards by the state, and they are only accessible to a small percentage of students - there is no reason that taxpayer money should be allocated for private schools. I will be unbelievably disappointed if our representatives ignore the will of the people on this, and I will not vote for any representative in the future who supports HB3

Emily McBride

Self

Austin, TX

Public funds should not be used for private schools. The charter school system has already hurt our public schools. This would take away even more funding and only harm the public school system. We need more funding for the public schools. I do believe that all of the lawmakers know this. It is not ok to move forward with a bill that will take our public education in a bad direction.

Tania Tasneem

Self | Public School Educator

Austin, TX

Thank You Chairman Buckley and Members of the Committee,

Hi Everybody! I am Tania Tasneem. Texan born, Pakistani raised, with a little twist of El Paso. I had the privilege of giving invited testimony in 2022 to the joint committees on Public Education and Higher Education so it is nice to see some familiar faces and some new ones. I have been a dedicated educator in Texas public schools for 18 years and I just recently earned my principal certification in January. In those years of teaching, I've had the privilege of learning and growing from many students. But no student has challenged me—or taught me—quite like Skye.

For a year and a half, we navigated an incredibly difficult relationship. There were moments of deep frustration, but also small victories. And then, one day, she looked at me and said, "I guess I'm really sorry for verbally abusing you all these years." It was unexpected. It was raw. It was real.

She is a student with special education needs and significant emotional challenges. She spent time in an alternative learning center, where I visited her every week. Those visits filled my cup. No matter how much she resisted, she always ended with, "Ms. Tasneem please Give me a hug."

Then, everything changed. Guardianship shifted. She was moved to another city. Later, I learned she had returned to our district and enrolled in high school. When I went to visit her to give her 8th grade certificate of completion, she was already gone. The last I heard, she was in foster care. I carry her 8th-grade certificate of completion with me as—a reminder of how far she had come.

Skye is exactly the kind of student who won't have access to an Educational Savings Account (ESA). Foster youth with disabilities don't have the luxury of school choice. They rely on the wraparound services our public schools provide—mental health support, special education interventions, transportation, meals, and a team of educators fighting for their success. Diverting public funds through ESAs weakens the very system that held her up.

I share her story because she is not the only one. She represents thousands of vulnerable students who depend on a fully funded public education. When we take money out of our schools, we take away their safety net. We take away their stability. We take away their future.

She deserved better. And so do all the students like her.

As a proud product of public schools, I think we might have lost sight of the mission of public free schools. So I leave with you something I learned in 7th grade in 1993 in my Texas History class in El Paso ISD The Texas State Constitution Article 7, Section 1

SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE OF SYSTEM OF PUBLIC FREE SCHOOLS. A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.

William Urban

self

Austin, TX

This bill for vouchers should not pass. Texas needs to put this debate behind us once and for all so we can support our local schools with all of our might instead of this wasted energy spent on vouchers. Vouchers will not help our children. Vouchers will not support parents. Vouchers will aid in destroying rural education. This is not Texas values. Thank you for voting against this bill.

Allen Bartell

Self

Willis, TX

I am a parent of two elementary age, children and a substitute teacher at our local schools. I'm also a retired educator of 35 years.

Over the years districts and seen the struggles from within. I've seen teachers buying paper and using their own printers because they have exceeded their number of copies for the month.

Greg Abbott himself has admitted that the voucher plan is likely to take funds away from local schools. Public tax dollars belong in public schools. Public schools cannot deny kids, private schools can.

Money being sent to private schools without accountability is a slap in the face to teachers and parents who face the STAAR test each and every year.

In every state that is an active vouchers, the majority of the students were already in private schools. This essentially amounts to a tax rebate to families who are already doing well enough to pay their kids private school tuition.

In addition, private schools do not have to accept all applicants. They're going to be many families. We're gonna have a difficult time finding a school to fit their child's needs. And finally, there are entire regions of Texas with zero private school options. So this Bill offers people in those areas nothing.

I am strongly opposed to this, Bill, as an educator, as a parent, and as a taxpayer.

Lacy Eckert

Self, public school educator

Burton, TX

I oppose HB 3 and all other names for an educational savings account for many reasons. This scam will clearly take away much deserved funding for our public schools (obviously decreasing attendance takes away monies), Texas Public Schools deserve a basic student allotment increase that reflects inflation. Private schools and homeschooled students are not held to the same accountability standards as public education students. Private school educators are not held to the certification standards. Private schools CHOOSE who can and cannot attend their schools. This is welfare for the wealthy. This is unfair. This is a slap in the face. This is NOT what your constituents want. I am so disappointed this is even on the table. Please consider how this decision will deeply impact our public schools. Heartbroken, Lacy Eckert

Jill Anderson

TRTA

Aubrey, TX

Please vote NO on school vouchers.

Billy McCurley

Self

Austin, TX

I urge you to vote against this school voucher bill. As a concerned constituent and advocate for a strong public education system, I firmly believe that this legislation will harm Texas students, teachers, and taxpayers. Rather than solving the challenges facing our public schools, HB3 diverts essential funds away from the very institutions that serve the majority of our children.

The Texas Constitution mandates that the state provide a "suitable" and "efficient" system of public free schools. A voucher program directly undermines this mandate by diverting resources toward private entities, many of which lack the capacity, willingness, or obligation to serve all students equitably. Public tax dollars should remain in public schools, benefiting the greatest number of students rather than a select few.

Unlike public schools, which must meet rigorous state standards, adhere to curriculum requirements, and undergo public financial audits, private schools receiving vouchers operate with minimal oversight. This lack of accountability means taxpayer dollars could fund schools that fail to meet basic educational standards. Many private schools are not subject to the same financial transparency laws as public schools. This opens the door for potential fraud, mismanagement, and misuse of funds—something we have seen in other states that have implemented similar voucher programs. Without stringent accountability measures, Texas risks wasting public money on schools that may not provide a high-quality education.

Proponents of HB3 argue that school vouchers expand parental choice. However, in reality, vouchers often benefit only a small segment of students—primarily those who are already attending private schools. Many private schools charge tuition rates that far exceed the value of the voucher, leaving low- and middle-income families unable to cover the remaining costs. Additionally, private schools can selectively admit students based on entrance exams, religious affiliation, and other criteria, excluding many children who would benefit from school choice the most.

If lawmakers truly want to improve education in Texas, they should focus on increasing funding for public schools, raising teacher salaries, reducing classroom sizes, and expanding access to advanced coursework and vocational training. Redirecting public funds to private schools through a voucher system does not address the root causes of educational inequities—it only exacerbates them.

Public education is a public good that benefits all Texans. When we invest in our public schools, we invest in the future of our state by ensuring that all children, regardless of their zip code, receive a quality education. HB3 moves Texas in the wrong direction by prioritizing privatization over public investment, harming our students and communities in the process.

Amy Degner, Ms

Self

Austin, TX

No on HB 3. Public dollars for public schools.

Angela O'Leary

Self, Educator

Canton, TX

Here is the easiest way to have our voices heard about vouchers. Simply copy the message, click on the link, paste it in the comments after filling in a few required fields, and submit.

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Jessica Toliver

Self

Brenham, TX

HB 3 is an insult to public school teachers and students. This bill will do nothing besides provide a discount to parents who already pay for private school for their children. This bill will not help children but it will continue to grow the teacher shortage.

Nichols Joey

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am in full opposition to using tax dollars to fund tuition to private schools. I am a both a fiscal and social conservative but the Republican Party leadership has sold out to in state and out of state billionaires. There was a time when legislators voted their district. Now, too many are using the excuse that it's going to pass anyway, so they are going to vote for it. Which is ridiculous when there is such a narrow margin of support in the House.

Angela B Garza, Ms.

SANA NA East Austin/Co Chair EMLK Combined Contact Team

Austin, TX

(Part 2 Story Continued)

First thing we did when we arrived in Round Rock TX is that we had a meeting with the principal, Joshua's teacher, Joshua in his own meeting, and his Mama. We all agreed to collaborative game plan with myself becoming Joshua's disability correction teacher at home. It was a ton of work and there was a definite difference in the quality of education. Lo and behold all our efforts led to Joshua leaping 4 grade levels with humble confidence. I had no idea that Title 1 Public schools in Austin are severely strained per student cost. Our son would have been severely left behind had we not sacrificed the risk on his behalf. He is a Latino young boy who already stepped into an almost predictable path of possible jail. After the one year we returned back to Austin to do the responsible thing and care take our grandparents who fell ill for ten years while taking care of other responsibilities. Joshua and Joseph began to attend Peace Elementary School (Public AISD School). Then we progressed both Joshua and Joseph to O Henry Middle School in West Austin for better quality education. We didn't want to take them backwards. So mom sacrificed daily and drive both our cubs across the city for quality education. Then they separated out to McCallum High School and Austin High School with their respective peers. My husband and worked the plan for their success around demanding work and caretaking schedules. Our cubs calendared 14 hour days. And were both well rounded leaders in their high schools. Academically, Athletically, Photo Leader Yearbook, and More. We as parents received a ton of resistance from their family because they did not understand what we were doing for our sons. Once again proving there is a higher quality of education in West Austin versus East Austin simply because there was no winning successful system in place at the time in East Austin and not enough money per student for quality education.

Results: Joshua and Joseph G Cardenas.

They have become the very first generation college graduates in many of our families. Two, not just one Latino young men. Joshua's speech impediment is no longer there. Only a small glimpse from time to time. Joshua reads at an incredible level today. He is thinking of writing his first Memoir. Joshua just made it back by God's Grace from Israel, where he completed his Master's degree during one of the most incredible wars in the Middle East. He is the first Male Masters of our families. And if he decides to pursue his PHD, he will be the very first in all our families. Joseph is very successful in Business and as an Investor. A BA college graduate. These are our cubs.

In conclusion, there is a proven system in the community public schools that is working for current students. The finding per student schools must be increased per student to read of more of these successes that we are all proud of in Texas when we invest wisely and consciously into our future. Thank You Kindly.

James Knuffke

Self

Irving, TX

We are strongly in favor of this bill, along with many other families here in Irving and across Texas.

Court Jackel

Self

Abilene, TX

WE DONT WANT VOUCHERS!! You're essentially killing our public education in rural areas and counties that don't even have any private schools and leaving the public schools vastly underfunded.

Deborah Duval

Self retired

Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers

Elizabeth Bartell

Self

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public .

Carlie Fullam, Mrs

Self

Hutto, TX

Vote No! We the people do not support this bill!!

Joan Hicks

Self

Argyle, TX

I am Against HB 3! I am Against school vouchers and I want Public Schools FULLY FUNDED! Stop withholding money from Public School Districts and holding Public School Districts hostage until you get your school voucher agenda passed! The state of Texas has the money! FULLY FUND our public schools Now!

Richard Thomas, Retired

Self

Rosharon, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Elizabeth Kumbalek

Self, retired

Blanco, TX

I vehemently oppose vouchers, "school choice", educational savings accounts, or any of the other euphemisms that describe redirecting my tax dollars to private schools away from public schools. School choice already exists, and has existed for as long as there have been private schools. My choice is to support and strengthen our public schools and not weaken them further by supporting someone else's choice of a religious, or other private education that can discriminate against children deemed unworthy, due special needs or demographics. We who live in rural Texas don't have access private schools and will suffer if public school funds are diverted to any type of private school, whatever you call it (vouchers, school choice, parental empowerment.)

Robert Baumgardner

self, retired geologist

Austin, TX

I am opposed to HB3. I am a proud product of Texas public schools from first grade through graduate school at the University of Texas at Austin. I have found out that Brownfield ISD, where I grew up, stands to lose $680,000 if HB3 passes. That would mean a potential loss of 12 teachers, nearly 10% of the total. There is no private school in Brownfield or in most small towns around the state. Where are parents in these towns supposed to take their ESA money?

We all know that you usually get what you pay for. Texas ranks 38th among states in per pupil spending. At least we're ahead of Oklahoma, but we're still in the bottom half of states ranked by quality of education. How is draining money from public schools supposed to improve that sorry statistic? I am opposed to any effort to take my tax money and give it to people who can already afford to pay private school tuition.

Christine Taylor

Self

Arlington, TX

Public tax dollars should not pay for private education. The constitution gives right to a free and public education, not a private one. In the state of Texas you as the body of elected officials have decided to not fully fund our public education system. Thus, students and teachers are in crowded classrooms and schools without the materials and services they need. You spend ridiculous amounts of money on state testing instead of fully funding necessary services like SPED. Yes I realize that is funded by the Department of Education but you all made decisions to limit our access to those funds. Now you want to remove even more money from public education and give it to schools that you will not require to meet the same standards as your public schools and that disgusts me. I realize now how little our kids mean to my elected representatives. A parent does have a right to decide where their child attends school no doubt. However, you do not have the right to damage another child's opportunities or determine where my tax dollars are spent. The excuse that it will help students who are at "at risk" schools is a lie. They do not have the money to make up the difference in tuition nor do most of those families have the transportation to get the students to the private schools. This is nothing but a way to subsidize rich families and take money and opportunities from our students who need them the most.

Logan Rivard

Self, NEISD Teacher

San Antonio, TX

We currently have school choice, and it's important to separate church vs state in education. As prices go up and salaries don't match, vouchers only assist the wealthy. In addition, schools that are already Title 1 schools will continue to have less funding due to low enrollment when vouchers get passed. We need to provide more money to these public schools so they have the resources and teachers to give ALL students the education level "they would get at private schools". However, if the voucher system were to be passed, if teachers would get a $20,000 raise for public school educators, I would be fine with that. So, if you pass vouchers and teachers (all teachers) get a $20,000 raise, respectively, I will keep my mouth shut.

Beatrice Sipes

Self

Cypress, TX

Please be advised that I am fundamentally opposed to all attempts to divert funds from our public schools regardless of where or how those funds are being diverted. We must educate

Holly Todd
Self, Parent
Cedar Park, TX

I am writing to you today as a parent of four children in the Leander School District outside of Austin, Texas. My children are in 12th, 11th, 10th, and 1st grade. As with every other parent, I had a choice on where to send my children to school. I could send them to a private school if I so chose. I could send them to a charter school. I could have them attend online school, or I could home school them. This choice was available to me 13 years ago when my oldest started Kindergarten and it is still available today. Private school was not the right choice for my family for a variety of reasons. First and foremost, the majority of private schools are religious institutions and do not align with our values. Second, private schools are expensive and a "discount" doesn't change that. Next choice, charter schools are tuition free and not religious based, but like private schools lack resources such as transportation and special education services. Next choice online or home school have the same limitation as each other, they require me to be the educator when I work full time.

The best choice for me and my family was the public school system. I chose a home in a good school district with strong test scores and school ratings, because I enjoy the privilege to do so. My children have thrived because of the support and programs they have participated in, in public schools. My oldest is neurodivergent and has a learning disability. Because of the support of the special ed program, she has been accepted to every college she applied to and has recently been nominated for a Heller Award for Young Artists. My 11th grader is also neurodivergent and because of an incredible science program in LISD, he has participated in two science fairs at the regional level most recently earning the Ricoh Sustainable Development Award and plans to obtain a PhD. My 10th grader has overcome an incredible amount of health challenges that caused hospitalization for nearly the entirety of 8th grade. Because of the educational support she received from her public school, as a freshman and sophomore, she has been on the honor roll every six week period. Finally, my first grader showed early signs of dyslexia and due to the early intervention programs at his school, he is being evaluated and supported to be able to thrive.

Texas law makers need to honor their promise to their constituents by continuing to fund public schools as promised. There are nearly 3000 students at my kids' high school. There are a small handful of private schools that can support a few hundred kids each in my area. What is left for everyone else? Public school. The "school choice" voucher system benefits no one but wealthy families who can afford to send their kids to private schools because they already are. If private schools want to attract more diverse students, then they can foot the bill via scholarships. We will all remember how you vote on this bill and then we will vote accordingly. Thank you.

Maria Hettler
Self
Helotes, TX

Dear Members of the House Committee,
I am writing to express my strong opposition to Texas School Voucher Bill (HB3). This proposed education savings program diverts taxpayer dollars away from our public schools and primarily benefits wealthy families who already send their children to private schools. It does so at the expense of public education, particularly in rural and remote counties where approximately 150 counties lack a private school option altogether.

Even if families in these areas could afford the difference between the voucher amount and private school tuition, the reality is that they have no viable choice. Instead of improving education for all Texas students, this bill weakens our public school system by redirecting much-needed resources.

I urge you to oppose HB3, as it is a disservice to Texas taxpayers, detrimental to public educators, and ultimately harmful to the students who rely on our public schools. Please stand with the vast majority of Texans who support strong, well-funded public education.

Sincerely,
Maria Hettler

Rebecca Moyer DeFelice

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am a parent of a TX public school student and I absolutely oppose the creation of a voucher system. Our public schools serve over 5 million Texas kids, and parents have ample opportunity to be involved in their children's education. Parents and students also already have school choice within Texas public schools - my child attends a public magnet school outside our home district, an opportunity that exists for any student who chooses to apply.

Our current public school system needs to be fully funded before the state diverts tax dollars to private schools.

The state constitution clearly mandates that every child in Texas have access to a free, quality public education, and I urge the committee to prioritize legislation that will help fulfill that promise to Texas children.

Meghan Rygg

Self

FRISCO, TX

As your constituent, I strongly urge you to oppose any school voucher program that diverts taxpayer dollars away from public schools. Texas families need fully funded, high-quality public education—not a system that redirects public funds to private institutions with little oversight or accountability.

Instead of vouchers, I ask that you prioritize investments in our public schools, ensuring that every child, regardless of zip code, has access to the resources and support they need to succeed. Please stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting school vouchers.

Thank you for your time and service.

Sincerely,

Meghan Rygg

Chaim Stitzer

self, cybersecurity

Plano, TX

I'm asking that you please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities, and this should not be reliant on income or what side of the street you live on.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike as it will ensure efficient allocation of resources to where it's actually needed, instead of where a map or financial status dictate they go. Allowing parents to spend their own tax dollars where they want to will also create accountability and thus put a spotlight on any potential waste.

Nearly half of the US has a school choice program without gutting their public school systems — it's very doable, and it's time for Texas to join them!

Lara Medrano

Self

New Braunfels, TX

Stop vouchers! Stop stealing from public schools

Clifton Butt, Mr.

Self - Public School Teacher

Amarillo, TX

HB 3 will be a boondoggle for Texas public schools, especially rural public schools. With 80+% of this bills funds projected to go towards students who are already enrolled in private schools, this is not about school choice. This bill is a giveaway to wealthy families who already have more choice than anyone. This bill is a clear waste of taxpayer funds. On top of that, this waste of funds will lead to negative effects for public schools and their funding. Please oppose this bill.

Christine Lund

Self-- self employed

Fort Worth, TX

I am 100% opposed to the school voucher program. Our public schools are woefully funded as it is and need all of the help they can get. Taking money out to help subsidize a private school education is not the job of the state, no more so then I expect the State to pay for my new driveway or an overhaul of my yard. Please take care of the neediest among us before helping those that can help themselves.

Page Schreck

Self retired engineer

Allen, TX

The state should fully fund the public schools rather than make moves that will only take more money away. State funding has been reduced year after year and the state has an overage. Our kids should not be paying the price. Every district is having to cut valuable services.
Enough!!!

Crystal Bayley

Self

McKinney, TX

Schools need their FULL funding, and it should be NOW! Please release the money to help the students, staff, and communities of Texas. Our future depends on the money. Our students deserve the very BEST education.

Reno Reed

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the bill. I do not want school vouchers

Donna Jenschke

IISD

Kerrville, TX

Parents already have school choice. This bill is to provide for the parents that already send their students to private schools. Meanwhile, you will take money away from the public system. Texas already ranks in the bottom 10 in per-student public education funding. Lawmakers should focus on improving the funding disparities in our current system before implementing a new, private system. If a voucher is passed, our district will lose $532,915, meaning we would have to cut nine teachers raising the student teacher ratio by almost 6%. As a 40 year Texas administrator/educator, I have watched students leave the public school system for private settings and, in most cases, returned to the public system farther behind. Our church currently has a private school in the church facility. The rigor and expectations of that school are minimal. Many times, I witness students napping on couches through the day in that setting. State standards are not being taught. One particular student's mother said they were returning to public schools because they only focused on RLA in the private setting. Recently, I tested a very young student for GT that came to us from the private setting. His parents stated that the move was to get him in a more challenging setting. He scored an 8 or 9 on every subtest of the CogAT and IOWA! The schools I have had the privilege of leading have been very successful and all have been Title 1. Our staff members meet students where they are and work hard to grow everyone. We have already lost staff members because funds have been withheld from the public setting. What a shame for kids?! Please do not vote for the voucher.

Kaci Sohrt

Self

Austin, TX

I am a product of public schools, child of a public school teacher, and parent of two public school children. I oppose vouchers, cleverly disguised as "school choice." The people of Texas see this for what it is. A transfer of money to the already wealthy while siphoning even more money to political donors. Our public schools have for decades been asked to do more with less because Texas "didn't have the money" to support them. And step up they have done. If it appears Texas has a spare $1 billion a year, why not spend it on public schools, which have not been adequately funded for decades. I do not support this bill nor any of the people who do.

Louise Liller

Self -parent

Austin, TX

I support public schools and am against the voucher program. As a parent, I believe in public education and this bill will further take away much needed funds from public schools.

Andrew Ward

Self

Galveston, TX

This is incredibly unpopular within the state of Texas. You all are aware of this fact, and it's not lost on your constituents, Texans, and the children of Texas. Don't do more to cripple low-income children from the start - give them a chance. Vote No to HB.3

Leslie Allison

Self

Dallas, TX

As an educator of 31 years in the Texas Public Education System, I adamantly oppose this bill. It will cripple Public Education and school districts by diverting funds away from public schools and into the hands of private entities. This is simply a way of giving monies to people who have already chosen private education for their children. It has been shown time and time again that this system fails public educators and students. This is being brought on because of an out of state donor, Jeff Yass, who is trying to push his private school voucher scam by donating $12 million dollars to Abbott and others campaigns so that they will do his bidding. This is criminal and it should not be left up to legislators, but put it to a public vote and you will see it is not wanted by the majority of voters in Texas. This include homeschool parents, public school parents, and even private school parents, as they don't want to have to be subjected to state law. Parents already have school choice, don't try and cover up this scam by saying that. Abbott is a liar and pushing self agendas. If he felt like it would be well received then he would have gone into public schools instead of private ones for his photo ops. Texas legislators need to wake up and listen to their constituents.

Jennifer Hallam

Self- teacher/SAHM

Marble Falls, TX

So no to vouchers! This bill is just welfare for the wealthy. Support public schools.

Michael Martin

Self

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Blaine Palmer

Self/Missionary

Cleburne, TX

All of the debates and disagreements I have heard this far seems to focus on public schools being negatively impacted by this bill. I would like to state that I only attended public schools and was a 504 student. Why is there so much focus on the public school system when it has subpar for as long as I have been school age? My mom was told when I was in the third grade that I would never graduate and if it wasn't for my aunt who has been a teacher or a counselor since the 1980's I would have never got the accommodations needed. My sister has a master's in special education and still to this day the public school systems fails all special needs children. Why is not time to help the private school and home school organizations? At the moment my daughters will never go to public schools even though I pay my fair share of taxes for a system that benefits my family none. I disagree with kids going to public school because of the city or town they live in. We build insane buildings and sports complex's over actually giving kids an education.

Heather Jones

Self, concerned parent

Round Rock, TX

Please vote NO on HB3 to protect our public school childrens' futures! I have two kids in a great Texas public elementary school and they deserve a fully funded education along with their peers. Please don't siphon money from already underfunded public education to support these voucher schemes. We Texas parents are counting on you to make the right choice and support public education!

Maria Del Carmen Harrison-Riojas

Mothers for Democracy

Dripping Springs, TX

Today they

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you

Mary Howell

Self

Mount Calm, TX

I am totally against school vouchers. It will destroy rural schools. In our small town, the school is the only employer. The kids have no way to get to a private school. If there are additional costs they can't afford it. The more money that goes to private schools the less public schools will get.

Tamara Derouselle

Self

Plano, TX

I am highly concerned about the efforts to essentially dismantle the public school system. Vouchers will not universally help underserved communities that cannot afford private schools or differently able students who may be discriminated against for entry. As a parent of a private school child, I believe it is a duty & privilege to pay into the public school system to benefit the community as a whole. A more educated electorate is better for everyone. As a voter, a parent, and concerned citizen, I ask that you vote against vouchers in HB3.

Jennifer Lidington

self, school counselors and LPC

McKinney, TX

I implore you to please OPPOSE any education savings account or voucher program in Texas. As a school counselor, LPC and former teacher, I see the real needs in public school. It is to give funds to public schools, raise salaries for teachers, school counselors, librarians AND fund mental and behavioral health programs in public schools. The increase of outcries, threats to harm self and struggles with mental health is what we NEED in public schools, NOT vouchers.

Leslie Gutierrez
Self
SAN ANTONIO, TX

VOTE NO ON HB 3!!! Our public school children deserve better!

Tatum Owens
Progress Texas
College Station, TX

My name is Tatum Owens and I'm a recent graduate living in Bryan/College Station, Texas. My entire education is built on Texas' public schools and teachers, and I cannot imagine if schools like Garner Middle School and Douglas Macarthur High School in San Antonio weren't available, especially for the children that would have no option if they were priced out of an education—many such cases would occur. Privatizing our education system is a mistake that will kill any bright minds left here, a tragedy for a state with such wealth and opportunity to provide for its children. I grew up around tons of private schools and charter schools in San Antonio and we all know it's true that the divisions between our private and public schools are socially segregated by race and class. This wouldn't change with a meager 10K that doesn't begin to cover costs, and that doesn't address the issue of public, equitable education for all anyway. Rural Texans like my cousins who depended on their only public school in the area know this. I would venture to say my lawmakers know this too, as the makeup of our legislature changed a lot last election because of viewpoints on this crucial issue of how we build up young minds and reform our education system. Vouchers are not the solution to education reform in Texas. No matter how they rebrand (voucher, education savings accounts, etc.) the law would provide families with my taxpayer money to pay for private schooling. I object, this isn't what I paid for. Barriers like location, fixed tuition, and institutionalized racism ensure that private schools will remain exclusive, and I don't want the money I've paid in to be wasted on something that's proven to waste government funds. Texans like me want our neighborhood schools to continue providing equal access, standardized measures of success, and community impact—and that depends on funding them and not a new scam that would further devastate our public school system.

Sarah Killingsworth
Self
Conroe, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. This bill will only help 100,000 children out of the over 5 million children in Texas at a steep cost. Most of these families can already afford private school. This bill does not help the rural counties who do not have private education in their area. This bill should serve all children's interests. Public dollars should stay in public education. We have one of the largest economies in the world, we should be at the top of the list in funding public education, instead we are almost at the bottom. Do the right thing and don't move forward with this bill. Serve the people, not billionaires.

Carol Davis, Mrs.

Self

Schertz, TX

Where is the accountability for the money? Public schools are held to standards based on test scores, private schools are not. Private schools can tell a student they are not accepted; public schools cannot do that. Public schools have standards for teacher certifications, private schools do not.

Texas public school children are given $6100 per student unless they meet other standards such as SPED/504, CTE, and other special programs. Not every public school children gets the phantom $15k being waved around.

If the goal is accountability and transparency, which I like from President Trump, how will I be given the same with these ESA accounts? Private institutions are not required to share the budgets.

How will my tax dollars be monitored? Who will uphold the IDEA/504/SPED laws in homeschooling and private institutions? Public schools are accountable for not only educational audits by TEA, but their budgets as well.

Why has my elected Congressman, Schoolcraft, and Senator, Campbell, refused to answer direct questions concerning this issue?

Why not actually fund public education and allow the professional teachers to do their jobs. Politicians have changed the rules so often that teachers feel like ping pong balls; but they adapt and keep going.

Politicians are expecting teachers to do everything for the child and not having any expectations of the family for that child. Children no longer come to school with a basic understanding of reading and numbers because all they have experienced is a phone or tablet in their face and not books or physical toys. Let teachers get back to the basics of reading, writing, math, and science. Let the professionals do their jobs.

James Nowell, Mr

Self

Allen, TX

Vote against school vouchers. It only helps the upper middle class and siphons funds from public schools. Private schools are selective (able and privileged students) and do not accept all students.

Rhea Pollock

Self mail carrier

Fort Worth, TX

Fund Texas public schools.

Robin Rieck

self

Cedar Creek, TX

Public schools are the backbone of rural communities. You harm our public schools and you harm all of us. I am opposed to any spending of my tax dollars for private schools who are not held to the exact same set of rules imposed on our public schools. This bill hands taxpayer dollars to entities run for profit. Profit is their first priority. The first priority of our public schools is the education of the students. My first priority in this matter is the education of students. Not a select few handpicked students but ALL students. If I wanted a specialty license plate for my car I would have to pay for that myself. Let those who want education outside our public schools pay for that themselves. This bill provides less funding per public school student than for a private school student. That is grossly unfair and must not be allowed. This bill sets no rules to ensure quality education in private schools. Our public schools are held to a set of standards. This is a reckless and irresponsible expenditure of taxpayer dollars. This bill does not require private schools to enroll students with disabilities or students from marginalized communities. Taxpayer dollars must not be handed to private schools who have a license to discriminate in their enrollment policies. Our legislature is tasked with funding a public school system. If our elected legislators had fulfilled their duty to do that we wouldn't even be considering a voucher system. Bring adequate funding back to our public schools by increasing the per student allocation to make up for the shortage created by the Texas Legislature over the last decade. Send the profiteers packing.

Mary Vance
Self/Psychologist
Austin, TX

I strongly encourage Texas lawmakers to reject HB3, the school voucher bill. This bill concerns me greatly, give the ramifications for education in Texas for all children, and the forced consequences for taxpayers. Gov. Abbott and Republicans are trying to take $1 billion from Texas taxpayers and give it to wealthy families who are already sending their kids to private schools. This will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties. More than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send children to, even if someone could afford the difference between what the voucher pays and what tuition costs.

Jennifer Tu
Self, graphic designer
Pflugerville, TX

Please do not pass the voucher scam. Public education is so important for our children and community. Please fully fund public education. My property taxes are not for welfare for the already wealthy

Elaine Stotts
Self
Austin, TX

I don't think my taxes should go to private schools when public school education is available.

Macee Balka
Self
Lubbock, TX

Voucher do not solve the issue. NO VOUCHERS! I will personally vote against any representative in my area that supports them. Use your brain and come to the table with a better solution. We elect you to do so.

Megan Pedersen
Self - homeschool mom
Cypress, TX

My name is Megan Pedersend, and I oppose HB 3. As a homeschool mother of 8 children, I highly value the freedoms Texas currently gives to homeschool parents to educate their children in the best way they see fit for each child and their family as a whole. HB 3 sounds appealing with the promise of funds to go toward curriculum each year, especially for a large family like mine, but in reality, few homeschoolers spend that much money per child per year on educational materials thanks to purchasing pre-loved books and most curricula not costing anywhere near $2k.

Additionally, I do not agree with the promise of such funds still giving me 100% autonomy in making the best educational choices for my children based on their individual needs and our personal and religious convictions. History and current homeschool bills and laws in other states have shown that when the government gets involved with financial incentives for homeschool families, the freedoms of the people suffer. I do not believe it would take very long for the government to start telling me how I should educate my children and what curricula I should use if this bill were to pass. Again, I oppose HB3 and encourage you to do the same.

Jennifer Cathrow

self

San Antonio, TX

I am a parent of a child with disabilities. I have experienced first hand the detrimental impact of underfunding our schools, especially special education. Vouchers will hurt those students who need the most assistance, including special education and low income families. Give teachers the raises and support they deserve as an investment in our collective future and health as a state. Vouchers will end up in the denial of services and protections for students that require supports, which are guaranteed under federal law. This short-sighted politician "win" for the governor will inflict lasting harm on generations of Texas children, who all deserve better.

Catherine Tornow

Self

Dallas, TX

Please keep as much funding as humanly possible going to our public schools. These teachers are heroes and we need to give them every resource possible. No to private school vouchers

Darlene Alleman, Mrs

Self ; self employed

The Colony, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Megan Mason

Self

College station, TX

I can say with full confidence that this bill will hurt our students and schools by taking critical funding away from already underfunded schools. Parents have always had a choice for sending their kids to schools with magnet schools, private schools, charter schools, and homeschooling. Taking public funding away from public schools and sending to private schools is not the answer to the problem you propose this bill to correct. To not hold private schools to the same standards of curriculum and educator certification and propose sending unequal funding doesn't make logical sense. This bill is not about one political party over another. This bill is about a redistribution of wealth that will disproportionately benefit the wealthy who can already afford to send their children to private schools. The public overwhelmingly voted against this agenda the first time it came around, and we see through the farce of it now. HB3 will not help the people you claim it is most for. There are better ways to help students most in need of better educational opportunities. Properly funding our schools, all special programs, and educator salaries to recruit and retain high quality teachers is the first step. Sending public dollars to private schools who are not held to the same standards is not the common sense solution.

Sarah Ensley
Parent:teachers
El Paso, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you

Brandi Dooley
Self
Mansfield, TX

I am strongly strongly against the establishment of a savings account program from HB 3 if it takes away ANY funding at all from public schools. They need MORE funding, not less.

Amy Filbin
self
Austin, TX

Honored members of the committee,

I am the mother of two Texas schoolchildren.

Please know that I am deeply opposed to HB 3, the voucher scheme. Mostly I object to using public funds to subsidize wealthier families, sending their children to private schools, when that money should support our starved Texas public schools.

Rural communities are well aware that public schools are struggling for lack of funding, and that private options are rarely available— and when they are, they don't provide transportation, eating facilities, special education, or even teachers comparable to those at public schools.

As a result, communities across Texas have again and again rejected similar voucher schemes. That rejection, spans, partisans of every stripe.

Instead, I urge you to raise the per-student funding to a level above $1300 in order to make up for the shortfall, our schools have suffered as a result of the Texas legislature's neglect since 2019.

Thank you for your time, and I know you'll do the right thing.

Missy DeMoss
Self
Trophy Club, TX

I strongly oppose the voucher system. I am a conservative voter and feel that giving tax dollars to a private institution is not a solution to public education. I also teach in public education and the restrictions for how we spend money is highly constricting. Private schools will not face this. I hope you consider taking this to the ballots and voting against it. I do not think this is a solution to the problem. It will do further damage.

Angela Henderson

Self

Lufkin, TX

As a mother of special needs children and a teacher I feel that this bill will underfund public schools and will result in many, including my children, not getting the services they need. This is not a good idea and will hurt more people than it will help. Please consider voting no on this bill. It will only benefit those who can afford to send their kids to private schools in the first place. Children who have 504 plans and IEPs will not only not have their needs met at a private school but will be helped ineffectively at an underfunded public school. In addition, rural schools like mine will hurt the worst. We will lose funding and we are already struggling. Please vote no on HB 3 and support public education. Private schools are not the answer. Properly funding public schools is.

Amanda Eskridge-Johnson

Self

Austin, TX

I do not support vouchers for private schools. It will take money away from public schools, which are already severely underfunded. You know how hard it is for schools to get paid for the students they serve? The state doesn't even pay for a child being out sick. Teacher is still working, lights are still on, buses still run, but schools are expected to take a pay cut every time a student is sick.

My son recently had flu. It was clearly flu, it's a virus, there is nothing medically to be done to treat it as long as he is staying hydrated. Yet I found myself taking him to the doctor, spending $100 of my money towards my deductible, all so I could get him a doctor's note to excuse his absence. So the state would not stiff his school for him being out sick.

Please fund our public schools and step away from distractions that only help people who are already affording private school on their own.

Lawrence Helberg, Grandfather

Self/Concerned Grandparent

Kyle, TX

I am concerned that our public education is underfunded. I believe the Money allocated for this bill should be used to fund public education.

Debbie Brooks

Self

El Paso, TX

I am against vouchers. It would tank public schools. Please vote against HB3

Lindsay Lewis

Self teacher

Lubbock, TX

My name is Lindsay Lewis, and I am a dedicated fifth-grade teacher and a recently single mother. I am writing to express my deep concern and opposition to House Bill 3. As someone who is passionate about education and committed to supporting my family, I am disheartened by the potential impact this bill could have on educators like me and the students we serve.

Teaching is more than just a profession—it's a calling. I work tirelessly to ensure my students receive the quality education, but House Bill 3 threatens to undermine the stability and livelihood of teachers across Texas. As a single mother, I am already struggling to make ends meet on a teacher's salary. This bill not only fails to address the financial challenges we face but also risks exacerbating them by limiting resources and support for educators.

Texas teachers deserve fair compensation and adequate resources to do their jobs effectively. House Bill 3 fails to recognize the essential role that educators play in shaping the future of our state. Instead of uplifting teachers and valuing our contributions, this bill could force many of us out of the profession we love, leaving classrooms understaffed and students underserved.

Moreover, as a single parent, I am acutely aware of how financial insecurity affects families. Reducing support for teachers directly impacts our ability to provide for our children. Texas should be investing in its educators, not diminishing our ability to support our families and contribute positively to our communities.

I urge you to consider the real-world implications of House Bill 3 and to stand with Texas teachers and families by opposing this legislation. Please prioritize the well-being of educators and students alike by advocating for policies that support fair wages, professional respect, and adequate classroom resources.

Thank you for your time and attention to this critical matter. I am hopeful that you will stand with teachers and families to protect the future of education in Texas.

Jennifer Ontiveros

Self. Nurse Practitioner

Round Rock, TX

I urge members of the House to reconsider and deny this bill that will further weaken the already tenuous state of education in Texas. One only has to look at where Texas currently stands in national metrics to know that the situation is dire. At this point we are headed the way of Mississippi. Vouchers or whatever jazzed up terminology you're hiding behind will only hurt ALL Texans, school-aged and beyond. The brain drain that is already happening due to other laws damaging healthcare access, coverage, and general safety will further speed up and you are going to see economic consequences both short and long term. I have given up appealing to your sense of doing what is right for all and not just some, so at least consider the economics of it all.

Jennifer10 Felty

Retired Texas Educator, self

Seguin, TX

I am a retired Texas educator. I retired in 2010 & you underfunded education way back then. Vote no on school vouchers AKA education savings accounts AKA parent choice. These programs defund public schools, reduce funding for special needs, & especially hurt at risk & rural populations.

Aron Warren

Self and Family

Magnolia, TX

My wife and I homeschool and I strongly oppose the wording of this bill. This bill is not in the best interests of those who homeschool their kids.

Jeremy Wright

SELF

Plainview, TX

I have several concerns in relation to school choice.

1. What form of accountability is there when private/charter schools are not required to take the STAAR exam, as Public Schools are.
2. How is giving Private/Charter schools $10,000/student EQUAL to the $6,600 given to Public Education.
3. In relation to certification of educators, how is allowing individuals who are not certified in education to be teachers in private/charter schools effective when compared to those public education teachers, who have spent the time to study and achieve accreditation.

Emily Kaszczuk

Self/parent

Leander, TX

I am writing with a question for Chairman Buckley. He has stated that the ESA bill will not cause students to leave public schools and will not lead to teaching professionals exiting the profession. If that is the assumption, then the bill is completely unnecessary, because parents will not be making NEW choices for their children. By virtue of already having made the choice, the parents do not need an ESA to remove barriers. If, on the other hand, he does expect new families to move from public schools to private schools or homeschooling, it is reasonable to discuss the scope of those migrations and the consequences to both public schools and TRS. Chairman Buckley, which outcome do you anticipate? Will the ESA dollars go to students NEW to homeschooling or private school or Will the funds go primarily towards children already in private schools or homeschooling? What data is being used to determine the projected impact?

Joseph Mancuso

Self

Conroe, TX

I hope my comment finds you well. My name is Joseph, I am a veteran who has served this state, holds a Bachelor's degree in Economics, and supports the websites of small businesses in our communities. I am concerned that the public push for private education is not in the best interests of Texans.

I believe this bill lays the foundation for less effective educators, a poorly educated workforce, and disincentivizes healthy competition between private educators. As we inherently move money away from public education, I am fearful that this will result in a generation of less educated Texans, unable to perform in the highly skilled workforce this age demands. Public school remains our most accessible means of investing in our youth and transforming them into productive members of society. This bill comes at a time that public education desperately needs more resources, higher standards, and a curriculum that reflects the state of the labor market. Additionally, I object to the use of any public funds to subsidize private institutions.

If the goal is to "level the playing field" to allow private institutions to win over customers/students from public educators, I would consider supporting a bill that exempts homeowners with students enrolled in private school from paying School District Property Tax, as this would scale up or down depending on locale and a household's needs. However, this version of the bill limits which families and schools could use the program and funnels State money into private institutions without objective oversight or standards of education to qualify them.

I hope you will turn your attention to matters that actually impact our communities, and will more judiciously reinvest our tax dollars. Thank you.

Lisa Miller
Self
Fort Worth, TX

As your constituent, I am writing to oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. Public schools in Texas are underfunded every year, yet public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students. They serve all students in their boundaries, they do not pick and choose whom to educate. Texas families and educators deserve a well funded, high quality public education system. I request that you reject private school vouchers again and properly fund Texas public schools.

Private schools select which students to admit. They do not hold elected boards or state oversight, private schools offer no financial or academic accountability. Why would you divert publicly collected funds to entities without oversight?
Thank you for your time and service.

Sincerely

Lisa Miller

Corrina Jacobs
Self
Austin, TX

I strongly believe that vouchers will erode our public education system, taking essential resources away from already underfunded public schools and giving those resources to institutions that are not accountable to taxpayers. Access to quality public education should be a right for all Americans and vouchers will directly undermine that right. Texas is already in the bottom 10 states in the country for per student funding, and our 5.5 million students across Texas can't afford to see their schools' budgets shrunk any further.

Vote no on HB3!

Priscilla Edwards
Homeschool
Callisburg, TX

As a homeschool mother I, Priscilla Williams, strongly oppose and reject this bill. Homeschool teachers/parents have had the right to school choice since the 90's and it's been wonderful! This new bill would strip us of some of our basic homeschool rights. This household is not in favor of the school choice bill. Most public school officials/faculty/teachers also oppose this bill. Please consider the voice of the people.

Tiffani Nair
Self, business execution
Frisco, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, parent of two public school children, and product of the public education system in Texas, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Cynthia Holsclaw
Denton High PTSA
Argyle, TX

?I am against HB 3 as written as it would tremendously impact public schools and the 5.5 million kids that attend these schools. Public education should be fully funded BEFORE tax payer dollars are used for vouchers or ESAs. We dont use taxpayer dollars for people that want to join a country club, why would tax payer dollars be used to help people go to private school? It makes zero sense. Not only are the private schools around me charging 25k plus, they are not held to the same standards as public schools are not right and you would be doing a disservice to all of the children with 504 or IEP plans. The fact that you have so many people opposing this bill yet you continue to try to pass it is a huge RED FLAG. You are not representing your constituents at all. Let the state decide and put it to a statewide vote.

Susan Sloan Simmons, Mrs.
Self
Kingwood, TX

Hello, my name is Sloan Simmons, and I'm a constituent in Rep. Cunningham's district living in zip code 77339.

I'm writing to express my strong opposition to the school voucher bill, SB 2, and ask them to vote against it.

Local schools in Humble ISD stand to lose as much as $19,906,419 under SB 2, which would be a devastating loss for our community.

Public funds should stay in our public schools, not be divvied up to unaccountable private schools.

Thank you,
S.Sloan Simmons

Shilpa Aramada
Self
Flower Mound, TX

I am adamantly opposed to the passing of the school voucher bill HB3. I am in favor of protecting public schools and believe that the funds should go to public schools instead of to people sending their children to private schools.

Denise Chapa
Self/Interventionist
Corpus Christi, TX

As a registered Texas voter & Texas educator, I want to point out that we have been BEGGING for more funding for years. Our governor has been holding our funding hostage to wager his voucher program. You're willing to further deplete an already depleted system just to push this program that research supports no educational gains or benefits for those who participate in it. Why not water the grass where you're at and grow in the roots that are already seeded? We have catered to every change brought to us by TEA and have dedicated years of blood, sweat, and tears-ALL literal! The state of Texas has spoken and struck this down already. We know it is not what is best for our young citizens yet you continue to dig your heels in for whatever reason. Our students DO have school choice. The fact that you're saying that this is what HB 3 is about is a ploy to gain votes from uninformed/uneducated voters. The irony. Or maybe that's the point-keep the level of knowledge low in order to obtain obedience. This just screams dystopian.

Our tax dollars should not go back into the pockets of people who are already able to afford tuition. If you're wanting it to be about opportunity for ALL, then give it to the ones who truly don't have that opportunity. The privileged are going to be privileged-vouchers or not. Our governor has too many back door donors who are controlling him like a puppet. How unTexan of you, Greg.

De'Metrius Gray
Self- USPS Employee
Sunnyvale, TX

Texas House Bill 3 is a direct attack on public schools and will have devastating consequences for our education system. By pushing for school vouchers, this bill takes critical funding away from public schools, which are already underfunded and struggling to meet the needs of all students. Vouchers are not the answer — they divert resources away from the schools that serve the majority of Texas children and give tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

It's clear that Governor Greg Abbott is forcing this harmful agenda on the people of Texas, despite bipartisan opposition. A growing number of Texans, including both Democrats and Republicans, have voiced their concern and opposition to vouchers. Abbott's attempt to ignore the will of the public is a blatant disregard for what's best for our children, our teachers, and our communities. Public schools need more support, not less. If this bill passes, it will only widen the gap in educational equity and further harm the students who need it most.

We need to focus on strengthening our public schools, increasing funding, and ensuring every child has access to a quality education, not undermining the very system that serves the majority of Texas families.

Patricia Reed
Fwisd
Fort worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Harrison Manuel Self- Dallas Firefighter
Rowlett, TX

Texas House Bill 3 is a direct attack on public schools and will have devastating consequences for our education system. By pushing for school vouchers, this bill takes critical funding away from public schools, which are already underfunded and struggling to meet the needs of all students. Vouchers are not the answer — they divert resources away from the schools that serve the majority of Texas children and give tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

It's clear that Governor Greg Abbott is forcing this harmful agenda on the people of Texas, despite bipartisan opposition. A growing number of Texans, including both Democrats and Republicans, have voiced their concern and opposition to vouchers. Abbott's attempt to ignore the will of the public is a blatant disregard for what's best for our children, our teachers, and our communities. Public schools need more support, not less. If this bill passes, it will only widen the gap in educational equity and further harm the students who need it most.

We need to focus on strengthening our public schools, increasing funding, and ensuring every child has access to a quality education, not undermining the very system that serves the majority of Texas families.

Julie Anderson
Myself
Mckinney, TX

I vote and I encourage you to oppose HB3 and also oppose anything to do with vouchers. I urge your to support a free and safe education publicly and pay our teachers and aides with respectful wages and retirement

Patricio Medrano
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Sandra Hodge
Self
Weatherford, TX

The State should not have the right to use my hard earned taxpayer money to fund vouchers for children to go to private schools. This is just the start of ruining our public school system in Texas. Spend the money on teacher salaries and upgrading public school systems.

Krisleigh Hoermann
Self
Sachse, TX

I strongly oppose any legislation that diverts public funds away from Texas public schools to pay for private school tuition and related costs. Our tax dollars should support the public school system, which serves the vast majority of Texas students, rather than subsidizing private education with little to no public oversight.

Vouchers fail to ensure accountability because private schools do not have the same transparency requirements as public schools. They are not obligated to meet state educational standards or report on student performance. Taxpayers deserve to know that their money is being used effectively, and voucher programs do not provide that assurance.

Additionally, vouchers are a step backward for students with disabilities. Public schools are legally required to provide special education services, while private schools are not. Diverting public funds to private institutions puts students with disabilities at risk of losing access to the resources and support they need to succeed.

School vouchers also violate the separation of church and state. Public tax dollars should not be used to fund religious education, as this contradicts constitutional principles. At the same time, if religious schools accept public funding, they could be subject to government oversight, raising concerns about religious autonomy.

Despite claims of increasing school choice, vouchers only provide choice for some, not all. Many private schools selectively admit students based on academic achievement, special needs status, or financial ability to cover costs beyond the voucher amount. Families in rural areas have limited access to private schools, meaning vouchers disproportionately benefit students in urban areas while leaving rural students behind. Furthermore, vouchers do not cover essential services that low-income students rely on, such as transportation, meal programs, or additional academic support.

Finally, vouchers drain critical resources from public schools. Texas public schools are already underfunded, and diverting even more money will only make it harder to provide a quality education to the majority of students. Public education should be strengthened, not undermined, by ensuring all state education funds remain in the public school system where they can benefit every child.

For these reasons, I urge legislators to reject any form of school voucher program, including Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) and Tax Credit Scholarships. Public funds should be invested in strengthening Texas public schools—not subsidizing private education.

Amy Hall
Teacher/ self
Brownwood, TX

I am ashamed at the representatives we elected to represent us. They are doing the opposite. I will no longer vote for anyone that takes high dollar donations and lines their pockets and steps on the people in their communities that voted for them and teacher all students:the poor, special needs, disabled, etc.

Michael Hermes

self

Sachse, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS & NO TO SB3 BECAUSE VOUCHERS WILL NOT HELP MY CHILDREN WITH 504 PLANS, AND BECAUSE PRIVATE SCHOOLS CAN EXCLUDE MY CHILDREN SOLELY ON THEIR ACADEMIC NEEDS.

Tonya Cole

Self

Manvel, TX

These vouchers will hurt our educational system.

Emily Castillo

Self

Van Alstyne, TX

I strongly oppose school vouchers. This is not what the constituents want; this is not what I want. Public school funding should be left as is, independent from private school funding or homeschool funding. Texas school choice is a choice now. I live in a rural area and this voucher bill only seeks to take away valuable funding from the public school system (that does very well). Please vote against school vouchers.

Bill Betzen

Dallas ISD Retiree representing self

Dallas, TX

I'm a life long Texan from a farm northwest of Hereford. Public schools are the backbone of our communities across Texas. They must be strengthened to help lessen the painful income gap Texas suffers under. Public schools will be weakened with HB3. The costly to Texas income gap will grow! Please do not support HB3! - Bill Betzen Volunteer Postmaster for StudentMotivation.org Project, a free-to-use, Pk-12, volunteer driven, student motivation project

Brenda Aguilar

Self

Fort worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Kelly Hicks

Self

Dayton, TX

No to vouchers

Charlie Ussery

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Jeanette Pearson, Ms

Myself

Houston, TX

Say no to HB 3. If there are people who want to send their kids to private schools, then let them. But I don't want my taxes to be used to fund them. SAY NO TO HB3!!!

Sara Pollard, LMSW

Therapist

Fort Worth, TX

Legislature,

I strongly oppose HB3, which would implement a school voucher program in Texas. This legislation threatens to divert critical funds from public schools, increase state spending, and worsen educational inequities.

Financial Impact

The Legislative Budget Board estimates this program could cost $1 billion in 2026-27, escalating to $7 billion by 2028-29 (Beaumont Enterprise). Texas already spends $5,000 less per student than the national average, and teachers earn $9,000 less than their national peers. Redirecting public dollars to private schools will further deplete resources for Texas students.

Harm to Public Schools

Vouchers disproportionately benefit families who can already afford private schools, leaving low-income students in underfunded public schools. The income threshold of $156,000 to qualify as "low-income" distorts the program's intent (Houston Chronicle).

Lack of Accountability

Private schools receiving vouchers are not required to follow state curriculum, accept all students, or ensure transparency in spending. This lack of oversight jeopardizes educational quality and equity.

Failed Models from Other States

Arizona's voucher program led to state budget shortfalls and underfunded public schools (Houston Chronicle). In North Carolina, taxpayer-funded vouchers supported private schools that maintain exclusionary policies (Teen Vogue).

Conclusion

Texas should invest in public education, not weaken it. I urge you to reject this costly, inequitable voucher scheme and focus on fully funding our public schools to ensure all Texas students receive a quality education. We already have school of choice that leaves disadvantaged children without transportation behind, this is an additional opportunity to leave marginalized children in poverty rather than lifting all our children out of poverty.

Lucille Landusky, M.S. C.C.C./S.L.P.

Self

Lubbock, TX

As a former employee of public schools and the parent of two children who attended Lubbock Public Schools, I am extremely opposed to the voucher system! I urge you to continue support to children with special needs that may include the supervision of an Individual Educational Plan.

I implore you to vote NO on the proposed voucher plan! Vote NO on the education savings account program!

Everett Foster, Blank

Self; Accounting

Dallas, TX

Public schools are currently underfunded. My daughter has to rely on donations to support various school-related initiatives. The voucher program will only increase the financial challenges for public schools. Also afraid that a voucher program will further shift the higher achieving kids from public schools to private schools, thus decreasing student competition and readiness for the future of the kids that remain in the public schools. We live in an area that includes many private schools, and starting in grades 7-8 and continuing through grades 9 & 10, we see the migration from public schools to private schools. I fear this migration will only increase with if a voucher program is enacted.

Julie Xia, Ms

Texas PTA

San Antonio, TX

There is no need to take away public school funding to support parent choice! I've been a parent with 4 kids enrolled in Texas public schools since 2010 and have been blown away by the quality of education they have received. Even my special needs son has had every opportunity to be the best version of himself as a student. We wholeheartedly support public schools!! SAY NO TO VOUCHERS

Rhonda Stratton

Self, Administrative Assistant with an education degree

Crowley, TX

- More Texas public students are taking Career and Technical Education classes than ever before, with nearly 60% enrollment in 2019-20, up from about 21% in 2009.
- Nearly 40,000 Texas public high school students graduated with an approved industry-based certification in 2018-19, meaning they were qualified for everything from construction to health sciences.
- Across the state, 1,118 campuses offer dual-language immersion programs that give students the opportunity to be bilingual and bicultural.
- School districts across the state are offering innovative courses in more than 150 disciplines, including maritime sciences, sports medicine, pipefitting, engineering design, and aviation, giving students the opportunity to learn real-world skills while earning their diploma.

Summary

School choice is well established within Texas public school districts and growing yearly as locally elected school boards respond to the unique needs of their students and families. Arguments for vouchers miss the essential fact that public schools have always been the leaders in school choice and a source of innovation in designing new programs that respond to what their communities need, what their families want, and what children deserve.

In fact, the opportunities available within public schools today are very much the result of engaged parents, who have been advocating for innovative options and programs with their elected school trustees — whether in school board meetings, the grocery store, or via email. Diverting public tax dollars into a voucher scheme that doesn't follow the rules of open government will certainly diminish the voices of parents in favor of subsidizing corporations and private entities.

Let's keep public tax dollars where they can benefit the public good. Texas families don't need vouchers to get the best education for their students — they already have that choice among the 1,026 public school districts in the state.

From the ACLU:

In addition to doing little to improve student performance and being vastly unpopular, vouchers undermine the separation of church and state. Voucher schemes shift millions of taxpayer dollars from public schools—which are open to all, regardless of faith—to private schools, the vast majority of which are religious. In turn, taxpayer funds directly support religious instruction—and not just in theology class, but in biology class, history class, and even math class. What's more, these schools are often not required to comply with many academic standards and can discriminate, for example by excluding students on the basis of religion, sexual orientation, or disability.

The principles of religious liberty undoubtedly mean that parents may choose to send their children to private religious schools. They should not, however, allow for religious education to be provided at taxpayers' expense.

Emily Long

Self- nanny

Austin, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Emily Long

Cristina Everett

Self, education

Austin, TX

I am against the idea of vouchers. I am concerned about the impact to public schools, particularly the rural schools in Texas.

Christina Rigby

WHS PTSA

Wylie, TX

I am a conservative republican who votes in the primary and general elections. If school choice passes I will have no choice but to vote in the next election against all the candidates I have supported in the past. I passionately believe that public funds should only go to public schools. If school choice happens than all private schools need to be required to allow all applicants no matter their disability, sexual orientation, religion or race because the public will be funding those schools. Public schools are for all and all inclusive. We are already not funding public school education to its fullest. Texas is behind the nation in funding. Also private schools should be required to use the same testing as public schools. Please vote no to school choice and do the right thing for all children in the state of Texas! We believe Texas to be great and be free and we want for all our children to succeed.

Darcy Christ
Self
DALLAS, TX

I am vehemently against school vouchers. It's time to give up this take from the poor and give to the rich plan that republicans have been trying to push through for decades to benefit private school businesses while taking money from public education and the millions of Texas children it serves. VOTE NO

Leta Cherie Phillips
self/parent of public school children/owner of Sign Gypsies Wylie/Rowlett
Murphy, TX

NO to Public vouchers!

Lana Sather
Self Kennedale, TX

Say NO to HB3. Public taxes do not belong in private schools.

Kelley Wiginton
Self
Cypress, TX

Put school vouchers to a vote. Texans do not want school vouchers and defunding public schools.

Andrea Troncoso
self
Austin, TX

As a public school parent and wife of a public school teacher I BEG OF YOU, please do not pass HB 3. We need every cent that we can poured into public schools.. NOT PRIVATE. Private schools have their place but if you want to better education, POUR THE MONEY into our public schools.

Thanks for your consideration.

Lisa Pepperell
Self
Leander, TX

Quit trying to steal money from public schools. Vote No to school choice. This theft that Abbott is trying to force is wrong. Release the money for the public schools and Quit trying to make them fail. Theft! It's theft. Y'all are not doing what is best for Texas.

Cay Granger
Self
Beaumont, TX

I am 100% opposed to an "education savings account" I will vote against any one supporting a voucher. I have always voted Republican but will vote against Greg Abbott and any representative from my area that supports vouchers

Rebecca Spell
self, SAHM
Murphy, TX

No vouchers! These vouchers only benefit people who can already afford private education, and take away from students who are publicly educated.

Dawn Minix
Self
Ovilla, TX

I would like to register my position AGAINST HB3, the education savings account program.

I homeschooled four children from the late 1980's through the late 90's (on one income) and now have twelve homeschooled grandchildren (all from one income families). While I did homeschool my own children for many years, my children also attended both public and private schools as well.

I believe my experience with all types of schooling affords me a unique perspective on the school choice situation, and I can confidently say that this program WILL do harm to both public and private education systems (which includes homeschoolers as they are considered private schools in our state). The unique advantages that each system provides students and parents will be irreparably harmed by this government attempt at leveling the playing field.

As a mother who experienced the intense battle for the right to homeschool in Texas in the late 80's and early 90's, then went on to send my children to various public and private schools, I can confidently and proudly say that school choice absolutely already exists and that this bill seeks to fix a problem that does not exist.

I am OPPOSED TO HB3. Please vote no.

Bonnie Fontana
Self/Full-time parent
Fort Worth, TX

As a parent in Texas, I want my children to have the brightest future possible. I believe that can best be achieved by giving ALL children in Texas the best education we can give them. That is what public schools are designed to do. I want my kids graduating with peers who are smart and well-equipped to handle challenges of the future. I want all of our kids to work well together to create a strong society for the generations ahead.

The future I envision cannot be achieved with a 2-tier education system. Further diminishing the resources of public schools will not only harm those children who are already disadvantaged. A generation that is unable to live up to its potential will be harmful to all of society.

Stacy Ramírez

Self

Kerrville, TX

I submitted this: I strongly oppose SB2 and HB3, which would divert public funds to private schools through education savings accounts. These bills threaten to undermine Texas' already underfunded public schools, taking away critical resources from the majority of students who rely on them.

Taxpayer dollars should be used to strengthen our public education system, ensuring every child has access to quality teachers, well-funded classrooms, and necessary support services, not subsidizing private institutions that lack accountability and can selectively admit students.

Rather than funneling money into a program that benefits a select few, Texas should focus on increasing teacher pay, improving school infrastructure, and expanding educational opportunities within public schools. Our priority should be to invest in the success of all Texas students, not just those who can afford private tuition.

I urge lawmakers to reject these voucher programs and instead commit to fully funding public education for every child in our state.

Evelyn Ramey

Self

Cedar Park, TX

Please vote no for vouchers!!! I am a retired public school teacher in Texas, and we have great schools! Public schools happily teach all students, we don't pick and choose which ones get to attend. If you want your child to go to private school, go ahead, but please don't punish public schools! We also have so many more state guidelines, and teachers have to be certified to teach. Please stand up for our students!

Adrean Springer
Self
San Antonio, TX

Dear Texas Legislators,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB 3, the proposed school voucher bill. This legislation would divert critical public funds away from our public schools, weakening the very institutions that serve the vast majority of Texas students. While school choice is an important discussion, HB 3 would harm public education in the following ways:

1. Defunding Public Schools– Texas public schools are already underfunded, struggling with teacher shortages, overcrowded classrooms, and outdated resources. Diverting taxpayer dollars to private and charter schools through vouchers would exacerbate these challenges, leaving our public schools with even fewer resources.
2. Lack of Accountability– Unlike public schools, private and charter schools that receive voucher funds are not held to the same academic, financial, and transparency standards. Public funds should come with public accountability, ensuring that every student receives a high-quality education.
3. Limited Benefit for Rural Communities– In many rural areas of Texas, private school options are scarce or nonexistent. Vouchers would do little to expand education choices in these communities, while still stripping funding from the local public schools that serve as a lifeline for students.
4. Potential for Discrimination – Private schools are not required to accept all students, and many have selective admission policies. This means that students with disabilities, behavioral challenges, or lower academic performance may be denied access, creating an inequitable system that benefits only a select few.
5. Public Dollars Should Stay in Public Schools– Texas has a duty to ensure that every child, regardless of background or income, has access to a strong public education. Instead of funneling money into unregulated private institutions, we should be investing in teacher pay, school infrastructure, and student support programs.

I urge you to vote against HB 3 and stand up for the 5.4 million students who rely on Texas public schools. Our focus should be on strengthening public education for all, not redirecting funds to benefit a select few.

Sincerely,
A. Springer

Waleska Rivera
Self - school bookkeeper
San Antonio, TX

Public schools are already struggling with lack of funds. Cost of living has significantly increased and the funds provided to schools per student doesn't reflect this increase. Public schools serve ALL students, doesn't matter the social and economical background, ethnicity, religion or disabilities. By creating these vouchers, you are taking funds away from public education and the majority of the students just to assist the few. Private schools aren't required to provide services to the students in special education. Meaning you are already marginalizing a group. If a family wants to attend public schools, that's a personal decision and shouldn't be using tax lawyers money for that. What about creating policies and laws to regulate the outrageous private school tuitions and college tuitions? Education is a right and should be affordable to everyone interested in perusing it. By regulating tuitions, this option would be more tangible for everyone. Don't use taxpayer's money to fund a for profit organization like private schools and penalize the public education system that is accessible to all. If you still want to create vouchers that will only benefit the few , don't take away money from pubic education that serves all.

Vanessa Cyprien
Self - retired teacher
Friendswood, TX

I am against the establishment of an education savings account program. Parents already have a choice. If they choose to send their children to a private, religious, or homeschool, they should pay for it and not use public tax dollars.

Jeff Miller
Myself
Iowa Park, TX

Please vote no to the ESA.

Jacob Borgeson
Myself
Manor, TX

I don't want my tax dollars subsidizing people who can already afford private school. Period. I want my taxes going to public schools, energy infrastructure, PUBLIC roads, maintaining adequate and healthy water supplies, higher education, and public health services. Quit giving my taxes to people who don't need it.

Lisa Valencia
Self
Big Spring, TX

I've worked for a school district for 22 years in public education and I am totally against vouchers as it is not fair and equal to all. This is always a common theme where the rich always exceed due to the fact that some simply can't afford private lessons or private schools. Make it make sense...please. Especially in rural areas where private schools are not an option. It's the rich taking away from the poor.

Valerie Rone, Dr
Self
San Antonio, TX

We must support education for all children. Please do not support school vouchers. It will ruin the public school system.

Mary Wood
Self
Georgetown, TX

Schools vouchers hurt children. What is being proposed is a form of child neglect. Something that parents are charged with when they do it.

Taxpayer money should not be used for private schools.

A bill with this high amount of financial impact needs to be left to the voters to decide. Just like the changes to property tax and increases in state pensions.

I can't trust my representative to vote for what's best for all children with the intimidation tactics the Governor and Lt. Governor have done with the backing of the Texas billionaires who are pushing this bill.

Angelaca Maldonado

Self

Wilson, TX

I strongly oppose student vouchers for the following reasons:

1. No Proven Academic Benefit & Harm to Public Schools – Vouchers divert taxpayer dollars away from public schools, which serve the majority of students, to fund private institutions that do not consistently provide better educational outcomes. Studies show that students using vouchers often perform the same or worse than their public school peers. This funding loss weakens public schools, leading to larger class sizes, fewer resources, and diminished support services for the students who remain.
2. Lack of Accountability and Oversight – Public schools are subject to strict academic standards, financial transparency, and accountability measures. Private schools receiving voucher funds are not held to the same requirements, leading to potential misuse of public money.
3. Discrimination and Exclusion – Private schools can reject students based on religion, disability status, academic history, or other factors. Public funds should not support institutions that do not serve all students equitably.
4. Weakens Rural and Underserved Communities – In rural areas, private school options are limited or nonexistent. Vouchers disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can afford to cover remaining tuition costs, leaving low-income and rural students with fewer educational opportunities.
5. No Real Cost Savings – While proponents argue that vouchers save money, they often create additional administrative costs and do not reduce the overall financial burden on the state or local governments.
6. Potential for Fraud and Waste – Other states with voucher programs have experienced widespread fraud, where public funds are used for unapproved expenses or schools that provide subpar education.
7. Undermines Public Education as a Public Good – Public schools serve as a cornerstone of democracy by ensuring all children receive an education. Weakening public schools through vouchers erodes this foundational principle.

For these reasons, I urge lawmakers to oppose student vouchers and instead invest in strengthening public schools for all Texas students.

Anita Sylvia Garcia

American Association of University Women

Austin, TX

I cement oppose school vouchers. first, it is too expensive. Second, there is little accountability. Third, it would destroy many small town school districts and communities. Lastly, it is very apparent some people are trying to get our public school money in order to make a profit.

Texas leaders need to stand up in favor of public education. Let rich people pay for their own children's education.

James Klein, Dr.

Del Mar College

Corpus Christi, TX

I urge you to vote against HB3. School vouchers will pull additional funding from public education and will benefit a few fly-by-night schools (and their investors) at the expense of all Texas tax payers.

Brandon Frosch

Wylie ISD

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3. No to vouchers!

Cynthia Sarpalius, Mrs.

Self

Arlington, TX

It is important to me as a taxpayer and a retired teacher that public schools are fully funded. Using public money to fund private schools is a waste of my tax dollars. Please use any money available to fully fund public schools.

Annemarie Johnson
Patton Elementary PTA
Austin, TX

As a PTA Treasurer, parent of AISD students and a resident of Texas I am strongly against vouchers. Public dollars belong in public schools and you need to fund those. We have not increased per student spend since 2019 and it is far below the national average. Teacher pay needs to be increased so teachers can live where they teach. I say no to vouchers!

Mistie Ford
Self Brookston, TX

Please vote NO for Vouchers. Public Education is being tossed to the side and will suffer because of it. Vouchers is not the answer. Public education deserves the time and money to be spent on fixing what is broke and making it better. Too many wasted resources spent on testing and large companies driving education instead of listening to the ones working in education everyday. The voucher plan is just a means for the lobbyist to get what they want and Governor Abbott has surely failed by bowing down to all of these things. Vote NO and save Public Education!

Elisabeth Owen
Self
ELGIN, TX

Please stand with Texas families, not special interests. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers!

Janice Clark
Self
Bryan, TX

Vouchers are not the answer to improving schools. There is already a choice and the voucher will not give more people a choice, it will just give a break to those who can already afford a choice. A state should be improving the schools system for all not "fixing it" for a few. I say no to vouchers!

Jacque Krejci
Self - Attorney
North Richland Hills, TX

I do not support the establishment of an education savings account, or the establishment of vouchers by any other name. I think tax money should be used to support our public schools fully.

Annie Dueck
Self-parent & teacher
Granbury, TX

Fully fund public education, fix the problems we have (these are easy, common sense and you know it), then see how "terrible" public schools are.

I am a Christian, conservative and pretty far right.

The intentions of the billionaires controlling you on this issue are sinister. You are making an unholy alliance. You don't need them to do what is right and good for public education. God has the wisdom and guidance you/I need.

Our public education system in Texas is not too far gone to save.

Together we can make it so it images God and blesses all children, families, our communities and state.

Pray to God. Obey Him. (Not misguided billionaires. $ does not equal wisdom).

Donna Stevens

Self

N Richlnd Hls, TX

I am absolutely opposed to school choice, educational savings account or vouchers by any other name. The 1 billion plus needs to be given to the public schools. You are literally starving public schools at this point. Any private school program can be replicated in the public schools. Taxpayer monies need to stay in public schools. There are not enough special needs private schools that could handle children with disabilities. My own daughter who was in a wheelchair and had a trach and vent would NEVER have been accepted in a private school but she was in a public school and was treated very well! Her educational needs were met. If you want to see how receptive the state would be to using taxpayer monies, put it to a vote like you did retired teacher COLAs. It will FAIL at the polls! All you are doing is giving wealthy scammers the ability to scam more money off of the public! Say no to vouchers!

Dian Wright, MS

Self / Retired

Quinlan, TX

NO on vouchers

Laura Hermes

self

Sachse, TX

I OPPOSE HB3 - PLEASE VOTE NO - THIS DOES NOT HELP MY CHILDREN WITH 504 PLANS - PRIVATE SCHOOLS IN MY AREA COST $30K PLUS A YEAR, NO ONE IN OUR AREA CAN AFFORD THIS OR BUS OUR CHILDREN TO PRIVATE SCHOOLS - THIS IS WRONG!

Sue Magie

Self

FW, TX

My priority as a citizen of Texas is quality education for ALL children. Our state has not been supportive of public education for many years and cannot afford to take funds away now. It serves all of us to highly support public education to be the best in the US.

Daniel Dean

Self, Data Manager

Leander, TX

I am deeply opposed to this offensive bill, as well as Texas' ongoing failure to properly fund its public schools while attempting to divert funds to private interests. My district alone is expect to cut 200 positions in an already understaffed system thanks to the failure of the state government to responsibly support our public school students and staff.

Find your morals. Reject this bill.

Randi Wheeler

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Fully fund public education! Let's make Texas great again by pouring all our resources in public schools. Every Texan deserves to have a well funded public school. Say NO to vouchers!

Anne Wynne
Self lawyer
Austin, TX
Against

Jennifer Torres
Wylie ISD PTA
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Dawn Lucas, Ms
Self
Floresville, TX

This bill is an attempt to turn all private schools into public. I do not believe private schools want the state oversight that will come with this bill as well the additional demands that will eventually come for accountability. Parents want good public schools. This is just another political money grab.

Kitty Kenyon
Self/retired
Granite Shoals, TX

Vouchers drain much needed money from the public school system. Texas used to be known for their great public school systems, public roads, and healthcare systems. Let's start by rebuilding and shoring up these things not breaking them down and making our state weaker.

Cynthia Outlaw, public school teacher
FUMC Noah's Ark Fairfield ISD Fairfield, TX

raise monies for each student to $1300 - that is still way below what is needed to educate our children - we as a state should be embarrassed that our state of Texas is so far behind on allotting money for public school children.

Juan Gutierrez, Dr.
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am writing to oppose this bill.

Bet-sua Trejo
Self
Houston, TX

I support HB3 because having ESAs will allow me to put my children in the learning environment that is at their own pace and with our own beliefs.

Victoria Purdom Schools
Sherman, TX

No vouchers!! I will be watching to see how my constituents vote!

Patricia Whitley

Self

Carrollton, TX

As a mother of 3 boys who attend public schools, I am opposed to the ESA program in its current form. There are rigorous controls in place for public school funding, which create accountability. If the HB 3 does not include these checks and balances for private school and homeschoolers, how will accountability take place? Additionally, if we are asking for money to support school choice in areas that have less than favorable schools, that should also be a requirement for the distribution of vouchers. For instance, if someone chooses to send their kids to a private school despite being located near and zoned for A-rated schools, they should not be allowed to receive a voucher. In its current state, this bill appears to give income to families that have already decided they do not need public schools. How will these funds be allocated to low income or special needs students? How can we ensure private institutions are held accountable and accept those lower income or special needs students? This hastily thrown together bill does not appear to provide any guardrails for governance over these funds. As a tax payer, I do not authorize my taxes to be used for vouchers. I will vote with this in mind in the next election. If legislators agree that most people want vouchers, consider adding it to the ballot in the next election. Democracy, indeed.

Karen Kremer

Self/ RN

The Colony, TX

This bill will not help the students of Texas. It will only benefit rich families that can already afford to send their children to private schools. I do not want public education to be defunded. This will hurt many children who deserve to have education. Not every county in Texas has private schools as an option. Our schools are already suffering and this will make things worse. Do not pass this bill. You will hurt innocent children. Every child in Texas should be afforded the opportunity to attend school.

Renee Kelley

Self

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3!

Elayne Gibson

Self - Preschool Teacher- parent, grandparent, PTA member

Wylie, TX

NO School Vouchers. I strongly oppose HB 3

Elizabeth Moreno

Self

Sugar Land, TX

I am strongly against this bill. This bill will greatly impact all children to not be able to receive the education they all deserve. My kid requires extra help with her learning disability and this will take that away from her. As a middle class family, we are barely making it and if the school didn't provide these services, I would not be able to provide them for her. This will also raise the cost of private school to keep it only for the higher class families

Michael Shannon

self

Pflugerville, TX

I oppose the measure to take funding from public schools to make available for private school tuition.

First, experience in other states has shown that this will not make private school tuition available for lower income residents; it will simply put more money in the pockets of those who can already afford the tuition.

Second, it takes funding from public schools who are required by law to educate everyone, including those with special needs, and gives it to schools which can pick only those students who are easiest and cheapest to educate.

Reece Pickett

Self

Garland, TX

I do not support this bill and will not be supporting anyone that votes for its approval.

Catherine Cottingham

Self

Austin, TX

I'm writing in opposition to this bill and in opposition to the use of public funding outside of public schools.

Sandra Kuehl

Self retired

Houston, TX

After watching testimony at 230 this am, it is evident that this program is WRONG FOR Texas. Public schools should be funded. Choice is already there.. if you want private education you can pay for it yourself NOT with our tax dollars. Y'all have been withholding public education funds since the last session since your precious vouchers (you call it esa) didn't pass thankfully. FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION as the state constitution states. Quit wasting taxpayers monies. Texas's children depend on properly funded PUBLIC EDUCATION not bs vouchers. If you want private/religious education, then pay for it yourself

Robyn Clark

self

Plano, TX

I am against vouchers! I believe this will harm Texas students. Fully fund our public schools!

Angela Menchaca, Self

Self

San Antonio, TX

This bill is not good teacher retirement system, students who depend and choose public schools, or Texas. I oppose this bill and so should elected representatives.

Stella Fait, Ms.

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I oppose HB 3 because I struggle feel it will destroy public education in the state of Texas. I also oppose the bill because Texas parents ALREADY have a choice about how their children are educated and what school to send them to. Finally I do not want my tax dollars financing private or religious schools.

Ariel Ruiz

Self - PTA chair member and higher education professional

Mansfield, TX

I believe and stand behind public education. Educational Savings Accounts will siphon public resources from public schools and are detrimental to our public education system as they redirect public dollars to private institutions. Why do we constantly have to fight so hard for basic needs and rights for our children. Even if this were not to fully affect me or my family, I would not want it to affect anyone who it would impact. Our teachers need to be paid more, our schools need to be a safe place for students, and a thriving educational environment is what we should be looking out for.

Amanda Stevens
Richardson ISD PTA
Dallas, TX

This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers! Our public schools deserve to be fully funded instead of offering breaks to those who are already wealthy. If we want our students to succeed, teachers need to be paid a livable wage, schools need safe and updated facilities and so much more that Greg Abbott has been holding hostage.

Darcie Speicher
Self, architect
Keller, TX

Please vote 'no' regarding school vouchers, and instead, significantly increase the funding per student provided to public schools. We moved to KellerISD for the fantastic schools, and our previously exceptional district has begun to deteriorate due to the withholding of funds by the Texas government. We have some of the best teachers in the state, and I fear we won't be able to keep them if funding continues to be siphoned from public schools. We don't want vouchers. They do absolutely nothing to make my local schools better. In fact, quite the opposite effect occurs. Our local schools are top-notch when funded correctly, and that's the bottom line. Support our amazing teachers and support our school district by rejecting vouchers.

Sara Orozco
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am strongly against vouchers. They will hurt communities, students, and hurt public schools. Please stand for public education, schools, students, and communities and vote no for vouchers.

Shelby Jones
Self- High School Teacher
Brenham, TX

Vouchers and ESAs will only hurt Texas students and will not help our most vulnerable population. This has been show in many other states. Please instead fund public education and support teacher raises with no strings attached. Proper funding would allow school districts to hire more personnel which could provide interventionist and more teachers to help with current class sizes.

Jodi Mahmood
Self
Richardson, TX

I am asking you to vote no to the school vouchers bill. Our tax dollars should stay in our public school systems that serve all Texas children, including the kids that need it the most. It ensures they have access to the kind of education that grows the Texans of the future. Neighborhood public schools are the glue that helps hold our communities together and funding them only serves all of us versus the select few.

Beth Crymes
Self - Bookkeeper Arlington ISD
Arlington, TX

This will not help the families that can not afford private schools. The minute this passes, "Private Schools" will raise their tuition to keep the ones that can't afford private school out. Then, whatever amount these families receive will still not afford them the choice of a private school. Families need to invest in their children. Show up for you kids, help them with homework, know their friends, know their friend's families, know your student's teacher. Support you student's teacher! Don't blame the teacher because your student isn't successful! It starts at home. Throwing money at failing families isn't the answer.

Jennifer Thompson

self

Pearland, TX

I do not want a voucher system in Texas. Texas public schools are underfunded. If this public money went to addressing the existing shortfalls, it would help all Texas students, not just a select few. I volunteer in several different public schools. I have friends that volunteer and teach in public schools across the state. In all schools, teachers are doing everything they can to give Texas students the best education they need. Much of the time, using their own money to purchase supplies. Also, most of our teachers that sponsor an activity that happens outside of the school day are lucky if they can receive a stipend that pays them pennies per hour they give of their time.

If you haven't already, please visit public schools to see what is going on for yourself. I have seen several different political figures making Facebook posts that are just photo ops at private schools. Where are the visits to the public schools? Talk to your constituents. I promise that there are very few that want vouchers.

Please make the smart choice for the 5.5 million Texas students. Keep public dollars in public schools.

Toshia Kimball

McMillan Jr. High PTA

Wylie, TX

No to Vouchers and No to SB3

Adeline Castleberry

Keller ISD Council of PTAs/Texas PTA

Forth Worth, TX

I urge you to reconsider your stance on Vouchers/ESA Accounts. The damage you will do to public schools and the 5.5 million students that currently attend will be devastating. We already are struggling in most districts due to the lack of public school funding and we cannot afford to take another hit by the passing of SB3/HB3. Please take the time to listen to the Texas people that are writing and calling on this bill. Thank You.

Katelyn Corder

Self - Public School Teacher in Mesquite ISD

Terrell, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the school voucher scam, and ask that it be voted against.

Local schools in Mesquite ISD stand to lose as much as $15,684,094, That is 292 fewer teachers for students, 313,681 fewer library books and would result in a projected increase in student-teacher ratio of 7.28% which would be a devastating loss for our community. Us as teachers are already drowning in the amount of students currently enrolled not to mention the behavior struggles. Public funds should stay in our public schools, not be divvied up to unaccountable private schools.

Kara Markham
Self - hospitality
Hurst, TX

My daughter goes to HEB ISD and I could not be happier with the public school system offered here. My daughter is both in Advanced Academics and requires special education intervention for her to be successful. Both of those programs require funding to support students through their learning journey, funds that would be reduced by allowing this bill to proceed forward. There is OVERWHELMING evidence to support that any private school funding would not benefit Texans looking to move away from Public schools, as it is likely that the tuition increase from Private schools would simply raise by the amount of extra funds available.

I'm also concerned with the lack of funds being given to public schooling in Texas in general, as several local school districts have had to make the decision to shutter schools, making the learning and teaching experience worse. Please carefully consider the voice of actual Texans, your constituents, before voting in favor of this bill. Public schools do good work, can offer more and be more accountable than private schools, and take care of the most vulnerable citizens and students that need special help or more funding. Thank you for your time.

Cassie Knapp
Moe & Gene Johnson High School PTA
Buda, TX

Contact them and tell them to vote no. Here is a script if you need it:

I am writing to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose private school vouchers in Texas.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down any voucher scheme that diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools.

Say no to vouchers that use tax dollars to fund the tuition at exclusive private schools. Keep public dollars in public schools.

Sincerely-

Cassie Knapp

Megan Boyd
Self
ABILENE, TX

I do not support this bill or anything promoting education savings account programs.

Ty Stevens
myself and public education
Miles, TX

I want to thank the committee for all the time and effort put into providing guidance for education as a whole. I am writing this to oppose HB3. I have served in public education for the past 24 years in various capacities. I am currently the Superintendent of Miles ISD. Miles ISD is an A rated district, provides many opportunities for our students which include 5 different pathways for CTE, we have received 100% in accountability for CCMR, our academics beat the state average in every category, my teachers are the best in the state of Texas, and both our elementary and secondary campuses are high functioning academic schools. HB 3 along with other ESA legislation will give $1billion to private and homeschool entities that do not have to follow the same guidelines as Public Schools. It appears that HB 3 and SB 2 desire to legislate ESA accounts for the impoverished students and students with disabilities, however a private school can accept or deny anyone they choose, which does not make is true choice; the choice is up to the private school, not the parents. In my mind, $160,000 is not at the poverty line and does not target what this bill states is a priority. Initially, ESAs may not have an immediate impact in Miles ISD, however, over time and with further legislation, ESAs, if passed, will expand thus squeezing public education even further.

I am constantly watching both chambers bills being proposed and coming to committee. With HB 2, uncertified teachers will not be allowed to teach foundation classes in a public school, however we are going to give $1billion to uncertified teachers in private schools and even homeschools. Also, HB2 opens up the doors for transfers to public schools with little to not ability to deny a transfer student except for capacity, which makes public schools create a lottery system like a charter school for enrollment. That is taking away local control of the INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICTS. Our national politics is driving this voucher or ESA accounts, with millions of dollars being spent from outside of the state to campaign against representatives who are against the ESA program. The push is coming from the Republican party who insist that they are for less government in our everyday lives. This bill does not reflect less government, it provides more government control over private, homeschool, and public schools. For all that are for ESAs, there will be a time, if passed, that the government will want accountability for taxpayers money being spent in the private sector. It may not happen today, but it will take place in the future. The decisions that you as a committee will make will shape the future of education for years to come.

Thank you for your time
Ty Stevens

Monica Whatley
Self
Vidor, TX

Please do not vote for this bill. My daughter is in special education. We are a poor family. This bill will not benefit ALL students in Texas and will be detrimental for poor communities like ours.

Kaylin Latimer
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vote against the school vouchers. This bill undermines our children and education system, only gives those who can already afford to send their kids to private school a tax break while everyone else gets nothing out of it. This is a terrible bill that needs to be done away with and never see the light of day. If you want to do something begin providing supplies for our schools and free meals to our children. VOTE NO TO HB3

Edmund Lee
self, Natural Gas Trader
Houston, TX

Vouchers are a direct transfer of wealth to the rich from the normal Texan. I am strongly opposed to vouchers, as it will starve our public education and increase income inequality here in Texas.

Edward Abel, Rev

Self

Temple, TX

As a minister and dad and native Texan, I want to speak firmly against HB 3.

First, if we believe all children are created by God, then we should be writing legislation that supports all children. This bill realistically helps those without disability of any sort whose parents make more than 200k a year. Generally, those kids have plenty of advantages already.

Second, there is no accountability for private schools to teach honest science. This will not help outcomes overall.

Finally, if we profess to be pro-life, then we need to stop contributing to division and the death of our society. This bill is divisive plain and simple. Simple math, you can't multiply good outcomes when you are dividing our world.

Thank you for your consideration. Proud Texan for 51 years.

E H Abel

Adam Parsill

Self

Austin, TX

To Whom this May Concern,

My name is Adam Parsill, and I'm a constituent in zip code 78735. I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB 3. I urge my Representative and this Committee to vote against it and, instead, focus on fully funding public education. While Texas already offers meaningful school choice, what we truly need are the necessary resources to ensure our public schools can provide every child with the high-quality education they deserve. This includes the accountability and due process that are essential for ensuring effective delivery of that education.

We should not be diverting resources to privatized schools that operate with minimal or no accountability to the public. I believe the supporters of this bill cannot point to any successful examples from other states where similar laws have achieved the intended outcomes. On the contrary, voucher systems like the one proposed have been proven to fail, and if this bill moves forward, it will likely harm more families than it helps.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Katherine Williams

Self

Tomball, TX

Please fund our public schools. We do not want vouchers. All they will achieve is a tax break for the wealthy people who can already afford to send their kids to the good private schools and result in those schools raising their tuition. I do not want to send my children to an unregulated private school with no accountability that operates for profit. I want my public school district fully funded and protected.

Jill Edwards

Self

Houston, TX

Texans are against vouchers, school choice or education savings accounts. No matter what you call them they are bad for public education and not only hurt students and teachers but are simply a coupon for the wealthy. Say no to hb3! - Texas voter and teacher

Ranae Lane, Principal

Brock ISD

Millsap, TX

Before voting to approve vouchers, please address the issue of equality for vouchers and public schools. The reality is that public schools are asked to do more with less. Overhaul the funding system. How is it fair to only fund the schools when students are present? When students are absent, we still have to pay for the staff for those students and in reality it creates additional work on teachers to get students caught up when they are absent. The positions needed for the students still exist. Vouchers have no accountability to attendance tied to them. Why is that? Also, have any of you ever considered how belittling you are by giving public money to private entities that educate kids but don't have to have an education degree? You are essentially saying our degrees aren't necessary. Have you thought of that? We don't let attorneys or doctors practice without proper credentials but anyone can educate a child...how degrading this is to our profession. Also, if public schools are in such a bad state, then why does the state not offer support to all schools with instructional coaches and such like you provide to schools that have higher low socioeconomic percentages. All schools need support but small rural districts that are predominantly upper middle class get no additional support because we don't qualify but we are expected to do the same thing with less. Where's the equality in that? We've had to cut those positions in our district due to funding. What about accountability? Is there any form of accountability tied to these vouchers? I've had parents pull kids for homeschool and do nothing with them and then return a year later even further behind but those parents would receive money to do nothing. Kids are the ones who suffer. Accountability and fair funding is needed all the way around. Please consider the impact on rural districts but more importantly KIDS.

Vicki McDonald

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the voucher bill and do not feel would be beneficial to our educational system and I do not want my tax dollars being used in this manner.

Jenni Sandman
Self
Caddo Mills, TX

Argument Against School Vouchers

House members, I urge you to oppose school vouchers, as they undermine public education, fail to ensure accountability, and do not improve student outcomes as promised.

1. Diverting Public Funds Hurts Public Schools

Vouchers siphon taxpayer dollars from public schools, which serve the vast majority of students, and redirect them to private schools that are not required to serve all children. This weakens public education by reducing resources for teachers, special education, and school improvements, leaving disadvantaged students in underfunded schools.

2. Lack of Accountability and Oversight

Unlike public schools, private schools receiving vouchers are not held to the same academic and financial transparency standards. They are not required to follow state curriculum guidelines, administer standardized tests, or disclose how public funds are spent. This lack of oversight leads to waste, fraud, and a lack of educational consistency.

3. Vouchers Do Not Improve Student Achievement

Multiple studies have shown that students using vouchers often perform the same or worse than their public school peers. Instead of funneling money into an unproven system, we should invest in strengthening our public schools, improving teacher salaries, and expanding programs that benefit all students.

4. Discrimination and Exclusion

Many private schools accepting vouchers are not obligated to accept all students. They can deny admission based on religion, disability, or academic performance, leaving the most vulnerable students without options. Public funds should not support schools that do not serve all children equally.

5. Vouchers Favor the Wealthy, Not Low-Income Families

While advertised as a way to help low-income students, vouchers often benefit families who can already afford private school tuition. Many voucher amounts do not cover full tuition, making private schools inaccessible for the very students the program claims to help.

Instead of weakening our public education system, we should focus on policies that strengthen it—better funding, smaller class sizes, and expanded support services. I urge you to stand with public school students, families, and educators by opposing school vouchers.

Mallory Cislo
Representing my kids
Dallas, TX

I'm a mother of five and former educator, and I do not support vouchers, which I believe will destroy public education.

David Fields
Self-city planner
Houston, TX

Please explain how public funds can be used to pay for a school that doesn't meet the same minimum requirements as the public school system we fund directly? If you're going to approve this system, please make sure all schools receiving these funds are held to the same standards.

Walter Coppage, Mr.
Self
Wichita Falls, TX

Vouchers will cost our economy and our kids. Do not let these bloodsuckers take over our schools. Save our schools not a tax cut.

Nicole Stone
Spring Branch ISD
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Tanya Donaghey
Self
Allen, TX

Vote no to vouchers. I am a professor who teaches dual credit history and elementary education courses. I'm also a mother of 3 and Texas resident for 59 years. I wrote my dissertation on the history of education in America and the role of teaching social studies and patriotism to our citizens. Public schools have always been our most democratic institution with LOCAL control and locally elected school boards. I have worked in private, charter and public schools. The quality of education has been superior in public schools vs private and charters in most cases.

Cassie McDaniel
Self
Spicewood, TX

I oppose House Bill 3 and its proposal to implement school vouchers in Texas. Public education is the foundation of a strong society, and it must remain fully funded and accessible to all children. Instead of diverting resources away from public schools, we should be working to strengthen and improve the system we already have. We need to ensure that every child in Texas has access to the resources, support, and opportunities they need to succeed, no matter their background.

Maria Vargas, Mrs.
Self, All my Grandchildren, All my nieces and nephews.
Brownsville, TX

Buckley, I am opposed to passage of HB3! This bill will result in inequality for ALL Students in public schools!

The funding should be used to FULLY FUND public education!

These vouchers are a welfare handout for the wealthy!

This bill will result in defunding public schools in Texas!

This legislation is a SCAM! Jeffrey Yass and other billionaire cronies are the only ones who will benefit by passage of this legislation!

As a conservative, I'm disgusted with the Republican Party!

My family, including all extended family members will remember the betrayal of the Republican Party against chicken and family throughout Texas!

Aleshia Bowers

Self - purchasing

FORT WORTH, TX

Please vote against HB3! I am a multi generation Texan with two new Texans, one who is starting kindergarten this fall. Texas public schools need to be funded. We didn't qualify for public pre-k and had to pay for private. Private schools do not have the means nor do they want to take an influx of children! This "education savings account" will only be a discount for people who can already afford private schools. We may have struggled paying for our child to go to private, but EVERY child in America & EVERY child in Texas deserves the best education. It is more than time that Texas steps up & finally becomes the "best" state in at least one area. Voting against HB3 will give public schools the chance to achieve that goal. Voters in Texas have said we don't want a voucher program, listen to us for once and do not pass this bill! Thank you for your time.

Michelle Dahlenburg

Self / Instructor

Austin, TX

My name is Michelle Dahlenburg, and I'm a parent of an elementary school student in public school in Austin. I'm writing to oppose HB3. Proponents of HB3 say that it is about school choice. HB3 is not about school choice, it is about funding wealthy families who want a subsidy for their expensive private schools. In larger cities, wealthy families already have the choice to go to private schools if they want to, they do not need to take funds from our already underfunded pot of public education money. Here in Austin, we already have school choice. My daughter and I currently live in a neighborhood that is zoned for a public elementary school that wasn't a good fit for her. I was easily able to apply transfer her to another nearby elementary school, that is a wonderful fit for her. We love our public school, it's the center of our community and our lives. I serve on the Campus Advisory Committee for our school, and it's astonishing to hear about what a small budget they have to do all the things they need to do. In rural committees, students do not have another choice. Special education students are often denied entry to private schools because private schools are not required to support them. Parents already have "school choice," vouchers would hurt Texas. I urge you to vote against HB3. Thank you.

Kelsey Tinnin

Self

Cypress, TX

I homeschool and appose this bill.

Rachel Rogers

Self

Austin, TX

We in Texas are against and do not support school vouchers. Texas public schools need funding, we don't need vouchers in Texas. Public schools are our kids education and future. Public educators teach everyone including special needs, children with physical disabilities, hearing impaired, children who excel and children who don't. Teachers love to teach and we should support them in every way, especially financially. Our communities are healthier and better off when we support public school.

Marga Simmons, Ms

Self

Menard, TX

Totally oppose!!

Christina Zarate
Self- cost controller
Angleton, TX

I stand firmly against HB3 because it exacerbates systemic issues in over 150 Texas counties with limited or no access to essential resources. This bill enables a system where Texas officials and billionaires work in tandem for personal gain, with no transparency, no accountability, and no real solutions for the people impacted. Public funds should serve the public good, not private interests—no vouchers, no loopholes, no backdoor deals. I am formally requesting Full funding for our public schools and an increase in the Basic Allotment so kids aren't crammed in a classroom like a jail cell like private prisons. Reducing classroom size would benefit everyone emotional well being and learning environment.

Jennifer Peete
Self, instructional coach
SHADY SHORES, TX

As an educator and a product of public education, I know the importance it played in my students'and my own life. Please don't use our tax dollars to fund private schools. Please use tax dollars to fund public school well, so Texas's citizens can be well educated.

Micaela Segal, Mrs.
Self, Public School Teachee
Houston, TX

As a public school graduate and public school teacher, who went to private school and has taught in private institutions, I must say that school choice is NOT the choice for Texas and definitely NOT the choice for Texans. Only public schools should receive public funding. Anything else is a disservice and disrespect to the people of this great state.

Aaron Gonzalez, Mr.
Self
Dallas, TX

I am urging you to vote NO on HB3 and protect Texas public schools from being drained by a voucher scheme that benefits only a select few. School vouchers do not help public schools—they actively harm them.

Public schools exist to serve all children, not just those who can afford private education. They provide special education (SPED) services, safe learning environments, and essential resources like free meals that many families rely on. Vouchers funnel taxpayer dollars away from these critical services, leaving the vast majority of students worse off.

Let's be clear: vouchers do not make private school accessible to working families. Private schools do not have to provide SPED services. Families like mine have had to pay $600 per month for dyslexia support and $300 per month for speech therapy—out of pocket, on top of tuition. That is not a solution—it is an exclusionary system designed for those who can already afford it.

Public schools are saving lives. They educate and support children regardless of income, disability, or background. Diverting funds through vouchers is a direct attack on these students and their futures. I urge you to reject HB3 and stand with Texas families who depend on strong, well-funded public schools.

Vote NO. Our children's futures depend on it.

Cecilia Wood, Esq

self - attorney

Austin, TX

1. It is most unlikely that a billionaire would ever qualify. Five hundred percent (500%) of the federal poverty level for a family of fourteen (14) is $435,750.00 NOT a billion.
2. Economic disparity exists now because wealth and earning ability varies greatly between individuals, family, and neighborhoods. This bill will not save all of the student from low income neighborhoods. It will rescue some. It makes no sense to save none because all cannot be helped.
3. All the state money has gone to public schools presumably since 1876. No matter how much money is invested in public schools the effectiveness of public schools continues to decline. The numbers offered by various legislators this session demonstrate that fifty percent (50%) to seventy-five percent (75%) of current public school students cannot read or do math at grade level. Even if this bill doesn't solve the entire problem it will be a first step. What we're doing now is NOT working.

Brian Hensley

Self

Manor, TX

This bill must not pass. I don't want my tax dollars to be used to give breaks to rich people and further fund systemic racism, classics, and party politics. Please vote NO on HB3

Jana Davis

Self

Wills point, TX

I am opposed to this bill. As a prior educator I don't feel that this benefits low or middle socioeconomic children in the state of Texas. All this bill does is help the rich get funding for their child's education. This should never be considered.

Elizabeth Ferguson

Representing myself; change management/employee experience lead

Austin, TX, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, the largest and most expensive school voucher scheme ever proposed in Texas. This bill takes taxpayer dollars meant for public schools and redirects them to private schools that lack transparency, accountability, and equal access for all students. How is anyone okay with that?

Public tax dollars should support public schools, which serve every child, regardless of ability, income, or background. Texas lawmakers have not increased the basic per-student funding allotment for public schools since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and a record budget surplus. If there is money in the budget for education, our priority should most certainly be fully funding public schools first. By doing this, we should be ensuring teacher raises, better resources for students, and improvements to school infrastructure—before sending tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

Additionally, HB 3 does not even prioritize the students who need the most support. It allows families already in private schools—including those making over $200,000 per year—to receive taxpayer-funded vouchers. Wealthy families will get a discount on private school tuition while public schools lose funding, harming the vast majority of Texas students.

While I'm horrified that this is even the case, this bill also fails students with disabilities. While HB 3 offers larger voucher amounts for special education students, private schools are not required to accept them or provide the necessary services. Public schools are legally required to serve all children, yet HB 3 shifts funding away from them to schools that are not obligated to meet these needs. This does not make sense.

Texas public schools educate more than 5.4 million students—far more than private institutions ever will. If we truly care about education, we should be investing in strong, well-funded public schools that serve everyone, rather than subsidizing private schools that can pick and choose their students.

HB 3 is bad for Texas families, bad for students, and bad for our public schools. I urge legislators to reject this costly and irresponsible voucher scheme and instead invest in fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Ferguson
Austin, TX

Ginia Luker
Public educators and students
Lufkin, TX

I oppose House Bill 3 and its proposal to implement school vouchers in Texas. Public education is the foundation of a strong society, and it must remain fully funded and accessible to all children. Instead of diverting resources away from public schools, we should be working to strengthen and improve the system we already have. We need to ensure that every child in Texas has access to the resources, support, and opportunities they need to succeed, no matter their background.

Christine Douglas
Self
Cypress, TX

Our public schools, our teachers and staff, our children, our FUTURE deserve better than this!

Julie Armstrong
Self
Austin, TX

I do not support HB 3. I believe my kids and the children of TX deserve better. This benefits the wealthy and strips our kids of a decent public education. When did we decide ALL of our kids are not worth fighting for and deserving of a great education.

Rebekah Riley

Self

Coppell, TX

The majority of public schools in Texas are incredible. We moved here from another state to benefit from the wonderful public education system in Texas. This is a dramatic and half-baked idea that would have serious repercussions to our economy.

August Wunderlich

Self

Montgomery, TX

Say no to vouchers or at least fund public schools appropriately and have private schools abide by the same rules. This includes standardized testing and accepting all students.

Tricia Chalaire

Self

Paris, TX

I am opposed to HB 3, vouchers, ESA. Please vote NO!

Christine Heath, Mrs.

Self

Cypress, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers

Claire Rucker

Self

Wolfforth, TX

I do NOT support vouchers.

Sarah McHugh
Self/Social media management
Austin, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, the largest and most expensive school voucher scheme ever proposed in Texas. This bill takes taxpayer dollars meant for public schools and redirects them to private schools that lack transparency, accountability, and equal access for all students.

Public tax dollars should support public schools, which serve every child, regardless of ability, income, or background. Texas lawmakers have not increased the basic per-student funding allotment for public schools since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and a record budget surplus. If there is money in the budget for education, our priority should be fully funding public schools first—ensuring teacher raises, better resources for students, and improvements to school infrastructure—before sending tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

Furthermore, HB 3 does not even prioritize the students who need the most support. It allows families already in private schools—including those making over $200,000 per year—to receive taxpayer-funded vouchers. Wealthy families will get a discount on private school tuition while public schools lose funding, harming the vast majority of Texas students.

This bill also fails students with disabilities. While HB 3 offers larger voucher amounts for special education students, private schools are not required to accept them or provide the necessary services. Public schools are legally required to serve all children, yet HB 3 shifts funding away from them to schools that are not obligated to meet these needs.

Texas public schools educate more than 5.4 million students—far more than private institutions ever will. If we truly care about education, we should be investing in strong, well-funded public schools that serve everyone, rather than subsidizing private schools that can pick and choose their students.

HB 3 is bad for Texas families, bad for students, and bad for our public schools. I urge legislators to reject this costly and irresponsible voucher scheme and instead invest in fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education.

Sincerely,
Sarah McHugh
Austin TX

Michelle Herskowitz
Self
Houston, TX

I oppose HB3 and do not want you to vote for vouchers. Please fund our public schools.

Chris Goode
Self
San Marcos, TX

I am totally against school vouchers! I am a retired Texas teacher of 35 years. Texas public schools need to be funded much better than it is now. I spent thousands of dollars out of my paycheck to buy supplies for my classroom, paid for my own conferences and training so I could be the best teacher I could be, and the amount of hours I worked was way beyond a normal work day. The better we educate our young people, the better our society will be. We need to educate all children. I worked with all kinds of students, mainly junior high level. Some students were in gangs, who did turn their life around once they found out they could read and think. We need to give every child a valued opportunity to learn. Vouchers are not the answer!!! Funding our public system of education will be the best future for our students!

Megan King

Self

Cooper, TX

I oppose!

Lori Mayfield

Myself as the mother of a hs senior at LTHS

AUSTIN, TX

I strongly oppose this bill. Does this go against the Texas constitution? This will hurt public schools. I have a son with a 504 who is graduating this year from Lake Travis high school. Additionally, do not let Governor Abbott take away 504's and IEP's for students with disabilities Support public education and don't take away funding by letting rich people send their children to religious schools.

Elizabeth Nelson

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am vehemently opposed to the creation of an education savings account. It is our duty to provide the best public education for our children. It is time to substantially increase teacher pay and spend the money to over engineer our public education just as we over engineer our defense in this country. Most rural areas don't have private schools and will be harmed. Let the citizens of this state vote on this, not legislators lining their pockets.

Nikita Pena

Self-Teacher

Rio Grande City, TX

I oppose any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools.

Jessica Pleimann

None

Abilene, TX

I am very against school vouchers. Education funds shouldn't go to private schools. We need to keep the money in our public school system. If anything, they deserve more money to have the tools to teach our children. I'm sure many of your kids go to private schools. I'm sure you all can afford them without the help of the state helping. Many of us aren't in that position. We need our public schools to have ample resources to teach our kids.

James Tatum

Self Teacher

Longview, TX

Please do not pass this bill! It will not help kids in this state!

Melanie Atkinson

Self

Arlington, TX

Say no to vouchers and this bill. This bill will endanger public education in Texas. If you really want to give students the opportunities they deserve, then fully fund public education. Give educators the raise they deserve. Raise the per student allotment.

Anne Mills, Mrs
Retired educator
Commerce, TX

Fully fund schools. Then will talk vouchers. Public $ belongs in our public schools.

Michelle Pietri
Private citizen
San Antonio, TX

I am against school vouchers! As someone who has had children in both public school, and private school, I believe that the voucher system is stealing from the vast majority of students who have to use public school education!

They are not vouchers that are fair when not everyone has the opportunity to use them.

If you don't have transportation, you can't use it,

If you don't have the finances to cover the rest of the tuition, you can't use it,

If there is not a public school in your area, you can't use it,

This is not a fair voucher system!

I am completely against it!

As someone who has been in the education system for over 20 years, I am highly against how it will affect public schools financially.

Again, I have looked at many side sides of this issue, and I am completely against it!

As someone who had a child in private school, I am completely against it!

It is an unfair coupon for the wealthy, and it leaves people with less means behind.

All students should have the opportunity for a good education, no matter what their family background!

I am completely against the voucher system!

As a representative of the people, please represent the majority of the youth who all want to be educated fairly! Please vote no!

Please vote no!

Claire Hicks
Self- Fundraiser
Fort Worth, TX

I am strongly against school vouchers and am horrified by the direction our state leaders are pushing education. Public dollars should remain available for ALL students.

Carrie Shevlin
Self
Montgomery, TX

Please stand against any effort to implement school vouchers in Texas. These schemes are nothing more than a calculated attack on our public education system, diverting taxpayer dollars from the schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children and funneling them into private institutions that operate with little oversight and zero obligation to serve all students. This is not school choice—it is government-sponsored abandonment of public education.

Texas public schools are already underfunded, understaffed, and overburdened. Instead of addressing these urgent crises, vouchers would strip even more resources from our classrooms, leaving our students and teachers to struggle while private schools, many of which are religious and exclusionary, reap the benefits at taxpayers' expense. Private schools are not required to accept students with disabilities, English language learners, or those with behavioral challenges. They are not held to the same academic standards as public schools. Why should public dollars subsidize institutions that can pick and choose whom they educate while turning their backs on our most vulnerable children?

This is a blatant betrayal of Texas families. If you care about the future of this state, invest in the schools that serve all children, not just the privileged few. I urge you to reject any and all voucher proposals and commit to strengthening Texas public schools instead. Texas children deserve better.

Sibyl Delgrolice

Self

Lufkin, TX

Vouchers divert essential funding away from our public schools, especially harming rural communities where public schools are the backbone of education. Instead of weakening our public education system, we should be investing in resources, teacher support, and student success.

Please stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting HB 3 and prioritizing strong, fully funded public schools.

Caren Lane

Self/Senior Art Director

Bedford, TX

Vote against the “voucher program” education savings accounts. It will harm students and bankrupt TX school districts

David Bower

self

Hillsboro, TX

My wife, daughter, and I all vote, and we are totally against the Republican school voucher scheme. Public tax money should go to public schools, where the vast majority of students are educated. Republicans have strangled public education for years, and teachers are ridiculously underpaid. There is also a deeply-disturbing undercurrent to the proposed funding formulas, where public school students are only funded at 3/5ths of the funding for private/parochial schools. This harkens back to the 3/5ths Compromise in our US Constitution, where slaves were counted as only 3/5ths of a free human for purposes of congressional enumeration and apportionment. It appears that Republicans have the same attitude toward public school students...that they are only worth 3/5ths of a private school student. In addition, rural students virtually will be eliminated from utilizing these vouchers, because there are no private schools anywhere close by. So the majority of people who will benefit from vouchers will be the well-off, who can afford to physically transport their kids to private schools and who can afford to send them to private schools now. WE OPPOSE HB3, AND WE VOTE AT EVERY ELECTION!

Martha Thompson

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Mary Brownlow, Mrs.

Self retired teacher

Amherst, TX

This bill will have the effect of closing our small school and provide money for those who choose private education. I am in whole heartedly AGAINST this bill.

Kelly Jarisch

Self

Austin, TX

I urge you to oppose HB 3 and support Texas public schools. This bill diverts taxpayer dollars from public schools, which educate over 90% of Texas students, to private institutions with little accountability. Schools already facing teacher shortages and rising student needs will be forced to cut programs, increase class sizes, and limit services.

Private schools receiving taxpayer funds are not required to serve all students, follow state curriculum standards, provide performance data, or maintain financial oversight. If public money is being spent, there should be transparency in how it is used. HB 3 lacks that accountability.

While promoted as a "school choice," HB 3 benefits only a small group of families. Vouchers do not fully cover tuition, leaving many working-class and rural families unable to access private schools. Meanwhile, public schools serving most students will be left with fewer resources.

Strong public schools create strong communities. When schools suffer, property values decline, businesses struggle, and workforce development weakens. Texans have consistently rejected voucher schemes, recognizing that public funds should support schools that serve all students. HB 3 threatens that foundation.

I appreciate your time and consideration in protecting Texas public education.

Shari Baird

Self

Richwood, TX

I am wholly against House Bill 3. It does nothing to help a majority of the students. It subsidizes the rich, who can already afford public schools. Our great state needs to properly fund public schools and quit trying to divert funds to private businesses which do not follow the same requirements of public education. ALL of our Texas children deserve a quality education. Not just the rich. Public schools can be wonderful when they are properly funded! I am a republican and WILL use my voting power to oppose anyone who supports this bill next time I vote. Greg Abbott will NOT be getting my vote in any shape or form.

Kyle Coker

Self/former teacher

ROUND ROCK, TX

Governor Abbott, As a seventh generation Texan, retired public and private school teacher, and parent, I can say that that all my colleagues, BOTH republicans and democrats alike are vehemently opposed to school vouchers. On reading all the comments on your many posts regarding this issue, I can conclude without question that most all my fellow Texans say NO to this voucher system. We ask you to listen to your constituents, Governor! As our state leader, you must also say NO TO SCHOOL VOUCHERS! Thank you for your time...Sincerely, Kyle A. Coker, Round Rock resident

Trisha Lynn
Self
Rockwall, TX

Questions that need to be asked:

1. How will the lottery system choose applicants? I understand how students will be prioritized, but there isn't clear language on how the comptroller will conduct the lottery? How do we ensure there is randomization?
2. Will we be able to see a list of schools and vendors that have an ESA program participant? Not asking to see student info that violates FERPA, just a list of schools and vendors receiving public funds via the ESA.
3. Will we be able to see the norm-referenced testing scores (without violating FERPA) and other accountability measurements required to receive ESA funds?
4. Why not change accountability measures in public schools to just norm-referenced testing scores instead of criterion-referenced tests (STAAR) if that's all ESA participants need to prove program proficiency?
5. Why not restrict the first few years of the program participants to just applicants in the top 2 priority groups (low income and disability)?

Considerations for changes:

1. The ESA funds should only be used for tuition and fees for private schools and homeschool program vendors. It should not cover sellable items like books and uniforms that can be resold. The bill in its current form says that parents/guardians should refrain from selling an item purchased with ESA program money, but there is not a way to uphold this provision and therefore should not be allowed.
2. ESA funds should not be used for lunch or any other meals for homeschool and private school participants unless they would have qualified for free/reduced lunch in public school. In those cases, only the amount allocated for students in public schools should be allocated for just the meal portion of the private school and homeschool ESA. Why should taxpayers foot the bill for expensive chef-made meals for program participants when we don't pay for public school student meals.
3. ESA funds should not be used for gas reimbursement. Only transportation costs associated with the school or approved homeschool vendor (school bus) should be approved funding. Taxpayers should not be paying for those participant's parents' gas.
4. ESA program participants should not be allowed to receive ANY services from their local public school district/campus. If money is following the student then why should they get any services from the public school that doesn't receive funding for that participating student? Why should public school resources that are already spread thin be utilized for program participants that didn't think the school was good enough in the first place? Put that burden on the private school or homeschool parent getting the funding.
5. There needs to be transparency showing which schools and educational vendors were associated with applicants (not the actual applicant- just the school or vendors they listed on their ESA application). We should also be able to see which schools and vendors actually receive the funds.

Sherri Dowhower
Self - Retired
Vernon, TX

I am the grandmother of 6 school-age children in Vernon, TX. I want my tax dollars to fund PUBLIC schools which all 6 of my grandchildren attend. I am angry my tax dollars would be used to rob children in our rural schools to fund the wealthy. I faithfully attend church twice weekly and I believe there should be a clear SEPARATION of church and state.

Brittney Womack
Self
Grapevine, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 and so should you! I am a mother of 3 children just starting out in their education journeys. I have also had experience in the education field for the last 8 years as different positions within Elementary Education. The public schools I have worked in and sent my kids to are a real treasure! The programs and educators deserve our full support and to be fully funded by the state of Texas! Voucher programs have no place here and the billionaires backing and pushing them are only in it for themselves not the well being of our children's education. Do not cave to outside pressure but instead stand up for our children and their future. Vote NO on HB3!!

Linda Steen, Hood County Judge, previously

Self

Granbury, TX

I am totally opposed to this bill!! I don't want to pay for Ferris Wilkes private school or anyone else's!!

Meredith Wiley

Self- parent

Canton, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Ilya Martinalbo

Self - engineer

houston, TX

Strongly opposing school choice as detrimental to public education funding and only serves as a subsidy to families who already can afford private education

Mike Wischkaemper

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am against vouchers.

Wr need to first find public schools so they can function properly

Linda Timmerman

Self

Corsicana, TX

I respectfully request a "no" vote on this proposed legislation. Parents already have a choice in their children's education, and I'm against using taxpayer dollars to fund anything other than constitutionally mandated public education. Every child deserves a superior education and our public schools have been underfunded by the State for too long.

Julie Hoyle

Self

College Sta, TX

No to vouchers! Fund public education.

John Grygar
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Abigail Simpson

Self
Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Lynn Boswell, Trustee

Austin ISD

Austin, TX

My name is Lynn Boswell. I'm an Austin ISD Trustee sharing testimony AGAINST HB3 on behalf of the district in alignment with our legislative priorities, which include opposition to ESAs or any other programs that divert public tax dollars to privately run schools and a call for accountability and transparency if an ESA or voucher passes. Our opposition is based on the needs of Texas public schools and students and the well-documented problems with these programs in other states.

Texas has rejected vouchers again and again

Session after session, communities across our state have told lawmakers that vouchers are the wrong choice for Texas and Texas lawmakers have voted in the interest of their communities. The conversation is different this time – not because the needs and values of Texas communities have changed, but because the resources being used to push vouchers have grown. It's important to make the choice that's right for Texas students and taxpayers, not for people who hope to profit from Texas students and tax dollars.

Vouchers undermine public education

Vouchers can undermine public education by diverting resources away from public schools, which educate about 90% of Texas children and offer a range of academic options, extracurricular programs, and student supports. Public schools are valued by communities across our state. Rather than diverting money to fund an unaccountable private school system, the legislature should invest in our public schools.

False promises of academic outcomes

Some supporters justify vouchers by promising better academic outcomes for students “trapped in failing public schools,” which struggle when they are starved of funds needed to meet student needs. Other states offer many well-documented failures to improve student outcomes with vouchers – programs described by economist and former voucher supporter Josh Cowen as delivering “dreadful academic results for voucher users.”

Lack of accountability and transparency

Vouchers offer families and taxpayers fewer opportunities to find out what's happening inside their child's school because private schools are exempt from state accountability and assessment standards, financial reporting requirements, open records laws, special education rules, student safety rules or curriculum requirements.

Benefit to wealthy families

In state after state, vouchers are being used primarily by students who never attended public school. More than 60% of Texas students come from families with economic disadvantage, so using tax dollars to subsidize tuition for wealthy families is especially difficult to justify. Taxpayer funds should be used to benefit the larger public, not a privileged few.

Vouchers are not fiscally responsible

Every taxpayer will bear the burden of vouchers. So it's important to understand how often vouchers are not a responsible use of taxpayer funds. Stories of fraud, waste, and ballooning expenses offer clear evidence that this is not a fiscally responsible choice.

Andrew Harbuck

Self

Lufkin, TX

This bill is not what Texans want. We ask for better funding of our public schools. When you can start asking for refunds on public services you don't use, where does it end? Refunds for roads I don't drive on? Fire departments if I don't have a fire? The choice to out your kids in private school is a private choice, not something to State should fund with tax dollars. Do your job and increase funding for public schools.

Cody Satterfield, Mrs
Self, public school educator
College Station, TX

Reiterating my plea for a vote of NO for school vouchers.
We are whole heartedly against school vouchers.

If you cannot add language to the bill in support of these funds going directly to low income or middle class families, then the vote should be no. I would also like to know what will happen to these funds when a child gets kicked out of the private school? Would they return directly to the public school? Why not fund all students the same? Why can you not hold all schools, (private, public, charter, homeschool,etc) to the exact same standards for funding, assessment, accountability, discipline, teacher certifications, etc? Fair is fair. We should be worried about giving all 5.4 million public school children the very best education possible.

Trent Bates
Self Millsap, TX

VOTE NO. As a historically conservative and right-voting member of Texas, I do not agree with HB3. This is NOT good for our children and is not fiscally responsible for my wallet. This bill at appearance seems to gut funding to the public schools that are system is designed around. This will inevitably create or worsen the ever-widening income gap between low-income earners and more financially stable households.

Theresa Neman
Self
Spring, TX

Please vote no to vouchers. Texas Leg has a constitutional duty to fully fund public schools. Over 100 counties have no private schools. Texas offers choice already. In those areas with options, families can already choose free charter schools.

Texas cannot afford to privatize education in oder to pay back Abbott's big donors.

Please let those donors know that Texas education is not for sale!

Support Texas teachers and students. Vote NO!

Jerilynn Daugherty
Self
Burleson, TX

VOTE NO ON VOUCHERS!

The majority of Texans do NOT want vouchers !

KELLY GIN, DR.
SELF
CEDAR PARK, TX

Please vote NO on vouchers/ESA and fully fund public schools. Increase the allotment by at least $1500 per student. Fund by enrollment, not attendance. Public education is the right of every Texan and withholding funds or dispersing for private school is not in the best interest of ALL.

Shannon Mann Butler

Self

Leander, TX

I am a mother of a public school student, and attended public schools in TX myself. You've heard arguments for and against vouchers, but I am sincerely asking you to think about the lack of logic to this bill.

1. Public schools must adhere to various subject curricula approved by the state. Private schools will not be verified if they adhere to the same standards in the TEKS.
2. Public schools and their districts are given "report cards," but private schools won't have them.
3. The public elects boards of trustees to select a superintendent, set a budget and create policies that support enforcement of state and federal education laws. Will you require private schools to be transparent? Will those tax dollars from vouchers be publicly accounted for?
4. Public schools are required to take any student at any point in the school year. Private schools limit enrollment numbers and limit enrollment periods to the semester before the new year starts.
5. Under current law, students with special needs must be supported with personnel and equipment where required. Private schools can tell parents they do not have the ability to assist children with special needs.
6. Many private schools are religious in nature. Because public schools are secular, all students are welcome. Religious private schools can, and have, discriminated against students because they don't worship or believe the same way.
7. We need separation of church and state. By giving tax dollars to religious schools, we are showing preference and bias. It is the antithesis of what our Founding Fathers created and fought for.

Public schools in Texas have not been fully – and adequately funded for years. It's not the schools failing our kids, it's our legislators who have no desire to actually improve the schools in their communities while they're busy fighting for vouchers that none of us want.

I urge all of you to vote NO to vouchers because it is against all our values in Texas. Look at our constitution for the state. It talks about fully funding our public schools, not giving tax dollars without accountability and transparency, to private schools.

It's time to end this.

Thank you,
Shannon Mann-Butler

rachel zindler

Self

Austin, TX

Families in Texas rely on LOCAL public education. Vouchers drain public schools of critical funding and only provide subsidies for wealthy families to pay for private and parochial schools. Please vote NO on vouchers!

oj garcia
self
austin, TX

Texas HB 3, which proposes sweeping changes to the state's education system, should be opposed for several reasons. The bill prioritizes privatization and voucher programs, which could divert crucial funding from public schools, further exacerbating the inequities faced by disadvantaged students. Instead of strengthening public education and providing resources to improve schools, HB 3 seems more focused on fostering a market-driven approach that undermines the principle of equal access to quality education for all. Additionally, the bill fails to address the systemic issues within public schools, such as insufficient teacher pay, overcrowded classrooms, and lack of resources. By shifting attention away from supporting public schools, HB 3 could ultimately harm the students who rely the most on robust, well-funded education systems.

Nicole Watson
Self
Argyle, TX

Vouchers are a scam! Please vote against this school voucher bill. Please support and fund our public schools and teachers.

Deirdre Pattillo
Self
San Antonio, TX

Vote NO on HB3! The Texas constitution is clear: "A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools." When I chose to put my child in private school for a time, I knew the cost was my responsibility - not my neighbors'. I was happy to contribute my taxes to support public schools for the benefit of my community as a whole. Public schools are essential for strong neighborhoods and communities. Strong neighborhoods and communities support the healthy function of the greater economy. Vote NO on HB3!

Chad Howard

Self

Canyon, TX

As the spouse of a teacher, I am deeply concerned about the potential impact of Texas HB3 on our public education system. While the bill proposes additional funding, it falls far short of addressing the real challenges faced by our schools, students, and educators. Texas students deserve a fully funded public education system that ensures every child, regardless of their background, has access to the resources, support, and opportunities they need to succeed.

Public education in Texas has been underfunded for years, and this has created stark disparities across the state. Many schools in low-income areas are forced to operate with outdated materials, overcrowded classrooms, and inadequate facilities. Teachers, like my spouse, often spend their own money on classroom supplies, and many students don't have access to the tools or technology they need to thrive. The funding levels proposed by HB3 may offer a short-term boost, but they do little to address these persistent disparities or meet the growing demands of our education system.

One of the primary issues with HB3 is that it does not provide enough resources for long-term, systemic change. While the bill proposes some increased funding, it will not significantly improve the conditions in our schools or the educational opportunities available to our students. Overcrowded classrooms, teacher shortages, and the increasing need for mental health support are just a few of the critical issues that HB3 fails to address. A modest increase in per-student funding will not be sufficient to close the gap between wealthy districts and those struggling to keep their doors open.

Teacher compensation is another area where HB3 falls short. As the spouse of a teacher, I see firsthand how hard educators work, often with little recognition or adequate support. Teachers in Texas are among the lowest-paid in the nation, and many are leaving the profession due to burnout and frustration with the lack of support. While HB3 provides some funding for salary increases, it is not nearly enough to address the growing teacher shortage or to provide educators with the compensation they deserve for their hard work and dedication.

Additionally, HB3 does not address the equity issues that continue to plague our education system. Wealthier districts often have access to the best resources, technology, and extracurricular opportunities, while underfunded schools are left behind. Without a substantial increase in funding that is specifically targeted to the schools that need it most, these disparities will only continue to widen. Every child in Texas, regardless of where they live, should have the same opportunity to succeed. We need a funding system that ensures equitable distribution of resources and that provides the support every student needs to thrive.

What Texas truly needs is a comprehensive approach to funding public education—one that prioritizes long-term investment and ensures that every school has the resources

Natalia Mora

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose this bill, public schools need more funding. Republicans should continue to follow George Bush's motto of no child left behind!

Bob Pavlock

Self

Sugarland, TX

Want funding to remain for the public schools. The voucher system is inequitable and unfair.

cinthia pedraza

Self

austin, TX

This bill is un American. As a tax payer I do not approve of school vouchers

Sheree Felan
Self - Customer Success Manager
Richland Hills, TX

Who is Jeff Yass and why does he have influence over TX legislation??? <https://www.texastribune.org/2024/07/17/greg-abbott-jeff-yass-campaign-donation/>

Donna Linn
Public Schools
Lakeway, TX

As a past principal in a highly successful Title 1 school, I urge our representatives to fully fund public education. It is the life line to our "land of opportunities". Without the support of the state, my school and work as an educator for 40 years would have been impossible.

Marrit Ingman
Self / Instructional Designer
Austin, TX

Texans already have school choice. Moreover, without a strong system of public schools, "school choice" is meaningless. All Texans deserve a free and appropriate public education as stated in our Constitution. Underfunding and starving the public school system is not the answer.

Pam Whitehouse
self
Austin, TX

This is a private voucher scam that would take money away from kids and schools in need and give it to already well-funded private schools. This would be bad.

Jenna Sims
Self/Realtor
Mineral Wells, TX

Public education is already struggling with not enough funding. This bill would take MORE tax dollars from public education. Vouchers would not allow all children the same opportunities and would leave some parents still unable to pay for private education, making the voucher system unfair. Private schools do not want ANY government strings attached with these vouchers. My kids go to a private school where they still teach cursive, THE BIBLE, and have the rights that Texans should have. I fear that government funds will mean more government oversight and regulation for private schools removing many of these things from private schools. Also, it seems those of us who work hard to put out kids in a private school with our own hard earned money will not qualify for these vouchers. Just another way to make it almost impossible for the middle class to thrive. Let's leave private schools alone and focus on using more tax dollars for public education. Those of us who choose to work hard to be able to afford private schools will keep doing so.

Carrie Couch
Self/speech language pathologist
Vernon, TX

Please vote against an education savings account program. The public school system is struggling and the savings account program will not make it better. Public schools are required to provide a free and appropriate education to all children. Private schools are allowed to discriminate, not allowing children with behaviors or IEPs. The schools are not held to the same standards such as state testing and required curriculum.

Adelina Parks

Self, teacher-parent

Highland Village, TX

I am a public school teacher, this is my 20th year in education. It's an honor to teach the children of Texas. I have had students with both physical and learning disabilities, students new to the country, and our local neighborhood children in my classroom. I have always loved educating and engaging students within the classroom and supporting them from where they are educationally and building from that foundation to get them the grade level TEKS they need. All while building a family environment for them to feel safe. When COVID hit and schools began closing down it was another challenge I never thought we as a state would have to face. Our district had us using technology to support every student online with live lessons, tutoring sessions, and 1:1 intervention. I had my 2 children at home with me while I juggled my virtual classroom schedule and getting my children on theirs for 2nd and pre-k. We made it work because that is how I was raised and how I am raising my children. The respect teachers felt after that difficult time was wonderful and short lived. Fast forward to today, our classrooms are stuffed and we continue to meet the needs of so many children from language barriers, behavior needs, special education, and gifted students, but we make it work. My classroom of 25 students is thriving. I have to be creative in my lesson planning, seating chart, and group project ideas, however my students are all growing and progressing and each one of my students knows I care about them and we are a family. Our school was one that was of the schools in the district being reviewed as a potential closure. Our campus eventually was taken off the list, but another school near us will be closed and the some of the students and teachers from that school will be added to our campus next year. We all have fears, and are nervous about this next year. We will have added special education programs like behavior intervention classrooms being brought over as well as an ALS classroom. Our classrooms were full this year and waivers had to be added, and we aren't sure how big the classrooms will be next year. We are going on several years of no raises for teachers and our voters voted to give us raises last year, however we have not received anything. The rising costs of everything due to inflation has made it difficult for our family. We do not have the funds in school to pay for students needs, and I am paying for more now out of pocket to support my students. I am asking that you consider public education and providing us with increased funding to support our local students, give our teachers a raise so we can meet the cost of living. As a career educator I attended public school all my life, I went to Texas Tech University, I hold a masters degree in education and I have trained and certified to teach K-12, GT, ESL, and special education. The students that walk in my classroom deserve to have a highly educated and passionate teacher supporting them.

jandel crutchfield

Mansfield ISD

Mansfield, TX

Please keep public dollars in public schools. As taxpaying citizens we deserve to have direct access to the benefits we are paying for. We do not subsidize private ventures for other areas like roads and houses. If people want to complete a project on their private home or driveway they are not entitled to our public tax dollars.

The majority of kids in Texas attend public schools that are NOT failing and provide services that private schools do not.

Don't repay evil for good, don't approve defunding the hard work of our staff in Mansfield ISD and other districts.

Reject HB3 voucher/education savings account portion and focus on fully funding our schools.

You represent the every day people in your district. Please hear us. We have 1100 signatures and growing on a petition to reject this voucher plan.

<https://chng.it/kWN9KX9nFV>

Please listen to us.

Bailey Hogan

Self

Lubbock, TX

As a concerned parent with two children enrolled in a public school, I firmly believe that the concept of school vouchers is not a wise approach to education funding. I strongly advocate for the notion that tax dollars collected from the general public should be allocated exclusively to support public schools, rather than being redirected towards private institutions or homeschooling programs. Public schools serve a vital role in providing accessible education to all children in our community, and I feel that our investment should be focused on enhancing these public educational systems. By doing so, we ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has the opportunity to receive a quality education in a shared, diverse environment.

Elyse Freed

Self

Houston, TX

School choice offers value and should be passed

Karen Stanton

Self

Allen, TX

I am adamantly opposed to school vouchers, and so are most Texans I know. Public signs are for public schools, and you have defended us for long enough. Our legislators are not representing us. Our governor has abandoned us for whatever campaign donations he has received. Please listen to Texans and fund our schools so that all our children can learn, our teachers can be paid appropriately, our classes won't be bursting at the seams.

Crystal Zant

Self

Lubbock, TX

While you are trying to trick families into feeling like they have more school choice, it has serious consequences
Diverts critical funding from public schools
Lack of accountability
Private schools can discriminate
No guarantee of access and equity
Weakens public education

Sincerely, a conservative public school educator of 20 years

Laura Williams

Public school educators

Troy, TX

Vote NO for vouchers. Protect and support Texas public school students, teachers, staff, and schools!!! Fully fund public schools!

Amy Lentz
Self
Austin, TX

If parents want to send their children to private schools, they are allowed to — at their own expense. It is not the taxpayers' responsibility especially since these are private schools over which the taxpayers do not have oversight of. It is the responsibility of private schools to make their schools affordable. If they accept any taxpayer money, they forfeit their right to be private. All of their students (not just the ones who used vouchers) should be required to take assessments to see their ranking if the private schools accept any voucher. Let's gather the data to see what kinds of students private schools produce. All the private school students should have to take what I believe is now called the STARS test (what use to be the TAKS test). All private school teachers will need to have the correct degrees, certifications, & such that public school teachers have to have. This Voucher Scheme should be considered the end of private school education in the state of Texas. This is a backdoor way to end private school education. The taxpayers deserve to know what they are paying for.

Yvette Bugarin Concerned Texan
Fort Worth, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
I respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids, for example states such as Arizona back this data. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 I support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you for remembering you work for the people and not for private schools or private entities.

Roy Luevano, Mr
self
Grapevine, TX

Please vote NO on any voucher program. As a public school teacher I am already spending my own personal money to meet the needs of my students and my classroom supplies. Surrounding districts are closing schools because of lack of funding. The last time the state raised the public allocation was 2019. Please stop holding hostage the teachers and students of the entire state of Texas to appease the needs of .05%.

Rachel Adkins
Self
Hawley, TX

Vote no on HB 3. Protect Texas students from this ludacris bill.

Rachel Flowers

self

Austin, TX

The House Bill HB3 and the Senate Bill SB2 DO NOT reflect the interest of choices of the people of Texas, nor my own. The school choice or voucher system is incredibly short-sided and will do more damage to student education in the State of Texas than support. Vote representing the voices of the constituents you serve, which is against instituting a system of school choice or vouchers.

Allison Walker

Self

Austin, TX

Dear dedicated Texas public stewards,

I ask you to please take my comments into consideration regarding HB 3.

My daughter Poppy's (current 2nd grader, attending school in Austin ISD) education won't be protected with vouchers/allocating public monies to private schools. Money taken away from our community public schools will make it harder for her and students of all needs to receive the education they deserve and we as taxpayers contribute to.

If it weren't for our community public school our daughter would not have even been identified as needing the services necessary to support her learning needs that she now receives by teachers and interventionists we cherish and are incredibly grateful for.

Our family living in rural areas will also be negatively effected as there aren't even private schools accessible/close to them. Even if there were, they cannot financially afford to cover the difference in tuition.

Please PLEASE keep our money, your faith and support into our community public schools. Our Texan students and families deserve it. Our voices matter & I'm pleading with you to prioritize our Texas community schools, teachers and students - what could show more Texan pride than that?

Thank you for time and considering my input and personal experience,

Proud Texan and community public school parent, volunteer and supporter - Allison Walker

Chris Parker, MR.

Self

Houston, TX

FOR THE BILL TO PASS

Stacie Smith

Self

Houston, TX

As a property taxpayer, mother to 5 school aged children, and former special education teacher, I strongly oppose HB3. Education savings accounts do not give parents choice. It puts the money in private organizations with little oversight or accountability. Private schools are not required to educate all children. Children with special needs may receive more funding in your bills, but they are not guaranteed admission or appropriate placement or education.

We must not further break down our institutions of public education. We need to fully fund schools to the amount they need.

Listen to the teachers, the superintendents, the families.

Craig Keaton, Dr.

Self

Arlington, TX

Dear Esteemed Legislators, As a dedicated homeschooling parent of two teenagers, I am writing to express my strong support for HB3, which proposes funding for homeschool families in Texas. This bill represents a significant opportunity to enhance the educational landscape for our children and provide them with the resources they need to thrive academically and athletically. Homeschooling allows us the flexibility to tailor education to our children's unique needs and interests. However, the financial burden of materials, extracurricular activities, and athletic programs can be overwhelming. By supporting HB3, you would be investing in the future of countless families like mine, enabling us to access essential resources that foster both academic excellence and physical well-being. With the additional funding, my children would have the chance to explore diverse educational materials, participate in enrichment programs, and engage in athletic activities that are crucial for their development. These opportunities not only enhance their learning experience but also promote lifelong skills such as teamwork, discipline, and perseverance. I urge you to consider the positive impact that HB3 could have on homeschooling families across Texas. Your support for this bill would demonstrate a commitment to educational choice and the well-rounded development of our children. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Nancy Monroe, Mrs.

Self - former teacher, retired from second career

Coppell, TX

An ESA program WILL hurt public schools in Texas. There is no doubt to that inevitable result. If this was limited to Only Special Needs Students or Only Poverty level families (100% poverty level, not 500% of poverty level.) I could see some justification to it. But it is not limited that way. Even if it was it would not fill the needs for those children. It is written so that wealthy families can take advantage of it. Focusing on ESAs as a way to improve education in Texas is mistake and is insulting to all those in public education who accept all children and work tirelessly at lousy pay to do a great job. There are always outliers but taking money away from public education and having it end up in private schools or charters is not the solution. Private & Charter schools don't have to accept everyone. Public schools do. And when a Private or Charter school closes it's doors because of finances or when it kicks out a child - the public school accepts the child back - and - there have been too many recorded instances that those children are actually behind the public school grade level they were in. So what happens - when in less than a year a child goes back to the public school - will that ESA money be restored to the school?

What about home schooling? What kind of accountability would be in place there? That could allow a child to be completely uneducated without safeguards! And lack of socialization? That could be very hampering to children.

Other negative factors: with ESAs will any students whose parents use ESAs be required to have the same testing and accountability? How can that be accomplished? Seems like a new department would need to be created to keep up with that! But private, charter & home schooled children should be held to same accountability as public school students.

And is there availability of private & charter schools all over the state? We know it is not. So where is the equity in that? It isn't - the only solution is to focus on improving Public Schools and Vote NO to ESAs.!

Cora Lansdowne

self; music therapist

Midlothian, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I am a product of Texas public school education system and I believe in it. I am also deeply concerned what ramifications a voucher system would have for children currently receiving special education services in public schools. Please vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please support and fund public education for our children and our future.

Melissa Ingram

Self

N Richlnd Hls, TX

As a lifelong resident of Texas, product of the Texas public school system and a parent of a child who attends public schools, I ask that you oppose the creation of school vouchers. Please support public schools, the teachers and administrators who work so hard to educate and protect our children, and the innocent children of all walks of life who the public school system serves. Vouchers will only benefit a fraction of Texas families who are more affluent than the average Texas family while siphoning funds away from desperately underfunded public schools. Please support Texas children by voting against "an education savings account."

Marc van Bree

Self

Buda, TX

I write to you today as a father. A father deeply concerned about the future of my children, and particularly, the future of my youngest son.

My son, who is 11 years old, is a loving, non-speaking and autistic child, requiring substantial support to thrive. He attends a foundational learning classroom in Hays CISD, a district that, like so many others in Texas, is struggling under the weight of chronic underfunding.

I've seen firsthand the impact of this struggle. My son's Individualized Education Program (IEP), the document that guarantees his civil rights, is under threat. Understaffing, a direct result of the state's failure to adequately fund public education, is jeopardizing his access to the education he deserves.

Let's be clear: Texas ranks among the lowest states in the nation for state funding of public education, contributing a mere 32%. This forces local districts to shoulder an overwhelming burden. If this legislature truly seeks to decouple funding from zip codes, it must invest in public education at the state level.

Furthermore, Texas has a shameful history of violating federal law. The state has illegally decreased funding and artificially capped the number of students receiving these vital services. The U.S. Department of Education and federal courts have repeatedly intervened, yet problems persist.

HB 3, as it stands, does not solve these problems. It exacerbates them. This bill in effect diverts public funds to private schools, offering $10,000 per student while public schools receive a mere $6,500. This disparity is not only unjust but also unsustainable.

Proponents of this bill tout "school choice." But for families like mine, it's a false choice. There are few private schools equipped to serve students with complex needs, and even with vouchers, they remain unaffordable. More importantly, private schools are legally permitted to—and will—deny admission to students like my son.

This is not "school choice." It is a system that further underfunds public education, erodes the civil rights of students with disabilities, and creates a two-tiered system where some children are deemed worthy of investment, and others are not.

We don't need vouchers. We need the state to fulfill its constitutional obligation to fully fund public education. We need to safeguard the civil rights of all students, ensuring they receive a free and appropriate public education, regardless of their needs.

Public education is the cornerstone of our democracy. As John Adams wrote in 1785, "the Whole People must take upon themselves the Education of the Whole People and must be willing to bear the expences of it. there should not be a district of one Mile Square without a school in it, not founded by a Charitable individual but maintained at the expence of the People themselves."

I urge you, members of this committee, to uphold that fundamental principle. Reject HB 3, and instead, invest in the future of all Texas children.

Greg Silva
self
Fort Worth, TX

I reach out with an earnest plea to stand against Governor Abbott's proposed voucher plan. This position is shared by the majority of Texans. To support this plan would deny the voices of millions of Texans who depend on you to defend their children's educational future.

Governor Abbott has received substantial funding from billionaires involved in the Christian Nationalist movement, including Jeff Yass, Tim Dunn, Farris and Dan Wilks. Their coordinated effort aims to defund public education while directing money into private Christian institutions, promoting Christian-based values and curriculum while fortifying social inequity between Christian and non-Christian communities.

As a non-Christian taxpayer, this violates my religious freedom and the constitutional separation of church and state. Taking my tax dollars and allocating them to private religious schools violates my rights and the rights of all who don't subscribe to Christian beliefs. I ask you to consider how you would feel if your government took your hard-earned money to fund schools promoting religious beliefs contrary to your own. How would you feel if your "choice" was between an underfunded public school or one that celebrates beliefs opposing your deeply held convictions?

Abbott falsely calls this a "School Choice" system. The $10,000 allotment per student doesn't cover full tuition at most private institutions. In Fort Worth where I live, private school costs range from $20,000-$40,000 annually. What prevents these schools from simply raising tuition by $10,000, increasing their profits while providing no additional value? This isn't choice – it's a subsidy for the wealthy.

Public schools provide a safe, unbiased environment for all people, without discrimination based on faith, race, sexual orientation, gender, or other differences. Private schools can reject ANYONE for ANY reason as private institutions. They aren't required to accommodate students with disabilities, provide transportation from surrounding areas, or serve all communities equally.

This voucher system takes money from families who cannot afford tuition despite the $10,000 allotment and gives it to wealthy families who don't need assistance. It allows the wealthy to shirk their responsibilities to the public.

Public schools, roads, parks, community centers, libraries, and other public amenities benefit everyone in society, even the wealthy. When we all prosper, society remains healthy as we function as a community rather than isolated individuals.

Dismantling these basic public systems creates dangerous social inequity and desperation that ultimately corrodes all aspects of society.

PLEASE stand against this egregious violation of religious freedom, misappropriation of funds from the working/middle class to the wealthy, and movement to use Christianity as a basis for social control. Reject this plan and protect the inclusive, equitable public education system that serves all Texans.

Jennifer Lorenz
Self
Cypress, TX

This is clearly a coupon for the wealthy.

Private schools do not take in all students. They also charge too much for lower income, even with the "education savings" voucher, they won't be able to afford any of the private schools.

I don't want my taxes to go towards private schools for the wealthy who don't need nor deserve my subsidies.

Mary A Gonzales, Dr.

self- physician

Austin, TX

Parental concerns regarding the implementation of school vouchers in Texas often center on the potential impact on society's most vulnerable populations. Critics argue that diverting public funds to private institutions may exacerbate educational inequalities, leaving disadvantaged students in underfunded public schools.

Evidence from other states provides insight into these concerns. In Wisconsin, for example, over 80,000 students are enrolled in voucher programs, with only 25% coming from public schools. This suggests that the majority of voucher recipients were already attending private institutions, leading to a minimal decrease in public school enrollment but a significant diversion of funds. Consequently, public schools face financial challenges, potentially reducing resources for remaining students.

Furthermore, studies have indicated that voucher programs can have negative effects on student achievement. Research from Indiana's Choice Scholarship voucher program found that students experienced declining performance in mathematics after transferring to private schools. Similarly, in Ohio's EdChoice Program, voucher students who previously attended high-performing public schools performed worse academically than if they had remained in public education.

In terms of political support, Governor Greg Abbott has received substantial contributions from pro-voucher advocates. Notably, Jeff Yass, a billionaire from Pennsylvania and prominent school voucher supporter, donated $6 million to Abbott's campaign in December 2023, followed by an additional $4 million in July 2024. These significant out-of-state contributions have raised questions about external influences on Texas education policy.

Regarding the protection of public education, the Texas Constitution, Article 7, Section 1, mandates the support and maintenance of public schools. It states: "A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools." This provision underscores the state's commitment to providing free public education to all children.

In summary, while school vouchers aim to offer educational choices, data from other states suggest potential adverse effects on vulnerable students and public school systems. The significant financial backing from pro-voucher donors further complicates the debate, especially considering Texas's constitutional obligation to maintain a robust public education system.

<https://chatgpt.com/c/67a9e84e-eb6c-8005-8690-c6215d5e9a9c>

"school choice" or a scam :
let's see what does the data show:

Do vouchers work ? no
Do they improve quality of education? no
Do they improve outcomes? no
Do they provide improve accountability? no
Do they harm the most vulnerable amongst us? yes is access to free public education enshri

Mary Pat Rafferty, Ms

self / retired school teacher

Sugar Land, TX

I am highly AGAINST HB 3 by Buckley. The wealthy can already afford to send their children to private schools and don't need any reimbursement from the state. It is a CHOICE to attend either FREE PUBLIC SCHOOL or pay tuition at a private school. The loss of revenue for the public school system which services more than half the student population in Texas would devastate many programs and not meet the needs of many students, especially in rural areas. DO NOT VOTE FOR THIS UNFAIR BILL. It's time for the wealthy to appreciate what they have and stop trying to squeeze out extra from the government.

Kathryn Manuel

self

Houston, TX

I am against school vouchers. Tax dollars should be spent on funding public schools as the vast majority of the children in our state attend public schools and all children deserve an equal opportunity for quality education. Our schools are already underfunded compared to the national average. Providing excellent public education is the only way for our great state to thrive in the future. Vouchers are simply welfare for the wealthy.

Melissa Miller

Self

Frisco, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families already sending their kids to private school. This will only hurt public schools. I implore you to fund public schools and not have private school vouchers.

Burt Ahn

"self" Engineer

Cedar Park, TX

My name is Burt Ahn and I'm a parent writing to express my strong opposition to the HB 3 and any voucher legislation that diverts my tax money toward private schools. I know vouchers have been tried before in other states and have been proven ineffective. All public funds should stay public and be used to support all of Texas kids. Our taxes shouldn't be used to subsidize families who choose to send their kids to private school. It's an economic decision that a family's household should weight and consider, and public funds shouldn't be part of that consideration.

Jennifer Blair-Cockrum

self/na

Houston, TX

Oppose HB 3;

Taxpayer funds should not be used to fund private education. More than 5.5 millions students attend public schools in Texas while only approximately 125,000 attend private schools. There is already school choice: choose where you live, transfer, use the district lottery system, attend a magnet or charter system, or attend a private school on YOUR OWN DIME.

ESA are school vouchers, parents have choice and we dont need to give assistance to those who chose private schools. Private schools do not meet the same accountability, standards, or requirements as public schools are required, private schools do not have to take every student, private schools are not required to adhere to IDEA/ADA laws nor required to provide accommodations. This is welfare for the wealthy who made a choice that should not impact every other student in the state. This bill will negatively impact funding of public schools which are taxpayers funds allocated to public education, NOT private schools.

VOte no on SB2 and SB3 school vouchers is not good for Texas, students, or educating Texans.

Hillary Willmon

Self - Parent to children in TX Public Schools

Hollywood Park, TX

I am opposed to this voucher program and how it will contribute to the detriment of our public schools. We NEED public schools fully funded before creating avenues for families to go elsewhere. Every child, no matter their socioeconomic status, has a right to education and that is likely in the public realm. I am a parent to children who attend public school and spend many unpaid hours volunteering in my local school on behalf of the children in it. While private school is an option for us, we have chosen not to pursue it. We believe in the importance of our local public school and want our efforts and tax dollars going into it. The more funding public schools lose due to this program will further disadvantage countless innocent children and families who cannot afford private education. Please do not support this bill.

Pooja Harris
Self, architect
Cedar Park, TX

As a product of a Texas public school, and a property tax payer, I am horrified by this attempt to further line the pockets of the rich at the expense of everyone else. Our public schools are already suffering - students struggling, teachers being forced to quit to be able to take care of their families and their own wellbeing - and you all simply do not seem to care. Those of us paying attention see how blatantly you are trying to dumb down the general population to benefit your friends. Just like in Arizona, the average Texan will be worse off of this bill passes. I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy. Thank you.

Kamie Herrera
self
Longview, TX

I am a proud parent of four children who all attend public school. I am a product of public school. Three of my children have had either a 504 plan or an IEP. Our 4th grader recently graduated from the Speech Therapy services he had received since Kindergarten; we are so proud. Our 5th grader has a 504 plan for her ADHD. She went from barely meeting grade level in math and almost meeting grade level on the 3rd grade STAAR to mastering the STAAR in 4th grade. She missed one math question and scored perfectly on her Extended Constructed Response on the Reading. She is an active participant in her academics and her 504 plan. This year, she requested accommodations to help her be the best she could be. Our 5-year-old is in Pre-K and his 3rd year as a public school student and thriving. He receives Autism Therapies and rigorous Speech Therapy. He is a Twice-gifted child. He can do multiplication, read, and comprehend many other skills above his grade level. Living in House District 7, my children do not have access to a private school that would help them reach their full potential. Living in rural Texas, with smaller Independent School Districts, losing one teacher in their grade level in core subjects would increase their class sizes and ultimately hurt the education of the students. We have school choice. We are fortunate to live in an area where several public schools offer the ability to transfer free of charge. Instead of the legislature offering education savings accounts, we should start with solutions for our public schools and make it so that parents can choose, at no cost, to transfer their students to another ISD. Our public schools offer vital services to millions of our students. Private schools do not have to provide or accept students who need these services and are free to do that because it is not discriminatory, according to the law, for our private schools in Texas to do so. Public Schools have to serve these students, no questions asked. I am a very involved parent in my student's education, and I fully believe it is time to hold me accountable for their education. Our public schools cannot educate our students properly without family involvement. I understand HB 3 is working to give parents this right and accountability. I'm asking for that same right in the public school system, it should not be exclusive to ESA-recipient households. I am against tax dollars going to private institutions. I would like to see education savings account recipients be held to the same standards as my students. I would like to see these private institutions that accept ESA held to the same standards. I would like to see parents be able to transfer a student to a public school they are not zoned for free of charge. If holding ESA recipients to the same standards as a public school violates the private school's rights as a private school, this bill violates the rights of tax dollars needing to stay public dollars.

Regina Sorokin
Self, Nurse
Pflugerville, TX

Public schools have BEEN underfunded for some time now, and there is money being held up that could pay teachers and provide valuable resources. We are strong supporters of public schools and I have public school teachers in my family, it's abysmal how little they are paid. As a nurse, I also work closely with many children who need accommodations to attend school. Many of these children may not even have a private school option available to them, and the school could easily deny them admission, due to their accommodations. All children in Texas are entitled to a quality education, and you are responsible for providing that to ALL of them. Support our public schools and pay our teachers! Texans don't want this!

Jessica Tullis
Self
Nederland, TX

I oppose this piece of legislation and for the sake of our future Texans, I encourage all legislators to oppose this harmful bill. We need our already intentionally under-funded public schools to be fully funded based on enrollment, not average daily attendance, and this piece of legislation will provide even less funding to public schools. HB 3 proposed by Buckley will keep Texas among the bottom in education. Public funds will be diverted to private schools, which are not held accountable for a standard curriculum. For a group so worried about waste and fraud, this is opening up the misuse of taxpayer money for fraudulent means because private schools have the ability to operate in Texas without accreditation (providing little to no actual educational value), there is no central oversight organization, there is no clear vetting process for new private schools (which could lead to “pop-up” schools whose sole purpose is to gain access to these funds), and, unlike public schools, private schools can discriminate.

Leigh Beebe
Self
Houston, TX

I homeschool and I oppose this bill.

Justina Klassen
Jody C. Arrington - DUSTIN burrows-Charles Perry- Mr. Aaron kinsey- John cornyn- Ted Cruz Brownfield, TX

Vote no on bill HB3

Kimberly Bearden
Self - Retired educator
Early, TX
NO to Vouchers!

Robert Ezzo
Self
Georgetown, TX

Basically that vouchers only benefit the wealthy at the expense of the greater community

Katherina Payne

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

I strongly believe in our need for public monies to go toward public schools. I do not have children and still vote time and again to increase funds for our public schools because the efforts there are toward educating the future of our society, and hopefully democracy.

Sincerely,
Katherina Payne

Annette Kirk

self

Bryan, TX

This bill has too many unintended, negative consequences for Texas school children. The bill will not help those children to whom the bill purports to give greater educational access. This bill opens the door for dubious "private" schools to use tax payer dollars while providing little, if any, benefit to our most vulnerable children. Charter schools should serve as a case in point: While some charter schools do provide adequate education, they do not out-perform public schools. This bill will hurt rural and small districts who already struggle. This bill will hurt children with a variety of special needs because they will not be served without discrimination; charter and private schools already exclude many children with disabilities. This bill further erodes public trust in public officials who don't support our most critical public institutions. Texas public schools have historically been, and continue to be, pillars of their communities because educating all our children is in the public interest. Public funds should be spent on public institutions for the public good. This bill is bad for children because it will not deliver the benefits of a good education to all children.

Allegra Mora

Self

Muleshoe, TX

My name is Allegra, and I am a HS teacher at Muleshoe ISD. I am highly concerned about any version of a voucher program, and I am asking you to oppose HB 3 or any other voucher legislation.

-Our public schools are the heart of our community, and the state should focus on these schools instead of diverting funds to private schools.

-Unlike public schools, private and home schools have very little accountability to taxpayers, and don't have to conform to most state and federal laws regarding curriculum standards, financial accountability, teacher qualifications, student performance, special education, and student health and safety.

-Charter schools are already siphoning off students and funding from our school system, and a voucher program would create a third education system for the state to support.

-Other states, like Arizona, have created a budget crisis by introducing vouchers.

-Teachers and other employees desperately need improved compensation, and low salaries are contributing to the shortage of qualified, certified teachers. Available funding should be directed into the classroom.

-Unless strictly limited, vouchers tend to benefit families of students who are already attending private schools or those with greater wealth.

-Private schools can refuse to admit a student for any reason, including for special education status, family religion and disciplinary history, while public schools educate any student zoned for attendance.

-The highest performing private schools are unlikely to accept voucher students due to costs (tuition is higher than the amount of the voucher) and concerns about state -regulation.

-As with charter schools, even a "limited" program is very likely to be expanded in future years, to the ongoing detriment of the overall state budget, including public schools.

-Our public schools already offer choices, including magnet schools, virtual education, CTE programs and much more.

Mallory White

Self

Sherman, TX

The citizens of Texas have spoken and we say no to school vouchers! Fund our public schools, they are some of the only place kids with a tough home situation can go to be seen and cared for! Public schools provide shelter, stability, guidance and nourishment. They bring the community together, of all walks of life, so we can meet and look out for each other. Families fight for the best education for their kids, they make sacrifices to get them there everyday, to have supplies. Don't make them pick which kid they can afford to send to the better school. Don't make it harder for parents to get their children ready for society. Education should be a basic human right. Not just for the rich and elites.

Nicole Lucas

self

Cedar Park, TX

I do NOT SUPPORT this voucher scam. This is the worst possible choice any rural Republican representative could make, literally giving money to more populated areas.

Similarly, this scam will hurt every child and educator that works with kids in special education. We should be increasing the dollars per student for all children, instead of a giveaway for families that already have the means to fund private education.

Send teachers a message TODAY that you support and respect them and vote NO on HB 3. Thank you.

Sandra Zaragoza

self and health

San Antonio, TX

I don't want my tax dollars paying for private education vendors. In our state's history, our predecessors fought for the fair distribution of education resources so that all children can have access to a quality public education. This will not improve or advance public education.

Katelyn McWilliams

Self

Plano, TX

I strongly object to establishing ESAs, as they are not beneficial to ALL Texas students and educational professionals. We must preserve and strengthen our precious American public education system for the benefit of all Texans.

Erin Nowlin

Self

Tomball, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As Taxpayer and supporter of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Wendy Thibeault

Self

Temple, TX

Our public dollars are for public schools, period. Parents already have school choice in our state and the funding needs to stay for public services. Public schools need adequate funding. Public schools need sufficient resources and backing by our PUBLIC officials and not to used a political pawns. Our tax paying dollars are allocated for public services, not private entities. Do not allow Abbot to bully you into a bill that doesn't fully support and fund anything other than public schools!

Margaret Mayo

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, I can my roots in Texas to before Texas was a state. My entire family are products of the Texas public education system, therefore, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Christina Ezzo

Self

Georgetown, TX

School vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a mother of 2 children currently in the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Leah Jenkins

Self, Pediatric RN

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will only help families who can already afford private education, leaving children who are dependent on public education behind. As a pediatric nurse I work closely with special needs students in the public school system. These children often can't come anywhere close to affording private education, even with a voucher program. Many private schools aren't equipped to provide services for these students, meaning these children are fully dependent on the public school system. As a lifelong Texan, a nurse, and a parent, I ask you to vote against vouchers in order to ensure public schools get adequate funding so they can continue to serve Texas's most vulnerable children.

Mercedes Burks
Self
College Station, TX

I have chosen to homeschool my children, I have chosen to send them to a charter school, and I have chosen to send them to public schools. I am against the passage of this bill. Public taxes should never go to private schools.

Charles Hicks
Veterans
Lantana, TX

Private school voucher programs have consistently failed to deliver on their promises, proving to be a bad policy that harms public education and does not improve student outcomes. These programs divert critical funding from public schools, exacerbating inequality and leaving the majority of students—who remain in public schools—worse off.

One of the main arguments for voucher programs is that they provide "choice" and improve education through competition. However, in practice, voucher programs have not led to widespread academic improvement. Studies from states like Indiana, Ohio, and Louisiana have shown that students who use vouchers to attend private schools often perform worse on standardized tests than their peers who remain in public schools. The idea that competition would improve education simply doesn't hold up when private schools are not held to the same standards as public schools and can select their students while rejecting others.

Additionally, voucher programs disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition. Many vouchers do not cover the full cost of private school, meaning that lower-income families still face financial barriers, making the program more of a subsidy for those who can already afford private education rather than a genuine opportunity for disadvantaged students.

There is also a significant lack of accountability in private schools that receive public funding through vouchers. Many of these schools are not required to follow the same transparency, non-discrimination policies, or academic standards as public schools. This has led to cases where taxpayer money funds schools that teach ideologically driven or unscientific curricula, such as creationism over evolution.

Beyond these practical failures, voucher programs undermine the fundamental role of public education as a unifying institution that serves all students, regardless of background. Instead of improving education for everyone, vouchers exacerbate segregation along socioeconomic, racial, and religious lines.

Wherever they have been implemented, voucher programs have failed to live up to their promises, harmed public education, and prioritized ideology over evidence. The solution to improving education lies in adequately funding and reforming public schools, not diverting resources to private institutions that lack oversight and fail to deliver better results.

Eric Flores, Mr.
Self-retired
Lubbock, TX

I am against this school voucher program. If people want to send their kids to private school, the taxpayers should not have to subsidize them. The money used to subsidize this voucher school program will draw funding away from public schools that can benefit all children.

Sherry Healy
self
Austin, TX

Vouchers do not provide equal education to all children. Schools the vouchers are designed to help can choose which students they accept. Public schools have no such choice and need the funding being taken away from them to help the handicapped, disturbed and challenging students.

Kelly Jacobson

Self

Allen, TX

ESA's are flat out a scam. We the PUBLIC school parents want Texas to invest in public schools. We do not want tax payer dollars subsidizing and already wealthy families newest BMW just because they are going to collect that 10k. You know that is the only people who will take part in this scam. With the way Trump is destroying our economy- not a single middle class family will be able to make up the other 20k to choose vouchers.

Alex acevedo Acevedo

Self

Terrell, TX

From a Republican-I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas.

We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Ana Rojas Bastidas

Self

Spring, TX

NO VOUCHERS! Fund Public Schools

Angela Scott

Self and Northwest ISD

Justin, TX

I encourage every member of the House Public Education Committee to prioritize funding Texas public schools before implementing a new financial commitment through an education savings account program. While I understand the concept of separate buckets for public education and ESAs, funding is ultimately limited and coming from the same source - your Texas taxpayers. Texas public schools are already underfunded. Consider the state's budget during an economic downturn - how could we support our public education system while also financing an ESA that is expected to drastically increase? In Northwest ISD, we are currently cutting $16 million to address a structural deficit. I have watched as our board and administration has been forced to make cuts that we know are not best for kids, that we would never voluntarily make in an effort to reach a balanced budget. We pride ourselves on our culture, yet we are desperately shifting over 100 teachers to a new assignment so they can have a job next school year due to an increase in our classroom sizes and program changes. And yes, it's heartbreaking to hear of some staff who will not be able to be placed and will not have a job next year because their certification is specific and that job is no longer available. Texas public schools who educate the majority of our young Texans are drowning. There simply isn't enough money in the state to help every family fund their personal heart's desire. Even with an ESA, low to mid-income families would still not be able to afford a private school education along with all of the additional fees, uniform and event costs that would go along with it. The guardrails are not in place to prevent HB 3 from being an entitlement program for the wealthy and those already attending private schools - and that's not a complaint against the authors, it's just the reality of limited funds. So we plead that you take action that benefits the necessary majority instead of the limited few. We also fundamentally disagree with using taxpayer dollars to fund private/homeschool education that does not have the same academic or financial accountability as public schools. The management design of HB 3 is also concerning as the Comptroller has the sole ability to select five organizations to run the program, opening the door to political favoritism, lack of transparency, and a structure that benefits vendors and their pocketbooks rather than students. Thank you for believing in our children and in the future of Texas, your consideration is appreciated!

Tricia Wahl
self retired
Schertz, TX

I do not think this is a good idea for Texas. My county, Guadalupe, has 3 private schools that have less than 350 students enrolled between the three of them. This does nothing for the students in my county. If our great State is worried about supporting our students we need to adequately fund public schools that are available to everyone. If private schools are receiving tax payer money they need to be held to the same standards as public schools and should have to admit any student that applies. Who is ensuring there will be no fraud in this system. How many parents will claim to be homeschooling to get the home school money and with no oversight we'll have kids sitting home doing nothing. I have no children, but I don't mind paying school taxes to make our state great with an educated population. I don't agree with giving money to private entities and religious organizations that can be teaching anything. I attended private school in elementary school and my parents paid for it. It was their choice. Tax payers shouldn't be made to pay for other people's choices - it's no different than student loan forgiveness. You decide to do something extra, that's great, but it's on your dime.

Julie Pusey
Self
Belton, TX

No school vouchers. Stop underfunding Texas public schools.

Bernadette McBride
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose HB3. I am against school vouchers. This bill will unfairly distribute tax payer's money and steal the little funding provided by the state to public education. Do better.

Mary louise Whitlow
Self
Dallas, TX

I'm very much against vouchers they hurt our schools and the children who live in rural areas.

Maria Guerrettaz
Self/ School administrative asst.
Pearland, TX

School vouchers are a bad idea. It's going to ruin our public schools. You say school of choice will help those in struggling schools, why don't you fund them instead of taking funds away. Naïve parents think you're helping them by giving them money to help pay for private school but private schools are more than what you are giving them. I don't think they understand that and I'm guessing that's what you're hoping for. Public education needs funding so we can provide a good education to all our children. STOP SCHOOL VOUCHERS!

Barbara Harless
self
Murphy, TX

Vote NO to HB 3 and all legislative proposals which promote government funding of private education or home school education. Government should leave the successful education models ALONE! Instead, copy what the successful model does, don't corrupt it.

Melanie Babadjanov

Self

HOUSTON, TX

As a mother with school aged children in Texas and a tax payer, I am extremely against HB 3. This bill will negatively affect so many Texas children and help a small percentage. I pray this does not pass.

Sara Fields

Self

Dallas, TX

"School Choice" vouchers are another break for the rich. They will decimate public schools and disadvantage already disadvantaged students, be they disabled or in rural areas with no private school option. No public money for private schools. No public money for unaccredited, unaccountable private or charter schools.

Jennifer Hildebrandt

Self, Manager

Austin, TX

I am opposed to this bill. Public money should go to public education, no exceptions.

Patricia Arredondo, Mrs.

Self

Woodway, TX

I am opposed to school vouches that take money away from our public school funding. Please vote against the vouchers which will diminish the funding for public schools.

Ashley McKibbin

self/operations manager

Hitchcock, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the public school voucher bill currently under consideration. The stories I am hearing from family and friends that are teachers are astounding. Positions being cut due to funding issues are causing public schools to lose really great teachers because of the lack of resources. My children attend public schools because we can't afford the private schools available. With the voucher program, we still will not be able to afford these private schools, so our kids will still be in public school with fewer resources and aids.

While proponents claim that vouchers expand school choice, the reality is that they divert critical taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools—schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children.

Public funds should be used to support public education, not subsidize private schools that are not held to the same accountability standards. Unlike public schools, private institutions can selectively admit students, discriminate based on income or ability, and operate without the transparency required of taxpayer-funded entities. The voucher program would ultimately widen educational disparities, benefiting wealthier families while leaving behind students in rural and low-income communities who have no access to private schooling options.

Texas public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, meals, special services, and support for all children, regardless of their background or challenges. Instead of siphoning funds away, we should be investing in teacher salaries, infrastructure, and classroom resources to ensure every child receives a quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families, teachers, and students by voting against this harmful bill. Protect our public schools—our children's future depends on it.

Carol Frost
Self
Boerne, TX

Please vote against school vouchers I feel that they will be detrimental to the teacher retirement system and to public education as a whole

Robert Dale
Self
Houston, TX

I support this bill!

Hugh Li
Austin Chinese-American Network
Austin, TX

Dear Members of the House Education Committee,

On behalf of the Austin Chinese-American Network, I strongly oppose Texas House Bill 3, which seeks to divert public education funds into private school vouchers. This bill threatens the integrity of our public school system, a system that has been instrumental in the success of Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) students across Texas.

AAPI families, the fastest-growing minority group in Texas, overwhelmingly rely on public schools for their children's education, social development, and future opportunities. Public schools provide rigorous academic instruction, specialized educational resources, and diverse social environments that are essential for the success of all students, including those from immigrant and minority backgrounds. The results speak for themselves—AAPI students consistently demonstrate high achievement on state-mandated proficiency exams and national college entrance tests such as the SAT and ACT.

By diverting taxpayer dollars away from public schools, vouchers will directly harm the very institutions where AAPI students thrive. Reduced funding means fewer resources for teachers, larger class sizes, and diminished educational quality—outcomes that disproportionately impact students who depend on public education for social mobility. Additionally, private schools receiving vouchers are not held to the same academic and accountability standards, putting students at risk of receiving an inferior education with little oversight.

Public tax dollars should remain in public schools, ensuring that every child, regardless of background, has access to high-quality education. We urge you to oppose HB 3 and to protect the strong public school system that has enabled so many AAPI families to succeed in Texas.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Hugh Li, President
Austin Chinese-American Network

Cynthia Dominguez, Mrs.
Bryan ISD AND MYSELF
Bryan, TX

I am graciously asking to help save our public schools and vote no to vouchers. No one wants this. Ask anyone in our great state. Public dollars belong where they should be—in public schools. If a parent wants their child to attend private schools—then they should be able to pay for it. As an educator of 19 years, the idea of vouchers scares the “bee Jesus” out of me. I want my school to stay open. Look at other states where vouchers are in tact. The proof is in the pudding—like they say. Please! Texas is better than this! Our kids deserve more!

Theresa Sandoval Myself, attorney
Houston, TX

Vouchers are not the solution to our public education system's problem. Please vote to oppose HB 3 and get to work on implementing changes and funding our public schools.

Claudia Segovia
Self
Cypress, TX

As a parent of three graduates from Cypress-Fairbanks Independent School District (CFISD), I've seen firsthand the value of well-funded public schools. Two of my children, diagnosed with dyslexia, thrived due to the district's dedicated special education services.

Recently, budget constraints have led to significant resource reductions in our district. Cuts to bus routes have caused traffic congestion and safety issues for students commuting through non-pedestrian-friendly areas. Additionally, the number of librarians has been halved, leaving 42 librarians to serve 117,000 students across 88 schools. This reduction hampers literacy development and diminishes educational quality.

I fear that underfunding public schools is part of a broader strategy to promote school voucher programs. By limiting resources, public schools are set up to struggle, creating a narrative that vouchers are necessary. This approach undermines equitable education and jeopardizes the future of students who depend on public schools.

The proposed House Bill 3 (HB3) aims to implement a school voucher system, diverting public funds to private institutions. The Texas Legislative Budget Board projects that demand for vouchers could quickly exceed initial budget. This diversion could lead to further cuts in essential public school services, affecting the majority of students who remain in the public system.

Moreover, private schools accepting vouchers aren't always required to adhere to the same accountability standards as public schools, leading to disparities in educational quality. Vouchers may not cover the full cost of private school tuition, making them inaccessible to low-income families and effectively subsidizing education for wealthier households. This dynamic could deepen existing inequalities and limit opportunities for already disadvantaged students.

Reflecting on my children's experiences, I recognize the irreplaceable value of well-funded public schools, especially in providing specialized support for students with learning differences like dyslexia. Investing in public education ensures all students, regardless of socioeconomic status or learning needs, have access to quality resources and opportunities. Strengthening public schools benefits individual students and enhances community well-being and societal progress.

For these reasons, I firmly oppose HB3 and any measures that divert funding from our public schools. We must prioritize and invest in the institutions that serve the majority of our children, ensuring they have the resources and support necessary to succeed.

Please listen to us and reject HB3 and approve more funds to public's schools were people can get raises and don't have to have more than one job because they can live in a respectful salary.

Sincerely,

Claudia segovia

Jami Stewart
Public schools
Plainview, TX

The voucher system should not exist unless you intend on making homeschooling families and private schools have the same testing system. If public schools are held accountable and transparent with government funding then they will have to be held accountable. Teachers in private schools don't even have to get a teaching license. Vouchers brings up a whole bunch of topics that now have to be addressed with homeschooling families and private schools. Most families homeschool because they want to choose how to educate their kids. They don't want to be told what to do.

Public schools are already underfunded teachers work for half what other college educated professionals make. Maybe try to fund public schools adequately and see how things change. Do not vote for vouchers!

Lauren Silva
Self
Denton, TX

Dear Fellow Texans, I am writing to you as a mother and as an employee of an educational technology company for over 15 years. I ask that you please vote NO on HB3. This bill will not serve the children of Texas nor will it expand their education. This is a blatant attempt to further undermine and defund our public schools. I have worked with public school teachers and they are our hardest working citizens. I am constantly in awe of their dedication to the children of our state. Please do not hang low income families out to dry with this bill, and create an even bigger wealth and education disparity. Thank you for your time.

Hunter Clayburn
Self
Cypress, TX

As someone who is homeschooled in the state of Texas for 10 years, I do not agree with this bill. We already have great homeschooling laws in Texas and we have the freedom to raise our children in the way that we decide is best. We don't want any strings attached to our education at all. We don't want any government dealings in our home. Or in our school.

Craig Campbell
Retired self
Austin, TX

Your question today concerning the hypothetical student who needed a small bump to provide additional funds for full tuition. It could be solved in the bill.

You could provide a lesser amount for families who are at or above the 300% or 400% income level, of $6000 or $7000, with the difference going to a separate fund at the school for stipends dedicated to help lower income students.

There is no reason that upper income students need the same voucher amount. A graduated voucher is a better way to go. The Certified Educational Assistance Organization" (CEAO), TEA, or the Controller could include this in their report.

Kim Rust
Self
Carrollton, TX

I am against HB 3. This will not truly add school choice. It will subsidize students who are already going to private school. When you look around the area every private school is expanding. This is about putting money into private schools and draining our already strained public school system. The funding for public schools hasn't been raised since 2019. To give private schools more money than public schools is blatantly biased towards providing religious education. I hear the argument that parents need choice to get out of bad public schools. Well there wouldn't be bad public schools if they were funded adequately. Texas is near the bottom for public schools funding in the country. We can and must do better. 5 million students in the public system deserve real action. For the sake of argument this bill is to give parents choice to leave inferior public schools. Well how will they get to school, how will they pay the difference in tuition if they are low income. Let's face it the poorer families won't get choice out of this. This is to give money to wealthier families to subsidize what they are already paying for. It is obvious.

Alison Colemere

self

Wichita Falls, TX

As a public school teacher and parent, we DO NOT want vouchers. School vouchers will only further harm our true public schools, while benefiting the select few. Public schools have been operating in a funding deficit for years, and serious questions need to be asked of our leaders who support vouchers. As a public school teacher, we welcome accountability, however, the "accountability" we now have in the name of Pearson to the tune of $900 million is absurd! Ask those involved in the DAILY operations of schools what they need. Utilize benchmark assessments that reveal student growth and inform instruction... not high-stakes, developmentally inappropriate "gotcha" state testing.

Implementation of school vouchers will lead to the gutting of services across all public school districts.

Maria Guimbarda Dean

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and I am against school vouchers.

Ed Yoo

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I disagree with taxpayer dollars going to private schools and away from public schools. The state system should be propped and held to a level of excellence independent of private curriculums.

Carin Rinkenberger

Self

Conroe, TX

School choice sounds like a great idea - until you get into the logistics of how it might work. I'm a parent of pre-school and school-aged children, and recently looked into private schools as an alternative to public. What I found was that a $10k voucher wouldn't cover private school tuition at any private school in a reasonable commuting distance. Which means, even if I were to receive a voucher, and my child were accepted, I would still have to pay more out of pocket to take advantage of this. So many families, mine included, cannot afford private school tuition, even with a $10k discount from a voucher. So many families cannot manage the extra commute to transport students to/from a private school, either. So many families rely on public schools, where all students are guaranteed a FAPE, where transportation via bus is provided, where child nutrition programs feed the kids, where special needs are accommodated. A $10k voucher wouldn't make private schools accessible to most. It would primarily benefit those wealthy parents who already can afford to and do send their children to private school. Those families would receive a $10k discount on private school education, at the expense of the families who can't afford choice, even with a voucher. At the expense of our already underfunded, understaffed, under resourced public schools. At the expense of increased class sizes and decreased budgets for maintenance, school supplies, etc. It doesn't take much digging to see that school choice / vouchers in other states have significantly impacted public school funding, leading to decreased educational outcomes. Please don't gut the Texas public schools to give tax breaks to wealthy parents. Please vote no on vouchers / ESAs.

Jennifer Ne

Self

Richmond, TX

No to vouchers. Fund public schools now

Rachel Erickson, Mrs.

Self

Conroe, TX

Passing this house bill would be DETRIMENTAL to the students of Texas. As a parent to two young girls in public school, we are afforded fair and equitable schooling for our children and our community. Please reconsider and DO NOT pass this voucher. This will ruin the school system in Texas. As a former state employee for FL working at the FDOE for school choice, private school are unregulated and even with a voucher program, schools will increase prices and be too expensive for lower income students. Currently public school in Texas allows for amazing music, art and stem programs that private school cannot provide. The rural communities of Texas will lose their options of public schools if they lose this critical funding for teachers and resources. PLEASE DO NOT PASS THIS VOUCHER BILL.

Lauren Redmond

Self, mother, homemaker, small business owner

Cedar Park, TX

The large majority of Texans oppose this program. It is astonishing it is still being considered. Show us that you still represent the everyday Texan and vote No on school vouchers.

Whitney Watts

Self

Dallas, TX

LISTEN TO YOUR TEACHERS. Without them, you will have nothing to offer your children. Few (if any) of us (including the ones who have already left teaching) believe that school vouchers will help students succeed universally. Stop cutting funding for our children and actually invest in their future for once. We NEED it. And BELIEVE TEACHERS. Remember us, your favorite “essential workers” that you shoved into classrooms 5 years ago before there was a viable COVID vaccine?

Carla Brady, Mrs.

Self, retired

Cedar Park, TX

I want to address the Texas House Public Education Committee Hearing on HB3, regarding establishing an EDUCATION SAVINGS ACCOUNT program.

Please VOTE NO on any such program.

I am Carla Brady of Cedar Park, Travis County. I have a granddaughter in the Austin Independent School District and I care greatly about the public education offered to her and to all of our children in Texas. I am strongly against funneling public funds away from our public school system which is already underfunded.

By our Texas Constitution, it is our duty to preserve people's rights and liberties by supporting and maintaining our system of public free schools!

If parents find problems with our public school system, they owe it to their children and the children of their fellow Texans to do what they can to remedy those problems. Parents, teachers, administrators, board members, and legislators can work together and are accountable to each other.

If parents want to supplement public education with religious instruction, they are more than welcome to do so at home and through churches and other religious organizations. We must remember that Article 1, Section 7 of our Texas Constitution states that no money shall be appropriated or drawn from the Treasury for the benefit of any sect or religious society. Supporting private schools with our tax dollars to indoctrinate children in religions is not allowed by our Constitution. It is especially inappropriate to drain our public education dollars from the Treasury to do so.

It is also flagrantly wrong to give tax dollars to schools that are not subject to the same standards and degree of inclusion, oversight and regulation as our public schools.

We must build a strong education system for all of our children. If some parents want to build a different system for their children, they are free to do so. Don't ask us to pay for it. I'd like to add that it is much more than a matter of sharing dollars in an Education Savings Account program. As stated in HB3 it is a matter of spending additional millions of dollars to set up the program; to "promote, market, and advertise the development and use of the program"; to pay for up to five "certified educational assistance organizations" to handle the application process, the expenditures process, help prospective applicants, applicants, and participants find preapproved schools and educational products; and more. ALSO, the students who would receive our handouts to pay for an education outside of what we offer, would still have the public schools pay for their evaluations to determine special education eligibility and for developing Individualized Education Programs for them. ADD to that the expense of administering and auditing the program on an ongoing basis.

For these and many more reasons, PLEASE DO NOT PASS HB3.

Lesa Brownstein

Self

Pearland, TX

As a retired public school teacher I am opposed to the education savings account. Our public schools are already underfunded, and even Governor Abbott admitted that this bill would take money from public schools. Private schools do not have to follow the same regulations that are required for public schools. If a child has special needs, private schools do not have to admit them into their systems. The legislature needs to do more to build up public schools In Texas Currently, we are ranked in the bottom 10 states for funding of public schools. Please don't divert funding from public schools.

Virginia Camfield, Mrs.

self - retired, homemaker, and parent of 3 children who went to public schools.

Houston, TX

Our governor clearly hates public schools, but he is charged by the constitution to provide them. The least he could do is support as much money to the public schools as he offers to private ones with his vouchers. They will never serve the poor students who need them most.

John Gardner

Self

Austin, TX

I have two children in public school. They are both in need of extra services, which my school is providing. This voucher bill draws away resources from our school system. It is already shameful how much our school is subsidized by our PTA and the hard work of unpaid neighborhood parents. I want my state to fully fund our entire state public school system before we entertain any talk of voucher programs.

Meredith McCarthy

Self/CPA

Brock, TX

I am fully opposed to any bill representing "school choice". The main focus of elected officials should be public schools and making them the best they can be!

Elizabeth Koteiche

Self

Boerne, TX

The school voucher program is just a way to give money to the well off families. Majority of families in San Antonio wouldn't even be able to cover the cost of tuition at private schools even with the $10,000 seeing that most schools charge $12,000-$18,000. Also, we ALREADY have school choice with charter schools. How about opening up the ISDs to non resident students, so that kids from south san can go to north side or Boerne isd. We don't need public money going to private entities when only the rich can use it. Let's bolster our public schools and ensure that they are properly funded and we can afford to hire high quality teachers who are allowed to teach kids to learn not memorize a test. Or how about we build more preK programs to give ALL 3/4 year olds the chance to have access to high quality preK so they ALL can start on equal footing. Let's also point out that most private schools are religious, and Christian to be exact, so how are the Jewish kids supposed to feel, how about Muslim or Hindu kids? Again, public funds should be used for the public NOT already rich people at private for profit companies. If we want to make Texas top in education then let's focus on our education and not private religious schools that majority of our population can't even attend.

Je nifery Hyatt

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am against school vouchers.

Lori Duke

Myseld

Austin, TX

Fund public schools. So not give taxpayer money to private schools that do not have to abide by the same laws and processes that public schools do.

This is shameful legislation.

Azeemah Sadiq SEAT
Houston, TX

Representatives and Members of the Committee,

My name is Azeemah Sadiq, and I am a Junior at Alief Early College High School in Houston, Texas. As someone deeply involved in civic engagement, leadership, and business education through Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA), I have personally seen the impact of school funding on student success. When public schools lose funding, we don't just lose money—we lose opportunities, resources, and the very programs that support our education.

For me, FBLA has been more than just an extracurricular activity—it's given me real-world skills in business, finance, and leadership. It has allowed me to compete at the regional and state levels, expanding my knowledge of supply chain management and sales. But when school funding is cut, programs like FBLA are often the first to go. Without it, students like me lose access to career development opportunities that set us up for success beyond high school.

School vouchers only worsen this issue by diverting funds from public schools to private institutions that serve a select few. This bill has adverse effects on students like me and thousands of others students from underprivileged communities who rely on public education for academic growth and career readiness. Public schools are already struggling with outdated resources, overcrowded classrooms, and teacher shortages, this bill would only exacerbate the issue.

I urge you to vote NO on HB 3. Public schools are meant to provide equitable education for all students, and to do that, they need full funding—not cuts that take away opportunities. Investing in our schools means investing in students like me, who rely on extracurricular programs and dedicated teachers to shape our futures.

Thank you.

Jennifer Wright
Self
Austin, TX

I do not support school vouchers. Our public schools need funding, plain and simple. I want my taxpayer dollars to go directly to public schools, not private schools via vouchers.

Brigitte Hancy
Self
Justin, TX

I vehemently oppose the voucher bill. I am a registered republican but will vote against any legislators that are in favor of this bill

Mary Beck, Mrs.
Self/homeschool mom
Lufkin, TX

Government needs to get out of education. Instead of vouchers, get rid of the taxes people pay for public schools or give people the option to opt-out if they don't want to use public education. Those who want public school need to pay for it themselves. Those who don't shouldn't have to pay for their neighbor's kids to go since they are going to be doing something else for their own kids, whether it be private or homeschool. If private/homeschool families aren't having to pay into the public school fund via taxes vouchers aren't necessary.

Carol Bryant, Mrs
Retired educator
Cypress, TX

Say NO to vouchers or ESAs of any sort. Public schools need to be fully funded and no public tax money should go to private schools.

Quinn Bratteng

Self

Austin, TX

This bill is going to take tax dollars away from public schools to charter schools that have no accountability or transparency. This is a horrendous plan and should not be supported by anyone representing the interests of the citizens of Texas.

DeeDee Villarreal

Self Director of Data

Spring, TX

We need less funding to go to private schools and more to go to public schools. Our students cannot be expected to have quality education for OUR future if we don't pay into it currently. The majority of students attend public schools and they need funding to keep great teachers. I pay a lot in Taxes and it seems to fund all but the schools in my district. We had to get bonds exclusive for our schools to have improvements made. That is crazy.

Linda Feldman

Myself

Allen, TX

Do not kill public education. Fund it!

Angela Baptiste

Self

San Antonio, TX

VOTE NO!!!!!!!!!!!! Vouchers are not good for our children, taxpayers or teachers.

Angela B Garza, Ms.

SANA East Austin/Co-Chair EMLK Combined Contact Team

Austin, TX

Hello Current Serving Members of our Texas Most High Education Committee.

I am commenting with the Highest Respect and Gratitude for your public service to our Great State of Texas. Thank you each for the mindfulness to implement an education savings account per child. We all understand that each child is our future and deserves fair ground access to high quality education opportunities in this state. Not only for the children. To solidify our stance in the globe, and now universe, as the state that is leading the way as a case study example for the rest of the world to follow.

We already have proven quantifiable examples with the current working and evolving public/community school models.

It is on the right course of enormous success to meet the current reality and future progressive evolution of the direction of the world. STEAM provides that guidance. We currently now have students using their time much more efficiently and effectively with proven useful vetted out tools (including responsible AI tools), that are allowing students to graduate college before high school. With minimal children being left behind from all walks of differences, disabilities, languages, and more. We are at a deciding precipice course. We are on the correct conscientious winning tract with everyone working collaboratively. To stop a winning progressive success is to take Texas backwards. Leaving many children behind from the opportunities to compete on fair ground. Instead you are intending to create a system that pushes children who may not meet your education productivity metric requirements towards jail systems versus developing responsible accomplished human beings that will take this fast moving world into the future, responsibly.

Bankrupting public school systems will take society backwards as a whole. We all know it takes a village to raise a successful child with the best caring and qualified teachers who feel appreciated, well compensated, and who do not need to use their own money to further care for a child in need. There is no excuse for that in a state that boasts the 8th ranking GDP. No excuse to leave any child behind. I will now share my personal story.

I was 17 with my first child and 18 with my second child. I had no earthly idea how to become a responsible parent. My husband and I did our best scared to death. I read every book in a library on child development and more. Our cubs, Joshua and Joseph started out at Ortega Elementary School (not aware of it being a Title 1 Underfunded public school at the time). It turned out Joshua had two disabilities. I was a PTA president at time feeling like a failed parent. He was behind 3 grade levels with a speech impediment and reading disability. I felt like the worse parent in the world. Then I had to quickly get over my pity party. We packed up the family and moved to Round Rock TX Blue Bonnet Elementary School. (I'm leaving this as part 1 of this story)

Lynae Carroll

self

Austin, TX

This bill aims to further destroy public education in Texas. School vouchers will be predominately used as coupons for those who can already afford private school. School vouchers will funnel tax payer money to religious schools and schools that do not have to accept low income student's, student's from different backgrounds, or students with disabilities. School vouchers will privatize education and take it out of the hands of citizens. School vouchers will blow a hole in state's budget. School vouchers are a scam. I want legislation and action that properly funds public schools to increase support of the public school students. A free and appropriate education is paramount to a healthy society, this voucher bill aims to continue to dismantle public education and take education away from the people. The only people who want to destroy public education and privatize education are those who want to control the public. If you have a 10k coupon per students to give to private schools, why are public schools only getting 6,160 per student? FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION PROPERLY. Thank you.

Courtney Koder

Self

Highland Village, TX

I am serving for my 19th year as a high school CTE teacher. I have two sons that attend public schools. Rather than setting aside this money for the select few, it would be better spent funding the school system as a whole. An area of education that really needs attention is that school funding is based off a very short 30 minute period of attendance rather than on student enrollment. There is not an attendance accountability measure in place so school funding that is available currently is tied to a broken attendance system. Fund schools so we can hire quality educators and set them up for success rather than a struggle. Private schools don't have the same accountability measures in place for students and don't have to follow federal guidelines on inclusion and services for the special education population. Education savings accounts are not the answer to a broken system.

Arva Tatman
A concerned citizen
RICHARDSON, TX

In order to have a healthy Democracy which I had thought our state and country was, the education of all the people regardless of class, race or ethnicity is KEY!!! Supporting public education is Your responsibility I believe as you represent myself and others in this governmental capacity. Please do not continue to deplete funding for public schools in order to use tax dollars to fund private schools as parents make the choice when most do not have that choice. I would appreciate your consideration. Thank you

Patricia Olvera
Self
Austin, TX

Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Richard Brewer
Self
Allen, TX

I strongly oppose any voucher system, or the use of school funds for use towards private schools.

Joseph Wachsman
Self
Dallas, TX

Please sign this bill! It's a necessity

Amanda Neff
Self
Carrollton, TX

I strongly disagree with this bill's approach to school funding and teacher compensation. It does not adequately address the root causes of educational inequality and may disproportionately impact underfunded districts, particularly rural communities. Additionally, it fails to consider the unique needs of students requiring special services, potentially widening the gap in support for these vulnerable groups. This bill will disproportionately affect low income and students in poverty. Public schools will be even more underfunded and understaffed than they already are. We should be investing in our public schools, not giving breaks to those who can already afford private school.

Samantha Taylor, Dr

Self

Austin, TX

I am strongly opposed to school vouchers. They only help the already rich and undermine our public schools.

Alana Wood

Self

Magnolia, TX

I do not want my taxes to go towards vouchers. I have been a part of public education for over 30 years and have seen our students grow in ways the private schools cannot provide. Being in classrooms with those from a different social status, helps our students appreciate their own place in society or allows them to prevent themselves being stuck where they are. Please consider the repercussions of the voucher system as a whole, not just the immediate “fix” for education—in your opinion.

Julia Martinez

Self

Pflugerville, TX

Taking taxpayer money to give credits to rich families so that y'all can dismantle our public education system is cruel and diabolical. NO ON VOUCHERS, NEVER VOUCHERS.

Dyan Twining

Self

Dripping Spgs, TX

As a veteran homeschooler I do not support the establishment of an education savings account program. The system as it is now works fine.

Brends Phillips

Public School System

Austin, TX

Hello. Thank you for your attention to the State of our Schools. I am a Texas mom who is concerned about children's education.

I know my teachers are working hard and my district is financially responsible. I also know we have not seen a significant increase in student funding since 2019 and are still at 2014 real-dollar numbers, despite additional expensive mandates and double digit inflation. We have a $24 billion surplus in the general revenue fund and another $28 billion in the Rainy Day Fund. I understand there are House and Senate bills that propose directly supporting teachers but I ask you to raise the basic allotment by $1300, instead. This would give a much-needed and long-delayed $10 billion dollars of investment in our children and their futures. We have the money. And if we don't, we need to understand why.

Raising the basic allotment gives our teachers the much-needed boost they deserve AND it gives districts the opportunity to support all the aides, librarians, counselors, cafeteria staff, custodians, and all the other people who are also struggling with lower-than-national-average wage amid funding that hasn't kept up with 2014 dollars. Our teachers and students deserve that additional support.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I will be paying attention relentlessly through this legislative session to ensure our schools get the funds they need to meet the needs of our children and all the people who support them before sine die on June 2, 2025.

Sincerely,

Brenda Marie Phillips

Michelle Lunday

Self - stay at home parent

Trophy Club, TX

I am providing comment against educational savings accounts. As a parent that has had a child in public, private and homeschool, I know I already have school choice, and I don't believe that we should be funding private school with tax dollars.

As a parent of a child with disabilities, I also know that this is being used to say it's helpful for kiddos with disabilities, but it will not be. Schools do not have to accept students with disabilities or keep them if there is an issue. The private school we attended was well over the amount offered as a ESA.

Please do not pass ESAs.

Haley Godding

Self

Sachse, TX

I adamantly oppose this bill!

It will end up taking much needed funding from our public school system & hurting our kids!

Christina Valencia, Teacher

Self

Midland, TX

No

V'Anne Huser

Self

Shiner, TX

This voucher bill will take money away from public education and will cripple public schools in rural communities. We have one private school in our town which already has full capacity. Stop the handout to private entities and folks who can already afford a private school education. Don't use my tax dollars for this scheme. Invest more in public education and TRS.

Holly Lamb

Self

Stephenville, TX

Please do not support HB3 because use of vouchers is the beginning of the end of public schools. Public schools are the foundation for a democracy and I would hope everyone still believes in a democracy. Texas public schools are already underfunded, all money should go to supporting them. This bill will really negatively affect rural school districts. If we want Texas to stay strong with a strong economy we need a powerful public schools system.

Chella Gordon

Self

Caldwell, TX

Say no to vouchers!!! Public tax dollars should only be used for public schools. We have to follow all of the laws from TEA, teach ALL kids, follow required curriculum, prepare ALL students to take the STARR test, meet ever changing state passing standards, etc. It is grossly unfair to say public schools are failing, then turn around and give public tax dollars to private schools and homeschools that won't have to follow the same rules. Stand up to Greg Abbott and vote "no" to vouchers!

Jennifer Martin

Self

Arlington, TX

To the members of the Education Committee,

I am urging you to stand up for public education in Texas. Diverting public funds to private schools that are not subject to the same limitations, laws, regulations and state testing accountability is no equitable and is not appropriate use of tax dollars. Tax dollars should not go to private institutions that can deny entrance to students based on disabilities and/or academic achievement. That is their right as private schools, but tax dollars do not have their place there.

The $220 increase provided for public school per pupil allotment is simply not enough and not acceptable.

I have voted Republican most of my life and I have countered claims from democrats that republicans want public education to fail and want to privatize education. However, this latest move by republicans is proving this. The per pupil allotment has not increased in years despite rising inflation.

Please prioritize funding public schools and provide EVERY Texas child the opportunity to succeed!!

Chandra Christensen

Self

Lewisville, TX

I am completely against this. This does absolutely nothing for those that cannot afford private school. It leaves the most vulnerable even more vulnerable just to line the pockets of people looking to make money and nothing more. Private schools discriminate, they do not have to support special needs students, people of color, etc. There has been funding from Texas billionaires that want nothing more than to push their religious agenda and make more money, there's also been donations from out of state donors who shouldn't have any interest in the Texas school system. In order to go to private school you already have to be privileged and using a voucher to still go is no different. You still have to cover the costs the vouchers don't cover, meaning you're already more privileged if you can do that. Our economy is falling apart, people are struggling more than ever and all people want to do is take away from families even more? As a parent to a disabled child in Texas, our resources are already next to none. Now you're taking away from the one thing everyone can benefit from and allocating it to a private school? That's absolutely sickening and I don't understand how those for it can go to bed at night knowing this will suppress families even more. Texas should truly be ashamed of itself considering we're one of the lowest states ranked for education and resources for people with disabilities. We have better things we could focus on but here we are, essentially funding vacations for rich people.

Esther Newell

Self

Montgomery, TX

I homeschool my children and oppose this bill. While the financial incentive is appealing, I fear it comes with strings attached.

Susana Mendoza
Self
Glenn Heights, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Michael Wilson
Self
Frisco, TX

The current design of Texas schools systems does not prevent parents from placing their children into non-public education systems, including home school. When not utilizing public schools parents lose the transparency and legal rights on how their children are treated in an education system.

Like when a teacher at Saint Mark Catholic school is seen violently grabbing and shaking a child there is no real recourse. When the people in charge of that employee say they will do better and correct issues but fail to actually perform any action the only recourse parents and entities have is to sue civilly which is costly, time consuming, and an uphill battle for the normal person. While if that had happened in a public school there could be real accountability and transparency.

CARRIE Odom
Self
Shallowater, TX

I was a public school teacher for 27 years. More important than that, I am a property owner and tax payer. Homeschooling and Private schooling are a choice. I don't want my tax dollars going to fund the schooling choice that others have made. Republicans might want to rethink their stance on this when it comes to election time!

Jennifer Phillips
Hodges Elementary School
Lubbock, TX

I am writing to strongly urge you to oppose any efforts to implement school voucher programs in Texas. As a public school teacher assistant, I work firsthand with students and educators who rely on the resources, structure, and support that only a well-funded public education system can provide. Diverting taxpayer dollars to private schools through vouchers would only weaken the schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children.

Voucher programs take much-needed public funds away from our already underfunded schools and redirect them to private institutions that are not held to the same standards of transparency, accountability, or accessibility. Unlike public schools, private schools can reject students based on academic ability, disability status, or socioeconomic background, leaving the most vulnerable students with fewer resources and opportunities. Texas public schools serve all students, and they need increased funding and support—not policies that drain resources from the students who need them most.

Public schools across Texas are already facing significant challenges, including teacher shortages, outdated materials, and inadequate funding. Instead of diverting funds to private schools, we should be investing in the teachers, classrooms, and programs that directly impact the success of Texas students. Our priority should be strengthening the public education system, ensuring fair teacher pay, and providing students with the resources they need to thrive.

Public education is the foundation of a strong economy and a thriving democracy. Weakening our public schools through voucher programs will only deepen educational inequities and harm the future of our communities. I urge you to stand with Texas students, families, and educators by opposing school vouchers and instead advocating for the funding and support our public schools desperately need.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Irene Halbert
Self teacher
Midlothian, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Virginia Roberson

self

Mansfield, TX

Good morning-

I am a Christian and I am a conservative Republican. I am also a retired public school elementary principal. I am strongly opposed to vouchers. I am not strongly opposed to private schools. The amounts being discussed for private school vouchers will not make a dent in the annual cost of sending students to private schools. Families that I know who choose to attend private Christian schools such as the one at my former church, Prestonwood Christian Academy could afford to send their children to the school without the help of vouchers. I have read the implications on the dramatic impact these vouchers will have on public school funding. It will be extremely dramatic and in some districts devastating. In many counties in our state, there are no private schools. The small districts in these rural areas will be greatly impacted by the drop in funding. I hear so many different theories about why Governor Abbott is so "pro" vouchers. Mostly I hear it is because the big donors from West Texas are pushing the cause. Please take a serious look at the implications. Consider how the vouchers will impact the families who receive them - does it help them to buy another vehicle because they currently have three students in private school? Does the low socio economic family keep the money and "home school" and attempt to provide a comparable education to public schools and teach their high school student calculus, physics and a foreign language? Public schools are held accountable for their test scores and performance. If public funds are being used for private schools or home schoolers - will there be any performance accountability or does the state just send them a check and say - enjoy your funds? I do believe there are some struggling schools in Texas and performance could be better. I also believe that there are some amazing public schools in Texas who are producing some amazing Texas citizens. I'm sure you've heard the comparison of school vouchers to the country club membership. If people don't like their public neighborhood pool, then they can pay the fees and join the country club and enjoy their pool. The city isn't going to supplement their country club membership fees.

I'm asking you to please look at the BIG PICTURE - are you truly helping the young students in Texas by promoting private schools and home schools - or could the impact be greater if more funds were allocated to our public schools? I'm not attaching a donation to my comments because as a retired public school educator - I don't have the funds to donate. I'm betting that many of your largest donors are products of public schools. I am a proud public school graduate - Harris Elementary, Pearce Jr High, and John H. Reagan High School - all in the great city of Austin! Thanks for reading my comments and hopefully giving my opinion as much weight as those who donate big funds for their beliefs.

Chyah Averick

Self , doctor

Dallas, TX

A Mother's Perspective as a Family Medicine Doctor on Supporting HB3 and Education Savings Accounts

As both a mother and a family medicine doctor, I strongly advocate for the support of HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities, which is essential for their growth and development.

From my experience, I know that education is not a one-size-fits-all solution. Each child has unique needs, and families should have the freedom to choose the educational path that aligns with their child's strengths and interests. This bill empowers parents to make those critical decisions, ultimately benefiting not just the students, but also educators and taxpayers.

With nearly half of the states already implementing school choice programs, it's time for Texas to join this movement. As a mother, I want to ensure that my children, and all children in our community, have the opportunity to thrive in an environment that best supports their individual learning journeys.

Liesel Termin

Self/teacher

Arlington, TX

This proposal has the potential to destroy protections for children across the state. Providing financial aid to institutions that are not public or charter schools is unconstitutional. All we are doing is providing a coupon for the wealthiest Texans to continue sending their children to private schools. Please protect our rural schools and our urban school districts, as well as actual low income children. Students with disabilities, students in poverty, students that want to engage in school activities, all of those will be put at risk. Our public schools are at the very foundation of our democracy. Please don't sacrifice Texas children so that Greg Abbott and his wife can make the return on investment to billionaires that purchased his victory. As a teacher, I see on the front lines the devastation that this could cause. If you care about Texas children, teachers, or our future at all, vote no on this bill

David Minshew

Self/farmer

Lufkin, TX

I am against this new government give away program. If the state has an extra billion dollars to spend, then I would suggest that the legislature do this with the extra billion dollars:

1. Return the billion dollars to the taxpayers
2. Fix our electric grid
3. Fix our state highways
4. Invest in water infrastructure

Spending money on these 4 things make much more sense than giving a billion dollars to private schools. Listen to your constituents. Everyone that I talk to or communicate with is against this bill. Stand up to Governor Abbot and his billionaire buddies

Matthew Thompson, Mr

Self

Beaumont, TX

Vote NO on HB 3! Fully fund public schools!!!!

Amy English

self

Hutto, TX

No vouchers!! Do not weaken our public schools for private schools. You are not doing this for our students, but for your financial contributors. If this gets passed you will see the most outrage there has ever been. Those who vote for this will not be reelected. Everyone knows that is this was up to the voters it would not pass. I am not talking about putting in favor of "parental choice" on the ballot to deceive people I am saying if you ask the voters are you in favor of tax money going to vouchers for private schools they would overwhelming vote no.

Rachel Kistner, Superintendent

Italy ISD

Italy, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Noelita Lugo

Self

Austin, TX

Siphoning money to pay private ed vendors does nothing to improve Texas's long-term standing --neither economically nor socially. HB3 is not a education bill. It is a vendor bill. It is an entitlement program for wealthy families who want taxpayers to pay for their choice to send their children to private schools. Do not vote HB3 out of committee. The risk of destabilizing and harming the Teacher's Retirement System is too great. Abbott and Patrick desperately want to score a win for their private ed donors and friends at the expense of 5.5 million children who rely on public schools in their communities. Pour your legislative energy into strengthening and substantially improving our public education system. Start by increasing the base funding allotment by $1324 and by using an enrollment based, rather than attendance based, funding model.

Lisa Shaw

Self

Lago Vista, TX

Stop trying to steal public funds for private schools! My tax dollars are for Public Schools not rich children and children with special needs! STOP STEALING!

David Wyler

Self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Kaitlin Riedel
self, public school teacher
New Braunfels, TX
I OPPOSE HOUSE BILL 3.

Jody Piel
Self Brazoria, TX

I vote NO on this bill! Fix the system we have now instead of creating a new or modified one. I see this in my place of work and it creates more problems then solutions. Again I vote NO!

Sarah Canales
Self
Bedford, TX

My child is public school and receives services for dyslexia. With these services my child is approaching state standard with less than 1 year of instruction. These programs need good funding. This bill will take funds away from public schools and programs that support children like my child. My child does not have the option to go to private school and receive these services. The local public schools average 20,0000 in DFW so the average middle and low income family will not benefit from this bill. Please support and fund our public schools. For most of us this bill is not "school choice".

Christine Schumacher
Self (stay at home mom)
Leander, TX

Your constituents, the people of Texas, do NOT support this bill. The majority of our children will be negatively affected. I have spoken with other republican moms who send their kids to private schools and they don't want this to pass either! If this is approved you will sending a clear message that you are prioritizing the will of a select few donors, over the purple who elected you and who you took an oath to represent. Please choose the people of Texas, and the children of Texas who need you to represent US!!

Kajsa Nielson
Self/parents of school aged kids
Leander, TX

We need more funding for public schools. Please consider the people living in this state and the kids, not just the money.

Paul Hiaumet
Self
Henderson, TX

I oppose this bill, first on principle. Its purpose is to degrade public education in favor of religious indoctrination. Regardless, it will degrade already strained public education resources in this state. Lastly, it will do nothing for rural public schools but steal resources from them. It enrages me that the governor would hold school funding hostage to get his pet project passed (bankrolled by an out of state billionaire). We need to send a message that he cannot bully the people of this state.

Patty Peebles
Self/Registered Nurse
Bastrop, TX

I urge you to vote NO on HB3. Taxpayers want to fund good quality public schools for all children. That is a cornerstone of democracy. We need more funding for public schools already! For taxpayers dollars to go toward private school education is wrong. It is stealing. We need a concerted focus on improving funding for our public schools. They are an important part of our communities. No to HB3!

Randolph Bauder
Self-Forensic Engineer
Bryan, TX

I am in favor of the option for school choice. As a parent in a school district with middle schools where drugs and pornography are distributed in the bathrooms, I would like the opportunity to choose the school, whether public, private, or home, for my children and the option for our tax dollars to be used partially in a way that benefits my children directly. Currently, the property tax that goes to the school district doesn't benefit our family at all if we choose not to enroll our children in dysfunctional public schools.

Alan Reynoso
Self
Austin, TX

I am staunchly opposed to school vouchers. This is bad for all Texans. NO TO SCHOOL VOUCHERS!

Iesheia Wilson
Self
Houston, TX

Please say no to vouchers

Jennifer Burrus, Mrs.

Self

Lazbuddie, TX

Education savings accounts (ESAs) divert public funds away from traditional public schools, leading to decreased budgets and resources for these institutions. This can worsen the quality of education for the majority of students who remain in public schools.

ESAs can exacerbate existing inequalities in education. Families with higher incomes may have the means to supplement ESA funds with additional financial contributions, while low-income families may struggle to afford the costs of private schooling or other alternatives, leading to a wider achievement gap.

Private schools and alternative education providers that accept ESA funds may not be subject to the same regulations or accountability measures as public schools. This can lead to a lack of oversight regarding curriculum quality, teacher qualifications, and student performance.

There is mixed evidence regarding the effectiveness of ESAs in improving educational outcomes. Some studies show no significant difference in academic performance among students who switch to private schools using ESA funds, raising concerns about whether these programs genuinely benefit students.

Public schools often serve as community hubs, providing not only education but also extracurricular activities, social services, and community engagement. Diverting funds to ESAs could weaken these vital community connections and reduce overall support for public education.

Implementing and managing an ESA program can create additional administrative burdens for the state and school districts. Ensuring proper oversight, tracking expenditures, and managing compliance with differing regulations can detract from resources that could be spent directly on student education.

ESAs could lead to increased segregation in schools as families choose schools based on personal preferences rather than geographic or community-based considerations. This could undermine the objective of providing an inclusive education for all students.

As public school funding declines due to the shift in resources to ESAs, there may be job losses for teachers and support staff in public schools, leading to larger class sizes and diminished support for students.

With private entities receiving government funds through ESAs, there is a risk that profit motives will overshadow the educational needs of students, potentially leading to a decline in the quality of education provided.

Erosion of support for public schools may lead to a long-term decline in the quality of education across the state. This could impact Texas's future workforce and economic competitiveness, as well-educated individuals are essential for a thriving economy.

Stephanie Van Fossen

self

Austin, TX

I am a Texas parent with two kids (one in middle school now, and one that graduated high school last year), and I am multigenerational Texan who has experienced both private and public school systems. As much as I have appreciated the private school experience, I have also had incredible experiences in the public school system. I am strongly opposed to school vouchers because public schools are bound by a wide range of rules and restrictions. If these rules and restrictions are important, then private schools should be bound by them as well in order to receive public funds. If these rules and restrictions are NOT important, then they should be optional for our public school districts to follow. Thank you for your time.

Michelle Yates

Educators and public schools in Texas. I am an educator.

Fort Worth, TX

To fund a small minority of families in Texas for educational purposes, that may not even still have the means or qualifications to be accepted to these private institutions, is a huge injustice on public schools in Texas, whom are already ranked very low in the nation. The reality of this bill is to fund private schools with tax payer money, and have no accountability or promise to accept these students, even after receiving fundings from taxpayers.

Public school funding has been held hostage by the appointment of vouchers along with the lack of accountability. Additionally, we are spending billions of dollars to a state testing system, which private schools do not have to be accountable for, yet the very funding of tx public schools depend on for our funding.

Please see the truth in these documents. If we are to provide state taxpayer funds to these private institutions, then they should be required to uphold the same standards and test as our public institutions.

Bethany Corey-Ekin

Self

Austin, TX

Vouchers and ESAs serve a small number of individuals, namely those who can already afford private school. If Texas public schools are not working for Texans it is your job to fund and fix them to serve all young Texans, not provide an alternative route for a select few. Public schools serve all communities and all types of learners which is not true for private options. I urge you to fund our public schools fully and not allow public funds to be diverted to private institutions.

Kate Winsor, mrs

self - executive

Rockwall, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, at least 4th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas Constitution.

Hilary Ricky

self, electrical engineer

Austin, TX

I'm not a parent or teacher, but I am a concerned tax-paying Texan writing in opposition of HB3. Some may argue that someone like me doesn't have stake in this conversation because I don't have kids, but they're wrong - everyone has stake in how educated and fulfilled our fellow Texans at large are.

Over 90% of our students attend public schools, and they in turn will become adults that hopefully will be prepared enough to work good Texan jobs, contribute to society, and ultimately live happy lives. If public education degrades, the average Texan's quality of life will degrade because they won't be able to compete. Bills like this will further degrade our public education because the money that would be allocated to private schools with this bill, could have gone towards improving our public schools instead – which desperately need that help.

The Texas budget per each student needs to increase not just to match inflation, but to make up for relatively low funding for many years. Texas ranks very low as compared to the other states, and lo and behold, it similarly ranks just as low in overall education rankings. Conversely, the top 10 states with the best education rankings are also among the highest rankings when it comes to spending per student.

I've heard so much testimony about how students that were able to attend private schools benefited greatly from it – good for them! But if it's at the expense of public school funding because our state refuses to significantly increase public school funding per student, I urge everyone who cares about the average future Texans' quality of life, to vote against this bill.

James Palma

self

Farmers Branch, TX

Why are we underfunding public schools while giving a gift to those who can already afford private schools? Private schools: do not have to accept every student, do not have to meet accreditation standards and may hire teachers who do not meet basic standards. They may not offer a full slate of courses and can tailor classes to the schools faith or ideals, not necessary what's best for a student. They do not expose kids to diversity and different ideas. They do not have to follow the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution. I guess since Gov. Abbotts' wife is not on the board of a relatively new private school, we all need to play along. PUT IT TO A VOTE FOR ALL TEXANS.

Mandy Moore

Self

Marion, TX

Esteemed representative, thank you for hearing my argument against HB3 today. It is always a good time to hear your constituents. My name is Mandy Moore and I am from a tiny Texas town known as Marion, Texas. A one stoplight town where the Friday night lights draw in the whole community. The majority of the population is either home schooled or attends the public school system. The closest private school is a 30 minute drive from my home and I am one of the closest residents to that school. Although I fit the demographic of most of your constituents I feel as if my words will still fall on deaf ears. As I thought about what I wanted to communicate today I considered giving the facts, that over 60% of the Texas population opposed school vouchers or that special education students will ultimately suffer at the hands of school vouchers but I know you all are inundated with facts that you choose not to acknowledge. I also considered sharing my personal experience of being the mother of both an honor roll football playing high schooler and a wonderfully creative elementary schooler who gains so much from the special education program offered in her public school. My daughter has learned so much from the gifted teachers who are already underpaid but who still understand the value of educated adults. I considered what I would say but I knew my personal experience would be better told to a brick wall and facts no longer matter because you are paid to disregard them. The only thing left to say is that everyone here today and everyone not here who is opposed to this bill is not only a Texas taxpayer but also a Texas voter and just like you got into this position of power there is always going to be another election season. As the parent of two children on both ends of the spectrum I am making my choice and that choice is opposed to school vouchers.

Nicole Taraba

Seld

Austin, TX

I come from generations of conservative Texans. This voucher bill is not fiscally responsible and is not Texan. I do not want my tax dollars going to private schools. If I want to send my kids to private school I will be a true Texan and pay for it out of my own pocket. Vouchers are NOT good for our state and will strip away much needed funding from our beloved public schools. I beg you to please remove vouchers from your political agenda and get to work to make our public schools a better place for our children. The majority of Texans do not benefit from vouchers and we absolutely do not want this! Please prove us wrong that billionaires have more of a say than the will of the people who voted you into office.

Brandy Flisram, Mrs

Myself -

Houston, TX

If this bill passes not only will the state of Texas lose phenomenal teachers and staff. teachers will just move out of Texas. This bill will defund public schools. Public schools are already under funded. Think about the students that you are representing, and how truly awful this bill will impact them.

Marco Fiorilo

Myself

Austin, TX

Kill HB3. It would make it impossible for anyone below a certain tax bracket offer their children a decent education. If ignorance and lack of education is your end goal then congratulations. This is just a handout for the wealthy who already send their children to Private Schools. Vote against school vouchers!!

Lisa Peterson, Mrs

Self

Austin, TX

Public funds should support public schools, not provide discounts for private schools. Not every Texas child has access to private schools. Our children deserve the highest quality education to become our productive adults tomorrow. Support public education!!

George Garcia, Mr self/citizen
San Antonio, TX

The present education system requires a new vision. Vouchers are not the new vision that is needed to improve the outdated system. Elected officials have failed to address our present system. They were elected to come up with new ideas that would improve the education of all children. One has to realize that not all citizens have the funds to send their children to private schools even if they receive vouchers to send them. Families that barely have funds to feed their household and pay basic bills would not be able to get vouchers , the reality is those families would be left behind and not have all the school resources needed to educate their children.

Jennifer Despins Constituents
Austin, TX

Completely and totally against vouchers. Listen to real Texans and not outside monetary influence. Do your job.

Rachel Leclair
Self
Cypress, TX

I am a homeschooler parent and I oppose this bill. I do not consent to any additional regulations for educating my children.

Geula Gniwisch
Self, mother
Houston, TX

Every child in Texas deserves access to quality education that fits their unique needs.

Education isn't a one-size-fits-all journey. Parents should have the ability to choose the learning environment that best supports their child's success. HB3 puts that choice in their hands—creating better opportunities for students, supporting educators, and using taxpayer dollars wisely.

With nearly half the states already offering school choice programs, it's time for Texas to step up and do the same!

Christie Luff
Self
Plano, TX

Your constituents do not want this bill to pass. Please stop turning a deaf ear to the voice of Texas residents

Lisa Tomlinson
self
Houston, TX

Having homeschooled two of my children successfully, I OPPOSE this bill.

Ashley Evans

Self

Mansfield, TX

Save public schools! I believe all forms of education are vital but are public schools are very important! As an educator, everyone needs better pay in their positions, we need better opportunities for professional development. Our students, our children deserve to have the best opportunities to learn. Public school education opportunities have expanded with gifted and talented, STEM, project based, Montessori , fine arts focus and so much more. We need these opportunities and more for our children. Special education is growing and we need appropriate space for our students! Paraprofessionals need adequate training. Our students futures will be darkened if funds are taken away from public school funds! We are doing great things in public schools and we can continue. There are many things that need to be reviewed, removed and renewed but taking away funds from is NOT the answer!

Richard Grijalva, PhD

Self - Independent Researcher

Austin, TX

I write as a parent of a fourth-grade child currently enrolled in an Austin ISD school; I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it, whether it is dressed in the ideological garb of liberty, the legality of parental rights, the policy name of school choice, or the political-economic notion of competition. These ideas seem to obscure what is at stake, which is the privatization of education and the corrosion of local public school communities already under the stresses. And these are local public school communities made up of parents, teachers, administrators, and students alike.

Our public schools have been corroded by decades of ideologically driven hostility and neglect. The legislature should prioritize existing public school mandates and focus on increasing local families' access to high-quality public education instead of subsidizing private schools. And with private schools increasingly operating in areas underserved by our public school infrastructure, the State of Texas is neglecting its duty to our children. With so-called school choice, we are using limited state resources to create mechanisms of choice while aggravating inequalities that favor private schools over public schools. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Kimberly Holzwarth

Self

Spring, TX

As a parent in a great school district, I am against vouchers. If we can find money to pay for private school vouchers being advertised for students with learning disabilities, why can't the money be used to strengthen programs in public schools? This would benefit more students and strengthen the Texas public schools system. If school choice is truly the goal, then school choice for every student to attend the public school of their choice regardless of address or district would be the true school choice program. The vouchers hurt the state and will keep high earners from moving to this state. Better public schools mean more businesses moving here and their high paying jobs along with more job opportunities moving to Texas. This bill will cause some economic decline in Texas. Please vote no.

Joy Abbs

Self

Dallas, TX

I am against the vouchers for Private schools.

SCHOOL CHOICE

Parent choice? Not really. Private schools choose whether or not to accept a child to attend their school. PRIVATE SCHOOLS CAN, AND DO, DISCRIMINATE and accept only those students that fit their academic and social criteria. Public schools cannot discriminate against any student.

The real problem with "school choice" is the creation of yet another education system (traditional public schools and charter schools already exist) that allows students

Jill Tate self, mom
Colleyville, TX

I want to talk to you about school choice from a mom perspective. You see we have heard about it from policy makers, the governor and specialist, but have you heard what is in a mom's heart? Have you heard what it means to a real-life family.

You see School Choice to me is not a political sound bite, it is not a bill to pass, it is not a race to win, it is a deeply personal conviction for me and my family.

In February of 2009 I welcome the cutest little 5 lb bass into this world. When your child is born you dream and wonder – what will his interests be, what sports will he play, will he be good at math like his dad or creative like his mom? The world is his so open to all the possibilities. And you don't think of struggle at all. You don't imagine the hard parts of parenting and you certainly don't imagine having a neurodivergent child.

So when it was time I researched and found the best preschool with all the programs. At his pre-K evaluation I found out he is the only one in his class that could not write his name. but he is 5 – so what?

Kindergarten comes and he is in trouble all the time. By mid-year he still doesn't really write well, but he is a boy – it takes them a little longer. He still does not read well, but he is in kindergarten – does he have to be able to read war and peace? But at his teacher conference she says he is behind the other children – I ask could he be dyslexic, she says it's too early to tell. Failure one.

First grade comes along – he begins having panic attacks. Every seen a 7-year-old have a panic attack – it will break your heart. They don't know what is happening and neither do you. He starts throwing up before school and hides under his desk and he is in trouble all the time. The school said, he has ADHD, if you get his ADHD under control he will read and quit being in trouble. So, I took him to a psychiatrist to prescribe meds and a psychologist for therapy to learn to control his ADHD and anxiety.

What I didn't know was that for Sawyer the marks on the board and on the paper were Chinese one minuet, Russian the next, and then Spanish the next and the Japanese the next time he looked up. Everyone else understood, why couldn't he? His frustration and anxiety grew along with many visits to the principal's office. On one visit to the principal's office I said, could he be dyslexic – No it's too early to tell, it is his ADHD – you need to get his meds right. Failure two. At the end of the year, Sawyer's therapist screened him for dyslexia and said – he has dyslexia and possibly dysgraphia. When I talked to the school about it, they said it is too late in the year we will have to do it next year. Failure three.

2nd grade comes, he is in trouble all the time again. He still isn't reading or writing. We have an ARD in October (2 ½ months into the year) I remind them he needs a dyslexia test and share what his therapist had done. Ok – we will order it, but we have to wait for the tester t

Lorri Boyd
Self
Georgetown, TX

I strongly urge you to vote against school vouchers, and instead invest in our public schools. The per student allotment has not been raised since 2019. Increase the allotment by at least $1300, to keep up with inflation and ensure that our public schools continue to provide ALL students with a quality education.

Mary Phillips
Self - business owner
Mansfield, TX

I oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Amy Powell
Self/Teacher
Abilene, TX

Say no to Vouchers! Public education needs more funding. Teachers need raises. There is no accountability in the private school sector. Say no to Vouchers. It's just common sense.

Oliver Poblete
Self
SACHSE, TX

I am against the voucher program. Public education works and can be successful.

Shmuel Ceitlin
Self
Houston, TX

Please pass this bill allowing all parents to choose quality education for their children and joining most states in having a school choice program. Thank you

Deanna Quarles
self, CPA
Porter, TX

I oppose HB3 & ask that this bill goes no further. Public funds should stay with public schools. More resources to our public schools or give us our tax dollars back!

Lindsey Kappen
Self, teacher
Fort Worth, TX

School vouchers are not the way forward for education. It is not in the best interest for children of Texas. It will negatively impact children's well being and their academics.

Richard Bonn
self - mortgage broker
Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Cindy Crawford, Ms
Self
Kerrville, TX

Please save our school system. I taught 10 years in a private school and my son attended there until he entered the 4th grade He received a much better education in the public schools in El Paso. Please help us.
Thank you!

Kody Garcia
Self
San Antonio, TX

I am against this bill. That money should go towards improving our public schools.

Jodie Chevez
Self
Pearland, TX

Vot No on Bill HB3. This takes away funding from our public schools.

Anna Griffin
Self
Chandler, TX

MOST TEXANS DO NOT WANT VOUCHERS. I promise that more and more people are banding together to protect our children's education. Thousands and thousands of us are leaving party lines behind and uniting against vouchers. Stop selling our government to the highest bidders!!

Steve Forsythe, Dr. Steve Forsythe
Self
Lampasas, TX

I am opposed to an Education savings account program.

Charles Hicks
Self
Lewisville, TX

Private school voucher programs have consistently failed to deliver on their promises, proving to be a bad policy that harms public education and does not improve student outcomes. These programs divert critical funding from public schools, exacerbating inequality and leaving the majority of students—who remain in public schools—worse off.

One of the main arguments for voucher programs is that they provide "choice" and improve education through competition. However, in practice, voucher programs have not led to widespread academic improvement. Studies from states like Indiana, Ohio, and Louisiana have shown that students who use vouchers to attend private schools often perform worse on standardized tests than their peers who remain in public schools. The idea that competition would improve education simply doesn't hold up when private schools are not held to the same standards as public schools and can select their students while rejecting others.

Additionally, voucher programs disproportionately benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition. Many vouchers do not cover the full cost of private school, meaning that lower-income families still face financial barriers, making the program more of a subsidy for those who can already afford private education rather than a genuine opportunity for disadvantaged students.

There is also a significant lack of accountability in private schools that receive public funding through vouchers. Many of these schools are not required to follow the same transparency, non-discrimination policies, or academic standards as public schools. This has led to cases where taxpayer money funds schools that teach ideologically driven or unscientific curricula, such as creationism over evolution.

Beyond these practical failures, voucher programs undermine the fundamental role of public education as a unifying institution that serves all students, regardless of background. Instead of improving education for everyone, vouchers exacerbate segregation along socioeconomic, racial, and religious lines.

Wherever they have been implemented, voucher programs have failed to live up to their promises, harmed public education, and prioritized ideology over evidence. The solution to improving education lies in adequately funding and reforming public schools, not diverting resources to private institutions that lack oversight and fail to deliver better results.

Darla Barar
Self, marketing
Pflugerville, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs. These programs grow in cost rapidly—the current Senate proposal projects over $11 billion in voucher spending by 2030, including $4.6 billion that year alone. SB 2's fiscal note also estimates 42 new employees will be needed to manage the program. Public education needs proper funding.

Isaac Hinojosa
Self.
Killeen, TX

As a disable veteran I have 4 kids in the public school system and this bill tells me that Governor Abbott does not care about my kids or any of the other kids in public schools. The state has made it hard for teachers to teach and then blames the teacher when student are not passing. My 9 year twins attend school in Killeen and one of their teacher teaches for kids to learn and apply what they learn to real life. Because of her, his grades have gone up and is loving to learn new things. This is great for my twins, but I can't say the same for my senior. He had teach who didn't care to much but were teachers because they needed a job and all they had to do is teach kids how to pass a test. This new bill is taking money and materials away from my boys, hindering their education. Thank you Governor Abott and his team for telling me that my kids don't matter to them, as long as they get what they want. I know come election time, this will definitely impact my decision on who to vote for.

Mark Filley

self

Austin, TX

I am a parent with 3 kids. My oldest now is 16. I have sent my kids to 4 different types of school. First homeschooling, then private, then charter and then public. The only one that met all of my kids needs is public. Upon enrolling in public schools my two oldest who were in elementary school were a year behind in education relative to peers. It took several years and hard work to get back up to peer grade level. Second public school is the only one that services such as dyslexia are offered at. Receiving those services helped my kids learn. I'm asking to not have school voucher program. The wealthy who already have money to send to private school do not need additional financial assistance with their private school tuition.

Amber Houck

Self /technology teacher

Wichita Falls, TX

I'm a Texas teacher and vouchers will destroy education. Vote no to vouchers

Kristie Graf

Self, educator

La Grange, TX

As a former public and private school teacher and current homeschool teacher I oppose this bill and am asking you to vote against it. The bill does not provide school choice but takes away choice and rights from private schools and homeschoolers. The bill is only good for the vendors and not good for any school or family in the end. If you really want to help family with school choice give a tax break for families wanting to homeschool or send their children to private school. When you start putting stipulations on curriculum and standardized testing it takes away any benefits this bill could have. Please vote no to this bill.

Lara West, Mrs.

Homeschooling

Jersey Village, TX

I homeschool and I oppose this bill!

Bridgett Donald, Dr.

Self

New Caney, TX

I homeschool and I oppose this bill.

Reginald Oliver

Self

Houston, TX

Against

Kate Leonardo

Knowles Elementary PTA & Self

Leander, TX

Say NO for HB3! Public schools already struggle with the funding that hasn't been increased since 2019!! The rippled effect of taking even more money away from public schools would be disastrous.

Susan Cummings

self

Baytown, TX

I am writing to express my vehement opposition to the establishment of an ESA program in Texas. This would permanently establish a two-tier system of education and will drain public schools, especially in rural districts, of vital state funds. All Texas students should receive the same robust education. All schools should serve students of all abilities and be transparent with the money they spend the the outcomes of students.

Mary Elizabeth Dickerson, Ms.

self, public school principal

Plainview, TX

House Bill 3, which proposes education savings accounts and vouchers in Texas, poses a significant threat to the integrity and funding of public education. By diverting public funds to private schools, this bill undermines the financial stability of public schools, which serve the majority of Texas students. Public schools are already struggling with inadequate funding, and this bill would exacerbate these challenges by reducing the resources available for teacher salaries, classroom supplies, and essential programs. Additionally, vouchers and education savings accounts lack accountability and transparency, making it difficult to ensure that taxpayer dollars are being used effectively. This shift in funding could also lead to increased segregation and inequality, as private schools are not required to adhere to the same non-discrimination policies as public schools. Ultimately, House Bill 3 threatens to erode the foundation of public education in Texas, leaving many students without access to the quality education they deserve.

Until all schools are held to the same standards of accountability and performance, and schools are funded equally, this bill is obviously an agenda pushed by special interest, millionaire lobbyist.

Sissy Wong

Self

Friendswood, TX

Do not pass this bill. Protect public education!

Kourtney Benton

Moms Demand Action

Austin, TX

I am against school vouchers!

Alexandra Dehoff

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose ESAs (education saving accounts) and support public money being used for public education.

Amber Shawver, LSSP
self, School Psychologist
Fort Worth, TX

I am the parent to four middle school aged children enrolled in Northwest ISD. When they were preschool age, my husband and I intentionally chose our school district due to reputation of high quality academics, fine arts, and a close knit community. The district has served our family well. Our children have receive enrichment through the Gifted and Talented Program, special education, athletics, fine arts and so much more. I am also a School Psychologist in FWISD. I serve the most vulnerable students with visible and invisible disabilities who deserve a free appropriate public education. As you can infer, public education is close to my heart. I believe in the system and that it is the upmost importance for public education to provide an education to ALL children of Texas because they are the future of our state. Working in within the system, I have witnessed what happens when students with disabliites attempt to leave the public school system. Many of my students have enrolled in charter or private schools only to either be turned away or to to be frustrated due to being underserved. There are a few charter and private schools equipped to accommodate and serve special education students. Many are not and do not have staff or resources to educate students with even mild disabilites let alone more significant ones. I also know students who were denied entry into schools simply due to their disabilites even when they were academically capable students.

With the enticement of vouchers upon us, my husband and I did some research about the options for our own children and there are none that are viable.

Here's why-

- the nearest private school to our home is 21 miles away and there is no bus service making it inaccessible
- if we could go to that school, tuition is roughly $25k per child, with vouchers we would still owe $60k which is outside of our income (we are well above the poverty level and this is still not attainable for us)
- if we could afford the tuition and transportation, it is unlikely our children would be admitted due to one who requires special education services and accommodations
- also, the private school does not offer the array of fine arts and atheltics that our public school does

I have been closely watching HB 2 and 3 and hope you consider the desires of your consituents. Vouchers will not benefit families like mine and the math indicates that there would only be enough for less than 2% of school children. I ask, WHO benefits from vouchers, certainly not my family, my community or any of the children I serve.

- Please, say "no" to vouchers!
- increase of $1,340 bringing the basic allotment up to $7,500 (from $6,160). Raising the basic allotment by $220 is simply not enough. It represents an increase of only 3.58% during the same time in which inflation has increased 23%.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Amber Shawver, Nationally Certified School Psychologist

Christopher Davis
Self, business executive
Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the proposed education bill for vouchers. Public education funding is already severely limited and this voucher program will further lead to unequal educational standards for students. Furthermore, the program's limited scope and lack of availability in many Texas districts makes it an ineffective solution. Prioritizing robust public school funding is essential for ensuring equitable educational opportunities for all Texans, not just a select few.

Kristen Brown
Self
Conroe, TX

I am against HB3 and believe that our state representatives (and Governor) should focus FIRST on fully funding our public schools, where the vast majority of Texas students will receive their education. Public Education is part of a social contract Texans have with our government. Find it FIRST.

Nancy Hartline

Self

Abilene, TX

Vouchers will take money away from public schools and give to private/home schools without them having to meet all the requirements public schools are required.

T Kistler

Allen ISD

Mckinney, TX

The majority of Texans are not in favor of this bill. Do the right thing for ALL Texans and cease the attacks on public schools and their funding. Education should be available to all in this state and should not take second chair to private schools. Say NO!!!

Laron Cheek

self

Eules, TX

I am vehemently opposed to the establishment of a school voucher program. Funding should go only to public schools simply because if you're wealthy enough to put your kid in private school, you should get no assistance from the state.

Sharon Gardner

Self/retired teacher

Grapevine, TX

Dear committee members, please stop this bill! The people of Texas are counting on you to save the future of Texas by safeguarding education for all Texans. This bill has a great degree of certainty of leading to the death of public education for all. Please help us!

Liz Clearman

Self, freelance copywriter/copy editor

Houston, TX

I'm a single parent living in Houston, and am a freelance copywriter/copy editor as my occupation. I recently lost my main source of income. Why am I telling you this? Because even if I received a $10,000 voucher for some random private school (Christian, of course, because that's what y'all want) for my high school junior to attend, guess what? I STILL couldn't afford it. I couldn't even get close. Please tell me how defunding public education is a good thing. I cannot afford private school. Those who CAN afford private school are the already wealthy where an extra $10,000 can go toward a school they were already planning on sending their kids to. How do you fathom that people like me, given what I just described to you, can afford private school on $10,000?? While I understand that you desire a less educated populace so that they will continue to vote for Republicans, I will never understand prioritizing the needs of the wealthy over all. I cannot afford private school for my child - although she and I would have ZERO desire to send her to one, given that most of them are Christian/religious - and a $10,000 voucher would do absolutely nothing to help. You are penalizing the poor, low-income, and middle class and literally handing subsidies to the wealthiest. Guess what? If those parents want to send their kids to private school, THEY ALREADY HAVE THAT CHOICE. Taxpayer dollars should never go toward subsidizing private, religious school. This goes against every fiber of the constitution, and if any of you had paid attention in law school (which, did I mention that I also have a law degree?), you would know that smashing church and state together is about as unconstitutional as it comes. Do NOT vote for ESAs. It's a terrible, awful idea.

Denise Manley

Self-none

Houston, TX

I strongly oppose the implementation of vouchers or “school choice” in Texas. We already have school choice as one can select public schools including magnet schools, or one can pay to select a private school.

Public dollars should not go to private schools as the necessary result is defunding public schools.

People without money cannot afford private school even with a voucher so it only benefits the rich. In other states, over 90% of vouchers are sued for religious schools. In Texas, there are many strong Christians and those of other or no faiths and everyone can practice that but not at the public expense. That’s wrong and not in line with Texas values.

What happens to the vast majority of kids that don’t use vouchers and so are left at the “failing” schools, which would have even less funding!

We must fully fund public schools and provide a quality public education to all Texas children as required by the Texas constitution. Thank you.

Olivia Primanis

self --Book Conservator

AUSTIN, TX

Vote no on HB3 -----HB 3 and similar bills would take $1 billion collected from Texas taxpayers earmarked to support Public education for All and gifted to for-profit private education enterprises. The money given for vouchers will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties -more than 150 Texas counties don’t have a private school to send your kid to. Texas already ranks 28th in spending for public school students. University grad programs are already 50% filled with international students whose education is more advanced than that offered to students in TX. Support ALL our students-- our next generation -- our replacements ---with public education.

The voucher plan is bad for the Texas taxpayer, bad for public educators, and bad for the kids in our public school classrooms.

Sara Windham

Self Speech-language Pathologist

Salado, TX

Please listen to your constituents and the data. Data from other states with vouchers tells us that they are a subsidy that goes primarily to wealthy families in spite of any “best intentions” you believe are in this bill. There is plenty of data about the harm to students with disabilities. Students with disabilities will not receive services they need to be successful. There is also plenty of data that tells us of the price of vouchers to taxpayers- ballooning budgets, inequity and fraud because of lack of accountability, and weakened public school systems because of the financial impact of vouchers. Families who leave public schools in hopes of better opportunities but are rejected by private schools because of behavior or academic challenges or other differences will be forced to return to a public school system drained of resources in worse shape than when they left it. Additionally, Dr. Buckley stated to a room of constituents in Salado that there is no data to prove that vouchers will threaten the TRS system in spite of documentation in SB2 and testimony to the contrary. This bill creates a new arm of the government that would not exist without HB3 or SB2- the vendors are ready to get their hands on Texas taxpayer dollars to “provide” something we already have - school choice. The sales pitch we are given about the bill does not match what’s in the bill. It is foolish to say we have to do something and will fix it later because our own history shows that in the last decade, only 0.03% of legislation that has passed in Texas has been fixed after the fact.

Vouchers are not fiscally conservative. Listen to the data. Listen to the voices of constituents who do not support vouchers. Brad Buckley spoke to a group of Ft Cavazos and school district leaders last year. He shared that, just before he was sworn in, he stood on the balcony of the House chamber and was reminded by someone important to him that the people on the floor of the house were not the people he should listen to- it was the people who voted for him that should have his ear. That is what all representatives and senators should remember. It’s not the voice of big donors - it’s the voice of voters that matter. Texans recognize a bad bill when they see it and this is a bad bill. Vote no to vouchers.

Sarina Jones

Self, Licensed Social Worker

AUSTIN, TX

The people of Texas, on behalf of our children and all future children, implore you to resist the school voucher scam. This is only important to Abbott because his loyalty has been bought (to the tune of $12mil by out-of-state billionaire Yaas). The people of Texas want our public schools funded appropriately. We know by seeing the long-term effects of similar voucher scams passed in other states, that this will only serve to degrade the quality of public schools (something every child in Texas has a right to) while lining the pockets of those whom invest in private schools. Private schools have less accountability, fewer teacher certification requirements, and can turn away any student for any reason. Vouchers will not make private schools more attainable for those in the middle class or the working class (likely the majority of your constituents); private schools, operating in a free market economy, will merely raise their tuition further (likely by around $10k) to ensure their school remains elite and their bank accounts swell.

Fund public schools, say no to vouchers.

Brandon Langston

Self- Athletic Director/Teacher

Munday, TX

Public education is the backbone of our future. We must begin to fully fund public education to move our youth forward. It is embarrassing where the state of Texas is at when compared to other states in public education funding. The vouchers are not the right thing for our kids. This will only create a larger gap between the haves and have nots. Private schools are great for some, they should not be given public funding though with no requirements though. Homeschooling is good for some, but a lot struggle socially. Public education accepts EVERYONE and works with them at their level and tries to build them to where they should be. If this voucher bill is pushed through, it will kill public education, look at some of the other states and the budget deficiencies it has caused. The kids who can not afford private schools, or do not have access to private schools will not be able to use the vouchers either as it does not cover the travel to and from school, it does not cover the entirety of most tuitions, it does not cover over fees associated with private schools. This bill, and public education funding, will tell we the people, who are truly doing what is best for the kids and who is trying to pad pockets. There will be large educator turn out in the next election.

Angela Callier

Self.

Houston, TX

I am against school vouchers. It will adversely affect lower-income neighborhoods.

Christina Davis

Self - parent

Carrollton, TX

Please vote "no" on this bill. We need to fund our public schools, not divert our tax dollars to unaccountable private schools that have limited oversight. This bill, if passed, will decimate our public schools. It will be detrimental to all Texas students, but especially our special needs students. It has very limited benefit to anyone other than those already enrolled in private school. Even those families are unlikely to benefit considering that private school will likely raise their tuition in the amount of the voucher. In every state that has passed similar legislation, this ends up being the case -i.e Arizona. My kids are thriving in Lewisville ISD; however, our district needs state funds and an increase in the basic allotment in order to continue to properly continue to serve our children. HB3 is misguided and bad for Texas families. Thank you.

Michelle Gehring

Myself

Richmond, TX

<https://fb.watch/xV7OocaywM/>

Christopher Drake

Self

Lubbock, TX

The typical argument I hear is that people that are already sending their kids to private schools don't want to spend their tax money on kids going to public schools. Well I'm on the obverse of that argument. My child goes to, and will always go to, public school and I don't want my tax dollars supplementing some rich person's kid going to a private school. I also feel like this is trying to legalize a new form of segregation and as a white man, I feel like that is abhorrent.

Kelley Palma

Self

Kerens, TX

I am for school choice!

Diane Birdwell, CPT

TSTA-Retired

Dallas, TX

To the members of the committee:

I am a former Army officer and a retired high school teacher from Dallas. You've heard all the arguments for and against vouchers, but I am sincerely asking you to look at the LOGIC, or lack of it, with this bill.

1. Public schools must adhere to various subject curricula approved by the state. Private schools will not be verified if they adhere to the same standards in the TEKS.
2. Public schools and their districts are given "report cards," but private schools won't have them.
3. The public elects boards of trustees to select a superintendent, set a budget and create policies that support enforcement of state and federal education laws. Again, will private schools be required to be transparent and will those tax dollars from vouchers be properly accounted for?
4. Public schools are required to take in any student at any point in the school year. Private schools limit enrollment numbers and limit enrollment periods to the semester before the new year starts.
5. Under current law, students with special needs must be supported with personnel and equipment where required. There is no such requirement for private schools. In fact, they can tell the parent that they do not have the ability, nor will they acquire the necessary personnel or equipment to assist a severely handicap child.
6. Many private schools are religious in nature. Because public schools are secular, all students are welcome. Religious private schools can, and have in the past, discriminated against students in admissions because they don't worship or believe the same way.
7. Our nation is a secular republic that does not favor one religion over another. By giving tax dollars to religious schools, we are showing preference and bias. It is the antithesis of what our Founding Fathers created and fought a war over.

Public schools in Texas have not been fully – and adequately- funded since at least 1999. That is when I became a teacher, and I saw shortcomings then. It has not gotten better, because there is no desire by many to actually improve the schools in their communities.

I urge all of you to vote down this voucher scheme because it is against the values of Texas. Look at our constitution for the state. It talks about fully funding our public schools, not giving tax dollars without accountability and transparency, to private schools.

Vote this down and end this.

Thank you.

Feel free to contact me, and if you want, I can come down to Austin and have a conversation with any of you. I am retired, and that is the joy of being such.

Diane Birdwell
CPT, MI, USAR
214-957-3987

Kelly Petty, Ms.

Self

Montgomery, TX

Time and time again, Texas residents, Republican, Democrat, and Independent have voted no on school vouchers, over and over. The residents of Texas DO NOT WANT SCHOOL VOUCHERS. Now Greg Abbott and his friends are holding our public schools hostage and not providing the funds that are needed for our public schools and our children unless he can pass his voucher plan backed by billionaires, which is a vendor bill that will put money in the pockets of the billionaires and friends who support him. They have supported vouchers for a long time. This has been in the plan and the works for a long time. Public schools have not been given funding for many years, teachers have not been given raises, and public schools are doing more and more with less and less money with our public schools are being given more and more criteria to meet. It is a sad day when our Governor and his friends want our public schools to fail, and they do everything in their power to make them fail. With voucher bills, only the rich who already send their children to private schools will get more money in their pockets. The students who are middle class, that come from working-class families, are poorer, and have special needs will not be able to make up the difference on top of the voucher for private schools. There are no checks and balances on private schools like there are on public schools. Our rural communities do not have private schools near them for them to even attend. Our Governor and his friends need to be more concerned about educating all students in Texas, for they are the future of Texas. THIS IS A SHAME, AND THIS IS A SCAM, AND THIS IS UNETHICAL IN SO MANY WAYS. Especially when they try to disguise it as what is the the best for children. We as Texans have time and time again said that we don't want vouchers and we don't. Listen to the people of Texas and do your job ... You were voted in to serve the people and the children of this state.

Heather Wright

Self—Republican Voter

Kerrville, TX

The current proposal for ESA/vouchers is irresponsible and in defiance of the wishes of Texas taxpayers. While there is undoubtedly room for improvement in Texas public education, this proposed ESA/voucher program is not the way nor the means. This is a vendor bill designed to funnel money to out-of-state interests and satisfy donations from profiteers. As a conservative, I want to see my representatives truly represent the people of Texas, the parents and students. The funding schema for this bill is not sustainable without pillaging public education or other revenue sources. It enmeshes church and state, the basic separation of the two being a foundational principle of our republic. Additionally, at a time when our national government is rightly focused on decreasing the size of government bureaucracy, this program adds an entirely new government department. This proposed program would supplant public schools without providing Texas taxpayers, parents, or students with the protections and transparency guaranteed through public schools.

The recent “town hall” meetings held by various representatives have highlighted how out of touch our representatives are to the wishes of their constituents. I have heard too many representatives discount these constituents as “paid demonstrators”. That is far from the truth. It is time for our representatives to actually listen to the voters and taxpayers instead of billionaire donors. If you really want clarity, put this on a statewide ballot instead of making lofty decrees. I am a lifelong Texas conservative. I am not pleased with the decisions being made by those who are blatantly ignoring their constituents.

In closing, one need only examine the effect of similar programs in other states where the program has exploded budgets and decimated rural districts in favor of “storefront” private schools.

Diane Estrada

Clint ISD

El Paso, TX

I do not support the voucher program in Texas!

Danielle Hills

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote NO to vouchers

Maureen Saval

self

Leander, TX

Vouchers give private schools, not parents, the right to choose. Private schools can select which students to admit, while public schools are for everyone. Additionally, parents who accept a voucher lose many important rights.

They help kids who are already in private school the most.

Vouchers send taxpayer dollars to private institutions with no accountability. Private schools do not have to meet the same standards as public schools.

The system of universal, free public education benefits all of us. VOTE NO on HB 3.

Tamar Leiber

self

Navasota, TX

Please don't sacrifice public education for the benefit of the wealthy. Texas children are guaranteed a free public education and if their parents decide that is not the best option for their child, they should pay for it themselves

Linda Janette Johnston

self

ROUND ROCK, TX

Please do NOT pass this bill. It will hurt rural areas especially, as they do not have as much choice for private schools.

The bill will only help parents who already have enough money to pay for private schools, anyway, and hurt those left in public schools which desperately need MORE money. This bill makes absolutely no sense financially. We need strong public schools to have an educated public. If legislators want it so badly, it should be put to a public vote. Even in Republican states, when on the ballot, the issue has overwhelmingly been defeated. It should be the voters who decide.

Scott Reed

Myself

Midland, TX

I will not support any Senator or Representative that votes in favor of this bill

Marjorie Crawford

Self retired teacher

Boerne, TX

Vote NO to school vouchers

Brittney Payne

Self

Dallas, TX

NO to school vouchers! I am a 7th generation Texan and deeply concerned about the direction our state has been headed for the last several years. Vouchers would be a detriment to our public schools. Be on the right side of history! BIG NO TO VOUCHERS!

Alissa Christopher

Self

Dallas, TX

Establishing education savings accounts will serve the purpose for which it is intended—DEFUNDING public education. So many small and rural areas of Texas have no private school alternative to public school. For those communities, there is no “choice” and creating a voucher program (i.e., education savings program) will only serve to decimate the already greatly underfunded public schools. For areas where private schools are available, the education savings account program will defray approximately 1/2 of the annual tuition of private school education. Therefore, this program would only aid families who can almost afford private school and will do nothing for families who cannot come up with the additional funds for private school tuition. It is imperative for Texas to have a robust public school system for many reasons. First we must educate our children to allow each of them attain their potential, to set them up for success in their chosen workplace, to prepare them to be the workforce our state needs in the future. We need our children to flourish and not languish. We need to be able to attract business and industry to our state, and we cannot do that if we continue to underpay teachers and underfund public education. Creating education savings accounts will do exactly the opposite by further underfunding the Texas public education system. Do not bow to pressure from our Governor who is acting in the best interest of his billionaire donors and not the citizens of Texas!!!

Rosamaría González

USA CONSTITUTION SUPPORTER, Teacher

Austin, TX

Your PRIMARY MISSION is to ensure that ALL children in Texas get access to a fully,funded education First-12th Grade. ANY legislation that thwarts that CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT is CRIMINAL.

It is in the BEST INTERESTS of our PUBLIC HEALTH, PUBLIC SECURITY, and PUBLIC CIVIL RIGHTS that you vote AGAINST school vouchers. STEALING our PUBLIC MONIES for private purposes is UNCONSTITUTIONAL !!!!

Well know we that many families who can afford to pay for their child’s private school are getting these “stolen” voucher funds as bonus funds.

Well know we that voucher deals will throw the state into debt. And then what?!! CHAOS

THE INNOCENT CHILDREN SUFFER as we see programs cancelled. These are programs which I have witnessed helping children succeed, and IMPROVE and FLOURISH with their ACCOMPLISHMENTS. Families support their school!!

What happened to this being “ A Land of Promise!” ?

VOTE “NO” on HB3, SB2

YOU CAN DO THIS COURAGEOUS ACT

SINCERELY,

Rosamaría González

TEACHER

Barbara Rush

self

Whitesboro, TX

It is a clear violation of the separation of church and state for our state tax dollars to be paid to church schools. We have an obligation to fully fund public education. We should be doing everything possible to make our public schools better, including lowering class size, increasing teacher pay, and paying for school supplies. Please do the right thing, and vote against SB 3, and oppose attempts to send our hard-earned money to private, unaccountable "schools".

Terri Arnold
Self retired
Houston, TX

I strongly support public schools and oppose HB3. This is just wrong. I am not going to pay to educate wealthy students at private institutions. I will move to another state first. This is WRONG.

Patricia Rusthoven
self
AUSTIN, TX

As a Texas public school teacher for over 30 years, a voucher program would weaken the public school system that is already underfunded. These programs would not allow the school choices that is being touted for those students in low-income families or with special needs. Students with IEP's will not get their needs met in most of the charter and private schools as they do not have to offer those services thus making families accept the removal of these services if they chose to attend their school. I've had many students leave public schools with the promise of smaller class sizes and better educational experiences, only to return within a year, so that their student can get all of the services that will be legally provided in public schools. Most of these voucher plans all offer more per student than is currently being funded at public schools, so instead you should increase the per student funding in public schools. Families that would choose these vouchers, will still have to come up with significant money to pay the remainder of tuition, while also having to make plans for transportation and even how they can adjust their work schedules to meet family volunteer requirements.

Private schools are not held to the same standards that public schools have by state and federal guidelines, which includes unfunded mandates, curriculum, schedules, and tests.
Say no to vouchers and fund public schools appropriately.
Thank you for your time.

Abbigail Davis
Self
Bay city, TX

Hb 3 will be detrimental to public education. We already have a choice of where to send our children to school. If I choose to send my child to a private school, that is my choice and should not be paid for by public funding, not to mention that the $10000 is not going to cover tuition and fees for most private schools so middle and low economic class still will not be able to afford this option. These schools pick and choose who to allow in, what will happen with Special Education students or students that do not score well on tests, or have behavioral needs-HB 3 will limit funding for those students who need it. If you truly believe this is what the majority of Texans want, put it to a public vote with clear and concise language. Please listen to your constituents that are pleading with you to put your focus and funding where it belongs-Public Education!

Lisa Bua
Self/ Parent/ Teacher
Tomball, TX

Save the the children's education and the public school system in Texas from vouchers!

Elizabeth Berthiaume
Self
Dallas, TX

Kill this bill. It will hurt public schools and teachers who are already suffering. Increase pay for teachers and increase funding for public schools. No vouchers. We don't want them.

Patrick Houlihan
Self/facilities maintenance specialist
Conroe, TX

The Texas voucher program diverts public funds away from already underfunded public schools, weakening the education system that serves the majority of students. Instead of improving public schools for all children, it primarily benefits private institutions that lack accountability and can selectively admit students. This program threatens rural schools, special education programs, and low-income families who may not be able to afford private school tuition even with a voucher. Public dollars should remain in public schools to ensure every child has access to a quality education, rather than subsidizing private choices at the expense of the greater good.

Minda Caesar
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3.

Numerous studies show that voucher programs do not improve academic outcomes for children. Texas' economic growth and prosperity depend on a well-educated workforce, and diverting public funds to private schools undermines that goal.

HB3 is not a true school choice bill—Texas parents already have school choice. Instead, this bill funds private school selectivity, allowing private institutions to determine which students they accept, not parents. Public money should come with the same accountability standards. Any school receiving tax dollars must follow the same mandates, testing, and transparency requirements as public schools.

Vouchers represent a significant and growing financial burden on the state. The current Senate proposal projects that more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6 billion in 2026 alone. Meanwhile, the fiscal note on SB2 shows an increase of 42 state employees just to manage the program. Rather than diverting billions to private schools with little oversight, Texas should focus on properly funding its public schools, ensuring that every child has access to a quality education.

Texans deserve a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education, and taxpayers should have a direct say at the ballot box. Some representatives claim the primary ballot question granted a mandate for vouchers, but that measure was vaguely worded and did not disclose the lack of oversight for public funds. If legislators believe vouchers have public support, they should put the issue directly on the ballot.

This entitlement bill benefits only a select few, not Texas as a whole. We urge you to reject HB3 and instead pursue measures that strengthen public education and hold all schools equally accountable for taxpayer dollars.

Please fund public schools fully first, before you commit public funds to create an entitlement program with minimal accountability for taxpayer dollars.

Thank you.
Minda Caesar

Sydney Gutierrez
Self
Waco, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Julissa Ramirez
Self
San Antonio, TX

As a student teacher from San Antonio, Texas, I strongly oppose HB3 and the establishment of an education savings account program. This bill defunds public education, benefits the wealthy, does not hold private schools accountable, and excludes students, especially students from a rural area and students who are economically-disadvantaged. A quality education should not be awarded only to those who can afford it. All students deserve a quality education with abundant resources and funding.

Stephanie Scheffel, Mrs.
Self, public school music therapist
Buda, TX

In addition to being a mother of a second grader in the public schools, I spend 40 hours per week in the public schools working as a music therapist with students with a wide range of disabilities. I spend time with hundreds of teachers and school staff every week, be it paraprofessionals, occupational therapists, speech therapists, nurses, and administrators. In all my years working in the schools, every single person I've encountered has had as their number one goal the safety, growth and development of the students we serve. We work hard for these kids, we support them and their families, and we dip into our own accounts to buy things that will enrich their education. Public schools are the cornerstone of our community. They serve as social hubs, meeting areas for organizations, places for families to meet and receive information. Our community lives and stories are woven into the public schools, and they have been for generations. Instead of fully funding public education in Texas to expand the reach and possibilities for our public schools, HB3 undercuts the ability of public schools to serve all students. Furthermore, studies of voucher programs across America have shown not only academic declines as a result of voucher programs, but also that most of the money from these programs go to students who were already attending private schools. As a person working with students with disabilities for years, I also have serious concerns about private schools' ability to reject special education students and their lack of accountability through IDEA. Our kids deserve better than this bill. Our school staff who pour their hearts into their jobs every day deserve better than this bill. I urge you to vote NO on HB3 and keep public schools healthy and strong in Texas by fully funding public education. Thank you.

Caleb Massie

Self

Addison, TX

Dear Representatives,

As a Texan who benefited from public education myself, I am strongly opposed to the "School Vouchers" proposed. Legislation impacting local education should truthfully reflect the core mission of the Texas Education Code to "ensure all children have access to a quality education that enables them to achieve their potential and participate fully in the social, economic, and educational opportunities of the state and nation." School vouchers undermine this mission.

Even with an extra $10,000, many families will still be unable to afford private school. For families struggling to meet basic needs, this amount will not make private school a viable option. In states where school voucher systems have been implemented, private school tuition has often increased. $10,000 is insufficient for working-class families. Furthermore, private schools are not required to provide transportation. This poses significant challenges for working parents, particularly in rural areas of Texas some of which lack private schools entirely.

In this nation, every child has the right to a fair and sufficient education. The rule of law must therefore ensure every child has fair and sufficient access. A move in favor of the voucher system, empowering private institutions with the ability to discriminate in their admissions, undermines this right. Private schools can choose who to admit, meaning children with learning disabilities, behavioral challenges, or those who don't fit the school's culture may be turned away. Public schools, however, are required to accept all students and are committed to supporting them.

Additionally, private schools are not mandated to provide special education services. When they do, students must be sent to public schools for evaluation and accommodations, using public school resources. Under the voucher system, public funds would be diverted to children from wealthier families, who often already have access to private schooling. It is well-documented that in states with voucher systems, over 75% of funds go to families already enrolled in private schools, indicating that the program primarily benefits the wealthy.

Moreover, private schools are not required to administer state tests like STAAR, raising questions about accountability. Without certified teachers, we cannot be certain these schools provide quality education. As constituents and parents on various ends of the political spectrum would agree, children do not go to school to be indoctrinated. Quality education does not impose specific religious doctrine or dogma. Dedicated public educators acknowledge that the role of public education is to nurture and enrich young minds to think critically and independently.

School vouchers would only serve to harm economically disadvantaged and working class children and deepen social divides. If you truly care about Texans, support Public School.

Monica Godkin

Self Parent

Boerne, TX

As a mother of children who have been in the public school system for over 20 years, I am inclined to state I am against House Bill 3. I can see why it could benefit some. There are those looking for what they feel is a better education system than what may be offered to them in their area. Although that may be true for some, it is not the case for all. Take a moment and look at the benefits of the public school system. A public school offers a student more in terms of academics, arts, sports and special services for those with disabilities. Is this not the intention we have strived to give our children to become future leaders, doctors, plumbers or musicians? Tax payer money would be better suited in the public school to help offset costs or add to the curriculum and services offered by the school. As a tax payer, a voucher would not benefit my child in any way. Vouchers being offered to someone who can afford to send their children to a private school benefits them in no way other than putting that money back into their pockets. The public school system is already hurting. Our teachers are underpaid and classrooms are being packed to capacity because of the inability to hire more teachers. Vouchers will only hurt our public school system causing a domino effect to shut down schools that are on the cusp of closing while other schools continue to fight the battle to keep up with their own enrollment. I understand families who choose to homeschool or send their children to private or charter schools could benefit from some type of funding to offset costs. However, if we can standfast by the schools most of us have grown up in, we can offer up more opportunities and provide more service to cater to every student no matter what class or demographics they come from.

Diana Cosgrove

Self

Plano, TX

Vote against this bill. No school vouchers.

WILLIAM KILGORE

SELF - RETIRED

Austin, TX

I am going to address my remarks to the committee and to Representative Schoolcraft, in particular.

Representative Schoolcraft, your House district contains schools from a dozen or more ISDs. Four of them that are almost entirely within your district are Schertz-Cibolo-Universal, Seguin, Gonzales and Marion. These four districts have roughly 26,000 students. These districts have a combined operating deficit in the current budget cycle of $23 million. Let's assume that the uptake rate of Education Savings Accounts is 2%, over time. These four ISDs within your district could lose 520 students: 2% of 26,000 students. With their departures the ISDs will not receive $3,300,000 in funding every year from all sources including the basic allotment for those students. That's going to increase their operating deficit by 14%.

Representative Schoolcraft, last year your campaign received $937,000 of in-kind contributions from Governor Abbott and $106,000 from Texans United for a Conservative Majority, mostly funded by Tim Dunn, Dan and Farris Wilks. A top priority of all those benefactors is using public money to fund private schools.

I have two questions:

#1. Are you willing to significantly increase the operating deficit for public schools serving almost 30,000 students in your district, when the public schools remain way-underfunded, even with the possible passage of HB2, in order to fund an alternative education opportunity, lacking much accountability and oversight, for only 522 students?

#2. Can your dominant concern be the adequate provision for a superior education for all 30,000 students in your district, or might the need to please your benefactors have become your overriding concern?

Kim Kamin, Dr.

TRTA

Richland Hills, TX

Please support public school in Texas by voting against education savings accounts.

Eunice Navarro Garcia, Mrs.

Self/parent

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

Daniel Bearden

Self

Corsicana, TX

"Education Savings Accounts" are a fiscal mismanagement. They are a reverse Robin Hood, appropriating taxpayer funds to benefit political donors who either own or aspire to own private schools in Texas. Notably, these accounts lack state oversight of the schools or the funds they manage. Therefore, it is imperative to vote against this proposal.

Jillian Giles

Self

Watauga, TX

I am opposed to this bill as it does nothing to support our Constitutionally mandated public schools, but rather siphons public money off to private entities. I am a product of both public and private Texas education, and am the parent of a current public/former private school student. How could it be possible that I myself have personally utilized both public and private school options when I am repeatedly told that this bill must pass so we can have school “choice”? The truth of course is that Texans already have school choice, we can choose from a myriad of different educational options - public, private, charter, homeschool, etc. What we don’t have, and this bill will also not provide, is unlimited public funds to utilize however we choose. And we should not have that because it is not my neighbors’ responsibility to subsidize my personal choices, just as it is not my responsibility to subsidize theirs. But it is all Texans’ responsibility to provide a free public education for all students, as our state Constitution requires. We love our public school, that is why we choose to send our child there, despite the myriad of other educational options available to us. We are very involved with our school, participating, volunteering, donating and fundraising as is our responsibility as parents and community members. Our public school is not failing, though it faces many of the same struggles other Texas schools deal with, such as unfunded mandates and the absurdly ineffective STAAR assessments. Speaking of STAAR - if it is so critical to the accountability and success of public education, why doesn’t this bill require private and homeschool students utilizing ESAs to undergo the same STAAR assessments? There are numerous “strings” attached to ESA funding but oddly enough, the assessment that has come to define Texas education for more than a decade is not deemed a worthy enough tool to also evaluate private and homeschool programs? Just one of the many contradictions presented by this bill that purports to provide universal school choice, but in reality only serves a tiny fraction of Texas children. By its own account, this bill will primarily subsidize the choice of parents already sending their children to private school or homeschooling. Only 98,000 current Texas public schoolchildren will be selected for the privilege of using public taxpayer dollars at a private school IF those private schools choose to admit them, because this is really the schools’ choice, not the parents’. How about we adequately fund our state public schools as required rather than having our children play the lottery of maybe getting selected for ESA funding and maybe being admitted to the private school of their choosing and maybe having their educational needs met there (not great odds if that is a SPED student!)? Speaking of the lottery, remember when that was the legislative fix promised to solve our educational funding woes? A false promise, just like this one.

Sheri Meyers, Mrs.

Individual

Fort Worth, TX

No vouchers! This will take much needed funds from the public schools, which have not had any increases since 2019. It is unfair that private schools are not held to the same standard nor required to provide services such as transportation. Plus, I do not want my tax money going to some of these schools, which can be breeding grounds for terrorism.

Josefina Leon, Mrs.

Self and. Child

Wylie, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the implementation of school vouchers. As a parent and a concerned member of this community, I believe that school vouchers will have a harmful effect on our public school system, leading to unintended consequences that will ultimately hurt our children and society as a whole.

First and foremost, school vouchers divert vital funds from public schools. Public schools are already underfunded in many areas, and diverting public money to private institutions would only exacerbate these challenges. The resulting funding cuts would make it even more difficult for public schools to maintain the quality of education, resources, and support services that all students deserve.

Additionally, school vouchers disproportionately benefit wealthier families. While proponents argue that vouchers offer more educational choices, the reality is that many low- and middle-income families cannot afford the additional costs of private school tuition beyond the voucher amount. This creates a two-tiered system of education where those with greater financial means have access to better opportunities, while those who need the most help are left behind in underfunded public schools.

Public education is a cornerstone of our democracy, ensuring that all children, regardless of their economic background, have access to quality education. School vouchers undermine this principle by allowing public funds to flow to private institutions that can select students based on ability, behavior, or other factors. This exclusionary practice can result in some students, particularly those from marginalized communities, being left behind.

I urge you to reconsider any support for school vouchers and instead focus on strengthening our public school system. By investing in public education, we can ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has access to high-quality, equitable learning opportunities.

Thank you for your time and attention to this critical issue. I hope you will stand with our public schools and reject the harmful policy of school vouchers.

Keir Simon

Self - Consultant

Dallas, TX

I've been a Texas resident for over 40 years and for the life of me, I cannot begin to fathom how holding public schools hostage by withholding funding to support an initiative that the majority of residence despise is beneficial to anyone. This is not about choice. It never has been. Not only are you negatively affecting the education that my two young children are getting but you are driving down my property value because our local public schools are suffering. If people want to go to private school, that is their choice but I do NOT want to be subsidizing it anymore than I want to be subsidizing my neighbor purchasing a new car. That is their choice and their burden to bare. The school taxes I pay should be going to support the teachers, staff, and students where I live not where someone else chooses to send their children.

Ginger Blankenship

Self

Austin, TX

I am opposed to HB3. This bill will take money away from public schools that are already underfunded and give it to well off individuals to defray their private schools tuition. The amount proposed are more than what the state is giving public schools for each student. My child went to private schools for part of his education. That cost should not be paid for by tax payers

Sarah Stephens

Dr.

Arlington, TX

I am a retired educator and am writing in opposition to HB 3. Public schools in Texas are already underfunded and HB 3 will only exacerbate the situation. It is essentially a redistribution of wealth to upper income parents who are already sending their children to private schools with little accountability to the state. This bill must be defeated.

Amy Nordstrom

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Amy Royall

Self

Greenville, TX

Please vote NO to vouchers! I am a teacher in a small rural school that functioned with a deficit budget this year. Vouchers will not benefit our students as there are few private schools in the area and most of our students are economically disadvantaged and would have no way to travel to a private school even if they were available. Shifting money from public schools to private will be detrimental to public schools. States that have adopted voucher programs are seeing fraud and waste due to mismanaged money because of little accountability. A final reason to vote NO is my concern about the stability of the TRS pension program. Our pension is supported by teachers paying into the system. If vouchers are approved, public teaching positions will be vacated due to attrition which will leave fewer teachers contributing to TRS. Has the state planned for supplementing our pensions if this happens? I invite any member to spend a day or even a week visiting public schools in your area. You will see dedicated hard working staff trying their best to teach our students and prepare them for successful futures. Thank you for taking the time to read my comments and again, please vote NO and instead support public schools fully!

Michele Chambers

self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3 (aka vouchers) as they hurt the public school system which is necessary for us to have an educated, effective society. They give public funds to affluent folks that are already sending their kids to private school.

Diana Escobedo

PTA

Wylie, TX

I oppose to HB3

Cassandra Grim

Self/Retired teacher

San Antonio, TX

Texans do NOT want vouchers! We already have school choice and simply want our public schools and public educators fully funded! This is the best thing we must go for our Texas students!

Signed, a retired teacher

natasha emerson

Self - retired public school teacher

Houston, TX

Please protect our children and public school teachers by voting against the voucher system.

Cynthia Nunnelley

Myself

Cedar Hill, TX

I want HB 3

Camelia Sandoval, Ms

Self/teacher

San Antonio, TX

Vouchers will weaken Texas education system. I do not want vouchers in Texas. It is not about school choice equitably for all Texans it is only available for a few rich Texans.

Rosaura Flippin

self

Fort Worth, TX

I urge you to stand with Texas families, not special interests. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. The students will have a chance, not a choice. ESAs will come with a hefty price tag for me as taxpayer and without any sort of accountability. Texas public education is underfunded, we don't have surplus funds to give to private entities. I urge you to advocate for FULLY FUND PUB ED instead. The majority of the future of Texas attends public schools.

Darla Simmons

Self/teacher

Lufkin, TX

This policy will hurt the most vulnerable of our public school students. Please stand up for those with no voice in this! Vote NO!

Melissa Black

Self

Portland, TX

I adamantly oppose the school voucher program. Gregg Abbot has systemically kneecapped our public school system by withholding funds. This is just the latest in a series of thinly veiled attempts to defund our school system to the benefit of his cronies who will no doubt profit from Texas taxpayer dollars.

Governor Abbot does not represent hard working Texas families- he has sold us out the the highest bidder in an effort to line the pockets of his wealthy friends and donors. I'd say shame on him, but to have sense of shame he'd need to possess a moral compass.

I will use every opportunity to remind my community of his steamrolling behavior at election time.

Michael Muldowney

self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3. Stop playing silly rhetoric games, you will be taking money out of public schools and subsidizing wealthy families that are already sending their children to private schools. How about you just address the giant wage gap that Texas teachers currently have compared to other states and don't suggest taking millions in tax payer funds to subsidize the wealthy. I can think of about a dozen things where that money could be better used. If you can't also identify better uses for that money, you probably shouldn't be in this job.

Rebecca Moore

Self, stay at home mom

Kountze, TX

I am against HB3. I believe that tax credits are a better option for assisting families.

Patrick Blackard
Self, TV lighting director
Round Rock, TX

Don't give my school tax money to private schools. Especially don't give private schools fifty percent more than the allotment for my local public schools that I thought I was paying taxes for.

Lauren Clein, Mrs
Self, Attorney
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Donna Reed
Self
Conroe, TX

I have taught in Texas public schools for over 30 years and my children attended school in Conroe ISD. Since I arrived in Texas in 1980 from NY, the budget for public education has been seriously underfunded especially in the last 25 years. The voucher program will be a killing blow to our public education system. Pulling $1B from public schools and the 5.5 million Texas kids to "assist" a measly 100K students is not in our students best interest. Texas educators, students and parents don't want vouchers; we want public education to be funded appropriately. Please listen!!!

Sadie Wehner
PTA, Wylie ISD
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Amanda Henry
Self occupation public school teacher
Winnsboro, TX

Please say no to vouchers. I feel that the current proposal is unfair to students, parents, and teachers. The bill provides far more money per student to private schools than public schools. Private schools are not held to the same standards as public schools. Public schools are burdened by the STAAR Test where private schools who would also receive state funds are exempt. Private schools do not have to educate all children unlike public schools. Even with vouchers most families who are middle and low income cannot afford private schools. Please properly fund public schools so we can provide students and families with the quality they deserve. For the past two biennium the legislature has under funded schools so they could say how horrible those schools are in order to push forward the idea of vouchers. I am a teacher who is passionate about my students and wants what is best for them. Please give us the money that we need to properly do our jobs and allow our students to succeed.

Chauna Jacques
Self/ teacher
Spring, TX

I say no!! I am an educator at a Title 1 School!! Please protect our public schools !! I say no!!!

Rebecca Parker-Felder
Self-parent
Magnolia, TX

Please do not pass vouchers. By undercutting and over mandating public schools, you are jeopardizing the education of many young Texans. ESAs are not the way to raise the ranking of the Texas education system. Fund Public Education!!!

Macey Byles
My child
Fort Worth, TX

Please reject this bill and focus on fully funding our public schools! Private schools cannot meet the needs of every student. Saving the rich money is only hurting the middle and lower class. These vouchers rob our children of a better education and extra curricular activities, along with our teachers of jobs. Our education system is on the decline since this has been a topic of discussion.

Erin Thompson
Self
Houston, TX

I oppose HB 3 and any bill that seeks to legalize school vouchers or educational savings accounts.

Sara Allen, Dr.
Self - Clinical Psychologist
Plano, TX

We STRONGLY oppose these education savings accounts or school vouchers. We want a government that uses our tax dollars for essential services - not to fund people's personal preferences. Having good PUBLIC schools is important for the education of ALL Texans. These school vouchers take money away from our public schools which are a very important part of children's lives and our communities. If some people want private schools or home-schooling, that is fine and they should have the freedom to do that - BUT they should not get our tax dollars to fund their personal preferences!!

Nydia Alvarez-Alonzo
Mission Classroom Teachers Association
Mission, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) in Texas. While I understand the desire to offer more options to parents, I believe that the implementation of ESAs would have a negative impact on our public education system and the students who rely on it.

Texas already provides ample educational choices through public charter schools, magnet programs, and specialized districts. Additionally, our state's public schools are obligated to serve all students, including those with special needs, English language learners, and students from low-income backgrounds. Diverting public funds into ESAs would only reduce the resources available for these schools, making it more difficult for them to provide the quality education that every child deserves.

Moreover, any funding taken from the public system should be directed back to where the students are, not into private accounts that may not guarantee equitable or quality education for all. Public money should be allocated to public schools, which are accountable to the community and are required to meet rigorous standards for all students, not just a select few.

I urge you to consider the long-term consequences of diverting funds away from our public schools, which serve the majority of Texas students. Instead of ESAs, we should focus on strengthening our public education system, ensuring that every student has access to high-quality teachers, resources, and educational opportunities.

Please stand with the students of Texas and oppose the approval of Education Savings Accounts.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Emily Dial
Self/Engineer
Fort Worth, TX

All of this money going to charter schools is shameful. You'll be hurting almost all of your constituents to line the pockets of the rich.

Sarah Gray

Self

Austin, TX

I am a longtime public education advocate and a community member in Austin. I also lived in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for most of my life. I am saying heck no to vouchers. Let it me known I am AGAINST HB 3 and against privatization of schools. School choice is just you putting lipstick on a big. We want fully funded public schools. We don't want vouchers. Listen to us. All Texans of all backgrounds want their neighborhood schools to be fully funded so we can provide our children with the best. Fund our schools. Say no to vouchers.

Shirley Hanna, Ms

Self (retired teacher)

Fort Worth, TX

I am a teacher, my husband was a teacher for 50 years, my son and daughter are teachers and I have a grandson in public school so I have a passion for education.

I am a person of faith. I do not believe that tax dollars should not fund vouchers to private schools. Parents have always had a choice of where and how their children are educated. The proposed voucher program would take money from public schools and be a gift to people who already have the means to send their children to private schools. As a person of faith the voucher program would trample the separation of church and state. Please do not let this bill pass. Our public schools need to be supported and valued. Visit your public schools and see the what is going on with dedicated teachers and students. You might be surprised. Assessments are necessary but the STARR Test doesn't give a complete picture. Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of what two-thirds of Texas voters want.

Tammy Foster, Mrs.

Self, parent, teacher, pta member

Midland, TX

Please vote against this bill. It will take even more funds and programs away from our students and public schools. Private schools do well because they have substantial funding and a variety of engaging programs for students. Public schools need more funding so they can offer STEAM classes and other engaging clubs and opportunities to students as private schools do. This voucher program will hurt Texas families and schools. I've worked in a well funded school district in Texas and seen students thrive and I've worked in a district burdened by losing so much funding to the robin hod system in place that students had no real elective choices and no clubs which meant engagement and academics suffered. Unhappy kids will not perform well. Schools need funds to make learning engaging and fun. Additionally, private schools have no incentive to keep tuition rates low enough that the vouchers would help. A $10000/year voucher would only help cover the cost of 2 of the 5 private school options here. The other 3 would still be unaffordable for any family unable to pay costs above the voucher as well as costs of uniforms, etc. Private schools also already offer a few scholarships to underprivileged individuals, so there are opportunities for families to access them already in place. This bill will not help the majority of Texas families and will only further decimate our already struggling, underfunded schools. Please vote no! Do not support this bill!

Ingrid Blue, Mrs.

Self

Arlington, TX

Please don't vote for this. Please take the time to look at where other states have failed on this issue. Please take care of our communities and public schools. This isn't about school choice, but is about subsidizing students that already attended a private school. I am the mother of two public school students both on the spectrum. I worry that this will drain their schools already deprived resources.

Margaret Marquez

Self/Teacher

Cedar Park, TX

Please vote no to vouchers! Properly fund public schools and raise the basic allotment to $1300 per student!

Sincerely,

Margaret Marquez

Proud Texas teacher of 32 years!

Mary Jones

Self

Cedar Park, TX

I am deeply against HB 3 and the shift away from public tax dollars being spent in schools and academies that are not public.

Linda Siemers

Self

Houston, TX

I am against vouchers. They will destroy our public school system. My children and grandchildren received excellent educations in HISD. Increase fundings for public schools.

Jessica Morrison

Self, attorney

Fort Worth, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

My name is Jessica Morrison, and I am a Texas parent and PTA leader from Fort Worth. I am writing today to express my opposition to House Bill 3 (HB3) and the proposed Education Savings Accounts (ESAs).

One of the main reasons I oppose HB3 and ESAs is that they divert vital resources from our public schools to private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability. This could result in even fewer resources for our already underfunded public education system. Public schools serve all children, regardless of background or ability, and they are an essential foundation for our communities. By shifting funds away from public education to ESAs, we risk undermining the very institutions that serve the majority of Texas students.

HB3 and ESAs disproportionately benefit wealthier families who have the means to supplement their children's education with private options. This leaves low-income and at-risk students—who need public education the most—without the resources and support they need to succeed. Education should be a right, not a privilege. ESAs widen the achievement gap and reduce access to quality education for our most vulnerable students.

As a parent of children in Fort Worth ISD, I see firsthand how crucial it is for every child to have access to quality public education. In our community, public schools are a cornerstone of our neighborhood and city's well-being. The teachers, staff, and administrators work tirelessly to provide a quality education for every student, and cutting funding through ESAs will hurt that effort.

I urge the Texas House to reject HB3 and any proposals for Education Savings Accounts. We must prioritize strengthening our public schools, increasing funding, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education that will help them succeed. Instead of diverting funds to private schools, we should focus on improving our public school systems—investing in teachers, enhancing resources for all students, and making sure that every student has the opportunity to thrive.

I hope that you will take my concerns, as well as the concerns of many other Texans, into account when making decisions on this critical issue. Our children's futures depend on the quality of education they receive, and we must ensure that every student has an equal chance to succeed.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I respectfully ask that you vote against HB3 and the Education Savings Accounts proposal.

Sincerely,?

Jessica Morrison

Sandra Dolan, Ms

Wellsprings Methodist church

Georgetown, TX

No money for private school vouchers! Invest in the public school system so its rating goes up nationally, not at the bottom where it is now. My daughter is a teacher and I get tired of her spending her salary for her class!

Heather Clark
Self - Accountant
Austin, TX

My name is Heather Clark and I am writing to oppose House Bill 3.

I grew up in a rural town outside of Tulsa, OK called Sapulpa. While there were some K-8 school systems in the area, there was really only one high school that students in town could attend. That high school was tragically underfunded: we could not take home our textbooks for most classes because there weren't enough for the class, and worksheets were instead projected onto the white board because we didn't have enough money for copies. I spent a good chunk of my eighth grade biology class in the bathroom, coughing so hard I would dry heave, because I was allergic to the black mold growing in the back of the classroom.

If I wanted to transfer out of Sapulpa High School, I had two options. One, a small private Christian school in town that had a handful of kids per grade and acted more like a homeschool hub than a school. Two, a rich private school over thirty minutes from home that would cost over half of my parents' annual salaries combined. A few years after I graduated, a new option appeared: an online charter school called Epic. Epic would eventually commit "the largest abuse of taxpayer dollars in Oklahoma history" through embezzlement, per the Oklahoma State Auditor.

School vouchers purport to benefit kids in circumstances like the ones I grew up in. They claim to swoop talented kids out of low performing schools and put them into high performing ones. But that doesn't work in rural towns where one school is the only option, and charter schools aren't itching to bring classrooms to towns where they may get ten students. The much better, and much more equitable option, would be to put that money toward public schools so kids wouldn't need to leave in the first place. Rural schools need help, there's no doubt about that—so give them books. Give them paper copies. And give them classrooms without mold.

For the reasons detailed above, I urge members of the Committee to vote no on HB 3.

Thank you for your consideration.

Katie Wharry, Mrs.
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vote against vouchers!

Lisa Jones
self, Editor, Aurora Grants and Foundations
Austin, TX

I am ADAMANTLY OPPOSED to this bill, its ultimate goals, and its defiance of the majority of the voters in this state who are similarly OPPOSED to it. If Texas has a rainy day fund of an anticipated $27B by the end of this year, why can't we improve the public schools this bill is claimed to supersede?

Sandra Schneider, Mrs.
Allen ISD Teacher
Allen, TX

Public schools have made our state and nation great. Please adequately fund public schools instead of providing "welfare to the wealthy."

Brent Hawkins, Dr
Self
Copperas Cove, TX

I oppose HB 3 as a conservative in the state of Texas. This bill is not a fix for education and financially unsustainable. Competition is not a proven improvement mechanism and public schools have proven to be the most successful delivery method of the vast majority of students. I would love to debate the issue but clearly there is no forum for this nor will voters be allowed to vote on this bill. I could support this bill if public schools was funded at the $15,000 per pupil revenue for M&O only by raising the basic allotment.

Elizabeth Switek
Self
Austin, TX

Please vote no on HB3 which is a scam to defund our public schools and transfer public money to wealthy individuals and private schools who should not receive it. Public schools provide access to ALL students while private schools can deny entry, not provide transportation, free breakfast/lunch, offer no SpEd or section 504 services and can actually teach untrue things like humans living at the same time as dinosaurs (case in point: taught at Brenham Baptist School). The majority of vouchers will go to people who already pay and send their children to private school and the vast majority of Texas children will not be eligible and do not even live in counties with private schools who. This scheme has already bankrupted Arizona. Spend public money on public schools. My property tax money should not go to a bunch of Christian Nationalists and fringe religion followers. FUND public schools now. You have not raised the per student allotment since 2019 while costs for everything have gone up and every single public school district in Texas is feeling the pinch and facing deficits that are causing them to make decisions that hurt our children, teachers, communities and ultimately Texas. The voucher scam is short-sighted and will make Texas children uncompetitive in the future. Vote NO on HB3.

Keegan Webb
Self, elementary principal
Gatesville, TX

I implore you to stand up for the 5.5 million public school children of TX and vote no to HB 3. Our public schools are grossly underfunded with teachers leaving the profession at unprecedented rates. Texas can not sustain sending an estimated 5 billion dollars (over the next 5 yrs) to private schools and properly fund our public schools. School choice already exists though the form of private school, charter school, homeschool, or applying for a transfer as my personal children have done. HB 3 is a not a parent choice bill, but a SCHOOL choice bill as your private schools will hand pick the students that attend. The passing of the bill will begin the systematic dismantling of our public schools and this is NOT good for Texas. Please stand up for what is right, stand up for our children, stand up for the future of Texas.

Tara Barrett
Self
College Station, TX

Charter schools are already and alternative to public schools. Will private schools be held to the same standards as public and charter schools? Why not focus on putting the money and energy into bettering our public school system? Dividing assets even further only weakens our already fragile public school system. How do we get Mr. Talarico in office as governor? He's one of the few people who's only agenda seems to be for the welfare of the students.

Gabrielle Rasmussen
Self
tomball, TX

I oppose this bill and I'm against school vouchers.

Christy Nutter, Ms.

Self

Dallas, TX

I oppose this bill because it will hurt public education in Texas, and public education in Texas is already struggling. Fund more public education, invest in the equal and free education of our children to ensure a prosperous future.

Keith Dye

Self

Canyon Lake, TX

Against all defunding of public education

Crystal Smith

Self

Kerrville, TX

Many questions are still to be answered regarding this program. As a parent, I was proactive and created an ESA for my child. I should receive a credit for not using the state provided ESA.

While a competitive market is great, we should be looking at the real problem. Texas has lowered the standards. "No Child Left Behind" became a catalyst for this, as schools simply pass a failing child on to the next grade. Children need to experience failure. As they'll experience this in life. They need to know how to handle these emotions, and then how to address the situation. This makes them better functioning adults in society. We've lowered the standards for teachers. We've lowered the standards for GT/AP/Honors classes. These classes have become where the good kids go. Educators who care, are not allowed to reprimand students, as they have fear of administration and/or parents.

This is an entitlement program, pitting rural vs urban schools.

Texans want safe communities. Moms want to be able to pay for their groceries and have some left over. Texans already have school choice - I can send my child to public school, private school, or home school.

Heidi Dye

Self

Canyon Lake, TX

Absolutely NOT in favor of anything to do with vouchers, ESA's or bills which will continue to defund our public schools. The state constitution entitles students to a free and appropriate education.

Katherine Kelly, Dr.

Self; pharmacist

Grand Prairie, TX

Public money should be for public education and not private schools that can pick and choose their preferred students. We should not reduce funds and resources for public schools that help children who need it the most and have few or no options for alternative education.

Karen MCGUIRE

Self

Houston, TX

It has been shown when other states adopted the ESA serious funding problems escalated year by year and made public schools lose the necessary funding to provide proper education opportunities for those students

Catherine Ramos

Self - N/A

Austin, TX

I am writing to express my disapproval of HB 3 by Buckley, which proposes we give taxpayer dollars to parents sending their children to private schools. At this time, it has never been more important to make quality public education available to all Texans, and fund our public schools. The voucher amounts would take money and resources away from our public school system that provides essential services to our students. Just this week, four schools in my hometown of Carrollton were closed down due to a lack of funding, despite the hardship this puts on the families that rely on those schools. Private and Charter schools do not necessarily guarantee a better education to students, just a more exclusive one, and this does not serve the needs of Texans.

Susan Stabe

Self

KATY, TX

I oppose the voucher HB 3. I believe that it will remove funding from public schools, benefit higher income families with children already in private schools, and in the long run do disservice to special needs children both in private and public schools, because private schools can pick and choose their students, and public schools will have less funds to assist such students. HB 3 takes the emphasis off of improving public education and the recruitment of excellent teachers by not funding our public schools as they should be funded. $250 per student is wholly inadequate. HB3 is basically caving to special interests and big money funding here in Texas that has an agenda to destroy public education.

Meghan Chiasson

Self

Forney, TX

What if we poured this money into public education to develop the best public educational system in the country?

Vouchers will destroy public education many Texas still will not be able to afford private school, even with a voucher, which means this only subsidizes education for rich kids, which every one attends schools with limited resources and huge class sizes.

Vote no for vouchers and fund our public education system.

Jeremy Sutka
self
McKinney, TX

Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) are a brazen scam—a Trojan horse to dismantle public education under the guise of "choice." They're welfare for the wealthy, a taxpayer-funded coupon system for the rich to subsidize private schools while starving public schools of resources. This isn't reform; it's a calculated assault on public education, the cornerstone of opportunity for millions.

ESAs don't empower families; they divert public dollars into private hands, enriching the privileged while leaving vulnerable students behind. Wealthy families get vouchers for private schools, paid for by taxpayers, while low-income students are trapped in underfunded, crumbling public schools. This isn't equity; it's a grotesque reinforcement of inequality, where the rich thrive and everyone else fights for scraps.

Proponents claim ESAs offer "parental choice," but that's a lie. Real choice means ensuring every family has access to quality public schools, not creating a two-tiered system where the wealthy buy their way out of shared responsibility. ESAs betray the promise of public education—that every child, regardless of zip code or income, deserves a well-funded education. Instead, they siphon billions from public schools, leaving them to crumble.

This is a moral failure. Public education is the bedrock of democracy, the great equalizer. By defunding public schools, ESAs undermine this principle, creating a system where the wealthy thrive and everyone else is left behind. It's a handout for the rich disguised as progress.

But let's be clear: this is exactly what the Republican Party wants. An uneducated society is easier to control, manipulate, and exploit. By gutting public education, Republicans ensure only the privileged have access to quality education, while the rest are left uninformed and underserved. This isn't an accident; it's a strategy. An educated populace demands accountability and fights for justice. An uneducated one is easier to dominate.

We must reject ESAs and every scheme to privatize our schools. Public funds should strengthen public education, not subsidize private profits. We need smaller classes, modern facilities, well-paid teachers, and support for students in need. Anything less is a betrayal of our children and our future. ESAs are a raid on public education, a handout for the wealthy, and a Republican strategy to keep the populace uneducated and under control. We cannot—and must not—let it stand.

Nikita Pena
Self
Rio Grande City, TX
VOTE NO!

Beatriz Bocanegra
Self
Hutto, TX

I am a parent of three children in the public school system and I OPPOSE school vouchers.

Pam Ferworn, Mrs.

Self - Mom / Speech-Language Pathologist / Artist / Volunteer / Mentor / Wife

Houston, TX

Dear Rep. Buckley

I appreciate your efforts to address education. However, we oppose vouchers. For us, fairness is the main issue; private or charter schools that receive government funds should have the same accountability standards as public schools, and the dollar amount per student from the state should be the same for both voucher recipients and the basic allotment. At present, there is no obligation for private school to admit any student who applies.

The voters that I speak to know that vouchers are purely political and the vast majority are against them. We are the same; we reject this proposed version of vouchers/ESA for the reasons above.

Sincerely,

Pam & Kevin Ferworn

Lansing Brown

Self parent and taxpayer

Cypress, TX

No to vouchers that only serve a small percentage of Texas students. Fully fund public schools!

Valerie Valentine

Self

Austin, TX

I do NOT support taking money from public education to spend in private schools. A free public education is provided for all, if someone chooses to not participate in the public education system, they should be responsible for the cost.

Tiffany Brantley

Self

Marble Falls, TX

I oppose HB3. My tax dollars should go to public schools that accept all students.

Debbie Strouse

Self

Mcgregor, TX

I am totally against this bill as it is written. It does not support Texas students. Remove Tier 4 of the ESA. Require private schools to take all public ed students who apply. This bill does not support the needs of special ed students. Please support Texas public schools instead.

Heather Cole
Self/ clinical pharmacist
Arlington, TX

The proposed bill presents serious concerns for education funding, equity, and community cohesion. It would strain already limited resources for both rural and urban schools by enabling student departures without addressing the fixed costs these institutions must maintain regardless of enrollment numbers.

The exemption of charter schools from standardized testing requirements like the STAAR exam creates an uneven playing field. When different institutions operate under different accountability standards, we cannot make fair comparisons or ensure consistent quality across all educational options.

This bill essentially provides a subsidy that fragments our educational community. Rather than bringing parents together across income levels to work toward better schools for all children, it enables withdrawal from the shared project of public education.

Most troublingly, data from neighboring states like Louisiana demonstrates that similar charter school initiatives have not delivered improved educational outcomes. On average, charter schools perform worse than their public counterparts despite operating with different rules and standards.

I urge you to vote against this bill. Our focus should be on strengthening public education through evidence-based improvements that benefit all students rather than diverting resources to alternatives without proven success. We need solutions that unite our communities in supporting education rather than fracturing them.????????????????

Karen Kelley
Self
Katy, TX

I oppose vouchers.

Kate Johnson
Self
Haslet, TX

I oppose HB 3 or any effort to defund public schools in attempt to prop up charter or private schools. My son relies on an IEP in High School and has used special education services in public school since he was in Kindergarten. Any cuts to public school funding, or quite frankly, not FULLY funding public schools puts special education at risk and diminishes the services that my son and other children rely on. Texas is currently in the bottom 10 states of the most poorly funded schools, according to Texas AFT and one of the poorly educated states in the United States. To fund vouchers or a savings plan for parents to choose a charter public school, money would need to be removed from public schools. This bill also disenfranchises many Texans. 25% of Texas public schools are in Rural areas. Over 165 counties DO NOT have private schools, making public schools their only option. For families in rural areas, those that rely on special education, and those that may not be able to afford the full tuition of a charter school or public school above and beyond the voucher or savings plan amount, the quality of their education will suffer and lead to more economic difficulties later on.

Please just fully fund our public schools, where families and children have can have a level playing field and the best chance to get a quality education and be a contributing member to society, which ultimately benefits all of us in the end. Thank you.

Molly Gonzales, Dr.

Self

Brenham, TX

I am saying NO to vouchers. As an educator, I am very well versed in the difference between public schools and private schools. I think this bill is a miserable attempt to give tax breaks to the wealthy. For rural areas, many don't even have access to private schools. $10,000 will not cover private tuition and private schools are not held to the same standards that public schools are. They are held to fewer. These funds could be put towards the 99% of students who attend public schools and support their education. This bill is disappointing and is a sad attempt by Governor who continues to not listen to the majority voice in the state who all say NO to vouchers. This isn't a partisan issue - it's literally a human issue.

Cheryl Bellah

Self

Rowlett, TX

I am against this. I have paid private school tuition for many years and know this won't give people choice. Private schools do not want families who must use other sources of income to pay tuition. They want people who can pay tuition without assistance plus pay additional funds to further support the private school. This will only help people with the resources to pay private school tuition in full independently each year plus pay the additional "donation" amounts. It will not make private school a choice for someone whose family cannot already absorb the high cost of private school. I paid private school tuition for more than 10 years. I understand fully what those schools want from their student's family.

Christine Broughal

Texans for Special Education Reform

Cedar Park, TX

We at Texans for Special Education Reform submit the following comments in opposition to HB 3. The concept of "school choice" as contemplated on the Bill is literally just that. It is the school's choice. Private schools have the choice as to whether to admit students with disabilities. They have the choice whether to raise tuition on an annual basis to put it out of reach of children with disabilities, they have the choice to provide or not provide services and supports necessary for children with disabilities. They have the choice as to whether to open a school in a location that is rural or a low income area to make it more accessible for students with disabilities. They have the choice to provide transportation or not to provide transportation for students with disabilities. They hold all the choice. For this reason, we feel that the money would be better spent going straight to funding special education services to students in public schools. Thank you for the opportunity to submit our public comments.

Nia Crockett, Mrs.

Self

DeSoto, TX

As a public education worker, I know first hand how our schools are working to provide the best education possible for our students of diverse backgrounds and abilities.

Katy Dylla

Self

La Vernia, TX

A hard NO for the voucher bill.

Allison Bardin

Self—homemaker and former teacher

Pflugerville, TX

The voucher system is appalling. Not only will it take funding away from the already struggling public schools, but only a certain segment of the population of Texans will see any benefit from it. Those of us that can see through this know that poorer students will not be able to attend private schools, as $10,000 will not begin to cover full tuition. Vouchers are simply a discount for students already enrolled in private schools.

Gayle Ash
self - attorney
Belton, TX

I am a former public school teacher, 30-year homeschooler, attorney, and native Texan. One thing I am proud of in Texas is our deep respect for and deference to parents' rights to direct their children's upbringing. HB3 honors that core Texan value.

Regarding the fear that this might take money away from public schools, the only funds the school will forego are those marked to educate a child no longer there for the school to educate, thus eliminating the need for those funds.

I applaud the tiered plan to prefer students with disabilities and our most vulnerable lower-income families who often benefit most from such a program but are unlikely to be able to attend a hearing during the workday. Thank you for specifying that for students with disabilities, funding would be correlated to their individualized education program to meet their needs, and other special provisions for them.

Truly, this bill provides a way for all our students to have a more individualized education with freedom to choose a program to meet the unique needs and giftings of all our varied Texas children.

I am grateful for the thoughtful protections for our children's private information. I am grateful for the provisions limiting the funds that can be used to administer the program, which will limit unnecessary bureaucracy. I am deeply grateful for §29.368 confirming that no service provider, vendor, or participant will face limitations on their religious, educational, or general business freedoms.

I respect the thoughtful debate I witnessed this morning and offer a few comments.

I agree with Rep. Hinojosa that "operates in the state" is vague. Ex: vendor based in Ohio selling a science kit to a Texas student should be okay.

Approval process for vendors of books and materials needs clarifying.

Also, EAOs should not be permitted to solicit gifts, only the comptroller.

I believe better of our private schools that Rep. Talarico's concern that they will work against admission of our poorest students. I believe these schools will be excited to have more opportunities to serve them.

I agree with Rep. Schoolcraft that it does not make sense to arbitrarily cap the income eligibility given that the wealthy pay the lion's share of property taxes.

On Vice Chair Bernal's idea that private schools might waive tuition above the allotment, it's not a bad idea, but I would not want to place requirements on private entities. The school must have the option to opt out completely. Participating schools might be limited from raising tuition above the rate of inflation (or similar metric).

Families should be able to sell program materials after 2 years to avoid waste.

Special ed allotments should only go to those actually providing special ed services.

This program is destined to be an enormous blessing to Texas students, helping them to succeed in the 21st century.

Thank you, Chairman Buckley, and honorable committee members for your caring efforts for Texas children.

Cindy Ashmore
39 year experience public school educator
Lubbock, TX

No to HB3. Our kids deserve better. You are failing our kids if you pass this

Kathryn Schaper
Self. Photographer
AUSTIN, TX

Oppose establishing an ESA program in Texas and/or voucher system

Emma Dishner, Dr.
Self
Dallas, TX

No school vouchers. Fully fund public schools.

David Fleming
Self
Little Elm, TX

Vouchers are not for working class Americans. This should be voted down.

Amy Boyer
Friendswood ISD
Friendswood, TX

Please do not pass this bill. I feel it will ruin our public education system. I have been a public school teacher for 28 years. Both of my children are in public school. My husband went to public school. Please do not ruin our schools. We need all the money we can get. We need more teachers. We need your help. Please remember we are voters too.

Taylor Kent-Kowalski
Self/Educator
Houston, TX

NO TO SCHOOL CHOICE! From my perspective, school choice in Texas undermines the public schools that serve as the backbone of our communities. I've seen how diverting resources to private options not only weakens our collective investment in education but also deepens inequality. Every child deserves access to a robust, inclusive, and well-funded public education, and I believe that investing in our shared schools is the best way to secure a bright future for everyone. Listen to your constituents NOT those who fill your pockets.

Frank and Nancy Schultz
Self retired
Spring, TX

Public money to public schools! No support for private schools.

Russell Hicks
Self
Cypress, TX

Im against vouchers!

Linda Wandt
Self, Adult Arts Educator
Austin, TX

This is a terrible effort to defund public school even more so than they already are. All children deserve education, not just rich ones. This bill is a blatant attack on lower & middle class families, and a shameful attempt to decrease opportunities for kids. The voucher system benefits only a small percent of families, leaving so many kids behind. Our kids deserve better than this. Our teachers deserve better than this. Our state deserves better than this. This bill is shameful, aiming to further weaken the public school system, making life much harder for Texan families. We don't want it.

Meagan Blair
Self
Lubbock, TX

I strongly disagree

Jared Ripple
Self, parent
Cedar Park, TX

I am writing to voice my disapproval of this bill. First and foremost, I have yet to hear a single valid argument for ESAs. It has not proven to be beneficial in any way in the states that have implemented such programs. Passing this bill will only make our taxes go up and cripple our public education system, and, frankly, I find it disheartening that our elected officials who support this bill are either completely out of touch with their constituents and their needs, or they truly lack the intelligence necessary to fulfill the duties of their office. There is a third possibility, but I hope and pray that our elected representatives have more morals than to trade their votes for money and/or power. There is no reason to take money away from our public schools that are already woefully underfunded. The passage of this bill will force districts to make cuts to staff and resources and communities to make up the difference by raising taxes. This will lead to our already subpar education falling even further behind other states and other developed countries and have a generations-long effect on our economy and the health and happiness of the citizens of our great

Veronica Lester
Self - sales operations manager
Richardson, TX

As a granddaughter of a former teacher in Texas, I have been raised to appreciate public education. Our neighbors are better when they are educated. Our communities are better when they are educated. Public education provides the opportunity to all children regardless of economic background. Public education provides options for those with disabilities, physical or mental. Private schools are not required and are not equipped for this. I do not want my tax $ going to any private schools. Period.

Timmie Bui
Self
Austin, TX

NO TO SCHOOL VOUCHERS! You are destroying our public education system by offering vouchers!

Suzanne Leonard
Self, Business director and parent
Mckinney, TX

As a Texas parent of 3 and strong proponent of public education (and former special education teacher and school counselor) I adamantly oppose school vouchers and ask our elected officials to represent your constituents by voting No.

Denicia Karcher
Self
Cedar Park, TX

Public dollars belong in public schools.

Cynthia Dinneen, Ms.

Self

Lago Vista, TX

As a product designer of Texas public schools and a retired teacher/ librarian, I stand firmly against educational vouchers. While much could be improved in Texas public education, there's so much they get right.

Public schools educate the whole child for EVERY child whether they are bilingual, gifted, learning disabled, physically disabled or emotionally disturbed. Private school are not required to accept every child, but rather the chosen ones.

Society struggles from deeply rooted divisions along socioeconomic, race, gender status. We must look for and embrace the ways we are alike, rather than the way we are different.

Please DO NOT rob the majority to pander to the minority who seek to deepen the societal divide at the expense of our future success as a society.

Gwendolyn Rivers

Myself

Spicewood, TX

I do not want this

Robin Underdown

Self

San Marcos, TX

My name is Robin Underdown and I am a teacher in Hays CISD.i am completely opposed to HB3 or any other voucher legislation for a multitude of reasons.

Meagan Wentz

Self

Richardson, TX

Strongly OPPOSE this bill. I do not agree with using my taxes to pay for someone else's private education. We want our public schools funded! We do not want our taxes given to those in private schools.

Jasmine Galdamez

Self

Lubbock, TX

Public schools are integral to the quality of education that every American child is entitled to. By presenting a voucher system, we are spending tax payer money to actively compete against the interests of every child that attends public schools. We must invest into our communities that are already here - sending kids to other schools under the guise of "better opportunities" takes away the opportunities of kids who will ultimately be stuck in underfunded public schools. Texas education isn't behind because our public education is intrinsically subpar, but because we choose to not to provide proper wages for teachers, proper funding for up to date textbooks, and continually underestimate the power of equally available education. Do what is best for all Texan children and do not let the voucher system through.

FarCett Patrick

Self

Haslet, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3, which seeks to establish an education savings account (ESA) program, effectively diverting public funds to private schools through a voucher system. This legislation threatens the financial stability of Texas public schools, which are already underfunded and struggling to meet the needs of millions of students. Rather than funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions that lack the same accountability and accessibility as public schools, we must prioritize strengthening the foundation of our public education system.

Texas public schools serve a diverse student population, many of whom rely on critical resources such as specialized instruction, mental health services, and meal programs. With HB 3, funding that should be allocated toward teacher salary increases, modernized school facilities, and fully funded meal programs will instead be used to subsidize private education—without ensuring equal access for all students. These vouchers will not cover the full cost of tuition at most private schools, leaving many families unable to afford the remaining expenses. As a result, only a select few will benefit, while the vast majority of students in public schools will suffer from further budget cuts and declining resources.

Furthermore, private schools are not required to adhere to the same academic standards, student accountability measures, or non-discrimination policies as public schools. This means that taxpayer dollars could support institutions that exclude students based on income, academic performance, disability status, or other factors—something that public schools are legally prohibited from doing. Public funds should serve the public good, and diverting them to private entities undermines the fundamental purpose of public education: to provide every child with a high-quality, equitable learning experience, regardless of their background or zip code.

Instead of promoting school vouchers, Texas lawmakers must focus on fully funding public schools, increasing teacher salaries to address the growing educator shortage, ensuring that school buildings are safe and modern, and prioritizing student well-being, including school meal programs. Our students, teachers, and communities deserve better than policies that weaken public education in favor of private interests. I urge legislators to reject HB 3 and instead invest in the future of all Texas students by strengthening, not dismantling, our public school system.

Amanda Villanueva

Self

Brownsville, TX

Against

Scott Jessen

Self

Richardson, TX

Our public schools are under funded, school teachers are grossly under paid and have been burdened with added security cost with no additional support from the legislature. Private schools are not required to take every student who walks through the door nor do they have the same accountability standard as public schools. There is simply not enough money to support public schools and private schools.

Laurel Trevino, Mrs.

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3 bill. "Education Savings Account Program" is a misleading name for the HB3 school voucher program. I'm a lifelong educator. I've taught biology in private schools at the elementary, middle school and high school levels. I've taught biology in private and public universities. I'm the beneficiary of both public and private education. Every American has the right to a good well-rounded education without religious or political bias. Most Americans benefit from our public education system while a privileged few can afford private schools. Private schools should not compete for resources with public schools that we fund through our taxes.

The nation and Texas already have an education funding program called Public Education. Rather than siphon money away from public schools, which are already underfunded in Texas, this state should fulfill its obligation of fully funding public schools to ensure that teachers get paid adequately for their hard work and school infrastructure is maintained and improved.

Public schools helped build the American middle class, which make this country thrive because public education welcomes all students and discriminates against none. Private education excludes a great segment of the population. Since the Constitution of the United States stipulates a separation of church and state, public education cannot impose any religious beliefs upon any students. That should continue to be the best way forward.

Although I do not have children, I pay property taxes to fund Dripping Springs Independent School District for my neighbors' children to get a basic education. The state of Texas should not siphon my/our taxes into vouchers that would fund semi-private schools, which will benefit upper income students to the exclusion of most lower income students. A school voucher program would hijack our publicly funded education system to re-direct it toward a semi-private education system. Semi-exclusive schools should be funded by their patrons and not by our collective tax money.

Barbara Meyer

Myself

Tomball, TX

I am against HB 3

Anna Harmon

Self

Brownsville, TX

Against.

Caroline Tarski

Self

Uvalde, TX

How dare you. This voucher bill is a joke and is set to ruin rural education systems. Not only are you hurting the future of Texas, you are hurting teachers who are paid NOTHING to teach our children.

Jenn Herbin

Self/Public school parent

Buda, TX

I do not support private school vouchers or anything similar. They will segregate our school system and further divide differing socioeconomic statuses. The money should be spent to further improve our public school system. It appears that public school funding is being held ransom. Testing is being changed so that it looks like the schools are doing worse when it's just the testing changes and continual budget cuts. The vouchers should be refused at all costs.

Wanda Digby
self
Cedar Park, TX

Please vote NO on HB3. Our public school system provides a quality education for our children. If a parent should choose to send their child to a private school, they should pay that cost. We need to re-invest in our public school system, our children and our teachers. We should value our teachers more by investing in their continued education, compensation and retention by increasing their salaries. Teacher salaries in Texas are below the US average and we should focus on increasing the salaries to retain teachers. Thank you.

Anna Morrison
Self/ teacher
Grand Prairie, TX

As a public school teacher and constituent, I strongly oppose school vouchers. These programs would exacerbate inequities in our education system by diverting funding away from already underfunded public schools, further widening the gap between wealthy and low-income students. Additionally, vouchers could dip into TRS funds, jeopardizing the retirement security of dedicated educators.

Private schools, unlike public schools, are not required to serve all students, including those with special education needs. They can deny admission and are not held to the same accountability standards as public institutions. Using taxpayer dollars to fund schools that do not follow the same laws and obligations as public schools is fundamentally unfair.

I urge you to prioritize strengthening public education rather than redirecting funds to private institutions that do not serve all students equitably. Please oppose any legislation that supports school vouchers.

Sincerely,
Anna Morrison

Lindsey Harris
Self
Dallas, TX

This will harm children in Texas more than it will help. Rural kids will be hurt the most. We need to find better ways to support our kids and teachers. Vouchers have not had overall success in other states, Texas will not be the exception.

Lynn Hagan, Dr
Self/retired social worker
College Station, TX

Against education savings accounts (ESA).Against use of private funds for public education as this is tantamount to the defunding and destruction of the public education system resulting in its lack of accountability.

Whitney Lacey
Self
Austin, TX

Eliminating critical race theory from the curriculum is cruel. Give our kids a chance to learn and make a difference.

Danielle Tennant, Mrs.
My family
San Antonio, TX

As a new parent, it is more personal than ever to save and properly fund our public schools. We should not be giving vouchers to private schools. Public money should stay with public schools. And while I'm at it, they should all be funded equally!

Lianna King
self
San Antonio, TX

As a former public school educator, I oppose HB3. I worked in public education and encountered first hand the funding needs for every student on campus. I'm specifically concerned about our special education students. This population of students require specially designed instruction from a certified educator. This money will be directed to schools who get to choose their population, testing requirements, and educators. How are we serving the needs of every child by allowing parents who already send their children to a private school to get a coupon. The public schools need these "coupons" to maintain a higher educational enviroment for each child. Passing this bill will disrupt public education funding and it's already at an all time low. I am concerned about the effects it will have on my children currently attending public schools.

Sara Morales
Swlf
Austin, TX

I am against this bill.

Anne LeMasters, LMSW self, school counselor
Austin, TX

As a public school employee and social worker I am vehemently against this bill. We need to put money into public schools rather than divesting in them. Texas needs to focus on strengthening our public education system. Passing this bill would be detrimental to the future of children in our state.

Kara Labbe-Lane, 1940
self
Carrollton, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Terri Sponsler, Mrs.
Self
Los Fresnos, TX

I am a retired public school teacher. I taught 39 years in Texas public schools and I am opposed to this bill for three reasons. First, I believe this will take money from public schools that won't be replaced by other means. Secondly, I think this will end up causing layoff ps in the public school setting high will have a detrimental effect on the teacher retirement system, and third, I do not want my tax dollars used to support private schools education in general and religious schools in particular. My tax dollars should not be used to subsidize someone else's religious schools education education. I believe in separation of church and state.

patricia Ruth
NONE
Round Rock, TX

This is a terrible bill. It encourages the rich to seek segregation for their children. Public education is the bulwark against stupid adults who will fail to understand their personal bills, personal responsibility and drive the remaining educated teachers from the schools as money for schools is reduced. VOTE AGAINST THIS BILL!

Anita Froese, Mrs.

Self

Seminole, TX

I respectfully ask you to reject the bill, as it will unnecessarily increase taxes. Also I believe it is the parents right and responsibility to choose how to educate their children.

Rebecca Johnson

Self Supply Chain Specialist

Austin, TX

I am opposed to private school vouchers. I believe that a good public education is a great equalizer. My children went through public schools and I experienced their excellence as well as their lack of proper funding. Taking money out of the system will not help children in the most need. Thank you.

Ted Hsieh

Self

Houston, TX

No, vote against it. Keep funding public schools! Vouchers are BS!

Jessica Johnson

Self

Austin, TX

I am firmly against allowing families to use taxpayer funds for private school tuition and other educational expenses. If education was a priority you would fully fund public education now. The future of our state and country depend on prioritizing our children. Parents already have the choice about whether or not they want to send their child to a private school. Tax payers do not need to fund private schools that are not held to the same standards as public schools.

Nancy Henderson

Self. Retired.

Odessa, TX

Vote "NO." I do not support this bill. If enacted, it will bring material harm to public schools. It will unfairly deprive public school students of resources they need and deserve. It will unfairly provide a stipend to students in private schools whose parents likely can already afford the tuition. These private schools will have no requirement to meet minimum standards of quality and efficacy. It is, in effect, stealing from most students to give to a few affluent students. Keep the funds in the public schools and work to improve them.

Kimberly Dill

Self

San Antonio, TX

This bill will kill public school education. This bill is for the governor's friends. It only benefits people sending their kids to private school. It is NOT a true school choice.

Ann Winer

National Council of Jewish Women

San Antonio, TX

As a resident of Texas and a member of The National Council of Jewish Women, The San Antonio Jewish Community Center, Temple Beth El San Antonio and the Building Standards Board of the City of San Antonio I strongly oppose HB 3. The bill will take millions out of the budget for Public Schools while only serving a few thousand students/families. Public schools and teachers have not seen a raise or a boost to their schools reimbursement since 2019. In six years the cost of inflation has made the present school reimbursement unsustainable for the delivery of safety and education to the students. There is no incentive for teachers to stay in public schools or in the state without a decent raise. Also, the voucher program will not ensure special education when needed as the public schools are required to do.

In addition to taking from public schools, the private schools have no controls put on them. They are not required to test children or guarantee their learning. The money can go to parochial schools which is against separation of church and state.

Lastly, this money will go to people who can afford private education and can afford to transport their children to the private school if there even is one in their locality. This is unfair to the millions of Texas students whose parents are unable to afford the balance of the tuition and sustain the transportation.

I implore you along with the majority of Texas citizens to reject this bill that will cost billions as the years pass. Texas should be proud of its public schools and public school teachers. Give them the respect and the funds they deserve.

Georgia Polley

Self

Houston, TX

Chair and Members of the Committee,

I strongly oppose HB 3 Vouchers and urge you to reject this harmful legislation. This bill diverts public tax dollars away from our public schools to fund private institutions that lack transparency, oversight, and equitable access for all students.

Public Schools Will Lose Critical Funding

Public schools, which serve over 5.4 million Texas students, rely on state funding based on average daily attendance (ADA). Redirecting these funds to private schools and education service providers through Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) will weaken our public school system, forcing larger class sizes, fewer resources, and teacher shortages. Texas already underfunds public education—this bill will only make it worse.

Lack of Accountability & Risk of Fraud

Unlike public schools, private schools accepting ESA funds are not required to follow the Texas curriculum (TEKS), administer standardized tests, or provide special education services. Other states with similar programs have seen widespread fraud and misuse of funds. HB 3 lacks strong safeguards to prevent taxpayer dollars from being wasted on unapproved or low-quality education providers.

Harms Students with Disabilities & Rural Communities

Private schools can reject students based on disability status, language needs, or other factors, leaving many vulnerable students without the support they need. Additionally, rural communities have few private school options, meaning this program will drain resources from public schools while offering no real alternative for most families.

Real Solutions for Texas Education

If lawmakers truly want to improve education, they should focus on fully funding public schools, raising teacher salaries, reducing class sizes, expanding early childhood education, and increasing support for special education services—not draining resources through a privatization scheme.

Conclusion

HB 3 undermines our public education system, lacks accountability, and disproportionately harms students who need support the most. I urge this committee to vote against HB 3 and instead invest in strengthening Texas public schools.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Janice Schange

Self

Vernon, TX

I work with SPED children in a rural community. I believe that vouchers will take funds from the areas that really need them. This will lower teacher, administration and service standards in lower income communities.

Nadine Rueb

Vela

Austin, TX

I oppose vouchers

Lauren Jimenez, Dr.

MRE PTA

Katy, TX

Public funds need to stay in PUBLIC schools. Listen to the PEOPLE. The overwhelming majority DO NOT want this.

Amanda Lutz

self/retired educator

AUSTIN, TX

I oppose HB 3, voucher bill, it will harm our public schools, special education students and their services, and devastate our smaller, rural districts.

Angela Lancaster

Self

Coppell, TX

TEXANS DO NOT WANT VOUCHERS. AT THE VERY LEAST, ANY VOUCHER ALLOCATION SHOULD NOT EXCEED THE BASIC ALLOTMENT PER STUDENT FUNDING, AND ANY SCHOOL RECEIVING STATE FUNDS SHOULD HAVE TO MEET THE SAME TESTING AND SAFETY STANDARDS.

Taylor Lonsdale, Mrs.

Self - Mother and Private School Founder

Austin, TX

I strongly support HB 3 to provide education freedom to Texas parents. Passing HB3 would raise the quality of education across public and private education by introducing competition into the system and keeping schools accountable to parents. Our new Jewish classical school, Hadar Academy, will be far more accessible to families in our community under HB 3. We look forward to providing a comprehensive liberal education – an education for liberty – that will equip our students to think for themselves, live as free people, and contribute to our great state and country.

Corey DeAngelis

Corey DeAngelis

San Antonio, TX

15 red states have passed universal school choice in the past four years. It's time for Texas to go all-in on education freedom, too. Education funding is meant for educating children, not for protecting a particular institution. We should fund students, not systems. The teachers unions have overplayed their hand and awakened a sleeping giant: parents. Parents have found that too many schools are focused more on indoctrination than education. Parents care about their own kids – and know their education needs – more than bureaucrats sitting in offices hundreds of miles away. They must be empowered to vote with their feet to the school that best meets their needs and aligns with their values. That's the only way the system will cater to the needs of children and their families as opposed to the other way around. The good news is that school choice is a rising tide that lifts all boats. 26 of 29 studies on the subject find that school choice competition improves outcomes in public schools. A new University of Houston poll found that 67% of Texas voters support universal school choice, including 77% of parents, 71% of Republicans, and 71% of voters in rural areas. Texas will finally unleash education freedom for all families, and – with this bill – pass the biggest day-one school choice victory in U.S. history.

Khyle Flory

Self

Cypress, TX

I oppose HB3

Beverly Shipley

"self" retired

Buchanan Dam, TX

We voted you into office to represent US -- say NO to VOUCHERS!

Taxpayer funds need to go to Public NOT Private Schools!

Vouchers HURT our neighborhood schools!

Vouchers HURT our rural communities !

Texan billionaires just want WHITE, CHRISTIAN PRIVATE schools! We do NOT agree and you need to demonstrate courage and commitment to hard-working Texans and say NO!

Julie Anderson

Self; homeschool parent of 12 years

Bedford, TX

As a homeschool parent, I am committed to education for our children. I have worked with many local families to support their endeavors and during the lockdowns of 2020, I helped several public school parents navigate school at home. I have many concerns about HB 3.

First, this bill does not fit the current Texas GOP platform concerning school choice.

Second, this bill creates taxpayer funded agencies to certify various aspects of homeschooling and private schools. Right now, home and private schools have complete freedom to teach, assess, choose curriculum, activities, develop, design etc all aspects of their schools. Many fought very hard for these freedoms under the Leeper decision. This bill will ultimately limit our freedoms by insisting on government supervision of any who participate. It is also unclear what impact this certification/supervision will have in situations where homeschool families come together to educate their children when only some opt in for the financial aid.

I am also concerned about the ability and integrity of the comptrollers office to oversee educational issues. What do they know of the various methods of education? What do they know of the needs of special Ed students? Of families wanting a specific religious interest? Of a specific presuppositional approach?

I am concerned about the fairness of this bill. Why are only some able to access funds that all have paid into? Why do private schools receive $10,000 but homeschools only $2,000? What of the sacrifices that all families make to educate their children? How does this bill create competition to improve public schools (they suddenly become desperate for more students so with less funding they are to hire better teachers? Train them in other methods? Equip their libraries and classrooms with better supplies?

As a homeschool parent who pays taxes, I want my tax dollars being well spent not just "well supervised."

I am concerned that the very system that parents are avoiding by withdrawing from the public schools, this bill through regulation and oversight will force these families to follow the requirements of public schools. It is the first step in creating universal education not freedom in education.

This bill merely creates minimal support for private school tuition. Families that cannot afford another $1,000/month to educate their child in a private school will not be able to use this option. Thus, this bill is merely helping those who already have the financial resources to pay for private school. In the DFW area, private tuition is nearly $20,000 at most schools.

It is very unclear what limits will be placed on organizations like Classical Conversations who accept money for tuition but partner with parents to help teach their children.

Finally supporters of this bill claim that it will create competition. But there is no provision for incentives or help to start schools of any kind.

Thank you for considering my opinion and voting against HB 3.

Tracy Bangs

Self

Cypress, TX

I homeschool and I oppose HB 3.

K Rodriguez

Self

Dallas, TX

I oppose this bill and out of state Billionaires from having influence on Texas children.

Kathryn Kizer

Year

Austin, TX

No vouchers. Public dollars belong in public schools!

Heather Salas

self, teacher

Denton, TX

Please don't let your legacy be that you only helped a few wealthy families and their children but you did everything you could to reach each child in Texas and lift them up. Please.

Janice Smith, DR.

self retired

Arlington, TX

It is imperative to take actions to promote the public schools. Education savings accounts will take away monies from public education. Also, private schools are not held to the same educational standards nor mandatory reporting of their educational achievements. No public monies should be given to organizations that do not meet the legal requirements of public schools. Public education is underfunded in this state. More money should be put in PUBLIC EDUCATION, NOT education savings accounts.

Amy Clancy

Self- self employed

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
 - 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
 - 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
 - 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
- Thank you!

Christine Koeppe

Self, teacher

Weatherford, TX

Do not pass this bill. As a public education teacher and a mother of 3 in public schools, I strongly feel that this bill would ruin the education system as it is. Teachers are already in the most underpaid, underappreciated position that exists, passing this bill would strip funds to public schools limiting the already slim budgets we have. I may not fully understand the vouchers, but I do know that they will only benefit the wealthy while taking from the ones who need the school the most. Leave the vouchers out, give the money back to the schools so we can give these kids the education they deserve, and raise teacher pay. Thank you for listening.

Ronda Underkofler

Self - occupation = pharmaceutical industry

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill

Maria Douglas

Self as parent

ARLINGTON, TX

Good afternoon, Chairman Mr. Buckley and members of the House.

House Bill 3 fails to create a level playing field between all schools. The bill mentions a “norm-referenced testing” requirement on ESA-eligible private schools, yet a separate House Bill (4) is now proposing that we will assess our public-school students even more frequently by different standards. This would move the goal post on public schools once again and have the potential to confuse parents who are truly seeking the best educational offering for their child.

House Bill 3 proposes no curriculum oversight on voucher recipients, yet public schools will remain bound by state-adopted standards. The bill does not require voucher recipients to serve students with special needs appropriately and effectively. A higher voucher amount for students with special needs would not guarantee the accommodations they’d need to learn and thrive.

Finally, private institutions would still have the ultimate authority to choose the children they accept, not the other way around.

As discussed this morning, this is the sixth hearing on ESAs in just two years. The majority of Texans still oppose ESAs, so we ask that you listen to your constituents once again this session. ESAs will hurt the state budget, our local communities, and our future. Thank you.

Mike Pool

NA

Weatherford, TX

I see the school vouchers as ultimately an end to public schools and would like my opinion to be voiced as NO voucher system. Schools are fine with exception to teaching the STAR test primarily.

The main problem is lack of parenting.

Itze BERNAL

Self

El Paso, TX

I am a 20 year Texas public school educator and a Texas public school parent. For too many years, Texas has been selling Texas public school students short. This voucher scam will negatively impact all Texas public school students. It will put even more of a burden on already under funded schools. It will cause districts to cut even more positions and close even more schools. This scam will only put more money into the pockets of the rich. It will also put my tax dollars into religious private schools of which I am in opposition. Our Tax dollars need to go toward funding our public schools adequately to provide all Texas students with a good education. They are deserving of it. Our entire state of Texas deserves a well educated population. Those who send their children to private schools do so knowing they are responsible for the costs. They clearly can afford it without any assistance. These vouchers won’t do much for them. The majority of Texas public school students would not be able to afford private school even with a voucher. All it will do is take more money from those who need it most and deteriorate our already crumbling school system in Texas. You have an enormous opportunity to properly fund our public schools. Please vote against these vouchers and send the money to our public schools.

Eva Guzman

Self

San Antonio, TX

Save Public Education, Fund Public Education. Without good public education our Students with not become successful citizens of so that they can become productive citizens. Don’t kill The Texas GDP. No School Choice! No Vouchers!

Elaine Boden, Mrs

Self, parent, it qa manager.

Mckinney, TX

Please do not pass the voucher scheme which will divert funds away from public schools to fund niche education for the wealthy. Public schools look after all the children and don't just cherry pick rich successful kids.

Thomas Landers

Myself

Fort Worth, TX

So the rich get richer & middle class gets the finger up the o'l WAZOOO!!! AGAIN. Thanks

Jamie Griffin

Self/Private Citizen

Belton, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. Texas already upholds choice, as stated in our constitution, making this bill unnecessary and harmful. HB3 does not expand freedom, it threatens it.

This bill risks diverting public funds to private entities with little to no accountability, ultimately weakening our public education system. It sets a dangerous precedent where taxpayer dollars could be funneled into programs that do not serve all students equally. Public schools are the foundation of our communities, and any legislation that undermines them harms Texas families.

Texans value personal responsibility and local decision-making, yet HB3 imposes top-down policies that do not reflect the will of the people. It's a misguided attempt at reform that will have long-term consequences on education funding, rural communities, and future generations.

Our representatives have a duty to protect the integrity of Texas' education system and the rights of all of their constituents. I urge you to reject HB3 and focus on strengthening the resources already in place for Texas students.

Christopher Koopmans, Sergeant

Self / Public High School Teacher

Little Elm, TX

I am a teacher at Braswell High School and a member of ATPE. I see firsthand that the substandard performance of public schools is NOT directly tied to school funding; rather, it is due to poor decisions made by administrators and resources not being utilized effectively. These administrators retain their positions because of unions like ATPE. They are not compelled to think critically about the proper use of funds. I STRONGLY urge you to disregard the detractors and do everything you can to ensure that every Texas parent who desires the best education possible receives all the funds they deserve to use as they see fit. Fraud protection must be implemented, but the principle of this initiative is correct. As private schools flourish, public schools will be forced to rethink their spending and performance priorities. Please do not fall for the falsehood that poor performance (i.e., test scores) are due to a lack of funding; they stem from apathy, inconsistency, incompetence, and wastefulness among administrators. When public schools begin losing students, they will be forced to adapt and start doing the right thing because their jobs will depend on it. Texas parents deserve a choice.

Megan Blair
Self- Public School Teacher
Sugar Land, TX

I have been a dedicated public school teacher in Texas for 12 years, and I am writing to urge you to oppose Governor Abbott's school voucher plan.

I could cite the overwhelming data on how similar voucher programs have harmed public schools in other states, but you are likely already aware of those statistics. What you may not fully grasp—like many decision-makers in education—is what life is really like inside today's public schools.

If you were to step into a public school classroom, you would see students experiencing burnout as early as second grade. You would see teachers who are just as exhausted, yet working tirelessly to create a positive learning environment despite mounting pressures to focus on standardized testing above all else. The STAAR test is deeply flawed—it does not accurately measure student learning, yet we continue to shape instruction around it. And now, with all standardized testing moving online, we are expecting students—many as young as eight—to complete lengthy, high-stakes exams on technology we simply do not have the resources to provide efficiently.

Meanwhile, interventionist positions are being cut, leaving teachers responsible for providing Tier 1 instruction and interventions for struggling students—an impossible task given the growing needs in our classrooms. Teachers are drowning, and as a result, we are losing some of the most passionate, dedicated educators who love these kids with their whole hearts but can no longer endure the overwhelming stress of a system that is failing them.

Rather than diverting essential funding to an unproven voucher system that benefits a select few, we should be investing in the public schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children. We need funding for updated technology, smaller class sizes, adequate intervention programs, and, most importantly, retaining quality teachers.

I urge you to stand with Texas educators, students, and families by opposing this harmful policy. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss this issue further and invite you to visit a public school in your district to see firsthand the realities we face.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Jean Goodnight
Self. Grandparents
Abilene, TX

I am not in favor of Hb3. I live in a small town. Our families will not chose private education. They must have free lunch , free breakfast and specials. They are poor. Please fund our public schools

Jenny Jennings, Dr.

Self

Amarillo, TX

This bill advocates for wealthier families. Representatives can clearly see opposition from the people who pay the taxes that would fund this program. I do not support this bill for the following reasons:

1. It undermines public schools. State politicians are admitting they are essentially moving public funds from a failed public school system they refuse to fix.
2. Increased segregation.
3. Hurts student achievement. Research shows that vouchers do not improve student achievement.
4. Fails to support special needs students. This is especially important. I am a parent of a child who needs these services!
5. Increase costs for students who remain in the public schools.
6. Fails to help low income students. A voucher will not cover the entire cost of private school and they usually do not have the academic achievement for a scholarship like you propose. You are leaving the rest to chance.
7. This program undermines accountability. Private schools are not accountable to taxpayers!

If this goes through you will see a big shift in who gets reelected. There is agreement across party lines and the state of Texas is not listening to the people. The priorities need to be to fix and fund public schools.

I can afford private school for my children and I chose public school because I am trying to support the system that my tax dollars go to.

Agnieszka Dwornik

Self. Former teacher

Katy, TX

Dear Representatives,

As a Texas educator, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed school voucher program that Governor Greg Abbott is pushing. As someone who works daily to support and educate our students, I know firsthand the importance of ensuring that public schools remain well-funded and accessible to all students, regardless of their background or financial situation.

What deeply concerns me, beyond the negative impacts school vouchers would have on our public education system, is the troubling fact that Governor Abbott is receiving financial backing from Jeff Yass, an out-of-state donor from Pennsylvania. It is deeply unsettling that such a significant decision affecting the future of Texas schools is being influenced by outside interests with their own agenda, rather than focusing on the needs of Texas families and students.

Our public schools serve the vast majority of Texas children, and they are crucial to the success of our state. We need to ensure they are equipped to provide quality education, not siphon off resources to private institutions that are not accountable to our community. The push for vouchers, especially when fueled by out-of-state donors, undermines the values that should guide our education system: fairness, equity, and local control.

I strongly urge you to stand with educators, parents, and students in opposing the voucher program and protect the integrity of Texas public schools. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Nina Stelly, Dr

NAACP andPTA

Port Arthur, TX

Let's support public Education

Cheryl Nichols
self
Springtown, TX

School vouchers in Texas would take away crucial funding from public schools, funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions that lack accountability and oversight. This system primarily benefits wealthier families who can already afford private education, while leaving rural and low-income students with fewer resources in underfunded public schools. Instead of improving education for all, vouchers widen inequality and weaken the very schools that serve the majority of Texas children. Public funds should stay in public schools, ensuring every student has access to a high-quality education, regardless of their zip code or financial status. PLEASE VOTE NO!!!

Hedrich Michaelsen
self
Austin, TX

I would like to express my opposition to this bill. I am a staunch supporter of public education and this bill would undermine our public education funding. We are already close to the bottom nationally in terms of per-student funding. I do not want my tax dollars going to support wealthy families' "school choice" vouchers at the expense of public schools. These vouchers will be useless to students in rural areas and areas that are not affluent.

The legislature should instead be showing their commitment to article 7, section 1 of the the Texas constitution, which states:
A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.

There is no ambiguity in that statement. I don't want my taxpayer funds to be diverted to wealthy families who don't think public schools are good enough for their kids. They have been able to manage just fine without a taxpayer subsidy, so let them continue to foot the bill. Instead I want all public schools to be adequately funded so that future Texans will be properly educated for the betterment of all. As a reminder, I don't get a handout from the Texas government if I don't take advantage of some public services that are funded by our tax dollars and neither should those families who want taxpayers to pay for their "school choice".

Damon Rambo, Pastor
Self
Markham, TX

As a pastor, I 100 percent support an ESA bill to expand parental choice.
It is utterly vital for parents to be the primary director of their childrens' education.

I implore you to pass this legislation, keeping any "strings" to a minimum. I also urge you to allow virtual/online private school for students in rural areas.

Thank you!

Barbara Bergman, Retired School Principal and Teacher
Self-Retired School Administrator & Teacher
Round Rock, TX

I encourage legislators to look closely at this bill to see who will benefit and who will not be able to access this money—what the long-term impacts will be. Families would need to meet several criteria to access these funds: 1) provide daily transportation to and from school; 2) be able to pay the remaining tuition and fees above the $10,000 allocation; 3) have students with no special needs like an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) due to a learning or emotional difference. Middle and upper class families—rich families—are far more likely to meet these entry requirements, leaving public schools the task and the privilege of educating every child, every beautiful child, who shows up at their doors. It is the great calling of public education. It is what makes our nation and our democracy strong. And public schools need every available educational dollar to create top grade schools which meet the needs of ALL our students in Texas. Furthermore, because of wage and housing differences that still exist in our country and state, children of color would be less likely than other children to meet these entry requirements. I believe these unintended outcomes should be strongly considered, lest we return to a period when students of color do not have equal access to schools. I spent 44 years as a public school educator and principal, ending my career at Caldwell Heights Elementary Dual language and International Baccalaureate School in Round Rock, Texas. It is also a Title 1 school and meets the needs of a very diverse student body. The learning and social outcomes continue to be remarkable. Investing our best in public schools is a worthy and life-changing commitment for current and future generations. Let us stand back and choose the wise arc of history to make decisions which put us on the road to fairness and excellence for all students. Thank you for your consideration of my testimony.

Jacqueline Whitlock
Self
Cedar Park, TX

No less money for public schools

Kelly Hunt
Self/Public school teacher
Weslaco, TX

As a public educator in your House district, I strongly urge you to vote against HB 3 when it comes up for consideration in the House Public Education Committee. I believe that passage of this bill will negatively impact public education as it will divert funding from public schools to private, parochial and home school settings. I believe that public funds should support public education. Public schools are already under funded and passage of this bill will greatly impact those students in the poorest districts, many of which are located in your House District. I appreciate your consideration and support of public education in this very important vote. Thank you.

Deborah McCullough, Ms.
Self Retired Educator
Austin, TX

As a retired teacher, principal, and special education professional, I have dedicated my life to serving the students in Texas. I find that taking our tax money and spending it on private schools is a misuse of the funds. Parents are not the only ones that know what is best for their children. Teachers know what is best for students. If a school is not achieving that school needs support not by giving support to other schools. This idea has been voted on twice and failed. Let it rest! Vote NO and put the funds in public schools and public school teachers.

Karen Sager
self, retired
Somerville, TX

I am writing to express my objection to SB2, "school choice."

This is a subsidy to private schools, many of which are religious. The Texas Constitution forbids public funding of religious education.

The bill would pay more to private school students than is allocated to public school students. Most students who would take advantage of the program are already enrolled in private schools, effectively making this a reimbursement of an existing expense for these families.

It is estimated that public schools would lose $2.2billion, while having to accept disadvantaged students that private schools don't have to accept.

Although the program supposedly extends benefits to all students, rural students where no private school may be nearby would be excluded. Furthermore, even if poorer students would like to enroll in private schools, they may not be able to afford transportation or other incidental costs associated with a costlier education.

In short, this program benefits the wealthy at the expense of the poor, and is a direct transfer of funds from public to private education.

At the national level, Texas already ranks 29th in education, and 40th in public school funding.

VOTE NO.

Richard Yoder, PhD
Self
San Antonio, TX

I want to make this simple and clear. "No" school voucher bills or laws in 2023 still means the same in 2025. If you truly want to know how we Texans, especially those of us who are educators feel about this issue, then put it to a special vote by the public rather than simply believing that the district lines drawn in 2021 represent the will of the people of Texas. Thank you.

Jennifer Barber
Self
Cedar Park, TX
No on HB3!

Kim Weidmann
Self
Austin, TX

This bill robs funding from our public school systems which has a mandate to serve ALL children regardless of their economic status or educational skills. This bill is a callous and unjust attempt to deprive the majority of Texas school children of the right to a quality education. It is a short sighted attempt to dodge our responsibility to prepare the next generation of Texans for a promising future. The way forward is simple- fully fund public schools and generously support public school teachers. Vote NO for HB 3.

Amanda Henke, MRS
self
Austin, TX

I'm OPPOSED to school vouchers. Fund public education!

Sam Turner
self- teacher
Denton, TX

ATPE opposes any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools.

Joyce Muncy
Self retired
Boerne, TX

Why have schools become the enemy? You will ruin public schools with vouchers. They were so much better off before the state got all involved with testing. Now you want to continue testing in public school but not force the private schools to live up to the same expectations? This is stupidity

Reatta Bell, Mrs.
Self-Retired Teacher
Austin, TX

"I want you to know that this Voucher Scam represents a fight between a bi-partisan, pro public education coalition vs. billionaire mega-donors who control Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick. Your constituents love their kids, believe in public school teachers, support our neighborhood schools and want them fully funded. We don't want a Voucher Scam that will eventually defund our local schools. I would like to see these things:

- the Basic allotment tied to inflation indexes so Gov Abbott cannot hold it hostage anymore
- the basic allotment become enrollment-based vs. attendance based
- full funding to make up for 6 years of missing funding

Vote NO on the Voucher Scam. I vote and this matters to me. Thank you."

Adam Carroll
Wimberley Resident
Wimberley, TX

Dear Rep Buckley and respective committee members,
Please vote No on HB 3. It's estimated that voucher programs would drain $1,106,823.00 from Wimberley ISD where I live, and $7,501,801.00 from Tyler ISD where I grew up and attended public school. I was born with Cerebral Palsy and have had other learning difficulties, and despite these challenges, I received lots of help from public school educators in my community, and I was able to attend college, and have a music career. Please support HB 2 (the school finance Bill) and vote no on HB 3. I hope you will follow your conscience and do what's best for the folks you represent in our great state. I know you're facing great pressure to do otherwise, but I'd be grateful if you'd resist that and do the right thing. Everyday folks, and kids now who need public education will thank you one day.

Adam Carroll
Wimberley Texas

Mary Esther Escobedo

self

San Antonio, TX

I oppose the passage of HB 3.

This bill proposes to divert public taxpayer money that should go to public schools to private ones instead. This is wrong. Public schools were established to provide society with an educated population and electorate. Because of that reason all children within the jurisdiction of a school system are to be educated in that system. This includes those that are physically disabled or mentally challenged. Public schools do not choose which children to educate and do not exclude those that pose educational challenges. Private schools do select which students to educate and can refuse to educate some.

Over the decades that State of Texas has reduced the financial support it gives school districts leaving said districts to rely on property taxes. Texas is a growing state with people migrating from other states as well as internationally. Texas should increase the percentage of support it gives to school districts instead of diverting money to private schools. Statements are made that public schools do not provide a good education. Taking money from public schools will make it harder to attract and keep quality teachers. It also makes it harder to provide adequate programs for all Texas children that the school district is obligated to educate. The burdens are already high for public schools. HB 3 increases those burdens.

HB 3 leaves public school districts with children who need additional support and allows the private schools both taxpayer money and the ability to reject the children that need additional educational support.

Pasting the label "public school" on charter schools does not make them public but allows them to take public taxpayer money. This too is wrong.

Public schools were created to provide our society with an educated population that could truly participate in our democracy.

HB3 is one more way to undermine American democracy.

I am a taxpayer that does not have children. But I do have an interest in living in a society that has an educated populace. I do not choose to take my taxpayer money and send it to any private school. Parents do have a choice to send their children and their money to private school. But they should not have the ability to appropriate my taxpayer money.

Jamelan Hemphill, Mrs.

self retired teacher

Medina, TX

Dear Public Education Committee,

As a retired school teacher of 30 years and a member of a family of public educators since the 1930's, I am aware of the advantages of public education. Vouchers will strip the schools of much needed funds to function properly. It is the State's responsibility to educate ALL students. I do NOT want my taxpayer dollars going to private or parochial schools. If parents want private schools, they can pay for it themselves!!! Tax dollars should NOT be used to give preference to religion, race, or social standings.

David Crowe
Self/retired principal
San Antonio, TX

This is an absolute tragedy for public education. The only people who will benefit from this are those already going to a private school and the private schools themselves. There is ZERO ACCOUNTABILITY FOR PRIVATE SCHOOLS!

The students who need the most help are not going to get it with this scheme. The public schools will have fewer teachers and larger classes without exception. Students who can't make it at a private school will get sent back to public schools as we have to take all students and cannot restrict enrollment.

As a retired principal, this also affects my TRS future. I worked 29 years as a public teacher, coach, AP, and principal. I deserve my full retirement as expected for my service. This bill will have an effect on my future too as less money will be available in this system moving forward should this bill pass.

The real shame is that NO ONE WANTS THIS!!! They want their neighborhood schools intact and fully funded. There is plenty of choice in the current system.

Also, there are many counties that don't even have a single private school available for kids. But their ISDs will suffer funding cuts due to this bill.

What I should do is open a private school school, take your bill money, and then go out of business. Good luck tracking it. I'm sure there will be plenty of bad actors with similar intentions. And you all can't police it. You don't have the means or staff.

I cannot believe this is a bill at all. I'm so embarrassed of my state. I'm embarrassed to vote Republican. Yall ran out a great representative (Steve Allison) and replaced him with a puppet. He's not even a Republican- yall just made him one for election.

Kids suffer. Schools suffer. You don't care. This legislation and the accountability system nonsense is a big big reason I retired. You don't care about public schools. You haven't the whole time I led them. I lost teachers EVERY YEAR BECAUSE OF CUTS!!!

In my last four years, I lost 16 teachers, a counselor, an AP, two family specialists, and other staff reductions. Without losing significant enrollment. This is due to your poor funding schemes. Everything is a shell game with you all. COVID funding mismanagement was another huge factor.

If you care at all about kids, you'll vote no on this bill. There is no other choice.

Courtney Hoyt
Self
Houston, TX

As a parent, we already exercise our right to choose a private school for our child. As property owners, I am furious at our legislators for underfunding our public schools, which devalues any property held in the state. Neighborhoods with great schools see rising property values. Our legislators are proposing vouchers which will put public funds in unregulated private schools, and make our properties less valuable. What families will choose to move to Texas if our government can't properly fund our public schools?

Vijay Badam
Self
Prosper, TX

We pay huge amounts of property taxes going to public school funding. We don't want to share this with other private schools. Private schools more than capable of funding themselves. Please don't move funds out of current public schools. This can adversely affect our kids future. We moved to this district because of good public schools reasons. If some parents wanted to go to private schools that is their choice. We don't want to pay for that. Appreciate your help.

Ebony Turner
Self/Attorney
Mansfield, TX

Hello!

I am a resident of House District 96. We do NOT want vouchers here. We do NOT need vouchers here! My son, Isaiah, has special needs and as you well know, private schools do NOT have to accept students with special needs nor do they have to provide special education services. Vouchers do NOT offer options to students with special needs. If the Congressional cuts to Medicaid are sustained, this voucher bill plus those cuts will certainly have a devastating impact on public school budgets! Instead, fully fund public education, give teachers pay raises, increase the per student allotment, and make it based on enrollment and not attendance. Students like mine have several doctors' appointments and therapy appointments outside of school. That causes them to miss school quite frequently. This is why it makes no sense to base it on attendance. The lie is that a majority of Texans want school choice. A majority of Texans do NOT want to foot the bill for a handful of students to attend private schools! Please listen to the public and keep public school dollars in public schools!!

Brett Bim
self Software Engineer
Plano, TX

Vouchers will inevitably lead to the weakening of the public school system via a transfer of wealth from public education to private firms. This will have a long term cascading negative effect on the education that children of middle and lower class citizens in the state receive. Instead of spending time and money on vouchers, we should redouble our efforts to raise the quality of education in the public school system so that all Texas citizens can benefit. Public education is exactly that, public, and we should want all students to receive the best possible education possible.

Heather Solis
self/teacher
Round Rock, TX

State governments have a constitutional responsibility to fund public schools adequately. Let's start doing that! 5.5 million children depend on it! Raise the allotment by a minimum of $1,000.

Erika Cooke
Self
Midland, TX

I am against any program that undermines fully funding public schools. I am a teacher, at a public high school in Texas that has seen the constant attacks on public schools, all while claiming to support teachers and families. The best course is to fully fund public schools and to not implement any voucher program. Calling it school choice shows only that the private schools have a choice in who they accept. There will not be a choice for parents who have children with special needs. There will not be protection for students from indoctrination when they are in schools that do not require certified teachers or testing accountability. Certified teachers are bound by law and their certification to teach the standards mandated by the state or have their certificate revoked. Teachers must ensure students learn curriculum that incorporates and covers the state standards, as well as additional initiatives like Celebrate Freedom Week, in order to demonstrate knowledge and skills for state test graduation requirements. Any students sent to private schools under voucher programs would be under that school's choice curriculum that would not adhere to state requirements and would prove more indoctrination than in any public school. This program would only provide welfare to the wealthy that would choose and pay for private schools on their own anyway.

Michelle Anderson
Self
Houston, TX

It's unfair to take money away from public schools who are already underfunded and allow that money to be used at a private school that doesn't have the same accountability as a public school. Who really benefits? Of course, parents that already send their children to private schools by choice. The kids that really could benefit from a smaller setting still would not be able to afford private school with the voucher.

Jo Highsmith
Self
Hitchcock, TX

I strongly oppose this bill! Teachers do too as well as students(if they could have a say)!

Maggie Queen
Self- K-12 Instructional Coach
Galveston, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 and believe public funds should remain in public schools.

Meg Buckley
Self
Frisco, TX

I graduated from a Texas public high school and I intend to have my children do the same. Please do not sacrifice our children's future by passing a bill that does not benefit the majority of students.

Nicole Klingelhoefner
Self
Colleyville, TX

As a parent of two sons educated in Hurst Euless Bedford ISD, and most recently Grapevine Colleyville ISD, I wish to express my continued support for the strong public schools, programs of choice, and teachers that have supported our gifted and talented children. Our public tax dollars have allowed them to opt into choices like health science courses, SAT preparation courses, and given them the opportunity to enjoy band, soccer, and other extracurricular activities. Choice has been and continues to be plentiful in our public school districts. We strongly and vehemently oppose the diversion of our tax dollars into private school programs and away from our children whose education programs are already underfunded. Public dollars should remain in our schools to continue the extension of academic programs, ensure school safety, provide an avenue for every student to graduate high school, and pay teachers what they deserve in their careers. Please do not pass the bill for school choice.

Corie Tabb-Ash
Self
Lipscomb, TX

I oppose HB 3 and fully support public school funding.

Mary Garza
Self /Mother/ caregiver
San Antonio, TX

I do not support this bill. I do not believe it will positively impact children in working class families.

Charlotte McHale

Self

Houston, TX

As a teacher, I can honestly say that charter schools are a poor choice for families with less opportunity to pay for a private school, even without a stipend. Private schools are just that- they are selective, and they don't give discounts, even for employees. This bill is an excuse to abolish public education, which Texas students utilize and in many cases need in order to carry out their daily routines and support their families, especially those who don't make enough money to pay for school, much less the amenities that public schools offer such as free and reduced lunches, counseling services and extracurricular opportunities. Why should Texas students have to bear the burden of the consequences of poor budgeting on Governor Abbott's part? This initiative is biased in favor of the wealthy, and will only hurt Texas students, not only depriving those less fortunate of an education, but depriving students who have the luxury of choosing public schools for the realistic social backdrop. Public schools provide all students opportunity to experience the relevance and beauty of diversity between ethnicities, religions, and social classes in an environment appropriate for educating young people to function in the real world. Please say no to private school vouchers and devote the funding that Abbott wants to use instead to maintaining the public school system in our great state of Texas.

Lindsay Petty

Self

Fort Worth, TX

No vouchers

Chani Buettner

Self

Austin, TX

Please don't let the children of Texas down by voting for this bill. Public education is so important to the children and families of Texas. This bill does not make education equal for everyone in Texas. I have 2 children on a 504 plan and if you take funding away from their public school, to give to private schools they will suffer. Some of their programs may have to be cut, including speech and dyslexia classes. These classes have helped my kids so much in catching up with their classmates. My boys will also have a hard time being accepted into the best private schools, since those schools only have to accept the highest achieving students. Please support the children of Texas and vote no on this bill. Thank you!

James Ward

Self Retired teacher

Georgetown, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Courtney Stubblefield

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I am a product of the Texas public education system whose two children are also attending public school in Texas. This bill will not strengthen our education system, it will only harm it. Issuing vouchers without accountability makes no sense. And issuing vouchers for a higher amount per student than is currently paid for in the public schools also makes no sense. Private schools that have no accountability to the state and that do not have to accept students they don't want to should not receive state tax dollars. Instead, our public schools should be fully funded and more effort should be focused on strengthening them since they are who educates the vast majority of students in this state.

John Thomas, Retired public school administrator

Self

Lubbock, TX

As a former public school superintendent and the father of a dedicated elementary educator, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed voucher system. I have seen firsthand how hard public schools work to provide equitable, quality education to every child, and I am deeply concerned about how vouchers will undermine these efforts.

One of the most glaring issues with vouchers is the lack of equitable funding. Public schools are already underfunded, and diverting taxpayer dollars to private and charter schools will only make it more challenging to meet the diverse needs of students. Public schools are mandated to serve every child—regardless of ability, background, or socioeconomic status—while private and charter schools can choose whom they admit. This disparity leaves our most vulnerable students behind and further widens the opportunity gap.

Moreover, voucher-funded schools do not have to follow the same accountability standards as public schools. They are not required to use state-approved curricula, administer standardized assessments, or publicly report student outcomes. As a former superintendent, I know how crucial transparency and accountability are to building trust with parents and the community. Private institutions receiving public funds should be held to the same rigorous standards as public schools.

Another critical concern is the quality of education and teacher qualifications. Public school teachers are required to have degrees and certifications, but voucher-funded schools are not held to these same requirements. My daughter, an elementary educator, has spent years earning her degree, training, and continuously improving her practice to ensure that her students receive the best education possible. It is unfair to divert public money to schools that do not demand the same level of professionalism and expertise from their staff.

Lastly, as someone who has dedicated much of my career to public education, I know how vital it is to support and invest in our public schools rather than undermine them. Instead of creating a system that lacks oversight and accountability, we should be focusing on strengthening our public schools to ensure they have the resources needed to serve all students effectively.

For the sake of our children and the future of public education in Texas, I strongly urge you to reconsider the voucher system. Public funds should support public schools—institutions that are committed to serving every child, every day.

Thank you for your time and thoughtful consideration.

Sincerely,

John Thomas

Benjamin Getter, Dr.

Self

San Antonio, TX

I support public education.

Melinda Northcutt

Myself

Porter, TX

Please vote NO on vouchers. Public money should not be given for private schools

Jennifer Cottrell

Self

Mansfield, TX

Please DO NOT pass this bill! The people of Texas do not want or support the voucher program. This will absolutely demolish public education and educators and has prevent to do so in other states.

Chris Tijerina

Self/Network Engineer

San Antonio, TX

Republicans continue to act like this voucher program does not take away funding for public schools. The continuous lies that is told to the public. While yes, there can be a choice for schools. Why would this need to go to the wealthy families that are already going to private school. What's going to stop these schools from raising the tuition? Which in the end will end up being the same thing. Essentially taking away from the schools that need it the most! Why has this program been brought up so much? Why isn't teacher pay brought up more? This has been brought up more than all the more important issues. School shootings, teacher pay etc. but hey let's take funds away to help the families that don't need the assistance. Always helping the rich get richer.

Tanya Lloyd, Mrs

Self

Lockhart, TX

Please fully fund public schools before giving my hard earned tax dollars away to private schools. School choice/vouchers are

Amanda Garrison

Self

Roanoke, TX

Fund our public schools APPROPRIATELY and FAIRLY. NO TO VOUCHERS. They only hurt our education systems. Our tax dollars must be released to the public schools like they should have been for the last three years. Jobs, families, and the people of Texas suffer at the hands of billionaires who could HELP the world but choose to hurt it instead. Why not take those "fundraising" dollars on vacation instead of putting in pockets of crooks.

Rojelio Rodriguez

Self

Heath, TX

Vote NO. Against HB3 vouchers. This bill will continue eroding our public education system.

Megan Whitford

Self

Waxahachie, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Leandra Timmons

Mosaic Academy - Paint Rock ISD

Levelland, TX

As a public education advocate, teacher, and parent, I strongly oppose House Bill 3 and its push for an education savings account (ESA) program. This bill threatens to divert essential public funds from our schools, funneling taxpayer dollars into private and unregulated educational institutions. Instead of strengthening public education, HB 3 undermines its foundation by prioritizing a program that benefits a select few while leaving the majority of students behind.

From a public education perspective, the establishment of an ESA program weakens the financial stability of our schools. Public schools rely on consistent funding to maintain quality instruction, support services, and extracurricular programs. By redirecting state education dollars to private and homeschooling options without accountability, HB 3 erodes the resources available to students in public classrooms, especially those in rural and underfunded districts.

As a teacher, I see how policies like this directly harm students. When funding is siphoned away through ESAs, schools face larger class sizes, fewer support staff, and cuts to essential programs. This ultimately hurts the students who need the most support—those with disabilities, English language learners, and children from low-income families. Teachers are already struggling with inadequate resources, and HB 3 would make providing a high-quality education to every child harder.

As a parent, I want my child—and all children—to have access to a well-funded, strong public education system. ESAs prioritize individual choice at the expense of the greater good, leaving public schools to suffer while taxpayer money supports unregulated private institutions with no guarantee of quality or equity. Public education should be a public good, not a system weakened by policies that divert funding without oversight or accountability.

For the sake of our students, teachers, and public education system, I urge lawmakers to oppose House Bill 3 and reject the establishment of an education savings account program. Instead, we must invest in strengthening public schools and ensuring that every child—regardless of background or zip code—has access to a quality education.

Kristen Brown

Self

Conroe, TX

New day, new comment!

I am against HB 3. There have been so many well spoken citizens providing their comment in the 22 hour window for testimony that I cannot provide anything new.

But as a daughter of a Texas public teacher, as a product of Texas public education, of a mother of two children in Texas public schools whose other grandmother is also a retired public school teacher: Texas public schools can be amazing if given the resourcing. HB3 is not needed. There is no guarantee that the high priority students will find a local, affordable option that WILL accept them.

The ONLY way that I would support this bill is to put strict limits on family income eligibility, and increase accountability in the private institutions that accept the funding.

Christy Long

Teachers

North Richland Hills, TX

I am a Texas Retired teacher. I want you to vote No on school vouchers!!! This will destroy public education in Texas!!! Please, vote NO!!!!

Jordan Kellner

Self

Mansfield, TX

I oppose HB 3. I am against ESAs.

Errin Lagow

self / Medical Science Liaison

Austin, TX

Vote NO to HB 3.

Texas public schools need better funding and to eliminate the Robin Hood program, not death from starvation by re-routing funds. School voucher programs in Louisiana and Arizona HAVE NOT delivered positive results for student achievement and decimated the public school systems there. Texas can and should learn from those experiences and invest fully in public schools accessible to ALL families. I fully support Texas public schools, my two children attend Austin public schools (Kealing Middle School and LASA, and previously Baranoff Elementary), and my spouse teaches at a public Texas university (Texas State University). I am an Austin parent and resident since 2007, a Texas native, was educated in a rural public school system (Kaufman ISD), graduated summa cum laude with a BS in Biology from a public Texas university (Stephen F. Austin State University), and graduated with a PhD in Biological Sciences from UT Health Science Center-Houston. I have been employed in the molecular diagnostics field since 2007 and give back to my community regularly in many ways including Central Texas Food Bank, KUT, and Austin public schools.

Grace Mancilla, Mrs.

Self

Palestine, TX

Parents already have school choice. Stop HB3 and fully fund public schools. You are failing 5.5 million public schools students not educators. Listen to the people who elected you. We will remember how you voted and are organized to vote you out!

Ted ONeil, Mr.

Self retired

Whitney, TX

I am a retired public school Principal. I do not support this bill because it does not insure equity in funding of public schools vs Private schools. According to the constitution my tax dollars should be used for public education as this is the foundational learning environment for ALL Texas students. Free and Appropriate! When you dilute the dollars spent for Texas school children to include private schools and not hold private schools to the same accountability as state and federal requirements, you are diluting and misappropriating my tax dollars. I can't speak for anyone else but those that are pushing this ridiculous misappropriation of tax dollar funds will not get my vote the next time. Another problem with this is the rural public schools that do not have any private schools in proximity of a public schools so how is the transportation issue taken care of

Paula Lyssy

Self; school psychologist

Falls City, TX

This bill is a MISTAKE. Please consider the damage it will cause to public education. I have served 28 years in public education, specifically special education, and I know we have a broken system. But what needs an overhaul are the parents you are trying to bail out with this bill! Most of the times we have deficiencies in schools due to a few "bad apples" who abuse the system and the staff, yet you want to reward them with financial dollars to go shop for a unicorn. What they want doesn't exist. They want entitlement and special privileges. What needs to occur is a shift in funding education so that we are not short staffed and constantly retraining and rearranging staffing assignments that are limited due to the toxic stress and harassment educators endure daily. We need to focus dollars on early mental health and supporting parents in learning how to build better community instead of tearing down everything that has already been built. Quit making giant schools with no long-term community feel and commitment and where everyone is just out for themselves. My children went to a small rural school, and the respect that is earned by the staff has endured over time. They don't have to continue to establish themselves as trusted adults and community leaders each new school year. Long term relationships in schools really do matter! Build THAT! Quit letting people take advantage of the system to shop around for themselves and require them to invest in their community and their school. Require parent volunteer work. Eliminate education advocates who know NOTHING about school law, but continuously bully school administrators and teachers with threats of filing complaints that go nowhere, but require hours of time and attention from school personnel. Require advocates to become certified by TEA!!! Fund schools to retain and reinvest. You guys have it all wrong. ALL WRONG. You truly don't know what is really happening in schools and the voices of a powerful few are going to destroy the already crippled system. Fix it. Because many of these children will be your nursing home CNAs and pharmacy techs. They will drive on your streets delivering your orders. They will prepare your food and stock your shelves. If they don't have a decent education, how will these necessary roles of society exist? We will always have a surplus of doctors and lawyers and engineers, but who will change the diapers of the elderly and fry the burgers? FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION and STOP THIS NONSENSE.

Amanda Ryan

Self, school founder

Austin, TX

I am mom to 3 children. We have had the good fortune of being able to afford to have our children involved in several educational settings for the K-8 years. Our oldest is a freshman in high school this year and we chose to have her try public school for the first time. While her K-8 education prepared her very well and she maintains a 4.0 unweighted GPA, the experience has been one disappointment after another from the perspective of the education and overall environment of the public school. Despite being in a well-funded district and in honors and AP classes which we were assured is where the "good teachers" are found, teachers are very regularly absent, academic rigor is seemingly defined as voluminous work rather than resulting in any evidence of actual conceptual learning, and quite often this voluminous work is not even graded. The outcome is students feeling disrespected, unmotivated and utterly fed up. Watching the love of learning disappear in my previously enthusiastic learner is incredibly disheartening.

As well, I am a school founder of a small school that serves grades K-8. We unapologetically assess students three times per year after which our students perform data analysis on their results and work with teachers to set their individual learning goals. Our students are motivated, have a tremendous zeal for learning and despite most coming in slightly below grade level, over 90% of our students are now performing at least one full grade ahead and, even more important, they are joyful in the process. As an educator, I am grateful for this proposed bill. It addresses the most common concerns of school choice opposers and allows parents so much more educational freedom than currently exists. Helping our children become the best version of themselves requires them being able to be educated in an environment that brings out their best in every way. This bill does much to make that possible for many families. One day I hope ALL families will have that choice.

Debra Berry, Ms.

Self

Houston, TX

As a public school teacher, we don't have enough resources and allocating money to private schools is not the answer. The private schools won't even accept students with learning disabilities and will require they be served at their home schools. When those students and others with poor home situations will not receive empathy and support in a private school as many receive in the public school settings. Once a student Cts out in a private school they are kicked out and the public school has to take them by law.

Patti Everitt

Patti Everitt

AUSTIN, TX 78722, TX

I urge Texas House members to oppose taxpayer funded vouchers. Not only does HB 3 create an entirely new $80 million government bureaucracy, there is virtually NO ACCOUNTABILITY over how our state funds will be used by private schools and private vendors. Both Democrats and Republicans should be concerned. These private schools do not comply with open meetings or open records laws so we will have no way to monitor or review how our tax dollars are spent or what students they actually serve and what students are denied admission. Private schools openly admit that they are not required to accept special education students and can discriminate against applicants who don't fit their education "model" or religious beliefs. The education of all children should not be a political football - these are our children. Independent researchers have provided hard data that the performance of students at "voucher" schools is "catastrophic". And we know from other states that the majority of families that receive taxpayer dollars for private schools are already enrolled in private schools and live in wealthier zip codes. We heard testimony from parent after parent at the voucher hearing that private schools would not accept their children with special needs. Vouchers are not good government, and there is ample evidence to oppose them.

Beth Daines

Self - alderman/parent/substitute teacher

San Antonio, TX

Please vote no to vouchers. Public schools have be chronically underfunded for years. We have had to give up so many important programs, like art and music. Counseling services have been cut at a time when they are needed more than ever. Class sizes have had to increase as teachers positions get cut.

Vouchers are a tax break for families who are already sending their kids to private schools. Public dollars are for public schools. This is important: Public dollars are for public schools!

Jennifer Rodgers

Self

Nederland, TX

I am completely against school vouchers. Public tax money should be spent on public schools.

Texans have always had school choice. My parents chose to send me to private school, grades 1-12. I wouldn't trade my school days for anything. But, they paid for private school, without any help from the state.

I worked in the public school setting for 36 years. Do changes need to be made, yes. Are school vouchers the answer...no!

In my opinion, there are far too many wealthy outside people influencing our elected officials. Why is Jeff Yass interested in the education of children in Texas? Could it be he will profit if this passes?

My suggestion is to let the people of Texas vote on this issue. We know why it won't happen. The overwhelming majority of Texans are against vouchers, period!

Voters of Texas will definitely be watching who votes for and who votes against.

Morgan Spirlock
Self - Granbury ISD Parent
Granbury, TX

I am writing as a concerned parent to express my strong opposition to any efforts to implement or expand school voucher programs in Texas, including HB 3. I strongly oppose HB 3 and request that you oppose HB 3 with your vote. HB 3 is not in the best interest of all Texas children, public education, or the future of our great state. Prioritizing public education is vital to building stronger communities and a successful future for Texas. I implore you to represent your constituents & do what is best for all Texas children, which is to oppose HB3. Thank you.

Genevieve Sugalski
Self
San Antonio, TX

Individual House members that vote for HB3 will be posted everywhere. How do you think the families will feel when their school closes who haven't been paying attention and they find out why. The why being that these individual members gave in to special interest, out-of-state wishlists to kill our schools. Y'all Will Be Out.

Drue Brown, Ms
Self Retired Educator
Brownsville, TX

I am strongly opposed to this Bill for several reasons. I have a TRS pension and eventually this legislation would impact the retirement system for future educators. There are many details that have not been addressed and this will significantly impact our small Texas towns and rural areas. Please do not vote for this bill. It is not good for many of your constituents.

DiAnna Hynds, Dr.
Self, Professor
Denton, TX

Please defeat HB 3, the bill that would approve education vouchers. I oppose this proposed actions for several reasons. First and foremost, it is not the will of Texas voters. A survey of likely voters indicates that 70% oppose vouchers. Second, the bill will not benefit the majority of Texas students. Rural students do not have private schools available to them and students with lower economic status are similarly limited. Third, the choice of accepting vouchers lies within the schools, not with the parents of those students. Fifth, vouchers will eventually be supported by property taxes, both increasing them and not allowing property owners input into how their taxes are used. I am more than willing to pay taxes supporting public schools, but do not want my taxes to support private faith-based discriminatory institutions. I also do not want my taxes to increase when it will not help all students in my area. Sixth, the main impetus and campaigning for vouchers comes from out of state billionaires. Vouchers will only help students from affluent families and will further increase economic disparity in Texas. Thus, there are many reasons that school vouchers would be exceedingly bad for Texas. I do not want to see the comic divide increase, nor do I want my tax dollars to support such an effort. I urge the Texas House of Representatives to defeat HB 3. It is a bad bill, not the will of the people, and would be a true disservice to all Texas children.

Emily Herlihy

Self, business owner and parent

Sachse, TX

I would like to express my opposition to HB 3. I watched much of the public hearing held yesterday and appreciate the committee's dedication to hearing all testimony. I am a parent of two beautiful sons, Kevin (13) and Charles (10) who both struggle with dyslexia and severe ADHD. Their father and I have considered whether private school may be a better option than public school, even though we have felt our boys have received wonderful support from the 504 and special education teams within their public schools. However, in the DFW area, reputable private schools that could meet our sons' needs charge tuition of $30,000-$40,000 per year per student. We are a middle-class family with a decent income, but we could never afford to spend up to 100% of our take-home pay in tuition, even with the proposed ESA funds. Sure, we could work additional jobs to make it happen, but then when are we spending time together as a family?? I know and appreciate that there are less expensive private schools in Texas whose tuition would be covered by the ESA funds. That is not an option in my area for my children. Their public schools are amazing, and we love all of the educators that work to support our sons and so WE CHOOSE to keep them in public school. I also heard testimony that additional ESA funds may be available for children with special education needs. However, I would never ask or expect that taxpayer funds be diverted from public schools to pay for my children's private school tuition. And yes, funds would be diverted if we sent them to private school because public schools are funded based on enrollment; please do not pretend they wouldn't be. I acknowledge that I already have a choice where to send my children to school and that the choice is MINE and THEIR FATHER'S, not the State's or other taxpayers. Asking other taxpayers who exercise their CHOICE to stay in public schools to face reduced funding, potential teacher reductions, and potential school closings because of MY CHOICE to use an ESA to send my children to private school is unconscionable to me and goes against the very principle that taxes are paid to serve the many, not the few. I heard a lot of testimony yesterday about the extreme examples on both sides of the debate over this bill. However, I ask you to consider that families like mine represent the majority of families you claim to want to help with this bill. We all know no bill will be perfect for everyone, especially in a state the size of Texas. These decisions cannot be made based on outlier "what-ifs" and the bottom line is that this bill creates no greater CHOICE for families like mine than we already have. Please vote "no" to HB 3.

Rica Smith

Self

Santa Fe, TX

Private School should not be funded by state dollars. The fact that you are even proposing this, says that you have no place in public office. You know $10k is more than any public school student gets. How decisively unfair.

Savannah Hollan

MOVE Texas

Austin, TX

HB 3 weakens Texas schools by prioritizing taxpayer-funded privatization over real investment in public education. Taxpayer money should be invested into public schools to create a better work environment and nurturing place for children as they learn and grow. Stop taking money from already underfunded public schools, this will lower the overall Texas learning criteria, weaken our education system, and isolate those in low income and rural families.

Scott Browning

Lutheran South Academy

Seabrook, TX

I am in support of House Bill 3, as it will allow some of our current school families, and some new families to experience a top-notch education. As the new head of school at Lutheran South Academy and an educator for 28 years, I've seen firsthand the benefits of school choice in many other states. It's time for Texas to craft a program that gives students more opportunities.

CAROLYN VERNICK

SELF

AUSTIN, TX

THE VOUCHER SYSTEM FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS WOULD BE TERRIBLE FOR OUR STATE AND OUR ECONOMY. PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE THE FOUNDATION AMERICA WAS BUILT ON. MINIMUM AGE REQUIREMENTS EDUCATED OUR PEOPLE AND OPENED MINDS TO HIGHER IDEALS AND STANDARDS WHILE ALSO OFTEN TRIGGERING CURIOSITY. MOST PEOPLE WHO CAN AFFORD PRIVATE SCHOOLING CURRENTLY ARE NOT IN FAVOR OF THE VOUCHER SYSTEM. THEY KNOW THEY CAN AFFORD IT, AND SO THEY MAKE THE DECISION TO PAY IT. DOWN WITH HB - 3

Anna Ansari

Self

Austin, TX

Please keep public dollars in public schools. My kids are in public school and all kids should be able to have a well funded education.

Megan Yocum

Self, Parent of 3 school aged children

Coppell, TX

Allow me to introduce myself: my name is Megan and I am a parent of 3 children served by the public education system in Coppell, TX. Furthermore, 2 of my 3 children qualify for Special Education and receive services. I am staunchly against an legislation that includes ESAs without increasing the daily allotment by a meaningful amount that takes into account inflation that has occurred since the last increase in funding in 2019 or provides a voucher to Texas school children that exceeds the daily allotment for public schools.

As a parent with children served by special education, as I understand the current bills, I would qualify to receive a $10,000 private school voucher. Even given that opportunity, there is no private school in DFW that will meet ALL the needs and provide ALL the services that my children currently receive in Coppell ISD. Even if there was a school that would accept my children and provide the same services they have received in the public school system, a $10,000 voucher is a small drop in the bucket for tuitions that exceed $25,000/year. Just to give you a visual, the following chart is the annual tuition for 7 Dallas area private schools that serve children with learning differences.

$27,400

$40,400

$36,987

$28,540

$31,000

$28,500

$27,600

Even if we did choose to attend a private school that would still come at a high cost for our family. First, my children would no longer enjoy the benefit of walking to school, attending school with neighborhood children and would lose valuable time each day commuting to/from school.

I strongly urge you to reconsider HB 3 as currently written. This bill does not make sense and is not in the best interest for our youngest Texans.

Sincerely,

Megan

cynthia rutledge
self - physician
San Angelo, TX

This bill will drain money from our public schools. If parents need to send their children to private schools, they should do it without public assistance.

Megan Ojeda
Self/ Teacher
San Antonio, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school vouchers in the state of Texas. Vouchers divert crucial public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas children, to subsidize private and charter schools that are not held to the same accountability standards.

Our public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, support, and opportunities to students of all backgrounds. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public school system by increasing teacher pay, improving resources, and ensuring every child has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting any voucher proposals and focusing on policies that uplift public education for all.

Thank you for your dedication to the future of Texas students.

Mae Lane, Dr.
Self
Willis, TX

Vouchers will further damage our public education system. Taking additional funding from public schools to supplement families who already pay for private schools does nothing except subsidize the wealthy. It is not a matter of school choice; school choice already exists. Parents can move their children to a different public school if they are displeased with their current school option. The loss of funding this bill will cause impacts teacher salaries, programs that are available to students, availability of paraprofessionals, and countless other things important for student success. It will create a loss of teaching positions in public schools. With the passage of this bill, we are essentially funding schools that have no oversight, are not required to provide a curriculum that meets our state standards, and who can accept only students they want to attend their schools. They can also expel students without cause. HB3 only helps parents who are currently able to afford a private education. Transportation is not provided by private schools, nor is special education for a majority of those schools. And the fact that Abbott has held billions of dollars hostage that could have improved our public schools to try and force the passage of HB3 tells you about his priorities. Do not pass this bill if you care at all about the majority of Texas families and students.

LeeAnne Rogers
Self - College Admissions Consultant
Arlington, TX

Fully funding public education is critical to the success of ALL Texas children. It is also crucial to our economy. We already have school choice, and many of our districts who offer it are severely underfunded. Fort Worth, Keller, and McKinney ISDs have all recently had severe budget issues. Please vote no on HB3. My tax dollars should solely go to public schools, not paying for private schools. Even with the vouchers, most lower income families could not afford private schools, as well as this is discriminatory against students with disabilities and those from different religions (since most private schools are religious based.) We demand that the surplus be poured back into our schools, teachers get raises, and the teacher retirement funds are protected. This is vital to the success of all Texans.

Kirby Shallue

Self / Executive Assistant

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the Texas school voucher bill (HB 3) for several key reasons that directly impact the future of our public education system. As someone who is a product of a Texas public school, whose mother was a dedicated public school teacher in Texas, and as a parent with children currently attending Austin ISD elementary schools, I have seen firsthand the value and potential of our public schools. Public education is a cornerstone of opportunity, and this bill threatens to undermine that foundation in ways that will harm our children, teachers, and communities.

The governor's strategy of withholding essential funding from our public schools to push this bill forward is not only harmful—it's a betrayal of the teachers, students, and families who rely on these institutions every day. Our public schools have faced years of financial strain, with funding levels stagnating since 2019. Meanwhile, inflation has skyrocketed, increasing the cost of living for families and the cost of supplies and resources for schools. Teachers, who are already underpaid and overworked, have left the profession in droves. It's clear that instead of addressing these issues, the governor's priority has been to promote a voucher program that will do nothing to help the struggling schools that serve the majority of Texas children.

Furthermore, the evidence from other states that have implemented school voucher programs shows that they disproportionately benefit wealthy families who already have the means to send their children to private schools. Rather than creating equitable opportunities for all students, this bill would simply serve as a tax break for the rich, funneling public funds into private institutions that have no obligation to serve the diverse and vulnerable populations that our public schools are committed to educating.

Our schools need more resources, not less. We need to prioritize increasing teacher pay, improving classroom conditions, and ensuring that every child—regardless of their background or zip code—has access to the quality education they deserve. This voucher bill is a step in the wrong direction, and it will only exacerbate the disparities in our education system. I stand firmly against HB 3 and urge all Texans to do the same for the future of our children and our state.

Amy Jagers

Self

Austin, TX

As a public school educator in Austin, I urge you to vote NO HB3 and stand with Texas families, teachers, and communities against school vouchers. This bill would take millions from our already underfunded public schools and funnel it into private school subsidies, with no accountability or transparency. As someone who has worked in Austin ISD for over 20 years I have watched the Texas legislature strangle our district with recapture and how districts are funded through student allotments. This large urban district will not be able to maintain its current status if vouchers pass. Most districts in the surrounding area along with Austin are already discussing what programs to cut because of the lack of adequate state funding, and instead of using the state surplus to pay back districts you are instead considering giving that money to individuals with no personal state in public education in their communities. In states where vouchers have already passed the data highlights that vouchers don't benefit students who need a "choice" in their education but instead it goes to families who already have their child in a private school. If you aren't going to let the people vote on this issue than you need to listen to what the people are demanding and that's for this committee to vote no on vouchers.

Here's what's at stake:

?? Defunding Public Schools – Vouchers divert critical taxpayer dollars away from public schools, which serve 90% of Texas children. Rural communities, where private options are scarce, will be hit the hardest.

?? Higher Taxes, Bigger Deficits – Voucher programs in other states have led to massive budget shortfalls and increased local taxes to compensate for lost education funding. Texas can't afford the same mistake.

?? No Accountability, No Standards – Private schools receiving taxpayer money don't have to follow the same academic, financial, or anti-discrimination standards as public schools.

?? Hurting Our Future Workforce – Texas needs strong public schools to prepare students for college and careers. Weakening public education weakens our economy.

HB3 is a bad deal for Texas families. Please vote NO and protect our children's education and our state's future.

Sincerely,
Amy Jagers

Nancy Burke

self- Teacher and parent

Friendswood, TX

Texas vouchers will hurt all public schools. Our children deserve better. No tax money should ever fund private schools. Texas has held back on funding, teacher pay raises and teacher retirement for decades- only giving a little when elections are looming. I did some research on the money given to the Governor. Mr. Yass- stop bribing our governor to push vouchers which the overwhelming majority of Texans do not want Mr. Yass should have donated that 12 million dollars to the schools to bring innovative technology which they have made billions on as a company. The fact they are giving money to dismantle our public schools is alarming. As a parent and educator I am angry and dismayed by what Texas is doing the education system. Many companies have headquarters here because we HAD outstanding schools. We are now in the lower quarter of the United States and dropping. We need to invest in funding and teacher pay to attract the best and brightest. We do not have a teacher shortage- Teachers chose to leave due to low pay and the disrespect that is happening now. Our legislature and Governor should not be bought and they have the obligation to vote for what their constituents want and need. NO VOUCHERS!!!!!! Better funding for our public schools and better pay and retirement for teachers- The money has been sitting in the account- Please spend it on what it was intended for. and stop putting money in the Texas teacher allotment- it is not a raise- benefits very few and costs teachers many hours and costs money especially getting a national certification. Just give teachers the raise they have been denied for years and years. No vouchers!!!!

Austin Prochko
Self, Comms Manager
Manor, TX

I support empowering parents with ESAs. Please make sure there are no strings attached and make this the biggest program possible!

Heidi Cook
Self
Plano, TX

I strongly oppose the establishment of vouchers in Texas. Public schools are the foundation for success in Texas and throughout our country. Please fund our public schools and do not pass the voucher system. Thank you for your support.

Adalgisa Morales
Self
Plano, TX

I am against this bill. Our educational system is already hurting. Texas school districts are already short of resources. We cannot take funds away from our schools.

Tom Cole, Mr.
Self
Amarillo, TX

I am OPPOSED to HR 3...I believe in public education of all eligible students...I vote and I vote regularly... This bill is an abomination to public education...Keep the playing field fair...Private schools cherry pick their students...It is not fair to all students...Instead of funding public education as you should, you do your damnest to destroy it... I am as I said opposed to it... Hopefully you be as well... Thank you...

Laura Banaszynski
self
Dallas, TX

My name is Laura Banaszynski. I have two children who both attend Dallas ISD public schools. I am an active voter, and I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB3 and its provision to fund private schools with taxpayer dollars.

Diverting public funds to private institutions undermines our public school system, which serves the vast majority of Texas students, including those with diverse needs and backgrounds. Public schools are already underfunded, and this bill would further strain resources, making it harder for educators to provide quality instruction, support special programs, and maintain necessary infrastructure. Instead of funneling money into private institutions that lack accountability and transparency, we should be investing in and strengthening our public education system for all children. Safeguarding a strong, well-funded public education system is crucial for nurturing an informed, skilled workforce and upholding democratic values. Rather than embracing divisive policies that benefit a select few, we must prioritize equitable investments in public schools to empower every child with the tools for success. I urge you to stand with Texas families and vote against HB3. Our public schools - and the future of our children - depend on it. Thank you for your time.

Andrea Edwards

Self

Austin, TX

As a native Texan and product of both public schools and a prominent Texas university, I am appalled at the diversion of taxpayer dollars from public education to private schools. There is no way that lawmakers can both cut taxes and adequately fund public schools while simultaneously funding private ones. The money for vouchers has to come from somewhere and if you proceed in this vein, public school students will suffer in a number of ways: 1) there is no fair way to judge the quality of education received as public schools must provide education to all students including those with special needs so overall test scores are subsequently lower. Furthermore, there is no state oversight of private schools-some are outstanding, some are just fancier forms of babysitting or religious indoctrination (not just Christian schools by the way but Harmony schools which are run by Turkish Muslims for example). 2) In many rural areas there are no private schools and many districts have consolidated to provide what public education they can. 3) Public schools are already underfunded. Teachers are leaving at an increasing rate through retirement as well as those leaving for jobs in the private sector due to low pay, long hours and lack of administrative and parental support. When teachers leave and are not replaced, or replacements are temporary or inexperienced, students suffer. 4) Poor parents cannot afford private schools. "School choice" sounds good but any voucher would only be minimal in the face of private school tuition. Also, not everyone has access to transportation options to take children to and from a private school which may not be in their neighborhood.

In summation: Every student in Texas deserves a quality public education so they can thrive and become a productive member of society. Public tax dollars should adequately fund public schools in both rural and urban areas without relying on stealing from wealthier districts to fund poorer ones. We have a surplus. Let's invest in our future workforce by making sure that all of our students, not just the wealthy or the fortunate few scholarship recipients are ready.

Thank you.

Jim Tate

Concerned taxpayers

Granbury, TX

This bill will destroy public schools, the very backbone of our very fragile democracy!

Jessica Lugo
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Testimony in Opposition to HB3
Jessica Lugo
Former Public School Teacher & Texas Public School Parent

Chairman and members of the committee, my name is Jessica Lugo and I am a former Texas public school teacher and a proud parent of two children who attend our local public schools. I am writing to strongly oppose HB3.

For years, I dedicated my career to educating Texas students, and now, as a parent, I continue to see the incredible work that public schools do every day. My children are thriving in our public schools—not just academically, but socially and emotionally—because of the dedicated teachers and diverse opportunities available to them.

And let me be clear: my family already has school choice. We were able to select a public school that best meets our children's needs through an existing transfer process. Texas public schools offer magnet programs, dual-language campuses, and open-enrollment policies that give families real choices—without diverting taxpayer dollars away from the schools that serve the vast majority of students.

HB3 is not about giving parents choice—it's about shifting public money to private institutions that are not held to the same standards, not accountable to taxpayers, and not obligated to serve all students, including those with special needs, behavioral challenges, or language barriers. As a teacher, I saw firsthand how public school employees work tirelessly to support every child, regardless of background or ability. Private schools, on the other hand, can pick and choose who they enroll. That's not real choice—it's exclusion.

Instead of draining resources from our already underfunded public schools, the legislature should be investing in them—ensuring competitive teacher pay, reducing class sizes, and expanding the innovative programs that give parents real options within the public system.

Texas public schools serve over 5 million students, and they are the backbone of our communities. I urge you to reject HB3 and stand with the families, teachers, and students who believe in strengthening—not dismantling—our public education system.

Thank you.
Jessica Lugo

Candace Heeren
Self/Dyslexia Therapist
Mount Pleasant, TX

I do not agree with school vouchers. They will not benefit children in Texas. Public schools are already grossly underfunded. Governor Abbott has made it clear that he is not interested in running for Governor again. This is a Hail Mary effort for him to pass school vouchers before his term ends. It is evident with his daily school vouchers social media posts. Please listen to the voters. Most of us do not want a school voucher program and we are paying attention to how our representatives vote on this matter.

John Sigety
Self
Frisco, TX

Please do right by public school kids (like mine) and increase the basic allotment to AT LEAST $7,500. The Texas Constitution requires it. Recent inflation necessitates it. Please help make Texas better in terms of educating our kids.

Ambur Allen
Self/RN
Roanoke, TX

We have to increase the Basic Allotment to $7500 for NISD. Our teachers and students deserve better

Mary Anne Helms, Ms.
Self
Rosenberg, TX

Research has consistently found that vouchers fail to improve student achievement and often cause significant harm, particularly in math. A 2019 study of the Louisiana voucher program by the University of Arkansas found that after four years voucher students performed 24 percentile points below their public school peers in Math. A 2016 study by a conservative think tank found similar results in Ohio, noting that voucher students “fared worse academically compared to their closely matched peers attending public schools. . These negative impacts “appear to persist over time.” A pair of 2018 studies found that Washington DC voucher students performed significantly worse in math than non-voucher students with one study finding that these students fell behind by 10 percentile points after 10 years. Another study found that attending a voucher school had a larger negative effect on math achievement than all other factors reviewed, including feeling unsafe in school AND teacher turnover. This research refutes Abbotts claim that “school choice helps every student thrive.”

To quote an article from the Texas AFT (a statewide union with 66,000 members including k-12 educators, community college educators, support staff and retirees), “Texans deserve an honest, fact-based conversation about the track record and real fiscal and social costs of school privatization programs. Our state’s economic prosperity and the well-being of millions of Texas children depends on ensuring all have access to a high-quality public education. Diverting hundreds of millions of taxpayer dollars to unaccountable private schools, while cutting funding for public schools, would be a reckless step in the wrong direction. Our state leaders must focus instead on providing our public schools the full funding they need to help every child achieve their potential.”

Julia Lenz
Self
Austin, TX

We must invest in our future and children. By not covering inflation rates for education and cutting funds from education we are creating more homeless and dire strain on the economy from uneducated and un-hireable in the future. Cutting these funds will create a lack of teachers which will create higher class sizes, more behavior problems and more issues for public education. With the increase we’ve seen in taxes there is 100% capability to cover inflation for the education system. Please ensure you are providing funds for our future or it will cost 4x in the future to cover homeless, drug problems, and economic devastation to a non-capable workforce. Teachers already do the hardest job with little pay, we cannot keep asking them to do more with less or we will have fewer or less qualified teachers. Please make the right decision for our children and future, or I will have to look to leave this state to one that cares about education and children and you will lose more and more tax paying income.

Chelsea Kerestine, Mrs.
Self / sales
Roanoke, TX

We need the allotment raised to match the inflation we have faced over the last 6 years. Nothing costs the same as it did in 2019. This is impacting our future leaders in our students and the teachers that are working hard to get them there.

Manuel Martinez
Self/Teacher
Austin, TX
Support Public Education

Nikki Harper, Mrs.

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Public school funding should be a minimum $7,500 per student. There has not been an increase in YEARS and the increase in cost of everything needs to be taking in to consideration. Why are we putting so much more value on private schools...when we shouldn't be funding those at all? It needs to be an equal playing field. If private schools get $10k the public schools should get the same. And private schools should have the same hoops to jump through as the public schools. Invest in our public schools that serve ALL students.

Robin Barker

Self

Amarillo, TX

I am in opposition of the school vouchers. I have always been a proud Texan. I've seen how Texas does things differently and others try to follow. What I don't understand with this bill is that Texas is following other states as well as other countries that implemented this school voucher system - none with great results! The public school system used to be decent. I taught in the public school system long enough to know that was not what I wanted for my children. I homeschool my children. I do not want any school vouchers. I want to see Texas try to fix what is broke - public schools. You can't fix that by allocating funds to such a small number of students in Texas to go elsewhere. What are those students that still go to public schools going to get? Higher student to teacher ratios? Less security? Definitely not a better education. I do not want your "help" homeschooling my child either. He is above his grade level thanks to my teaching, not anything I've been told to do. I would appreciate you all thinking about ALL children when you think of this bill. Not that small percentage that might benefit from a voucher. If you truly want to help those students, create a scholarship program, just like the videos that Greg Abbott has posted.

Betsy Kemper

Self children's entertainer

Austin, TX

I do not support the voucher program for Texas Public Education. That education is available for all children and this voucher program will take much needed money to subsidize the education of wealthy children. Public education is available to them and if their parents don't want to take advantage of it that should be their choice. It should also be their choice to fully fund it. Taking money away from public education is not the right choice for all the children of Texas. They have no voice and you were elected to represent all the children of Texas.

Bonnie Lockhart

Self/Retired attorney

Austin, TX

I am adamantly opposed to taxpayers dollars being used to fund private schools. I would like to see better-funded public schools in order to assure a better education for all.

Abbey Garber

self - attorney

DALLAS, TX, TX

Please vote NO on public school vouchers. They dilute essential support for public schools, whose funding is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution that you swore an oath to support and defend. There are more than 5,000,000 children in public schools. The past practice of underfunding (no increase since 2019) is consistent with handicapping public schools. Thank you for taking the steps necessary to effect the improved education for the State's public school children when the federal government threatens to withdraw its support. Your vote will be observed closely.

Michael Appleman, Mr

Self / Attorney

Fort Worth, TX

Please vote NO on public school vouchers. They dilute essential support for public schools, whose funding is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution that you swore an oath to support and defend. It is estimated that vouchers will only benefit about 10% of the 500,000 or so Texas school children. "Parent choice" is a nice way to disguise privatization and support of private religious schools, which are the only ones where Gov. Abbott took his campaign. Further, the increased support of $210 per student in public schools that has been proposed is insulting and a mockery, especially when compared to the proposed diversion of $10,000 per student to private schools.

Thank you for taking the steps necessary to effect the improved education for the State's public school children that you claim, esp. when the federal government threatens to withdraw its support. Your vote will be observed closely.

Jason Rodgers

self

Sunset, TX

Don't do it. This is a boondoggle wrapped in garbage, and effectively nothing more than a big money grab. It has nothing to do with education. This is a nasty and invasive UN think tank idea, and I'm embarrassed and ashamed that my representatives would even consider this.

This is essentially a vendor Bill and it will greatly impact private and homeschool communities with broad restrictions. I turned my attention to the drain on taxpayers and the cost to implement these programs, so not to draw more attention to the private and homeschool communities that they are essentially targeting with these bills.

Education is, should be, and has always been a personal journey. Not everyone learns the same, and since the adoption of standardized testing, not one single metric has risen. Public school is a socialistic institution,

Sharon Berliner, Dr

Self. Clinical Psychologist

Houston, TX

Our public funds are for the public welfare. Texas has never fully funded our public schools and our national rankings show this. Parents have always been free to send their children to private schools but we the public do not want to fund private schools. This takes money directly from our public schools. Other states that have vouchers have found themselves with escalating debt incurred from this. Let's make our public schools the envy of the nation by fully funding them.

Mimi Platt Zimmerman, Ms

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Please vote NO on public school vouchers. They diminish essential support for public schools, whose funding is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution that you swore an oath to support and defend. There are more than 5,000,000 children in public schools in Texas. At most, vouchers will only benefit about 10% of the Texas school children. We all know that "parent choice" is a false flag to hide the real agenda of privatization and support of private religious schools, which are the only ones where Gov. Abbott took his campaign. The proposed increased support in public schools of $210 per student is insulting and a mockery. That is clearly inadequate when the proposed diversion to private schools is $10,000 per student, which only covers a minimal amount of a private school education.. The past practice of underfunding (no increase since 2019) is consistent with handicapping public schools. The concern about uncertified teachers in public schools can only increase with this current plan to provide vouchers and very little funding for teachers' raises

Thank you for taking the steps necessary to effect the improved education for the State's public school children that you claim, esp. when the federal government threatens to withdraw its support. Your vote will be observed closely.

Kevin Rutkowski

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill. Public money should not go towards private schools, especially when public schools are terribly underfunded. If private schools do get public money, they should be required to meet 100% of public school mandates in order to receive a student using the funding. They should be required to administer STAAR testing, be required to serve every student, and to meet every other mandated provision in state law.

In addition, any school funding law should mandate that 100% of taxes collected to fund schools goes to actually fund schools. There needs to be a provision that will automatically increase funding by any amount of school taxes collected state wide that is above the funding level for schools. Today, more school tax is collected than is spent in schools, so we essentially have a hidden tax to fund the state general fund.

Irma Quiroz

Self/RN

El Paso, TX

This bill negatively impacts public schools. If they would vote to fund public education we wouldn't need vouchers! At the moment public education is understaffed, overworked, and underpaid! Public school teachers are committed to their students to provide the best education. Students are receiving their services. If the state passes this bill it will greatly affect students and educators in the public setting. These "choice schools" do not adhere to the law like public school. They don't have to provide special education. Therefore in October public schools get an influx of students because these "choice schools" tell parents that this is not the "best choice" for their child and they have to take them back to their home school.

Please vote NO on this bill.

Your constituent,

Irma Quiroz

Marcy Tanter

Self

STEPHENVILLE, TX

This bill should not go forward. The money taken away from public education will hurt Texas schools. We rank low in national ratings as it is, removing this funding will make things worse. Teacher retention is at risk, students from low income areas are at great risk. This bill is unfair and serves only to benefit students from wealthier families. I oppose this wholeheartedly and it is extremely troubling that people who are supposed to be working for the PUBLIC good support and initiative that will only do harm. Texas children need your help, not your disdain.

Debbie Cross

Self

San Angelo, TX

Please no vouchers our Texas children in public school deserve better

Calli Eubanks

Self

Bronte, TX

This is a horrible idea! Please listen and put money into public schools! They are already struggling and this will make it worse!

Deidre Mead
Self
Greenville, TX

I am a firm believer in a public education provided for all Texas children.
Public education should be protected and fully funded in order for our community, state, and country to have an educated public.
Tax payer dollars should never be used for anything other than the public good.
Diverting education dollars to private and/or religious institutions goes against the separation of church and state, which is another foundational tenet of our US Constitution.
HB3 and SB2 are a money grab for the wealthy, many of which already send their children to private or religious schools.
The poor, rural, and disabled children will be excluded in larger numbers as they will not have access to schools (distance), will not meet entrance requirements, and/or will not be able to meet the additional tuition over the ESA amount.
We need to be all in and focused on public education.
At the very least this issue should be decided by a vote of the people, not legislators (especially those bought and paid for by West Texas "influencers").
Please vote against Vouchers.

Eric Gaeta
Self
Austin, TX

I am against HB 3. HB 3 is unconstitutional and would allow public funding for religious educational institutions. Furthermore these public school vouchers will defund public education and offer more discounts to wealthy citizens thus creating more disparity between economic classes. There is no school choice in this bill. The only choice would be the private institutions ability to accept or deny entry. Keep public funds in our public schools and remove this bill from becoming law.

Coryne Rich, Ms

Self

Houston, TX

As a concerned parent deeply invested in the quality of education my daughter receives, I believe that the implementation of this bill would have detrimental effects on our public education system and, consequently, on the educational opportunities available to my child.

This substantial diversion of taxpayer money away from public schools threatens to undermine the financial stability of a system that serves the vast majority of Texas children. Public schools are already grappling with limited resources, and siphoning funds to support private education will exacerbate these challenges, leading to larger class sizes, reduced programs, and diminished support services. ?

Unlike public schools, private institutions are not held to the same standards of accountability. HB 3 does not mandate private schools to administer the State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness (STAAR) tests, allowing them to choose alternative assessments. This discrepancy hinders parents' ability to make informed comparisons between educational institutions and undermines the transparency essential for maintaining educational standards. ?

The bill's provisions do not require private schools to accept all students, potentially leading to discriminatory admission practices. This loophole could result in the exclusion of students with special needs or those from low-income families, effectively denying them the purported benefits of school choice. Such practices would leave the most vulnerable students in underfunded public schools, widening the educational inequality gap. ?

The proposed voucher program could also have unintended consequences on the Teacher Retirement System of Texas (TRS). A reduction in public school enrollment may lead to decreased contributions to the TRS, potentially jeopardizing the retirement security of our dedicated educators. While some analyses suggest minimal immediate impact, the long-term effects remain uncertain and warrant careful consideration.

Although HB 3 proposes increased funding for special education students, there is no guarantee that private schools will have the capacity or willingness to accommodate these students. This uncertainty could leave many special needs students without appropriate educational placements, further straining public schools that are already under-resourced.

In conclusion, while the intent of HB 3 may be to provide families with more educational choices, the bill's implementation poses significant risks to the quality and equity of education in Texas. I urge the committee to consider these concerns and vote against HB 3 to protect and strengthen our public education system for all students, including my daughter.

Thank you for your attention to this critical matter.

Glenda Rogers, Mrs

Self

Georgetown, TX

Please do not vote for the voucher system. I fully support the public school system and want to see more support both financial and otherwise to make it stronger.

Gordon Appleman

Self, attorney

Fort Worth, TX

Please vote NO on public school vouchers. They dilute essential support for public schools, whose funding is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution that you swore an oath to support and defend. There are more than 5,000,000 children in public schools. At most, vouchers will only benefit about 10% of the Texas school children. We all know that "parent choice" is a false flag to hide the real agenda of privatization and support of private religious schools, which are the only ones where Gov. Abbott took his campaign. The concern about uncertified teachers in public schools is magnified in home schooling. The past practice of underfunding (no increase since 2019) is consistent with handicapping public schools. The proposed increased support of $210 per student is insulting and a mockery. That is clearly inadequate when the proposed diversion to private schools is $10,000 per student.

Thank you for taking the steps necessary to effect the improved education for the State's public school children that you claim, esp. when the federal government threatens to withdraw its support. Your vote will be observed closely.

Christine Coffill-Scott

Self

Austin, TX

This bill harms public education. Please don't pass this.

Chasity Johnson

Self - Education Content Writer

Arlington, TX

As a former public school teacher with 19 years of experience, I am deeply concerned about the devastating impact that House Bill 3 will have on Texas public schools, educators, and the Teacher Retirement System (TRS). While I am no longer in the classroom, I remain committed to advocating for the profession I dedicated nearly two decades of my life to and for the students and educators who will suffer if this bill is enacted.

House Bill 3 threatens the stability of our public education system by diverting critical funding away from public schools. This loss of funding will result in declining student enrollment, which in turn will lead to teacher layoffs, school closures, and increased financial strain on already struggling districts.

Beyond its immediate effects on schools, this bill poses a direct threat to the long-term viability of the TRS pension system. Recently, the head of TRS testified that even a 1% reduction in the number of actively contributing members could destabilize the system, rendering it actuarially unsound. This bill will undoubtedly lead to such a reduction as public schools lose students and are forced to downsize their workforce.

As someone who has spent nearly two decades contributing to TRS, I find this deeply alarming. If this bill passes and teachers begin to lose their jobs, I will have no choice but to withdraw my contributions from TRS and transfer them to an IRA to protect my retirement. I am certain that many other former educators who, like me, are not yet eligible for retirement will do the same. This mass divestment will only accelerate the financial collapse of TRS, putting the retirements of thousands of Texas educators at risk.

Unless there is a concrete plan to transition public school employees into the Employees Retirement System of Texas or another stable pension structure, I will not stand by and allow my retirement savings to be jeopardized. Legislators must understand that this bill is not just about school choice—it is about the long-term consequences for Texas teachers, retirees, and the financial security of those who have dedicated their lives to public service.

I urge Texas lawmakers to reject House Bill 3 and prioritize strengthening our public education system rather than dismantling it. The future of Texas students, educators, and retirees depends on it.

Jeanne Devine, Rev

Self, retired clergy

Austin, TX

I am opposed to HB 3, which would divert public funding from public schools and instead send public funding to private schools with no accountability. The amount of state support would not pay full tuition at many private schools. It would, however, enrich families who are already able to pay full tuition at such schools, making it a windfall for the wealthy. The idea, suggested by the Senate bill, that household income up to $160,000 is "low-income" is ludicrous. Private schools are unable and generally unwilling to provide all special education services required by some students; public schools, however, are required to provide special education services despite the lack of state funding increases since 2019. The Legislature's job is to fund public education for the children of this state. You have not done this, and until you do, you have no business sending public dollars elsewhere.

April Pettitt

Self

Arlington, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB3. Please vote to fund public education.

Robin Harris

Self-Dyslexia Therapist for Texarkana ISD

Texarkana, TX

I am a product of a public school education as are my parents, sisters husband and children. Giving money to people who are going to choose private education anyway, through vouchers doesn't increase the number of people who choose private school, it only steals money from public education that is desperately needed! As a teacher, Dyslexia Therapist, I believe that public education serves students well. Most children attending public schools are not going to choose private schools due to vouchers! The vouchers only give more money to people who have plenty of money to attend private schools already. This robs public school districts who are already struggling. Teachers deserve considerable raises and they need to continue getting a raise with every year of service! My 1st year teaching in 1996, I made $18,000 a year. That is below poverty level! Teachers have 4 year college degrees, and many have more advanced degrees! They are not paid enough for what they put up with. So many parents don't have kids to raise them to be productive members of society, they have kids to get a check! Free money so they don't have to work. These "parents" send their unruly children to school and expect teachers to do miracles! It is impossible to teach what we are supposed to teach and deal with undisciplined children. Teachers ARE NOT PAID ENOUGH!! I work in a school with many different types of children with disabilities such as autism, hearing impairment, dyslexia to mention a few. Private schools would not accept students with these disabilities yet, politicians are trying to entice parents with vouchers for private schools that won't accept their children and are not equipped to do so. Please remember without public schools, many children with potential will be put in to classrooms with too many students, not enough supplies and an over worked teacher. DO BETTER! Vouchers DO NOT alleviate the problems we need to be addressed! Politicians should not take money from the poor and give to the rich! The voucher amount is not enough for people to move their children to private school. Vouchers would only impair public schools and teachers even more that we already are! I am a teacher who wants to teach students to read. I continue to have Dyslexic students added to my classes because there are not enough Dyslexia Therapists for the number of students being diagnosed with Dyslexia. Please put the money towards something worth while! Make Public schools better!

Amy Brown
Self
Smithville, TX

HB3 Testimony Template – Herb Krasner

In your statements today and previously, you have consistently pushed the possible positive effects of this universal ESA program – without a single mention of the downsides.

Experiences in the other states has shown that Universal ESA voucher programs fail to achieve improving educational outcomes for students. In fact, research shows vouchers have substantial negative effects on academic achievement: For example: Studies in Louisiana, Indiana, and Ohio found that students who attended private schools using vouchers performed worse than similar peers in public schools. These negative effects persisted over years, meaning they were not a temporary result of students' transition to a new school.

Studies of voucher programs in Washington, D.C., and Alabama found no significant improvement in student test scores. Vouchers fail to deliver even on non-academic measures. Parents do not report greater satisfaction with schools, nor a greater sense of safety, with the use of vouchers.

Indiana's program has been described as the poster child for the segregating effects of vouchers

Claims that vouchers improve academic performance are simply false

Furthermore, vouchers harm under-resourced rural public schools and their communities, with no benefit to those rural students who cannot find any private schools.

Voucher programs drain millions of dollars from public sources but are subject to virtually no public accountability—a fraction of the requirements imposed on public schools. Unregulated, unaccountable voucher programs are a waste of taxpayer dollars.

It has also been shown in the other states that:

Vouchers are more expensive than public schooling

Vouchers shift education expenses to the parents

Vouchers subsidize private education for students who would not otherwise have attended a public school

Voucher programs do not change the fixed costs in public schools

Vouchers cost taxpayers money to subsidize private education – often for the more wealthy

Vouchers create new subpar education vendors to suck up the increased demand for profit sake

Question:

What makes you think that none of that will happen here in Texas starting next year???

Patricia Smith
self
ROUND ROCK, TX

As a retired educator, I am vehemently opposed to HB 3. I am so confused about how intelligent men/women can look at the data from other states who have done a version of this plan, and still support it. Funding this bill (or ones like it) and gutting public education (you know it will eventually happen) is not the way to leveling the playing field. Please do your research and get out of thinking that "Texas will do it better.". Abbott is not your boss. We the people are and I am confident that the majority of people in this state can see through the smoke. If nothing else, put it on a ballot and see what your constituents think. Thank you- Patricia Smith, voter.

Mary Miller, Mrs
Teachers, Students, Public
Gause, TX

As a constituent of governor Greg Abbott and a veteran Republican teacher in a rural community, please LISTEN to us and VOTE NO TO VOUCHERS and NO to school choice and NO to family first.

Teachers IN the trenches in public school classrooms put CHILDREN first and all families in Texas currently have a choice; public funds shouldn't pay for private education. Release the funds and redirect the payments from testing to support public education. Say NO to VOUCHERS!

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Miller

Lauren Gutterman, Dr.
self/professor
Austin, TX

I am a parent of two students in the Austin Independent School District. I am asking you to vote no on HB3.

Our public schools are vital to our children's learning and the strength of our local community. Taxpayers should not have to subsidize private schools for wealthy parents. Even with vouchers, that vast majority of Texans could not afford to send their children to private schools. Furthermore, we have seen in other states how private schools simply increase their tuition after voucher laws have been passed. Our tax money is meant to go to fund public schools that serve everyone, not private schools that can choose whether or not to accept students based on race, religion, or disability among other characteristics. Why should I have to fund private schools that might discriminate against my children for being multi-racial or having gay parents?

We have already seen how similar legislation in other states has drained public funding from schools among other public services. Arizona, for example, where lawmakers passed a voucher bill in 2022, witnessed a more than 1 billion dollar budget shortfall in 2024. Like so many other Texas parents across the state, I am asking you not to take away public resources from our children. Once taken away, this funding will not be returned to our public education system. All children deserve an education, not merely those whose parents can afford to pay for private schools.

Steve Rowe self; development
Arlington, TX

It is time for Texas to join the dozens of other states who have prioritized the education of its children over the interests of teachers unions and the entrenched public school system. Though my children are not likely to benefit from ESAs themselves, it is incumbent on all of us to create a system that produces an educated population. The status quo is not sufficient, as reports show educational outcomes far below where they should be. ESAs will have the effect of introducing competition into the system, which will cause outcomes across the board to improve. They are not a panacea, but neither is perennial increased funding of the public school system.

I myself attended Texas public schools and private schools. I am not anti-public schools by any means. In fact, even when ESAs are implemented, most people will continue to send their children to public schools. The currently-proposed appropriation will impact less than 1% of all school-age children in the state. But it will impact 100% of the public school districts as they will no longer have a monopoly on options for most parents.

In my years of following this issue, one thing is clear about those who oppose ESAs--they view them as a threat to the status quo. They are not wrong. But the truth is, the status quo is failing far too many Texas children. It's time to do something about it.

Allyson Lannom
Self Speech language Pathologist
Fort worth, TX

Lack of funding for our public schools is already a serious issue. There is not enough staff to support the students. Especially those who have special needs. The demands on teachers and staff are unrealistic which is leading to many leaving the profession. "School choice" is simply encouraging private school to those who need a little help to do so. Low income students whose parents rely on transportation from the district will not get to benefit from this "choice". The populations that require more early education, interventions, access to special education will now be underfunded.

Carol Bryant
Retired educator
Cypress, TX

Say NO to this bill. Vouchers and ESAs are not in the best interest of public schools or Texas taxpayers. You have a Constitutional duty to fully fund the public schools of the state. Funds should not go for private educations which do not meet the same criteria or standards required of public schools. You have shortchanged public schools long enough.

Cyndi Norris, Mrs
Self
Canyon, TX

No public money for private education!!! ALL of Texas' children need to be served and that won't happen in private schools. Plus, private schools Donny want the scrutiny public schools get. Do what is RIGHT and vote down this bill!!!

Vikki Deloach, Ms.
Self
El Paso, TX

How does this benefit ALL children? My main concern is how this adversely affects public schools. HB 3, is structured to be advantageous for affluent families. Please be transparent on the effects on those struggling socioeconomically. This is not about ALL children.

Carlos Gutierrez, Mr.
Self
El Paso, TX

My family and I are strongly opposed to school vouchers. There are far too many people getting rich by constantly skimming money off of the government. As we've seen in the news recently, we need to avoid government waste and make it more efficient. Vouchers take this in the wrong direction. The only people that win in the privatization of education are CEOs and owners. Students, teachers, and classrooms do not see the extra money spent per student. Please do your job by representing your constituents by opposing the governor's voucher scheme. Thank you for your time and we appreciate you looking out for your people.

CELIA SAIZ-BROUSSARD
BROWNSVILLE EDUCATORS STAND TOGETHER
Brownsville, TX

No to vouchers!!

Kristin Bingham, Mrs.

Self

Lubbock, TX

Education savings accounts are bad for Texas students and for Texas educators. The impact of this bill to TRS will devastate the program. Texas students deserve fully funded public education and that is what our tax dollars are intended for. Parents that want to send their children to private school have that choice now. As a conservative I do not support subsidizing programs that are not the governments to govern - we don't do this with healthcare or business, why would we do this for education? And to only benefit a select few 100,000 students? With no guarantees that funds will go to families that need them? Families making $500,000 do not NEED government subsidies and this is a clear violation of conservative principles. I urge you to vote NO on this bill as it is a clear expansion of government. Instead, keep that $1 billion in PUBLIC education, pay our teachers what they deserve without strings attached, replace the STAAR test, and INVEST in Texas students to move us out of 44th in the nation. Consider policies that have made other state education systems top 10, and let's try those instead. Unfortunately, public education has been an active experiment since the early 1990s. Let's stop experimenting on our kids. Instead let's teach them to be great thinkers, ready for any career they choose to pursue. Thank you for your consideration.

Jenn Vermeulen

Self

Dallas, TX

As a homeschooling parent, I opposed the back door expansion of government into private education through an ESA program. Regardless of whether my family "opts in" or not, we - and all homeschooling families - will suffer the economic impact this inflationary policy will have on the cost of tuition, programming and educational materials. I encourage Representative Meyer to reject this and all other bills attempting to expand the government's involvement or interests in non-public education.

Marissa Stewart

self

Hutto, TX

I am writing to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose House Bill 3 in Texas. I am a public school teacher in Texas and this system will defund public education hurting our students, families, and schools.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down House Bill 3, which diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools.

Say NO to vouchers that use tax dollars to fund the tuition at exclusive private schools.

Julia Backus

Public Education

Waxahachie, TX

Perhaps you have misread the map or looked at the wrong demographic line but public education is a pipeline to a better future for millions of Texans and a way to bypass prison or poverty. When should a gift of this magnitude be revoked and money from hard working Texans be given to those seeking private education when it's already earmarked for public education??? That doesn't seem quite right...especially when the money offered is just a drop compared to what is needed for a reputable private school. First, not every child/family will have access to private schools...hence review your map. And if they do, do you think everyone will qualify for a public school??? No! And if they do for a year (because of the 10k), they can be asked to leave just as quickly! Next, think of the economic engines public schools provide for communities! Your communities! The neighborhoods where your family and friends reside. The same people who elected you to represent them! In many small towns, teachers and administrators are the most sought after commodities for employment and are treated in high regards. It's only our government/governor who have made it criminal to be a teacher! This large voting body put you in office and by golly, they can get you out! Do what you were asked to do. Be our voices when we can't speak! REPRESENT!!!

Jim Wunderlich, Mr

Self

Dallas, TX

This bill is just a very slick way to send public tax dollars to wealthy parents who already have their students enrolled in very expensive private schools. $10000 is more than is provided to public schools to educate each child. To be fair the voucher program must be limited to that same amount that public schools get per child.

Sincerely,

Jim Wunderlich

Marissa Stewart

self

Hutto, TX

I am demanding the committee vote NO on HB3. Vouchers will harm public education in Texas by taking away money from public schools and funneling it to private schools that aren't held to the same accountability standards by the state. Parents in Texas ALREADY have school choice as many districts offer open enrollment, there are charter schools, and parents can also choose to send their children to private schools. Public tax dollars should NOT fund private education. Please show your support for public education, Texas students, and teachers by voting NO on HB3.

Pat Stevens

AFT

Fort Worth, TX

Plz vote AGAINST school vouchers-that is a vote FOR our struggling and underfunded public schools in Texas

Barbara Foley, Ms

Self

Cedar Hill, TX

Please don't take much needed funds from Texas' public schools. They haven't gotten any funding since 2019 and school districts in Texas are failing to the point of having to loose important programs, equipment and resources for the public schools. Please don't rob the poor to give to the rich.

Stephanie Burns

Self, higher education

College Station, TX

This bill will only end up benefiting children who come from means. Public schools are for all students, and choosing to go to school somewhere else is right but should not be paid for by the people of Texas.

Edward Sills, Mr.

Self. Retired.

Austin, TX

I'm against HB 3 as an abrogation of the state's constitutional duties toward the public school system, as a regressive move toward privatization that will mainly enrich wealthier Texans, and as taxpayer support for schools that completely lack accountability. I would add that under this bill, we can expect private schools to raise tuition dramatically to claim a share of the voucher bounty, undermining any notion of "parental choice" (which already exists anyway). To do otherwise would be business malpractice. Please vote no on HB 3.

Patricia Yeargain

Self - Retired

Austin, TX

HB 3 is a travesty to your constituents. It offers a chance, not a choice because private schools will have the choice, not parents. Private schools are not required to accept every child and most do not offer special education services. Private schools are not held accountable by standardized testing or required curricula as are public schools. There are 155 counties with no private schools. Since many private schools will be parochial schools, public funding of these schools creates conflict with the Constitutional separation of church and state. Lastly, there will be very little oversight of the schools accepting these vouchers. Please do not send HB 3 forward.

Jacalyn Dielmann

self

Austin, TX

I am very opposed to vouchers as a retired public school teacher. They ONLY benefit the already rich!!! Shame on Texas for promoting this scam!!!

Jill Burk, Dr.

Self - retired teacher

Stephenville, TX

I strongly oppose vouchers. Public funds should go to public schools. Vouchers are welfare for the wealthy. Private schools can admit only the students they want and have no academic or financial accountability. Worst of all, this effort is funded and pushed by billionaires outside of Texas who want to discredit public schools and see them fail.

Ashley Culverhouse

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed school voucher program. While I understand the intention behind such programs may be to provide families with more choices in education, I believe that school vouchers are ultimately harmful to our public education system and could result in negative consequences for students, teachers, and communities.

First, school vouchers divert critical funds from public schools, which serve the majority of students in our community. Public schools are the backbone of our education system, and reducing their funding undermines their ability to provide quality education, particularly for students who rely on these resources the most. In turn, this could exacerbate inequality and make it more difficult for public schools to meet the needs of all students.

Second, school vouchers often lack the oversight necessary to ensure that private institutions adhere to the same standards of accountability and equity that public schools are held to. Without proper regulation, vouchers could funnel public money into schools that do not provide the same level of education, inclusivity, or support for all students, particularly those with special needs or from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Finally, I believe that our focus should be on strengthening our public schools, not undermining them. By investing in public education—providing teachers with better resources, supporting students with the tools they need to succeed, and improving facilities—we can create an education system that works for everyone, rather than furthering division between different types of schools.

I urge you to reconsider the proposed voucher program and instead focus on supporting our public schools so that every student has the opportunity to receive a high-quality education, regardless of their background or where they live.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to your response and hope that we can work together to strengthen our public education system.

Jason Duckworth

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Jose Cardoza

myself

Pharr, TX

The implementation of school voucher programs threatens the educational equity and opportunities of our most vulnerable student populations, particularly those in Title I schools and special education programs. As advocates for public education, we must strongly oppose the diversion of public funds to private and charter schools through voucher programs, which undermine the fundamental mission of our public school system: to provide every child, regardless of socioeconomic status or ability, with a high-quality education. Harmful Consequences for Special Education Students

Students receiving special education services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) are particularly at risk when voucher programs are introduced. Public schools are legally required to provide a Free Appropriate Public Education (FAPE) to students with disabilities, ensuring they receive individualized supports, specialized instruction, and related services necessary for their success.

Private and charter schools that receive voucher funding are not held to the same legal requirements as public schools, often failing to:

Provide specialized services, such as speech therapy, occupational therapy, and behavioral supports.

Employ trained and certified special education professionals.

Develop and implement Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) that meet students' unique needs.

Accommodate all students, as many private institutions reserve the right to deny admission based on disability status.

By funneling public funds into private schools that are not obligated to support special education students adequately, voucher programs create an inequitable system where students with disabilities are left behind, ultimately weakening the promise of IDEA and the rights of every child to receive an appropriate education.

Scott Hinze, Mr

Self

Aledo, TX

I reject school vouchers and the defunding of our public education. This country is getting stupider and stupider and we need to invest in ALL the kids and their current public schools which need higher paying teachers and smaller classrooms. Vouchers for private schools will just inflate their market-driven prices - what's to stop them?

Emily Chandler

Self

Kilgore, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3. As our elected officials you have each been chosen by Texans to represent OUR beliefs and be OUR voice in the legislature. In the almost 24 hours of testimony I observed yesterday it is clear that the talking points and rhetoric that many of the committee members and members of the Republican Party have utilized when they are unable to give a real answer to a real question from a REAL Texan are not consistent with the voices of their constituents.

It is time to do your job that you were elected to do and listen to the people who voted for you. Gregg Abbott is not your constituent, PACs from the Northeast are not your constituents. Your constituents live in Texas.

I have been a life long Republican, but I am bitterly disappointed by all of the lies and bullying that I have seen from this party that have directly targeted our educators.

Thank you to Hinajosa, Talarico, Bryant and others who have come prepared with factual evidence. It's abundantly clear who on the committee truly cares enough about public education and who has taken the time to do research and have real conversations so that they can truly understand the impacts of HB 3.

Lisa Cantrell

Self

Austin, TX

Elected officials,

I know the needs of individual students varies greatly, and of course, there are some individual cases where a private school may be a better fit for that student. This bill, however, will affect ALL Texas students. This bill does NOT serve to enhance the education of our students. Supporting public schools and funding them properly should be your number 1 goal.

As a parent of 2 public school students, daughter of a retired teacher, and friend of teachers, I encourage you to do what is best for our students and not special interest groups. Please vote NO HB 3!

Charles Jackson

Myself -Retired

Round Rock, TX

What happened to Republicans who are fiscally responsible and demand accountability with my tax dollars? Vote NO to ESAs, and vouchers (in case that bill is next). Vote NO to HB3!

Britta Hinze

Self, Realtor

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy for Texas taxpayers, and it will hurt Texas public schools.

Amy Mathews-Perez

Self

Waco, TX

This bill enables parental choice more than it supports students. If you believe in public education AT ALL, if you are committed to the education of the children of this state AT ALL, you will STOP this bill. I believe in parent choice but NOT at taxpayers expense's and I feel sure that the people that elected you feel the same way. Let parents that want their children to go to private school do that-ON THEIR OWN. It is NOT the taxpayers responsibility to create options for parents choice of education any more than it would be the taxpayers responsibility to create choice for private county club memberships. Trust parents to do what they want with what they have; if they don't have what they want then they'll figure out "the best path for their child" as you say. Let them. Neither you, the legislation nor the taxpayers are obligated to create choice. I want to believe that you support public education more than you are willing to acquiesce to pressure, influence or money. However, your actions do not exemplify this. At MINIMUM, set up a step-by-step implementation of this ESA. It is bewildering to me how you can claim to support public education and be willing to gut it at the same time. If there are funds available, direct them to public education first, set benchmarks & evaluate progress. If a fully-funded public education systems fails, THEN consider the reasons and how an ESA option that does NOT take funds from public education could work. Consider the bigger picture-a picture beyond your own words, beyond the words in this bill-a picture that includes the students, families and public ed. staff that will lose (funds, opportunities, consistency, jobs and more) because of this bill; a bill that is SO opposed, yet you are not willing to comprehend the input of those people. You may "listen" to testimonies, but if you truly comprehended the risks and negative impacts of this bill, you would stop it. Stop the rush if it, consider other options and be willing to pivot, reconsider and take the time to do the thing that best serves the majority: public education.

Sarah Ratliff

Self/Elementary Educator

Canyon, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed voucher system, which I believe will have detrimental effects on public education in our state. While the idea of providing parents with more educational choices may seem appealing, the reality is that vouchers will undermine public schools and fail to ensure equitable, high-quality education for all students.

First and foremost, the funding associated with vouchers is not equitable. Public schools are already underfunded, and diverting taxpayer dollars to private and charter schools through vouchers will only widen the gap between well-funded and under-resourced schools. Public schools serve all students regardless of background, ability, or need, while private institutions have the ability to selectively admit students. This inequity contradicts the fundamental principle of providing equal educational opportunities to every child in Texas.

Furthermore, private and charter schools that receive voucher funds are not held to the same level of state accountability as public schools. These schools are not required to follow the same curriculum standards, administer state assessments, or report on student outcomes in the same manner. Additionally, there is no guarantee that voucher-funded schools employ certified or degreed teachers, which raises serious concerns about the quality of education students may receive.

Moreover, private institutions are not obligated to accept students with disabilities or those requiring special education services. This lack of accountability and inclusivity leaves many vulnerable students behind while using public funds to support selective admission practices.

The public expects accountability and transparency when it comes to taxpayer dollars. Yet, under the voucher system, there is little assurance that the funds will be used to provide high-quality education. Without consistent oversight and accountability measures, we risk funding schools that do not meet the high standards we set for public education.

In conclusion, I urge the Texas House to reject the voucher system and instead invest in strengthening our public schools. Every child deserves access to a quality education, and public funds should be used to support public institutions that serve all students equitably and transparently.

Thank you for your time and the hours you put in to serve our great state.

Sincerely,

Sarah Ratliff

Doreen Martinez, Dr.

Self

Katy, TX

March 12, 2025

My name is Dr. Doreen Martinez, my address is 29106 Dove Lane, Katy, Texas and I am a public educator with 30+ years of experience as a teacher and an administrator and I am a product of public education. I work for Royal ISD as an elementary principa, and I am opposed to any type or form of a school voucher that will take away funds from public schools. The majority of our Texas children are in public schools. We educate every child who enters our schools, and we meet them where they are and prepare them for the next level. We need our public funds to educate our children and it's time to take a stand for public education. I am aware the Texas Legislature is considering HB 3 and I am absolutely opposed to implementing vouchers in Texas. As a native Texan, I am very proud of my public education. In fact, as a low income, at-risk, and highly mobile child growing up in Texas, I received a high quality education at all the various schools and districts I attended. In fact, my public education is what inspired me to become a history teacher. In 2015, I earned my doctorate and served as a principal at the elementary and secondary level. I am was an example of what can be achieved in Texas schools. I have dedicated my entire working career to helping children achieve academic goals. In addition, I support teachers from new to experienced increase their instructional practices so our students can master the taught and tested curriculum. Our Texas children deserve a high quality education from our public schools. The reality is the vouchers will not be able to cover the total cost of a private school, children in rural areas won't have access to private schools, and most of the money will go to the large cities in Texas. How does school vouchers ensure equitable access to all Texas children? It doesn't!

In fact, If a large voucher program is implemented in Royal ISD, it would drain...

$1,115,022 from our neighborhood school district to unaccountable private schools. That could mean the following:

- * As many as 20 fewer teachers for students.
- * 22,300 fewer library books.
- * A projected increase in student-teacher ratio of 6.69%.

I ask that you please stand up for our Texas public schools and vote NO on HB 3 and or any other type of bill that would take public funds from our Texas Schools.

Sincerely,

Dr. Doreen Martinez

Joyce & Bill Baker

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Between the two of us we have over 80 years teaching experience in both public and private schools. Each of us feel strongly that you should not pass HB 3! We believe strongly in the separation of "Church & State" and DO NOT want ANY of our tax payer dollars going to private or charter schools.

Beth Ishmael

Self, nurse practitioner

Fate, TX

I oppose HB3!

Nicholas Johnson, Retired Educator

Na

Lancaster, TX

I do not support this and this will be devastating to the education system of Texas and the students we serve. More money should be placed in the public schools for teacher pay, training and support for struggling students.

claudia blalock
self
fort worth, TX

I am opposed to the approval of school vouchers and support complete funding for public education. In many rural communities, the use of school vouchers would be pointless since only public education is available and the only option. I am a product of public schools and only want funding from Texas to be directed toward public school education.

Leslie Halleck
self
Dallas, TX

HB 3 the Voucher Bill: As a Texas resident, business owner, and tax payer I'm wholly against school vouchers. Taking our tax dollars meant to fund public schools, with access to education for all, against our will and handing them to parents (who are mostly already sending their kids to private schools) to spend on private and religious schools is tax fraud and theft. Texans do not want school vouchers. We want equal access for all kids to get a quality education and a separate of religion and state. My tax dollars should not be stolen to support a private religious school. If this is about choice, what about my choice as a tax payer with no children - should I get to choose not to pay property taxes that support schools at all because I don't use them? This bill is NOT about choice. It's about defunding the public school system in favor of religious indoctrination, racist segregation, dumbing down the entire population, and THEFT. Plain and simple. Oklahoma just published it's voucher study, and it's predominantly the WEALTHY benefiting from vouchers. This effort is egregious and transparent and you think the citizens of Texas don't know why Gov. Abbott pushing this, and the reaction from Texas residents and tax payers, he's sorely mistaken. This is not going to go well for you.

Shirley Hu
self, consultant
McAllen, TX

I oppose HB3, it is limits the quality of education for all by taking funding away from public schools. Public schools are already short of funds to pay teachers what the deserve. As a former teacher, I know how tough it is to be in front of the class day in day out, educating students of all abilities. All our children have the right to expect quality education. Charter schools here pick their students. Funding "school choice" is actually reducing choice for the community who do not fit the "target", example special needs students with physical or mental disabilities, they must go to public schools. HB3 will siphon off money for struggling rural and inner city public schools because their income from property taxes are lower. In those areas there are not other options. Please build up the current system stronger, rather than weaken it. . Our future depends on a well educated work force. Thank you for considering all our children.

Rachel Preston
Self, teacher
Austin, TX

Reject this bill. Keep public funds in public schools, and create a serious increase in public school funding so that Texas children have equitable access to high quality, fully funded public schools.
Stop starving the public school system of funds; it hurts our children and our future.

roel urbina
self
Houston, TX

No to privatizing public schools.

Debra Bonanno
Self-Retired Teachers
San Antonio, TX

I'm against the vouchers. It has the potential to make our public schools worse. These vouchers will only help the middle and upper class students. The handicapped and Title 1 students will suffer. Please get input from teachers before you pass this bill.

Abby Orrell
Self
Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS & NO TO HB3!!!!!!!

Sylvia Ostos
self community volunteer
Kerrville, TX

Public Education is too important to jeopardize it with vouchers that only help private schools and students already in private schools. Tax payers do not wish to support private schools. Increase the per student amount schools receive from the state by changing the formula based on student daily attendance to enrollment. This move would help all public schools finances. Vote against the false promises of Hb 3. NO VOUCHERS

Carla Cheshire
Self / Retired Educator 40 Years
Weatherford, TX

I am against HB 3 as it is written. Please vote against HB 3. Thank you!

Elizabeth Doyle
Self
Grapevine, TX

I disagree with using public money for private schools. Vouchers take money from public schools that are currently already underfunded. Schools that use vouchers are not held to the standards to which public schools are held. Public schools need more resources. Send your extra money to them. Vote no to vouchers!

Joy Casnovsky
Self
Elgin, TX

I'm a mother of a 4 year old. I'm opposed to using vouchers in our public school system. Private schools can pick and choose which students to serve, whereas public schools serve ALL children. Vouchers will take away funds from our public schools. Stop playing around with vouchers and fully fund Texas Public education. We have the funds, so it's not a matter of having the resources.

MacKenzie Ellis

Self

Amarillo, TX

If sweet Felicita wasn't able to persuade anyone to change their vote to "against" on this bill I am not sure if I'll be able to, but I figured I'd still give it a shot.

Hello, my name is MacKenzie and I live all the way in the Panhandle in Amarillo, TX so making it in person for this hearing wasn't in the cards for me. I work for Canyon ISD as a Student and Family Advocate for both Randall Jr. High and Randall High School.

Each week I sit in on a "behavior meeting" with colleagues as we discuss the behaviors and needs of our students (many of which are 504 or SPED), and every week as we brainstorm various ways to support these students we often hit roadblocks. Not because we don't have some great ideas, but because we don't have the resources/personnel.

For example, some of our students with a diagnosed emotional disturbance need more supervision during unstructured time such as transition periods between classes, lunch, during fire drills, etc. It would be best for them to have a 1-on-1 staff escort during these times. (And we have multiple students with this particular need I might add.) However, we don't have enough paraprofessionals to meet this need, so what ends up happening is Paraprofessional A rushed to take Kid B to their next class, then runs over to pick up Kid C from their class and then rush them to their next class before the bell rings. These are students that have supervision such as this written into their ARDs and BIPs.

Despite not being able to attend the hearing in person I was able to watch majority of it online. A common theme I heard people say in their testimonies that are "for" HB 3 was that with their private schools receiving ESA funds they could further meet the needs of their students... but so could our public schools!!

A while back my stepson broke his phone. We did not rush out and get him a new phone as a replacement because it was clear to us as parents he wasn't mature enough yet to handle the responsibility of having a new phone. Unfortunately, our legislators have broken our education system, and yet want the public to sign on to getting a replacement. It is for these reasons (and many more) I urge you to vote AGAINST HB3 and put funds towards fixing the school system we already have in place.

I'd also like to add, that I think having over 700 people sign up to speak on this bill (majority against) until 6:30am in and of itself speaks volumes to how much the people in our state do NOT want this bill. Thank you!

Lauren Worsham

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Valerie McCamish, Teacher

Self

Muleshoe, TX

Please vote no on vouchers!

Texas citizens do not want them. They are a scam. Only benefiting a few select people!! our students in Texas deserve better! Our teachers deserve a raise without any strings attached! Governor Abbott is pandering to his wealthy donors and pandering to his wealthy companies that support him!! Texas Citizens do not want vouchers!!

Ann Schwartz

Self

Round Rock, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3, which would take public dollars from our public schools and give them to private schools, who are not held to the same standards and are not required to provide the same educational services. This bill provides discounted private education for well off Texans while taking even more resources away from our struggling public schools. Parents with limited income may not have the transportation or access to choose private schools, and in rural areas (much of Texas), there will be no choice at all. Furthermore, our public schools are the heart of many of our rural communities, and they should be strengthened, not weakened. The push for "school choice" has nothing to do with choice or even quality education. It is political leaders paying off their big donors. This is not how democracy should work, and if this bill passes, it is our children and the vitality of our state that will suffer, even if it pleases a few billionaires and the politicians they bought.

Cornelia Murray

Self

Frisco, TX

HB3 Public Education

I'm totally opposed to tax payer money going to vouchers for non public school education. All of our tax payer money should be invested in the latest technology, facilities, teacher salaries for our public schools where the greatest number of students are educated. We need a highly educated population and that can best be achieved by investing our tax payer funds only in our public schools.

Larry Collmann, Mr.

Retired

Austin, TX

School vouchers for private schools is not necessary. Parents who choose private schools are now paying for them and should continue because it is their choice. the Government should not subsidise private schools. Instead additional funds should go to public shools who are required to teach all children not matter what their special needs might be. unless private shools are required to meet the same standars, no public funds should go to them.

If any public funds are allocated to private shools (which i oppose) they should get much less per student compared to public shools unless they meet all public school requirements.

Respectfully

Larry Collmann

Paul Ahrens
Kids R Kids Seven Lakes
Katy, TX

Child Care needs 3-4 year old Pre-K to be eligible for ESA's. The public school ISD's are destroying the child care industry, particularly in the larger markets. Our school are providing better education to the children but parents are choosing the ISD because they are FREE. The Katy ISD is taking children from our school ages 3-12 and are able to offer lower cost of free childcare because they are funded by the state. In addition my school pays Katy ISD annual property taxes. I am paying my biggest competitor to compete against me. Private childcare's are on the verge of extinction if they are not allowed to share in the ESA's and have school property taxes waived.

Laura Arena
Self
Kountze, TX

Please vote no! This will be terrible for public schools. Send that money to public schools!

Shannon HILL
Self
League City, TX

My personal issue with this bill besides cutting funding to Public Schools, is that this bill will give parents 10 times more money than what they contribute to public education. If you pay $1000 in school taxes the State will give you $9000 more, all paid for with your tax dollars. This is nothing more than Welfare for the Wealthy. This will hurt so many families and children.

Melinda Denton
self, teacher
San Antonio, TX

There are so many arguments against taking money away from our public schools and redirecting it to private schools. Texas public schools are already grossly underfunded. And we know from many other states who have tried vouchers that this will only make the situation worse and the primary beneficiaries are families who already have more resources and do not rely on the public school services as much.

And my main concern is this: LET US VOTE. This is going to affect all families in Texas. Let those families vote on this measure!! If you are so confident that this is what is best for Texas families, please let those families have a vote in how our tax dollars support education. Please do not pass this bill without giving us that opportunity!

Benjamin Hall
Self, Graphic Artist
Arlington, TX

I do not believe that public money should be given to private schools. The state of Texas should focus on raising public school teacher pay so that we have a strong middle class that can continue to compete in the future.

Rebecca Redwood
Self
Austin, TX

Please vote against SB2. A voucher system will hurt our public schools where most of Texas families send their children to school. Thank you for your vote NO on SB 2 for equal education for ALL Texas families

Michael Henry, Mr.

Self and business

Rockwall, TX

This is a complete travesty and terrible for the people of Texas. It will destroy the very public schools the state has handicapped and manipulated for decades. Fix our property tax code which is antiquated and fix our public schools. Then we can discuss “freedom” of school choice. Not putting this on the ballot for the public to decide is cowardly and not representative.

Keith Quinonez

Self

El Paso, TX

To the Texas Legislature

I am a Marine Corps veteran and have been a high school teacher in El Paso for the last 18 years. I’ve seen firsthand the dedication, sacrifice, and accountability that public school educators are held to every single day. This message isn’t about belittling private or charter schools — I respect any parent’s decision to do what they feel is best for their child’s education. What I take issue with is the uneven playing field created when private and charter schools receive public funds without being held to the same standards as public schools.

If taxpayer dollars are funding private and charter schools, then those schools should be required to follow the same rules, regulations, and curriculum set forth by the Texas Education Agency — just like public schools. Public schools are required to hire certified teachers, adhere to strict curriculum guidelines, and follow accountability measures that often seem designed to find flaws rather than highlight successes. Meanwhile, private and charter schools can hire whomever they want, teach whatever they want, and deny enrollment to whomever they want — all while cashing in on public dollars. How is that fair?

This isn’t about competition — it’s about fairness. If private and charter schools want public funds, they should have to play by the same rules. Hold us all to the same standards, require the same certified teachers, teach the same curriculum, and then let the chips fall where they may. Let’s truly see which system performs better when the playing field is level. If they don’t want to follow those rules, fine — they can remain private and operate however they like without public funding.

Public education is about serving all students, not just the ones who fit a certain mold. If we’re going to talk about choice, let’s make sure it’s a fair choice — for parents, for students, and for the educators working hard every day to make a difference.

I’m not asking for special treatment. I’m asking for equal treatment.

Terri Garcia

Sel

Cedar Park, TX

As a retired teacher I have seen how underfunded our public schools are. Passing vouchers will only take money from public schools when it is needed the most. Private school tuition is way beyond what ordinary parents can afford and the 10000 is basically a pay raise for the rich. Many districts have no private schools in their area. Please do not devastate our educational system in Texas to satisfy a few billionaires. Ease vote to actually help parents at a time when money is short and federal government has eliminated the dept of education. Texas is can use some help educating children but vouchers are not the answer

Staci Thomison
Georgetown ISD
Georgetown, TX

We adamantly OPPOSE Vouchers! Follow with 1 of these Taxpayer funds need to go to Public NOT Private Schools!
Our Public Schools have been neglected for 5 years - DO NOT send Public dollars to Private Schools.
We HAVE choice in our public schools right now! But the legislature is NOT funding CHOICE in public schools!
We voted you into office to represent US -- say NO to VOUCHERS!
State government has a constitutional responsibility to adequately fund public schools. Let's start doing that ! 5.5 million children are depending on it !

Aimee Duet
Self - Tax Accountant
Trophy Club, TX

Although I am against this ESA / voucher program, it appears to be moving forward with no real consideration for those against it. I would ask that you consider increasing the basic allotment for public schools to reach between $7500-$10,000, to be more in line with inflation and better support the public school system. I would also like to see greater accountability to the private schools receiving this state money. Public schools have a high Texas standard to meet when it comes to budgeting and testing. Lastly, this program should not be provided to those already attending private school, they have made the choice and can afford that choice. If this is for school choice, it should be provided to those who truly need financial assistance in making this school choice. Thank you for your consideration.

Libby Lauten
Self
Lucas, TX

I am commenting on HB 2 - specially raising the allotment by only $220. The allotment hasn't been raised since 2019 as you know, and this doesn't even cover cost of living inflation. The increase of 3% is just not enough - especially when education has such a surplus in this state. Consider raising the allotment to account for the insane inflation everyone has seen since Covid. Support the kids in these schools.

Christa Thompson Martin
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts in Texas. Taking money out of public education is not the way to close the gap. Vouchers do not provide equity and access.

Christopher Ruffin
Self/Client Representative
Austin, TX

This is an absolutely unwarranted and unwanted attack on equitable and reliable public education! This bill is meant to harm one of our most vulnerable communities: children! If you want to support schools fund teachers and public education. These vouchers are a shame! Shame on you!

Anna Kehde
Self
San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB3. I live in San Antonio, TX. My children are in the Alamo Heights School district. We are fortunate enough to have a district with lots of resources to support our school system. But even with a school foundation and high property values, our school district is suffering. Instead of focusing on the essential needs of our community and state, the governor and others in the TX legislature are focused on a give back to the wealthy and private schools. They talk about school choice but really this bill is a fraud. Look at every other state that has vouchers and you can see how it does nothing for college or job readiness and just bankrupts the state. Instead of passing vouchers, the House should focus on fully funding the students of this states, increase teacher pay and make TX a place where education is #1. Increase the student allotment to $1300.
Thank you.

Lily Andrus
Self
Highland Vlg, TX

Please prioritize school choice as it already exists in Texas! We chose to homeschool for a time, but our public schools offer so much more. For ALL children. This bill cannot pass before we fix public education!

Hannes Mandel, Dr.
self (Assistant Professor of Instruction)
Austin, TX

As parents, we are deeply concerned about the impact of HB3 on our schools, teachers, and, most importantly, our children. This bill does not address the real issues facing Texas education—it worsens them.

Our schools are already struggling with underfunding, teacher shortages, and increasing political interference in the classroom. Instead of providing the resources our kids need—like better teacher pay, mental health support, and smaller class sizes—HB3 diverts attention and funding away from real solutions. Our children deserve fully funded, high-quality public education, not legislation that prioritizes political agendas over their well-being.

We do not want our children’s education to become a battleground for partisan politics. We want them to learn in an environment where teachers feel supported, where curriculum is guided by experts—not politicians—and where schools have the funding necessary to help all students succeed. HB3 threatens that vision.

We urge lawmakers to listen to parents, educators, and communities: Invest in our public schools. Strengthen, don’t weaken, the foundation of education in Texas. Do the right thing and oppose HB3.

Sincerely,
Hannes Mandel

Barbara Didner
Self
Austin, TX

I urge you to vote no on the Voucher bill and protect our public schools. Use the money this bill would cost to increase the per student funding for public education.

Stephanie Spacek
Self
New Braunfels, TX

This bill does not benefit all students in Texas. Parents already have school choice options. School districts have processes in place to accept students from outside their designated zones or allow them to attend a different school within the district. I know this firsthand, as I've utilized these options for my own children. Additionally, parents can choose to homeschool, enroll their children in online schools, or pay for private schooling.

While not all schools are equal, public schools are held to standards that others are not. They are required to accept all students who live within their designated zones, unlike private, charter, and online schools, which can choose who to admit and retain. If a student in a private, charter, or online school does not meet the school's standards, they may be dropped, helping those schools maintain high-performance data. In contrast, public schools cannot deny or drop students, even if they are struggling academically.

What public schools need is more support—resources and funding—so we can effectively serve our entire student population. It's crucial to ensure that all students, regardless of background or academic ability, have access to the educational opportunities they deserve.

Thank you!

Donna Bandera
Self
Temple, TX

I have no children and pay my taxes and have no problem funding public education but do not agree with a voucher system to subsidize private schools. Vote no on HB3

Brenda Williams
Self
Whitewright, TX

Public schools served me, my children, my grandchildren and now my great grandchildren well. I live in a rural area and public schools will absolutely will be damaged by "school choice". Use the money for public schools especially rural public schools. My children's careers are dedicated to helping people. My granddaughter finished college with a masters in 4 years. She was well prepared for college due to her rural public schools. Another granddaughter finished with a bachelor's degree early. Supporting public education pays off. Giving tax breaks to people who choose another method of education is wrong it's their choice and they should pay for it. Public education should be publicly supported and private schools should be supported with private funds. I cannot see an upside to supporting private schools with public monies. I call on all of you to vote against the voucher system. It's not good for Texas.

Tara Barrett
Swlf
College Station, TX

The basis of this bill in several areas is unconstitutional and disregards what the public actually wants. If you truly believe the general public wants this then allow people to vote on it. Additionally, private schools are just that- private- and are not held to the same standards as public schools. Look at the data and see how many private schools are even available in rural areas. Look into the data amd see for yourself how many people would actually benefit. If this bill gets passed the general public will not give up fighting this bill because we are concerned about what's best for students. That's why we became educators.

Krystle Gervais

Self

Austin, TX

- Private schools are not required to accept poor or disabled students.
- Private, religious, and home schools are not accountable to the state.
- Studies of similar programs found that voucher money largely goes to students ALREADY in private schools.

Emilí Krantz

Self -Graduate Student Therapist Intern

Austin, TX

Dear Committee Members , I implore you to examine the impact public school vouchers have had on other cities. Time after time, they have failed. Vouchers are not a choice. They help only current families who are already paying for private schools and offer these wealthier families a discount on their private education. Families who are of lower financial status will not be able to afford the difference of private school tuition for 2-5 children. That is up to a total of $3,000 to $15,000 difference they will have to pay in the city of Austin for the least inexpensive middle schools. This voucher is not equal for the marginalized in our communities. Wealthier and higher test scoring students will be admitted into the private school system. And poorer students and those who meet 504 criteria will not. Currently, every year private schools DENY entry to children who need extra support. Time and time again these families are told that the private school they are trying to enroll their child in “is not equipped to serve” their child’s needs. I ask you, how will this change after vouchers? These families will be left behind in failing public schools that have been further stripped of funds, supports, and programming. Yet, the public schools test scores will be unfairly evaluated against that of the private schools making the private schools look better and will receive more funding. Please do not leave the most vulnerable children behind. The choice for a private school education is a family’s PRIVATE choice and should not be funded from PUBLIC monies. Thank you.

Anne FarleyCortez

Self / libraries, and instructional materials administrator

La Porte, TX

Absolutely, no to vouchers! Do not support this in any way shape or form! Please do not pass vouchers.

Elizabeth Watson

Self

Lacoste, TX

I oppose this.

Stormy Ravizza

Self

Uvalde, TX

Please do not pass school choice, our state should be a shining example of how well a public education system can run with everyone supporting our most precious and valuable resources, our children. Rural communities will again be left as an afterthought and our children will fall even further behind nationally. If there’s one issue someone, anyone should stand up for, it’s fairness for all children and supporting our schools.

Veronica Rasmussen

Self

Houston, TX

I respectfully ask my representatives in the Texas house & Senate to vote no on HB3. This bill will hurt rural communities and our urban public schools who are already struggling due to Gov Abbot's cruel withholding of crucial funds that are already owed. I do not want my tax dollars to support private schools who can select their students. I want my tax dollars to go to support arts in schools and special education students so that they get the extra supports they need. Thank you.

Dawn Dski

Teachers

San Benito, TX

No. Just NO !! Real school choice would be allowing parents to choose another PUBLIC school over their designated school for students to attend. Public tax $$ do NOT belong in private schools. If parents want to send their kids to private schools or homeschool, they have the freedom to do that already.

Dawn, public school teacher since 1985

Amanda Kington

Self

Pecos, TX

Tax dollars should benefit public education. There are so many areas of Texas that do not have any private or charter schools, yet funding is being taken from them. There is school choice already in play. Did you know there is also school choice available in public schools? There are so many different models of schools within public education. And even if it's a tradition pathway, there are great opportunities in these schools. The accountability system is broken within public ed. Funding should be by student allotment. Please do not take away funding and opportunities in our public school systems to save the rich money. Texans are relying on you to do what's best and right for our future and our kids. ESAs are not the way to go. Please reconsider.

Sharon LaDay

Self

Houston, TX

I regret I could not attend this morning's hearings, as it is Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo season in Houston and I have volunteer responsibilities that prevent my participation. As a former participant and beneficiary of the education technology industry, I appreciate the market opportunity this bill creates for the private education industry. However, the fundamentals of society that create as many equally competent people in that society, should not be monetized --or, privatized. Equally accessible education creates a stable democracy within the state of Texas. I hope that is your ultimate goal, as 158 out of 254 counties in Texas do not have a private school option.

Therefore, I ask that you vote NO on HB 3.

Thank you.

Barbara Green

Self, retired public school teacher

Pearland, TX

Please vote no on school voucher bill. Public funds should go to public schools. Public education is what makes America, and Texas, great.

Nicole Chartier

Self

Austin, TX

School choice for private school should not be funded by the state or take away from public education. Private school is personal choice parents can make. It should not be funded by the state like Public school. How can the state mandate rules for public schools but not offer funding. Example required to have full day pk but only get 1/2 day funding. It makes no sense.

Jamie Wood

Self

Ransom Canyon, TX

I strongly oppose all forms of school vouchers

Sonia Lopez

Self

Waco, TX

I am adamantly opposed to HB 3. I am a public school educator and I am terrified for my students if this bill passes. We already have teachers having to purchase their own supplies due to lack of funding. Public schools need more money not less. Our Texas babies have the abilities to be the top students in the nation and they need our support to do so. Don't punish children to reward the self interest of our governor.

John Settle

Myself

Sunnyvale, TX

School choice is one thing but vouchers is entirely different. Under no circumstances should the voucher bills go forward as written. A kid in private schools should not get more money than a kid in public school. Public schools are the backbone of our communities and should be supported

Christine Miller

Self

Leander, TX

While the state of Texas is making this decision, please consider that public schools are already suffering under the financial weight of caring for the vast many different needs of the children. We are in a time of unprecedented financial despair and teachers who are already paid low wages compared to other jobs are being let go because of shortfalls while the Texas government could provide relief and does not. School vouchers will only serve to provide an even greater chasm between the true needs of the children and the wealthy, since those institutions receiving thr vouchers have no obligation to take any child, regardless of their discipline, their extra needs, etc. they can pick and choose who they enroll, with little to no accountability to the state, while public schools get racked with all levels of accountability and must educate ALL students at what the government is proposing as a portion of what school vouchers provide.

This weighs heavily on the hearts of public educators and the many that are serviced and will continue to be serviced through public education. Instead of vouchers, why can the state of Texas not pour resources into the many public schools to create the very best environment of learning for our children, pay educators what they are worth and support them so that the profession does not continue to be a dying breed as people either choose to leave public education because of the lack of funding and lack of support or choose not to go into education at all. There's work to do Texas! And it's not through vouchers and elevating the wealthy and private institutions - it's in taking care of your public institutions and public servants and making Texas Public Education a stellar program that is available to ALL.

Annette Carter

Self

Fort Davis, TX

I am opposed to HB 3 and fully support public schools and good teacher pay being funded with public tax dollars. No private voucher program should exist in Texas.

James Zotzky

Self

Justin, TX

I strongly support this bill to assist homeschooling families.

Amy Matthews

Self

Denton, TX

My personal concerns over HB3 are the following;

1. The different levels of funding for ESAs and public school students. Ask yourself: why is there a difference in the value attributed to students in Texas?
2. The long-term plan seems to be also focused on making TRS (Teacher Retirement System) insolvent. When I started teaching over 20 years ago I was enrolled in this program and denied the option of Social Security. As a teacher nearing the end of their career in the next decade, I am terrified that everything that I have worked toward is a lie.
3. In the misinformation campaign Gov Abbott is trying to justify his ESAs as legitimate and not a handout by promising lower taxes. If the legislature wants to lower taxes, they should increase the state contribution to lower the burden on local taxpayers - this also would increase local control.

I am advocating on behalf of public education in the State of Texas. Schools in Texas, when compared to other states per student funding, are in the bottom five states - depending on the criteria. I am aware that the argument of spending shows that schools are funded more favorably, but that is really an indicator of the total number of students, and how widespread the influence is across the state. This increase also would not fully fund students at the same levels as 2019 when inflation is taken into consideration.

Just because teachers aren't protesting, speaking out, or striking doesn't mean they agree with this ridiculously low (not taking into account current inflation) increase in the per student allotment. Most teachers are intimidated or scared to speak out because we have been conditioned that way through rules that have put our certifications at risk.

The election was not a mandate on school choice. I feel that if this was sent back to the people in a referendum it would be overwhelmingly rejected.

Thank you for taking the time to read my appeal to create a truly bipartisan approach to serving the students and educators of Texas Public Schools.

Anne Mashek

Self

BELTON, TX

I am not in favor of vouchers. The vast majority of Texans do not want them, despite what Gov. Abbott says. I only know a handful of people who are in favor, and they already have their kids enrolled in private schools because parents already have the choice of where to enroll their children in Texas. This scam will take money from our already underfunded school districts. It affects our Teacher Retirement System.

I attended a small, private, church school from Pre-K through 5th grade. I attended public school from 6th - 12th grades, and both schools have their place. Both were excellent for me, and I went on to a Texas public university, graduated with a double major, and taught in Texas public schools. My parents did what was best for our family, and I carry that on for my family now. Last year we paid for our child to attend a public Pre-K program within my district. We weren't thrilled to have to pay, but we made it work for a year because we knew the value of education and how good the program was. We had a choice, and we chose to pay for that education. This year our child is doing very well in our local public elementary school within the same district.

Taxpayer money is for community and public services, not private businesses and organizations. Texas parents are already free to send their child to the best school for them, and they are free to pay for it themselves. My taxes are for my local public schools that are accredited, held accountable to high standards, and that educate every child within its boundaries. Our Texas public schools teach every child, no matter their learning level or special needs. Texas is a special place, and it's time we fully fund our next generation.

Jay Roberson

Myself

Austin, TX

Honorable Representatives....While HB3 has some restrictions on parental rights and limitations of freedoms of choice that parents and children deserve, please support it. As a father and grandfather in Travis County for 32 years, I have had children and grandchildren in public schools and private schools. Those in public schools have received a better core education (3 Rs), preparation (STEM and Lib Arts - Amer. Hist) and better attitude toward school and learning than those in public schools. I am the product of public schools. But the degree to which my children and grandchildren in public schools have been subjected to ideologies that differ from those timeless ones my parents taught me, what my teachers taught me, and what I taught them is troubling. While teaching is a very difficult profession which I respect because of limits on relative financial benefit and more restrictions on discipline, increasing testing and classroom size from what I experienced, I don't think core values and life skills that I find essential have been reinforced by public schools. They have at private schools. With generally lower proficiencies in reading, math and science in public schools, I believe my children have graduated with less skills than what I had. Competition would do public schools good by leveling the 'playing field' on education essentials that really matter to prepare youth for life and reducing costs through efficiencies for everyone. For a host of reasons (e.g., individual responsibility, quality of teachers, classroom size and distractions, discipline disruptions, safety, college prep, moral/ethical behaviors, , parental rights, etc) I support private school options for all Texas children. Fifty percent of my property taxes are essentially distributed to other public school districts for which I have no voting representation. I want more of what I pay going for education that I value. This is personal so arguments that my property taxes are used locally and across the state for education and ideologies that I find inadequate, is shameful and disgusting to me. Incidentally, if some form of school choice is not passed this session because it is blocked by 'conservative' leadership or in Calendar, I will make it my mission to help primary them. Thanks for your time.

Margaret Russell

Self

Austin, TX

Listen, if parents are unsatisfied with the trained public school teachers who are governed by certification requirements, trained by experienced professionals, teaching in settings with standards set by the state, they can request transfers to other public schools, attend a charter school or home school. But they need to forgo the public funding if they cannot follow the basic standards set in place by the state's education department. There is no accountability for these private schools or homeschoolers to assess how much learning happens while using my tax money on big screen tvs, trips to Disneyland. And why would these private schools get more per pupil than the state schools? Are you only working for the wealthy? School choice means the private school chooses. Do not be bought by the 2 billionaires from west Texas. This has been tried in other states and the outcome has been a subsidy for the wealthy with very few of the poorer students attending.

Andrew H

self, data analyst and concerned former Texas public school student.

Austin, TX

I am writing to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose House Bill 3 in Texas.

The language of this bill is misleading. The consequence of these education savings accounts would serve to subsidize the cost of exclusive private schools at the taxpayer's expense.

I communicate my concern as someone who values education, and I believe it to be a right that should be accessible to every Texan, regardless of family income. I am a proud result of Texas public schools -- they allowed me to attend the University of Texas at Austin, one of the best universities in the world, where I now work in Austin as a professional.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll. I do not want my tax dollars use in this way.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down House Bill 3, which diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools.

Say NO to vouchers that use tax dollars to fund the tuition at exclusive private schools. Instead, prioritize increasing the funding for public schools. Do your job, and do the right thing.

Jaime Townsend

Self

Katy, TX

I am AGAINST vouchers and do not want my tax dollars going towards funding them. I'm a product of private schools. My single mother didn't get handouts to pay my tuition. This is no different. TX could have world class education but instead we don't fully fund programs. We can't keep good teachers because we don't pay them enough. Stop the BS! No vouchers! No handouts! Fully fund public education!!

Amanda Brack, AISD parent

Public Schools

Austin, TX

I am a born and raised Texan. Please properly fund our public schools and say no to these education savings accounts. I'm also an AISD parent at a Title 1 elementary school. I have three young children and choose to keep them in public school despite being able to afford private or alternative options. My tax dollars pay for public schools, not for privately funded entities without the same standards placed on our public school system.

I remain disappointed in the state of Texas and the choices being made against the will of the people. You are our elected officials who are supposed to support us and our children. Public schools, which are the heart of our communities, are dying due to the policy choices being made by our state. Every child in our state deserves to have a high quality education but cannot with the excessive testing, lack of pay, and underfunding to your own public school system, the system to which you should provide for, watch over, and care; like your own child.

Vote NO to HB 3.

Jennifer Scull

Self

Houston, TX

I strongly believe this bill will destroy Texas public schools. Public education is a right, and everyone deserves to be treated equally. Paying relaxes into this system is for the greater good, not an individual return on investment. Please do not vote in favor of this bill

Sharan Davis
Self
FAIRFIELD, TX

Representatives,

My name is Sharan Davis and I have children/grandchildren in Texas Public Schools. I have been observing schools for years and see how important our local schools are for the well-being of my community.

I've been reading in my local paper and talking with teachers about all of the cuts that my local school is having to make because of budget deficits. Now I hear that you're wanting to give money away to private schools instead of funding public schools. Not a good idea. Most people I talk to think our taxpayer dollars should go to making our public schools strong. Please work on funding our public schools first before you consider giving away our public money to private schools. Please vote NO on HB3.

Sincerely, Sharan Davis

A taxpayer, grandparent, and public-school supporter

Spencer Wheelwright
Self
Georgetown, TX

Please vote no on school voucher bill.

Gregory Reininger
Self
Terrell Hills, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House Committee on Public Education,

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, which, in my view, risks defunding public schools and unfairly subsidizing private education for those who can already afford it. As a parent and taxpayer, I believe my tax dollars should support public schools, which are the heart of our communities.

This is not about "school choice"; it's about diverting resources from public schools to private institutions. The proposed allocation of thousands of dollars per student for private tuition will benefit wealthy families, not those who truly need help. Meanwhile, public schools—serving the majority of Texas children—will face even greater funding gaps. This only deepens the divide between the privileged few and the rest of us, undermining the opportunities of our children.

Texas prides itself on attracting talent, yet undermining public education will harm the future workforce. Public schools serve every child, regardless of background, and are essential for ensuring all children have the opportunity to succeed. The long-term consequences of this bill could be devastating to the very system that educates our next generation.

My wife and I recently moved into a highly-desired school district in anticipation of our oldest starting kindergarten this fall. We specifically sought out this district for its strong public schools, paying nearly double to stay in a similar-sized home. With the increased property taxes we now pay, I expect those funds to support our public schools—not be diverted elsewhere. We didn't make this investment for our schools to lose funding, teachers, and resources.

I urge you to reflect on the future of Texas and consider what's best for our children. Playing politics with their futures is not the solution. Taking resources from public schools—especially while teachers remain underpaid and resources are stretched thin—is shortsighted and wrong. Texas must invest in its students, teachers, and communities.

Please keep our tax dollars in public education, pay teachers fairly, and ensure all children have access to quality education in well-funded schools.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Gregory Reininger

Hans Graff
Self, Attorney
Houston, TX

Education Savings Accounts or education vouchers are bad policy. There is no accountability and everywhere they have been implemented, they have resulted in lower educational outcomes for students using vouchers. Texas needs to adequately fund public education and the voucher proponents need to stop spreading false information about public schools and public educators. This is nothing more than a billionaire policy with a carve-out for companies to administer the program which amounts to $50 million dollars or if the program proceeds, $200 million dollars. This program will primarily benefit families of students already in private school, as most states find about 80-90% of voucher recipients were already in private school. The 500% of the poverty line means it's an entitlement for the wealthy, at a time when we're cutting programs that serve the poorest and most vulnerable. The amount of money being proposed and the budget surplus to fund it will disappear when the economy turns, as it already appears to be doing. Then what? Then, you will cut public school budgets to fund vouchers, because you're not going to be able to get rid of them. This is not conservative. It's a give-away to the wealthy. The legislature cut the inflation adjusted equivalent of $8 billion dollars in 2011-2012 and budgets were beginning to recover, before the legislature failed to pass a school funding bill. I strongly urge you honor your oath to the Texas Constitution and make suitable provision for the free public schools of Texas. That does not include a subsidy for private schools. I strongly urge all members to vote no on school vouchers ESAs or whatever poll tested name you are calling them today.

Aly Busch
Self
Lubbock, TX

As a Texan I strongly oppose hb3. We need to be sending our money to public schools, not voucher programs for private schools. Many communities and cities here in Texas don't even have the option for private schools. It's unfair to ask us to fund private education for the few and not public schools for the many.

SANDRA LICON, Mrs.
Self
San Elizario, TX

I am a community member, and school board trustee for San Elizario ISD. I oppose vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. I humbly implore you to properly fund public education.

Chris Kimball, Taxpayer
Self
Hilltop Lakes, TX

I greatly oppose this Bill. It takes money away from public schools which will weaken their ability hire, pay competitive wages and retain highly qualified staff. The funds are not controlled and I as a taxpayer have great concern. I was a 52 year resident of Alaska and I have firsthand knowledge of funds going to home schooling being used for vacations, snow machines, hunting trips etc. My point is there is little or no control over ESV funds going to homeschooling, or private school. These funds are provided me the taxpayer. I see a long term, detrimental, affect to the TRS which will affect the lives of years of dedication by many professional educators. This bill is a bad idea and to put it bluntly, a money grab. I am Republican but I do not support my party, governor, and others regarding stealing public education funds.

Ydalia Guajardo

Self

Donna, TX

I am a homeschooling mom and am against school vouchers. Sure, it sounds nice to be given funds to go towards our children's education, but what will that require in return? Texas is a free homeschool state and I enjoy having the freedom of homeschooling my children as I see fit, without having to answer to anyone or take state tests. Free money is never Free. I do not want to have to be required to have my children's education be regulated and monitored by the government. Bringing up children in the way they should go is the responsibility of the parent, not the government. I am also concerned about those who have backed this bill by millions of dollars. They are the same people who are pushing the woke agenda. One reason I chose to homeschool is to protect the innocence of my children and let them be children.

Isabel Fricano

self

Leander, TX

I am writing to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose House Bill 3 in Texas.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down House Bill 3, which diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools.

Say NO to vouchers that use tax dollars to fund the tuition at exclusive private schools.

Joy Farmer

Self

Pearland, TX

I don't believe that school choice/vouchers will be beneficial to the majority of students in Texas. I believe taxpayer money should be used to improve public schools. Public schools and charter schools are not held to the same standard as public schools. I DO NOT SUPPORT SCHOOL VOUCHERS!

Jaclyn Scales

Self

Bridge City, TX

Simply put, public funds should never be used to fund private education in any form or fashion. It's disgusting to see the bureaucracy that has kept public education from being funded instead. That should be the real focus. Ensuring an educated public should be the MORAL thing to do.

Sarah Terrell
self retired
Houston, TX

I urge you to vote against the voucher bill HB 3 and in favor of real increases to funding for public education, such as an increase in the basic allotment and raising teacher and staff pay.

The voucher schemes in other states have proven to be budget busters, because there is no cap on the spending. The bill may have a cap for now, but Governor Abbott is advocating for no cap, and no limits on family income of the users of vouchers. If not this session, then next. This is fiscally irresponsible. Vouchers will spread out the students in a way that destroys the economies of scale that we enjoy with the public system. In total it will cost much more to educate the same number of students. All this so that Abbott can say the parents have "choice." It's not a business; it's a public good. We cannot afford to fund an infinite amount of "choice."

Not to mention all the other downsides, particularly that private and voucher-funded "choices" will not be held accountable to STAAR results the way public schools are. Not to mention that private and voucher-funded schools can discriminate against whomever they wish. This is a big transfer of taxpayer wealth from all of us to the richest parents and to private enterprises, including religious institutions. This is a fiscally irresponsible and bad idea for Texas.

Sarah Terrell

Alex Rodriguez, Coach
Self
Jacksboro, TX

No to vouchers

Bailey Hebert
Self, missions
Waco, TX

I am a Texan and I strongly oppose HB3 and I ask all representatives to oppose this bill in the vote. I care deeply about the public education system and want to be sure that funding allows the public schools to continue to do the good work they are doing.
Please vote no for HB3

Paula Overstreet
Self Public School High School Teacher
Kermit, TX

This bill is not going to benefit the majority of students in Texas. In fact, it will harm more than it will help. This bill sets aside funds for only 100,000 of the 5.84 MILLION students in Texas. That's less than 2%. For the 2024-2025 school year, Texas saw 12% of students already enrolled in Private Schools or Homeschool. That means 5,139,200 students in Texas will have funds diverted from them to assist 100,000 students who will primarily come from larger metropolitan areas. That doesn't seem fair. Especially considering that 62% of students already live in economically disadvantaged circumstances. Many of those in small, rural communities where there is no private school option. Most of these students live in households where both parents have to work to make ends meet if they're lucky enough to have both parents in the home. Many of the single-parent households have the parent working two jobs to keep the family afloat. To these families, home school is not an option. Who is going to be home to watch younger children during the day? These families rely on the schools to act as daycare for their children while they're at work. In my community, Kermit, the closest private school would be in Odessa. A 45-mile trip. With two parents working, who is going to make that 100-mile, round trip every day to take the kids to school and to pick them up? The gas cost alone would be more than most could afford. Is anyone going to help families cover that expense? Kermit isn't the only community whose private school option is a long drive. You will find those communities all across the state. Many will have only a religious school option that conflicts with their own beliefs. So how is this bill supposed to help? This bill also allows for those private schools to receive more funding per student than the public schools. As a teacher, this makes absolutely no sense. Private Schools are generally already better funded than public schools. They have fewer students as they have the freedom to pick and choose who comes through their doors. So they can pick the students whose parents have the deeper pockets. And they have a lot more freedom in the way they fundraise than public schools. So why would they receive a larger per-student payment? The result of HB3 passing is going to be fewer certified teachers in Texas public school classrooms. Districts across the state have already closed schools and laid off faculty and staff. This means remaining faculty will have larger classes with less help to manage them and less money to support them. We are already working with ridiculously small budgets and large classes as it is. Adding to that is going to drive more teachers away. The $220 more per student this would give us, is not nearly enough to do right by our students. Don't they deserve better? Or only the 100,000? This bill is just a giant middle finger to every public school teacher in Texas & tells us what the state leaders think of us, and our students.

Sandra Thompson, Mrs
Self
Beaumont, TX

Vote NO!!! Fund ublic schools!!!

MARANDA ROBINSON, MRS
SELF
LUFKIN, TX

This bill is not in the interest of the public and it is not in the interest of Texas children. Texans already have the choice of keeping their children in failing public schools, putting them in private/charter schools or homeschooling. This bill is only going to benefit vendors and special interest groups, and serve as a gateway to increased government regulation of private and home schools. Texans that care about Texas children do not want the government control that will come with this bill.

Mary Robson
Self
Bastrop, TX

I am a teacher formerly employed by the State of Texas. My daughter is a current teacher in the Public School System. I know that the legislature has repeatedly turned down teacher raises and has refused to use the stockpile of money being held for the support and betterment of public school education. Now you are proposing to further cut funding by diverting funds to families who choose private education for their children. Before you fund this extravagance, please take care of the teachers and students who deserve your support. I urge you to vote NO to funding education savings accounts.

Carol Lammers
Self Retired teacher
Dallas, TX

I am opposed to HB3! I taught 33 years in the public school system. We accomplished great things for all children when adequately funded. Tuition in private schools can be in excess of $24,000 a year. This savings account amount will not allow most parents to afford private schools. Once again the state is giving to the rich and taking from the poor. Most private schools do nothing to help children with learning differences. They do not even provide services for dyslexic students. This bill will ruin the public school system. Sitting on all these funds and depriving our schools of much needed money is appalling.

Mindy Loxterman, Mrs
Self/parent
Conroe, TX

I am a former public school teacher and proud parent of two public school students. I am also the product of public school. The destruction I see happening to public schools in Texas is a travesty. Currently, our schools in Conroe ISD are underfunded thanks to Gov Abbott. He withheld hundreds of thousands of dollars from our children and teachers. Now you are considering a bill that would go even further to cut money to public schools. Everyone deserves a great education not just the wealthy. That great education can be obtained from a fully funded public school. This bill will not create an equal playing field as suggested but rather a very unbalanced one where the wealthy families will receive even more help keeping their already properly funded schools funded. The students who cannot afford private schools will still not be able to nor will they be able to provide their own transportation to these schools. There are also not enough private schools to assist in this effort. I was in the classroom for 22 years. I bought my own supplies and supplies for my students when needed. Thus should have never happened if we were fully funded. Stop playing these games and do not pass the bill. Put the money back in public education where we work tirelessly to educate ALL students.

Carrie Guerrero
Self
CONROE, TX

I don't agree!!!!

Diana Candida
Self
Houston, TX

Please vote against vouchers. Instead, please fund public schools properly. Vouchers have been a failure everywhere they've been implemented, resulting not just in lower academic scores for children overall, but also for the large cost to taxpayers. States like Arizona have had to take money budgeted for other things to continue sustaining the voucher system. Texas cannot afford to support two sectors of education...no state can.

We already have school choice (my son goes to a dual language school that we are not zoned to). Subsidizing private schools where the schools have the choice of who gets to attend is taking away choice from parents...especially because public schools will have fewer resources and either provide a lower quality education, or be forced to shut down.

The people who profit from public schools are primarily the private school owners. The ones who suffer are children, Texas' economy and your taxpayers.

This is very unpopular and if you were to put it to the people to vote, both republican and democrat Texans would overwhelmingly vote no.

tge guardrail put in to offer this only to parents whose children are not in private schools already is not sufficient. At most schools the amount of the voucher won't cover the full tuition.

One other thing to consider is that many rural areas don't have private schools.

Please vote NO.

Brandon Benson

Self, electrician

Austin, TX

Texas would be worse off if this bill passes.

Penni Chaloux

Self, Communications Director

Murphy, TX

Regardless of what you call them, school vouchers siphon my taxes away from public schools without the accountability and transparency required of public schools. Accountability and transparency of how our taxes are spent is CRITICAL to your voters in Texas. We have voted AGAINST this already! STOP bringing it back for a vote. Texans do not want to subsidize private school for people who can already afford it. Texans want to PAY OUR TEACHERS and FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS so that we have a literate, educated community. NO TO VOUCHERS!!! NO TO THE ESA!!!

Larry Rickel

Self

Hutto, TX

I oppose HB3. My tax dollars should not be given to people so they can send their children to private schools. There already is school choice in TX. Vote no on this bill.

Rachel DiMasi

Self - LMSW

AUSTIN, TX

My name is Rachel DiMasi and I am the parent of two school aged children with special needs who are currently attending public school in RRISD. I am a native Texan and constituent currently residing in Williamson County in Austin, TX. I am writing today to urge the committee to vote NO on HB3.

I've watched the Governor attempt to force his vouchers on the citizens of Texas for years, and every attempt fails because Texans simply do not want vouchers. They take much-needed money from local neighborhood schools, schools who, despite assertions from the Governor, are grossly underfunded, and help only students whose parents can already afford private schools.

Private schools aren't required to accept all students, including those who need accommodations like my own children, and they are more likely to reject students who do need additional help. Vouchers are lauded as giving parents the "right to choose" while in fact, our family would lose our rights by moving our children from public to private school. This bill creates the illusion of choice but does absolutely nothing to guarantee that a parent's choice for their child will be fulfilled. This isn't even taking into account that out of 254 counties in Texas, 158 of them don't even have a private school. How is this parents' choice for children in those counties? What happens to their already struggling public schools when money is taken away to fund these vouchers?

It is also extremely concerning that a Pennsylvania billionaire appears to be funding this push for vouchers. What is his vested interest in our children's schools? Why should this non-Texan have such a huge say in how our schools are funded?

In short, I urge the committee to vote NO on HB3. Vouchers aren't right for Texas, and will only harm our children.

Dustee Knapp

Self

Lufkin, TX

I believe vouchers will be detrimental to the public school system, especially in my small town. I vote NO to vouchers. My local representative does not represent me or my constituents' feelings on this matter. In a small town where there are limited school choices to begin with, this only takes money away from our public school system and promotes the hiring of lesser qualified teachers while providing fewer and fewer services and programs to our students. Our students, who are trying desperately to "keep up" with the larger city offerings and programs but continue to have roadblocks put in their way, making it harder and harder to get ahead in life.

Casey Garcia

Self

Lubbock, TX

My kids attend wonderful public schools in Lubbock, TX via Lubbock ISD. I am sickened to see how far this scam has made it. I have the means to send my kids to private schools but choose not to, because I Want their world to be bigger. I want them to see people from all walks of life, and be educated on a global level. I fully support people having the choice to send their children to whatever school they wish, but I wholeheartedly do not support public funds being given to exclusive schools, not regulated by the state. We all know exactly what is going to happen here, these private schools are going to raise their tuition and still keep out the people they don't want in their schools. This is an absolute embarrassment to our state. Hear me when I say, I will remember who supported this scam, and they will not be receiving my vote.

Larry Oliver

self

College Station, TX

As a retired educator and father of two sons who are products of College Station ISD and Texas A&M, I implore the legislature to say NO to any voucher program. The data clearly shows that vouchers will siphon funds from already underfunded public schools and will especially harm students who because of lack of funds or location (esp rural schools) will be unable to participate in the program. Public tax dollars should NOT be used for private schools. Please vote NO on HB 3. Thank you for your attention.

Kari Walker

Self

Dallas, TX

I can not support this bill!

Anne Joseph

Self

Austin, TX

As a mother of an AISD kindergartener and child mental health therapist, I am vehemently opposed to vouchers. Public education is a constitutional right and vouchers would be taking away from the schools, teachers, and students. Please vote against this bill and support to fund public education in Texas!

Christine Payton

Self

Flower Mound, TX

Sec. 7. APPROPRIATIONS FOR SECTARIAN PURPOSES. No money shall be appropriated, or drawn from the Treasury for the benefit of any sect, or religious society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the State be appropriated for any such purposes.

(Feb. 15, 1876 .)

VOTE NO!

Rhonda Joyner, Gen Ed Teacher
Mansfield ISD
Grand Prairie, TX

Vouchers are the absolute worst option! I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas.

We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Aimee Almaraz
Self - chemical engineer
Odem, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability

Lisa Maldonado
Self
Hebbronville, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds should NOT go to private schools.

Carolyn Grygar
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Rolando Ramos

Self

Victoria, TX

Please do not pass this bill for the future of public education in the great state of Texas. Let us learn from other states that school vouchers negatively impact public schools, and cost much more than "experts" anticipate in the long run. Release the funds that have been withheld since the beginning of COVID. Our public educators are drowning as it is financially. These words are coming from a parent with two public school enrolled children, and a wife who works for a public school in Texas that would be greatly impacted by this bill if passed.

Lavinia Garcia, Ms.

Self-teacher

Austin, TX

I firmly stand against the establishment of an education savings account. I believe we first need to address the needs of public education.

Naomi Douglas

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose you diverting public funds to private schools. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that nearly every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want that in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Lisa Ingalls

self - retired

Lewisville, TX

I don't want my tax dollars funding anyone else's school choice. Parents have a choice now, if they want to use it. The ESA is a voucher program that only benefits people who are already able to send their children to a private school. It will not help families who can't afford private school because it won't pay for full tuition. Private schools won't have transportation and the families won't be able to afford the other costs associated with the private school. They won't take that kid who is a discipline problem. They won't take the special education kid. Even private school parents don't want this. When listed on the Republican primary ballot, it was a very broad statement about wanting school choice. Parents already have the ability to change schools within districts. They can already choose a charter school. They can already choose a private school. People who said yes to that statement didn't know the whole story- that it is taking money away from public schools and teacher retirement. I know, you say it doesn't. Sorry. I don't believe a word of it. Texas CAN'T AFFORD to FULLY FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS and pay for vouchers. The money will have to come from somewhere else -And it better not be my retirement. ESA will further segregate the children of Texas into the "haves" and "have nots". The ONLY reason this is being pushed is because the BILLIONAIRES WHO FUNDED LEGISLATORS ELECTIONS will make more billions by starting up schools or selling other products that are not needed. This is the epic sham where people who want to make money started rumors about public schools and have worked for years to take them down. I worked in Public Schools for 40 years. Nobody is indoctrinating kids. Nobody has time for that. Too many requirements of what they must teach. It's in the Texas Constitution - fully funded public schools. It's not in the constitution to pay for any other education. NO to HB 3. FULLY FUND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS that we have now! If they are funded, they will thrive!

Sean Fields
Self
Burleson, TX

Instead of giving wealthy families tuition from our taxpayers money why don't we ask them to help contribute a little more to our public schools funding? A chain is only as strong as its weakest link and the dying public school system is the only thing keeping us from having largely uneducated masses. Vouchers may allow a very small group of kids to go to private schools but the majority of its impact will be detrimental to kids who can't afford public schools even with a voucher. You can judge a society based off how it treats its most vulnerable members. Do better.

LeeAnne Grommesh
Self
Arlington, TX

I oppose education savings/voucher programs.

Christina Noser
Self
Austin, TX

I am strongly opposed to private school vouchers, and instead advocate for $1,300 per student funding to the members of the House Public Education Committee.

I want strong public schools in Texas. I don't want tax dollars going to private school vouchers.

It is obvious to me the majority of Texans do NOT support the vouchers and support their local public schools.

No private school vouchers.

Heather Odabashian
Self
AUSTIN, TX

My name is Heather Odabashian, I'm a homeowner in Austin and reside in the 78748 zip code. While I do not currently have children, I'm still very concerned about the state of our children's education today. I am opposed to HB3.

I am frustrated that this bill is being proposed for two distinct reasons: 1) This bill will cost me as a home owner more as it will raise my property taxes. Last year the state government refused to properly fund our public schools despite there being a budget surplus. This meant that our students were funded at about a $1,100 deficit per child within the AISD. This resulted in an estimated $80 million deficit to the total budget, in response our community voted to make up that gap via a tax increase, however despite the increase in funds, AISD still estimated about a $10 million deficit. This meant that I as the tax payer would pay out of pocket the same dollar twice for my local school district and it still would not cover the full cost of my community's education. This bill will likely increase the need to raise taxes further at an exponential rate.

Secondly, this bill is disappointingly unpatriotic. Public Education is an American invention. The first known public school in recorded history was the Boston Latin School which was founded in 1635. Additionally, our public school system was founded by Horace Mann in 1871. Public schools have been a shining beacon the United States has used to ensure all of its citizens have a bright and productive society. Our country has shared this invention as a diplomatic tool to strengthen our allies and support our global community. To turn our backs on public education is scornful and unamerican as it is one of the best and most impactful inventions to come out of the United States.

I would like to close with a reminder to our legislators on this committee- you have been elected with the sole purpose of representing your constituents wants and needs. You are a host for our voices and your opinions come as secondary. That is the responsibility you swore to uphold when taking office. Those that have called, written in or testified have taken time out of their personal and professional lives because this bill is so impactful to them. Please respect and listen to their needs. I say this on the behalf of my fellow constituents, you are welcome for our time and our votes. Vote no on HB3.

Virginia Ramirez

Self

Houston, TX

Reject it

Crystal Galvan, Mrs.

Texas for Parental Choice in Education

Weslaco, TX

Supporting the choice for parents in their child's education.

Jill Ephlin

Self

Rice, TX

All Texas children and parents deserve the opportunity at the best education! The only way to do that is to fully fund public schools.

NO TAXPAYER MONEY TO PRIVATE ENTITIES!

Do the most good for all by using taxpayer money to fully fund all public schools!!

Vance Ginn

Ginn Economic Consulting

Round Rock, TX

Please find my testimony here: <https://www.vanceginn.com/letpeopleprosper/testimony-before-the-texas-house-committee-on-public-education-on-hb-3-school-choice-bill>. Let me know if you have any questions.

Kari Richter

Self - teacher

Corsicana, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas.

We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Liz Scrogginthorpe

Self- Product Designer

RICHARDSON, TX

I am against the school voucher (education savings account) bill because it will gut our public schools and put our tax payer money into the hands of the wealthiest. It is a scam and we all know it. We will remember who was for this and vote them out!

Sara Sealy

Self

Mansfield, TX

Vote no on education savings accounts! FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS! It is stealing and unlawful!! Equal access to education!

Sue Schuelke

Self, retired public school educator

College Station, TX

The idea of vouchers is completely wrong! I do not agree with vouchers! You will be destroying public schools as they are not even fully funded!

Carla Wilson

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Christy Gonzales

Self

Spring, TX

If you were to actually ask a significant portion of parents with children in public schools, you would know we oppose school vouchers—fund public schools instead! If you truly believe vouchers have widespread support, put them on the ballot and let the voters decide. Ignoring your constituents now will have consequences at the polls.

Adriana Taylor, Dr

Self

Round Rock, TX

As a mother to 4 young boys, I am adamantly opposed to the passing of the school voucher program. I have 1 child in public school and 2 in a private school. Next year, I will have 2 in public school and 2 in private school. I believe that all children deserve a top notch education and by taking away money from public education, we will deprive many students of a good education. My paternal grandmother never got past a 3rd grade education in Thrall, Texas because her parents needed her to help pick cotton and they didn't see the value in a female attending school. Thankfully my parents valued education and they themselves were public school elementary teachers. My younger brother just left a decade of public high school math teaching for better pay in a totally unrelated field. How are we going to attract teachers if we can't give them better pay and how are we going to give them better pay if we take money from public schools. The voucher program is not an equitable solution. All of our kids deserve a good education, at the very least a basic level of education.

Carina Carreon-Reyes
Self and Registered Nurse
Austin, TX

Representatives of the public education committee, my kids have received so much support in term of 504 supports and evaluations which are of such benefit to them now and for their future. The uncertainty of such services being provided elsewhere is frightening. Even more worrisome if they will be offered at all at a private or charter school. Also, those schools can deny my child admission to their schools. How is that looking out for children? If students and their families will Be scrambling to find an education. I'd rather work to support public education than spend all This time trying to dismantle it.

Christen Powers
Self graphic designer
Justin, TX

We are strongly opposed to school vouchers. Please represent the best interest of all Texas children and save our public schools.

Caleb Backholm
Self -- Insurance Agent
Ft Worth, TX

I strongly support school choice for parents and hope this bill is passed. We need to stop discriminating against families that choose private schools, and instead give everyone the same access to constitutional government services. I do want to make sure no new conditions are placed on private schools or home schools, and I want this legislation to be expanded to include not just 100,000 students but every student in the state. It should all be funded out of the same education category, regardless of the school receiving the funds. Thank you!

Ellen Knapton, Mrs
Self, retired public school teacher
Pflugerville, TX

Vote no on HB 3. This bill has been made to financially support private schools and charter schools at the expense of funding for public school students. A majority of students in Texas attend public schools and deserve quality education that will allow them to be productive citizens in society. HB 3 will detrimentally impact these students education by limiting resources available for students, loss of quality educators, and negative impact decisions that districts will be forced to make to balance budgets with funding allocated from the State of Texas.

If leadership is set on school choice please look at options that are equitable to all students in Texas.

André Treiber
Self
Austin, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB 3 and all other attempts to create vouchers in Texas. Public dollars should not be going to private schools. Furthermore, the Texas Constitution requires that the State provides a quality public education to all children - a bar we have not even met, as the State continues to fail to pay its fair share of public school costs, burdening local taxpayers with growing property tax bills. How can we begin to create a coupon system that will further defund public schools and disproportionately help the wealthiest Texans if we haven't even met the bare minimum for the rest of our schoolchildren?

Norma Viegra
self
Pflugerville, TX

I oppose HB 3 related to vouchers. These vouchers are not available for all students. They are damaging to our public schools that serve all students. I am so dishearten by our Governor and his followers. They do not care about ALL Texas children. I have been in education for over 10 years, the disregard and lack of financial support for our schools is hurting our children and the dedicated staff members throughout the state.

Macon Blair
self
Austin, TX

School vouchers are an obvious SCAM that would only benefit wealthy people, who don't need the help, and penalize working families , families with special needs children, anyone who doesn't ALREADY attend a private school. Education in Texas is already an embarrassment and this would only serve to make it worse at the expense of the ordinary citizens while benefiting billionaires who want to privatize everything for ever more profit.

Jena Toich
Self
Flower Mound, TX

I urge you all to vote no on HB 3. Funding the voucher system is not needed. Instead, focus on funding public education

Karen Jacobs
Self
Dallas, TX

Education Savings account programs are NOT a conservative use of taxpayer funding. Private schools do not have to take any child that applies. Even worse - this bill gives private schools more funding per student than public schools. That is unacceptable.

Sara LeMar
Self, Science Educator
Austin, TX

To whom it may concern

As a resident ofAustin, Texas an educator at Cedar Park High School, I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Sara LeMar

Lani Caffey Teacher
Olney, TX

Trying to get your attention.

What happens to TRS? Will it be solvent?

Will private and homeschools be held to the same standard as public schools? I'd like to know how my tax dollars are being effectively and efficiently spent. Will we know that with the current bill?

Will we see an increase in funding per SPED student like the House bill mentions for vouchers?

Where is the evidence of improved student outcomes in state with vouchers? What happens to those left in public schools?

Dawn Gerstenberger
Self
Matagorda, TX

Please pass this bill. My husband and I are RETIRED and still paying student loans for one of our children who are grown and working.

Deanna Whittington
Self
Frisco, TX

Public education has been the stronghold of our family. I grew up attending public school, my dad taught in the public school, I taught in the public school and my child attends public school currently. We love it! However we are hating the negative impact private school families are having on our family. We have many private school friends who downgrade us for sending our children to public school. They are wealthy and do not need our support. My daughter's classroom, teacher and classmates need the support.

Cassandra Parish
Self
Wylie, TX

ABSOLUTELY NO to SB3 and HB3! This is a scourge on our state and nobody wants this. Every single constituency rejects this, has rejected it, and will be continue to reject it.

Tina Verma
Self, stay at home mom and PTA President
Frisco, TX

Please stand with Texas families, not special interests. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers! As a family who CAN afford private school, we choose the public education that Texas has always done better than anywhere else. Let's keep it that way. By providing great quality public education to everyone, we are lifting up our entire state for the better. Why stop that for nonsense vouchers?? Say YES to supporting Texas public education and the teachers who serve to create a better future for our children. NO VOUCHERS!!! We are also members of a private country club, where we pay a hefty fee to play golf and enjoy the facilities and community. What's next? Vouchers for people to join private country clubs? It makes no sense.

Marcie Rivera
PTSA
San Antonio, TX

/a

Cindy Stubbs
Self
Carrollton, TX

Please keeping funding for public schools fair and not giving more to private schools. Our children need the programs and resources provided by the public schools. Public education is the backbone of our society and if it goes away; I hate to think what could happen. I have always supported the Republican Party, but my I I'll not be able to support candidates who do not believe in public education and proper and fair funding for it. I am a retired school teacher of 32 years and I put so much of my own money into things-supplies, food, etc. for years. Please listen to the teachers and do what is right for so many students who cannot afford private school, even with a voucher. Keep the money in public education.

Kole Vedder
Self- Teacher
Meadow, TX

We do not want vouchers. We do not want "school choice" which is a deceptive tactic used to entice parents. School choice does not exist until private schools have to accept students within their district. We do not want taxpayer money going to the wealthy families already in private schools. Arizona is a great example of why not to pass this. What public schools want is the basic allotment to increase, which we've been told it will before. What we want is more funding in public schools. RAISE THE BASIC ALLOTMENT, DO NOT PASS VOUCHERS, DO NOT PASS SCHOOL CHOICE, PROTECT PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Jacy West
Self
Haskell, TX

This bill will hurt public education. I am for private schools; however, I feel that if you are seeking private schooling for your child, you should be able to afford it on your own. Public schools are already functioning on little income. We take any and all students. We do not "select" our students in public education. Please consider public education when voting for school vouchers. Do not hurt public education any more than it's already hurting.

Jordyn Combs
Birmingham Elementary PTA
Wylie, TX

We are saying NO TO VOUCHERS & NO TO SB3!!! The majority of kids are in public schools, we need to support these children so they can get the best education possible.

Margaret Ingle
Self
San Antonio, TX

I have seen it happen in Illinois when the private school ran up so many health violations rather than pay or correct they just handed it back to the school district mid term

Lauren Trayner
Self
Dallas, TX

Please keep money with our public schools, if you want to do right by Texas school children, let's strengthen the great schools we already have that serve our kids. There is no reason to fund private schools with these vouchers. They don't have room, they don't need it, and most people can't afford them even with the vouchers. The money would only go to pad the pockets of those wealthy who already attend private schools, no benefit to anyone who actually needs it.

Sandra Burnett
Self
Rosenberg, TX

Vote NO to school vouchers. That money should go only to public education.

Jae Nam
Texas AFT
Arlington, TX

I'm a public school teacher in Grand Prairie ISD and a proud member of Texas AFT. Vouchers will not help our public school students and will only benefit the private schools themselves and/or the wealthy enough families that are already sending their kids to private schools. We must take care of the majority of students and families in getting a good education with up to date funding. If legislators don't think public schools are adequate enough, they should try to make it better.

Mary Castillo
Self
Saginaw, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Lauren Douglas
Self
Austin, TX

School vouchers are terrible for Texas. Public schools, families and children with special needs with all suffer if this bill passes. NO SCHOOL VOUCHERS IN TEXAS.

Heather Cargin
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Jinna Lindemann Teachers
Cost, TX

No to vouchers!!!!

Crystal Escobar
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Brett Kippes
Self
Austin, TX

Please vote no

Kari Lynch
Self
Lewisville, TX

I vehemently disagree with this bill. Texans do not want eses. It will weaken the public school system and the retirement of teachers. We already have school choice. If you must pass this bill, you must fully fund public schools.

Steve Denison
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3. I strongly oppose private school vouchers.

Laure Owens
Retired Teachers
Spring Branch, TX
AGAINST HB3

Public school funding needs to increase. Do not send money to private schools when it only benefits wealthy families instead of the needy.

Brian Bloss, Mr
Self, teacher
Grapevine, TX

Brian Bloss
Against Teacher Self

To the House Public Education Committee, I want to thank you for having a full and open hearing on the issue of ESAs. After listening to the hearings, I am now more opposed than ever to this bill. This bill does not have the best interest of Texas students at heart at all.

The good news is that if you choose to show the value of public education by raising the public student per student allotment by 1,300 and pass public school funding first that would certainly be a good first step. Also it is a great idea to not try and pass a new entitlement program that will run up 13.25 billion in spending in the first 5 years as we are staring down a very real possibility of a recession.

After hearing the testimony here is more to add to my other points about why HB3 is a bad bill for Texas and should be thrown out.

First, the legislation does not limit who will qualify for ESAs. Yes there is a hierarchy of needs BUT that is dependent on how many of the lower income students can find and access a private school that will accept them.

Second, while there is not a member of this committee who would say they are opposed to public schools, voting for this legislation to create a marketing campaign to actively try and take students out of public schools will take funds away from public schools. Remember, if students are not in public schools that represent lost funds which eventually means lost teachers. Hearing proponents of the bill say that eventually there would be "savings" for the state and public schools by having students go to private schools reveals the true cynical nature of this bill, that teachers and students are an expense rather than a vital part of the future of Texas.

Fourth, after hearing yesterday's testimony it is clear the largest proponent outside of companies that will benefit from the execution of the bill is the Catholic schools. This again begs the question of how this is not a violation of the establishment clause when Catholic schools will be the primary winner.

Fifth and perhaps most glaring was the confirmation that the end result of this legislation is not going to be top quality education for all Texans. Instead it will be separate and unequal. Robert Enlow when questioned by members of the minority party admitted that depending on the model that is available for a family's financial means would determine the quality. He cited micro-schools as a major model that could take off in Texas.

Sixth: the representative of the Texas Association of Private Schools had a very interesting insight on "accountability". She said that the parents of private school students are the accountability. This is problematic and it shows that again this system will be separate and unequal as public schools will have to jump through more and more hoops to get ever dwindling dollars in the budget.

The future that awaits public schools should this pass is one with fewer funds, fewer teachers and larger classes.

Clint Glaesmann, Dr.

Self

Woodway, TX

Dear Members of the House Public Education Committee,

My name is Clint Glaesmann, and I proudly serve as the principal of Castleman Creek Elementary in Hewitt, Texas. I am submitting this testimony to express my deep concerns regarding the expansion of vouchers under HB3 and the detrimental impact they will have on our public schools and communities.

As it stands, Texas ranks in the bottom ten states in per-student public education funding. Our schools already struggle to provide essential resources, competitive salaries, and adequate support for students with diverse needs. Redirecting taxpayer dollars to private institutions that are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools will further drain the limited funding available to serve all children. The projected cost of vouchers is expected to balloon to $4 billion by 2030—an unsustainable financial burden when our public schools remain underfunded.

In my own school, Castleman Creek Elementary, we see firsthand the growing needs of our students. Our teachers work tirelessly to provide high-quality education, yet they face increasing class sizes, limited instructional resources, and rising costs for essential programs like special education and intervention services. Instead of funding an unproven voucher system that benefits a select few, we should be investing in the schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children.

Vouchers siphon money away from public schools, forcing districts like mine to make difficult decisions—whether to cut staff, reduce programming, or delay much-needed improvements. In our district, losing even a small percentage of funding would mean fewer intervention specialists, outdated technology, and fewer opportunities for students who rely on public education to break cycles of poverty and reach their full potential.

Public schools welcome all students, regardless of background, income, or ability. Private schools that receive voucher funding are not required to follow the same open-enrollment policies, leaving many families with no real choice at all. Instead of creating a system that favors a few at the expense of many, we should focus on strengthening our public education system, ensuring that every Texas child—regardless of zip code—has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to reject any expansion of vouchers under HB3 and instead prioritize fully funding our public schools. Texas cannot afford to gamble with the future of our children.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Ryan Cruz

Self, Teacher Extraordinaire

Frisco, TX

Public dollars belong in public schools. Please say no to ESA's. Or if you believe in your plan, put it on an general election ballot and let's find out. I've voted red for a long time, but I'm keeping receipts on this, as I know many republicans are. I'll vote blue until you're all replaced.

Amy Wright

Citizen, self

Austin, TX

Please vote no. I am a former math and Special Education teacher.

Andrea Parrish

Self

Abilene, TX

I strongly oppose school vouchers for Texas schools. Please vote against school choice and / or vouchers. Sending public funds to private schools is a misuse of our tax dollars. Most members of our community, even if given money in an education savings account, would still not be able to afford a private school. Even if they can somehow afford private school there is no guarantee a private school will accept them. Not to mention that private school is not even an option for most families in rural areas that have no private school in their area. Instead of sending education dollars to private schools, let's use that money to fund our public schools appropriately so they can function at the highest level. Taking money from failing and hurting schools is not a solution.

Joanna Guerrero

Self

Spring, TX

I am a homeschooling mom who doesn't support HB3. I left my career to homeschool my kids. There have been many sacrifices I have made to ensure they get the best education that is well suited for them. My desire is to continue to have choices in Texas. HB3 can do many negative things for our homeschooling community as a whole and those in private schools. How? By later implementing regulations on both. I've seen it happen over and over again in other states. Wyoming has recently given back their homeschool community their freedoms once again. When people say this won't hinder homeschoolers. Please consider how other states have. Also, Texas Homeschool Coalition does not speak for me as a Homeschooler. Please, be mindful of this, especially considering their view on homeschooler's support, because I do not and will not support this bill as a homeschooling mom.

Thank you for your time.

Carolyn Veillon

Self

Montgomery, TX

I am a parent grandparent and educator. Parents have always had school choice they have always had the right and should Moore be the number one advocate for their children. Setting up an account which incentivizes them monetarily to get their child to have a special education need is barbaric. Public schools already are under funded and I cannot believe that anybody with an education could fathom that providing public funds for a private school is a good idea. Help Texas school children by making public schools so extraordinary that there would not be a need for any further school choice.

John Escalante

Public School funding

San Antonio, TX

Our taxes have always been established to assist the greater good of a society. I support funding for public schools. I do not support funding for private school vouchers.

Megan Lanning

Self/children

Mansfield, TX

NO Vouchers for Texas. This will only hurt public education further and won't help the kids who truly need it. Please fully fund schools and increase teachers salaries.

Lisa Lasch
Self
Pflugerville, TX

As a former educator and as a Texas tax-payer, I am adamantly OPPOSED to HB 3. Across the country, vouchers (which are erroneously called education savings accounts in this bill) have destroyed state budgets. The cost of these programs has consistently been grossly underestimated. In 2024, Arizona's voucher program was estimated to cost $65 million, but the actual amount ballooned to $332 million (Grand Canyon Institute analysis). Projected 2025 costs rise to $429 million. Additionally, vouchers are touted to help economically distressed families pay for private school education, yet data shows that it is higher income families who overwhelmingly use vouchers. Aside from the fiscal irresponsibility of vouchers, the real victims are public school students. The Texas Legislature repeatedly fails to adequately fund public education and ranks 43rd in the country in per pupil spending (educationdata.org). It seems like the goal is to starve public education, then complain that public ed is failing. The over 5 million students being educated in Texas public schools DESERVE better. Vouchers benefit a shockingly small number of students, most of whom are ALREADY attending private schools, with little, if any, transparency, while depriving the vast majority of Texas children of the funding they need. I am adamantly and completely opposed to HB 3.

Louis Mascolo
Self
Kingwood, TX

Please do NOT pass any ESA OR VOUCHER bill. Support Public education with a larger allotments per student.

Paula Collins
Self
Angleton, TX
Opposite

Robert Allen
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose school vouchers. FULLY FUND our schools!

Margaret Telford
Self. Retired teacher
Grapevine, TX

Vouchers do not work as evidenced in states that currently have vouchers. Private schools can chose which students they want, few are equipped to support special needs students, students are not held accountable for learning since no state testing, teachers do not have to be certified, and private schools do not have to follow the state curriculum. Although the bill provides for funds for low income students, usually not enough to meet the cost, no transportation is provided as well as costs for uniforms and books. I am not against private schools since two of my grandchildren attended one with their parents paying; I am against my tax dollars going to support private schools to the detriment of public schools. Currently public schools are grossly underfunded which is not what the state constitution requires and this hurts the children of Texas as well as the future workforce.

Candice Ornes
Teachers
Garden Ridge, TX

I submitted this: I strongly oppose SB2 and HB3, which would divert public funds to private schools through education savings accounts. These bills threaten to undermine Texas' already underfunded public schools, taking away critical resources from the majority of students who rely on them.

Taxpayer dollars should be used to strengthen our public education system, ensuring every child has access to quality teachers, well-funded classrooms, and necessary support services, not subsidizing private institutions that lack accountability and can selectively admit students.

Rather than funneling money into a program that benefits a select few, Texas should focus on increasing teacher pay, improving school infrastructure, and expanding educational opportunities within public schools. Our priority should be to invest in the success of all Texas students, not just those who can afford private tuition.

I urge lawmakers to reject these voucher programs and instead commit to fully funding public education for every child in our state.

John Payne
Self
Wolfforth, TX

The Texas school voucher bill primarily harms lower-income families by diverting public education funds to private schools, which can reject students based on academic performance, behavior, or special needs. The vouchers often do not cover the full cost of tuition, leaving poorer families unable to afford quality private education while wealthier families benefit. Public schools, especially in rural areas with no private alternatives, face budget shortfalls, leading to larger class sizes, fewer resources, and diminished educational quality. Additionally, private schools receiving voucher funds lack the same oversight and accountability as public schools, potentially leading to misuse of funds and inconsistent educational standards. Rather than improving education for all, the bill disproportionately benefits wealthier families while weakening the public school system that serves the majority of Texas students. This is a bad idea that continues to be just as bad as it was last legislative session.

Shelby Zeka
Self
Houston, TX

WE DO NOT NEED VOUCHERS. This is going to completely destroy the public education system. If we want to do vouchers then make it an equal amount of money that will go towards those who choose public education. This is not for the best of Texas. Our people will continue to be uneducated and everything else will start to fall apart. SAY NO TO VOUCHERS.

Michelle Potter
Self, leadership development consultant
San Antonio, TX

HB3 gives schools the right to choose, not parents. Voucher schemes in other states have shown that 70% of the vouchers go to parents whose kids are already in private schools. So this is just a cash subsidy for wealthy families. It will take money away from the public schools and the students public schools serve. Additionally, for those kids who weren't in a private school already and who take the voucher, the research in other states shows that they suffer terrible academic outcomes. It's not the elite academies who take these kids. It will be the fly-by-night, just opened last week, don't know what they're doing private schools that will take this group of kids. Vote NO on vouchers. Vote NO on HB 3. Thank you.

Jeanne Mixon
Retired
Pflugerville, TX

Please do not pass the school voucher bill. My grandchildren's public school is woefully underfunded without enough teachers to get through some days. I volunteer in the library because the excellent librarian is so overburdened doing her own job and helping fill in where ever needed throughout the school. Please fully fund our public schools. Our kids deserve a good education. We cannot afford private school and do not want to go to charter schools which have lower qualifications for teachers. I vote in every election and I deserve better representation than this.

Seth Beaugh
Self, Grant Writer
Austin, TX

I am absolutely OPPOSED to this bill that would establish a school voucher program. My taxpayer dollars should not be allocated to fund some wealthy family's private education. Private education is called that for a reason; it is funded privately. Public funding should not go toward subsidizing private education like this. We've already seen that programs like this cost taxpayers and states a ton of money: <https://www.propublica.org/article/arizona-school-vouchers-budget-meltdown>

This will not even the playing field; it's just going to drive up property tax expenses, drive up wealth inequality even more, and make it even harder for those students who really need extra attention in their education to receive it. This is a terrible idea.

Lyn Stoll
Self/Retired
Lubbock, TX

Please vote against school vouchers and support public education for all children

Thomas Acebo
Self / teacher
Dallas, TX

Thus bill is wildly unpopular across party lines. It does nothing but take money away from the public schools and give it to wealthy families whose children already go to public schools. We've seen this in states where similar programs have been implemented. The few students who do transfer from public to private see sharp drops in academic achievement. Our public schools have never been fully funded. Try that first before giving money to private schools. Private schools have no public accountability, so they should not receive public funds. As a high school teacher at a public school, I have to meet standards set by the state and the district. Without those standards, this bill just opens the door to massive fraud. Best case scenario, if more students go into private schools, it will inevitably lead to increased property taxes. This bill is bad for students, bad for parents, bad for teachers, bad for tax payers, bad for Texas. It's a scam. Texans have already rejected it over and over for years. We shouldn't have to keep having this same argument.

Kristen Barron
Self — Executive Assistant
Lubbock, TX

First and foremost, I oppose HB 3. I have personally seen the benefits of a quality public education for my children, but this quality cannot continue for all public education students if the Texas Legislature does not fully fund it. Furthermore, I have a special needs child that would likely not be accepted by a private institution and needs a quality public education because he's worth that. It is not my responsibility as a taxpayer to fund students whose parent/guardian chooses a private school. Our school districts are operating at deficit budgets because the legislature is holding funds for HB 3. This must stop. Hear the voice of the people — fully fund public education and vote against HB 3.

Melanie Ewert

Self

Wylie, TX

We love our school, we love our teachers. Do not take funding away from public schools. These kids are our future and deserve a free quality education.

jodie maresh

Educational Diagnostician

Denison, TX

It is truly concerning that the governor of the great state of Texas, would be pushing an agenda that could potentially cripple public education in our state. To say you are giving "choice" to families is such a farce. This will benefit the few and the wealthy while undermining the majority and those who serve them. I watch as teachers daily work to educate our future while they are given more and more to do, while being given less resources to work with. Not to mention that our state has chosen to ignore how little our teachers are paid year after year after year. This bill will be, yet another strike against public education while certain students will benefit. How is that not discrimination in education? I plead with our government to end this insane notion that this bill gives families a choice when in reality it provides very few a choice, and in fact will benefit mainly those who are already paying for private school. Our governor should be ashamed of himself for holding funding and teacher pay raises hostage, in order to benefit himself and the wealthiest Texans while ignoring the vast majority of his constituents. Please, please do better for our current and future students.

Charity Saenz

Retired teachers

Coppell, TX

Please do not pass This bill. Support and fully fund public education. That is your responsibility.

Lizet Villagrana

Self

Austin, TX

I apposed education savings accounts and support public funds being used towards public education.

Misty Gajewski

Self

Rockwall, TX

I'm a grassroots conservative in District 33. I oppose this version of school choice.

Kolt Moreland

Self

Lubbock, TX

Here in west Texas there are no private schools, the families that choose that education for their children go to midland, Lubbock or Amarillo for it. It makes no sense for families in ralls or muleshoe to pay for private education they will never recieve. This bill must be for the metro plex or Houston, anyone with enough sense to get out of the rain can see this is idiotic.

Eric Tuzin
Self, Data Analyst
Dallas, TX

This effects of this bill on rural and urban districts will be catastrophic and will ultimately lead to an even weaker public school system in Texas. I do not want my tax dollars going to fund a religious school in any way shape or form. Keep the public's funds where they belong- with the public.

If a parent wants to send their child to private school that is their right but it should not come at the expense of the tax payer.

Alicia Servin
Self/social insurance specialist
Willow Park, TX

Public education is the backbone of our society. We have one of the top-rated public schools where I live. This isn't saying much as Texas is ranked 41st in America, but it was something that we considered heavily before choosing to raise our family here. If the education savings account program is established, it will be taking taxpayer funds from our public schools. Because the school district is so much better than the surrounding area, we accepted paying higher property taxes. Now the peace of mind that the school district provided us is at risk. Not only that, but we stand to pay higher property taxes if this program is implemented. The public schools will lose funding which will equate to fewer teachers and fewer resources for our children. Private schools will greatly benefit from this program, and they have no lack in funding as the wealthiest members of our community can already afford to pay tuition. They don't need the assistance from tax payers. Texans deserve to have quality education programs accessible to every child. Our education system is already under-funded, under-performing, and cannot survive another cut-back in funds. Please protect the future of Texas by investing in the education of all our children.

Vickie Morgan gipson
Human Resources
Arlington, TX

No vouchers! Fully fund our public schools so EVERY child is given the opportunity they deserve. Real Texans do NOT want this. Teachers and parents do not want this.

Frederick Case
self
San Marcos, TX

I am totally against the savings account program for Texas schoolchildren. Neither bill in the Legislature is appropriate. I am in favor of enhancing our public schools and making them stronger .I am not for passing bills that will largely benefit our more wealthy families at the expense of the average and below average income level families! Public education is the bedrock of our country and needs enhancement not ruination!

Bridget Milliman
Self
Mansfield, TX

I oppose distribution of public money to private education

Mariko Brunson

Self

McKinney, TX

We all want future generations to have access to a high-quality education. While we can agree on this shared goal, I urge you to vote no on HB3. Instead of allocating funds for vouchers that won't be accessible to all students in need, we should invest those resources back into Texas public schools.

Our students deserve reliable, dedicated teachers who are equipped with the materials, training, and facilities necessary to support their success. The very students prioritized for the education savings program would benefit more from well-funded public schools with the resources and accountability to meet their needs. Education savings accounts would only offset a portion of private school tuition for most schools in Texas, leaving many families still unable to afford the remaining costs.

Moreover, the rising "cost per student" statistics are misleading. School districts haven't seen an increase in per-student funding since 2018, despite ongoing inflation and growing demands on educators.

Now, more than ever, our students need your support. Please uphold your commitment as a public servant by directing funding to public schools — where it can make a meaningful impact for every student.

Mary Lynn Sloane

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Please vote against the education savings account program. A strong public school system benefits everyone in the community. It provides a strong workforce and elevates all levels of society.

Sophia LeBlanc, Ms

Self, Air Quality Scientist

Austin, TX

My name is Sophia LeBlanc and I live in Austin, TX. I oppose HB3 and any bill proposing school vouchers which take public taxpayer money and use it to fund private schools which are inaccessible, unaffordable, and do not provide support that many Texans desperately need. Moreover, I am concerned about the lack of accountability and transparency in how exactly public taxpayer money is used to fund these private institutions. The overwhelming majority of Texans attend public schools, and public schools are in desperate need of funding, support, and resources now more than ever. This bill would directly impact funding for public schools which millions of Texans need access to. Please consider the children and families who will be negatively impacted if this bill passes, as private schools overwhelmingly cater to the wealthiest of Texans, leaving the most underserved communities behind. Thank you.

Teresa Everhart

Texas parents

Palestine, TX

Texas doesn't want this. It doesn't improve education outcomes. I do not support HB3. I will remember this when it's time to vote!

Stephanie Gustafson

Self / teacher and musician

Houston, TX

I am shocked and horrified by the idea of tax dollars going to support schools that could deny anyone for any reason. Families with different religious ideas, kids with disabilities, etc. Of course it's fine if parents want to send their kids to private school, but we should not be funding that choice, particularly when there is NO PROVISION stating that there is a salary cap on who gets a school voucher. Families making $500,000 a year and already send their kids to private school do not need extra tuition incentives. This is a terrible bill that would greatly harm public schools, working class families, rural communities, kids with disabilities—the list goes on.

Tabitha Castellanos, Mrs.

Self/Teacher

Canadian, TX

I absolutely do NOT support the voucher program for pro choice. Texas is already 100% pro choice. Rural Texas and most of Texas do not have access to private schools. The only people who will benefit from this is the rich who already go to private schools. TEXAS and TEACHERS DO NOT SUPPORT THIS.

Deborah Clanton

Self

Farmers Branch, TX

This is not ok

Jeanie Newman

Teachers

Groveton, TX

Vouchers may help private schools but will hurt all small public schools

Carolyn Wrinkle

Self

Hutto, TX

I believe after all the hundreds of testimonies heard yesterday, the resounding answer of NO to VOUCHERS and YES to Public Education was spoken! As public servants and representatives of your constituents, do the right thing and listen as the people of our state have spoken! We don't give a poop about Abbott who no longer represents this great state but has merely become a boot licker to the orange one and his billionaire donors who do not even live here but merely want to line their pockets! Texans are done with this non-sense and will remember this vote and vote accordingly!

Clara Burns

Self, teacher

San Antonio, TX

The private school voucher program removes funding from our already underfunded schools. Private schools have the right to choose their student population, often leaving out students with 504 plans and IEPs. The funding allocated for vouchers reduces the amount of funding that can be used to provide training and services for these vulnerable student populations that are frequently left out of private schools.

As a teacher at a high economic disadvantage, free and reduced lunch school, my student will not benefit from HB 3.

Noah Ryan

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

C. H. Campbell

Grandparents for Children

Austin, TX

Private schools have the advantage of being smaller. Fund Public Education more and let them be smaller with human resources to be a warmer climate, creating a belongingness that is missing.

Shanley McLaughlin
self - school counselor
Austin, TX

Texas schools are woefully underfunded. Our classes are overcrowded. The teachers at my school are leaving in droves because of low pay. We have several positions unfilled and kids have to work online. School vouchers would just draw more funding away from our public schools which are doing the best they can, and a very good job, with very little money. School vouchers hurt public education and would hurt Texas families. Please don't vote for school vouchers!

Raynell Veltkamp
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Hindatu Mohammed
Self, veterinarian
Austin, TX

I urge a NO vote to this voucher bill which would have a devastating impact on our Texas public schools. Public, tax payer funds should go to our public schools, NOT to private schools that lack the accountability and oversight of our public schools. If we seek to improve the quality of public education, the answer is to increase the allotment, not take more money away from a system that needs our support.

Ervin Coonrod
Self
Austin, TX

I am in total opposition to the creation of a voucher system for school funding. Our public school system is suffering already and taking public funds away from it to help fund private schools is total nonsense and extremely unfair to the lower income families in the state and to small communities. On top of that any school receiving public money should be subject to the same rules and regulations that public schools must meet regarding enrollment and curriculum.

Rachael Cayton Barden
Self, school social worker
Austin, TX

Firstly, thank you for your service.

As a Texas school social worker, and a proud child of 2 amazing teachers, I want you to know that our state's public schools are extremely important to me, my family and my community. My daughter attends public school and my son actually attends a religious private school. However, I fervently disagree with vouchers and want nothing to do with defunding public schools.

To make sure that we have the public schools our children deserve, I ask you to support these measures immediately:

Increase funding for all Texas public schools this session using the basic allotment. The state needs to pay its fair share, not balance school budgets on the backs of local property taxpayers.

Revise school finance laws to provide fair and sufficient funding for all Texas students.

Say no to vouchers or similar schemes that would divert scarce public dollars to unaccountable private schools and programs.

Reduce the amount of time Texas students spend on high-stakes standardized testing. Tests should diagnose, not punish.

Reject the flawed A-F rating system for public schools.

Use positive, community-based solutions to support and improve struggling schools and students.

Texas students are our future, and their education is the most important public investment we can make. I hope you will agree with me by supporting these critical measures. I expect that you will make education a top priority. Thank you.

Robert Zamora

Self/Teacher

El Paso, TX

Please help those of us that have committed to educating tomorrow's leaders have a sustainable income. This can happen by increasing the Minimum Salary Schedule starting pay for educators to at least $45,000, and ensuring all teachers, librarians, counselors, nurses, and diagnosticians with at least 2 years experience receive a raise, all teachers with 5 or more years of experience receive a raise of at least $3000, and teachers with 10 or more years of experience receive a raise of at least $6000. While I do not oppose expanding the TIA, this should NOT be at the expense of these raises but rather through raises to the Small/Midsized Allotment and Basic Allotment. I also ask that you support raising the threshold to at least 40% of any increase to the Basic Allotment must fund educator pay increases.

Lee Livingston

self - Sr Director Procurement

Austin, TX

I'm saddened to see our state leadership allowing money to be pulled out of our public school system. I moved my family to Austin from Oregon in large part due to the quality of public education here. I believe school vouchers will erode that quality of education and hurt the taxpayers as a whole.

Kanani Mahelona

Self, Designer

Ft Worth, TX

We send our grandson, who lives with us, to a private school for children with learning differences. It's expensive due to its specialized programs and small class sizes, which are crucial to his success. However, we value the right of EVERY child to get a good education, regardless of family wealth. So we believe in paying our fair share of taxes to fund public schools so that ALL children receive the education they need.

I urge you to oppose HB 3 and prioritize adequate funding for public school children! Studies show voucher programs do not equate to improved academic outcomes. HB 3 is NOT a parent choice bill – This bill funds private school selectivity with public money. Texas families already have school choice. Public money demands public accountability—any school or entity receiving taxpayer dollars must meet the same standards, mandates, testing, and accountability requirements as public schools. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education, and Texans deserve a voice in this decision. I urge you to put the measure on a statewide ballot and let the people vote!

Lori Kerrigan

SELF

Austin, TX

We urge you to vote - NO. Texas public schools sever millions of children and it so disappointing to hear, watch, listen to District after District talk about budget cuts, being under funded and not having the proper resources to server the existing and current student body today. As a born and raised Texan, I urge you to listen to the families, parents, grandparents that are telling you we do not want this.

LaCota Rhodus, Sgt

Self Army Retired

Wylie, TX

I oppose hb3.

Private schools can be funded by the people who send their children there.

Janet Cullender

Self, I am a retired teacher

Canadian, TX

I oppose HB 3 and public education should fully and adequately be funded

Mackenzie Ulam

Self, Therapist

McKinney, TX

This will cost our state BILLIONS and only serve a few, with zero accountability. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. By providing great quality public education to everyone, we are lifting up our entire state for the better. Say YES to supporting Texas public education and the teachers who serve to create a better future for our children. NO VOUCHERS!!!

Abby Anderson

Self

Red Oak, TX

Against

Katie Sewell

Self

Dallas, TX

School vouchers hurt students with disabilities. Whether they are physical or intellectual, vouchers take money, accommodations, and choice away from these students. Private schools do not accept students with disabilities and even if they did, they don't have to adhere to IDEA or IEPs.

Johanna Hedges

Self, parent

Austin, TX

This bill will take away from the education of most Texas students by starving public education. Vote against this bill.

LaTaShaw Thomas

self

Allen, TX

Public funds should stay in public schools! Vouchers take away critical resources from our students, our teachers, and our classrooms, diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions with little accountability. HB3 threatens to undermine our public education system by prioritizing privatization over the needs of Texas students.

Let's stand up for strong, fully funded public schools—where every child, no matter their background, has access to a quality education. Say NO to vouchers and NO to HB3! ??????

#FundPublicSchools #NoToVouchers #NoToHB3 #SupportTeachers

Deb DeLeon

Self

Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS & NO TO SB3

Terri Curtis
Self/Texas PTA member
New Braunfels, TX

I am opposed to public funds being spent for private schools. The basic allotment for public schools needs to be increased to allow Texas to educate the children of Texas. A free Public education is essential for continuing to have an educated nation. Funds should be going to support the public school system. I do not want public funds to go to organizations that do not have to meet the same standards of education nor provide the same transparency as public schools. I do not want the state supporting organizations that can deny education to a child based upon disability. Currently private schools do not have to provide additional support services to students such as dyslexia services, occupational therapy, speech therapy, physician therapy services. They are also not required to provide any accommodations to help children be able to learn. The Texas government should be ensuring that all children are able to obtain a quality education even if they have learning difference. This is accomplished by fully funding public schools- not by taking money from public schools to give to private schools without the same standards as public schools. I am against the use of public tax funds to support educations savings plans. Please do not pass this bill.

Susan Carlisle
Wylie ISD teacher
Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS' & "NO TO HB3

Melissa Tyree
Dripping Springs
Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3. Please fund public education.

Natalie Krejci
Self
Shiner, TX

This bill does not help the public school system at all in Texas. In fact, the bill will continue to cripple public education. There will less funding and resources available to the public schools.

Jessica white
Self
Plano, TX

As a 3rd generation Texan I DONOT support this bill. Texas public school Parents are tired of being demonized and having resources meant for their children's schools held by Greg Abbott. My child's elementary school is closing because of this nonsense. Stop hurting Texas public school children in favor of a billionaires pet project.

Amanda Davis
Self
Coppell, TX

Texas has repeatedly said "no" to vouchers and ESAs. Please listen to us, your constituents and fellow Texans. WE DO NOT WANT THIS. We do not want to bankrupt our state to give welfare to the wealthy. Please vote NO on HB 3.

Kathy Hardman, Ms

Myself

Mt Pleasant, TX

I am against school vouchers! If you think it's so popular put it on the ballot and let Texas voter decide because I guarantee it will fail overwhelmingly. Stop cramming this down our throats! It will kill public education and for what? To give a hand out to wealthy parents who can already afford to send their children to private schools. I live in a rural county. There is no private school within 90 miles of here. NO to vouchers!

Twila Parker

Hartman Elementary

Jacksonville, TX

I oppose the school vouchers No to vouchers in SB 3

Prescilla Ambrose

Self, stay at home mother

Plano, TX

I do not support this bill. Government funds belong in public institutions and not private schools! Even if I had $10k for private school tuition from the government, I would never be able to afford the rest of the cost of yearly tuition which is always more than $10k. The reasoning given for this bill is a complete farce and should not be taken seriously by anyone who thinks about the logistics for more than a few seconds.

Cynthia Scott

Self-HS Teacher

Bay City, TX

As TX HS English/EB teacher with over 20+ years of experience, I'm writing to express my OPPOSITION to the voucher/ESA proposal. Right now, I teach in a county that has only one private school (a Catholic K-6 school) and therefore, ESAs will only serve to provide money to parents who already send their children to this very small school, while simultaneously draining funds that should be used to increase the per pupil allowance. The people of TX do not want this voucher program; you will only reveal yourself as beholden to special interest groups should you vote for this proposal. And, as someone who has voted in every election since I was 18, I guarantee you that I will not forget, neither will my teacher peers.

Emily Jelen

self

Dallas, TX

Please keep public funding with public schools. We live in our neighborhood because of the public school our children attend. We depend on programs like the 504 for help with our son, who has ADHD, but simply love the school for our daughter. Please keep supporting public schools by increasing spending to keep up with inflation, rather than support private schools, who can enlist the help of their alumni.

Rebecca Wrobel

Self; library programmer

North Richland Hills, TX

I would ask the House to prioritize funding public schools in our state before considering funding a voucher program. We currently lag the national average in school funding, often finding ourselves in the bottom ten states in per-student public education funding. Our students and their parents deserve to have the best public schools available to them. By moving to private school, if available locally, students may miss out on opportunities such as developing relationships with their neighboring peers and extracurriculars such as sports. Let's make public education the best it can possibly be in Texas, by supporting students and families where they are.

Heidi Schmidt

Self

Austin, TX

A free, inclusive, robust public education is part of what makes America great, right now! Manipulating the public with a voucher system will only create further divisions, with Christian-centric charter schools, “owned by, and subsidized by the taxpayers of Texas”. Privatization has only served to further separate the classes, and line the pockets of billionaires... Texas has the money to invest in its public schools, but has stingily and misguidedly pulled that funding, making school teachers scramble and make due, in an already high stress (responsibly teaching and guiding our Texas youth). I personally know two Texas public school teachers, who represent some of the hardest working, and most dedicated professionals around.

Please do not plant seeds that will only serve to further divide our already fragile social structures. Great Texans, and great Americans should all be on the “same team”. Let us build bridges, not walls.

That is what makes America great.

Thank you,

Heidi Schmidt

(Mother of Texas educated children, and a very concerned Texas citizen)

Lori Wilson

Self

Lewisville, TX

I support fully public education and absolutely oppose the establishment of any voucher system. Vouchers will only serve to undermine the public school system and harm our children, our communities and our future workforce.

Vanessa Jackson

Self - small business owner

New Braunfels, TX

There is nothing good about this bill for the vast majority of Texans who rely on public education because of socioeconomic circumstance or geographic location. It is damaging to the cost efficient ways parents know schools safe places for kids while parents are at work. We already half heartedly fund charters and public schools. Do not divert more funds into the pockets of Abbott’s donors. The math already shows how bad this will be for a system that is already heavily damaged due to how the state government chooses to improperly fund its schools.

In a political arena where there is great division, almost every agrees this is bad. Why won’t our elected legislators kill this bill once and for all. Pass legislation that prevents future attempts!

Lisa Healy

Self

Midlothian, TX

I am a big supporter of school choice and was very excited to have it supported financially by the state. With that said I am adamantly opposed to this bill. It adds more chains to a parents choice. It builds our state government which we should working to shrink. I would recommend keeping it simple by offering those wha want to participate receive a tax credit. Clean and simple. Thank you for your consideration.

Elizabeth Thompson

Self

Spring, TX

I do not agree with school vouchers. This bill is going to defund our public schools which will have lasting negative impacts on our students and communities.

Neisha Teer

self, Education Consultant

Pearland, TX

I do NOT support ANY bill that will use government funding for ANY private education. Public funding is for public education only. Private is considered private due to the nature of the funding being from private citizens. Allowing ANY government funding into private education is requiring government oversight which eliminates the "private" control which is desired. I see 2 options that would allow for more school choice for the citizens of Texas: 1) property tax exemption based on students enrolled in private education to allow families to spend their own money on their own choices or 2) overhauling the public education system to reflect the attributes in private education that bring better education results. If Texans need more opportunity to choose because public education is inferior, then hold public education to a higher standard! On top of that, multiple states and other countries have walked this government funding for free choice road only to cause irreparable harm to state budgets and therefore their constituents' pockets and/or irrevocably restructuring private education to the extent it is government controlled and restricted. Freedom of choice should NEVER end with less choices for our citizens. Government funding in private education will end in less choices: government funding will drive up the prices on facilities due to a larger buying power of some (those not accepting vouchers will be left with no choices due to limits in personal funding), it will drive the prices of curriculum up due to the larger buying power of vouchers yet hurt those who refuse vouchers by creating an inflation in curriculum pricing, and it will encourage the same money hungry profiteering found in many other industries. Education should not be controlled by those who care more about the bottom line than they do about quality, content, and accessibility to educate. Universities are a prime example of the elitist effect of government funding. Now they are too expensive for most to be able to afford without large debt and government loan forgiveness.

This bill will begin the movement of government dependency for all. That is not "freedom." It might not happen in the next few years, but history has proven it will come in time.

Vote NO to HB3 and any government funding in private education!

GURBEY DEMIRTURK, Mr.

Self-Educator

Richmond, TX

Dear Members of the Texas House Public Education Committee,

I strongly oppose using public funds for private school vouchers, which would divert critical resources from public schools. As a Director of Gifted and Talented (GT) programs serving 65+ public charter campuses in Texas, I see firsthand how state funding supports equitable, high-quality education. Vouchers would undermine public schools, harm students, and benefit private institutions that lack transparency and accountability.

Public Funds Should Serve All Students, Not Private Interests

Public schools are required to serve every child, including students with disabilities, English learners, and those needing additional support. Private schools do not have to accept all students and can pick their enrollment. Redirecting public money to private schools leaves the most vulnerable students behind.

Lack of Accountability & Transparency

Public schools follow state standards, testing, and financial oversight to ensure taxpayer dollars directly benefit students. Private schools receiving vouchers would not be held to the same standards, meaning public funds could support institutions with lower accountability and inconsistent educational quality.

Threat to GT & STEM Programs

Programs like GT education and STEM initiatives depend on state funding to provide advanced coursework, project-based learning, and enrichment opportunities. Vouchers would drain resources, limiting access to high-quality education for talented students in public schools. Instead of funding private institutions, Texas should expand innovative public school programs to benefit all students.

Rural & Low-Income Communities Will Suffer Most

Many rural and low-income families have no access to private schools. Even with vouchers, tuition and transportation costs make private education unrealistic. Removing funds from public schools disproportionately harms students in areas where public education is the only option.

Invest in Public Schools, Not Privatization

Governor Abbott's push for vouchers is not about "school choice"—it's about defunding public education. Texans overwhelmingly support strong public schools, and taxpayer money should be used to increase teacher salaries, improve classrooms, and expand student opportunities—not to subsidize private schools.

I urge you to vote NO on private school vouchers and stand with Texas public schools, students, and families.

Sincerely,

Laura Scogin
The People of Texas
Buda, TX

The integrity of this bill should be seriously questioned when the votes are here from Representatives only through threats and political attacks from Governor Abbott.

Beyond that, the people have spoken. The majority does not want vouchers yet a different narrative is being pushed to convince people that this is what the people want.

We already have school choice. As a student, I went to public and private school. As a parent, I homeschool my children. I decided that I wanted to be the primary influence on my children so we are currently completing our 15th year of homeschooling. Homeschoolers and private schoolers do not want vouchers because we don't want government oversight. And it would be wrong for the state to give families money and NOT keep them accountable. Public funds should stay for public education. Private funds for private education.

Please, don't be afraid to make the right choice. The integrity of our representative government is on the line. Governor Abbott shouldn't have this much power and by being afraid to vote against his wishes, you are giving him more power.

Katherine Moorehead
Self-Advanced Practice Nurse/Nurse Practitioner
Dallas, TX

I adamantly OPPOSE vouchers, and ask that you please vote against them.

Taxpayers do not want to subsidize already affluent families by giving them money to send their children to private schools. As currently proposed, the education savings accounts are primarily a tax break for people who are already in private school or can afford that option.

Private schools receiving public taxpayer dollars are highly vulnerable to fraud and abuse. Their governing boards, if they exist do not have to meet in public or disclose how funds are spent. Private schools do not have to meet financial standards and are not measured by the state's fiscal accountability system.

State-funded vouchers will take needed dollars from public schools. Vouchers take dollars from public schools that are already underfunded. Every dollar sent to a private or home school cannot be invested in public schools. Voucher advocates say funding schools and funding vouchers are separate, but in Texas, where "funding follows the student," public schools will lose needed funding as millions of dollars are siphoned to unaccountable private institutions.

Furthermore, the real problem with "school choice" is the creation of yet another education system (traditional public schools and charter schools already exist) that allows students to fall through the cracks. When we fragment the public school system, we create more opportunity for inequity without making any real gains.

Catherine Parsons
Rice Military
Houston, TX

I'm a registered Republican. I have studied and followed the pros and cons for the voucher program. And I am 100% convinced that this plan is nothing but a transfer of wealth to the people already paying for private schools. Public monies should NEVER be used to pay for private school education. This is completely unacceptable. Public schools can be so much better if they were properly funded. Texas ranks near the bottom of states in regards to school funding. This too is unacceptable. Teachers in public schools are dedicated professionals and deserve far more support than they currently received. Furthermore, we all know that private schools don't have to offer any programs for special needs students, students that need extra help, students that don't have transportation, etc. Seeing Christian Nationalist billionaires like Tim Dunn and Farris Wilks PLUS out of state donors like Jeff Yass to sit down. Texas does not deserve to be turned into a theocracy. There absolutely needs to be a separation of church and state. DO THE RIGHT THING. STAND UP TO ABBOTT. BE A CHAMPION FOR WHAT IS RIGHT. VOTE NO TO VOUCHERS.

Shawn Mason

Self, Retired public school superintendent

Wolfforth, TX, TX

Rural school districts comprise about half of all the school districts in Texas (631). The average number of rural districts in the other 49 states is 133. Texas rural public schools provide an education for approximately 900,000 students. This is by far the most in the nation, and second place is not close. Most, if not all of the rural school students in Texas do not have access to a private school.

This bill provides no benefit for approximately half of the school districts in Texas, or the 900,000 students that attend these schools. The students who attend our rural schools tend to be more diverse and come from families that have a lower income than their urban counterparts, the very students that this bill is designed to benefit.

Elyse Longoria

Self

Buda, TX

I strongly oppose this bill! Support public schools for the good of all Texas. Please do not give our public funds to private schools.

Jan Clay

Self

Woodway, TX

Our town of 150k has 8 private schools which are filled. Vouchers will just make the tuition go up or more come out of the woodwork when we have wonderful public school options in our city of Waco/Woodway/Hewitt. Put money into those public schools and the teachers helping our children's futures instead of the schools already filled who can currently afford the tuition. Say NO to vouchers, this would just pad the pockets of people who are ALREADY sending their kids to the private schools. Invest in the STATE schools!

Rhonda Jackson, Mrs

Self

Magnolia, TX

As a homeschooling family we are opposed to this bill, the requirements of being a retired teacher, and other red tape to open a qualified schooling organization, or using ESA funds to pay for private school is not benefiting most Texans. This bill should not pass, public schools are against it, homeschoolers are against it, parents with kids in public schools are against it, who is it really benefitting?

Mary-Katherine Arias

Self

Lubbock, TX

My name is Mary-Katherine Arias, and I am a public school librarian from Lubbock, Texas. I am writing to strongly urge you to oppose any efforts to implement school voucher programs in our state. As both an educator and the parent of a public school student, I see firsthand the critical role that public schools play in shaping the future of our children and our communities.

Voucher programs threaten to divert much-needed taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools and into private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability or accessibility. Public schools serve all students, regardless of ability, socioeconomic status, or background, while private schools can pick and choose who they accept. By siphoning funds away from public education, vouchers would further strain resources for students who need them most—particularly those in rural and low-income communities.

Texas public schools are already struggling with teacher shortages, outdated materials, and inadequate funding. Instead of funneling public money into private schools that are not required to serve students with disabilities or follow state-mandated curriculum standards, we should be investing in improving the schools that educate the vast majority of Texas children. Our teachers need better pay, our schools need more support, and our students deserve a fully funded education system that sets them up for success.

As a librarian, I work every day to ensure that students have access to books, technology, and opportunities to develop a lifelong love of learning. As a parent, I want my child—and all children—to have access to a strong, well-supported public education. Vouchers do nothing but weaken our public school system and widen educational inequities.

I urge you to stand with Texas students, families, and educators by opposing any voucher programs that take funding away from our public schools. Please invest in strengthening our education system instead of undermining it.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Brian Weldon

AFSCME 1624

Austin, TX

Opposed - taxpayer money should not be funneled to a completely unaccountable series of private entities masquerading as education services providers. This money should be used in an accountable public education system.

Fabiola Sanchez

Self

Buda, TX

I in no way support school choice or the use of public funds for private (for profit) institutions.

Wendy Kilmer

self, communications director in higher education

Abilene, TX

I strongly oppose the voucher program. I support funding our public schools instead of offering state dollars to private schools. A quality education should be available to all Texas children, and the best way to do that is to fully fund public schools where there is accountability, needed support programs, and easy access to good schools in the local area, regardless of location. Private schools are not intended to be for everyone, and we need to focus state dollars on public education that IS designed for all children.

Zoheb Hassanali

Self

Fort Worth, TX

To whom it may concern,

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the “bought”? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill, and you all will be voted out if you vote yes on this scam.

Jenny Henson

self and our future children

Nacogdoches, TX

This will hurt our public schools. These are the kids that will be helping to take care of us. We need all children educated. Please vote NO on HB 3

Kendall Bay

Self

Spring, TX

Say NO! Not only will it hurt our schools, but our home values in the process! Rather than damaging our public schools, make reforms to improve them! Add funds, add perks! Do better.

Tara Hrbacek

Self

Carrollton, TX

I am opposed to any sort of ESA or voucher program. It is not fiscally responsible to place tax dollars into educational institutions that have no accountability to the taxpayers on how that money is spent.

Brittnay Richard

Public school

Arlington, TX

The idea of this “school choice” has been shot down in Texas for many years. The people do not want it. Stop forcing it on us. It has proven to be very detrimental to public education in other states. Just stop with your childish hissy fit and release the money for public education so that OUR CHILDREN get the education they deserve. This is about the children. It is not about lining the pockets of your rich donors!!!!

Jay Raman
Self
HOUSTON, TX

This will destroy public education and private schools can choose to not accept kids, discriminate , or raise tuition. Arizona budget is getting blown because vouchers is destroying financial checks because schools increase fees, then voucher will follow.

For kids on special needs programs, kids who lack transportation , etc ; these vouchers could leave them with no options.

Every modern western counterpart is working to provide greater access to education for all and on multiple levels.

Ashleigh Lawrence
Self/Clerk
Lake Jackson, TX

I do not support HB 3. Public tax dollars should not be sent to private institutions.

Emily Barry
Self
Austin, TX

I am opposed to money collected for public schools going to vouchers. The current administration has not properly funded public schools for years. This appears to be a calculated effort to weaken and destroy our public school system. Vouchers are the first step toward the privatization of our school system, which would be a catastrophe for our students and our state. Republicans and democrats agree that vouchers are not the solution and would be another obstacle created by this administration designed to weaken our public schools. Texan families already have school choice, we do not want vouchers. Thank you.

Meredith Gardner self -- non-profit employee
Round Rock, TX

I am against HB and putting public dollars towards private schools. I have five children, four of whom are old enough to attend public schools. They have received a great education in Texas but their district is currently facing a large budget deficit and is cutting programs and staff. Please do not support this bill, which will further draw resources away from the state. This is not conservative, and it will likely not actually help those who need it most.

Brenda Bell
Retired
Austin, TX

I am a 79-year old native Texan. I live in Austin now but attended public school all 12 years in Colorado City. My kids went to public school in TX and now so do my grandkids. This bill will cripple public schools all over the state but especially in little hometowns like mine. HB 3 is NOT an emergency - the real emergency is adequate funding of our short-changed public school system. Texas is a rich state. We can afford to increase the per student allotment by $1300 before even talking about tuition subsidies for families whose kids are already in private school. Because they can afford it. Private school vouchers have proven disastrous to state budgets in Arizona and elsewhere. Stop this madness and do your job for the greater good. Take care of the five million students in Texas PUBLIC schools first.

Kimberlee Rowan

Self/Lvn mom

Lubbock, TX

I am completely and adamantly against vouchers. First it will affect my child school as you are forcing the state into private school which is one of the many reasons I choose to send my child to a private school. If I wanted my child in public education I would send him to a public school. Second it takes money away from the public school and the teachers that desperately need it. If you truly wanted the public opinion you would put it to a vote! But you know it will not pass. We the people don't want this but you don't seem to care. I voted for you but I can promise if you pass this you will not get my vote again. NO SCHOOL VOUCHERS!!

Melissa Cobb

Self

McKinney, TX

I do not support universal vouchers for private/homeschool education. As a product of the public school system, I believe our public schools need to be funded in accordance with the costs of education (ie, not based on 2019 numbers). Providing high quality public education is a critical part of our societal structure. I am also a private school parent. I made that choice and am grateful to have the financial ability to make that choice. I do not want public tax dollars coming into my kids' school to fund tuition. Doing so would violate the separation of church and state enshrined in the US Constitution and which, as a Christian, I wholeheartedly support. Defunding public schools because they do not meet standards is not the solution. Providing public education is one of the core functions of state government, and this bill would outsource that function. Additionally, universal vouchers would be useless to families who do not have geographic access to private schools. It could also result in private schools increasing tuition due to government subsidization, or it could result in the creation of private schools attempting to monetize and profit off of state subsidies. If you want to improve education in Texas, increase state funding for schools, stop the redistribution system that bleeds tax dollars from so-called wealthy districts (some of which are suffering budget shortfalls), and pay teachers more. Leave private schools and homeschools alone.

Tina Green

Fort Worth Independent School District

Arlington, TX

I am against HB3. Public School tax dollars should only be designated for Public Schools. Private schools are a personal choice. HB 3 will redirect hard-earned taxpayer dollars from our neighborhood public schools and provide public funding to private schools that are subject to no accountability and that can pick and choose the students they want to educate. VOTE NO FOR HOUSE BILL 3.

Karen Goodman

Self, (parent of school age children)

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill because it provides funding to a minority of families at the expense of those who cannot afford or do not have the opportunity to have their children in private schools. Public schools are already severely underfunded, and any additional K-12 education funds should go to public schools. Private schools are comparatively unregulated and are not subject to the same testing and standards required of public schools. Neighborhood public schools accept all students, but private schools can deny admission or educational services to any student, including students with disabilities, among others. Use of tax dollars should come with standards and not allow cherry picking of the easiest students to teach. Doing so would leave only the most challenging students in public schools, at a reduction of funding for the public schools (as the daily census would fall if students moved into private schools). Please represent the interest of all or the majority of families in your districts not special interests of politicians. The large majority opposes vouchers and want their public schools properly and adequately funded.

Robin McMillion

self

AUSTIN, TX

I am happy to pay taxes to the public schools because the schools were there for my kids years ago, and they are accountable to the public. But I'm not happy about my tax dollars going to the XYZ Academy sandwiched between a laundromat and a pawn shop. Vouchers/ESAs will give taxpayer dollars to schools that have no accountability to the public. Private schools can refuse to accept kids. They kick out the kids they have accepted for any reason. They can shut down for any reason. Many towns - including the Texas town I grew up in - have no private school except a Catholic school which non-Catholic families (a majority of families in the state) may not want to send their kids to. If the Legislature thinks that public schools are inadequate, then make them adequate! It's the Legislature's job to ensure access to a good public education for all kids, not to tell parents they can "shop" for their kid's education with taxpayer dollars.

Jo-Ann Fitts

Self

SanAntonio, TX

Please vote against vouchers!

Diane Stegall

Self (retired RN)

FW, TX

This will come at the expense of public school education, especially in rural and remote counties (more than 150 Texas counties don't have a private school to send your kid too, even if you could afford the difference between what the voucher pays and what tuition costs!).

It's bad for the Texas taxpayer, bad for public educators, and bad for the kids in our public school classrooms.

Opposition to the school voucher bill. It will aid the wealthy and leave the poor children in schools with less funding and have a very big impact on our rural schools. This bill is not for education in Texas only again for the upper class to have another "tax brake"

—

Paige Biersdorfer

Self

San Marcos, TX

Please do not pass HB 3. Texans want funding for public schools. School Vouchers have failed in other states, and aren't we as Texans better than that? As Texans shouldn't we strive for the best for all of us? Listen to the citizens! This is a bipartisan issue. We all want to be able to send our children to funded, free, and fair public schools. My daughter has dyslexia and the ability to receive services has been life changing for her. I am scared what reducing funding means for not just her but for all students.

I also feel that it is a bit of a conflict of interest when our own Texas Governor's WIFE sits on the board for a private school. The tuition to this school is $21,900 - how would a $10,000 voucher even help me to get my child to that school. I find it a bait and switch to market this school of choice, especially when many of us feel there is no actual choice. I PRAY that you don't let greed cause you to bend the knee (which is not a very Texan thing to do) Oppose HB3 and let's get Texas Public Schools funded!

Kate Landon

Self

Springtown, TX

This will create a disparity between poor kids and rich kids. Dont do this!

Christen Towne

Self

Katy, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to school vouchers in the state of Texas. Vouchers divert crucial public funds away from our public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas children, to subsidize private and charter schools that are not held to the same accountability standards.

Our public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing education, support, and opportunities to students of all backgrounds. Instead of funneling taxpayer dollars into private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public school system by increasing teacher pay, improving resources, and ensuring every child has access to a high-quality education.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and educators by rejecting any voucher proposals and focusing on policies that uplift public education for all.

Thank you for your dedication to the future of Texas students.

Bret Boeker

Self - Pharmacist

San Angelo, TX

Do not pass this bill. Instead focus on getting proper funding to the public schools that truly need it.

Kevin Burns

Self / Financial services I str

Frisco, TX

I strongly oppose passage of this bill. Our state should not put public taxpayer dollars toward private for profit schools. Those dollars should be allocated to maintain and improve our existing public school system. If parents choose a private for profit school for their children, they should not receive support from the taxpayers of the state. Thank you.

Sharon Howell

Self - retired teacher

Katy, TX

As a parent and a retired teacher I am asking you to vote NO on school vouchers. The vouchers will undermine public education and ultimately only benefit families who can already afford public school. I made a decision to send one of my children to private school for a few years for various reasons. That was my choice and I did not expect the state to help me pay. Instead you need to be focused on adequately funding our public schools by finally raising the state allotment. Thank you for your time and consideration before you vote.

Adrienne McKee

self

Richardson, TX

I oppose HB 3. Our local school is important because it fosters a sense of community, provides tailored needs for children in our community, and supports local economies and cultures.

Christina Hernandez

Self

League city, TX

As a life long Texan, public school student and parent to 2 public school children I DO NOT SUPPORT either SB 2 or HB 3. Redirecting publicly paid funds to private entities is and will be a disaster and cause further undo stress on our already stressed public school system. We already have school choice in Texas. Parents to can send their kids to any school they choose. These vouchers will not make anything more affordable for the socioeconomic disadvantaged citizens. It will however, take funds away from their schools resulting in closures and greater hardships on parents for transportation and scheduling. This is not how you help the public school system. Make the governor fully fund public education and stop withholding funds to push this agenda. Pay teachers a living wage, accounting for inflation. Pay the districts appropriately so that teachers can use public funds to stock their classrooms instead of their personal bank accounts. I am so disappointed in the GOP. As a former republican, I can tell you the reason myself and my husband along with a majority of my friends have left this party because it no longer stands for small government and fiscal responsibility. This party now stands for the government in parts of our lives it has no place and wasteful spending to satisfy donors. You should all be ashamed of yourselves. This is not what actual Christians behave. This is how pharasees behave. Only looking out for how they can benefit the most. You are all public servants and wether or not your constituents voted for you, you still represent them and should vote accordingly to their will, not your own personal beliefs.

Max Maurer

Self

Seguin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill. It would take money from Public Schools and leave many, who don't have access to private schools or the ability to Home School with little option other than the local public schools that would be further starved of funding. This is a give away to wealthy people with private school options they are likely already using. In addition, it is designed to weaken public schools.

Rachael Hammoudeh, Ms

Self - Retired

Galveston, TX

I am NOT in favor of HB 3. Do not use my taxes to support private schools.

Carolyn Nottingham

self, retired

Georgetown, TX

As a long time registered voter who exercises her right each and every time, I urge you to vote NO on this voucher bill. It will harm our public school system in Texas and our students. It is unfair and should not be enacted. Thank you. Carolyn Nottingham

Janet Butler

Self/former teacher 32 years

Austin, TX

The last thing Texas needs is a voucher system to relieve our stressed education system. The data from other states has not proven that voucher system works at all. 75% of the vouchers go to students who are already enrolled in private schools and apparently have the money to afford tuition though the governor says low income students and students with special needs will have priority. It is up to private schools, whether or not to admit the students. The $10,000 towards tuition does not cover the entire tuition, low income, families and families with special needs kids generally do not have the transportation or the extra funds to make up the difference.

We need to be investing in our students in the public schools. Due to unfunded mandates and the lack of increased funding using inflation, our school districts are stressed and are scrambling to balance their budgets. Cutting programs, teachers, maintenance are common place. They're starting with a deficit and cannot keep up. The legislature should be taking inflation into the equation when funding schools and per student allotments. A $1300 increase to the per student allotment is needed to keep up with the inflation and bring us back down to 2019 funding it is ridiculous. Texas is ranked 41 out of 50 states in funding to public schools. We need to be investing in our students investing in early childcare and our teachers and supporting them in their endeavors. The children are our future and we need to invest in them for a better Texas. School vouchers take away from public schools. The governor and legislators' unfunded mandates and callous disregard for the needs of our school districts have caused this problem. The School Districts and children have suffered because of this. Please set this straight and invest in our public schools and students. No vouchers put the money in to Texas schools. Please invest in Texas not in private schools. They get plenty of money on their own.

Joseph Hunt, Mr.

Self/Sales

Austin, TX

School vouchers amount to a tax rebate for wealthier Texans who are already sending their children to private schools. Vouchers will not provide alternatives for rural Texans where no private schools exist. The bill will serve to undermine funding for existing public schools and further erode the quality of education provided to young Texans. We can also expect that existing private schools will simply raise their tuition should the bill passes, thereby reducing any proposed benefit the vouchers were intended to provide.

In short, this is a BAD BILL for Texans and if you're listening to your constituencies, the majority of Texans oppose it.

Tanya Callejas

Self

Pflugerville, TX

This bill will completely destroy our already struggling public education. It is very heartbreaking how there is no thought for all the majority of children in Texas and the teachers is beyond me. We should be focused on making our public schools better not taking away.

Kate McDermott

Self, marketer

Austin, TX

Providing money to the wealthy to subsidize their private schooling is unconscionable. Support public schools! No to vouchers!

Jackie Fushille

Myself

Dripping Spgs, TX

This is the most accurate bill to show that the ones with means are better than the ones with none. Please do not allow this bill to pass. It helps the few but destroys the rest of Texas's children. Disgusting.

Lesley Bohmann
Self
Liberty Hill, TX

Texas public schools are the pillars of our communities, and should be protected and treated as such. The State has been withholding funds for years, and this will only make it worse. Public schools and the students they serve deserve adequate funding to provide a great education. Vote NO to school vouchers and the school choice savings account.

Kathryn Sazer
Self
Plano, TX

I fully support this bill as a Texas resident. Thank you.

Judith Gonzalez-Rodriguez
Self
Corp Christi, TX

I support public school and oppose HB 3.

Christina Kiddy
Self
Austin, TX

I urge you to vote against this school voucher bill. As a concerned constituent and advocate for a strong public education system, I firmly believe that this legislation will harm Texas students, teachers, and taxpayers. Rather than solving the challenges facing our public schools, HB3 diverts essential funds away from the very institutions that serve the majority of our children.

The Texas Constitution mandates that the state provide a "suitable" and "efficient" system of public free schools. A voucher program directly undermines this mandate by diverting resources toward private entities, many of which lack the capacity, willingness, or obligation to serve all students equitably. Public tax dollars should remain in public schools, benefiting the greatest number of students rather than a select few.

Unlike public schools, which must meet rigorous state standards, adhere to curriculum requirements, and undergo public financial audits, private schools receiving vouchers operate with minimal oversight. This lack of accountability means taxpayer dollars could fund schools that fail to meet basic educational standards. Many private schools are not subject to the same financial transparency laws as public schools. This opens the door for potential fraud, mismanagement, and misuse of funds—something we have seen in other states that have implemented similar voucher programs. Without stringent accountability measures, Texas risks wasting public money on schools that may not provide a high-quality education.

Proponents of HB3 argue that school vouchers expand parental choice. However, in reality, vouchers often benefit only a small segment of students—primarily those who are already attending private schools. Many private schools charge tuition rates that far exceed the value of the voucher, leaving low- and middle-income families unable to cover the remaining costs. Additionally, private schools can selectively admit students based on entrance exams, religious affiliation, and other criteria, excluding many children who would benefit from school choice the most.

If lawmakers truly want to improve education in Texas, they should focus on increasing funding for public schools, raising teacher salaries, reducing classroom sizes, and expanding access to advanced coursework and vocational training. Redirecting public funds to private schools through a voucher system does not address the root causes of educational inequities—it only exacerbates them.

Public education is a public good that benefits all Texans. When we invest in our public schools, we invest in the future of our state by ensuring that all children, regardless of their zip code, receive a quality education. HB3 moves Texas in the wrong direction by prioritizing privatization over public investment, harming our students and communities in the process.

Michael Kochumuttom

self, engineer

Lewisville, TX

Hello,

I write to you today to vote against HB3. The creation of school vouchers is a frivolous use of funds. Public schools are vastly more affordable for the tax payer to provide education, all while ensuring Texas students receive the cutting edge education that public schools have always provided. I am a graduate of Texas public schools, and I would not have had the success I've achieved without a properly funded public education system. With vouchers, this quality education will be diminished; this is the last thing Texas needs.

Thank you

Alan Carsrud

self

Spicewood, TX

This bill will hurt rural schools and only benefit for profit schools.

Leslie Funk

Self

Spicewood, TX

I am firmly against vouchers or education savings account programs. It is not in the public interest to steal public funds and give them to private schools. It's a scam and it's wrong. Vote against this bill.

Tyler Loofs

Self, Dietitian

Georgetown, TX

I am a new parent who has chosen to stay in this state with my extended family, rather than move elsewhere solely for better education opportunities for my new son. I am the son of a public school teacher, the husband to a counselor, and a friend to many involved in the public schooling system. I ask you on behalf of sensible, accessible, quality education - please vote against implementing vouchers for private/religious schools. They will only serve to weaken the public school systems, disenfranchise those who don't have funding to close the gap between vouchers and private tuition, and drive people like myself - people who love Texas and want it to blossom - out of the state. If the end goal is to create a homogenized, Christian society by driving out diverse perspectives and education that stands distinct from religious organizations... then may God have mercy on you all as you proceed.

Melody Long

Self

Leander, TX

Dear Texas Legislator, As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I am the product of Texas Public Schools and spent 33 years teaching in Texas Public Schools. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair. These subsidies can create unequal schools by prioritizing private schools over public schools by diverting funding from public schools to private schools, which can leave public schools underfunded. Studies show that voucher programs are ineffective, and other states have seen the same results. I am vehemently opposed to any school voucher program funded with taxpayer dollars!

Luke Longino, Mr.

Self

Belton, TX

Stop "reverse Robinhood-ing" our children! It's anti-Jesus.

George Davis

Self - retired Admin Manager at Texas Utilities

FAFIRFIELD, TX

i do not want money spent on vouchers for parents sending their children to private schools. We need to spend any money we have to support public education and make salaries and benefits enough to attract great teachers who will stay in the profession. Giving money for vouchers is taking money from public schools that they need now. We see schools being underfunded all over the state and having to close or overcrowd due to lack of funding by state legislature. I also am opposed to the state supporting private schools (other than certifying that graduates are qualified to get a diploma) due t separation of church and state. Most of the private schools around are attend by children who have parents who want to push a certain religious view. Our children need to be taught to think and reason, look at all views, and learn to appreciate and respect those views.

Megan Pierson

Self

Texline, TX

Dear Education Committee,

I am writing this today as one of your constituents and a current public educator in Texas to urge you to rethink your position on the school voucher program. Please note, this is my opinion, and I do not represent any entity in writing this.

First, I see what legislators are attempting to do in championing the school voucher program. However, I urge you to fight for our public schools instead. While school vouchers look great on the surface, they leave out thousands of rural students like mine. The closest private school for my students is over thirty miles away. Even if my students could afford tuition and get there each day, the private school ends at the junior high level forcing high school students back to public education as the closest private high school is over two hours away. Most of my district is low income and could not afford private school tuition regardless of access or a voucher. I am confident that my students are not the only population without access to prestigious private schools in Texas.

Furthermore, according to the Texas Tribune online, the budget set aside by Texas legislators this session was $1 billion for school vouchers and $5 billion for public school funding. Divided out, that is $3,981.99 per private school student and $903.96 per public school student with 5,531,236 students in enrolled in Texas's public schools based on the enrollment numbers from TEA's August 2024 report, and 251,131 enrolled in private schools according to data from the National Center for Education Statistics. Why then would we not consider the majority of Texas students first? I am asking you as my legislators to consider the majority of students when appropriating funds.

In order to make public schools better for the majority of students in Texas, changes must be made. This includes more funding, a better school accountability system, more flexibility for LEAs, and better pay for teachers as a starting point. As previously stated, the funding for public schools is off balance when compared to the numbers of public versus private school enrollments. Additional funding to public schools creates more opportunities for students. For example, better funding in my district would allow my students more rigorous career education instantly.

Furthermore, the minimum salary requirement for an educator with zero years of experience is $33,660. Frankly, an individual can make more working full time at a fast food restaurant than being a first year teacher, as Ziprecruiter lists the average salary as $37,808. There is no wonder then that we have a statewide teacher shortage. Simply put, if we want high quality people leading our schools and preparing our students, we need to pay them better.

Instead of school vouchers, please shift your focus to supporting and funding our public schools. School choice is important, so let's work together to make public schools first choice for parents and students!

Sarah McGee
Self/education/FFA
Katy, TX

Hello,
I am a first year teacher working in a public school as well as a product of public education. I would like to voice my opinion and concerns about the establishment of the voucher system in the state of Texas. As someone who has family in the voucher state of Louisiana I can promise you 2 things 1. Crime will go up 2. Education will go down. I have seen outcome of voucher programs and they only hold back students and education as a whole. No matter politics this bill is outrageous and will NOT help anyone but those who can already afford these private schools; if the argument is “school choice” then that argument is completely irrelevant, choice has always been available when it comes to schooling but what has NOT always been available are programs that aid in ensuring students have free lunch, after school programs, mentors, and the extra aid teachers cannot provide with our already busy schedules. I myself am not just a classroom teacher, I also have to work late hours, weekends, and in some cases holidays due to my involvement in FFA. But with all teachers we have too many hats and too little pay, these vouchers taking away from our students as well as us will only worsen the education here in Texas. Please take a drive through Louisiana and in the areas where private schools are the higher attending places of education, I promise you won’t be able to tell the difference between a poorly funded public school and that private school. Think of our future.

Maravia Shepherd Parent
Conroe, TX

I do not want this.

Daniel Lindenberg

self - real estate development

Houston, TX

Dear Members of the Texas Senate,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to proposals that seek to divert funding from our public schools through private school voucher programs. As a concerned citizen, I urge you to stand firmly in support of public education and reject any measures that would defund or weaken our public schools.

Texas' public education system has long been a cornerstone of opportunity, ensuring that all students, regardless of their background, have access to a quality education. Our public schools serve a diverse range of students, including those with special needs, English language learners, and children from low-income families. They are places where every child, no matter their circumstance, has the potential to succeed. Public schools offer a sense of community, foster inclusivity, and provide a range of services beyond education, such as meals, counseling, and extracurricular activities.

Introducing vouchers that funnel taxpayer dollars into private schools would have a disastrous impact on our public schools. Vouchers would effectively siphon money away from the very institutions that serve the vast majority of our students. These funds are crucial for maintaining essential programs, improving educational outcomes, and supporting teachers. Public schools are already struggling with overcrowded classrooms, underpaid teachers, and limited resources. Redirecting money to private schools would only worsen these challenges and leave public schools with fewer resources to meet the needs of Texas children.

Private schools that accept vouchers are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. They do not have to accept all students, particularly those with disabilities, special needs, or English language learners. They can select students based on academic performance, financial means, or other factors, which leaves the most vulnerable students behind. Public schools, on the other hand, are required to accept every student, ensuring that every child has a fair chance at success. By diverting funds to private institutions, we risk creating a two-tiered education system that exacerbates inequality and disadvantages those who need the most support.

The focus should not be on dismantling public education but on strengthening it. Instead of providing vouchers for private schools, Texas must prioritize fully funding its public schools to ensure every student has access to a high-quality education. We must increase teacher salaries, improve school facilities, and ensure that every child has the resources they need to succeed. Our public schools can be the best they can be if they are given the support and funding they deserve.

Lyndia Day

SELF - Texas citizen since 1968

Comfort, TX

PLEASE STOP THE STEAL OF PUBLIC SCHOOL MONEY TO GIVE TO THE ALREADY RICH FOR VOUCHERS! IT'S A SCAM AND WE ALL SEE IT FOR WHAT IT IS!

Karen Burdick

Self

Conroe, TX

Please, please, please do NOT approve the voucher bill. This bill will harm public education which is already struggling with underfunding. It also endangers the teacher retirement system. Educators and students deserve much better. We should not be sacrificed to reward big money donors who are not motivated for the public good. I hope each legislator votes for the public good and does not succumb to political pressure and fear. Thank you for all you do for our state.

Samantha Leivers, Dr

Self

Plano, TX

HB 3 will significantly negatively impact students across Texas, especially those with disabilities, rural students and those from disadvantaged backgrounds. Similar bills on Louisiana and Indiana have shown negative impacts in student achievement, particularly math. Texas already lags in public schooling, and implementing the bill will worsen the situation but taking away funding from our public schools. Make no mistake that this bill does not offer choices for our children's education, but rather negatively impacts the majority of Texan children while providing a discount for wealthy Texans who are already sending their children to private school. As the mother of an autistic child, I am very concerned about the lack of support my daughter will receive if this goes ahead, particularly as the limited research on the effectiveness of school voucher programs rarely includes children with disabilities. It is time for Texas to be for Texans again, not for the 1%. I strongly recommend rejecting this bill in its entirety.

Monte Endres

Self

Muenster, TX

No voucher

Allison Martin

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote no. Public dollars should only be used for public schools.

Disha Chaudhry

Self

Plano, TX

I strongly oppose HB3 because it diverts public funds to private schools with no accountability, harming our public education system. I urge you to vote NO on HB3 and instead support increased funding for public schools, teacher pay, and resources for all Texas students. Thank you.

Robert Howard

Self

Bay City, TX

I am a life long, donating, Republican. The idea that our elected representatives are discussing a voucher program and not property tax relief with the surplus funds is unacceptable. Why are we not holding the TEA accountable and the local school districts? Part of the reason is every two years you all move the goal posts for public education through, different testing, different software programs, different rules and laws, therefore nothing stays consistent. The idea that the focus is on creating a new voucher system, instead of making sure our public school system is the best in the nation, is a complete distraction from the issues. Furthermore your political futures and governors political futures are in jeopardy. This is not a Democrat vs Republican issue and the fact that the governor is turning this into a red vs blue issue on Facebook and X is alienating untold numbers of loyal Republican supporters. Stop this nonsense and focus on issues that effect all citizens of the great State of Texas. Fix the public school system as it stands. Do you not have the authority or common sense or leadership to do so?

Shanterra McBride

Self/Author

DeSoto, TX

Fully fund public schools!

Dikila Jones

9300 Investments, LLC

Killeen, TX

Why not solve the problem by giving all schools the resources they need for all schools versus the option for parents to send their kids outside their community because the closest schools don't have the resources they need. Am I missing something? I'm not confident the transfer of funds will follow the students to the school of choice.

Lauren David

Self/Mom/Stylist

Austin, TX

I am the parent of a Texas public school student and a former teacher. I believe that public funds should stay in public schools. Establishing a voucher system for private education will directly impact the quality of education received in public schools. Private institutions are not held to the same standards as public schools and are not required to meet the needs of all students. In addition, I believe it will only be families who can already afford private education that will be benefitted, leaving those that are under resourced with less resources than before. Rural school districts without access to private schools are particularly vulnerable if this bill passes. It is shameful that Texas lawmakers who vote yes on this bill are ok with spending more money per private school student than per public school student. This is discriminatory and will only serve to decrease the overall quality of education in this state. It is already at an embarrassingly low national ranking and will only get worse if this bill is passed. Please fully fund public schools and leave our taxpayer money where it benefits ALL Texas students.

Kelsey TenBrook

Self

Buda, TX

I oppose school vouchers!!! No, we don't want them!!!

Jennifer Bennett

Self; Parent of student in Austin ISD

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Bennett

Bracha Strassman

Self

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Sheldon Rosenberg

self

Dallas, TX

I support this bill. Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities. Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Jennifer Wang

Self

Bryan, TX

Let me begin by saying that I attended and graduated from private school. My mother worked there and her entire salary paid for 3 of us for 7 years. She never drew a paycheck. I did get an excellent education and continued on to graduate from college. However, my brother enrolled in public school for high school because they offered a much wider range of courses than the private school ever could. My children have always attended excellent public schools in Texas because I believe in the ability of the public school system to educate all of our children. And not only educate them for college, but also trade schools and wherever else life leads them. If I even wanted to send my children to the private school I attended, a voucher would precipitate a tuition I still could not afford. I do not want and do not support private school vouchers in the state of Texas. If residents can afford to send their children to private schools, then the tuition is their responsibility, not the state. Private schools already offer tuition assistance for those that need it. Please put school vouchers up for a vote and let Texas citizens make the decision instead of forcing it on us.

Clayton Phillips, Reverend

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I am firmly against vouchers for private and homeschool students. Public, mandated taxes are to be allocated for the public good, not for religious, isolated education. Parents already have choice to send their children to private schools, or to homeschool with no regulations by the State of Texas. Let them. But don't use my tax dollars to fund choices that may or may not serve all of Texas.

Cynthia Daniels

Self

Mansfield, TX

I want to tell you why public schools and fully funding public schools is so important to me and why I will ask you to please vote no on HB 3. I am a product of Fort Worth ISD public schools and went on to receive my BS in Animal Science from Texas A&M University. I am now the Executive Director of a non-profit and I run my own Mary Kay business. My husband grew up in the little bitty town of Fruitvale, Texas. There was only one option for schools, Fruitvale ISD. He graduated 3rd in his class, went on to receive a BS in Ag Development from Texas A&M University and now is very successful as the President of a small inventory software company. I am the mother of 3 adult children who are a product of Mansfield ISD public schools. My oldest is now very successful in the IT field, my middle is finishing a degree at UTA, my youngest just started at TCC. My sister is a teacher, my sister-in-love is a Superintendent, 2 of my nieces are teachers and my youngest daughter is going to College to become a public school elementary art teacher. So you can see, public schools and fully funding public schools are very important to me. I have heard our Governor say many times how we have a very large surplus of money and also that he will continue to withhold funding to public schools until ESA's are passed. That is tax money that we as the public tax payers have paid specifically for funding public schools. Our Governor has also stated that ESA's will take funding away from public schools. Mansfield ISD stands to lose $14 million if ESA's are passed. We will also lose another $822,000 if Medicaid is eliminated. ESA's are welfare for the wealthy who don't need it for their kids to attend private schools. ESA's will hurt public schools and will also hurt rural communities whose only options are public schools. Teachers will lose their jobs due to lack of funding. They already aren't paid their worth. We already have school choice. Any parent can choose public schools, private schools, charter schools, online schools and even homeschool. These ESA's will only help 100,000 students in Texas. The state of Texas has 5.84 million students enrolled in public schools right now. Also, private schools are not required to accept all students nor are they required to provide accommodations to students that need a 504 or IEP. When my youngest was 13, she started having a lot of pain, brain fog, cognitive issues, vomiting, etc. She was in pain 24/7 and missed a lot of school. MISD was able to start her on a 504 and then an IEP to provide her accommodations to help her stay in school and get her education. She was able to graduate a year early from High School all while being in an accelerated STEM program. She is now attending TCC and will be transferring to UNT in the Fall. Without public schooling, none of this would have been possible. Please, do not pass HB 3. Say no to ESA's. Protect students like my daughter. Fully fund public schools first!

Thank you.

Cynthia Daniels

Lisa Manuel
self
Katy, TX

I am against this bill because public education is important and school choice should not come at the expense of public schools.

Ben Reeves
self
Cedar Park, TX

This directly steals from public schools. The amount of funding that is allocated to public schools is determined based on the number of students who attend. If students are given government assistance to attend private schools, it reduces head count and reduces funding for that school. This funding should instead be going directly to increase the amount of allocation per student in public schools. There has not been an increase since 2019, during the worst years of inflation we've seen in many decades and the schools are suffering as a result.

Debbie Welper
Self/Teachers
Hart, TX

It is an injustice to destroy the education system by which you, yourselves were educated!!! Do us all a favor and for once be supportive of Texas Teachers!!!!

Pamela Daggett
Self
Austin, TX

Anything that removes resources from public classrooms will put middle and lower income children at a greater disadvantage. The voucher will not pay the entire cost of a private education so unless families can afford to supplement the voucher their child will be forced to remain in a more seriously underfunded public classroom. Also, private schools are free to pick and choose their students. Students with special needs are not as likely to be picked. Public Education has always been a shared responsibility and benefit for all of us to share. Vouchers look like wealthier people withdrawing their support from the common good. I have paid outlandish property taxes to support schools (primarily) and I don't even have children. If wealthy people get their money back in the form of a voucher, I want my money back too. We either all support public education or we revert to a primitive society that believes education is only for the privileged. Vote "no" on vouchers and safeguard education for all children

Mary Katherine Higgins
Self
Houston, TX

Vouchers don't work. This is completely insane and disgusting

Dana Luna
Self
Grand Prairie, TX

Vote NO. Your constituents do not want vouchers. Please FULLY fund our schools and let them soar! They have been stifled for years with rising costs and no increase in budget. You CAN make a difference to our students by increasing PUBLIC education funds and voting NO to HB3. Thank you.

Daisy Greer

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote no on this bill. This is going to be detrimental to the public education my children receive. One of my kids receives special education services and I am confident that he gets the best help in a public school setting. Plus even with a voucher we couldn't afford a private education and we are a dual income family so your hope that this bill helps low income families is absurd. Your voucher will not help low income families because private school tuition is so much more than what a voucher covers.

Julie DuPree

self - project manager

Liberty Hill, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB 3 and any form of school voucher program in Texas. School vouchers divert essential resources from public schools, which serve all children, toward private institutions that lack accountability and transparency. Our state should be investing in strengthening public education, not undermining it. Please protect our public schools by SOUNDLY rejecting HB 3.

Jay Prengler

self

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them and have school choice in Texas supported by the State of Texas.

Thank you.

Cindy Barrier

Self

Lorena, TX

This voucher plan is outrageous! Do not begin the destruction of Texas public education because Greg Abbott received millions of dollars. He is only concerned about himself and is bullying lawmakers into bowing before him. EVERYONE I've spoken to is against vouchers!! Stop this now!!!!!!!

Jillanne Odonovan, Digital Supervisor

Self

Austin, TX

This program takes funding away from public schools and is something I oppose!

Peggy Aschenbeck

Self

Austin, TX

Governor Abbott and the rest of his cohorts keep short changing and crippling the Public School Districts. Abbott tells us that school vouchers are the answer. His remedy is to give the private schools $10,000 per student but only give the public schools $6,100 per student. I don't know about you, but that just doesn't add up. Once again, the republicans appear to be thinking that their constituency is a bunch of idiots. Stop the grandstanding and start doing the right thing. Fund the public schools appropriately. Give our children the best public education they deserve. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education. People who want to send their children to private school have every right to do so. Just don't expect us taxpayers to fund it. The people of Texas deserve much better than what the politicians are doling out.

Robert Selders Jr

Garland ISD School Board - Trustee, Place 6

Rowlett, TX

I urge you to oppose HB 3 because it puts public schools, and the millions of students who rely on them, at risk. This bill diverts taxpayer dollars to private schools that aren't required to serve all children, follow state curriculum, or be financially transparent. Meanwhile, Texas public schools are still underfunded, and teachers are leaving the profession due to low pay and overwhelming workloads.

Would you accept this for your own kids or grandkids if they were in an underfunded public school? Would you support funneling their school's resources to private institutions that can deny students based on income, disability, or academic history?

HB 3 is not real school choice (or parent choice for that matter); it's an expensive, unaccountable system that drains billions from public education. Rural communities will suffer the most, with fewer options and fewer resources for the public schools that keep their towns thriving.

Instead of creating a costly voucher program, Texas should fully fund public schools so that every child, regardless of zip code, gets a strong education. I urge you to vote NO on HB 3 and stand up for Texas families and communities.

Reizel Grossman

HB 3 by Buckley

San Antonio, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Rabbi & Fraydee Wender

Young Israel of Houston

Houston, TX

Our parents need affordable school choice in order that our children can receive a proper education. I have taught for 0 years. Believe me I know

Lynette Norman

Self-retired

Abilene, TX

There's no reason for this bill to pass. It will take desperately needed funds from public schools to fund welfare for the rich. If someone wants their children to attend a private school, then they should pay for the school out of their own pocket. There's no reason to take public school funds to pay for someone else's rich children to attend a private school. Ridiculous. Texas public schools are underfunded and running at a deficit budget now because of our awful governor's agenda to appease billionaires that don't even live in Texas.

Jennifer Smeby

Self, teacher

Mansfield, TX

No vouchers! Listen to your constituents and fully fund our public schools! Public money should not be used for private schools, which are not held to the same standards. Do the right thing and vote no!

Adam Skjonsby

Self

Houston, TX

Becca sent me this text if you want to use it:

I am writing to strongly oppose Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) introduced in 2025, which seeks to expand school vouchers in the state. As a concerned citizen and advocate for quality education for all Texas students, I believe this bill will harm public schools and undermine the core values of equity, fairness, and opportunity in our education system.

Expanding school vouchers would divert much-needed funding away from public schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children. Public schools are the cornerstone of our education system, legally required to accept all students, regardless of background, abilities, or socioeconomic status. By funneling taxpayer dollars to private schools, HB 3 would severely weaken the resources and programs available to students in public schools, especially those who rely on them for a quality education. This move would disproportionately impact students in low-income and underserved communities, who are already facing significant challenges and disparities.

Instead, I recommend increasing funding per student, as research shows this approach has a proven impact on academic performance. A 2023 study from Rice University's Kinder Institute for Urban Research found that increased funding directly improves student outcomes, including academic achievement, behavior, and future employment (source: Rice University Study: <https://kinder.rice.edu/urbanedge/when-it-comes-education-outcomes- we-get-what-we-pay>).

Hispanic, Black, and other marginalized students face disproportionate financial barriers due to systemic racism and historical inequities in education. Increasing per-student funding would help bridge this gap, offering these students greater opportunities for success. A 2021 study from Rutgers University calculated the cost of bringing the average test scores of the poorest 20% of students in each state up to the national average. The study found that in Texas, $12,682 per student annually is needed to close this performance gap (source: Shanker Institute Study: <https://www.shankerinstitute.org/sites/default/files/The%20Real%20Shame%20of%20the%20Nation.pdf>).

While the gap in funding is substantial, it is not insurmountable. By prioritizing alternative legislation that invests directly in public schools, we can ensure all students receive the quality education they deserve.

Daniel Mitchell

Self

Carrollton, TX

FUNDING:

Taxpayers want to know that their tax dollars are being well-spent. Vouchers will take public tax dollars to pay for private schools without any accountability, so taxpayers have no way to compare schools to know if their tax dollars are being well-spent.

Taxpayers do not want to subsidize already affluent families by giving them money to send their children to private schools. As currently proposed, the education savings accounts are primarily a tax break for people who are already in private school or can afford that option.

Private schools receiving public taxpayer dollars are highly vulnerable to fraud and abuse. Their governing boards, if they exist do not have to meet in public or disclose how funds are spent. Private schools do not have to meet financial standards and are not measured by the state's fiscal accountability system.

State-funded vouchers will take needed dollars from public schools. Vouchers take dollars from public schools that are already underfunded. Every dollar sent to a private or home school cannot be invested in public schools. Voucher advocates say funding schools and funding vouchers are separate, but in Texas, where "funding follows the student," public schools will lose needed funding as millions of dollars are siphoned to unaccountable private institutions.

The cost of voucher programs accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4,557,317,230 spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program.

SCHOOL CHOICE

Parent choice? Not really. Private schools choose whether or not to accept a child to attend their school. PRIVATE SCHOOLS CAN, AND DO, DISCRIMINATE and accept only those students that fit their academic and social criteria. Public schools cannot discriminate against any student.

The real problem with "school choice" is the creation of yet another education system (traditional public schools and charter schools already exist) that allows students

Jana Dodson

self

Richardson, TX

Please vote against any legislation in support of vouchers. Vouchers will weaken public schools and provide more benefit to the wealthy who have chosen to send their children to public schools already than the poor. 3 of my 4 children attended highly competitive private schools in Dallas. We would be considered upper middle class BUT our income is pennies compared to the majority of students who attended the schools. It was a challenge to fit in. The schools already scholarship a limited number of students. I would imagine that number wouldn't change as they will be aware of the need to fund capital projects through current families and alumni. Students with vouchers may choose to attend private schools. Often those schools won't have the same financial stability. In those schools, the education may be on par with public schools, but likely below. The poor still won't have choice in Texas as we have a limited transportation system that the students could use to get to schools. The state demands that public schools do ALOT. Fund them so that they can address the problems. (I also believe that no amount of money can solve some problems.) Most public school teachers that I know have to spend hours on administrative tasks. And, the ability to discipline students is limited. Vouchers are not the answer.

Jacqueline Chamberlain

Self/ Homemaker

Penelope, TX

Hello, my name is Jacqueline Chamberlain. I am writing regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and I am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." I would like to ask Representative Orr to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you.

Alicia Pierce
Self/homeschool mom
Levelland, TX

Hello, my name is Alicia. I am calling regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and I am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." I would like to ask you all to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you.

Teresa and Mario Beltran
Self, Homeschooling Mom of 4
Liberty Hill, TX

"Hello, my name is Teresa Beltran. I am calling regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3 on Tuesday. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." I would like to ask Representative Terry Wilson to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you!"

Paul & Carole Haupt
Yslata ISD Retired
79935, El Paso, TX, TX

Defeat public dollars for education from going to private schools.

Lindsey Ramirez
Self
Austin, TX

I am the mother of 2 students in a public school. This voucher bill is stealing our taxpayer dollars to subsidize overinflated private school costs that only the wealthy can even afford regardless. This does nothing to provide "choice" to parents of students who require specialized educational services, those that would require transportation, those that do not live in an area with private school options, nor provide the remaining funding needed for people who are low income. It's a facade meant to take money from the middle class majority to funnel to the rich minority.

Jennifer Burger
Self, Founder & Head of Market Research
Austin, TX

Voucher programs and so-called "school choice" initiatives will strip funding from public schools and create unequal education opportunities by using public funds to support private schools. All Texas children deserve the highest-quality public education. Please defend our public schools by OPPOSING vouchers.

Cathy McAuliffe, Dr.
Self retired college professor
Rockport, TX

Vouchers will hurt my school district. Please vote no on vouchers.

Delia Sambrano, Teacher
Texas AFT/representing self and my children. Teacher
San Antonio, TX

Say NO to HB3, voucher scam that's inequitable and will take money out of our public schools!

Caren Felps
Self
Kountze, TX

Vote No on Vouchers! Full fund public schools where all students can learn and grow!

Kimberly Herrick
Self
Kingwood, TX

Vouchers were repeatedly voted down, but Abbott didn't like that because it didn't agree with his racism. So Abbott withheld allocated public school funds for YEARS and tried and sometimes succeeded in ruining the political careers of those who did what their CONSTITUENTS wanted instead of him. Abbott should be IMPEACHED! NO, NO, NO school vouchers!!! Our public school system must not be tanked by self-serving racists like Abbott and his "friends."

Mason Reeves Personal Celina, TX

I find this entire process awful, and simply a way to defend our public education while allowing Private Schools with lobbying interests to see higher profit margins. The focus should be funding public schools, so that we can be better than our current 38th rank in education.

Arlene Bryant Hill
Dallas independent School
Desoto, TX

Comment HB 3 by Buckley

George Rohm
Self
Richardson, TX

The Basic Allotment
should be at least equal to Vouchers.

.
?Where is the $5,000,000 from last session?
But as a minimum, at least increase it for inflation.

Blanca Espinosa, Teacher
Self
San Antonio, TX
No vouchers

Rebecca Beck
Self/Teacher
Carrollton, TX

I am firmly opposed to the education savings account program or vouchers.

I am a concerned Texas voter, and I urge you to say NO to HB 3 and Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) in Texas. First, ESAs will only benefit a very small number of students out of the over 5 million students in the State of Texas. ESAs are a coupon for wealthy families who can already afford to send their kids to private school, at the expense of students in underfunded public schools. I do not support welfare for the wealthy.

The $1 billion price tag is too high to benefit so few students. Our public schools already lack adequate funding, and it would be outrageous to rob them of even more funds to benefit a select few students. Keep public funds in public schools!

Also, Texas ALREADY has school choice. Students can attend public school, private school, charter school, or homeschool. ESAs will not create more or better choices. A majority of students wouldn't even be able to use ESAs to attend the school of their choice, for a variety of reasons, including:

- *The costs per student cap established by HB 3 makes it impossible for middle-to-low-income families to pay for private school.
- *There are many parts of the state with no private school or charter school options.
- *Most private schools do not provide transportation to and from school.
- *Private schools are not required to provide accommodations for students with disabilities.
- *Many students might not get accepted to the school of their choice, because private schools get to choose their students.

ESAs are bad for Texas students! Please vote NO on HB 3.

Emily Dornier
Self
New Braunfels, TX

As a public school teacher, I am saying NO to vouchers. Please invest in the public school system or let Texans VOTE instead of deciding for us! We are not happy! Public school teachers will remember this at the polls!

Sharon Smith
TRTA
Mission, TX
Vote against vouchers

Patti Pierce
Self
Austin, TX
School vouchers is a big no from me.

Tim Slayton
Myself
Midlothian, TX

As a lifelong citizen and property owner I am completely opposed to this theft of my taxes to enrich private schools.

Melissa Hostetler
Self
Lakeway, TX

This bill is terrible and will cripple our public schools! I vehemently oppose this bill.

Kelsey Davis

Self

Abilene, TX

Rep Buckley, I urge you to vote against HB 3. This will harm our public schools greatly.

Kayla Lain

self

Godley, TX

Hi my name is Kayla Lain, a mother of three. As a homeschool parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment." I would like to ask Representative Kerwin to please join a large constituency of homeschoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. The overreach of government into private school and home school with tracking through college, career readiness, mandatory state assessments, and pre approved curriculum providers is not choice. We do not want these strings. Thank you!

Sarah Morgan

self

Willis, TX

The school voucher system is not for Texas! It is for the wealthy families that can afford to send their children to private schools. I believe that the families that would like a choice can't afford private schools but what are the chances they will qualify or pass entrance exams? I have a son who is dyslexic and they did not have a dyslexia teacher to accommodate his services. He also couldn't pass the entrance exams to the private school. I believe this is not a good option for this state! I would like to see the statewide state funding increase per student who attends public school so that a student in public school can benefit from the resources the state is willing to give each student. So in conclusion, Raise the statewide state funding per student but SAY NO to vouchers!

Madison Rodon

Self / Teacher

Spring, TX

NO to HB 3. This will harm public schools and millions of public school students in this state. Public schools, students, and teachers DESERVE better!

Terrie Goodloe, Mrs

Self - Mortgage Broker

Godley, TX

I do not believe that I want my tax dollars to be given to school choice or private education, all funding should be brought current with our Public Schools. Please vote NO to school choice or voucher systems.

Melissa Ruffino

Self

Dallas, TX

I fiercely oppose HB3. This is bad for public education and only good for private schools. This is not parent choice as the private school has the last word. I urge house members to put children first.

Kathryn Marty, Mrs.
Self- substitute teacher
Austin, TX

ACTION ITEM for my Texas friends!

A public hearing at the Texas Capitol is happening on the school voucher bill (HB 3). Use the link below to ensure your OPPOSITION is on record. Not a drill, and it only takes a few minutes!

NOTE- I had trouble completing this from my phone and I had to submit from my computer.

Here's what I said:

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a parent and substitute teacher who has worked in Title I schools across Central Texas, I have seen firsthand the impact of underfunded schools on students, families, and communities. For the future of all Texas children, I urge everyone to vote against the creation of a voucher program and to fund our public schools. Thank you.

Lynnette Tieken
Self
Henderson, TX

The public schools need our help!

Kendall Younger
Parent in disd
Dallas, TX

I live in 75229 and would like to request more money for our teachers and that the allotment per public school student would be raised to 10k per kid. The vouchers will hurt our public schools and so many children.

KATHY Gulley
Self
La Vernia, TX

I am AGAINST vouchers. Our public schools, especially in rural and remote counties, will suffer negatively. So will public school educators suffer negatively. I am FOR fully funded, high quality education for all in Texas!

Jack Brown, Dr.

Self

Paris, TX

My name is Dr. Jack Brown, and I have dedicated 24 years to public education as a high school and college biology instructor. I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed voucher programs in Texas, including House Bill 3.

Vouchers, whether labeled as education savings accounts, tax credit scholarships, or school choice programs, take public funds and redirect them to private schools. I view these initiatives as a misuse of taxpayer money. Many private schools are religious in nature and fail to teach scientific facts. No public money should fund them. Our public schools, especially in Texas, are already underfunded, and our teachers are facing the damaging effects of insufficient funding.

Furthermore, Texas' STAAR accountability system, which holds public schools to rigorous standards, will not be required of voucher schools. In a time when we are striving for higher academic standards and transparency, it is critical that we maintain consistent accountability to ensure progress for our students and provide clear information to parents.

Voucher schools also offer limited services for students, and they often engage in selective enrollment practices that can further disadvantage students who are already underserved.

Texas already offers charter schools, which are a form of public school, and while these schools are sometimes criticized for lack of transparency and accountability, they are still held to public standards.

Additionally, the Texas Constitution, in Article 7, makes it clear that taxpayers are only responsible for funding free public schools. Vouchers divert resources from the very system that ensures access to quality education for all students.

Research consistently shows that voucher programs often fail to serve students from disadvantaged or marginalized backgrounds. They also present significant risks for rural schools and students with special needs, who may be left behind in a system that is already strained.

I urge you to oppose House Bill 3 and any voucher programs. Texas has rejected vouchers for decades, and we should continue to prioritize the funding and support of our public schools. If parents want to send their children to private institutions, they should be responsible for funding those choices themselves, rather than relying on public education funds for private interests.

Our students deserve a well-funded, accountable, and equitable public education system. I urge you to stand with our public schools and vote against any attempt to undermine them.

Thank you for your time and commitment to Texas public schools.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jack Brown

Amanda Nguyen

self

Austin, TX

School vouchers take public tax payer money and allocate it to private schools, even if that school is religious, a charter school, or inaccessible.

This defunds public education and funnels taxpayer money directly into the hands of elitist private and charter schools with zero accountability or transparency.

We need public schools that provide equal and open access for all students, no matter where they come from in their walk of life.

Tiffany Davis
Self/Regional Operations Director
Spring, TX

As a former public school student who later graduated from Texas A&M University and then obtained an MBA from the University of Houston, I do not want HB 3 to pass. Public schools are already severely underfunded which means they aren't able to provide the quality education they should. HB 3 would just hurt public schools more. Don't forget public schools are meant to create an educated population to help the US in the long-run. HB 3 will create a less educated general population which will harm our economy and create more gangs and crime.

Chris Reedy
self Bullard, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Kasia Croney
Self
Bee Cave, TX

Funds should not be diverted from public schools. Do not support this.

Bennie Fore, Dr
Sage Emergency Services
Bastrop, TX

Educations savings account should not affect any moneys that may go to existing public schools. No state taxes should be available to private education institutions. Vouchers should not replace or draw down on any money that would have gone to public schools.

Tonya Mitchell
Self
Nederland, TX

As a conservation I am very much against Tax dollars funding private anything. This bill does nothing to improve education for the 5.5 million students in Texas. It gives no priority to students in low performing campuses. It gives no priority to low income families. It is your job to make Texas public schools the best schools in the nation you gather them. Do your job.

Nicole Sanders
Self, Nurse
San Antonio, TX

I oppose this bill as a mother of children who formerly attended private school and as a former private school child myself. Our public school systems and educators are phenomenal, my child with autism is thriving, my youngest with ADD is growing by leaps and bounds. When we transferred out of private school into public, they were both behind in math by one year. Their teachers have worked hard to get them up to speed. Again, I oppose this bill you are taking money out of schools and from children who desperately need it.

Erika Eisenhauer

Self, teacher

Austin, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Keith King, Dr.

self

Georgetown, TX

This is simply a ploy by several political leaders including Abbott and Patrick to repay financial support from investors in private schools. Please place first consideration on Texas students in rural counties with limited tax resources.

Randy Rutherford

Self/retired public school teacher/coach

Johnson City, TX

I am a retired teacher/coach with 30 years of public school experience. Vote NO to HB3/Vouchers. I'm a conservative Republican and I oppose this bill.

Namrata Misra

Self

Allen, TX

My family and friends do not want public education funds to be used for school voucher programs

Leah Sanchez

Self

Carrollton, TX

The public needs to see that data on TRS.

Who is creating the new private schools to keep up with the supply? How do we know they are not for profit?

Public schools would love to have less SpEd paperwork, but it is not allowed.

What does "physically" in Texas mean; just having an office here in Texas?

Why is Pre-K only funded at 50% since full day Pre-K was mandated in 2019?

Where can I find the data from Ed Choice?

How often do private schools have to be re-accredited?

If we are to compare apples to apples in education then the private and public schools need to take the same test.

We cannot bank on "good will" if we intend to help low income students.

Why are districts spending so many hours without compensation to help assess SpEd students from private schools?

Olivia Perkins

Self

Austin, TX

As a public school student and a former attendee of charter schools, this bill will NOT increase the quality of education at these schools but will significantly disenfranchise already vulnerable students. I urge my congresspeople to vote NAY

Susan Kessler
Self. retired
Cedar Park, TX

PLEASE, PLEASE vote against HB 3! I do not want my tax dollars supporting school vouchers which I believe will dilute funding for public education. My daughter teaches in a public school and I volunteer in one in Round Rock, and I see first-hand the difficulties schools are facing with cuts to positions like librarians (!) and others. I hope that you will support public education and oppose the education "savings account" program. Thank you!

Elizabeth Pannill, DVM
Self
Staples, TX

I oppose private school vouchers . My Tax dollars should not support someone wanting private school for their children . Increase finding to public schools to increase quality of education so it can be superior to private schools. .

Sarah Rivlin
Community Voices for Public Education
Houston, TX

Please show some courage and save our public schools. When you pay for private school at the expense of public schools, what happens to the kids left behind?

DALE RUDIN
self
Austin, TX

Vouchers will discriminate against those who don't have enough extra money to pay for private school. While it appears that a voucher would help, the cost of private schools is higher than the voucher. Improve public education and give all a chance to succeed not just the wealthy.

Debra Stark
None. I am representing myself as a private citizen and resident of Texas.
MCALLEN, TX

I am writing to voice my objections to the establishment of an educational savings account program. It is a diversion of taxpayer funds which are designated for the funding of public education which is a right of every child in the state of Texas. This is only a means of providing an opportunity for families to have access to public funds for their private us to fund their children's education. This effort to undermine public education and subsidize private educational entities is an insult to the taxpayers whom you think do not understand exactly what you are doing.

Jamie Fletcher
Self
Houston, TX

Please vote NO! This will dismantle our public schools

Sarah Bentley
self
Austin, TX

As a parent of a public school child, I do not think it is fair that people would get $10,000 to attend private school when public schools only get $6,000 per student per year. I might support the bill if public schools would get a raise of $4,000 per student.

Brittany Deen
Self- RN
Mansfield, TX

ESAs will irreparably damage our schools and hurt students like mine who are disabled. Private schools do not have to accept students with IEPs or 504s nor do they follow IDEA. This bill should not be called "school choice" instead you should call it for what it truly is "School choice BUT ONLY FOR SOME!"

Alicia Bailey
Self
Ft Worth, TX

Basic allotment should be increased to $7500

Angela Brooks
Self
Southlake, TX

Any money given to non public schools should equal that given to public schools, per student. They also should be held to the exact same testing and admittance requirements. I do not support ESAs but if we are going to have them, they should at least maintain the same standards and oversight as public schools.

Kathryn DiGioia, Ms.
Self/ teacher
Austin, TX

As a Public School educator, a parent, and a constituent, I am increasingly concerned by the concerted effort to divert more funds away from public schools, after continuous cuts to funding over the past several years. Since I started teaching in TX 7 years ago, the stress and the pressure due to the increase in the student: ratio INCREASED after the pandemic. All this while TX has consistently, and seemingly now intentionally, withheld funding from public schools during and after the 2020 pandemic. There is about $33 Billion dollars in 'rainy-day' funds, that they have chosen not to provide to public schools, especially districts in urban areas, thereby fostering and worsening a crisis for students, faculty, staff, and families.

My workload has gone up 40% since the pandemics... and now I have 170 students. This means I have to grade 170 essays routinely. The pressure to constantly work outside of contract hours is always there.

The building I work in at LASA High School, is infested with rats, mice, raccoons, ants, and often time rat feces lines the classroom. When it rains, the rain leaks. Teachers and students frequently get dizzy and experience health concerns due to persistent malfunctions from an outdated and barely patched HVAC system.

These conditions and this work load, among other reasons, have forced qualified, extraordinary teachers to leave the profession that they are so good at!

Please increase the student designation for HB2 to $1300 a student, at a minimum to bring it back to 2019 levels at a minimum. Regarding HB 3, please vote NO!! Having a voucher program, or an 'ESA' Education savings account' is only bound to siphon more money designated to public schools in TX away, and into private schools.

Sara Julitz
Self
San Marcos, TX

This bill should be strongly opposed.

If it is adopted, it will further exacerbate gaps between rich and poor Texas children. Research shows that public school students who use vouchers don't stay in voucher programs long-term, returning to their public schools. Vouchers also typically don't cover the full cost of private school tuition, making it a tax subsidy for higher-income families. Public monies belong in public schools, and should not be used as welfare for the wealthy.

Megan Johnsen

Self

Corpus Christi, TX

Hello, I am a parent of two children in Corpus Christi, Texas, who attend school at an already underfunded district in a low income area. We do not need vouchers. Even with vouchers, our parents will not be able to afford private schooling for their children. Even though the bill suggests that the funds for this program will not come from the public school funds, i find that hard to believe. What happens when the first line of funding dries up? Do our taxes increase? Do our public schools get chipped away at even more? Education is a right for all children in the United States. Let's work together to make it better for all children, rather than just giving a private school discount for the wealthy.

Rosie Garrison

Myself

El Paso, TX

Tax payer money should not fund private education. The governor has an obvious agenda in regards to this legislation. Considering his wife is on the board of a private school, perhaps transparency is needed in order to understand his obsession with this bill.

James Nichols

self; hospital chaplain

Abilene, TX

I am sternly AGAINST the education savings account program. It is financially negative in the long run and detrimental to public education now.

Robin Ward, Mrs

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Increase the basic allotment to $7500. All district employees deserve a pay increase. Just like in any business there are many people that make up an organization. My children deserve better from our representatives. I don't want to put the in private school.

Mary Anne Helms, Ms.

Self

Rosenberg, TX

Some identified problems with voucher programs include the fact that most private schools do not provide transportation, nor do they provide free or reduced meals for low-income students. Providing "choice" in the form of vouchers for low-income students while not addressing these issues is just paying face service to the idea. This façade allows legislators to report to their constituents that vouchers benefit everyone when the facts indicate otherwise.

In addition, private schools lack requirements for special education services that are available in public schools. Voucher programs siphon money away from public schools to private school with students that are generally less expensive to educate due to the lack of need for these services. The result is an increase in the ratio of typical students to those requiring special education or 504 services. This creates an increase in the cost to educate students while draining funds from public schools.

Another concern includes the unfair distribution of use of the program. In Florida, analysts have expressed alarm that while the vouchers are "supposed" to go to low-income families to get their children into private schools, it was students who were already attending private schools who were the most common recipient. "So we estimate that 70% of voucher students would be students that have never been in public school before," according to Norin Dollard, an analyst with the Florida Policy Institute. He continues, "So they're already in private school, so this was just tuition assistance for them."

Bobby Murphy

Self

Austin, TX

I strong oppose this bill. It will be a waste of tax payer dollars and will be end up making the education system in Texas worse off. We need smart solutions that invest in the next generation of Texas, particularly if we want to continue to attract talent and corporations to the state. This bill will hurt our state. Do not vote in support of this bill!

Logan Hatla

Self- teacher and parent

Haslet, TX

The basic allotment for public school students need to be raised to at least 7,500. With inflation, the basic allotment has not been increased since 2019. Also, I want to note how it is wrong if vouchers pass and you would increase the basic allotment for private school students to a much higher amount than public students. Public schools have a much higher standard held to them for funding than private.

Camille Wieprecht

self

Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is Camille Wieprecht, I am a parent/community member in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical educational programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend—our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with the actual costs of running these programs. This includes:

1. Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $1,000

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

I urge you to prioritize our students by closing these funding gaps. Texas schools cannot afford to keep operating with such large deficits, and our children deserve better. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Jessica Smith
Northwest ISD
Northlake, TX

Urgent: Support Northwest ISD Students and Teachers – Increase the Basic Allotment

Dear Texas House Education Committee,

As a mother of two students in Northwest ISD, I am deeply concerned about the financial strain on our public schools. The current Basic Allotment of $6,160 per student, set in 2019, has not kept pace with the 23% rise in inflation. Yet, House Bill 2 proposes only a $220 increase—a mere 3.5%—which falls drastically short of what our schools need to function effectively.

One look at Governor Abbott’s Facebook posts and you will definitely know that NO ONE SUPPORTS VOUCHERS.

Just like Texas families, Northwest ISD is facing rising costs for bus fuel, insurance, program materials, and essential day-to-day operations. Without adequate funding, our schools are being forced to increase class sizes and reduce teaching positions, negatively impacting student learning. This funding gap is also why ISDs across the state are struggling financially.

If this minimal increase moves forward, NISD may only be able to offer a 1% salary increase for all employees—over the next two years. Meanwhile, inflation has risen 23%. How can we expect to retain and attract quality educators under these conditions?

Texas students and teachers deserve better. The Texas Constitution mandates proper funding for public schools, and it is time to uphold that commitment. I urge you to increase the Basic Allotment to at least $7,500 to ensure our schools have the resources they need to provide a quality education.

Please stand with Texas families and invest in the future of our students.

Sincerely,
Jessica Smith
Northwest ISD Parent

Robert Seward, Honorable
Board President, Mesquite Independent School District
Mesquite, TX

Opposition to HB3 – Concerns About Education Savings Accounts (ESAs)

Dear Members of the House Public Education Committee,

I am writing to express my opposition to HB3 and its proposed Education Savings Accounts (ESAs). While the intent may be to expand educational options, this legislation threatens our public education system and fails to serve all students equitably. My concerns are as follow.

HB3 would divert critical funding from already underfunded public schools, particularly harming vulnerable students who rely on public education. The lack of accountability standards for private schools receiving ESA funds is deeply concerning – these institutions aren't required to follow state curricula, administer standardized tests, or hire certified teachers, raising significant questions about educational quality and transparency.

This legislation risks deepening educational inequities. Wealthier families can supplement voucher amounts to afford private tuition, while lower-income families cannot, effectively limiting their options. Rural communities with few or no private schools would see their public schools lose resources without gaining alternatives. Additionally, many private schools are religiously affiliated, raising concerns about separation of church and state when public funds are involved.

Private schools can exclude students with disabilities or academic challenges, abandoning our most vulnerable learners. There's also no conclusive evidence that voucher programs improve educational outcomes, making ESA expansion premature. Without proper oversight, there's significant risk of misusing taxpayer dollars.

I urge you to oppose HB3 and instead focus on strengthening our public education system to ensure every child has access to quality education. Thank you for considering these serious concerns.

Dede Griffin
Self RO Analyst
Dickinson, TX

Our children deserve quality public neighborhood schools. Please fully fund public schools and say no to vouchers and ESAs.
Thank you.

Paula Israel
Self
Round Rock, TX

This bill should be rejected. Public education is the backbone of this nation. My grandparents received a public education, my parents received a public education, I received a public education and my children received a public education. Both of my paternal grandparents were school teachers. My paternal aunt was a school teacher. My maternal uncle was a school teacher. Teachers matter and whatever argument you make for these "vouchers" doesn't hold water. The children of this state deserve a public education with well-compensated teachers, not a private school that lower-income and, quite frankly, middle-income parents aren't able to afford. The fact that anyone wants to do vouchers or abolish the public school system is shameful. Our ancestors worked so hard to ensure that each of us had schools that taught us what we needed to not only survive but thrive. Please don't take this opportunity away from all Texas children so that a select few can receive a private school education. I am sure that most of the Texas House and Senate members attended public schools in Texas. We and you should all be working toward improving our public schools, not abolishing them.

Kay Andrews, Grandmother
Self
Austin, TX

Step back. Ask why. What do you believe will be accomplished by giving out funds for use in private schools? Who will benefit? If you give $10k for private school students, private schools just increase tuitions. The families going there now are subsidized and the families who never had that option get nothing. Why are you doing this? Who gets benefit? The private schools and their owners.

Parents already have the choice in some parts of the state- not all- to put children in private schools. Most private schools have scholarships available for eligible low income families. Private schools are allowed to refuse children with special needs. We need to be supporting our public schools and their underpaid, tireless teachers and working to improve the quality of public schools.

Myra McNellie
Self
Nacogdoches, TX

Dear Representatives,

Thank you for the opportunity to express our opinions on House Bill 3, education savings accounts. We feel that this bill will overlook many Texans who will lose the benefits of a thorough education. Research shows that the most important element of learning is a well-qualified teacher who is able to share information and encourage creative thinking in an understandable way. Private school teachers are often under educated and assume all students learn alike.

Public schools have experts in learning assessments which are specific to student needs. Many students in our county need transportation to school which is available in public schools. Communities support their public schools proudly and are splintered into economic groups with private schools.

We strongly support public schools and ask you to vote against this attempt to again segregate schools,
Thank you.

Tobi Jackson
FWISD 1st Vice -President Board of Trustees
Fort Worth, TX

Please vote NO on public school vouchers. They dilute essential support for public schools, whose funding is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution that you swore an oath to support and defend. There are more than 5,000,000 children in public schools. At most, vouchers will only benefit about 10% of the Texas school children. We all know that "parent choice" is available in Texas currently. The concern about uncertified teachers in public schools is magnified in home schooling. The past practice of underfunding (no increase since 2019) demonstrates clearly a need to review and adequately fund public schools to support our future workforce. The students of today are the workforce of tomorrow. The proposed increased support of $210 per student is a false start, please look at 2019's funding upon which we are funded. Look in 2025 dollars and you will see >$8k Is comparable. $210 is clearly inadequate when the proposed diversion to private schools is $10,000 per student.

Thank you for taking the steps necessary to effect the improved education for the State's public school children that you claim, esp. when the federal government threatens to withdraw its support. Your vote will impact Texans for decades forward.

Virginia Braverman
Self - mother of HISD student & Design firm owner
Houston, TX

This bill does not represent the people of Texas or serve their needs. It's dictatorial and invasive. Vote NO!

Laura Bagheri
Self
Austin, TX

I'm a Texas native and a product of Texas public schools. Our state representatives have a duty to ensure public funds are used solely for public education. Texas public schools provided me and my children with the foundation to attend Texas State Universities and build successful careers—right here in Texas. They strengthen our economy and give every student the opportunity to contribute to our great state. Support Texas public schools, not private institutions. Do not subvert public funds for private schools and put public school funding and TRS at risk. Vote no on HB 3.

Sandy Bagwell
Self / Parent
Lubbock, TX

This bill overlooks Special Needs kids. Please consider rejecting and asking for a re-write. Private schools are not required to accept or accomodate our kids regardless of how much money is allowed them. Thank you, SB

Rebecca Godkin
Self, proofreader and copy editor
Dallas, TX

Please do not pass HB 3 and instead stand with the more than 5.5 million Texas students who attend public schools. Our schools need reform through more resources—like increased teacher pay and support for those with learning differences—not by removing funds to help those who already have enough. In my neighborhood alone, we have a huge range of HHIs and backgrounds represented, and all of our children are equally worthy and deserving of a good education. If we abandon Texas' public schools, what will happen to our students long term? Where will the future civil engineers, doctors, wise politicians, and leaders come from? Where will the funds for increased unemployment and welfare needs come from if we don't educate and empower the majority of our children to work hard and create new opportunities for themselves? Please reject the anti-education rhetoric of our current president and show that Texas has a bigger and better vision for our future.

Stacy Teet
Self
San Antonio, TX

Hello,

I am a constituent from San Antonio with three children in the public school system. I am writing to strongly oppose the establishment of an education saving account program. I support public schools and want all funding to go to public schools. The education savings account program would be greatly disproportionate to Texas students. All children should have access to the same education opportunities. Also, I do not support school vouchers.

Thank you

Robert Lawrence
Self, Public School Teacher
Lake Jackson, TX

I am requesting HB3 NOT pass out of committee. The state should be adequately funding our public schools and not diverting money to other institutions. Funding should be tied to inflation, based upon enrollment, and any mandates should be fully funded in addition to basic allotment. As a public school teacher and a parent of two children in public schools, I see and experience the challenges brought about by insufficient funding. The passage of HB3 will only exacerbate this problem and lead to a self-fulfilling prophesy of failing public schools. This puts most of our student population at risk especially those who are most vulnerable.

Carissa Vega
Self
San Antonio, TX

I strongly oppose House Bill 3 and urge lawmakers to reject this harmful legislation. School vouchers, no matter how they are framed, divert critical public funds away from our neighborhood schools, weakening the very foundation of Texas public education.

HB 3 is a voucher scam that disproportionately benefits private and religious schools at the expense of the 5.4 million students who rely on public schools. Instead of improving education, vouchers strip resources from already underfunded districts, particularly in rural communities, where public schools are often the only viable option.

Texans want strong public schools, not schemes that funnel taxpayer dollars into unaccountable private institutions. Private schools receiving voucher funds are not required to follow the same transparency, accountability, or non-discrimination standards as public schools. This means that taxpayer money could be used to support schools that deny admission to students based on disability, religion, or income level—further increasing inequality in education.

Furthermore, Texans have repeatedly rejected vouchers in past legislative sessions. Lawmakers should respect the will of their constituents and focus on fully funding our public schools, increasing teacher pay, and expanding resources for students with special needs rather than implementing a system that benefits a select few at the cost of the many.

Governor Abbott's voucher push is nothing more than a political maneuver that ignores the real needs of Texas families. I urge lawmakers to stand with Texas students, teachers, and communities by voting NO on HB 3.

Texas public schools deserve better.

Judy Malandrucolo
TARA - Retired Teacher
Plano, TX

Texans know that an Education Savings Account is just another name for Vouchers. Public taxpayer dollars should only go to public schools! Vouchers have proven to be disastrous in every state that has previously implemented them. Vouchers are taxpayer subsidies for rich parents whose kids already attend private schools. A voucher doesn't cover the price of a private school tuition. Not all children will be able to be accepted by many religious schools because of religious requirements, not to mention that most private schools have no ability to take care of disabled kids. Bus service is not given. If a voucher goes to a homeschooled child there is no accountability where the money will be spent. Certified teachers are not required in private schools or in charter schools, for that matter. There is no guarantee that your child will get a better education at a private school than a public school. More than half the counties in Texas have no other option for education than the neighborhood public school. Money for vouchers affect them, too... eventually starving their needed funds as well. Vouchers are a bad idea. I have studied this issue for years and know what I am talking about. There is a huge opportunity for fraud using a middleman to implement this whole program, and a grift for politicians to use pay to play vendors as well. Even the online school industry would lack accountability for taking your child's voucher, then disappearing. No accountability from the schools using the funds, as well as no similar system of testing as that of public schools will leave public schools without the full funding that they need.

Frances King
Self
Galveston, TX

Please do not pass this bill. As a tax payer, I do not want public schools refunded to prop up private institutions.

Brandi Cave
Self Daingerfield, TX

The people of Texas do not want vouchers/school choice. We also see plainly the corrupt politics involved in the forcing of this bill on us.

Elaine Boehme
Self
San Antonio, TX

Religious schools should not be beholden to the state. State money should operate state schools— secular state schools. If money is to be accepted by private schools, the schools should need to accept all students in their attendance zone, provide appropriate education for all students, provide busing, and require state mandated testing, immunizations, etc. In other words, it would need to be a level playing field. Religious teachings would not be required. Since this bill does not meet that criteria, it is not a proper use of taxpayer funds.

Deborah McKenzie, J.D.

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I, my parents, my siblings, and my children were educated in Texas public schools. Most of my grandchildren were public-school educated here as well, though 2 of them had brief -- and extremely unpleasant -- educational terms in 2 of Texas's private "Christian" schools. Please do not vote for this "education savings account" bill. I and most Texans oppose it, vehemently. For decades, under Republican rule, Texas has disgracefully underfunded its public schools. Always, whenever educators and parents pleaded for more funding for our public schools, Republicans told us that the state could not afford it. But now Governor Abbott and the majority of Republicans in the legislature are saying that the state CAN afford to pay $10,000 per student to families who are already wealthy enough to send their children to private school and are already doing so, as well as saying that the state can afford to pay $2,000 per student to families who financially able to have one stay-at-home parent who can homeschool their children. This means that, for years, Texas has had more than enough money to substantially increase its per-student funding to our public schools and deliberately chose not to do so. Why could the legislature and governor not have been sending $10,000-$12,000 per student to our public schools, instead of hoarding that money to send to private-school or homeschool education? The answer is clear: the majority party in the legislature hates public education, as does our governor, and they are stepping up their efforts to destroy it. Most private schools and homeschool-curriculum businesses are owned and operated by Christian nationalists who seek not so much to educate students as to indoctrinate them with a particular distorted version of Christianity, and that kind of indoctrination pleases many Texas politicians. Left out of this education-savings-account plan, and suffering directly from it, will be the children of the poor and working class, most black and brown children, the children of parents whose religion is something other than nationalistic Christianity, and children who live in rural areas where there are no private schools. And if this bill passes, it will be followed, every session, by more bills to further increase private-school funding and further chip away at public-school funding. Eventually, there will be a bill to subsidize private-school businesses in building and operating private schools in Texas. I suspect that this has long been the ultimate plan, bought and paid for by private-school oligarchs who make large campaign donations to those politicians who will shill for them in the legislature, in public, and in the governor's office. This is welfare for wealthy families and for the private-school industry, who do not need, and certainly do not deserve it. Texans do not exist in order to increase the profits of any private enterprise, including the private-school enterprise. Vote no. Please.

PAULA HALL
SELF/CPA
PLANO, TX

I am a product of the Texas public education system (Bowie County), having retired as a Certified Public Accountant. I have always held the belief that a strong public school education system is tantamount to a strong state economy.

My belief in the public school system continues today, as I am a volunteer twice per week as a reading assistant in a Plano ISD elementary school. I have seen first hand the benefits of the before-school reading program for children with dyslexia. I have also seen the number of dyslexia teachers drop from 2 to 1 ½ at this elementary school as Plano has had to cut teachers because of budget restraints.

I strongly oppose vouchers/education savings accounts for the following reasons:

- For public schools already strapped by inadequate funding, it makes no sense to subsidize private schools with public dollars.

More teachers & programs/services (like the dyslexia services I mentioned) will have to be cut. The basic allotment based on student attendance has not been adjusted for inflation since 2019 and therefore, our students are already underserved.

- The Texas Legislature has a constitutional duty to provide for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools. The Texas Constitution is also clear that public funding is not to support religious schools or the teaching of any faith. Vouchers will sap funds from public schools while at the same time undermine religious freedom for a very diverse student population here in Texas.

- As a former auditor, I believe in accountability and transparency. Private education is not accountable to the community. Private schools are not held to the same standards as public schools, in their governance or performance. The community has no say about educational quality, expenditures, or enrollment.

- Vouchers are often touted as offering a “choice” for parents. However, there is no guarantee for choice. Rural communities often do not have private schools so what is the choice there? Also, vouchers will rarely cover the entire cost of a private education so how does that provide a choice for lower income students?

Public education is one of the most important tools available to Texas to equip future leaders. Public education serves the public by preparing students for the workforce; providing a common base of skills like reading and writing; and transmitting core concepts about science and technology that will help students become self-sufficient members of the community. I believe that public schools should remain the cornerstone of our educational system, and I urge you to stand with our students, teachers, and communities by rejecting HB 3.

Ginger Russell
self
Magnolia, TX

I am opposed to this legislation. HB 3 is nothing more than another education vendor bill while the status quo experiments on children. I watched Republicans and Democrats alike vote for and pass bills that have created kids in public schools to fail. Now you want me to believe these same individuals now care that a great education is provided? This bill is a globalist scam in order to reign in all education under the same govt tent of control and data mining.

When you have govt preapproved vendors there is choice given. Vote NO on this Vendor Bill.

Ben Debayle
Wild Roots Collective, Texas Homeschool Organization
Saginaw, TX
Committee -

As a Texas resident, homeschool parent, and on behalf of our homeschool community, we are eager for school choice legislation, but CAN NOT support this bill UNTIL the bill removes its PRIVATE SCHOOL BIAS. This bill is really a "Private School Choice" bill and treats homeschooling and microschoools as second-class education options.

School choice legislation in other states like Florida does not have a private school bias and treats all education options equally. Texas should do the same.

To give $2k for homeschool and $10k for private school (5x more) can only mean one of two things:

A) The bill authors believe the quality of a private school education is 5x better than a homeschool education.

or

B) The bill authors believe homeschooling provides a quality education 5x more affordably than a private school education.

Which is it?

It can't be Option A since standardized test results consistently show homeschool students perform at least as well, if not better, than private school students.

And Option B is misinformed. It does not recognize how expensive homeschooling actually is. Homeschooling is very expensive when you consider the cost of one spouse choosing to stay home when they could be making an income for the household. The average salary in Texas is $60k. That means the decision to homeschool theoretically costs a family $60k plus additional education expenses for curriculum and experiences.

Giving $2k for homeschooling is insulting. It also will not enable anyone to homeschool that desires to, but financially can not. With limited private school capacity, the bill will not make homeschooling a real alternative for most families.

There are an estimated 750k homeschoolers in Texas. That's more than double the estimated 350k private schoolers in Texas.

I do not know a single homeschool family that supports this bill as written because of this bias. It's simply inferior to what other states have enacted.

I urge you to remove the public school bias from this bill and treat homeschool and microschoool options with equal treatment and funding. If this gets corrected, there will be a wave of support from your homeschool family constituents. We would be eager to support this legislation!

I am available and would be happy to speak about this with any of you.

Thank you for taking the time to hear us,

Ben Debayle
bdebayle@gmail.com
972-589-8839

Robert Grainger
Powered by People
San Antonio, TX

It is not practical to pull money from hard working Texans and give it to wealthy Texans. In other states that have changed the law, between 65 and 75% of the kids being able to get into private schools were already going to private schools. Another way to support the rich.

Margaret Coulon, Ms
Self RN Parent
Eules, TX

Stop vouchers. The program will give state money to the rich and will not provide quality verified education to children. Give the withheld funds to our public schools to educate every child. Once our schools were excellent but funding has dropped us from top to lower 40 of states. Texas govt should put our tax money to save all our children. Shame on you

Sarah Wheeler
Self
Colleyville, TX

Please raise the allotment for school funding. I am a retired teacher working part time with special education students daily. We do not have a full sized white board in our classroom. Schools are the glue that holds communities together, please fund our future leaders. Please help us set high expectations. The allotment should be raised by at least $3,000.

Craig Campbell
Retired self
Austin, TX

Reverse Robin Hood. Housing vouchers are usually 200% of the poverty level, it is not 500% in this school voucher program, which helps more wealthy people. My hunch is that it is about the income level of people who are already in private school. The income level doesn't capture wealth. Some people may own several houses, such as vacation homes. The State of Ohio provides a smaller voucher for higher-income people in a graduated manner.

marian strauss
Self
Georgetown, TX

No tax dollars going to private schools. This is a scam. Our kids deserve fully funded public schools.

Ellen Burch
Self
Houston, TX

CRT should be eliminated from all school curriculums. Teaching children division and hate is not what school was intended for, especially when the National and International scores for English, Math, and Science are the lowest among the top 40 industrial nations.

Mabel Tijerina
Self
Boerne, TX

This bill will affect the kids if Texas in a negative way! This will not allow for equal and fair education for ALL! Please consider not passing this bill in aid for every student in the public system which is far more than the students in private institutions. Do what is best for Texas children! Do not vote this bill in.

Catherine Crabe

Self

Austin, TX

I paid to put my son into a private Montessori school. I later took a job at a school, so I could get a tuition break for my child. I did that because I wanted a certain type of education for my child. But the whole time I did that, I was proud to pay taxes for public schools because I believe every child should have access to a quality free public education. Just because I chose a different route for my child, doesn't mean I have any right to demand that tax payers fund my personal school choice and deny desperately needed funds to public schools. Taxes should go to pay higher salaries for teachers and better facilities for public school, not to reimburse people who chose to not to use the public schools. People with no children pay for public schools. People with children in private schools should do the same. The public education of our children is the responsibility of every citizen. Each of us is free to use public schools if we wish, but all of us should pay for them. We are not paying for our children to attend any particular school, we are paying for the free education of all future citizens. They will grow up and pay for the future of all children that follow. Please vote against school vouchers. Please save our public schools, please save our rural schools. No to school vouchers! Thank you.

Linzy Foster

Self

Austin, TX

As a parent to two children in public schools and as the former PTA president to two elementary schools, I strongly oppose this bill. I do not support public funds going to private schools which are not held to the same standards and are permitted to discriminate against special education students. Public schools, when well funded, exceed expectations for student outcomes and for teacher retention. Please vote NO on this bill. The students of Texas deserve better.

Leigh Rowan

Self / Real Estate Agent

Spicewood, TX

I oppose House Bill 3 and its proposal to implement school vouchers in Texas. Public education is the foundation of a strong society, and it must remain fully funded and accessible to all children. Instead of diverting resources away from public schools, we should be working to strengthen and improve the system we already have. We need to ensure that every child in Texas has access to the resources, support, and opportunities they need to succeed, no matter their background.

Amanda Perkins

Eustace ISD

Eustace, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Stephanie Dolph
Self/entrepreneur
Dallas, TX

I am strongly opposed to school voucher programs because they divert essential public funds away from our public schools, weakening the education system that serves the vast majority of children. Public schools are a cornerstone of our communities, ensuring that every child—regardless of background or income—has access to a quality education. By funneling taxpayer dollars into private schools, often with little oversight, voucher programs exacerbate inequalities rather than providing real opportunities for all students. Voucher programs disproportionately benefit families who already have access to private education, rather than helping those in underserved communities. Many private schools that accept vouchers are not held to the same academic standards or accountability measures as public schools, meaning there is no guarantee that students receive a better education. Additionally, private schools can pick and choose their students, potentially discriminating based on income, ability, or other factors—something public schools are legally bound not to do.

Rather than diverting funds to private institutions, we should invest in strengthening our public schools by reducing class sizes, increasing teacher pay, and improving resources for students with special needs. Every child deserves access to a strong, well-funded public education, and school vouchers undermine that goal. Public dollars should support public schools, where they can benefit the most students, not be redirected to private institutions that lack accountability and inclusivity. Our focus should be on making public education better for everyone, not on subsidizing alternatives that leave many children behind.

Cindy Gomez
Self
El Paso, TX

Please vote no. This bill will negatively affect the public school system in Texas.

Vanessa Barker
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Public funds for PUBLIC SCHOOLS. No to vouchers. YES to funding public schools that uplift ALL children.

Christy Fair
Self
Lakeway, TX

Please vote against HB 3 and continue to fund our public schools for the sake of our communities, our youth, our future, our teachers... everything the American dream hopes for.

Karen Sams
Self
Weatherford, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to Texas House Bill 3. This bill is a misguided use of taxpayer dollars that will harm the vast majority of Texas students while benefiting only a select few.

HB 3 proposes a $1 billion voucher program that will serve only 100,000 students out of the 5.5 million in our public schools. According to the Texas Education Agency, there are only 25,000 available private school seats, meaning that 75,000 voucher recipients will already be attending private schools. This is nothing more than a taxpayer-funded subsidy for families who can already afford private education.

Furthermore, the program claims to prioritize low-income students, yet it defines "poverty level" as a household income of $160,000—an amount far beyond what most Texans would consider poverty. The reality is that this bill does little to expand opportunities for truly disadvantaged students, particularly in rural communities where private school options are scarce or nonexistent.

Public funds should be used to support public schools, which serve all students regardless of background, income, or location. Texas schools need better funding, resources, and support for teachers—not a scheme that diverts money to private institutions while leaving the majority of students behind.

I urge you to stand up for Texas public schools and vote against HB 3. Our students, teachers, and communities deserve better.

Hannah Bradfield
Self, physician
Missouri City, TX

This bill will take much needed funds away from public schools and will contribute to the down fall of the public education system in Texas. Public education is vital to advancing our state and growing our economy. Access to quality education allows for children to grow into productive adults who are able to get and keep a job which decreases dependence on federally and state funded welfare. By destroying public education you are going to further plunge people into poverty that they will not be able to climb out of through education and advancement. Anyone who wants to send their kid to a private school has the ability to do so with their own money, but it cannot be at the expense of our public schools. I grew up in the public school system in Texas in the 90's/early 2000s and am who I am today because of my ability to access quality public education. I am now a physician, treating kids, most of whom depend on public school as they do not have the money to pay for private school, live in a rural area without access to private schools, or have a disability that private schools are not required to accommodate. If you want our state to grow and thrive you must fully fund our public schools and not shunt funding so the wealthy can send their kids to private school. Please listen to the voices of the majority and don't destroy our great state in service of the wealthy few.

Linda Norris
Self/retired
Plainview, TX

I am against vouchers. It will destroy public education

Kendy Johnston
Self
Wichita Falls, TX

As a public school educator for 26 years I oppose any proposed bills that divert public funds to private schools via traditional school vouchers, Education Savings Accounts, business tax credits, special population vouchers, virtual vouchers, bracketed vouchers, etc. Instead, our elected leaders need to be held accountable for properly funding public education in an equitable way, so that students from every district in Texas are taught by highly qualified teachers and have the resources they need to learn and grow, no matter their location or their local property tax value. Vouchers/Education Savings Accounts, etc. divert public tax dollars to private schools that are not required to meet the same standards for assessment or FAPE for students with disabilities. Additionally, HB 3 does not prevent private schools from raising tuition costs, nor does it prevent private schools from denying student entry based on religion, special needs, etc. as testified during the HB 3 committee meeting today. There is little to no oversight for student achievement or fiscal expectations.

During the testimony today Senator Buckley asked Ms. Hanson, testifying in support of ESAs, if a private school should accept a student whose needs they cannot meet and she noted they should not. She noted that her school does not offer the same services that the local school district provides because it costs too much. The same cost, I'd like to note, that public schools are required to meet at severely underfunded rates at this time. Senator Buckley provided a medical analogy to public schools stating that public schools are often asked to be general practitioners and neurosurgeons at the same time. However, private schools will not be required to meet those same standards. This alone proves that private school vouchers will limit who can be admitted to private schools because the needs of the student will not diminish with a voucher system and private schools will continue to admit students based on an application process.

The legislature needs to focus on ensuring that we invest in EVERY child in public schools with our tax dollars. PUBLIC tax dollars should be used to fund PUBLIC schools. Public funds should NOT be used to provide funding for private or secular schools. With billions of dollars in surplus the Texas legislature needs to make Texas public education a top priority.

Please vote NO on education savings accounts, vouchers, etc.

Amy Salinas
Self - parent
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and do not want school vouchers to pass. Attention needs to be paid to our public schools where education should be available for all.

Ruth Torres
Self
Mesquite, TX

I am strongly opposed to the scam of vouchers that gives welfare to the wealthy that don't even attend public schools. This is a trillion dollar public land grab with zero accountability to anyone that wants to open a school, including foreign enemies of USA. We need to protect our kids not send them to religious organizations that doesn't have to background check workers, or have policies or cameras that protect kids specially after decades of sexual abuse to kids - now we should just hand them kids! No! We need accountability and transparency with tax dollars. We need to improve our schools by proper funding. GOP has been in control over 30 years in Texas. GOP owns all education deficiencies and don't get to blame teachers or DEMS.

All those that sell out our children and their constituents with a vote for vouchers won't have to worry about a GOP primary opponent bc the people will vote them out in the general election and flip Texas to Democrats.

This agenda to undermine Brown v Board of Ed to return us to a segregated society will backfire.

May the Lord remove Greg Abbott and every corrupt politician from office together. Isaiah 10:1-4

Celinda Castro
Self, teacher
Corp Christi, TX

I strongly oppose this bill as a parent and teacher.

Angela Cardenas
Self
Lubbock, TX

ESA's will benefit only a tiny percentage of Texas students. Data shows the major of students who use vouchers will have already been enrolled in private schools. The billion dollars that would be spent to subsidize 1% of students would be better spent on our public schools. Vouchers are not fiscally conservative and will harm our states public schools. Vote no on HB 3

Linda Zimmermann, Ms
Self- Retired
Austin, TX

Establishing an educational savings is a very costly program to benefit a few wealthy students who can afford to send their children to any school they prefer. This action will severely weaken Texas Public Schools. I don't wish to spend my tax dollars on this obvious attempt to re-segregate and punish the public schools in Texas.

Genevieve Zucchetto
Self - manager
Lakeway, TX

I will for the rest of my life, and so will my husband, vote against any politician who supports school vouchers and takes money away from our public schools.

Christina Smith
self
Buda, TX

fund texas public schools, we've been struggling for the last 5 years because Abbott will not release funds we need. School districts across the state are facing major budget deficits because the governor is tying school funding with vouchers.

Misty Davis

Self- public school parent and librarian

Carrollton, TX

Public $ needs to be spent on public schools. I am a product of public schools and a first generation college graduate. I worked full time to pay my own college tuition because my parents couldn't afford to help with those expenses. Even with a voucher, my family would not have made enough to send me to one of the few private schools in my hometown and MANY families across Texas live in places where there are no private schools. I now work at an elementary Title 1 campus of over 700 students and I know these families do not have the means to pay the difference in private school tuition in the suburban Dallas areas; these kids need the best and brightest educators to close the achievement gap but they are getting burned out and exhausted teachers who are burdened with huge classes and unrealistic workloads and expectations. I personally work from 7-4:30 most days on campus, then come home and work on the school's social media accounts and website. I run morning announcements, help kindergarten with lunch time, meet with 40 classes of students in the library including planning and prepping those lessons, shelve books for 700+ students, I'm in charge of 1:1 devices for all of these students, I help with dismissal everyday and I'm also the campus MAP testing coordinator because our HUGE elementary school only has 1 assistant principal due to lack of funding. Our district is closing 4 campuses this year since we haven't had an increase in per student spending since 2019, which was already abysmal compared to other states. Next year we are slated to have over 800 students. Learning does not happen when class sizes are huge in elementary school. Teachers are simply doing their best to manage behaviors while also feeding and clothing these children and buying their supplies because their families do not send them. Our teachers and students deserve better. Our public school students are worth as much as a private school student. Why are we getting just over 6k when private school kids are getting 10k vouchers? Why is my public school son only worth a fraction of a private school kid? Private schools get to choose which students attend. My son has severe combined ADHD so even if we wanted to send him to a private school, they would most likely not have the resources to accommodate him and deny his application. Furthermore, public schools are required to assess students within the district for possible learning disabilities even if that child doesn't attend. This takes more time and resources away from the students in our public schools. Private schools can expel students for behavior, and those kids come back to public schools but their vouchers have already been given to a private school so now the public school will be serving this child with special needs who needs additional resources for $0. If you truly have the best intentions and our children's interests at heart, I implore you to vote NO on vouchers and give public schools a fighting chance.

Caroline Wilson

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose taking public funds away from public schools.

Nancy Gernold Gernold

Self

Tomball, TX

I am opposed to this program for the following reasons:

1. Private schools are not subject to the same standards as public schools. If we are going to fund these schools, then the standards should be the same.
2. Public schools are grossly underfunded. The per student allotment absolutely must be increased before we should consider diverting funds to private schools. IF NOT, YOU ARE SETTING UP PUBLIC SCHOOLS FOR FAILURE!!!

Jae' Ortiz

Self

Victoria, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Mary Serff

Self

Austin, TX

Under this bill will LEA dollars continue to provide private school students with Full Individual Evaluations and proportionate share resources? Will private schools be asked to administer state accountability tests and be subject to the same monitoring and enforcement that public schools face? There are not equal opportunities to attend private or home school programs. How is this equitable? I disagree with a school savings account program diverting tax dollars away from public schools.

Karina Rabinowitz

Self, psychologist

Austin, TX

*Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Karina Rabinowitz

Marina Roberts

Self, grant writer

Austin, TX

I oppose vouchers in any form. This is stealing from public schools and bankruptcy the education of children.

Kaitlyn Kash

Self

Austin, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, the largest and most expensive school voucher scheme ever proposed in Texas. This bill takes taxpayer dollars meant for public schools and redirects them to private schools that lack transparency, accountability, and equal access for all students.

Public tax dollars should support public schools, which serve every child, regardless of ability, income, or background. Texas lawmakers have not increased the basic per-student funding allotment for public schools since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and a record budget surplus. If there is money in the budget for education, our priority should be fully funding public schools first—ensuring teacher raises, better resources for students, and improvements to school infrastructure—before sending tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

Furthermore, HB 3 does not even prioritize the students who need the most support. It allows families already in private schools—including those making over $200,000 per year—to receive taxpayer-funded vouchers. Wealthy families will get a discount on private school tuition while public schools lose funding, harming the vast majority of Texas students.

This bill also fails students with disabilities. While HB 3 offers larger voucher amounts for special education students, private schools are not required to accept them or provide the necessary services. Public schools are legally required to serve all children, yet HB 3 shifts funding away from them to schools that are not obligated to meet these needs.

Texas public schools educate more than 5.4 million students—far more than private institutions ever will. If we truly care about education, we should be investing in strong, well-funded public schools that serve everyone, rather than subsidizing private schools that can pick and choose their students.

HB 3 is bad for Texas families, bad for students, and bad for our public schools. I urge legislators to reject this costly and irresponsible voucher scheme and instead invest in fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education.

Thank you, Kaitlyn

Kristen Escovedo

Self - Texas Public School parent and former public school employee

FORT WORTH, TX

Public schools benefit all Texans: Both those who have kids attending those schools and those who don't. Our founders knew that an educated society is a strong society, which is why they laid out a plan to find schools for ALL children. Proponents of this bill keep saying it will provide parents with choice, but the truth is, parents already have a choice. Most districts now offer choice programs, which allow students to attend campuses outside of their attendance zones. In addition, many districts now offer out of district transfers. Parents can choose Charter schools, private schools, or to home school. Choice isn't the issue. The issue is providing taxpayer funding for private and religious schools with no accountability attached. It is despicable that Governor Abbott has withheld funding for public schools in an effort to pass this bill. He is holding funding hostage, creating even more strain on public school budgets. Vouchers (or education savings accounts) will not decrease the burden on taxpayers. It will, however have a negative effect on public schools. Our public schools are tasked with numerous unfunded mandates, none of which would apply to schools receiving the funds allocated by this bill. I encourage you to listen to your constituents and vote No on HB 3 and demand that public schools be fully funded before any amount of taxpayer money is spent for private schools, who are not held to the same standards and who are not required to educate every student. Thank you.

Monica Camacho

Self

Austin, TX

I am against the bill , even do my son goes to private school because it was OUR choice i dont support

Jaime Thompson
Self, Public Relations
Austin, TX

I depend on our wonderful public schools to provide special education services for my visually impaired daughter. With the federal government actively gutting the Department of Education, I am concerned that our school district will lose funding for special education and negatively affect our daughter's ability to have an equal education to her peers.

Audrey Ash, Dr
Self - educator
Burkburnett, TX

I am against HB3 and would appreciate if our legislators truly listened to their constituents across the state. This is a priority of our Governor and not a priority of the people.

The lie circulating that public schools get $15,000 per student is ludicrous. That figure is based on a time when we had federal ESSER funding that is no longer flowing to public schools.

Again, I am against HB3.

Thank you,
Audrey Ash

Holly Torres
Self
Arlington, TX

I strongly oppose the bill for school vouchers. It takes away crucial funding for public schools. I have kids in public school and many homeschool parents also oppose this bill. I have kids in public school & many homeschool parents also oppose this bill. And I know the governor has touted that football funding will not be affected. This concerns me because education is way more important than worrying about football funding. We need to focus public money on public schools.

Gail MacCartney
Self, retired
Lago Vista, TX

I oppose the voucher program. We need to represent all Texas children and fund our public schools fully as well as paying our educators well. This plan is proven not to work in other states. Public dollars for public education

Autumn Keiser self - Senior Director of Marketing and Communications
Austin, TX

I am writing in opposition to HB 3. As a 6th generation Texan and a parent of two kids educated in Texas public schools, I've followed this issue closely for many years and am sad to see it continue to arise knowing the damage it will do to schools, teachers, communities and the millions of Texas children who depend on them to become the future of this great state. Honorable officials, this effort has failed again and again and again because it is a bad idea. Voters and elected officials have passed on vouchers after doing the math and weighing the risks and rewards - finding them both to be bad deals for most Texans. Not without millions of outsider and ideologically driven dollars has this idea remained on life support, and it's a shameful act to push it through despite all of the above. Yet, here we are. And voters know that you know that there can be no school choice when most counties don't even have a private school alternative and even fewer have one that will accept all kids regardless of their abilities and challenges. And voters know that you know that will end up hurting kids who are already hurting most. Republicans have had 30 years of power in this state, and it seems to have prioritized cruelty and misery over all else, and now that will include dimming Friday Night Lights and the future dreams of what should be our greatest resource: kids. I ask that you reconsider passing this bill or any other bill that steals from public schools to enrich those who already have plenty more than most folks in this state. Thank you.

Kathryn Caulkins

Self

Mullin, TX

Subject: Opposition to Texas House Bill 3 – School Vouchers Harm Texas Children

I am writing to express my strong opposition to Texas House Bill 3 regarding school vouchers. While proponents claim that vouchers offer more educational opportunities, they ultimately harm Texas children and our public education system. Here are five key reasons why:

1. Diverts Public Funds from Public Schools – Vouchers take taxpayer money away from public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students. Instead of improving struggling schools, this bill would weaken them further by reducing funding.
2. Lack of Accountability for Private Schools – Unlike public schools, private schools receiving vouchers are not held to the same academic standards, teacher certification requirements, or financial transparency, making it difficult to ensure quality education.
3. Exacerbates Educational Inequality – Vouchers primarily benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition, while low-income students are often left with insufficient funds to cover tuition and other costs. This worsens existing disparities rather than addressing them.
4. Fails to Guarantee Better Educational Outcomes – Studies from states with voucher programs show mixed to negative results in student achievement. Public schools have more oversight, support systems, and experienced educators dedicated to student success.
5. Undermines Rural Schools – In rural areas, where private school options are limited or nonexistent, vouchers provide no real choice. Instead, they drain resources from the only available educational institutions—public schools that serve entire communities.

Texas should focus on strengthening public education, increasing teacher pay, and ensuring all children have access to high-quality schools rather than diverting funds to private institutions with little oversight. I urge you to vote against HB 3 and invest in solutions that truly benefit Texas students.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Kathryn Caulkins

603 CR 508

Mullin, TX 76864

Valerie Moreno

Self

Buda, TX

I do not support allocating Public School Funds to Private Schools! Public Education is under funded as it is!! Do more for public schools!

Catherine Jones

Self

Austin, TX

I am a Texas, public education teacher. Both of my children have gone through the public school system. I have spent the last 26 years, giving my heart and soul to students and parents and staff. It is in the best interest of our state to provide equal access to education for all students. It is not okay to cater to the wealthy and leave behind the rest. By taking away funding for public schools, we are creating the haves and the have nots. We are creating more division in our state amongst class and economic status. Even with a $10,000 voucher, that does not allow all students the opportunity to go to private school. It's basically a coupon to give a discount to those people who can already afford private school. And what about the students who need special education or who need special programs? Private schools don't provide those programs nor do they have to. I would really hate to see our state become an uneducated state because we did not prioritize teaching those students who need extra help. Those children are not going to just go away. They are going to become part of our system and it will bring our state down. I am so saddened and disappointed with our representatives who are voting for the voucher system. It is not in the best interest of anyone in our state. Again, we are giving a coupon to the people who would like to have their children at a private school. It does not cover the cost of the entire year of private school. And while we're talking about that, let's talk about transportation. How are these kids getting to school? Oh if they have a parent who has to go to work and can't bring them to school, they can't go to a private school? That seems fair. So now we're providing school for students whose parents can drive them to school because they don't have to work. Again the haves and have nots. And what about after school care? Are we only catering to those students whose parents can pick them up after school? Private schools don't have after school care. The entire idea is based off of a system that is intended to benefit some, but not all. I don't care if you're a Republican or a Democrat. I do care if you care about children and their future. The voucher system is not best for the future of all children

Laura Griggs

Myself public education

San Angelo, TX

No vouchers

Julie Clements

Self, Principal

Houston, TX

Public money (taxes) should not be used for private education. Public funds can't be used to repair my broken driveway because they are for public roads. They can't be used to upgrade my backyard landscaping because they are dedicated for public parks. They can't be used to pay for my alarm system because they are used for our police officers. Public funds cannot be used for private school because they should pay for our constitutionally designed public schools. Fully fund public education!

Kelly Fair Fair

Citizen

Cypress, TX

Say no to vouchers. And fund PUBLIC education.

Norma Herrera Herrera

Self

Spring, TX

If these school vouchers pass, this will most likely lead to Texas becoming a BLUE state. These vouchers will cripple Texans and our future leaders, children. This is obviously a ploy to keep middle and working class down. There is no proof or guarantee that these vouchers will go to every household or how much will be given or for how long we will receive them. Keep our money in OUR schools! The other states that are already partaking in this practice are not successful. This will significantly hurt special needs children. We already have the choice to homeschool or select private schools. The fact that we don't proves that WE CANNOT AFFORD TO!!!

Kellen Gildersleeve

Self - RN

Austin, TX

As a Texan mom to a neurodivergent 4 year old, I am against HB 3. This is an unpopular initiative meant to undermine public education and funnel public money into the pockets of private citizens. This is one industry that will only deteriorate with the insertion of the profit motive. Texas is already embarrassing compared to the rest of the nation when it comes to the quality of our education. Please don't make it worse. Vote against HB 3

Eden Barrera, Mr.

Self Programmer

Houston, TX

My name is Eden Barrera, and I live in zip code 77084. Thank you for serving on the public education committee. I ask that you vote no to HB3, SB2, or any voucher/ESA bill and instead prioritize fully funding public schools first by enrollment rather than attendance, increase the basic allotment by $1300 to catch up with inflation, and support strong teacher and staff pay raises. This bill allows people making above $160,000 to apply such that the richest families may benefit. Our tax dollars should support all students, not just a select few. Please prioritize strong public schools for all Texas children. Thank you for your time.

Catherine Parsley

self

Dallas, TX

I am writing to register my opposition to HB3 (and school voucher bills in general). I am a taxpayer who was educated in Texas public schools and know their value. Taking public money and funneling it to private schools is not a solution to our poor educational standings. If you want to improve our schools, pay our teachers and fund our programs in public schools. Not only is funneling the money away from public schools an issue, the private schools who would receive the money can discriminate against students without consequence. All of our students deserve a high-quality education, whether they live near private schools or are "good enough" to get into private schools or not. This bill does not benefit our students and our population as a whole and should not be passed. Thank you.

Jessica Martin

Self - photographer

Austin, TX

The proposed school voucher bill in Texas is nothing more than welfare for the wealthy, dressed up as "school choice." At a time when our public schools are struggling with overcrowded classrooms, teacher shortages, and inadequate funding, diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions—many of which cater to affluent families—is an insult to the communities that actually depend on public education.

Vouchers do not create more opportunities for all students; they simply subsidize private school tuition for those who can already afford it while draining resources from the very schools that serve the majority of Texas families. Public funds should be strengthening public schools, not padding the pockets of elite institutions that can reject students at will. If lawmakers truly cared about education, they'd be investing in better teacher pay, updated school facilities, and fully funded special education programs—things that actually help students succeed.

This bill is not about helping kids; it's about shifting money away from the public good and into private hands. Texas students and families deserve better.

Vanessa Aguillon

Self

Dallas, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully paid for by local, state, and federal funds. Tax payer funds should not go to vouchers for private schools, especially without the same accountability as public schools.

Robin Gajeske

Self

Bellville, TX

As a teacher I see first hand what the lack of funding effects in public schools. Lack of adequate facilities, resources, and programs needed for students to be successful. The lack of funding has shifted public schools into a race for the amount of attendance to get the scraps of funding we do get, we have lost focus on the student themselves and what they need to be successful or the ability to find the reason why they aren't being successful, because we are so focused on getting them in a "seat" to count towards the money per day. Those who have chosen private have found the ability to pay for it, it is their "choice" to leave public and seek their child's education somewhere else for whatever the reason. Why should we punish those who stay to learn or teach in public schools due to that families choice to leave and pay for their education. Private school have no real standards to hold them accountable, they have private donors who help fund their schools, why should my tax dollars go to them instead of the public school system, where those families 90% of the time don't have a choice to leave. Instead of giving more money to the already privileged, we give more money to the programs and schools that bring those kids in public schools as more of the private school students equals and give them every opportunity the private schools get.

Elizabeth Molter

Self /former public school teacher

Midland, TX

I have submitted numerous comments on this issue. It has been railroaded through our state government at a speed train pace. I found out this today: I have asked three families of my former students. Great families raising good and successful kids in public school. They all have no idea this is happening now! They say NO TO VOUCHERS! Surprise!!!

Amy Woodell, Mrs

Self

Austin, TX

The majority of Texans do not want vouchers. Do not pass this bill return it to committee. It is estimated to cost between $1-$4 Billion to implement and dole out. Wouldnt it be much easier to increase the basic student allotment by $1300 for public school children? Many public schools are doing well. Let's not 'bleed these dry' with unfunded mandates and basic allotments not pegged to inflation. 3 special sessions last legislative sessions where vouchers were voted down each time. Please stop ignoring your constituents. Most of do not want vouchers. We want our public schools funded!

Hollie Jenkins

self, parent

Austin, TX

Texans clearly do not want vouchers- voters on both sides of the aisle know it's a bad deal. Our public schools face many challenges, but with fully restored funding, they can meet those challenges and educate our Texas kids to their potential. Please vote to FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS and VOTE NO on any voucher/ ESA bill. I vote and this matters to me. Thank you.

Bethany Cone

Self / salesperson & mother to my children

Dallas, TX

Please keep our dollars in public schools. Every single child deserves the opportunity for an excellent education.

eileen davern, mrs.

self

Austin, TX

i am against school vouchers! it will hurt our public schools and all the services they provide

Joan Lege-krebs

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3 and any other voucher bills and would like to see public schools remain fully funded in Texas and our tax dollars supporting them. This type of program in other states has exploded into very expensive program with no proven benefit, that results also in defunding schools in vulnerable communities.

Hilary Toma

Self

The Woodlands, TX

As a parent with a child in Texas public schools, I am heavily invested in ensuring Texas public schools are properly funded. I do not support education savings accounts or school vouchers. My taxpayer funds should not be used to pay parents to send their kids to private schools. Use those funds to adequately fund all public schools and increase teacher salaries.

Sue Woodson

SELF--retired

Galveston, TX

State Subsidizing of Private Schools

HB 3 is an outrage. I do not condone using my tax dollars to subsidize private schools. I particularly object to being forced to support religious schools. Would any religions be accepted? If a student chose to attend an Islamic madrasa, would that school be eligible for this program? In Texas, public schools are the only venue we have where all our children can learn a shared understanding of the rights and duties of good citizen in a democratic country. We need a common core curriculum for all Texas schools!

And the amount of money the state would award isn't enough to cover tuition. Thus, lower income families would never be able to benefit from this program. Intentionally or unintentionally the program would lead to a class-based education system.

This is not the America I grew up in! Stand up! And vote nc nnHBBnknkncv

Charles McCollum, Mr.

self

Austin, TX

"NO ON Texas House Bill 3: A Disaster for Public Schools, A Windfall for the Wealthy

Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) isn't about helping students. It's about robbing public schools to fund private institutions that aren't accountable to taxpayers. This bill, spearheaded by Representative Brad Buckley, is nothing more than a corporate handout masquerading as "school choice." And let's be clear: school choice isn't about giving parents more options—it's about defunding public schools and shifting resources to private entities that can pick and choose their students.

This is the Arizona Disaster, Now in Texas

Texas lawmakers should take a hard look at Arizona, where a universal voucher program turned into a financial black hole. Originally projected to cost $65 million, the program ended up ballooning to $900 million in just two years, draining public school budgets and delivering zero measurable academic improvement. What did taxpayers get for their money? Private schools pocketed millions while public schools were left scrambling to keep the lights on. [1]

A Texas study predicts that the cost of this program will skyrocket to over $8 billion by 2029, all while rural public schools—which don't even have private schools as an alternative—are left to rot. How is this anything but a direct attack on public education? [2]

A Direct Attack on Rural Texas

For rural communities, HB 3 is a death sentence. Most rural areas don't have private schools, so these funds won't "follow the student." Instead, they'll be siphoned out of already struggling school districts. That means fewer teachers, outdated textbooks, and schools forced to cut arts, sports, and essential programs. Schools that serve as the heart of their communities will be starved of funds while wealthier suburban families collect taxpayer dollars to send their kids to elite private academies. [3]

A Handout for the Privileged

Let's not pretend this is about helping low-income students. Data from other states show that most voucher recipients are students who were already in private school—meaning taxpayers are just footing the bill for wealthier families. In North Carolina, 75% of voucher recipients never set foot in a public school to begin with. [4] This is a welfare program for the rich, dressed up in fake concern for struggling students.

No Accountability, No Oversight, No Standards

Public schools answer to taxpayers. They're required to hire certified teachers, meet state curriculum standards, and report test results. Private schools? None of the above. They can:

Refuse students based on income, disability, or religious beliefs

Teach whatever they want—including curricula that do not meet Texas education standards

Shut down or mismanage funds with zero accountability...NOT ACCEPTABLE!!!!

Veronica Ramirez, Na

Self

San Antonio, TX

Against school vouchers for their propensity to contribute inequity and lack of opportunity for the poor

Tracie Morgan
Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc
Elgin, TX

I strongly oppose House Bill 3 (HB3) in Texas, as it undermines the future of our public education system by pushing for private school vouchers instead of increasing vital support for our public schools. This bill is a step backward for our children and communities, as it diverts much-needed funds from public schools that are already struggling with limited resources and underpaid teachers.

Instead of creating voucher programs that primarily benefit private institutions, we should be focusing on strengthening our public schools—ensuring that every child, regardless of their background or learning needs, has access to a high-quality education. This means increasing funding for public schools, providing fair wages for teachers, and investing in the necessary resources to create better learning environments for all students. A strong public education system is the foundation of a thriving society, and Texas should be investing in its schools, not abandoning them.

Additionally, we must consider the needs of students with learning disabilities, particularly those with dyslexia and those on 504 plans. While private schools may be seen as an option for some families, not all private institutions have the resources or trained staff to support students with learning differences. Children with dyslexia or 504 plans often require specialized instruction and accommodations, which are not guaranteed in private schools. Excluding these children from the option of private schools that could meet their needs only creates additional barriers to their education.

Moreover, we cannot ignore the reality that not all families have access to transportation to get their children to and from private schools, especially in rural or underserved areas. For many parents, even if a private school could provide a better educational experience for their child, the financial and logistical burden of transportation makes that option impractical or impossible.

Rather than diverting funds to private school vouchers, Texas should prioritize policies that strengthen our public schools—providing all students with the opportunity to succeed, regardless of their learning needs or family circumstances. It's time to put the focus on improving our public education system, ensuring that every child has access to the resources, support, and opportunities they deserve. I urge our lawmakers to reject HB3 and invest in public schools, which are the foundation of our children's futures and the future of Texas.

Jesus Villa
Self
Leander, TX

I want to say no to vouchers.

Rafaela Martinez
SELF
DALLAS, TX

I believe in public schools. I was raised by the many amazing teachers in public schools and offer my full support in making their lives and their students lives more fruitful.

Nancy Sharp, Ms.

self

Lubbock, TX

I oppose the establishment of Education Savings Accounts as currently proposed in HB3. The same accountability safeguards must be required of any entity taking ESA funds by requiring the exact same academic and financial accountability measures to which independent public schools adhere. Public dollars require public accountability. To allow anything less, is not a conservative position.

Ilana Levi

Self

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Kristen Patterson

Self

Argyle, TX

I am opposed to HB 3 and ask this committee to vote "No." Educational Savings Accounts are, essentially, vouchers. The public is being told this gives them choice. What choice? We already have the freedom to choose: public; public online; charter, private, and homeschool. The options are clearly defined in the bill, and all of them are choices for state approved schools and curriculum vendors, making this a Vouchers for Vendors bill. The problems we face in primary and secondary education are not really about money, not for the individuals. The problems are things like standardized testing. Vouchers for Vendors will further tie once, truly private schools and homeschoolers to those state created problems.

I am someone who does think competition would be good for all schools, but I have learned, in these last years of homeschooling my own children, that public schools have their hands tied to standardized tests. Now the state would like to level the playing field by tying private schools and homeschoolers to those same requirements. The argument against the point I make here is that we can choose to not participate, but that is not the choice you are selling. The more vendors and school options that do align with state requirements, the less free choice there will be.

The only way for us to truly change this situation is for all of us to take responsibility and create something better, without state funds. The only role state government should play is in creating laws that incentivize us, the individuals, to do just that, which is the opposite of finding money outside of public school funds and using a new bureaucracy with both elected and unelected officials choosing who gets those funds.

Freedom is where innovation thrives. Please vote "no" on HB 3.

Katherine Martinez

Self

San Antonio, TX

Please do not vote for HB3 . It would not be equitable to families who live in rural areas. Thank you for representing your constituents honestly.

Cathryn Ortiz

self

Lubbock, TX

Dear Members,

My name is Cathryn Ortiz, and I am a student teacher from Lubbock, Texas. I am submitting this comment to urge the committee to support policies that strengthen student teacher programs and provide necessary funding and resources for future educators. Student teachers play a vital role in Texas classrooms, gaining hands-on experience under the guidance of experienced educators while helping to meet the needs of students. However, many student teachers face financial hardships due to the unpaid nature of their work, making it difficult for talented individuals to pursue a career in education. Texas is already facing a significant teacher shortage, and without support for student teachers, we risk losing a new generation of dedicated educators before they even enter the workforce.

To address this, I strongly encourage policies that:

Provide stipends or financial assistance for student teachers to alleviate the burden of working without pay.

Offer mentorship and support programs that ensure student teachers receive quality training and guidance.

Expand partnerships between universities and school districts to create smoother pathways for student teachers to transition into full-time teaching positions.

Investing in student teachers is an investment in the future of Texas education. Strengthening these programs will help ensure that we have well-prepared, passionate teachers in our classrooms for years to come. I urge you to take action to support policies that provide financial and structural support to student teachers across the state.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Cathryn Ortiz

Lubbock, TX

Dear Members of the [House Committee Name],

My name is [Your Name], and I am a [Your Role, e.g., public school librarian, educator, concerned citizen] from [Your City], Texas. I am submitting this comment to urge the committee to support policies that strengthen student teacher programs and provide necessary funding and resources for future educators.

Student teachers play a vital role in Texas classrooms, gaining hands-on experience under the guidance of experienced educators while helping to meet the needs of students. However, many student teachers face financial hardships due to the unpaid nature of their work, making it difficult for talented individuals to pursue a career in education. Texas is already facing a significant teacher shortage, and without support for student teachers, we risk losing a new generation of dedicated educators before they even enter the workforce.

To address this, I strongly encourage policies that:

Provide stipends or financial assistance for student teachers to alleviate the burden of working without pay.

Offer mentorship and support programs that ensure student teachers receive quality training and guidance.

Expand partnerships between universities and school

Lindsay Rose
Northwest ISD PTA
Fort Worth, TX

I've speaking against this since I first started hearing about, but yet feels like too many of our leaders can only hear the coins jingling in their pockets over this politically charged topic.

While statistics and quotes may be shared about the benefits of this plan, they are all politically fueled and short sighted. At the end of the day, more than 80% of Texas students attend public schools and this bill will no doubt cause significant harm to our public school system. Without a strong public school system, our homes decrease in value, crime increases, and good people move elsewhere in search of a better life. Those who oppose this bill, which is the VAST MAJORITY OF TEXANS, do so without regard to their political beliefs. They stand on both sides of the aisle united AGAINST this bill which will destroy our public schools. VOTE NO.

Dean Crooks
Self Retired parent of a 10th grader
Gilchrist, TX

I am a conservative and strongly opposed to HB3 (and SB2). I do believe in school choice and most importantly freedom, but HB3 is not truly about that. HB3 is about money and, eventually control. Control which has, in recent decades, hurt public schools far more than it has ever helped. Why then would we want this for private schools or homeschool children? There will be no new choices for Texans if HB3 (or anything close to it) becomes law. We Texans, of all stripes, know this and we know that this is being shoved down our throats.

I can't understand why so many legislators are pushing HB3 so hard!

I mean, the Legislature has oversight on the Texas Education Agency and the T.E.A. has oversight on the public schools. If passed, there are no new choices for Texas parents that they didn't already have without HB3. The only new thing for parents is, if selected, they might be eligible for thousands in tax dollars every year towards private education or homeschooling.

Therefore, the essence of the message I hear is that the Texas State government screwed up our public schools so bad, they are now willing to pay people to go to private schools or homeschool. Since they are in charge of Texas Public Schools, wouldn't the simpler and more logical solution be for the Tx Legislature and the T.E.A. to work towards fixing them, and maybe themselves?

Furthermore, if they can't improve public schools, then why would we want more government and more intervention into the private schools and homeschooling, coupled with a price tag of billions more in taxpayer money?

My own State Representative, Terri Leo-Wilson has said she will support this inspire of overwhelming opposition in her own District. I have heard the same about several other State Representatives and Senators across Texas. This is unconscionable! Perhaps they are the product of a poor school growing up because they clearly do not understand the term "Representative". I am not intending to be insulting, but how insulting is it when someone makes promises to shrink government, lower taxes, and represent the needs and desires of those citizens in their district and then get told that they won't.

EITHER VOTE "NO" ON HB3 OR VOTE TO SEND IT VIA A REFERENDUM FOR A TEXAS CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT IN THE NEXT ELECTION. Let We the People of Texas decide on the merits of the Bill, not merely the title of the Bill. Please do not dictate, but serve.

Charlotte McHale, Mrs.
Self, Techer
Houston, TX

School savings programs are pointless and will successfully deny those less fortunate the opportunity to attend any private school. Private schools are allowed under the law to be selective, and will subsequently increase their tuition fees, which means that the money dispensed for this supposed innovation in Texas education will be wasted- it will only provide a discount for already-astronomical private school tuitions. This is Abbott's endeavor to eliminate public education, which is a vital service to Texas students, especially those who depend on it not just for education, but for child care, transportation and enrichment programs for children whose families cannot afford private school tuition to begin with. Please vote no to HB 3 to meet the needs of all constituents, not just the wealthy few whose lives won't change as if this farce of a piece of legislation passes.

Melinda Bridges

Self

Mansfield, TX

Vote NO to any school voucher bill! Bad for Texas students and teachers! Give public schools what my taxes are meant to give public schools. Pay for TEACHERS not administration!

Taciana Hardmon

Self - Mother of School aged children

Houston, TX

As a mother of children in public schools, I worry a voucher program would strip vital funds away from already cash-strapped public schools. Also, there is no clear process for financial oversight or for requiring private schools to report student test scores or meet the same academic standards as public schools. Lastly, studies in multiple states have shown that vouchers do not consistently lead to improved standardized test scores for low-income students. Therefore, HB 3 should not be passed into Texas law.

Holly Cheek

Self/homemaker

Houston, TX

I homeschool and am opposed to this bill.

Grace Thompson, Miss

Self

Beaumont, TX

No to HB 3!!! Fully fund public schools!

Susan Sandles

Myself

LEWISVILLE, TX

I am against it

Michael Holland

Self

Cedar park, TX

Please do not support giving public tax money to private organizations. We have a education department already, let's improve what we have and not put our future with private organizations that are focused on profits and not education

Maria Andrews

Self

Shenandoah, TX

Texas must stand firm in its commitment to public education. School voucher programs would divert much-needed funding from public schools, weaken accountability, increase inequality, and offer no real solutions for rural or low-income students. Rather than taking resources away from public education, Texas should invest in improving its schools so that every child, regardless of background, has access to a quality education.

The Texas Public Does Not Support School Vouchers

Time and time again, Texans have rejected school voucher proposals. Recent polling shows that a majority of Texas voters oppose using taxpayer dollars to fund private education. The Texas Legislature has repeatedly declined to pass voucher bills, recognizing the devastating effects they would have on public schools. Instead of promoting an unpopular and damaging policy, lawmakers should focus on fully funding public schools, increasing teacher pay, and ensuring that all Texas children—regardless of ZIP code—receive a high-quality education.

I urge you to oppose any school voucher legislation and instead prioritize strengthening our public school system. Texas students, families, and communities deserve nothing less.

Lisa Shaffer

Self

Plano, TX

I currently have two sons attending public schools in Plano TX. Both of my sons receive special education services. They have been receiving these services since elementary. We have been fortunate to have excellent teachers and staff support our children throughout this time and without them our sons would not be thriving. We did look into a private education for our sons. We found that not only was the cost astronomical, our local schools could offer equal opportunities without enduring the cost. This way we can save for college and future opportunities for our sons. Knowing the cost of private schools I can tell you for a fact that vouchers would barely make a dent in the cost. Our family could actually afford private schools but have found the cost benefit is not there or worth it. Our local school district is fantastic but it's also affluent. I believe all school districts should be funded so they too can offer real school choice to all students and families. We as a society all benefit when children are given access to excellent education. Our schools including those in affluent cities are underfunded. Texas education rankings are some of the lowest. Taking funds from already struggling schools is not the answer. I know several parents in the special education community initially thought vouchers could help give them an option. After much research many of us realize that is not the case. The majority of private schools do not provide special education nor do they value it. Then you add the cost and this idea of school choice or access is not a reality. Another aspect being ignored is how this could potentially hurt all homeowners. If you live in an area known for their school districts then people want to move and live there. School districts are already struggling. Vouchers could further hurt school districts and standings. As a result the desire to live in particular school districts is no longer desirable and homes don't sell. In the end these vouchers do not only hurt school age families but also members of the community. Overall vouchers are only going to benefit the smallest number of Texans and are not worth the lasting damage they will do Texas education.

Kate McCarthy

self

Austin, TX

I would like to be put in the record as being OPPOSED to HB3. I have two children that are in the Austin Independent School District where they have received a solid education. They are both currently at Anderson High School and actively involved in the fine arts programs. They have thrived there, becoming incredible leaders while taking many challenging AP and IB classes. We have been well served by our public schools. While there are many private school options here in Austin, the cost can be as much as college tuition, a voucher would only make a small dent in the price. I support our public schools and believe that every student deserves access to good, well funded public education and that our tax dollars should stay in our public schools.

John Miller
Self - Business Owner
Austin, TX

To the Honorable Members of the Texas House of Representatives,

I am a born-and-raised Texan, who attended public K-12 and University education in Texas (Go Horns!). My wife and I have two sons in public high school right now. One of our sons, a graduating senior, has a disability and has been well supported in Texas public schools.

I am writing to express my deep concern regarding House Bill 3, which proposes the implementation of a school voucher program in Texas. While the intention behind this bill may be to provide more educational options for families, the evidence from other states suggests that such programs often have detrimental effects on public education and the students they aim to serve. In states like Arizona, Ohio, and Louisiana, voucher programs have led to significant budget shortfalls, academic declines, and unequal access to quality education. For instance, Arizona's universal voucher program has resulted in a $1.4 billion budget deficit, impacting other critical public projects. In Ohio and Louisiana, students using vouchers have shown significant academic losses compared to their peers in public schools.

In Texas, the proposed voucher program poses several specific challenges:

1. Financial Impact on Public Schools: Vouchers would divert essential funds from public schools, exacerbating existing budget deficits and potentially leading to school closures and reduced educational programs. Texas already ranks low in per-pupil spending, and further reductions would worsen this situation.
2. Lack of Accountability: Unlike public schools, private schools receiving vouchers are not required to adhere to the same accountability standards, such as the STAAR test, which could lead to uneven educational outcomes.
3. Selective Admissions: Private schools can choose which students to accept, potentially excluding those with disabilities or lower academic performance, which contradicts the goal of providing equal opportunities. My son's disability, for instance, is not as well supported in private schools, and without appropriately funded quality public education, I doubt we would have had the successful results we have had.
4. Inequitable Access: Many areas in Texas lack private school options, making vouchers impractical for families in those regions.

In light of these concerns, I urge you to reconsider the implementation of HB 3 and instead focus on strengthening and adequately funding our public education system. This would ensure that all Texas students have access to quality education, regardless of their background, disability or location.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
John Miller

Carla Cochrane
Self
Palmer, TX

Please stand up for all children and Texas public schools. Every child deserves an education where disparities are not seen!

Victoria Martinez
Self
Victoria, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Patricia McNeely, Mrs.
Texas Democratic Women of Hood County
Lipan, TX

This is a power grab at the Texas Education Fund. I oppose using public money for private schools. Please fully fund our public schools. Our students deserve it.

Krys Baxter
self, librarian
Austin, TX

I am writing as a parent of public school children and a graduate of public schools in rural Texas to ask you to protect neighborhood schools and oppose House Bill 3 in Texas.

All Texas students deserve an education that prepares them to succeed, not just students at exclusive private schools. The Texas state constitution says our Legislature is responsible for funding our neighborhood public schools for students, not subsidizing tuition for wealthy families at exclusive private and religious schools that pick and choose who will enroll.

As a concerned Texan, I ask you to vote down House Bill 3, which diverts tax dollars from neighborhood public schools. Public dollars should stay in public schools. Please properly fund our public schools to invest in the next generation of Texans.

Eugenia Vance
Myself
pasadena, TX

No Vouchers for Texas schools

Eileen Matte
Self/teacher/parent
Conroe, TX

As a special education teacher and a parent of a child with special needs, I strongly oppose the proposed voucher program in Texas.

Vouchers divert crucial funding from public schools, undermining resources essential for supporting students with disabilities. Public schools are legally required to provide vital services outlined in Individualized Education Plans (IEPs), and vouchers threaten this commitment by allowing funds to flow to private institutions that may lack accountability and necessary requirements.

Additionally, vouchers can exacerbate inequities in education. Families with resources may navigate the private school landscape, while those without may be left behind, widening the gap in educational access.

All children in Texas deserve access to a quality public education that meets their unique needs. Instead of pursuing vouchers, we should invest in strengthening our public schools to ensure that every child has the opportunity to succeed.

Thank you for your attention.

Jean Mayer, Pflugerville school board trustee
Pflugerville ISD
Pflugerville, TX

Chair and Members of the Committee,

My name is Jean Mayer and I am here today to oppose the expansion of Education Savings Accounts (ESA) and the continued erosion of public education funding in Texas.

At the heart of this issue is not a lack of revenue, but a failure of prioritization. Texas has the funds to fully invest in public education, yet time and time again, we see policies that redirect public money into private ventures rather than strengthening the system that serves the vast majority of our students.

We are being told that ESA programs can coexist alongside a well-funded public school system, but the truth is, even the breadcrumbs of funding that have been promised to public schools are already being compromised. The very same legislators advocating for private school subsidies have yet to deliver on basic funding increases for public schools, leaving districts struggling with unfunded mandates, increasing special education costs, and inflationary pressures on teacher salaries. If the commitment to public education were real, we wouldn't be fighting for leftover dollars—we would be fully funding our schools first.

The idea of “choice” means nothing when the system is rigged against those who need the most support. Private schools are not obligated to accept all students, provide special education services, or meet the same accountability standards as public schools. What we are really prioritizing with ESAs is a system of exclusion, where public funds benefit the few at the expense of the many.

Every dollar diverted to vouchers is a dollar stripped from the 5.4 million students in Texas public schools—impacting teacher retention, classroom resources, mental health services, and special education programs. We cannot claim to be investing in education while simultaneously fracturing the very foundation of our public school system.

I urge you to consider what we are choosing to prioritize. If we are serious about improving education in Texas, then our focus should be on fully funding public schools, investing in teachers, and ensuring every child—regardless of income, ability, or background—has access to a high-quality education. Public money belongs in public schools.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Meredith Boyde
Self
Blooming Grv, TX
Vote against vouchers

Christine Smith
Self; Project Manager
Houston, TX

Vouchers are unpopular by a wide margin, because they divert funds from public schools. Our public schools are already struggling. Please vote NO.

Amy Cash
Self
Leander, TX

This is in regards to the "School Choice" education savings account scam. We have school choice in Texas. We have the option to apply to attend another school within the district, or school districts can make transfer agreements to accept each others' students. There is also the choice to attend a public charter school. My son attends a classical charter school and receives a free education that rivals any private school education. However, our school receives less funding than a traditional public school. Public dollars should stay in public education. Period. Greg Abbott keeps saying that the school voucher program has overwhelming support in the state of Texas. I wholeheartedly disagree with this statement. I know parents from many different political backgrounds, and not one supports school vouchers. I would encourage Texas to let the residents of Texas vote on the establishment of education savings accounts. Let us decide the future of education at the ballot box where it belongs.

Anna Rodriguez
Self
Beaumont, TX

Public schools are an essential part of accessible education for all in Texas. I am regularly in public schools doing student teaching and observations, and I see how essential the public school system is. Many students get a chance of having a free, proper education, but that cannot be possible if our tax dollars get diverted from public education towards private. I am not anti private school, as I work at one, but, students deserve the chance to have a FREE education that is meaningful and proper. There is no guarantee that only low income families will have access to these vouchers and it gives false hope to these families who look for "better" education. If we, as Texans, put our focus and money into public education, we would not be letting down the students who need it the most. If we ignore public education, we are simply leaving lower income students behind. I hope my words send the message that we must fix the problem at the root and pay more attention to our public schools. Public education is important and it matters.

Rachel Ketcherside
Self
Lubbock, TX

I support school vouchers. I believe all students learn differently and not all school curriculum should be cookie cutters. I wholeheartedly am in support for school vouchers and to encourage you to advocate for policies that expand educational opportunities for all families.

School vouchers empower parents by giving them the ability to choose the best educational environment for their children, regardless of their income or ZIP code. Every child deserves access to a quality education that meets their unique needs, whether that be in a public, private, charter, or religious school. By allowing public education funds to follow the student, we can foster competition, improve overall school performance, and ensure that no child is trapped in a failing school simply because of where they live.

Critics argue that vouchers weaken public schools, but research suggests that competition often leads to innovation and improvement. Additionally, vouchers provide a lifeline to low-income families who might not otherwise have the financial means to seek better alternatives for their children. Education should not be a one-size-fits-all system, and school choice is a step toward making education more equitable and effective.

I urge you to support school voucher programs and stand with families who want the best for their children. Thank you for your time and consideration. I would love to discuss this issue further if you are open to it.

Ryan Van Der Kar

Self

Dallas, TX

This is the wrong approach to improving the Texas education system. It will only leave those without means even farther behind which most certainly does not benefit our state in the long run. The public schools are terribly underfunded already. This is purely an ideological attempt to subvert the separation of church and state. Schools are not corporations and the education system should not be run like one. Please do not destroy the school system that needs to exist at its very best for all children regardless of socio economic status and creed.

The correct approach to improvement is to realize what we all know - chromebooks, iPads, and YouTube are not the best way to teach or to learn. The tech corporations sold us out and now the newest teachers are dependent on these "tools" to teach. I really can't understand the argument that elementary students really need to start learning on tech because they will need it for a job.

Daphne Meacham Daphne Meacham

Self Teacher

Burleson, TX

Do not vote for vouchers.

Christina Swan

self - teacher

Austin, TX

I am a parent of two children who attend Texas schools and have been a teacher in Texas for 19 years, and I am against HB 3. This so-called "school choice" steals our tax dollars and funnels them to wealthy families who already attend private schools--this effect, along with the disastrous results to education, has been shown time and again in states that have adopted a voucher system. I pay taxes for services, and I expect my government to provide those services. A robust, well-funded public education system is one of those services. I'm not paying taxes so they can go to niche, private businesses that do not benefit my community, and I'm not paying for welfare to the rich. Fund our public schools.

Linda Patterson

Self

Boerne, TX

Public schools are essential to our great state! Please vote against vouchers and fully support our public schools.

Lois Maiers

Self

Salado, TX

I am against education savings accounts because our public schools are underfunded and all resources should be given to the majority of students. Parents currently have the choice to send their children to private schools and they do not need money to continue to do so. Also, the bill is not equitable because there are many counties without private schools, so the children there do not have the equal right to private education. I am also concerned that the private schools do not have educational standards and consequently there is no oversight for the taxpayer monies. This bill is not good for all Texas students and families.

Thank you

Susie Rouw, Mrs.

Self-retired teacher

Midlothian, TX

Vote no on vouchers! We do not need the 'welfare' for the wealthy. We also need to properly fund public education as mandated by the Texas constitution. 70% of the citizens of Texas are opposed to using public funds to fund private schools. VOTE NO!!!!

Shane Hodyniak
Self / Father
Harker heights, TX

Statement in Support of HB 3 – Public Hearing

This legislation is a monumental step forward in ensuring that every Texas family, regardless of zip code or income level, has access to the educational opportunities that best suit their child's needs.

For too long, families in Texas have been restricted by a one-size-fits-all public school system that may not work for every student. HB 3 empowers parents by providing Education Savings Accounts (ESAs), allowing them to direct funding toward private school tuition, homeschooling resources, tutoring, and other educational tools that will help their children thrive. This bill prioritizes educational freedom, ensuring that parents—not bureaucracies—make the best decisions for their kids.

Opponents argue that this legislation harms public schools, but this is simply not true. School choice does not weaken public education—it strengthens it. When parents have options, schools are incentivized to improve and innovate. Many public schools will remain the best choice for families, but they will now have to compete and adapt to meet the needs of students more effectively.

Furthermore, HB 3 ensures that funding follows the child, rather than forcing students to remain in underperforming schools simply because of geography. This is especially critical for low-income families and children with special needs, who may not have the means to access high-quality education otherwise. No child should be forced into a failing system when better alternatives exist.

This bill is about fairness, opportunity, and putting students first. I urge the committee to support HB 3 and give Texas families the ability to choose the education that best fits their child's future.

Thank you for your time.

Ashlie Dance
Self, graphic designer
Southlake, TX

I OPPOSE VOUCHERS. Do not use our public school funds, already grossly diverted, to fund private schools. Invest in our schools the way our tax dollars were intended to.

Staci Bradley
Teacher
Grapevine, TX

As a teacher please do not pass vouchers, it helps no one but the rich and hurts our public schools.

Heather Nikkel
School Districts
College Station, Texas, United States, TX

This voucher system does not serve the best interests of children in the Texas Public School System. My children's district has already had to cut essential programs that support students due to budget constraints. These vouchers won't even be accessible to most families. The private school I was considering for my kids has already doubled its tuition. If the voucher covers $10,000, who is supposed to pay the additional $10,000 for just one child? On top of that, my daughter has an IEP, and most private schools do not provide the necessary services for her growth and development. Instead of helping, this program is actually harming my family. While school districts should absolutely be held accountable for wasteful spending, punishing our children for their financial mismanagement is not the solution.

Lynn Lada, Ms.
Self, Retired
San Antonio, TX

Vouchers provide my money to private schools at a level not reciprocated for public schools. Private school families and the schools should provide the funding for them. Not me and not Texas. I support public education. And if vouchers pass make them meet the same standards as public schools.

sammy kalter agudah
Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Lindsay O'Connor
Self, spiritual director and former teacher
Richardson, TX

I am a product of Texas public schools, have taught in a Texas public school, and have two children who currently attend Texas public schools. I am strongly opposed to the establishment of an education savings account program for many reasons. Both of my children receive 504 accommodations, and I am deeply concerned about the lack of provisions for students receiving special education services should we move forward with the education savings program, which will effectively steal money from poorer students in order to give wealthier families a discount on their private school education because the amount allotted will not be enough for poor students to afford private school tuition. As funding is pulled from public schools, our most vulnerable students will lose funding for much-needed services and resources. I'm also concerned about our tax dollars funding private religious schools. I oppose giving government funding to schools that aren't held accountable to the same standards public schools must uphold. Students who live in rural areas may not even have access to private schools within a reasonable distance from their homes. Public schools serve all students who choose to use them, but private schools are able to pick and choose students, which would effectively discriminate against vulnerable students who have higher support needs. Public school, like many services provided for with tax money, serve the good of our entire community, regardless of whether individual people and families utilize public schools. Public schools that are struggling need more funding, not less; the withholding of available funds by our Texas state politicians is unethical in the face of inflation. It seems our politicians want to withhold and even pull funding from public schools and then turn around and say that they are failing when they themselves have contributed to the problem. Everyone benefits from an educated populace, whether or not they personally attend public schools. If we move forward with the education savings account program, funding will be taken from public schools, and our most vulnerable students and families will suffer most, followed by everyone else in our society that benefits from a well-educated population.

Sue Rita Myatt
Self
Lubbock, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB 3 and vouchers. I'm also against the establishment of an education savings account. Please listen to those that elected you.

Emilie Robinson

Self

Austin, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) introduced in 2025, which seeks to expand school vouchers in the state. As a concerned citizen and advocate for quality education for all Texas students, I believe this bill will harm public schools and undermine the core values of equity, fairness, and opportunity in our education system.

Expanding school vouchers would divert much needed funding away from public schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children. Provisions in HB 3 ensure that funding for school choice programs are primarily made available to families from low-income or disenfranchised backgrounds. However, school voucher legislation enacted in other states demonstrates that the majority of funds are being used by families who are wealthy or whose children are already enrolled in private schooling. In 2023, 95% of students in Arkansas and 71% of students in Arizona who were utilizing school vouchers for private education were already enrolled in private schools before receiving the voucher benefits.

Additionally, most Texan families eligible for school choice initiatives are unable to afford private schooling with already receiving vouchers. The average tuition cost among all K-12 private schools in Texas is $11,050. Conversely, Texas Senate Bill 2 proposes to allocate $10,000 per year for families with children without disabilities and $11,500 for families with children with a disability. And, in some cases, private schools raised their tuition amount by as much as 25% following school voucher expansion efforts. For the typical Texas family wanting to convert to private schooling, this would leave an excess thousand dollars that they would need to subsidize. This would result in families needing to find a way to cover this extra amount, which would be a difficult task for families from lower-income or disadvantaged communities.

Instead, I recommend increasing funding per student in public education settings, as research shows this has a proven impact on academic achievement, overall health outcomes, and lifetime earning capabilities. One aspect that determines overall health outcomes is financial status, which allows an individual access to healthcare. Education is a driving force that enables children from all backgrounds the opportunity to pursue upward mobility in terms of careers and socioeconomic status. Receiving less education is linked to overall lower-income status and less ability to afford quality preventative healthcare. Research shows that individuals from lower socioeconomic backgrounds have an increased likelihood of developing heart problems, mental health issues, and diabetes, and report overall worse physical wellbeing.

TRISH CASTRO

Self teacher

Victoria, TX

Opposed.

Samantha Durrance

Self, Program Specialist

Fort Worth, TX

I oppose any legislation that sends public funds to private schools, including education savings accounts and vouchers. Keep public funds in public schools, and fund them appropriately!

Sonya Kennedy

Self Teacher

Athens, TX

The general public does not agree. WE VOTE NO, PLEASE HEAR OUR CRIES AND VOTE NO

Kristen Delgado-Williams

Self

San Antonio, TX

To whom it may concern:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the implementation of a voucher system for public schools. While proponents argue that vouchers offer parents more choices, they ultimately undermine the public education system by diverting critical funding away from public schools, exacerbating existing inequities, and failing to guarantee improved outcomes for students.

Public schools are the backbone of our communities, serving students of all backgrounds and abilities. By redirecting taxpayer dollars to private and charter schools—many of which lack the same accountability and inclusivity standards—voucher programs weaken the resources available to public schools, leaving the most vulnerable students with fewer opportunities. This approach does not promote choice; it creates division and deepens educational disparities.

Furthermore, private institutions receiving voucher funds are often not held to the same academic and non-discrimination standards as public schools. Many do not serve students with disabilities, English language learners, or those requiring specialized support, leaving families with fewer viable options rather than more. Instead of investing in a system that benefits only a select few, we should focus on strengthening our public schools for all students by increasing funding, supporting teachers, and expanding access to high-quality programs.

I urge you to reject policies that divert public funds to private institutions and instead prioritize strengthening our public school system. Every child deserves access to a high-quality education, regardless of their zip code or financial situation. I appreciate your time and consideration on this crucial issue and look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Kristen Delgado-Williams

Kimberley Harrison

Self

Dallas, TX

I strongly oppose education savings accounts or any other voucher program. This is simply a gift/tax break for those in private school. It takes much needed funds from our public schools. It has no oversight as private schools may reject anyone and make their own rules. It hurts small and rural and poor communities with no private choice. It is wrong.

Angela Johnson

Self

Fort Worth, TX

Please do not pass this bill!!! I work in a very low socioeconomic district. We do our best to stretch every penny out of every dollar. I wish you would all go visit some underprivileged districts before you vote for this. It does not help our kids! I'm pleading for you to look at the facts and do the right thing.

Megan Allshouse

Self- Children's Minister

Missouri City, TX

Texans are not in favor of this bill. If anything, our public schools need additional funding-not reduced funding. Parents who prefer a private education are able to request financial aid through their school. A luxury private education should not harm our public schools.

Jennifer Lucio, Mrs.

HaysCISD PTSA

Buda, TX

I do not support giving public funding to private schools.

Giannina Guardia-Hayes

Self

Pflugerville, TX

I oppose this bill because I believe school vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford to send their children to private schools. Families already have "school choice" within our public school system by being able to transfer to other schools if they wish. These proposed vouchers will not make a private education accessible to the majority of families in the community. Instead, what will happen is public schools will lose funding. This could lead to school closures, program closures, teacher cuts, etc. Please continue to focus on funding our public education and ensuring that all students have access to an excellent education.

Zane Gilbert

Public

Littlefield, TX

I do not want to see the state of Texas go to privatized education.

Diandra Schwartz

self/former educator, current parent and illustrator

Montgomery, TX

I am a parent very concerned with the direction this state is going regarding education. We have enough funds in this state to properly fund education, but they are constantly held back (or used as a political carrot and hammer). Were those funds properly applied to education in this state, more parents would be able to have their children receive a quality education without having to use public dollars to fund private schools. I am also concerned by the fact that the majority of Texas parents and their students do not have access to the alternate forms of education this bill is touting, so this is a sweeping financial scoop away from the majority to benefit the very few. That is not how publicly funded systems, especially education, are supposed to operate. All this will do is line the pockets of a few people, and make balancing the needs of their students even more difficult for Texas districts, teachers, support personnel, and everyone in-between. Please do not allow this bill to move forward.

Debbie McMennamy, Constituent

Self/ Paralegal

Plano, TX

Start representing your constituents and not the donors' special interests. This welfare handout is not what the majority of Texans want. We made that clear but Greg didn't care and managed to get the politicians who actually listened to their constituents fired. He is a corrupt grifter who plays politics instead of governing. Shame on him. Stop listening to the billionaires like Wilkes and Dunn and start listening to your constituents. You are a governor not a dictator.

Kay Kennedy

Parent and grandparent of two children with learning differences. SELF

Amarillo, TX

I am against the private school voucher program. It is important that we use dollars for education for public school education. Certainly, a portion should be set aside for students whose educational needs are not accommodated in their loyal public school system, primarily dyslexia, dyscalculia, dysgraphia and similar learning differences.

Morgan Luka

Self

Tomball, TX

Vote no for school vouchers. Instead properly funded public schools to give all children a chance to learn and become who they are supposed to be.

Jeannette Whitt

Myself as a Christian, Mother, Grandmother and Educator

Liberty Hill, TX

Quit this insanity! Put it up for a vote of the people.

Veronica Harrington

Self

MONTGOMERY, TX

Oppose HB 3

Lauren Frazier

Self

Houston, TX

Standards for public money should stay the same no matter what school they go to. Why would we not want checks and balances on publicly funded money. It's a breeding ground for corruption.

AHMAD HERNANDEZ

Self - teacher

Richmond, TX

I support public schools and public education. Many Texas counties do not have private schools. And private schools can deny any student for any reason. Lastly, school voucher programs have been tried in different states, and none of them were cost effective. Vote no.

Amanda Miller

Self

Georgetown, TX

Tax payer money should go to help the underfunded public schools.

Jeremy Holland

Self

Round Rock, TX

Strongly against this bill as a lifelong Texan and father of two young children This money must go to public schools.

Jack Wellborn

Self

Cedar Park, TX

Use of tax payer dollars to subsidize private and home schooling without proper accountability and measurable outcomes is insane, and dare I say, very un-Republican. Without standardized tests, how does Texas expect to measure which of these self proclaimed educational institutions are actually educating. What are parents supposed to use to know which school they should choose? It's like going to a gas station that doesn't tell you many gallons you just paid for. Absurd. Texans may not always like the price of their public schools, but at least they know what they're paying for. Another aspect of this hand-out-without-oversight that is very un-Republican is the sheer ignorance of basic supply/demand economics. Introducing more money for the private system will invariably lead to more demand and increased rates, which they will then pass directly onto the parents. I'll bet you anything that if this goes through and is adopted, the entirety of a $10,000 or even a $15,000 voucher will be more than eaten by cost increases within a decade. It's like someone looked at college student loan debt and thought to themselves "we should have elementary student loan debt too!" Nowadays, I can't go five minutes without hearing some Republican talk about eliminating waste at the federal level, and yet the state of Texas is chomping at the bit to hand out free money with no strings attached.

Lisa Petrosky

Self

Angleton, TX

I don't agree with house bill 3 and school vouchers as it stands now. Each child should be treated equal and given the same amount to attend school. If the state is giving $10,000 for a school voucher to a private school than each public school child should also be given $10,000.

It is unfair to take money away from public schools and give it to private schools.

Monica Warren

Texas homeschoolers & taxpayers

Magnolia, TX

I am a homeschooling parent and I oppose this bill. Texas is one of the best places to homeschool because of the freedom we have from government interference. This bill will not only open the door to encroachment by the government into the lives of citizens, it will also increase spending & therefore, taxes. Please oppose this bill!

Lanny McKinney

Self/Teacher

Mexia, TX

I am an educator and taxpayer who lives in a rural community. My concerns are twofold: as a teacher, I am concerned that the diversion of funds to educational savings accounts will eventually lead to an even lower allotment amount for students enrolled in public schools and as an employee of a school district, I am very concerned about the ramifications this will have on TRS retirement given the decrease in students enrolled in public schools. I urge our representatives vote against this bill and end the crusade against public education.

Beverly Hennessy

My grandchildren and all Texas students who have disabled

Fair Oaks Ranch, TX

I am writing to urge all Texas legislature members to vote AGAINST the voucher system here in Texas. I am urging the Legislature to demand that the Governor release the funds that have been withheld from the public school system here in Texas for many years. Pay our certified public school teachers what they deserve and go back to supporting and making provision for Texas students to receive a fair, equitable, honest and true education. This voucher system will destroy education in Texas for the nearly 6,000,000 students in our state. Texas and especially, you, the representatives of the people of Texas owe this to our children. As the mother of twin 34 year old severely autistic young men, who have been repeatedly declined admission to private or religious schools, many of whom are not required to maintain certified and appropriately educated "teachers," this community, the disabled, will especially be denied any chance in receiving the education they deserve. I now have grandchildren who I feel deserve better than what Texas is proposing. My husband is a retired Air Force colonel and he and his family has served the United States of America for over 30 years. Many families who reside in Texas serve the country and have no choice where they send their children to school. You should be ASHAMED to promote this type of system when it has been proven time and time again in other states to further weaken and destroy the public school systems that should be supported and funded appropriately to provide the fair and equitable and true education that ALL Texas children deserve.

I urge you, no I challenge you, the Legislature members to do the right thing and call an end to this voucher system, released the withheld funding or put this voucher system to a referendum vote for the entire state of Texas. A fair, honest and open vote by the people who you, the legislators work for. You DO NOT work for or should answer to outside wealthy influencers who seek to have control of what should a Texas led and supported decision.

Andres Hernandez

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3.

School Voucher is a scam.

Do not vote to pass this HB

Keri Frost

TCTA

Mulshoe, TX

Please do not pass this bill why should we take valuable dollars away from public education to help line the pockets of wealthy Texans who can afford to send their kids to private school. They only represent 1.5% of school aged kids. Why should 98.5% of kids in Texas suffer and do without needed supplies and curriculum because of a small percentage want to go to private unaccountable schools.

Jacklyn Zapiain

Self / Manager

Laredo, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Diana Robertson, Mrs

Self

Pflugerville, TX

Texans do not want school vouchers. Rural Texans definitely do not want their public funds reduced because of school vouchers. Private school which the vouchers support will not meet a rural community's needs. Vote NO on school vouchers. Vote to fully fund our public schools. Keep public funds in public schools!

Robin Knepp

Self

College Station, TX

As a current public educator, I can say with full confidence that this bill will only hurt our students and schools by taking critical funding away from already underfunded schools. Parents have always had a choice for sending their kids to schools with magnet schools, private schools, charter schools, and homeschooling. Taking public funding away from public schools and sending to private schools is not the answer to the problem you propose this bill to correct. To not hold private schools to the same standards of curriculum and educator certification and propose sending unequal funding doesn't make logical sense. This bill is not about one political party over another. This bill is about a redistribution of wealth that will disproportionately benefit the wealthy who can already afford to send their children to private schools. The public overwhelmingly voted against this agenda the first time it came around, and we see through the farce of it now. HB3 will not help the people you claim it is most for. There are better ways to help students most in need of better educational opportunities. Properly funding our schools, all special programs, and educator salaries to recruit and retain high quality teachers is the first step. Sending public dollars to private schools who are not held to the same standards is not the common sense solution.

Susan Robertson

Self retired

Austin, TX

Please support public schools. Vouchers will help to kill public education. My tax dollars should not go to private education.

Austin Wimberley

Self

Kyle, TX

Vouchers are a hard NO for me!

Lezlie Rogers

Self

Waco, TX

I am a former student of public schools in Texas, as are my children, and my grandchildren, some of whom are still in public schools. I am strongly not in favor of the voucher system. It is unfair to students and families.

Do not pass the voucher system. Do what your constituents want for the state of Texas, not what abbott is forcing on families and students. Texas American Federation of Teachers do not approve of this bill. The public does not need to pay for people of higher income to send their children to select schools.

Juanita Gonzalez

Self

Webster, TX

Taxpayers want to know that their tax dollars are being well-spent. Vouchers will take public tax dollars to pay for private schools without any accountability, so taxpayers have no way to compare schools to know if their tax dollars are being well-spent.

Taxpayers do not want to subsidize already affluent families by giving them money to send their children to private schools. As currently proposed, the education savings accounts are primarily a tax break for people who are already in private school or can afford that option.

Private schools receiving public taxpayer dollars are highly vulnerable to fraud and abuse. Their governing boards, if they exist do not have to meet in public or disclose how funds are spent. Private schools do not have to meet financial standards and are not measured by the state's fiscal accountability system.

State-funded vouchers will take needed dollars from public schools. Vouchers take dollars from public schools that are already underfunded. Every dollar sent to a private or home school cannot be invested in public schools. Voucher advocates say funding schools and funding vouchers are separate, but in Texas, where "funding follows the student," public schools will lose needed funding as millions of dollars are siphoned to unaccountable private institutions.

The cost of voucher programs accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4,557,317,230 spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program.

Gavi Wolk

self

dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Mary Hawkins

Self

Dilley, TX

I'm a former teacher and my sister is a retired teacher in Texas. What I'm concerned about is the Texas teacher retirement system going bust if vouchers are passed. I also worked in a very small school in Texas and if vouchers are passed, it's going to close that school down. Vouchers are not the answer. Please vote no on vouchers.

Joanna Rivera

Self

Plano, TX

I'm opposed to school vouchers. Support public school

Samantha Anderson

self/teacher

Farwell, TX

It is very disheartening to see that teachers are simultaneously respected and disrespected for our career choices. I have heard that teachers deserve raises and more resources, the best of the best, and in the same breath, I have heard that we spend our days not really "getting it," indoctrinating students, and trying our hardest to bring about the destruction of our society. I speak for myself when I say that I became a teacher (with the degree and certification to prove it) to help students learn, make them stronger people, and to give them the chance to show the world what they can do, I never thought that I would need to constantly justify my reasons. Many people assume we don't care, we are against making good choices, or that we don't know any better because we have been educated by the broken Machine anyway. Then we have people say that we are overworked and underfunded. Which is it? I want a living wage. I went to college to be a better human, and many of my coworkers can get assistance. That's unacceptable. I want to continue to do my best job, but I need a government that has my back. I want to understand how vouchers will help the actual certified teachers. I want to know that my students have the best education no matter where they go, and I want to feel secure in the fact that I made a good choice to be a teacher in a public school.

Kila Bobier

Self

Dallas, TX

I am adamantly opposed to HB 3! As a parent, my daughter went to Texas public schools and I do not want taxpayer dollars taken from public education for students to go to private institutions. As a parent I feel this will have a negative impact on the states public school system. I want the politicians in my district to know that I am an avid voter and I am strongly opposed to House bill 3!

Kelley Hebel

Self

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
 - 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
 - 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
 - 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
- Thank you

Sophie Kim

Self. Insurance

Frisco, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS

Joseph Meyer

Self

Austin, TX

I support public schools and strongly oppose HB3. I support fully funding public schools first. I also strongly oppose any public and taxpayer funds going to any religious organizations.

Jonathan Schultz

Self

Austin, TX

Just say Public funds for Pubic schools. If we can't find a way to fund public schools, we shouldn't be sending money to private ones.

Charlene Shafer

self

Cypress, TX

Texas PUBLIC schools should be funded with PUBLIC funds. Our public schools are the backbone of our republic & should be funded. Giving taxpayer money to private schools without the same accountability required for public schools should be a crime. It seems our legislature has been bought by donations from oligarchs. If you insist on giving taxpayer money to private schools, you should require them to test students yearly using the same measures required by public schools. These private schools should be required to accept ALL students not matter their ability or disability. Private schools should be required to hire certified teachers and meet the same safety regulations as public schools. The FIRST thing that needs to be done is increasing the per-student allotment to at least cover inflation & restore the $4.6 billion that was withheld in 2023 because Governor Abbott's feelings were hurt that a voucher scam wasn't passed then. FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION! It's required in the state constitution! Thank you for doing the right thing.

tad miller
Self
Dallas, TX

As a public school teacher of 20 years experience I strongly oppose the establishment of an education savings account program.

Eli Nissel
DATA of Plano
Plano, TX

Our community's private Jewish school is suffering due to lack of funding, and the education it provides is top notch! Please help us religious folk keep our private schools vibrant with this funding opportunity!

Eryn Couzens
Self - Transaction Manager
Sugar Land, TX

Texans DO NOT WANT vouchers. As parents, we already have the choice to send our kids to public or private school. This will stress an already stretched thin public school system. I cannot comprehend why our leaders not been paying attention to the very public comments their constituents are leaving for them. We do not want vouchers in Texas.

Lisa Funari
Self - mother of 2
EULESS, TX

School vouchers are not a program that will benefit the majority of Texans. In fact, they will only benefit the rich who are currently sending their children to a private school. Not only do many counties in Texas not even have private schools available for parents to choose to send their children to, but the majority of Texans could not afford an additional $10,000 + annually to send their children to private schools. Our public schools need the funding. Stop robbing the poor to pay for the rich.

Jennifer O'Dowd
Self, RN
Houston, TX

I am a parent of a 6 year old currently enrolled in public school and I strongly oppose HB3. We need to better fund all Texas public schools, not give money to a select few for spending at private institutions that the majority of Texas school children can not attend.

Lynda Streater
Self
Canyon Lake, TX
Vote NO

Nancy Frankel
Cypress-Fairbanks ISD taxpayer
JERSEY VLG, TX

I oppose any effort to divert public funds to private schools through ESAs or vouchers. Independent studies show that vouchers do not improve student outcomes and do not lift students out of poverty.

Derek Deskins

self

Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and I'm against school vouchers as they take money from public education, which is already underfunded, and disproportionately hurt lower income areas.

Lauri Thomas

Self

Austin, TX

My name is Lauri Thomas, and I am a grand parent of two children currently enrolled in Austin ISD, and an involved school volunteer. I have seen firsthand how continued yearly budget reductions have impacted our students.

I invite you to come inside our schools to see what underfunding schools looks like. The middle school sports uniforms are woefully old. Our schools have ongoing maintenance needs that increase each year. Supply costs continue to increase, as due training and curriculum. Our PTAs try to bridge gaps, but that isn't sustainable.

My grandchild's math teacher left during the middle of the year to relocate and transition to a non-teaching job, as the cost of living in Austin became unaffordable on a teacher's salary. Teachers at both of the students' campuses have left for similar reasons. Underpaid and overworked in a high cost of living city. Losing teachers because they haven't been adequately financially compensated for the job they perform doesn't make sense if we are working towards a goal of having a top educational system in Texas. In corporate America, we pay people for performance and adjust for inflation.

Vouchers have proven unsuccessful financially and academically in states such as Arizona, Florida, Nebraska, and Illinois. My 8th grade public school teacher taught us that we learn history so we don't continue to make the same mistakes. So let's learn from voucher history in other states, and not repeat history. Data in other states has shown that vouchers students with great financial need aren't using vouchers, but rather students that were already enrolled in private schools. The comprehensive cost of private schools in most areas is still cost prohibitive for low income families. This voucher is not about school choice for all. It is funding for those who can already financially afford private school.

In smaller towns, private schools aren't even an option. My daughter and her family live in West Texas, where she is a proud small district middle school (and formerly high school) educator and administrator. The school is the epicenter of their small community. The school feeds the students and provides stability. There are no private school options nearby, which makes private schools infeasible as a school choice. Withholding taxpayer dollars for school vouchers in these small communities doesn't make sense. Fully funding the public schools to meet today's budgetary needs does.

I am asking for this Committee to increase the funding for our public schools by at LEAST $1300 per student to account for inflation since 2019. In reality, Let's help Governor Abbott achieve his goals of making Texas's educational system the BEST in the country by funding the public school system we already have. Making this investment is important, not only for our students, but for future business and commerce growth. Let's focus on doing what's right for our students.

Christine Kujawa

Self/ Program Director

Tomball, TX

This Voucher Bill is detrimental to public education and I don't want my tax dollars funding private schools. I strongly oppose this bill.

Gentry McLean, Dr.

Self, patent attorney

Austin, TX

Dear Chairman Buckley and Members of the Public Education Committee,

I write in opposition to HB 3.

Proponents of this bill talk about "school choice," but the only choice exercised if this bill passes will be by private schools choosing which students they want to accept. Giving $10,000 per student to private schools and less than $7000 per student to public schools is a blatant attack on public schools and an abdication of Texas's constitutional obligation to provide a public education for Texas children.

Please stop this gifting of our taxpayer dollars to unaccountable private schools and home schoolers. At least 10% of the school children in the entire United States are here in Texas, and it's time we started acting like it. It's time to get serious about funding public schools in Texas, for the sake of our children and of our state.

Again, please vote Against HB 3.

Thank you.

Michael Hovis

self

Austin, TX

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Michael Hovis

Melissa Halm

Self

Cypress, TX

I'm against the education savings account program. Most of not all of Abbott's propaganda events were at private schools. "Surveys" he posted did not provide source, which is unusual and can not claim to be a representative sample of all of Texas. The rich do not need additional tax breaks. This scam only benefits a very small percentage of families of school-ages kid. Why are out of state billionaires donating to Abbott to pass this scam? This is a bipartisan issue. Texans don't want this.

Sherry Oates

Self

Eustace, TX

PLEASE sign and share voting today or tomorrow!!!! We need to protect our public schools and the children!

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

Click and send:

<https://comments.house.texas.gov/home?c=c400>

Example you can copy and paste below!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Dodie Powers, Ms.

self/attorney

Round Rock, TX

HB3 is bad for Texas. Public tax dollars for public schools ONLY!!!! I DO NOT SUPPORT SCHOOL VOUCHERS, PERIOD!!!!

Maira Castro

Self

Houston, TX

Please vote against vouchers. They do not support public education.

David Cruz
Self
Round Rock, TX

Public schools are a cornerstone of our community and HB 3 represents an existential threat to their survival. My neighbors who are public school teachers, students, parents, and supporters need the State to finance the schools and keep our local communities strong. We cannot survive without our schools, especially when vouchers offer no real choice for working people. I ask you please reject HB 3 and do not send it from committee.

Timothy Edwards
People of Texas
Austin, TX

We should be funding public education, not siphoning money from public sources to private institutions. This voucher system is a handout to the wealthy, and I oppose it with every fiber of my being.

Lisa Ward
self, engineer
Austin, TX

School choice is a good thing. The accounts described in this bill do not enhance school choice and are not a good thing. Accessing educational choice requires being able to get there, being able to afford it, being granted a place, and being allowed to stay. This bill addresses only the affordability aspect and does so in a way likely to reduce money for our underfunded public schools and unlikely to enable additional school access for anyone new. A bill taking school choice seriously would support transportation for students wanting to attend within district transfers, between district transfers, and charter schools. If this bill was taking school choice seriously, it would address inequities in access to within school specialized programs like IB or trade/technical as well as the increasing cost of participation in arts, sports, and other extracurriculars. If this bill was taking school choice seriously, it would provide means of creating school choice in rural low population areas. If this bill was taking school choice seriously, it would stipulate that no program accepting funding could charge students attending through the program additional costs. This bill is NOT for school choice. It is for subsidizing the private school industry. Our tax money should not support a for profit sector. Stop holding our public school funding hostage for private sector business men.

Wendy Bilich
Self
Dallas, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. Having been an educator for my adult life and having two children gone through public education, I know the value of our tax dollars for public education. I also know that any dollars withheld from our public education system will damage our schools And the opportunities for the children of Texas. If families want to spend their money to send their children to private schools that is their option however, public funds are public funds, and they should go to public institutions. The only way that you should be able to give public funds to private schools is if they agree have the same rules and guidelines as public school do. They should have to take STAAR test, they should have to take every child, they should have money taken away for student absences, teachers should have to be fully certified, and the list goes on. FULLY FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS!!!!
Governor Abbott get your donor dollars elsewhere and leave our public dollars where they belong!

Patricia Saenz
Self - retired teacher
Cypress, TX

I am against house bill 3

Savannah Hennig

Self

Salado, TX

While I understand the reasoning (and intent) behind this bill, I am concerned there are too many unknowns and unanswered questions about functionality. And if it doesn't function in reality, I struggle to see the point in passing this bill. My questions are: 1. Does anyone in the House/Senate/Legislature have data on how many private schools would be willing to accept ESA's? If private schools have the option to "opt out", how many have said they'd "opt-in" and allow for this?

a. How does this serve a student living in a rural area whose needs aren't being met by their public school, but there isn't a private school accepting ESA's in driving proximity? The 5% population this bill is trying to serve just shrunk, and this bill doesn't serve them. It really and truly will only serve those "lucky" enough to live close to a private school that 1) they want to attend and 2) accepts ESA's. Governor Abbott is metaphorically shoving the belief down our throats (via social media) that "School Choice will give educational freedom for all." It won't.

2. If all students accepting ESA's must take a STAAR exam or other nationally accredited exam (which I agree with), what will the state do with those scores? Will "ratings" for private schools be given based (in part or whole) on those scores? If public schools are rated (in part) by STAAR, in this scenario then private schools should be too. This is less incentive for a private school to "opt in", but it's important for accountability of state funds. What's been thought through on this? What's the end result of giving STAAR exams to ESA students? If there's no end result, there's no actual accountability. I implore you to seek real, factual answers to these questions and if there aren't answers, please don't pass this bill.

Alex Passanisi

Self

Austin, TX

I am writing to voice my opposition for HB3. The proposed voucher system will leave many low income families behind, something we as a state cannot stand for.

Laura Morgan

Self

Georgetown, TX

I am writing to oppose HB3. As a parent of 3 children in various schools, including home school and public school I urge you to vote NO. This is the opposite of school choice, and will limit the choices available to rural and low income families.

Cassandra Sodergren

Self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the passage of HB3 as it would be insufficient for working poor families and therefore serve as welfare for the wealthy. Our public schools are in desperate need for funding and support. HB3 will harm students, families, and the future of Texas by eroding our public education system. Please vote no.

Mary Dennison

Self retired educator

Houston, TX

I am a retired educator strongly opposed to HB3

Daniel Dawer

Self

Austin, TX

HB 3 threatens to divert critical public school funding to private school vouchers, weakening resources for students, and destabilizing the Teacher Retirement System (TRS) by reducing the number of active educators paying into it. Public schools serve all children, and shifting taxpayer dollars to unregulated private institutions undermines their ability to provide quality education. Lawmakers must vote NO on HB 3 to protect public schools, educators, and retirees instead of gambling with Texas' education system.

Natalia Arandia

Self

San Antonio, TX

I oppose this bill.

Melissa McClain

Self

Waxahachie, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Paul Lansdowne, Dr.

Self - physician

Midlothian, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I am a product of Texas public school education system and I believe in it. As a music therapist, I am concerned what ramifications a voucher system would have for children currently receiving special education services in public schools. Please vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please support and fund public education for our children and our future.

Annette Patterson

Self

Austin, TX

Against school vouchers. I oppose this bill.

Lauren Hazard

self

Houston, TX

I am a mother of two children in HISD public schools. School vouchers will divert tax dollars from our already underfunded public schools to private institutions. This system creates inequalities as the only families who will be able to take advantage of the "school choice" are those that can already afford private school education. Instead of funding private schools, we should focus on strengthening public education to ensure that every child has access to high quality learning.

Arianna Moravits

Self, educator

San Antonio, TX

I strongly oppose any voucher programs or legislation that diverts funds from our already underfunded public schools. As a product of a rural public school, a current public school teacher, and a parent of two children in the public school system, I see firsthand the impact of inadequate funding. Every child deserves a rich and equitable education, but vouchers will only widen existing gaps and deepen resource shortages. I urge you to vote NO on all voucher programs and instead commit to fully funding public schools to well above the national average. Texas children deserve our investment and the future of our state depends on it.

Vote NO on HB 3

Kellie Wostal

Self

Austin, TX

I am 100% against this. This has already been proven in other states that this does not work.

KIM KRIST

SELF

HOUSTON, TX

I DO NOT SUPPORT THIS BILL OR VOUCHERS. Vouchers are just free money for the wealthy to use for their private school tuition. The amount of $ designated will not cover the cost of private schools so only the wealthy will take advantage of this. Private schools do not have to take everyone, students with learning disabilities etc. There is already "school choice" you can go to a private school or charter school or even another public school is there is room for a transfer. This will further drain money form our public schools which Texas is already in the bottom 10 states for spending per student.

Kevin Bryant

self - Reliability Engineer

Flower Mound, TX

If the State of Texas is going to allow public tax dollars to be spent on non-public school entities, then they must have the following:

1. Total and complete transparency. Every fraction of a penny must be accounted for
2. Recipients of public monies must follow every regulation, guideline, requirement, and mandate as public schools must follow (testing, administration, admissions, accountability, etc.)
3. A fund must be created in the budget for public education monies. All monies received by the state from the school districts such as recapture; monies from the federal government for the state's public education; or any monies to be spent by the state for public education must come from this fund. Vouchers or private education accounts may not be paid/funded from monies in this fund.

I am against vouchers. They are nothing but wealth redistribution from the poor tax payers to rich private entities. Not very conservative in my book.

Ezra Horowitz, Rabbi

Tds

Houston, TX

Thanks

Delaney Herman

Self - social worker

Buda, TX

I strongly oppose HB 3. Keep our taxes in PUBLIC schools where they belong.

Mollie Huber

Self

Temple, TX

Texas public schools have been the political scapegoat for Texas politicians for far too long. Vouchers/savings accounts or whatever you want to call this scam will NOT do anything to improve education for millions of Texas school children. Fully funding our public schools will. Stop playing around with Texas education and vote NO on HB 3.

Margaret DeMarsh

Self

Sugar Land, TX

Vote against HB 3. Vouchers are a way to funnel my tax dollars into private schools. This is wrong and will only weaken our public school system. The healthy future of Texas and of the USA depends on well educated citizens. Keep public tax dollars in public schools.

Robert Hohenstein

Self

Cypress, TX

I homeschool and I oppose this bill.

Jessica Dunn

Myself

Austin, TX

The voucher system is not equitable. It allows money to be taken away from schools because families have more privilege than others. A family that has the ability to drive their student to another school might excel under this program, but what about the students who don't have that option? They deserve schools that are fully funded that are able to be staffed properly and utilize resources that everyone can benefit from. Secondly, schools that utilize vouchers often do not accept students who have accommodations, which is a direct violation of the IDEA Act and ADA. Vouchers will unnecessarily take away funds from schools that need them. Part of the reason why school districts are in a budget crisis is because the money they are budgeting to have follows students to charter and private schools that are not held to the same standard as public schools. EVERY student is due a free and public education that will not only help them academically but prepare them for life after high school. More often than not, we cannot provide students with the experiences and education they deserve because we don't have the staffing or funds. Not only that, but Governor Abbott has funds in our "Rainy Day" Fund that he is refusing to release to schools to be able to provide services. A real account of the situation needs to be made BEFORE vouchers should have even been a suggestion. Please invest our funds into our education systems NOW and let teachers do their jobs.

Jennifer Barker-Lombard, M.Ed.

Self

Taylor, TX

This bill is not designed to offer more choices to all students, only those that are within certain districts. It will do nothing to further education to our rural and underserved students. As a parent and an educator I vehemently oppose this bill, as does most educators in the state.

We are tired of this and are ready to vote out all that continue with this facade.

Jarrold Kendall

City of Austin

Kyle, TX

Do not pass this bill. This will be detrimental to the education system in our state specifically in rural areas. Vote NO.

Rachael Ervin

Self

Magnolia, TX

I am actively against this bill. Should this bill pass, it will not offer equal opportunity for all families. There are too many "if/then" statements from the start-to-end product: they have to apply, be accepted, and be able afford the cost and logistics of education outside of the allotted funds. The cost to educate a special education can cost as much as $80,000, and they will more than likely not be given the opportunity. The fact that private schools have the ability to accept and deny students is a standalone big enough reason to say no to vouchers.

Logistically speaking, the true target audience that should receive vouchers if the bill passed will more than likely not apply, won't have the means to get their student fed and to and from school, and will not be able to afford the outside costs. The applications for the vouchers will end up coming from families that are already enrolled and have already made the financial and logistical adjustments to afford private school. The "poverty line" for the ability to qualify for a voucher is too high.

Public schools receive funding based on attendance. If attend decreases due to students leaving public education, then the school will lose funds, but their cost of maintenance and operations will not change.

It is not enough to say that private schools will be held accountable for learning unless they're taking the exact same tests as public school students. Providing all schools with the same accountability testing would cost additional taxpayer dollars.

Amy Barnes

Self

Houston, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, and a product of the public education system myself, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

sharon covey

self retired social worker serving special needs children georgetown tx, TX

Vote No on vouchers. There are no real safeguards for children with special needs. To be born poor, in rural Texas and physically disabled will ensure a life of misery for these children.. There is no reason to sacrifice children because you are being bullied. Stand up, have a heart, vote no.

James RUSHING

Self / Technology Strategist

MCKINNEY, TX

Disgraceful, shameful, repugnant continuation of the assault on public education. KILL this bill, and STOP trying to drain the public education system of the meager funds they receive for the benefit of rich kids whose parents can already afford private schools. STOP selling children's futures. STOP spinning yarns about what this is and who actually benefits, because it isn't the working families who rely on public schools.

Donny Cornuauud

Self

Plano, TX

I am not in favor of school vouchers. They will have a negative impact on public schools and divert money away from already struggling public schools and children

Shaleah Rose
Lewisville ISD Retired Teacher
Flower Mound, TX

Public Schools in Texas are struggling due to a lack of funding from the Texas Legislature. This is unconstitutional and unacceptable. Over 90% of Texas children attend our local Public Schools. As a Christian educated, retired PubEd teacher, and now private school teacher, I encourage you to do the right thing. Provide the funds needed to care for our kids. Consider that the suggested TIA is not fairly distributed across the board. Raises are needed for all educators. $220 is far too low to bring districts up to what is needed. It is time to do what is needed to care for Texas students. Increase the basic allotment to keep up with inflation and distribute raises equitably to all. Thank you for your time.

Rebecca Narramore, Dr.
Self, Retired
Linden, TX

This legislation will do irreparable harm to public education. I strongly oppose this legislation and urge state lawmakers to consider carefully the long-term ramifications of this legislation. My vote will reflect my position on this issue.

Dahlia Bock
Self
Austin, TX

VOTE NO ON USING TAXPAYER FUNDS FOR PRIVATE SCHOOLS. THOSE FUNDS ARE FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS ONLY!!! Those who want to send their children to private school can do so with their own money.

Reagan Banks
Self
Mckinney, TX

I am strongly opposed to this bill! Please fully fund public schooling!

Amy De Rosa, Mrs
Self—grandparent who pays for and oversees grandkids' education
Harker Heights, TX

If the public school budget isn't going to be reduced and if ESAs come from a separate budget line, then, as a taxpayer who wants school choice, I'm still paying for a bloated public education bureaucracy that controls my tax dollars. I don't support that, didn't support that. I want substantive change where the money really does follow the student and where I control how my money is spent for my kids' education. Is that ever going to happen in Texas?

Jennifer Neuse
Self
Fort Worth, TX

The children of Texas need strong public schools. For profit education is not the answer as shareholders will take precedence over the needs of children. You will be subverting their constitutional right to the pursuit of happiness by limiting their opportunities for success in a fast paced world economy.

Gerard Cavanaugh
Self, mental health professional
Burleson, TX

I am writing to ask that the school voucher program be defeated. It is just welfare for the wealthy. 85% of vouchers go to high income residents living in the states that have school vouchers.
Please use the billion dollar budget for vouchers and use it to fund public schools.

Beth Reuben
Self
Georgetown, TX

I was a dedicated public school teacher for nearly 40 years... I loved my work and felt I'd had a great impact upon the lives of my students AND their families... particularly as I chose to teach in low income areas!
It was regularly routine for my husband and I to fill our shopping carts with almost all back to school necessities such as notebooks, pencils, crayons, snack time foods, etc... then, as the year wore on, we would need to replenish those supplies and so many additional items to enrich classroom activities! I was offered a job teaching at the prestigious PINE CREST SCHOOL, in South Florida- but my heart and mission remained with those poor, sweet children who needed a teacher dedicated to their success-
DONT YOU UNDERESTIMATE the impact of good teachers upon those less fortunate!!!!!!!!!!!!!! I hope you will act with honor and integrity!!!!!!!!!!!!

Anni Killam
Self - parent
AUSTIN, TX

Vouchers for private schools are great, however we ALSO need to do something about public schools. Many of our ISDs are millions of dollars in deficits, and bond measure funds passed by large cities gets spread across the state. Supposedly there is a 31 billion dollar 'surplus' of ISD state funds - this cannot be true if the school districts are in the red. I just learned that many TEACHERS don't have enough money for food by the end of the month because of low salaries and many schools don't have enough money to retain their teachers or fill teacher vacancies. This is a crisis and we are not addressing the educational needs of ALL children and the educators who serve them.

Annie LAMM
Self
Dallas, TX

We paid a premium to move to an area with good schools. We pay more in property taxes for it. We should not then be causing these schools to have to make budget decisions because of private school choice. Also - in Dallas it's nearly impossible to get into the good private schools, so that's not us choosing, it's the schools choosing. Lastly, with the state withholding school funding this past year other schools in our district closed and now shuttle kids to the elementary school my kids will go to. It's now overcrowded and have changed the entire culture of the school. I went to college in Mississippi where they have these vouchers and their public schools are horrid. We were proud of our public school system, this will only continue to deteriorate them unless it's not passed and funding is restored.

Gayle Owens, Ms
Self - Retired
Garland, TX

School voucher programs should ensure that children receiving vouchers are held to the same rigorous academic standards as their public-school counterparts. This includes mandatory participation in standardized assessments like the STAAR test, to guarantee accountability and equitable education outcomes. Furthermore, private school teachers should meet state certification requirements, just as public-school educators do, to maintain high teaching quality across all institutions. Voucher amounts should also reflect fairness by equating to the per-student funding allocated to public schools, ensuring all students, regardless of educational setting, have access to comparable resources and opportunities. By enforcing these standards, we can uphold the integrity and quality of education for every child.
In short, the education savings account program is NOT needed in Texas - support public-schools.

Ashley Robinson
Self Jarrell, TX

Please consider more funding for homeschoolers. Their sacrifice for their kids costs them the most because one parent must not work so they lose a whole income. In this economy it is very difficult to live without 2 incomes.

Anabel Cortes
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Can we stop doing things just for the sake of "winning"? No one is going to win if this bill is passed. This is going to create a domino effect of issues that is going to hurt ALL of us down the line. Do you want this state to only have more disorder and higher crime rates from lack of funding in public schools? That's what would happen if more schools need to close, ND they are overcrowded. Please think carefully about what you are doing. Please.

Jeanine Ratliff, Dr.
Self
Aledo, TX

I oppose this bill. It is not in the best interest of Texas children.

Luis Miramontes
Self- Project Manager O&G
Houston, TX

Chairperson and Members of the Committee,

My name is [Your Name], I am a parent/community member in Spring Branch ISD in Houston and I am providing my written testimony to urge you to support legislation that will close the funding gaps in critical education programs that serve our students.

The data from SBISD's state funding allocations highlight a troubling trend -- our schools are significantly underfunded in key areas, forcing them to absorb millions in unfunded costs. Special education, safety and security, transportation, and pre-kindergarten programs are all experiencing funding shortfalls that put immense strain on school districts and, ultimately, harm our students.

For example:

Special Education: The state allotment for special education in 2023-24 was $31.5 million, but actual expenditures reached $53.5 million, leaving a $22 million shortfall. This gap is projected to be $20.3 million in 2024-25. Without adequate funding, students with disabilities may not receive the legally mandated services they need to thrive.

Safety & Security: In 2023-24, the state provided only $0.9 million, but the actual cost was $8.9 million, creating an $8 million deficit. For 2024-25, the gap is projected to grow to $10 million, putting school safety measures at risk.

Transportation: The 2023-24 state allocation was $1.5 million, while the cost of maintaining transportation services was $10.4 million, leading to an $8.9 million shortfall. In 2024-25, the gap is expected to be $8.3 million, making it difficult to ensure students have reliable and safe transportation to and from school.

Pre-Kindergarten: This critical early childhood education program faced a $3.7 million funding gap in 2023-24, with an estimated $3.2 million shortfall in 2024-25. Underfunding pre-K limits access to high-quality early learning opportunities that set children up for future success.

Our educators and administrators are doing their best with limited resources, but without legislative action, these funding shortfalls will continue to compromise the quality of education and essential services for Texas students. We need a bill that ensures state funding keeps pace with actual costs of running these programs. These includes:

Increasing the Basic Allotment at a minimum of $500

Fully funding special education services to meet the true cost of providing federally required support for students with disabilities.

Increasing state funding for school safety and security to protect students and staff.

Expanding transportation funding to ensure students have safe and reliable access to school.

Boosting investment in early childhood education to support pre-kindergarten programs that lay the foundation for academic success.

Jennifer Derington

Self

Amarillo, TX

I am a Republican who is opposed to school vouchers for several reasons. First, public funds should support the majority of the residents. HB 3 will only be used by a very small percentage. Public funds should also only go to public schools. There needs to be a separation of church and state. Also, if there is a surplus of money, it needs to go back to the taxpayers. Lastly, creating another government entity goes against the principle of small government which is what most Republicans pursue.

I am a mother of three and we have had school choice. Two of my children started at Bushland ISD and I was not happy with the gifted and talented program so we homeschooled them for a bit. One wanted to attend private school so she went to Ascension Academy for middle school. She wanted to be a member of a fantastic choir which Ascension Academy did not have so she went back to public school at Amarillo High where she graduated. She loved Amarillo High so much that my youngest, who had been homeschooled since kindergarten, wanted to go there. She graduates from Amarillo High in two years. So, school choice exists for those who live in an area that has private schools available. Unfortunately, many districts are not lucky enough to have what we have available.

Please, do not create a voucher system in Texas. It will only benefit the vendors or the donors who are pushing this on our representatives.

Thank you for your time.

Jennifer Derington

Wendi Searcy

Self

Amarillo, TX

Texans are not for this. Let's work on our public schools

Frances Ellington

self

Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts in Texas. Fund our public schools.

Gayle Symonette, Ms.

Self TDCJ Retired Correctional Officer

Tyler, TX

Public funds are for public schools not for vouchers for private schools. Vote no!

jermaine roy
Leander ISD
Leander, TX

Dear Legislator,

I live in Leander Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Jermaine Roy

Kimberly Caston
Self Retired
Dallas, TX

I OPPOSE VOUCHERS and ESAs. Vouchers will NOT provide competition for public schools. Competition exists when the same rules apply to the competitors; public schools have hundreds of laws, rules and regulations that must be followed; private schools have none. Properly fund public education NOW. No more penalizing public education for special interest groups.

Crystal Richards
Self
Cedar Park, TX

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you.
Crystal Richards

Heidi Langan
self/retired teacher
Austin, TX

As a retired public school teacher, a mother of a current teacher and a grandmother of two Texas public school children, I oppose any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for profit virtual schools. This bill will hurt the school children of Texas. This bill will hurt the economy of rural Texas communities.

Kelly Godfrey
Self
Comanche, TX

Public education will suffer more. Property taxes will soar. Private tuition will increase. Parents ALREADY HAVE school choice. This is a new, BIGGER government program and money laundering scheme. Homeschool families don't want government strings, loopholes, or restrictions -- it's a dangerous and slippery slope.

Erica Gremillion
Self - Project Manager
Seabrook, TX

I am a Texas citizen and parent concerned about HB 3 and the negative impact it will have on our public schools, and, thus, the future of our state as funding is lost and our kids suffer the consequences followed by our workforce. Academic excellence is in no way going to be reflected if the bill passes as it has been proven time and time again that vouchers do not equate to improved academic outcomes.

Texas families already have school choice, and this bill funds private school selectivity with public money. Public money means public accountability. Any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing, and accountability requirements as public schools. Texans should decide! Vouchers would use public dollars for private education—Texans deserve a voice in this decision. Put the measure on a statewide ballot if you are so certain this is what Texans want, and let the people vote!

Shawn Dempsey
Self, homemaker
Round Rock, TX

Texas has school of choice already. Vouchers are simply an effort to pay for personal choices. It is against conservative values for tax dollars to pay for private choices. If this nonsense passes, I'd like the state to pay for my private insurance, my private community park, my private property maintenance — I mean, it's my choice, right?! Also, I think I'll hire private security because it's my choice! It's total nonsense pushed by some big donors, and we ordinary Texans don't want this expense!

Melinda Strickland
Self--retired public school teacher; grandparent to public school students; advocate for public schools
Mineola, TX

I am and have always been a Republican as the Republican Party best represents my views on most subjects -- EXCEPT public schools. Any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools does NOTHING to support public schools and will eventually direct public school monies away from them.

Republican representatives, you know what our arguments are and you have a response for each one that is maneuvered to serve your purpose. Can public schools improve? Of course! However, after 25+ years in the classrooms of small schools across the central part of our state, I know there is quality education going on! The areas that have these private/charter schools are primarily in the urban areas, and yes, some of those schools are struggling. HELP THEM, don't take even more funds away. I also have seen homeschool parent organizations saying they do not want these funds.

The apparent campaign contributions from those that would benefit and/or those totally in favor of this redirection of public school money makes the entire process suspect.

Get away from that perception, support PUBLIC SCHOOLS, fix the ones that are broken, and leave the others alone!

Respectfully submitted from a life-long Republican voter and constituent,
Melinda Strickland

Alice Bradley
Self - Human Resources
Fort Worth, TX

This bill will not help Texas schoolchildren or their families. We should already be ashamed of our education scores in Texas and the answer is not less money in the public school system; it's very clearly more. Texas spends an abysmally low amount per child compared to many other states, both red and blue, with demonstrable results. Pay our teachers more, fund these schools so all Texan children have a real chance at success and are not beholden to the lottery of birth. Please, please do not support vouchers.

Stephanie Holdren
Self
AUSTIN, TX

Please say NO to vouchers and keep public funds in public schools! Wealthy people who already send their kids to private school do not need a coupon. Public schools accept EVERY child, private schools do not. Public schools have accountability, private schools do not. Over 90% of children in TX attend public schools and we have a constitutional duty to make them the best they can be. Let's support public school teachers and public schools! Thank you!

Tammy Lee, Dr
Brentwood Elementary School
Austin, TX

No vouchers! Save public schools!!!

Daniel Walz self / Trinity University, Emeritus Professor of Finance
San Antonio, TX

I do not support HB 3. Vote NO on school vouchers.

Suzanne Freeman
900741916
Austin, TX

Please vote AGAINST the education savings account program (vouchers). Protect our children, our democracy, and our education by throwing out the voucher bill. A free education is the foundation of democracy. Put MORE money in the public school system, not less. Thank you

Louie Blancarte
Self
New Braunfels, TX

I do not support this bill. Please vote against.

Sharon Koehl
Self/grandparent
Houston, TX

Public schools need money and good teachers. Giving public school funds for private schools where not all teachers are certified teachers. Let people who want private schools pay for them themselves. More tax payers have children in public schools.

Kelly Daley

Self

Wylie, TX

I do not want my taxes going to private schools. If parents want to send their children to private school then they can pay for it on their own. Most private schools are also religious schools and it is unconstitutional to provide tax payer money to them. Please honor the separation of church and state as our founding fathers wished. This is Christian nationalism which is unconstitutional and unacceptable.

Melissa Cortez

Self - utility coordinator

Mansfield, TX

As a Texas resident and mother I ask that the private school voucher initiative be stopped. Public schools are the root of communities in this country and should be funded. Private schools with no regulations or accountability in place. The more that money plays a role in level of education, the more lopsided our country becomes towards benefitting the most wealthy. We cannot go backwards, we must go forward and ensure that our public schools are to notch and well funded and supported.

Amy Froehlich

Self / Office Manager

Plano, TX

As a proud Texan, I value the role public schools play in shaping our future. I oppose private school subsidies, also known as vouchers or education savings accounts. I believe private school subsidies are wasteful, deceitful, inefficient, and unfair. Public school dollars should go only to public schools. Public schools in Texas are underfunded by billions of dollars every year. Vouchers force taxpayers to subsidize private schools' preferences. Without elected boards or state oversight, vouchers give away tax dollars with no financial or academic accountability. Public schools educate more than 90 percent of Texas students, serving all the students in their boundaries. They build the workforce that powers the Texas economy. We can't afford to underwrite a few special choices at the expense of our collective future. We elect legislators to represent the interests of their communities. Responding to their communities, Texas legislators have rejected private school subsidies time after time. It appears there has been quite the pressure from the Governor of Texas on our legislators to pass the private school subsidies this session. I continue to pray that our legislators are listening to their constituents, and not the want of the Governor - the majority of the Texas voters, both republicans and democrats, are vehemently opposed to these subsidies.

Tracy Johnston

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the establishment of educational savings accounts in Texas.

Tyana Brown, Mrs.

Self

Houston, TX

This bill does not benefit the average Texas child. If you believe that this is what your constituents want then you are delusional. If you really want to know what the average Texas parent thinks about this bill then put it on the ballot and allow us to vote on it. It is amazing how not in touch you are with the pyou repercent. You should be working for the best interest for the people you represent NOT yourself.

Debra Green
Myself
Granbury, TX

If we want to increase the quality of Texas education, voting for school vouchers IS NOT how it should be done. Fund the schools! Increase teachers pay! Cut the ridiculous "tests" that are not really showing how students are doing. Put the money where it will do the best. Wouldn't it be phenomenal if ALL students in Texas excel, not just a few. Please don't listen to the big money donors, listen to the people who voted you into office to support the quality of life in Texas.

German Amador
Self, retired engineer
Houston, TX

The Texas Constitution specifically prohibits using taxpayer dollars to fund sectarian organizations (see Article VII, Section 5c and Article I Section 7 of The Bill of Rights). Many private schools and home schools are religious based. I believe that providing public funds for private schools is thus unconstitutional. Public money should only be for public schools, so I am against any sort of voucher bill passing.

But if taxpayer money is directed to private or religious schools these schools must accept all students, just like public schools do, regardless of a child's special needs, aptitude or behavior issues. Otherwise, the remaining students in public schools will be the most difficult and thus the most expensive to educate. If vouchers pass, public school funding needs to be increased accordingly (after increasing funding to account for inflation since 2019).

I also believe that if taxpayer money is directed to private or religious schools these schools must administer the exact same assessment tests that Texas public schools are required to administer, in other words, the STAAR tests. The STAAR test is not a nationally normed test. The results cannot be used to compare academic success with students nationally who have taken other tests. Private schools receiving public money must be held to the same academic standards as public schools including testing and public reporting of results on a system-wide basis.

I am very concerned that monies directed to private and religious institutions will spiral out of control as they have in other states like Arizona, which now spends half of all new education funds on vouchers. I believe there needs to be an income cap on who can receive taxpayer voucher funds to ensure that money goes to the people who need it most. As the bill is written, the money will, by default, go to the wealthy because even with a $10,000 state supplement, private and religious school tuition in Texas (which averages $20,000) is not in reach for most middle- and lower-class families particularly if they have more than one child. The current bill has a prioritization of who is eligible for voucher funds, which is good, but then doesn't have an income cap if there are monies remaining. I suggest the current 500% of the poverty level should be the cap.

Lastly, vouchers / ESAs will introduce additional administrative costs through the use of the five "Certified Educational Assistance Organizations". These additional expenses decrease the effectiveness on funds used for educating the children of Texas.

Thank You.

Karina Silva
Self
Humble, TX

The school voucher program is a scam that targets low income communities. How is the US supposed to compete with international powers when we leave our population uneducated!!

Susan Muzny
Texas Impact
Livingston, TX, TX

Vouchers are wrong for Texas
Vouchers undermine the public school finance system
Vouchers rob taxpayers of oversight and accountability
Vouchers disadvantage rural and marginalized students
Vouchers impose religious favoritism.
Vouchers go against the spirit of the constitution by indirectly giving money to religious schools.
Vouchers will resegregate public schools by making it cost prohibitive for many students to access private schools.
Vouchers are a vendor bill that just give money to unaccountable private companies.
This will defund public schools because the public schools will not get the attendance money for the students that leave public schools.
This will eventually raise property taxes.
Half of rural areas do not have private school options so this is just taking away the money from these schools.
Prioritizing public schools will help businesses in Texas and our democracy since EVERYONE needs to be educated.
PLEASE HELP SAVE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Misty Quigley
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools

Jayne Cornell
Self
Sachse, TX

I opposed HB3. This program would severely restrict the public school system that the majority of students attend and truly hurt the education of the majority of students in Texas.

Denise Storm
Children of Texas
Waxahachie, TX

OPPOSE HB 3!!!!!! EVERY child deserves a good education!!!!!!

Bahareh Tabaie
Self
Allen, TX

Absolutely destroying our public schools and quality of education in our state. Look at Arizona and learn what it did to their public schools. Destroying education quality.

Christy James
Self
Mckinney, TX

As a Texas teacher...NO to school vouchers!

Jacob Price

Self/Agricultural Science Teacher

Katy, TX

As a republican, conservative and most importantly a public school teacher I urge you to vote no on HB3. This bill goes against republican and conservative values. Career and technology education plays a pivotal role in preparing students for post high school, whether that be a job, trade school, or a college degree in a STEM field. When you look at CTE education in private schools it is virtually non existent. In fact, in the subject I teach agriculture science, there are only 10 private schools that offer these courses. With the valid role that CTE plays in the Texas economy, we cannot afford this bill. Additionally as a product of a rural Texas public school, this bill stands to irreparably damage schools just like mine I grew up in. Please know that there are republicans like me all across Texas who are watching the corruption, money from billionaires and private entities who stand to profit from HB3. We are watching your vote and hope that you will support us. If not, we look forward to when your name comes back on the ballot so we can select someone who truly represents their constituents.

Carol Bernhard, Ms.

Self- hr professional

Austin, TX

The United States cannot survive unless government schools improve. Too many families are being failed by them. Competition is the only thing that will improve them. It's morally wrong to oppressively tax families for ISD's that not only may fail students, but may spend their tax dollars indoctrinating Texas children. Please increase the # of children who can participate in The ESA program to at least 20% the first year. With more widespread competition, Texas will lead, children will learn, families will thrive and teachers will be happier. The Texas house republicans will lose their majority if school choice doesn't pass or if a watered down, monopoly empowering bill passes. Put parents in the driver's seat with the right to educate their children in the manner they want, pursuing the values they cherish. It's the right thing to do and it's past time to do it.

Also, protect our girls from boys in public school restrooms and protect women from men in the restrooms of the building you are in now. Women and girls should have safe restrooms. This shouldn't be controversial.

Charles Roeckle, Dr.

Self

Austin, TX

I write in adamant opposition to House Bill 3. For elementary and secondary school, I was educated in parochial schools. But in my 44 years in higher education, as a teacher and administrator, I came to realize the importance of public school education to our state and nation. Free, widely accessible, and HIGH QUALITY public school education is fundamental to the success, growth, and well-being of our state and nation. At present, Texas public school education consistently ranks in the lower half of the states in quality assessments. The reason is simple to grasp. Texas has failed to provide adequate funding for public elementary and secondary education. That is especially true of teachers' salaries, for which our state has for years failed to offer competitive salaries sufficient to attract the best qualified people to teach in our schools. House Bill 3 proposes to syphon still more money from public school support. The argument that diverting funds public to private schools will improve the quality of education in our state is preposterous. The time has come for the Texas House of Representatives to stand up for the children and public schools of our state, defeat damaging House Bill 3, and give the people of Texas the high quality public school education they need and deserve. Thank you for your service.

Helen Howell

Self, APH

Austin, TX

program diverts public funds to private schools with minimal oversight, draining resources from already underfunded public schools. HB 3 weakens Texas schools by prioritizing taxpayer-funded privatization over real investment in public education.

Amanda Nichols

Self, Consultant

Austin, TX

The way we chronically underfund our public schools, while asking more and more of our teachers and administrators every single year, is one of our country's most shameful AND fixable problems. Do NOT pass this bill. We already have school choice in Texas. In my neighborhood alone, families send their kids to our neighborhood AISD school, a magnet school outside our zone with bilingual education, private schools, and the charter school up the street. We should aspire to be a model for the rest of the country. Fully funded public education with hefty teacher salaries that attract and retain the best, most committed educators. This bill is not it. Vote NO on HB 3.

Natasha Willet

LISD/PTA

CEDAR PARK, TX

Hello,

I live in Cedar Park, Texas and I strongly oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools.

ESAs (vouchers) directly hurt students with disabilities who receive Special Education services in Public Schools in the State of Texas. Diverting $1 Billion of my PUBLIC taxpayer money to private schools who do not even acknowledge IDEA, do not follow IEPs and only provide services when they are negotiated, compromised and then charged back to parents at exorbitant rates well above typical tuition rates it is theft of services and money to the most vulnerable population in Texas.

14% of the 5.4 million public school students in Texas receive special education services. That's 760,000 students at a minimum. These ESAs are completely inaccessible to at least 90% of our disabled students, and that is before they have a chance at any lottery or know if a private school will accept, serve, or retain them. There's no accountability. Not of services, not of the $1 Billion of public taxpayer money this legislature wants to pour into private schools and not of impact or outcomes of our disabled students.

Even if we say ALL of the ESAs go to disabled kids receiving special education services, that still leaves a minimum of 700,000 students receiving special education services in underfunded understaffed Public Schools that this state put in this situation. This causes direct harm to these students with disabilities, the most vulnerable individuals in society, and it's at the hands of those who are supposed to represent us.

This is unacceptable. I want this legislature to take accountability, listen to the parent voice (and students), and have the courage to do the right thing: say No to ESA/Vouchers and Fund our Public Schools properly.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Natasha Millar-Willet

Danvis Napier, Mrs.

Self

The Woodlands, TX

The Texas constitution ARTICLE 7 specifies taxes are for the support and maintenance of public education. Private schools should be paid for PRIVATELY. We need to make public better for all children. NO VOUCHERS! This should be on a statewide ballot.

Amanda Kight Gentry

Self/teacher

Houston, TX

Texas needs to focus on improving our public school system. The state has no business funding private schools. We need to follow through on our promise of providing the best quality education for ALL Texans, not just our students whose parents place them in private schools. Let's be true to the American and Texan ideal that ANYONE can succeed, and provide equal opportunities for all of us.

Kathleen Fowler

Self

Lubbock, TX

HB3 is offensive. Texas Public Schools have not been fully funded for many years. Funding private schools, AKA school choice, is an affront to public school students, parents and teachers. Your decisions should be based on your constituents opinions yet you and the majority of Republican Representatives have not listened repeatedly. You've decided what to vote for and continue charging toward that end without visiting public schools, allowing for questions at your Town Hall Meeting, or listening to constituents. I have voted Republican my whole life, but I assure you with the dishonesty and continued lack of funding for public schools, that won't be in my future. Disappointment, or maybe disgust is how I view this bill and all of your lack of knowledge about public schools.

Cynthia Edmondson

self, retired

Houston, TX

I do not believe that money should be taken away from public education. Texas already has some of the lowest funding for public schools. I feel that funding needs to be increased. I believe that Texas is one of the richest states and I do not understand why funding public schools is held in such low regard.

Holly Bass

Self/public school teacher

Plano, TX

I oppose the establishment of an education savings account program. As a special education teacher, I want my students to be fully funded through IDEA. Which I have yet to see. I speak for multiple sped teachers who whole heartedly oppose this bill.

Jan Casner

Self - retired educator

Dallas, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Lori Perry

Self

Austin, TX

This bill will hurt public schools!

I do not want my school taxes to go to a voucher system that will not benefit students.

Rural areas of this large state will not have adequate education opportunities for their families.

This has been attempted in other states and has not been successful.

Please listen to the majority of Texans, support public education and do not pass HB 3.

Put your support into public education, this is the future!

Lalania Richard, RN

Self nurse

McKinney, TX

While the goal of providing families with more educational choices is commendable, HB 3, in its current form, poses substantial risks to the integrity and effectiveness of Texas's public education system. It threatens to divert necessary funds from public schools, lacks sufficient support for low-income families, operates without adequate accountability, and faces considerable public opposition. I urge you to consider these factors carefully and oppose HB 3 to ensure that we continue to strengthen and support our public schools for the benefit of all Texas students.

Thank you

Lalania Richard

Danielle Vice

Self

League City, TX

I am against the voucher program and in favor of fully funded public education. Having spent equal time in both public and private education as a child (at different public and private schools) the quality of education from public schools is superior. It is a foundation of America. Efforts should be spent furthering public education, not undermining it.

Fred Castillo

Self retired

Nixon, TX

I'm in a rural town that is nowhere near any private school. Most of Texas is this way and our public schools rely on govt funding. This bill will use tax dollars to help people who already send their kids to private school. It will not help the thousands of kids who will never be able to go to private school because it is simply not available to us due to location. Our schools and teachers need these funds to keep our kids fed, educated and able to give their best. The special programs needed to help them through all the difficulties should not be cut or demolished. Our taxes are also needed to keep our teachers paid with a living wage.

Elizabeth Janning

self

Southlake, TX

Public dollars raised by our taxes should be kept in public. In this case, in public schools. Parents already have school choice! Moving money from the public schools and giving it to private enterprises will have long term consequences on public schools. And because of that on our society as a whole. If we can agree that our public school system in Texas is broken, let's fix it. Throwing public money into the private sector will only continue to hurt and handicap public schools. Vote NO to school choice ie. vouchers.

Sue Overton

self

Palo Pinto, TX 76484, TX

The voucher bill will be the worst thing for Texas education. I am a taxpayer and do not want my tax dollars spent on vouchers. Please vote AGAINST SCHOOL VOUCHERS.

Charlotte Hull

Self, Financial Analyst

San Antonio, TX

Vote against the school vouchers and vote FOR fully funded public education.

Education is a right EVERY person deserves no matter their background, history, or financial wealth/status. The school vouchers harm the vast majority of Texans and future generations. My taxes are to help the public, not to fund the agenda of the wealthy elite.

Do the right thing and vote AGAINST HB3, protect the future of your fellow Texans with access to education for everyone.

Dadrian Pittman, Student

Self Student

Temple, TX

I am in support for this bill to be signed and approved and submitted and put in law.

Jennifer Freiermuth

Self

McKinney, TX

Dear Members of the Texas Legislature,

I write to you today to express my profound opposition to House Bill 3 (HB 3), introduced by Representative Brad Buckley, which proposes the establishment of an Education Savings Account (ESA) program in Texas. While the intent behind this bill may be to provide families with greater educational choices, I firmly believe that its implementation would have detrimental effects on our public education system, exacerbate existing inequalities, and fail to deliver on its promises to Texas families.

Impact on Public School Funding

One of the most pressing concerns regarding HB 3 is its potential to divert essential funds away from public schools. Public education in Texas is already underfunded, and reallocating resources to support private schooling through ESAs would further strain the system. A recent poll indicates that 78% of voters believe Texas public schools are underfunded and support increased funding for reducing class sizes and boosting teacher pay. ?

The proposed ESA program would allocate approximately $10,000 per child, with an initial budget of $1 billion, enabling roughly 100,000 students to participate in its first year. ? This substantial allocation raises concerns about the sustainability of funding for public schools, which serve the majority of Texas students.

Insufficient Support for Low-Income Families

Proponents of HB 3 argue that ESAs would empower low-income families to choose better educational options for their children. However, the reality is that the proposed $10,000 voucher would be insufficient to cover the full cost of private school tuition, which often exceeds this amount. Consequently, low-income families may still find private schooling financially inaccessible, rendering the ESA program ineffective in achieving its intended goal of equitable educational opportunities. ?

Lack of Accountability and Oversight

Private schools receiving funds through ESAs are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. They are not required to administer state assessments, adhere to state curriculum standards, or publicly report student performance data. This lack of oversight raises concerns about the quality of education that students might receive under the ESA program and diminishes transparency for taxpayers.

Potential for Increased Segregation

Without requirements for private schools to accept all students, there is a risk that ESAs could lead to increased segregation within the education system. Private institutions may choose to admit only certain students, potentially excluding those with disabilities, behavioral challenges, or lower academic performance. This selective admission process could result in a more divided educational landscape, undermining the principles of inclusivity and equal opportunity. ?

Public Opposition

It is important to note that a significant majority of Texas voters oppose the implementation of a private school voucher program

Melanie Gehman

Public Schools

Houston, TX

Please vote NO on HB 3. I want fully funded public education, not welfare for the wealthy. I pay a fortune in property taxes in Texas, and I want my tax dollars to support public education for ALL, not white, wealthy private school children. The bill does not provide equitable support for the thousands of Texas students who don't have access to private schools. If you are being forced to pass this bill by our billionaire backed governor at least make the voucher scheme support public education fully with an equitable allotment of funds. PLEASE do your job and do what is BEST for the majority of your constituents and the future of Texas. Our state will not thrive without the bedrock of strong and fully funded public schools. Thank you.

Sydonia McDaniel

Self

Lubbock, TX

Creating a voucher system for the rich to receive a discount on tuition to private schools will not help students with limited income. The cost of private schools will still be out of reach for most students and their families.

My children attended both private schools and public schools. Their time in the public schools was much more effective than the private schools. My children were able to receive both remediation and acceleration when they needed it. Which is something they did not receive in the private schools they attended.

Funding vouchers for private schools over funding public schools tells the majority of Texas families that you do not care about their education. If you want the children of the Great State of Texas to compete with students from other states and the world, you will vote no on this bill and begin funding our schools at a rate that will ensure our children receive the best education the State of Texas can give them.

Marie Pousson, Mrs.

self, retired public school educator, taxpayer

Houston, TX

Dear Committee Members,

As a retired public school educator, and parent of three who graduated public schools here in Houston, I urge you to oppose HB3, don't let this voucher bill come to the house floor, especially without any amendments. It is said by many that it is already a done deal, but this is stealing of tax dollars from the public schools, to be handed over to parents whose children already attend private schools, in effect a subsidy to the parents who can afford private school already at the expense of all the rest of the taxpayers, especially those whose children will not be anywhere close to a private school in rural communities. This is false to call it "choice". It is really a massive transfer from the poor and middle class taxpayers to those who are already rich.

If vouchers are offered to families at $10,000.00 to take to a private school, then the basic allotment for public school students must be increased to $10K as well. Here in HISD the amount per pupil is much less than $10K. Public schools are the backbone of communities all over this state. Taking public funds, my tax dollars, and allowing that money to fund a school that won't accept all students, won't provide all services, and won't be accountable to the same standards as public schools, where there is no accountability of how taxpayer dollars will be spent by that private school, is just wrong. Public means public. Nationwide, vouchers have lost millions to waste, fraud and abuse at private schools. Besides the vouchers primarily benefitting those parents whose students are enrolled in private schools already, there is no reliable evidence that vouchers improve the educational outcomes of those who obtain them, in fact there are recent studies that show vouchers lead to drops in student achievement. And there is no guarantee that students who aren't wealthy will even be accepted into the private schools, especially since vouchers were originally created to keep schools segregated after Brown v. Board of Ed. Private schools will continue to discriminate in acceptance. In addition to discriminating against those who might apply to a private school with a voucher for a child with low income or special needs, even if they were accepted, there is no auditing of where the funds go, no transparency of teacher salaries, administrative costs, or services provided to students, nor even a guarantee that the money would be spent in the classroom. Private schools are not bound to audits to the public taxpayer. Public school boards are transparent with budgets (even this unelected mess in HISD). Oppose HB3!

The only thing that has been shown to improve public school outcomes is to better fund the public schools with what they need. What needs to happen is that the basic allotment needs to be increased so that public school districts can hire and keep the very best faculty, and provide the specialists and services that Texas students deserve. NO HB 3!

Shannon Smoot Wheeler, Mom, Parent, Grandparent

Self, and daughter which is a teacher in Birdville ISD

Fort Worth, TX

Please do not pass this bill routing money from public schools to private schools. Many public schools in Texas are already struggling l ing with fewer students attending and money not allocated due to reduced number of students. Schools will close if the voucher bill is passed. Please consider those children in rural areas with limited access to school if budgets are cut and transportation becomes limited. Thank you for any considerations.

Maria Dracoulis

Self

Humble, TX

School vouchers should not be allowed. They take money away from public schools l, which are already underfunded to begin with.

Private schools are not required to accept poor or disabled students. Private, religious, and home schools are not accountable to the state. Studies of similar programs found that voucher money largely goes to students ALREADY in private schools.

Morgan Boeker
Self
San Angelo, TX

This bill would upend the already faltering public education system. As a product of the public school system it is abhorrent what this bill is trying to accomplish. Instead of passing this bill actually work with the TEA to improve classroom curriculum, abolish standardized testing, and asses teachers wages/retirement to have it as a livable income level. This bill will NOT improve my child's education, it will hinder it. It is my CHOICE as a parent that I want to send my child to public school and not private school. I do not want my child having their education intertwined with religion as private schools in Texas are predominantly religious based. This bill will end the right to choose by only leaving 1 choice. This is highly unfair and clearly are falling on deaf ears when it comes to Texans being able to openly vote for this bill.

Do NOT pass this bill.

Linda Holter
Self/Retired
Magnolia, TX

I oppose "vouchers" for a number of reasons. In many counties public schools are excellent, hire a lot of locals and there are no private schools available. That will change. It will be like the "for profit" colleges who take government money and provide no education.

Deborah Richard, MA
Self
Houston, TX

No for school vouchers

Cynthia Wise self / parents
Austin, TX

We are for fully funded public schools.
We are against school voucher system, which will prioritize profit over quality education and not be available in rural areas.

Jennifer Worrel, Mrs.
Self
Southlake, TX

I am a homeowner, a business owner, and parent of two children attending Carroll ISD in Southlake. Carroll has already been impacted negatively by recapture, and will be further impacted by the private school voucher initiative.

I want strong communities and strong public schools in Texas. We already have school choice, and many in my community already opt for homeschooling or private school.

Being conservative means limiting government expansion. Private means private.

Elected officials should fix recapture—which is a DEI program that hurts good public schools—and let private entities endeavor without the intrusion of government.

If this voucher program is bad for Carroll ISD, it's bad for every public school in Texas.

Maria De La Fuente

Self

San Antonio, TX

Our students of Texas deserve an equal opportunity to a free education with designated supports for their success. This includes supports of Academic interventions, accommodations, individual educational plans, and other therapies aligned to their individual education plans. HB 3 would transfer funds for the voucher system for private schools, where only the few students would be accepted and neglect the majority of students, especially those who cannot pay the off set private school tuition amounts and deny those with disabilities access to an education, with less support and bigger class sizes. These tax payer funds being transferred to private school would take away from funding needed for school personnel who specialize in student service supports, teachers, and closing of more public schools.

The retirement system TRS would also loose funding due to less students in public schools.

If we want to improve the quality of our students' education, we need to invest in more academic support, social emotional supports, training and review the costs of state standardized testing.

Patricia Sumrow

Self

Frisco, TX

As a taxpaying citizen in Texas, I adamantly oppose my tax dollars being used for a school voucher program. I do not support this or any school voucher bill. Public dollars belong in public schools.

Holly Rice

Educator

New Braunfels, TX

As a retired educator, I am strongly opposed to Vouchers. The state of Texas ranks 41st in education. This is embarrassing because the Legislature has not funded education to an acceptable level. Private schools have no oversight and don't have to provide services to Special Needs students. Please do not send this bill forward.

Barbara Chiarello, Dr.

Self; English professor

Austin, TX

I am the product of an excellent New York City public education. I grew up in a lower class family. I am now an English professor. All my children have advanced degrees. The children with whom I grew up became doctors, lawyers, accountants, Elementary school, teachers, junior high and high school teachers. A few went into politics. My first point is that public education is a worthwhile investment which pays for itself over and over and over for the good of all.

My second point concerns the separation of church and state. My neighborhood was half Jewish and half Italian Catholic. School was a public space where we all felt welcome. There was never a Hanukkah menorah or a Christmas tree in our school. We knew about each other's religious traditions and respected them, but at our public school, we were all there to learn, as much as we could about things that had nothing to do with our religions.

I urge you two put our state's money, and good policy decisions into making our public schools strong.

Parents who want to send their children to private school, certainly have a right to do so, but I do not want my tax dollars to do anything else then support good public education.

Suzanne Danhof

Self

Denton, TX

I strongly oppose private school vouchers because they take critical resources away from public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students. Every child deserves access to a high-quality education, and diverting taxpayer dollars to private institutions—many of which lack accountability and exclude students—only widens inequities. Public funds should remain in public schools, where they support teachers, students, and communities. Instead of undermining public education, we should focus on strengthening our schools by increasing funding, reducing class sizes, and supporting educators. Texas students deserve better. Please oppose any efforts to implement private school voucher programs.

Susan Agiewich

Self retired

Georgetown, TX

TEXAS has some of the lowest rankings in Public Education in the nation and this bill will make it even lower. This helps rich families, not the poorest. It especially will hurt rural communities that do not even have Private Schools as an option. Plus there will be no oversight on these Private Schools. For once consider the future of Texas and how you are hurting it with this bill to take money from Public Schools for everyone

Todd Lorberbaum

Self

HOUSTON, TX

Please fund public schools and stop with the vouchers!

Mark Tucker

Students of Texas

Knox City, TX

Please just say NO to HB 3! The students of Texas needs YOU to vote NO! This bill will drastically affect Texas public schools by redirecting funds that should be and were collected for PUBLIC schools. If you vote for HB3 then you are committing a crime and should be held accountable for such crime. Put this to a vote of the tax payers! You and the others that represent the tax payers are NOT listening. James Franks does not represent me and does not listen to most of those that represent his district. We already have school choice! Your wealthy friends/donors can pay for their child's education if PUBLIC schools are not good enough for them. Public school do have many problems and throwing money at it is not going to fix everything but it will help those school administrators that are really trying to the right things for their deserving students that will not be allowed admission into private schools. Step up and do what is right for ALL students of Texas and vote NO! Have the balls enough to vote NO!

Graciela Rubio

Self

San Benito, TX

School vouchers should not pass because they drain critical funding from public schools, widening the gap between privileged and underprivileged students. As a dedicated public school teacher, I see firsthand how every dollar counts in providing quality education, resources, and support for all students, regardless of their socioeconomic background. Vouchers divert taxpayer money to private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability, equity, and inclusivity as public schools. Instead of funneling funds away, we should be investing in strengthening public education—ensuring smaller class sizes, better teacher salaries, updated materials, and enhanced support services. Public schools serve all students, not just a select few, and they deserve full funding, not financial sabotage.

Paul Campbell

self

Houston, TX

I strongly oppose a voucher system as it will take away funds from our public schools and divert it to private schools. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund our public schools that educate the vast majority of our children. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Amy Ninetto

Self, editor

Houston, TX

I urge the Legislature to reject this bill because it is unjust. It will harm many of our most vulnerable students by diverting state funds to private schools that do not have to accept students with disabilities or provide the accommodations and support they need. It will starve rural schools of needed funds; many rural families can't choose private education because there are no private schools in their areas. It's also a huge giveaway of tax money to families who can already afford private school. I want my tax dollars to fund a quality public school education for every child in Texas, regardless of their race, gender, economic resources, disability, geography, or religion. Having a well-educated population is the only way Texas will move into the future. This bill will hold us back.

Caroline Miller

Self

San Antonio, TX

This bill diverts public funds away from public schools, potentially weakening the overall quality of education for the majority of Texas students. ESAs allow state funds to be used for private school tuition, homeschooling, and other educational expenses, which benefits wealthier families who can already afford private education while failing to support lower-income and rural students.

Public schools, especially those in rural and underfunded areas, rely on state funding based on student enrollment. When students leave for private or alternative education through ESAs, public schools receive less funding, making it harder to pay teachers, maintain facilities, and provide quality education. This can lead to larger class sizes, fewer resources, and ultimately a decline in educational outcomes for students who remain in public schools.

Additionally, private schools and homeschooling programs receiving ESA funds are not held to the same accountability standards as public schools. They are not required to follow the same curriculum, accept all students, or administer state assessments. This raises concerns about the use of taxpayer dollars with limited oversight and no guarantee of better educational outcomes.

Ultimately, instead of redirecting funds to private options, Texas should focus on increasing public school funding, teacher pay, and classroom resources to improve education for all students, not just those who can access ESAs.

Emily Harms
self- Event Planner
Richardson, TX

I DO NOT support this bill. Our public education school system needs more money, not less. We love our neighborhood school, Mark Twain Elementary, where my son is in 2nd grade. And yet, I see all the time that our school does not have the resources it needs. My son is in Gifted and Talented, and yet he only sees the teacher once a week for an hour. Friends in other states meet 2-3 times a week, and have so many great projects that they are working on. The program needs additional resources to help the kids reach their full potential. The teachers at MTE care so much, and yet they don't have enough supplies for their classrooms. DO NOT take money away from them to give to private schools. I do not want to send my children to a private school. I grew up attending a Catholic school and experienced first hand the racist superiority complexes that everyone had, and I do not want my children to experience that. Our world is not made up of one type of human, and being exposed to different cultures and viewpoints is a good thing. Public schools offer that opportunity, and it is important that every child get an equal opportunity for an amazing education. I believe in public education. Our schools need more funding. Richardson ISD had to close 5 elementary schools this year because of low funding. All those kids got uprooted and sent to other schools, which created additional hardships on their parents to get them to a new school. Vouchers do not work. Private Schools cost $30,000 a year, and this voucher only provides $10,000. I cannot afford another $20,000 a year to send my kid to a school that is farther away, and does not align with the ideals I want to raise my children in. I am lucky that i live in the city where there are other options. Rural communities cannot send their kids to a private school, and they depend on the public schools. Please prioritize all the kids and teachers, and not the billionaires who want to make more money. You need to pay teachers more! This bill does not address any of my concerns and makes it so much worse.NO VOUCHERS!!

Debbie Olschwanger
Self
Dallas, TX

I oppose vouchers and ESA's!!

Rebecca Hirsch
Self, Insurance Executive
San Antonio, TX

My daughter has attended NISD schools in San Antonio since kindergarten and we've seen the value of a good public education. However, since 2019, funding has diminished and financial cuts have affected our public schools. I have seen this first hand as a regional advisory board member for Teach for America. I support fully funding public education and do not want private school vouchers. I attended private schools myself and that was a financial choice my parents made. That's the real school choice right there. I do not want my tax money going to subsidize private school tuition. I also believe rural towns make Texas great and they will not benefit from vouchers. It's unTexan to leave our rural Friday Night Lights Texas towns in the dust.

Teresa Wolke

Self and my 2 children

Plano, TX

Every Texas child has the right to a world-class public education. It is the responsibility of the Texas legislature to provide funds for that public education. At the same time, every parent has the choice of how to educate their children. Those who choose private schools, homeschooling or other means of educating their children take on the responsibility for the cost of declining the free option.

By giving money to parents who decline public education, Texas legislators will take quality education away from children whose parents cannot afford or choose not to pay for private options. This is discriminatory and against the rights of children to receive a quality education.

As a child of the severely defunded Los Angeles Unified School District, I grew up without access to quality in-school music, arts, theater and other valuable programs. Today, my children are thriving in the very different Plano Independent School District, with access to choir, theater, coding and other enrichment programs.

I ask you to commit to the success and growth of our public schools by rejecting the establishment of an education savings account for parents who decline public schools. Instead, secure additional funds so that all Texas children can have the same, if not more access, to the types of educational programs that will set them up for future success.

Sue Anne Rische

Self

Princeton, TX

Wondering why this money doesn't just go towards making public education better. Instead this will drain the funding from public schools, teachers will lose their jobs as students go elsewhere, and will drain 1.9 million peoples trs, including my own. We don't get social security either. Could the funders and supporters of this bill have ulterior motives? Do not pass this bill.

Kera Espinoza

Self

Austin, TX

The voucher program proposed in HB2 has been rejected over and over by the Texas legislature for good reason. The overwhelming majority of Texans, both Republicans and Democrats, do not want taxpayer dollars meant for public schools going to private education, including religious schools.

- Vouchers have been tried for decades in other states and, without exception, do not promote improved academic outcomes. Numerous studies have proven this point.
- States who have tried vouchers are ending their programs. Voters in Nebraska repealed their program, and the legislature in Illinois cancelled their voucher program. There's no need to jump on a bandwagon that is already in the ditch!
- The two largest existing voucher programs (Florida and Arizona) have been disasters both academically and financially.
- The major beneficiary of vouchers will already be able to afford to have their students in private schools. This has been the experience in Florida and Arizona.
- The majority of counties in Texas do not have any private schools. Even where there are private schools, most do not offer transportation and are located in areas inaccessible to low-income families.
- The amount offered does not begin to cover tuition at most private schools. Families would also need to cover other expenses, including uniforms, books, field trips, sports, enrichment and lunch. It just does not make any sense, except as a subsidy for wealthier families.

The Texas legislature should be focusing on its main job, which is supporting great public school education! Schools are grossly underfunded, with a $10 billion cut in real dollars since 2019 due to inflation. Put $1,300 dollars per student into the basic allotment first, before you consider giving the public's money away to vouchers.

Michelle Hungerford, Voter

Self

San Marcos, TX

Please do not pass house Bill 3 . Please make the right choice to keep Texas Public Schools strong . Neighborhood schools are the backbone of the USA!

Richard Branch, Mr.

Self

McKinney, TX

I strongly oppose the private school voucher bill and urge lawmakers to reject it. Vouchers do not save taxpayers money, improve student outcomes, or expand real choice—they weaken public schools, increase costs, and undermine conservative values of fiscal responsibility and local control. Texas already ranks 41st in per-pupil funding (Texas AFT, 2023), and diverting more money away from our public schools will only make the problem worse.

Vouchers are not fiscally conservative. They lead to runaway government spending with little oversight or accountability. In Wisconsin, voucher costs increased 119%, and in Georgia, they skyrocketed 883% (NCPE, 2023). Instead of saving taxpayers money, vouchers create multi-million dollar deficits, increase property taxes, and drive up education costs (Texas AFT, 2023). Texas already struggles to fund its public schools, and funneling tax dollars to private institutions will only worsen this crisis.

Vouchers take decision-making power away from local communities and hand it to private institutions that do not answer to taxpayers. Public schools are required to serve all students, while private schools accepting vouchers can reject students based on income, academic ability, or disabilities (Public Funds Public Schools, 2023). That means tax dollars would fund schools that do not follow IDEA, Title IX, or other federal protections, leaving parents without the same rights they have in public schools.

This program also fails rural Texans. 25% of Texas public schools are in rural areas, and 165 counties lack private schools (Texas AFT, 2023). Rural Texans would see their schools defunded without any real alternative, further straining communities where public schools are often the largest employer and central to the local economy.

Vouchers are not a free-market solution. Private schools that accept vouchers become dependent on government funding, increasing regulation and oversight in schools that previously operated independently. This threatens the autonomy of religious and private institutions by tying them to government dollars. In states with voucher programs, student achievement declined significantly, with voucher students performing 24 percentile points below their public school peers in math (Brookings Institution, 2023).

The conservative approach is to invest in public schools, cut government waste, and ensure tax dollars are used efficiently. Vouchers do the opposite. They grow government spending, benefit unaccountable private institutions, and take funding away from the vast majority of students. Texas should focus on strengthening its public education system rather than experimenting with costly, ineffective voucher programs that do more harm than good.

Kara Thompson

Self

Garland, TX

I live in district 5, and I oppose HB 3. Please do not pass this bill as it is detrimental to the public schools of Texas.

Tasnim Lat

Self - physician

Temple, TX

I have served my rural community for 10 years and my children will attend schools here. I oppose the school voucher program due to the adverse effects it will have on public school funding.

Santos Casillas

Self

Fort Worth, TX

SB2/HB3 grows government, weakens local schools, and wastes taxpayer money with zero accountability. It strips rural schools of funding, could send tax dollars to religious or controversial private schools, and violates the Texas Constitution's duty to public education. Please say NO to SB2 & HB3!

Allison Becker

Self—Registrar

Dallas, TX

I'm an after-school drama teacher at three schools in the Dallas area. Funny enough, those three schools are a private religious institution, a charter school, and a public school. Each school type clearly offers unique opportunities and upsides for students and families, and I am very grateful that they have the ability to make that choice. This bill is not about school choice. School choice will exist with or without this policy or anything like it. This is about money. About who "deserves" funds. And let me tell you, as someone who spends time every week with kids from all three types of schools, none of them is any more or less "deserving." They all deserve the greatest chance of success—and that doesn't happen without funding our public schools. The voucher system won't help most people for whom private school is out of reach due to finances. Those students, each of whom deserves a vibrant, in-depth, enthusiastic education, will be in public school. Are you going to decide that those students are worth less?

Jennifer Scanlon

Self

Leander, TX

Vouchers will not help the vast majority of Texas children, and will take taxpayer dollars from public schools and give it to private education. Only 1-2% of kids will even receive a voucher. Vouchers have not worked in other states and have shown much worse outcomes for students. I have a child in private school and still do not want this to pass because I know our public schools deserve taxpayer funds and that private schools will likely raise tuition if this passes. Please focus on making Texas public schools better by fully funding them! The fact that Texas citizens cannot put issues like this on the ballot is ridiculous. No one I know wants vouchers! We will remember at the polls who voted for this if it passes - you need to listen to your constituents!

Melissa Gaskill

self, writer

Austin, TX

I oppose establishing an education savings account program. Public dollars should be used for public education, to make it better for everyone. Good public education is what makes Texas great and we need it to be the best it can be. There is not enough oversight of for-profit education companies and examples of corruption and misuse of funds. Let's keep public education public, and give it all the support it needs! Thank you.

Katie Cunningham

Self

Cibolo, TX

I am commenting in opposition of HB3.

- 1) This bill is not fiscally conservative and will add millions, growing to billions, in new spending. Data shows that every state that has implemented ESAs has blown their budget projections quickly, putting additional strain on taxpayers year after year.
- 2) This bill is bad for the public school system. No one will argue that there are challenges and room for improvement in public schools. Taking money away to give to schools with fewer requirements does not improve public schools, it will make it more difficult for them to meet the ever-growing list of requirements that cost money, like transportation, disability services, meals, standardized testing, etc.
- 3) The bill does not help the population it claims to help. Low income families will still not be able to afford private schools, and even if they can scrape together the money the private schools are not required to provide transportation, making it difficult for single and/or working parents. Private schools aren't required to participate. The free/reduced meal program, so families that need that assistance also won't be able to get it.
- 4) Non-public schools do not have to accept students with disabilities or behavioral issues. They can be selective, while public schools can not. Public schools are required to provide IEP and 504 services while other schools are not. Public tax dollars should not be used for schools that do not accept all of the public.
- 5) Homeschool families overwhelmingly do not want this.

There is a way to fix public schools. They are not irreparably broken. Vote against this poorly written bill, and focus on doing the work to improve public schools. Let's look at the TEA requirements, the testing, all of the regulations and administrative tasks public schools are required to do. Let's focus on fixing the problems we have in our public schools to make them as good, if not better, than the non-public options. Let's see our representatives out in the schools talking to kids about the important role of government, and how you are committed to EVERY child, not just the small percentage who would receive the vouchers.

You are at a critical juncture. You have the ability to do the right thing for all of Texas' students, or to be a follower. Be brave. Please do the right thing and vote against this flawed bill because it goes against everything we as Texans and conservatives believe in. Make us proud.

Mark Grantham

Self - born and raised Texan and Parent

Cedar Park, TX

Vote "No" for hb 3. Fund our public schools.

Camille Powe

Self

Slaton, TX

The proposed voucher system is a bad idea for Texas and the education of Texas children. It further empowers the wealthy who can well afford the private school tuition while lower income Texans will not have the means to make up the difference. This voucher system just further widens the gap between the haves and the have nots.

Texas is currently ranked 29th of the 50 states in education. We must do better. Invest that voucher money in our public schools. Raise the salaries of teachers to attract the best and brightest to the teaching profession. In best in ALL Texas children, not just those who are in a position to send their kids to private schools.

Why not take the voucher money and make college tuition more affordable or put it into technical training or trades. There are far better uses of our tax dollars than to fund a voucher system that would open to abuse. Some who homeschool their children do a great job, but many do not have the skill or education to provide the proper educational instruction to their children.

School vouchers is a bad idea for Texas.

Regards,

Camille Powe

Dan Jones

True Texas Project

Weatherford, TX

I am in favor of HB 3.

Mary Lemons

Self

Buffalo Gap, TX

As a public school educator, I am begging you to consider how this will affect already financially-starved public schools and the not-fit-for-private-schools students that we love and serve!

Meredith Woods

Self

Austin, TX

I strongly oppose the progression of this bill. Public education should be supported as a top priority for Texas. This impacts the future of our state for generations. Public schools are floundering to stay afloat and this bill would further defund public school services that are essential to all Texas children, much less our children with disabilities or others disadvantage. My mother is a public school teacher, my grandmother who passed away in November worked in public schools, and the children in my family rely on public schools for their education. I am a Behavior therapist for children with autism and i see them already underserved in schools due to lack of resources. Please discontinue elevating funds to private schools and instead support public schools.

Jennifer Baron

Self

Leander, TX

HB3 is not what our state needs! Texas law makers need to put our children's education first! All of Texas will fail and we will become even lower in our standing compared to other states. Our public schools need to be fully funded so that every child has a chance at a bright future. Our public schools are already short staffed and underfunded. By giving a select few a discount towards "school choice" will only hurt our kids. All students deserve the right to a fully funded public education. I have seen first hand the effects of budget cuts in our schools. As a teacher, I see the damage being done at the expense of our kids. We need to do better for our state. Vouchers (education savings accounts) are not the answer! Fully fund our public schools before the damage is so catastrophic that our state can't recover.

Tammie Marberry, Dr.

Self

Hull, TX

Please vote NO to any type of voucher program or any program by any other name that takes public money and puts it towards private education. Fully fund public education without unreasonable strings attached or money only specific to certain programs. Teachers and school staff should be paid at a better rate that encourages highly qualified candidates to join the profession. Increase parent responsibility for getting their children educated and taking responsibility for their children's actions. Remove barriers to students having appropriate consequences when they disrupt the instructional process. Remove the attendance of students tied to funding and support our profession professionally and financially. I oppose school vouchers or this type of program under any other name including education savings accounts.

Kimberleigh Gonzalez

Self- Realtor

Lubbock, TX

Subject: Opposition to HB 3

Dear Members of the Texas Public Education Committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3 (HB 3). This bill, which aims to implement a school choice and Education Savings Account (ESA) program, poses significant risks to the quality and equity of public education in Texas.

HB 3 allows taxpayer funds to be diverted to private school tuition, homeschooling resources, and specialized educational services.

While the intention may be to provide parents with more control over their children's education, the reality is that this bill will undermine the public school system by reducing the funding available for public schools. This will disproportionately affect low-income families and rural communities, who rely heavily on public education.

Furthermore, the introduction of ESAs could lead to increased segregation and inequality in education. Private schools are not held to the same standards of accountability and transparency as public schools, and they may not provide the same level of support for students with special needs or those from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Public education is a cornerstone of our democracy, and it is essential that we continue to invest in and support our public schools. I urge you to reject HB 3 and instead focus on policies that strengthen and improve the public education system for all Texas students.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Kimberleigh Gonzalez

Lubbock, TX

Sofia Coronado

Self

Georgetown, TX

I oppose this bill

Krystal Williams

Self

Fulshear, TX

I have been a public school teacher in the state of Texas for 27 years. The bulk of which has been spent in the Alief Independent School District. The state of Texas has done a disservice to public schools over the last few years by underfunding school districts. The lack of funds have led to limited resources to educate students and a decline of teachers to do so. In the state's campaign against public schools, school districts are continually asked to do more with less. When schools/ districts are unable to hit the ever changing mark they are labeled as "failing". Nobody likes a failing school. In that case, yes, parents should absolutely have a "choice" in where their child is educated. But when private schools and charter schools are allowed to be selective in who they admit the data and outcomes are skewed. If the state legislature is going to continue to hold funding hostage from public schools until an ESA is passed then include in your legislation that schools that receive said funds are required to meet the same standards of public schools since they are receiving PUBLIC FUNDS. By allowing private schools and charter schools to receive PUBLIC FUNDS without the same standards as public schools it's like having them play the same game with different rules. One will definitely have an advantage over the other and that is unfair to ALL students, especially those CHOOSING to stay in public schools.

Michelle Spencer

Self

Buda, TX

This bill will take much needed funds from districts and put it in the pockets of wealthy people who are already sending their children to private schools. This bill is bad for Texas schools and Texas children. Don't pass it!

Sylvia Jackson

Self Curriculum Coordinator

Granbury, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education.

Leah Sanchez, MEd

Self; Bilingual Early Childhood Educator

Carrollton, TX

The Basic Allotment for each Texas public school student is $6,160 (this has not been raised since 2019 despite rising costs) and the proposed amount to give to students going to private schools 85% of the average for public school students in Texas. The numbers are not reported to the people of Texas accurately because the amount of money per student is being averaged when it shouldn't be. The additional money that may be given to a public school for small population groups or percentages of students cannot be added as an allotment that all students receive from the state of Texas because the money is ONLY for the special groups. The reporting must be honest and transparent so the people of Texas can be informed with the truth. As an Early Childhood educator, I also urge all representatives of Texas to be honest about the decision to only fund 50% of a Pre-K 4 year old student once the state required that they go to Pre-K for a full school day. When all students went to school half day the 50% amount per Pre-K student was accurate, but it has been a state requirement since July 18, 2019 when House Bill 3 Pre-K was passed with no additional funds being given for the increase to full day Pre-K.

Public education is given the basic allotment for each student based on the attendance of each individual and it is also required that attendance be taken during a small 10 minute window of the day. Teachers prepare for the whole class to be present daily so the money needs to be available to support all enrolled students. All schools (charter, private or public) should have the same requirements regarding attendance. The money given to public schools is based on attendance so all schools that receive money from the state of Texas should be based on the same criteria.

The TRS Pension is in danger of becoming non-existent due to decreases in the number of teachers in the public school system. Since 2000 I have been paying into the system and don't want to see all my hard work to this state and the children that have been educated in public school to become nothing. The solution cannot be that we teachers pay more into the TRS and/or our district pay more for each employee because it is not the state being helpful to teachers or districts. There is great value in education and there must continue to be a focus on the amazing things public education does for our society. Public schools offer free appropriate public education (FAPE) and do so without being fully funded by the national or state government. No student is ever turned away and so many are offered bus services to be able to arrive at school daily and make it home safely as well. Do charter and private schools have similar requirements?

May all Texans come together to lift up the necessary job public school teachers do every day in creating all the professions that exist in today's society. A true gift to all residents to make a brighter tomorrow with leaders across the state.

Aaron Duncklee

self, mechanic

Spring, TX

I don't think H.B. 3 is a good bill. I'm writing you to tell you to VOTE NO on H.B. 3 today!

I am VERY concerned that instead of simply returning our property taxes to us that currently go to fund our local schools, H.B. 3 would create huge opportunity for government oversight of homeschooling.

The most economically vulnerable parents – whom the bill is purported to help -- would be forced to comply with oversight of their curriculum choices, and more. Instead of the freedom to homeschool, these homeschoolers would be shackled with NEW REGULATIONS.

This bill leaves the door WIDE OPEN for regulations for ALL homeschoolers in the future. For example, if all homeschoolers are required in the future to use "approved vendors only" then there isn't true autonomy for parents to choose curriculum, or to switch curriculum mid-school year if we find that the teaching style does not match our child's learning style.

Please vote no for HB 3!

Robbie Low

Self, parent

Center, TX

Texas HB 3 (2025) could harm public education by:

1. Reducing Funding – Public schools lose state funds as students leave, but fixed costs remain, leading to budget cuts.
2. Widening Inequality – ESAs may not fully cover private tuition, benefiting wealthier families while leaving low-income and special needs students underserved.
3. Lack of Oversight – Private schools receiving ESA funds aren't held to the same standards, risking inconsistent education quality and potential misuse of public money.
4. Straining Rural Schools – With fewer private options, rural schools lose funding without benefiting from ESAs, worsening teacher shortages and resource gaps.
5. Undermining Public Schools – Instead of improving public education, funds are diverted to private options, weakening community investment and support.

Texas HB 3 (2025) could negatively impact students in several ways:

1. Fewer Resources in Public Schools – As funding declines, students may face larger class sizes, fewer extracurricular activities, and outdated materials.
2. Unequal Access to Quality Education – ESAs may not fully cover private tuition, leaving low-income students with fewer educational options.
3. Weakened Special Education Support – Private schools don't have to follow the same special education laws, potentially leaving students with disabilities underserved.
4. Reduced Accountability – Private schools receiving ESA funds aren't required to meet the same academic standards, meaning students may receive a lower-quality education.
5. Limited Rural Options – Students in rural areas may not have private school choices but could still suffer from reduced public school funding.

Amanda Nguyen

Self

Lubbock, TX

A majority of my community that I grew up with went to a public school from K-12. Although we didn't have much money compared to other schools, we very much valued the education that we received, but we found it was difficult to be at the same learning level compared to other schools. We didn't have the same facilities and/or opportunities that schools with more funding had, but we were able to manage to do what we can to work towards our future. However, this came with many struggles that stemmed from, for example, our older technology that negatively impacted our learning (especially during COVID) and the lack of internet access in some of my friends' home. It's concerning for me knowing that schools that I went to (along with schools that were less fortunate than I was) can further decline in the quality of education despite the current difficulties that we dealt with when every person should have the right to a proper education.

Tami Keeling, Mrs.

Self, Parent

Victoria, TX

I'm Tami Keeling. I'm writing to testify in opposition to HB 3.

Public funds are for public schools. Our Texas Constitution acknowledges the importance of public schools and your duty to fund them.

This is not a conservative bill. It creates more government, but doesn't hold private schools accepting ESAs to same standards, accountability, oversight, or any other state mandate that public schools are required by law to meet. The fiscal notes on this bill and its companion in the Senate make supporting this bill fiscally irresponsible. There is no evidence that school choice improves student outcomes. ESAs defund public schools and particularly harm rural schools.

If we are looking to other states as a reason to implement ESAs, the examples in other states are not good. They should be a cautionary tale for anyone who cares to examine these examples carefully. It's not affordable. We cannot afford to create another system when we aren't even funding our public schools.

Choice already exists. I think you already know that this is not in the best interest of the 5 Million plus children in our public schools, who are your responsibility and our primary investment in the future of Texas.

Thank you for standing for public schools, our teachers, and our children.

Tami Keeling

tami.keeling@hotmail.com

361-935-5142

Jessica Lopez

Self/ Small business owner

Brownsville, TX

I am testifying in opposition to the educational voucher program. My children attended a private school created by billionaires who have heavily lobbied for this program, donated millions to its advancement nationwide, and stand to profit from it. They have even established a network of "schools" in anticipation of its passage.

At this school, I witnessed firsthand the discrimination against special needs students and the lack of accountability. These schools are not designed to serve all children—they are designed to maximize profit. My children were emotionally harmed and academically set back by their AI-driven tutoring model, which replaced qualified teachers with automated lessons. Students received little real instruction, no personalized support, and no human connection.

Additionally, this and similar private institutions are not required to provide services for special education students. They cherry-pick students while rejecting those who need additional support, all while taking taxpayer dollars. If they receive public money, they should meet the same standards as public schools—including serving all students, not just the ones they choose.

There is no real oversight of these schools, and without accountability, taxpayer money is funding a system that operates more like a for-profit business than an educational institution. Public schools, despite their challenges, have regulations in place to protect students, ensure curriculum standards, and guarantee services for all.

For the first time, my children are now attending public school, and I am grateful for that option. Instead of diverting resources to private interests, we should be fully funding public education, paying teachers fairly, and ensuring every child—regardless of ability or background—receives a quality education. The voucher program does the opposite. I strongly urge you to reject it.

Carol Merkel

Self

Arlington, TX

I strongly oppose HB3, school vouchers, as most Texas parents do. Our public school system is in such trouble because of funding being withheld for years. School vouchers will take more money away from public schools. The majority of Texas children will continue to attend public schools. Why would you want to harm them any more? Texas always prides themselves as being the best, but we know we aren't. Please don't degrade our schools even more. Let's build up our public schools and fund them properly like other states.

Reagan Brendle
Self
New Braunfels, TX

Public schools in Texas currently serve over 5 million students, and extracting public funds for vouchers that would only serve 100,000 students is directly damaging to the education of our children. Public schools are already facing unnecessary budget cuts and school closures due to the withholding of funds, and the assumption that a voucher plan, (that has already failed in all other states in which it has been implemented), would benefit Texas children as a whole is logistically ridiculous at best and incredibly harmful at worst.

The surrounding area in which my family lives only has 2 small private schools that cannot accommodate many additional students, and especially not those who would require any additional educational supports. There are only approximately 25,000 open private school seats currently in Texas, therefore, as in other states, 75% of the designated vouchers would be distributed to students who already have the means to attend a private school of their choosing. Supporting Texas children in a meaningful way looks like increasing the basic allotment and raising teacher wages, not wasting money on coupons for those already able to engage in a choice for their child. Please vote no on HB 3. Our children deserve better than this.

Anne Russey
Self
Katy, TX

I oppose HB3. Vouchers/ESAs will harm my children's public school district (Katy ISD). And I do not want my tax dollars to subsidize private school tuition for other families.

Laura Horansky
Self, Retired parent of 3 public school kids
San Antonio, TX

HB3 will hurt the great majority of Texas children, those who attend TX public schools. If TX legislators are truly representing their constituents, the only choice for TX children is to OPPOSE HB3 and instead dedicate more of the Rainy Day fund to our public school districts.

Kay Peebles
Self, commodity Manager
Taylor, TX

I am against passage of this bill. There are more counties in Texas without a school in which families can use vouchers than there are counties in which they can be used. This bill will take money out of public schools. This bill will widen the gap between the privileged few and the majority.

Brecah Helm
Self
Conroe, TX

As a Texan, I do not support this bill. Vouchers will only impact a minority. State funds should not be allowed to be used towards private education and more funds should be funneled into our public schools system. My 3 children are currently in one of the largest school districts in Texas, and a voucher program as written in HB 3 will not help a majority of taxpayers, including my family. Please do what is best for the majority of Texans.

Kim Preston
Self
Belton, TX

I am against school vouchers and against defunding public schools.

Melinda Torres

Self; Homemaker

Lamesa, TX

I'm a Texan. I care about our K-12 public education system being well-funded for all students. I do not support HB 3, the education savings account bill, and I ask for all representatives to oppose this bill.

Lee Scott

Self

Lubbock, TX

Say no to vouchers. We already have school choice in Texas. Vouchers are a scam! Do the right thing and support public ed. Abbott is only pushing vouchers because of the people putting money in his back pockets!!

JoAnn Fleming, Executive Director

Grassroots America - We the People PAC

Flint, TX

We support parent-driven educational freedom, but not HB 3. An education freedom bill should:

*Be a 100% Parental choice bill: parents in the driver's seat – not government bureaucracy

*Use tax credits – not tax dollars

*Set no limits on parental use of funds other than being for educational purposes. We do not support a government-approved menu of education resources from which parents must choose.

*Reduce funding for government schools for every student that leaves. Period. Otherwise, legislators will simply check a "school choice" box for campaigns, shovel more money into government schools, and leave the majority of students in substandard academic conditions.

The 2024 Republican Party of Texas Platform states; we concur:

Parents' Rights | Plank 84. School Choice: We support further empowering all Texas families to choose from public, private, charter, or homeschool options for their children's education and funding which shall follow the student with no strings attached. We oppose regulations on homeschooling or the curriculum of private or religious schools and believe a constitutional amendment should be adopted accordingly. In lieu of funding, citizens may use property tax exemptions.

HB 3, driven by Republicans, fails to meet the Platform standards.

In addition, Grassroots America believes that any school choice bill:

*Must empower parents to choose the curriculum and providers used in their children's education with no interference from the government. We do not support government pre-approval of the educational decisions parents make under the school choice program.

*Must make taxpayer funded education more efficient and less expensive to reduce taxpayer burdens. Under HB 3, inefficiency and costs are most likely to increase, not decrease.

*Must make free market-based principles the foundation of the legislation, which means there must be financial penalties for failing public schools – not continued dumping of more tax dollars to "make them whole." Promising to make school districts financially "whole" as they lose students is sheer folly.

Free Market principles Missing: It's like feeling guilty on your way home from an excellent restaurant. Guilty, you stop by a declining restaurant where you once dined. You no longer dine there because they serve bad food with bad service and charge unreasonable prices. But you stop by to pay the failing restaurant for the meals you didn't eat AND you leave a big tip because you feel sorry for the bad restaurant! Making public schools "whole" while losing students strips any incentives to improve academic results!

Under HB 3 and HB 2, there are zero free market-based principles at work to encourage accountability from any failing public school. It appears that the objective is to merely check a school choice box. In no way can this assure academic achievement.

*Must not allow illegals access to school choice. TX AG needs to take Plyler v Doe back to the US Supreme Court.

Do NO harm!

Angela Walden-Hulme

self

Sweetwater, TX

Please vote no on this bill. This bill will take money from public education and give it mainly to people whose kids are already in private schools. Private schools are not held to the same standard as public schools. They do not have to take the same test and are not held to the attendance standards that public schools do. They are also allowed to refuse people based on any reason. Public schools must take everyone. Also, I have heard that HB3 will drain TRS. As a 21 year educator, I am about to be relying on TRS for retirement in a few years.

Amy Ingram, Teacher/Coach

Teachers/Coaches

Kaufman, TX

With all due respect please do not create another system to fund. Talk to Texas teachers and ask us what we need to make public education the best in Texas! Texas teachers are some of the very best people in our state. Talk to us...allow us to be a part of the solution. I've been a teacher for 26 years in Texas and not once have I ever seen a teacher indoctrinate their students. We are too busy following what the TEA provides us in our TEKS. Let teachers teach and provide us the ability to discipline kids and provide safe classrooms for our children. Vouchers are not the answer...talking to teachers and finding out the issues in public education and fixing those are the way! God Bless Texas and God Bless Texas teachers!

Denise Kotrla, 14435 Robert I Walker Blvd

self - Music Instructor & Accountant

Austin, TX

Growing up in the state of Texas, I found great value in my public school education, and am richer for it. I believe our population is stronger, more able-bodied, and more self-sufficient when we are educated. I believe everyone deserves a free education provided by the government and that educated people create a stronger society. It is a human right, in my opinion. Taking money away from public education to give to people for private education undermines this premise. There is nothing wrong with people wanting to use private schools for their children, but because there is no way to make it equitable for all Texas children, it should not be funded in any way with public funds. Private schools are not available in all areas of Texas. The amount of money being proposed would not be enough to pay fully for private school, which means families who can't afford it, even with the education savings account, will still not be able to attend private schools. Also, private schools are not held to the same accountabilities as public schools, so there is not a way to check on standards. For example, private schools do not have to provide for students' special needs, so families with children who have special needs will not be able to benefit. Public schools have a number of specially trained teachers who can meet the needs of all students and personalize instruction. Private schools are allowed to decline enrollment or ask a student to leave the student body. Public education, however, is for everyone. No one is left out or asked to leave. Taking money from public education to give to private schools that are not equitable and not prepared to meet everyone's needs is unfair to public school children because the money will be taken from their districts. Districts are already suffering because of unfunded mandates from the Texas Legislature. We should be proud of our Texas schools and teachers and doing everything we can to promote their success. The rest of the country watches us and sees the disrespect you promote towards your public schools and teachers. We want to be a model for the country, instead of a joke. Thank you for your consideration.

Diana Porter

Self, attorney

Jonestown, TX

I oppose vouchers. Fund public schools fully and if we have extra money then cut property taxes. Don't give it to private schools.

Wendy Jones

Self

Abilene, TX

I do not know a single person in favor of school vouchers. Not a single one of my public school teacher, a private school teacher, home school parents, parents of children in public school or parents of kids in private school friends who are in favor of school vouchers. Stop this madness & get to work on listening to what our educators are telling you they do need.

Kerry Sjoberg, Mrs.

Self

Austin, TX

Hello, my name is Kerry Sjoberg and I am a constituent in zip code 78735. I am writing to voice my opposition to HB 3. I am asking my Representative and this Committee to vote no and to instead fully fund public education. We already have meaningful school choice in Texas - what we need are resources so that our public schools can deliver the education that each child in Texas deserves, and that which has already been mandated, with accountability and due process ensuring that delivery. We do not need resources for privatized schools to thrive with no or little accountability to the public. I don't believe proponents of this bill can point to any examples of similar laws in other states achieving any of the objectives that are the supposed motivation for this bill. To the contrary, voucher systems like this are a failed experiment, and if this bill moves forward, this will predictably harm more families than it helps. Thank you.

Heather Meeks

Self/educator

Houston, TX

Please reconsider approving this bill. It will destroy what should be considered a fundamental right for all children in Texas, a free and equitable education. This bill will defund public education and benefit students that are already attending private and charter schools while not holding them to the same standards and accountability of public schools. As a parent, educator and voter I am asking you to vote no.

Ana Benhalim

Self, full time mother

Cedar Park, TX

I urge you to vote NO on this bill, public funds must stay in public schools. Freedom of choice does not come with public funding, public funds are for public schools. Any program, like the proposed program, that funnels public funds into the pockets of a select few is unethical and cannot be supported by our publicly elected officials. Vote NO and make the right choice for ALL Texas children! No to private school vouchers paid for with public school funds!

Rosario Castilleja

Self

Edinburg, TX

No to vouchers

Aimee Flores

Self

North Richland Hills, TX

I have worked as a public school educator, as well as have children who have attended both public and private schools. The argument that the vouchers provide for school choice is a false argument. Vouchers will not allow nor guarantee students would be able to attend private institutions. Private Institutions do not have to take all students, they do not have to serve students that need additional support, and they will be incentivized to raise their tuition with this additional support from the state. Additionally, this is not a program that would even benefit all students in the state, as a large number of counties do not even have private schools.

Redirecting funds versus reinvesting funds is particularly misguided in the current environment. With the threat of Federal funds being cut off for education, a reduction of any funds would result in reductions of necessary programs for vulnerable students. Texans would either need to replace funding via additional taxes or face having to deal with supporting other social programs to fill the gaps.

Jeanne Funk

Self

Houston, TX

I support Public School education and do not want taxpayer money to be diverted to private schools, especially religious schools. Public schools will end up with fewer resources.

Shelley Rodriguez

Self

Wylie, TX

My name is Shelley, & I oppose HB3 & SB2. My son is a 6th grader & requires SPED services for his dyslexia, slow processing disorder, auditory processing disorder, & speech impediment. We looked at Shelton, the only DFW private with a specialized skill set for some of these services, and the only private I know of in the DFW metro that would consider accepting him because of these needs. Not only can we not afford the $40,400 in base tuition+fees for him to attend, we also would not be able to spend nearly 4 hours sitting in traffic to get him to & from school & us to & from work. It is simply not feasible, even with a voucher. It would be ideal if he could receive these services from his local public middle school that is less than a mile from our home, where he has teachers that love and support him, and where he's built his community, as he is amongst a growing number of children requiring varying degrees of similar services. Our public schools have the capabilities and educational excellence to provide them but need the funding to do so properly and comprehensively. Taking money from them for privates &/or charters without accountability that could deny my child because of his needs is not just wrong, but it is unconstitutional. Properly fund our public schools - the $220 in HB2 is nowhere near enough, as we need more than ten times that, & stop this voucher/ESA push that will not provide anymore choice for a majority of the 5.5 million children in Texas.

Taffanie Erwin

Self - educator

Helotes, TX

On 3/11/25, I attended the public hearing, and I appreciate the committee's commitment to giving all speakers time to testify. However, I strongly oppose HB 3 because it doesn't give parents more choice. Parents may already choose public schools, charter schools, or private schools. This is a private school funding bill because it provides tuition costs or reductions for parents.

1. Income Cap:

While HB 3 may prioritize lower-income families, an explicit income cap is still necessary to ensure that public funds are not used to subsidize private education for wealthy families. Families earning over $200,000 should not be eligible for these accounts. An income cap would align with the bill's purported goal of supporting those who need it most.

2. Standardized Testing:

Private schools receiving EVAs should be required to administer criterion-referenced tests to measure student growth effectively. Norm-referenced testing only ranks students relative to their peers, failing to show individual growth over time. If private schools have flexibility in testing, public schools should also have the option to choose alternative assessments like MAP Growth. This test provides both criterion-referenced and norm-referenced data, potentially saving the state money by eliminating STAAR costs.

The original intent of charter schools was to innovate and improve public education by reducing regulations. Instead, the state seems to be funding alternatives to public schools without implementing real reforms.

3. Special Education:

The Texas Education Agency estimates a $1.7 billion annual deficit in special education funding for school districts. Allocating $1 billion for school choice when the existing special education system is severely underfunded is misguided. This $1 billion could be better spent addressing the current funding gap, ensuring that students with disabilities receive the support they need within the public system.

4. Strain on Public School:

HB 3 requires public schools to evaluate private school students with disabilities within 45 days upon request. This mandate could strain already limited resources in public schools, potentially taking away from services for public school students. How will public schools manage this additional responsibility without compromising existing obligations?

5. Long-standing Issues:

If public schools are failing, it's important to acknowledge that Republicans have had a trifecta in Texas for 23 years. Persistent issues like the recapture system, stagnant basic allotment, and post-COVID attendance challenges need addressing.

HB 3 raises significant concerns about resource allocation, educational outcomes, and the overall approach to improving education in Texas. If this bill aims to provide better choices for parents, especially those with special needs children, the state should first fully fund special education in public schools. It is the state's responsibility to do so, but this has been neglected.

Annetta Gower

Self

Coppell, TX

I am very concerned for what the future holds for the public education of our children.

My son is a sixth grader in our local ISD, and my daughter is a third grader in our local ISD as well. For my son, with the exception of writing, academics and testing have come easily. He has been blessed with phenomenal, enthusiastic teachers, and we have been grateful for the teachers that took him from "writing is the worst thing in the world" to "it's not that bad," and now, he actually enjoys it.

My daughter started kindergarten at the end of COVID, and unfortunately, more than a third of the fabulous teachers my son had were no longer teaching at their elementary by that time. Most of these teachers have left the profession, and all that I have spoken with contribute lack of support from the state as the primary reasoning. For my daughter, academics have not come as easily. She requires extra support, although she is not eligible for special education services. She has high anxiety and a focus on perfection, which creates significant pressure when testing. She benefits greatly from additional counseling provided and it has helped her tremendously.

Needless to say, I have two children who are very different and require different strategies in and out of the classroom. We have all been grateful for the various educators, counselors and school specialists that have gone above and beyond to ensure they are getting what they need with the limited resources available to them.

The lack of funding included in the basic allotment needs to significantly change, as the needs vary by student. The approximately $220 adjustment included in the latest bills is simply not enough. Not only do we need $1,340 just to cover the inflation we have experienced since 2019, we also need coverage for the un- & underfunded mandates that have been put on public schools since then, including fully covering transportation costs, special education services and security resource officer expenses (that in large part is generously funded by our city), to name just a few. Our fiscally conservative destination district is running an annual deficit of over $12M in those three areas alone (approximately an additional $1k per student).

Lastly, As a Christian and Republican, I am strongly against HB3 & SB2. I am holding tightly to the words in Matthew 25 that say "whatever you do to the least of these, you did to me," and if you claim to be Christian, you should too. These voucher programs are not conservative, and they are most definitely not Christian. Our marginalized children - the poor, special needs, and the rural are just that. You have an obligation to the constituents in this state to fight for them and not against them alongside Abbott and the West Texas & PA billionaires. Enough will never be enough for them, so how far will YOU go?

As a side note, NO ONE who votes in favor of hurting public schools will get my vote, ever.

Sincerely,

Annetta Gower

Kacie Elwood

Self

Arlington, TX

I reject HB 3 based on expert testimony that it will hurt public schools and is NOT fiscally responsible.

Andrew Kozma, Dr.

Self, freelance writer

Houston, TX

I am not interested in school vouchers that are designed to take away public education and instead enrich those private schools that lack accountability to the public. I want state money to go to funding public schools and public charters schools, institutions that are designed to educate everyone fairly and provide equal access to all. School vouchers don't provide choice so much as they funnel money to already rich institutions (and families) allowing them to segregate their children from the broader mass of Texans. Don't pass this bill. Don't take away money from the public whose it is, by right.

Melissa Hargis, Mrs.

self/ data scientist

Austin, TX

?The Texas Constitution explicitly mandates the establishment and maintenance of a public education system. Article 7, Section 1, states: "It shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools." Therefore it should be this state's first priority to have the best public schools in this country. My tax dollars should go to lifting up our public schools, not providing welfare for our private ones. Anything but this is unconstitutional, unAmerican, and certainly not Texan.

Sarah Valentino

Self, music teacher

Bedford, TX

This bill only benefits the few, and even if low income families receive finds, they won't be able to pay the difference for private school education. Public funds need to be left for public schools. Too many programs have been cut, too many students left without the services they need because we are not finding our schools. Less than half the counties in Texas have private schools to choose from. School choice is available in most districts and parents have a choice without educational savings accounts.

Ivana Brata

Self

Allen, TX

I strongly oppose the HB3/ "Education Savings Account" voucher scheme. No matter how it's framed, it still diverts public funds away from public schools, undermining the education of 90% of Texas students.

Megan Richardson

Self

Gatesville, TX

Opposed

Jody Lyssy, Mrs.

Self

SAN ANTONIO, TX

I DO NOT support this bill. Until public schools are funded to the level that is fair I am vehemently opposed to funding private schools. Please consider the public school needs that have gone ignored for so many years.

Jenny Haines

Self

McKinney, TX

Please vote NO. Our kids need better education, not less, and we certainly shouldn't be funding private schools with our tax dollars. It's ludicrous.

Abraham Castellano

RRSP

Richardson, TX

Please vote no on school vouchers as it will hurt public school education and it will be bad for our democracy.

Sandra Gavrilla
self - retired
Coppell, TX

I absolutely OPPOSE taxpayer-funded vouchers for private schools. Public schools are for every child and they deserve to be fully funded.

Caroline Stewart
Self
Wylie, TX

VOTE NO. This is not in our children's best interests. Stop pandering to money and stick to your oaths to do what is right for your constituents.

Hannah Jala
self
Austin, TX

As a former Texas educator, we should be FUNDING Texas public schools, not DEFUNDING through these "education savings account" SCAMS. Public dollars belong in PUBLIC schools.

Michelle Isaacs
Republican/self Damon, TX

As a Republican voter and homeschool mom of 2, I am greatly concerned about the lies and shady business of this bill with Jeff Yass' donations as well as Abbot's. We were told the majority want this based off of a couple of surveys of select people of around 1200 participants. We all know this is ludicrous but yet we are told the majority want it because of this. We were told on the republican primary ballot that the money would follow the child. That is not happening. The fact that a new pool of funds is being bragged about by Abbott and many of you, is shameful. This is wasteful spending. There is no spending cap in the bill. Florida is spending nearly FOUR billion a year on "school choice" and if we're honest, it's failing from people I've talked to from there.

This bill creates muddy water between the distinction of public and private schools including homeschoolers.

We DO NOT want this. Give us a tax break with the money instead. This is not your money to make an executive decision about. It is OUR money and the majority of Texans don't want this despite your twisted surveys and intentional misleading words on the Republican primary ballot. Stop turning a blind eye to the people you are supposed to represent. We will primary you out and remember who voted for this big government bill.

Ashley Matthyse
Gullett Elementary PTA
Austin, TX

Public dollars belong in public schools, that are already significantly underfunded. Texas is #48 in per-student funding. HB3 will only make that worse and do so much more of a disservice to our students and families of public schools. Please vote NO on HB3. Thank you.

Jadrien Grimes

Self-Homemaker whose children attend public schools in TX

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Gene Sheets, Dr.

Self

Lubbock, TX

This is not what the Texas constitution intended. Please do NOT vote HB 3 out of committee.

Keri Thomas

Self/Self-Employed Advertising Consultant

Cedar Park, TX

I am writing because I strongly oppose HB3 and am asking you to fully fund public schools. I do not support public tax dollars going towards private schools who will not be held accountable in the same way as public schools including standardized testing, teacher certification, and curriculum requirements. ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Additionally, many private schools have religious-based education which means giving public funds to these schools would be a violation of the separation of church and state. Public funding should go to public schools for the benefit of all 5.4 million students.

Meg Smith

Self retired scientist

Flower Mound, TX

Please directs funds to public education in Texas

Private school options should remain available, but not supported by tax payer money

Samantha Stout
Self
Center Point, TX

I am a Christian, conservative, homeschool mom to 5 children. My husband and I pulled our children from public school after realizing we could do a better job at home. We have made many sacrifices, like losing a 2nd income, in order to make the choice to homeschool our children and provide with what we believe to be the best education according to our family values and my children's goals. We are very blessed for the homeschooling pioneers in this state that came before us and risked their livelihoods, we jailed, and fought for the freedom to home educate their children and the future children of TX. It is my responsibility now to ensure that my kids, and their kids will be able to homeschool with the same freedoms of today. It is not the responsibility of the government to fund private and homeschool options. It is the responsibility of the government to provide quality, free, public education made available to all children in TX. The answer to failing public school is not for the government to then get involved with private and homeschool, but rather to audit and correct the problems with the currently available public education system, because this system must be fixed, academically, structurally, and organizationally. We already have working school choice in TX, what we don't have; in which you all are presenting, is government funding for private and homeschool. Texas taxpayers do not want more of our money going into more education when we are already highly taxed for the public school system that y'all are allowing to fail, and unwilling to fix. Keep the government, and its money, oversight, and regulations out of our private and homeschools. The government saying it's "protecting homeschoolers" in this bill is a farce, we wouldn't need "protections" without this bill. To say that government oversight will not grow is an attempt to gaslight us, we all know what government pays for government wants accountability for. I ask that you all start to listen to your constituents, democrats and republicans, because while our reasoning may differ, none of us want what you all are trying to force upon us. You are representatives, not kings and queens.

Anne Hall
self, retired
Austin, TX

Gov. Abbott likes to say that Texas public schools are failing, that is his fault for not providing adequate funding for them. If the money being provided for vouchers was diverted to public schools instead, that would go along way toward fixing public schools in Texas. Also, I do not support giving "vouchers" to students who are already attending private schools, that is misuse of public funds and in the case of church-based schools it is violating the separation of church and state. Is is wrong to assume the students who need help the most will all be able to attend a private school, there will be limits to the number of students admitted and in rural areas there are not even private schools available. This is just wrong on every front and I don't want my taxes to be used this way.

Rachel Duvvuri

Self

Houston, TX

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

My son absolutely loves Cornerstone Academy in Houston. It is a wonderful school with caring and hardworking teachers. He literally prays and thanks God for regularly because he's so grateful to go there. He loves his friends and loves the quality of education.

Thank you!

Barbara Williams

Self

Fort w, TX

As a dedicated public school educator, I urge you to oppose HB 3 and its proposed school voucher program. A recent poll indicates that 65% of likely Texas voters oppose diverting taxpayer money from public schools to private institutions. I've seen firsthand how vital resources are to ensuring students receive the quality education they deserve.

This bill is especially concerning because it fails to protect students who receive special education services. Private schools are not required to follow the same federal protections that public schools must provide, leaving our most vulnerable students at risk of losing essential support. Similar programs in other states, such as Arizona, have led to significant state budget issues and underfunded public schools. Implementing such a program in Texas could result in substantial future costs and decreased public school funding.

I urge you to stand with the majority of Texans in supporting our public schools by voting against HB 3.

Shane Strawbridge

Self

Lubbock, TX

Fully fund public schools. No on vouchers.

Sandra Cooley

Myself

Fort Worth, TX

School vouchers are a giveaway to families who either are already attending private school or can afford to. They take funds away from our public schools. They do not have to take SPED kids nor provide transportation. They don't have the same oversight as public schools. Also, my "representative" Nate Schatzline has a conflict of interest. He sits on the board of the Mercy Culture Church and they have their own church school. He will be voting in favor of sending our tax dollars to support religious agendas. Please fully fund our public schools. Support our teachers and vote no to Abbott's (bought with campaign contributions) vouchers scam. Please vote, "No."

Andra Villegas

Self

N Richlnd Hls, TX

No vouchers!!

No School Savings Program.

Put public money into public schools!!!!

Corey Nieman

Self

Mansfield, TX

Please vote no for this bill. Texans do not want a funding program that has failed across the country. A program that has passed savings on to families who did not need them while leaving students in public schools with less. This is not the answer to improve our public schools. In the future, I will likely send my students to the best private schools in the state, but I do not believe that my family should be given any public funds to support their education. I believe that these should be used to ensure that public schools have what they need to serve ALL students. If this were put to a statewide vote it would fail miserably. You serve the people of Texas, so please vote accordingly.

Kristen Wallman

Self LSSP

Pearland, TX

Vote no on school vouchers. This will divert funding from public schools. No matter how you slice it, it's bad for education in Texas. If we want our kids to be the best and brightest we need to invest in public schools. They already have accountability and standards. Private schools are wild cards when it comes to effective instruction and equitable education. Public education may need improvement, but it is capable of improvement!

Patricia Elliott

Self

Horseshoe Bay, TX

This bill is just another school voucher scam to transfer public funds to subsidize parents who already can afford to pay for private schooling. It would transfer funds needed by already underfunded public schools to private schools that can pick and choose which students they take - neglecting the disabled, minorities and any child they don't want to accept. It would harm rural schoolchildren who don't have private schools in their towns and further underfund rural schools. Private schools don't have the accountability and transparency that public schools have. Vouchers cause huge deficits in state budgets and have caused great harm in states like Arizona. We see through this effort by state and out of state billionaires to destroy OUR public schools. It's time to represent the average Texan instead of monied interests. Please vote no on school vouchers.

Kirsten Loe

Self/parent

Hurst, TX

I oppose HB3. It will harm Texas families.

Eric Hansen, APRN, RN

Self

Leander, TX

This bill would absolutely devastate and harm education for most students in this state. Especially for those of the lower income classes this would bring about lower educational outcomes, which intern will lead to more poverty or crime and a depreciating outlook for the state of Texas if you want to see what happens to states who go and follow these vouchers, open your eyes to the state of Louisiana, whose educational system is absolutely atrocious and those who receive at the minimum a decent education are those wealthy enough to pay for private school for those who cannot afford to pay for private school their only chance of “getting out“ is if they show athletic capabilities where they can be used in university and college programs this bill should not be passed as you will see extremely poor outcomes for students, teachers and communities as a whole

Jess Weldon

Self

ROUND ROCK, TX

This bill would disproportionately impact rule families but would reduce the quality of education that all Texas families are able to attain. Vouchers have not succeeded in strengthening education systems of other states where they have been implemented. This is a misguided piece of legislation that is it not serving the interest of education.

Ashley Adams

Self- Mother

Lewisville, TX

Please no.

Kim Horton

Self retired homeschool teacher

Weatherford, TX

This education bill will grow more government for our state to fund and HB3 will not fix Public education which is the only form of education that we are required to fund. Let’s fix Public education by bringing back phonics so our Texas children can read. That is why we started schools in the first place so that children could learn to read and America wanted their children to not only read but to read the Bible. Most of our children will continue to be educated in the public school system. It will never go away so let’s fix it. Thank you!

Florence Gray, Mrs.

Self retired

Argyle, TX

I am against the voucher bill, HB 3. I want our public schools fully funded.

Chrysteena Barton

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I am a parent and Texan who opposes HB 3 and any private school vouchers. Our kids and teachers deserve fully public funded schools. Tax payer money should be for public schools and not given to private schools and without any accountability.

Brandi Bates

Self

Mansfield, TX

I am asking all members of the House to vote against the ESA/voucher bill. The state and governor should commit to fully funding public education and paying all educators appropriately. I do not want my state, city, or district to reflect what has happened in Arizona.

Jennifer Vickers
Self
Brownwood, TX

No vouchers for private schools. Parents should pay extra if they want their kids in private school. Perhaps they could be allowed a tax discount if they provide proof of tuition for private schools. Any voucher money should be available to give teachers pay increases.

Brittany Kennedy
Texas PTA
Houston, TX

Vote no on this bill, and fully fund public schools. This bill harms funding for public schools, the backbone of this state. This doesn't improve education for the vast majority of the state, it just gives money to those that already want an alternate education. Private school in Houston where i live is way more than this voucher can cover, so the only people that could possibly use are those that can afford to spend much much more. Focus on funding and educating the schools where the overwhelming majority of Texans attend. This bill is not popular among Texans. Don't vote against our interest.

Caleb Davis
self
Lubbock, TX

I do not support this in any capacity, I do not want my tax dollars to be used for private or religious institutions. Use this money to actually improve the public education system in Texas- to instead jump to expansion of private education is, at the very least, lazy.

Luke Bowman
My family and yours
Round Rock, TX

I am a proud graduate of public schools, an American military veteran, and a patriot. I stand firmly in support of Texas public education, which has long been a pillar of opportunity and community strength. HB 3 threatens to divert critical resources from our public schools, undermining the foundation that prepares our children for the future. Public education does more than provide academics. It fosters understanding and ensures every child, regardless of background, has a fair chance to succeed. Protect this vital institution for the sake of our children and the future of Texas.

Toni Silva
Self Retired
Houston, TX

I oppose HB3. No public money for private schools. Additional funding should go to public schools instead.

Tori Johnson
Self
Flower Mound, TX

Hello,

My name is Tori Johnson and I am a mother of two school aged boys. I'm respectfully writing as I would like to encourage you to please do not pass the new private school voucher program. I believe you will overwhelmingly find that the majority of Texans are against this bill. Instead please support and fund our public schools which have the biggest opportunity to help the most students.

Following are just a few reasons why I am against this bill:

1. I do NOT believe this provides school choice. In fact, I believe it will have severe negative impact on our Texas public system and therefore will remove our choices.
2. It assists a small amount of children vs using the money to have greater impact in the public system.
3. $10k is not enough to cover tuition, transportation and other cost requirements of private school.
4. It does not support rural families that don't have private school options and homeschooling isn't not an option for many.
5. Most cities do not have enough private schools to accommodate this influx.
6. Private schools are less likely to have special ed programs nor do they have IEPs to guarantee children their services.

I am also very confused why an out of state donor would donate so much to this campaign and question how that person will benefit at the detriment of our children.

Our public school system is our best option to serve the greatest amount of children and this is where our time and funds should go.

Thank you for your time.

Tori Johnson

Lorraine Brown
Self/Retired Texas Teacher
Dayton, TX

Vote NO to HB3 Public dollars should not be used to fund private schools especially as Texas public schools are currently underfunded and over mandated. When many parents ultimately remove their students from the private system due to cost, inconvenience and loss of services they had in public schools, the money is lost but it will be the public school that takes up the financial loss. As always, the public school is expected to do more with less resources. Fund public schools fully, reduce class sizes, get facilities up to standards and enforce discipline. Teachers will not have the security of their TRS pension with the potential decline in enrollment and decline in contributions to the TRS system. Texas Teachers have no choice but to contribute to the TRS system. Vote NO to HB3.

Please incorporate by reference the published testimony from the Every Texan group into the hearing records for both Senate and House due to the Governor's rushed and/or other allegations of a need to expedite review. Please also be reminded of the indicated design flaws/ failures in the fund recapture issues to help better ensure a workable and speedy recapture of funds by the public schools for any students being temporarily parked in a voucher school and then being forced back into the public school by the private company playing catch and run with the Governor's indicated faulty design. A design that demonstrates contempt for the Texas Constitution that clearly wanted to protect the school funds from out-of-state corporate piracy using temporary student capture, dump and run with the money schemes and/or use Texas property tax funds for funding construction of private schools. Be reminded that Texas continues a population surge and the need for more public school construction, repair and increased operational funding are in great need---especially as the Governor has steadily reduced funding---going in the wrong direction---just like he's going in the wrong direction with the voucher program.

<https://everytexan.org/2025/01/29/testimony-vouchers-violate-texas-values/>

Testimony: Vouchers Violate Texas Values

Excerpt follows:

When the framers of the Texas Constitution created our biennial Legislature in 1876, they did it in part to prevent the meddling of out-of-state power brokers. That forethought continues to serve Texas students today as external and internal forces push our state toward an expensive, unequal, and harmful voucher program... 1876 Texas Constitution warned against. Not only does the voucher program in SB 2 violate the spirit of nearly 150 years of Texas values as an out-of-state vendor bill; by directing Texas tax dollars to private school pockets, this legislation defies the values expressed in Article 7 of our state Constitution because lawmakers have a "duty to establish and make suitable provision for... an efficient system of public free schools."...

Bill Chapman
London ISD
Corpus Christi, TX

I am a taxpayer in Corpus Christi ISD.

I am in opposition to HB3 - The Education Savings Account Program. As a conservative, it is hard for me to see public funds be diverted to private schools. Public money is for the public good and not for private use. In addition, if these vouchers must pass, they should never exceed the amount that a district receives.

London ISD receives a total amount of $8,677 per student of ALL Federal, State, and local funds! If you look at state funds only, they receive $8,127 per student.

If vouchers pass, there needs to be a level playing field in regards to finances, accountability, and oversight. The money and rules MUST be the same!

There should not be a different accountability or rules for the different systems.

Misty Daniels, Mrs
Self
Cleveland, TX

I agree with this bill

Bianca Downs
Self
Mansfield, TX

As a taxpaying citizen, I do NOT support this bill. If passed I plan to vote against those that passed it.

Ashley Spigener
WISD
Rowlett, TX

I oppose HB3

Melinda Harrington
Self
Gorman, TX

I do not believe that education savings accounts are in the best interests of our public schools, communities, and our state. As a taxpayer, I am not interested in paying for private schools or home schools that are not held to the same standards as our public schools. I would rather see our public schools adequately funded where they can show what they can do when not struggling to survive.

Elizabeth Goldberg, Ms
Self
Edinburg, TX

As a proud parent of two Texas public school children I am against any state voucher program. Vouchers harm our Texas children and their families by reducing funding for public schools, particularly in rural areas. Public school budgets have not kept up with the increases students and costs. They need more funding not less. Vouchers would exacerbate this problem. Do Not any bill supporting vouchers. Instead fully fund our public schools.

Richard Yew
Self
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Allison Duckworth
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3!

Rachel Sorensen
Self
San Antonio, TX

I do not support the creation of school vouchers. Public money should only be used for public school. As a parent of a special needs student I have real concerns about the ability of private schools to discriminate against children like mine. It will still leave us with under funded public schools for the children who most need resources. Why are we trying to start a voucher program when they are failing in other states? It is against all common sense.

Roman Pena
Selfn
San Antonio, TX
No vouchers

Justin T
Self
San Antonio, TX

It's super fast to comment, you can copy and paste the following to make it easy if you would like!

Public funds should be used to fund public institutions, not private ones. Redirecting taxpayers dollars away from public schools undermines their ability to serve all students equitably and transparently. Private institutions are not held to the same accountability standards and can exclude students based on income, religion, and other factors. Our priority should be to strengthen public education, not diverting resources to institutions that do not serve the entire community.

Amitiss Mahvash
Self, Division Manager
Austin, TX

I am an absolute NO on vouchers. I am a Texas voter and am asking you fully fund public schools. Do not take public funds to fund private schools.

Felicia Taylor
Self. Parent
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

Mindi Janssen
Self
Lubbock, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Richain Herod
Self
League City, TX

Please vote against this funding! Our public schools are the building blocks of communities and families state wide. By redirecting funds to vouchers, you are saying that only a handful of students matter and ignoring the other 5million students. Fully fund public education. Let the wealthy pay their own way if they choose private schools. This has NEVER been about choice as families always have the choice to remove students from public schools and choose alternatives. There are no guaranteed spots for students who may benefit from this funding. There are no requirements for these private schools to assist students with special needs. There is NO OVERSIGHT on how well these schools will prepare students and where they spend that money. This entire bill is designed to reduce public education to bare bones so that privatization (for profit companies) by donors can step in and make money. It has never been about better options or better education FOR ALL STUDENTS. What a disappointment that so many on both sides of the aisle and constituents have been stating this and disagree with vouchers but are being ignored because of the governor and his personal agenda to support his donors. SAY NO TO VOUCHERS and FULLY FUND PUBLIC EDUCATION!

Martha Grandinetti
Self, marketing executive
Plano, TX

Vouchers not only hurt students and teachers, they harm the community at large. No on vouchers.

Jonathon Kruse
Self
Fort worth, TX

I am against school vouchers, they will reduce public school funding and do not increase choice

Susan Lancaster
Self
Cypress, TX

I am not in favor of vouchers. Vouchers will take more funding away from public schools, which are grossly underfunded. Vouchers provide a tax break for the wealthy who can already afford private schools, but do not truly allow for school choice. Private schools do not accept all students, students with special needs in particular may or may not be accepted by private schools. Also, there are private vendors, such as Class Wallet who would charge a substantial fee to help parents and schools - again not helpful to public schools or families when they already have access to public schools paid for by tax dollars. Our governor received a donation of 12 million dollars from an individual associated with a private vendor, this is a clear conflict of interest. Our children deserve to have a free and public education as guaranteed by our Constitution, vouchers are not a solution and have a poor track record, look at Arizona. Our public schools are not for sale!

Helen Hauber
Self
Missouri City, TX

No to vouchers!

Emily Norton
Self
Crossroads, TX

Please vote against HB3. I am a mother of 4 kids enrolled in Texas public schools. Please vote against vouchers! Our public schools need more funding not private schools. I am also the PTA president of my local elem start school and have seen how the lack of school funding is directly hurting students and our teachers. My school has had large teacher turnover each year because teachers are leaving the profession due to lack of funding. My school district can't provide enough chromebooks for students to learn on and kids have to share. It's embarrassing that the state of Texas has a huge budget surplus and won't provide any of that money to public schools. Please vote against this voucher bill which will only take more money away from public schools.

Crystal Williams

Self

Galveston, TX

Members of the Legislature,

I urge you to reject school vouchers. Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students, and vouchers would drain their funding, weaken accountability, and increase inequality without improving outcomes.

Vouchers take money from already underfunded public schools, leaving fewer teachers, larger class sizes, and fewer resources. Rural schools, which often have no private alternatives, would suffer the most.

Private schools receiving vouchers are not held to the same standards as public schools. They do not have to follow state curriculum, report performance, or hire certified teachers. Taxpayer dollars should not fund unregulated schools.

Vouchers also increase inequality. They rarely cover full tuition, meaning wealthier families benefit while lower-income students remain in struggling public schools. In other states, most voucher recipients were already in private school before receiving government funds.

Research shows vouchers do not improve student performance. Many students who transfer perform worse than their public school peers. Texas should invest in proven strategies—higher teacher pay, smaller classes, and better student support.

Vouchers also raise constitutional concerns. The Texas Constitution prohibits public funds from supporting religious institutions, yet most private schools accepting vouchers are religious. Public money should not fund religious education.

A strong public school system benefits all Texans. I urge you to reject vouchers and focus on strengthening public education.

Elizabeth Turner, Mom

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose hb3!

Leviticus Williamson

Parent

Spring, TX

100% against education savings accounts. Why would any of my tax dollars go to a private entity instead of properly funding the public system. How in over 4 years the allotted amount allocated to a child has gone up while your suggesting to give 60% more per child to a parent ($10,000 vs $6,200ish per public school child) to the district. Clearly, causing a problem to try and provide a solution instead of funding the system as needed. Top on the situation with inflation over the last 4 years and the state didn't provide increased funds. These children are our future and the state government has let them down.

Kelly Harrison

Parent

Klein, TX

I'm an advocate for not having religion in school. Personal choice of religious freedoms can occur in the home but not on public property or an a school voucher circumstance it's like you're giving a social hand out to rich people who can afford school.

Nikki Rennaker

Self

Wylie, TX

NO SCHOOL VOUCHERS!!!.

Becky Gossett
Self
Colleyville, TX

Vote NO save our state & students

Frank and Nancy Schultz
Self
Spring, TX

Public money to public schools! No vouchers!

MJ Poormon
Self
Lubbock, TX

I strongly oppose HB3. Please do your job and properly fund public education.

Yarimar Torres Leon
Public schools
Dallas, TX

I oppose any bill that will give funds to privileged families while taking away funding for public schools.

Briana Shay
Self
Houston, TX

Vote against vouchers and for fully funded public education!

Alicia Armontrout
Self/early childhood educator
Arlington, TX

I oppose HB3

Catherine Muldowney
Self
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Freddy Ortega
Keller ISD
fort worth, TX

please do not have vouchers. if anything, just make all districts be open enrollment. i have spoken to teachers in Arizona. they are telling me it is killing public education.

Shaun Kirkdorffer
Self
Houston, TX

As a homeschooling, liberty loving family in Texas we urge you to vote no concerning HB3. It opens the door to government regulation of homeschool, it comes with strings attached.

Gloria Sullivan

Self

Boerne, TX

I do not support this bill. It undermines public education and will assist those who do not need assistance. Additionally, there are no safeguards or accountability standards as required of public education.

Melinda Kizer

Self/retired educator

Allen, TX

Please vote against school vouchers

Jennifer Sullivan

Dimmitt ISD

Dimmitt, TX

I am an elementary principal in a rural west texas school. I am against the voucher program. This plan will adversely affect our small town schools. Vote NO!

Samantha Bethke

Self

Austin, TX

Basic per student allotment hasn't increased since 2019. Texas funds its schools inadequately and WE need the state legislator to fix it. Texas is ranked 36 out of 50 states in its funding per student. A proposed $6380 per public school student vs $10K for a private school voucher. What??? And, as I understand it, the vouchers plan is $10K per student flat fee. A public school, on the other hand, only gets a portion of their student allotment based on average attendance numbers. So PUBLIC schools have to be staffed and have enough materials for 100% of enrolled kids, but the state is going to pay less than 100%. And, public schools are required to serve kids in their attendance zone while private schools enjoy selective enrollment. Heartbreaking.

Children and their education are OUR future. We need to do better for our kids AND our teachers. Learning in schools requires student attention, parental support, well funded schools, and well trained teachers. Vouchers will cause the outcomes will be worse. State funding should not be sent to private schools. If state funding is sent to private schools, those schools should be held to the same standards. Public funds belong in public schools.

Jason Stevens
Self - Community College Professor
Round Rock, TX

While I fully support efforts to improve educational opportunities for all students, I believe that school vouchers are not the solution. Instead, they divert critical public funds from our already underfunded public schools and exacerbate existing inequities in our education system.

Texas has long prided itself on a strong public education system that serves all students, regardless of background, income, or ability. However, instead of strengthening public schools, voucher programs redirect taxpayer money to private and religious institutions, which are not held to the same accountability and transparency standards as public schools. These private schools are not required to accept all students, meaning that many children—including those with disabilities, English language learners, and students from low-income communities—will continue to face barriers to access.

As a professor in Texas's higher education system, I see firsthand how disparities in K-12 education impact students' preparedness for college and the workforce. Public schools are the backbone of our education system, and instead of siphoning away resources, we should be investing in proven strategies to support teachers, reduce class sizes, expand early childhood education, and provide additional mental health resources for students. These are the kinds of initiatives that will strengthen Texas's future—not a voucher system that benefits the few at the expense of the many.

Furthermore, rural communities, which often lack access to private school options, stand to lose the most under a voucher system. While urban areas may have private schools available, rural students will see no real benefit, only a weakening of the public schools that serve as community hubs. Public funds should remain in public schools, where they serve all children, not just a select few.

Scott Moody
Self
West Columbia, TX

Please vote no on vouchers. It will kill public education , especially for low income kids. I am a retired teacher and I taught in low income and rural areas.

Stephen Binckley
Self- Public Servant
Cypress, TX

No to private school vouchers--whatever bill that is for!

Cameron Markeloff
Self - Education Consultant and Tutor
Houston, TX

Education savings accounts are detrimental to public schools. Taking money away from public schools to give it away to private schools is unconscionable. Private schools can pick and choose whichever students they want. They do not have to educate all students and certainly do not offer special education services for free. Most private schools charge extra for the extra help these students need. Private schools cost a lot of money and education savings accounts will only cover a fraction of the cost. Over 100 counties in Texas do not even have a private school option. We will see an influx of poorly accredited pop-up private schools. Public tax dollars should only go to public schools. Fully fund our Texas public schools. Do not bankrupt our public schools.

Ally Dobbins
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3.

gregory wesley, Educator

Self

Forest Hill, TX

The plan should be decided by the people. Not their elected officials who are agents for private and corporate interest. There should be a proposal made and a proposition presented to the People. Not 151 legislature some of whom have no idea of how this affects public school funding. Some don't even realize charter schools are not private. My suggestion, let the people decide.

Susan Anderson

self, retired

Austin, TX

I oppose HB-3. Over 70% of our schools are underfunded; using our tax dollars for any purpose other than supporting PUBLIC education is a travesty. The only choice most parents have is public education and this bill will not change that; it will only diminish the quality of what is available to us. Public funds should not go to private education and should not support students leaving public schools.

Angela Groves

self, educator

Fort Worth, TX

oppose

Kathleen Kupelian

Self

Houston, TX

I urge you to reject vouchers - Texas needs to fully invest in our public schools.

Judith Rivera, Mrs.

Self

Arlington, TX

As a public school teacher of 9 years and a mother of 2 students who attend a public school, one of which who receives 504 accommodations, I highly disagree with vouchers. They do not support "ALL" and this budget will affect all public schools, students and staff. Public school is not a daycare and vouchers will not support Special Education students, General Education students or their families. Vouchers are going to promote an increase in students who are not academically ready for the real world or college. There are so many other issues at hand that need to be discussed and the money could be used to promote public education success in academics and behavior.

I hope that these comments are read and that our voices as parents and students are heard. The average family will NOT benefit from vouchers in any form in fact it will hurt us all.

Shellie Daly

Self & Kocurek Elementary PTA Member via Austin ISD

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3 and ask my elected officials to do the same. My 2 elementary school children do attend a Title 1 school. Although our family does not qualify or benefit directly from the financial and support resources at our school, I directly see the benefits of decreased school funding at our already economically disadvantaged school. Vouchers do not address many needs of low-income, at-risk students such as transportation, free and reduced-priced lunches, textbooks and other instructional materials these families and children depend on. The voucher system would further impact the reduction of these funds for schools like ours if passed.

Other reasons I do not support HB3 is that it:

Does not ensure accountability.

Violates separation of church and state.

I and other parents already have choice.

Again, I oppose HB3 and believe it is not in the best interest of our students, schools or state.

Thank you - Shellie Daly, public taxpayer and mom of 2 elementary students

Cassandra Kappel

RPM Living

SAN ANTONIO, TX

Public funds should be used to fund public institutions, not private ones. Redirecting taxpayers dollars away from public schools undermines their ability to serve all students equitably and transparently. Private institutions are not held to the same accountability standards and can exclude students based on income, religion, and other factors. Our priority should be to strengthen public education, not diverting resources to institutions that do not serve the entire community.

Tonia Ward

Self

Happy, TX

I do not support vouchers for our schools. Please vote against HB3

Sascha Terry

McMillan Junior High School

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3.

Katie Sangl

Self

15214 Sandstone Outcrop Drive, TX

Please vote NO to HB 3. Our schools are already underfunded, and the passing of this bill will be detrimental to our public schools. Everyone deserves the right to a good, free education. Pulling funds from the public schools will undermine this basic principle. Please do the right thing and vote NO! Thank you for your time. Katie Sangl

Amy Bowman

Self

Humble, TX

I OPPOSE HB3!!

Emily Bolf

Self

Austin, TX

I do not support this legislation. It will hurt public schools. If there is money available for vouchers then that money should instead be used to adequately fund public schools! Vote NO.

Brandon Hall, Member

Texas State Board of Education, District 11

Aledo, TX

March 11, 2025

Chairman Buckley and Members of the Texas House Committee on Public Education:

I stand in support of HB3. Last November, I was elected by over 500,000 North Texans to represent them on the State Board of education. In my travels throughout the six counties that make up SBOE District 11, countless parents have expressed to me their desire to be fully empowered to choose the educational option that works best for the needs of their family.

For far too long, student success has been hindered by limitations imposed by failing school districts and random zoning. The call for educational freedom and school choice is not just a rallying cry; it is an urgent demand for a conservative shift that empowers parents, breaks bureaucratic barriers, and secures a brighter future for the children of Texas.

School choice confronts an outdated system that binds students to underperforming schools based on their socio-economic status and zip code. The time has come to embrace the radical notion that parents, not bureaucrats, should decide where their children receive an education.

Educational freedom is not a luxury; it is a fundamental right. Parents must have the liberty to choose the educational path that aligns with their values and aspirations for their children. No longer should families be trapped in a system that dictates their options based on geography.

As a member of the State Board of Education, I am all too familiar with the plight of struggling students in underperforming schools. Attempting the same solutions over and over again and expecting better results is the definition of insanity. We need a serious reform that will breathe new life into Texas public education. Enter HB3 – a game-changing school choice proposal that introduces competition into the stagnant educational landscape. When schools are forced to compete for students, they are compelled to raise their standards, innovate, and deliver excellence. It is a powerful opportunity for parents to directly bring accountability that transforms schools from complacent institutions into dynamic hubs of learning, where success is not just encouraged but expected.

Critics may argue against school choice, citing concerns about inequality. However, the true inequality lies in a system that consigns children to subpar education based on their address. School choice is the antidote to this injustice, providing an opportunity for every child, regardless of background, to access a quality education.

The call for educational freedom is a demand for a system that prioritizes the rights of parents and the limitless potential of Texas children. The time for school choice is now, and it begins with passing HB3.

Brennen Cwatanaphol

self

San Antonio, TX

My name is Brennen Cwatanaphol and I'm an undergraduate student living in Bryan/College Station, Texas. My entire education is built on Texas' public schools and teachers, and I cannot imagine if schools like Stinson Middle School and Louis D. Brandeis High School in San Antonio weren't available, especially for the children that would have no option if they were priced out of an education—many such cases would occur. Privatizing our education system is a mistake that will kill any bright minds left here, a tragedy for a state with such wealth and opportunity to provide for its children. I grew up around tons of private schools and charter schools in San Antonio and we all know it's true that the divisions between our private and public schools are socially segregated by race and class. This wouldn't change with a meager 10K that doesn't begin to cover costs, and that doesn't address the issue of public, equitable education for all anyway. Rural Texans like my cousins who depended on their only public school in the area know this. High schoolers I have worked with here in the BCS area know this. I would venture to say my lawmakers know this too, as the makeup of our legislature changed a lot last election because of viewpoints on this crucial issue of how we build up young minds and reform our education system. Vouchers are not the solution to education reform in Texas. No matter how they rebrand (voucher, education savings accounts, etc.) the law would provide families with my taxpayer money to pay for private schooling. I object, this isn't what I paid for. Barriers like location, fixed tuition, and institutionalized racism ensure that private schools will remain exclusive, and I don't want the money I've paid in to be wasted on something that's proven to waste government funds. Texans like me want our neighborhood schools to continue providing equal access, standardized measures of success, and community impact—and that depends on funding public schools and not a new scam that would further devastate our public education system.

Patricia Gamez

Self

Carrollton, TX

Vote against School Vouchers, Choice of School, Education Saving Account Program. Any funding available should go directly to our public schools. We need to be able to hire quality teachers and we need a productive, well rounded curriculum in our public schools. This is a must to empower the children of our future with the tools necessary to have successful lives, lead our country, and understand how to live and respect all cultures around the world.

You are doing a disservice if you support school vouchers, this is not the solution. Public education needs to be a top priority. Therefore, vote and fight for the funding needed for our public schools to be able to provide the education for "all" of our kids.

Cathy Bowland

Self/ Agriculture

Taylor, TX

I do not support using Texas government funds to pay for private tuition. It defunds public schools that desperately need funding.

Meredith Buchanan

Self/Licensed Marriage & Family Therapist

Rockwall, TX

We all know this bill hurts children and families. And you're doing it anyway. Self-serving by serving the richest of the rich only. 158 out of 254 counties do NOT have any private schools. Once again, this bill hurts children and families. This bill is not pro-life. This bill is selfish. This bill aims to actively harm poor and middle class children, disabled children, children who are geographically out of range of a private schools, and any other child a private school would not admit. This bill HURTS FAMILIES. All children deserve equal and equitable access to an education. They are children. Additionally, public school teachers deserve to be paid and not have salary money withheld at a political whim. Completely disrespectful and disgusting. This bill actively harms public school educators and other staff. Texas used to be better:

Vickie Jacobsin

Self - retired principal

Austin, TX

For several years m, "recapture" policies have caused public schools distructs to cut and redic

Mary Beth Lee
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Public funds are for public schools. Tax payer money sent to private education is wrong on every level. Data from ESA/Vouchers around the country show the same thing over and over: vouchers go to wealthy families and work as coupons for their tuition. Public schools are strong in the state. They educate ALL students. They are run by local boards and follow a state-mandated curriculum. Accountability is a constant with public schools. Private schools use whatever curriculum they want and there is no accountability. The boards are often not local. ESAs/vouchers are bad for communities and they will destroy public schools. Vouchers are not conservative. Parents are free to send their children to private schools. But taxpayers should not be paying for that choice. Taxpayer money should go where there is state curriculum and state accountability and local control.

Jill Urban, Mrs
Private citizen
Austin, TX

Please DO NOT vote for school voucher's! This will put our public school system and a terrible spot not only financially but the the between church and state will not longer be upheld with the forced teachings of certain religious topics. I am a Christian but this will not allow for an open and equal environment for student's and teachers. On the financial side, this bill will be taking money out of our public school and putting it into private schools, and will benefit students and families of those private schools, and leave public school students at a deficit in their opportunities and education. Do not vote for this bill and harm our children!

James Branch
Self - executive
Fort Worth, TX

I am against HB 3. Public money does not belong in private schools. We came together as a state to create public schools so our kids will receive a non-partisan religion that does not favor any one faith. Let's keep it that way and improve what we have. There is no need to privatize the education system.

Brittany Caldwell
Self/Hairstylist
Brock, TX

I support public schools and strongly oppose HB3. If we have money for vouchers, we have money to fully fund public schools first!

Amy Greenwald
Self
Austin, TX

Fund public schools not private.

Margie Turner
Self
San Antonio, TX

My children have benefitted from public schools. My tax dollars should go to public schools. I am absolutely not in favor of vouchers. Put this to a vote for all of Texas. We will show you this is NOT wanted.

Stacey Dehoyos

Self

Newark, TX

Redirecting public funds to private schools through Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) will drain critical resources from public schools, which serve the vast majority of Texas students.

Furthermore, HB3 does not ensure that private schools will accept all students, meaning the most vulnerable children—those from low-income families or with special needs—may still be left behind. Instead of diverting funds away, we should be investing in strengthening public schools, improving teacher pay, and ensuring every student has access to a quality education regardless of their zip code.

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB3, as it poses a serious threat to the integrity of our public education system.

I urge you to stand with Texas families and vote against HB3. Our public schools deserve better.

Julianne Smith

Self

Burleson, TX

I implore you to vote NO to vouchers. Do not pass this legislation! Please use this money to fund all public schools fully!

Michelle Winn

Self- music teacher

Kyle, TX

Opposed to school vouchers- this takes away from public education as a whole. This is detrimental to schools and students . Private schools do not hold sane standards generally nor supports in special education etc... private schools are supported by private entities and should thus be supported ONLY by private entities . They are "business" centered and are for profit, giving them the right to raise costs, effecting those that attend . Public schools are for ALL STUDENTS, regardless of SES, race, ethnicity and disability . Funds should support PUBLIC education OVER private entities . School choice already exists: homeschooling, private schools, charter schools, public schools are all ACCEPTED means of educating students . Tax dollars should NEVER support private entities. Private citizens can decide if individually they wish to support private schools by affording tuition, donations, etc... in addition, the state does not, and will not, hold private entities to the same state standard with curriculum, testing, and accommodations required through special education. I DO NOT SUPPORT VOUCHERS FOR SCHOOL CHOICE.

Lillian Ligon

Self. Retired State employee

Cypress, TX

Hello, I have 10 Grandchildren in Texas and 4 educators among my children.

I am totally against using tax dollars for funding private schools.

Nothing must be even considered until all monies withheld from Public Schools have been returned with 25% additional for interest.

The schools are hurting. So many kids depend on their schools- poor kids, disabled kids. Kids the private schools will not serve. Also kids that must have transportation!

In other States that have vouchers, statistics show that private schools end up raising rate

Their rates to where only a portion of the populace can even afford tuition even with vouchers.

There was a time in Texas when our schools were the heartbeat of each community. My parents came from tiny rural towns.

Towns of this size DO NOT have private schools. Why should they subsidize a private school in the city while their school suffers from reduced funding?

Please don't pass this bill just to satisfy our Governor who is seemingly obsessed with this idea.

Everyone I have talked to, tells me they are against this.

Thank you for listening to me.

Lillian Ligon

Heather Griffin

Self

Lubbock, TX

Vouchers are not good for Texas. Those who wish to send their children to private schools can do so. Many of us who send our children to public schools could not send our kids to private schools even with vouchers as the tuition cost will still be prohibitive. Do not take tax payer dollars from the public schools system to funnel to private schools. Private schools do. It have to take, or are not equipped to take, children with special needs, who have 504 plans or IEPs, or certain medical issues. How would a voucher help me when I have three kids (two currently in public schools) - one of whom has a IEP? She would never be accepted into a private school due to her IEP and low test scores. She deserves a quality education just like every other child in Texas. That means equipping our public schools so they have the ability to continue providing education to children like mine.

Rural areas of Texas do not even have private schools - where's their "school choice"? Many families cannot afford to provide transportation for their children to a private school (assuming they can even pay the tuition even with the voucher) so they will also need to rely on the public school system as they provide transportation for their kids. Where is their "school choice"?

The government should not be providing ANY tax payer money to private businesses including private schools.

Listen to your constituents, who by and large are NOT for school vouchers. Quit pandering to the rich and elite and speak for the regular Texans who ELECTED YOU!

Anna Cheng
Self, homemaker
Houston, TX

As a homeschool graduate and a homeschooling mother I oppose HB 3. I highly value the freedoms Texas currently gives to homeschool parents to educate their children in the best way they see fit for each child and their family as a whole. HB 3 sounds appealing with the promise of funds to go toward curriculum each year, but in reality, few homeschoolers spend that much money per child per year on educational materials thanks to purchasing pre-loved books and most curricula not costing anywhere near $2k.

Additionally, I do not agree with the promise of such funds still giving me 100% autonomy in making the best educational choices for my children based on their individual needs and our personal and religious convictions. History and current homeschool bills and laws in other states have shown that when the government gets involved with financial incentives for homeschool families, the freedoms of the people suffer. I do not believe it would take very long for the government to start telling me how I should educate my children and what curricula I should use if this bill were to pass.

Again, I oppose HB3 and encourage you to do the same.

Keri Lesur
Self
Stephenville, TX

I am strongly opposed to this bill and am aware of the damage that will be caused to public schools and public school children. Public education is a right, private education is not. Please vote accordingly, with what constituents want. Not where the payoffs are!

Nancy Dacus
Self/Public School Teacher
Lake Jackson, TX

Support public education, students and teachers. Do the right thing.

Angela Hawkins
Self
Leander, TX

I do not support the savings account program. I support providing public education for ALL Texas children.

Phillip Sanders, Teacher
Self
Katy, TX

HB3 will not go to lower income or special education students. It will subsidize higher income families already in private schools. There will be no accountability in the funds that are distributed. One billion dollars would go a long way towards raising the student allotment to levels of other states and also help retain teachers in the profession.

HB3 is not a conservative bill. It grows the size of the government by increasing the size of TEA and the comptroller's office.

Robin Dehnel

SELF

SAN ANGELO, TX

I am a land owner and thus a school taxpayer in the great State of Texas. I do not want my tax dollars diverted from public schools to the schools of choice of non taxpayers. I do not support Hitler High, Putin Preschool, Eichmann Elementary, Mussolini Middle School, or any other non-public school. There is no oversight or accountability for these choices. As a retired 30 year educator from public schools in Texas, we need our own DOGE to help public schools become more accountable and improve performance. I tend to vote Republican on most issues however I am with the Democrats and those who are not trying to force vouchers on us using the term school choice. Wake up Greg Abbott...we elected our representatives to represent us, the constituents of the best state in the United States.

Jan Austin, Ms

Self and Texas UU Justice Ministry

Austin, TX

I do not approve of taking state funds to help families pay for private school tuition. Our public schools are already struggling financially and many are cutting programs and reducing faculty size in order to try to continue to operate. Taking money from the public schools will only make this worse and lead to more problems in our public schools. Under no circumstances will I approve using my money to send children to private schools when our public schools are available.

Kianna Cody

Self- public school teacher since 1992

Wichita Falls, TX

I am STRONGLY AGAINST anything that takes away from public schools. I currently teach in a Title 1 school. If public schools aren't readily available for ALL students, I know which kids will slip through the cracks. They won't just be lacking in education- they'll be lacking in a mandated reporter checking them every day, making sure that they've been fed. If I hadn't filed a report on one of my students last December, she'd still be in a house with a registered sex offender. What will happen to our SPED kids who get rejected by the private schools who don't have to serve them, but then the public schools who do won't have enough personnel on each campus? Abbott complains about public schools without giving them the funds to fix them. Sitting on a 33 billion dollar surplus for so long is inexcusable and is exactly why I no longer vote Republican after 20+ years of doing so.

Carrie Chambliss

Self

Richardson, TX

I am in favor of HB3 and urge my congressman to vote Yes.

Kevin Nichols

Self

Mansfield, TX

Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) is a direct attack on education, disguised as “school choice.” It diverts taxpayer money from public schools to private institutions that lack public accountability, can discriminate, and do not meet the same standards as public schools. This violates the Texas Constitution’s mandate to provide a free, public education for all children.

Proponents claim Texas can afford HB 3 due to a budget surplus, but this is shortsighted. The state is also pushing teacher pay raises and property tax reductions, all of which rely on temporary funds. Economic downturns or declining oil revenues could erase the surplus, forcing cuts to public school funding, teacher pay, or tax hikes to sustain the voucher program. Once public money is committed, it is difficult to reverse without harming schools.

Other states show the risks. Arizona’s voucher expansion cost taxpayers hundreds of millions more than expected. Florida and Wisconsin saw ballooning expenses that benefited wealthier families while draining public school resources. If Texas follows suit, the result will be underfunded public schools, larger class sizes, and fewer resources for students who rely on them most. HB 3 will not help the majority of Texas students. Vouchers disproportionately benefit families already in private schools. In Ohio, 88% of voucher users never attended public school. In Florida, most were already enrolled in private education. Vouchers do not create opportunities for most students—they subsidize private tuition for families who can already afford it.

Texans have rejected vouchers before. Proposition 2 in 1997, which sought to use public funds for private tuition, was overwhelmingly voted down. More recent efforts have failed due to bipartisan opposition, particularly from rural Republicans who understand that taking money from public schools will devastate their communities.

Yet HB 3 is being pushed through, fueled by out-of-state billionaires like Jeff Yass and Texas billionaires Tim Dunn and Farris Wilks. These donors have spent millions to unseat GOP legislators who opposed vouchers, proving this is a scheme driven by big money, not public demand.

If HB 3 is such a great idea, why not let Texans vote on it? This bill effectively amends Article VII of the Texas Constitution, which guarantees public education. The fact that its supporters are avoiding a direct vote shows they know Texans would reject it again.

HB 3 is reckless, fiscally unsound, and deeply unpopular. It undermines public schools while benefiting a privileged few. Lawmakers must reject this bill and defend Texas students, teachers, and communities. Public funds should support public education—period.

Danielle Nobleza

Self

Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS’ & "NO TO HB3

Stefanie Thompson

PTA

Leander, TX

Please reconsider this. It is a discount for the wealthy that hurts the vast majority of students. Private schools are small, and parents can pick and choose. This really doesn't create much of a choice for parents, even if they might be able to afford it. Plus, many offer payment options. Diverting public school funds for this is inexcusable and could set a nationwide precedent that will widen the education gulf between our children and those from other countries. What happened to America first? This is rich first and not fooling Texans. Public schools do amazing things with meager budgets, maybe DOGE could learn a thing or two from them. That's not the point though, they shouldn't have too. Diverting school funds for any reason is a mistake -- kids are our future and we should invest in ALL OF THEM.

Eugene Balaguer

Self/retired

Austin, TX

NO to vouchers for public schools. Tax dollars should NOT fund private schools. Vouchers don’t ensure ‘school choice’ because private schools can pick and choose their students.

Mindia Whittier

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools. Stop harming public education!

Amanda Stewart

Self

New Braunfels, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB3, the proposed school voucher bill in Texas. While supporters claim this legislation expands school choice, in reality, it serves as a mechanism to defund public education while offering taxpayer-funded discounts to affluent families who can already afford private schooling.

Public schools in Texas are already underfunded. Texas ranks 43rd in the nation for per-student spending, investing approximately $4,000 less per student than the national average (Education Law Center, 2023). Diverting public funds to private schools through vouchers will exacerbate this crisis, leaving public schools—where over 90% of Texas children are enrolled—with fewer resources, larger class sizes, and deteriorating infrastructure.

HB3 is not about helping low-income families. Studies show that in states with similar programs, the vast majority of voucher recipients were already enrolled in private schools before receiving taxpayer-funded subsidies (National Bureau of Economic Research, 2022). The proposed voucher amount will not cover the full cost of tuition at elite private schools, meaning these funds effectively serve as discounts for wealthy families rather than real opportunities for low-income students.

Unlike public schools, private institutions receiving voucher funds are not required to meet state educational standards, accept all students, or provide services for special needs children. This creates a two-tiered system where public schools bear the burden of educating the most vulnerable students while private schools can exclude them at will.

Time and again, Texans have rejected school voucher schemes. In 2023, multiple rural Republican lawmakers joined Democrats in opposing similar legislation, recognizing that vouchers pose a direct threat to small-town public schools—often the backbone of their communities.

If legislators truly want to improve education in Texas, they should focus on fully funding public schools, increasing teacher salaries to address shortages, and investing in infrastructure and student support services. HB3 does none of these things.

For these reasons, I urge you to reject HB3 and stand in support of Texas' public schools, teachers, and students.

Chase Barber

Self - Data Governance

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Erin Anderson Cox

Self

Arlington, TX

I stand with TX families. No vouchers, no special interests. Please keep funding in public school.

Nicola Quillen, Ms

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3!

Jennifer Ames

Self

Murphy, TX

No to school vouchers please

Jaxson Hill

Self

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Lacrisha Sherman

Self

Wylie, TX

No

Anthony brackett

self

wylie, TX

This is unacceptable. How about we try and make public schools better rather than passing bills to try and widen the gap economically and financially between the rich and poor? Maybe do away with no child left behind as well. Its a failure policy. No to this bill

Merle Quave, Ms.

Self/Teacher

Houston, TX

Taking taxpayer funds away from public schools to fund private schools through vouchers will decimate public education in Texas. Private schools are not held to the same standards that govern public education - certified teachers, state assessments, accepting ALL students regardless of ability or needs. Siphoning off funds that should support the education of ALL Texas students - not just the wealthy - will severely affect public schools' ability to provide the education our students need and deserve.

I encourage you to vote NO on HB 3!

Sincerely,

Merle Quave

Victoria Loney

Self

McKinney, TX

I oppose ESA's. Republicans are supposed to be fiscally responsible and this is NOT a good use of tax payer dollars. Furthermore, these ESA's will RAISE taxes because the money sent to private schools is not sustainable without raising taxes. No public tax money to private schools. At the very least, private schools who accept public funds should have to take EVERY child who applies. Should be required to offer special education. Should be required to teach the Republican developed, state mandated curriculum and should be required to administer the STAAR tests. The money should have the Republican mandates for education attached. No public money to private schools! We all know this has been made possible by a wealthy donor from Pennsylvania. Since when do Texans do what people from other states push us to do. NO MORE TAXES!

Cathryne Chatmon

Self, parent

Sachse, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Kim Hileman, MS

Self. Retired

San Antonio, TX

I'm against this bill. Parents should have more control over the public school's curriculum and practices. Conservative parents are choosing private schools because they have a say and/or choice in what is taught and changing standards that go against their values. Public (free) education is critical for all children, and should receive more funding, then let parents have a say in how they are operated.

Joe Hite, MBA

Self (retired college administrator),daughter (teacher

Gunter, TX

We are ADAMANTLY opposed to the voucher system being considered by our Texas legislators! Public money should NOT be used to fund any part of private education! Private education is a CHOICE by the student and parents or guardians. Private schools DO NOT adhere to the same access and accountability as public education! Please do not cater to the wealthy donors behind this bill.

Michelle Maloney

Texas PTA, Wylie ISD, Harrison Intermediate PTA

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3. Keep public funding in public schools.

Angela Stubbs

Self

Leander, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed school voucher program. Redirecting public funds from public schools to private institutions undermines the foundation of our public education system and threatens to increase educational inequality across Texas.

Public schools are already underfunded and face growing challenges in meeting the diverse needs of students. Vouchers would divert critical resources from public schools, leaving them with fewer funds for teachers, classroom materials, and essential support services. This would disproportionately harm rural communities and lower-income families, where public schools often serve as the backbone of the community.

Furthermore, private schools that receive voucher funding are not held to the same standards of accountability and transparency as public schools. Taxpayer dollars could be used to support institutions that are not required to accept all students or provide the same level of educational access and services, including for students with disabilities.

Instead of shifting resources away from public schools, I urge you to invest in strengthening our public education system—by increasing teacher pay, improving classroom resources, and expanding access to academic and extracurricular programs for all students. Public funds should remain in public schools, where they can benefit every child, not just a select few.

I respectfully ask you to oppose the school voucher program and focus on policies that will support and strengthen Texas public schools.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Harry Ryan
self Nocona, TX

I am a retire/rehire administrator of Nocona ISD and I am writing to oppose the utilization of tax payer funds for private education especially as I see this bill only benefitting those who can already afford private schooling. In addition, I find it difficult to understand how our impoverished families who work 3 or 4 low paying jobs will get their students to private schools 30 minutes to an hour away in order to utilize the Educational Savings Account (ESA). These families can choose from several quality school districts within 10 to 20 minutes away, so choice is already in place.

On another critical note, Nocona ISD will stand to lose approximately $311,000 which will equate to 5 or 6 teaching positions. Like many other districts in Texas, we struggle maintaining competitive salaries to attract the best teachers to insure the highest quality education for our students. This type of loss will notably impact our ability to maintain the quality standards our students and families are accustomed to.

Please consider how this harmful bill will impact the school districts you represent. With sincerity I employ you to look at the thousands and thousands of students that will be negatively impacted by this loss of revenue just to benefit the few that will actually access an ESA.

Vicki Goble-Lane Lane
Retired teacher
Allen, TX

I am registering my complete opposition to HB3 (vouchers). NO to HB3 ! I am a former public school teacher and public tax money NEEDS to fund public school for ALL children. Vouchers is just a handout to the rich. Make public school funding better to help improve public schools. Please represent the need of the majority of school children.

KINDRA Coleman
Self- parent, educator, advocate
Austin, TX

Hello, I am writing to express my opposition to your support of the voucher bill HB 3. The bill for creating vouchers to fund private school educations for students using tax dollars and public funds will significantly impact our local schools, potentially taking millions of dollars from local schools, which are already extremely underfunded. I am an advocate for funding schools using enrollment based per student allotments in alignment with national averages (Texas is currently 42nd in the US in funding, and has a funding deficit of approx $4,000 per student).

We need to stop trying to line the pockets of Billionaires from out of state, and start educating young Texans, as they are our future. Jeff Yass, Tim Dunn, and Farris Wilkes do not represent us, and should not dictate the education of our children. Say no to HB3, and instead fund Texas public schools appropriately!

Daniel Bump
Self/ teacher
San Antonio, TX

I have a strong belief in a separation of Church and state. And I believe that private schools that receive state funds should be held accountable to the same testing standards as public schools i.e. Star testing. They should be required to accept any student that has applied for state education funds, and should not be allowed to charge more than that amount. I am not opposed to vouchers, but believe that the playing field should be level. If there is gonna be a voucher system, then the same amount of money should be given to every student to use and provide true parent choice. School district property taxes should be done away with and both private and public Schools receive the same amount of money per student.

As the Bill is currently written, I do not believe this really provides parent choice for those that are not already in private schools. I firmly believe that currently private schools do provide a better education than public schools. I believe this is because of two factors one is that the parents with the students to be there and secondly the teacher/aid ratio is approximately 12 to 1 in the early grades.

If you are really serious about improving the education of Texans, rather than spending this money on Religious schools, it should be spent reducing class sizes in pre-K through third grade.

One complaint about public schools is that it is indoctrinating the students. What do you think is going on in religious schools? At least public schools are accountable to the public who likes the school district. As the Jesus said "give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and give to God what belongs to God." That sounds like separation state and church. If you are a true Christian, then listen to Christ and not the Pharisees.

Doreen Geiger
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vote NO for vouchers or ESA. Spend money to improve PUBLIC education

Kimberly Van Rees
Self, parent
Mckinney, TX

As a parent of two children, I am vehemently opposed to HB3.

Teela Hurt
self-retired teacher
Clarksville, TX

I am opposed to HB 3. It is not in the best interest of public education.

Alexandra Matis
Davis Intermediate PTA
St Paul, TX

I am not supportive of HB 3 and the school vouchers proposition. Texas public education will detrimentally be affected by the approval of this bill.

Melanie Bustos self, digital marketer
San Antonio, TX

We do not want our public education tax dollars to go to fund private homeschool or other educational services.

Harless Thomas

Self/Teacher

Conroe, TX

I am writing to voice my sturdy opposition to Texas House Bill three. As a dedicated high school Teacher, I have witnessed firsthand the challenges that our public education system faces, and I am deeply concerned that this proposed law will exacerbate these troubles and harm the future of our students, teachers, and communities.

Public education in Texas is already underfunded, and this bill does not provide the essential sources or aid to make sure equitable and best schooling for all students. It seems to prioritize brief-time period monetary alleviation over lengthy-time period educational equity and teacher aid. Reductions in funding for critical packages, consisting of superior placement publications, extracurricular activities, and offerings for students with disabilities, will disproportionately affect the most prone students.

Furthermore, the bill's provisions will increase stress on instructors without supplying the vital aid to cope with current worries. Instead of specializing in enhancing the professional environment or enhancing instructor reimbursement, HB three overlooks the real needs of educators who're already stretched thin with increasing workloads and inadequate pay. Teachers need higher reimbursement, smaller class sizes, and additional support, no longer rules that burdens them in addition.

Texas instructors are already many of the lowest-paid within the country, and we are seeing a developing teacher scarcity because of this. HB three does now not cope with those important issues, which only makes it harder to retain first-class educators. Without aggressive pay, better sources, and significant aid, the system will keep to conflict with attracting and keeping the educators our students need.

I urge you to reconsider helping HB 3 and as a substitute support legislation that prioritizes meaningful investment in instructors, students, and public education. Texans deserve an education system that values its educators, supports all students, and prepares the next era for success.

Beth Burkhalter, Public School teacher and principal

Citizen of Lubbock, Texas

Lubbock, TX

I do not support HB3. Using public funding for vouchers for educating children outside the parameters of our Texas Public Schools is wasteful spending. Private Schools are unable to be held to the same accountability standards as our public schools. Data driven, research based practices that verify student growth toward measurable learning outcomes must be required to validate monies spent to educate the children of Texas. Investing in voucher funded school programs has not proven to produce this outcome.

Olivia Hennessey

Self

Houston, TX

I demand the house to vote no on this extremely harmful bill. The money should be invested into public schools and used to hire talented teachers and pay them accordingly. I do not authorize or endorse the public's tax dollars to be invested into private organizations while the public schools fail and kids with different abilities and socioeconomic backgrounds etc. get left behind.

Amanda Hadaway

Self

Lubbock, TX

I strongly oppose any ESA/voucher program. Until our public education system in Texas is reformed, fully funded, and educators are supported and respected, no provisions should be made to fund any private education. We need to first fix the the program that was established in our constitution. A program that we the people, by our actions and those we have voted in to office, have failed miserably. Our great state's future relies on supporting the future of our youth and not abandoning a program not working in its full capacity. Until teachers receive the salary they deserve and the benefits/retirement commensurate of other state employees (and yes, we are), we cannot in good faith begin funding something new and unequal.

Theodore Pierce
Self - public education teacher
Van Alstyne, TX

I am against HB 3. As an educator I do not see the upside to this bill. I feel that there is too much latitude given to allow government influence into private and home school curriculum.

Sarah Cameron
Self
Lubbock, TX

I am AGAINST the establishment of an education savings account program. "Vouchers" will not help the underprivileged in our state get an education, the wealthy who are already paying for their improved education will be awarded a gift for continuing to take away from the general public's right to quality, validated education. Keep the money for state funded but improved public schools with highly trained, motivated, well compensated educators who have tools that support their success in the classroom. Additionally, not all communities have access to voucher funded, tax dollar evaporating, unregulated educational facilities. Where do they use their state provided educational "vouchers"? Please respond if my thoughts miss the mark in your plans for educating all of our state's children.

Mark Terry
Self
GRAPEVINE, TX

As a resident and retires elementary school principal it shocks me that the House is seeking to fund private schools at the expense of public schools across Texas. Sure fire way to destroy our rural communities. Stop the madness, vote NO.

Am Smith
Self
Wylie, TX
NO to vouchers!

Raynell Veltkamp
Self
Wylie, TX

I support our public schools! No vouchers!

Evan Dewar
Self - Librarian
Addison, TX

We do not want this for TX. We voted against it last year and are still against school vouchers. This will have a lasting negative impact on education not only now, but well into the future when the pension fund no longer exists because there are not enough teachers to fund it. You run the risk of destroying public education to the detriment of millions of children, present and future. Please do not accept this excuse to fund families who don't even need the support. There are so many students who could benefit from more funding, and we could help bring TX to the same funding level as other states, which would in turn support student outcomes. We are one of the lowest scoring states in regard to student outcomes and that has a definite correlation to per student funding as seen in other higher performing states.

Jason Wang
Self
Southlake, TX

Just improve public education in Texas. This is not needed or wanted.

Laura Vega-Martinez

Self

El Paso, TX

As a Texas citizen, mother, and educator I am speaking against HB3. Our educational funds were established to educate children through public education. Our society cannot move forward if our youth is not educated. If parents want their children educated in a private setting, then they should provide the funds as they always have. We cannot make this type of legislation because all it does is regress us to a time when education was not equal. Our legacy must be that we stood for all children and that to educate them to the best of our ability so that they can be successful in their community. I am not against a religious upbringing, I was brought up with a religious upbringing, but that part of me didn't cross into the public academic realm. Public funds should not be used for any type of faith-based learning.

David King

Self, John Deere parts sales

Gainesville, TX

I am against HB 3

Melanie Jackson, Mrs

Self

Richardson, TX

Vouchers have no place in Texas.

Loyce Engle

Self

Georgetown, TX

As a Texan Texas college graduate, mother of three, I implore you to vote against my tax dollars paying for private school education. This would only benefit wealthy people while further depleting funds for public schools. Would we ask tax payers to pay for private parks if someone did not like the public ones? Why does a millionaire from the east coast who sent millions to Governor Abbot have such influence? If you vote for this, you are confirming that only he wealthy have power

Meghann Latimer

Self teacher

Converse, TX

The voucher system is a sham to put money in the hands of wealthy Texans. It will undercut the public school system and the only people to thrive will be the wealthy. Teacher retirement will also be significantly impacted and as an educator of over 20 years that is simply unacceptable. The fragile populations such as 504 and sped will also not be serviced correctly because private schools and public schools are held to different standards. Private schools can choose whether or not to have your kids and they always choose the easiest kids not the ones that need the public monies. As a taxpayer I want my money going towards public schools and let the ultra wealthy pay for their private schools on their own as they can afford to. Please vote no on the voucher program and save Texas education and educators i. The process. Thank you

Jeff Howard

Brownsboro ISD / Self

Brownsboro, TX

As an educator for 34 years in Texas, my question is why now? Why is pushing students to private schools now such a high priority? If private schools are so much better at educating kids then why not restructure public schools using the private school model? I strongly disagree that public funds should be used in private organizations. The separation of church and state has been drilled into us to the point that we don't even feel supported to talk to a kid about Jesus but know you are giving funds to private schools that base their whole existence off of religious freedom. Again, I ask if private schools are great then let's use their model to restructure public schools to match and then public funds can stay where they belong.

Jamie White
self
MAGNOLIA, TX

I am registering my opposition to any bill that establishes any type of voucher or ESA. The claim that these offer school choice is misleading. They do not offer any choice that doesn't already exist. This merely is a subsidy to private vendors and nothing more. $1 billion of taxpayer money directly to private school owners/operators. Texas' 5.5 million public school children continue to be adequately funded, even with pittance that has been promised (although Texas governor and legislators are not to be trusted. I am sure you will receive plenty of numbers from the thousand of people who hate what you are trying to do. My advice is don't be afraid of Abbott. Parents who believe you are intentionally harming their children have long memories. All I ask is that those of you who realize that this is a scam to enrich private schools and politicians, vote our conscience. Do what is right for you state and its children. That, after all, is why you were elected.

Kathryn Avery, Reverend Self, clergy
Burnet, TX

Support our public schools! Educating all children is the best way to ensure responsible citizens in the future. VOTE NO ON THIS BILL

Brent Wehner, Dr.
PTA, Wylie ISD
Wylie, TX

OPPOSE VOUCHERS/ESAs

Angela Halbert
Self
Houston, TX

We don't want vouchers. If you dead set on passing them then put a limit on how much you can make. Under $100,000 fine you can get vouchers. The rich shouldn't be able to get them. There is not one state that has vouchers that are successful. Quit lining your pockets with this deal.

Jennifer Turner
Self
Humble, TX

I do not believe we should use tax funds to establish education savings accounts or vouchers or whatever you want to call them. Public monies should only be attached to things that are accountable to the public. Private schools and homeschools are not accountable to the public and therefore should not receive public monies unless they agree to all regulations that hold public schools accountable. Since that isn't on the table, I am against them.

James Villegas
Self
N Richlnd Hls, TX

The public spoke, now listen.
No Vouchers!
No Educational Savings plan

Heidi Tournoux-Hanshaw

Heidi Tournoux Studios

Mansfield, TX

HB 3 is a detriment to our communities, let alone our public education system. It will do nothing for the majority of families in Texas, especially in the areas where there are few options for education other than public education. I urge all of our representatives to sincerely weigh the impact that this funding shift will have on our communities, and research using facts and statistics from areas where education savings account programs have been implemented. I am absolutely opposed to the establishment of an education savings account program, and will use my future votes accordingly. This is not a solution to solving Texas's education system, and will cause our state to sink even lower in the nation on education levels, it will increase the need for mental health services because our teachers will be asked to do more with less resources, and the children will ultimately feel the impact. It is disgraceful to think that our government is making a decision to fund a program that ultimately will only be beneficial for the financially top tier set of individuals that are already able to afford private schooling for their children, and will give even more flexibility to private schools to not meet the educational standards that our state has in place. HB 3 needs to be defeated.

Ilene Blumberg

Self

Pflugerville, TX

I'm against this bill. Keep public funding with public schools. Private schools are already called private schools for a reason. Fully fund public schools and teachers

Angela Sherr

Self/Teacher

Richardson, TX

I want to go on record as being opposed to HB 3.

Annette Montgomery

Self

Memphis, TX

Please put on record that HB3 will hurt the Public school system in Texas especially rural districts that are barely scrapping by as it is. I oppose HB3.

Geoff Sanders

Self

Houston, TX

“Vouchers use public money to fund less transparent and less effective educational options....

Texans know that giving public money to private schools and companies with no oversight, no accountability, and no student and parental protections for educational services is more about profit than parental control.”

Adrienne Conyer

Self

Wylie, TX

Fund public schools not private!

Lindsay Crites
Self
McKinney, TX

Private school tuition in Texas is astronomically high. This voucher will still not allow me to send my child to a private school because tuition is between 20 and $50,000 per student per school year. This is just giving a break to the people who can already afford these private school tuition. We are not actually given a “school choice” in this matter, YOU are choosing to send my child to an underfunded public school. Our public school or something to be proud of in Texas.

Beverly Woodson
Self, Educator
Frisco, TX

I am adamantly opposed to this bill. Public education is the great equalizer, as we work to provide a free and appropriate education to ALL students. The schools in Texas have already been vilified by this administration, and the trickery and back room meetings that have allowed this bill to even be considered are reprehensible, as well as the people who have participated in this. If you would just take a day to visit public schools and see the amazing work that is being done, you would be forced to change your mind. Do what’s BEST for the students of Texas! Vote against vouchers!!

Cynthia Jones
TRS
Lavon, TX

Former educator. Vote no! Bad for Texas and struggling public schools

Brian Fink
Self - Retired Teacher
LA FERIA, TX

School choice vouchers will be detrimental to public schools. It would serve wealthier families who already have their kids in private schools. If this bill is passed, too many small rural schools will lose money and face the possibility of closure in the future. Greg Abbott serves only a small minority of Texans. Special education will also lose ground. School choice also opens a can of worms that many school UIL programs will face because of illegal recruiting of student-athletes and academics. Superior athletes and gifted academic students will be recruited by private and other public schools. I believe school choice vouchers are not school choice since they will serve only a few students in the state. This is Greg Abbott's agenda and it is NOT representative of a huge majority of public school educators or the general public. A HARD no to school choice!

Diana Riha, Retired
Retired teacher
Canyon, TX

It is blatantly obvious that a huge majority of Texans does not want school vouchers. They are only for the privileged few who want only for themselves. It is immoral & unethical to favor one child over another, and that is the bottom line for Abbott’s greedy push. If any elected representative votes in favor of this while his/her constituents are so opposed, then that is a prime example of cowardice! You weren’t elected to follow such a disgusting push of entitlement.

Taylor Hall
Self
Spicewood, TX

Opposed to the voucher program for private school attendees. Our public schools, which are the only option for most, will decline without proper funding and attendance

Zachary Wright, Mr.

Texas AFT

San Antonio, TX

This will eventually bankrupt the public school system. Rural school districts will also suffer from public school funding. Rural communities need their public school football team, baseball team, etc. Because the public school anchors the community. Vouchers are as bad an idea as in implementing tariffs on consumer goods. Terrible idea.

Sandra Rivera, Ms

Self

Corpus Christi, TX

Vouchers would harm our system of equal education for all. Please stop this. We need our kids to be able to compete in this tough society. Please NO VOUCHERS

Lisa Dews

Self

Abilene, TX

Look, I may be one of few citizens who has both attended and worked for both public and private schools. As a 32 year classroom teacher, I retired and worked on the Admin team at a small private school in our town. I watch numerous families apply and not get accepted because their children to meet our requirements they need accommodations or their reading level was too low. Or their parents credit score wasn't high enough. I watched twins kicked out of the school because they weren't potty trained. However, whenever they wet their pants they were sent home so they decided to what their pants every day so they would get sent home every day till they were finally kicked out and all of their parents money kept I watched Our school principal hide all of the details of hiring a child molester. There was no transparency. She still fighting the fact that she didn't turn him in and follow state law. Because she wasn't even an educator. She hadn't majored in education or studied it later in life. I left that private school because there was no information. There were no rules. They did what they wanted. They accepted who they wanted. They charge what they wanted. Certain people got certain privileges. I returned part time to public schools. I spent 32 years taking care of whatever kid came in my room, whether they spoke English or not, and I speak French, which is just useless in Texas. I took kids who were autistic, special ed, 504, or simply dealing with things that most lawmakers have never dreamed of. I've taught classes where there were more kids with special needs than there were regular students in my classroom and yet I met roughly 20 IEP's to help every kid become successful. You aren't gonna make schools more competitive. You're gonna take the privileged and reward them, and you're gonna continue to take and take and take from your public school teachers and students. I don't know why you're thinking of this. I don't know why you wanna punish public schools and students to support the few wealthy they go to those other schools you're not even going to hold them to this same standards. Most of them take achievement tests, which are a joke when compared to studying author's craft and graphing parabolas in high school math? My two years spent at a private school showed teachers that were paid next to nothing. They couldn't even get a home loan because their teachers were paid so little. Teachers without degrees or teaching programs. Please look at the even greater more expensive inequitable system you are creating before no person will go into education because you have criticized the valiant job your public school teachers have been providing for years even though you don't provide enough funding for it.

Monica Briones, Mrs.

Self/teacher

San Antonio, TX

I am a special education teacher employed at NISD. I have dedicated 12 years of my life working at Title 1 schools and have seen the daily challenges that students less fortunate face. The fact that I am also part of the community and live in the area make this initiative that Abbot is pushing extremely infuriating. My husband and I are home owners and the fact that he thinks it's ok for our taxes to go to wealthy families to help pay for their choice of sending their already wealthy kids to private school is a slap in the face to the middle class. My sons are full grown adult men and I absolutely disapprove of my tax dollars going to people who don't need these funds. He has held up funding for public schools for the past 5 years and now he wants to further erode our public education system by sending our tax payer dollars to wealthy families is one of the most stupidest things that POS has done since he's been in office. That ass that does NOT CARE about anyone unless you are a wealthy donor that has you in their pockets. I am so disgusted by him and those that align with his values. His fake religion is on par with the fake preachings he gives about God and Jesus. What a bunch of fake ass hypocrites he and all the POS republicans are.

Barbara Kubiak, Teacher
Texas AFT and all teachers in Texas
Houston, TX

Why are we trying to ruin education for our state. Many students that I teach could not afford to go to private school even with a voucher. I have had students transfer to our school from private schools that are behind and we have to work hard to catch them back up to where our students are. This is only going to benefit the rich. Our state needs to consider the amazing students that are poor and will do way more in the future than the rich kids that are handed everything. Please stop trying to bankrupt or school system.

Jeffrey Rodriguez
self
Fort Worth, TX

PLEASE VOTE NO ON SCHOOL VOUCHERS!

Liz Williams
Wylie ISD PTA
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Rachel Alle
Wylie ISD Council of PTAs
Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3. Why would we funnel public funds to private schools before we fund public schools? Most areas in Texas do not have access to private schools. Texas state Legislature makes public schools jump through hoops just to get the funding they are already owed. Public schools have to prove attendance in order to receive funding instead of basing it off of enrollment and you require public schools to take the STAAR test for funding as well. But you are willing to hand over money to private school children, not track their attendance and not require them to take standardized testing. How does that make sense? Why are you holding public school money hostage, so you can get this voucher scam passed. I personally know multiple multi-millionaires in the Tulsa, Oklahoma area that now use the voucher system, because why-not, it's available. They take $10,000 per private school kid in a state that is already ranked 50th in public school education. How is that not a scam? Why do you really want Texas to follow suit?

Simi sandhu
Self
Murphy, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS' & "NO TO HB3

Cynthia Paslay
Self
Arlington, TX

I am opposed to using public tax dollars to support private schools. These resources need to be dedicated to improving our public schools and providing high quality educational opportunities to all Texans. The quality education of all Texas children is imperative to the future economic well being of the state.

Samantha Rupp
Self - case manager
Katy, TX

As a Texas mom, I am deeply concerned about HB-3 and its attempt to funnel public tax dollars into private school vouchers. My child, like millions of others across our state, depends on a strong public education system—one that should be fully funded, not systematically undermined.

A voucher program does not “expand choices” for families like mine. It drains critical funding from our already underfunded public schools, leaving the vast majority of Texas children with fewer resources, larger class sizes, and less support. Vouchers benefit private schools that are not held to the same standards, do not have to accept all students, and are not accountable to taxpayers. Public dollars should remain in public schools, serving all children—not subsidizing private institutions that can discriminate based on income, ability, or background.

Public schools are the backbone of our communities, providing not just education but meals, special education services, and essential programs that support children from all walks of life. If lawmakers truly want to improve education in Texas, they should focus on fully funding our public schools, increasing teacher pay, and providing the resources students need to thrive—not diverting funds to a program that primarily benefits wealthy families and special interests.

I urge Texas legislators to reject HB-3 and any effort to implement a school voucher system. Parents like me are counting on them to protect public education—not dismantle it.

suzanne mabe
Self, Retired Medical Technologist
Fort Worth, TX

I strongly oppose using tax money to provide vouchers for private schools. I want my tax money to support public schools and Texas students

Vanessa Munoz
Self
San Antonio, TX

I disagree with vouchers because there are no protections against discrimination at private schools and private schools are not available to many of Texas’ rural areas. I believe by implementing these vouchers, money for public schools will be limited and funding for accommodations will as well. The vouchers only benefit wealthy who can already pay for private schools. Public school funding is vital to education in our state.

Amanda Sneed
Self - Pharmacist - Business Owner
Arlington, TX

Please know that I, as a voter and a parent of a HS aged student who attends public school, am absolutely against the school voucher program. This program would ravage our Public School system leaving marginalized and even middle class students without access to adequate education. It is clear that this bill and the voucher program are a blatant attempt to have tax payer dollars given to wealthy families whose children already attend private schools. The amount of the voucher will not be enough for the average family to send a student to a private institution. Additionally, most rural communities don't even have private schools to attend. So, in short, I am against this bill.

Suzette Wooden-Buswell
Self
Weatherford, TX

I am Against school vouchers. It does not benefit all students. It limits the resources of the public school system.

Claire Barnett
Self
San Antonio, TX

As a parent of children in Texas public schools, I strongly urge members to vote against this bill. Families have ample choice within our current public school system and the choice to spend our own funds for private education. Using tax payer dollars for private schools will undermine the financing of our public system by diverting public moneys to private institutions that have no requirements to meet the same accountability standards or to equitably serve our communities.

Rodney Fausett
Former School Superintendent
Round Rock, TX

No! It does not benefit students of Texas

Paulina Clendennen, Dr
RRISD Spicewood PTA board member
Austin, TX

I'll skip introductions and niceties. This bill is theft. We are robbing the children in Texas of their right to a good public school education. Vouchers for $10,000 do not help a rural student with no private school near them. Vouchers do not help the struggling families everywhere who cannot afford private school. I acknowledge the voucher program can help some middle class families get enough supplemental funds to send their children to private school. But more than anyone, this bill helps the already affluent families. They already send their children to private schools. They will just have a coupon now. Help the families that really need it. Help the students that the Texas education system already proudly serves. Make the right choice. Vote against vouchers.

Brandi Cantarel, PhD

self

Richardson, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB 3, which I believe will divert my tax dollars to fund private schools. As a Texas taxpayer, I expect public funds to support public schools—institutions that are held to clear standards of accountability and accessibility.

Private schools do not have the same regulations as public schools in key areas, including:

1) Curriculum and Educational Standards

* Public schools in Texas must follow the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) curriculum, ensuring statewide consistency and accountability.

* Private schools are not required to follow TEKS or any state-mandated curriculum. They have full autonomy over what they teach, which can lead to disparities in educational quality and content coverage.

Source: Texas Education Agency (TEA) – TEKS Curriculum Standards

2) Services for Children with Physical and Mental Disabilities

* Under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), public schools must provide free and appropriate education (FAPE), including individualized education programs (IEPs), special education services, and accommodations for students with disabilities.

* Private schools are not required to provide the same level of services. If they accept students with disabilities, they may offer limited support, but they are not legally obligated to provide IEPs or specialized instruction.

* Many private schools can deny admission to students with disabilities if they decide they cannot meet their needs, whereas public schools must serve all students.

Source: U.S. Department of Education – IDEA Regulations; Texas Education Agency (TEA)

3) Testing and Accountability

* Texas public schools must administer the State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness (STAAR), ensuring students meet state educational standards.

* Private schools do not have to administer STAAR or any equivalent standardized test, making it difficult to measure student performance across private and public schools.

* This lack of accountability means private schools receiving public funds may not demonstrate the same level of academic progress as public schools.

Source: Texas Education Agency – STAAR Testing Requirements

Why This Matters for HB 3

If private schools receive public funding but are not subject to the same standards, taxpayers would be funding schools that:?
Have no obligation to follow the state curriculum? - Are not required to serve all students, particularly those with disabilities? -
Do not have to participate in state testing or accountability measures

This creates an unequal system where public funds support schools that do not have the same responsibilities as public institutions.

If tax dollars are being used for education, they should support schools that serve all Texas students equitably. I urge you to oppose HB 3 and ensure that public funds remain dedicated to strengthening our public schools.

Laura England

Self

Dallas, TX

Respectfully, I oppose HB 3 as written. I feel that public funds used for private schools goes against traditional conservative principles. This appears to be a redistribution of wealth and not a means of supporting all families. Texas already has school choice. The solution is to fully fund public schools!! Thank you!

Rachel Schnitzius self / Interior Designer
Farmers Branch, TX

I strongly oppose any voucher/education savings accounts and implore the House to fully fund our public schools. The children and families in our great state deserve better than the treatment we have received at the hands of the governor and his supporters on this matter. Your constituents are watching and our children, the future voters of this state, are watching. If public schools in Texas crumble, the governor's plan to lure in companies from California will die along with it. Great public schools will always be a selling point for corporate relocations and right now this mess is a detriment to that effort.

Lori Peska
Brinker Elementary
Plano, TX

Please stand with Texas families, not special interests. We are not in favor of ESAs or Vouchers.

Joe Parker
Self Retired
Jacksonville, TX

Vote No on private school vouchers

Jennifer Wagner
self
Fort Worth, TX

I stand in opposition to HB 3 and ask my Texas representatives to take action to prevent it from becoming law based on expert testimony and the fiscal note in HB 3 showing that it will hurt Texas public schools. I am a proud registered nurse and Master of Science who was educated in Texas public schools. I'm raising 3 children who are currently educated at Texas public schools. I'm active in the PTAs and am an on campus volunteer. My children will be able to thrive in almost any educational environment, but our representatives must ensure sound funding for PUBLIC SCHOOLS so that children without the benefit of engaged, involved parents can also thrive. As a FWISD parent and Texas citizen, I reject HB 3.

Heather Barron
self
Texarkana, TX

Vote no for school vouchers! School vouchers are not the answer to a system YOU have broken. Too many state tests and too many teachers having to teach to the tests are the problem. Defunding public schools by sending money to private schools will only shift where the money goes, not solve the problem. People already have a CHOICE on where to send their kids to school when they choose the location of their home. Let's consider low income families who must choose homes in lower income neighborhoods, will the private schools have buses that will pick them up? Will the private schools feed them breakfast and lunch? Will the private school take them home? In my area, private school do none of that. In my area, most schools are open enrollment anyway, therefore allowing parents to choose. Increase teacher pay, increase funding for public schools, and reduce the emphasis on standardized tests and you WILL see improvements.

Cindy Howes
self retired
Gary, TX

The money for the child should be the money that the state would spend in the public school. All that money goes to where ever the child is being educated. This should not cost the taxpayer any more money. Use what the state already has earmark for the child.

cassandra posey

self

waller, TX

In favor of HB3

Debra Lewis, MSgt

Self

Lewisville, TX

I am not in support of this bill. I would like to see my tax dollars remaining where there is accountability and funding to public schools should be increased for all students. There is no oversight for private schools and the funding should not be higher for those students. The parents made that choice I should not have to pay for their choice to home school or send their kid to a higher private institution!

Trina Dorrah

Texas PTA

Round Rock, TX

Please invest in public education. Kids who graduate from public education are essential for our future. We need it to be as strong as possible. Even with vouchers, most people who aren't already wealthy can't afford the price of private schools. Take the money and invest in public education. If people can afford private school, they are in the 1% so paying all of the cost of a private education is easier for them. Keep all state money in public schools.

Erin Johnson

Self/My Kids/My School District/Future of Texas Schools/etc

Frisco, TX

Please vote AGAINST this bill!!!

Michael Reince

Self property management

Fort WORTH, TX

I support

Dawn Abbott

Parents

Allen, TX

Don't refund our schools!

Christopher Coates

self

Fort Worth, TX

I urge you to support House Bill 3. House Bill 3 is a critical step toward expanding educational opportunity for Texas families. By establishing Education Savings Accounts (ESAs), HB 3 empowers parents to choose the best learning environment for their children, whether that be a private school, homeschooling, or other tailored educational solutions. With declining student achievement and growing concerns over one-size-fits-all education, this bill offers a lifeline to families seeking better outcomes. Texas students deserve access to an education that meets their unique needs, and HB 3 ensures that funding follows the child, not the system. It's time to put students first and pass HB 3.

Jana Heady
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and it will hurt Texas public schools. I strongly believe that every child in our state has the right to a high quality education, which can only happen when there is appropriate funding for public schools. This bill will directly result in less funding to public schools, which will decrease the quality of education for many students. Education is a public good, and should be viewed and funded as such.

sara marshall Set
Colleyville, TX

KEEP FUNDING IN OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. No vluchersnm

Praveenkumar Bhaviriseti
Self , software engineer
Austin, TX

Texas public schools are under attack and I am deeply concerned about the future of our students and educators. Instead of diverting funds away from schools , we need prioritize investments in education , teacher pay , and student resources . I urge you to support policies that fully public education, respect and retain our educators and ensure every child has access to education . Please stand firm this .

Courtney Parker-Ignagni self - elementary school principal
Rowlett, TX

As an elementary school principal in Forney ISD, I am deeply concerned about the devastating impact HB 3's proposed voucher program will have on our schools, students, and community. Public schools like mine are already stretching every penny to provide quality education, yet this legislation threatens to divert $6,968,887 from Forney ISD alone. That's the equivalent of losing 130 teachers, pushing class sizes higher, and raising the student-teacher ratio by 7.25%. At a time when our students need more individualized support, not less, this loss would be catastrophic.

The financial burden of vouchers is staggering. By 2030, the program's cost is expected to balloon to $4 billion—money that Texas simply cannot afford to gamble when public schools remain underfunded. Texas already ranks in the bottom 10 in per-student funding, yet instead of strengthening the schools that educate 5.5 million students, HB 3 threatens to siphon resources away to subsidize private education for a select few.

In my own school, we've worked tirelessly to provide innovative, engaging learning experiences despite financial constraints. We've prioritized hiring interventionists to support struggling students, providing mental health resources, and maintaining extracurricular programs that keep students engaged. But with the funding cuts from vouchers, we would face impossible choices: Do we eliminate crucial support staff? Cut enrichment programs? Increase class sizes to levels that diminish learning?

Public schools serve all students—regardless of ability, income, or background. Vouchers, however, prioritize a select few while leaving the majority of students in underfunded schools with fewer resources and opportunities. Private schools are not held to the same accountability standards, meaning taxpayer dollars could fund institutions that do not have to meet state curriculum standards, provide services for students with disabilities, or even accept all students.

The development of a costly voucher program will not create better educational outcomes; it will only exacerbate inequity, inefficiency, and waste. Our public schools are the backbone of our community, and they deserve investment, not divestment. I urge you to reject HB 3 and focus on strengthening public education for all Texas students now and in years to come.

Erika Medrano
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools

Monica Muñoz
PTA-Parent
Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS! It's a detriment to our children and families!!!

Abigail Johnson
Self
Wylie, TX
No school vouchers

Melverta Gumper
Self
Georgetown, TX

I am a native Texan and taught in the Texas Public Schools for 26 years. All three of my children were also educated in Texas. I am against HB3.

Ashanti Davis
Self/ military
San Antonio, TX

How does this affect those families struggling to keep up with school fees, meals, and program fees that do not qualify for state assistance? Also, will this include more cultural difference awareness programs. We have been here going on two years and teachers and administrators have demonstrated racist actions, allowed bullying, and often take harsher actions out on African American students than causation and for Spanish descent. Lastly, who will be eligible to apply for program and who will determine what happens to funding? After attending plenty of PTA meetings and seeing the HOA fees increase with school being in the neighborhood, I've noticed plenty of misuse of funds.

Christopher Nichols
Self
Highland Village, TX

Texas House Bill 3 (HB 3) is a direct attack on public education, disguised as “school choice.” It diverts taxpayer money from public schools to private institutions that lack public accountability, can discriminate, and do not meet the same standards as public schools. This violates the Texas Constitution’s mandate to provide a free, public education for all children.

Proponents claim Texas can afford HB 3 due to a budget surplus, but this is shortsighted. The state is also pushing teacher pay raises and property tax reductions, all of which rely on temporary funds. Economic downturns or declining oil revenues could erase the surplus, forcing cuts to public school funding, teacher pay, or tax hikes to sustain the voucher program. Once public money is committed, it is difficult to reverse without harming schools.

Other states show the risks. Arizona’s voucher expansion cost taxpayers hundreds of millions more than expected. Florida and Wisconsin saw ballooning expenses that benefited wealthier families while draining public school resources. If Texas follows suit, the result will be underfunded public schools, larger class sizes, and fewer resources for students who rely on them most.

HB 3 will not help the majority of Texas students. Vouchers disproportionately benefit families already in private schools. In Ohio, 88% of voucher users never attended public school. In Florida, most were already enrolled in private education. Vouchers do not create opportunities for most students—they subsidize private tuition for families who can already afford it.

Texans have rejected vouchers before. Proposition 2 in 1997, which sought to use public funds for private tuition, was overwhelmingly voted down. More recent efforts have failed due to bipartisan opposition, particularly from rural Republicans who understand that taking money from public schools will devastate their communities.

Yet HB 3 is being pushed through, fueled by out-of-state billionaires like Jeff Yass and Texas billionaires Tim Dunn and Farris Wilks. These donors have spent millions to unseat GOP legislators who opposed vouchers, proving this is a scheme driven by big money, not public demand.

If HB 3 is such a great idea, why not let Texans vote on it? This bill effectively amends Article VII of the Texas Constitution, which guarantees public education. The fact that its supporters are avoiding a direct vote shows they know Texans would reject it again.

HB 3 is reckless, fiscally unsound, and deeply unpopular. It undermines public schools while benefiting a privileged few. Lawmakers must reject this bill and defend Texas students, teachers, and communities. Public funds should support public education—period.

Gabriela Neale
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Gwen Ratheal
Self - special education teacher
Stamford, TX

I do NOT support this bill and I haven’t talked to a single person that does!!!

Juanita Frambach
Self
Azle, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Benjamin Utter

self, buyer

Keller, TX

I am in opposition to HB3 by Buckley. I do not support educational savings programs or vouchers. I will vote out any representatives who support this.

Patricia Baust

Self

Northlake, TX

I am against the bill for school vouchers. It's welfare for the wealthy. Fund local public schools now!

Kate More

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I oppose HB 3

Jason Kallansrud

self, IT specialist

San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't be used for private schools, especially without accountability.

Gabriela Neale

Self

Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Kelly Tortorich

Self - Parent and Independent Contractor

Murphy, TX

We already have school choice, this bill will not aid in that, it will hurt our public school systems that are already in need of more support. If you want to save money, you should remove the STAAR testing and reevaluate the insane amount of testing that our children are subjected to on multiple levels and figure out a way to utilize more efficient testing methods that allow for less time spent testing and more time on actual education. It has been repeatedly proven, in part because of the ridiculous pressure that STAAR puts on them to make the grade so that the adults keep their jobs and the schools maintain their funding, that these tests are not accurate evaluations of how well a child is doing or how they are actually performing in the classroom.

I do not support this bill or STAAR testing, both need to go ASAP!!!

Misti Sanders

Self

Mabank, TX

I have been a public school educator for 22 years. Twenty one of those years have been in high poverty areas that deal with drugs, violence, etc. These are the students that our government leaders are fixing to steal from and these are the students that and parents that don't know to fight. Our school is already running at a 1.3 million dollar deficit budget this year because the state has refused to give the students what they need. Please, for the ones that can't fight for themselves, vote against this bill and put more money in the public schools. Not only will this have an immediate impact, but it will have a great impact in the future when these students become your workforce. Thank you for your time.

Sharon Noack

Self

Boerne, TX

Please fully fund our public schools by raising the per student allotment by $1500. Please say no to HB3 to help prevent more than $4 million amount of funding loss to my district (using the don't defund number) because it will mean the loss of 83 jobs (again provided by the don't defund website). These job losses translate into lost opportunities for students because class sizes will balloon and there will be less programs to support our students which are the key to Texas's economic future.

Melinda Payne

Retired Educator

Kilgore, TX

Totally against this bill. We have school Choice in Texas- homeschool, private and public. Teachers will lose jobs in public schools, private schools do not pay the same rate. Not to mention trs retirement will be impacted by this bill. What about sped students? Are private schools really going to accept all students? They will not. Also I am worried about pop up schools as vendors under the unregulated private schools. Just so many issues and a big NO to SB3

karen Ward, Ms

Teachers

Katy, TX

No Vouchers

Pamela Scates

self Chief Appraiser

Canadian, TX

I oppose HB 3 and fully & adequately fund public education.

Lisa Ziehe

Self, Budgets and Grants Specialist

Benbrook, TX

Vouchers are a scam. Here's what they tell you: it's about parental choice. That's a lie. Private schools, on average, cost over $10,000 annually. Add the cost of books, uniforms, school lunch, fundraisers, gas or other transportation costs and you're looking at closer to $15,000. Per year. Families who can afford this already send their kids to private school. All this will do is give them a rebate. This will not help families who cannot afford private school.

Do you really think private schools are excited about welcoming our children, or do you think they'll simply raise tuition to keep them out while also cashing your voucher?

Leaving aside all the benefits of public school versus private, for now, did you know that in Texas, homeschooling counts as a private school? When you realize that, it all becomes crystal clear, doesn't it?

Proponents of vouchers aren't pro-private school, they're anti-school in general. They support homeschooling as a way to contravene the foundational ethics and morals learned in a public school - lessons about interdependence, the value of all of our freedoms, and the shared experiences that build empathy with and for people whose lives are very different from our own. Homeschooling is not the enemy here, but it is the reason that vouchers are being proposed - to siphon money OUT of public schools and into the hands of individuals, who will not turn around and enroll their children in private schools, contrary to what they're telling us. The facts on the ground reveal that statement as a lie: there aren't enough private schools for all the children who will ostensibly take advantage of these vouchers.

Don't be fooled - destroying public education is the goal here, and vouchers are simply a tool in service of that goal, which serves the ultimate goal - weakening and destroying the fabric of our democracy. Public education is worth protecting. Public funds belong in public schools.

Macy Lane

self-writer (former public school educator)

Livingston, TX

I STRONGLY oppose vouchers for Texas public school students. I support funding public education for ALL, supporting teachers through pay raises, and providing equitable education for every family in Texas. NO TO VOUCHERS.

Elizabeth Schenkel

self, engineer and mother

Houston, TX

I, on behalf of myself and my children, am strongly opposed to HB 3. I believe that the school voucher program will negatively impact public schools in Texas and disproportionately negatively impact low-income and marginalized students. Public schools are the foundation for our society. When public schools are properly funded and performing well, our society as a whole benefits. I grew up in New Orleans and have seen first hand how removing funding from public schools causes permanent damage to the community. I am proud to live in Houston, and I love our neighborhood schools. I want to see our public schools appropriately funded for both my kids and the community's kids.

Susan Wright
Self/Social Worker
Fort Worth, TX

Greetings Esteemed Representatives,

As a social worker who has a deep understanding of what is necessary for the emotional, psychological, and physical development of successful, focused, hardworking, and well-educated citizens, I care deeply about this issue and ensuring that these resources are fully available to all Texas children--not just those whose parents can access private education. Proper development can only come with basic necessities and enrichment opportunities being provided. These opportunities cost money and the public education system in Texas is the most logical and appropriate place for those funds--not education savings accounts.

To begin, I am concerned that proposed amounts of funds to be directed into these ESAs will not help low or even middle-income parents choose private schools. Growing up as part of the middle class, my parents (with three children) would still have been under severe financial strain and potentially even debt for this "freedom" of school choice, which does not honor my father's dedication as a civil engineer in the FW water department or my mother's work in the public education system herself. If lower or middle-income families in Texas decide, rightfully, that it is not worth it to use those limited funds, what will happen to that money? Will it just sit untouched when it could be benefitting our state in another way? If we are truly concerned about the efficient use of funds, that alone is a reason to be highly suspect of these education savings accounts.

Private schools are valuable because they meet a need for the families that pursue them, but it is one thing to appreciate their existence and another thing entirely for me--as a constituent--to be funding them with money meant for public schools. Additionally, knowing that private schools are not regulated or held to the same standards of transparency in their use of funds, it concerns me that these state funds could be used without concern for efficiency or providing a truly good education. Also, for those students in rural areas where there are no private school "choices" to speak of, what use are these educational savings accounts? These children should not be punished and deprived of quality education because of where they were born. As a state who has gained so much from what is produced and extracted from rural areas, it would be a disservice to not take care of those who live there and weaken their access to quality public educational resources--let alone private ones.

It is my most fervent hope that I can count on those in the Texas legislature to oppose this bill on behalf of the hard working lower and middle class families which populate this state. Texans already have the choice between private school education and public school education. There is no need for these separately designated funds and they will be more harmful than helpful!

Maren Phillips
Self
Universal City, TX

NO for school vouchers

David Bernard, Mr.
Self
Boerne, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded. Public funds shouldn't go to private schools especially without sufficient oversight or accountability, and without ensuring that special needs children will have sufficient resources to facilitate their growth as well.

Ava Wehner
PTA, Wylie ISD
Wylie, TX

OPPOSE VOUCHERS, ESAs

Jannie Eggleston, Dr.

Self/educator

Austin, TX

Vouchers could overwhelm non-public/charter schools. Also, non-public/charter schools have choice too. Is that changing? What happens when a student uses a voucher and is later dismissed to their local public school? Does funding follow the student?

Susie Fowler

Self/artist

Spicewood, TX

Public education must be fully funded. Private education can and should be funded by those who use these wealthy schools. Public school must be provided for all who are big school age.

Kim Zeman

Self

Amarillo, TX

I am writing to register my strong opposition to HB3. It is just incomprehensible to me that a party that purports to be fiscally conservative could support a bill which could potentially explode the state budget. Other states which have gone down this road have found voucher programs to be a massive boondoggle. Additionally, how on earth can you justify taking public funds and giving them to private schools without the oversight required of public schools? This proposal would be especially devastating for rural schools, where there are few private school options. All you are doing is draining funds from the already unconstitutionally underfunded public school system. I urge all members of the Legislature to vote no on any sort of voucher or "educational savings account" schemes.

Beverly Beauchamp

Self

McKinney, TX

I oppose vouchers. I want my tax dollars going to public schools.

Sheri Reiter, Mrs

Self

El Paso, TX

I am a public school Speech Pathologist. By this legislature establishing this so called education savings account program, you are stealing monies that should be going to public schools and NOT a voucher scheme for all the your wealthy donors and families. By creating this program, you will deny most children access to an education because of poor funding. As is, we are working as hard as we can with little money. The reason that we are 49th in education is sitting in his wheelchair. By denying public schools a decent allotment of money, you are part of the reason that we are struggling. Together with the fact that this government does absolutely nothing to combat gun violence, poverty, or abuse does not bode well for Texas. It is time to put your boots on and say NO to these crazy vouchers, fund public schools appropriately and work on the real reasons that children are not reading or able to perform math calculations. Please listen to what I am saying! Do not be fooled by these grandiose vouchers.

Maritza Neutze

Hidalgo County WIC

Edinburg, TX

School choice bill please approve it.

HOLLY Ashby

Self

Arlington, TX

Please do not take mo ey from our public schools. Every penny is needed for the children that attend public schools!!

Adriana Blessing
Bulverde Creek Elementary PTA
San Antonio, TX

An education savings account program will not help or public schools. You represent the public, so please put public schools first and vote against education savings accounts and voucher programs.

Norma Hackler
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose the school voucher bill. I am a Senior citizen who pay taxes. I only want my taxes going to public education per the Texas constitution. Students in rural areas will be left behind. There are no regulations on private schools compared to public schools. If a parent chooses private schools, that is their business and their monetary responsibility. NO to the school voucher program.

Allison Grider
Self
Houston, TX

I do not support this bill- public tax dollars should not be spent on private education. Use public tax payer dollars to fund public education and the nearly 6 million children who are in the public school system. To support this bill is to destroy the future of this state and the future of millions of students' education.

Katie Smith
Self
Lubbock, TX

Please vote no on school vouchers and education savings accounts. The Texas state government should prioritize increasing funding for our public schools and educators over their financial dependence on their campaign donors. Our children deserve representation that has their best interest at heart, not Tim Dunn's, Farris Wilks', or Jeff Yass' culture war games.

Be better.

Leigh Henry, Mrs
Texas PTA
San Antonio, TX

I'm a parent and a longtime PTA member with 2 children - 1 who graduated from public school in May 2024 and 1 still in high school. I believe our public schools need more funding and HB3 does not do that. I oppose HB3 and believe our tax dollars should go towards public education and not to private schools. This bill does not support all the children in Texas. Many low income families or those in rural areas will not benefit from ESAs. Also, private schools are not held to the same standards and accountability as our public schools. If they receive public funding they need accept anyone, have TEKS and the same end of course testing as our public schools.

Jade Blakey
Self/Teacher
Sugar Land, TX

I am against HB3. Public schools are held to accountability standards where private schools are not. It is not logical to send our tax dollars to unaccountable entities. Also, the states who have used this model are hemorrhaging money. It is not a fiscally responsible choice. Texas is the best state in the nation. It deserves to have a robustly supported public school system so all Texans have access to excellent education. We should not rest until every public school is well staffed, well funded, and well resourced. I have experienced staff and budget cuts for the last 5 years. Let's say no to ESA and move to better fund the excellent public schools we have!

Laura Thorp

Self

Plano, TX

I opposed HB 3. Please protect funding for public education in Texas.

Cathy Hooper

Self

Henderson, TX

I am opposed to HB3. I have noticed my representatives of this fact as well. Our public schools are not perfect, but taking away students with concerned parents, and funding by the state will not fix the issues. I feel strongly that my tax funds should fund public schools and not private. If private schools take state funds they need to take every child who wants in, pass the same standards, etc... which would essentially make them public schools. So what is the point? I strongly suspect someone is going to make some money off this deal. Why else would rich investors from other states back candidates in support of this. In my experience 98 percent of the people I know are opposed to this.

Sabrina Montelongo, Mrs

Self-retired teacher, taxpayer

Angleton, TX

As a taxpayer and a retired teacher I would like to express that I am against HB 3 - voucher program. In my community there is only one private school. We live in a community that is a 5A school district. The private school would definitely be limited on how many students it can take. How do you know they will choose the lower income students? They can pick and choose the students that they want to take. How will the special education students be served. They do not provide transportation or offer free lunch. They are also required to wear uniforms. How will these parents make up for these extra costs? As a taxpayer I do not feel it is right for you to take money away from the public school. When I pay my taxes it says the money goes to AISD. That is where I expect it to go. To provide for those teachers and those classrooms. To help with programs like theater, choir, sports and other programs. I am fine with parents having a choice but I am not fine with taxpayers paying for it. These people choosing private school know that is going to cost them a certain amount to keep them out of public school. As for the lower income they are offered scholarships and grants. I know this because we were offered one for my son. But because I worked for our local district how could I send my son to private school. He received a great education, including the chance to compete in UIL with other students in our theater program.

The parents can already choose and they are already paying. Who will this program help? I know not the poor because they won't be able to afford the extras and who knows their student might not get accepted, the help they need or get kicked out. Then where does that money go?

Vote no on school vouchers or let us vote!

Jammie Horton, Mrs

Self - Public school teacher

Springtown, TX

Vote NO to vouchers PLEASE

Gerardo S Galvan
China Spring ISD trustee
China Spring, TX

As a school board trustee for a Texas public school, I am appalled that our legislators are still considering passing vouchers (ESA). Mountains of research* regarding vouchers in other states show it's NOT the solution we need in Texas. What we need is for legislators to get off their high horses and fund public schools properly.

As a Republican, I am embarrassed by my representatives and governor. You should all be ashamed of yourselves for not listening to the public, who's resoundingly opposed to this legislation. For not listening to school districts, who are begging for funding help since we have not had a basic allotment increase since 2019....but the cost of everything has gone up, and for not listening to parents; parents of public school students as well as parents of both private school and homeschool students, who are overwhelmingly opposed to this bill.

To quote one of your testifies yesterday, "This bill is a skunk we're trying to pass off as a kitty cat." Please, for the sake of ALL children in Texas, do not pass this skunk of a bill, or any other voucher or ESA bill, and PLEASE fund public schools appropriately. Put an end to the madness of the governor holding public schools hostage because he hasn't succeeded in getting what he wants in a voucher bill. Show teachers, parents, and school districts across the state that you want Texas to be amongst the very best education systems in the country by funding public schools properly, saying no to vouchers this session.

Research and articles addressing the many issues voucher programs are fraught with in other states:

<https://www.nea.org/nea-today/all-news-articles/no-accountability-vouchers-wreak-havoc-states>

https://time.com/6272666/school-voucher-programs-hurt-students/#

* https://papers.ssrn.com/sol3/papers.cfm?abstract_id=3376234

Lundy C Atkins
Self
Gonzales, TX

I am against vouchers. Public money should not go to private schools. Vote no!

Brandi Garrett-Grimsley
Self
Arlington, TX

Parents in Texas already have school choice. Parents can already send their children to private schools. We as Texans give parents choices, however we do not want to subsidize someone's choice. Private schools can reject students and do not follow the same standards as public schools. Either Private schools should have to meet the same standards as public school, or all standards at public schools should be removed to make these 2 systems comparable. Giving tax dollars to subsidized private school for 100,000 students seems ridiculous for a state with over 5 million students enrolled in public schools. Local tax money pays for public schools, do not force Texas Tax payers to subsidize private schools.

Please vote no no HB 3 .

Kathryn Dodd

self (parent) / occupation - construction

Northlake, TX

Hello,

Thank you for taking my letter. I am a parent of two daughters who attend public school. The closest private school to me is Liberty Christian in Argyle TX. I have friends who CHOOSE to send their children to that school. They pay approximately $28,000 a year for high school for each child. The voucher would give me a $10,000 discount. If I took my voucher to that school, I would pay $18,000 a year for four years. That is a total of $72,000 for a high school education. I have three children making it a total of $216,000 (for high school only). My children are in fifth grade, first grade and pre-k. I won't worry about doing the math if I wanted to make that switch before high school because I already know it isn't an option for my family. Next year, my oldest will move to middle school about twenty minutes away and I will have to rely on the bus system to get my child to and from school. Liberty Christian does not have a bus ride to offer (I don't know of a private school that does). Although this voucher plan has a gimmick of helping special education and low-income students - it does not. These vouchers will only help wealthy families that can already afford to attend private schools. If you truly wanted the vouchers to go to low- and middle-class families you could put a cap on income allowed to use them to prevent taxpayers' money to benefit the wealthy (but that has not been done).

I would like you to know that both my daughters are in the GT program at their school. Last week Northwest ISD announced budget cuts which will include cuts to the GT program. It will also increase class size for Elementary – High Schools. You are holding public school funding for ransom to pass a voucher bill and that is shameful. I love my children's school. I love the teachers who support my children. I am asking you to vote no on HB3. I am asking you to fully fund public education. Thank you for your time,

Bennett Cunningham

Self

Cibolo, TX

I am a current 7th grade public school student. I am against the voucher program for many reasons, but most of all because it hurts students, doesn't fix the issues in public schools, and will be another tax burden on us as we get older. Please vote no.

Aisha Stewart

Self

Humble, TX

School choice has always existed. We have been told for decades in Texas that if we want better for our children, we need to pull ourselves up by our bootstraps and give them better. Now you want to essentially gift money to those who already decided that public schools were beneath them. Further, you have attempted to starve public schools by freezing the BAS at 2019 rates while collecting property and sales taxes on goods, services and personal property that have skyrocketed in price. All of the access has gone to wooing mega corps, while intentionally starving and punishing areas that disagree with you ideologically.

If you cared so much about students and education, why not put that money towards making more services available? You have moved the goalpost repeatedly on STAAR while withholding where said goalpost is. Public education has to tap dance even though it knows it's fighting a losing battle. The outcome has been predetermined. And to say high performing students will qualify for funding, but underachieving students need to stay in the same environment is crazy. Perhaps they are the students who need access to the smaller class sizes and unorthodox teaching allowed for private education institutions most. But the intent is to increase the divide between the haves and the have-nots. If only this much effort was put into developing better outcomes for public education, Texas would be far better off.

Monica DeLeom

Uvalde

Uvalde, TX

McLaughlin, please represent the majority of your constituents in voting no to the education savings account. Take Uvalde's best interest at heart and spend time on supporting and funding our school district than dedicating your position to anything Abbot requests. You are a strong candidate who has dedicated your time to support Uvalde county and I believe you can do right by our district and our children. Our district is in dire need of funding so that we can be well rounded. Choosing to place money into private education rather than public education serves the rich and private school employees. Our public dollars cannot be filtered into private education regardless of anyone's explanation that is does otherwise. Imagine the support you would have to standing up for what is right.

Janine Henry

Self

Fort Worth, TX

My husband and I DO NOT support this bill. We support funding public schools and not using tax payer money for private schools. As a public school teacher and a parent of children who attend public schools, we need to focus on adequately funding (raising the funds allocated per child) to public schools and not provide money to private schools.

Also, it is insulting to want to provide more money per student ($10000) for private schools than what is currently provided (just over $6000) to public schools (if a child attends everyday - because kids never get sick).

melanie allen

self

Austin, TX

I'm writing to express my opposition to public school vouchers. It's absolutely disgusting to think that any public school funding could be reallocated to help pay for private or home education. Taking money from schools that are already struggling and giving it to those who are ALREADY wealthy and PRIVILEGED enough to attend private schools or be home schooled. Sickening to think of how negatively this will impact already drastically underfunded public schools, which are the majority of schools in this state. Do not pass this bill.

Kristen Ashlock
Self, Educator
Cedar Park, TX

As a dedicated public school teacher in Texas, I am writing to urge you to vote NO on House Bill 3. This bill, while claiming to offer solutions to improve education, does not provide the adequate funding and resources that Texas public schools desperately need.

As an educator who sees firsthand the struggles our students face due to chronic underfunding, I can confidently say that House Bill 3 is a step in the wrong direction for our state's education system. Our public schools are already stretched thin, and many districts are unable to meet the growing needs of their students. The reality is that many schools do not have the resources to provide the quality education our students deserve.

The funding disparities between school districts, especially in low-income and rural areas, are alarming. These disparities impact the quality of education students receive, contributing to achievement gaps that will affect them for the rest of their lives. Public education should be an equalizer, giving every child the opportunity to succeed, regardless of their background or zip code. But without proper funding, we are failing our students, and the consequences are long-lasting.

As a teacher, I see the direct effects of underfunding every day. Our schools are unable to offer enough counselors, mental health resources, extracurricular programs, or even essential supplies. Teachers are forced to dig into their own pockets to cover classroom materials, and many are leaving the profession because the support and resources they need to help students succeed are simply not there. It's heartbreaking to watch students with immense potential not receive the education they need to succeed because our schools lack the necessary funding.

Texas has one of the fastest-growing student populations in the nation, yet our public schools continue to face inadequate funding. We cannot keep cutting resources and expect different results. Instead of passing bills that only provide short-term fixes, we need a long-term, sustainable investment in public education. Our students' futures depend on it.

I urge you to stand up for Texas' future by voting NO on House Bill 3 and advocating for meaningful investments in public education. Fund our schools. Support our teachers. Give every child the opportunity to succeed.

Sincerely,
Kristen Ashlock
Texas Public School Teacher

Meredith Wright
Self / communications
Fort Worth, TX

I do not support vouchers. Parents already have choice in educating their children and tax dollars should not be funneled to private schools.

Tracey Blake
Self/Public education teachers and students!
Childress, TX

Public schools deserved to be fully funded, vouchers and ESA accounts will do the exact opposite and cause our public schools to struggle. I am the principal of a rural elementary and we do AMAZING things each day with amazing staff and students who deserve more funding. ESAs will only ruin our chances at adequate funding more and with private schools having no accountability it makes it very unfair.

SHARLA LITTLEFIELD

Self/ teacher

Lubbock, TX

Leave the money with the schools and fund public education appropriately. I work in a title 1 school and most would use the savings account, due to transportation or eligibility into the private schools. They would not qualify. Give public education education funding to hire teachers for lower class sizes. This particular group (low socioeconomic) needs the smaller group teaching to get them on grade level to be successful after graduation.

Karen Rich, Mrs

Self

Abilene, TX

Oppose vouchers

Yolanda Rascon

Self/retired Principal

Nolanville, TX

Public funds should support public schools! No to choice funding!

Mark Saffer

Self

Houston, TX

Please take this notice as my opposition to HB 3. I generally have republican views, but this bill hidden by the name ESA is simply the destruction of public education. The funds that are being allocated to this bill should be spent on the improvement of public education. Governor Abbott has done so much good for Texas, but this Bill has separated him and many of Congress from my support. Please note that a support for this bill is not favored by me.

Jeri Ross
Self/Retired Public School Teacher
Wimberley, TX

I want to be clear where I stand as a Texan. I oppose any attempt to implement private school vouchers in Texas. I oppose any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools.

Instead of wasting time on unpopular and expensive voucher programs that invite fraud, I urge you to support public education by funding our schools and the teachers and staff who work in them. There is no way that a charter, a private, or a home school can offer opportunities that a unified public school system can offer students through their magnet school programs when public schools are given proper funding. What private school can offer choir, orchestra, band, dance, engineering, medicine, construction academy, architecture, communication arts, multiple languages, computer science, visual art, and every sport imaginable? Talk about school choice! And what choices do our rural school districts have? Where are their private school choices? Vouchers will diminish them without compensation. Private schools offering all of the above options don't need government funding. For their wealthy patrons, money is no object. Government subsidies will not make these schools accessible to all students unless they are held to the same standards as public schools. What would be the point, even if the state insists on certified teachers, TEKs, and a requirement to accept all students?

As a public school teacher, I saw our students bounce between schools thinking that they would have the opportunity to get a pie-in-the-sky education. But parents of these students didn't realize that there were unwritten qualifications for entry. Their children were accepted, then rejected, only to return to our neighborhood public school six weeks behind their peers in their academics. This is hard on teachers as well as students. Spreading our education dollars too thin will do nothing but dilute the quality of our excellent, professional system, condemning our public school children to a mediocre education at best no matter which system they attempt. Give Texas a proper, fully-funded education system, and let private schools continue as they always have, giving scholarships to needy students who want to attend, through the support of their communities. Public schools need an increase to the basic allotment of at least $1280 per student to account for inflation. To avoid a failed public education system increase per student funding fairly; do not give funds to teachers who are not certified and who are not held to the same state standards as public schools. If we don't fund public education adequately, we are condemning it. It is a waste of our tax dollars to try to fund side-by-side education systems, the same as it would be silly to fund two competing municipal water systems. Private, religious, and home schools will divert needed funding from our public education system.

Brooklyn Richardson
Self, Youth and Children's Minister
Arlington, TX

My name is Brooklyn Richardson. I am a youth & children's minister, a mother of two public school-aged children, & a deeply concerned citizen who believes in the power & promise of public education. I strongly oppose school vouchers in Texas, a policy that will harm our already struggling public education system.

School vouchers do not offer choice. They divert funding from public schools to private institutions, many of which lack oversight & accountability. Texas public schools rank 47th in the nation. Teachers are leaving due to low pay & impossible working conditions. Schools lack resources. This is not just bad policy—it is a moral failure.

Texas public schools have been underfunded for decades. Instead of significantly increasing the basic student allotment, the state offered a meager $200 increase—far below inflation. Schools are forced to stretch every dollar, cutting programs & staff while still expected to improve outcomes. Vouchers will worsen this crisis. Rather than addressing chronic underfunding, they strip resources from the system that serves the vast majority of Texas students. This creates a two-tiered system: families with means can supplement their vouchers, while most Texans are left with even more depleted public schools. This is not choice. This is abandonment.

Texans overwhelmingly support strong public schools. Parents & educators have spoken at town halls and hearings, urging lawmakers to increase funding. Yet some lawmakers take cues from an out-of-touch governor & wealthy donors playing political games with our children's futures. Lt. Governor Dan Patrick recently said, "From our vantage point, we are doing what we think is best for our students and schools." That statement is tone-deaf. The communities, teachers, & families experiencing these hardships know the real "vantage point." When lawmakers are too far removed to see the harm they cause, the situation becomes truly dangerous. Ignoring the voices of constituents is unacceptable. When elected officials stop listening to the people they serve, democracy suffers.

As a youth & children's minister, I see how public schools shape young lives. They are more than educational institutions; they are community hubs where children learn kindness, teamwork, and perseverance. They provide stability for kids who may not have it at home. Defunding public schools through vouchers is a moral failure, abandoning our responsibility to ensure every child—regardless of zip code or income—has access to quality education. It betrays the very values we claim to uphold as Texans: fairness, opportunity, & commitment to the common good.

Texas is at a crossroads. We can continue neglecting public education, or we can commit to properly funding our schools. Public education is the foundation of our democracy, economy, & communities. We must stop political games and invest in Texas' future. I implore you, as lawmakers, leaders, & fellow Texans, to do what is right.

Carilea Duncklee self, medical coding educator
Spring, TX

I don't think H.B. 3 is a good bill. I'm writing you to tell you to VOTE NO on H.B. 3 today!

I am VERY concerned that instead of simply returning our property taxes to us that currently go to fund our local schools, H.B. 3 would create huge opportunity for government oversight of homeschooling.

The most economically vulnerable parents – whom the bill is purported to help -- would be forced to comply with oversight of their curriculum choices, and more. Instead of the freedom to homeschool, these homeschoolers would be shackled with NEW REGULATIONS.

This bill leaves the door WIDE OPEN for regulations for ALL homeschoolers in the future. For example, if all homeschoolers are required in the future to use "approved vendors only" then there isn't true autonomy for parents to choose curriculum, or to switch curriculum mid-school year if we find that the teaching style does not match our child's learning style.

Please vote no for HB 3!

Laurie Baus
Self
The woodlands, TX

Please do NOT vote to support this bill.

William Wilkinson
Self - Bartender
Fort Worth, TX
Strongly Opposed

Gennie Westbrook
Self
Cooper, TX

The Texas Constitution Article 7 requires the legislature to provide funding for support and maintenance of public education. The legislature has not done so for many years, leaving the task of supporting public schools to local initiatives and funding. (See Paul Colbert testimony.) I oppose HB 3 by Buckley, relating to establishment of an education savings account or any voucher system by any other name. Until public schools are adequately funded, the legislature has no business even discussing schemes to public money for private schools.

Sarah Cordill
Self
Mckinney, TX

I urge you to stand with Texas families, not special interests. This bill is not about parent choice, it's about private school and vendor choice. It comes with a hefty price tag and zero accountability to the state or taxpayers!

Rachel Mitchell
self
Allen, TX

I strongly oppose any public funds going to private schools, private charter schools or home schooling. Vouchers do not address many needs of low-income, at-risk students such as transportation, free and reduced-priced lunches, textbooks and other instructional materials, assessment of special needs, access to additional remediation programs, and full cost of tuition. Vouchers are disproportionately accessible to students living in urban areas due to limited access to private schools in rural Texas. Private schools choose which children they will accept. They are not required to meet the same standards as public schools - teacher certification, special education, standardized testing, A-F accountability ratings, etc. In short, unless ESAs/vouchers have the SAME requirements as public schools, I am 100% against them!

Tiffany Anderson Ahmad
Self
WYLIE, TX
I OPPOSE HB3

Justin Carrier
Tibbals Elementary PTA
Murphy, TX
I OPPOSE HB3. Don't mess with public school funding.

R F

Self

Austin, TX

Dear Lawmakers,

My name is Riley, and I'm 9 years old. I'm a third grade student in Austin ISD, and I have dyslexia. I am considered twice-exceptional. I have scores and abilities beyond my grade level or the average, but districts need more funding so students like me can be more than just average—or worse, fall behind because dyslexia programs are scarce and expensive.

Learning to read is really tough for me and I notice I don't read as well as some of my friends. I love reading. Even though I try my hardest every day, it's still hard. I love my school and my teachers who help me. I want my teachers and reading instructor to be paid what they are worth and I want my school district to be able to afford to teach all kids to read.

I'm pretty good at math already but I don't know the numbers that will help my teachers and my friends but I know $220 is not a lot of money and my mom tells me we need at least $1300.

I hope you increase the basic allotment for schools, give teachers raises, and give more money to special education. Schools need more money to help kids like me and my friends who need extra support. I don't want to just get by—I deserve the chance to be great, not just average. Without more funding, it's hard for us to get what we need.

My mom helped me write my testimony but I told her what I want to say. I have made testimony before to our SHAC (Student Health Advisory Committee) and to our school board. I love public speaking but I have the flu and I won't be able to make it to the Capitol tomorrow.

Please do what's right and give public schools the money they need to help kids like me and my friends be successful. We deserve it. Oh and I'm tired of my mom being mad about schools not getting the money they need. So please help with that. Thanks,
Riley

Teresa Rios
Self/Family
Liberty Hill, TX

Dear Legislator,

I am in opposition to HB 3. I oppose Educational Savings Accounts (ESAs) and urge you to focus on supporting public schools, which serve 5.4 million Texas students.

ESAs divert vital funding from public schools, worsen budget shortfalls, and increase disparities, particularly in low-income areas. Private schools funded by ESAs lack transparency and accountability, risking misuse of taxpayer money. ESAs primarily benefit wealthier families, leaving low-income, rural and disabled students in underfunded public schools. They also risk increasing segregation by allowing private schools to exclude marginalized groups including disability populations.

Please prioritize funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

If the reason for vouchers is truly schools choice, then additional accountability measures must be added to the bill.

Measures such as:

1. No elected official past, present or future nor any family member by blood or marriage may financially benefit from the ESA program in any way, direct or indirect.
2. No family with a child currently enrolled in an education entity other than a Texas public school may use an ESA. They already have choice and they use it.
3. No education entity may deny admittance to a child choosing to use an ESA
4. No education entity admitting a child via an ESA may dismiss the child during the current school year
5. Any education entity that dismisses or denies continued enrollment to a child using an ESA before 5 years or graduation must fully refund the state plus a 25% penalty
6. Any education entity that accepts a child via an ESA must abide by the same rules, policies and procedures as every public school.

To be clear, I oppose HB 3.

Emily Jelen
self
Dallas, TX

Please keep your support in the public schools. We pay taxes and live in a neighborhood we chose because we like the public school. I am on the PTA board in order to take part in my children's education. My son has the support he needs in public school, thanks to the 504 program, for his ADHD. His teachers are incredible. My daughter has no special needs but we appreciate the team of teachers, counselors, and administrators who make their education possible. Without enough support from you, the legislature, public schools cannot do this. The PTA has had to help the school pay for both reading and math programs to help support students have fallen behind, simply because the legislature has not increased funding in too many years. Support public schools by increasing the spending for them! Private schools DO NOT need your help, and they have scholarship programs for those who cannot afford to attend. Keep public funding with public schools.

Jack Noteware
self
McKinney, TX
Oppose vouchers

Karis McQuinn

Self

Friendswood, TX

As a mother and an educator, I am adamantly opposed to HB3. Texans are clever and creative- we have too much strength of mind and heart in our great state to adopted a system that has failed students countless times in other states. We can do better! We are better than this! All of our littlest Texans deserve a strong public education system that will develop them into mighty Texas leaders. We are capable of fixing our public education system together- but HB3 is the wrong approach.

Stand with parents and children, vote NO to HB3.

Thank you for your time, Karis McQuinn

Mandy Blackmon

Texas PTA - Clear Creek ISD

Houston, TX

I am deeply concerned about the future of my children's education if this bill passes! How is this bill going to affect public schools not just now, but in the future 10 years? Parents already have school choice through a number of avenues in the state of Texas. Public dollars should stay in public schools! We need to fund public schools first, and let private citizens fund private schools. I do not agree with my tax dollars going to this program. The Texas people should be allowed to vote on this issue so that you can make sure you are serving your constituents. Take care of our public schools who are working so hard to take care of our children and their future!

Cindy Horn

Self

Clifton, TX

I am a retired educator. I remember when our principal came around to our classrooms to inform us that there would be no more discipline in the classroom. Two weeks later, the children were becoming masters of disrespect. This mandate and a few other disastrous changes made by the talking heads started the destruction of public education. Five simple rules handwritten on a half piece of poster board taught respect, responsibility, conflict resolution, and kindness. Two weeks later, it was gone. This was not on Texas teachers. Technology, although it plays an important role in education, has robbed children of their ability to memorize. Technology has robbed us all of social skills. Children don't know how to handle disagreement or disappointment. They usually react with violence. The government did this and now you want to scoop up choice students and provide them with an education while leaving the rest to do the best they can. Unless it's changed, schools of choice don't have to follow the same rules as public education. Government has made such a mess of education that they believe it can't be fixed. I am hurt for the students of Texas and quite embarrassed that my state would do this to it's youngest citizens...shame:(

Ana Maria Beats

Individual

Rockwall, TX

Do not want vouchers

Michelle Jackson

Self

Round Rock, TX

Please say NO to HB 3. It does NOT put choice in the hands of parents. It offers no accountability for taxpayers or the state. It is fiscally irresponsible and is not sustainable. We all want smaller classes, neighborhood schools, better enrichment opportunities, highly skilled teachers, and parent engagement opportunities, so PLEASE do these two things: 1) invest whatever you were going to spend on ESAs (or vouchers) into our public schools, and 2) start trusting our public school educators by giving them the same freedoms you are so willingly handing over to unknow private entities. Thank you!

Antoinette Dereska
Self
Highland village, TX

Please do NOT vote for vouchers, we have amazing public schools that need to be fully funded.

Angie Baldwin, Principal
Self
Amarillo, TX

The voucher system or school choice is not what it seems. Tax payer money should fund public schools that all children have access to. If a family chooses to educate their student in private school, tax payer money SHOULD NOT fund that.

Lindsay Gibson
Self/Counselor
Wylie, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS' & NO TO SB3

Monica Muñoz
Wylie ISD Council of PTAs
Wylie, TX

Please make sure that ALL children are well taken care of by saying NO to vouchers!! This is more harmful than it is helpful!!

Sandra Frioni
Self, legal assistant
Wylie, TX

No to Vouchers. No to SB3.

Randi Kellenberger
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I do not support the establishment of an education savings account program as there are no benefits for average constituents. This will only benefit those that can already afford private education/homeschool for their students AND take away what little the public education systems currently have. There are better, more cost efficient, ways to serve ALL students in the state of Texas. This program has already been shown to be unpopular with constituents across the state and should not be approved.

Erika Raga
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Claire Miller
Self
Mansfield, TX

I'm a mother of four from Mansfield, Texas, zip code 76063. After listening to several hours of the comments and interviews yesterday, I'm concerned about the aspect, especially of religious freedom, that state money would be funding schools that are allowed to prioritize those in their own religion over others that are not. This is a direct violation of the separation of church and state for all Americans. Please vote no on sb3.

Raegan Perry self/ Custom Network Liaison
Wylie, TX

No to vouchers and no to SB3

Bill Coker
Self
Arlington, TX

Vouchers are not going to help children in Texas. The full funding of public schools will be the answer. If you provide $10,000 per child for private schools then put up the money and provide $10,000 per child to the public schools with no strings attached like you are wishing to provide to private schools. Vote no on vouchers. The public will be watching and will vote accordingly the next election.

Ramon Aguilar
Self
Fort worth, TX

I reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Heather Fisk
Self
Waxahachie, TX

When both sides of the political and schooling spectrum are opposed to a bill, it's probably a bad bill. Don't take money from public schools to give to schools without accountability. School choice already exists. Please don't bow to your out of state donors and punish your own constituents in the process. Vouchers (even if you aren't officially calling this vouchers) haven't worked anywhere. Why would we repeat the same and expect anything different?! Invest in Texas education and put your money where your mouth is.

Chad Jones
Self
Pearland,, TX

By name, Private schools are PRIVATE! Public schools are public and govt funded. If you want private schools, you should pay for it. This is the equivalent of saying the public pool isn't good enough, the govt should pay my country club fees! This will destroy public schools. Please don't cater to the wants of those wanting private schools without paying! Please fund public schools appropriately.

Sincerely, a 29 year public school educator.

Andreia Waggoner
Self
Wichita Falls, TX

NO!!!!!!

Adrian Portales, Mr
Self
Fort Worth, TX

I strongly reject HB3 based on expert testimony and the fiscal note presented on HB3. This is not sound fiscal policy and will hurt Texas public schools.

Vanessa Cardwell

Self

Austin, TX

As a proud tax paying resident of Austin, TX in Travis County where my property taxes support round Rock ISD, I'd like it to be known that I DO NOT SUPPORT HB3. The taxes I pay are to support public education at public ISDs. I do not support the use of TX funds for private education. To do so would SEVERELY impact all TX districts. If passed, it's likely HB3 will lead to program cuts, school closures, and teacher/administrator layoffs and will severely impact the TRS. I implore you to vote NO to HB3. It's not good for the good of all Texans.

Lastroski Douglas

Self

Anna, TX

Against this bill

Cesar Mejia

Self

Hutto, TX

Oppose

Sierra Jacox

Myself

Montgomery, TX

I do not support this is voucher/school choice/education savings plan. First, if part of the reason this is being pushed is the performance and quality of public schools do not give money to private schools, give the money to public education to make it better. Private schools DO NOT have to accept children with disabilities and most DO NOT have transportation. This puts a large amount of families unable to use the "education savings program". The families that will benefit most from this are the already affluent/high middle class while the rest of the population deals with already under funded public schooling. Overall your Texas constituents do not want this. Listen to them. This will not improve Texas education it will hurt it and hurt the ones who need public schooling the most.

Peggy Brooks, Ms

Self

Mesquite, TX

I'm against school vouchers. A free and public education is not attained through paying for school. School choice is present when you opt to choose free public school or pay for private school. I'm a retired educator and feel the choice to send your child to private school is not a taxpayer obligation. I have always voted Republican but this has me seriously considering my choice to vote the other way.

Gayla Noneaker Stefan

Self - retired teacher

Pflugerville, TX

I'm a retired math teacher.

Although public education isn't perfect, it's better than private education.

Maybe Elon Musk needs to come help us streamline public education?

Jonathan Buck

self, attorney

Austin, TX

I am an attorney and parent of a 2nd grader in public school. I write to express my strong opposition to HB 3, which would create a program that diverts critical funding from Texas public schools while failing to provide adequate accountability. 1. Financial Impact on Public Schools - HB 3 proposes an initial $1 billion in ESA funding, ballooning to $3.2 billion in the second year and potentially $8 billion over two years by 2029. Texas public schools already face funding shortfalls, with many districts struggling to provide competitive teacher salaries, classroom resources, and special education services. Diverting additional funds away from public schools will worsen these inequities and disproportionately harm the majority of Texas students who remain in the public school system. 2. Lack of Accountability & Oversight- Unlike public schools, which are required to meet strict performance and financial transparency standards, private schools receiving ESA funds would not be required to administer STAAR exams or follow the same accountability measures. This creates a double standard where taxpayer funds can be used without clear performance metrics, increasing the risk of fraud and misuse. Arizona's ESA program, for example, uncovered $700,000 in improper spending due to weak oversight. Texas should not follow this path. 3. Disadvantages for Rural Communities- Rural Texans would see little to no benefit from HB 3, as private school options are extremely limited in these areas. Unlike urban centers, where private schools are more prevalent, rural families would still rely on underfunded public schools while taxpayer money is funneled into a voucher system they cannot use. This policy fails rural Texans and weakens their local education infrastructure. 4. Harm to Students with Disabilities- Public schools are legally required to provide services to students with disabilities under federal law. Private schools, however, are not obligated to accommodate special needs students and can selectively deny admission. If ESA funds are diverted from public schools, children with disabilities will face fewer resources and less access to necessary services, further marginalizing a vulnerable population. 5. Risk of Public Fund Misuse- ESA programs in other states have demonstrated serious risks of fraud and misallocation. Without strict controls, public funds could be used for unapproved or non-educational expenses, siphoning money away from true academic support. Texans deserve strong fiscal responsibility and transparency when it comes to taxpayer dollars. Conclusion - HB 3 is not a true school choice initiative—it is a backdoor defunding mechanism that will harm over 5 million students in Texas public schools already reeling. Subsidizing private education without oversight is not a prudent use of public funds. I strongly urge you not to advance this bill.

Jennifer Cunningham, Mrs.

self

Austin, TX

This bill is detrimental to public education at its core. This bill is designed to take money from public education and put it into the coffers of people who want to fund their private education. This would be like taking money from the parks fund and putting it towards my own country club membership. This is robbery. This is not fair and nowhere else in the state of Texas budget do we have private proponents trying to take from public funding. I am completely opposed to this bill as a Texas resident as a Texas mother and a Texas educator.

Irma Escobar, Retired Teacher of Texas public Schools

Self

San antonio, TX

I strongly urge you to oppose school vouchers. As a Retired Educator it is our duty as resident of Texas to Educate all our Students . If everyone in Texas pays Taxes then those funds should go to all students in Texas . These voucher scheme does not and will not accommodate all students of different ethic and race . We have seen the outcome from other states that have Tried this and it has NOT been effective but for only a few . Texas students should not be have to be played with . If every Texan pays for public school then those funds should be used for public students

Travis Marmon

Mexia ISD

Mexia, TX

This bill is meant to destroy public education and line the pockets of our governor. We vote representatives into congress and the house to give the public a voice but if this bill passes they are completely ignoring the people that voted them into office. It's a sad time in our state when greed has taken over the well being of the people and the state. We must vote no on HB 3!

Laura Bow

Self. Educational diagnostician

Happy, TX

I am an educational diagnostician ins rural SSA. Prior to that I taught special education in a rural elementary school for 14 years. I am against HB 3 because it truly leaves out rural students and students with special needs. The bill is being represented to the public as something that will help all students in all areas of the state. Students who enter private schools give up protection under IDEA and are not protected. Private schools do not have to admit or serve them. Rural schools rarely have private schools close enough to attend. Low income families that are supposed to be helped most likely can't afford the remainder of tuition, will not have transportation to get to a school, or won't be able to afford extra fees and lunch. Our public schools are hurting and need help to keep up with rising costs and all the unfunded mandates that keep being passed.

Please listen to constituents and stand up to the big money that is pushing vouchers for whatever reason. Our schools are the lifeblood of our rural communities and are frankly at a near breaking point because of funding issues.

Thank you for your time.

Kevin White

self

Stamford, TX

Thank you for taking the time to listen to our thoughts on ESA's (vouchers). I would first like to state that I am all for fair and equal choice for parents and students. But anyone with any financial common sense or educational background understands that vouchers are nothing more than a scheme for State Representatives lobbyists and donors. Public Education is held to so many checks and balances with every penny. Private schools may have some accountability added if they accept a voucher students, but the bottom line is they do not have to accept any. No matter rich, poor, Special Ed., 504, etc. Private schools still control their cliental. Public schools are held to Federal Standards such as IDEA. Private schools will not take a chance on accepting such students if it adds burden to their enrollment or staff. Private schools will not be audited by TEA in the same form as public schools. It is beyond me why our legislators would back such a bill and supporters such as Abbott or Buckley in this matter. They may need to ask themselves these questions.. Is this what the tax payers want? If they believe so put it on the ballot for voters to decide. If I back Gov. Abbott will he even be here come November or will he move on to DC or get pushed out by the mass teacher votes that are against this bill? As an educator for 28 years I am saddened that Buckley, Patrick, and Abbott would hold public school funding hostage to blackmail votes for these bills. Abbott has proven he is fixed on I will get my way or you will not get a penny from the tax payers dollars. Please take note that the majority of voters in the state of Texas are Against Vouchers that do not have the same accountability to the crossed T as Public schools.

Melissa Rhoades Rhoades

Self-29 year veteran Texas public school teacher

Argyle, TX

Members of the committee,

Please take into consideration the amount of your constituents that oppose this bill! There are too many holes & inconsistencies to pass this bill. Firstly, it is unfair. Why is more money going to private school students when the majority of Texas children are in public schools? Please increase the allotment to reflect our current economy. I work in a very financially sound district & yet we are closing five schools! If you're going to have vouchers, make it the same amount as public school children get! Another aspect that makes it inequitable is the fact that there are very few requirements for vouchers. Public schools money is based on attendance & testing requirements among other things. This money will be abused! It is also frustrating that the vouchers will primarily provide a financial break for the wealthy parents that can already afford private schools. The vouchers will still not cover the tuition & other fees required in most private schools.

I am a product of both private & public schools in Texas. I do believe private schools are already a choice & are needed, but please make the funding equitable!

As a teacher soon to retire in the next few years, it breaks my heart to see so many teachers leaving the profession & less & less going into it. This is going to be a major crisis soon & is not only hurting teachers, but the children of Texas. Please start looking for ways to pay teachers more & work to retain them!

I urge you to vote against HB3 & work with educators, students, school districts & private schools to find better solutions!

Thank you,

Alejandro Moreno

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose HB 3. It is much more important to provide adequate and much needed funding for public education. Rural public schools will suffer greatly as a result of this bill.

Cynthia Brennan

Self

Georgetown, TX

I served as Coordinator of Title 1 and Bilingual Education in Conroe ISD. I saw firsthand how federal funding benefited students of all backgrounds and nationalities. I am strongly opposed to school vouchers knowing that too many kids would suffer under this useless law.

NANCY MCGRAW

Self

San Antonio, TX

I do NOT agree with this.

Sarah Sorensen

Self

San Antonio, TX

I oppose HB 3. It is a taxpayer funded subsidy for wealthy Texans who can already afford private school tuition. I oppose spending public dollar for private schools that do not have to meet the same accountability standards as public schools and can discriminate against students and families for any reason. Research shows that the minority of voucher users who are from lower income households have poor educational outcomes because they end up in poor performing private schools that charge tuition that matches the state reimbursement rate. Public tax dollars should go to public schools.

Corina Garcia

self

Skidmore, TX

I have been an educator for 25 years and a school administrator for 8 of those years. I vehemently oppose HB3 as it will not help students in rural Texas or our special needs population. Our school has had to adopt a deficit budget in hopes of retaining our hardworking staff. We are a TIA district, but unfortunately some of our hardest working staff will never have an opportunity to earn the distinction or the money. Do better. Support our public schools, and vote NO to HB3.

Beth Robb
Self, retired
Coppell, TX

As a parent of 2 public school grads and 1 private school grad, I can assure you that people who send their children to private do not need vouchers. We all know this won't truly help the disadvantaged as there is no transportation provided and private schools can be very selective in admissions. A study into our friends in AZ and other voucher states will show this program does not do what it proposes to do.

Public schools deserve more! More funding for the basic allotment and funding for mandated programs like SpEd and safety and security. Any monies allocated to private should be matched for the per pupil allotment for public at a minimum. The thought of private and charter schools receiving state funds without the same testing and program requirements is ridiculous. Why would those schools not be held to the same accountability measures as public schools?

My 3 children graduated several years ago, but as a taxpayer, I am very distressed by the proposed bills regarding education in this state. We should be supporting and building up our public schools, not forcing them to close campuses and cut programs and teachers.

My children all graduated from universities with more than 50% out of state students and the competition is fierce! We are hurting our students' abilities to compete with those from other states and putting them at a disadvantage when we force districts to cut programs that enhance their educational experiences at the K12 level.

My family believes in public education and strongly opposes vouchers in Texas. IF this program is passed, the very LEAST should be to allocate the same amount for the per student allotment for public students and require ALL state funded schools to adhere to the same laws, standards and accountability. To do anything less is grossly negligent.

My recapture tax dollars have helped create the overwhelming budget surplus in Texas. How about giving some of that money back to the districts from which it was taken in the first place? Districts would be in good shape and not forced to close schools, over-extend their teachers and increase class sizes if we had those funds back.

This education system in Texas is broken! However, vouchers will only worsen the problem. It is not a viable solution! For once, I would love to see my elected officials do what is in the best interest of children...ALL children!

David Cameron, Mr.
Self
Lubbock, TX

Public school education programs and teacher pay is not adequate as it is. I am against using state monies for private school education. Concentrate on increasing monies to local public school school education. Private schools and home schools are a personal choice and government money should not be given to them. Money should not be used for "chaplains" at public schools either! Separation of church and state.

Melissa Higginbotham
Self-parent, citizen, employed as an administrative assistant
Dallas, TX

I oppose adding ESAs to our educational system in Texas. Keep private schools private. Allow my tax dollars to continue to fully support the education of the majority of children in our state who attend charter and ISD public schools. Make Texans proud of how we work to preserve our future through raising well-educated kids across all socio economic sectors, not widening the gap between the haves and have nots.

Delaina Sims
Myself
Wills Point, TX

I am firmly opposed to HB3 on school vouchers. Public tax dollars should not be used for private schools in any form. Our public schools need more funding. This bill takes much needed funds away from public schools. It harms children and communities.

Amy Denton
Self-Teacher
Houston, TX

I am a 20 year teacher & I am 100% for school choice.
The vast amount of money given to school districts is wasted on administrative nonsense long before it ever reaches the classroom. The only way to make sure students receive a solid education is to remove the power of spending money from the school districts. The city I live in, Houston, has done so well educating students that the TEA had to step in and take over running HISD. This was decades in the making.
My family MOVED OUT of Houston to Missouri City way back in the 80's because HISD was so poorly run.
My question to those who oppose school choice is why are you afraid of choice? It's not the school district's money, it's TAXPAYERS MONEY! Why is it okay to waste it?
Thank you.

Krista Taylor
Self
Wichita Falls, TX

If HB 3 is passed, it will drain $5,271,758 from the Wichita Falls ISD which is the district my 7th grade son attends. We are a district that is already lagging in technology and building improvements. Our district cannot afford to lose money. Analysis of vouchers in other states has proven that vouchers subsidize wealthy families that can already afford private school. Please don't defund public education. Vote NO on HB 3.

Beckett Hills
James Nolan Construction
Austin, TX
VOTE NO VOUCHERS

Emily Bentley
Self
Round Rock, TX

I am writing to express my concern about the provisions in HB3 that would create a voucher system for school choice. While I understand and respect the desire to create more school choice options for families, I believe that this system will have a detrimental impact on public schools and the families who depend on them. By diverting funds to a private school through a voucher system, this bill would take much-needed funds away from our already underfunded public schools. Public schools are already facing budget shortfalls, teacher shortages, and growing class sizes. A voucher system will only serve to exacerbate these issues. As a parent of a child who will be starting kindergarten in the fall, this issue is of utmost concern to me and my family. A huge factor in our decision to move to Round Rock was the excellent public schools in Round Rock ISD which contribute to a thriving and vibrant community. I feel strongly that a voucher system will have a negative impact on my child's education as right now, we feel that the local public schools provide the best education compared to charter or private school offerings. In addition to being a parent, I am also a former educator with a master's degree in Education. While I am concerned about my own child's educational prospects, I am even more worried for children from low-income families and those in rural communities where there are not an abundance of alternatives to public school. A voucher program will pull funds away from the only schools available to many children across this state. Additionally, a voucher system does not guarantee better educational outcomes for all as many private schools lack the educational oversight required in public schools and they often do not serve all children equally. As a former private school teacher, I can attest that many private schools do not, for example, provide adequate support to students with disabilities or those requiring special education. I believe that a voucher program would only serve to create an even greater divide between various groups of students including the wealthy and the poor, the able-bodied and the disabled, the gifted and those with intellectual disabilities.

I greatly appreciate the opportunity to participate in the democratic process by submitting these comments and I hope that all who read this will seriously consider amending the provisions in HB3 that would create a voucher program and instead focus on adequately funding public schools in order to help all Texans thrive. Respectfully, a mother and educator.

Jason Janning
Self
Southlake, TX

Vouchers are wrong for Texas. Vote NO

Sandra Graham
Self
Roscoe, TX

So no to vouchers! As Texans, we voted on this a few years ago and we voted no! Abbott was not a happy camper two it was voted no in the last session. There was surplus money to help people schools and give teachers raises. He acted like a baby! He had opportunity last session and this session to help public schools and teachers raises with surplus money. All he is interested in is himself and help the rich get richer. He could care less about public schools or teachers. He is a disgrace to the state of Texas!!!
VOTE NO ON VOUCHERS!!!

Andrew Atlas
Self - semi-retired
Austin, TX

I am righting to express my opposition to HB 3. As shown by data from other states where they have been implemented, education savings accounts will act as a subsidy for affluent parents who already have the wherewithal to send their children to private school, they do not guarantee access to private schools for the children of parents without the financial resources to send their children to private schools since $10,000 does not cover tuition at most private schools, so it discriminates against children in low income families. Children with special needs would also likely be unable to access these funds in any meaningful way, so it also discriminates against them. Most rural areas do not have private schools, so this bill discriminates against kids in rural areas. This bill will defund public education, thus exacerbating the educational disparities that already exist between the wealthy children already enrolled in private schools and the 5.5 million (94% of kid enrolled in grades K - 12) children enrolled in public schools. This bill is a reverse Robin Hood plan that will do permanent harm to public education, just to benefit wealthy parents who can already afford private school. Honestly, it's shocking that it has even come this far! Please vote no on HB 3.

Evelyn Melendez

Self

Mckinney, TX

Please keep it the same, no changes we do not want the HB 3

Iskra Payne

Self - managing director

Austin, TX

I am against the school voucher bill

Raul Padilla

Self

El Paso, TX

This bill should not got through. Please think of another way to fund schools. Private schools are a for profit business with owners. Instead, pump that money into private schools with less restrictions on teachers and admin. How about move students that don't follow rules to private schools and let public schools educate the top kids. No to Vouchers!!

Gillian Amaro

Myself

New Braunfels, TX

Please vote against this HB 3. Our students and teachers deserve better than this bill which will take money away from students and give yet ANOTHER tax cut to the wealthy. We already have a choice- we can choose to pay for private school, or we can move into a different district. This will further polarize the haves from the have nots. It is a step back in our state and I urge you to side with the majority of Texans and NOT vote for this bill. We need more resources for ALL Texans and LOWER student:teacher ratios. This one initiative (lower teacher:student ratios) would make a world of difference for all Texas students. Please listen to your constituents and vote no on this. Thank you

Daniel Ramirez

self

Houston, TX

I am a concerned educator who currently instructs students in a school in the inner city. Many others and I oppose this bill because there are too many unintended consequences, if passed, that would ultimately harm the students whom I teach on a daily basis. This bill does nothing to eliminate the real-life problems that many students like those who attend inner-city schools like the one I work at. This money would instead go to the families of students who never face these real-life problems. Public schools like the ones in the inner-city need this funding now more than ever. The members of my community and I ask that this committee not divert these funds into the hands of those that are not in need of them. Instead, continue to fund public education to those who truly will benefit.

Ramon Telles Jr.

Self

Austin, TX

I would like to state my opposition to this bill. Our public school system needs more funding. We should not be taking money away from our children and giving it to private schools. Parents already have school choice. They can choose to send their kids to a private school. I chose to send my kids to public school. I shouldn't have to pay for those parents' decision. Public education is guaranteed in our state constitution. We need to safeguard it.

Theresa Moffitt, Mrs

Self - Parent

Arlington, TX

I would like to express my opposition to educational vouchers. Public schools have long been expected to provide so much more than education and are being penalized for caring for their most vulnerable. They seek housing for students living in cars with their families. They provide meals to students that would otherwise go hungry. They provide counseling to students of all ages facing adult issues at home. If vouchers are going to be offered, then all schools that receive them should be required to provide the same. Public schools serve EVERYONE, and any school receiving State funds should be required to do the same. There should be an equal opportunity for every child with a voucher to be enrolled in any school that accepts them, or how is this helping the State education system as a whole?? The vouchers that are being proposed will not help students from low income families that can not afford to pay the remaining balance of private tuition. Neither will they help most students with disabilities. Vouchers WILL help those that are already able to afford private school. This is not how public funds should be used.

Jeremy Gatlin

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am against vouchers and educational savings accounts of any kind. This bill as proposed will harm our public education system and divert funds away from public schools.

Vouchers of any kind will take resources away from already underfunded public schools. This will force public schools to do more with less. This will have a negative impact on the states most vulnerable population, our kids.

Private schools receiving voucher funds are not subject to the same level of accountability as public schools. They do not take state assessments, there is no oversight, and they are not required to take all students.

The state of Texas and our legislatures have an obligation to provide a free and appropriate education to all students in the state. You should ensure that ALL Texas students have access to a high-quality education that is fully funded. Vouchers will prove to be a costly mistake for state, both at the expense of our children and our tax payers!

If you believe this is what all Texans want, I urge you put this bill as it's written to a public vote.

Dana Minney

self, educational researcher

Austin, TX

I stand with the thousands of local elected officials, school educators, and administrators serving in towns, cities, counties and school districts across our great state in strongly urging you to oppose a statewide school voucher program, as created in Senate Bill (SB) 2 and

House Bill (HB) 3. For over 30 years, state legislators across the political spectrum have continually voted against vouchers for two key reasons:

1. Texas schools are already among the most chronically underfunded in the country, with 91 percent of Texas public school students attending inadequately funded schools everyday. Passing a school voucher program would siphon even more funding away from our public schools, essentially deserting Texas schools, educators, and students.

2. A statewide school voucher program would be detrimental to our state's rural public schools, and our state leadership cares deeply about our rural communities. Our rural schools would be forced to strip their budgets down to just the necessities – that means teacher shortages, no football teams, no career or technical programs, no bands, no special education, no after-school programs – the list goes on.

This bill would devastate Texas' economy and prohibit young people and families from moving here. Why would anyone move somewhere that their child wouldn't be guaranteed a good education. This bill is atrociously bad and unimaginably harmful to everyone in education and to the children and future workforce of Texas. Please do not sign this death warrant for our state.

Melissa Albus

Self- teacher

Roxton, TX

I encourage you to stand up and represent what the people want- fund public schools like they should be funded. All children can benefit from services offered by a public school, but few will benefit from vouchers. We all know public schools are in dire straits because of the lack of funding we've received in the last few years, but the mandates keep coming. Our schools are full of hardworking educators who can't do their jobs because of all the state demands. Please do what is right for Texas children!

Laura Maverick, Ms.

self

Austinq, TX

Please do not call this an "education savings account". This is government money - my money - for people to spend on religious schools and to try and bankrupt the entire education system. This makes no sense. This is a scam - that is what it is.. The children of Texas have suffered enough. Why do we continue to punish children for being born poor and reward the connected and wealthy?

Laura Victoria Potocny-Krider

Self

Georgetown, TX

I wanted to take a moment to connect with you as someone who teaches in your district. I respectfully ask that you vote no on any voucher bill, including HB 3.

As a member of the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE), I'm part of the largest community of public educators in Texas. What makes ATPE special is that our legislative positions come straight from educators through our annual House of Delegates. We don't just follow what leadership says — we actively shape our priorities. The ATPE Legislative Program, which was created through this democratic process, clearly states that we oppose "any voucher program, including a tuition tax credit, education savings account, or any other such program that would direct public funds to private, home, or for-profit virtual schools."

Thank you for taking the time to consider the perspective of educators serving in your district.

Orsi Ficsor

Self

San Antonio, TX

Private school vouchers divert public funds away from already underfunded public schools. This program would primarily benefit wealthier families who can already afford private school tuition at the expense of working class taxpayers who would be largely left out the program as private school tuition is unaffordable for most working class families even with the voucher. Unlike public schools, private institutions can discriminate based on income, disability, or religion, making education less accessible to all. Additionally, there is little evidence that vouchers improve academic outcomes. This program is a misuse of valuable tax dollars that could instead be allocated toward improving public education that benefits all Texans. Instead of subsidizing private education, we should invest in strengthening public schools, raising teacher salaries, and expanding resources for all students. Public money should stay in public schools, ensuring every child has access to quality education, regardless of their background.

Tracey Bleakley

Self- public school teacher

Georgetown, TX

Please vote against vouchers and ESAs in any form. Parents already have school choice and public money should not go towards private schools. The majority of Texans, no matter what their party is, do not want vouchers. Vouchers/ESAs will hurt public schools who are already struggling due to being underfunded. Instead focus on raising the student allotment by $1500 and giving teachers a much deserved raise. With inflation we are making less now than a few years ago. Teachers shouldn't have to have multiple jobs to make ends meet.

anne Sigler former teacher
Manor, TX

"While I acknowledge that families want more educational choices, this school voucher program does not create real choice for families. There are certainly many issues with our public education system that prevent it from effectively serving students, but funneling money out of this system and into private institutions through vouchers is not the solution to our problems. A strong public education system is integral to our democracy, and vouchers undermine public education. Additionally, these programs as implemented in other states lack proper accountability, exacerbate inequality, engage in exclusionary practices, fragment communities, exacerbate segregation, and decrease academic achievement. Instead of diverting funds to private institutions, perhaps you should focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure that every child, regardless of their background, has access to a high-quality education. This issue matters to me and I vote. Thank you."

MELINDA MANINGER

None
Fort Worth, TX

I am appalled at the possibility of the voucher scam, which has been funded by Texas oligarchs, passing in the great state of Texas. As a retired special ed teacher (dyslexia) in a title 1 school, I know FIRST HAND the disabled and/or impoverished students who would absolutely fall through the cracks with this horrible legislation that has been disastrous in other states that are trying it. The winners of the scam are primarily the wealthy Texas residents who can ALREADY AFFORD to send their children to private schools. (In states with this legislation, it has been well-documented that the majority of families using the vouchers were already there. It just gave them an unnecessary discount, while the needy students were largely unhelped or even hurt by the scam voucher system.)

PLEASE STOP THIS BILL from robbing the most vulnerable children in our state!

De Winn
Self
Wylie, TX

I feel house bills would be bad for public schools. It would take from students that have great need. Public schools deal with the most difficult children with the greatest needs which private schools will never take. Please fund the public schools so all kids are taken care of.

James Mitchell, Mr
Self
Lubbock, TX

I am strongly Opposed to the State of Texas establishing a Savings Account Program utilizing state resources.

Chris Lairscey, Mr.

Self

Del Valle, TX

I am writing to express my unequivocal opposition to school voucher programs that siphon taxpayer dollars away from our already underfunded public schools. Texas public schools have not seen a general allotment increase since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and increasing demands on educators. Instead of fulfilling your duty to properly fund and support the backbone of our communities—our public schools—some legislators are pushing a voucher scheme that promises choice but delivers nothing but harm, particularly to rural families.

Voucher programs are a betrayal of Texas students and taxpayers. They divert public funds to private institutions that lack accountability, transparency, and accessibility for all students, including those with disabilities or specialized learning needs. These programs do not expand opportunity; they exacerbate inequality, leaving behind the vast majority of students who rely on public education.

Rural families stand to lose the most. In communities where the local public school is the only option, vouchers will strip away funding, weaken programs, and accelerate school closures. When a rural school shuts its doors due to financial starvation, there is no nearby private school waiting to pick up the slack. This is not “school choice”—this is an abandonment of responsibility to the children of Texas.

Public schools should be thriving, not barely surviving. The solution is not to funnel money into unregulated private education but to fully fund our public schools, increase teacher pay, reduce class sizes, and invest in the resources students need to succeed.

Texans deserve strong public schools, not empty promises and destructive policies. I urge you to reject school vouchers and instead focus on fully funding public education for the benefit of all Texas students.

Kirk Wilson

Self

Austin, TX

Vote against this disaster. We don't need vouchers. We need more pay for public school teachers and more support for public schools.

Meredith Cole

Self/ middle school counselor at TISD

Temple, TX

Please vote no to school vouchers. This will not be beneficial to public schools in Texas. We are desperately trying to provide the best education for our students and need the appropriate funds to do so. As a middle school counselor, I have only seen an increase in the mental health needs of our students. Please show your support of public educators in Texas by saying NO to this bill. Kind regards, Meredith Cole

Jason Scott

Self

Gladewater, TX

Please do your job and give the money back where it is promised, public schools. As an educator and administrator for 22 years, this money is needed more than ever in public schools and not to be used as discount program for the rich.

Blake Powell, Attorney and Rancher

Powell Ranch

Kempner, TX

I oppose HB 3 because vouchers will weaken our public schools.

Brenda Gutierrez, Mrs

Self

Mabank, TX

This is a flawed idea that benefits wealthy people and or in large cities. Rural area school districts will lose money which they cannot afford to have happen since they are already underfunded. Please DO NOT pass this bill. You will be making public education worse than it already is. Another point is that you say that students get to choose where they go to school but that isn't the full truth. The school must still accept the student or not. You are misleading people into thinking this will be a good thing when in fact it may not be for them. There are very few private schools in rural areas so choices are limited anyway.

Peggy Harris

self

The Woodlands, TX

I am part of a large group of local residents who strongly oppose the use of ESAs or school vouchers to give parents large sums ($10,000) per student to attend a private school. Many/most of these charter schools are not independently monitored for compliance with state educational standards and the funds they receive reduce the amount of money to support our public schools which have been struggling for years to accommodate surges in enrollment and lagging state reimbursement. Please be sure that HB 3 uses public funds wisely, does not allow the wealthy to partake in these vouchers, provides certification and accountability from the private schools, and increases the basic allotment for public schools to offset the impact of inflation and the new program.

Erica Stremlau

Self, mom, veterinarian

Austin, TX

I am completely against this bill. Please fully fund our public schools instead.

Duy Le

Self

Keller, TX

Public schools are already struggling with funding. I do not appreciate using our tax dollars to fund private schools. This is an irresponsible way of spending tax dollars

Sarah Carson

self/homeschool parent

Aledo, TX

I am writing regarding the Education Committee hearing for House Bill 3. As a home school parent, I value freedom from government strings and regulations in private education, and am against the expansion of government in the name of "parental empowerment. I would like to ask the committee to please join a large constituency of home schoolers in opposing "school choice" legislation like HB 3. Thank you!

Lisa Ford

Self

Pearland, TX

Please do NOT vote yes for the Texas school voucher program. It will destroy the public schools, where most of you got your own education. It's not fair for middle class and working class families. The wealthy can afford private schools and there is no need to destroy the public school system in Texas.

Colyn Brown
Self
League City, TX

I am writing to express my strong opposition to House Bill 3 (HB 3), which proposes reallocating funding from public schools. This bill threatens to severely diminish the quality of education provided to students across Texas and will have long-term negative consequences for our state's educational system.

Public schools in Texas already face significant challenges. Reduced funding, large class sizes, and inadequate resources have made it increasingly difficult for teachers to meet the needs of their students. HB 3 will only exacerbate these issues, further weakening our public education system. The reallocation of funds proposed in this bill will undermine the ability of schools to deliver the high-quality education that every Texas student deserves.

The most direct consequence of HB 3 is the reduction of resources available to public schools. This bill will force school districts to do more with less, which inevitably means fewer educational opportunities for students. From textbooks to classroom technology, extracurricular activities to essential support services, the reduction of funding will deprive students of the tools they need to succeed.

Teachers, who are already underpaid and overworked, will be forced to stretch their resources even thinner. Larger class sizes, fewer instructional materials, and diminished support services will reduce the ability of teachers to give students the individual attention they need. The result will be a decrease in the overall quality of education provided to our children.

I urge you to reject HB 3 and prioritize funding that supports high-quality education for all Texas students. Our children's futures depend on the strength of our public education system. Let us not take a step backward by passing a bill that threatens to lower the standard of education in Texas.

Raequel Rogers
Self
Caldwell, TX

Please vote no. Our children are our futures. We need them to be educated to help lead us to a brighter future. Please I encourage people to start acting from our hearts. Thank you

LINDA TEZENO
Self
ARLINGTON, TX

Dear Representative Jake Ellzey,

As a taxpayer in the State of Texas, I do NOT want an Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) Program. I pay my public tax dollars and, therefore, want my money to Fund Public Schools in Texas. Public school funding has been stagnant since 2019 while we have had inflation of over 20%. Our children and all the educators, and staff, deserve to have the funding. To be clear, I want to reiterate the following:

- I do NOT want vouchers/ESAs.
- I support an Increase of the Basic Allotment.
- I support Funding Public Schools in Texas, including the inflation of over 20%.

Again, I support Public Schools and want my tax dollars to Fund Public Schools (not private schools) in the State of Texas.

Sincerely,
Linda Tezeno

Louise Deretchin

Self

The Woodlands, TX

To the detriment of public education, this bill will help people who already can afford private education while harming public education. Public schools are essential to our democracy in creating opportunities for all to rise up. People who think they can afford the rising costs of private education with a little help may be in for a surprise.

Grant Phillips

Veteran

Temple, TX

Stop trying to segregate our schools

Tim Rabroker, Mr.

Self

KILLEEN, TX

I would like the Public Education Committee to know that I am opposed to the education voucher plan. There is ample data from other states that have attempted to implement this type of plan with disastrous consequences for their public education systems. Arizona is the most recent state to attempt this and their public schools are having to be propped up with millions of unbudgeted funds with negative outcomes for thousands of students. The bottom line is that this will hurt local districts and communities, most of the time, the most vulnerable. The families that want private education either are already sending their children to these schools or historically find a way to send their children to these schools. Numerous organizations provide scholarships or have partners that they work with to enable students to afford to attend their institutions. This appears as nothing other than a plan to funnel funds to wealthy donors pet projects (some from out of state- Jeff Yass) and fill the coffers of religious institutions that already have tax exemptions. The school voucher program will further divide our state into haves & have-nots. If the state is serious about improving public education, it will adequately fund our public schools and make student-teacher ratios lower. If you take a moment to speak with any educator lowering class size and reducing the emphasis on standardized testing is what the priorities should be. Why don't we listen to our professional educators and follow their lead instead of wealthy mega-donors who want to continue to cause division based on their own culture war issues. This decision will haunt our children for generations if we ignorantly pursue this voucher scam. I beg our legislators to please think about our children's future, and not pursue what they think is best to further their political careers to make donors and their extreme base happy.

Maureen Kursh Reister

Self

Frisco, TX

establishing an "education savings program violates the fundamental importance of public institutions, public schools in this case, that provide opportunity for everyone.

This bill is not about 'school choice'; it's about schools choosing which students they want to serve. This legislation creates a two-tiered system:

- For the wealthy: It offers a taxpayer-funded discount on private school tuition, a benefit they hardly need.
- For the vast majority of Texans, especially those in rural areas: It offers nothing. In counties where private schools are nonexistent, this bill simply diverts vital public school funding, further disadvantaging students who already lack resources.

This program isn't about expanding opportunity; it's about exacerbating existing inequities. Private schools often lack the same accountability and transparency as public schools. They can cherry-pick students, exclude those with disabilities, and operate without the same rigorous standards. This undermines the very purpose of public education: to provide a quality education for every child.

this is not 'school reform,' it's 'welfare for the wealthy.' It takes from the struggling public system and gives to those who already have more.

Instead of subsidizing private schools that serve a select few, we must invest in our public schools, the cornerstone of our democracy. We must:

- Ensure equitable funding that keeps pace with inflation and the rising cost of living.
- Provide resources to support all students, regardless of their background or zip code.
- Strengthen accountability and transparency in public education.

If your oath to serve the people of Texas means anything, reject this divisive and harmful bill. Prioritize the education of all our children, not just a privileged few.

Jennifer Jorns, Mrs.

Self

Dallas, TX

I encouraged my adult children to purchase real estate in the Dallas ISD area of Lakewood so my grandchildren could receive an excellent public school education without squandering money on private schools. I assured them that they needed to start saving money for college expenses now. One of the reasons is Lakewood has the luxury of being subsidized by the Lakewood PTA with an approximate additional $450,000 yearly. It is sad that many schools must deliver daily without extra resources from parents who will not be able to afford private school with or without vouchers. With respect to my children's situation, I fear their real estate investment that is heavily based on quality public schools will lose their value when public schools are even more starved of funds because of vouchers. A possible motivation for vouchers that has been mentioned, is shifting children to private schools where there is no oversight of what can be taught, primarily as it refers to religion. Teaching a child religion should be the responsibility of the parent or church they choose to attend. That was and is the source of religious teaching for my children and grandchildren and it is free to anyone that considers it a priority. I feel that the real purpose of these vouchers is not being clearly presented by its backers, because it really makes no sense for Texas to further starve its public schools. It's time to encourage kids to go back to their neighborhood public school. So kids can live, play and go to school in the same neighborhood. Parents can stop spending so much time driving kids all over town to different schools and sporting events. Siblings don't always get accepted to the same school. If you really want to help families, adequately fund public schools. No vouchers.

Martha Hoey
Self— retired teacher
Coppell, TX

Please stop this bill. Our public schools need the funding and flexibility to meet the needs of our students and teachers. At the very least, all schools receiving funding should meet state standards. Please do not tear down our public schools with this bill!

Alexis Willingham
self
PROSPER, TX

I am not in support for my tax dollars funding private schools. I do not support the school voucher programs.

Diane Havlik, Mrs
Self
YOAKUM, TX

Please do not pass HB 3 that is tailored for the rich and will hurt private schools as follows:
It will call for fewer teachers
It will change the teacher to student ratio & increase class sizes
There will be less funding for public schools, ie, necessary texts, basic supplies, libraries
The bill discriminates against rural areas that have no private
The need for adequate public schools far exceeds the needs of private schools

I humbly ask you to vote against HB 3.

Thank you

Gerri Maxwell, Retired Professor
Self
Riviera, TX

As a lifelong public educator in both K-12 & university settings, Texas should fully fund public schools. I have written and had funded thirty plus million in TEA grants over my career to help supplement rural high need school districts. If public schools were fully funded in the first place, there would be less need for these grants. Moreover, as a parent, now grandparent & taxpayer, I do not support use of our tax dollars to support elite private educations. This proposal to do so is a travesty and failure to wisely spend taxpayer dollars.

Meredith Valach

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1. Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
2. HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
3. Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
4. We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Jennifer Garoutte

Self

Pearland, TX

I oppose school vouchers.

Rachel Tai

Self

Manchaca, TX

I urge you to vote NO on HB3 and stand with Texas families, teachers, and communities against school vouchers. This bill would take millions from our already underfunded public schools and funnel it into private school subsidies, with no accountability or transparency.

Here's what's at stake:

?? Defunding Public Schools – Vouchers divert critical taxpayer dollars away from public schools, which serve 90% of Texas children. Rural communities, where private options are scarce, will be hit the hardest.

?? Higher Taxes, Bigger Deficits – Voucher programs in other states have led to massive budget shortfalls and increased local taxes to compensate for lost education funding. Texas can't afford the same mistake.

?? No Accountability, No Standards – Private schools receiving taxpayer money don't have to follow the same academic, financial, or anti-discrimination standards as public schools.

?? Hurting Our Future Workforce – Texas needs strong public schools to prepare students for college and careers. Weakening public education weakens our economy.

HB3 is a bad deal for Texas families. Please vote NO and protect our children's education and our state's future.

Elizabeth Pavelka

Self - Former teacher/coach

Friendswood, TX

As a former public school educator and current parent with a child in public school, I can easily say that school vouchers are not what the state of Texas needs. You have to consider demographics, families with less, families with more, children with special needs, children with 504's, transportation needs - just to name a few. Our public schools aren't being awarded the money they so desperately need to begin with, adding school vouchers will be a detriment to families in Texas. Thank you.

Samantha Young

Self/disabled community

Cleveland, TX

As a disabled and autistic female with ADHD who had an IEP in school, the passing of this bill would be devastating to those who need a little more help in school. By passing this bill your leaving out the rural and small town schools who need help the most!! Not private schools! By refunding public school you are leaving kids in a disadvantage area of proper schooling, that's safe with security, updates classrooms and equipment, supplies for teachers and free lunches for kids who really need them, when school or free/discounted lunch is sometimes the only time kids get fed! And food fuels the brain for proper learning so please do not pass this bill!!!

Katherine Fulkerson

Self - Coordinator

Lantana, TX

Dear Representative Buckley,

As a dedicated professional in special education, I urge you to support an increase in the basic allotment for public schools and to oppose school vouchers. Our schools are facing unprecedented challenges—rising costs, staffing shortages, and increasing student needs—yet funding has not kept pace. Without adequate resources, schools struggle to provide essential services, particularly for students with disabilities who require specialized support.

Vouchers divert public funds to private institutions that are not held to the same accountability standards and are not required to serve all students. This shift disproportionately harms students with disabilities, low-income families, and rural communities, where public schools are the only viable option.

Increasing the basic allotment ensures that every child has access to a quality education, qualified teachers, and the resources necessary to succeed. Investing in our public schools strengthens our workforce, our economy, and our communities. I urge you to prioritize public education by increasing funding and rejecting policies that undermine its foundation. Our children deserve nothing less.

Sincerely,

Katie Fulkerson

Josie Kline, Mrs.

Self

Spring, TX

I am asking you to please oppose HB3. As a mom to an autistic young man who went to Texas public schools, I can personally tell you that MIRACLES happen in Texas public schools. My son went to Galatas Elementary. He had a paraprofessional, Mrs. Kahn, kinder through 4th grade. She worked with him each day. She was critical in his development and progress. She was safe, loving. She advised him and reminded him. She was like a second mom and a guardian angel. She helped him out of his shell. My son is 22 now, he's more successful and social than we could ever have imagined, and I know that it was Mrs. Kahn that worked with him in his formative years that helped with social skills and confidence. I will never forget Mrs. Kahn and the miracles that came from Galatas Elementary. Public Schools are already stretched so thin. If you strip money from Texas public schools, young people with autism, like my son, are less likely to get the miracles they need. Please fully fund our wonderful public schools. Make miracles more likely for all out students, not just the wealthy one. Please oppose HB3. Thank you so much, Josie Kline

Dianne Brooks

Self Retired

San Antonio, TX

I am against the private school voucher bill because it is essentially a tax credit for the people who choose to send their children to private school, many of whom already have the discretionary funds to afford the tuition. Private school admission is not available to every child and many rural areas have no private schools so this is not equitable. In addition, this would erode the very foundation of public schools. Public schools and its teachers have been maligned, disrespected and underfunded for too long. This is really all about putting money in the pockets of For Profit private school businesses and also removal of the separation of church and state. It's all about for profit money and power which has no place in the education of our children.

Lindsay Olinde, Dr.

Self, Civil Engineer

Austin, TX

I am a parent with two daughters attending in elementary school. I oppose any legislation that takes away from public schools. Defining the poverty line at low-income as 500% of the poverty line is absurd. Taking funds away from our public schools will harm our teachers, and ultimately the economy and readiness of the workforce and community that our children will enter into after graduation.

Do not divert any funds from public schools. It will harm generations of future Texans.

Shari McCarley

Self retired teacher

Bryan, TX

I am a conservative Republican and a retired teacher. I taught in a Title 1 district as a high school math teacher. Our campus graduated many students who went on to success in college and success in many different trades. So the blanket statement that public schools are all failures is not an accurate statement. I am very unhappy that this bill, including all the specifics, was not placed on the November ballot for all Texans to vote on. A vaguely written proposition 11 was included only in the Republican primary in 2024, a bit of a Trojan horse. Allocation of taxpayer funds to a private school is unacceptable. This proposal will only be available to less than 2% of Texas children, so this isn't about true school choice. Private schools do not have to accept all students, don't have to provide transportation, and don't have to provide services for students with disabilities. A voucher in most cases won't cover all of the private school tuition so parents have to pay the difference. Many rural areas of the state don't have a private school. If you're a good student and can get a scholarship for the balance of the tuition, that's good for you. If you're an OK student but can't get a scholarship for the rest of the tuition, then you can't have a choice. If you need transportation to school, you don't get a choice because private schools don't provide transportation. If you're a student with disabilities, you don't get a choice because private schools don't have to provide special education services. You are turning your backs on helping all Texas' students with HB 3. This is pandering to big donors and giving taxpayer money to people whose children are already in private school. Elections are not that far away for many of our elected officials. I will be voting for people who want to improve our public schools to help all students in Texas. Sincerely, Shari McCarley

Katie Acevedo

Self- teacher

Midland, TX

As an educator and a mom, I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. I beg of you to properly fund public education so my child has a chance to receive free and equitable education and I have a chance to provide a roof over her head and food in the pantry because my district like many others are currently increasing student to teacher ratios and laying off "non essential" employees to combat inadequate funding. As a Texas teacher I am SCARED for the future of Texas education.

Douglas Young

Self

Stephenville, TX

I'm all for school choice. We have it currently. You cannot tie funding for public schools to attendance and offer vouchers. You need to fix the problem of how public schools are funded first.

Homeschoolers and private schools see this as a government takeover of private schools/homeschools. This is anything but a conservative approach.

The constitution is clear on who bears the responsibility of funding public education. The State of Texas has that job. The state's job is not to fund private schools.

Iris Garcia

self

Arlington, TX

Dear Representative,

As a taxpayer in the State of Texas, I do NOT want an Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) Program and I do not support any form of vouchers that takes funds away from Public Schools. Please prioritize properly funding our public schools instead, taking into account inflation. Our public school teachers and students deserve better.

Elaine Gay

Self, Teacher

Hutto, TX

Hello. My name is Elaine and I am a public school teacher in a rural district in Central Texas. I am writing to voice my disapproval for any voucher system in the state of Texas. Not only will vouchers redirect funds from all students to the wealthiest (who can already afford "school choice"), but you will drive teachers away in droves. If you want any educators at all, public or private, this is not the way to do it. Lyndon B. Johnson, the finest president to ever come out of Texas, would be appalled at the fact that this is even being brought to the table. He knew the value of public education for all Texans and all Americans. Public education is a key component of the cure for poverty, and he knew it. I truly believe you are spitting on his grave and disrespecting his legacy by pushing for vouchers. You are telling poor Texans, black Texans, Hispanic Texans, disabled Texans, and more that you don't believe they deserve equal access to education and educational resources. You are telling children that they don't matter as much as your tax dollars. That is a horrendous position to hold, and I can't imagine any god in any religion wanting children to be valued by the dollar.

Vouchers reduce children to numbers on a spreadsheet. Vouchers are theft. Vote NO on HB3. Vote NO on vouchers.

Maria Hudson

Self

Little Elm, TX

Please vote again HB3. School vouchers are a detriment to overall public education. Please listen to constituents and not large $ donors.

Kegn Hodges
Self
Grand Prairie, TX
Strongly opposed

Tara Furiani
Self
Georgetown, TX

Stop what you're doing right now and get your comments into public record now AGAINST HB3! It doesn't take long. It's for the kids!

NO to VOUCHERS
funding to PUBLIC SCHOOLS
$1300 Basic Allotment per child.

Michelle Perez
Self, Document Control Manager
Spring, TX

The answer to our children and students falling behind academically is not to further rob our public education system by using taxpayer funds to prop up private schools.

Private schools are allowed to discriminate against students and families who don't align with their theological background. Additionally they are not required to provide an accessible education to special needs students. They lack in transparency and accountability. This voucher scheme is literally taking money vitally to the health of our public schools and lining the pockets of for profit private schools. This is absolutely unacceptable and I'm urging everyone to vote against this. Be brave, be wise, and take a stand! Future generations of Texans are counting on you all to ensure that they have access to robust and well funded public education.

David Sloan
self
Georgetown, TX

I am opposed to the bill as currently written. Public schools are critical to the future of our state and nation. Texas has been starving our schools of much-needed funding to address inflation and the setbacks from the Covid pandemic. In addition to underfunding our school districts and our classroom teachers, state leaders have disrespected our teachers and set them up for failure. They have also substituted biased materials to push partisan ideas instead of balanced curricula. After starving the public schools, they then push vouchers for private schools to further their ideological agenda at the urging of wealthy donors. Polling continues to show this is not what the parents or voters want for Texas. Fund our public schools for all our children like our future depends upon it. Texas can afford to have excellent schools that are funded consistently with the wealth available to our state.

Ashly Cochran

Self

Garland, TX

Members of the State Senate,

I urge you to vote NO on HB3 and reject school vouchers. Public tax dollars belong in public schools—schools that serve every child, not just a privileged few. Vouchers drain resources from already underfunded schools, leaving students with fewer teachers, larger class sizes, and diminished opportunities.

This bill does not create choice—it creates inequality. Private schools can reject students, while public schools must educate all. Rural communities will suffer, and students with disabilities will be left behind.

Protect our public schools. Say no to HB3. Say no to vouchers. Our kids deserve better.

Georgianne Hewett

Self

Georgetown, TX

The Governor's deeming this bill an "emergency" while withholding funds that hardworking taxpayers have paid to fund public education for Texas' 5.5 million public school students is unethical. It is also immoral to do so after receiving financial investment from billionaires determined to see this bill pass. Do you know what Texans want? They want the children in their community to receive a good education. They want their tax dollars to be used wisely. They want their neighbors who work in the schools - the teachers, librarians, aides, cafeteria workers, staff, coaches, maintenance workers to be paid a decent wage. They want strong, safe, peaceful neighborhoods. This bill undermines all of that. You are creating a problem (by underfunding schools) to create another problem (dissatisfaction with the underfunded schools) to solve a problem (looking for a better option) that won't solve the problem except for a small percentage (who can get accepted and pay the difference between the voucher and tuition and fees) and will undoubtedly create even bigger problems (deepening public school budget deficits, creating a state budget problem, and widening the gap between the haves and the have nots, which will ultimately cause our communities to be less safe). And, at the end of it all, you won't have even addressed the goal, which should be high quality schools for all. We should want to fund public schools because strong successful schools means strong vibrant communities. You all are smart. Deep in your Texan heart, you know that you cannot realistically draw a line between billionaire donors and the public good. Kill this bill.

GARY BALLARD, HB3

Public school children of Texas

Dripping Springs, TX

I support public schools and am against any public money being used for vouchers used in private schools. Tax money going to private schools is not right and to date has had very little success in states (Indiana) where their legislators have so designated tax monies.

Debbie Schmittou

Retired public school educator

PLANO, TX

Vouchers are not good for public schools. Public schools accept and educate ALL children. Schools are closing all around us. Mr Leach, this is specifically for you. You graduated from PSHS and I learned today that your children go to public school in Allen. If that is true, shame on you for supporting this. Hard working public schools educators need your support. I have not talked to a SINGLE parent that is in support of vouchers. We don't care what other states are doing! Please listen to the people in the trenches every day. Say no to vouchers!

Marcia Connors

Self

Dallas, TX

HB3 is not the solution to public education challenges, fund the schools.

Melissa Vittas
Self, parent
N RICHLND HLS, TX

Nope nope nope. Hard no. Full stop.

Ramon Chavez, Mr.
self, retired educator
Buda, TX

I have been an educator for more than 30 years, having taught at several public educational institutions throughout my professional career. Throughout that time, I was fortunate enough to be recognized for my work by being awarded three separate national teaching awards. I have seen first-hand the excellent work being done by public schools in Texas and in other states. I am deeply concerned about legislation that will serve to take away valuable funds from our public schools in favor of a school voucher program that will, in the long run, disproportionately benefit the wealthy. Texas legislators need only look at the state of Arizona who implemented a school voucher program for private schools that produced devastating consequences for the public educational system. Take a look at Arizona to see what the future holds for Texas if the legislature passes this harmful bill. Please listen to the experts, the public-school educators and administrators, rather than uninformed and self-serving government officials who seek to undermine public schools in our state.

Laura Payne
Self
Dripping Springs, TX

I am against school vouchers of any kind that would take my tax dollars away from the children in public schools in my school district, or any school district in Texas. An educated public is a necessity for our society to thrive and grow. Keep our tax dollars educating ALL children in public schools. Thank you!

Madi Pope
Self, Teacher
Nixon, TX

As a Texas public educator, I strongly oppose House Bill 3 and any school voucher programs. Public school teachers in Texas must meet rigorous certification requirements, including coursework, exams, and ongoing professional development to ensure they are qualified to educate our students. Private schools that receive voucher funds, however, are not held to these same standards—many do not require teachers to be certified at all. This creates an uneven playing field where taxpayer dollars are funneled into schools that are not accountable for teacher qualifications, curriculum standards, or student outcomes.

Additionally, I believe in the separation of church and state. Voucher programs often direct public funds to private religious schools, forcing taxpayers to support religious education that may not align with their own beliefs. Public funds should be used to strengthen our public schools, which serve all students regardless of background, ability, or faith. Instead of weakening public education, lawmakers should invest in our certified educators and ensure every Texas child has access to a well-funded, high-quality public school.

Rebecca Faulk
Self. Former Montessori teacher, mom who has homeschooled, sent children to both public and private schools. Current Grandmother to a 3-year-old who will be starting kindergarten in 2 years
Sugar Land, TX

I am opposed to a state school voucher system that would take MORE funding away from our public schools. Fort Bend ISD alone could lose up to $32million with this. Private schools do not have to accept children with learning differences, provide transportation, or accountability. All children in our state should be provided with quality public education options, supported by the state in addition to the local communities. Our future depends on an educated citizenship.

Julie Hinaman

self

Cypress, TX

I oppose HB3. ESAs lack the academic and financial accountability and transparency expected by TX taxpayers. Fund our local public schools as required by the TX state constitution instead of using taxpayer funds/general revenue funds to subsidize private school tuition. Please do not create more bloated bureaucracy ($30M to comptroller + $50M to vendors + 42 FTEs). School choice already exists in TX. Please listen to your constituents, not billionaire donors.

Matthew Spitsberg

Self (clergy)

Lubbock, TX

House Bill 3, which seeks to establish “educational savings accounts” or school vouchers in Texas, is not the solution its supporters claim it to be. While it is being marketed as a way to expand educational opportunities, the reality is that it will divert public tax dollars away from our neighborhood schools to private institutions that are not held to the same standards of accountability, transparency, or inclusivity. This bill will not serve “the least of these.” Instead, it will further disadvantage the students and communities who rely most on a strong public education system.

Texas has long prided itself on local control and responsible stewardship of public funds. HB 3 undermines both. Public schools are the heart of our communities, serving every child regardless of background, income level, or learning ability. They are accountable to parents, taxpayers, and elected school boards. Private schools, however, are not bound by these same requirements. They can choose which students they accept and are not obligated to provide services for children with special needs or those from low-income backgrounds. A voucher system does not create true choice; it simply shifts public money into private hands while leaving behind the students who need the most support.

The Texas I know—one shaped by hard-working families, committed educators, and community leaders who invest in the next generation—does not want this bill. We want to strengthen our public schools, not siphon resources away from them. We want real solutions that address teacher shortages, increase funding for underserved schools, and ensure every child has access to a high-quality education, no matter their zip code.

HB 3 does not reflect the values of fairness, responsibility, or care for “the least of these” that Texans hold dear. It is a step toward dismantling public education, not improving it. If we truly want to invest in our children’s future, we must stand against this bill and instead commit to fully funding and supporting the public schools that serve all Texans.

Sheron Wechsler

Self

Corp Christi, TX

Vote NO to vouchers or education savings accounts. Taxpayer money should only go to Public Schools. No to the voucher scam that will hurt our public schools.

McKenzie Finch

Self

Longview, TX

I do not support this bill. As it stands, my freedoms remain in tact, but years from now, I do not trust that politicians will uphold my rights, unhindered, as a home educator. This is a first small step towards giving people back money they already paid out in taxes to local school districts. I’d rather see a solution where the taxes are not even paid in the first place unless you opt to public school your child. This ESA, to the best of my knowledge, will only impact a small portion of families in Texas. I find it silly to gamble my freedom as a homeschooler on such a short-reaching bill.

Morgan Moran de Sanchez

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose the school voucher program; tax dollars need to stay in public school systems only, not routed to private education.

Livia Salinas, Mrs

Self

Spicewood, TX

Public schools are the life of our communities. Our kids have the right to education. Tax payer money is not needed for wealthy families who already have their kids in private schools. Public schools need more and all funding as they are the pillars to our society and future of our kids. Public schools keep our communities engaged, active and productive. Kids who graduate from public schools come to appreciate their peers, respect their paths and are more likely to live happily in a diverse environment. There aren't enough private schools to keep all kids at a standard level. Rural communities will suffer deeply from budget cuts as well as local economies. No to school vouchers.

Allison Kennedy-Pickens

Self

Pflugerville, TX

Stop using my public tax dollars to support private institutions. Public funds belong in public school. There is a separation of church and state in this country and I don't want my tax dollars supporting religious institutions that spread hate and propaganda. I support everyone's own right to worship and financially support the organizations that are meaningful to them and their faith. Please don't muddy the waters of faith and education. Don't steal money from my children's already financially burdened public school to give to rich people to send their kids to private school. Only a small, elite group benefit from this bill and your job is to provide education to all children in this state. Leave our schools alone. You are supposed to be the party of small government.

Vanessa Nunn

Self Retired

Arlington, TX

I am against HB3. When my three children were school age they attended a private school through 8th grade. I did not expect the state to support my school choice. I think it is a travesty that this program will take funds from public schools. The visits to private schools instead of public schools to drum up support for the bill indicates even more so that this bill has very little intention of supporting comprehensive school choice. It is a bill to allow those in private schools to receive a discounted education at the taxpayers expense with none of the oversight required in public schools. Private schools will continue to accept who they want to attend their schools and increase tuition if necessary to further exclude unwanted students.

John Moon
Self, Teacher
Arlington, TX

This is a shameful attempt to commit theft of the futures of generations of Texans. Vouchers/ESAs have not worked anywhere they have been implemented, the data from numerous states have been presented to the House, and you continue to ignore it. Testimony from budget experts on the matter have told you as much. They are unsustainable. But still the House ignores the facts and opinions of their constituents. PTA groups have come to Austin to speak with Reps, such as Cook and King, and were told this is the Governor's pet project, and they won't stand in his way, though their voters expressed they don't want them. Many of the supporters of this bill have been backed by vendors who are the only ones who will benefit from this bill, at the detriment of our children. Public education is the cornerstone of our democracy, but the House seems to have forgotten or been paid to forget this. Abbott has withheld critical funding for our schools, changed criteria to lower school ratings without informing districts of the changes, and used false narratives in an effort to further discredit the teaching profession. There have been teacher shortages in the majority of districts across the state due to the lack of support at the state level. ESAs won't stop this, and will likely make more teachers leave the profession, especially with their retirement endangered by HB3. When you set an institution up for failure, such as withholding funding, then that failure does not belong to those who are trying to fight it. Take ownership of it Gov. Abbott and Lt. Gov. Patrick. Those who support vouchers are derelict in their duties of supporting the future of our state and nation. The state is watching the outcome of this bill, we will see who truly believes in the rights of every child to receive a fair and meaningful education, and those who choose do not. We will not forget who is responsible for the failure of Texas education.

Amy Brown
Self, Texas public educator
The Colony, TX

The people of Texas do not support this bill. It is nothing more than a coupon for the wealthy, at the expense of our already underfunded public schools. Our representatives are supposed to represent the people who voted in our elections, not the billionaires who try to buy them. If you believe this is what the people want, let us vote on it!

Mary Tiernan
self
Austin, TX

Just say No to Vouchers! (or ESAs or whatever you want to call them!)

This whole voucher concept is a scam and is bad for so many reasons. Parents in Texas already have lots of school choice. Private schools do not offer the same opportunities as public schools (and we need public schools to continue doing so!) A $10K voucher is not going to significantly open private schools to anyone who is not currently attending.

I am the parent of a public, high school student, and I already have plenty of choice in where he goes to school. We currently have our public schools, a myriad of charter schools and homeschools. There are already so many choices, it makes my head spin. My son has dyslexia and other learning disabilities, and traditional academics are not his strength. He would not be accepted to most private schools, as his entrance exam scores would reflect his learning differences.

In our public school, he has started the CTE track for welding. He has the possibility to earn an Associate's Degree in Welding as well as industry certificates in welding before his high school graduation. He is excelling in his CTE class, and it motivates him to learn. This is his path to becoming "Career ready" and graduating from high school. None of the private schools provide this type of opportunity. Unfortunately, with our district's current budget deficit, I live in fear that this will be one of the programs cancelled. I'm sure you are aware of the need for certified tradespeople. Destroying public education will further limit the pipeline of workers. How is our Texas economy going to remain strong without an educated, diverse work force?

A voucher is not going to give a family a choice of private school, it is only going to subsidize parents who are already sending their children to private schools. A quick web search for private high schools in the Austin area reveals that tuition at St. Dominic Savio is $17k, Regents is $21K, St. Michaels is $30K, St. Stephens is $43K, Hyde Park Baptist is $28K and Rawson Saunders is $43K. That does not include any of the required parent "donations", bus service or uniforms. A meager $10K voucher is not going to make a difference for the vast majority of families.

A billion dollars is a huge sum of money. As other states have shown, this amount will only increase in subsequent years. If you are determined to give $10K grants to parents of school age children, at least do what Jesus would have done- give it to the needy, not the wealthy.

Please say No to Vouchers!

Adrienne Coburn

Self- Analyst

Mansfield, TX

Dear Representative, I am a parent and a taxpayer in the State of Texas. I do NOT agree with vouchers or an education savings account program. I am an advocate for Public Education; in fact, my child is receiving an excellent Public Education that is robust and rigorous. It is inconceivable and irresponsible that the State of Texas has neglected its fiduciary duties and responsibilities to our children and educators since 2019. Since then, the cost of living has increased, and inflation is over 20%. Representative, you took a promised oath to the people of Texas. I am advocating for the following: ? an increase of the Basic Allotment and ? Funding for Public Schools in Texas, including the inflated amount of over 20%. Again, Representative, I want you and your colleagues to know that our children and the staff deserve to be treated with dignity and respect by Funding Public Schools in Texas. Sincerely, Adrienne Coburn

Julie Rolf

Self

Corpus Christi, TX

Public money should stay in public schools. Our children deserve fully funded, fully staffed schools that are safe and modern. No to vouchers or vouchers by any other name. No to billionaires from who knows where and their opinions about where Texas' money should go. Fully fund our schools.

Dugan Taylor, Retired Teacher

Teachers

Schertz, TX

Please support public schools

Not vouchers Teachers have suffered enough!

Shae Montandon

Self/stay at home mom

Lubbock, TX

I am strongly against HB 3 and the education savings account otherwise known as vouchers. I do not believe the vouchers program will be beneficial to anyone except those that are already attending private schools. It will hurt our public education and as a mother I am sickened at the thought of putting the upper class ahead of the rest. Every child should have access to quality education and the only way that is truly possible is to fully fund our public schools. Texans already gave school choice and can take their children to any school that they would like. This voucher program will not change that. It does not give us more freedom. It only incentivizes people to leave public schools and cripples our public school system. NO TO VOUCHERS!

We love our public school in Lubbock Texas and we love the teachers. Do not hurt the schools and teachers that we love!

Torey Sparkman

Self

Quanah, TX

The school voucher program will not represent the majority of the students in Texas. It will end up costing our students a quality education. Please vote no for School vouchers!

Amanda Ahr

Self

Houston, TX

Public education is lacking the funding to improve. As a taxpayer, I do not want my dollars going to for-profit private schools, especially those with any religion-based curriculum or mission. Only those who live in wealthy areas with private schools would benefit from the discounts, which is absurd. Texas should put taxpayer dollars into improving public schools, providing more resources, hiring qualified teachers, and increasing teachers' pay.

Megan Field

property tax payer and parent

Austin, TX

I am against school vouchers or ESAs as you like to cleverly call them. This is a system that has failed in numerous states. FULLY FUND public schools before you even consider this option . How dare you claim schools are "failing". It is your the legislators who are failing the children of Texas. I do not want my taxes in numerous counties going elsewhere. And what about rural kids? These is a scam. You all should be ashamed of your actions. Texans do not want this; if so, then leave it up to the voters.

Mario Adame

Self

San Antonio, TX

What is it going to take to put the ESA on a public ballot to vote on? The governor claims most parents want what he wants. Why not let this democracy speak and find a way to place public education on a ballot?

Lisa Clark

Self

Texas City, TX

Vouchers do not allow parent choice for lower income families. This bill would take funding from free public education and give it to wealthy families. Vote against this bill. I am a registered voter who votes in every election since 1984. America is seeing the turmoil, recession, etc., caused in DC. We will remember how current politicians vote on this issue especially but all the others as well. 4 years? 6years? 2 years?

Binyomin Medetsky

Self/ Real Estate investor

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Angelique Urquidez

MY CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN

Aledo, TX

This bill, if passed, will be done so at a detriment to the children in public education. Do your job correctly and realize how this will hurt so many children, the future of our country! DO NOT PASS HB3.

Sydney Pitt

Self

AUSTIN, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher programs cost accelerates quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education

Jana Kennemer
self - music therapist
The Colony, TX

I would like to speak out against HB 3. I'm a proud public school employee of 25 years, I have given my life to working with students who have special needs. I have watched my school district make cut after cut, increase class sizes, sacrifice things like substitute teachers, and not give raises this year because of a deficit budget. Ultimately this has lead to the decision to close five amazing schools in my district. These schools are thriving and are the heartbeat of their neighborhoods, it is gut wrenching to see them close in order to save money. My big ask is that public schools are fully funded. We are currently operating on the 2019 student allotment rate. Have your been able to run your household budget on 2019 funds? If ESAs are unavoidable, I ask that you level the playing field and give public schools their fair shot by fully funding them. I can't think of a better investment than the investment in our beautiful Texas public schools. We should be the shining gem in the nation, but we are near the bottom in funding. We owe Texas children and their families more than bottom of the barrel school funding. Texas is better than that!

Arlis Miles
Self
Houston, TX

The voucher program will be a disaster for public schools. The majority of Texans are against it. Please vote no and do not support vouchers.

Tamara Crawford
SELF
Spicewood, TX

I am a Texas resident, parent, and strong advocate of public education. HB3 is extremely detrimental to our public school system and is overly flawed. This "voucher" program is aimed at helping the rich at the expense of the less advantaged. I urge our lawmakers to strongly oppose this bill and focus instead on working to improve our current public school system. You owe it to your constituents to listen as the majority of Texans are in opposition of this bill.

Jen Tsou
Self
Austin, TX

I strongly oppose this bill.

rajka smiljanic
self teacher
Austin, TX

I oppose school vouchers. They divert public funds to private schools, often reducing resources for public education and increasing inequality. They are a threat to public education in this state.

Peggy Redmond
Self
Hutto, TX

I oppose this bill. I will vote against any and everyone who passes this bill. Put it to a public vote. Or are you too scared because you know the voters will oppose it? Happy last term if you vote this through. Happy last term for whoever passes this. Let the voters decide

Kimberly Boettcher

self retired Texas public school teacher

Cedar Park, TX

I taught in Texas public schools for almost 30 years. Who could work with our Texas children and not love them? Removing funding from public schools which serve ALL children is not love. We are not EVEN near states like Massachusetts academically, and yet the masquerade to give parents 'choice' to educate their children to be competitive in job markets will only help a select few who were making the choice of private schooling in the first place. I grew up in Sweetwater, Texas. The town is ruby red republican. There are no private schools in that town nor any other rural towns just like it. So if helping only the people of the republican party is a goal, this will hurt the children of the people who did vote for you. During my 30 years in Hurst Eules Bedford ISD, I became keenly aware of the haves and the have nots in public school. Most days I felt like I'd done everything I could to teach, to reach and to pull out each child's quiet potential. There are so many ways our legislators could actually help our children if that truly were the objective. If the saying is "you're only as strong as your weakest link," taking money from underfunded public schools to give to private schools will produce a lot of weak links. Guess what undereducated people will give the state of Texas: more people needing government assistance unless that is all cut- and then what? They die? It is already difficult for young people to get jobs that make a livable wage without extra resources in the state of Texas. Texas has made sure of that. Many of our children, and I use the word children to address all the kids in public education- if you are a parent, you'll understand. So many children come from single parent families or other home situations that don't even allow those parents to enter the conversation regarding private school. A $10K voucher is like finding the golden ticket torn in half. It's a nice dream. If you've attended or put your children in private schools, then you know this. There was a time I truly wondered about teaching in private school instead of public. The focus on standardized testing as opposed to actual children became disheartening. Public schools accepted all children, even the difficult ones. Believe me, I know. Private schools have more choice in who is accepted. Private schools don't have to jump through the obstacle courses of standardized testing that public schools do. And on that note if your clientele is carefully selected then chances are the performance is controlled as well. Can you just imagine if our public schools in the state of Texas were a priority? Not a priority to destroy, but to fix, fund and to build up little Texans that grow into adults that have a competitive academic edge with other states. All Texas children deserve to be educated to the best of our abilities. I believe that is self preservation- that sees self as our great state of Texas- not self as in I and me. Vote NO

KELEIGH FELDER

self

HOUSTON, TX

Voucher bills were first proposed in Texas in the 1950s as a reaction to Brown v. Board of Education as a means to avoid racial integration—and they've been rejected time and time again. We must stand together and make our voices heard! Billionaires that donated millions to our governor to push vouchers shouldn't have the final say in decisions that impact our schools and communities. Our voices matter. Our votes matter. Let's make sure our representatives hear us loud and clear! Keep public money in public schools. Fully fund our schools! Texas is the second richest state, yet we rank 46th in the nation in per-student expenditures. Our kids deserve better!

Diane Evidente
self
Carrollton, TX

I want to state my objection to HB3 and any voucher bill.

We already have school choice in Texas. Parents can choose between public, charter, magnet, academies, early college, specialty CTE programs, homeschooling, and, yes, private schools.

I pay some of the highest school taxes in TX for Lewisville ISD. We have excellent public schools that my child attended. I do not want my tax money paying for a private school education for the elite who already send their kids to private schools. This has been the class in every state that has adopted this wealth distribution scheme AZ, WI, and NH all have at least 75-80% of the voucher money going to families already attending private schools. My tax dollars should not be used for an unaccountable private (mostly Christian) system.

This is not a conservative way of government. You want to create a multi-million dollar program that adds to the already bloated bureaucracy. How is growing government now a Republican priority? Republicans should be shrinking government. Are you receiving money from the Christian Nationalists (Dunn, Wilks, Yass) like our dirty governor is?

You are charged with funding public education as per the Texas constitution. Yet, you and your republican buddies have been withholding funds since 2019. We need the per-student allotment increased by at least $600 per student (it should be doubled).

As a conservative and Republican voter, I am appalled at what you and your cohorts are doing to public education. If you have money to throw at vouchers - then you can fund public education.

Kate Smith
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Kate Smith

Kathy Lollar
West Texas Music Academy
Odessa, TX
No vouchers

Beth Malcolm

Self

Austin, TX

Abbott is a Yass man! This is not good for our kids! Look at the charter school problems. Unvetted educators let near our kids and moved around like the priests were to abuse more.

Stop making our kids a commodity.

No vouchers! We will vote you out.

The people do not want this.

Lisa Timmons, Dr.

Self, educator

Plano, TX

As a parent whose child will start Texas public school in the fall, I believe this bill is indirectly detrimental to the public school system. It encourages students to abandon public education for homeschooling or private schools. While it is parents' right to determine what is best for their children, this is not really the way to make that choice accessible to more families. I would love to be able to afford private school for my child, but the actual tuition at private schools in the area of DFW where I live has schools with tuition ranging from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. This does not include transportation or other related costs, which means including an ESA/voucher, I would still spend more than I currently do on child care for my child to attend one of these schools. As a full-time working parent, I cannot reasonably homeschool my child. I cannot afford to quit my job to do so. Furthermore, the school district I live in just announced they are closing the middle school my daughter would have attended in the future. Instead, she will be zoned to one of three other middle schools that are twice the distance from our house. People are already leaving the public school system if they can afford to do so and this bill would result in fewer students, thus lower funding and fewer teachers in public schools. My story is just one example. Over half of the counties in Texas do not have a single private school and many parents who might opt to homeschool are most likely not qualified to do so from the standpoint of educational background. In fact, the poor performance of public schools in Texas touted as a reason for this bill can probably also be at least partially attributed to the shortage of highly-qualified certified public school teachers, low teacher pay, and ongoing disrespect towards the public school system and its existing teachers. The current bill would serve a very small percentage of the millions of Texas students with $1 billion, an amount that is set to increase in the future. While there are claims that this does not affect public school funding, there is a limited amount of money in the Texas budget and allocation to one cause means that money cannot be allocated elsewhere.

Lastly, public schools provide services to students with disabilities such as 504 plans and IEPs through federal requirements such as the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. Private schools are able to easily reject students with disabilities by claiming they do not have the infrastructure to implement this programming. Therefore, the idea that this bill or "school choice" benefits students with disabilities is likely false.

Alison Pittman

Self, educator

College Station, TX

I am an educator living in College Station, Texas and I oppose how to spell three. Texas needs to learn from other states who have enacted such bills. Taking funding away from public schools will further deteriorate the quality of public education in Texas. Vouchers do not cover the full cost of private education, and many families have returned to public education and do not stay in voucher programs long-term. This program puts vulnerable students at risk, including students with special medical needs and students in rural areas in a highly rural state. Please stop kowtowing to lobbyist groups and do what is best for Texas children. The Texas State Constitution outlines the duty Texas has to make suitable provisions for and maintain an efficient public education system. Do better.

Mary Wischkaemper

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am against spending a billion dollars for vouchers.

Why don't you spend that billion on public education?

Mary Anderson
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Jennifer Donato
Pleasanton ISD
Poteet, TX

Look at other states to see if it has worked.

Emily Chow
Self
Austin, TX

I am a parent of two children attending public school in Leander ISD who opposes HB 3 and any private school vouchers. Our kids and teachers deserve fully public funded schools. Tax payer money should be for public schools and not given to private schools and without any accountability.

Heather Rosenquist
Self/School Psychologist
San Antonio, TX

As a school psychologist working in a lower income district, I'm very concerned about resources for special education students.

Kayla Mary
Self
Gatesville, TX

I, Kayla Mary M.S CCC-SLP, oppose the establishment of school vouchers/ESA's, as a constituent of Brad Buckley. I am a public school based speech language pathologist. I do NOT support "diverting" funds from public schools, and potentially giving tax payer dollars to students who can already afford private schools. I do NOT support ESA policy reform that has already failed in many states. I DO support raising the basic allotment higher than what is being purposed in a separate education funding bill, and denouncing the ESA scheme that is ROOTED in segregation (See Davis v. County School Board of Prince Edward County, and Brown v. Board of Education). I do NOT support Greg Abbott's education policy agenda, or the agenda of his billionaire donors including Jeff Yass.

Ann Heller
Self
Victoria, TX

I oppose HB3 as written. I believe Public Schools should be fully funded. I believe Tax Payer funds should NOT go to private schools!! Especially without accountability!!

Becky Warren
Self
Woodway, TX

As a retired public school teacher and daughter of a public school teacher, I demand that our legislators follow the request of a huge majority of your constituents by opposing cuts to our state public education budget. No one wants taxpayer dollars to go to the wealthy. This voucher bill is not only ridiculous but dangerous.

Lauren Brauer
Self, PTA
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill and the voucher proposal. Public money should go toward public education and have public accountability- the same standards and testing and oversight. Other states with these voucher programs show that the grand majority of the money goes to families with incomes who could afford private education anyway. Vouchers do not improve educational outcomes and would funnel money away from public schools if their enrollment drops because of this. Keep public funds in public schools.

Garion Taylor
Self Retiree public school teacher
Lufkin, TX

I am against any bill that includes any type of “school choice “ which actually means vouchers . Parents already have school choice . I do not want tax money going to private schools .

Carole Haynes, Dr.
Self
Waxahachie, TX

While I support school choice, HB 3 is not the solution. It fails to align with the interests of Texans but rather with the state and more government control that is undermining true learning. How the program is being funded is a fraud. Rather than creating competition for the public school, this bill, along with other proposed increased public school funding, will vastly increase the budget for government schools by a staggering total of $13 billion. Instead of using tax credits, this bill is being funded by tax dollars.

HB 3 does not allow the parents freedom over what and how their children learn. Forcing “pre-approval” of expenses through “pre-approved providers and vendors” is not choice but more government control – exactly what parents are fighting to end.

Forcing families to use accredited schools and certified or accredited tutors and teaching services is not choice but more government control. Forcing families to purchase books, curriculum, and online courses from pre-approved vendors is not choice but more government control.

HB 3 is not what Texans have called for. It is a sham and Texans will soon find out, that once again, they have been shafted.

Wendy Fenn, Reverend

PCUSA pastor

Dallas, TX

I am a Presbyterian minister, one who greatly values education. My deepest values support the education of all people, in this case, all Texans, which will be under mind if you pass this voucher bill.

Please stand up to all the money that has been poured into this campaign, And support our right to education for all children.

Thank you, Wendy Fenn

Mario Campo

Self

Houston, TX

Make public schools better instead. That's all. That's what we need.

Jenna Jackson

Self

Clifton, TX

I am opposed to school vouchers

Rachel Taylor

Self

Woodway, TX

This is wrong and will take so much from our public schools and their already depleted funding. Our kids deserve better.

Julie Blair

Self

Lubbock, TX

I am against school vouchers. I am originally from a small farming community in Texas and without state funding, this school, like many others, would cease to exist. The nearest private schools from my hometown is 25-45 miles away and the majority would not have the remaining funds to attend. School vouchers cause a bigger divide in society.

Daisy Michalson
Self, project manager
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Anna Bauereis
Anna Bauereis/ Homeschoolers
Austin, TX

A little background: I am a mother of five children who have been educated in a variety of settings—public schools, private schools, alternative schools, and homeschool. Additionally, I spent over fifteen years working with children who struggled in all types of educational environments. However, my concerns about HB3 are not based solely on personal experience but on fundamental principles.

Fellow conservatives, while we all champion educational freedom, HB3 introduces an expansion of government that directly contradicts the principles we hold dear.

First, this bill establishes a vast new regulatory structure for private education. Any private school that accepts these funds will be subject to government oversight—testing mandates, reporting requirements, and layers of compliance measures. We have long resisted the intrusion of government into education, yet this bill extends its reach into our private institutions.

Second, we must consider the financial consequences. HB3 creates a new entitlement without corresponding budget reductions elsewhere. The long-term cost is projected to reach billions, with administrative overhead potentially exceeding 8%. Is this responsible stewardship of taxpayer dollars? Historically, government programs grow—they do not shrink.

Third, this bill disrupts free-market principles. It imposes government-set pricing, limits on how providers can structure their services, and artificial financial mechanisms that interfere with natural market forces. This is not true school choice—it is a government-controlled marketplace.

Fourth, we must recognize the precedent this sets for government interference in private and home education. Wherever government funding goes, regulations inevitably follow. By inviting this level of involvement now, we risk increased oversight and restrictions in the future.

Finally, what happens when future legislatures add more conditions, restrictions, or regulatory burdens to these funds? Once government control is introduced, it rarely retreats.

We must remain steadfast in our commitment to limited government, fiscal responsibility, and authentic educational freedom. There are better, more principled ways to support families and expand educational opportunities without growing government intervention in private education.

Let's hold fast to the ideals that have long guided us and seek solutions that empower parents without compromising our principles.

I Humbly ask you to remove Homeschoolers from this Bill

Karlsson Salek

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Karlsson Salek

Toral Patel

Myself and the Town of Flower Mound

Flower Mound, TX

We need funding for our public schools that we pay taxes on!

Sarah Martinez
Self, educator
Round Rock, TX

Thank you all for your service to our community. I appreciate the time and effort you are giving for these important issues.

Here in Central Texas, we have lots of school choice already. I was able to put my children in a public school district where I work rather than where I live. This allows me the flexibility of picking them up immediately after school or allowing them to stay later for tutoring, extracurricular activities, or school-wide events. Without school choice, I would have to rely on bus transportation and they would be home alone after school instead of engaging in activities at school that will enrich their educational experience and help them improve academically. I work long hours, but because their school is near my office I can attend their theatre performances and art shows, pick them up from school in a timely manner when they get sick, and be engaged in community functions at their school. School choice already exists, and many of the options are free or have minimal costs. Parents can choose to put their child in their local public school, another public school in the same district, a public school in another nearby district, a virtual public school, a public charter school, or they can homeschool.

The proposed legislation to provide an education savings account will do nothing to create school choice for many Texas families. Over half of Texas counties don't have a single private school option for parents to choose from. Private schools are not typically located in lower income or rural areas. They frequently reject students who need accommodations because they have special needs, behavior issues, or they are below grade level academically. The local public school must accept every student in their attendance zone. In addition to being tuition-free, they provide transportation to and from school, and many children receive free or reduced meals through the National School Lunch Program. Many private schools do not offer these services. The only way to improve the education available to EVERY student is to adequately fund and support our PUBLIC schools.

The basic allotment provided by the State of Texas for each public school student is $6,160 and has not been increased since 2019 despite significant increase of costs to operate a school. I appreciate that House Bill 3 proposes to raise this by $220, but that is not enough to keep up with inflation. Additionally, the Texas Legislature passed new school safety laws in 2023 without providing the funding for districts to make them happen. Budgets are being cut again and again, teachers are losing their jobs, and class sizes becoming too large to be effective.

The Texas Constitution Article 7 says it is "the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools." Please join the bipartisan support to meet our constitutional obligation to adequately fund PUBLIC schools.

Katie Haby
Self - Manager
Hondo, TX

I am opposed to ANY bill that has school vouchers in ANY FORM. I want the Representatives to focus on fully funding public schools, as the residents of Texas and school superintendents have nicely asked them to do for the last few sessions. I want Texas to work to have the best public schools in the USA and to get our funding per student where it should be. I want them to do the right thing and do what the majority of the residents want, not what the Governor wants for his select few rich donors. Texas is better than that.

Coelle Deaton
Self
Fort Worth, TX

School choice is not a choice unless it is a choice for everyone. As a mother of a student with a disability, the voucher program will only hurt him and students like him. Money doesn't give us a choice as the schools who take money won't take him as a student. To take my taxpayer money and give it to schools that discriminate against my student is wrong. To take money away from public schools- the only schools that are required to serve students with disabilities- and give it to schools who serve only privileged students is wrong. Do the right thing and fund public schools which will serve every student- including the most vulnerable. If you would take the time to check in with the people you have been elected to serve, you will find that the public is overwhelmingly opposed to this bill. Make the choice to serve those people and vote against this bill and for public education.

Stevie Otto

Self, Higher Education Administrator

Plano, TX

While I applaud your attention to creating options for education in our state, this approach takes away from the majority of citizens in Texas and will not improve our public education system. My son currently attends the only IB public school in our area. We should be using this money to create more opportunities like this that are available to all children. Public charter schools can have a positive impact on a community. Public academies create a college-ready population who will become our next doctors and nurses, and public trade schools can develop the next generations of electricians and plumbers. ESAs are only going to cause private schools to inflate their prices in order to maximize their revenue. We have already seen this happen in higher education. Please invest in our public schools. We should be leading the nation in innovative methods and funding ways to better help those who need accommodations to make Texas even better. You're not only investing in our children and their future, but the future of Texas's workforce and our economy.

Lynda West

Self retired

Austin, TX

Texans and our Governor like to brag on how great Texas is and on the categories where it is First in Class. There is one area where Texas is near the bottom and that area is most important for success in the 21st Century, the Information Age—school funding. School funding sits at 41st among states, many of which are underfunded, 44th if adequately funded. The pittance of an increase proposed in per pupil funding for public schools may keep the starved patient alive, but it won't restore him to health. Vouchers further limit public school funding, taking vital school dollars and putting them, for the most part, in the pockets of the wealthy.

Three states which are recognized for the quality of their public schools are New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut. They fund public schools in the nineteen to twenty one thousand range. Let's compete for the top, not race to the bottom.

Linda Allee

Self

Meadowlakes, TX

I don't support any tax money going to support private schools. Fully fund public schools!

Kristen Cooley

Myself

Spring, TX

School Vouchers will only defund Public Education and give rich people money they clearly do not need.

Betsy Howerton

Self

Arlington, TX

This bill will be so harmful for public education and will hurt the many students across the state who cannot afford a private school even with a voucher. Please consider our future and vote no!

Bruce Krajewski

Self

College Station, TX

Taxpayer funds are for the public good. Thus, public schools. Private parties started private schools & private parties can fund those with their own money. Tax dollars should not support vouchers for private or religious education and dilute the support for public schools. Separation of church and state has already been established in law (Everson v. Board of Education). Teachers in public education in Texas are still paid poorly (not even in the top 20 in the nation for average teacher salary), to the point that Texas has lowered the bar -- alternative certification -- for who can teach.

Janice Maxey
Self/ software engineer
Mckinney, TX

I profusely opposed this bill, we need more budget into our public education system not take it way. I have 3 kids and have no intentions on putting them in a private school. I already got an email from McKinney ISD about cutting programs and position due to state funding, this voucher will just make it worse.

Heather Brandon
Swlf
Frisco, TX

As a parent of two school aged children, I am against the establishment of ESA's. These accounts are nothing more than grabbing public dollars to fund private enterprises. You cannot level a playing field if the fields are not the same. The ONLY way a bill like this, or any other where vouchers are concerned that should be considered is if it must adhere to the same guidelines expected by public schools. Must accept and keep all that apply, must transport children that live more than two miles away, must adhere to the teks and required testing standards, must follow UIL guidelines, must be a part of the Texas rating system, must take daily attendance to receive funding, must follow book and curriculum guidelines the same as public schools, teachers must be certified in the subjects they teach, school must be in session for at least the minimum number of minutes per year required by the state, must have an elected governing board and have financial documents made available. No public dollars to these enterprises without the EXACT same expectations, regulations, and guidelines.

Brandon Cox
Self
Lakeway, TX

I am against the education savings account program. This does not serve the Texans fairly. This hurts our public schools.

Georgia Viertel

Self, nonprofit specialist

Haltom City, TX

“Those who advocate for vouchers are not advocating for parents’ rights. Texas families will have fewer opportunities to find out what’s happening inside their child’s school because private schools are not required to comply with state accountability and assessment standards, open records laws, special education rules, or curriculum requirements.

Of the 5.4 million public schoolchildren in Texas, nearly 950,000 live in rural areas, where options other than their local public schools are few and far between. It’s disingenuous to claim that vouchers will give these families more choice when that means driving dozens of miles every day to a private or religious school. It’s not a realistic option for hard-working Texas families in rural areas of our state.

That’s precisely why Texas’ rural lawmakers have long opposed voucher programs. They know that vouchers would weaken their local public schools, which for generations have rightfully been the pride of their communities.

Texas has nearly 200 public Early College high schools designated across the state, giving students a way to graduate with both a high school diploma and an associate degree.

More than 1 in 5 Texas public school students in grades 11 and 12 took at least one AP or IB exam in 2019-20, helping ensure college readiness.

More Texas public students are taking Career and Technical Education classes than ever before, with nearly 60% enrollment in 2019-20, up from about 21% in 2009.

Nearly 40,000 Texas public high school students graduated with an approved industry-based certification in 2018-19, meaning they were qualified for everything from construction to health sciences.

Across the state, 1,118 campuses offer dual-language immersion programs that give students the opportunity to be bilingual and bicultural.

School districts across the state are offering innovative courses in more than 150 disciplines, including maritime sciences, sports medicine, pipefitting, engineering design, and aviation, giving students the opportunity to learn real-world skills while earning their diploma.

public schools have always been the leaders in school choice and a source of innovation in designing new programs that respond to what their communities need, what their families want, and what children deserve.

Diverting public tax dollars into a voucher scheme that doesn’t follow the rules of open government will certainly diminish the voices of parents in favor of subsidizing corporations and private entities.

Let’s keep public tax dollars where they can benefit the public good. Texas families don’t need vouchers to get the best education for their students — they already have that choice among the 1,026 public school districts in the state.”

Tasb.org

DENIS MIKHAYLOV

Self/Quality Manager

Houston, TX

My family currently homeschools as the schools we choose to send our children to are too expensive and we support having the option of sending our children to a school that would benefit our values.

Lindy Cooper

Brownwood isd. Teacher

Cross plains, TX

Please vote no

Jana Hernandez

Self- Speech-Language Pathologist in Public School
San Antonio, TX

As a Speech-Language Pathologist with over 26 years experience, 23 of which is in public schools, I am advocating for the following:

-Include speech-language pathologists and audiologists in any pay increases offered to teachers and other public school staff, such as in Texas Senate Bill 26.

-Support funding for public education as necessary to provide students with an adequate and equitable education as required by the Texas constitution.

Support legislation that promotes adequate funding for special education programs by urging full funding of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).

Working in the public schools, I have provided evaluation and speech therapy for free for hundreds of students enrolled in private schools or homeschools. These service are not available to parents at the home or private school.

Speech-language pathologists and audiologists in the public school setting provide critical services to students and students with special needs across the state, including: be

-Preventing and assessing hearing and balance disorders;

-Providing audiologic treatment, including hearing aids;

-Identifying, assessing, and treating speech, language, and cognitive communication disorders, including, but not limited to difficulty pronouncing sounds, stuttering, understanding or using words, and communicating with teachers/peers;

-Supporting students to acquire language; and

-Enabling people to recover essential skills to communicate about their health and safety, and to have sufficient attention, memory, and organizational skills to function in their environment.

According to data from the Texas Department of Licensure and Regulation, in the state of Texas there are over 20,000 Speech-language pathologists (18,761) and audiologists (1,607). The American Speech-Language Hearing Association estimates that 53% of speech-language pathologists (SLPs) work in the public school setting, which would equate to over 9,940 SLPs working in Texas public schools.

Speech-language pathologists go through rigorous training and require a masters degree plus a year of clinical fellowship. Audiologists complete a doctoral degree in Audiology. Both must pass an exam for licensure.

Given the role that speech-language-pathologists and audiologists play in the lives of special needs students around the state of Texas, we respectfully ask that they be included in any legislation that provides pay raises to employees in public schools, such as teachers, librarians and school nurses.

Linda Smith

Self

Austin, TX

Please vote down this bill. It only gives to rich.

Heather Gann

Self

Nacogdoches, TX

HB3 takes money away from public schools regardless of what they claim. Teachers moving to private will hurt TRS, regardless of what they claim. I've never considered voting Democrat, but I will if this passes.

Connor Towns
Self
San Antonio, TX

I strongly oppose the passage of HB 3, as it creates precedent and establishes a formal system to move further tax dollars away from Texas students as a whole. The only parties that will benefit from this bill are the administration and ownership of costly private schools that will see a boost in enrollment and revenue from Texas tax payers. As a conservative voter, know that the passage of this bill will change my party lines, and I will make it a personal goal to advocate and remove all those who betrayed their constituents in this vote.

Maria Meade
self
Harlingen, TX

I do not want my tax dollars going towards private vouchers. As it is private schools can be exclusive as to who they will accept and are not made accountable like public schools. Our current governor is starving our public schools in order to get this bill passed and I can't for the life of me understand why anyone thinks this is acceptable. This is a scam so private individuals/owners of these private schools can make money off these vouchers - public schools are for EVERYONE.

Steven Fleming
Self
Dallas, TX

As a tax paying homeowner in Texas, I demand our state reps to vote NO on school vouchers. I will not subsidize any private school with my tax dollars. Nor should any tax payer of this state. Vote NO on this bill!

La Don Horsford
Retired school employee
Abernathy, TX

This is disgusting, and it's not true. There is school choice now. Parents do know what's best for their children, and they have the power to act accordingly. Calling it "school choice" is a scam to trick people. They think we are stupid. That's the bottom line. I have nothing against private schools, but they should not be funded by the government for many reasons. One, teachers do not have to hold any type of certification to teach at a private school. Two, they have zero accountability (no state testing which our government is currently shoving down public schools throats). Three, they do not have to serve all children. They can deny whoever they want without cause.

I'll just leave this data right here:

According to the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), Texas ranks 4th in student achievement. That's not because of state funding—it's because of the passion, resilience, and dedication of our incredible public school educators. Yet, Texas ranks 45th in school funding and 29th in teacher pay. Imagine what our schools could achieve if they were actually supported.

Shraga Senft, Rabbi

Self - Teacher

Plano, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Brittany Fisher, Ms

Self/Patent Examiner

Liberty Hill, TX

I am a staunch "NO" for vouchers/ESAs. Absolutely against. The state needs to release the reserve funds back to school districts so public school teachers can be paid appropriately and services can be properly funded. It also seems quite inappropriate that at least one of our elected officials appears to have a clear conflict of interest, with his wife being on the board of directors for a new school that is slated to open in Dripping Springs. The ethics rules that I have to abide by as a public servant are clearly far more stringent than those of the public servants in far higher positions of power than myself. There appears to be an egregious abuse of power in place, and anyone in my district that votes for these "education savings accounts" will never get my vote.

Ari Levi

Self, Nursing Home Administrator

Dallas, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

KATHARINE BOOTH

SELF

ALLEN, TX

Regarding HB3: Please do not take funding from public education by approving vouchers for private schools. Creating an educated electorate is critical to the functioning of our democracy and the wellbeing of all our citizens. VOTE NO ON HB3!

Jenni Jones

Self - Higher Education Admin.

Lake Jackson, TX

NO! Public funds should stay with public education. Texas families already have school choice. This is not a conservative approach to education, and will harm public schools, students, and our budget.

Devon Subia

Self

Odessa, TX

Vouchers are a scam. If you don't think the public school are do the job, then fund them and stop putting obstacles in the way of the teachers. This bill will hurt Texas.

Elizabeth Penque

Self

Austin, TX

As someone who grew up with parents who were dedicated public school teachers in rural areas, I have witnessed firsthand the immense value that public education provides. My parents served in rural public schools, where they worked tirelessly to ensure that every student, regardless of their background, had access to quality education. I attended public schools myself and received a wonderful education that set me on the path to university. I also had the opportunity to participate in extracurricular activities like sports, which played a crucial role in my personal growth and development. These experiences helped shape who I am today.

Texas is a state where public schools serve as a cornerstone of our communities, offering every child, regardless of background, a fair shot at success. School vouchers threaten to undermine this by diverting funding from public schools, potentially leaving many students—especially those in rural areas—without access to the same resources and opportunities that allowed me to thrive.

Please oppose school vouchers. It's not Texan.

The public school system in Texas needs continued investment, not privatization. Students across our state, from urban centers to rural towns, deserve the same high-quality education that helped me get to where I am today. We must protect and strengthen public schools, ensuring that every Texas child, no matter where they live, has the chance to succeed. Vouchers could create inequalities that limit opportunities for many, and we cannot afford to risk that future for our children.

Selena Martinez

Self

Pflugerville, TX

Vote NO to school vouchers. Vouchers will only reach a limited number of students while investing in public education will reach many, many children. We need to invest in educating ALL of our children and not just the ones whose parents can afford to send them to private school.

Jackie Dracoulis

Self

Round Rock, TX

I do not approve of vouchers.

Ashley Temple

Self Teacher

Ovilla, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Peggy Gentry
Self/Retired
Austin, TX

This is the 2025 Legislature's Robin Hood Plan: Steal from the poor and give to the rich. A good public education system is the bedrock of a strong country and a strong economy. Vouchers are in direct conflict with that objective.

Eunice Seifert
Self
Argyle, TX

I'm completely against vouchers for school. Let's not make our future generations of Texas the example of illiteracy in America.

Erin Nimetz
Texas Teacher
Wichita Falls, TX

Please vote "no" for HB3- ESA!!!

Cassandra Oliphint, Mrs.
Mothers of Texas
Fort Worth, TX

I am strongly not in favor of school vouchers. I have three children and they have all been educated in the Fort Worth public school system. I was proud of our system and volunteered heavily throughout their times in school. This program only creates a system that will weaken our public schools that already need MORE funding- not LESS!!! This program will weaken education in rural areas where the opportunities to send students to private schools are limited. Anyone with half a brain can see that this system is designed to make public education weaker. Our public schools and TEACHERS NEED MORE SUPPORT AND SALARY INCREASES— The people of Texas do not support the Christian Nationalist agenda that Governor Abbott is working to create. No! People working to implement this plan can wrap it up in all kinds of darling bows, to make it appear that you're putting parents in charge of their children's education, but you are not disguising the reality of your agendas. This only gives parents who can already send their children to private schools more of our tax dollars to fund their education. Cut the crap!

Gina Daly
Self/Retired
Lantana, TX

I am not in support of vouchers/ESA because the research I have done shows the damage to public education in other states. Our tax $ need to go to public education as is required in the Texas constitution. The cost of this esa/voucher program should go towards increasing the allotment for PE so that they can properly meet the needs of all students especially those in special education. We need to properly pay our education staff and continue to attract well qualified personnel All tax money needs to stay with schools that follow the educational requirements that we have set ie accepting ALL students not just those that fit in their belief system. Every provider who educates children should be held accountable by testing them not just the students.

Perri Horton Leavelle
Self
Mineral Wells, TX

I am against vouchers and government oversight in our private schools. While giving private school students my tax dollars- including my own child who attends private- seems attractive, I believe this bill is half baked. For years I would have thought it was unfair to tax me for public school when my child was unable to benefit. However I am much more concerned in a rural community that has an obligation to educate everyone and has special programs that my private school does not offer will suffer. More money in private schools will not manifest more qualified teachers. You need to deal with the TEA bologna that is crippling public schools.

Justin Harrison
Self Physician Assistant
Buffalo Gap, TX

I am writing on behalf of myself, fellow public school educators, parents, and concerned Texas citizens. As a husband to a public school history teacher, a taxpayer, a voter, and a deeply invested community member, I urge you to oppose HB2&3 and any other school voucher programs that threaten the future of public education in Texas.

Governor Abbott and the Senate have presented a misleading narrative regarding public school funding, but my administration and local school board can tell you a much different story—one that reflects the real struggles our schools face. HB2&3 would be detrimental to Texas public schools, redirecting taxpayer dollars away from public education to fund private institutions with little to no accountability.

Where is the oversight for private schools receiving these funds? What standardized assessments will their students take to ensure academic progress? How does this bill address concerns about the separation of church and state when public dollars are funneled into private religious schools? These are fundamental questions that remain unanswered.

The truth is, this bill does not serve the majority of Texas children. It primarily benefits families already attending private schools, while public school students—especially those in rural and lower-income communities—will continue to suffer from underfunding. There is no significant evidence that vouchers will lead to a large-scale shift of public school students into private schools. Instead, HB2&3 will divert crucial funds from the public education system, leaving teachers, students, and schools with fewer resources and greater challenges.

Public education is the backbone of our state, and it is our duty to protect and strengthen it, not weaken it with ineffective and inequitable policies. I urge you to vote against HB2&3 and any voucher program that prioritizes politics over the well-being of Texas children. Instead, let's focus on fully funding and improving our public schools, ensuring every child receives the quality education they deserve.

Thank you for your time and dedication to serving the people of Texas. I hope you will stand with educators, parents, and students by opposing HB2&3.

Sincerely, Justin Harrison
Abilene, TX

Greg Brown, Superintendent

Perryton ISD

Perryton, TX

Statement Opposing House Bill 3 – Education Savings Accounts

Chairman Buckley and Members of the House K-16 Education Committee,

I write to express my opposition to House Bill 3, which seeks to establish Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) in Texas. While proponents argue that ESAs expand educational choice, the experience of other states demonstrates that these programs primarily benefit students already enrolled in private schools rather than expanding access for new students. In the majority of states that have implemented ESAs, the majority of funds have been used by families whose children were already attending private institutions—effectively subsidizing private education with taxpayer dollars rather than increasing choice for lower-income families.

Proponents of ESAs argue that increased competition will improve educational outcomes, as competition is generally seen as a mechanism for driving improvement. However, without applying the same academic, financial, attendance, and enrollment accountability measures to private schools that receive ESA funds—or alternatively, removing these burdens from public schools—this does not create true competition. Instead, it creates a significant advantage for private schools, which would receive public funding without being subject to the same requirements, undermining the fairness of the system.

Furthermore, House Bill 3 creates an entitlement program that could place significant strain on the state budget in economic downturns. By establishing an ongoing financial obligation, the state will be forced into difficult budgetary decisions when revenue declines, potentially reducing available funding for public education, infrastructure, and other essential services.

For these reasons, I urge the committee to oppose House Bill 3. Texas should focus on strengthening public education, ensuring accountability for all schools receiving public funds, and maintaining responsible fiscal stewardship.

Respectfully,

Greg Brown

Superintendent, Perryton ISD

Melanie Palmer

Citizen

Austin, TX

No to vouchers. Support our public education system, don't dilute it.

Amy chumbley chumbley

Self /first grade teacher

Wolfforth, TX

As a teacher at title one school campus, I implore you to please vote no for house bill 3. In the small rule area in which I am from there is not a private school with 30-45 minutes. This bill does nothing but pocket the wealthy and take money from schools with families that so desperately need it. I can assure those that vote yes will be losing their seat come next election time.

Jennifer Martinez

self- juvenile probation officer

Lubbock, TX

Instead of setting up funding for the wealthy, and continuing to line the pockets of the wealthy use the money to adequately and fund our public schools that are available for all of our children. Setting up a voucher system will only continue to erode our public school system and the knowledge of our students. These students are the future of our state and our nation. Very few of the children I work with through my profession would have access to private school even with a voucher, this would leave them in an even more stressed education system where they would have an even lower chance than they currently do to break the family cycles many of them are in. Say NO to vouchers (in whatever way you want to phrase it!) this is bad for our children, bad for our teachers and bad for our state!

Dorothy Lundy

Self, grandmother

Brownwood, TX

I do not want school vouchers. Support should go to public schools NOT private schools. School vouchers will have a bad effect on public schools. The majority of TX students are in public schools and that is where all of our support should go. Our state representatives should listen to and truly represent their constituents. Vote No to HB 3. No to school vouchers for private schools. Support TX students and TX public schools. Our children need and deserve good public schools.

Tanner Fellows

Self

Mineral Wells, TX

Good morning. As a father and a former student of the public school system, I strongly support HB3. Growing up, my parents had no school choice. We were assigned to schools based on our zip code—schools that were underfunded, overcrowded, and lacking in basic resources. Our teachers worked hard, but there were simply too many students and not enough support. My parents couldn't afford private school or to move us to a better district. They had no options.

Now, as a father, I find myself in a similar situation. I want my child to have access to a quality education, but I'm deeply concerned about what's happening in many public schools today. Beyond old buildings and crowded classrooms, I see political agendas being pushed and inappropriate topics like sexuality and gender identity being introduced far too early, often without parents even knowing. As a parent, I believe I should be the one deciding when and how these conversations happen—not strangers.

I want to homeschool my child because I believe it's the best fit for our family, but we are a single-income household, and that makes it difficult. HB3 would provide the funding we need to make real school choice possible.

This bill gives working- and middle-class families like mine the opportunity to choose what's best for their children's education—something wealthy families have always had. Our kids deserve better. Please pass HB3 and give parents real options for their children's future.

Natasha McComas

self

Conroe, TX

Do not sell out our kids to wealthy donors—Texas families are watching, and so are your own children and grandchildren. Vote NO on school vouchers and stand for strong public schools, not corporate interests.

Scott Wilcox
Self/Management
Cedar Park, TX

I oppose HB3 vouchers and ESAs. Voucher program costs accelerate quickly. The current senate proposal shows more than $11 billion will be spent on vouchers through 2030, with $4.6B spent in 2030 alone. Additionally, the fiscal note on SB 2 shows an increase of 42 employees to manage the program. Properly fund public education please.

Shanese Walker
self
Allen, TX

I am against vouchers and taking funds away from public schools

Elida Madrigal
Self/Educator Librarian
Helotes, TX

I have prided myself on working for a public school district for 24 years understanding the difference in public vs or private schooling. Public school is funded by the public. Private school funded by the families who choose to send their students there. I believe in parent choice, but I do not think public funds should be used to allow parents to send their students to private schools. If we want school choice, then demand districts create their own school choice system within their public schools. Use public funds to pay for transportation to support school choice. Use public funds to hire more assistants and teachers to support classrooms. One huge draw to private schools is class size. Provided public funds so that our public schools do not have to have overcrowding. Take what you think is "better" with private schools and fund it to our public schools so we can create even better public schools. I grew up in public schools and have taught in public schools and everyone of you including Gregg Abbott needs to visit public schools in all areas to see just how amazing they really are and realize they are offering way more programs than any private or charter school.

Keep public funds going to public schools.

Keep private schools funded by those families that choose to attend. Private schools should be offering their own ways to allow more students to attend. In my 24 years, I have never heard of them doing that. They don't need our public money to run their schools.

Pay ALL school employees a better wage. Take care of the employees that are working effortlessly in your Texas public schools. Every employee from custodian to bus drivers to office staff to assistants to counselors to librarians to teachers to principals deserves better wages. Use public funds to help raise wages.

Texas is a great state. Be an example of greatness by funding public schools and increasing school employee wages. Don't be an example of abandoning your own.

Kate Lookabill
Glen oaks PTA
McKinney, TX

Please DO NOT pass this bill , it's terrifying that this is even on the table . We are a hard working family that moved to Texas because of its great school districts . This bill will Only take away much needed funds and resources from its already overburdened teachers and staff . The administrators , teachers , and staff care greatly about their community and this is disgusting that you would think this would be a good " opportunity for the State of Texas " I'm very sad that this is on the table and am appalled that a bill to hurt our schools is even up for debate. Please feel free to contact me if you should need any further support against this bill . Please for the benefit of our children DO NOT PASS this bill .

Ian Mader
Self
Bryan, TX

Please pass education vouchers. As a police officer our family cannot afford private school. However it is not safe to subject our children to the retaliation of attending school with family members of those I have put in jail. Additionally vouchers will enable money to support the children and not blindly sent to public schools. Just because we live in a school district should not mean that district should get my tax dollars. It is my tax dollars and the school lobby argues that it is their money being taken. The money should go to where the child is being taught. Whether that is at home, private school, or charter school. No more wasted money on public schools which are not doing their job in the first place.

Holly Richards, Ms.
Self
League City, TX

I am against HB3. As a Texan, I have enjoyed and benefited from the attendance of public schools. Giving taxpayer money away from public schools to rich families to take their kids to private schools is wrong. For those representing Texas, do better.

Amy Cunningham
Self
Arlington, TX

Please do not allow vouchers to destroy our efforts of providing FAPE!

Joanna Graham
Self
Houston, TX

Dear legislators. I want to express my strong lack of support for vouchers. Texas is in the bottom of the nation in public school funding and should be the only priority for our state until it is resolved. Our taxes are too high for the reserve we sit on. Our focus should be paying staff and teachers more and expanding support to lower classroom sizes more like private schools and offer more specialized support to keep all public students strong. Our state is required to substantially fund public education and has not done so. No vouchers until you do your job first.

Danielle Ramirez, Dr.
GISD Parent
Georgetown, TX

While we acknowledge the intention behind school vouchers to provide more educational options for families, it is important to carefully consider the broader impact on public education. Redirecting public funds to private institutions could potentially reduce the resources available for public schools, which serve the majority of students across the state. Public schools are held to rigorous standards of accountability and oversight, ensuring that all students receive a high-quality education. In contrast, private schools that accept voucher students may not be subject to the same level of scrutiny. Additionally, while vouchers aim to increase school choice, the availability of private schools is often uneven, particularly in rural areas, which could limit meaningful options for many families. It is essential that we strike a balance that ensures all students, regardless of background or location, have access to the resources and opportunities they need to succeed.

Jami smith
Self
Fairview, TX

Vouchers hurt public education & line the pockets of politicians. Fully fund public education & let parents who want to send their kids to private school...pay for private school. Tax dollars should never go to places of worship or schools associated with them (private Christian schools). SAY NO TO VOUCHERS

Kim Walthall

Self

Sachse, TX

I'm writing to express support for public education. I am incredibly grateful for the public school education I received in Texas and am thankful that high quality public schools were available for my children. I fear for my grandchildren's education as the state appears unwilling to increase funding for public schools to keep up with inflation, even as the legislature is poised to give taxpayer money for private schools. This will inevitably decrease funding for public schools and, as we've seen in other states, send taxpayer money to families that are already sending their children to private schools. It will have little impact on families that can't pay the difference between the voucher and the total cost of private school tuition. I urge you to put public schools first in Texas, so that future generations can benefit in the same way that my generation did.

Erin Evans

Self

Plano, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Sammie Anders

Self. Retired teacher

Abilene, TX

Please save our public schools. We are being bullied into this by our governor and it is not fair to average hard working families.

Matt Worsham

Self

Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Molly Carter
Self
Houston, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,
I respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

- 1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.
- 2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.
- 3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.
- 4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot. This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.
Thank you!

Reed Bilz, Ms
Self
Fort Worth, TX

Vouchers are a bad idea. They siphon off tax dollars and give money to rich parents who already can afford to send their kids to private schools.

Vote NO on SB 3 and keep public money going to public education.y

Denelle Van Osten, Mrs.
Self
Cedar Park, TX

As a proud former public school teacher who was taught by public schools and raised to amazing daughters who graduated from public schools I believe that we should not give public tax funds to private schools. Private schools do not have requirements to certify their teachers or have accountability to teach students at a high level with standard testing. Private schools are not required to take students especially special needs. One of my children is special needs and her public schools are went above and beyond to make sure she was educated and had what she needed to move on to university, Both of my children have made straight A's at university and have been prepared for the diversity of higher education and life.

Emily Schultz, Mrs.
Myself and my family
Dallas, TX

As parents of small children we are quite frankly begging you to not pass vouchers. We stand by public education and believe in the good it can do... finding a way to weaken it does not make Texas strong.

Bridget Williams
Spring Branch ISD
Houston, TX

Vouchers are not what WE THE PEOPLE of Texas want. Everyone knows this is a political play, pandering to big money donors. It's not what's best for Texas, Texas children and our education system as a whole. Think I'm wrong? Then put it to a vote and let the PEOPLE decide. Knowing that is purely political, I know that won't happen. At the very least, schools, whether private or charter, that receive voucher funding (i.e., taxpayer money) should have the same accountability standards as public schools. The amount of money given per student should also be the same ($10,000.) This proposal as it stands now will NOT help economically disadvantaged students. $10,000 is about a quarter of what private schools cost in major cities. Many rural areas don't even have a private school option. All in all, it's an unfair, poorly thought out proposition and Texans know that. Shame on all y'all.

Tom Epley, Mr.
Self
Friendswood, TX

Vouchers provide an excessive amount to voucher schools. It is unbelievable that the State would provide an amount significantly higher than for public education. It is also not acceptable that the State has neglected its duty to public education by letting the per student rate not increase with the cost of living and remaining at an a totally inadequate amount. It is up to this legislature to insure we do not allow our educational system decline at a time it is needed most.

Adrienne Conyer, Mrs.
Self
Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3

Edie Booth, Professor
Myself and my extended TAX PAYING FAMILY!!!
Canton, TX

NO TO VOUCHERS!@! THE MAJORITY DIES NIT WANT THEIR TAXES GOING TO CHARTER SCHOOLS°! PERIOD!

Lyndsay McKnight
Myself
Mount Vernon, TX

I have been a public school teacher for 24 years. I want the best education for all Texas kids. However, I don't believe that this bill has been well thought out.

We should work together to make ALL schools great places for kids. I have questions...

1. If parents take the ESA money and it doesn't work out for the kid at the private school or home school, will they be accepted back at the public school that they left? And will the money return with them?
2. How do we have enough data to support that private schools are "better" than public when private school students don't have to take the STAAR test? I understand they take other tests, but it's not the same.
3. Do the private schools have to accept any kids (including those with learning disabilities and behavior issues)? Or can they choose to deny a student for any reason?
4. What percent of Texas students can realistically make the move to a private school taking into account the allotment and the availability of schools? If not, who pays for new or renovated facilities? How do you get teachers? As a teacher, I wouldn't want to take a pay cut and not be able to add to TRS as an employee of a private school.

Nancy Moore
Self
Dallas, TX

Vote NO on HB 3. I oppose House Bill 3.

Ricardo Vilardell

Self

El Paso, TX

Please vote NO on vouchers for private and charter schools. Passing this bill will only hurt public education more. Vouchers are meant to steal from the ordinary family and give to the wealthy, since they are the only ones able to afford private schools. In addition, private and charter schools have no accountability. They are not tested and do not rely on attendance for funding. How is that fair? If Abbott is so concerned about education, then why not turn the tables around? Let the public schools have the $10,000 per student, without having to account for attendance or have their students be tested!! Testing only gets in the way of critical learning anyway since so much time and energy is spent on the specifics of passing the STARR exam instead of having a more complete learning experience. I am a retired teacher and I know what it is like to be in the classroom. The same goes for my retired wife and my son and daughter, who are currently teaching. I also have many years of experience in industry as a manager, so I also know what kind of students are hitting the workforce. We need to improve our public education system and not defund it by taking money away via vouchers.

As a passing note, it has been suggested by some individuals that there is more going on behind the scenes between certain politicians and those lobbying for vouchers. IF vouchers do pass, then I'm pretty confident that someone will find that connection and make it public.

Susan Lares

Self retired

Lubbock, TX

If school choice would have been available my daughter would have been able to receive more individual help than what she got in public school

Roger Ward

Self

Wylie, TX

This is an absolutely terrible idea. The goal should be to best educate all of the children of Texas. If you feel the current public school system does that then you should look for ways to accomplish that goal. Giving parents a voucher does not guarantee that. Freedom of choice is important with regard to many things but there are things of which parents do not have enough knowledge. And even if they do, the current bill does not provide enough money to pay for that for every child in the state.

Emily Hobbs

Alliance AFT

Wylie, TX

NO to school vouchers! Fully fund our public schools!

Carrie Duck

Self/Tax Payer

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Ann Lin
Self
Plano, TX

Public tax dollars should only be allocated to the already stretched thin public school. As a parent of three public school students in Plano Independent School District, I have been so proud of how our tax dollars have supported the fine arts program and education. In order to stay competitive and enhance our education system in Texas - we MUST keep funding in the public school system. If we truly believe it's about school choice, logistically this can only help a few if it's truly about school choice and not another masked policy to fund to the wealthy. If you really care about the lower income students or students with special needs, then allocate the funds for the lower income schools and or special education programs. Let the school choice be for choosing enhanced public schools. I live in an affluent neighborhood where there is a big population that do choose private schools and even if we go that route, I do not think public tax dollars should ever be in the private sector.

Please do the right thing. You have already ignored your voters enough. We will remember you.

Diann McCabe
self retired
San Marcos, TX

Our public school serve the majority of Texan children. They and their teachers deserve the support of our lawmakers. Parents can choose private schools but the number of children able to attend them is very small compared to the number of children who attend public schools. Vote NO to vouchers!

Lyndsey McCoy
Self
Center Point, TX

The voucher system is a terrible plan that will extremely hurt our public schools. No voucher system should be considered until adequate funding has been provided to public education. Public education is not failing. Our legislature is failing us and our students. Vote no on HB3!

Tish Langland
Self
Sachse, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3!!

Please keep all funding in the Public Schools system where it belongs. These kids deserve it...THEY ARE OUR FUTURE!!

Mary Catherine Holcomb
Self
Houston, TX

NO!

Theresa Daniels
Self
PARIS, TX

As an educator, I do NOT support school vouchers. It is not appropriate to create a vendor bill to take away public funds from our public schools. Texas MUST do what is right and fully fund public schools as is required in our Texas constitution. Parents are free to choose private schools but should not use tax payer money to do so. Our public schools are under attack by our governor and now our national government. Without funding, our schools in Texas will continue to be behind, at the detriment to our children's future. As an educator and parent, I cannot and will not support vouchers that take funds from already struggling public schools. I urge you and all involved to care about and fully invest in our public schools.

Norma Jost
Austin Retired Teachers Association
Austin, TX

Thank you for taking public testimony. I have been so proud of the testimonies I have been able to hear so far. I am the President of the Austin Retired Teachers Association (who support retired & active educators in Travis County), a dedicated retired public educator (in Austin ISD; Mathematics), and have had 2 children complete their K-12 education in wonderful public schools. I am APPALLED at the influx of money from BILLIONAIRES Yes, Dunn, & Wilkes to DISABLE public education and our TRS Pension. How dare they buy our Governor, and other henchmen to do this to our great state of TEXAS. While this has been a quest of many nefarious people in power for over 30 years, the current political climate has stoked the fires of the takeover of our excellent public education and TRS pension.

We have such a strong public education system when we are FULLY funded. We have not been funded for too long now and are doing all we can to meet the needs of all students. Our pension is one of the best in the world. Why do you want to destroy it through privatization?

It truly disturbs me that there have been many presentations to show everyone how bad vouchers are, especially when the voucher program had accountability to show the disparity of student data. It just totally blows my mind that 'adults' in charge aren't using the data that spells it out: Fund fully public education, as it should be by law, and you will have the future of our state, fully educated. Pay educators a living wage and they will stay in education.

I speak from experience – I was an electrical engineer at Motorola and I became a mathematics teacher in Austin ISD. I dropped my salary in half and became a public school educator. Please do what is right for Texas: raise the student allotment, and give active educators a raise.

If you had a vote statewide on this voucher scam, it would lose. Pass this bill and just see what happens. I hope this hits the ballot box for all of you who vote for this bill. You're being bought by billionaires money. I am so happy this is being made public.

Jodi Peterson
HEB schools
Arlington, TX

Support public education and not propped vouchers

Carrie Vipperman, Mrs.
Self, retail sales
McKinney, TX

Please vote no for school vouchers.

Shawn O'Donnell
Self
EL PASO, TX

No to vouchers!!

Cheryl Klager
Harrison PTA/Watkins PTA
WYLIE, TX

I oppose HB3

Brittany Trinite
Compose Yourself LLC, self, music therapist
Round Rock, TX

Please fully fund public education. Vouchers do not provide needed resources and services for at-risk and special education students. Taking funding from public education is a disservice to any marginalized families.

Danielle Chavez

Self

Beaumont, TX

I support HB 3 because ESA's would allow there to be educational options for every child, not just the ones that can afford it. Every child deserves a PROPER Education, not necessarily a PUBLIC education. - Please vote for this Bill as this is the future for our children and we want the BEST for them!

Autumn Fuselier

Self, parent, nurse practitioner, assistant professor, first responder fire family

Salado, TX

As a proponent of public education, I believe strongly that the voucher bill is yet another "Jim Crow" effort to marginalize certain populations and empower others. I taught in Title I schools believing education is one of the most important ways to fight poverty. This bill widens the gap between the "have" and "have not" citizens of our state. Data from Arizona has proven this ideology and its implementation detrimental. I implore you to put politics and political favor aside and vote NO for HB 3.

Veronica Diaz

Self

Flower Mound, TX

I am against educational savings accounts (vouchers). As a mother of 3 public school students, one who receives special educational services, I am pleading with you that you use your energy to fully fund public schools.

Stephanie Garza

Social workers

Mission, TX

I would argue that HB 3 would be incredibly damaging to public schools and I hope that my elected officials oppose it. Do more to invest in public and teachers, do not pass the vouchers bill.

Brian Tucker, Mr.

self

Houston, TX

I agree with the anti-voucher/pro-public education witnesses that testified that privatization will hurt our state and our kids.

Carl Hehmsoth, MR

self

Austin, TX

73% of all Texas school districts are underfunded and 17% are severely underfunded. HB-3 further reduces funding for public schools, and it uses public taxpayer dollars to fund private school tuition.

Tammie Marberry, Dr.

Self

Hardin, TX

I oppose any bill that creates a system that puts public money into private or homeschools that are not held to the same accountability expectations as Texas public schools! Parents currently have a great deal of choice in how their children are educated without adding any other option. If you are concerned about what is being taught, discuss that with the Governor and his appointed commissioner who make the rules we work under. No district I have ever been a part of take part in the crazy things that has been painted for the public while you try to support this narrative to take care of wealthy families/private businesses.

Nora Soto
Self
Dallas, TX

Hell No to school vouchers!

Theresa Bastian
Self - real estate broker
Austin, TX

Please vote against this bill. We need to be supporting public education for ALL not subsidizing private school for a portion of our kids.

Stacy Collins
Self, Accountant
Rowlett, TX

I strongly oppose this bill because it prioritizes private school funding over public school accountability and transparency. Texas taxpayers deserve responsible spending that supports all students, not just those in private institutions. Our public schools need more resources, not funding cuts disguised as 'choice.' Please vote NO to protect public education and ensure fair opportunities for all Texas children.

Korinna Muliadi
Self, director
Dallas, TX

I am asking you to vote no to the school vouchers bill. Our tax dollars should stay in our public-school system that serves all Texas children, including the kids that need it the most. It ensures they have access to the kind of education that grows the Texans of the future. Neighborhood public schools are the glue that helps hold our communities together and funding them only serves all of us versus the select few.

Robert Gentry
Self, Accounts Receivable
Wylie, TX

No to vouchers, I oppose HB 3

Meredith McBrayer
Self
Frisco, TX
HB 3

Angelica Estrada
self, Special Education Teacher
Sachse, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Justin Harris
Self
benbrook, TX

I do not support this bill.

Marci Miller
Wylie ISD
Wylie, TX
Vote NO

Belinda Colombo
None
San Antonio, TX

Keep public funds in public schools or no on vouchers!!

Andrea Sanchez
self
Leander, TX

School vouchers are not the answer to improving education in Texas. Instead, they threaten to harm public schools, hurt rural communities, and deepen inequities for students who need the most support.

Public schools are the heart of our communities, especially in rural areas where they often serve as centers for education, social services, and community engagement. Voucher programs divert taxpayer dollars away from public schools to fund private institutions, leaving public schools with fewer resources to serve students. Rural communities, which already struggle with limited funding and access to resources, would be disproportionately affected. Many rural areas lack private school options, meaning vouchers offer no real choice for families while draining critical funds from their local public schools.

Additionally, voucher programs lack accountability and equity. Private schools are not required to follow the same standards as public schools, such as serving students with disabilities, providing transportation, or adhering to state curriculum guidelines. This leaves vulnerable students—particularly those from low-income families, students with disabilities, and English language learners—without the protections and support they need.

Vouchers also worsen educational inequities. Wealthier families, who can afford to cover the gap between voucher amounts and private school tuition, are more likely to benefit from these programs. Meanwhile, families in rural and underserved areas are left with fewer resources and fewer options. This creates a system that prioritizes privilege over the needs of the majority of Texas students.

Instead of investing in voucher programs, we should focus on strengthening public schools. This means fully funding public education, addressing teacher shortages, expanding access to early childhood education, and ensuring every student—regardless of their ZIP code—has access to a high-quality education. Public schools serve the vast majority of Texas students, and they deserve our full support.

Let's reject school vouchers and work together to build a stronger, more equitable public education system that serves all Texas students and communities.

Whitney Wedel
Self/Educator
Wichita Falls, TX

To whom it may concern,
I wholeheartedly do NOT support school vouchers, an education savings account program, or anything else that resembles such travesty. Gov. Abbott obviously has tunnel vision, and is not listening to the many Texas voters who are opposed to vouchers. Please listen to your constituents. I hope the House is listening. If HB 3 passes, then be prepared for the consequences. Those who vote yes, will be voting for their own removal through the public vote. Please vote no, and listen to the public educators, principals, staff, superintendents, parents, and maybe even students. Vote no, and be open to bringing those who work in our public schools every day to work together with lawmakers and build a plan to find realistic solutions to the problems in our public school system. No, it is not a perfect system, but it is free to EVERY student and where EVERY student is welcomed. Thank you for your time and considering the public's comments on HB 3.

Harry & Cindy Cole
self - Manufacturers Rep
McKinney, TX

My wife and I would like to make our opposition known to HB3 School Voucher program. Our children went to private schools and colleges, 100% funded by our own funds, as it should be. We urge you to heed the wishes of your constituents and oppose this bill. We vote, and we donate politically.

Jacquelyn Neylon
Self
Dallas, TX

We need to support PUBLIC education and NOT pass HB3. Every child deserves a free good public education! Vouchers will destroy public education. Do NOT vote to implement vouchers. Show each Texas kid respect by allowing public education to be fully funded.

Morgan Anderson
Self
Alvarado, TX

We already see enough gaps in education depending on the location of the school. Public funds should not go to private schools that do not have the same standards to be funded. We have strict rules that we need to abide by to receive funding. We are already underfunded. We have to pick and choose what we can afford because of the underfunding. How will this affect teachers and their retirement pension? Teachers are already worried we will lose funding from the federal government. If we lose this funding too then everyone will be trying to survive rather than have the means to make everyone successful. If you vote yes it is a vote to make the lives of students harder in school. There is a reason Texas is ranking in the bottom of education. We are also one of the states that spend the least per student. If we lose funding state and federal level then public education is never going to recover.

Matthew Early
Self
Allen, TX

I am 100% against school vouchers and ESAs. I want our public school fully funded by state tax dollars.

Mara Bim
Self, pastor
Plano, TX

I, like most Texans, are opposed to vouchers. 94% of Texas students are enrolled in public schools. Rather than public funds being diverted to vouchers, the money should go to public schools. The Texas Constitution is very clear: Article 7 Sec. 1. SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE OF SYSTEM OF PUBLIC FREE SCHOOLS. A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools. Even section 2 which was amended in 2011 states c) The available school fund shall be applied annually to the support of the public free schools. Article 5, Section 2 C goes on: (c) The available school fund shall be applied annually to the support of the public free schools...The permanent school fund and the available school fund MAY NOT BE APPROPRIATED TO OR USED FOR THE SUPPORT OF ANY SECTARIAN SCHOOL....The available school fund shall be distributed to the several counties according to their scholastic population and applied in the manner provided by law. Further, in the Bill of Rights Sec. 7. states: APPROPRIATIONS FOR SECTARIAN PURPOSES. No money shall be appropriated, or drawn from the Treasury for the benefit of any sect, or religious society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the State be appropriated for any such purposes.

This same "savings account" scheme was just attempted in South Carolina and was overturned by that state's Supreme Court. The right-wing Institute for Justice is attempting to appeal and one of its attorneys, Arif Panju, provided "expert" testimony before the Senate's education committee assuring them that this scheme would work here in Texas. This is against our constitution and will be challenged (I'll be first in line to challenge it on behalf of my 2nd grade public school student!)

Vouchers have been on ballots 17 times since 1967 and each time voters have rejected vouchers - most recently in Kentucky, Nebraska and Colorado (even in counties that went heavily for Republicans).

This idea of choice is choice only for the schools - not the parents. Schools are not required to accept students. Vouchers are just a way for them to fill their coffers from families who already have the means to send their children to private schools.

Repeated studies of voucher programs across the country show that they do not improve student academic achievement and can result in worse test scores (see Louisiana's 2015 study, Indiana's 2016 study by Brookings Institute, Ohio's 2016 study by Fordham Institute, D.C's 2018 and 2019 studies by the US Dept. of Ed., Milwaukee's 2010 study by the Univ. of Arkansas, Cleveland's 2006 study by Ctr. for Evaluation & Ed. Policy at Univ. of Indiana.)

FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND STOP TRYING TO DISMANTLE THEM. These efforts harm poor and rural students.

Sara O'Connor
Self
Austin, TX

I want to urge lawmakers to stop pandering to the wealthy. There is no overwhelming support for school vouchers from Republicans or Democrats. In fact, finally, we've found an issue we agree on, FUND PUBLIC SCHOOLS. Educating kids is a non partisan issue, as it turns out.

Make our schools the crown jewel of the state. There's nothing 'great' about a state that doesn't look after its children. If we want to be The Great State of Texas, y'all act like it.

Sandy Deupree, M.Ed, LDT, CALT
Public school teacher, Licensed Dyslexia Therapist, CALT
Paris, TX

School vouchers will only serve to take money away from public education. If we could put that money into public education to reduce class sizes in the primary grades, performance would increase drastically. Private schools are not held to the same standard as public schools. In public schools we educate everyone. Private schools have the option of denying students with discipline problems. They aren't required to take standardized tests, have IEPs and 504 plans. Please give our public schools the funding that we need to recruit the best educators, reduce class sizes, and provide books and facilities that will maximize student learning. I am against using public money for private schools. Only the wealthy will benefit from this. The underprivileged children won't benefit. Their parents won't have the means to provide transportation or pay for books and tuition. Private school parents also don't want the government regulations that are bound to be tied to the funding eventually. Please vote NO to vouchers.

Nicole H Truesdell

Self/owner, Knowledge Keepers Bookstore

Gainesville, TX

I am a lifelong Republican voter in Texas, and a second generation homeschooler. I oppose HB3 for the following reasons: Both the Christian and classical liberal perspectives oppose School Choice via vouchers, ESAs or increased funding because it (a) violates the scriptural jurisdictions of individual, family, church, and state, (b) brings more children and families under the authority and control of the state (civil government), (c) increases taxes, (d) ignores the fact that research shows families do not need tax dollars to choose private education and for their children to do well in life, (d) forces citizens to promote the values of the state education system through forced taxation, (e) forces citizens to promote the values that any private school or homeschool teaches through forced taxation, and (f) further entangles church (philosophical/religious values and beliefs) and state. Christians and classical liberals embrace a statist worldview if they embrace government funding of education. Christians and classical liberals should instead be putting their thoughts, collaboration, energy, and money into expanding education that is free from civil government control, privately funding education for all children, and reducing, at every turn, government control over and the forced-tax funding of all education.

I strongly oppose this bill.

Curtina Wilson

Charlene McKinzey Middle School PTA

Arlington, TX

My name is Curtina Wilson, and I am a parent of two children in Mansfield ISD—my daughter is enrolled in the Fine Arts Academy, and my son is in the STEM Academy. I am writing today to express my strong opposition to HB3, as it threatens the opportunities that public schools offer to students like mine. If my public school is not fully funded, as this bill proposes, and if additional mandates are imposed without the necessary funding to support them, I fear that the educational programs my children benefit from will be reduced or even eliminated. The programs in which my children are currently involved, such as fine arts and STEM, are not just enriching—they are life-changing. They represent the opportunities public schools provide to all children, regardless of their financial status or learning abilities. My daughter, who is 14 years old, has been able to thrive in the Fine Arts Academy. She plays five musical instruments, an accomplishment she achieved through her public school education. Her band, in 6th grade, competed in UIL and scored higher than many middle school bands. She has danced since she was 3, and public school has allowed her to continue her passion through an hour of dance every day instead of PE. She was even able to apply for and be accepted into the National Honor Society for Dance Arts—an opportunity that could have been out of reach had our school not supported her in applying. Similarly, my son is a proud participant in the STEM Academy. He is involved in a club sponsored by Washington State University that focuses on space and missions. As a result of this program, he will soon have the chance to visit NASA as part of his 6th-grade trip—an experience that would be impossible without the resources provided by his public school. These are just two examples of how public education in Mansfield ISD has transformed my children's lives and opened doors that we could never have afforded privately. Public schools offer a level playing field where every child—regardless of background—has access to the same opportunities.

If HB3 results in cuts to public school funding, these programs will be the first to suffer. These cuts would not only harm my children's educational experience, but they would also disproportionately affect students from lower-income families who rely on public schools to provide opportunities they cannot afford elsewhere. Public education must remain a priority for every child, and we must ensure that schools have the resources they need to offer these life-changing opportunities.

On a personal note, my daughter had the privilege of attending a PTA trip to Austin recently. As we traveled home, she asked me, "Why am I not as important as a private school student?" As a parent, I was at a loss for how to answer her. How do I explain to my child that the opportunities she has worked so hard for might be taken away simply because she attends a public school? I urge you to please reconsider HB3.

Kathy Halpin

Self

Allen, TX

I believe that all children should have the same educational opportunities. By providing $10,000 vouchers to certain students impacts the funds available to public schools. Add that money to the public schools so that it may positively impact public school children.

Deborah Edwards

Ms. Deborah Edwards

Kerrville, TX

As a retired teacher I solidly oppose HB 3 for a myriad of reasons. I have decided to select one negative that few people are talking about: education -related jobs in small rural townships. Think about the number of support jobs (bus drivers, cafeteria workers, custodian, etc.) that the public schools provide. This is just one aspect of negative results from reducing the numbers in public school rolls.

Lisbeth Meehan

Myself

Plano, TX

I DO NOT support vouchers for private schools.

Mike Alexander, Mr

Self- Head Football Coach / Lifetime Educator

Grapevine, TX

This bill isn't the answer to any problem we may have in public education. When dealing with any problem it is more appropriate to dig in and find the root of the problem. Any problem we have in public ed needs to be identified and addressed. This hasn't been done. Nobody wants to look honestly at our issues. However, we are willing to take even more funding away from public school by introducing this bill. Please wake-up. As soon as you hand out a voucher every private school in the state 's tuition will increase to by whatever the voucher amount is. Private schools are private for a reason. Public schools educate everyone. This a monumental mistake that will further destroy public schools.

Matt Kimball
self, educator
Sunnyvale, TX

Honorable Representatives,

Thank you for your service to Texas. Your decisions and leadership impacts many generations. I am a 33 year Texas public schools educator. I have worked with countless colleagues during my career who have devoted themselves to helping students succeed. The state comptroller has recently said that Texas would have the 7th or 8th largest economy in the world if it were an independent country. A robust economy depends on a quality education system. Texas is blessed to have a strong public school system. While not perfect, it is producing highly qualified graduates. I encourage you to continue to support public education in Texas.

While I do not support educational savings accounts or vouchers, my main intention is to share some thoughts for you to consider as you debate HB 3. There must be accountability. Accountability for the taxpayers' funds be used, and accountability for student outcomes. Public schools have an accountability system connected to the STAAR test. We have FIRST, the financial accountability system. Accountability must be a part.

Many have said educational savings accounts will create competition which will make all schools better. If competition is desired, the playing field must be leveled. Public schools have a plethora of mandates and requirements that private schools do not have. For example, the STAAR test is required for public school students. What will be required of private schools? Competition should be based on fairness. If you really want to create competition, make it fair for all.

Please consider fully funding public education. The buying power of the basic allotment set in 2019 is over $1300 less today. Inflation has decimated public school budgets. Before considering setting money aside for a educational savings accounts, please address public school funding.

In closing, thank you for your service. I do not support HB 3 as it currently stands. Please consider the feedback from me and others who are concerned about this bill.

Sincerely,
Matt Kimball

Lisa Semper
Public educators
Cedar Park, TX

Please vote NO for vouchers.
Please support public schools with more funding.
Vote YES for $1300 more funding for each public school student.

Jonathan Vo
Self
Humble, TX

The funds appropriated for public schools should only be used to support the operations of the public schools. Public schools accept all students living in their communities without costs. Costs are covered by taxpayers. If parents prefer sending children to private schools, it's their discretion and they must pay for the costs. Vouchers should not, must not, be used for this purpose. Taxpayers pay school tax whether they have children attending school or not. Again, public funds for public schools must be used to support the operations of public schools only, not private schools.

Julia Paske
Self
Lamesa, TX

I am against House Bill 3 because it provides support for finding private schools when public schools need major funding for students and teachers that has been withheld in order to force this bill through. The playing field is not level for public schools. There is no accountability equivalent to the STAAR test for private schools and no requirements that substantially protects the rights of the disabled student. Also there are no certification requirements for educators in private schools. If you want parents to have the right to choose give them an option to transfer to another public school, not a for profit school. The law is also inequitable because there are no private school options in many areas. The majority of students are not helped by this bill.

Jamie Gutzler
Self - Account Manager
Frisco, TX

Vote NO to using our tax dollars for the school voucher bill and fund our public education! The people of Texas do not want this and have been vocal about it - Republicans and Democrats alike. Listen to your constituents! The wealthy do not need this break and it hurts the rest of us and our children. No to vouchers!

Patsy Johnson
Self
Spring, TX

I am a retired second generation Texas public school who taught 32 years. My children are successful public school graduates & my grandchildren attend public schools. Parents already have the choice to send their kids to public school and this bill takes money from our public schools. Our state benefits from a well educated society, most of which will attend public schools. Public schools are held accountable to state standards and are required to educate every child that comes to them and to accommodate every child that comes to them. Private schools set their own standards and pick and choose who can attend and can remove students at any time they want. Additionally, many in our state do not even have a private school near them, especially those in rural areas so this is not an option and their schools will have less money to support their children. While I hope this bill dies if the committee moves it forward, I implore them to consider the following:

- lower the lottery priority qualifications for low income families to 185% to match the qualifications for free and reduced lunch
- additional funding for special education students, especially ones in rural districts that would likely have to travel significant distances to find a private school they may attend
- reduce the allotment by $4000 to match the per student allotment in public schools

Lucas Leinberger, MAJ
Self
Burke, TX

I support H.B.3. because having an ESA would give all five of my Texas based military children the opportunity to succeed. I pay over $7k/year in property taxes to support our Texas children willingly, but having some help with my kids would be amazing. For example, we pay $700 every six weeks for my son's welding classes, while children in local high schools pay little to none. My son was removed from Texas public schools due to physical assault and bullying in Corsicana, TX, and suffers PTSD from this. Now, all my children are homeschooled, seeking the educational environment that will allow them to succeed at their own pace. Thank you for your consideration.

Elgrie Hurd III, Professor

PTA

Cedar Hill, TX

Education is too important for accountability not to happen. I do not think this bill that is for a voucher program is beneficial for most Texans. It's not beneficial for people who need special education; it's not beneficial for people in rural communities... It's not beneficial because there is no accountability process. The standards that private schools have are not necessarily standards that lineup with TEA guidelines and yet there is a request for tax dollars to go to these schools. This is not okay; this is an injustice and criminal use of taxpayer money.

Kristi Thronburg

Self

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3

Charles Williamson

Self

Farmers Branch, TX

I oppose House Bill 3. Don't take money away from public schools!

Katie Redden

Self- Public School Administrator

Woodway, TX

Vouchers will hurt public schools. Please do not give public tax funds to private schools that are not held to the same standards or accountability as public schools. This will hurt public education.

Sarah Lewis

Self

Kerrville, TX

I'm asking that you vote no on HB 3.

William Chapman, Dr.

London ISD

Corpus Christi, TX

I am the superintendent of London ISD and a taxpayer in Corpus Christi ISD.

I am in opposition to HB3 - The Education Savings Account Program. As a conservative, it is hard for me to see public funds be diverted to private schools. In addition, if these vouchers must pass, they should never exceed the amount that a district receives. London ISD receives a total amount of $8677 per student of ALL Federal, State, and local funds! If you look at state funds only, we receive $8,127 per student.

If vouchers pass, there needs to be a level playing field in regards to finances, accountability, and oversight. The rules and money needs to be the same for all parties.

Tanya Fulton, Mrs.

Self

Tyler, TX

No to school choice, ESA, vouchers or whatever you want to call it. Fund our Public Schools. I do not want my tax dollars going to private schools. Why are you not listening to your constituents?

Robert Caughey

Self

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Amy Killgore

Self

League City, TX

Vouchers are not the answer to improving public schools. Holding administrators accountable is but reducing funding to already underfunded schools will only further cripple education across the state.

Toni Contreras

Self

Waco, TX

Please say NO to HB3. Public education was created to educate all children. There are many successful individuals who were educated through public education. Please vote No for vouchers.

Denise Chavez

Self

Garland, TX

NO VOUCHERS!! Pay teachers more!

Jan Realini, Dr.

Self

San Antonio, TX

I am opposed to HB3 because it is bad policy. It will result in severe starvation of the public schools that Texas is constitutionally required to provide to the children of this state. Allowing taxpayer funds to go to private and religious schools is wrong because it funds religion, which is not constitutional per the U.S. Constitution. Please oppose this bill and any voucher-like scheme. Thank you.

Carol Demler

Self

Dallas, TX

Vouchers are not in the best interest of children, schools, or the state of TX. Implanting vouchers will cripple public education by taking funding away from the programs and constituents who need it most. The voucher system will create a greater divide between socioeconomic groups and lead to an increased risk of ignorance and crime. I am NOT in support of the voucher system.

James Schampers

SELF

Wylie, TX

I OPPOSE HB3.

THIS IS A SCAM TO STEAL TEXANS' PUBLIC SCHOOL TAX DOLLARS TO BENEFIT ONLY THE RICH! PRIVATE SCHOOLS CAN AND DO EXCLUDE PEOPLE BASED ON ANY NUMBER OF FACTORS. THE IDEA THAT EVERYDAY MIDDLE CLASS OR WORKING CLASS TEXANS WILL BE ABLE TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS IS LAUGHABLE. ABBOTT AND ANYONE SUPPORTING THIS BILL ARE NOTHING MORE THAN THIEVES!

Vicki Johnson

Self

Converse, TX

Public education should be increased in funding.

Kimberly Hoover

Self

Fairview., TX

No public funding for private schools. Fund our public teachers and support public education with tax dollars. I can afford private but CHOOSE to stay public. Do not give tax dollars to wealthy. Fund public education with all public tax dollars.

Jean Robinson

Self

Fort Worth, TX

My school taxes are designated for public education for all students without regard to their race, gender, disability or socioeconomic status. Taxation without representation is unconstitutional at the state and federal level. Public money cannot be used for religious or other private sects. Our nation was built for equality for all not a select population. Please vote against HB 3 and for the right of free education.

Deanne Marlow

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose HB3. Public education funds should not be used for private education.

Carrie Schweitzer

Self

Dallas, TX

I oppose public tax dollars being allocated for voucher programs for private schools. (I refuse to refer to this as an "education savings account" because no family is asked/required to save via this scheme.) Right now, parents have "choice" in educating their children. They can send their children to many different types of schools, home school, etc. This is not about choice - this is about a trend to privatize and dismantle public education, the bedrock of American democracy. This is about denying years of accumulated data from other states that have legislated education voucher schemes; data that indicates children do not perform better. Plus private schools do not have to accountability measures or guardrails in other states OR In THIS BILL! I call this bill "welfare for the wealthy" because - as data shows - the majority of families that end up with these vouchers already send their children to private school. I live in the Dallas Independent School District. DISD has developed a system of "choice" for families via magnet schools, academies and specialized curriculum focuses at elementary – high schools across its district. The educational options are varied, rewarding and award-winning. Students achieve at the highest levels. School communities are strong and parental support is outstanding. I APPROVE of this CHOICE, and my daughter thrived in this system. She is now a PhD student at a top university.

Natalie Childress

Self, Proud Public School Principal

Fort Worth, TX

The House Bill as it stands will disrupt public education in order to privatize a public good. Texas Public Schools are the best way to preserve access to high quality education for all students.

Northwest ISD, like all Texas public schools, is already underfunded by the state. Since school district funding is primarily based on student enrollment and attendance, if current students were to leave for private schools or homeschool, the financial impact could be even greater. In NISD alone, a 1% decline in student enrollment could result in an estimated $2.5 million loss in funding. This loss grows significantly with higher percentages—approximately $7.6 million at 3% and $12.6 million at 5%.

At the campus I currently lead, we see a high number of students return to public education after their homeschool, charter school, or private school experience, often mid year. How can we plan to support all students when funded inadequately or the funding is still in the coffers of a private school who never intended to support all students?

The ESAs are not the solution to providing school-choice for families in areas where choice exists. The ESAs are not the solution to providing funding for schools that already exist and are serving students well. The ESAs a privatizing a public good and devaluing the investments Texas has in our public school system.

Please consider the concerns of so many Texans regarding the ESAs and vote no.

BRANDI Jackson

self

Dallas, TX

I know these savings accounts will only benefit those with means to currently afford private school and strip money from much needed public education. Why would we want to live in a society where most children are uneducated? It would be less peaceful for every individual. We must educate ALL children. Do not restrict education by supporting education savings programs that don't benefit all children.

Avalyn Balliet

self / US & TX History teacher

Farmersville, TX

I oppose HB3. Actually I vehemently oppose HB3 as a public school teacher of 31 years all in the great state of Texas within Irving ISD and Wylie ISD. I vote regularly in state, local and national elections. I am more of an Independent but regularly vote in the Republican primaries and hence registered as a Republican who is fiscally very conservative and slightly less conservative on social issues. I am very Texan -- native born and never lived anywhere else. After 31 years as a master teacher winning national (Milken National Educator 2000), state and district awards, I have been through many changes in education and policy. This HB3 is a travesty against the children of Texas! I cannot believe how our legislature is laying down against our governor who is selling us out to PAC money and rich donors in Pennsylvania and West Texas. Never has Abbott pushed for any issue so feverishly when his constituents and faithful supporters are so clearly against it. While he and his PAC money have come after those valliant legislators who stood against his voucher scheme last time, many of us watched and re-elected those who supported public schools, i.e. Jeff Leach and Keith Self. We will do it again. And what our current governor is not weighing in this political equation is that Texans REMEMBER! ("Remember the Alamo! Remember Goliad!") While he may have been re-elected himself in the last race, he is shooting himself in the foot for the next election! Perhaps he wont run again and this is his swan song to pad his retirement from state politics and gain political capital toward aspirations for a federal post. But what will that do FOR YOU, our legislators who are supposed to represent the People of Texas and our children. WE are the voters! We will remember who fought for OUR principles against big money donors. Don't be fooled -- the VOTERS in Texas are not fooled! We have choice to send our children where we want for school -- many districts are open districts, cities usually have private school and charter school options. Many rural towns do not. Even homeschool parents do NOT want this HB3. I teach economics and free enterprise, and while i understand some folks trying to say that competition helps increase quality, that is not always the case in publicly funded initiatives. What it will do is increase prices for homeschool products (especially through restricted vendors -- follow the money on this one), and it will increase the prices for private schools. With an influx of public tax money vouchers, private schools will increase their tuition! This is the law of free enterprise that definitely will happen. Fix our public schools so that all children can learn. Fund our public schools so we can meet the needs of all kids. Please don't make us do more with even less. I am in the trenches serving all children with all types of needs. We dont have enough because Abbott will not increase our funds above 2019 standards. It is time again to take a stand.

Whitley Rothe

Self

Rockwall, TX

I oppose the voucher program because it unfairly redirects public funds to private institutions, further straining our already underfunded public schools. Texas is sitting on a massive budget surplus, yet instead of adequately funding public education, the state is shifting the burden onto middle-class families who are already stretched thin. Parents and communities are left scrambling to fill funding gaps—paying out of pocket for needs at schools, extracurricular programs, maintenance items, equipment, and much more —because the state refuses to properly allocate tax dollars to public education.

Rather than pitting public and private education against each other, Texas could afford to support both—fully funding our public schools while allowing families to choose private education if they wish. However, the current voucher push does the opposite. It siphons money away from public schools, forcing districts to make drastic cuts that directly harm students, teachers, and communities. This approach will only widen the gap between well-funded private institutions and struggling public schools, leaving middle-class families to bear the consequences.

If the state continues to withhold necessary funds, we will soon face tough choices that negatively impact public school families. The priority should be clear: public tax dollars should first and foremost go to public schools, ensuring every child has access to quality education, regardless of zip code. Texas has the resources to do this without gutting our public education system in favor of an unproven voucher program that primarily benefits private interests.

We need a funding solution that works for all Texas families, not just a privileged few. Our legislators must prioritize fully funding public education before entertaining policies that divert money away from the schools that serve the vast majority of Texas children.

Governor Abbott has spent years campaigning to bring businesses to Texas, offering incentives that have driven population growth, skyrocketed home values, and increased the demand on our public school system. While this economic boom has benefited corporations and investors, it has placed an enormous strain on our schools, which are now struggling to keep up with the rapid influx of students. Districts are forced to either build new schools to address growth or cram more students into oversized classrooms—often with no corresponding increase in funding or teacher pay.

Jamy Colleen Black McCole

Self. Inactive Occupational Therapist

Fort Worth, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3. I Do Not want my tax dollars to be taken from public schools & given to private schools and private vendors. Public schools serve all children including ones with needs for accomodations in how they learn or physical accommodations. The majority of voters are opposing HB 3

Ashley Porterfield

Self

Royse City, TX

I OPPOSE HB 3

Susan Muzny

retired HS teacher - self and Texas Impact and AFT

Livingston, TX, TX

NO to vouchers

Our public schools need all of your support.

Ashly Wilbourn

Self

WOODWAY, TX

I firmly oppose HB 3 and the corruption surrounding the voucher scam.

Sandy Underwood, Retired teacher

Texas public school students

Wichita Falls, TX

I am against HB3. Why would the state of Texas give our tax dollars to schools that are not held up to the same high standards our public schools are expected to attain.

Carrie Mays

Self, Director of Programs and Resources

Round Rock, TX

Please, please, please reconsider this bill that you are pushing. With all of the research that has gone into it and proof that it is currently not working in the States that have adopted this position. So, why are we pushing so hard for ESAs or vouchers when we know that it will not work as promised and only hurts the infrastructure we already have in place. Please release the funds our public schools need to do the job they were asked to do. Thank you.

Carla Hall

TRS

Universal Cty, TX

I am against using my tax dollars for private school vouchers I read the info from Arizona and 75% of the students receiving vouchers were already in private schools. It doesn't work

Jennifer Pollard

Self- Substitute Teacher & Mom

Wylie, TX

I oppose HB3

Katlin Derrick

Self

Kerrville, TX

I strongly oppose SB2 and HB3, which would divert public funds to private schools through education savings accounts. These bills threaten to undermine Texas' already underfunded public schools, taking away critical resources from the majority of students who rely on them.

Taxpayer dollars should be used to strengthen our public education system, ensuring every child has access to quality teachers, well-funded classrooms, and necessary support services, not subsidizing private institutions that lack accountability and can selectively admit students.

Rather than funneling money into a program that benefits a select few, Texas should focus on increasing teacher pay, improving school infrastructure, and expanding educational opportunities within public schools. Our priority should be to invest in the success of all Texas students, not just those who can afford private tuition.

I urge lawmakers to reject these voucher programs and instead commit to fully funding public education for every child in our state.

Erica Rheume

self, Teacher Wylie ISD

Sachse, TX

I oppose HB 3. Public schools need funding to pay teachers and provide resources and facilities for students. Private schools charge tuition for funding. Sending a child to private school is a choice, and it creates socioeconomic bias for funds to be taken from public schools where families that cannot afford private school send their children.

Charlie Seaman

Self

Cypress, TX

I strongly oppose this bill. As a husband to an educator and two children who've been raised in public schools. I see frequently the struggles they haven't providing care with the fifth of him given. With the proper amount of funding, the Skye is the limit as to what the schools could teach. private schools are selective and do not care about those less fortunate or those special needs. They can choose to not provide services to them purely for the paycheck. Do not pass this bill for the sake of our students.

Traci Rowley

Self, Associate Creative Director

Austin, TX

I come from a long line of teachers. My grandmother taught for 40 years. My mom is a special ed teacher who just retired. My sister was a teacher. While I have never been a teacher, I have benefitted greatly from a high quality public school education. As a student, yes, and also just as a citizen of Texas. Public school helps us all. It builds our society. Private school vouchers are taking from the poor to give to the wealthy. It's welfare for the rich. Rural and poor students will be left behind. Even the rich students will just see their tuition go up $10,000. Terrible quality private schools will also sprout up. Private schools are held to no standards and many could provide subpar education. So these public funds are just lining the pockets of the private school owners. It is incredibly unfair and morally reprehensive. Please, please consider underprivileged children who will bear the brunt of greedy decisions. We don't have to do this. We can still work to improve Texas education in smart ways, and that is not through school vouchers. Thank you.

Erica Thompson

Self, parent

Richardson, TX

Vouchers serve only those wealthy enough to pay the difference between tuition costs and the voucher amount. Further, vouchers disadvantage students in rural counties and school districts. If vouchers must be a part of education funding in Texas, then the per-student value should match exactly the per-student amount applied to educate each public school aged child in Texas and should only be raised if public school funding per student is raised. Vouchers demonstrate the ever farther reaching grasp of Texas Republicans.

sally hunt
self
Austin, TX

I am writing to strongly oppose HB 3, the largest and most expensive school voucher scheme ever proposed in Texas. This bill takes taxpayer dollars meant for public schools and redirects them to private schools that lack transparency, accountability, and equal access for all students.

Public tax dollars should support public schools, which serve every child, regardless of ability, income, or background. Texas lawmakers have not increased the basic per-student funding allotment for public schools since 2019, despite rising costs, inflation, and a record budget surplus. If there is money in the budget for education, our priority should be fully funding public schools first—ensuring teacher raises, better resources for students, and improvements to school infrastructure—before sending tax dollars to private institutions that are not accountable to the public.

Furthermore, HB 3 does not even prioritize the students who need the most support. It allows families already in private schools—including those making over $200,000 per year—to receive taxpayer-funded vouchers. Wealthy families will get a discount on private school tuition while public schools lose funding, harming the vast majority of Texas students.

This bill also fails students with disabilities. While HB 3 offers larger voucher amounts for special education students, private schools are not required to accept them or provide the necessary services. Public schools are legally required to serve all children, yet HB 3 shifts funding away from them to schools that are not obligated to meet these needs.

Texas public schools educate more than 5.4 million students—far more than private institutions ever will. If we truly care about education, we should be investing in strong, well-funded public schools that serve everyone, rather than subsidizing private schools that can pick and choose their students.

HB 3 is bad for Texas families, bad for students, and bad for our public schools. I urge legislators to reject this costly and irresponsible voucher scheme and instead invest in fully funding public schools, raising teacher pay, and ensuring that every Texas child has access to a high-quality education.

Sincerely,
Sally Hunt
Austin, TX 78739

Katy Allred
self - archivist
Houston, TX

I strongly oppose my tax dollars being used for school vouchers. Our public schools are the ones that need funding, and public money shouldn't be used for private schools. This opens the door for corruption and misuse of funds. I also oppose my tax dollars potentially funding private religious schools, because while freedom of religion is an important tenant of our government, I shouldn't have to bankroll a religious agenda I oppose being used in private schools to misinform and indoctrinate them. Defunding public schools is part of an infuriating trend on the right to gut the few social safety nets we have left - the postal service, libraries, Social Security, etc. - in order to find a way to profit off these services. The government isn't supposed to profit off EVERYTHING. We pay taxes so that these services will be provided! There are some public services you are supposed to provide us with the tax dollar we pay you, and that includes public education! Well-resourced public schools will make Texas stronger. School vouchers are not the answer; funneling tax dollars into private schools at the expense of Texas students having access to good public schooling is wrong. I strongly oppose this attempt to once again undermine and defund public schools. Texas wants well-resourced public schools!

Kristi Arredondo

Self, Supervisory Director

New Braunfels, TX

I respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 I support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you for remembering you work for the people and not for private schools.

Autumn Lass

Self

Lubbock, TX

This bill is unpopular with public educators and home schoolers. It does not address the real concerns about education and instead puts public education and educators at an even bigger disadvantage. This bill in no way improves education or education access. Instead, it will continue to widen the gap between those who can afford private schools and who cannot AND widen education quality gap as public schools receive less and less funding. This bill will destroy the public schools of Texas - a system that most Texas children use.

Cammy Rais

Self

Coppell, TX

As a resident of Texas and the mother of Texas public school elementary student, I am strongly and irrevocably in opposition to the school choice voucher bill. Backed by millions of dollars from out-of-state billionaires, Greg Abbott ceaselessly pushes this idea on the residents of Texas, despite overwhelming opposition from the people who live here. School vouchers will not equalize anything. Private schools have no mandate to accept student who require extra support or special education services. Families who are barely getting by will still be unable to afford expensive private schools. Less than 100 counties in Texas even have a single private school. This scam is nothing more than an attempt to give yet another financial break to those who don't need it, and to backdoor our state back into segregation. This is disgusting and unacceptable.

Rather than passing an unconscionably expensive program that the state does not want, release the surplus of money that the state government is sitting on that is meant for our public schools. Fund our public schools. End of story. Pay our teachers, support our students with additional needs, help students in every county and every ISD flourish, no matter their economic status.

Shame on every representative who is pushing to pass this nightmare of a bill. The Texas education system is already near the bottom of the list for the nation; passing this bill will ensure that our quality of education does not rise anytime soon. Other states that I've passed these voucher scams should be proof enough of that.

I urge anyone with a conscience or even simply a mind for common sense: oppose this bill. Protect our students. Fund our public schools.

Craig Campbell

Retired self

Austin, TX

The program says it is only $1 billion, but according to the Fiscal Note in five years it will be around $7-8 billion.

The question about its impact on the Teacher Retirement Fund has been sketchy at best. It is unclear as to what the assumptions are and how they were arrived at. Previous Actuarial Impact Statements were carried out for 30 years in order to discourage the awarding of a COLA. In this case the powers that be did not want to show the impact over time, so they vaguely discussed there might be some impact in five or seven years. The major assumption is that there will be no more COLAS going forward. There are a half million retirees who have seen as much as 40% of their purchasing power eroded because of the lack of COLAs throughout this 21st century until last session. There are more steps to keep retirees off of food stamps and not one bill has been heard on this issue because retirees aren't billionaires.

It has been reported that we have a surplus, but in Washington there is a move to destroy the Department of Education. Around 20% of the funding for public schools comes from the Department of Education. This extra money may be needed to keep our schools open.

I don't know if you can vote on this by secret ballot or not, but please vote as if it were by secret ballot so that you are not voting because of fear of retaliation.

Susan Toombs

Self/retired

Victoria, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you

Thank you.

Lansing Brown
Self Teacher
Cypress, TX

No to Vouchers. We need to fully fund Texas public schools.

Nicole Lewis
Self
Pearland, TX

I'm a public school teacher, and this bill will only help help families who can afford it and will default public education. The majority of the families that will benefit from this bill is already in private school. The rich will get another break and our working class Americans, Texans will suffer. Please don't pass this bill.

Kevin Haubrick, Dr.
Self
Cypress, TX

If going to pass school vouchers, either raise the allotment to fund per pupil equal to the 10k or lower the value of voucher program to equal that of the allotment per pupil. The two should be equal. In addition, if the voucher is using public/tax funds, hold schools that receive public funds to the same academic requirements and standards ti that of public schools.

Justin Mintzer
self
Austin, TX

Dear Education committee,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I recommend the following changes:

1. Increase the basic allotment to $7,500. This would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine funding by enrollment, not attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively.
3. Tie funding to inflation. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure funding for all current and future mandates. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

Thank you for your consideration of this important matter.

Sincerely,
Justin Mintzer

Charley Rejsek
Self, CEO of BookPeople
Austin, TX

AGAINST HB 3. Please fully fund our public schools.

Heather Medley
Self
Shallowater, TX

Support our PUBLIC schools. They are for everyone. Do NOT support this bill

Melinda Kizer
Self/retired educator
Allen, TX

I'm against school vouchers. I think the public is being misled on the implications of this HB on both sides. As a citizen we are entitled to a free public education. Already stretched school budgets will have to make even more significant cuts to vital services, weakening our workforce. A voucher will not pay a full tuition, most people seem to misunderstand this. Our family paid for private school for one of our children because we thought it was best for him at the time. It was a struggle, but it was our choice. We didn't expect anyone else to pay for it, I went back to work full time to support the expense. At a time we need to band together, I feel this will separate us. I am strongly against this Bill

Lisa Mayo, Ms.
Ingram Elementary ISD
Comfort, TX

Parents already have school choice. This bill is to provide for the parents that already send their students to private schools. Meanwhile, you will take money away from the public system. Texas already ranks in the bottom 10 in per-student public education funding. Lawmakers should focus on improving the funding disparities in our current system before implementing a new, private system. If a voucher is passed, our district will lose $532,915, meaning we would have to cut nine teachers, raising the student teacher ratio by almost 6%. As a 40 year Texas educator, I have watched students leave the public school system for private settings and, in most cases, returned to the public system farther behind. Our staff members meet students where they are and work hard to grow everyone. We have already lost staff members because funds have been withheld from the public setting. What a shame for kids?! Please do not vote for the voucher.

George Economos
Myself
Austin, TX

Vouchers are a waste of resources. Rural and urban alike, Texans want to see funding go to our public schools. God bless our great state.

Lysbeth Miller
self
Austin, TX

school vouchers are something we cannot afford and this will come at the expense of public education. Public education should be supported by government and should be good enough to appeal to all of society. An educated population is more productive. There would be a marked reduction in public school students, increasing the cost of public education even further.

Stephanie Genzer
Self: public school teacher
Jersey Village, TX

I am NOT in support of this bill. No vouchers.

Kenneth Williams

Self

San Antonio, TX

I think it is a waste of resources on this voucher plan. Why are we subsidizing the prominent few who will be able to utilize them. Even with vouchers the poorest among us still won't be able to have enough resources to pay the rest. The only time the private schools want the poor is to have them on the field or the courts. Instead put those resources into avenues that help the masses. This is a supplemental scheme for the wealthy financed by the masses. Why are the powers that be trying to destroy the educational domains of the ones that need it the most? The hate on the average citizen is shameful. Those are my thoughts but we know you cajole and manipulate the system until you get the outcome you desire and the rest of us have to maneuver and survive as best we can. If you fix the schools correctly and put equal beneficial assets for all there would be no reason for vouchers. This bill is just a gift to those that already have enough.

Catherine Begley

Self

Lewisville, TX

Hello, my name is Catherine Begley. I live in Lewisville Texas. I am a mother to two children, ages 1 and 3. I am already thinking about two years from now and sending my oldest to Kindergarten and am terrified at what that may look like as of right now if public school funds are siphoned due to the passing of HB3. It should be a gleeful and exciting time to think about - I had the most amazing education and schools growing up in Austin, Texas. So many of my favorite childhood memories are centered around my elementary, middle, and high school. I so desperately want that for my children as well. They deserve that. And that means having the funds to properly educate them.

I am AGAINST HB3. I wholeheartedly think that public schools need the maximum funding allowed to ensure the proper and rightful education of our children. My children's and so many others future and education depends on it!

I implore the committee to oppose this bill. Thank you so much for your time.

Signed,

A concerned mother who wants the best possible public school life for her children in 2 short years.

Catherine Begley

Kathryn Lawson

Self

Krum, TX

I homeschool and am OPPOSED to this bill.

Michael Casarez

Self

Austin, TX

I oppose this attack on public education. Fund public schools, keep private schools out of taxpayer funds.

Karen Kaspar, Dr

Self

Bryan, TX

I am against the education savings account. I also realize that it is likely that it will pass. In the event that public tax dollars go to the education savings account, then ANY and ALL schools that accept the funding should follow the same accountability and expectations that public schools are held accountable for. Additionally, schools should provide all services that public schools provide - special education and bilingual. Schools that accept the students with ESAs should not be "kicked out" for discipline reasons and should provide DAEP placements and interventions as public schools are required. Any security measures that public schools have been required to put in place with very limited, insufficient funding should also be required of schools that accept funding.

Public schools need current day funding. The same funding has been in place since 2019. We would happily just take an increase equal to inflation. Funding should also be based on enrollment and not attendance. We have to have all of these services in place and we don't alter what is provided based on our attendance rate.

It honestly just doesn't make sense why government representatives would treat public schools the way they do. The better our public schools, the better our communities will be and the better our next generation will be to continue keeping Texas the best state in the nation.

Faith Johnson

Self

Abilene, TX

Vote NO

Allyson Roylance

Self

Conroe, TX

This is against everything education should be. I will not have my taxes be sent to more billionaires. You have defunded schools and now you expect us to fund religious and private schools? Absolutely not. My taxes are meant for secular public schools. Pay your teachers more. Stop forcing religion onto our children. Do your job and protect every single child's right to education.

anna cutter

self, recruiter

austin, TX

I oppose the bill. I do not want school vouchers

Shana Strange

Self

Silverton, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Kara Jackson

Self, Registered Nurse

Austin, TX

As a former public school teacher and current mother of two children (one of which attends a public school here in Austin), I have strong feelings regarding vouchers. I strongly oppose this bill. There's just a blatant disregard for what Texans have said they DO NOT WANT multiple different times. We have voted it down and now we are being forced into it anyway. Any time someone (a Democrat) tries to advocate for reasonable amendments that at least even the playing field somewhat for public schools, it's just a hard pass with no explanation. You want to give MORE money for students to go elsewhere than a student in a public gets? Texan children have been robbed for years of funding. Then y'all (Republican law makers) turn around and are saying "Oh, look, our schools are failing. Let's refuse to invest in our kids further and give our money to private companies." And then y'all are blaming teachers! I get that y'all think that you're smarter than the general public (you're not smart, you're conniving) and you can just do whatever and say that you're doing what you were elected to do, but it's clear that essentially nobody except Republican law makers want vouchers. Teachers don't want them. Parents don't want them. Taxpayers without children don't want them. I know exactly zero people in my personal life, professional life, family, friends, strangers at school pick-up, friends with children currently attending private school that have said vouchers are an idea that they support. Texans do not want vouchers. We have voted on it. We don't want it. I can't say it enough, Texans don't want our money spent this way. None of us. I'm tempted to just keep typing Texans don't want vouchers until I hit the character limit on this comment, but y'all get the point. I would be interested to know if there are actually people writing in with passionate messages supporting this scam. I have seen none, so I'm guessing there aren't any. Because TEXANS DON'T WANT VOUCHERS.

Shelley Newton, Mrs.

Self

Azle, TX

VOTE NO TO VOUCHERS!

Lindsey Herring

Self

Dripping Springs, TX

Stop the Voucher Scam—Protect Texas Public Schools

Legislators, vote NO on HB3 (ESA Bill). Texans have been sold a voucher scam—one that won't help most families but will hurt millions of public school students. With 5.5 million kids in Texas public schools, only a fraction would even qualify for a voucher, and even fewer would get the full amount advertised. Meanwhile, every public school will suffer as funding is drained away.

Vouchers Are a Bait-and-Switch

This isn't about "school choice." Parents already have choices—charter schools, transfers, homeschooling, and private schools. But vouchers don't guarantee access to a better education. Instead, they:

- ? Only benefit a select few—most families won't qualify
- ? Don't cover full tuition—leaving parents to pay thousands out-of-pocket
- ? Let private schools reject students—turning away kids based on income, ability, or beliefs
- ? Have zero accountability—no academic standards, no taxpayer transparency

If public schools are required to educate every child and be held to strict accountability, why should private schools get public money without the same rules?

Public Schools Serve Every Child—Private Schools Don't

Texas public schools must:

- ? Accept and educate every student
- ? Follow state curriculum standards
- ? Report academic progress
- ? Provide services for students with disabilities

Private schools taking vouchers can:

- ? Pick and choose which students they accept
- ? Ignore state curriculum and testing
- ? Keep their finances hidden from taxpayers
- ? Deny services to students with special needs

Voucher programs claim to help kids with disabilities—but private schools aren't required to serve them. If a child with special needs takes a voucher, they lose their federal protections under IDEA, meaning they can be expelled or denied services at any time. That's not a real choice.

The Real Solution: Fully Fund Public Schools

Instead of wasting tax dollars on unregulated private school handouts, Texas should:

- ? Increase teacher pay so we can keep great educators
- ? Reduce class sizes to help students succeed
- ? Fund mental health services to support kids and families
- ? Invest in strong public schools that serve all Texas students

Vouchers don't fix education—they weaken it for everyone except a privileged few. Texans deserve better. HB3 is a bad deal for kids, families, and taxpayers. Vote NO.

Brenda Speed

Self

Plano, TX

Public school teacher here, everyone is entitled to a free education. What you are doing to public education is shameful. Y'all who support this need to be voted out ASAP.

Robert Dennison

Self

Houston, TX

I am strongly opposed to HB 3 and can't believe any individual who truly cares about public education in Texas would ever vote in favor of this bill. I, and thousands of my friends, will work as hard as possible to make sure anyone voting in favor of this bill is never again elected to office in our great state. And conversely we will strongly advocate in favor of those who vote against HB3. Please fulfil l your duty to ALL students in Texas and vote against HB3. Thank you.

Terry Thornton

Myself

Farmers Brnch, TX

The voucher program would decimate public schools and my special education students-I have 2- would suffer even more. Please don't do this

Bridget McDaniel

Citizen

Magnolia, TX

School vouchers fund public education. I am against it his bill. Please defeat this bill and vote for the good of all of our children in T x

Stacy Arnold

self

San Angelo, TX

I think the voucher program for private schools is a terrible idea. Especially since it'll still short change low income families.

Audrey Bauer

Self

Rockwall, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a Texans, whose children are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Barbara Passmore

Self

Austin, TX

Keep funds for public education at public schools. Texas kids deserve to learn in safe environments and stripping their schools even further will do nothing but harm now and for decades to come.

Minda Lopez

Self

San Marcos, TX

I do not support the vouchers program that is proposed in this bill. It is not in the best interest of Texas. It will negatively impact our future and the strong public education system that is key to society. Keep church and state separate. Do not give my tax money to religious private schools..

Carol Glover
Self retired
Olney, TX

I strongly oppose Education Savings Accounts, Vouchers, School Choice, Parent Choice, or whatever is the buzzword of the day for taking my tax dollars and giving them to private and charter schools. In my rural town there is no private/charter school, ONLY a public school to which I want my tax dollars to support. The Texas Constitution requires the state to adequately fund the public schools. I expect the governor and legislators to do that. Our public school is the heart of our rural town of Olney. Don't hurt our school and our town. Thank you.

Alisa Saavedra
Self
Corpus Christi, TX

This misuse of taxpayer dollars drains resources from public schools, reducing funding for teachers, special education programs, and critical services that support all students. Every Texas public school should be a place of excellence, not just those in affluent areas. Establishing educational savings accounts and expanding voucher programs will only deepen the divide between wealth and opportunity, further disadvantaging the students who need support the most.

Bonnie Downing
Self
Dallas, TX

As a 7th generation Texan, product and supporter of public schools, and parent of children with different talents, abilities, and needs that are served well in their public school, I beg you to vote against this measure that would take much-needed funds from the public schools that must serve every child and give it to private schools that can turn anyone away.

Eileen Tollett, Dr.
Self
Allen, TX

Absolutely against this bill. Terrible misuse of funds.

Isabella Guevara
Dickinson High School
Dickinson, TX

I'm a senior at Dickinson high school, yes this may be my last year but still I would like my younger sibling and other people to get the education they want and need. If they defunded our schools then we are in big trouble and I will be very VERY disappointed in my representatives for not fighting to keep our schools funded. Teachers don't get paid enough for their hard work and having to deal with hundreds of kids every single day. Please fight for what's right, and keep funding schools.

Suzy Hunter
Self
Cypress, TX

We do not want vouchers! We want fully funded public schools with librarians and transportation. We want to educate all Texas children.

Eleine Vence
Cornerstone PTA
Houston, TX

Dear Members of the House,

I respectfully oppose to this bill. I believe in strengthening public education as a democracy tool. We should keep people in Texas educated and assure prosperity. Please keep our public school funded. That's the way to help the vast majority of your constituents. I hope you do what's better for us.

Thanks,

Eleine Vence

Naphtali Buchwald, Rabbi
self
Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Kimberly Klepcyk
Self
New Caney, TX

As a retired educator and a lifelong advocate of public schools I urge you to oppose these bills. These bills do not provide an adequate increase in the basic allotment to even keep up with inflation. Instead, the bill will divert the funds that should be going into our public school system in to a voucher / ESA system that diverts our public tax dollars into private schools. This is not a fiscally conservative bill. It is opposed by the Republican majority that makes up our school districts' constituency. I object to the premise of public tax dollars going to fund private institutions. It would be absurd for me to ask that my public tax dollars follow my child to pay my country club membership because I prefer that over the public parks, and it is equally absurd to expect that public tax dollars be allowed to flow to private institutions because that is what an individual taxpayer prefers. That's not how systems that benefit the public good work, and you all know that. It is clear that in the last few legislative sessions, the legislature has neglected to adequately fund our public schools in favor of this voucher scam supported by the Governor and his wealthy donors. Texas Republicans and Democrats alike oppose these vouchers. I dare say that if you all don't find the courage to oppose this, it will be at your own peril.

Gina Jerram
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3.

Kimberley Wheeler
Self
Bonham, TX

Do not pass.

Quinita Ogletree

Na

Houston, TX

Please vote no to ESAs. Vouchers will not help promote public education.

Marie Hill

Self

Allen, TX

I am against school vouchers. Use the excess money in the rainy day fund to invest in the Texas school system and teachers. Our goal should be a state in the top that has the best education system. Vouchers are not fair. How many private schools do you see in low income areas or small towns. Vouchers will only benefit the wealthy who already have the money to send their kids to private schools. Why can't the voters of Texas vote on this item?

Holly Bianchetta

Self

Anna, TX

I cannot and do not support this bill. It takes critical funds from our public schools and gives it to a limited number of private school families that DO NOT NEED it. Furthermore, many districts and counties in Texas do not even have a private school "choice" so it actually would not be a choice for many, many families.

Colleen Ketchum

Self

Austin, TX

Good public education is the bedrock of America. I was a public school kid and my life was immeasurably changed by having kind, passionate teachers. Texas should be doing more to ensure the maintenance, support, and preservation of our public schools and workforce. This starts with better pay and benefits for teachers, administrators, and staff. This also means investing in technology and infrastructure resources. There are critical budget shortfalls in districts across the state, and we are wasting time and money with this voucher scheme. Private school families can continue to send their children to private schools, but public schools should not be shortchanged under the guise of "school choice". We urgently need to fund public schools to improve access to quality education for ALL students, regardless of geography, income, or other factors.

Anna Jackson

Self

Shallowater, TX

As an educator with 33 years of experience married to another educator with 38 years, I strongly oppose HB3 and the shifting of public funds to private education. This system will negatively impact the students it should serve. Shifting tax dollars to subsidize private or home-school education leaves fewer resources for public schools, widening the gap in educational opportunities. It will negatively affect vulnerable students who rely on public education the most. Programs for students with special needs will not receive the resources necessary and private schools will have no obligation to serve them.

It has been stated the TRS system will be unsustainable which is a concern for a family of educators who have served diligently. Lack of accountability for private, charter, and homeschools is a concern especially in light of the overemphasis of this in public schools.

Public dollars should be used to 1) equitably fund public schools, 2) increase teacher salaries to help address teacher shortages (and TIA that only serves 25,000 of over 300,000 educators is NOT the solution), 3) invest in special programs to service students well.

Finally, evidence from other states does not demonstrate this system to be the positive solution we need to educate our most valuable resource.

There is not the high level of public support that the politicians continue to claim. The masses rather than the elite wealthy (especially not even from our state) should drive this decision. In fact, I fear that approval of this bill will actually jeopardize the future of our red state as 1.25 million current and retired educators express their displeasure in future elections.

Crystal Gillespie Kinsley

self

Arlington, TX

As a Texas public school graduate, as well as the parent of a Texas public school graduate, I am both appalled and ashamed that this is even being considered. This bill greatly benefits families who already have the money to pay for private school, and will hurt our public schools. Welfare for wealthy Texans.

JoAnn Jolley, Mrs.

Self

Amarillo, TX

I believe in public education. No public funds should go to private schools.

Catherine Van Der Kar

Self

Dallas, TX

I oppose the establishment of an education savings account program that supposedly allows school choice. I do not believe allocating funds towards private schools is appropriate or beneficial to the majority of children in public schools. This is robbing much needed funds from public schools. It will not equally benefit all Texas students, especially those who have no access to private schools such as those in rural areas. This is a scam to benefit the few who can already afford the private tuitions and does nothing to help the majority of students who rely on their public schools for education. I cannot agree with sending funds to private institutions before funding our public schools which need better facilities, more educators, more tutoring programs and better pay to support the hiring of good teachers and maintaining the teachers currently employed.

Maria Young

Self , hairstylist

Mcallen, TX

I am a Texan parent very disturbed, disheartened and angry by this voucher program that this new administration is attempting to pass. No public schools are going to thrive without the federal funding that instead will be provided to the private schools. The majority of Texas kids attend public schools. We demand that our kids get the education they deserve. No,No, No!!!!

Stacy Bristow, Teacher

Self/Teacher

Clyde, TX

Please consider those who have dedicated their lives to educating students in the public school system. Most public educators have not received an increase in salary for quite some time. In addition, this profession in the state of Texas is one of the lowest paying but requires a degree(s).

With the current state of the economy, many educators are working additional jobs to provide for their families. Those who have student debt have that additional expense. There are wonderful educators leaving a profession they felt called to just so they can pay their bills. It is disheartening!

I fear the option of school choice that is being considered would be a disservice to both educators and students. Funding would not be sufficient in either option and our children's education would suffer. I fear parents may choose to homeschool their children but the lack of accountability would result in students not receiving a quality education. The choice of private school is limited to certain areas and the additional cost of tuition will be the responsibility of the parents (many who would be unable to pay). I am concerned that these options have not been presented in a way that exposes the various impacts to education as a whole. If vouchers pass it will have a negative impact on all forms of education due to inadequate funding. PLEASE vote no vouchers!!!!

Megan Villarreal, Mrs.

Self

Georgetown, TX

I STRONGLY DISAGREE WITH HB3.

I am a former public school teacher. I stopped working to have my children. I taught 9 years all in title 1 schools. Do you know how many of my students this voucher scam would benefit? ZERO!! Do you know how many it would HARM? 100%

*Private schools can deny service to anyone and don't have to accommodate anyone they don't want to.

I am a strong Christian and believe this voucher is the most Un-Christlike thing to do. We are to serve and fight for the "least of these."

I plan to go back to teaching in the next year and feel called to the classroom . I obviously am not doing it of the money. Teachers are paid a small amount for what we do.

If this bill passes it will bankrupt our already underfunded schools.

TEXANS ARE NOT FOR VOUCHERS!!!!

Renee Joyal

Self

Georgetown, TX

OPPOSE!

Shannon Mickelson

Self and Family RN Educator

Buda, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As a native Texan, 5th generation, whose entire family are products of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the constitution law.

Jessica Gorman

Mother

Austin, TX

I'm strongly opposed to this voucher bill because it will take away much needed funding from our public schools. I have three children who attend a public school and we've been very happy with the teachers and principal. They are so dedicated to the children and we feel that their resources are too limited as it is. Texas is 49th in the nation in terms of dollars spent per student. That is unacceptable. Please do not defund our schools and then propose taking even more money from public education as a solution to the problem that the legislature created.

Ouaes Jamali

self

Boerne, TX

I strongly oppose any attempt to dilute the public education system in Texas. The lawmakers need to be supporting public education system by increasing the funding and also increasing the pay for the teachers in the public schools who are the foundation of academic excellence in our state.

Stephanie Hyde

Self

San Antonio, TX

VOTE NO!!

Suzanne Glaser

self/teacher

Austin, TX

I am a Texas public school educator and my child attends public school. I am morally opposed to my tax dollars being used to fund private education and 100% do NOT support the voucher bill. Additionally, public schools are bound by a wide range of rules and restrictions, and if we feel that these rules and restrictions are important, then private schools should be bound by them as well in order to receive public funds. If these rules and restrictions are NOT important, then they should be optional for our public school districts to follow. Thank you for your time.

Erika Collazo

Self

Seguin, TX

This bill is complete nonsense. Parents have always had a choice. My parents chose to send me to Catholic school and they paid for it because it was their choice. If vouchers go to private and charter schools then those children should get the exact amount the public schools get for each child. They should have to take the STAAR test like public schools and abide by the same rules and regulations. This should have been put on the ballot and let the people actually decide, but Abbott knows it would not pass so he is doing whatever it takes to get it passed. Got to keep those donors happy.

Lauri Wiss, Taxpayer
 Self,retired
 Commerce, TX

Hunt County	Enrollment	Total Revenues Per student/State	Expenditure Per student/State.
Bland.	794	15,633/ 8649 (55%)	12,373
Boles.	529.	20,853/14,658 (70%).	15,136
Caddo Mills.	2,227.	14,446/ 6,707 (46%)	10,488
Campbell.	287 .	19,066/. 9,759 (51%).	14,835
Celeste.	524.	18,433/ 10,612.(58%).	14,348
Commerce.	1,559	26,912/. 7,567 (45%).	15,589
Greenville.	5,418	25,218/ 4,649. (33%).	13,251
Lone Oak.	1,146.	16,251/. 8,343 (51%).	16,578
Royse City.	9,371.	13,501/ 5,808. (43%).	10,520
Quinlan.	2,889	13,967/. 6,142. (44%).	13,062
Wolfe City.	720	17,334/ 10,541 (61%).	22,228

Total revenue is the combined federal,state and local revenues with the per student share given by the state, The percentage shows what the state share is out of the total student share.

Total expenditures per student share of total expenditures.

The fiscal data is from the National Center of Educational Statistics,

National Center of Educational Statistics (Fiscal Data 2031-2022)

The chart above shows what the State of Texas paid as its share of the revenues for a school district.

The expenditures show that $10,000 will not be sufficient to keep the school district running.

There is no cost of living either.

The chart shows that without the federal and local share, the districts can't pay basic bills.

HB 3 is devastating to the public school district. Inflation has hit the school districts and it is hard to do more with less.

Consider what will replace the TAAS/STAR test. What test will show the categories of knowledge needed to receive a high school diploma? If an SAT/ACT is used what is considered a passing score?

Is special education ungraded?

Lauri Wiss
 5307 County Road 4705
 Commerce Tx 75428.

Kendall KROHN

Self

Plano, TX

This bill only benefits the rich. Not everyone even has access to a private school whether they could afford it or not.

Corey Seifert

Self, engineer

Austin, TX

Education savings accounts are another ploy at taking critical funding by from public education. Private schools are not required to admit any students, including those with learning disabilities. Moving funding from schools that must educate all, to schools that can choose to only educate some is in no way parents' choice which y'all have been touting as "school choice". You are giving MY choice as a parent to schools that make their own rules. If our legislators appropriately funded public schools instead of filling their coffers in the name of "recapture", perhaps this wouldn't be such a problem. But you are bleeding our neighborhood schools dry, depriving our children of the education they deserve. It's shameful.

Eleasia Lewis

Self

Dallas, TX

NO to savings accounts to allow public tax dollars to be used for private schools!!! It's a scam and is not beneficial to the public good!!!

Anna Buford

Mclaughlin Strickland Elementary Carrollton and Self

Farmers Branch, TX

Public school students matter. Us parents in DISD, PISD, RISD, CFBISD and many more don't want school vouchers. Our kids matter. All public school students matters. School vouchers area form of discrimination and will hurt our Texas students, teachers and families.

Alexis Kamen

Self

Austin, TX

No vouchers for Texas! They hurt our public schools. Taxpayer dollars for public schools.

David Husen

My self (staff engineer) and my children

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Benjamin Vargas

Self

Conroe, TX

“Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. As Taxpayer and supporter of the public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.”

Katherine Forrest

Public school teacher - Whitehouse ISD and parent

Tyler, TX

I do NOT support this bill! The fact that you all are having to PUSH and PUSH should tell you everything you need to know. When an ESA account will only be available for a tiny fraction of the millions of students in Texas, there is nothing you can say to me that doesn't make me believe this HAS everything to do with donor money and NOTHING to do with truly caring about Texas families, students, and communities. The outright nasty and horrible picture you all have happily helped paint about public schools and teachers is vile! PUBLIC SCHOOLS and their teachers work tirelessly for little to no thanks from the state. We are made to look like villains for your political gain. You all stand there and SAY nothing to support or refute those statements. As a public school teacher with many students transferring from private schools, all we see are students so far behind. Not better. Not more prepared. Not given nearly the resources or programming we offer to our students freely!!!! I have been an educator for almost 20 years. My whole heart, life, and purpose has been to teach. Improve my community. Be everything my students and families need. You want to give money to send them to a school they cannot afford even with the voucher. You know this. I know this. All of this will absolutely negatively affect public schools - the real backbone of communities.

Jessi Heiner

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose vouchers. Please vote no to HB3. As a long-time volunteer in Houston ISD public schools, the takeover of HISD has already done irreparable damage. Absolutely no public tax dollars should be used to subsidize the wealthy to attend private schools while our public schools are underfunded and starving for resources. A more educated society is a thriving society. A rising tide raises all boats. The better our public schools are, the better all of our quality of life is, including better health, lower crime, and a better economy. Please don't fall for the voucher scam. Save public schools. Vote no on HB3.

Kayla Parker
Self
Sugar Land, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you

Heather McCarthy

Self- teacher

Dripping Springs, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you

Amy Zuniga

Self

Garland, TX

I am not in favor of vouchers as public money should be spent on public schools who must offer an education to all students, by law, and who are held accountable by standardized testing. I support a bill that fully funds our public schools so they have the resources to educate texas students.

Sara Hemenway
Self
Round Rock, TX

The voucher program is not a boon to our state. It limits the resources and values of the majority of our citizens. Many of us have given our working life to public education and have also worked in private/charter schools. We value the community impact of public education and the ability of public schools to welcome all students and their families in our doors. We need better funding in public education, we don't need private entities who get to make rules up on the fly. The education savings account program will strip our state of valuable resources and put us even farther behind. Vouchers are bad for communities and worse for students. Effectively it passes, you're telling generations of Texans all their work and dedication was pointless. Fund public education and the values of our state.

Hoimonti Pal
Self
Austin, TX

As a voter and a parent, I want public funds for public schools. I pay taxes not for private education but for public schools. In fact the majority of Texans do not want the vouchers to pass. This is stealing if it passes.

Stephanie Murphy, Mrs.
Self, Home educator
Conroe, TX

Texas don't want vouchers, we want more robust funding for public schools and more pay and support for educators. Over half of all Texans live paycheck to paycheck and vouchers wouldn't be enough to give them the school choice they claim it would. As a home educator, I am concerned how the establishment of an ESA program would affect my freedom to school as I see fit. I don't know a single Texan on either side of the aisle who wants this. I urge you all to listen to your constituents and not pass this ridiculous farce of a bill.

Loretta Valdez
Self
Mission, TX

I support this bill

Lauren Lee
self - quality assurance analyst
San Antonio, TX

Texas educators and Texas families will not benefit from this bill

Cathy Hollenbeck, Mrs.
self
Cedar Park, TX

I Do Not support HB 3 and respectfully ask that the Texas legislative branch votes No for HB3. I am a retired public and private school teacher who has served the Austin community for years and passing this bill will hurt both public education and future TRS retirement payments. The wealthy, private school families and schools do not need or deserve vouchers. They made a choice to education their children elsewhere and with that choice comes additional expenses. Please Do Not take money away from public education to subsidize private schools/education.

Jessica Brooker

Self/Texas Public School Teacher

KELLER, TX

I am opposed to HB 3 and vouchers, and education savings accounts, in any form, by any name. I want the legislature to vote to fully fund Texas public schools.

Caitlyn Scrogin

Self

Wimberley, TX

I fully support a parent's right to choose the best education for their child because no one knows a child's needs better than their own family. However, diverting public education funds to expand 'school choice'—especially when private school tuition often exceeds $10,000 per year—is deeply flawed. Many children rely on public schools simply because they have no other option, whether due to geography, special education needs, or other circumstances.

Public funds should be used to strengthen public schools, not subsidize private institutions that can set their own admission criteria. Private schools should remain privately funded, ensuring that taxpayer dollars serve all students, not just those who can afford to supplement a voucher.

Stephanie Durbin

Self, Teacher Assistant

Austin, TX

Vouchers, or "Choice" would be a huge downfall to our public education system.

The current teacher retirement system depends on current teachers supporting retired teachers. As more public schools close so people can take advantage of government handouts to move to private schools, fewer teachers will be paying into TRS, destabilizing it for current and future retirees.

Vouchers silence parents

Vouchers are a sleight-of-hand, trading some pretend idea of Choice for our actual Voice. Parental empowerment is about having a Voice in our child's education. They're ignoring that and pretending parental empowerment is about Choice. But we already have Choice and private and religious schools are the ones with choice when it comes to taking our children. The only education system where parents have a voice is the public one. We elect our school board, we have input on their decisions, and we have a voice on our campuses and districts through our advisory committees. Vouchers are an attempt to silence parents, not empower them.

Nallely Aparicio

Self

Donna, TX

I support School choice!

Alejos Salazar, Dr.
Self-superintendent of schools
Harlingen, TX

As the superintendent of Lasara ISD, I am writing to express my strong opposition to HB 3 due to its harmful impact on public school funding. Proponents claim that Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) do not divert money away from public education, but this is simply not true. HB 3 redirects $1 billion in taxpayer funds that could and should be invested in Texas public schools—where over 5 million students are educated.

Public education in Texas is already underfunded, and this significant loss of funding will directly affect the resources available to our students. These diverted funds could be used to support teacher salaries, student intervention programs, special education services, mental health resources, early literacy initiatives, and college and career readiness programs. Instead, HB 3 proposes to shift those dollars to private education providers that do not serve all students and are not subject to the same accountability standards as public schools.

Furthermore, Texas public schools serve every child, regardless of their economic status, learning needs, or geographic location. When public schools lose funding due to policies like HB 3, it exacerbates inequities and disproportionately harms students in rural and lower-income communities—where private school options are extremely limited or nonexistent.

Rather than diverting essential resources, Texas leaders should focus on fully funding our public schools and making targeted investments that have a direct impact on student success. Ensuring that every child has access to a high-quality, well-resourced public education should be the state's top priority.

I strongly urge you to oppose HB 3 and instead support policies that strengthen, rather than undermine, our Texas public schools. Thank you for your time and your commitment to the future of our students and our communities.

Donna Bowles
Myself
Lubbock, TX

Funding should only be for public schools. Private schools who take state funding are sellouts to their patrons. GET RID OF TESTING. LOCAL SCHOOLS KNOW WHAT TO DO. Retired Texas Principal.

Katherine Strickland
Self
Austin, TX

I oppose HB 3. School choice will undermine our already underfunded public school system. My mother worked as a public school teacher for over 30 years. She was a dedicated teacher and had a positive impact on many Texas children's lives.

We need to protect the public school system that makes Texas a great place to raise.

Christina Baugher
Self
Austin, TX

OPPOSE THIS BILL. DON'T TAKE MONEY OUT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND GIVE TO THE WEALTHY.

Anthony Saenz
Self - Educator 6-12
Victoria, TX

I oppose HB3. Public schools should be fully funded and tax payer funds shouldn't go to private schools, especially without accountability.

Gittel Francis

Self

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Stephanie BROWN

Self - parent of two public elementary school students

Austin, TX

I am a parent of two elementary school children attending public schools in Austin ISD. I am against HB3. This is not school choice. Parents already have the option to apply for their child to attend private schools and receive financial aid from the school if needed. This does not provide any student a greater opportunity for a quality education. Instead it removes funding from already underfunded Texas public schools that are currently educating 5.5 million Texas children. Research on vouchers have shown a drain on state budgets, increases in classes sizes and a decrease in resources including counselors, nurses and books in public schools. If the goal is to truly support Texas children and their education, Texas lawmakers should be prioritizing funding public education. This includes, at a minimum, adding state funding to get Texas up to 2019 spending levels (taking in account the end of Covid funding). I hear lawmakers say how rich this state is, yet we fund our children's education well below the average in our country. Below average. 73% of Texas school districts are underfunded. If you truly want to provide a quality education for Texas children and support educators, increase the basic allotment to increase teacher retention and have smaller class sizes and a safer classroom. Do not give this much needed funding to private schools with no transparency or requirements to serve all children.

I ask you all to not support this bill. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Santiago Hernandez Jr., Mr.

self

Austin, TX

Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) have been marketed as a solution to expand school choice in Texas, but in reality, they threaten the state's public education system. While proponents argue that ESAs empower parents by allowing public funds for private schooling, homeschooling, and other educational expenses, the policy raises serious concerns about funding equity, accountability, and long-term consequences for students and communities. Instead of improving education for all Texas students, ESAs risk undermining the very foundation of public education by diverting resources, exacerbating inequality, and reducing oversight.

Instead of using taxpayer money to subsidize private education for a few families, Texas should strengthen its public schools by increasing teacher pay, investing in classroom resources, and expanding student support services. Public education is meant to serve all students, and diverting funds to ESAs only weakens its ability to do so effectively.

Rather than fragmenting education, Texas should focus on strengthening public schools so that every child, regardless of background or zip code, has access to a high-quality education. Policies should be centered on improving teacher retention, expanding academic programs, and addressing funding disparities—efforts that benefit all students rather than just a privileged few.

John Bailey
Self retired
Ben Wheeler, TX

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Jessica Kilgore
Self
Carrollton, TX

I have kids in Texas public schools and am a product of Texas public schools, and I am extremely discouraged and angry about HB3.

For too long, the leaders at the state level have done nothing to help public schools. It is insane to me that there has not been a per-student allotment increase in state funding since 2019, considering the amount of inflation that has occurred in the last several years.

And now, another attack on public education by our state leaders. Instead of adequately funding public schools, the state wants to provide money to those making a choice to not send their students to public school, at the expense of our public education system.

I have several issues with the new bill.

First, I am extremely uncomfortable with the number of billionaires that are supporting this bill and contributing money to our governor to get the bill passed, even some who do not live in our state. Some of these billionaires own companies that could potentially serve as administrators of the voucher funding. This is a huge conflict of interest, and should be investigated.

Next, there have been several states that have moved to this voucher system, and are now having issues with funding the program. The costs have ballooned out of control. And in these same states (such as Arizona), it has been found as many as 70% of students benefiting from these vouchers were already attending private school, and could afford the cost without the voucher. It does not seem fiscally responsible as a state to fund a program that will cause our state to eventually not be able to afford our expenses.

Next, 158 out of 254 counties in our state do NOT have a private school option. So, how is this bill really promoting school choice when it's only available to the population in less than 40% of the counties in our state?

Based on the State's own actuarial report, the school voucher program is putting our Teacher Retirement System funds in danger. Teachers are already saddled with low salaries and terrible (yet expensive) insurance. I have never understood why teachers cannot have the same ERS insurance benefits that other government employees are provided. And now, with this bill, their retirement is in danger. If you want to know why GOOD teachers are leaving the profession in Texas, it is because the state continually acts in ways to devalue teachers.

All around in our state, public school districts are having conversations about hard choices for next year -- whether to close schools, increase classroom student numbers, and reduce staff. Yet, the leaders in our state do NOTHING to help any of these situations. Instead, they want to pass vouchers that will only harm public education, and refuse to fully fund our public schools. Just look at our low student funding numbers in comparison to most other states. It is embarrassing. We should value Texans more than that! Clearly the public doesn't want this bill, but at least do right with funding.

Sofia Barreto
Self
Highland Vlg, TX

The tax money should go to public education only

Katie Fargen
Self
Allen, TX

School vouchers will make education a for profit system and public schools will suffer. TEXAS ALREADY HAS A LOW EDUCATION RATE. DONT MAKE IT WORSE. LOOK AT STATES LIKE MASSACHUSETTS FOR REFORM!

Amy Foster
Self
San Saba, TX

I am opposed to HB 3. In my rural area, there will be no benefit to the students of San Saba, Texas based on this bill, and a potential for a huge amount of harm. The legislature has already failed to fully fund Texas public schools and the impact of that poor public policy decision can already been seen; for example, San Saba ISD did not fill the position of high school librarian after the prior staff member retired. It is a sad state of affairs for a school not to have a school librarian. Several times in the past few weeks, I've heard Chairman Buckley speak about Oak Creek Academy, a private school in Killeen, Texas, as an important option for students with disabilities - ignoring the fact that Oak Creek Academy does not require certified teachers, does not have a curriculum, places students with vastly different age ranges in the same classroom (such as a 6 year old with a 13 year old) and is located in a building closed by Killeen ISD due to the age and decrepit status of the elementary school. OCA would not be required to accept any given applicant, and does not have to meet any state assessment testing requirement or follow any accountability measures. It is deceptive to claim that this is an improvement or even a similar setting for any student. It is fine for a parent to make that choice, but it is inappropriate and poor public policy to use our tax dollars to do so. I am also deeply concerned about the aspect of this bill that would continue to require ISDs to provide the initial evaluations for consideration of a student to qualify for services under the IDEA, and the requirement that public schools would have to conduct the ARD meetings to craft the IEPs in order to determine the amount of services allocated up to $30,000. It is very easy to see the impact of this provision: then the ISDs would still be responsible for the evaluations, and the voucher amount for each kid would be determined by the amount of services the ARD committee would allocate for FAPE up to $30,000 - which means parents would be coming to public schools and fighting like hell for more services to run up the cost of the voucher amount, regardless of the actual needs of the student.

So, a lot more work without funding for special education staff to hold ARD meetings for kids not enrolled, and the check on abuse on the amount of funding would be contentious ARD committees refusing to allocate extra services at parent request to justify a larger voucher payment. Either districts draw a line for the public good, and at the bare minimum have to hold extra meetings, but also likely will also spark more Independent Educational Evaluation requests, complaints and litigation, or just school staff will agree to whatever the parents want and let the worst people with no morals get away with basic fraud. While I wholeheartedly believe this entire concept is bad, this in particular is a poorly considered provision. Fund ISDs first, then maybe pursue vouchers.

Tresa Hawkins Fedornak
TRTA
Wolfforth, TX

I am a retired educator and teachers as well as support staff in Trxas do not make enough and this voucher bill will only take away from that. If people want to go to private school let them pay their way. Governor Abbot is wrong to take money for himself to push this agenda. Say yes to Texas Public teachers and support staff and retirees.

Gonzalo Salazar
self
Brownsville, TX

Texas boasts the 7th largest economy in the world. The qualified post-secondary ready workforce and good citizens we produce in our Texas Public Schools is what makes this possible. Those of us who have answered the call work with our hearts in our hands and champion the cause for our students each day. While we are working hard to produce the results that lead to a stronger Texas, the legislature is considering ESAs that send public dollars to private institutions and as a resident and taxpayer of this state, I respectfully submit the following:

Key Points and Implications of Sending Tax Dollars to Private Schools Through ESAs:

1. Lack of Accountability: Private schools are not subject to the same accountability standards as public schools. This means that taxpayer dollars could be used to fund schools that do not meet educational benchmarks or provide quality education.
2. Limited Parent Choice: While the proposal is framed as promoting parental choice, it is important to recognize that private schools ultimately retain the power to accept or deny students. This undermines the notion of true choice for families, especially those from economically disadvantaged backgrounds.
3. Economic Barriers for Disadvantaged Families: Many economically disadvantaged families cannot afford the tuition differential between what the ESA covers and the actual cost of private schooling. This creates a situation where only those with sufficient financial resources can truly benefit from these programs, further entrenching inequality in education.
4. Ineffectiveness Evidence: Numerous studies from other states that have implemented similar ESA programs indicate limited success in improving educational outcomes. Many students do not experience significant academic gains, raising questions about the efficacy of diverting funds from public education.
5. Diverting Funds from Public Schools: Redirecting tax dollars to private schools can lead to underfunded public schools, which serve the majority of students. This not only harms those students but can also exacerbate existing inequities within the education system.
6. Potential for Increased Segregation: Private schools may reinforce social and economic segregation by selecting students based on various criteria, leading to a less diverse educational environment that does not reflect the broader community.
7. Transparency Concerns: Private schools often operate with less transparency than public schools, making it difficult for taxpayers to understand how their funds are being spent and whether they are achieving desired educational outcomes.
8. Long-term Impact on Public Education*: The shift of funds away from public schools can have long-term repercussions on the quality of public education, leading to a cycle of decline that ultimately impacts all students, including those who remain in the public system and have the potential to negatively impact the Texas economy. STAND UP FOR TEXAS PUBLIC SCHOOLS!

Elizabeth Nash, Rev.
Self, retired minister
Austin, TX

I oppose this bill in the strongest possible way for two main reasons. First, it will irrevocably harm public education in this state by diverting public funds to private hands. Public education is crucial to maintaining an educated population, without which our state and country cannot maintain itself economically and as a democracy. Second, I pay a substantial amount of taxes to maintain our schools, not only in the district where I live but also where about half of it is sent elsewhere in the state. The school taxes I pay, in whichever district they end up, are subject to local public accountability through school boards and highly visible and accountable public servants. It is outrageous to me that the government of this state would take the thousands I pay every year and hand at least part of that to private citizens who will in turn pay it to private schools with no public accountability for how that money is spent, what is taught, etc. No no no. If you vote to do that, you will provoke the anger of taxpayers all over the state who want decent public schools in districts accountable to the taxpayers who fund them.

Lisa Benjamin

Self

Dallas, TX

URGENT! ACT NOW THEN SHARE THIS POST!

Easy way to give comments without making a trip to Austin. This takes 2 minutes!!

Voucher bill being heard now!

I completely oppose HB3 along with the vast majority of voting Texans. ESAs are NOT a priority with our tax dollars. Instead, increase the basic allotment for public schools by $750-$1000 to allow a positive impact on the 5+million students in Texas. We will ALL remember how you vote on this. Will you listen to the majority of your constituents and oppose this Bill or will you be one who blindly falls in line with the billionaire agenda? Will your legacy be of service to children, teachers, community, and tax payers or will you be remembered as one of the "bought"? Will you stand for your people now or will you end your service as one afraid to stand against a tyrannical push of our governor? These words may seem harsh but they represent the thoughts and heart of your constituents, your voters, your people! VOTE NO TO ANY ESA/VOUCHER BILL! Our children, teachers, community, and future deserve your courage to push back against this scam that only represents the chosen few! Create a legacy of courage and ethics and stand for ALL children. We will remember next election how you vote on this bill.

Crystal Ybarra

McCormick middle school PTA

BUDA, TX

We do not support giving public money to private schools

Jessica Pany

Self

College Sta, TX

The voucher problem will only exacerbate the difference between the haves and have nots. Private schools/charter schools do not offer supports for students with deficits in learning.

Approving vouchers may help a few Texans, but not the majority. And within a few years, this will be a violation of Civil Rights and in fact further segregation and promote discrimination.

Stacey Setzer

Self and McKinney ISD parent and teacher

MCKINNEY, TX

Opposing House Bill 3: A Parent and Educator's Plea for Texas Public Schools

Dear Members of the Texas Legislature,

As a parent of children in McKinney ISD and a teacher in the district, I am deeply concerned about the devastating impact of House Bill 3 (HB 3). This bill threatens to strip essential resources from public schools, increase class sizes, reduce access to vital support services, and weaken the quality of education for Texas students.

Larger Class Sizes, Less Individual Attention

Cuts to funding will force schools to consolidate classes, leaving teachers with more students and fewer resources. Larger class sizes mean less individual attention, especially for students who need additional support. Special education students, English language learners, and those requiring academic intervention will suffer the most.

Cuts to Personnel Will Harm Student Success

HB 3 will force districts to cut counselors, interventionists, paraprofessionals, and support staff who play a crucial role in student achievement. These professionals provide mental health support, behavioral intervention, and academic assistance. Without them, students will experience longer wait times for services, increasing stress on already overwhelmed teachers.

Loss of Resources Will Negatively Impact Learning

Texas teachers already spend personal funds on classroom supplies. HB 3's funding cuts will only worsen shortages, leaving students without necessary materials. Public education should provide students with the tools they need to succeed, not force teachers and parents to shoulder the burden.

Increased Behavioral Issues

Without counselors and behavioral interventionists, more students will struggle with emotional and disciplinary challenges. Teachers will be expected to manage these issues without proper support, leading to a disruptive learning environment for all students.

Threat to Teacher Retirement and Retention

Texas educators rely on the Teacher Retirement System (TRS) for future security. HB 3 weakens this system, making it harder to recruit and retain quality teachers. At a time when Texas faces a teacher shortage, this bill will drive more educators out of the profession.

Texas Students Deserve Better

If the goal is to improve education, the Legislature should fully fund public schools, ensure smaller class sizes, increase teacher pay, expand mental health resources, and provide targeted assistance to struggling districts. Instead, HB 3 diverts resources away from students who need them most.

I Strongly Oppose HB 3

As a parent and educator, I urge you to reject this harmful legislation. HB 3 is not the answer—investing in public education is. As a citizen who has voted in every local and state election I can say with confidence this is not why you were elected.

Stacey Setzer

Parent and Teacher, McKinney ISD

Hailey Ramsey, Mrs.

Self

Lubbock, TX

As a homeschool parent, this bill is very concerning. This opens the door for government oversight into our private schools, which was established by Leeper many years ago. We all know that government does not turn a blind eye if they have the opportunity to engage. Please do not pass this bill. The vouchers will not help anyone afford private school either and many of our rural communities don't have the option for private school access. This bill does not address the issues happening with the shortcomings in our public schools and it definitely does not have the support of any constituents that I know.

Catherine Haedge

Rev and Mrs

Garland, TX

I want to register my strong opposition to vouchers and the use of ESA's as a means of funding education. These divert resources away from public schools. I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education: 1. Increase the basic allotment to $7500. 2. Determine funding by Enrollment and not Attendance. 3. Tie Funding to Inflation. Thank you for your work on behalf of our State government. Cathy

Audrie San Miguel

Texas Public Schools

Austin, TX

I strongly OPPOSE this bill and am OPPOSED to school vouchers. Greg Abbott has been bought and paid for by out of state millionaires and is motivated by lining his own pockets. Shame on him.

Cynthia Zeplin

Self

Yoakum, TX

As a parent and a volunteer at public schools please vote no on HB3. I benefited from both a public education and private school education. I want our leaders to start investing in public schools. When you invest in public schools, you are investing in our teachers, children, and our Texas families. Say No to HB3.

David Gewirtz

Self - School Administrator

Houston, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Kathy Bell

Self

Mansfield, TX

I'm opposed to HB 3. Please vote against this. Our public schools should be funded first.

Rebecca Embler

Self

Dallas, TX

Vouchers will hurt our lost vulnerable students, and will render teaching more difficult than it already is. It also has the possibility of destroying the teacher pension system, which our selfless public educators have paid into for generations. This will only serve to subsidize private school for those who already attend, who do not need this money! It will do so by stealing from our children who aren't already in rich families. This is damaging to working class families in favor of the rich.

Ricardo Degollado

Self

Austin, TX

Esteemed Committee Members,

We respectfully ask that you OPPOSE HB3 because:

1 Numerous studies show that vouchers do NOT equate to improved academic outcomes for kids. Texas can only continue economic growth and prosperity with a well-educated work force.

2 HB3 is NOT a school choice bill. Texas parents already have school choice. This bill funds private school selectivity — which means that PRIVATE SCHOOLS decide who to accept and who not to accept — NOT parents.

3 Public money should have the SAME accountability standards. Public money means public accountability — any school or entity receiving tax dollars must follow the same standards, mandates, testing and accountability requirements as public schools.

4 We support Texans having a voice on this issue. Vouchers would use public dollars for private education — Texans should have a say on the ballot. Some representatives believe that Texans had a say during the primary. However, the measure on the ballot during the primary does NOT give anyone a mandate for vouchers as it was vaguely worded and did not include specifics about how little oversight there would be for public dollars. Put vouchers on the ballot.

This entitlement bill does not benefit Texas but only a few Texans. Please reject this bill and look for a measure that holds all schools equally accountable for public dollars.

Thank you!

Chana Liba Braun

Chabad Lubbock

Lubbock, TX

Please support HB3 and the Education Savings Account program. Every child in Texas deserves access to the best educational opportunities.

Education isn't one-size-fits-all, and families should have the freedom to choose the best option for their child. This bill empowers parents to make those decisions, benefiting students, educators, and taxpayers alike.

Nearly half the states have a school choice program — it's time for Texas to join them.

Nancy Friedman

self. retired

Houston, TX

My husband and I believe that every TX child has the right to a decent education so, although we don't have children, it's our duty to fund public schools with our tax dollars. It is not our duty, nor is it the state's, to fund a parent's choice to send their children to a private school instead.

The vast majority of private schools are religious. Every school that Gov. Abbott has appeared at to support vouchers has been a Christian school. Using public money to support religious schools violates art. 1, §§ 6 and 7 of the Texas Constitution and violates my freedom not to support a school that advances religious beliefs or discriminates based on those beliefs that I don't share. Some claim that a church or religious organization suffers from discrimination when they are not afforded the same benefits as a secular one. One of our country's and Texas' foundational principles is that the state should not give a church or religious organization a benefit or advantage that secular ones don't have.

We should learn from other states' experiences with vouchers. Studies have shown that vouchers don't work – they don't improve educational outcomes, they don't help children who couldn't otherwise afford private school since the amount provided is a fraction of the total expenses, there aren't enough qualifying schools in some areas. They end up helping families whose children are already in private schools and costing much more than expected. Look at Arizona.

Please instead invest in public schools. That's where public money should be spent and where you, as legislators, should focus – morally, constitutionally and practically. If public schools were properly funded, schools and programs wouldn't be closing, teachers wouldn't be leaving, and more parents might feel comfortable keeping their kids in public schools. We—Texans and Texas--owe our children that.

Kristen Gardiner

Self, social media manager

Allen, TX

As a constituent with three children in public education, I STRONGLY OPPOSE HB 3. I have a child in special education and it is incredibly important that all funds stay dedicated to keeping public schools strong rather than diverting them to private schools via vouchers. My child relies on services in public schools, and Allen ISD has already announced staff reductions related to special education and testing due to current funding problems, and this will make it worse. It already takes SO LONG to get testing and services. Public schools need MORE funding, not less!

Samantha Camacho

Self, Teaching and Learning Coordinator, Kami

Plano, TX

I disagree wholeheartedly with school vouchers. School vouchers serve the wealthy. Everyone is worthy of a good education. Our society and our government should invest in public education for all.

KatyAnn Zimbelman

Self- parents of public education

Austin, TX

I oppose diverting public funds to private schools, no matter what you call it. I am a Texas voter and I want you to fully fund existing public school mandates, not divert funds to unaccountable private and religious schools. I know that virtually every other state that has created a voucher system with the limited guardrails you are proposing has seen a decimation of their public school systems and increasing burden to their state budgets. We don't want any of that here in Texas. Please fund our public schools and don't pass the voucher bill out of committee.

Karla Barfield
Self
Liberty Hill, TX

I don't want my school tax dollars used for vouchers. Now or ever. Please support our public schools. Not Charter schools.

Mark Lugo, Pastor
SA Impact Ministries
Lytle, TX

My name is Pastor Mark Lugo of SA Impact Ministries and I'm writing today in favor of HB 3. I have one son out of school and another is currently a senior in high school. I remember my wife and I being at a crossroads 6 years ago with continuing our son's education through private school and coming to the conclusion that it just wasn't in our budget with increased prices. I wish we had school choice as an option so we could've continued our son's private school education. We went back and forth throughout the years with homeschooling and private school but couldn't continue it through high school. School choice is an amazing approach to give families more options to choose what's best for our children. I vote YES for SB 3.

Candace ankenbruck
Retired teacher
Pearland, TX

As a retired public school teacher of 30 years, I know how difficult a teacher's job is to individualize instruction for all especially ESL and low socioeconomic students. Private schools will not be able to offer these students everything that will meet their needs like free lunch, transportation, IEPs, certified teachers, and the list goes on. Upper and middle class students will probably be ok, but don't we want an educated society making decisions and possibly taking care of us when we're old? Please vote NO to vouchers! Thanks you??

Tina Wehner Hickman, Dr.
Self/school psychologist
Converse, TX

I am a Texan, and I am appalled that this bill exists. There should be zero disagreement or political divide over the right of all Texas children to be educated. No righteous person should be saying that only rich people's children deserve education, but here we are. It is reprehensible. The expectation of many in this state is that Texas should be expanding and fully funding public education in order to create a vital workforce for the future, not to hand money to people so they can go buy a new boat or whatever.

I work in a public school with special education students. I see every day how a public education can change a life for the better. Public schools have vocational programs, for example, that allow students to graduate and go to work. It is amazing, and should be celebrated, not strangled by some rich guy who gave our governor a bunch of cash. There is not a single shred of valid research that supports this bill or demonstrates that it will improve educational outcomes for the majority of students. Why waste money on this travesty? Where is the return of investment on this? There is none.

Instead, let's fully fund public education. Instead of a measly six thousand per pupil, make it 10 thousand per pupil. Fully fund public education, and there will be a benefit for everyone. Thank you.

Sonja Phillips, Rev

Self / Pastor

Seguin, TX

Thank you for the opportunity to share my concerns. The community where I serve as a pastor is considered rural. There are limited private schools. Public Schools are at the very center of my community. From the research I have done vouchers will do little to help my community especially since there are limited funds for public schools already. How is this plan going to help my community? Research has also shown that low income families will not benefit from vouchers due to the high cost of private education. A$10,000 voucher will do little to make a dent in $30,000-40,000 tuition costs. Why is the state not considering the negative impact of low public school funding has had on many public schools in Texas. It is sad and embarrassing we rank 47 nationally for public education. More needs to be done to compensate our educators and staff. Above all more needs to be done to ensure students in our public schools receive a well funded comprehensive education that will allow them to succeed. I did speak with my representative however, they were unable to explain how vouchers will benefit my community. They are in support of vouchers. Thank you.

Morgan Garner

Self

Shallowater, TX

As a proud Texas public school teacher and parent I stand against vouchers. Strong public schools are integral to our small town Texas communities and life. The lack of teacher pay raise has caused current teachers to struggle financially or leave the profession, while new and qualified teachers are hard to find. Every family is welcome to their personal school of choice, but it is wildly unreasonable to value private school students worth more than public school learners.

Yisroel Sternberg, Mr

Self

Dallas, TX

Please pass this bill we are bleeding financially

Vicki Flenniken

Shallowater ISD

Shallowater, TX

Texas does NOT need a voucher program and saying all these other states have one so we should too is like telling your momma all my friends did it so I did too, even though you knew it was wrong.

This voucher program will strip much needed funding from our public schools. If you want your child to be in private schools, then fine, but the public school system shouldn't pay for it.

Samantha Cast

Self

Houston, TX

-I strongly disagree with HB3.

-private schools are fine for those who can afford them, but they do not provide real choice for all Texas residents..

-Private schools can deny admission to any kid for any reason they want.

-The majority of counties in Texas do not have a private school.

-All this will accomplish less funding for our already struggling schools and give a discount to already wealthy families.

-Private schools do not have to provide transportation nor do they have to provide special education services.

-HB3 will bankrupt our public schools. you will be using tax dollars of hard-working families to fund benefits for the already wealthy.

-I am a strong Christian and firmly believe this is the most UN-Christlike thing we could do. Our children are "the least of these" as Jesus said, and you need to stand up for them.

-please vote NO for HB3 and vote yes to raise the basic allotment

Robin Allen
Self/Educator
Canyon, TX

This bill hurts Texas students. It is designed to help wealthy Texans, not education for all students. It also has the potential to defund TRS. Stop giving handout to those that don't need it. Support public education, not vouchers.

Julia Odelowo
Self
Austin, TX

Subject: Request for Increased Funding and Opposition to Vouchers/ESA

Dear Education committee

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the use of vouchers and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) as a means of funding education. These programs divert crucial resources away from public schools, undermining their ability to serve all students equitably.

I respectfully request the following changes to improve the funding structure for education:

1. Increase the Basic Allotment to $7,500: The current funding allocation is insufficient to meet the needs of students and educators. Raising the basic allotment to $7,500 would better support our schools and allow for more equitable access to quality education.
2. Determine Funding by Enrollment, Not Attendance: Funding should be based on student enrollment rather than attendance. This would provide more consistent and predictable funding for schools, allowing them to plan and allocate resources effectively, even in times of fluctuating attendance.
3. Tie Funding to Inflation: Education funding should be adjusted annually based on inflation rates. This would ensure that the value of the funding keeps pace with the rising costs of education, maintaining its purchasing power over time.
4. Ensure Funding for All Current and Future Mandates: All current and future state or federal mandates should be fully funded to avoid placing additional burdens on schools. This would ensure that schools can comply with legal requirements without sacrificing other essential services.

I hope you will consider these requests as part of ongoing efforts to improve the education system. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,
Julia Odelowo

Christin Casebolt
Lewisville ISD
Argyle, TX

Fully fund public schools!!

Kathryn Albright

Self / retired Development Director and Grant Writer

Kerrville, TX

Please vote NO to the establishment of an education savings account program. The public education system was created to ensure that ALL children, by law, will have the opportunity to reach their fullest potential by being educated. The establishment of an education savings account undermines public education by using tax dollars to support private schools who do not operate under the same level of accountability as public school systems. Private schools do not have to meet the needs of students who need accommodations to learn. Private schools do not have standardized academic oversight and metrics. Private schools do not have to meet curriculum standards that define content. Private schools do not have to admit students that they deem as "unacceptable". Rural communities do not have enough private schools to accommodate their school aged population. Vouchers will further decimate the public school system leaving many kids with a "bad choice" instead of "school of choice". Public schools are neighborhood epicenters. Our tax dollars should be pumped into public education systems to create the best schools in the nation. Instead, this voucher system serves to undermine our Texas children by taking away their chance to become educated. The voucher system undermines our entire state by under-educating our young people. Vouchers have not worked in other states and they are not going to work here. Please vote NO to HB 3. Your youngest Texans need you to keep THEIR best interest deep in your heart.

beverly deutsch

self

austin, TX

School taxes are for PUBLIC SCHOOL; this proposal diverts public tax $ from public schools to PRIVATE schools; therefore harming public schools, which are in dire need of funds.

Kaitlin Kelsey

Self (Public School Parent)

Uvalde, TX

How can you support the Governor in this bill when he purposely and deliberately withheld public school funding for years just so he can get his voucher passed?

Sandra Musanti

Self

Brownsville, TX

I wholeheartedly oppose this bill. This bill will defund public education and will only benefit privileged families. The ultimate intent of this bill is to privatize education and favor for profit companies.

Mary Stacey Allen

Self/ Public School Teacher

Allen, TX

This is absolutely wrong! Vouchers take money away from public education and put it in the hands of for-profit private schools which completely goes against our state constitution as a majority of Texas private schools are sectarian. See Article VII Section 5. As a tax paying, voting Texas resident and mother of two children who attended and one currently attending public schools, I DO NOT support vouchers (my vote reflects this). If a parent chooses not to send their child to free public schools, then it's on their dime... end of story! Fix the system's policies and procedures; don't create a separate unethical and illegal one! Fully fund Texas public schools and vote no against vouchers, please!

Evelyn Miller

Parent

Kerrville, TX

I am against the voucher system because poor parents cannot afford The extra tuition, transportation is not provided and poor people only have one vehicle so no way to get the kids to the school. The schools are not located in Porter neighborhoods. Special ed is not provided they don't have to accept anyone they don't want to so anyone with poor behavior would be eliminated, is comparing apples to oranges, since they only get to select the very best students But the schools are required to take everybody. They don't provide free breakfast and free lunch. Therefore, again poor students will not attend so in the end, you only have the ridge brightest kids going at our taxpayer funds when their own parents can afford to send them themselves.(poor, not porter—it won't let me correct)

Janet Lockhart

Self/retired

Corsicana, TX

I am against vouchers!

Jenni Herzberg, Mrs.

Self

Mansfield, TX

If a student starts at private school and then moves to public school part way through the year, what happens to the money? Does the private school get to keep the entire ESA value? Is it pro-rated and part goes back to the public school? If the full pot of ESA money isn't utilized because of how many private schools don't want to accept the ESA because they don't want to be under your purview, what happens to the remainder of that money?

Daniel Melendez

Self

Arlington, TX

No!

Megan Crowl

Self

CONROE, TX

I'm communicating my opposition to HB3, SB2 and any other voucher scam bill. This will ruin public education in Texas. The states that have passed vouchers and have been referenced as "thriving" due to competition rank lower than Texas in quality of public education.

Elsa Guimbarda

self

Austin, TX

Vote NO to HB3, and support increases to Public School funding instead! Respect separation of church and state, and do not undermine public education for all by further declining student population numbers given how public schools are funded through daily attendance rates. I also fear that the needs of special education students will not be served given non compliance of mandates for special needs students. This proposal is a slap in the face of educators, who work very hard to educate all children to reach their potential, as well as poor families who would not have sufficient income to even consider a private education for their children. PUBLIC EDUCATION IN TEXAS IS FOR ALL CHILDREN IN ALL AREAS OF TEXAS! DO NOT SABOTAGE PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION!

Sheri Palmer

Self

Austin, TX

Chairman Buckley, I am Sheri Palmer. Born in Texas and attended public schools. I am here to oppose HB3. Vouchers / ESAs will bankrupt public schools. Vouchers are a welfare scam for the wealthy - subsidy for parents who already use private schools. Vouchers will lead to segregation and discrimination. Show Texas you believe in their future; FULLY FUND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS and VOTE NO on any voucher/ESA bill. Thank you, Sheri Palmer

Starlite Folley

Self

Schertz, TX

Vote NO.

Esther Trevino, Ms.

Self (and my grandchildren)

Uvalde, TX

If you think this will help ordinary students you are Wrong. If people could afford to send their children to private schools don't you think they would? Instead parents have to pray that underfunded public schools can prepare their children for higher education. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves, this will only benefit all ready rich people that can send their kids to private schools. Fund public schools and pay v teachers what they deserve to be paid!

Danica Schieber

self

Spring, TX

Vouchers will only benefit families who can already afford private education while siphoning funds from desperately underfunded public schools. I moved my family to Texas, and all of my children are products of the excellent public education system, I implore you all to vote against the establishment of a voucher program. Please fund public education for our children and our future in accordance with the Texas constitution.

Angelique Harris

Self

Tomball, TX

I am product of Texas public schools along with my 3 children. I am 100% against this bill. "School Choice" is nothing but a money grab to fund parents who already pay for private schools. Tax payer dollars should also not be used to fund religious private schools. So please do what is right for Texas and vote against HB3

Cynthia Hendricks

self librarian

Taylor, TX

Vote NO on HB3. I have 3 kids that went to TX public schools. I know how underfunded many of them are. Taking money from the public schools to fund vouchers is only going to make things worse. It's such a shame that a state with so much wealth underfunds public schools and then comes up with the idea to allow vouchers.

Kristi Hibler-Luton representing myself and family

Austin, TX

We do not want vouchers. They take away critical funds from public schools, a great equalizer in our society. When all Texans are educated through a strong public school system, we strengthen our economy and ability to innovate for the future as Texans. Vouchers will only fuel for-profit schools and benefit those that can already afford private education.

Michelle Kimball

Self

Coppell, TX

I strongly oppose the implementation of school vouchers in Texas. Redirecting public funds to private schools undermines the public education system, which serves the vast majority of Texas students. This policy risks increasing inequality, as vouchers often don't cover the full cost of private education, leaving low-income families behind. Instead of diverting resources, we should focus on strengthening our public schools to ensure every child in Texas has access to quality education.

Abigail King

Self

Austin, TX

No public money for private education!

Karla Cantu

Self

Houston, TX

I oppose school vouchers and Gregg Abbott's current plan and lack of support of Texas public schools.

Emily McLoughlin

Self

Carrollton, TX

As a constituent, I am OPPOSED to Bill HB3 by Buckley

School vouchers have many disadvantages, including:

Undermining public schools

Vouchers take funding from public schools, which serve most students, and give it to private schools. This can hurt public schools that are already struggling.

Discrimination

Vouchers can discriminate against students with disabilities, and can exacerbate racial segregation. Private schools can also discriminate in admissions, discipline, and employment.

Lack of accountability

Private schools are largely unaccountable to taxpayers. They can pick and choose who to serve and how they serve.

No evidence of academic benefit

There's no reliable evidence that vouchers improve student success. In fact, some programs have shown to have a negative effect.

Undermining democracy

Vouchers can erode democracy by giving tax dollars to private schools that are far removed from the electorate.

Diverting attention from reforms

Vouchers can divert attention from needed reforms, such as smaller class sizes.

Creating corruption opportunities

Private schools with little accountability could lead to corruption.

James Dickey

Self

Arlington, TX

I oppose education savings accounts (ie. voucher system). It is a horrible idea. I do not want my tax dollars going to those who send their kids to private school. Texas is already #47 in education funding per student. This bill will make that even worse, by taking money away that should be going to public schools.

Angelique Gonzalez-Page

self

Austin, TX

Hello, my name is Angelique Gonzalez-Page and I am a no for HB 3. First, I'd like to thank the lawmakers for thinking of the children in our great state of Texas. I see you and your efforts. They are appreciated.

I could tell you all the statistics on why and how school vouchers are a bad idea but instead I am going to be vulnerable and share something that happened to my family. It really tested my faith in the public school system. Then I will explain why in the end I decided to keep my kids in public school.

My children started kindergarten after attending a private Montessori school in south Austin this past fall. A month after school started, I was notified that my child had been sexually assaulted by a fellow 5-year-old in class. Honestly, so many thoughts and emotions raced through brain all at the same time. No one tells you that when you have children you get relive all of your childhood traumas as well as feel theirs. So, this happening to our daughter brought a lot of previous feelings of powerlessness and shame crashing down on my husband and I. We are both trauma survivors. It was a tough time for my family. Luckily, I had a parent coach that helped my family through this time, but we are the exception not the rule. In the end, I was able to advocate for my child and her abuser was removed from her classroom. Currently, I am providing her with therapy to help process what happened to her and our school is going through great efforts to keep the children separated. Even though the school did everything right, my trust in the public school system had been broken.

Naturally, I started looking into private and charter schools. I took tours and asked a lot of questions. Ultimately, it all came back to the fact that these schools and their staff were not adequately trained to deal with children that are other. You see, my children are neurodiverse. One of my daughters has attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) and my other has ADHD as well as being low needs autistic. Private and charter school staff are not trained to deal with neurodivergent children nor are they required to take them. There are a few private schools that focus on neurodivergent children, but these are rare, and the wait list is long to attend. During my children's tenure at their private Montessori school, I constantly had to counsel the staff on how to work with my children so they could be successful in learning and in playing with others. Public school has the properly trained staff so their transition was smoother. They understood the needs of my children. Public schools can provide 504 and individualized education plans (IEP) to help neurodivergent children succeed in the classroom and in life. In the end, I decided to stay at our public school. Public school isn't perfect, but it deserves the budget and resources to help these children, my children succeed. Let's fund our public schools.

Thank you for your time.

Rachelle Park

Self

Houston, TX

Vouchers are terrible for our children. I understand some lawmakers have received money to vote and push this bill. That is not ok!!!! Public education is for all. Those private schools discriminate against so many. I know, my child has been in private school. He is back in the public education system where he is taught critical thinking and has friends from different backgrounds. Do not take education away from all to help a few! This is shameful that this is even a bill. Stand up for ALL CHILDREN!!!

Peggy Keefe-Lopez

self

Austin, TX

I am a parent of two students in Round Rock ISD, with a younger sibling who will join them in 2026. It means a lot to me to see our local public schools thriving. Right now our elementary school has a teacher shortage. One class has had rotating substitutes all year and my oldest's class lost their teacher a month ago with no replacement. This is a school that I truly love - they have a lot of great teachers and a great community. But seeing these hardships this year has made me nervous for what the future would look like with even more of a budget impact.

Who is actually FOR this plan? Besides the billionaire architects and our corrupt governor? I have seen numerous posts on the handful of parent groups I'm a part of on social media and out of hundreds of comments from people across the spectrum - from public school parents to private school parents to homeschoolers, and only two liked the voucher plan. How is this moving forward when so many of us are against it?

Please please listen to your actual constituents and not just Abbott and crew. You are doing our whole state a disservice by moving forward on this when there is more than adequate evidence from other states that vouchers are harmful.

Anne Marie Pearson

Self

Spearman, TX

